MCP takes relay carnival, ties for swim league crown

Mountainside Community Pool captured the Mountainside relay carnival title and then tied for the first place team crown in the Westfield Outdoor Swim League last week.

The team title, shared with Willow Grove, was won when the Mountainside squad defeated Mindowaskin, 192-105, Saturday at Mindowaskin. Both teams finished with a 5-1 record. Mountainside's only loss was to Willow Grove in the first meet of the season.

The borough team dominated last Thursday's relay carnival at the Mountainside Pool by taking 12 of the 18 events and placing second in five races for a total of 150 points. Mindowaskin, with three first places, finished second with 82 points; Willow Grove, two first places, third with 70 points; Highland fourth with 52 points.

An MCP team record in the girls 13-14, 200 medley was set by Joelle Haughey, Lisa Fericola, Penny Levitt and Kathy Gerndt. Posting double relay victories in the carnival for MCP were: 8 and under boys, 8-10 girls, 11-12 girls, 13-14 boys and 15-17 scotch relays.

Four team marks were established in the meet with Mindowaskin by David Crane in 11-

12 boys 50 meter butterfly, Lisa Jackson in 13-14 girls 50 meter breaststroke, Peter Harley in 15-17 boys 50 meter backstroke and the 13-14 boys 200 meter medley relay team of Tom Fitzgibbon, Bobby Cullen, Bobby Anderson and Tim Harrigan.

Mindowaskin dominated the diving events, held Friday night, but MCP took charge for the lop-sided victory in the individual and relay events the following day. David Crane and Bobby Anderson captured three first place victories each. Double victories were posted by Duane Connel, Michael Wood, Shane Connell, Cindy Ahlholm, Lisa Jackson, Kim Genkinger, Carol Luckenbach and Jean Kascin. Single winners were Wendy Wyckoff, Beth Post, John Fischer and Tom Fischer.

MCP's best swimmers will compete in the league's individual championships at Mindowaskin starting at 6:30 p.m. today.

Placing in the Mindowaskin dual meet for MCP were:

6 and under boys—Bart Barre, second freestyle; Jamie Downey, third, freestyle.

Echobrook remodeling progressing

New police quarters to be finished later

By KAREN ZAUTYK

A September target date has been set for the transfer of municipal offices from the old Borough Hall to the new complex at the former Echobrook School, it was announced Tuesday night's meeting of the Mountainside Borough Council.

Public works chairman Bruce Geiger reported at the session, held in the Beechwood School, that approximately 80 percent of the air conditioning and electrical work at the new facility has been completed and been given underwriters' approval. The rest is expected to be operational early next month.

Although most borough workers will transfer their offices at that time, extensive renovation is required before the police department can move in. To facilitate those alterations, the council adopted an ordinance to appropriate $5,000 for professional services in the project, and voted to engage architect Abraham Goodman of Linden at a fee not to exceed $5,000.

A borough resident whose property abuts the new complex asked if a buffer zone around the building is planned and was told by Mayor Thomas Ricciardi that that "will be considered."

In other action at the session, the governing body approved an amendment to its ordinance to regulate and recover the costs of treating non-residential wastes in the sewerage system. Geiger explained the change reflects a revision in the method of billing by the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority and will not affect the amount of money paid by business and industry in the community for their use of the system. In 1975, the borough's total treatment bill was approximately $100,000, with $30,000 paid by commercial users, he noted.

Also authorized was the assessment of $17,213—to be divided among six property owners—for installation of a new sewer line on Coles avenue. The assessments, to be paid over 10 years, without interest, range from $2,408 to $3,378.

Council approved the payment of a $200 fee to engineer Richard Leske to prepare an application for additional county aid in the Charles street flood control project, entered on a joint basis with Springfield. A total of $119,000 in county aid has been approved, Geiger noted.

IMPROMPTU CONCERT—Edward Shiley leads Cantabile Singers in a hymn at the base of a memorial in Westerplatte near Gdansk, Poland, site of Germany's first attack against that nation. The choral group, comprising 37 Mountainside and Springfield students, recently returned from a three-week concert tour of Poland as members of a Friendship Ambassadors program.

Singers united in music

Diary recalls Cantabile tour

By KAREN ZAUTYK

For 37 students from Mountainside and Springfield, this Bicentennial summer produced memories to last a lifetime.

The young men and women are members of the Cantabile Singers, a choral group which recently spent three weeks in Poland under the sponsorship of the Friendship Ambassadors program, a New York-based organization fostering people-to-people cultural events in Iron Curtain countries.

Although the singers all are present or former Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students—and the group's founder and choral director is Edward Shiley, Dayton vocal music director—the unit has no formal connection with the school. The students all paid their own way on the tour, June 29 to July 20.

The highlight of the concert series was a performance at the annual Polish music festival and competition in the town of Miedzywodzie on the Baltic coast. Various choral and dance groups participated in the contest—held over the course of a month—and the Cantabile Singers was the first American group ever invited to compete.

Although the results of the competition are not yet in, the local singers performed so well that immediately after their concert the festival sponsors extended an invitation to return.

Among the eight adult chaperones who accompanied the group was Connie Muirhead of Nottingham way, Mountainside, who kept a daily log of their adventures. "My prime aim was to preserve a record of the trip for the parents who were unable to go with us," she explained.

The notebook covers the entire tour—from tearful good-byes at Echo Plaza to the singing of "God Bless America" as the return flight touched down at Kennedy airport. But there

Rt. 78 foes start funding campaign

A tax-exempt, non-profit organization—temporarily named the Parkland Preservation Fund—will be established by three existing groups to oppose construction of Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation.

Announcement of the plan was made at Tuesday night's meeting of the Springfield Impact 78 Committee. That group will join with the Summit and Berkeley Heights Impact 78 Committees to form the Parkland Preservation Fund, which is expected to spend about $10,000 by Sept. 10 to pay for reports by experts contradicting some of the findings in the N.J. Department of Transportation's environmental impact statement released in May. Sept. 10 is the deadline for comments on the impact statement.

Marcia Forman, chairman of the Springfield Environmental Commission and a member of that township's Impact 78 Committee, indicated after the meeting that if the federal government accepts any of the impact statement's alternatives to building the highway through the Watchung Reservation, the Parkland Preservation Funds may decide to pursue the matter through the courts.

At the meeting, cards were circulated requesting donations to the fund, which lawyers for the Impact 78 Committees are in the process of establishing. To help fund the effort the environmentalists are also seeking grants from national conservation organizations which have expressed interest in the local effort.

'Salute to States' festival to be a community party

The Mountainside Cultural and Heritage Committee will meet this evening at 8:30 in the Mountainside Free Public Library to review and coordinate plans for the Salute to the American States to be held on Saturday, Oct. 2.

