Brewers shade Yanks, 3-2, to win first-half playoff in American League

By RICH REITER
The Brewers edged the Yankees, 3-2, in the Mountainside Little League's first-half American League championship playoff. A game-saving catch by second baseman Matthew Miller checked a last-inning rally by the Yankees. The Yankees had taken an early lead on the hitting of Paul Seigle, John Buckley, Jay Miskin and Michael Stoffer, who also made several fine fielding plays. A three-hit rally late in the game was sparked by Vincent Mannion, David Rizzo, Douglas Mahler and Billy Knodel of the Yankees. Their teammate Jeff Burrows and Brewers' Steven Sokohl and Mickey Tomko, starred on the mound.

In other American League action, the Reds defeated the Royals, 7-1, on a grand slam homer

Little League drive

Mountainside's Little League will hold its annual fund drive on Saturday, June 5, it was announced by George Yogy, president of the Little League. The boys will visit homes between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon.

seven straight victories by beating the Mets, 12-3. The Chiefs' Ricky Kontra hit a triple and a double and Stewart Jurzak contributed two singles and a double. Jurzak pitched a good game with support from Andrew Grett. Shortstop Keith Hanigan executed two unassisted double plays. Mets' Ben Mirto and Ricky Brahn starred at bat and in the field.

Behind six strong innings of pitching from Glen Delaney, the Cubs topped the Mustangs, 15-2. Delaney struck out 13 and allowed only four hits. Jeff Bradshaw had four hits for four RBI, while Scott Burdge's triple and Matt Chavkin's hit (both for three RBI) keyed rallies for the Cubs.

The Blue Stars rallied to gain their sixth victory of the season. Frank Gagliano, the winning pitcher, also had three hits including an over-the-fence homerun.

The Giants made no errors in a 20-5 victory over the Mustangs. Chuck Vanbenshoten, the winning pitcher, had strong support from batters Charlie Rodrigues, Gary Kane and David Crane.

The Senior League Orioles defeated the Twins, 6-2. Tom Huelbig collected the victory. Adam Williams starred at bat.

The Twins defeated the Red Sox, 9-6. Mike Baumgartner and Jeff Brown combined for the victory. Paul Krause and Dave Lauffoff each drove in two runs.

The Indians edged the Tigers, 6-5. Chuck Dooley, the winning pitcher, also collected two RBI. Rich Zirkel hit well. Chip Kane put in a good performance behind the plate.

McGurty is given an appointment to Military Academy

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A Mountainside, N.J., student is among seven Union County residents appointed to U.S. military academies on the nomination of Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-N.J., 12th District).

The Mountainside youth is Robert McGurty of Maple court, who has been appointed to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. McGurty, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, has played varsity football, intramural and recreation basketball and Little League baseball. He is a member of the Key Club and Varsity Club at his school, and has been an altar boy and a member of his church guitar group.

Rinaldo nominated 30 Union County students to compete for vacancies at the academies. His nominations were based on college admission test scores and on high school records of the applicants. Those nominated competed in entrance examinations administered by the academies which made the final selections.

The Union County Congressmen said the appointments reflected an evaluation by the academies of the candidates' examination results, their academic and extracurricular records in secondary schools, and their potential for careers as officers in the armed services.

Those appointed will join classes entering the academies this summer.

Community pool opens Saturday

The Mountainside Community Pool will open for its 10th season on Saturday. The pool will be open only on weekends through June 12 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. On June 19, the pool will open on a daily basis through Sept. 6, from noon to 9 p.m.

This summer, a new program will be incorporated into the pool schedule. Gymnastics lessons will be conducted under the direction of Karen Schramm. Each class will consist of flexibility, tumbling, floor exercises, and dancing on low beam. The classes will be divided by age and ability levels. Schramm has been teaching at Felgley's School of Gymnastics in Plainfield. In 1974 and 1975, Karen was the USGF advanced state Champion. All registration for swimming, diving, and gymnastics lessons will begin on June 19. Swimming and diving team registration will open June 5 and 6.

Mountainside student is honored at Hartwick

Diane B. Pfriendr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Pfriendr of Penbrook road, Mountainside, a student at Hartwick College in Oneonta, N.Y., has been selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Miss Pfriendr is a junior nursing major.

Holiday at library

The Free Public Library of Mountainside will be closed Monday, in observance of Memorial Day. The library will open for regular hours on Tuesday: 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

PTA's community calendar lists June events in borough

June 1 — Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting, Elks Club, Mountainside Board of Education work meeting, 8 p.m., Echobrook School, Regional High School Board of Education meeting, 8 p.m., David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, Mountainside Borough Council work meeting, 8 p.m., Borough Hall.

June 2 — Beechwood School piano recital, 7:30 p.m.

High school band will be heard in parades, concert

The officers of the Band Parents organization of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, this week reminded area residents they still have four more opportunities this spring to see and hear the school's Marching Band.

The 43-musician unit, supplemented by 30-member color guard and rifle group, will take part in the Springfield-Milburn Memorial Day Parade on Monday, the June 12 Summit Bicentennial Parade and the June 19 Springfield Bicentennial Parade.

In addition, the band will present a free concert at 7 p.m. June 5 on the front lawn of the high school as a way of saying "thanks" to Springfield and Mountainside residents who have given them financial support, making music scholarships and trips to competitions and other parades possible.

The band, made a voluntary unit this spring, competes against others two and three times its size. For example, in Ridgewood's Spring Festival of Music, where they placed fourth in the field show, the Dayton unit competed against bands having as many as 140 musicians.

They also have marched in the National Apple Blossom Festival in Virginia, placing third out of 15 bands in their classification, and have represented Dayton in more New Jersey and out-of-state events than any other group at the school.

One Band Parents organization spokesman noted, "These fine, energetic youngsters have hearts as big as their sound. To get ready for these events involves many hours of work. Many of the members of this voluntary band gave up their spring vacation to go to practices. For three months, they practiced not only after school, but also all day Saturdays.

"They are ambitious, alert, hard working and dedicated. They are dedicated to each other; they're dedicated to their instructors; they're dedicated to always giving their best performance. And they've given Springfield and Mountainside and, above all, Jonathan Dayton, something to be proud of."

Council meets Tuesday

The Mountainside Borough Council will hold a special meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall to act on the Echobrook School sale agreement between the Council and the Board of Education, to introduce an ordinance for work on the building and to authorize bids for that work.

State hearings next month on 11 Route 78 proposals

The N.J. Department of Transportation this week announced dates for a public hearing on several proposed paths for Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation from Berkeley Heights to Springfield. The hearing, which will be the final chance for public input on the highway's future, will be held June 29, 29 and 30 and July 1 at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The hearings will be preceded by six environmental information sessions, including programs from 3 to 9 p.m. June 19 at the and from the Springfield non-line to the Garden State Parkway. Construction is under way from the Parkway to Newark Airport linking with the N.J. Turnpike to the Holland Tunnel.

Completion has been delayed, however, by controversy over the path through the Watchung Reservation. Environmentalists have stressed potential damage to the reservation, one of the last tracts of open land in Union County.

Their protests led to the release of federal authorities of an Environmental Impact Statement EIS issued by the N.J. Department of Transportation in 1971.

The coming hearings will be based on a new four-point EIS. Helen Neuman, director of community involvement for the state Department of Transportation, said the new volume covers essentially the same ground as the 1971 report, but is based on a more comprehensive assessment.

The new study provides information on the potential impact on a path for a road pass for possible alternatives in the build-up proposal. It also exists to help connect the two segments of the highway.

DOT Rt. 78 report can be examined

Limited number of copies of the N.J. Department of Transportation's recently released Environmental Impact Statement on Rt. 78 are available at Borough Hall for Mountainside residents to examine.

DOT will hold a public meeting on the highway plans June 19 from 3 to 9 p.m. in the Deerfield School.

Deerfield School on Central Avenue, Mountainside, and June 16 at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School on Mountain Avenue, Springfield.

The interstate highway is in operation from a point east of Phillipsburg to Berkeley Heights.

Blewis 'slams' two, Blue Jays rap Owls, 23-1

Mountainside girls' softball continued to feature fast action as the Peacocks defeated the Bluejays, 13-4. Cathy Clarke, the winning pitcher, also hit a home run. Lisa McCarthy hit a triple.

Winning pitcher Diane Kennelly, who also hit a home run, led the Canaries over the Eagles, 17-5. Mary Beth Roche and Melanie Pasture hit triples for the Canaries. Wendy Julian did the same for the Eagles.

The Parrots slipped by the Orioles, 8-7, to stay in first place. Lynn Zeoli was the winning pitcher. Amanda Palmer hit a triple.

Kathy Blewis hit two grand slam home runs in the third to lead the Bluejays to a 23-1 triumph over the Owls. Trish Taylor and Ellie Harb also hit home runs for the Bluejays.

The Peacocks defeated the Hawks in extra innings, 12-11. Lisa McCarthy's home run decided the game.

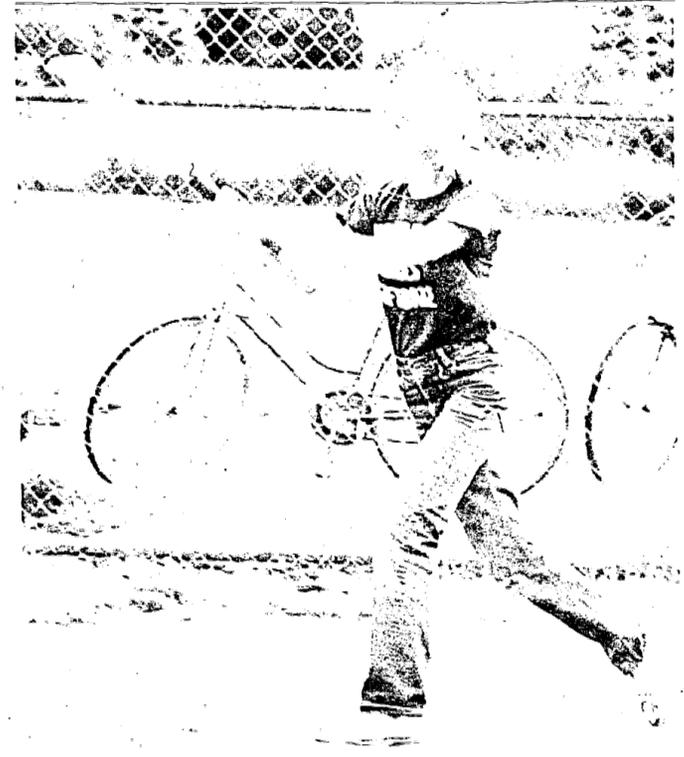

The Robins defeated the Falcons, 11-8. Liz Blouin pitched a full game and Fran Sharkey caught a high fly.

The Robins' Jennifer Youngmans pitched a full game against the Road Runners, hit a grand slam and completed a double play to Sue Mazzarella. The final score was 11-8.

The Cardinals came through to defeat the Canaries, 22-5. Good fielding was displayed by winning pitcher Jill Shoefeld, Barb Rawlins and Ellen Kiel at third base.

Holiday deadline

Particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday news deadline is advised for material intended for the June 3 issue since this office will be closed on Monday, Memorial Day. District board plans to meet on Tuesday

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District will hold a regular business meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the David Brearley Regional High School to transact regular board business.

The public is regularly invited to attend.

Bus trips planned for Yanks, Mets, Cosmos contests

The Mountainside Recreation Commission will again sponsor bus trips to Yankee Stadium and Shea Stadium this summer, for games involving the Mets, Yankees and the Cosmos. The trips are open to residents of all ages.

The first outing is scheduled for Friday evening, June 25, for the Yankee-Brewer baseball game at the remodeled Yankee Stadium. Tickets, $5.50 each, include bus transportation—the bus will depart from Deerfield School at 5:45 p.m. and return after the game.

On July 18, Yankee Stadium will be revisited, to watch the Cosmos play Washington in an afternoon soccer game. The registration fee, which includes ticket and bus transportation, is $6 for people 16 and under or 62 and older, $8 for all others. The bus will leave Deerfield School at noon and return after the game.

The Mets and the Dodgers are scheduled for Friday evening, Aug. 27. The registration fee is $4.50 per person. The bus will leave from Deerfield School at 5:45 p.m. and return following the game.

Reservations are being accepted at Borough Hall for all of these trips. All registrations are on a first-come, first-served basis, and payment must accompany registration. Children 12 and under must be accompanied by adults. The recreation office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. For additional information, readers may call 232-0015.

Tournament team will play Sunday

Each team from the Mountainside baseball Senior League has selected players to play on a tournament team against a similar group from Springfield.

