Board resolution protests regulations calling for lunch programs in schools

By KAREN ZAUYK
The Mountainside Board of Education has formally opposed the new state-mandated school lunch program, which must be implemented in the borough system next September, by passing a protest resolution at its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Copies of the resolution, which states that the board "strongly believes that the people of the district have the right to determine whether or not this additional economic burden should be imposed without the consent of the citizenry," are to be forwarded to state and national elected representatives, the State Department of Education and the Union County and New Jersey School Boards Associations. The board also will contact other school boards, requesting they take similar action.

The resolution was prompted by a recent court decision ruling that the previous lunch program requirement, demanding such programs only of districts with a certain percentage of needy children, was unconstitutional, and that all districts must be required to provide lunches for sale to pupils. The board has until Oct. 30 to develop a lunch plan for the borough schools, and must provide for the cost of the program in its 1977-78 budget by December, despite continuing state hostility as on school expenses.

In a related matter, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Levin B. Hanigan noted that a representative of the State Department of Education business department reported at a meeting Tuesday that there could be a two-month delay in budget approval and school elections this year because the State Senate has as yet failed to act on a state aid bill. "Nothing can be done with the budget unless we get certified state aid figures," Hanigan noted.

In other action at the session held before an audience of approximately 20 persons at the Deerfield School, the board approved a continuation of its shared services program with our Lady of Lourdes School. Under the program the public schools provide OLL with instruction in home economics and industrial arts and with special services in speech, remedial reading, testing and evaluation. Hanigan explained the latter services are offered on a "time-available" basis, with the public school students given first preference.

Hanigan also reported that the present kindergarten enrollment is 48, split between two classes, and is expected to rise to 51, one more than the permitted maximum in January. He noted the board had several alternatives request permission from the county superintendent of schools to exceed the limit: addition of a third kindergarten class, hiring of a part-time teacher or aide or the placement of two teachers in one room. Board President William Biunno, in response to a request from a resident for consideration of hiring an aide immediately, said the matter would be discussed before next month's meeting.

The board approved the filing of a request for a $7,256 grant from the State Department of Education under the Compensatory Education Program. The money would be used to hire a part-time teacher for remedial mathematics instruction for 4th and 5th grade students. Also approved was the purchase of a $1,057 physical education equipment set, to be utilized for 4th and 5th graders.

A contract in the amount of $4,870 was awarded to Keating Roofing, Inc. of Summit for repairs to the Deerfield School roof. The lowest bid, that of Industrial Resurfacing Co., Inc. of East Paterson, was rejected because the firm failed to meet bid specifications on the brand of materials to be used. Companies are permitted to propose other materials, if they also submit documentation proving these to be equal to the brand listed in the specifications, but Industrial Resurfacing failed to provide that information.

Also approved was a request by the Mountainside Recreation Commission to realign the baseball field at the Echobrook School. The commission originally wanted to remove several trees from the field area, but revised its project to permit the trees to remain.

The audience participation portion of the meeting was sparked by a protest from a parent who claimed he had been refused permission to see his child's numerical ranking grades. Board attorney Raymond O'Brien noted a parent has a right to examine, to challenge, and to submit additional data or comments on his or her own child's record, but cannot examine records which contain the names and grades of other students. The numerical list is such a compilation, giving

Candidate night planned Oct. 25

The Mountainside Branch of the American Association of University Women will sponsor a candidates' night on Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. in the Beechwood School, Woodacres drive, Mountainside.

The candidates for the Borough council—El Hoffman, Democrat, and Nicholas Bradshaw and Abe Suckno, Republicans—will present brief statements and then answer questions from the audience. The program will be moderated by Evelyn Chaiken of the Westfield Area League of Women Voters. The public has been invited.

Police penalty is a reprimand for selling gun

A written reprimand, to be kept permanently in his personal record file, will be the penalty for Mountainside police officer Alan Kennedy, who eight years ago illegally sold a revolver to a friend—a gun used this year to kill a Bradley Beach patrolman.

Police Commissioner Abe Suckno, in announcing departmental action, noted the police committee "took into consideration all the facts known to the Monmouth County Prosecutor's office and all of Kennedy's file and records for the past eight years."

"That record is as clean as can be," Suckno added. "He is a good cop with an excellent record. He has gone to several schools and is now an instructor in firearms. Based on his record, we felt this was the proper punishment."

