Ethnic exhibits will highlight 'Salute to American States'

Mountainside's "Salute to the American States" festival Oct 2 will celebrate the Bicentennial by showing the heritage of 200 years of United States history forged by the many diverse cultures that have contributed to the growth of the nation, according to Matt Powers, chairman of the local cultural and heritage committee.

Among the nationalities to be represented will be Czechoslovakia, under the chairmanship of Blanka Hagel. "Mrs. Hagel has been corresponding with Czechoslovakian organizations throughout the United States and has received a wealth of information, as well as invitations to festivals in Chicago and Texas, where there are large Czech populations," Powers said.

Mrs. Hagel recently showed samples of the exhibit she is assembling to members of the Mountainside Cultural and Heritage Steering Committee, who are sponsoring the October event. Among the items were children's books, including illustrated anthologies of folk stories; paintings of scenes of Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia; a cut-glass punch bowl, which was part of her trousseau; a ceramic statue representing the older style of art and a modernistic figurine she obtained on a recent visit to Czechoslovakia, representing a new style of art.

The Cultural and Heritage Committee has described the upcoming festival as a celebration of the history of the United States through the contributions of various cultures and by means of the arts and crafts, as well as industrial and political history.

Readers who can help with the Czechoslovakian display or who have further suggestions may call Mrs. Hagel at 233-8749. Members of other nationality groups who are interested in participating in the festival have been invited to attend the next meeting of the Cultural and Heritage Committee at the Mountainside Free Public Library at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 19. More representation is requested for the Irish, Greek, and Scandinavian (Swedish, Norwegian and Danish) groups.

In addition to the exhibits of ethnic groups and nationalities, there will be exhibits devoted to specific subjects, such as science, education and colonial crafts. All community and civic organizations are participating in this Bicentennial festival and all borough citizens have been urged to set aside Oct. 2 to salute the American states.

Mountainside wringing out after Belle takes minor toll

Mountainside apparently escaped flooding as the fringes of Hurricane Belle swept through the borough Monday night, but a number of local homes suffered power failures.

Police said between 30 and 40 residences in the Robin Hood road-Nottingham way neighborhood were affected when lines were downed by the high winds. The first report of electricity being out was called in at 11:43 p.m., and by 10:30 Tuesday morning, power still had not been restored.

One officer noted that apparently many homeowners were unaware of the failure until they awoke late Tuesday because their electric alarm clocks had not gone off.

Power also was reported out from midnight until Tuesday morning in the Mountain avenue-Park way section.

Several trees and branches were blown down, partially blocking New Providence road, Deer Path, Apple Tree lane and Pembroke road.

The volunteer firemen responded to a call at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday on Robin Hood road where downed power lines were burning the macadam road surface and grass along the curbs.

Police said no injuries were reported during the storm, nor had they received any reports of flooding.

Soccer clinic set for girls Monday

The Mountainside Recreation Commission will sponsor a soccer clinic for girls starting on Monday. The clinic will be under the direction of Manny Dalhauser, coach of the fall soccer program.

Girls entering the fourth through eighth grades are eligible for the clinic which will be held evenings at the Deerfield School to Aug. 27. The $2 registration fee should be paid at Borough Hall prior to the first meeting. For additional information, readers may call 232-0015.

Key Club holds recycling drive

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly Glass-In on the third Saturday of this month, Aug. 21. The site will be the Dayton front parking lot, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The club asked that all paper be tied in bundles and all glass sorted according to color. Those with an overabundance of paper which cannot be brought to the recycling center may call Brian Baumgard at 378-0848. Senior citizens may also make use of this delivery system.

HEROISM HONORED—President Ford recently presented Young American Medals for Bravery to two Mountainside Boy Scouts, in recognition of their courage in rescuing an Air Force sergeant from drowning in the heavy surf off Long Beach Island on Sept. 18, 1974. With the President at left are Brian Miller, now a student at North Carolina State University, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, and his brother and sister, Jeffery and Jacqueline. With President Ford at right are Robert F. Zimmerman, who attends Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., his mother, Mrs. George C. Zimmerman, brother, George Zimmerman Jr., and Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-Union), who took part in both ceremonies.

Borough considering action over sale of murder weapon

Mountainside Police Commissioner Abe Suckno reported this week that the police committee is studying the possibility of departmental action against a borough patrolman who, eight years ago illegally sold a handgun to a friend—a gun which later was used to kill a Bradley Beach policeman during a holdup attempt.

The shooting occurred this Memorial Day in Bradley Beach after Ptl. Jack Wright was killed thwarting the robbery attempt by two brothers, Charles E. Miller of Wall Township and Frank Miller of Belmar, both of whom have been sentenced to life imprisonment for Wright's murder.

The gun used in the killing was sold in 1968 by Mountainside Ptl. Alan Kennedy to George Maxwell of South Belmar, who earlier this year allegedly gave the weapon to the Millers' sister, Margaret Smock.

Maxwell has been charged with illegal transfer of the weapon to Mrs. Smock—and Kennedy is expected to be called as a witness during his coming trial. Kennedy is expected to be called as a witness during his coming trial. Kennedy himself has not been prosecuted for his illegal sale of the gun to Maxwell because the statute of limitations has expired and because the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office reportedly is satisfied he had no criminal intent in the transfer.

Kennedy, who joined the local force in 1967, bought the weapon, a .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver, that same year, and in 1968 sold it to Maxwell for $40. The transaction reportedly was made at the former Dew Drop Inn in Spring Lake Heights, where Maxwell was a bartender.

Kennedy allegedly did not demand a purchaser's permit from Maxwell, nor did he report the sale within five days to state or local police—both actions required under the state's gun law.

Maxwell allegedly gave the gun to Mrs. Smock several weeks before the May '31 robbery attempt at a Bradley Beach grocery. Wright, who was in the store when the Miller brothers attempted their hold up, chased the pair from the shop and apprehended them a half-block away. While he was frisking Frank, he was shot at point-blank range by Charles.

After the murder weapon was traced to Maxwell, and subsequently to Kennedy, the borough officer was contacted by investigators from the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office. Kennedy reportedly told them he had simply sold the gun to a friend and was unaware of his duties under the gun law.

Suckno stated this week that the case is not closed.

Title I program attempts to provide skills needed for high school success

"We do what we think will help a student the most when he returns to school in September," said Mrs. Betty Ruffley when asked to describe the five week Title I summer program which is being conducted at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. Mrs. Ruffley, who is the Title I director for the Union County Regional High School District, went on to explain that 32 Dayton and David Brearley Regional students are participating in the federally funded summer program which works to strengthen skill development in language arts, reading, and mathematics.