Two games will be played, the first Sunday at 2 p.m. at Ruby Field, Springfield. The second game will be played Monday at 2 p.m. at the Senior League Field, Mountainside.

Members of the team from Mountainside are Jeff Brown, Chucker Dooley, Tim Harrigan, Tim Holleran, Tom Huelbig, Chip Kane, Paul Krause, Brian Kukon, Dave Lauffoff, Keith Mirto, Bill Rose, Gregg Rusbarsky, Rick Sanders, Adam Williams and Darron Young. Coaches are Jim Huelbig and Art Williams, co-managers of the Senior League Orioles.

POPPY SALE — Members of the Kelly family purchase the first poppies in the VFW's annual poppy sale from John Miami, chairman of the Mountainside Memorial Post's annual drive. Purchasing poppies are (from right), Maureen, Frank and Pat Kelly. The sale will continue through Monday.

Watchung horse club holds 50th annual show this week

The 50th annual Watchung Riding and Driving Club horse show is scheduled at the Union County Park Commission's Watchung Stable, Glenside avenue, beginning on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. and continuing on Sunday at 8:30 a.m.

The two-day show is expecting riders from all over New Jersey as well as neighboring states. The show is operated under rules of the American Horse Show Association.

There will be divisions for horseanship and equitation as well as events for hunters and open jumpers. Also scheduled are a pleasure horse or pony division and a division for adult amateurs. There will be a division for non-throated hunters, a special family class and those to be held for the youngsters who are regular members of the Watchung and Jet Troops.

Challenge trophies and ribbons, which have been a trademark of the show, will be awarded in each division. Many of the classes will be held for New Jersey Horse Shows Association high score awards.

Ringside parking space is available and refreshments will be sold on the grounds all day.

Dayton's winners named for district Mathematics Day

Awards to Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students who competed in the Union County Regional High School District Mathematics Day on May 15, have been announced. Students from the Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson, Gov. Livingston, and David Breenlyer schools competed in three different levels of competition lasting two hours.

The three levels were determined by the number of years of high school mathematics study each person had. Contestants were ranked according to placement in the schools that they attend and were not in competition with students from the other schools.

Martin Piedt won top honors at Dayton in the Level 3 contest and will be awarded a gold medal. Philip Elfron won second place. Warren Vellingier placed third. James Sigal and David Weinberg will receive silver medals for taking top honors in the Level 2 competition. Majorie Drysdale won third place. In the Level 1 contest, George Fiszer will receive a bronze medal for ranking first. Donald Rodriguez won second place and David Keselica placed third.

All will receive citation certificates in addition to mathematical publications.

BICENTENNIAL VIGNETTES

War's worst winter

By JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM
(This is the third of a series of four articles on Washington's major military encampments in New Jersey.)

Heavy snow swirled through Morristown on Dec. 1, 1779, as General George Washington rode into town for his second winter on campaign in this modest little village in the hills of Morris County.

That snow symbolized the weather for the winter of 1779-80. Already, four snowstorms had whitened the hills in November. Seven more would come in December, followed by 17 others between January and April, when finally the snow would end.

Washington headed on his arrival for the handsome frame mansion that Colonel and Mrs. Jacob Ford had constructed in 1774. It was the finest house in northern New Jersey, worthy of a military commander.

Mrs. Ford, a widow since January, 1776, when her husband died of pneumonia, had invited Washington and his chief officers to share the home that winter. She reserved three first floor rooms for herself and her four children, ranging in age from 8 to 17.

The Ford mansion was typically Georgian—on each of two floors there were four large rooms, separated by central hallways. The hallways on both floors were unusually wide, offering opportunities for large gatherings of people.

Mrs. Washington arrived before Christmas. Work began immediately to remodel two upstairs bedrooms and an office, and to finish a separate log kitchen. Washington wrote General Nathaniel Greene:

"I have been in my present quarters since the first day of December and have not had a kitchen to cook a dinner in. Eighteen of my family, and all of Mrs. Ford's, are crowded together in her kitchen, and scarce one of them able to speak for the colds they have caught."

Such inconveniences were nothing in comparison with the hardships faced by the 8,000 to 10,000 soldiers stationed in nearby Jockey Hollow. Their suffering was almost beyond the bearing.

One blizzard between the second and fourth of January, 1780, saw soldiers "buried like sheep under the snow." The storm left snow four to six feet deep on the roads of Morris County.

Troops were often without food and clothing. Washington wrote that "the soldiers eat every kind of horse food but hay," and an officer in Stark's brigade noted "many a good lad had nothing to cover him from his hips to his toes save his blanket."

By mid-winter, the men had built crude log cabins to fend off the weather. They kept warm beside huge inside fireplaces and cooked whatever food they could forage from nearby farms.

Washington spent a total of 200 days in Morristown that winter, always in despair that the combination of cold, starvation, improper clothing and declining morale might totally ruin the American army. But the army stayed together despite these incredible hardships.

Winter dissolved into spring and on May 10, 1780, the Marquis de Lafayette returned from France with the bright news that King Louis XVI had dispatched a major force of six ships and 6,000 well-trained men to aid the Americans.

Washington left the Ford Mansion on June 23, 1780, after carefully inventorying all of the house furnishings. He sent Mrs. Ford replacements for the few items that were broken or missing.

The late Douglass Southall Freeman, distinguished biographer of George Washington, wrote this in 1956:

"A mass of evidence shows that the winter of 1779-80 at Morristown and Jockey Hollow was a period of far worse suffering than the corresponding months of 1777-78 at Valley Forge."

"One finds it somewhat perplexing to know why the hunger and shivering at Morristown have been so nearly forgotten while the misery of the glooming camp on the Schuylkill are known to every child in the fifth grade."

New Jersey can pause on—and ponder—Mr. Freeman's disturbing words.

WILLIAM R. FLEMING of Mountainside was awarded a bachelor's degree in political science cum laude by St. Leo (Fla.) College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fleming.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

New Jersey governmental units received more than $1.5 billion of federal grants-in-aid in fiscal 1974-75, an increase of nearly $200 million over the previous year. The state's taxpayers are estimated to have contributed $2,043.5 million in federal government taxes during the same period, reports the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. The resulting tax-aid ratio of 1.36 placed New Jersey in a virtual four-way tie with Delaware, Connecticut and Illinois for fourth position behind taxpaying leaders Florida, $1.46; Indiana, $1.41; and Ohio, $1.40. New Jersey is one of 20 states whose federal aid tax contributions are estimated to exceed their governments' income from grant payments. In fiscal 1974, the state's rank in tax-aid ratio was second ($1.48).

New Jersey ranked eighth nationally in total federal aid dollars received for fiscal 1975 out of the total of nearly $218.2 billion. The state's share of the national tax burden, according to the Tax Foundation, a national governmental research organization located in New York City, decreased from 4.34 percent in fiscal 1974 to 4.24 percent in fiscal 1975. New Jersey is calculated to be the eighth largest contributor to federal taxes in 1974-75.

Federal aid programs administered in New Jersey in 1974-75 with the largest dollar increase over fiscal 1974 included public assistance, construction of waste treatment facilities, various manpower assistance programs and urban renewal.

Included in the overall aid program total is the general revenue sharing program which paid the state government and recipient municipalities $193.1 million in fiscal 1975, an increase of $2.6 million. That program which expires on Dec. 31 of this year is now being reviewed by the Committee on Government Operations of the House of Representatives. Although the program is expected to be reenacted, a number of changes may be made.

Although Congress acts and a new bill is signed before July 1, many states including New Jersey, which have fiscal years beginning July 1 and whose budgets are now being formulated, will be faced with making adjustments because of the uncertainty of the dollar amount which may be received in the January to June 1977 period. For New Jersey alone this is a cut of $33 million in the state budget. Congressional reenactment is expected to be completed by fall so a new fund allocation is not expected to have a similar adverse impact on municipalities and counties whose fiscal year begin Jan. 1.

Pointing out that the concept of federal aid is not redistribution of tax dollars in direct proportion to tax payments from the states, William H. Tremayne, NJTA president, explained: "While the tax cost vs. aid benefits calculations may oversimplify the extremely complex system of a multitude of federal grant-in-aid programs, each with its formula, administrative regulations and impact, they help to dramatize the proliferation, rise in cost and increasing reliance on such programs."

A recent study by the Comptroller General of the United States recommended that Congress simplify the system of over 975 programs administered by 52 federal agencies. The report suggested consolidation of programs serving similar objectives into broader purpose programs and placing those with like goals in the same agency; provide a consolidation mechanism by amending present law; appropriate and authorize funding for longer than one year so as to eliminate uncertainty.

The federal aid totals are based solely on cash payments for grant-in-aid programs to state and local governments reported by the Treasurer of the United States for fiscal 1975. Excluded from the "aid" totals are payments to individuals and federal contracts with business in the states and "shared" revenues. Another figure which is not reflected in the totals is cost of administering the various grant programs as well as "matching funds" which state and local governments must provide to qualify for certain aid programs.

Hospital honors 11 from borough

Eleven Mountainside residents with more than five years of service as employees of Children's Specialized Hospital have been honored by the local hospital. They were among 48 employees honored at an employee recognition dinner.

Eleanor Pfeifer and Sarah Richards of Mountainside were presented plaques by Richard B. Ahlfeld, director of administration, and Dr. John P. Curran, medical director of the rehabilitative hospital for children, for 25 years or more of service.

With 10-14 years of service are: Marie Badge and Elsie Stickle of Mountainside. Employees with 5-9 years of service include Ethel Bates, Katherine Budgaki, Jack Ferreri, Isabelle Martin, Edna Perrin, Irene Stenzinger, and Bonnie Turner of Mountainside.

3 commencements for FDU

Five Mountainside residents are among nearly 4,000 students receiving degrees this month from Fairleigh Dickinson University, which is holding commencement ceremonies on three campuses.

The local graduates include Mark Felker of Nottingham way, master of public administration; Gary Cantagallo of Short drive and Vivien Doudt of Chapel Hill, bachelor of science; Deborah Davidson, bachelor of arts, and Wayne Lemmerhirt of Saddle Brook road, bachelor of science in electrical engineering.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be received no later than noon on Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 350 words and should be typed with double spacing between all lines (not in capital letters, please). All letters must include a written signature, a complete address and a phone number (for verification purposes only). The writer's name will be withheld only in most unusual circumstances, and at the editor's discretion. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

WILLIAMS OPPOSED

Harrison Williams is head of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee and yet he is accepting campaign funds from organized labor. He is chairman of the securities subcommittee of the Senate and yet is accepting funds from the securities industries.

Recently published election disclosure reports show that Harrison Williams' reelection campaign is being financed primarily by out-of-state contributors from labor and the securities industries. Their contributions make up over 60 percent of his more than $255,000 cash. Ralph Nader has called this "institutionalized bribery." It is a blatant conflict of interest. And the people of New Jersey are hurt by it.

Last year, a securities reform bill which was opposed by Wall Street was amended in Williams' committee. His pension "reform" bill caused 5,000 pension plans to be dropped, and more than 100,000 workers are without pensions as a result.

There is only one way to get rid of undue influence on our lawmakers—replacing those lawmakers who allow themselves to be compromised. This year Harrison Williams is running for his fourth term in the Senate. I believe he should be replaced!

impacts, socioeconomic impacts, social impacts, natural ecological and scenic impacts, air quality, noise impacts, impacts to surface water quality and aquatic biology, water supply, flood potential, construction impacts and historic and archaeological sites. Costs are also estimated for each alternative, including the no-build proposal.

Property losses are also listed for each alternative. These range from nothing for the original proposal to $24 million for the "south-of-the-park" route. This would include a loss of $12 million in ratables in Mountainside, almost all private homes, and $2.25 million in Springfield.

Projected construction costs range from $34,693,000 for the original path to $88,613,000 for the "south-of-the-park" route to $225,184,000 for a proposal to tunnel under much of the reservation.

Copies of the EIS are available for public inspection at the Union County Court House in Elizabeth and the municipal buildings and public libraries in Springfield and Mountainside, as well as other communities directly concerned with the highway construction. Copies will also be available for review at the public hearing and the environmental information sessions.

Any person wishing to present testimony at any specific session may arrange to do so by sending his or her name, address, phone number and preferred speaking time to the Office of Community Involvement, N.J. Department of Transportation, 1035 Parkway, Trenton 08625.

Those who have not signed up in advance will also be allowed to speak at the sessions, as time permits.