This festival will be a climax to the borough's celebration of the nation's Bicentennial over a four-year period. A spokesman said, "Each organization, each school classroom and no doubt every person has recognized the Bicentennial in some way or other; however, this event will be a community birthday party. Through the exhibits of crafts and artifacts and demonstrations of skills and artistic talents, the diversity of background will also be a part of the tapestry that has been woven into our present-day life by the blending of the diverse elements of our heritage."

Among the nationally groups planning exhibits is the Polish under the chairmanship of Barbara Byron and Virginia Oslecki, who say they have a surprise in store for students of

Dayton glass-in slated Saturday

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its monthly Glass-In this Saturday at the Dayton front parking lot, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. The club requested that all paper be tied and all glass be sorted according to color. People with an abundance of paper or glass which cannot be brought to the recycling center may call Brian Baumrind at 376-0846. Senior citizens may also make use of this delivery system.

The November candidates

Everett C. Lattimore

Freeholder Everett C. Lattimore is a man of change and of changes. He is seeking reelection this year to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, on which he has served since 1971.

Lattimore began his working career as an industrial scientist, but switched over to education because "I prefer people to test tubes."

He began his political career as a Republican in Plainfield, where he served on city council and is assistant superintendent of schools, but switched over to the Democratic Party.

And he brought change to county government, being the first black to be nominated for freeholder by either party and winning on the first try.

Lattimore served as freeholder director in 1972.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Shaw University in Raleigh, N. C., and a master's degree from Seton Hall. He also is a trustee of Union College.

"County government has been saddled with fiscal responsibility for welfare and much of the criminal justice system," Lattimore says.

"The state and federal governments control both institutions. They should put their money where their controlling mouth is. County government should be relieved of both fiscal responsibilities."

Lattimore said, however, that county government should expand area-wide services. Municipalities must be encouraged and assisted to comprehensively plan to prevent flood recurrence. They county needs to marshal municipalities into a collective voice, directed toward Trenton, demanding legislation that would permit the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to implement the needed measures for flood prevention. The County should assist municipalities in planning for the purchase of certain flood plain lands," the freeholder said.

"A citizens' advisory board on flooding is highly desirable to provide a base for consistent press for the adoption of adequate flood prevention methods by each level of government."

The county should move to provide greater

School board meeting

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education will hold an adjourned regular meeting Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. The meeting will be held to transact business and is open to the public.

Charles L. Hardwick

Charles L. Hardwick of Westfield says he has three major qualifications in support of his candidacy as a Republican for the Union County Board of Freeholders: corporate management background, community service and political experience and a strong desire for public service.

He adds, "For over 10 years I have been in management with Pfizer Inc., one of the country's largest and best managed firms. The expertise gained in planning, budgeting and financial control, along with experience in teaching college-level courses in commerce at Wayne State University, has equipped me to grapple with Union County's $37 million budget. I can bring business and academic knowhow to county government."

"Consistent involvement in politics and community service has acquainted me with the problems of many citizens from throughout the county. Church activities have centered around social concerns of the poor and hungry (we established a food center in Plainfield and stocked it by conducting food drives at supermarkets) and welfare reform."

"As a member of the Union County Welfare Board, I became aware of the importance of sensitivity to human needs, as well as efficiency in delivering county services."

"I have been fortunate, as an aide to Assemblyman Frank X. McDermott to learn the functioning of state government. This knowhow will enable me as a freeholder to utilize more fully state resources in meeting county needs."

"I want to continue serving my community, and the freeholder board offers me the best opportunity. I pledge to be as responsive to the public after being elected as I have been as a candidate."

Now 34, Hardwick is a past president of Calvary Lutheran Church, Cranford. He has served as Westfield church chairman for the American Cancer Society and has been a GOP candidate for the Westfield Town Council.

He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration from Florida State University. Hardwick is director of marketing for Pfizer Pharmaceuticals in New York. He and his wife Patricia have two children.

He is a county board member and assistant treasurer of the American Cancer Society and a member of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Discussing county government, he declares: "Under the new county manager form of government, the basic question the freeholders should be addressing is in what areas should were three episodes which stand out. The most moving is an account of the students' tour of the Sztutowo concentration camp near Gdansk, where 85,000 of 125,000 prisoners died during the Nazi occupation. "Our guide for the camp tour had spent five-and-a-half years there as a prisoner when he was in his 20s," Mrs. Muirhead said. "He led us on a walking tour of the entire compound, first showing us a film, then the despicable living quarters and operating rooms, and, finally, the crematorium. "There were two furnaces, with metal stretchers inside. Our guide pulled one out and explained that after the people were killed by gas or bullets, 12 bodies at a time would be put on each stretcher. When he finished his talk, our kids, still standing before the furnaces, decided to sing a memorial—their prayer song, 'May the Lord Bless and Keep You.' Tears were streaming down our faces, and the guide, too, was reduced to tears.

"When the song was over, he told us that on the day he was liberated from that camp, he vowed to himself that, because he had cried so much during his imprisonment, he would never cry again. Their song had moved him to tears for the first time in 30 years. "He then explained why he had become a guide there. It was to make people aware of the atrocities that had been committed something you cannot begin to understand unless you see the place with your own eyes. Then, with this new awareness, perhaps people will do everything in their power to see that such a thing never happens again."

MRS. MUIRHEAD also spoke of a man, one of many Poles who eagerly sought out students and chaperones for conversation following the concert. He had approached the group in the old town square in Warsaw, the final stop on the tour. After he had a lengthy chat over coffee with the chaperones, Mrs. Muirhead requested his help in obtaining two Polish flags, which she had promised to buy for a friend in Mountainside. She had spent three weeks looking for them, but no shop had any to sell.

"He said he would try to help me," she noted. "And the next day he called our hotel to say he had the flags and would bring them over that night. It was not there, and the person who took the message told him we would not be back until late because we were going to a farewell dinner. He came to the hotel at 10 p.m. and waited one-and-a-half hours, but the party did not end until much later.

"When I finally returned, the package was waiting for me. Inside were the two flags, and a note explaining that because of the short notice he had been unable to buy flags, so he purchased the material and made them himself. And he apologized because he did not have time to hem them. I wonder how many Americans would have put this effort into helping a Polish traveler in our country?"

ALTHOUGH THE TRIP had its share of joy, there was a near-disastrous happening over the July 4 weekend. Following the successful concert in Miedzwozdie, the group on July 3 traveled by bus to Szczecin, and by the time it arrived, many of the teenagers seemed ill.

As Mrs. Muirhead reported in her journal: "After dinner, all hell broke loose. One by one, the children started throwing up, had diarrhea, were crying. We learned that 21 young people from England who had just come from Miedzwozdie were currently hospitalized with something mysterious that they thought might be food poisoning. The doctors arrived and decided that might be the cause of our group's illness and gave us tons of medicine—two types of pills, carbon (four to be taken every five hours) and sulfa (six to be taken every four hours).