As is the case with the Title I program conducted during the regular school year, the summer session stresses the importance of staff members working with individual students on areas where the student needs the most help. Mrs. Ruffley's staff consists of a guidance counselor, a nurse, an industrial arts teacher, a fine arts teacher and four subject area (English and mathematics) teachers. The daily schedule for students runs four hours with the staff members meeting as a group after school to review each youngster's folder. "No two students have the same program," continued Mrs. Ruffley. "During the staff meetings, we focus in on each student's progress in terms of preparing them for September."

Students from grade levels 9 through 12 are attending the summer program, but the majority of participants are incoming ninth graders. "The summer program gives us an additional dimension," stated Dr. Francis Kenny, director of pupil personnel services. "Youngsters first coming into high school not only get to work on basic skills, but also have the opportunity to prepare themselves for secondary school and to meet staff members."

Each student must work on mathematics and language arts and devote a period of time to reading for fun on a daily basis. The youngster then can choose from activities in the industrial arts, photography, and theater arts areas.

In industrial arts, which includes metal and wood shop, students learn to apply mathematics skills while gaining experience in working in these shops. The theater arts activities (pantomime and videotaping a play) tie in with the language arts lessons while photography enables the students to communicate with visual materials.

THE STUDENTS are also publishing their own newspaper, and in so doing making all of the editorial, writing, and layout decisions. A merchandising activity, in which groups of students plan, prepare and sell breakfast food items, provides the youngsters with a practical application of mathematics skills. Using fake money, students learn how to purchase items wisely and set prices for food in order to cover their costs. A cash register is employed for lessons in making change correctly and proper nutrition is also taught as part of the merchandising activity.

The summer program also includes three English as a Second Language students (ESL) from Korea, Italy and the Philippines who are learning about American customs while improving their language skills. All of the students will also attend a taping of the Mike Douglas show in Philadelphia as part of the language arts program.

Another common factor of the Title I school year and summer programs is the important role played by the parent advisory committee which assists the professional staff members in setting objectives and developing programs. "We encourage all parents to come in and observe the programs both during the summer and the regular school year," added Mrs. Ruffley.

As the summer session nears its final week, Mrs. Ruffley commented, "We all feel very good about this program. The students are strengthening their basic skills and getting a lot out of it while the staff members are learning new teaching techniques. It's been a very beneficial experience."

Letters To Editor

MARIJUANA CALLED HARMFUL.
Recently, the Union County Federation of Holy Name Societies passed a resolution against legislation in New Jersey that would legalize or "decriminalize" the use of marijuana. (Bill S323). It did so for the following reasons:

There is scientific evidence that marijuana is harmful to the physical and mental health of those who become regular users of this drug. The use of marijuana has been condemned and made illegal in all of the civilized countries of the world.

There would be no advantage to our community life or to our own civilization by the legalization or "decriminalization" of the use of marijuana in the United States.

There is ample reason to believe that the increased use of marijuana would destroy the morals of our young people, the future happiness and prosperity of such users, and the strength and well being of the people of our state and nation by making the taking of narcotic drugs and intoxicants a way of life.

The Federation believes that any person who is interested in the health and welfare of our state and our nation must protest the liberalization of our laws against such use, it being manifest that we have enough trouble with alcohol without having another intoxicant to cope with.

Malawi problem is magazine topic

The Mountainside-Cranford Groups of Jehovah's Witnesses are continuing to publicize the "severe persecution" of Witnesses in the Central African country of Malawi. More than two million people worldwide are sharing in the effort to bring the facts to the attention of their neighbors.

The local group is concentrating on distributing several thousand copies of Awake magazine during the first weeks in August. The magazine features an article entitled "Malawi—What's Happening There Now?" It states the persecution results from the Witnesses' refusal, on the basis of conscience, to join the single political party in Malawi.

It adds "The persecution has resulted despite the fact the Witnesses are law-abiding citizens in Malawi, as elsewhere, and combat community problems by assisting, particularly in overcoming illiteracy, and promoting family unity."

A 16-year-old go-kart driver, operating the vehicle on a public street, was injured Aug. 3 when he allegedly ran a stop sign at the intersection of Short drive and Foothill way in Mountainside and collided with an auto.

GUIDED GUIDANCE—Mrs. Benedicita Naas of Mountainside fills out form giving her views on future roles guidance department must play in operation of Regional high schools. The program was designed to help the Regional school board assess community expectations of the guidance department.

Regional district evaluates guidance department's role

What do parents which children in high school or with youngsters who are about to enter the ninth grade expect from the school's guidance department? This was the focus of a needs assessment survey conducted by the Union County Regional High School District as part of a workshop being conducted in Community Expectations of the Guidance Program.

Under the direction of Dr. Francis Kenny, the Regional District's director of pupil personnel services, guidance counselors from Jonathan Dayton, David Brearley, Arthur L. Johnson and Governor Livingston High Schools have been meeting to review and analyze the services they provide students. Some of the guidance areas under review included student values clarification, career education, college selection and placement, student orientations, course selection and interpretation of achievement tests.

Students and faculty members were surveyed during the school year as to the importance they placed on guidance services falling within the just mentioned areas. Input was received from parents through the use of both a written and telephone survey.

Once all of the data has been collected and analyzed, it will be used to help determine future guidance department programs and services. A booklet detailing these guidance services is also being planned.

Engineers create pump handbook

Three Worthington Pump Inc., Mountainside, engineers, Igor J. Karassik, Warren H. Fraser, and William C. Krutzsch, along with Joseph P. Messina of New Jersey Public Service Electric and Gas Company, are credited by a company spokesman with bringing together the writings of 62 pump experts to form the most complete, up-to-date single-volume reference on pumps and pumping systems available today.

The new book, "Pump Handbook," a 1,000-plus-page hardcover volume recently published by McGraw-Hill, was edited in handbook format to be useful to mechanical and electrical engineers, pump design engineers, hydraulic engineers and pump testing engineers.

It also contains information for others interested in pumps, such as students, purchasing agents and repair men. It covers design, application, specification, operation and maintenance of all types of pumps in service for every major industry. It gives practical information on every aspect of pumps from selecting and purchasing equipment to diagnosing and repairing malfunctions.

Hurricane rains wash away raw sewage smell from pond

Representatives of the Union County Watershed and Mountainside Borough Engineer Robert Koser are continuing an investigation into the recent depositing of raw sewage in the pond at Echo Lake Park.

Watershed inspector Tony J. Frecknall and Koser found the sewage in the lake on Sunday, after responding to area residents' reports of a foul odor emanating from the water. "We went over every sewer line, but could find nothing to cause the release of sewage," Frecknall said.

