Schwankert, a senior at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, is on the cover of a calendar just issued by the Union County Regional High School District.

Board approves new pact; pay package up 7 percent

By KAREN ZAUTYK

Approval of the 1976-77 contract with the Mountainside Teachers' Association and discussion of the state-mandated student lunch program—which the system must implement next year—highlighted the Mountainside Board of Education meeting held Tuesday night in the Deerfield School.

The teachers' pact, approved on a vote of 5-1, provides for an overall seven percent salary increase, or $67,293 on the base of $961,340. In addition, teachers will be granted 11 days of sick leave, all cumulative; an increase in personal leave days from two to three, and permission to take a personal leave day for a religious holiday, if that holiday immediately precedes or follows a school holiday.

The agreement also covers regulations for the system's two part-time nurses—setting their hours from 10:15 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., stating their salary will be half of the fulltime nurse's salary, and that fringe benefits will be the same as those of previous part-time personnel. Nurses also will not be required to supervise other employees or receive assistance from them.

R. Charles Speth cast the dissenting vote on the contract agreement, noting the budget provided only for a salary increase of approximately 3.5 percent. Before the vote, he requested permission to read a letter regarding negotiations from fellow board member Trudy Palmer, who was absent from the meeting. This was denied by board president William Biunno, who cited "certain legal and procedural reasons." He noted Mrs. Palmer could make the statement public after the vote was taken.

The board also approved state regulations covering the offering of free milk and free and reduced price meals to students, but will send a letter to state officials noting the vote was given under protest.

The board will not have to implement the school lunches until the 1977-78 term, but it is concerned with a loss of local control. Previously, only school districts with five percent or more needy students had to provide meals, but a recent court decision ruled all New Jersey public schools must offer lunches.

Mountainside has no facilities for preparing meals, and board secretary William McDonough said federal funds may be available for purchasing equipment. However, he noted school districts with a 10 percent rating of needy youngsters will get first preference in getting the money, "and there may not be enough left for other districts."

The lunches can be anything from a "brown bag" meal to a hot meal prepared in a fully-equipped kitchen—but all must meet certain nutritional standards. The state also has advised the district it will need a full-time food director and training program for kitchen personnel.

The secretary also noted that at present, the board will not be able to exceed the state-mandated budget increase limit in funding the lunch program. "I asked what would happen if we did not have the money, and I was told that the board's only obligation is to provide programs required by state law—physical education, history and, now, lunches. It is possible other school programs will have to go."

The board must come up with a lunch program implementation plan by Oct. 30 and budget for it by December. Biunno said he would like input from the community on the number of students who would be buying the lunches. "If the community says it will not participate, then the board has the responsibility to report this to the state."

The board also voted to draft a resolution of protest or disagreement with the mandated lunch program and in favor of local options. It is to be voted on at the October meeting and forwarded to state legislators.

In other action at the session, the board approved a $1,100 contract with Scenic Landscape Contractors, Kenilworth, for repair of the lawn on the north side of the Deerfield School and the placement of boulders to prevent motorists from driving their cars across the property.

The auto problem, and that of illegal hardball playing on the Beechwood School grounds and the riding of minibikes on school property, prompted the board to authorize McDonough to write a letter to the Police Department authorizing patrols of the school grounds and

'Indian camp,' colonial crafts demo added to 'Salute to States' program

Plans are progressing for Mountainside's Bicentennial gala on Saturday, Oct. 2—a "Salute to the American States," from Maine to Hawaii, from colonial days to the present.

According to Matthew Powers, chairman of the Mountainside Cultural and Heritage Committee, attendees will view a variety of exhibits at Deerfield School and Our Lady of Lourdes School, depicting the country's heritage.

Among the activities planned for the festival is a Boy Scout Indian encampment, with aspects of a typical camp day. The Woman's Club is planning a demonstration of 10 colonial crafts. These are being coordinated by Mrs. Henry Hayward. Ethnic exhibits will provide an array of costumes, artifacts, documents and arts and crafts.

Entertainment will include a performance by the Mountainside Music Association, coordinated by Adele Magnolia; a performance by students of the Yvette Dance Studio; Bavarian dance and Czechoslovakian marchers. Square dancing will be featured as well as more modern dances such as the Hustle, in which all will be invited to participate.

Games and rides for children will be available throughout the day. Food and beverages will be available.

Preceding the festival itself, a parade will proceed from Beechwood School via Woodacres drive and Wood Valley road to the site of the festival, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Already scheduled to participate in the parade are 23 groups, including two bands and six floats. Among those in the parade are the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Band, the Florence Gaudineer School (Springfield) Fife and Drum Corps, Allied Chemical Corp., American Legion, Colonial Savings and Loan Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Foothills Club, German group, Czechoslovakian marchers, Mountainside Music Association, Mountainside Fire Department, Mountainside Police Department, Mountainside Gospel Chapel, Rescue Squad, Republican Club, Rotary Club, Polish and Ukrainian groups, Skytop Stables, Parent Teachers Association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Mountainside Recreation Commission. Tentative plans are being made for other participants.

Because of the preparations that are being made for the floats and participation in the parade, in the event of rain on Oct. 2, the parade will be held the following day, Sunday, Oct. 3, beginning at 1 p.m.

The November candidates

Walter G. Halpin

Walter G. Halpin, Republican incumbent seeking his third five-year term as Union County clerk, cites a number of innovations he has initiated during his service—a new records system, preparation of court calendars, printing of voter registration lists, addition of a passport office in Westfield, "personalization" of naturalization procedures, keeping count of votes during elections and the addition of a computer to store official records and select jurors.

"In April 1967, on my recommendation, the Board of Freeholders' capital improvement program provided that my office install the first completely automated system for the retention and retrieval of public records in the United States. This was because of the growth of records and the lack of necessary storage space in my office," Halpin noted.

"In 1969, the Board of Freeholders negotiated to purchase property in Westfield for county extension services. Because of the steady increase of passport applicants in Union County, I received approval from the Board of Freeholders to open a one-clerk annex in Westfield to service people in the western end of Union County and save them the problem of driving to Elizabeth. This has justified itself to the extent that we do more passport business in Westfield than we do in Elizabeth. I am the first and only county clerk in New Jersey to open such an office in the state."

In 1971, Frances Knight, director of the United States Passport Office, came to Elizabeth and presented Halpin with the first award for excellence in passport service ever given by the United States Department of State, which monitors United States passports. Discussing the new citizenship ceremonies, Halpin said he changed the naturalization court procedure because it was a "cold and impersonal hearing, but one which meant so much to immigrants from all over the world." He

ALFRED R. LIOTTA

Alfred R. Liotta

Alfred R. Liotta, Democrat of Union, is facing a difficult challenge in November. He's trying to unseat veteran Union County Clerk Walter Halpin.

If he pulls it off, the Liotta family will be able to lay claim to a distinction few others can match: a husband and wife who both hold positions of clerk.

But Liotta, whose wife Mary is clerk in Union Township, points to his business experience rather than family "connections" in "iting" his qualifications. His experience in owning and operating a chain of auto supply stores and service centers in Hudson County would prove "invaluable" in the county clerk's office, he said.

"There are innumerable parallels between running a successful business and operating an efficient and responsible governmental agency," Liotta said. "A business that doesn't meet the needs of its customers doesn't last very long, but an inefficient government can continue on indefinitely. But the concept that good business practice is usually good practice in government still holds true."

Calling the office of clerk "one of the most important and least understood positions in county government," the candidate urged that "every possible avenue of reform and revision in efficient record-keeping should be examined."

He said: "We should not continue to do thing by a given method just because it's always been done that way, but we must examine and experiment. Conversely, efficient and convenient methods and systems should be retained. This is precisely the dictum of successful business."

LIOTTA CRITICIZED as "shortsighted and counterproductive" the use of voter registration lists to select jurors. "It scares many otherwise responsible citizens away from registering to vote because they fear they

Dayton Band to join Steuben Day parade

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Marching Band will be one of two New Jersey bands participating in the Von Steuben Day parade in New York City Saturday at 1 p.m. Last Saturday the band marched in the Garwood-Bicentennial parade.

Under the direction of Jeff Anderson and Vinnie Playa, the band will perform at several competitions this fall as well as at all the Jonathan Dayton football games.

Seniors plan to attend Gordon MacRae show

The Senior Citizens of Mountainside will take a trip on Tuesday to the Garden State Art Center to see Gordon MacRae.

At the regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday, there will be a pot luck luncheon and installation of the newly-elected officers.

Sign-ups continue for autumn sports

Registrations are being accepted by the Mountainside Recreation Commission for boys' and girls' soccer, crosscountry, gymnastics and tennis lessons. The evening tennis lessons are scheduled to begin on Monday.

Recreation Director Sue Winans noted the starting date for the evening lessons has been postponed from Sept. 13.

The Recreation Office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. Payment must accompany registration. For additional information, readers may call 232-0015.

Driver arrested after chase: 8 high-speed miles on Rt. 22

A 29-year-old Wallington man was arrested by Mountainside police Saturday morning after he led them on a high-speed eight-mile chase from the borough to Green Brook.

The defendant, Michael D. Nieradka, has been charged with eluding a police officer and assault and battery on an officer. He was released on $500 bail pending an appearance in Mountainside Municipal Court Oct. 6.

Police said the chase started shortly before 3 a.m. when Officers William Moylan and Jack Yerich spotted Nieradka's auto moving in an erratic manner along the westbound lanes of Rt. 22. When they attempted to halt the vehicle, Nieradka sped off.

Watching police tried to block the highway in their community with a patrol car, but were forced to pull the vehicle back when it became apparent Nieradka would not halt. When that patrolcar also took up the pursuit, Nieradka allegedly attempted to force it into the concrete divider.

In Green Brook, in an attempt to halt the fleeing vehicle, Yerich shot out the left rear tire, but Nieradka continued westward and tried to run the Mountainside car off the road, police said. Yerich then shot out the left front tire. Nieradka cut across the highway in an effort to escape, police said, but was blocked by patrol cars from Scotch Plains and Green Brook.

Lawn damaged by mobile home

The lawn and several trees at 491 Summit rd. were damaged yesterday morning when a 60-foot mobile home trailer broke loose from a Hoxie Bros. Circus truck and rolled downhill. A witness said only several large rocks kept it from smashing into a house.

Police said the mishap, which occurred at 7:15 a.m., apparently happened when the hitch came undone. No one was injured in the accident, they said.

With propane gas leaking from some small tanks which had been carried on the truck, firemen were called out to stand by until the wreckage could be cleared away, police reported.

Cranford hockey to open its season

The Cranford Hockey Club, New Jersey's oldest private hockey club, will take the ice for the first time this season on Oct. 2 at Warinanco Ice Center.

Extended hours at the Ice Center have been negotiated for six teams from six-year-olds to high schoolers, according to president Robert Crane. Plans for second teams in the bantam, peewee and squirt divisions are being made, depending upon player registration. The winter schedules this year will provide for a minimum of 30 games for each squad. Youngsters from Union County and surrounding counties between the ages of six and 18 who are interested in playing ice hockey for Cranford may call Bill McKinlay at 233-7575.

The coaching staff consists of David Malcolm of Westfield, a transplanted Canadian with many years of coaching and playing experience; Ron DeLonge, a Michigan Tech star and a former candidate for the Olympic team; Bill Schultz of Watchung and Bill Morris of Westfield. Three coaching positions are still open and inquiries may be made to Crane at 276-0900 or Malcolm at 654-4136.