"The severeness of the sickness was fantastic, but even more unbelievable was the mobilization into action of the well students. Schedules for administration of medicine were posted in each room. As some of the kids later began recovering, others fell ill. The well ones were fantastic—getting tea or soup for the others, changing bed linens, bolstering spirits. If the rest of humanity could have seen them in action, they would have marveled at what these kids are capable of doing in emergency situations. I have never witnessed anything like it in my life. It makes me weep as I recall it, and it is something I will never forget."

The most critical stages of the illness occurred during the night, but many of the students remained bed-ridden the following day, and one, Louise Gollub, required a day's hospitalization and intravenous treatment for dehydration. On July 5, several collapsed during an evening concert. "The place looked like a battleground," Mrs. Muirhead said. "It was just too much, too soon."

The episode "caused quite a stir," she noted. Two Polish doctors who were conferring on the matter later reported that examination of the English students who were hospitalized showed the cause of the sickness was not food poisoning, but an intestinal virus. Of the 45 members of the Cantabile troupe, only three, including Mrs. Muirhead, showed no symptoms.

THE MOUNTAINSIDER'S journal also tells of the students' singing at a morning and an evening Mass in the 200-year-old Church of the Holy Spirit in Turin. Between 3,000 and 4,000 people filled the church at each service, and afterwards many of the people mingled with the students, exchanging small gifts. Some of the Poles ran to a nearby stand to buy flowers for the Americans. Mrs. Muirhead was particularly impressed with the sight of the troupe's Catholic students receiving Communion before the church's altar: "I felt sorrow that so many parents were not able to see the scene before my eyes."

In all, the Cantabile Singers gave 12 scheduled concerts and numerous impromptu ones—before a group of Polish schoolchildren near a riverbank, in a memorial park, in town squares. One evening performance was held in front of the town hall in Turin.

"Describing the scene, Mrs. Muirhead said, 'The lovely old, buildings in the courtyard were red brick with green vines. Lights were shining on our singers, while the remainder of the yard was in darkness. The audience of about 200 received us well and broke into rhythmic clapping. They stood for our 'Star Spangled Banner' and sang 'Sto Lat' (a Polish song the group had learned before leaving the U.S.) back to us. This is supposed to be a supreme compliment. We received a huge bouquet of red carnations."

It is impossible to produce Mrs. Muirhead's entire journal here, but hopefully, the students' parents can receive some impression of the trip through these excerpts.

"For myself," she commented, "and I'm sure, for the children, it was an unforgettable experience, and one that I'm so happy to have been able to share with them. My one regret is that it was not possible for more parents to be a part of this venture."

WAYNE SCHWARTZ

Micke, Schwarte go out for football

Bill Micke and Wayne Schwarte of Mountainside will report for football practice at Susquehanna University Selinsgrove, Pa. Sunday.

Micke, a 5-9, 165 pound halfback, is one of 42 incoming freshman candidates. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Micke of Ridge drive, and a graduate of Pingry High School.

Schwarte, a 6-0, 170, sophomore linebacker, is one of 42 returning veterans. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Schwarte of Glen road, and a graduate of Jonathan Dayton High School.

The Crusaders open the 1976 season at home against Westminster on Sept. 11. They hope to pick up where they left off last year when they won their last three games after losing the first six.

Break-in suspects will face charges

Mountainside detectives this week said they are planning to file charges of break-and-entry against three Piscataway residents suspected of burglarizing the Steak and Ale Restaurant on Rt. 22 Aug. 6.

Apprehended in Piscataway on Aug. 9 after a home break-in there were Martha F. Swearingin, 19, and George J. Astalos, 20. A warrant also has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. Swearingin's husband, Richard.

Borough detective Jerry Rice said Officer William Moylan spotted a woman in a public phone booth on Rt. 22 at 5 a.m. Aug. 6. Later that morning, when the restaurant break-in was discovered, Moylan gave detectives a description of the woman. Mrs. Swearingin reportedly fits that description. Astalos also fits a description of a man seen in the vicinity of the restaurant, Rice said.

Rice said the burglars entered the restaurant by removing a vent cover on the roof. Apparently nothing was stolen, but damage was done to several interior doors and to the cash registers.

they are doing a better job with the vast responsibilities they now have. There are over 60 boards, agencies, and departments, functioning in Union County. With few exceptions, the board already has enough responsibilities. Now it's time they faced them.

"Examples of responsibilities the board is not meeting: "Public involvement in budget setting; The current budget is drafted in the dark and presented as a fait accompli. The people should be consulted now on the 1977 budget, not after it's drafted. It's the public's tax dollars, and their participation in deciding on the expenditure should be encouraged.

"Citizens' evaluation of county government's effectiveness; The various county departments answer now only to their own administration. If the people were consulted, for example, on how effectively the Park Commission is meeting park needs, and the Planning Board is balancing properly local concerns and long-term county needs, Union County would have more responsive, people-oriented government. The same is true of all other county departments.

"Revise the Administrative Code. The new county manager form of government was passed by the voters because they thought it would result in a revamping of county government for greater effectiveness and efficiency. In fact, the public was led to believe the new code would result in an actual reduction in the cost of county government. However, the freeholders reported there were no savings to be realized anywhere in the county in spite of this unique opportunity to restructure county government from the ground up. It is difficult to believe the freeholders have done their homework carefully when they report such a conclusion.

"The code of ethics section of the Administrative Code is a sham. As now designed, it protects public officials from public and press scrutiny and should be amended to raise the expected standards of conduct in office.

"As a general rule, other than mandated services, the county should only focus on those activities that require county or regional cooperation, or that can be done more cheaply by the county than by the municipalities.

"One example of a major regional problem that nothing worthwhile is being done about is county-wide solid waste disposal. Solid waste recycling is becoming commercially feasible, and technological progress should be followed carefully. A blend of private enterprise with county-wide direction towards recycling is likely to bring maximum results.

"If I am elected, my first assignment will be to focus on current activities to see if they are in keeping with the needs of the public as I understand them, and are being carried out as efficiently as possible. I have no new spending programs to propose."

State income tax package explained: deductions, tenants and homestead

A summary of bills in the new state income tax package which goes into effect Sept. 1 was issued this week by Assemblyman C. Louis Bassano of Union (R. 20th District). The bills include:

INCOME TAX
If taxable income is not more than $20,000, the tax is two percent; if income is more, the tax is $400 plus two and a half percent of the excess over $20,000.

Every taxpayer is allowed to deduct $1,000 from gross income before computing tax, plus $1,000 for each dependent claimed for federal income tax purposes; senior citizens, the blind and disabled may take an additional $1,000; each taxpayer with a dependent child attending elementary or secondary school full time may take an additional $1,000 for each such child; medical expenses which exceed two percent of gross income are deductible; alimony or separate maintenance payments made to a former or separated spouse are deductible, but not support payments for minor children.