Those who wish to comment in writing may do so up to July 31 (30 days after the hearing) to J. F. Andrews, Director of Division of Economic and Environmental Analysis, N. J. Department of Transportation, at the address listed above.

Group endorses 'Pro-Life' Dem

Union County Right to Life this week announced its endorsement of Stephen J. Foley, "Pro-Life Democrat," who will oppose incumbent Sen. Harrison A. Williams in the June 8 primary election. Foley, a trial attorney from Deal, has stressed inflation, unemployment, excessive government spending, forced busing, and morality in government generally.

Grace Dermody of Mountainside, Union County coordinator, said, "Steve Foley will introduce into government decision-making something that has been lacking; morality as a factor in determining policy. He will support and work for a Human Life Amendment which will protect all human lives from the moment of conception to the moment of natural death. It is for these reasons that we urge all New Jersey citizens to cast their vote for Stephen J. Foley on June 8. A vote for Foley," she added, "is a vote for life."

Scholarship won by Miss Fischer

Cathy Fischer of Mountainside, a junior at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., is the recipient of a scholarship awarded by the Lee N. and Grace Q. Vedder Foundation of New York, for her outstanding scholastic achievement this year.

She was also inducted into the Pi Mu Epsilon mathematics honorary society at a recent banquet at the Temperance House in Lewisburg. Miss Fischer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fischer of Old Tote road.

Rusbarsky earns B.A.

Debra A. Rusbarsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rusbarsky of Peachtree Lane, Mountainside, was graduated May 23 from Western Maryland College, Westminster, with a master of education degree, specializing in the area of education for the deaf.

She received her B.A. in elementary education from The Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.

UC plans honors to Mrs. Tomasulo at commencement

Mrs. Elizabeth Tomasulo of Cranford, widow of Superior Court Judge Nicholas A. Tomasulo will be honored by Union College at commencement exercises at 7 p.m. next Wednesday on the East Lawn of the Cranford Campus.

Mrs. Tomasulo will be awarded a citation in recognition of her long support of Union College, according to Dr. Saul Orkin, president.

Mrs. Tomasulo has endowed the Tomasulo Art Gallery at Union College in memory of her husband and donated three scholarships annually, two to pre-law students in recognition of her husband's profession and one to a student majoring in arts, which recognizes her own interest in the arts.

The director's office in the former Union College Library in the Nomahegan Building was Judge Tomasulo's gift in memory of his mother.

"Mrs. Tomasulo has been a vital part of Union College since it first came to Cranford in 1942," Dr. Orkin said, "and it is most fitting that the college give formal recognition to her efforts on its behalf."

Mrs. Tomasulo, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mueller, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Tomasulo, have all attended Union College.

"It's part of the family," she says, describing her interest in the college.

Mrs. Tomasulo's other interests include membership in the Museum of Modern Art, a partnership in two dance studios, playing the piano and the Foster Parents Plan, through which she has supported two Korean war orphans.

Mrs. Tomasulo holds the Distinctive Supreme Award, the highest honor which can be bestowed on an amateur in international dance by the Imperial Society of London. She studied drama at the Provincetown Playhouse in Greenwich Village and during World War II managed her husband's law office while he served in the Navy.

Art Center offers summer classes

The Summit Art Center is offering introductory through advanced art classes for children and adults. Classes, arranged to fit summer schedules, are available in the morning, early or late afternoon, or evening.

The classes will meet once a week for a six-week period beginning June 21, and include a variety of approaches to drawing, painting, graphics, sculpture, photography, off-loom weaving, jewelry and pottery. A four-day workshop is planned for Aug. 3, 4, 5 and 6 in nature photography, ceramic sculpture and watercolor.

Classes are limited to 15 and applications are accepted in order of paid receipt on a first come, first served basis. Registration may be mailed to the center or made in person June 4, 5 and 7 through 11 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and the evening of June 8 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

A free class brochure and information is available by calling 273-9121 or visiting the center at 68 Elm st.

SAILING SHIPS?

If the cost of fuel keeps climbing and the wind stays free, commercial sailing ships may ply the oceans of the world again, concludes a study for the U.S. Maritime Administration conducted by a team of University of Michigan researchers.

Lindenite to be speaker at UC's commencement

Miss Judith Goldberg of Linden will be among the principal speakers when associate degrees are conferred upon 450 men and women in Union College's 42nd annual commencement exercises next Wednesday at 7 p.m. on the Cranford Campus.

For the second consecutive year, the principal speakers will be drawn from among the graduates themselves. Miss Goldberg will represent the full-time students and Mrs. Elaine L. Haith of Rahway will represent the part-time students.

Both students were nominated by the faculty and were selected by their respective student government associations and advisors on the basis of their ability to formulate their ideas and to communicate them to an audience. Miss Goldberg represents the Student Government Association for full-time students; Mrs. Haith is representative of the Collegiate Senate, the student government association for part-time students.

Miss Goldberg, a liberal arts-education major, is a sophomore representative to the Student Government Association, chairperson of UC and U.S. handicapped students' organization, and vice-president of the Jewish Student Organization. She was elected for inclusion in the 1976 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges." The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Goldberg and a graduate of David Brearley Regional High School, Miss Goldberg has studied at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, where she worked on a kibbutz. She plans to complete her baccalaureate studies at New York University and looks forward to a career

Hardwick scores new county code

Calling the new County Administrative Code poorly designed, Charles L. Hardwick, Republican freeholder candidate, said this week that it brings "bigger county government at higher cost to the taxpayers rather than economies."

"Just six days after the code took effect, county officials last week proposed a major and expensive revision—creation of a whole new department," Hardwick said.

"The code consolidated the important areas of roads and bridges and county engineer, including planning new construction, and Division of Buildings and Grounds under one department to increase efficiency," the GOP hopeful pointed out. "Now, the freeholders have done an about-face and proposed a separate county engineering department."

Silvey opposes gun control laws

Donald N. Silvey of Union, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Union County freeholder, has announced his opposition to pending gun control legislation in Trenton and Washington.

"Gun control may be the most hotly contested issue ever brought before the American people. Pro gun people, rightly to my mind, quote the Second Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, which gives the citizenry the right to keep and bear arms," Silvey said.

Silvey is running for office on the ticket headed by Howard Freund, who is seeking the 12th Congressional District Democratic nomination. On the same slate is Henry Kielbasa of Linden and Anthony Di Maio of Elizabeth, who are running for freeholder in the Democratic primary with Silvey.

Scholarships awarded in gas firm's contest

Lori Kosusko of Newton has won the top $1,000 scholarship prize in the 12th annual Project HELP (Home Economics Life-time Program) finals, sponsored by Elizabethtown Gas.

The two other finalists, Petra Pletscher of Westfield and Carol Devitt of Rahway, each earned a $250 scholarship. In addition, each finalist was previously awarded savings bonds totaling $75 for qualifying as school champions and regional finalists.

YWCA has flea market

The Young Women's Christian Association will sponsor a Flea Market on Saturday, June 12, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. outside the YWCA, 1131 E. Jersey st., Elizabeth. The Flea Market will raise money for youth to go to Camp Yawaca this summer. Young people will sell merchandise and apply donations they receive to the camp fee. Anyone who wishes to sell merchandise may call Sandra Jones for more details at 355-1500. The YMCA will supply the tables and chairs.

Seven parades in long weekend

The Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps will march in seven parades over the Memorial Day weekend, starting with a parade in Scotch Plains Saturday at 10 a.m. and Woodbridge and Edison Sunday.

Monday, the corps will be the lead unit in Cranford's parade at 9 a.m. and then proceed to Roselle Park and West Paterson. The final march will be in Garfield at 2 p.m.

Buggelli presses House to vote on revenue sharing

Richard A. Buggelli of Union, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in Union County, has asked Congressman Jack Brooks of Texas, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, to see that the federal revenue sharing is brought to the floor for consideration by the full House of Representatives.

Calling the bill "one of the most important to come before Congress during the current session," Buggelli urged immediate action on the bill to enable local officials to do fiscal planning for their communities.

The bill, Buggelli pointed out, continues funding at the level of $6.5 billion annually for 1 and 1/2 years under a formula in which states receive one-third of the money and local governments two-thirds.

"Additionally," the Democratic candidate noted, "the bill provides for suspension of the funding when it is used in a way which discriminates on the basis of religion, race, sex or handicap."

Buggelli said, "The bill's passage is vital to the interests of the people of Union County because it will enable them to continue to enjoy the benefits of many fine programs which are funded by revenue sharing."

Area's Eagle Scouts honored at Council recognition dinner

The Union Council Boy Scouts held its 18th annual recognition dinner for Eagle Scouts last week at the First Presbyterian Church, Cranford. Thirty young men were honored at a dinner attended by Stewart Kean, Council president, and J.R. Lewis, Scout executive.

Each Eagle Scout attended as the guest of a sponsor related to the young man's future vocational interest, ranging from archaeology to astronomy to law to dentistry to baseball. Parents and Scoutmasters of the boys also attended.

The Eagle Scouts ran their own program with James Cregge of Rahway's Troop 47, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, serving as MC.

The honored Eagle Scouts included: Ronald C. Berry, James J. Catena, Mark B. Cheben, Jeffrey Rios, from Troop 68, Union, sponsored by Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church, scoutmaster Gerald Batchelder; Paul O'Connor of Troop 89, Union, sponsored by St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, scoutmaster Walter Kowalski; Michael Halloran of Troop 85, Union, sponsored by Holy Spirit Roman Catholic Church, scoutmaster Frank Bruno; Peter T. Rossomando of Troop 70, Springfield, sponsored by First Presbyterian Church, scoutmaster Frank Phillips; Alan Grossman of Troop 172, Springfield, sponsored by Lions Club of Springfield, scoutmaster Daniel J. Duffy.

Kenneth R. Hergenhan and Harry O'Connell of Troop 34, Linden, sponsored by Reformed Church of Linden, scoutmaster James H. Ebel; Thomas J. Guerriero, Ronald P. McGovern and Richard J. Tutela of Troop 330, Clark-Linden sponsored by St. John The Apostle Roman Catholic Church, scoutmaster Don Daniel and George A. Brennan of Troop 57, Roselle, sponsored by First Baptist Church of Roselle, scoutmaster Joe Pilkington.

Lung Association selects officers

George Kotuby of Rahway has been elected president of the Central New Jersey Lung Association, serving Union, Middlesex and Hudson counties.

Miss Katherine D. Cass of Union was reelected vice-president. George Waidelich of Clark was elected treasurer and James Baldin of Berkeley Heights was elected secretary.

The Lung Association raises funds to combat emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis and other lung disorders. The group, affiliated with the American Lung Association, the nation's oldest voluntary health organization, founded in 1904, also fights air pollution.

Borough booters fielding 10 men, give up one goal

Last Sunday the Mountaintop Recreation soccer team, fielding only 10 players, held Somerset Hills (Bernardsville) to a lone goal while losing by a 1-0 score. Playing with a lineup containing only three forwards, the Mountaintop booters nevertheless had several scoring opportunities on fast breaks. But the team was handicapped in applying continued pressure following up its fast breaks.

The halfbacks, Tom Ragno, Paul Krause and Patrick Knodel, worked harder than ever to support the forwards when possible. Krause, in particular, played an outstanding game. His defensive tackling at midfield and his ball control in support of the forwards were exceptional.

Fullbacks Alex Geacintov, Chucker Dooley and Chris Shields handled the defense well. Dooley blocked the center effectively, forcing the opponents to the outside. Somerset Hills, with its one-man advantage, was prevented from exerting sustained pressure as the Mountaintop defense cleared the ball well from its goal area.

Mark Boyd, substituting for the regular goalie, handled 15 saves very well. The opponents' lone goal, at 27 minutes, resulted from a one-on-one thrust which developed suddenly near the goal.

Forwards Tim Harrigan, Tom Hueblig and Don Rodriguez were forced to rely more than usual on fast-break and quick-passing plays. Three plays nearly resulted in scores—twice on shots rolling just wide of the goal post and once when booted just over the crossbar.

Coaches John Knodel and Robert Shields had warm praise for the team's play. They are looking forward to the remaining games on the next three Sundays. This Sunday the team faces Summit at Unami Park, Cranford.

Braves turn back Padres in softball; Cards top Astros

Last week in the Springfield girls' softball National League, the Braves slipped by the Padres, 17-16.

Angela Pinos, the winning pitcher for the Braves, struck out seven Padres. Amy Walsh hit two triples and had a total of five RBI. Dawn Morelli and Susan Chesley hit doubles for the Braves. The score was tied in the last inning until Linda Anagnos drove in the winning run.