Bulldog offense depends on pass; Burke at the helm

By MIKE MEIXNER
 The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity football team, which will see its first on-the-record competition at home next Friday, Sept. 24, against Roselle, appears to be headed upwards.

Coach Dave Oliver's gridmen will miss the quarterbacking of the graduated Joe Graziano, but Bryant Burke, second in line last season, gives every indication that he will fill in quite ably. Other key men in the backfield are senior fullback Brandon Gambee and halfback Teddy Parker.

Many of the Bulldog hopes will ride on Burke's passes to the two running backs and to two other promising receivers: Jim Stadler and Steve Pepe.

Defense, which was the team's major problem in 1975, will have to improve if Dayton is to have a successful season against a strong crop of Suburban Conference rivals.

Tigers, Knights on TV Sept. 26

In 1969, Princeton University and Rutgers University played the first American football game. On Saturday, Sept. 25, the Tigers and Scarlet Knights meet to play the 67th game at Princeton's Palmer Stadium. On Sunday, Sept. 26, at noon, New Jersey Public Television Channels 50 and 58 will broadcast the game by playback with play-by-play by sportscaster Dick Landis and color commentary by Princeton University All American (1964) Cosmos Iacavazzi.

Indications point to a good game with Rutgers (9-2 last year) meeting Princeton with two games (Navy and Bucknell) already under its belt and a possible national ranking in its future. Princeton opened the season against Cornell.

Dayton soccer moves to a new field as Coach Krupp juggles for a lineup

By MIKE MEIXNER
 The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity soccer team will launch its 1976 season tomorrow at Carteret with hopes of finishing on top of the ladder in tough Suburban Conference competition. One major change for Dayton soccer fans this year is that home games will take place on a new field adjoining the football area at Meisel Field in Springfield.

The former field on the Dayton front lawn has been wiped out by flood control work still going on. The construction is designed to provide additional athletic space, however, and Regional officials have indicated that the net result will be more space for soccer in coming years.

Dayton's success this season will depend on how well the Bulldogs can compensate for the loss of high-scoring inside forward Gary Scheich. A senior last year, Scheich led Dayton in goals and was named to the Suburban Conference all-star team.

Coach Arthur Krupp has moved Alan Layton from halfback into the front line spot left open by Scheich's graduation, and Layton is seen as the key to all hopes for a strong attack. Rich Weinberg has fared well in scrimmages and will also help the attack.

Krupp stated that sophomore Brian Kukon has been the most pleasant surprise in the year so far. Kukon, who led the Dayton freshman team to a Suburban Conference title last year, is a converted halfback set to play wing.

As of now, the Bulldogs' strongest position is goalie. Sid Kaufman is perhaps the conference's finest netminder, and Steve Shindler has good talent for the backup goaltending chores.

In the preseason scrimmages, Dayton has shown fine passing and dribbling skills but has lacked the ability to round off each thrust with a goal.

The fullbacks must also improve to produce a successful season. This aspect of the team should improve with the addition of Mike French and Mike Wittenberg, who missed the preseason physical examinations.

Coach Krupp commented that the top Suburban Conference teams this year should be Verona, Summit and Caldwell. He added that with a few breaks Dayton could mount a strong challenge and could pull off a few surprises.

The regular hunting seasons for ducks and Canada geese will open on Oct. 6, according to the division.

The first portion of the split season for ducks will extend until Oct. 16 and for Canada geese until Nov. 5.

The second portion of both the regular duck season and the Canada goose season will open at noon on Nov. 24 and go until Jan. 1.

The bag limits for Canada geese are three daily and six in possession.

The bag limits for ducks are controlled by the point system.

For details concerning the point system, and further information about the duck and goose laws, sportsmen should refer to the New Jersey 1976-77 Migratory Bird Regulation Supplement.

Sea duck period opens state waterfowl season

The New Jersey Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries has announced that the sea duck season in a defined area will open on Saturday and extend until Jan. 1.

The sea duck area is defined as east of the high tide line along the Atlantic Ocean shore from Sandy Hook Point south to Cape May Point and transversely across mid-point of each inlet to high tide line on each side of each inlet.

The sea duck season covers oldsquaw, black scoters, white-winged scoters, and surf scoters. There will be no open season on eider ducks.

The daily bag limit is 7 and the possession limit 14, singly or in the aggregate. However, the point system will be in force during the regular duck season when each sea duck will count 10 points.

The division said that for further details hunters should refer to the New Jersey 1976-77 Migratory Bird Regulation Supplement.

The regular hunting seasons for ducks and Canada geese will open on Oct. 6, according to the division.

The first portion of the split season for ducks will extend until Oct. 16 and for Canada geese until Nov. 5.

The second portion of both the regular duck season and the Canada goose season will open at noon on Nov. 24 and go until Jan. 1.

The bag limits for Canada geese are three daily and six in possession.

Tufts football team includes Callahan

Kevin Callahan, a 6-2, 200-pound junior tight end from Mountainside, is among the 85 players, including 26 lettermen, who turned out for the first day of football practice at Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

Head Coach Paul Pavlak, who feels the squad has reported "in excellent condition," is looking to a veteran offensive backfield and defensive line—which return intact—to improve on last season's 2-6-0 record.

Tufts opens its 101st season by playing host to Wesleyan, Sept. 25.

Activity program for fall is listed by Westfield Y unit

A fall program of activities has been announced by the YM-YWHA of Greater Westfield, which includes Mountainside. The plans were developed following a spring satellite program.

Among the classes to be offered are: popular social dancing, gymnastics, sports night, art appreciation, magic, arts and crafts, dance, carpentry, let's pretend, music appreciation and dramatics.

A program brochure will be mailed to members of the community.

The Y programs are temporarily held in the Temple Emanu-El on E. Broad street, Westfield. Also a meeting will be held Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Franklin State Bank on Raritan road, Clark to inform the public of the classes and answer questions.

Executive committee members who can be contacted for further information are: Al Gelfand, co-chairman, 232-2885; Judi Kronick, co-chairman, 233-2985; Louise Yohalem, membership, 654-4669; Jane Chlewich, program, 382-7407. Other committee members are: Irving Tanzer, ex-officio; Robert Fuhrman, house and grounds; Edward Inley, budget and finance.

Plans were developed under a steering committee headed by Penny Margolies and Barry Hantman of the Plainfield Jewish Community Center.

Author's subject is 'Revolutionary'

An "Evening with Thomas Fleming" will be presented jointly by the Westfield Historical Society, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Parish House of the Presbyterian Church at 140 Mountain ave., Westfield.

Fleming, whose recent works include "The Forgotten Victory," "Now We Are Enemies," "Liberty Tavern," and "1776: Year of Illusions" strives to depict the heroes and the common people of the Revolutionary era.

3 vehicle cases in municipal court

Only three cases—involving motor vehicle violations—were heard at the Sept. 8 session of Mountainside Municipal Court, with Judge Jacob R. Bauer presiding.

Fined $30 for passing in a no-passing zone on W.R. Tracy drive was Jeff M. Woerner of Scotch Plains. Robert R. Riche of Hillside was fined $15 for riding on a part of a pickup truck not intended for passengers; that summons also was issued on Tracy drive. Michael R. Lacorazza of North Plainfield, ticketed on Rt. 22, paid $15 for failure to make vehicle repairs and $5 for contempt of court.

50th anniversary for duCret School

The duCret School of the Arts, 559 Rt. 22, North Plainfield, celebrating 50 years of educational service, is the oldest private art school in New Jersey. Class enrollments are limited, thereby stressing individual instruction, permitting full analysis of each student's capabilities and potentialities and insuring freedom of study while maintaining the exacting demands required in art education.

Applicants are accepted for first year classes if they are graduates of an accredited high school and successfully pass entrance examinations in proportion, perspective, imagination, design and color perception. Exceptions are adjudged on an individual basis by the school administration.

Fulltime classes for all commercial and fine art courses are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; evening classes are from 7 to 9:30 p.m.; special children's classes are held Saturdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m. For further information, readers may call 757-7171.

Y guide, princess meetings planned

The Westfield YMCA Indian Guides-Indian Princesses will hold organizational meetings this month the area for fathers and children in grades 1-3. In the Westfield-Mountainside area, a meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m., at the YMCA, 138 Ferris Pl., Westfield.

Indian Guides foster companionship between father and son, or father and daughter. Tribes of six to eight father-child pairs are formed on a school or neighborhood basis. Indian lore provides a theme for group activities, ranging from leather work to fishing to dinner dates.

Social studies workshop emphasizes a 'return to basics' for U.S. history

"I've never seen a group of teachers work together with such cooperation and dedication," stated Miss Dorothea Hooper, social studies coordinator of the Union County Regional High School District. Miss Hooper and 12 of her department's faculty members recently completed a three-week summer workshop where they produced resource guides for two United States history courses. The workshop was conducted at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights and, according to Miss Hooper, the resource guides emphasize a "return to basics."

The State Department of Education requires that all high school students successfully complete two years of United States history. Within the Regional District, all students must

Ketcham assumes Y coaching duties

The Westfield YMCA and YWCA this week announced that John D. Ketcham will assume the head coach position for both the YMCA and YWCA swim teams.

Ketcham was a member of the Westfield YMCA swim team from 1954 to 1965. He swam for Westfield High School from 1964 to 1966 and was captain of the team in 1966. He was a high school All American swimmer from 1964 to 1966.

During his college years he swam for Wesleyan University and captained the team in 1970.

He was the recipient of High G. McCurdy (Wesleyan) and Robert B. Muir (New England) awards and the "Sports Illustrated" award of merit. In 1968 he participated in the Olympic trials.

It was also announced that Bob Hope will return as assistant coach. Hope has had two years' coaching experience with the Westfield Y under the leadership and direction of Perry Coultas.

Information concerning tryouts for the teams may be obtained by calling the Westfield YMCA (233-2700) or YWCA (233-2833).

take the two-semester United States history survey course before enrolling in the department's other U.S. history programs.

The summer workshop participants developed a resource guide for the survey course that outlines the many directions teachers may go with this course. Time guidelines and other teaching instructions are outlined, but each faculty member teaching the course is given a great deal of latitude in choosing the particular aspects of United States history he or she wishes to emphasize.

Miss Hooper emphasized that skill development in the areas of vocabulary, research, writing, library usage and oral presentations is a common thread running through all of the social studies courses.

The survey course examines our nation's history chronologically; the just-completed resource guide provides teacher and students with background information, supplemental reading material and suggested class projects and activities.

The second resource guide developed by the teachers was for a U.S. history course entitled "Values" but now called "Mind, Spirit, Character: An American Social History." This course takes a thematic, as opposed to chronological, approach to the study of history.

The course includes a study of the factors that have shaped the American values system, the changes that have taken place in the country's social struggle for assimilation among the nation's immigrants and in dualism in America.

Just completing her first year as social studies coordinator, Miss Hooper called the summer workshop program her "most rewarding experience in the department all year. In social studies, subject materials can become outdated very quickly. New information and interpretations of the subjects we present to students are constantly being found, and workshops enable us to remain crisp and up-to-date in our courses."

Senator WILLIAMS Reports

As the summer draws to a close, many of our state's residents are going to take one final moment to enjoy the beautiful recreation and resort areas up and down our coast. Our coastline is indeed a source of great pleasure for many—for the sportsman, for the small boat owner and for those who enjoy an occasional quiet moment on the beach in the sun. Things can be done to improve our coastline and to make it a place that is even more enjoyable.

A Subcommittee of the United States Senate's Public Works Committee recently acted to send one such improvement on its way. The Water Resources Subcommittee approved $4 million for reconstruction planning for two major projects which I urged in testimony earlier this year. Those projects call for an eventual investment of $62 million in construction and improvement up and down the coast.