Kennedy reportedly claimed he was unaware of his duties under the state gun control law when as a rookie patrolman in 1968, he sold a .38 caliber snub nosed revolver to a friend, George Maxwell of South Belmar, without demanding a purchaser's permit from Maxwell or reporting the sale to state or local police within five days. Earlier this year, Maxwell reported

HEARING AID—Our Lady of Lourdes School nurse Elaine Graf administers hearing test to student David Uyttendaele on a new audiometer recently purchased by the OLL Home and School Association. More thorough and accurate testing can be given with the new equipment, Mrs. Graf noted; in addition to being utilized for routine examinations, it also can detect special hearing problems. Since its formation in 1971, the Home and School Association, through a variety of fund-raising events, also has provided the school with bicycle racks, gym equipment, sports uniforms, a projector and filmstrip unit, a camera, subscriptions to an educational magazine, library study aids, and a number of achievement awards. Patriotism in patchwork Bicentennial quilt on exhibit

Elsa White of Mountainside, who teaches the craft of quilting at the Newark Museum arts workshop, has designed and overseen the creation of a Bicentennial quilt for the City of Newark.

Eight members of Mrs. White's advanced quilting workshop each chose a historic building or location in Newark to be represented on a 12 by 13-inch picture block.

Traditional techniques—including applique, piecework, solid-color or all-white quilting, stuff-work and embroidery—were used. The blocks depict Branch Brook Park, the Lyons Farm School House, the Newark Museum, Newark International Airport, the historic Plume House, Old First Church, and the rose window of Sacred-Heart Cathedral, and the Essex County Court House.

Mrs. White herself created a Bicentennial eagle for the quilt's center motif. She supervised the group's many work sessions as the picture blocks onto the finished quilt. Elaborate quilting patterns surrounding the blocks were executed jointly by the workshop members. Mrs. White estimates that over 650 work hours were involved in completing the 88 by 97-inch quilt.

The workshop presented the Newark Bicentennial Quilt to the permanent collection of the Newark Museum. It will be on display at the museum, 49 Washington st., Newark, through Oct. 31 in "Quilted New Jersey," an exhibition of Bicentennial album quilts from 11 New Jersey communities.

Mrs. White, who has been teaching at the Newark Museum's arts workshop for several years, also instructs at the Madison-Chatham Adult School and at the Short Hills Arboretum. She learned the basics of quilting from her husband's family, who live in Kentucky.

STITCHERY PROJECT—Elsa White of Mountainside, a teacher in the Newark Museum arts workshop, measures picture block for now-completed Newark Bicentennial Quilt. Donated to the museum's permanent collection, the quilt will be on view through Oct. 31.

Use of absentee ballots urged by GOP's Bradshaw, Suckno

Mountainside Republican Councilmen Nicholas Bradshaw and Abe Suckno, candidates for reelection, this week urged all registered Mountainside voters who will not be able to vote in person on Election Day, Nov. 2, to vote by absentee ballot.

"We want to remind students away from home, traveling businessmen and vacationers of the importance of exercising their individual privileges of voting, the necessary prerequisite of representative government," commented Councilman Bradshaw.

Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained locally at Borough Hall and from district committee members. Applications for ballots must be postmarked prior to midnight seven days before election, which means a deadline of Oct. 26.

"Businessmen are often called upon to travel on relatively short notice," Councilman Suckno noted. "A good safeguard would be to pick up an absentee ballot application to have on hand, should an unexpected traveling assignment crop up."

Republican Councilmen Bradshaw and Suckno declared jointly, "We care about our community, and we know the people of Mountainside care, too. We are proud of this borough and the fact that it is unique among our surrounding communities. A vote for Bradshaw and Suckno, whether by absentee ballot by Oct. 26 or in the voting booth on Nov. 2, will assure a continued commitment to Mountainside."

Purse snatchings reported by police

Purse snatchers, who usually prey on city dwellers, have struck twice on Mountainside's quiet streets since Oct. 5, borough police have reported.

The first crime occurred Oct. 5 at 9:21 p.m. on Knollwood road. The victim, police said, had just returned from shopping and was placing grocery packages at her front door when a young man came up behind her and grabbed her pocketbook.

The robber, described as a black male about 17 years old, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, with short hair, ran away down Knollwood to Central avenue. Police said the victim's husband searched the area in his car, but the purse snatcher was not found.