Examples computed with normal deductions, with tax for single persons ($1,000 deduction), couple or single senior citizen ($2,000 deduction) and family of four or senior citizen couple ($4,000 deduction), in that order, are: income of $5,000—tax $80, $40, $20; income of $10,000—tax $180, $160, $120; income of $15,000—tax $280, $260, $220; income of $20,000—tax $380, $360, $320; income of $30,000—tax $625, $600, $550; income of $40,000—tax $875, $850, $800; income of $50,000—tax $1,125, $1,100, $1,050.

Tenants and shareholders in cooperatives may take a $65 homestead credit against their tax payment; those 65 or older and senior citizens surviving spouses 55 and older may take an additional $35, for a total of $100.

A credit is included for income tax imposed by another state or political subdivision of another state (such as New York City).

The tax is applicable on all income earned since July 1; withholding will begin Sept. 1, with six months' taxes being collected over the last four months of this year.

Taxable income includes salaries, wages, tips, bonuses, commissions, business profits (less necessary expenses), royalties, gambling winnings, dividends, income from sale of property or stock and interest on bank accounts and out-of-state government bonds and notes.

Excludable incomes are Social Security and railroad retirement benefits, some death benefits, workmen's compensation, unemployment benefits, gifts and inheritances, military pay (with some restrictions), scholarships, gain from sale of residence if another residence is purchased, annuities, pensions (with some restrictions), lottery winnings, interest from New Jersey state and local bonds and notes.

The capital gains tax and income tax on out-of-state residents working in New Jersey are repealed.

Each taxpayer may designate $1 of his tax to fund gubernatorial elections in the state.

DEDUCTIONS FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS
In addition to the deductions allowed in the income tax bill, each taxpayer may deduct another $1,000 of gross income for each dependent under the age of 22 who is attending an accredited post-secondary institution of higher education full time and for whom the taxpayer paid half or more of the tuition cost and maintenance of attendance at the institution.

'SELF-DESTRUCT' PROVISION
This bill provides that the state income tax will expire on June 30, 1978.

HOMESTEAD REBATE
This bill entitles homeowners to receive a refund from the state on their property taxes. The bill provides for the homestead rebate to be paid in two installments per year, but there has been talk of changing this to a single

Four students named to spring honors list

Four Mountainside students have been named to the honors list for the spring semester at the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh-Dickinson University.

They are Lori Brackbill, Gary P. Cantagallo, Gail M. Serio and Jamie L. Tulchin. All have a grade-point average of 3.5 or higher on the university's 4.0 scale.

Everett C. Lattimore

municipal access and use of the county's Technical Services Department, computer services, purchasing and snow removal. Economies of scale could result," he said.

"County government must maximize its effort directed toward senior citizen support. The maintenance of self-dignity and increased opportunity for meaningful involvement in the daily fabric of community living must be enhanced by the county's cooperative stance," Lattimore said.

"Counties and their Juvenile Courts are primary providers for the Juvenile Justice System in specific areas such as prosecution, defense, detention, probation and others. Counties are responsible for a wide range of related educational rehabilitation and social services. The qualitative and quantitative aspects of these support services must be maintained at an acceptable level."

Several studies clearly indicate that early problem identification and diversion from the Juvenile Justice System significantly reduces the probability of future criminal behavior," he said.

"Federal Government appropriations have been insufficient to fully implement needed objectives. The county must mobilize municipalities to unite and articulate to and through their state governments the need for more favorable fiscal response.

Driver from Maryland faces marijuana count

A 22-year-old Maryland man was arrested in Mountainside Saturday afternoon for possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. The accused, Jeffrey L. Sollenberger of Hagerstown, was apprehended at 3:24 p.m. by Officer Herman Hafeken after a routine Rt. 22 motor vehicle check on the car in which Sollenberger was a passenger. He was released on $50 bail pending a court appearance Aug. 25.

payment annually. The amount of the rebate will vary from community to community, depending on the equalized valuation and the tax rate.

In addition, senior citizen taxpayers, the disabled or surviving spouse of a senior citizen over 55, will receive an additional $50.

CAPS ON SPENDING
Separate bills put ceilings on the amounts by which the state, counties and municipalities may increase their spending from one year to the next.

For the state, the cap is based on a formula involving per capita income; for the counties and municipalities, it is a flat five percent, with some exceptions, including debt service and emergency appropriations.

REVENUE SHARING
This bill provides for the distribution of $25 million to the municipalities in fiscal 1977 and $50 million in fiscal 1978 and 1979. The money will go to the municipalities on a per capita basis.

TENANT 'PASS-ALONG'
Owners of rental property of four or more units must pass along to their tenants at least half of any property tax reduction which they receive as a result of the new law.

OTHER MEASURES
The unincorporated business tax and the retail gross receipts tax are repealed. Another bill, effective Jan. 1, 1978, exempts from the sales tax purchases of machinery and equipment used in production.

One resolution passed by both the State Senate and the Assembly provides for establishment of a 10 member Commission on Efficiency and Economy in State Government.

Another proposes a constitutional amendment dedicating receipts of any state income tax to reduction of local property taxes.

Crabtree adds doubles to borough tennis titles

Despite a series of rain delays, the Mountainside men's and women's doubles tournaments were completed Saturday at the Echobrook tennis courts.

Don Crabtree teamed with George Lewis to capture the men's division with a 7-6, 6-2 win over George Crane and Brian Savarese.

Man sentenced to fine, probation for having needle

A $65 fine and a six-month probation term were the penalties handed down by Judge Jacob R. Bauer at Mountainside Municipal Court Aug. 11 to a Belleville man found guilty of illegal possession of a hypodermic needle. The defendant, Michael A. Viscel, had been arrested June 24.

Others whose cases were heard at the session included Richard B. McDowell of Walnut avenue, Mountainside, fined $35 for driving a motorcycle over an Echo Lake Park lawn; motorcycleist Henry J. Ruerup of Berkeley Heights, who paid $35 for speeding 50 mph in a 25-mile zone on Central avenue, and Anthony R. DePalma of Gillette, fined $25 for driving 40 mph in a 25-mile zone on W. R. Tracy drive and $5 for contempt of court.

Also: Elizabeth M. Boyette of High Point drive, Mountainside, who had been involved in a Rt. 22 accident, $20 for passing on the right in a U-turn; Robert G. Bonstein of Westfield, $15 for operating a car with a broken driver's window, Ackerman avenue, and $5 for contempt; Lawrence H. Waller of Roselle, $15 for failure to exhibit auto registration, Rt. 22, $5 for contempt; Charles C. Petrock of Summit, $15 for failure to have name and address on a commercial vehicle, Rt. 22.

Westfield League plans house tour

The Westfield Area League of Women Voters will sponsor a house tour, "Creative Variations," on Sept. 29.

Seven homes in Westfield, Mountainside and Scotch Plains will be featured on the Tour. Architecturally they are very different, and including a 150-year-old farmhouse, a turn-of-the-century Victorian and one which exemplifies the latest in contemporary design.

Each has been chosen to illustrate how its owner has adapted the house to suit his own taste and lifestyle. Some show innovative uses of space and color; others imaginative displays of collections and antiques. One has been arranged for the comfort and convenience of its retired owner; another fits the needs of a growing, young family.