Sandy Albert did an outstanding pitching job. Sandy and Geryl Pollack were strong on defense. Michele Calbrese led the Padres with a home run, a triple with bases loaded and a double with bases loaded.

The Cardinals beat the Astros, 17-5. Doreen

Dayton track team trounces Linden to end season at 11-1

By AMY GELTZELER
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team concluded its regular season last week by defeating Linden, 91-39. The team had a sensational Suburban Conference dual meet record of seven triumphs and no losses. The team was 11-1 overall.

In the Linden victory, Hugh Cole swept first place in both the 100-yard dash and 220-yard

McCrossen was the winning pitcher for the Cardinals, striking out nine batters, and led the Cardinals in batting with a home run and a double. Sandy Pohlman and Lynn Schmidt hit home runs. Lori Pohlman, Carol Lombardi, Gina Pashaian, Ruth Steinberg, Sandra Matrick and Lisa Lauton had hits. Stephanie Kaplan, Marci Karr, Robin Rosen, Gina Pashaian, Maureen Smyth and JoAnne Fusco were outstanding in the field.

Katie Bernstein led the Astros with a two-run homer in the third inning. Sharon French hit a triple in the second inning. Dawn Delia had a triple.

run. Harry Kaish took second in the 440, and Billy Bjerstad placed first in the 880-yard run. Jim Stadler placed first in the mile run, and Charles Kiel took first in the two-mile. Dayton swept the shotgun event with Brandon Gambee placing first; Andy Herkalo, second, and John Giuliana, third.

Bob Potomski placed first in the discus; Don Lusardi was second, and Herkalo placed third. Bobby Conte took first in the javelin; Steve Pepe took second, and Larry Grant took third.

Dominick Broccolieri placed first in the pole vault, and Kevin Doty took first in the high jump. Frank Ruggieri placed first in the high hurdles, and Ruggieri and Pepe tied for first in the intermediate hurdles.

Coach Martin Taglienti said that the season was a huge success. He added, "This was going to be a rebuilding year for the team, but we ended up with an outstanding record. The team only had five seniors this year, so next year we should be strong contenders."

Netmen defeat N. Providence as Hess stars

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School tennis team, behind the play of Peter Hess, won its first match in Suburban Conference play, beating New Providence, 3-2 and improving its overall record to 6-10. The Netmen were defeated by Verona later in the week, falling to 6-11.

In the New Providence match, Joel Allen, playing at first singles ousted his opponent. Donn Fishbein was defeated but Kelly Evans and Neil Meisel were victorious in doubles. Gary Nestler and Eric Strulowitz were whipped, 6-1, 6-0, putting the score at 2-2. Hess was not finished in his match and was forced to go to New Providence later in the week to finish the match. He won coming on strong in the third set to give Dayton its first conference victory.

Against a rugged Verona squad, the Bulldogs dropped a 3-2 decision. The match was extremely long. Joel Allen's match especially. With the teams tied at two-all, Allen was on the spot. He was defeated in a very close match. Donn Fishbein, exhibiting fine control, defeated his opponent, as did Danny Schlessinger.

This was not enough. At first doubles Rich Simon and Peter Hess fell to a strong pair. The second doubles couple of Mickey Gottlieb and Alan Layton was also ousted.

Klinefelters gets six goals to pace Dragons' victory

The STP-6 (5-0-1) and Silver Hawks (2-3-1) played superb defensive floor ball for 32 minutes with goalies Mike Lemmerman and Frank Bladis making spectacular saves before Coach Jack Wasowski and student Brian Kukon scored in the final eight minutes for a 2-0 victory by the Student Teacher Player Six last week in early morning floor ball play in the boys gym in the Dayton Regional Daily Intramural Program Physical Education Recreation (DIPPER).

Excellent passing, dribbling, trapping and tackling were exhibited by Steve Cohen, Bob Kozub, Lou Fasulo, Jack Floo, Steve Roth, Andy Armour and Bruce Burnett as both teams played outstanding floor ball.

The Red Barons (5-1) kept pressure on the league-leading STP-6 as they came back from a 1-0 deficit—as the result of Pat Knodel's early period score for Gold Rushers (1-5)—to post an 8-1 victory. Harry Irwin slammed in a three-goal hat trick. Gary Scheich and Joe Sangregorio had two goals each and Bryant Burke one. Van Vitale, Steve Hechtel and goalie Steve Shindler excelled on defense. Tony Sangregorio, Rick Spina, Jeff Brown, Jeff Vargas, Jeff Lubash and Steve Geltman sparked for the Rushers.

The Green Dragons (3-1-2) roared to an 8-3 triumph over the Blue Castaways (0-6) in a game highlighted by Paul Klinefelter's six goals and Hee Young Lee's six assists. Tom Grimm and John Irwin scored single goals off assists by Alan Layton. Mike Wittenberg sparked for the Dragons in the goal after giving up three early goals to the Castaways (Gregg Moroze and Bruce Davison (two)). Mike French, Ron Scoppettuo, Joe DeCarlo, Joe Pattetta and Rob Schneider played good ball for the Castaways.

Women's softball entries accepted

Communities in Union County may enter a team in each division of the fifth annual Union County Girls' Softball Tournaments to be conducted by the Union County Park Commission.

Play will begin in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, on Saturday, June 12, continuing on Sunday, June 13, and on Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20.

Three divisions will make up the tournaments: Fourth, fifth and sixth grades;

Caldwell nine outlasts Regional in 13 innings

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team was ousted by Caldwell after rallying to tie the game in the seventh inning. Caldwell's 13th inning run sent the Bulldogs to their eighth straight Suburban Conference defeat, 4-3.

The Bulldogs tied the game in the seventh when Rich Weber, who collected two hits in the contest, singled to center field to open the inning. Joe Mirto then hit into a fielder's choice, retiring Weber, and putting Mirto on first. A passed ball advanced him to second and then John Kronert drew a walk, putting runners on first and second.

Two passed balls allowed Mirto to score and Kronert to advance to third. Bob Rawlins was given an unintentional pass to first, and then third baseman Pete Episcope drilled a single to tie the game. Pete was then thrown out attempting to steal second base.

In the bottom of the seventh, Joe Graziانو took over for starter Mike Petro and pitched brilliantly, giving up but one hit in seven tense innings and striking out five. In the 13th, Bob Ferrara of Caldwell came home on a throwing error, plummeting Dayton to a 5-13 record on the year.

Also aiding Dayton's cause were Ed McCaine (two hits) and Joe Mirto, Bob Rawlins and John Kronert, who banged out singles. On the defense, the combination of John Kronert, Bob Rawlins and Joe Mirto turned over two double plays.

Dayton also faced the Alumni, coming out on top, 6-2. Joe Mirto slammed a homerun. Stu Ruff blasted a triple and Ed McCaine rocketed a double in a winning game. Returning alumni included Billy Bohrod, Derek Nardone, Eric and Evan Wasserman, Ricky Wnek, Frank Phillipone, Norm Shindler and Paul Cristo.

Yanks, Angels, Red Sox win one-sided games in American

The Springfield Girls American Softball League continued play last week despite the bad weather. The Yankees crushed the Indians, 18-7. Wednesday, Diane Torres led the Yankees with her first grand slam homer. Karen Doty, Valerie Ragonese and Cheryl Pittenger were outstanding fielders in the game. Laura Clarke returned to action, after suffering an arm injury, to help. The Indians' Carol Wolfson hit a home run while Nancy Kennedy and Cathy Markworth went three for three at the plate. Robin Korbin was the most improved player for the Indians.

The Angels surprised the Royals, 20-11. Hal Arnold coached the Angels to their first victory with help from his brother Alan. Ann Marie Cook and Lisa Weltchek led the batting with a homerun, triple and double apiece. Lynne Murray and Eileen Penn each had a triple. Rosemarie Harkalo and Jennifer Malin each had two doubles while Debbie Vogt had two seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and 10th, 11th and 12th grades. The teams submitted from each community may be either organized teams from a league or all-star teams. Distance between bases, pitching distance and the number of innings per game will vary by the classes of the tournaments. Fifteen individual trophies will be awarded to members of the winning team in each division.

All entries must be submitted by tomorrow at 5 p.m. to Leo Spirito, tournament director, The Union County Park Commission, P.O. Box 275, Elizabeth 07207, with a $15 entry fee for each team entered.

doubles and a triple. Julie Lauton and Jessica Malin had a double apiece. Karen Hudgins had a double and a triple and was the winning pitcher, by striking out seven batters. Debbie Vogt had an unassisted double play in the third inning. Judy Hinkley had a double and two RBI and Jane Austin had a triple and one RBI. Karen Semel and Jill McShea played an outstanding defensive game.

The Red Sox defeated the Indians, 19-1. Friday. All the players scored for the Red Sox. Melissa Monticello and Linda Graziانو paced the Red Sox with their hitting and fielding. Coached by Laurie Powell and Ann Maguire, Diane Greico, Jackie Pecorona and Patty French displayed outstanding fielding ability. Ruth Brown showed her hitting ability. Carol Wolfson continued her homer streak for the Indians' only run. Marci Einshorn had two hits and Maggie McCabe was the most improved player.

The Yankees had to forfeit their game because of lack of players, but, with the help of nonmembers Jill McShea and Lynne Murray, defeated the White Sox, 6-5. The White Sox led until the final inning when Karen Doty drove in the winning run for the Yankees. Diane Torres was the winning pitcher. Valerie Ragonese led the hitting and Lisa Agrilo made two outstanding catches in the outfield.

Convention slate supports Reagan

A Republican nominating convention delegate slate backing former California Gov. Ronald Reagan has filed the necessary petitions for a place on the ballot in the 12th Congressional District in the June 8 primary election.

Until recently, the New Jersey GOP primary ballot was going to list only one slate of delegates headed by Clifford Case and generally favoring President Gerald R. Ford for reelection, according to Kurt C. Bauer, chairman of the Union County Volunteers for Regan organization.

The 12th District candidates are Manuel Fernandez of Elizabeth, William Dean of Fanwood and Jeffrey Burslem and Philip Steinhauer, both of Westfield. Alternate delegate candidates are Mary Judith Heatly of Westfield and Ione Whitlock and Lucille Dean, both of Fanwood. The Regan slate will appear on Line B of the primary ballot.

Interfaith service slated as Bicentennial rite

Elizabethtown Week—a Bicentennial interfaith service of worship—will be held next Monday at 4 p.m. at Elizabeth's First Presbyterian Church, the oldest English-speaking congregation in New Jersey. The church, established by the founders of Elizabethtown, the spiritual home of many Revolutionary heroes, including the "fighting parson," James Caldwell.

Various aspects of the occasion's theme, "Out of Many, One; Diversity in Unity," will be covered in short addresses.

During Elizabethtown Week, organ recitals are scheduled June 2 by Richard V. Crater,

Seniors' fair on Saturday

A plaque will be presented to the Elizabeth Old Guard Orchestra at Saturday's Senior Citizens Fair. The orchestra, which has performed for many civic and charitable groups, will be honored for its dedication to senior citizens.

The fair, sponsored by the Union County Senior Citizens Council and the Union County Office on Aging, will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Kean College, Union. The program will include exhibits, speakers, displays of crafts and hobbies, information booths, entertainment and refreshments.

Government hit on expenditures

Howard Freund of Roselle Park, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 12th Congressional District seat, has accused the state and federal governments of "bankrupting the working people of America."

"We are going bankrupt in America through a tax system that is literally destroying the middle class in our nation. Today taxes take away more of our earnings than we spend on the necessities of life," Freund said.

Freund said the average resident of the area spends about 54 percent of his total wages "for a school system that gets worse each year, for cities in which we are no longer safe and for a world where we are hated more and more. If we don't stop this tax madness caused by government spending at all levels, the entire economy will collapse of its own weight," Freund said.

Billington to head Tri-Hospital unit

George F. Billington, president of Elizabeth General Hospital, has been elected president of the Tri-Hospital Fund of Elizabeth.

Billington succeeds Sister Ellen Patricia Meade, chief executive officer of St. Elizabeth Hospital, who has served as president of the fund since it was organized in 1974.

The Tri-Hospital Fund of Elizabeth is a non-profit corporation which sponsors an annual giving program of financial assistance of Alexian Brothers, Elizabeth General and Saint Elizabeth Hospitals. The three hospitals combine their fund-raising efforts and share the results.

Development courses offered by UC at Summer Session I

Developmental courses in English, mathematics and science to assist students in preparing for college-level courses in these areas will be offered in Union College's Summer Session I, it was announced this week by Prof. John Wheeler of Westfield, director.