On Monday at 8:05 p.m., two Fernwood road residents lost their purses to two men who grabbed the pocketbooks after the women got out of their station wagon. The robbers fled in a car, which was parked on Fernwood road; the purses were found later in Hillside, emptied of the contents—$160 and various credit cards.

Police said the latter victims could describe only one suspect, a black male approximately 20 years old, wearing a maroon turtle-neck sweater and tan pants.

Mountainside detectives, who believe the same men were involved in both crimes, are continuing their investigation.

HIS VOTE COUNTS—Mountainside Councilmen Nicholas Bradshaw (left) and Abe Suckno (right) watch approvingly as Melvin Lemmerhirt of Saddle Brook completes his absentee ballot application. The incumbent Republican councilmen urged all citizens to remember both the privilege and responsibility of voting and stress the use of absentee ballots for voters who will not be in Mountainside on Election Day.

CENTER MOTIF—Eagle design sewn by Elsa White is at the center of the Bicentennial quilt she designed for the City of Newark. Other portions of the 88 by 93-inch quilt depict local landmarks.

Senator CASE Reports

It was nearly 11 years ago, on Dec. 11, 1965 that the white settlers controlling Rhodesia made their Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI) from Britain. And it was almost a year later that the Rhodesian leader Ian Smith held intensive negotiations with a prominent world leader who sought to settle the dispute and move Rhodesia toward black majority rule.

That man was Harold Wilson, then Prime Minister of Britain. Those talks broke down, to cheers from Rhodesia's white minority population which then numbered 2,200,000 persons compared to four million blacks.

Despite the imposition of economic sanctions by the United Nations—supported by the U.S. government—it appeared in subsequent years that the Smith regime might survive with only minor buffeting from the winds of change which began sweeping away colonial rule in Africa during the 1950's.

The Rhodesian whites had declared their independence in an effort to head off the change to black rule which had taken place elsewhere in Africa, including the other two members of the old Central Africa Federation, Zambia and Malawi. The subsequent political activities of the black nationalist movements and the guerillas operating in thinly populated rural border areas were relatively minor pinpricks in the well-cushioned life enjoyed by the average white Rhodesian.

But the situation began changing rapidly during the past year.

The April 1974 coup in Portugal which led to independence in 1975 for Angola and Mozambique ended the protective buffer they had afforded South Africa and Rhodesia. The intervention of Cuban forces with Russian backing in the Angolan conflict, the escalating buildup of the black Rhodesian guerilla forces, the impending independence of South West Africa, Namibia and the declining support for Rhodesia by trouble-plagued South Africa, Rhodesia's mainstay, all combined to speed the movement toward change.

It has become increasingly clear, even to some die-hard white Rhodesians, that the Smith government cannot maintain indefinite white supremacy in a country now composed of six million blacks and 270,000 whites—now diminishing slightly as some whites decide to emigrate.

Against this background, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger made his recent trip to Africa. He took on a most difficult task, one more complicated than his mission to the Middle East, where parties to the negotiations were—by comparison—few and cohesive. The Secretary was faced with some similar elements, however, especially the fear and distrust.

In addition to the reluctance to give up the advantages they currently enjoy under minority white rule, many Rhodesian whites genuinely fear that anarchy and violence will break out during power struggles among various black Rhodesian factions as white rule gives way. Their fears are reinforced by the history of the civil war and black power struggles in the Congo and Angola.

The Rhodesian black leaders, although divided, strongly distrust Prime Minister Smith. They feel he has backed away from previous agreements and will continue to evade turning over the keys to power even if a transition government is arranged.

Both sides have to worry about their constituencies, and it may take some time before the rhetorical smokescreens clear away.

There are those who say Secretary Kissinger should not have "meddled" and should leave the white-controlled governments of southern Africa alone. But the status quo could not continue, even if the U.S. government remained aloof. The forces for change are too strong, the feelings are running too deep. A key question is whether these forces can be channeled peacefully and whether there is enough of a spirit of accommodation to keep the bitterness from growing deeper.

The way the situation has been drifting, nobody would really benefit—not the blacks, the whites, nor the outside world. The chances for a peaceful transition, as in Kenya, where there are as many whites as before independence, would be lost. The Africans would run the increasing risk that even if they win in a military struggle, the country would be badly damaged by the fighting and the frightened flight of technicians needed to maintain the economic infrastructure during any transition period.

It is still uncertain, at this writing, how Secretary Kissinger's efforts will work out. But I think they were worth making, not only in the American interest, but also in the hope of averting bloodshed.