For too long, our beaches have been protected from storms which ravage the coast and displace thousands of pounds of sand. This sand often winds up in channels which are used for navigation by commercial fishermen and pleasure boat owners. The projects approved by the subcommittee will help correct these problems.

First, a program of construction will begin along the southernmost 16 miles of New Jersey's Atlantic Coast from Hereford Inlet to the Delaware Bay entrance of Cape May Canal. Several jetties, a navigation channel and bulkheads will be built at Hereford Inlet and Five Mile Beach.

Deposition basins, a seawall and breakwater will be built for Cape May Inlet to Lower Township and several dikes will be used to protect Cape May Point. Estimated costs for this project will be $43 million and all but $11 million will be assumed by the federal government.

Next, a 39-mile stretch of coast farther north from Harnegal Inlet to Longport, will be improved to help control beach erosion and aid in navigation. A new jetty, beach nourishment facilities and auxiliary improvements will be built at Barnegat Inlet to service Long Beach Island, Brigantine Island and Absecon Island. A new navigation channel will also be dredged at Barnegat Inlet.

Estimated costs for this project will be $54 million, with the federal government paying $30 million. Together, these two projects will work to stabilize the oceanic environment of Hereford and Barnegat Inlets. Various local communities, the State of New Jersey and the federal government will cooperate in what amounts to a major effort to improve the quality of both commercial and recreational uses of New Jersey's coast.

While the plans for the projects are still tentative as they wait for final Congressional approval, it is good to know that there is some level of commitment.

Maguire to PUC: explain rate hike OKs to legislature

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-22) this week urged Public Utilities Commission President Joel Jacobson to explain the operation of his agency and its procedure regarding utility rate increases to interested members of the legislature and has asked the leadership of both parties to jointly request a meeting with Jacobson for that purpose.

In letters to Assembly Majority Leader William Hamilton and Minority Leader Thomas Kean, Maguire said he has received "scores of phone calls and angry letters" from his constituents complaining about utility rate increases.

"I'm tired of passing the buck by simply pointing out the increases were granted by the PUC without involvement by the legislature," Maguire said. "I would rather have some understanding of the problems facing the PUC and am confident the meeting would be valuable to many other legislators as well."

The Republican lawmaker noted that Jacobson had offered to meet with the legislature during his testimony before the Joint Appropriations Committee last spring. "Jacobson is obviously aware of the great public concern for what seems to be ever-spiraling increases in utility rates. I would hope we would take advantage of his offer so that we can respond to our constituents with more background and understanding," Maguire said.

Liotta

It also does not provide as representative a pool of prospective jurors as use of Social Security, Medicaid, driver license and other license lists might, he added.

"I think our legislators might look into ways of assuring that people suffer no undue financial hardship when they perform the civic responsibility of serving on a jury. Former Assemblyman Joseph L. Garrubio, now a Union County freeholder, introduced a bill in this regard a couple of years ago. It's something I definitely think should be pursued," Liotta said.

And with an expanded jury selection pool, "the chances of a jury duty letter arriving in your mailbox one day are actually decreased rather than increased," he pointed out.

"Immigration and naturalization are two more areas in the realm of the county clerk where utilizing quick, efficient and economical business practices can accomplish drastic improvements," he said. "Everything must be done to assist aspirants for citizenship, and speedy access and accurate maintenance of immigration records are vital to this help. In addition, immigration and naturalization records are also vital in helping detect illegal aliens with fraudulent papers."

LIOTTA, WHO ATTENDED Brooklyn schools before entering City College of New York at the age of 15, attended college at night while working during the day.

He interrupted his studies in 1942 to enter the Army, where he spent the next four years. After being commissioned an officer, he taught map reading to Army students briefly before embarking for Europe. During the next two years, he saw action in the Normandy invasion, Battle of the Bulge and the Rhineland campaign.

Discharged as an Army Air Force first lieutenant in 1945, he enrolled at Columbia University School of Business and took related courses in Columbia Law School before receiving a bachelor of science degree in 1948.

Liotta, who formerly worked for Savarin, Loft's, Macy's, John's Manville and A.M.C. Corp., owns and operates a chain of auto supply stores and service centers in Hudson County. He is president of Rocket Auto Stores, Inc., a retail chain; Ray-Lin Distributors, Inc., a warehouse distributor; and Hudson A.L. Corp., a real estate holding corporation, all of Jersey City. He also is past president, director and major stockholder of Best Buy Distributors of Hillside, a cooperative automotive warehouse and buying organization.

While at Loft's, he was union representative in the Retail and Wholesale Employee Local.

LIOTTA, WHO HAS two children, Raymond, 21, and Linda, 18, has been active in civic and community organizations in Union Township.

He is a member of Holy Spirit Roman Catholic Church, past committee chairman of Cub Pack 161 of Livingston School, member of the civic affairs committee of Putnam Manor Civic Association, past chairman of the Civic Awareness Committee of Union Township and member of the Union High School Parent-Teacher Association, Anthony E. Russo Association, James C. Conlon Association and Mary Liotta Association.

Among other groups in which he has held membership are the Union Lodge of Elks, Knights of Columbus, Union Chapter of United and Union Township Historical Society. He also has worked in fund drives for the Boy Scouts, March of Dimes and other organizations.

Active in Democratic Party politics since 1965, he ran for Township Committee in 1966, winning a bitter primary battle with Daniel Covino but going down to defeat in the general election before the Republican incumbent, Koloman Kiss.

Liotta has been active in political campaigns consistently since that time. A member and vice-president of the Union Democratic Club, he was a founder last year of the Mary Liotta Association, named for his wife. This group, he commented, "played a very strong role in the tremendous Russo-Liotta victory in 1975," when Mrs. Liotta was elected clerk and Anthony Russo was reelected to the Township Committee.

He also worked in the 1976 Board of Education campaign which saw Ernest Russo, Michael Conlon and Roosevelt Williams win with a record voter turnout for a board election.

A contract in the amount of $8,307 for the transportation of three handicapped students from Mountainside to a school in Englewood for 1976-77 was granted to the Town and Country Bus Co., Paterson, which served the board last year.

The board approved a policy requiring all new employees and employees recommended

Board members to attend NJSBA policy workshop

The members of the Mountainside Board of Education will become students themselves on Tuesday evening, when they will attend a policy-making workshop conducted by staff members of the New Jersey School Boards Association.

The program will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Deerfield School. "Because it is vital for every citizen to understand the workings of the local school board, the board is inviting the public to attend this special meeting," a spokesman noted. No other matter will be on the agenda.

The workshop will explore the responsibilities and functions of the elected school board members and their relations with the school superintendent and other administrators who carry out the policies set by the board.

According to Donald S. Calderon, field service representative of the School Boards Association, the session also will deal with the policy pressures put on school boards by recent state legislation intended to foster the "thorough and efficient" education provided for by the New Jersey Constitution.

After the workshop, the public will be invited to share refreshments and to discuss the evening's program with board members and the School Boards Association staff.

Two gift volumes in library display

Two gift books will be on display at the Free Public Library of Mountainside today through next Thursday, Sept. 23.

"The Home Book of Quotations" (10th edition, revised), selected and arranged by Burton Stevenson, is being placed in the library by the literature department of the Mountainside Woman's Club. This adds a circulating copy, in addition to the reference copy.

"The Cocopah People," written by Anita Alvarez deWilliams with the assistance of Robert S. Barley, the tribal chairman, and Peter Soto, tribal councilman, has been presented to the library by the Mountainside Woman's Club. This book acquaints the reader with the Cocopah Indians, who have been known as "River People," having always lived along the Colorado River. They aided early explorers of the West in navigating the river. Today the tribe numbers only 504 living on reservations in Arizona, California and Baja California.

The Cocopah Indians are of special interest to the Woman's Club, as it has sponsored Sousa Nita Barley, a Cocopah Indian girl, for four years.

Resolution backed on mobile homes

An Assembly resolution, slated for introduction soon, seeking to relieve a statewide housing shortage by making it easier to establish mobile homes, drew support from the New Jersey Society of Architects this week.

The measure would create a mixed zoning legislative commission to study zoning and other restrictions affecting construction of mobile-home parks, tax laws and ordinances concerning acquisition and ownership of mobile homes and their adequacy and fair rates.

The commission would be empowered, the NJSA noted, to recommend specific legislative and administrative changes necessary to promote the availability and use of mobile homes.

"Anything that offers the possibility of clean, decent living accommodations at reasonable rentals or purchase prices merits widespread attention and support," the statement declared.

Wins honors at F-D

Wayne Lemmerhirt of Mountainside is among students named to the Spring semester honors list at the Teaneck-Hackensack campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University for having grades averaging at least 3.7 out of a possible 4.0.

THE STATE WE'RE IN By DAVID F. MOORE, Executive Director, North Jersey Conservation Foundation The New Jersey glass industry, chafing under the severity of planned pollution restrictions in America's most cancer-ridden state, appears to be headed for relief in the form of relaxed emission standards, compliments of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. There will be a hearing Sept. 29 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the State Museum auditorium, Trenton, on some "rewarding" of still-unenforced particulate emission standards. A DEP spokesman explains that it is estimated that glass plants in the state now emit 2,800 tons of particulate pollution per year. The revised standards would permit total emission of about 1,800 tons, 100 tons more than the 1,700 tons now permitted. That may seem like a trivial amount, taken in the context of the total messiness of the New Jersey environment. But it's not trivial to those for whom it might make the difference between lung cancer or no lung cancer. And it's not trivial if one can visualize 100 extra tons of microscopic grit floating around in the air we breathe. How about sulfur emissions? There will be a hearing Oct. 12 at 10 a.m. in the Salem County Courthouse, Salem, to permit another six months of increased sulfur emissions from the glass industry, until July 12, 1977. Some time ago, DEP granted temporary Changes in regulations which encourage recycling of glass, which spells less pollution, less energy use and less solid waste disposal, are certainly to be applauded. But no changes which weaken air pollution standards. Industry complains about the cost of pollution controls, making for higher product costs. I'd rather pay more for products than for medical and funeral expenses. Mentions particulates again, they are bad enough in our lungs. But did you know that toxic substances like arsenic can cling to the surface of the particulates? DEP claim they are making for more uniform regional standards by allowing up-down changes in particulate or sulfur emissions. That may be true, but that doesn't mean it's a good thing. The idea is to cut emissions, not raise them! rights-to-glass-plants in Salem, Cumberland and Cape May counties to raise above the maximum allowable 1 percent sulfur content in the fuel oil they burn. Some got permission to go to 1.5 percent others up to 2 percent and others to 2.5 percent, depending on their needs.

Lots to do at the Hook

On foot or bike, or in canoe

Hiking, biking, car and canoe are on the fall program schedule for visitors at Gateway National Recreation Area, Sandy Hook.

The weekend schedule for this autumn, which continues through Nov. 13, offers seven different programs, all free of charge. All begin at the Spermaceti Cove Visitor Center.

Saturday programs are:

Early bird walk: This is a two-hour hike starting at 8 a.m. with fall migration, the focus of interest.

Bike hike: A seven-mile, three-hour tour through Fort Hancock starts at 11 a.m. with a lunch stop at the old Officers Club. Those taking part in the ranger-led trip must provide their own bicycle and lunch.

History drive: Ranger-led caravans leave at 1 and 3 p.m. for a one and a half hour trip to the Fort Hancock area.

Dune walk: Two-hour hikes covering about one and a half miles start at 1 p.m.