The non-credit courses include: introduction to mathematical concepts, trigonometry, elementary algebra, intermediate algebra, basic physics, introductory chemistry, communication skills and developmental reading.

Developmental courses are designed primarily for students who have had insufficient high school preparation in these areas or who need to review basic concepts before enrolling in credit courses.

In addition to developmental courses, Union College's Summer Session I, which runs from June 1 through July 9, will offer nearly 100 credit courses, paralleling the freshman and sophomore offerings at four-year institutions, and more than 10 non-credit enrichment courses designed to meet personal and professional goals.

Credits earned at Union College are accepted by most colleges and universities in the United States and abroad or may be applied toward an associate degree at Union College.

BUILDINGS & GRAVEYARD FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BROAD STREET, ELIZABETH

In the First Presbyterian Church graveyard on Broad Street, Elizabeth, there are 2,032 known grave locations, as well as several that remain unknown. Many of these graves hold the remains of colonial Elizabethtown's most famous and ardent patriots whose contributions to the cause of liberty will serve as inspirations to generations yet unborn.

Because the cost of permanent stone markers were prohibitive until early in the 18th century, the graves were marked by wooden tablets and crosses. These soon deteriorated because of the weather and were lost for all time.

The oldest stone in the cemetery is dated 1687, and is now set in the rear wall of the church. The last burial took place in 1916 and it is unlikely that there will be any more. About 225 soldiers who fought in the wars of their country are buried here ranging in rank from privates to commanding generals. Five former ministers of the church are also interred here.

Below is listed just a few of the people buried in this historic old graveyard:

1. Thomas Lawrence Stone; oldest in graveyard (set in wall).
2. Hannah Phinney Stone; only woman known to be buried inside the church.
3. Daughters of 1812 Memorial; honoring men who fought in that war.
4. Sons of American Revolution Tablet; recognizing the founding of this church in 1664.
5. New England Women's Plaque; recognizing the first settlers of the town.
6. The Versailles Chandelier; given by King Louis XVI to Elias Boudinot and presented to the church by him.
7. "Stop, Passenger!" Stone; originally the marker over the graves of James and Hannah Caldwell.
8. The Sunday School Plaque; recognizing the founding of the Sunday School in 1814.
9. The Nicholas Murray Monument; burial site of the 14th minister of the church, who died in 1861.
10. Gen. Elias Dayton Vault; grave of Revolutionary War commander.
11. Boudinot Family Plot; graves of family of Elias Boudinot, statesman, founder of American Bible Society.
12. Location of grave of Rev. John Harriman, minister from 1687-1705. The original wooden marker has been destroyed.
13. Gov. Aaron Ogden Monument; grave of a great soldier and statesman.
14. Gen. Matthias Ogden Slab; grave of Revolutionary War commander.
15. Gen. William Crane Grave; Revolutionary War commander.
16. Jonathan Ogden Grave; a Founding Father of New Jersey.
17. Benjamin Ogden Grave; a Founding Father of New Jersey.
18. Rev. Jonathan Dickinson Grave; minister from 1708 to 1747, leader of early Presbyterian movement, founder and first President of College of N.J. (now Princeton University).
19. Caldwell Monument; Graves of Rev. James Caldwell and Hannah, his wife, who were shot dead in the Revolutionary War.
20. McDowell Monument; grave of Rev. John McDowell, minister from 1804 to 1833, founder of the Sunday School in 1814.
21. Hannah Arnett Grave; a famous heroine of Revolutionary War.
22. Shepard Kollock Grave; Revolutionary War officer and founder of "The Jersey Journal," first newspaper in the state.
23. Whitaker Memorial Stone; a memorial to Rev. William Force Whitaker, D.D., minister from 1907 to 1916.

We wish to thank Rev. Raymond L. Wallace, Ph.D. of the First Presbyterian Church for supplying the information and sketch of the grave sites that appear in this column.

Did You Know

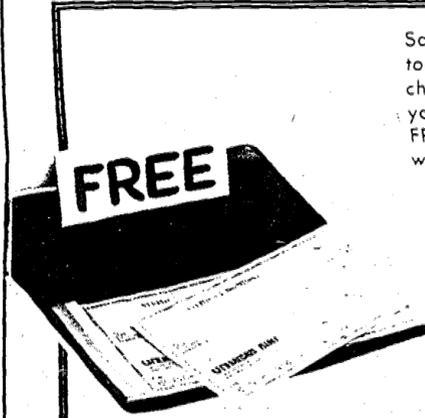

... that the oldest cemetery markers in the First Presbyterian Church graveyard on Broad Street date back to August and October of 1687. They mark the graves of brothers, Samuel and Thomas Lawrence who died at the ages of 15 and 19 respectively. The boys, who died a few weeks apart, were the step-sons of Philip Carteret, the first colonial governor of this territory.

New bills are criticized as fostering state authority over local health units

By DR. HENRY BIERN
Springfield Health Officer

Local home rule has been a headache to Charlemagne, Napoleon, Abe Lincoln. It's been a pain to any governor New Jersey ever had. Home rule is logically the other end of the tug-line to centralized government. The result is a battle for power, an inevitable consequence of close but competitive political spheres.

Ever since 1968 each New Jersey State administration tried in its own way to centralize local health departments under actual or quasi-state control. The reasons lie in the facts of power inherent in health law and in the traditional weakness of health financing and leadership.

The state recognizes how battles over land use are less likely to be lost to judicial decisions when the arguments are soundly health-biased rather than zone-biased. This health-environmental reality in New Jersey is increasingly recognized by each central administration. It is recognized that fingers holding the health pulse may easily become the fist of political opportunism.

The Department of Environmental Protection is a state-centralized instrument created in great part to dilute powers of local health autonomy and of the State Department of Health. The excursions of "environmentalism" into public health carries a healthful tone, but the peculiar phenomenon is that health departments lose money to environmental departments, and the planning initiatives pass from health professionals to engineers, from epidemiologists to the practical politics of a laboratory's last burrah.

The State Department of Environmental Protection is a nice name for practical earth politics. We have seen the observance by the DEP of New Jersey's high cancer rate and its association with air pollution, while the DEP at the same time recommended relaxation of factory emission standards that would allow more air pollution.

It is no coincidence that emission controls were relaxed by the DEP while Gov. Brendan T. Byrne had a tax fight needing all the industrial and labor support he could get, by promising the emissions relaxations desired by industry and labor. The DEP means health by public relations. It works from the governor's office. Centralization of health environmental power in New Jersey is a stabilizer for the political health of New Jersey.

Gov. Byrne recently signed Bill S-130, a bill which orders municipal governments to maintain health departments in any one of three ways. The municipality may construct and maintain its own health department, an expensive proposition for small municipal units, or the municipality may join in a region by contract with other municipalities under a single health officer, or the municipality may become part of a county health department.

Should the municipality become part of a county health department, all health-environmental functions would be taken over by the county, which will establish laws, programs and budgets for the municipality, and apply local taxes to maintain the personnel and programs. The county will also dissolve all local boards of health.

County government in New Jersey has never been as tight as municipal control. County government is also more aligned to state government.

It would be far easier for any state government to maintain controls of local health departments through county health departments. It would therefore be reasonable to expect the state to coerce municipalities not yet aligned to health departments to become absorbed into county units.

True to form, in all memos and releases on the new law, the state has placed public relations priority on the formation of county health departments while practically ignoring the other two possibilities open to cities and towns.

Motorist escapes as car capsizes

An 18-year-old New Providence man apparently escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when his auto overturned on Rt. 24 near the Baltusrol way bridge in Springfield.

According to police, Robert Swanton was driving west on the highway at 12:53 a.m. when his auto hit a concrete island as he attempted to change lanes. The car flipped over and skidded on its roof, coming to rest upright atop a guard rail.

Swanton, suffering from shock and knee and wrist injuries, was taken to Overlook Hospital, Summit, by the Springfield First Aid Squad. He was treated and released.

Field day events, Philadelphia trip close school year

Teachers and students at St. James School, Springfield have planned a variety of activities to bring the school year to an end.

A field day under the direction of Mrs. Lynn Emmett, physical education instructor, will be held Wednesday. Grades one through eight will participate in athletic events.

Members of Mrs. Ann Mulligan's fourth grade class and Mrs. Lucille Tagazzo's fifth grade class will help celebrate the nation's birthday with a trip to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Margaret Truskowski's sixth grade and Miss Margaret Thompson's seventh grade are planning a trip to Peekskill Ranch in New York. The eighth grade will spend a day at Mt. Airy Lodge in Pennsylvania. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Patricia Cassa, eighth grade teacher.

The St. James School Guild executive board is planning a supper on Friday, June 4, at the school. Board members and faculty have been invited to attend this affair.

A communion breakfast, sponsored by seventh grade mothers for the eighth grade graduating class, will be held on Friday, June 11, in the school auditorium. Graduation exercises will follow that evening in St. James Church.

Getting to the point, prepare for delays, postponements and untimely interruptions. Make no promises that you knowingly cannot fulfill.

Many under your sign will be blessed with the good fortune of having a second chance. Meaning? A project you have neglected, will be revived.

Sharp, cagey and cunning, that's the terms that best describe most members of your sign. So, put your persuasive powers to work during this cosmic cycle.

This week, put wishful thinking where it belongs. Don't be led down any garden path by a fast talker who wants to give you the "whole world."

You're not one who takes romantic gestures, lightly. Nevertheless, you must dismiss certain overtures sent out by a member of the opposite sex.

Personal magnetism and the ability to persuade, seems to be in the scheme of things, for Libra. You'll have your own way, during this cosmic cycle.

Through your own effort, you'll face greater tasks and pressures. Meet things "one by one" and keep on plugging. Long delayed gains should materialize, this week.

You might be at odds with your boss or superior. Take the philosophical attitude that: You can't beat City Hall. Guard your words, a set back is possible.

According to your chart, you could be heading toward a few financial problems. Name one? Spending too much money on a pet project or hobby.

A member of the opposite sex might silently accuse you of shaping into a different personality. Apparently, your attention will be drawn to things other than affairs of the heart.

It's a certainty that most Aquarians will play the part of the martyr on vacation plans. Take what is due you, even though your co-workers or relatives object.

Feel secure in the knowledge, your ability for making decisions is nearing its peak. So, take advantage of this favorable influence: meet this week's problems—confidently!

For Teenagers About

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I am 17 years old and my problem is guys. I like two guys but one of them just went in the Army a year ago and he doesn't know that I like him. I was planning on waiting on him until he comes home. But now I met another guy who is crazy about me. I don't know who to choose. The guy in the Army is 21 and the guy I just met is 26. I was going to tell the latter about the former but I don't have the nerve. I don't want to hurt him. What should I do? I need help. Can you please give me advice?

OUR REPLY: All we can do is tell you how we think might be a good way to take care of the situation. From what you've written the answer seems easy. If the Army guy has been gone a year and doesn't even know how you feel, chances are he's making it without you. So, why not return some of the attention to the guy who's "crazy" about you. Share your feelings with him about the guy in the Army. Tell him the truth. Be honest. Communicate, clearly. It's your responsibility, it's your life. Make the most of it.

BOND-A-MATIC

A new type of thrift program is being offered by many of the nation's corporations—in cooperation with the Department of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division. Called "Bond-a-Matic," the new program relates to contributions toward social security under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA), and the voluntary authorization of employees for continuance of these contributions after the statutory $15,300 of FICA income is completed.

Continued allotments after completion of the contribution to social security to be applied towards purchase of U.S. Series F Savings Bonds will be made only through the consent of those willing to participate. Here's how "Bond-a-Matic" works: Social security deductions begin Jan. 1 of each year. The deductions continue until 5.85 percent of the first $15,300 of annual income is reached, amounting to a contribution of $895.05. Under the "Bond-a-Matic" plan, allotments are continued throughout the calendar year with the amount withheld, beyond the original $895.05 for social security being applied towards the purchase of savings bonds.

Based on quarterly estimates from past years, the social security administration indicates that more than 11 million workers covered by FICA exceed the required salary level and are eligible for "Bond-a-Matic." The plan is not a substitute for but is a supplement to the regular U.S. savings bonds payroll savings program.

Jersey's Black River RR bucks trend

Freight and tourist line grows 60 pct. longer

The Black River & Western Railroad, a locally-owned and operated shortline railroad in central New Jersey, has grown in length from 12 miles to a little over 19 miles. This over-60 percent growth for the New Jersey freight and tourist-passenger line comes at a time when other rail routes in the northeast are being cut back in size, as the ConRail plan takes effect.