He inspected the lake again on Tuesday, and said the sewage apparently had been washed away during Hurricane Belle. "When we get a natural flow of water into the lake again, we will recheck the area," he said. "But as of today (Tuesday), there is no longer a problem."

Wood, Crabtree, Simon take titles in tennis tourney

The finals of the singles tennis tournament sponsored by the Mountainside Recreation Commission were held on Aug. 1 at the Echobrook courts. Carol Wood defeated Judy Crabtree, 6-4, 6-0 in the women's division, Budd Simon won 3-6, 7-5, 6-4 triumph over Monroe Nester in the senior men's, and Don Crabtree defeated Brian Savarese, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, in the men's open.

Wood gained the women's title for the second time in three years. The first set was even at 3-3 when she broke Crabtree's serve and held in game 8 to win the set as Wood held service in the second set. Wood dominated play, sweeping the set 6-0.

In the men's open, Don Crabtree quickly took the first set 6-0. Savarese rallied for a 5-0 lead in the second set, but Crabtree broke Savarese's serve and held his own to pick up a 2-1 lead. He then lost serve, however, and lost the second set at 6-3. The crucial third set was even at 1-1 when Crabtree broke Savarese's serve. Savarese was able to hold his serve in the next game, but fell behind 3-1. Crabtree finally took the match, breaking serve in the ninth game to win the set 6-3.

In the men's division, Budd Simon and Monroe Nester tied the first set 2-2. Simon rallied for a 7-5 lead in the second set. Play in the second set was characterized by a number of lengthy rallies, seven games going to deuce. Simon broke Nester's serve and held his own for a 4-2 lead. He called for the next game and won 6-2, but fell behind 4-5. Simon broke Nester's 6-4 victory, thus capturing the Men's title.

Environmentalists object to plan for extension of Rt. 18

The director of a statewide organization representing 2,000 local and county environmental officials declared at a public hearing last week that the proposed extension of Route 18 over the Raritan River in New Brunswick could cause problems of flooding, noise, light pollution, worsened air quality and loss of public parkland.

In a statement before the state Water Policy and Supply Council, Mrs. Candace M. Ashmun, executive director of the Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions, said alternate alignments proposed by the state Department of Transportation have not answered "the real question" of whether or not New Brunswick and its neighboring towns "must sacrifice the waterfront, the parks, residential areas and their quality of life to a major high-speed highway."

The hearing was conducted on the DOT's application for a stream encroachment permit to build approaches and abutments to the proposed bridge. Three large piers to support the bridge were built in 1970.

Mrs. Ashmun said DOT has ignored public objections to its 28-year-old plan calling for use of "publicly owned lands as the path of least resistance." The plan recently received a setback when the federal DOT refused to accept its final environmental impact statement on the grounds that the state had not given sufficient attention to alternatives to the $39 million highway nor detailed the impact it would have on environmental and historic sites. The federal agency accepted the statement July 16, after the state added a list of alternatives.

Revenue sharing funds: $37.3 million in county

The final allocation of federal revenue sharing funds under the current five-year program allows distribution of $4.1 million in Union County, reports Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, R-N.J. He said this week that the allocation will make the total returned to the county $37.3 million.

County government and Elizabeth will have the largest final allocations. The county will receive $1,275,914, taking its total over the five-year period to $10.8 million. Elizabeth will receive $714,549, taking its total to $7.1 million.

Rinaldo said the payments will be made in October and in early January.

The Union County Congressmen noted a bill to extend revenue sharing for a period of three and three-quarter years has passed in the House and is awaiting a vote in the Senate. Rinaldo voted for the measure.

The following are the revenue sharing allocations under the current program, with the final payment listed first, followed, in parenthesis, by the total funds received:

Union County government, $1,275,914 ($10,824,892); Elizabeth, $714,549 ($7,129,764); Fanwood, $28,012 ($266,121); Garwood, $19,294 ($191,703); Kenilworth, $35,565 ($278,135); Mountainside, $15,328 ($131,891); New Providence, $56,049 ($437,703); Plainfield, $330,164 ($3,180,800); Rahway, $178,279 ($1,433,382).

Roselle, $111,736 ($1,074,032); Roselle Park, $62,026 ($456,221); Summit, $57,287 ($471,289); Westfield, $82,913 ($707,638); Berkeley Heights, $61,097 ($532,016); Clark, $60,703 ($564,814); Cranford, $139,926 ($1,207,076); Scotch Plains, $77,563 ($835,362); Springfield, $59,086

($559,818); Union Township, $281,833 ($2,592,534).

'Odd Jobs' offers help with chores

Union County residents who need help with home or business chores have aid available through the Odd Job Program of the Union County Youth Employment Coalition. Through the project, teenagers may be hired for work ranging from lawn mowing, gardening and clean-up jobs to typing and filing.

The Odd Job Program does not insure participating youth. However, homeowners and businessmen who have existing liability policies may secure a Workman's Compensation rider through their insurer.

To obtain further information—or to hire a youth readers may call the following numbers: In Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth, Elizabeth, Rahway, Clark, Iselin, Colonia or Hillside, 352-8360; in Union, 686-6150; in Westfield, 232-4759.

Hardwick scores freeholders for month's 'vacation'

For the first time in the memory of county government observers, Union County freeholders have cancelled all meetings for a month-long period, Charles L. Hardwick, a Republican candidate for Freeholder, charged this week.

Hardwick criticized the vacation as "an unwarranted fringe benefit county freeholders have granted themselves at a time when the county has many problems which demand their attention."

"The freeholder board last met on July 22," Hardwick noted. "No meeting was scheduled on July 29, the fifth Thursday of the month, on which meetings are not normally held."

"The usual agenda meeting on Aug. 5 and the customary public session on Aug. 12 have been cancelled by the board," Hardwick said. "The next regular meeting has been set for Aug. 26, five weeks since the freeholders' last regular meeting."

For five full weeks none of Union's pressing problems will receive the attention of the body elected to conduct them, said Hardwick.

If there were no work to do, a vacation might be in order," Hardwick said, "but that is not the case."

Bicentennial calendar: activities rescheduled

WASHINGTON, D.C. A house fire in which a historic map was damaged, and possible delay in completion of the New Jersey sports complex in the Hackensack Meadowslands, have caused changes in a program of bicentennial events distributed by Congressman Matthew J. Rinaldo, R-N.J.

Rinaldo said Charles Lee, a lecturer on the American Revolution, had a rare map damaged in a fire at his home, and because of this might have to postpone or cancel a lecture scheduled to be given at Berkeley Heights VFW Hall on Sept. 12.