Sunday programs are:

History drive: The one and a half hour drives leave at 1 and 3 p.m.

Holly forest walk: Two-hour hikes through a mile and a half of one of the oldest holly forests on the Eastern seaboard begin at 1 p.m.

Canoe cruise: Starting time for the three-mile cruise varies so that visitors can see the salt marsh at high tide. Participants provide canoe, paddles, lifevests and lunch or snack.

At the Spermaceti Cove Visitor Center, which is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, visitors can see a new display on "The Story of Sandy Hook" which illustrates the influences of man and nature on the development of Sandy Hook. The exhibit includes a looking glass view of marine creatures found offshore.

Piranesi etchings to go on exhibition at Kean Monday

"Piranesi, Real and Imaginary," 35 etchings from Rutgers University and private art collections, will be the first exhibition of the 1976-77 academic year in the Kean College Art Gallery, Vaughn-Eames Hall, Morris Avenue, Union from Sept. 20 to Oct. 15, weekdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited to preview Sunday, Sept. 19, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The exhibition, which was assembled by the museum training class under the direction of professors Carla Lord and Zara Cohan, offers a sampling of the extraordinary range of talent of Giovanni Battista Piranesi—an 18th Century Venetian architect who without commissions turned to etching to use his knowledge of building structure and drafting ability to produce hundreds of Etruscan and Roman architectural views.

Visual documentation of ancient and contemporary Rome, the critic's interpretation in structural altering the appearance of an existing monument, embellishment of Roman ruins with the addition of fictive snakes, painter's palettes, skeletons and unlikely debris, and purely imaginary structures.

Dr. Lord, in her catalogue remarks, stated that the staircase is a motif that recurs in many of Piranesi's fantasies and factual views of Rome and does not appear to have been covered in the extensive literature on Piranesi. She plans to publish further documentation on this problem.

The students involved in the preparation of the exhibition since last spring include, Francisco Alvarez of Irvington.

Lynn Redgrave appears Tuesday at Kean College

Film star Lynn Redgrave will appear in the Wilkins Theatre for the Performing Arts at Kean College, Morris Avenue, Union, next Tuesday at 1:40 p.m. Sponsored by the Kean Co-Curricular Program Board and the Kean Townsend Lecture Series, Miss Redgrave will offer dramatic readings and discussions of current theater. The program is free.

Miss Redgrave is the youngest member of the acting family of Sir Michael and Lady Redgrave. She began her career as an assistant stage manager for a production of "The Kitchen," a play in which Glenda Jackson and Rita Tushingham played walk-on roles. She then made her acting debut as Helena in "A Midsummers Night Dream."

Her film career includes roles in "Tom Jones," "The Girl with the Green Eyes," and Sidney Lumet's "The Deadly Affair." She won the Golden Globe Award of the Hollywood Press Association, The New York Film Critics Award and an Oscar nomination for best actress for her role in "Georgy Girl."

In January Miss Redgrave opened in "Mrs. Warren's Profession" by George Bernard Shaw, and she won a Tony nomination for best actress.

"Knock, Knock" the Jules Feiffer play, was her most recent Broadway show. Miss Redgrave is in rehearsal for "Misalliance," another Shaw play in which she will star with Irene Worth.

Archery program open to teenagers

Teenagers from throughout Union County will be taught how to become experts in the bow and arrow when the Watching Bowmen of Linden begin their Junior Olympic archery development program on Sept. 25.

Some 40 teenagers up to the age of 18 will be taught the Bowmen's indoor ranges, Wood and Linden avenues, Linden. The Saturday sessions will begin at 9 a.m.

Tony Murawski of Westfield, who is in charge of the program, announced that the program will allow young archers to proceed at their own pace. Murawski accomplished bowmen, who took part in the U.S. Olympic trials held at Miami Co. University will instruct. There is a one dollar fee to defray the cost of the targets and for use of the range. Archery equipment may be rented. Additional information may be obtained from Murawski at 232-3581 between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. any weekday.

Further information is available by contacting David Glatzer math supervisor, West Orange schools, 22 Municipal plaza, West Orange, at 736-1200, ext. 314, or Prof. Robert Garfunkel, chairman of the math department of Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, at 893-5132.

New Jersey boy '77 Poster Child

Robbie Zastavny of Moorestown has been chosen March of Dimes National Poster Child for 1977. The six-year-old youngster was born with open spine.

The announcement was made at the American Freedom Train, stationed in Atlantic City.

Although paralyzed from the waist down, Robbie uses leg braces and crutches to get around. Swimming, baseball and golf are his favorite pastimes. An avid sports fan, Robbie cheers for all the Philadelphia teams. Someday, he hopes to be a wrestling referee.

His indoor activities include painting, drawing and playing games, especially cards, checkers, and tick-tack-toe. Robbie is a student at George C. Baker School.

Robbie's mother, Joan, is a reading tutor. His father, Al, is a self-employed distributor for Rain Soft Water Service. Both are graduates of Mansfield State Teacher's College in Pennsylvania.

Robbie has a sister, Linda, 19, a student at Mansfield College and two brothers, David, 18, a freshman at West Virginia Wesleyan College, and Norbert, 15, a sophomore at Moorestown High School.

QUESTIONS MOST ASKED BY OUR CUSTOMERS:

WOULD MY BILLS BE LOWER IF YOU STOPPED BUILDING NEW ELECTRIC PLANTS?

Construction costs for new generating stations are a factor in your electric bills. But planning for tomorrow's energy needs today is absolutely essential if we are to continue to provide you with reliable service in the future.

Assuming our customers will continue to use energy wisely, New Jersey's demand for electricity still is expected to grow by 4 percent a year for the next 15 years. Our growing population will need more electricity to meet everyday needs. Business will require more energy to create the jobs that contribute to a healthy economy. And cleaning up the environment—a top priority job—will also take energy.

It takes up to ten years to build a generating station. So we must plan right now to guarantee adequate supplies of energy in the years to come.

Right now PSE&G is building nuclear generating facilities. We believe nuclear energy is the best way to meet New Jersey's future demand for electricity at the lowest possible cost. When all things are considered, electricity produced by nuclear energy is cheaper to generate, because nuclear fuel is cheaper than oil or coal.

Our best estimates indicate that nuclear energy will continue to cost less. So planning now for the future with nuclear energy means you'll pay less for electricity in the years to come than if we relied strictly on oil or coal. Nuclear energy will carry us until even better methods of producing electricity—perhaps fusion or solar power—become practical realities.

"Every day we're asked serious questions regarding energy costs, future supplies of energy and the wise use of energy. This series of informational advertisements answers many of the questions we most frequently receive and is designed to make facts about energy available to all our customers."

R. I. Smith
President, PSE&G

Cathedral concerts resume Sunday

Newark program features Vienne symphonies

Performances by international concert organists at Newark's landmark Cathedral of the Sacred Heart will resume for the eighth season on Sunday at 5 p.m.

The international flavor of the concert series will be accentuated in the opening program featuring all six organ symphonies of the blind French composer, Louis Vienne. It will be the first time they have been performed in one program.

Organists for the Sunday concert will be Dr. Robert Glasgow of the University of Michigan, Rollin Smith of New York, and the cathedral's own organist, John Rose.

Concertgoers at the opening will have a light supper available to them during intermission. They will be treated to the Vienne symphonies in a visual and acoustical setting much like that of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, where the composer was organist from 1900 to his death at the organ console there in 1937.

The Newark cathedral is of French Gothic design, with facade towers somewhat taller than those of Notre Dame de Paris, and of about the general size of Westminster Abbey in London. Its pipe organ is one of this country's largest.

Concertgoers are welcome to attend a portion of the opening Vienne program if unable to attend the entire event because of its unusual length," a spokesman noted. The second half of the concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. after the dinner intermission.

The series will continue on Nov. 9 with a recital by Jean-Louis Gil, a young French organist recording artist who will be making his debut American performance tour.

On March 1, French organist and recording artist Odile Pierre will return to the cathedral for her third successive season. Mme. Pierre is organist of the Church of the Madeleine in Paris.

The programs in the series will begin at 8:30 p.m. and will last approximately 70 minutes. The exception is the Oct. 24 concert by John Rose, which will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Other European artists to perform this season are French trumpeter Andre Bernard and Canadian organist Rejean Poirier on Feb. 1; August Humer of Austria on Feb. 15; and English cathedral organist David Bruce-Payne and English baritone Michael Leighton Jones on April 19.

American performers who will appear will be Thomas Richner in a piano and organ recital on Oct. 5, Rollin Smith on Nov. 23, and John Obetz on Dec. 7.

During the second half of the season, American performers will be J. Marcus Ritchie of St. Philip's Cathedral in Atlanta, March 15; and Robert Carwithen of Princeton's Westminster Choir College, April 5.

The cathedral's own musicians will be in the spotlight Oct. 19, when harpsichordist Robert Edward Smith performs Bach's Goldberg Variations; on Dec. 21, when the Cathedral Choir Boys join soprano Louis Natale and Ringers-on-the-Green from Morristown for the annual Christmas Sing and Concert; and in the concluding event on May 3, when cathedral organist John Rose again will perform.

Admission to the concerts is by voluntary donation. They are partially funded by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Arts.

The series was founded in 1967 by Rose, who, in addition to being cathedral organist in Newark, is an active recitalist. Each season he performs throughout the United States, and

Thursday, September 16, 1976

Canada; he also has made three concert tours of Europe.

The Cathedral of the Sacred Heart is located near Branch Brook Park at Clifton and Sixth avenues, two blocks from Rt. 280.

Seminar to cover retirement living

Adults approaching retirement or who have recently retired may find new directions for their post-working years in a seminar on

"From Work to Retirement Transition or Trauma" to be conducted by Union College's Division of Special Services and Continuing Education.

Most people enter a major stage of their lives retirement with less preparation than they would normally put into planning a two-week vacation, stated Weyman O. O'Connell, who will conduct the seminar. With medical science extending the span of life, it is all the more important to plan ahead for the important stage in life.

The 10-session seminar will be conducted Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon beginning Oct. 11. It will explore the emotional and psychological aspects of the transition from work to retirement and the alternative life styles open to those who are retired.

Topics to be covered by O'Connell and panel lecturers include how to do retirement plans, the advantages and disadvantages of working after retirement, maintaining enthusiasm in the mature years, the pros and cons of retirement villages, loneliness, physical aspects of aging, traveling on a limited budget, consumerism reacting to stress and strain and changing life styles. Freegrate, former director of continuing education at Union College, Cranford, has been a professional educator for more than 40 years and is a retired principal from the Westfield public school system.

The cost of the seminar is $30 for Union County residents and $40 for all others. Registration forms may be obtained by calling the Division of Special Services and Continuing Education, 225 South First St., at 398. In-person registration will be accepted Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 13, 14 and 16 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the registration office, McDonald 1040.

Video tape class at UC

A basic course in video tape television production will be offered at Union College in Cranford, this fall.

The course will utilize half-inch tape and students will be familiarized with all stages of production from the creation of a "story board" to the final editing.

Herbert L. Green, a television executive with 25 years experience in broadcast, cable and closed circuit television, will be the instructor.

The 10-session course will be conducted on Tuesdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 28.

Tuition is $45 for Union County residents and $55 for all others. Registration forms are available on request from the Division of Special Services and Continuing Education at Union College, 225 South First St., 355-YMCA.

RENT THAT ROOM with a Want Ad. Only 18¢ per word (Min. $3.00). Call 666-7700.