At its northern end, the BR&W has acquired approximately five miles of former Central Railroad of New Jersey (CNJ) trackage, from downtown Flemington northeastward to Three Bridges. The former CNJ trackage through downtown Flemington is to be entirely rebuilt by the BR&W. "This rebuilding will eliminate the frequent derailments that had plagued CNJ freight trains in the past, resulting from the deteriorated condition of the track under its former owner. Now that the BR&W has taken over ownership and operation of this track, the roadbed will be rebuilt to a much higher and safer standard. Most of this work will be accomplished during the present calendar year," a railroad spokesman said.

At its southern end, the BR&W has acquired approximately two and one-half miles of former Penn Central right-of-way along the Delaware River. The BR&W now extends into downtown Lambertville. Three rail customers in Lambertville are now utilizing BR&W freight services.

The newly-acquired trackage was added to the Black River & Western by means of purchase agreements between the BR&W RR, the United States Railway Association and the Consolidated Rail Corporation (ConRail). Instrumental in bringing the agreements to fruition were the Borough Councils of Flemington and Lambertville, the freeholders of Hunterdon County, the New Jersey State Department of Transportation and the offices of U.S. Rep. Helen Meyner and U.S. Senators Clifford Case and Harrison Williams.

The independent Black River & Western RR has been operating in Hunterdon County since 1965. The line hauls freight the year around for customers in Flemington and Lambertville.

During the spring, summer, and fall, the BR&W operates tourist passenger trains on a regular schedule between Turntable Junction in Flemington and Ringoes. Old No. 60, a steam locomotive built in 1937, pulls these trains. Old No. 60, which has served the BR&W for 11 years, recently was given an extensive overhaul in the BR&W locomotive shop at Ringoes. For the first time this year, regular passenger trains are operating Sundays into downtown Lambertville. These trains connect with the Delaware River ferry to New Hope, Pa.

The future looks bright for the locally-owned and operated railroad. An additional 1600 hp diesel locomotive has been purchased to accommodate the increased freight traffic, and talks are in progress to obtain an additional steam locomotive to help No. 60 with the passenger trains. In the industrial scene in the northeast these days, it is rare to find a thriving railroad.

Unemployment incidence tied to education, statistics show

The incidence of unemployment is inversely related to education, Herbert Bienstock, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said last week.

Results of a special BLS labor force survey in October 1975 showed that when the overall national jobless rate was 9.0 percent, unemployment rates for Americans 16 to 24 who were not enrolled in school ranged from 8.3 percent for college graduates and 10.5 percent for those with some college to 13.6 percent for high school graduates and 25.3 percent for high school dropouts.

Bienstock indicated that the pattern of lower unemployment rates at higher levels of education was true for both white and black young people. Among whites 16 to 24, not enrolled in school, unemployment rates in October 1975 were 22.8 percent for high school dropouts, 12.3 percent for high school graduates, 9.3 percent for those with some college and 8.4 percent for college graduates. Among blacks, jobless rates were 35.4, 24.1, 20.3 and 6.2 percent, respectively, Bienstock said.

The proportion of youth in the labor force tends to rise with educational attainment, Bienstock noted. In October 1975, he said, 77.8 percent of all youth 16 to 24 who were not enrolled in school were in the labor force. The proportion was 61.5 percent for dropouts; it rose to 80.8 percent for high school graduates, 86.5 percent for those with some college and 94.0 percent for college graduates.

Bienstock noted that although black and white youth's labor force participation rates rose with each successive level of education, black rates remained below the white rates. For high school dropouts labor force participation rates were 63.7 for whites and 54.3 for blacks. Among college graduates, he said, the white labor force participation rate was 94.7 percent and the black rate was 81.8 percent.

Turtle Back gets touch-feel tank

The Zoological Society of New Jersey presented a 300-gallon, eight by four foot Touch and Feel tank to the Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange recently.

"The tank is a bit unusual," says Richard S. Paul, president of the society. "It is filled with a variety of creatures that many area youngsters have never encountered—including horseshoe crabs, sea urchins, lobsters and small fish."

Paul notes that this display is similar to "touching" displays which usually allow children to become acquainted with rabbits, goats and other domestic animals. However, that tank adds a new dimension and gives visitors the opportunity to touch various dwellers of the deep without danger.

Wood carvings go on exhibition

Gerhart Rueshoff, a retired builder and self-taught artist who began carving as a hobby several years ago, will display some of his bas-relief wood carvings of Bicentennial themes in Mahoney Library on the College of Saint Elizabeth campus, Convent Station, during June, July and August.

The exhibit, containing 12 pieces, may be viewed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

OVERWEIGHT DANGER
Curing overweight could add seven years to the life span, says Dr. Grant Gwinup, professor of endocrinology and medicine at the University of California, Irvine.

Governor to open Morven to public Sunday afternoon

Governor and Mrs. Brendan Byrne have scheduled a Bicentennial open house at Morven, the New Jersey governor's residence in Princeton, Sunday.

The open house will be highlighted by two half-hour performances of "Jerz," an entertaining and informative musical tribute to New Jersey, its history and its heritage.

The first performance will begin at 1:30 p.m., the second, at 4 p.m., will mark the 500th performance of "Jerz" by the Hailpenny Playhouse of Kearny with the support of the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission.

"Morven has been the setting for a good deal of the history we celebrate in this Bicentennial year," said the governor. "We thought the people of New Jersey, who provide this lovely home for their governor, might enjoy seeing it for themselves and joining us for a cooling drink and some musical entertainment over the holiday weekend."

Morven will be open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. May 30. There will be guided tours of the historic mansion and, weather permitting, performances on the lawn by dancers of the Princeton Ballet Society and the Revolutionary Color Guard of the New Jersey National Guard.

The early 18th Century manor house has been the home of Richard Stockton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, two United States senators and five governors. George Washington was a frequent visitor, and the entire Continental Congress celebrated July 1, 1783, with a festive dinner at Morven.

Twenty complete apprentice class

Two women and 18 men are completing a pre-apprenticeship course at the New Jersey Tooling and Machining Institute, Irvington. The majority of the graduates will be placed in shops under a four-year apprenticeship to qualify as tool and diemakers or all around machinists.

Each apprentice will also attend evening school in related subjects and at the end of four years will be awarded certificates by the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, and the New Jersey Department of Education. Those less motivated and talented will be placed as operators of one or more machine tools.

The institute is recruiting students for the program beginning Monday. Tuition, text books and placement are provided at no cost. During the past four years, with few exceptions, the institute has placed all of its graduates. It operates as an equal opportunity employer.

Joe Venuti in Union

Jazz violinist appears June 6

The New Jersey Jazz Society will present jazz violinist Joe Venuti and an array of jazz stars at Farcher's Grove on Springfield road, Union, on Sunday afternoon, June 6, at 2:30 p.m.

Appearing with Venuti will be Pee Wee Erwin, trumpet; Eddie Hubble, trombone; John Bunch, piano; Cliff Leeman, drums; and Bill Pemberton, bass.

Octogenarian Venuti spans almost the entire history of jazz. He has recorded sides with such jazz greats as Eddie Lang, Frankie Trumbauer, Dixie Baerbecke, all the way across five decades, to Bucky Pizzarelli, Zoot Sims and Marian McPartland.

Red Squires, spokesman for the society, said the group had been trying to get Joe Venuti to New Jersey for years, "but he's a hard man to pin down. He lives on the West Coast, but he's in Italy or Japan or Australia as much of the time as he's out there. We noticed that Joe has been booked for a short appearance this month in New York City, and we persuaded him to stay over a day after he finishes that date for us."

Pee Wee Erwin is a veteran of such great swing bands as those of Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman. Bunch was a sometime partner with Goodman. Leeman was a drummer with Charlie Barnet and Artie Shaw.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Bert Meservey, 51 Woodland Ave., Verona 07044, telephone 239-6141.

MOVIES - THEATRE - OTHER ENTERTAINMENT

DISC 'N DATA

Bob Hope has recorded a Bicentennial comedy LP album for CAPITOL RECORDS to be released next month.

According to the script, Hope is thrown two centuries into the past. There he meets Phyllis Diller as Betsy Ross, Karl Malden as George Washington, Louis Nye as Paul Revere, Don Rickles as a Tory heckler, Jim Backus as John Hancock, Arle Johnson as a Hessian general, Gordon MacRae as Thomas Jefferson, Fred Wayne as Benjamin Franklin, Wayne also plays Franklin in a self-penned play now touring the country, Byron Kane as John Adams, Dudley Moore as General Cornwallis and Desmond Wilson as Crispus Attucks. Multi-colored Fred Travalina plays President Ford and numerous other characters.

The album will contain mostly dialogue with scenes about Paul Revere's ride, the Boston Tea Party, sewing the first flag, writing the Declaration of Independence, Washington crossing the Delaware and Cornwallis' surrender. Interspersed will be some humorous songs sung by Hope and a choral group with some help from the cast.

There is undoubtedly no other American more qualified to make a record album celebrating the country's Bicentennial—especially a funny one.

Ann Miller in Millburn

An all-new production of the Cole Porter Broadway musical, "Panama Hattie," starring Ann Miller, veteran actress-singer-dancer, opened yesterday at the Paper Mill Playhouse. This is the third and final show of the Paper Mill spring season.

Miss Miller returned to the Paper Mill Playhouse by "popular demand." It was announced by executive producer Angelo Del Rossi. She appeared two years ago in Millburn in "Anything Goes."

Additional information may be obtained by calling the box office number, 376-4343.

Public TV lists opera

The classic "Die Fledermaus" ("The Bat") by waltz king Johann Strauss will be broadcast on "Opera Theatre" Sunday at 9 p.m. on N.J. Public Television Channels 50 and 58.

One of the most famous light operas in the world, "Die Fledermaus" is the story of a chain of practical jokes. It is associated with the most popular of Strauss's waltzes, which give it an air of irresistible Viennese charm and gaiety.

Raymond Leppard conducts the New Philharmonic Orchestra with choreography by Geoffrey Culey, formerly of the Royal Ballet. The English libretto is by Christopher Hassall and Edmund Tracey.

'Seven Beauties' seen on Maplewood screen

"Seven Beauties," an Italian movie with the universal theme of survival, opened this week at the Maplewood Theater, Maplewood.

The picture concerns a petty type from Naples who is in a Nazi concentration camp for deserting the Italian army and who desperately makes overtures to a devil-like woman commandant for survival purposes. The picture has Giancarlo Giannini, Fernando Rey and Shirley Stoler in leading roles.

Directed by Lina Wertmuller.

Cartoonist at festival

Cartoonist Kay Kato will be one of the attractions of the Montclair Art Museum's Family Day festival June 5 from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is free.

Mrs. Judith Kahan, chairman of the event, announced that as a special contribution to the museum, Miss Kato will do large size, full-color cartoon portrait sketches of the visitors for a nominal fee.

One of the few women cartoonists in America, Miss Kato is an artist-reporter for The Star-Ledger. Her cartoons and paintings have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, The New York Times Magazine, This Week Magazine, Nation's Business and others.

Pivotal role set for Rose Marie

HOLLYWOOD—Rose Marie has a pivotal role with stars George Segal, Jane Fonda and Ed McMahon in Columbia Pictures' release, "Dick and Jane," contemporary social comedy.

Ted Kotcheff is director of the film, which is based on an original story by Gerald Gaiser.

Two plays scheduled

"The American Dream" by Edward Albee and "The Lesson" by Eugene Ionesco, two one-act comedies of the absurd, will open a five week run at the Actors Cafe Theater, South Munn at Central avenues, East Orange, tomorrow night at 8:30 and will continue every Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. through June 27.

Producer David G. Kennedy is directing both plays.

Reservations may be made by calling 675-1881.

The next production will be Dale Wasserman's adaptation of Ken Kesey's novel, "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." July 2 through July 31.

Kennedy also is accepting resumes for "The Real Inspector Hound" and "After Magritte," two one-act British comedies, by Tom Stoppard to be produced in August.

Lumbermens Mortgage lists 3 staff appointments

Lee Harris, president of Lumbermens Mortgage Corp., Union and Toms River, has announced three appointments to the staff of the full-service mortgage company.

Douglas L. Webber has been named loan manager in charge of underwriting loans for investors and overall supervision of processing and marketing of loans. Peter J. Marsillo has been appointed account executive for an area encompassing Essex and Union Counties and part of Morris County. Al Apicello has been appointed to the position of account executive for Ocean County.