Mrs. Gibadlo, Bistis named to posts in Rinaldo campaign

Coordinators for the reelection bid of Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo in Mountainide have been announced by Assemblyman Frank McDermott. Surrogate Mary Kanane and former Plainfield Mayor Frank Blatz and congressmen's co-campaign managers. They are Mrs. Edward Gibadlo of Summit Parkway and Matthew Bistis of Birch Hill road.

Mrs. Gibadlo is tax collector-treasurer in Mountainide where she has lived for 14 years. A member of the Mountainide Republican Club, she has been active in the Woman's Club of Mountainide and the Football Club. She is the mother of two boys.

"I believe Matt Rinaldo is the best man for the job because he represents all of the people, not just a few," she said. "He's always available when you need him. We need more people like this in government."

An honorary silver card life member of the Mountainide PBA Local 126, Bistis, president of B & B Press of Kenilworth, has been active in many civic endeavors, including the United Fund, Boy Scouts, Little League, and the Kenilworth Manufacturers Association.

A past president of the Third Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth, Bistis is ruling elder of the church. He was also a district chairman of the Elizabeth Charter Study Commission.

In accepting the coordinator's post, Bistis said, "The people of Union County are represented by a responsible person, who considers the needs, concerns and ambitions of those who want our society and our country to prosper and grow in peace."

Bistis and his wife, Florence, are the parents of three sons and a daughter.

Dayton parents to visit classes

Principal Anthony J. Fioraliso this week announced that the first Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Parent Teacher Student Organization (PTSO) meeting of the year will take place next Thursday, Oct. 21, with a back to school night program.

The program will begin with a short business meeting in Halsey Hall at 7:30. Parents will then report to their children's homerooms to obtain student schedules and then to the various classrooms.

The principal advised parents to know homeroom numbers in advance. However, homeroom listings will also be available in the auditorium after the general session.

Parking for parents is available in two different locations on the school grounds: the front parking lot adjacent to Mountain Avenue and the rear parking lot at the end of the front drive.

Further information may be obtained by calling the main office at 376-6300.

Home ransacked; loss at $7,500

A fast-moving burglar broke into a Summit lane home last Thursday morning, ransacked the house and escaped with approximately $7,500 worth of goods and cash—all within the span of an hour.

Mountainide police said the homeowner was absent from the residence from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., and upon returning, found a side door had been pried open. According to investigating officer Wayne Martin, pry marks also were found on the front door, but no entry was gained there.

Known to be missing at this time is a $5,000 diamond ring, sterling silverware, valued at $1,500; a $500 gold watch; a $50 camera, and between $400 and $500 in cash.

Senior Citizens reelect officers

The Senior Citizens of Mountainide recently elected for their second term in office the following slate of officers: Mrs. May Ladd, president; Mrs. Mabel Sefach, vice-president; Joseph Sefach, treasurer, and Mrs. Mabel Young, secretary.

The Rev. Elmer Talcott of the Community Presbyterian Church, will entertain with slides of his travels on Oct. 27 at the church.

On Nov. 10, David Fogelson will show educational movies for the young and adults.

tedly gave the same weapon to Margaret Smock, sister of Charles E. Miller of Wall Township and Frank Miller of Belmar, both of whom have been sentenced to life imprisonment for the shooting murder of Ptl. Jack Wright on May 31 of this year.

Wright was in a Bradley Beach grocery store on Memorial Day when the Miller brothers attempted a hold-up. He chased the pair from the shop and apprehended them a half-block away. As he was searching Frank, he was shot at point-blank range by Charles.

The gun used in the slaying was traced to Maxwell and then to Kennedy, but because the statute of limitations had expired and because Monmouth County authorities, after questioning Kennedy, concluded the officer had had no criminal intent in the sale, he was not prosecuted. Maxwell, however, does face charges of an illegal transfer of a weapon resulting from his giving the revolver to Mrs. Smock.

Suckno said he had personally told Kennedy of the decision on the reprimand, and the officer "accepted it without any problem. He felt it was fair."

ranking information on all students in one grade.

A compromise was reached when the board assured the parent he would be provided with an excerpt from the numerical list, showing only information on his child.