Tickets for $5 will be available for purchase during September.

Letters to Editor

'IMMEDIATE RESPONSE'
As Belle wended her way north, we found ourselves victims of her lash.

A tree went down, taking our live power line with it, blocking Meeting House lane. The immediate response of the police and fire department avoided tragedy.

The firemen worked 1 1/2 hours in the height of the storm to extricate the wire and lift it out of the road and danger. While the men worked, two motorists attempted to drive through, but thanks to their quick reaction, they halted a near tragedy.

Please note our thanks, along with that of all the other Mountainsiders who had need of our police and volunteer firemen Aug. 9. They did a great job.

BEVERLY AMENT
256 Meeting House Lane

Crabtree became the second man to win all three tennis tournaments in one season. He earned the singles and mixed doubles titles earlier this summer. Carol Wood and Jackie Dooley defeated Harriet Gerndt and Ronnie Geiger, 6-4, 6-0 in the women's division.

Crabtree and Lewis went to the tie-breaker in the first set against Crane and Savarese. Their success in the tie-breaker apparently undetermined their opponents' concentration, as the second set was clearly dominated by Crabtree and Lewis. Savarese demonstrated the "flying whiff" in the second set, a shot which amazed all present.

In the women's finals, Dooley and Wood successfully scored points in critical games to thwart the opposition. Ahead 5-4 in the first set, Mrs. Dooley held serve despite five break points. Gerndt and Geiger quickly fell behind 3-0 in the second set, but had an opportunity to break Dooley again in the fourth game. The game went to deuce six times, and despite four break points, Dooley held serve. The winning team took the next two games for the set and match.

Council

but since the project plans were initiated, costs have risen by approximately 25 percent.

The project, to relieve flooding conditions in the Charles street area and portions of Springfield, will include a retention basin on the Baltusor Golf Club property and carries a total projected price of $500,000. The county will pick up 50 percent of construction costs, with Springfield and Mountainside splitting the balance of all other costs. Applications for federal and state aid also are expected to be filed.

A resolution, approved unanimously, expressed the council's "absolute opposition" to the use of the former Nike Base in Berkeley Heights as a firearms target range. The range, under consideration by the Union County government and Park Commission, would present a danger to neighboring homes and Gov. Livingston Regional High School, the resolution states.

Recreation Commissioner William Cullen reported there had been two instances of vandalism at the Mountainside Community Pool in recent weeks, and noted that anyone found on the pool premises after hours "would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law." Cullen said on both occasions, concrete benches, flower pots and lawn chairs had been thrown into the pool.

He also cited a decrease in pool membership and said questionnaires are being circulated in the community for citizens' input on possible ways of increasing attendance.

A complaint on the recent placement of the firehorn on the new firehouse was registered by a resident of Bridle Path. Fire Commissioner John O'Connell noted that horn is not in use between 9 p.m. and 7 a.m., when the volunteer firemen can be reached at home through an alarm system. At other times, when the man may not be indoors and can not hear the alarms, the horn is required, he said. Ricciardi said the horn may be moved to the Echobrook School when it becomes the municipal building.

Workmen leave, house explodes

An explosion, caused by vapors from a polyurethane floor finish, ripped through an unoccupied Mountainside home Aug. 11, minutes after workmen had left the residence.

Fire Chief Robert Butler said the men were still in the driveway of the house at 281 Indian trail when the blast occurred at 2:10 p.m. The workers had been sanding and refinishing the floors, and vapors from the material used apparently were ignited by a pilot light. Butler also cited "improper ventilation" as a factor.

Butler said the interior of the five-room, one-story home was severely damaged by smoke: "It had just been repainted entirely in white, and all the walls are now black." No injuries were reported.

Dates set for registration for Union College fall term

In-person registration for fall classes at Union College's Cranford Campus will be conducted on Friday, Aug. 27, and Monday, Aug. 30, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., it was announced today by Dr. Saul Orkin, president.

Full-time and part-time students planning to enroll in one or more of some 200 college credit and developmental courses may register at this time, Dr. Orkin said.

Additional in-person registration dates have been scheduled for those planning to attend classes at Union College's Urban Educational Centers in Elizabeth and Plainfield or at selected off-campus sites.

Registration for classes at the Plainfield Urban Educational Center, 311 East Front St., will be conducted on Monday, Aug. 23, from 9 a.m. to noon and from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Students will be registered for classes at the Elizabeth Urban Educational Center, Bayway and South Broad St., on Tuesday, Aug. 24, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The scheduled registrations are only for students who have not completed advance registration either by mail or in-person.

In addition, registration for Union College's Institute for Intensive English Language Learning for speakers of other languages will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 24, at 9 a.m. and at 6 p.m. at the Elizabeth Urban Educational Center Placement testing for all new students entering the Institute will be given on Tuesday, Aug. 17, also at 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Union College will be offering college level courses paralleling the freshman and sophomore years at four year colleges and universities in the fall semester at its Cranford campus. Programs of study include liberal arts, biology, education, early childhood education, physical science, environmental science, engineering, environmental engineering, engineering management, public administration, urban studies, pre-medical records administration, business administration and criminal justice.

First year liberal arts and business administration courses will be offered at the Plainfield Urban Educational Center and liberal arts, business administration and criminal justice courses at the Elizabeth Urban Educational Center.

Additional information on registration procedures may be obtained by contacting the admissions office at Union College, 276-2600.

Schreihofer gets campaign position

Union Republican Kenneth Schreihofer has been named treasurer of the campaign for Edward A. Webber, GOP freeholder candidate. Executive director of the Union Township Young Republican Club and a former controller and membership chairman of that organization, Schreihofer is also corresponding secretary of the Regular Republican Club of Union and vice-chairman of the Republican City Committee of the 24th Election District. He also serves as treasurer of the Union Township Republican Club.

95 receive equivalency diplomas

Ninety-five area adults earned high school equivalency diplomas during the month of July through Union College's GED (General Education Development) Test Center, it was announced this week by Christian A. Hanns of Linden, director. Of the 95, he said, 12 took their tests in Spanish.

According to Hanns, 639 sought counseling from the GED Test Center during the month with 427 referred to adult schools for additional preparation for the GED tests. Twenty-one adults were referred to CLEP (College Level Examination Program).

GED is a national program which permits adults to earn high school diplomas on the basis of learning that has taken place outside of the traditional classroom. Hanns explained. The five-part examination encompasses reading, mathematics, composition and social studies.

Union College's GED Test Center is a walk-in service that permits interested adults to visit the Center and to take the tests without prior appointment.

The Center also offers the CLEP tests, which permit adults to earn college credit on basis of self-learning and life experiences. The CLEP tests are offered in five basic areas: humanities, English composition, mathematics, social sciences and natural sciences, and in 32 specific subject areas. The general exams are also offered on a walk-in basis. Advance registration, however, is required for examinations in specific subjects.