He added that because of uncertainty over the availability of the Hackensack Meadowslands complex, the Princeton-Rutgers football game on Sept. 25 is now scheduled for Palmer Stadium in Princeton.

The Union County Congressman said other program changes involve the transfer of an American Freedom Train display from Penn Station in Newark to Port Newark and a change in date of this event from Aug. 28-31 to Aug. 21-23.

A bicentennial fishing derby to have been held at Milton Lake, Rahway, last Thursday has been rescheduled for Aug. 12, and a Colonial Arts and Crafts show to have been held in Lincoln Park, Jersey City, on Sept. 18 has been cancelled.

Rinaldo said that, as noted in his program of bicentennial events, times and dates of events arranged well in advance, were subject to change. "I recommend that anyone interested in attending any of the events contact the local bicentennial commission beforehand to ensure that there has been no further change," he added.

Three hikes scheduled

Two hikes have been scheduled by the Union County Hiking Club for members and guests Saturday.

A Class B grand tour of the South Mountain Reservation will start at Tulip Springs at 9:30 a.m. Joan Dean will be the leader.

A Class C hike of seven miles through Jockey Hollow and Lewis Morris Parks will start at the Jockey Hollow Visitor's center parking lot at 10 a.m. Chris Kaufmann will lead the group; participants should bring lunch.

Sunday Joan Dean will lead a Class B hike through Revolutionary War encampments along the Patriot's Path to Cross Lands in Jockey Hollow National Park. The hikers will meet at the Jockey Hollow picnic area parking lot at 10:45 a.m.

Information about the Hiking Club is available from the Union County Park Commission's recreation department.

Planetarium program set

"Watches of The Skies"—the ideas of ancient astronomers and how they were changed—will be the subject of a program at the Trailside Planetarium Sunday at 2 and 3 p.m. and next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Trailside facilities, operated by the Union County Park Commission, are located at Coles avenue and New Providence road, Mountainside.

The Planetarium has a seating capacity of 35 persons. Tickets are issued at the Trailside office for Sunday performances on a first-come basis. Children under eight are not admitted.

Trailside programs are announced on a Park Commission "events" telephone, 352-8410.

It Pays To Insulate

How to save heating and cooling money year 'round!

Insulation is one of the few home improvements that pays for itself in a short time, and then returns annual dividends every year thereafter.

Its job is very simple. In the winter, insulation appreciably reduces the heat passing through walls and ceilings to the outside and provides resistance to cold entering the house. In the summer, it keeps hot air out and cool air in.

The greatest energy thief in your home is the ceiling (attic floor). Up to 25 percent heat loss and 40 percent of heat gain occurs through the ceiling. And, naturally, your greatest savings will result when you install the right amount of quality insulation there.

If the ceiling of a house with summer cooling and winter heating has 3 to 4 inches of insulation, the investment to increase the thickness to the equivalent of 6 inches will be returned in 3 to 4 years by combined summer-winter savings.

Insulated walls provide additional savings. Insulation of 3 to 4 inches in the walls will pay for itself in a reasonable number of years on the basis of savings in air-conditioning costs alone. When savings for cooling and heating are combined, repayment of the investment is quicker.

In addition to substantial savings, insulation keeps your home comfortable year 'round.

Regional school board plans policy to bar discrimination based on sex

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education last week introduced a proposed policy for sex equality in education, athletic programs, employee hiring and other aspects of the Regional District system.

Final hearing on the policy, developed in compliance with Title IX federal regulations, is scheduled for Sept. 7 at Arthur I. Johnson Regional High School, Clark.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 declares, in part, that: "No person in the United States shall on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance." If any program or activity of the Regional High School District fails to comply with Title IX or the federal administrative regulations implementing Title IX, public hearings would be held by the federal government which could result in the termination of federal funds to the District.

"In addition to the sanction of nonreceipt of federal funds, however, the Board of Education is of the general view that discrimination on the basis of sex in any education program or activity of this district is not to be permitted, except where necessary to accomplish a specific purpose that does not impinge upon essential equality or fundamental fairness in the treatment of students or employees of the district," the board policy reads.

The policy includes a restriction against action by employees or other persons acting in the name and in behalf of the Regional District. Prohibited are participation in, denial of benefits from, or discrimination in, any educational program of activity because of the sex of a student or employee.

The restriction applies to all Regional course offerings except:

(1) Grouping of students in physical education classes and activities by ability "as assessed by objective standards of individual performance developed and applied without regard to sex."

(2) Separation of persons based on vocal range or quality, "even though such separation may result in chorus or choirs of one or predominantly one sex."

The restriction also applies to all athletic programs or activities, except that separate teams for members of each sex may be operated.

"Where selection for the separate teams is based upon competitive skill, provided that there is not now and has been no such team for the excluded sex, members of the excluded sex must be allowed to try-out for the team," the policy states.

Moreover, equal athletic opportunity shall be provided for members of both sexes, including equal provision for equipment, supplies, coaching, facilities, services and publicity, except that unequal aggregate expenditure of funds for members of each sex or male and female teams will not in and of itself constitute a violation of this policy."

Full compliance with the rules covering athletics are to be attained "as expeditiously as possible," but no later than July 21, 1978.

The policy applies to all counseling and guidance activities at the elementary and secondary school levels. Regarding textbooks, it states, "Nothing in this policy shall be interpreted as requiring or prohibiting or abridging in any way the use of particular textbooks or curricular materials."

Also covered in the policy are the following:

Financial Assistance—"The policy applies to offering scholarship or other aid or assisting non school organizations in the offering of scholarships or other aid to students of this district."

Employment Assistance—"Applies to all efforts to place students in employment. The district shall, as part of any employment assistance program for students, ensure that all employment opportunities are made available without discrimination on the basis of sex and refuse participation in its student employment program to employers who would practice such discrimination."

Health and Insurance—"Applies to all health or insurance policies offered to students, but does not prohibit providing benefits or services which may be used by a different proportion of students of one sex than of the other, including family planning."

Housing—"Nothing in this policy shall be interpreted as prohibiting the separation of students by sex in housing for field trips or other reasons. Such separate housing must be comparable in quality and availability."

Toilet, Locker, and Shower Facilities—"Separate toilet, locker, and shower facilities may be provided on the basis of sex. Such facilities shall be comparable to similar facilities provided for students of the other sex."

"No rule on marital, family or parental status that treats one sex different from the other sex shall be applied or enforced."

The policy also applies to all aspects of the district's employment programs, "including but not limited to, recruitment, advertising, process of application for employment, promotion, granting of tenure, termination, layoffs, wages, job assignments, leaves of absence of all types, fringe benefits, training programs, employer-sponsored programs, including social or recreational programs and any other term, condition or privilege of employment."