The numerical ranking, which, the resident charged, most parents are unaware of, is based on a teacher's evaluation of a child using data from tests, class work, homework and participation in class. It is not shown on the child's report card, which lists only alphabetic grades (A, B, C, etc.), and is kept in a separate file. The letter grade shows where a child stands in his own class; the numeric grade ranks the child among all students in his grade and is used by the system to place students in "above average", "average" and "below average" class groupings.

Hanigan explained that the maximum numerical mark a pupil can earn is 20, resulting from grades of 5 in four major subject areas. In answer to the parent, however, he admitted the 20 grade is achieved only by youngsters in above average groupings, with average students getting a maximum of 16. "If a child in the above average class got a grade of 16," he added, "it's almost sure he would wind up in the top group, since grades of 20 to 15 are used to form those groups." The parent argued that the child in the average group, limited to the 16 maximum, has a difficult time getting into a higher ranked class.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

It may be many months before New Jersey citizens develop an adequate understanding of the tax reform-educational financing program enacted by the 1976 Legislature, notes the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. The complex package includes 15 laws and two Constitutional amendments.

Although the graduated gross income tax, the revenue heart of the program, has been the initial focal point of most public attention and criticism, the homestead rebate law providing for property tax rebates for homeowners to be paid by state government has also become a topic of debate. Chief complaint of the homestead law stems from the excessive cost of state administration for two payments as contrasted to one payment, or a method of awarding credit through the local property tax bill or on the state income tax return form. To further confuse matters, a new element has been introduced in the reimbursement controversy.

A factor in the formula for computing federal general revenue sharing, namely tax effort, is expected to influence a decision to retain the direct payment method since application of the rebate reduction to the local tax bill would result in reduced eligibility for federal funds. Amendments to the rebate law are pending to change payment of rebates to one on April 1 and place total responsibility for administration from both local assessors and the director of taxation in the first year to the director of taxation in the second year.

Property tax relief is one of the principal purposes of the reform program. This would be accomplished in a number of ways: (1) for residential property owners—the homestead rebate estimated to cost $260 million; for tenants—pass through of portion of the landlords' tax rebate and an income tax credit; for homeowners senior citizens and disabled persons, an additional homestead rebate estimated at $8 million; (2) to most property taxpayers—a revenue sharing program of $50 million over a calendar year and state assumption of the full cost of veterans' and senior citizens' deductions, approximately $36.6 million based on 1976 data.

Financing increased school aid is a second chief objective of the program. To fully finance the first year of a new formula to comply with the Supreme Court's mandate for financing a "thorough and efficient" education and continue state payment of full cost of teachers' pensions and social security, $374 million was appropriated Pending legislation (Senate No. 1503, with numerous amendments) on which legislators have been unable to agree, would prevent use of most of the funds for increased school spending in the present budget year, instead requiring a major portion to be applied to reduce tax levies.

Five laws in the package relate to the income tax. The principal measure contains the intricate details of the graduated gross tax and its administration. Others add a $1,000 income exemption for a dependent attending a higher education institution, fix an expiration date of the income tax of June 30, 1978 (referred to as "self-destruct" law), continue the income taxes on New Yorkers and Pennsylvanians working in New Jersey at the rate of the tax in those states, and provide that these employees in New Jersey from the two adjacent states pay the higher of the two taxes to New Jersey.

Two laws impose limits on state and municipal and county spending to go with earlier enacted "caps" on local school budgets so as to prohibit the local budgets from absorbing reductions in taxes caused by law changes which shifted costs from the local property tax to the State income tax.

Two laws repealed two business nuisance taxes—the gross receipts taxes on unincorporated business and retail sales businesses, effective Jan. 1, 1977. Awaiting signing by the governor is a bill repealing the business personalty tax on new machinery and equipment purchased beginning Jan. 1, 1977. Still awaiting final legislative action is a bill to repeal the sales tax on business machinery and equipment, effective Jan. 1, 1978. Those four measures are expected to provide significant improvement in New Jersey's competitive position with surrounding states for new business.

The overall program meets basic tax reform criterion of shifting part of the tax burden from local property to state income, thereby reducing reliance on property taxation. The program does not, nor was it ever intended to or purposed to, provide tax reduction for every taxpayer, explained the Taxpayers Association.

Mrs. H. M. Oels; towel firm officer

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Harriet M. Oels, 80, of Cherry Hill road, Mountainside, who died Thursday in Overlook Hospital, Summit, after a brief illness.