Hardwick, Morgan rap Freeholder 'power grab'

"Power grabs" by Union County Freeholders, which have already been attacked in two law suits, were criticized this week by Republican Freeholder candidates Charles L. Hardwick and Bob Morgan.

The suits stem from "flaws written into the county's new administrative code," Hardwick said at a public session of the Freeholders meeting.

Attorney General William F. Hyland last week voided the Freeholders' abolition of the autonomous status of the County Mosquito Commission, prompting a county suit. Freeholders previously had been enjoined by the courts from abolishing the County Park Commission after that body sued to maintain its independent status.

Hyland was responding to the Freeholders' recent action, under the new Administrative Code, which brought control of all previously autonomous boards directly under the Freeholders through the county manager.

The Republican candidates, along with running mates Bill Ruocco and Ed Weber, challenged the Democrats last week to extensive debates throughout the county.

Book sale, festival set

A Jewish book festival has been planned for Nov. 13-21 in conjunction with Jewish Book Month, by the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey and Jewish congregations and organizations in the area, at 760 Northfield Ave., West Orange.

The festival will feature a book sale and a week of cultural events. Noted guests will include the actor Joseph Wiseman, poet Danny Siegel, Dr. Harry M. Orlinsky, Biblical scholar, Sharon Strassfeld, editor of "The Jewish Catalog," and Beate Klarsfeld, leader in the drive to unmask Nazi war criminals.

Highlights of the festival include: Yiddish Musical Comedy Theatre, a mini-series for women on "Jewish Women Through the Ages," a special program on Jewish cooking and cookbooks, daily programs for children enrolled in area Hebrew schools, evening book reviews for adults, story telling afternoons and a multi-media presentation, "The Sixth Day."

All events are open to the community for a nominal fee. Any reader interested in helping with the festival may call Rhoda Goodman at the Y, 736-3200.

Astronomy subject of UC series

A deeper understanding of the universe and a greater appreciation of current space probe efforts are the objectives of a five-part astronomy seminar to be conducted by Union College and Amateur Astronomers, Inc., which operates the Sperry Observatory at Union College, Cranford, jointly with the college, according to Arthur F. Caccella, AAI president and seminar moderator.

The lectures, to be offered on five consecutive Mondays beginning Oct. 4 at 8 p.m., will deal with the history of astronomy, the tools of the astronomer, the motions and physical characteristics of planets, meteors, comets and stars, the galaxies of the universe, and space probes.

The seminar will be conducted in the Sperry Observatory and participants will have the opportunity to view the planets and stars through the observatory's 24-inch reflector and 10-inch refractor telescopes.

Instruction will be provided by members of AAI, including Charles Crane of Linden; John H. Bauman of Westfield, Robert Teeters of New Shrewsbury, Lewis C. Thomas of North Plainfield, and Caccella of East Brunswick. Tuition for the seminar is $18 for Union County residents and $23 for others.

Additional information and registration procedures may be obtained by writing Caccella at Sperry Observatory, Union College, Cranford 07016. Registrations will also be accepted at the Observatory on Oct. 4.

Group sets meeting date

Common Cause of the 12th Congressional District will hold an open meeting 8 p.m. Tues. Oct. 12, at Temple Emanu-El, 756 E. Broad st. Westfield.

Seniors housing plans are offered by Buggelli

Richard Buggelli, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 12th District, announced this week he would donate the service of his engineering and designing firm to begin processing plans for a model senior citizens complex somewhere in Union County.

He said tentative plans were drawn when he founded his business, B & T Associates, in Union, in 1973. "It's a dream I've had for a long time and now I'd like to transform it into reality," Buggelli said.

The 36-year-old engineer said he would submit his plans through official channels in Washington whether or not he wins election.

Buggelli's firm designs and constructs buildings, provides maintenance to keep them clean and security to protect them.

Saying he hoped his proposed housing complex would be a model for the rest of the country to follow, Buggelli described it as one which "could be built and operated at minimal cost with maximum result."

He said plans call for the complex to include:

- A supermarket where senior citizens can buy their needs at cost.
- Workshops, sewing and basket rooms and a carpentry shop.
- Meeting and card rooms.
- Meeting and concert hall for plays, dances and movies.
- Free bus service to the complex.

Buggelli said the initial costs would come from federal funds and that once completed, the operational costs should be minimal. Some of the expense would be reduced from the sale of products

PTA unit to hear vandalism report

The Union County Council of Parent Teachers Associations will hold its fall meeting on Thursday, Oct. 14, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Coachman Inn, Jackson drive, Cranford.

"The High Cost of School Vandalism—More Than Money," will be presented by Mrs. Marcia Dietz, a member of the Manalapan Englishtown Board of Education and chairperson of the New Jersey School Board Association ad hoc committee on school vandalism.

Mrs. Dietz will discuss the report made by her committee to the state board. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

ACS promoting information effort

The Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society is providing to county residents educational programs on all aspects of cancer and steps for its possible prevention.

"We will put on a program for any school, organization or business that requests one," said Eileen Bradford, chairman of the unit's public education committee. "At the same time, we are continually seeking new ways to get to the public our lifesaving message about the steps an individual can take to protect himself against cancer."

John Manning, a teacher in Hillside and chairman of the youth education committee, cites the importance of the Cancer Society's educational programs in the schools: "Good health habits are learned at an early age. When we reach someone while they are still in school, our job is a lot easier, especially in the area of cigarette smoking."

In addition to providing programs in schools, the public education committee is active with displays and exhibits at health fairs and in putting on programs for civic and social organizations and private industry. Breast self-examination, pap tests, smoking and cancer's seven warning signals are a few of the themes.

Persons interested in furthering the educational efforts of the American Cancer Society—or any school, club, organization or industrial firm interested in a free educational program—may contact the American Cancer Society, 512 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, 354-7373.

Exchange pupils in need of homes

The International Exchange Organization is seeking persons willing to provide room and board for exchange students from throughout the United States and abroad.

The non-profit organization promotes exchange programs between U.S. high school and this year, hopes to place a number of students from Latin American in American high schools for a nine-month period.

Anyone interested in providing a home for the exchange students may call collect, person-to-person, to Ms. Carol Vaccaro at (716) 853-6712.

Linda Davenport, Mr. Barb wed in August ceremony

MR. AND MRS. LEWIS F. BARB
Linda Lou Davenport, daughter of Mrs. Louise Davenport of Chatham and Donald Davenport of Emeryville, Calif., was married last month to Lewis F. Barb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin V. Barb of Mountainside.
The ceremony was held Aug. 14 in the courthouse at Florence, S.C., with Judge Patsy Stone officiating. The bridegroom's parents will hold a reception at their home Sunday for the newlyweds.
Mrs. Barb graduated from Chatham Township High School in 1975 and is employed by Crum & Foster, Morristown. Mr. Barb, a 1973 graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, served in the U.S. Marine Corps for two years. He is attending Union College, Cranford.
The couple is residing in Mountainside.

'Back to school night' planned by St. James Guild Monday

A "Back to School Night" will be held by the St. James School Guild on Monday at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium in Springfield. Mr. Francis X. Coyle, pastor and moderator of the guild, and Sister Alexandrine, OSB, principal of St. James, will address the parents.

LWV house tour includes 7 stops in Sept. 29 event

Mrs. Gerard McKenzie and Mrs. Kenneth Pollack will serve as co-chairman of the Westfield Area League of Women Voters' House Tour "Creative Variations," to be held Wednesday, Sept. 29, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Seven in Westfield, Mountainside and Scotch Plains have been chosen for the tour. Each is a personal expression of the talents and creativity of their owners.

One outstanding home in Scotch Plains, for example, was designed and completely built by its owner. Located high above the street this rambling stone ranch house in a park-like setting. It is the ideal home for gracious entertaining. All the rooms are spacious but through the use of paneling, natural stone and brick all manage to convey a feeling of warmth when entering. In addition, each room contains innovative and unusual ideas to catch the eye. The ceiling in the dining room, for example, features a pattern of mirrors and lights instead of a more commonplace chandelier.
Of special interest in this home is the large indoor swimming pool visible through a picture window in the game room. A sauna adjoins it. Also on this level is a large recreation room.
Other committee chairmen for the day are Mrs. Robert Kerwin, tickets; Mrs. Robert Bishop, ticket distribution; Mrs. Donald Naragon, hostesses, and Mrs. James Kennedy, publicity. Mrs. William Timmins is president of the Westfield Area League.

A member, Mrs. Lorrimer Armstrong, will present a slide program on her latest travels in Asia, "Bhutan—Land of the Thunder Dragons." Acting as hostesses will be Mrs. John J. Horan, Mrs. Horace E. Baker and Mrs. George A. Darsie.

Overlook theater lists play positions

Top production posts for the Overlook Musical Theater's annual production have been announced. Executive producer for "No, No, Nanette," to be presented Dec. 2-5 at Summit High School, is Mrs. James Marakas. Mrs. William Rech is business manager for the production.
"No, No, Nanette" is a story of a young girl's longing to "go places and do things" before she has to settle down to a proper girl's place in the home. Such hits as "Tea For Two" and "I Want To Be Happy" are featured.
The Overlook Musical Theater is the major fund-raising endeavor of the Overlook Hospital Auxiliary. Directors, choreographers, musical director and the conductor are professions; auditions for the cast brought talent from all over New Jersey and from New York City.
The cast for "No, No, Nanette" has been selected; however, positions for male singers and dancers are still available. Men interested in the production may contact Mrs. Marakas, 635-0751. Rehearsals will begin in mid-September.

Third child, Jessica, is born to Schneiders

A daughter, Jessica Ilyse Schneider, was born Aug. 29 in Overlook Hospital, Summit, to Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schneider of Mountainside. She joins two brothers, Jason, 5, and Benjamin, 1.
Mrs. Schneider, the former Linda Steinman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Steinman of Union. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Schneider of Jersey City.

Firm starts construction

Ground has been broken at 100 Morris ave., Springfield, for a new 31,500-square foot, three-story office building, to be built by the firm of Musto-Popolillo, and designed by Gabriel A. Calenda, architect of Springfield. Occupancy is planned for the spring of 1977; 100 Morris ave. is located near Springfield avenue.
Groundbreaking ceremonies took place last week and were attended by Mayor Robert Weltchek of Springfield, Frank Musto and Angelo M. Popolillo of the building firm, their architect, Gabriel A. Calenda, and the P.F. Pasbjerg Company, exclusive leasing agents.
Thomas Carchia, leasing broker for P.F. Pasbjerg Development Company, said: "This promises to be a very successful building. The location near new Rt. 24 and the Garden State Parkway is strategic."

Barbara Rotondi married in July to Leslie Longell

Barbara Ann Rotondi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene S. Rotondi of Mountainside, was married July 10 to Leslie L. Longell, son of Mrs. Clifford W. Longell of Berkeley Heights and the late Mr. Longell.
The Rev. Charles Urnick officiated at the ceremony at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountainside, assisted by the Rev. Robert B. Sheldon of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Berkeley Heights. A reception followed at the Town and Campus Inn, West Orange.
Kathy Houghtaling served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Linda Swackhamer, sister of the groom, Barbara May, Michelle Messina and Joan Woods.
Kent Rauscher served as best man. The ushers were Leland Longell, brother of the groom, Philip Sierving, Kurt Mohns and Ronald Benton.
The bride, employed as a dental assistant in Dunellen graduated from Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Brandywine Junior College, Wilmington, Del., and the Bryman School of Medical and Dental Assistants.
The groom graduated from Gov. Livingston and West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va.
Following their honeymoon in Aruba, the couple settled in Tamna Fl., where Mr. Longell is vice president of the Pierce Supply Corp.