Additional information of GED and CLEP may be obtained by calling Hanns at 276-2600, or by visiting the Center in Union College's Plainfield Urban Educational Center, 311 E. Front St.

String band to perform

A performance by the Ocean County String Band will ring down the curtain on the Union County Park Commission's Summer Arts Festival for the 1976 season next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Echo Lake Park, Mountainside and Westfield.

The Ocean County String Band is a 77 member group, consisting of businessmen, doctors, salesmen, students and retired persons.

The band "derives its special charm from the high-spirited musicians whose only compensation is the applause from their many followers who join in the fun by clapping their feet and stamping their feet and singing," a Park Commission spokesman said.

In the event of rain on Wednesday, the program will be held on Thursday, Aug. 26, at 8:30 p.m. If it should rain on that day, the program will be held at the Warninanco Park Ice Skating Center, Roselle, at 8:30 p.m.

Show stars star gazers

"Watches of The Skies," the ideas of ancient astronomers and how they were changed, will be the subject of a program at the Trailside Planetarium on Sunday, Aug. 22, at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m., and again on Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, at 8 p.m.

Trailside facilities, operated by the Union County Park Commission, are located at Coles avenue and New Providence road, Mountainside.

The planetarium has a seating capacity of 35 persons. Tickets issued at the Trailside office for the Sunday performances are on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under eight years of age are not admitted.

Trailside programs are announced on a Park Commission "events" telephone, 352-9410.

Learning how to learn HELP available for adults

HELP is on the way at Union College where Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, distinguished service professor and former president of the college, will conduct two HELP seminars this fall to assist adults in their return to the classroom.

"Many adults returning to school after a lapse of several years have little confidence in their ability to succeed," Dr. Iversen stated, "and to help them to gain that confidence and to acquire the skills necessary to succeed are the primary purposes of the HELP program."

A college professor and administrator for more than 30 years, Dr. Iversen admits finding great satisfaction in working with adults in their efforts to reenter the educational system.

"They are so highly motivated," he said. "It's a wonderful experience just seeing them succeed."

Most adults, he insists, are far better prepared to succeed in college than they realize. They're scared to death when they first enter the classroom and often come out with As.

Mrs. Irwin given post for Norcross campaign

Mrs. Mary Ellen Irwin will serve as Union County coordinator for the David Norcross for U.S. Senate campaign this fall. "We need men with integrity and competence in Washington today and Dave Norcross is a man who can offer us that type of leadership," said Mrs. Irwin.

A resident of New Providence, Mrs. Irwin is eastern representative of the Coro Foundation, councilwoman in New Providence, chairperson of the Urban County Community Development Committee, vice chairperson of the Wastewater Management Study Group and a member of the League of Municipalities, Legislative Committee and Advisory Committee for CETA-Manpower.

Dr. Iversen shrugs when asked what the secret of HELP's success is. "They help themselves," he said.

In actuality, the program is very informal and highly unstructured, yet touches on the basic skills one needs to do well in the classroom: how to read a textbook, how to take notes, how to review for exams, how to write a term paper.

"Adults returning to college often do not know what is expected of them," Dr. Iversen noted. "They don't know how many hours they should study or how much outside reading is expected of them."

It is in these areas that HELP can be effective. Because they are motivated and prepared to work, adults need only be tuned into the system, be made aware of how it works in order to succeed he believes.

Dr. Iversen cites an incident involving one student who asked how to prepare for an exam. He told her to go through the same motions that the instructor would go through in preparing the tests. Determine what's been covered, what's important and phrase some questions that would elicit the information he told her.

"She turned in a perfect exam," he said, "and when she thanked me, I reminded her that she had done it herself."

Dr. Iversen will conduct two HELP seminars in the fall. One will meet Wednesdays from 2 to 4 p.m., beginning Sept. 1, the other on Thursdays from 8 to 9 p.m., beginning Sept. 2.

Adults who believe they can use HELP may call 276-2600, Extension 284, to register, or may merely attend when the seminars begin.

There is no mandatory attendance, Dr. Iversen said, and participants may move in and out of the program as their needs are met.

HELP is open not only to adults enrolled at Union College, but to any adult who is planning to return to college and feels the need for preparation.

Extensive change in Social Security urged by Buggelli

Richard A. Buggelli, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 12th District, called this week for extensive changes in the Social Security system.

In one of a series of position papers on major national issues, Buggelli said "there are serious problems with the fairness of the payroll tax and the adequacy of benefits."

He said that "examination of the present system makes it clear that low and middle income workers are being asked to contribute a disproportionate share of the cost through a payroll tax that is unquestionably the most regressive tax ever devised."

Unlike the federal income tax, which provides deductions and exemptions for every worker, the payroll tax is computed on all income and payments are not based on the size of one's family or the pressure of other expenses, Buggelli said.

This year, he said, "there is a $15,300 ceiling on earnings subject to the tax. As a result, many families with incomes below the poverty level will be paying high taxes. Wealthy individuals, on the other hand, will pay relatively little. And the higher the salary goes above $15,300, the lower the tax will be in relation to total earnings."

Buggelli proposed that the general treasury contribute directly to the Social Security fund.

State, county officials on hand as St. Rocco Festival opens

State, county and municipal officials were on hand last Friday night as the St. Rocco Festival got under way in Elizabeth's Peterstown section before an opening-night throng of 10,000 persons. The festival will continue through Sunday night.

Governor Brendan Byrne, U.S. Senator Harrison Williams and 12th District Representative Matthew Rinaldo were in attendance. The trio held the ribbon as Elizabeth Mayor Thomas Dunn presided at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies officially opening the event.

Union County officials attending were County Clerk Walter Halpin and Freeholders Rose Marie Sinnott, Everett Lattimore, Thomas Long, Harold Seymour and John Molozzi. Introduced by James P. Ali, president of the American Italian Cultural Society, were State Senator Alexander Menza and Assemblymen John Gregorio (who is also mayor of Linden) and Thomas Deverin.

Representing Elizabeth on the bandstand were Dunn and Councilmen Angelo Patermoster, Frank Sovinee and Abe Rosenweig. Also present was Mayor Thomas Ricciardi of Mountainside.

The feature at tonight's festival program will be a Bicentennial beauty contest to select the most beautiful American-Italian woman in Union County between the ages of 60 and 100. Italian entertainment will follow.

The Polka Dolls, a Roselle Park-based quartet specializing in folk and international dances, will entertain at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow. A karate demonstration at 3:30 p.m. will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Saturday by Ron Malone's Kenpo Karate Studio.

There will be a 2 p.m. Mass at St. Anthony's Church on Sunday, followed by a process through Peterstown to the fair ground. A special fireworks display Sunday night will commemorate the closing of the sixth annual St. Rocco Festival and the nation's 200th birthday.