Webber, a Fair Haven resident, served as mortgage underwriter for Hudson City Savings Bank, Jersey City, and was a staff appraiser for Investor's Mortgage & Appraisal Co., Livingston. He is an associate member of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, a member of the Young Mortgage Bankers Committee of the Mortgage Bankers Association, a member of the American Institute of Banking, and an approved appraiser for the Federal National Mortgage Association (F.N.M.A.).

Marsillo, of South Orange, will be working with brokers in origination of VA and FHA mortgage loans, as well as commercial funding. His experience covers both mortgage financing and real estate sales. He will be implementing a new method of communication, via toll free radiophone, to expedite liaison with brokers.

Rickland Village offers models at Shongum Lake

Rickland Village at Shongum Lake, a year-round residential community being constructed adjacent to 80-acre Shongum Lake in suburban Randolph Township, Morris County, has opened a new section for 25 homes. Five basic models, reflecting a wide variety of designs, from a Normandy French Provincial model to a contemporary split level, will be built on these sites at prices from $66,990.

These models can be built to meet individual requirements. Numerous variations of exterior design and interior planning, plus extra refinements, are offered. All homes have large kitchens, living rooms, formal-sized dining rooms and family rooms, plus a choice of three to five bedrooms with several home designs also including the option of studio areas, breakfast rooms and fireplaces. Homes will be constructed on minimum half-acre lots.

While models have been designed to harmonize with the gently rolling terrain of this new section, all are planned to afford spaciousness plus a flow of rooms for versatility. The widest possible accommodation of tastes, attitudes, and family needs are catered to. Development of this new section will continue to adhere to the "no bulldozer" approach that has characterized the program of the developer, Hedy Heights Construction Company, throughout Rickland Village's development. Trees will remain standing wherever possible and inlets and streams will remain undisturbed with lots planned to conform to natural divisions.

According to Value Realty of Clifton, exclusive sales agent for Rickland Village, work is in progress on several foundations in the new section and the first few homes will be ready for occupancy in the near future.

Rickland Village offers private access to four season sports activities including boating, fishing, swimming and ice skating. The area also features excellent nearby commuting facilities. Railroad connections to New York are five minutes from Rickland Village and there are also convenient bus connections to Morristown, Newark and New York.

LAKESIDE HOME—The four-bedroom Stratton two-story Colonial is among five model homes being shown in the new section of Rickland Village at Shongum Lake in Randolph Township, Morris County. This model features modern kitchen, dinette, dining room and family room priced from $66,990. All models are on one-half acre lots and are open daily from noon to dark. Value Realty of Clifton is exclusive sales agent.

Second section of Glen Pines in Lakewood open

Donald Glendenning of the Kern Construction Corp. recently announced the second section of his Glen Pines development, on Lanes Mill Road off Exit 91 of the Garden State Parkway in Lakewood, has been opened for inspection.

The first section of 31 homes sold out in a few months, according to Glendenning. He attributes much of his success to the fact that he personally works with buyers in customizing their homes to their individual needs. Additionally, he noted, he can offer many extras and superior quality for each home because he keeps his overhead low and supervises and works on the construction himself. These savings are passed on to the buyer, he said.

All 22 homes in the Glen Pines second section will be built on three dead-end cul-de-sacs, with lots approximately one-third to one-half acre in size.

Homes in both sections of the Glen Pines subdivision have such features as full basements, all cedar siding, range and dishwasher, one-car garages, city sewers and water, all underground utilities, extra-thick insulation, paved driveways, buyer's choice of oak floors or wall to wall carpeting.

Also: warp proof and thermal insulated exterior doors, color-coordinated exterior trim, aluminum gutters and leaders, custom vanities with cultured marble tops, wood kitchen cabinets, and formica kitchen countertops in decorator colors.

Options include brick fireplaces, central air-conditioning, and two-car garages.

There are five models to choose from: The Birchwood—a four-bedroom bi-level with 1½ bathrooms, cathedral ceiling, recreation room, and one or two car garages.

The Hickory—a three-bedroom ranch with two baths, family room, full basement and one-car garage.

The Cedar—a four-bedroom, two-story with 2½ bathrooms, family room, full basement and one-car garage.

The Aspen—a four-bedroom Cape Cod with two bathrooms, family room, balcony with cathedral ceiling, full basement and one-car garage.

The Sycamore—a four-bedroom, two-story with 2½ bathrooms, family room, full basement and one-car garage.

Models are priced from $43,990 to $50,990. Models and sales office are open daily from 10 a.m. to dusk.

To reach Glen Pines, drive south on the Garden State Parkway to Exit 91. Follow the Lakewood-Bricktown sign, and go south on Rt. 549, at the Parkway Exit, for one mile to Rt. 526. Turn right on Rt. 526 and go one mile to models on the left.

Lumbermens Mortgage Corp., founded in 1958, is an approved F.I.A. mortgagee, offering complete mortgage packages, including construction loans, land and improvement loans, utilities and industrial financing, FHA-VA mortgaging, and permanent mortgaging for apartments, condominiums and single family homes. A spot-loan division, introduced last year, was an immediate success in providing permanent financing service through real estate brokers throughout the state, a spokesman noted.

Firm leases entire floor

The St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. of St. Paul, Minn. is leasing an entire floor at Metro Park Plaza, which is under construction at 70 South Wood ave., Woodbridge. The announcement was made by Brounell-Kramer, the Union based realty firm that handled the arrangements.

According to Lewis D. Brounell, B-K partner, the 23,000 square feet being leased in Metro Park will become the New Jersey Service Center for the St. Paul Insurance Companies, replacing an existing facility in East Orange. Headed by John E. Sauerwein, the new center is expected to be in operation in December of this year.

Metro Park Plaza is being constructed by Shab Associates, a subsidiary of Alfieri & Company. The principals of Shab Associates are Dominick Alfieri and Harvey Schultz.

Shab Associates was represented in the negotiations by Harvey Schultz. St. Paul Insurance Companies was represented by Norman Wilson from the home office.

Brounell-Kramer is one of New Jersey's leading real estate organizations, with executive offices at 1435 Morris ave., Union.

MEMORIAL DAY

It's Time to Remember Our American Servicemen.

Throughout history, there have been many who dedicated themselves to upholding our nation's high ideals. They were from all backgrounds. But they had one common bond. They were Americans.

Each and every one of us owes them more than words could express. Let's show our gratitude now, by taking this day to honor them in our hearts... and pay tribute to their outstanding courage.

Group is formed to oppose repeal of Sunday closing

Opposition to repeal of the Sunday closing laws has led to the formation of the New Jersey Retailers Committee Against Sunday Opening.

"This committee, representing thousands of local retailers, municipal, county and state officials, and concerned residents, is actively working to defeat repeal of Sunday closing laws," said Martin Mack, acting chairman of the group.

"There are a number of sound reasons why repeal of Sunday closing laws is bad for local retailers, tax-burdened communities and every resident of New Jersey. We are presenting arguments to the Legislature and taking our case to the public so it can be weighed on its merits. We are confident that when all the evidence is presented, Sunday closing laws will be retained on a county-option basis."

"Some of the major reasons we are opposed to elimination of Sunday closing laws include: —The mechanism already exists in the current law for counties which want to abolish Sunday closing to do so. Passage of this bill will take the right of home rule away from local towns and counties.

"It will force communities whose businesses are currently closed on Sunday to provide additional police, fire and other municipal services normally curtailed on that day. This means additional expenses for those towns, and an additional tax burden for local residents.

"Neither local merchants, towns nor the state will realize any additional revenue as a result of Sunday opening. People only have a certain amount of money to spend each week, and whether they spend it in six or seven days will not alter the total dollars expended.

"There will be increased traffic congestion, energy consumption and costs to the consumer. Local towns will face the same traffic jams in their business districts on Sunday that they now experience on Saturday; energy for lights, air conditioning, signs and gasoline for cars will be wasted; additional personnel requirements and operating costs to merchants will be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

"Local retailers and their employees will be forced to work seven days-a-week to remain competitive with large commercial businesses. This will deny them the opportunity of having at least one 'day of rest' to spend with their families, to relax, to enjoy life."

"Passage of the bill to repeal Sunday closing

Historic farms honored Agriculture group cites four

Four 200-year-old properties were honored recently by the New Jersey Agricultural Society as it launched its new Century Farm Award program to recognize historic family farms in the Garden State.

Cited by the society's president, Henry Bibus, were the Van Derveer-Ten Eyck Farm in North Branch, Somerset County; the Cummins Farm in Vienna, Warren County; Lloyd's Locust Lawn in Upper-Pittsgrove Township, Salem County, and the Holmes-Stead Farm in Cream Ridge, Monmouth County.

Each of the four has remained in the same family for more than two centuries.

The Van Derveer-Ten Eyck Farm of 500-acres is occupied by James and Mildred Van Derveer. Family records trace the property back to 1702, when ancestors by the name of Ten Eyck settled there. One Capt. Jacob Ten Eyck Jr. fought in the Revolutionary War.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cummins, who reside on the Cummins Farm, are the sixth generation of the family to farm on the site. An ancestor, Christon Cummins, immigrated to this country from Austria in 1741. His son, Philip, cleared the valley in 1794 and built the stone house and barn that still stand on the property.

Lloyd's Locust Lawn was settled in 1755 by William Nelson, who received his parcel of land from King George II of England. A descendant of Nelson's, Elsie Gray Lloyd, still resides in the historic farmhouse. She remembers the story that George Washington stopped at the property to ask one of the children where he could get some water and was directed to a nearby village.

The farm is now operated by Mrs. Lloyd's son, Russell, who grows wheat, hay and corn on the property.

The Holmes-Stead Farm has been worked by the same family as far back as the 1600's. Joseph and Roberta Holmes are the present owners of the 400-acre tract, which is farmed by their two sons, George and J. David, who produce hay, grain and beef cattle. Their 12-room home was occupied by Jonathan Holmes in Revolutionary times.

Laws will benefit only a few large enterprises, but it can and will hurt local retailers, residents, towns and the state, and that, by any standards, is a poor bargain," said Mack. "We urge Legislators to give us the opportunity to prepare our case and present it to them and to the citizens of New Jersey," he concluded.

This year marks the first time the Century Farm Award has been given in the state and is the beginning of what will be a continuing annual program, according to Bibus.

Each year, the society plans to honor four New Jersey farms that have each remained in the same family more than 100 years.

Co-sponsoring the Century Farm Award program with the Agricultural Society is the New Jersey Historical Commission, the New Jersey Historical Society and the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission.

The New Jersey Agricultural Society, the oldest farm organization in the nation, was founded in 1781 to promote agriculture in the state through a variety of educational and public information programs.

"This salute to New Jersey's earliest farms," said Bibus, "is one way we can encourage agriculture, one of New Jersey's largest industries, to continue in the state."

Field experience added for 5-year NJIT program

Two six-month periods of industrial experience will stretch the normal junior year in a new five-year program to begin in July at New Jersey Institute of Technology in Newark.

Mechanical engineering students will have the first opportunity to join the new program. Professor Robert M. Jacobs of NJIT's mechanical engineering department has been named coordinator.

Not all of the Institute's mechanical engineering undergraduates will take part in the five-year cooperative program. Jacobs notes. Qualified students finishing their sophomore year will be given the opportunity to join the cooperative team, but with the exception of the industrial periods, there will be no academic changes in the curricula.

It is the Institute's plan to begin the co-op program with mechanical engineering students and expand the offering to other departments periodically.

"The value of the cooperative program can be tremendous for the superior student," Jacobs says. "He will, of course, be able to apply some of his classroom knowledge to his industrial position, but more importantly, he will be able to broaden his own experiences and maturity and gain insight into the particular career area in which he will be most satisfied."

Under the NJIT plan the co-op students will be paired, with one of the pair working with industry while the other is taking course work. The students will remain with the same company in six-month alternating segments, for two years. They will work the same hours and follow the same company regulations as other employees.

Tree expert exam to be held Aug. 4

The Bureau of Tree Experts, in the Department of Environmental Protection, has scheduled a Certified Tree Expert examination for Aug. 4 at Cook College (Rutgers, New Brunswick). Applications must be filed with the bureau by June 23.

The all-day exam, consisting of both written and field tests, will cover botany, plant physiology, dendrology, entomology, plant pathology, agronomy, insecticides, herbicides, identification and related subjects.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens over the age of 21 and New Jersey residents with either four years of college, preferably in forestry or a related area, or sufficient professional experience in tree care to equal college education. Those who have been engaged in practice as a tree expert for at least five years prior to the exam also qualify.

Applications for the exam are available from: Bureau of Tree Experts, P.O. Box 2808, Trenton, 08625. They may also be obtained in person at the Bureau of Forestry in room 713, Labor and Industry Building, John Fitch Plaza.