Spring wedding for Martha Isley

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Isley of Springfield have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Ann, of Hackettstown, to Kenneth J. Ferris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Ferris of Somerset.
Miss Isley, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is employed in the medical research department of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Lyons and by Garret Farm in Chester.
Her fiance, a graduate of Franklin High School, Somerset, is employed in the supply service division of the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Lyons. He attends Rutgers University.
A spring 1977 wedding is planned.

BPW club to hear expert on nutrition

The Summit Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Hotel Suburban. Dr. Dorothy M. Rathmann, director of nutrition of BestFoods, a division of Corn Products Company International, will discuss "Calories, Facts and Fancies" and how protein, fat and carbohydrate work together in satisfying energy needs.
She will explain how one form of malnutrition is obesity, resulting from consuming more energy than we expend through physical activity. Dr. Rathmann will also discuss different weight control diets.

Union County's credit termed better than that of the state

Union County government's credit is apparently better than the state government's despite Trenton's access to far greater financial resources, according to Freeholder Chairman Harold J. Seymour Jr.

Seymour, former Freeholder finance chairman, pointed out this week that the interest rate on a state housing bond issue floated last month by Trenton was in excess of seven percent.

If Union County taxpayers wished to float a bond issue, the Cranford Democrat said, the interest rate would be no more than five percent because of the Triple A rating recently given to the county government by Moody's Financial Investment Co.

The Cranford tax collector said the Wall Street house granted its highest rating to Union County government "because of our careful husbandry and good stewardship of the taxpayers' dollar."

"In these times of spiraling inflation, prudent expenditures resulting in a stable tax base are the cornerstone of the county's future economic growth," said Seymour, who is seeking reelection to his third freeholder term during the Nov 2 General Election.

These sentiments were echoed by his running mates—Freeholders Everett C. Lattimore of Plainfield, Thomas W. Long of Linden and Joseph L. Garrubbo of Union.

Lattimore, a former freeholder chairman, pointed out that in line with its tight fiscal policy the county board is currently expanding county government's role as an area wide service provider so that further economies of scale can be achieved for the taxpayers residing in the county's 21 municipalities.

In addition, said Long, another former freeholder chairman, the county government has launched a campaign to lift the burden of paying for state mandated programs such as the courts and welfare from the county's taxpayers.

Long explained, "The state has mandated or imposed the costs of these programs on the county, yet the county has no control over either."

He added, "It is anticipated that the cost to the county taxpayers for financing these two programs will be at least $17.8 million in fiscal 1976-77."

"As you can see, considerable savings to the county taxpayers could be effected if the counties were relieved of paying the cost of these two programs," he said.

Garrubbo, a former member of the N.J. State Assembly, commented, "If the state wishes to exercise total control in these areas, fiscal responsibility demands that the state pay for these programs."

Youth rap group will help combat drinking problems

The Union County Division of the National Council on Alcoholism, concerned about the increased use of alcohol by teenagers, is sponsoring Youth Rap Group sessions every Monday at 8 p.m. in the business office building of the Westfield Community Center, 113 Palsted ave., corner of west Broad street, Westfield. Young people aged 12 to 19 have been invited to attend.

"The program offers assistance to young people seeking knowledge and guidance in evaluating their drinking; to those who are already aware of a drinking problem and who wish to stop, and to those who have already stopped and need support of their efforts," a spokesman explained. Free private counseling services also are available.

The Council spokesman said statistics show 70 percent of the youth in Union County drink regularly, and some heavily, and that one in 10 is a potential alcoholic. "In addition to press and radio publicity on the rap sessions, the Council plans a program of direct contacts to schools, community service organizations, social service agencies and churches to answer their questions and determine how to best be of assistance to them in their efforts with the already serious problem of teenage drinking," he stated.

Further information about the Youth Rap Group may be obtained by visiting the Council's offices at 300 North ave. East, Westfield, or by calling 233-8810.

The Council is a private, non-profit, voluntary health agency, supported mainly by the Union County Board of Freeholders.

Simon praises program of Junior Achievement

Junior Achievement of Union County's "Learn-by-doing" economic education program, which launches its 1976-1977 program in September, and the teenage members who participate in the program have been praised by William E. Simon, secretary of the treasury. John J. Horan, chairman and chief executive officer, Merck & Co., Inc., and Donald H. Scott, president, N.J. State Chamber of Commerce.

Simon said, "The destiny of our nation depends upon the training of our youth. I enthusiastically support the Junior Achievement program through which businessmen demonstrate to our young people the values, work ethics and rewards of business enterprise. As we celebrate our Bicentennial—once again we must fight to preserve and secure our liberties and our freedom of enterprise."

Horan praised sound economic understanding of future leaders and Scott called for an expansion of economic education and qualities needed to maintain the strength and vigor of our nation.

More than 1100 high school students will be accepted into the program. Junior company operations will start Monday, Oct. 11. The teenagers are guided and counseled by volunteer advisers from the sponsoring organizations.

Junior Achievement expects to have approximately 30 business organizations sponsoring 30 J.A. companies in the 1976-1977 program and more than 100 volunteer advisers will attend a day long special J.A. Adviser Training Session at Exxon Company, U.S.A., Linden, Friday, Sept. 17. Among those already signed on as sponsors of the teen-age companies are: Amerace Corporation, ESNA

Division: American Telephone & Telegraph Company; Bell Laboratories; Bristol-Myers Products; Burry Biscuit Division, the Quaker Oats Company; Chevron Oil Company; E.I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc.; Exxon Chemical Company U.S.A.; Exxon Company, U.S.A.; Exxon Research & Engineering

Windmill Club designed for independence-minded

The Windmill Club, a new one and two bedroom home community on Locust Avenue off Rt. 9 in Howell Township, introduces to New Jersey a style of life especially designed for independent singles and couples.

Instead of typical homes for the typical American family and its two or more children, this is a concept of the envy of San Francisco and Los Angeles, which direct itself to the special needs of single individuals, newlyweds, young married couples, divorcees and those mature couples whose children have moved away from home, a spokesman said.

For them, the Howard Siegel Companies, Monmouth County builder, brought together home life in a resort setting for as little as $25,990. The homes are set in a rolling wooded landscape surrounding a spring-fed Windmill Pond. The life includes year-round natural beauty and social and recreational facilities. It's like a small secluded country club for people who want to enjoy their independence.

Communities have been built in the seashore areas from Maryland south but this is the first time the concept has been offered in the New Jersey-New York metropolitan area. Now people otherwise ignored as home owners can enjoy the tax and equity advantages of private home ownership while living in a well-sized house and having exciting social and recreational opportunities at their doorstep, the spokesman commented.

During the grand opening, period, qualified buyers will find 8 percent 30-year mortgages with down payments of as little as five percent. There are no closing costs whatsoever, which means a savings of approximately $1,300 to the buyer. This preview offer is for a limited time only and may be cancelled without notice.

The community's location further enhances its value to the mobile, on-the-move resident New York City is a little more than an hour away by the nearby entrances to both the Garden State Parkway and New Jersey Turnpike. Regularly scheduled express and local buses are available to the commuter heading to the Northern metropolitan centers. A variety of shopping and entertainment is in the immediate area, and a short drive away are the leading beach resorts of the Jersey coast.

Right at home, the Windmill Club offers such private facilities as the community tennis court, clubhouse, swimming and wading pools, jogging areas and the landscape itself. Tall, thick scarlet oak and pines line the roads and hillsides, all leading down to Windmill Pond. Because there are only three homes on each acre, the woods and lawns are abundant. Grassy glens and knolls are topped by natural gardens of wildflowers.

The community comprises small neighborhoods of homes on cul-de-sacs with tree-filled circles at their centers. No through-traffic reaches the neighborhood streets.

The paved driveway and garage of each home directly face the street. Entrance to the ranch home is through a private walk and garden patio, set off and out of view of the street or the homeowner's neighbor. The grounds beside the driveway and in the garden are landscaped with shrubs and trees.

Entering the Mondrian two-bedroom, one and one-half bath model, a sunken living room is at your left. To the right is the foyer guest closet. Built-in bookshelves, covering nearly an entire wall, are at one side, and directly ahead are 12-foot wide sliding glass doors with a view of woods or of Windmill Pond with its 40-foot high windmill, the symbol of the community. The doors open onto a concrete patio, where additional privacy is provided by an eight-foot wooden wall.

Adjacent to the living room is the dining room, and contiguous to that is the dinette area. In the center of this lounge-atmosphere is the

UNDER CONSTRUCTION—Barrymor Enterprises of Lakewood has recorded sales of its latest split-level design (shown above), though the first model is not yet built. The home, still unnamed, features three bedrooms, 2½ baths, recreation room, den, living and dining rooms and full basement. Currently selling at $44,490, a price increase on the home is projected by the end of this month.

Leisure Village builder stresses 'community' idea

"Leisure Technology doesn't build houses," says Howard H. Mandel, executive vice president of Leisure Technology Northeast. "We create something much more important: planned vibrant, environmentally sound communities that meet the requirements of a growing portion of the population."

The Lakewood-based firm built its first retirement community in 1963. Leisure Village West at Manchester, near Lakewood, is one of the company's many communities dedicated to this increasingly popular adult lifestyle.

"Retirement is probably the wrong term to use in regard to our communities," said Mandel. "With a minimum entry age of 52 for single individuals and one member of a married couple, many of our residents are well below traditional retirement levels. Most are families whose children are grown. They have established certain standards of living and they find communities designed by Leisure Technology provide that environment with some very attractive extra benefits."

Mandel noted the concept of the retirement community was the result of evolving social attitudes, changing population characteristics and our exceptional national mobility.

"Fifty years ago," he explained, "the people now referred to as senior citizens were a relatively small segment of the population. They didn't sit around in rocking chairs because they wanted to; there just wasn't much else to do."

"Today," he continued, "with people living longer, more people than ever fit into this category, and their numbers make the specifically planned community a very practical reality. And the one amenity that is usually ignored is the rocker. Instead, our residents are splashing in pools, painting, dancing and generally enjoying the leisure they have certainly earned."

At Leisure Village, the emphasis is on recreation, security and freedom from the usual headaches of private ownership.

"Depending on the time of year," said Mandel, "activities range from swimming in the resort-size pool and private lake to shuffleboard, golf, and gardening."

"We also have a huge recreation center that includes a theater-auditorium, hobby shops, a tournament-size pool room and lounge. In addition, Leisure Village has an on-site greenhouse for amateur gardeners and there also is a closed-circuit television studio."

Peace of mind is also an important attraction at Leisure Village. Entry to the community is through a manned gate. Security services include round-the-clock patrolling of the grounds to insure privacy for residents. It is an always-welcome arrangement that takes on extra value.

"At Leisure Village," said Mandel, "whether a resident is away for a few days or several months, there is always someone to keep an eye on things. The grass is always cut, snow is removed and homes are secure."

Standard features in Leisure Village homes include central air-conditioning, electric baseboard heat, individual thermostat controls, clothes washer and dryer, master TV antenna system and three TV outlets in every home. Wall-to-wall carpeting, single-lever faucets, garbage disposal, and full insulation are among the other advantages.

In keeping with the concept developed by Leisure Technology, Leisure Village West is situated in an area away from urban congestion. However, its location permits convenient travel to cultural and business centers.

"Our residents prefer fresh air and the easy-going lifestyle," said Mandel. "But they also like a location that gives them access to such places as New York, Philadelphia and the Jersey shore."