Specifically, the following personnel employment practices are prohibited:

"Administration of any test or other criterion which has a disproportionately adverse effect on persons on the basis of sex, unless it is a valid predictor of job success and alternative tests or criterion are unavailable."

"Exclusive recruitment of employees from entities which furnish as applicants only or predominantly members of one sex, if such action has the effect of discriminating on the basis of sex;"

"Establishment of rates of pay on the basis of sex;"

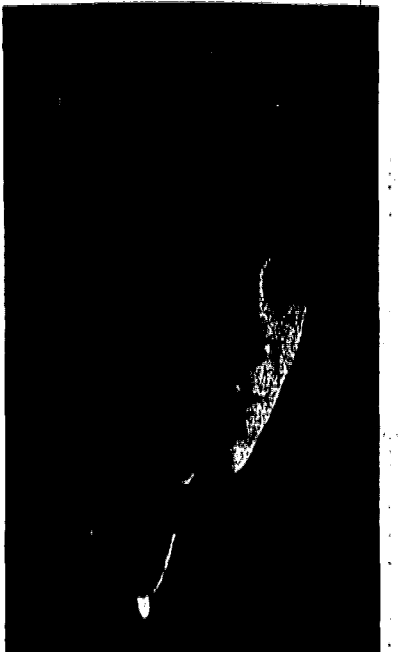

"Classification of jobs as being for males or females;" (A district spokesman said this does not apply if sex is a bona fide occupational qualification for the particular job, i.e., shower or locker room attendant.)

"Provision of fringe benefits on basis of sex; all fringe benefit plans must treat males and females equally;"

"Any action based on marital or parental status; no inquiry shall be made by the district in job applications as to the marriage status of an applicant, including whether such applicant is 'Miss or Mrs.' But, inquiry may be made as to the sex of a job applicant for employment, if made of all applicants and is not a basis for discrimination."

(In employment advertising) "any expression of preference, limitation, or specification based on sex, unless sex is a bona fide occupational qualification for the particular job in question."

To ensure compliance with the policy, the superintendent of schools will designate a member of the administrative staff to coordinate efforts of the district to comply with the policy; to develop, and ensure the maintenance of a filing system to keep all records required;

Accident involves stolen car, driver to face violations

Springfield police reported the recovery Friday of a stolen auto after it was involved in an accident at the intersection of Morris Avenue and Caldwell place. Investigation of the theft, however, is still continuing.

According to police, the car, a 1965 Chevrolet, allegedly operated by Brian C. Paul, 18, of Jersey City, ran into the rear of an auto driven by Michael J. Westerfield, 19, of Diven Street at 11:48 p.m. after Westerfield stopped for a red light.

Police said the owner of the Chevy was listed as Miguel Lamoglia of Newark. He had reported the auto stolen in that city earlier in the day, but because he was unable to give the make or color of the vehicle, it was not listed on the stolen auto teletype at the time of the accident. Police also were unable to reach Lamoglia by telephone. Paul, therefore, could be charged only with two traffic violations—careless driving and being an unlicensed driver. He was released on his own recognizance.

When Lamoglia was finally contacted, he said the car had been stolen and he came to claim his auto. He reported that the following items were missing from it: two electronic meters, valued at $100 and $30; a tool chest and tools, worth $150, and two movie cameras, worth $50 and $20.

Police said Lamoglia claimed he had been held up at knifepoint in Newark and his auto taken, but his description of the hold-up man did not fit that of Paul.

Lung Association notes gains in TB treatment, control

The American Lung Association of Jersey's 70th anniversary year was a landmark one in the treatment and control of tuberculosis, ALANJ president Walter W. Hislop said this week.

Referring to the association's 1975-76 annual report, released this week, Hislop said the closing of the New Jersey State Hospital for Chest Diseases at Glen Gardner last October brings TB treatment into the community. With the New Jersey State Department of Health, the ALANJ supported the introduction of legislation to change the state's TB laws, some of which date back to the 1800s.

"While TB has decreased over the years, other forms of lung disease are increasing," Hislop said. To encourage physicians trained as pulmonary specialists to remain in the state after they finish their postgraduate education, the ALANJ gave two fellowships at $7,000 each and a $4,000 grant to Rutgers Medical School, Piscataway, to continue its training program in lung diseases. The latter grant supplements a $10,000 award given the American Lung Association, the national organization.

Helping people live with the disabilities of a lung disease, such as emphysema, has been possible through the Home Care Project, Hislop said. With a $45,000 grant from the New Jersey Regional Medical Program, the ALANJ stimulated health departments and visiting nurse associations to provide organized home care services to chronic obstructive lung disease patients in many parts of the state where none existed before.

A copy of the annual report is available from the American Lung Association of New Jersey, 2441 Rt. 22 West, Union, 07083.

Waterfront cleanup project under way Army removes debris in Liberty Park area

A massive cleanup of debris that litters the Port of New York and New Jersey was begun this month in the waters and on the shoreline of Jersey City between Liberty State Park and the Statue of Liberty. Federal, state and local officials witnessed the start of removal of the first of some 2,200 derelict vessels and deteriorating shore structures in the harbor from the deck of a Corps of Engineers vessel as guests of the Waterfront Cleanup Project Coordinating Committee.

The Waterfront Cleanup Project, authorized by Congress in 1974, will be carried out by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers over the next eight to ten years at a total cost of about $60,500,000.

The project was described by Colonel Thomas C. Hunter Jr., New York district engineer for the corps, under whose supervision the cleanup work will be carried out. Hunter said:

"The Waterfront Cleanup Project Coordinating Committee was established following the 1974 Congressional authorization of the project to deal with the unique and unprecedented requirements of state and local participation in a federal project with regional and national benefits. Under the chairmanship of the Port Authority, the committee now comprises the Corps of Engineers, the states of New Jersey and New York, and the cities of New York, Bayonne, Hoboken, Jersey City and Newark. As more communities are involved in the project, they will be invited to become members.

"Initiation of the Waterfront Cleanup Project for the removal of debris and drift at its source promises an end to the costly, unsafe and unsightly blight in the harbor. With economic benefits exceeding project costs at a ratio of six to one, the project holds great promise for rejuvenation of the water front for industrial, residential and recreational uses, thus returning an invaluable resource to the people of the Port District. The start of work in the Liberty State Park area has the additional benefit of enhancing a major waterfront improvement already under way by the State of New Jersey."