ICBO will award 223 certificates

The management training division of the International Council for Business Opportunity (ICBO) of New Jersey will award 223 certificates, a record number for the eight-year program, at its 15th certificate awards graduation dinner at the Sterling House, Montclair, Wednesday evening, June 9.

The courses, given at the Rutgers Newark campus, included record keeping, bookkeeping, basic and advanced business management.

James H. Blow Jr., ICBO executive director, said, "This record number of graduates from 19 municipalities in New Jersey shows the tremendous desire for business knowledge possessed by the participants, many of whom traveled as much as 100 miles nightly to attend."

Instructors included Bernard H. Saperstein and LeRoy Johnson of the ICBO staff, Malcolm King of Newark, Daniel Tindall and Joseph H. Watson of East Orange, Joseph Nagy of Bamberger's and Charles Bernhart of Supermarkets General.

PSE&G earnings up to 93 cents a share

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. reported this week that earnings for the first four months of 1976 were 93 cents per common share vs. 73 cents for the comparable 1975 period. For the 12 months ended April 30, earnings were $2.45 per share compared with $2.12 for the same period in 1975.

The company's board of directors declared an increase of two cents per share in the quarterly common stock dividend rate, from 43 cents to 45 cents. This is the first dividend increase for PSE&G since June 1972.

Protective ozone layer in danger from mankind

The stratosphere is the layer of air from 10 to 30 miles above the earth, where the ozone is located. The ozone, earth's protective layer, is continuously formed by the action of sunlight on oxygen molecules.

Until recently, the ozone was reformed at the same rate it was destroyed by other sun-triggered reactions involving natural nitrogen compounds in the stratosphere. Now, however, human activities resulting in pollution are on the threshold of upsetting the balance by adding more ozone-destroying chemicals to the air.

Inventors are offered chance to meet buyers

The American Society of Inventors, a non-profit organization, will sponsor an exhibit at Kean College Saturday, June 26, at which inventors will have an opportunity to introduce their inventions to prospective buyers.

For the protection of inventors, prospective exhibitors have been urged to have their inventions covered by a U.S. patent or have pending status. For more information, readers may call 371-4249.

RV owners get tire tip

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Tire Industry Safety Council has urged owners of recreational travel-trailers to heed a federal government call for special inspection of trailer weights, load distribution and tire inflation pressure.

"We hope that all RV owners will follow the advice on inspections given by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell Jr.

In the release, NHTSA warned that serious accidents can occur because of failure of travel-trailer suspension systems due to overloading and improper load distribution.

The government agency said its surveys also indicate that 59 percent of trailers carry tire pressures below the recommended maximum and 34 percent were loaded beyond the rated capacity of the trailer suspension systems. "Underinflated and overloaded tires build up heat which can cause tire disablement," Lovell pointed out.

'Solidarity Day' rally to seek freedom for Jews in Soviet

Percy E. Sutton, president of the Borough of Manhattan and a major participant at the recent International Conference on Soviet Jewry in Brussels, will be the keynote speaker at the "Solidarity Day Rally for Soviet Jews" to be held on Tuesday, June 8, at 8 p.m. at the Student Center of Seton Hall University, 400 South Orange ave., South Orange, it was announced this week by Howard Kiesel of Springfield, rally chairman.

Sutton will be joined by Msgr. Thomas G. Fahy, President of Seton Hall University, and the Rev. Paul I. Slag, general secretary, New Jersey Council of Churches, both of whom also participated in the Brussels conference.

The rally will feature a musicale, "A Portrait of Jewish Life in the Soviet Union" by Grisha and Eda Tsatskis, who recently arrived from the Soviet Union.

Participants in the rally will receive recommendations for community action on behalf of Soviet Jewish activists.

Kiesel commented that "on Solidarity Day we must symbolically reach out and join hands with our harassed brothers and sisters in the Soviet Union. We must show them, as well as the Soviet authorities, that we will continue to fight until they are free to live where they wish and worship as they desire. I strongly urge all men and women of conscience to participate in the protest demonstration on June 8."

The rally is being sponsored by the Metropolitan New Jersey Conference on Soviet Jewry.

State police to run classes for youth at training center

Colonel Clinton L. Pagano, state police superintendent, announced this week that two Trooper Youth Week classes are scheduled to be held at the State Police Training Center in Sea Girt during June.

The 21st and 22nd Trooper Youth Week classes will run from June 14 through 19 and June 21 through 26, respectively. Each class will consist of 80 11th-grade students selected from high schools in the 21 counties throughout the state.

Selection of students to participate in the youth program has been made by school authorities in cooperation with the Department of Education, police community relations units and the state police.

The program, presented at no cost, stimulates police training. The schedule of discussions, films, demonstrations and practical exercises is designed to provide a better understanding of the criminal justice system.

Commenting on the program, Colonel Pagano said, "I am extremely pleased with the success of our youth programs over the years. There is no question that participants benefit from their experience and, equally important, are able to convey something of value to their fellow students as they prepare to assume the responsibilities of adult citizenship."

Judy Collins to launch series at Arts Center

The New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Garden State Arts Center, has announced a list of 12 non-subscription attractions for the Holmdel amphitheater this summer.

Judy Collins will be the first of the non-subscription attractions and will be in for a single night on Wednesday, June 23. The following night, Jesse Colin Young and Emmylou Harris will take over at the Arts Center stage, to be followed on Friday, June 25, by Laura Nyro. Rounding out that week will be Neil Sedaka, who will be in for the one night, Saturday, June 26. On Thursday, July 1, Gordon Lightfoot will return to the Arts Center stage and Tom Jones will appear for two nights, July 2 and 3.

June 27 program to celebrate first N.J. Constitution

A ceremony commemorating the 200th anniversary of the New Jersey's first Constitution and a Revolutionary War pamphlet by the Rev. Jacob Green will be held June 27 at the Presbyterian Church in Hanover, near the site of the church where Green was minister.

The ceremony also will mark the New Jersey Historical Commission's publication of the first modern edition of the pamphlet, long accessible only in rare copies of the original. The first public appeal for independence made by a Jerseyman, Green's "Observations on the Reconciliation of Great-Britain and the Colonies," published in April 1776, influenced many of the colony's inhabitants.

Green was a trustee of the College of New Jersey in Princeton and a member of the New Jersey Provincial Congress, which in June 1776 resolved "that a government be formed for regulating the internal police of this Colony." He chaired the committee that drafted a republican Constitution, adopted July 2.

The commemoration is being planned cooperatively by the Historical Commission, the Morris County Heritage Commission and the State Bicentennial Commission.

Further information on the ceremony may be obtained from Richard Waldron, associate director of the State Historical Commission 113 W. State St., Trenton 08625, (609) 292-6063.

Pacemaker group donates equipment

The Pacemaker Foundation Inc. will conduct its seventh annual dinner Sunday, June 13, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Mountainside Inn, Rt. 22, Mountainside. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner at noon.

The program will include the dedication of equipment and money donated to two North Jersey hospitals which specialize in pacemaker implantation. A donation of $5,000 will be presented to Beth Israel Pacemaker Center for use toward the completion of a Guttman scanning machine, and a Holter, external pacemaker will be presented to St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson in honor of Nelson Cheetham, a deceased officer of the foundation.

In addition, the foundation will donate a wheelchair to Beth Israel in memory of Simon Aerial, executive of the organization.

Tickets for the event are $7. Further information can be obtained by calling Gene Silano at 373-5349.

Shore residents, visitors warned about motorbikes

"Residents of South Jersey communities and visitors to the Shore will face needless dangers from unqualified operators of motorized bicycles unless the law passed last year is repealed or amended," the New Jersey AAA Clubs warned this week.

"The law currently allows 15-year-old youths, with no license, no training, and no insurance to legally operate these motor bikes on all but 'primary' roads," said Matthew J. Derham, state chairman of the AAA's Public Affairs Council. "During the summer months, when Shore communities already face traffic congestion, the addition of these vehicles, operated by inexperienced drivers, will present undue hazards to pedestrians and motorists alike."

Derham also pointed out that in some resort areas "there is every probability that vendors will be renting motor bikes along with bicycles to visiting vacationers, a situation that could cause serious hazards if the law is left unchanged."

"We strongly urge the Legislature to act immediately and favorably on Senate Bill 1386, introduced by Senator Alexander Menza," he said. "This bill would make the following changes in the motor bike law: Require that a person be at least 17 years old and hold a valid driver's license in order to operate a motorized bicycle; restrict the use of motor bikes to roads with a speed limit of 40 mph or less; require minimum insurance protection and require reporting of all accidents in which a motor bike is involved."

"The New Jersey AAA Clubs feel that these revisions are vital to the safety and protection of all Garden State residents. With the summer months here and school closing next month, it is imperative that changes be made in the motorized bicycle law before countless people, young and old, are injured or killed," concluded Derham.

Jamieson succeeds Grimley as Cancer Society leader

Bruce W. Jamieson of Newton, Conn., formerly vice-president for the Eastern Area of the American Cancer Society, has succeeded Thomas P. Grimley of Westfield as executive vice-president of the society's New Jersey Division. Grimley has retired after 27 years with the New Jersey Division, the last 16 as executive vice-president.

Jamieson, who has been associated with the ACS for 16 years, previously has served as executive vice-president of the Maryland Division, acting executive director in New Hampshire and as a special representative of the national vice-president for field services.

A graduate of Springfield (Mass.) College, where he majored in Volunteer Agency Management, he also has attended the Indiana University Graduate School of Business and the Executive Development Course on Consultation Skills at the University of Michigan.

Jamieson is editor of the ACS Performance Objectives Manual, directed public education and public information programs for the ACS Uterine Cancer Research Project and serves as a faculty member of ACS management courses.

He and his wife, Diane, have two sons and a daughter.

Dates scheduled for conferences on handicapped

The New Jersey unit of the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals will sponsor six regional meetings this summer to identify the needs of mentally and physically handicapped persons and propose solutions to the problems. The sessions are in preparation for the national White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals scheduled for May 1977.

New Jersey's conferences, the first in the nation, will stress participation of handicapped persons and their families. To guarantee the widest possible participation, voting delegates will be selected at random from among all conference registrants.

All conference sites are accessible to persons confined to wheelchairs. In addition, transportation will be available to all disabled participants upon request.

There will be resource coordinators at each conference to help develop positions on economic concerns, health research and technology, individuals with severe handicaps, residential and community-based programs, civil rights, service delivery systems, educational opportunities, social concerns, elimination of barriers, and recreational and cultural concerns.

The conferences will be held on Saturdays during June, July and August. Each will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., with free luncheon included for voting delegates.

The conference itinerary is as follows: June 26, Somerset County College, North Branch; July 10, Gloucester County College, Sewell; July 24, Bergen County Vocational-Technical High School, West Satellite Center, Paramus; Aug. 7, County College of Morris, Dover; Aug. 14, Burlington County College, Pemberton; Aug. 21, Kim Institute of Rehabilitation, East Orange.

Fire departments invited to muster

The Newark Fire Department Historical Association will host an antique fire apparatus muster from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 6, in the garden of the Newark Museum. Fire departments from communities throughout New Jersey and neighboring states will participate in the annual event.

An invitation has been issued to fire buffs and fire companies to show apparatus manufactured prior to 1946. Prizes will be awarded in several categories, including hand-drawn, horse-drawn and motorized apparatus and costumes.

Activities will include a parade and review, exhibits, and a concert by the Newark Police Department Band.

The rain-or-shine event, which commemorates the ninth anniversary of the Newark Fire Department Historical Association's Fire Museum, is a cooperative project with the Newark Museum. Both museums are located at 49 Washington St., Newark.

Business parley to hear Moynihan

Former United Nations Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan and C. Peter McCloy, chairman of the Xerox Corp., will speak at the 28th annual New Jersey Business Conference June 3 at Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

They will join two previously announced speakers—Gloria Steinem, the feminist leader and editor of Ms. Magazine, and William M. Ellinghaus, vice chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and one of New York's key fiscal watchdogs.

The conference theme this year is "What Lies Ahead for Business: The Better Utilization of Our Human Resources."

Social Security in red

Thirty-two million Americans are now receiving nearly $69.6 billion a year in Social Security checks. At the same time, 100 million Americans and their employers are paying $66.5 billion a year in taxes to keep the system operating. Thus, for the first time in its 41-year history, tax collections are running short of benefits by approximately $3 billion.

INCARROADS

A 10,000-mile network of roads, some as wide as 24 feet, knitted the ancient domain of the Incas in western South America