As the pioneer in the creation of retirement communities, Leisure Technology has been able to modify individual developments to meet variations in buyer requirements. The essence of the concept remains unchanged, but amenity packages vary. This approach has proved successful; more than 13,000 people now make their homes in environments created by the firm. The number grows with every passing week. Currently the firm is developing in New Jersey, New York, Florida, Illinois and California.

Barrymor home attracts buyers before completion

Barrymor Enterprises of Lakewood, one of Central Jersey's leading custom home builders, reports "extremely favorable" response to their new split-level home, even though model home construction has not been completed.

According to Barry Weshnak, vice-president of Barrymor Enterprises, the firm's sales staff is selling the home from the architects' rendering and floor plan sketches.

Weshnak said, "I can't pinpoint any one particular reason why our new split-level is doing so well. Apparently its success factor rests on a combination of attractions, such as fine styling, reasonable price and appealing finance arrangements."

The new model which as yet has not been named, features three bedrooms, 2½ baths, recreation room, separate den, living and dining rooms, eat-in kitchen, utility room and full basement.

Plans also call for natural exterior cedar shingles, carpeting or hardwood flooring, and a large built-in brick planter. Weshnak added that the home is designed to provide access to levels from an unusually large entrance foyer with a cathedral ceiling.

The split-level has a base price of $44,490 through September only. Thirty year mortgages from eight percent interest are available to qualified buyers. Although current financing arrangements will remain in effect, a price increase is projected by the builder.

A selection of options is available, including a brick fireplace in the recreation room, wood grained paneling in a choice of shades, stained interior trim, central air conditioning and two-car garage.

Barrymor Enterprises offers eight home models, all of which include within the base price such features as all wood double-hung windows, double floor construction, full thick ceiling and wall insulation, deep piled sculptured carpeting, vinyl, asbestos and ceramic tile, all wood doors and choice of six custom hardwood kitchen cabinets.

All models—encompassing ranch, Cape Cod, bi-level, colonial and split-level styles may be customized by the buyer, conceivable at no additional cost. Weshnak said, "Once a purchaser has decided on a model, he sits down with a member of our staff to discuss exactly how his new home is to be customized."

The Barrymor company has completed seven communities and is developing Barrymor at Cypress, located off Rt. 9 on Spruce St. in Lakewood.

Model homes may be inspected at the Barrymor Estates sales office, located on Rt. 526 off Garden State Parkway Exit 91, between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

the grandest opening...

Hidden Lake needs no introduction. It has become a standard of home quality, design achievement and landscaping beauty in New Jersey. Nearly 200 families already proudly call it home. The Overhill Section, opening this weekend, however, requires some elaboration. It is one long curving, meandering drive through the trees at the rear of the lake itself. Reminiscent of the first few streets that were built at the community, Overhill offers a unique opportunity to the discerning buyer. But no announcement can truly do it justice. You must examine these homesites and homes firsthand. They are being shown this weekend. Come get the first choice of the choicest... Hidden Lake.

New acting group set

A new acting company called the "Greasepoint Players," has been organized by the Foundation for the Performing Arts, a non-profit organization of the state of New Jersey which is located in Union.

The company is planning two productions for its first season. The first, to be presented in early December, will be the "youth musical," "The Men That Nobody Knows." Casting will be for people between the ages of 12 and 25.

Open auditions will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 23, in the auditorium of Connecticut Farms School, Stuyvesant avenue, Union. Actors, singers and dancers are requested to report promptly for the auditions and be prepared for movement and to perform one of two vocal numbers of their own choice.

Norman Noll of Union will serve as director and choreographer, and the musical director will be Walter Both.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to the Foundation for the Performing Arts, P.O. Box 25, Union 07083 or by calling 688-1617.

'Gypsy' opens on Neil's stage

"Gypsy," the Jule Styne-Stephen Sondheim stage musical depicting the early vaudeville career of Gypsy Rose Lee, opened Friday evening at Neil's New Yorker Dinner Theater, Route 46, Mountain Lakes, and will run through Oct. 31.

Reservations are being taken for performances Wednesday through Sunday evenings, and Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday matinees. Three Sunday matinees have been made available: Sept. 26, Oct. 10 and Oct. 24. Additional information may be obtained by calling Neil's at 334-0058.

Showcase set for playhouse

A showcase of dramatic scenes will be presented tonight at 7:30 at the Celebration Playhouse, Cranford. Performers will be students of this summer's acting classes taught by David Christopher.

'Billy Joe' film at New Plaza

The New Plaza Theater, Linden, is showing "Ode to Billy Joe," on a double bill with "White Line Fever."

Rahway screen shows drivers

"Cannonball" opened yesterday at the Old Rahway Theater, Rahway, with "Return to Macon County." David Carradine and Bill McKinney star in "Cannonball," a film story about Los Angeles drivers who set out to win $100,000 by being the first to arrive in New York City. Paul Bartel directed the picture, which was made in color.

"Macon County" concerns two 1958 slicked-hair youths, who head for California with their souped-up car, and along the way, get into trouble with local people and a waitress who wants to become a movie star. Don Johnson and Nick Nolte co-star. Richard Compton directed.

Equivalency tests offered weekdays at college facility

Union College's GED (General Education Development) and CLEP (College Level Examination Program) Test Center, located in the college's Plainfield Urban Educational Center at 311 E. Front st., will be open Monday through Friday to provide counseling and testing for adults seeking to earn high school equivalency diplomas through GED or college credits through CLEP, it has been announced by Christian A. Hanns of Linden, director.

The test center will be open Mondays and Wednesdays from 1 to 9 p.m. and Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Testing hours are Monday and Wednesday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., and Friday from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The Union College GED and CLEP Test Center is conducted on a walk-in basis and no prior appointment is required for counseling or testing, Hanns stated.

Both GED and CLEP are based on the premise that many adults have acquired the equivalent of a high school education or of a college course through experience and self-teaching.

GED is a five-part test covering composition, mathematics, social sciences, literature and natural science. Tests are offered in English and Spanish.

CLEP offers comprehensive examination in five general areas and in 34 specific subject areas.

CLEP credits are accepted by most colleges and universities, including Union College, Cranford, where up to 32 CLEP credits will be accepted toward an associate degree.

Additional information about GED and CLEP may be obtained by calling Hanns at 276-2600, Ext. 274, or by visiting the Plainfield Center.

WILLIAM J. BIUNNO

Biunno is named Halpin treasurer

William J. Biunno of Mountainside, president of the Colonial Savings & Loan Association of Roselle Park, has been appointed campaign fund treasurer for Walter G. Halpin, Republican incumbent seeking reelection as Union County clerk.

Biunno, vice-chairman of the New Jersey Savings League, is a member of the league's board of governors and of the legislative committee of the U.S. League of Savings Associations. He also is vice-president of the Eastern Union County Chamber of Commerce executive committee in charge of the governmental affairs department. On the community level, he serves as president of the Mountainside Board of Education.

The Halpin campaign committee will sponsor an "Old Fashioned Beer and Hot Dog Picnic" Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. at Candee's Tavern, 4th avenue and High street, in the Peterstown section of Elizabeth. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

broad spectrum of services. Programs now available include a "mini" class for children from birth to age three located in Murray Hill, a pre-school readiness program (PREP) in Linden and pre-school programs at Kohler Child Development Center in Winfield Park and at the Faith Lutheran Church in Murray Hill. Adult programs include the Independent Living Center and First Step Group Home, both located in Berkeley Heights.

CLEP program opens Monday at Linden Adult unit

Union College will conduct a CLEP (College Level Examination Program) review course in English composition, the humanities and social science-history at the Linden Adult School beginning Monday. It was announced this week by Dr. Frank Dee, dean of special services and continuing education.

Classes will meet on 10 consecutive Mondays from 7:30 to 10 p.m., Dr. Dee said. Instruction is designed to assist adults in preparing for the CLEP tests, and includes study and test-taking skills, as well as a review of basic information.

CLEP is a national program that allows adults to earn college credits on the basis of experience and self-teaching. Tests are offered in English composition, social science-history, the humanities, mathematics and natural science, and more than 30 specific subjects. The CLEP review course covers materials included in the general examinations.

Union College is also offering CLEP review courses in mathematics and natural sciences at its main campus in Cranford beginning Sept. 30, and additional review courses in composition, the humanities and social science-history at the Cranford Public Library and at the Cranford Campus.

CLEP credits are accepted by most colleges and universities, including Union College, where up to 32 CLEP credits may be applied to

Spanktown to reenact 1777 battle 25,000 expected to watch historic conflict

Battle lines are being drawn in Spanktown (Rahway) where a major conflict between patriots and Redcoats is awaited—and the public has been invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

The "Conflict," to take place Saturday, Oct. 2, from 1 to 4 p.m., will be a reenactment of the Jan. 5, 1777, Battle of Spanktown and will be held at the original site, in what is now Rahway River Park off St. George's avenue. Combatants will be members of "reactivated" British and American regiments who have participated in Bicentennial events from Maine to Virginia.

A public attendance of 25,000 is expected for the program, which will be the largest demonstration of its kind on the East Coast—an associate degree program.

In addition, Union College operates a GED (General Education Development) and CLEP Test Center at its Plainfield Urban Education Center, 311 E. Front st. Both general and specific CLEP tests are given at the center on a regular basis, according to Dr. Dee.

Tuition for the CLEP review course is $35 for Union County residents and $45 for others. Instruction is offered by members of the Union College faculty.

Additional information on CLEP review courses and CLEP testing may be obtained from Dr. Dee at 276-2600.

and the largest battle reenactment ever held in New Jersey.

The event climaxes Rahway's Bicentennial activities, conducted by the Rahway Bicentennial Committee under the chairmanship of Herbert H. Kiehn. Chairman of the battle project is Charles Miller, an officer of the Rahway Historical Society, who with Alex Shipley, spent two years researching the British retreat and battle locations.

The Spanktown conflict began when British troops, under the command of Hessian General Waldeck—in full retreat from a skirmish in Springfield—were engaged by Continental forces commanded by General Scotch Willie Maxwell. The enemy was routed.

The units which will take part in the battle reenactment include the 6th Regiment of Foot, Crown and Continental Line; 23rd Regiment of Foot, Royal Fusiliers in America; Capt. John Doughty's Company, Eastern New Jersey State Artillery 1776 (Bridgewater Colonial Color Guard); First New Jersey Regiment of the Continental Line and West Jersey Artillery; Morgan's Rifles; the Essex Militia Regiment, and Detachment's Brigade; a Tory infantry regiment.

The soldiers (approximately 300 of them) wear exact reproductions of Revolutionary War uniforms and use equipment from the 1775-1783 era.

An 18th century military camp, composed of tents, camp furniture, tools, personal gear and cooking and eating utensils, will be established.

In addition, there will be approximately 50 women (so-called "camp followers") participating in the event. The women, who actually were under military discipline, cooked, laundered, nursed the wounded and worked at general camp maintenance. In addition, many also engaged in combat.

The troops will begin arriving in Rahway on Oct. 1 many will be on bivouac for the night at the historic Merchant's and Drover's Tavern on St. George's avenue.

The Saturday program will begin with a Grand Entrance Parade by rifle and drums corps, followed by formation maneuvers, musketry and manual of arms, close order drill, and demonstration of tools of battle, including cannon and mortar.

Each unit will be allowed 20 minutes for commentary on duties of their regimental soldiers.

Rahway River Park will be opened to the public at 11 a.m., but only authorized cars will be permitted in the area. The Union County Park Commission will designate sites for public viewing of the battle. Spectators bring their own lunches.

In case of rain, the program will be held on Sunday, Oct. 3.