The first waterfront cleanup contract awarded by the Corps of Engineers, for $1,067,500, calls for clearance of a 75-acre area along 2,500 feet of shoreline adjacent to Liberty

State Park. The low bidder, Cross Bay Wrecking Company of Brooklyn, will remove the hulks of 96 derelict vessels, 25 shore structures and miscellaneous drift sources in the water over the next seven months.

Four separate contracts will be awarded for clearance of the Liberty State Park area, which contains about 21 percent of the debris in the bi-state port. The Liberty State Park work stands as the beginning of a portwide effort to clear away and halt the recurrence of waterfront blight.

Timberline model keeps Clearbrook sales brisk

Sales have moved along briskly at Clearbrook, the recreation-oriented community for people 48 and over in Monroe Township, and a big selling feature has been the Timberline Plaza home with two bedrooms and two baths.

More than 1,000 people now live at the sprawling 560-acre site, off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike and a great many have purchased this home, which is priced at $41,000 and comes in three different elevations. Other homes at Clearbrook are priced from $43,500 to $45,900.

A generous foyer leads to the 12 8 by 21 living room and the large 10' by 10' dining room with sliding glass doors leading to the patio area. The 8 by 10 kitchen is conveniently located next to the dining room and features enough cabinet and counter space to make kitchen work a pleasure. It has GE oven and range with hood and stainless steel sink with garbage disposal.

The master bedroom is 12' by 15' with a wall-width closet. The second bedroom measures 10' 3" by 12', also with closet. The master suite has its own full bath. The main bath has a full vanity. There's also a laundry area for washer and dryer and an over-sized garage with convenient entry into the foyer.

Some features of the home include central air conditioning, electric baseboard radiant heat with individual controls, abundant closet space, thermal sliding glass doors, aluminum storm and screen windows, wall-to-wall carpeting, colonial chandelier in the dining area and many other items.

The monthly real estate taxes on the Timberline are about $74. The monthly maintenance charge of $70 includes roving security patrol, 24-hour nurse on duty at the medical office, 24-hour gate guard, exterior painting and maintenance, landscaping, snow removal, fire insurance and extended coverage, water usage, sewer tax, trash collection, 10 channel cable television antenna, shopping and recreation bus, swimming pool, tennis, shuffleboard and the clubhouse.

The clubhouse features facilities for billiards and pool, meetings, banquets, receptions, social events, etc. It also has saunas, showers and dressing rooms as well as the large outdoor pool. A nine-hole, par 35 golf course is right in the heart of the community for the exclusive use of Clearbrook residents at a nominal greens fee.

In short, Clearbrook buyers find that they have private streets, 24-hour security and recreational living.

Buyers of the Timberline in particular find they have a living room with 21 feet of uninterrupted wall space for a variety of wall treatments. And they have an open-look through the dining room-kitchen areas.

And Clearbrook offers convenience. It is only 42 miles from the Lincoln Tunnel to Manhattan. Models are open 7 days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Panther Valley, Inc. is planning to be a member of the Warren County Multiple Listing Board in order to give the best possible service to its clients," a spokesman noted. Martha Lose will be managing the new facility as its Realtor-broker, with offices located in the Panther Valley Mall. NEW CLUBHOUSE—Artist's sketch shows the second of three clubhouses to be built for residents of Holiday City at Berkeley, an adult community in Toms River.

Firm adds to its staff

L.F. Rothschild & Co., the international investment banking and brokerage firm announced today that it had added three brokers to the equity trading department of its Hackensack office.

The new brokers are John Metzger, Gerald McMahon and Nicholas Roseto. All three men reside with their families in New Jersey.

L.F. Rothschild & Co. opened their major, full service, New Jersey office in Hackensack, in April of this year.

This is the first New Jersey office for the New York based firm, which is one of the oldest investment banking and brokerage firms. The firm has branch offices in Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Montreal, Rochester, San Francisco and Geneva, Switzerland.

The L.F. Rothschild & Co. New Jersey office is located at Continental Tower, Plaza II, 411 Hackensack Ave., Hackensack, 07601.

According to Robert Blatt, manager of the office, "Our new Hackensack office is in recognition of the increasing demand from residents of New Jersey for a full service, international brokerage house to serve their needs. The new men add to our firm's diversification of experience, strength and talent, and will help us serve our clients more fully."

Home ownership offers family, financial stability

Whether it's a contemporary townhouse condominium or a detached Colonial on a grass-covered lot, home ownership still offers the broadest range of advantages as a mode of living, according to Kenneth Berg, chairman of Berg Enterprises, Inc., the New Jersey-based multi-state realty firm.

"In these times of inflation," noted Berg, "one of the most important facets of home ownership is linked to the investment aspect. If current trends continue," he said, "we can expect the value of the average home to increase at a much greater rate than any other investment available to the middle-income family."

"By itself," suggested Berg, "that would almost be sufficient reason for home ownership. But obviously there are many other advantages."

Economic stability is one of several benefits of ownership. The person who rents an apartment or house faces periodic increases in living costs. But the homeowner can usually plan his financial activities around the established payments for interest and principal on his mortgage. At the same time, these payments qualify as deductions on the owner's federal income tax returns.

"This explains the growing popularity of the condominium concept," said Berg, "which permits residents to take the tax deductions of ownership while living in what is basically an apartment environment."

Home ownership also plays a major part in helping people establish a good credit rating, Berg said. In addition, it develops personal responsibility and an understanding of financial matters.

This gives the family maximum control of its internal environment. A home can be adapted to meet a variety of interests and activities, matching individual situations. "It is the ideal environment for family development with its facilities for individual privacy as well as sharing of responsibilities," said Berg.

"Then there's always pride of ownership," he said. "The individual's feeling of accomplishment in knowing that he has earned the right to own his own residence. There is the joy of family gatherings, barbecues and games in the backyard, the vital character-building value of family companionship."

Berg Enterprises, Inc. presently operates almost 100 real estate brokerage offices in New Jersey, Nevada, Florida, Arizona, Texas and California. The 25-year-old

Wemrock Farm found attractive for single adults

In the last few weeks it has been noted that quite a few adult single people have bought at Wemrock Farm in addition to many couples. Wemrock Farm is an adult condominium in Freehold, for people 40 years and over.

When completed Wemrock Farm will be a 1900 unit community that will occupy 181 acres. The first phase is the construction of 145 homes in a townhouse design many of which are now fully completed with occupancy slated within a few weeks. Each home has a separate entrance, front yard, rear patio and garage space (except the Baldwin unit. Most options in other communities are standard features at Wemrock Farm. Each home has central heating and air conditioning, frost free refrigerator freezer, range with self cleaning oven, range hood with fan built in heavy duty dish washer, monitored heat and smoke detectors in each home connected to gatehouse, wall to wall carpeting in choice of colors, Armstrong vinyl covered kitchen and bathroom floors, front yard topsoiled and seeded, utility storage room and rear patio with sliding glass doors from living room.