Born in Newark, Mrs. Oels lived in Springfield prior to coming to Mountainside 18 years ago. She was a member of First Presbyterian Church and Sharon Chapter 209, OES, Union. She was a treasurer of the O. K. Towel & Uniform Supply Co., Elizabeth, which was founded by her husband, the late Edward H. Oels.

Surviving are two sons, Edwin J. of Mountainside and Richard H. of Springfield; seven grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. The Smith & Smith Funeral Home, 415 Morris ave., Springfield, completed arrangements.

PROCLAIMS DISABILITIES WEEK—Mountainside Mayor Thomas Riccardi (center) proclaims the week beginning Sunday as Learning Disabilities Week. Looking on are Betty May Lippner, president, Union County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, and Dr. James Donovan, vice-president of the association and director of special services for Westfield schools.

The Eagleton Poll: Race seems a tossup

As far as "Presidential" qualities are concerned, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter are running neck and neck in New Jersey. The latest Eagleton Poll, conducted between Sept. 13 and 19, before the first debate, shows that while Ford is seen as more "experienced" than Carter by an overwhelming majority of 76-12 percent, neither candidate holds a decisive advantage on a number of other personal characteristics.

Carter is chosen over Ford as a "good leader" by a slight margin of 42-34 percent, and the Democrat is also seen as more "intelligent" by a narrow 35-31 percent. Ford leads Carter on three other characteristics by equally slim margins. He is seen as more "capable" by 40-35 percent, more "honest" by 34-30 percent, and more "decisive" by 41-36 percent.

Liotta would invite clerk's office tour by classes, public

Alfred R. Liotta, Democratic candidate for Union County clerk, has called for an educational program utilizing visits by students to the clerk's office to increase their knowledge of governmental operations.

Liotta's suggestion drew strong support from two members of the Union Township Board of Education, Michael Conlon and Roosevelt Williams.

"I don't think government, on any level, should be a static thing," Liotta said, "and if our young people are to be expected to act intelligently and rationally in their civic responsibilities, they must understand how the system operates. First-hand observation is obviously one of the best methods of educating them."

Liotta suggested that visits by pupils, scouting groups and other organizations to the county clerk's office to see it in operation, to observe naturalization ceremonies and court proceedings, might well be "an invaluable educational experience for them, and a benefit to the public at large."

"These visits, if carefully planned, would in no way interfere with the work of the clerk's office," he explained, "and would afford yet another service to the public."

Conlon called the idea "an excellent proposal that clearly shows the imaginative and creative thinking that Al has always exhibited. It clearly shows the new dimensions he can add to this vital county office."

Williams called the Liotta plan "innovative and intelligent" and potentially "a real aid both to the educational process of our students and the best interests of good government via an informed electorate."

The candidate went on to suggest that such an educational program "should not really be restricted to youth and student groups, I'd like to see organizations in any age group getting involved. I think many of our senior citizens might be interested in observing first-hand some of the important electoral and judicial functions of the county clerk's office."

District school board will meet on Tuesday

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District will hold an adjourned regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the instructional media center of the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

The meeting, to transact business, will be open to the public.

Paskow volunteers as probation worker

Dean Paskow of Mountainside will be among 17 persons receiving certificates Tuesday night at the Third Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, for completing a five-week training course sponsored by the Union County Probation Department.

Upon graduation, each volunteer is paired with a youthful probationer, according to Marjorie Svedman, volunteer coordinator. "This provides a warm, supportive relationship," she said. Since the program started in 1971, she observed, it has "proved to be an extremely effective method of preventing first offenders from committing additional crimes."

3 drivers fined, lose licenses on alcohol charges

Three motorists charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol were among the persons appearing before Judge Jacob R. Bauer at the Oct. 6 session of Mountainside Municipal Court.

Found guilty of the offense were Angel T. Acevedo of Elizabeth, Joseph R. Muller of the Bronx and John A. Page of Newark, all of whom were fined $215 and had their driver's licenses revoked for two years. Page paid an additional $30 for failure to exhibit his driver's license and registration. He and Acevedo had been apprehended on Oct. 27. Muller had been involved in an accident in the parking lot at Hall & Fuhs Inc. Rt. 22.

Other drivers appearing at the session were David E. Goodling of Charles street, fined $35 for lending his driver's license to someone else; Lance C. Hollem of Montclair, $30 for careless driving, and Erin Dowdell of Rosanoke, Ala., $15 for being an unlicensed driver. Goodling's ticket was issued on Sky Top drive, Hollem and Dowdell on Rt. 22.