The festival grounds are at O'Brien Field in Elizabeth, between Second and Third avenues, off S. Seventh street. The festival will begin at 6 p.m. today and tomorrow, at 3 p.m. on Saturday and at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Ten art courses offered by college

Ten courses in applied and visual arts will be offered this fall at Union College, according to Dr. Frank Dee, dean of the division of special services and continuing education. The courses are to begin the week of Sept. 27.

Courses run the gamut from an Invitation to the Opera to Landscape Painting on Location and include Creative Drawing, 20th Century American Music, Vocal Techniques, Oil Painting, Advanced Vocal Techniques, Ballet, Watercolor Painting, and a Stained Glass Workshop.

An Invitation to the Opera, an introduction to classical and modern opera, will be conducted on 10 consecutive Tuesdays from 6:10 to 8:10 p.m., beginning Sept. 28, and will include the optional opportunity to attend a performance of an opera in New York City. Prof. John Wheeler of Westfield, cultural historian, will conduct the course.

Mobilehome community has eight different styles

A wide variety of homes are now on display in the model area of Clearwater Village, the first new mobilehome community in central Jersey in more than a decade. Clearwater Village, an adult community on Manalapan road is adjacent to East Brunswick and minutes from N.J. Turnpike Exit 9.

We have planned housing the way it should be," stated Vincent Belluscio, general manager of the project. "It is well constructed, spacious, well decorated and extremely economically priced." Models start at $15,990.

Eight styles are being featured, including the brand new 14 foot wide mobile home, which has become more popular than the standard 12 foot wide model in most Central Jersey mobilehome communities. In addition several models are double wide, with the look and space of a ranch style home.

POOLSIDE MEETING PLACE — The newly-opened clubhouse-swimming pool area is fast becoming a gathering place for residents of Fawn Lakes in Manahawkin, a community for persons aged 45 and older. Shown above are a group of senior citizens from nearby Long Beach Island who recently toured the development. Home models, priced from $24,900, are on view daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and are located five miles west of Exit 63, Garden State Parkway.

Fawn Lakes community spotlights new clubhouse

At Fawn Lakes in Manahawkin, you'll no longer have to worry about that fourth partner for bridge. Neither will you have to worry about a shuffleboard partner or a companion at the pool.

And, if you don't like bridge, shuffleboard or swimming, there are always lakeside walks or a stroll through acres of natural pine lands.

Recently opened is a clubhouse, featuring a large meeting and banquet hall where Fawn Lakes residents can gather for formal meetings, a special party or just an informal chat.

The facility will be supervised by an experienced social director. Also, there is a large parking lot designed to keep traffic away from clubhouse neighbors.

"This first clubhouse facility is only one of several that will be constructed as the project progresses. I believe people do not like to be herded into a facility with thousands of others. Instead, Fawn Lakes will offer several small facilities where everyone will know everyone else. This is the way it should be in a fully-planned community," explained Fawn Lakes builder and developer James J. Mancini, a former state assemblyman and resident of the southern Ocean County area.

One of the most important items on the project's drawing board is a nine-hole golf course on the premises. "Our first goal is to get the first nine holes open and in good condition, then we plan to enlarge this facility to 18 holes," said Mancini.

Golf is an important part of any planned relaxation, and we are dedicated to offering today's adult a fully-planned community where life is made as easy as possible. This is another reason we decided on the community clubhouse idea. We want to bring the facilities to the people so they can enjoy them with a minimum amount of effort.

The first residential section, comprising 206 one and two-bedroom single-story units, is taking shape around the newly-opened clubhouse. The project is only nine miles from Long Beach Island and six miles from Barnegat Bay. Fawn Lakes homes are priced from $24,950, with financing available to qualified buyers. Included in its dollar saving package is a $29 per-month maintenance fee for the one-bedroom Pine Bluff model and carefree living without the worries of exterior maintenance.

Multi-family units at Luv

Luv Condominiums continue to sell multi-family housing in Stanhope. "Although the sales are not as good as when Luv first opened, they still make for a very successful job," a spokesman said. "The 'Pad' unit has been selling better than ever," builder Martin Newman reports. The floor plan includes a full seat-in kitchen with all appliances and sliding glass doors to a balcony overlooking trees and streams. The bedroom, living room, all-purpose room and bath complete the first floor. The basement has a storage area ideal for a work shop.

Rt. 183 and Luv at Stanhope. Model homes are open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to dusk.

PREVIEW EXCITEMENT: 10 ALL-NEW MODELS

We're not holding a Grand Opening—not for a little while.

The grass isn't green enough, the carpeting not all in, and the welcome mat not yet on the doorstep. So, officially, it isn't an "Opening."

But those who like to explore today what will be new and exciting in the homes of tomorrow—won't mind a little dust on their shoes.

We've built ten great new models, from $17,490 to $42,990, in a new model area for the start of a new Crestwood neighborhood, Village V.

See and compare 10 new models with exciting new interior decor, new energy-saving features, new labor-saving materials inside and out, many new amenities and lots more room.

But still, the same old-fashioned value—the reason thousands of retirees have bought homes in Crestwood Village over the last ten years.

So it isn't a Grand Opening. Come on down, anyway. You'll be glad you did.

2-opinion plan on surgery set by Blue Shield

Blue Shield of New Jersey the medical surgical plan, will begin an experimental elective surgery second opinion program (ESSOP) by early next year. The State of New Jersey is the first group to adopt ESSOP as an additional benefit for its enrolled members. The program will be available to groups of 10 or more Blue Shield subscribers.

The aim of the program, which was established with the encouragement of New Jersey's Department of Insurance, is to confirm the need for elective surgery (non-emergency) and to give covered Blue Shield members more information before they decide on the surgery.

Blue Shield's president Dr. Joseph F. Donnelly explained that Blue Shield is testing the value of the program for two reasons. We want the best possible care for our subscribers, he said, and we want to determine whether some of the surgery being performed can be avoided, as some medical researchers believe. If it can, and the cost of medical and hospital care is reduced, it will mean a saving for our subscribers.

A doctor recommends an elective operation for a member covered by the program that member may request a Blue Shield paid second opinion from another qualified doctor by calling Blue Shield's Second Opinion Referral Center.

The referral center will give the member the names of three qualified surgical specialists who are participating consultants in the program. The names will be chosen at random from a list subject to the geographic convenience of the member, or the member may designate a particular specialist, provided that specialist participates in the program. To assure the member an unbiased opinion, surgeons providing second opinions agree, in advance, not to treat the patient for the condition requiring referral.

If the consulting specialist disagrees with the need for surgery, the member may decide to proceed with the operation or follow an alternative method of treatment as recommended by the consultant. A third opinion may also be requested if the member decides to have the surgery. Blue Shield of New Jersey will pay for all eligible services. In all cases, the final decision rests with the member.

B'nai B'rith plans 'funds' workshop

Area B'nai B'rith lodge presidents and fund raising committee chairmen will attend a "how to" fund-raising workshop tonight at Temple Emanu-El in Westfield, conducted by Northern New Jersey Council. B'nai B'rith will be preceded by a buffet dinner at 7 p.m.