Thermal barrier insulation on windows and doors maintain heat in the home. All homes are built on crawl space not on slabs which acts as insulation against cold and drafts. Wemrock Farm also has 24-hour security and the community is located adjacent to the Greater Freehold Hospital. The community is located 20 miles from Asbury Park, 56 1/2 miles from New York City, three miles from Freehold Raceway, two miles to shopping centers, and five miles from the Monmouth Mall. Wemrock Farm is being built by the Gene A. Genola Co. which is headquartered in Monmouth County. In his 35-year career Mr. Genola has developed and built residential communities, apartment complexes, shopping centers, and office buildings all along the east coast. To reach Wemrock Farm drive south on the Garden State Parkway to exit 123 and then south on route 9 to the Freehold Circle. West on Rt. 33 for one mile, turn left at farm stand and follow signs to model homes. Furnished model homes are open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Company offers building remedy

Alfred Friedman, president of Premier Homes Inc. of Little Falls, this week prescribed a remedy for the declining single family residence market.

"This phase of the housing construction business faces a marked decline," Friedman said, "and one of the ways to give it a wholesome boost is the adoption of the 40-year mortgage."

"With this change from the norm, and even though carrying charges are greater, the monthly terms will be within reach of young people in their first home. From year one they build equity and can best accommodate the monthly payments."

There are some factors which wise home buyers should consider. Lumber prices are certain to go higher as new legislation is passed to restrict tree-clearing patterns. Other materials are still on the increased price trend.

"In order to escape the dangers looming on the horizon," Friedman said, "the time to build is now. Land costs keep going up and this is definitely a factor in the decision to build."

"In later years, there is a good possibility that those who build now can profit by upgrading home purchases. The average time people live in their homes is from seven to ten years. Some people do sell their homes and move to apartments, of course."

Premier Homes has a 25-year record of custom home building in the area "on your lot". Located on Route 46 in Little Falls, the sales office is open from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily and on Saturday and Sunday until 5 p.m. Their new 1976 catalog is available to those who write for a copy.

Philly area transit tour Itinerary includes New Hope

A transit tour that includes both the point from which George Washington launched his raid on the enemy in Trenton, and the noted arts and crafts colony at New Hope, has been set up for summer Bicentennial visitors to Philadelphia.

The tour can be joined within a few blocks of Independence Mall in downtown Philadelphia or from any of three points in the surrounding suburban area.

Washington Crossing State Park includes among its attractions the house in which the general headquartered while there. Equally impressive to visitors is a large reproduction of the famous painting of Washington's landing on the boat while enroute to Trenton.

New Hope is in famed Bucks County and is noted world wide as a haven for authors, painters, composers and dramatists. Well known, too, are the many arts and crafts shops and the Bucks County Playhouse.

The special Bicentennial transit program in the Philadelphia area was coordinated by the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation. Joining in the venture are the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority.

Network to unveil traveling display

New Jersey Public Television will unveil its new traveling display at the Port Newark Marine Terminal when the American Freedom Train visits there Saturday, Aug. 21 through Monday, Aug. 23.

The modular display will show highlights from the program schedule of the state's public TV network including news and public affairs, sports, instructional programming, and a coverage map. Information on all aspects of the network will be available to the public at no charge.

Some 100,000 visitors are expected to visit the American Freedom Train when it stops in Newark, its only visit to northern New Jersey. Specially designed cars will display historical documents, artifacts and memorabilia gathered from leading museums, private collections and historical societies across the country. The train will travel some 17,000 miles on a 48 state route during the Bicentennial.

NJPTV will join other Bicentennial bodies, historical societies, museums and groups from industry and the community supplying exhibits in the marine terminal. NJPTV's display will be manned by volunteers from the Friends of New Jersey Public Television and staff members of the Department of Information, Research and Development.

Drilling revenues near $38 million

New Jersey has benefited to date by nearly $38 million in recreation and conservation grants mainly funded by offshore oil and gas drilling revenues, the New Jersey Petroleum Council said this week.

Leonard H. Ruppert, executive director, said that even though the state has had no drilling activity, it has received $17,809,326 under the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965. Administered by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the fund derives more than half of its receipts from OCS, outer continental shelf, oil and gas drilling.

Grants to states are earmarked for acquisition and development of public outdoor recreation facilities, including bicycle paths, hiking trails, inner-city mini-parks, swimming pools and roadside parks. In addition, the fund provides for federal recreation areas, such as national parks, seashores, forests and wilderness areas.

Contail and Valley Forge Tours, Inc. A full listing of points of interest, how to reach them, and maps are contained in the special "Philadelphia Transit Guide." It is free, and may be obtained by writing: Bicentennial, PennDOT, Harrisburg, Pa. 17126.

Realtors oppose Title III standard of building code

The National Association of REALTORS has announced its opposition to the establishment of a new building code required by the Title III of the CRA.

According to L. Goldberg, NJAR president, the building code servicer package which mandates federal energy conservation standards which pay for themselves through geographic variations.

The code will be enforced by the conventional financing system. This title applies only to presents a new era of financial responsibility to states, the desirable goal of the code.

It always concerned energy conservation. We oppose the use of energy conservation as a means to comply with federal energy conservation laws. NJAR urges the federal government to deny loans on the basis of federal energy conservation laws, which do not involve energy conservation. It is an extension of federal power.

Are employment will be surveyed

The Bureau of Economic Analysis will conduct a survey next week, John C. ... the bureau's regional office in New Jersey announced this week.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Commerce. A scientifically designed household survey of approximately 50,000 households in the United States. Employment statistics survey are used to provide a picture of the health of the economy.

The survey indicated that the unemployment rate for men and women in the civilian labor force was 7.5 percent in May, but a substantial increase in the recession peak of 8.9 percent in the second quarter of 1975. Information is kept strictly confidential. Results are used only to provide a picture of the economy.

Skidmore will be site of CPAs conference

The New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants in conjunction with the New York State Society of CPAs will sponsor the annual study conference of the Foundation for Accounting Education at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y., from Aug. 20-22.

Registration for the conference is open to all certified public accountants in New Jersey. Additional information is available from the New Jersey Society of CPAs, the New York State Society of CPAs, and the Foundation for Accounting Education, Inc.

New name for NJMA

After more than a year of study, the New Jersey Manufacturers Association, the state's largest employer organization, has asked its 13,000 members for approval to change its name to New Jersey Business and Industry Association.