In another court action, Scott R. Rohr of Fanwood, arrested July 4, was given a six-month probation term after being found guilty of possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. Charges he also had in possession of a hypodermic syringe, LSD and Psilocybin were dismissed. He was fined $15 for operating an unregistered vehicle on Rt. 22.

PIAN SILVER TEA -- Dolores Mayer, Lenora Cleveland and Mary Ellen Kennedy discuss plans for silver tea to be held by Home and School Association of Our Lady of Lourdes from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. today at Mrs. Mayer's home. The tea is being held for mothers of all children in Our Lady of Lourdes School. Guests of honor will be Sally Donelan, principal; the Rev. Gerard J. McGarry, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church; and the Rev. Charles R. Hunk and the Rev. Frank P. assistants.

Garrubbo proposes creation of economic development unit

A proposal by Freeholder Joseph L. Garrubbo of Union for the creation of a non-profit Union County Economic Development Corporation to be funded by the public and private sectors and whose chief function would be to keep business within the county and attract new jobs has been taken under consideration by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Garrubbo made the proposal as a spokesman for the Economic Development Council of Union County (EDC), an advisory arm established earlier this year to aid county legislators in coping with inflation and unemployment. Garrubbo, at whose suggestion the advisory board was established, serves as the freeholder liaison to that body.

Garrubbo's latest proposal has the backing of Freeholder Chairman Harold J. Seymour Jr. of Cranford and Freeholders Everett C. Lattimore of Plainfield and Thomas W. Long of Linden.

"Nothing I have done since being appointed to the board has excited me more than this," said Garrubbo.

He said this proposed attempt to bring new commerce and industry into the county has the unanimous backing of the EDC's 10 members.

who represent all segments of the county's economy.

The EDC members are Walter C. Money, Elizabethtown Water Co.; Elizabeth communications; Frank R. Wesolowski, Burroughs Corp.; Elizabeth business; Seymour H. Goldberg, Benoit & Goldberg Union architects and engineers; William Boyle, the Boyle Co., Cranford real estate; and Neil Boyle IBEW Local 675, Elizabeth labor.

Other members of the EDC are William Flyge, United Jersey Bank Central, Elizabeth, banking; Matthew T. Rinaldo, Rinaldo and Rinaldo, Elizabeth law; James J. Clancy, Union County superintendent of schools; Westfield education; Clifford Peake, president of Eastern Union County Chamber of Commerce, Elizabeth; and John H. Horn, Burry Division of Quaker Oats Co., Elizabeth industry.

Garrubbo proposes that the county government and private industry provide a total $200,000 annually in matching funds to finance the proposed non-profit corporation.

He said that he has been assured many private industries are interested in making such contributions. He explained that such businesses could use their contributions to the proposed county corporation as tax write-offs.

The non-profit corporation would be modeled after one set up by the Newark Economic Council in 1973. He said part of the financing would be used to maintain a full-time economic development office with a professional staff geared to keep business within the county and attract new industrial and commercial firms.

DISC 'N DATA

Pick of The LPs IN DEPENDENCE by Nat Stuckey MCA Records 21847 For his first MCA LP, Nat selected a cross section of tunes including the Eagles Lynyrd Skynyrd's "I Wanna Get Back" and three of his own compositions. "Sun Comin' Up" After The Lovin' Has Passed" and "That's All She Ever Said Except Goodbye" Additional selections include "At Least In The Time," "Walk On The Way He's Treated You," "Honky Tonk Dreams," and "She Stays In The Name of Love"

Texas born Nat Stuckey began his music career on the other side of the turntable. After completing a two year program in radio and television and earning an A.A. from Arlington State College, Nat went to work for a radio station in Atlanta, Texas. Army duty sent him to New York and Korea, still working in radio and television. After a two year return to the Atlanta station, Nat moved to RWTH in Shreveport La.

In a move reminiscent of another Texas born former KWKH disc jockey, Jim Reeves, Nat joined the east of the enormously popular and long running "Louisiana Hayride" program. He composed a number of songs made popular by others, including Jimmie Brown's "Top A Top" and Buck Owens' "Waiting In Your Welfare Line." He began to cut some records for a Shreveport based label.