Card party slated by County ARC

The Union County Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Citizens (NJARC) will hold its annual dessert card party tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Immaculate Conception parish hall, 524 Union ave., Elizabeth. Tickets ($2) may be purchased at the door.

The proceeds will be used to increase services for the mentally retarded of Union County and to improve and enhance existing programs.

The ARC unit serves mentally retarded children and adults in Union County with a

Lucky are those living in dirt houses

Rare book sings praises of pise construction

Could it possibly be that an obscure old book in the Rutgers University Library in New Brunswick contains at least a partial solution to the chronic housing shortage and a cheap long-lasting solution at that?

Probably not, but the idea is an intriguing one.

The book, printed in 1808, is part of the special collections in the Alexander Library on College Avenue. It was written by Stephen W. Johnson and bears the lengthy title "Rural Economy, containing a Treatise on Pise Building, As Practiced in the Island of Agriculture in Great Britain with Improvements by the Author on Buildings in general. Particularly on the Arrangement of those belonging to Farms, On the Culture of the Vine, and on Turpike Roads with plates."

Johnson, a resident of Somerset Hill near New Brunswick, evidently was a very busy man and was the equivalent of a civil engineer with a strong interest in agriculture.

The book, dedicated to President Jefferson in part as a testimony of his attachment to rural life and an attempt at some improvement in it, devotes 26 of 246 pages to a detailed explanation of pise construction.

Pise, pronounced pee-say, construction appears to have some resemblance to adobe construction with the important difference that it can be done with almost any kind of soil in a wide variety of climates.

Thus, the British Board of Agriculture in 1873 learned of a written account of a mode of building strong and durable houses with no other material than earth, and which had been practiced for ages in the province of Lyons, though little known in any other part of France or in Europe.

The Board goes on to say: "There is every reason for introducing this method of building into all parts of the Kingdom, whether we consider the honor of the nation as concerned in the neatness of its villages, the great saving of wood it will occasion, and the consequent security from fire.

"It will greatly contribute to the health of the inhabitants, as such houses are never liable to the extremes of heat or cold. It is attended with many other peculiarities that are advantageous to the state as well as to individuals. It saves both time and labour in building, and the houses may be inhabited almost immediately after they are finished."

A number of such buildings, several stories high, were built in England and were highly approved for their strength and durability.

Actually, Johnson notes, pise building seems to have been practiced by the Romans and introduced into both France and Catalonia, and that an inferior mode of successful building with common soil had been practiced in England for ages.

The principal tools involved seem to have been wooden molds and a rammer to pound the soil into the mold, along with ordinary construction tools.

Building in pise is a very simple manual operation, capable of being performed by the most illiterate labourers, Johnson wrote, "having among them one man out of 10 that knows the use of the plumb line level, and square, which requires no very uncommon abilities."

The earth was pounded into the mold very firmly in thin layers of about four inches each until the layers reached the top of the mold when the mold was removed and used again for the next appropriate section of wall.

The soil, Johnson warned, "requires very little water it may be called damp or humid, but equally alike distant from wet or dry. If perfectly dry it will not pack close, but powders and turns to dust if wet it will splash and become mire."

Johnson also said that pise walls take some time to dry and should be built in the spring and left until fall before they are plastered, or built in the fall and left until the spring.

In Lyons the rich merchants used, instead of plaster or whitewash, an outside covering of lime and sand with a painting in fresco which "conceals from the eye of the spectator the nature of the building, and adds a handsome ornament, and a strong security against the storms."

At least two such structures were actually built in New Jersey. One was built by Johnson on old lower Burnet street, which ran along the Raritan Canal in the section which is now the Memorial Parkway. A Thomas Capner built a smaller but similar house at Hottingham (now part of Hamilton Township) near Trenton.

A third pise house may have been built by a J. Flint at 210 Arch st., Philadelphia.

Johnson's building was 27 feet long, 19 feet wide and 15 feet high, "carrying chamber and loft floors and capable of bearing great weights and a tile roof."

Johnson was ecstatic about the structure.

"The walls, except the foundations, are of the commonest soil, taken from a bank by the roadside, and in the regular way of working, would not have cost more than four to six cents per square foot, even though day labourers should be employed and would cost much less if a person employs his ordinary hands, who are as capable as any other," Johnson wrote.

"These walls have the apparent solidity of stone, and lie in solid blocks, some 11 and one-half feet long, three feet high, and 18 inches thick, and others are seven and one-half feet long, same height and thickness. The joints are broken and the blocks laid at the corners as headers would be of hewn stone. It is stuccoed with lime and sand on the outside."

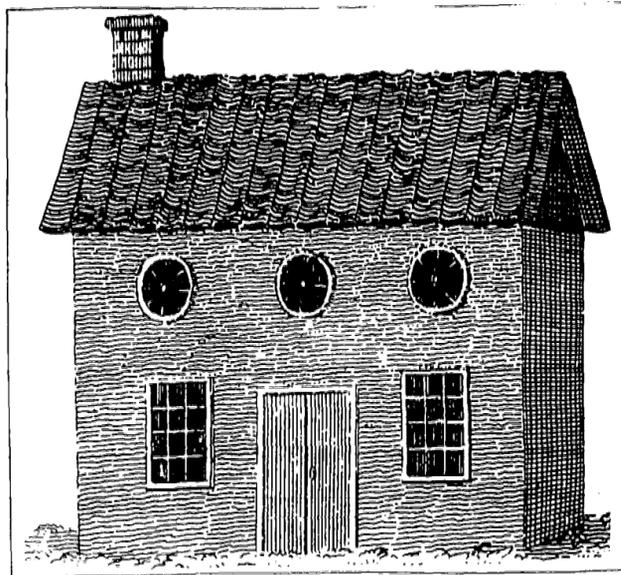

Johnson said that such buildings have been known to stand for 160 years in Europe and that there is no reason why they should not stand that long in America.

"There are neither sills, posts, studs, braces, weather-boards, nails, paint, straw, nor hay; and such buildings may with strictest veracity be said to be fire-proof, cheap, durable, warm in winter, cool in summer."

"They are healthful, being impervious to moisture as brick walls are not, particularly in the spring—capable of being carried several stories high—of receiving any ornaments of stone or brick, and of being painted as fancy directs," he wrote.

A penciled note by Alexander S. Graham and dated December 1941 states that the pise house stood at the foot of Burnet street and was used by Johnson as a brew house.

Johnson himself goes into great detail, asserting that any soil that has not the lightness of poor loams nor the tenacity of clay can be used and explaining how to test the suitability of the soil, the type of timber to be used and other such matters.

DIRT CHEAP—Drawing of a "pise" construction house, such as one built in New Brunswick about 1808 from nothing but ordinary earth, except for stone foundation and roof. Such "rammed earth" houses, common in some parts of Europe, have been known to last well over 150 years. One also was built near Trenton, at least one predating the American Revolution was built in Washington and at least one may have been built in Philadelphia.

Why did pise construction fail to catch on? We do not know. Perhaps it was not all that its proponents claimed for it, but Johnson himself gives us at least one angry suggestion for its failure with a description of the difficulties he ran into on Burnet street.

After standing a whole winter on the banks of the Raritan, "this humble and disinterested attempt met with enemies amongst a class of people not more or less in all countries, who never did a single act in their lives that might promote the public good, without remaining the slaves of avarice, and being tied to it by such motives as avaricious men are haunted with; ever being ready to trample a laudable endeavor underfoot."

"Although at another's expense, it might have been the foundation of their own prosperity. Such characters circulated a report of the building having fallen, by reason of the frost bursting the walls."

Among other things, Johnson was a master in chancery, so being of a legalistic turn of mind he had a committee examine the building with a view of certifying its soundness.

The committee certified after examination that, despite flooding, the walls remained of astonishing strength and that in general the building was in fine condition except for a few understandable minor repairs needed as a result of the rigors of the winter.

Arizona changed name

Arizona, admitted to the Union Feb. 14, 1912, got its name from an Indian word reputed to mean "Place of the small spring," first spelled Arizonac and then changed to a more Spanish sounding word.

Show to feature Alec and Marion

"Such Good Companions" will be shown Friday, Sept. 24, at 10:30 p.m. on New Jersey Public Television channels 23, 50, 52 and 58.

The program is a conversation with songwriter-composer Alex Wilder and jazz pianist Marion McParland on the importance of lyrics in music.

Mineralogists plan Oct. 3 show, sale

The New Jersey Mineralogical Society will hold its sixth annual "Mineral, Rock and Gem Show" on Sunday, Oct. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Sears Roebuck parking lot, Rt. 22 at Terrill road, Watchung. In the event of rain, the show will be held Oct. 10.

In addition to mineral specimens, there will be cut gemstones, jewelry, stone carvings and fossils on display and available for purchase. There is no admission charge and parking is free.

Publisher accepts Bible puzzle book

Milt Hammer, columnist and puzzlemaster for this newspaper, this week received word from the Baker Book Publishing House of Grand Rapids, Mich. that his manuscript, "So You Think You Know The Bible," has been accepted for publication.

This is the third Bible puzzle book for children Hammer will have published in the past two years. This spring his book, "Bible Wuzzles and Quizzes," was published by Baker House.

In addition to puzzles books for children, Hammer's brain twisters appear in most national magazines, including Modern Maturity, Jack & Jill, Highlights for Children and puzzle journals put out by Dell publications.

His column, "Disc 'n' Data," and his quizzes and puzzles appear weekly here.

Born in Irvington, Hammer now resides in Hillside.

New shows at museum

An exhibition of objects from the New Jersey pavilion at America's 1876 Centennial exposition, a planetarium program discussing the far-seeing "Eyes of the Astronomer," and auditorium screenings of "Jeremiah Johnson" and "Life and Times of Grizzly Adams" are among the varied activities being planned at the New Jersey State Museum, 205 W. State street, Trenton, during September and October.

A free brochure with a complete listing of exhibitions and other museum events for the two-month period may be obtained by phoning (609) 292-6308 or writing to Calendar, N.J. State Museum, 205 W. State street, Trenton, 08625. The museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekends and most holidays. Admission is free.

Jewish singles will hold dance

The Jewish Collegiate & Professional Young Adults of New Jersey will hold a "Fall Festival Dance" at the Holiday Inn, Rt. 46-eastbound service road in Wayne, on Sunday from 8 p.m. to midnight.

A live disco band, Trix, will provide music. The event is planned for Jewish single men and women from 20 to 40 years of age. For additional information on fall activities of the club, readers may write to: Jewish Singles, P.O. Box 196, Rahway 07065.

We Work Wonders With Apples

We have been working with apples for about 75 years. We grow them in our own orchards up in Rip Van Winkle country in the Hudson Valley. We bring them down to Westfield and retail them as fresh fruit; we peel them and make them into a country style apple pie; we press them and make fresh apple cider; we use the cider as an ingredient in our cider donuts. Because we control them from tree to you, our apples are always kept cool and handled carefully so that you will really enjoy them. We are picking McIntosh now and we will soon have all your favorite varieties. The crop this year is much smaller than last year and prices are higher, but we plan to bring you the top quality fruit you expect. Be sure to check our 10 pound bags of Utility Apples for the best value in cooking apples. Geiger's Cider Mill and Restaurant is located just off Route 22 on Springfield Avenue, opposite Echo Lake Park. Telephone - 233-3444.

Open 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. seven days a week. Remember, your satisfaction is guaranteed or your money cheerfully refunded with product return.

Plan to come for lunch or dinner, either in our Coffee Shop or in the Restaurant. Hope to see you soon.