Leonard C. Johnson, NJMA president, said in explaining the action, "Since our beginning in 1910, association membership has expanded and broadened to embrace virtually every type of employment in the New Jersey business and industrial community."

"The trustees believe that this broad composition of its members can be more appropriately described by the new name."

Earthquake predictions What happens when data suggests a big earthquake, but not for sure? Do the Scientists announce their prediction, paralyzing the city?

Earthquake predictions continued. The answers to these questions are discussed on "Nova: The Predictable Disaster" Wednesday, Aug. 25 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 29 at 10 p.m. on New Jersey Public Television Channels 50 and 58.

Earthquake predictions continued. Nova explores the science of earthquake predictions, its theoretical underpinnings, and its likely consequences, including the dilemma of whether or not poor prediction is worse than no prediction at all.

State offers new grants to offset tuition increase

Needy students attending Rutgers University, New Jersey Institute of Technology, or one of the eight state colleges will benefit from a new state program of financial aid this fall, aimed specifically at offsetting the tuition increases made necessary by the decreased operating appropriation for the 1976-77 academic year.

The N.J. Legislature has made $3.3 million available to assist students in meeting the increased tuition costs at the 10 institutions. The new Public Tuition Aid (PTA) program will remit the amount of the tuition increase to middle and lower-income students who qualify.

It is anticipated that about 25,000 students will receive this assistance, including 12,000 students who now hold New Jersey State Scholarships or Educational Opportunity Fund (EOF) grants. To be eligible for the new aid, students in the 10 institutions must be full-time undergraduate students who are residents of New Jersey.

Students who are currently being aided through the State Scholarship or the EOF programs at the 10 institutions will automatically receive this additional aid in the form of increased grants and need not take any further action.

Students at the eight state colleges and NJIT who do not hold State Scholarships or EOF grants, and who want to be considered for the new PTA program, must have applied for a Federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG). Students who have already filed for BEOG for 1976-77 will automatically be considered for a PTA Eligibility will be based on the BEOG application alone.

All Rutgers students who have filed financial aid applications with the university or who have applied only for the federal BEOG grants will receive consideration for PTA without further application. The University will notify those students who qualify.

The financial need standard for PTA qualification is more flexible than that used for the federal awards, so many students will be eligible for a PTA grant even though they were not eligible for a BEOG award. It is estimated that students from families with incomes of about $16,000 and below will be eligible for the PTA grants.

Eligible students at Rutgers and NJIT will receive grants of $175 per year to offset the tuition increase. Eligible students at the state colleges will receive grants based on the number of semester hours taken each term and will range from a minimum of $40 per term for a student taking 14 hours, to a maximum of $194 per term for a student carrying 21 hours.

Those students at the ten institutions who have not filed for BEOG and wish to be considered for PTA grants may obtain an application at no cost from college financial aid offices, high school guidance offices, or by writing to: BEOG, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044. The deadline for filing these applications for PTA consideration for the fall term is Sept. 25.

Students who have questions about the PTA or any of the other state programs of student assistance, may call toll-free "Hot Line", 800-792-8670, during working hours.

16 historic sites listed in brochure

The New Jersey Bicentennial Commission announced this week that it has published a full color brochure on 16 historic sites in the state entitled, "New Jersey: Crossroads of the Revolution." It contains photographs and brief narrative descriptions of each site and a map showing their locations. It was prepared by the Staff of the Bicentennial Commission.

The sites are:

- The Old Barracks, Trenton; Washington Crossing State Park; Indian King Tavern, Haddonfield; Wallace House, Somerville; Morristown National Park; Waterloo Village, Stanhope; Ringwood Manor, the Van Steuben House, Hackensack.
- The Great Falls of the Passaic, Paterson; Chuestnut Neck Battle Monument, Port Republic; Balsto Village; Monmouth Battlefield, Freedhold; Old Presbyterian Church, Newark; Somers Mansion, Somers Point; Fort Mercer, Red Bank, and Nassau Hall, Princeton.

The brochures are available without charge by writing to the State of Tourism, Box 400, Trenton, 08625, or the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission, 379 West State st., Trenton, 08625.

9 clients receive claims in attorney misconduct cases

Nine individuals received a total of $62,180.22 this month from the Clients Security Fund of the Bar of New Jersey for losses caused by improper conduct of three attorneys.

An annual contribution by New Jersey lawyers finances the Clients' Security Fund. The fund was established in 1961 on a voluntary basis by the New Jersey State Bar Association as a sign of the profession's commitment to honest legal service. In 1969, lawyer participation in the fund was made mandatory by a rule of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

Although the fund has approximately 17,000 attorneys on its rolls, claims over the years have been filed on account of only 83 lawyers. Of that number, claims have been paid against 12 attorneys.

An individual client can receive up to $15,000 in compensation and the fund will cover up to $200,000 in claims against an individual lawyer. Only victims of deliberately dishonest members of the Bar, acting either as attorneys or fiduciaries, are compensated by the fund. Cases involving legal malpractice, negligence or fee disputes are handled through county-level ethics committees established by the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

Fund rules require the attorney must have maintained a law office in New Jersey and have been a practicing member of the Bar at the time the improper conduct occurred. The attorney must have been suspended, disbarred, or resigned from the Bar, or have been convicted of or pleaded guilty to embezzlement or other misappropriation of property. In cases where a lawyer is deceased or otherwise unable to appear for a hearing, Fund trustees may determine that dishonest conduct occurred.

Foundation continuing grant to aid disadvantaged students

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has announced a continuation grant of $264,592 to the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (CMDNJ) for a widely-hailed program that introduces and orients college-student members of disadvantaged groups to careers in medicine and dentistry.

In some cases, the students are still in their undergraduate years. In others, they are college graduates who have been admitted to medical school. Parts of the total program, which features pre-professional indoctrination during the summer months, have served as a model for other medical schools across the country.

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation is the world's largest philanthropy devoted exclusively to improving health care. It has supported the CMDNJ program in the past, but not to the extent of the new grant.

Dr. Stanley S. Bergen Jr., president of CMDNJ, said the orientation program is regarded as a keystone of the college's minority recruitment effort.

With Charles Vevier, Ph.D., executive vice president of the college, as project director, the grant will be apportioned among CMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School and CMDNJ-New Jersey Dental School, both in Newark, and CMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School, Piscataway.

Jewish singles dance

The Jewish Collegiate and Professional Young Adults of New Jersey will hold a "summer carnival dance" at the Ramada Inn, East Brunswick, at 8 p.m. Sunday. A disco band will play for Jewish single men and women from 20 to 45.

for the students and a total of $99,592 for other program purposes. The stipend support represents one-third of the program need. The balance is federally funded.