A review of successful fund-raising plans will be outlined for development by the 38 local lodges in the council. Richard J. Levinson of Ambler, Pa., fund-raising chairman of District 3—covering Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and New Jersey lodges—will be the keynote speaker.

Arthur Kossoloh of Springfield, first vice-president of the Council and chairman of its fund-raising cabinet, is dean of the workshop. Other local members of the council's fund-raising cabinet include Myron Solomon of Springfield and Herbert Ross of Mountaintide.

CMDNJ to form osteopathic school, plans expansion of allopathic training

The College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (CMDNJ) is formally organizing a school in osteopathic medicine while expanding its existing programs in allopathic medicine to the southern part of the state.

Graduates in osteopathy receive the doctor of osteopathy (D.O.) degree. Allopathic studies lead to the doctor of medicine (M.D.) degree. Training and practice in osteopathy and allopathic medicine are similar in many ways. Both make use of medicines, surgery, psychotherapy and proper diet.

The new school, New Jersey's third medical school, will be known as CMDNJ New Jersey School of Osteopathic Medicine. It is scheduled to accept its first class of 24 students for the September 1977 semester. The same number of students is expected to be admitted in succeeding years for an eventual total student body of 96.

The other two medical schools, also part of the state-supported college, are CMDNJ New Jersey Medical School, Newark, and CMDNJ Rutgers Medical School, Piscataway.

Both the osteopathic and the expanded allopathic units will maintain their administrative functions in the Camden area, according to Dr. Stanley S. Bergen, Jr., president of CMDNJ. However, no new capital construction is currently envisioned for them.

Instead, students of both will take their basic science years, which are the first two years of medical school, at the existing facilities of the college, whose faculties will be augmented for the added work load and where a Department of Osteopathic Principles and Practices will be organized.

The students will then move to the Camden area for their third and fourth year clinical rotations. Osteopathic students will study at the John F. Kennedy Memorial Hospital, Stratford, the Cherry Hill Medical Center and at other osteopathic hospital and ambulatory-care facilities. Allopathic students will study initially at Cooper Medical Center, Camden.

Dr. Bergen said that it is hoped that the other facilities for both groups will eventually include the Veteran's Administration hospital proposed for Camden. That hospital has been approved for a site adjoining Cooper's but the start of construction is indefinite.

The concept document for the CMDNJ-New Jersey School of Osteopathic Medicine was approved by New Jersey's Board of Higher Education last October. The board is expected to consider approving the granting of the D.O. degree later this year. Also scheduled for the fall is a site visit by the accrediting body of the American Osteopathic Association.

Meanwhile, Dr. Fred C. Tinning, on leave as assistant dean of the College of Osteopathic Medicine of Michigan State University, has

Sloane to receive Rabbinical award

Stanley Sloane of Westfield will be honored by the Rabbinical College of America, Morristown, with the distinguished service award, it was announced last week by Albert Richman, president. The award will be presented at a dinner to be held at the Governor Morris Inn, Morristown, on Sept. 14.

The award is being given to Sloane for "his untiring efforts in behalf of furthering Jewish education and his involvement in both secular and religious humanist causes." He is a founding member of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey; has served as vice-president of the Westfield United Way; is the New Jersey vice-president of the American Jewish Committee; a member of the general assembly of the Jewish Agency and serves as the national co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal. Last year's recipient was Philip Ritter of South Orange, who will serve as the general chairman for the dinner.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Sloane is a business executive. He and his wife, Harriet, have served on statewide and national levels. Mrs. Sloane is president of the Women's Division of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey and is the national co-chairman of the executive committee of the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal.

been retained as a consultant to assist in developing the new New Jersey school and serving as its acting dean. A search committee is being set up to recruit a permanent dean.

In addition to the dean, the CMDNJ-New Jersey School of Osteopathic Medicine will probably have an associate dean for clinical affairs and an assistant dean for student affairs, both of whom will also be based in the school's Camden area offices.

The expansion of allopathic instruction is known as the CMDNJ-South Jersey Medical Education Program. It will operate as an affiliate campus of the existing medical schools, headed by an associate dean assisted by chiefs of clinical departments at the Cooper center.

Allopathic students for South Jersey are expected to number 20 to 30 each year, also beginning in September 1977. They will probably come, Dr. Bergen said, from the existing enrollment of CMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School, which was once a two-year basic science institution but which is now a full, four-year school. Class sizes in the third and fourth years have, however, been limited to about half those of the first two years, pending development of additional clinical teaching

St. Barnabas students will graduate Tuesday

The Saint Barnabas Medical Center School of Practical Nursing, Livingston, will hold graduation ceremonies for its students on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the center's auditorium.

Guest speaker will be Joseph F. Slavin, executive director of the Hospital and Health Planning Council of Metropolitan New Jersey.

Rock show: 'real' thing

The New Jersey Earth Science Association will present its fourth annual Earth Science show at Seton Hall University, South Orange, Saturday and Sunday.

Gems and minerals will be displayed by the 13 sponsoring the show, which will present some 80 exhibits designed to appeal to the general public as well as the rock and mineral collector.

In addition there will be working demonstrations, lectures, fossils on display and chances to purchase items. Members of the New Jersey Lapidary Society will participate as demonstrators, exhibitors, hospitality workers and in other capacities.

Rose group meeting set

The North Jersey Rose Society will meet Thursday, Sept. 2, at 8 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, No. Fullerton avenue, Montclair.

Henry Hartman, a weekend farmer who owns the Jersey Chestnut Farm, present a slide program on growing your own crop of nuts.

Frank Benardella, vice-president of the American Rose Society and winner of many awards, will discuss the International Rose Conference held in Oxford, England, and show slides of the rose show and test gardens in St. Albans, England.

Sharp increase in gasoline prices in N.Y.-N.J. area

Retail gasoline prices in the New York-northeastern New Jersey area rose sharply in June for the second consecutive month, it was reported this week by Herbert Bienstock, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Regular gasoline was up 3.1 percent and premium rose 2.7 percent during the month. The substantial price increases in both May and June totaled 4.5 percent for regular and 3.9 percent for premium and were preceded by seven consecutive months of price declines. Bienstock pointed out. Between September 1975 and April 1976, retail gasoline prices were down seven percent for regular and 4.8 percent for premium.

Between May and June, the average retail price of regular gasoline in the New York-northeastern New Jersey area rose 1.8 cents to 59.4 cents a gallon; premium was up 1.6 cents to 65.1 cents a gallon. Nationally, prices also rose sharply in June, up 1.6 cents or 2.8 percent to 59.2 cents a gallon for regular, and 1.6 cents or 2.4 percent to 63.7 cents a gallon for premium.

Unleaded regular gasoline prices, which first became available in January 1976, rose 1.6 cents or 2.7 percent both in the area and nationally, reaching 62.5 and 61.6 cents a gallon respectively.