Nat's second release, a bright novelty original called "Sweet Thing," became one of the larger country hits of 1966 and something of a standard. Two years and six charted singles later, he hit big again with "Plastic Saddle," another humorous original. Since then, he has been almost continuously on the record charts, and had several albums both solo and duets with Connie Smith.

Vocalist set for benefit

Vocalist Pat Pickens will appear in "Broadway Broadway" with performers from the New Jersey Dance Theater Guild, Oct. 23 and Oct. 30 at the Theater of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Murray Hill. Proceeds will benefit the New Jersey Dance Theater Guild Building Fund.

There will be four performances on both Saturdays at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The revue, a song and dance tribute to Broadway musicals, will feature performers from Gertrude's Dance Studio, Yvette Dance Studio, Cranford, Vern Flower School of Dance and Theater Arts, Metuchen; Walcott-McCusker Dance Studio, Clark; Marie Wilkey School of Dance, East Orange, and Cathy Karosick Dance Studio, Roselle Park.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 464-2627.

Brando stars in adult movie

Marlon Brando stars in his first X-rated motion picture, "Last Tango in Paris," which arrived yesterday at the Five Points Cinema, Union. Maria Schneider portrays his leading lady.

The Five Points Cinema also announces that a G-rated kiddie matinee will be shown Saturday and Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

ROBERT MITCHUM

All-star casts now at Elmora

Robert Mitchum joins the all-star cast of "Midway," along with Charlton Heston, Henry Fonda, James Coburn and Glenn Ford. The adventure film drama arrived yesterday at the Elmora Theater, Elizabeth. The associate feature is "Rooster Cogburn" and the "Lady," starring John Wayne and Katharine Hepburn.

'Alice' is held

"Alice in Wonderland," X-rated film, continues its run at two theaters: the Lost Picture Show, Union, and the Old Rahway Theater, Rahway.

Rinaldo hiring 'scheme' under fire from Buggelli

Richard A. Buggelli, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 12th District, this week charged that his Republican opponent, Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, "has been misusing taxpayer money to build a personal political power base."

Buggelli made the attack in the wake of a newspaper story claiming that Rinaldo "stretched" his staff beyond the 18 permitted to Congressmen by hiring six part-time workers at intervals rather than on a monthly basis. Rinaldo has responded that the practice has the approval of the clerk of the House of Representatives.

But Buggelli this week called the practice "token compliance" with the rules.

"In plain English, Rinaldo cooked up a scheme to get around a House of Representatives rule that a congressman is not permitted to have more than 18 employees on his staff at any one time," Buggelli said. "He deliberately broke the rule to feather his own political nest."

"Rinaldo accomplished this—according to his own admission—by placing six persons on his payroll on a sort of revolving pay scheme. They worked on a year-round basis, but they were taken off the payroll temporarily on a rotating schedule to provide token compliance with the staff limit.

"According to statements made by these six persons, their duties had little or no relation to congressional work. The bulk of what they are doing is pure, unadulterated politicking on Rinaldo's behalf and at taxpayer expense.

Their assignments frequently involved nothing more than keeping close liaison with special interest groups."

Buggelli said that, according to published reports based on official congressional records, the six employees were paid more than $24,000 in public funds since Rinaldo took office in 1973.

The Democratic candidate said he would not "engage in any practice at any time that compromises the letter and spirit of our rules, regulations or laws."

Billington named new president of Hospital Society

GEORGE F. BILLINGTON

George F. Billington of Cranford, president of Elizabeth General Hospital, has been elected president of the Union County Hospital Society. He succeeds Murray Rubin, director of Memorial General Hospital, Union, who served as society president for two years.

Also elected as officers for the 1976-77 term were: Sister Ellen Patricia Meade, chief executive officer of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, vice-president; Richard Ahlfeld, director of administration of Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, executive secretary; and Terrie Ulich, recording secretary.

The Union County Hospital Society is an organization of eight non-profit voluntary hospitals whose members meet to discuss matters of mutual concern regarding patients, employees and physicians. "Our hospitals treated 86,000 patients last year," Billington said. "We intend to continue to do all in our power to insure their interests are protected."

Other members of the Society include Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield; Rahway Hospital; Overlook Hospital, Summit; and Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth. Billington has served as chief executive officer of Elizabeth General Hospital since 1963. He is immediate past chairman of the New Jersey Hospital Association.

PAUL AQUINO

Oct. 23 concert to feature Aquino

Paul Aquino will be featured as soloist for the annual concert of the Volkschor-Harmonie on Saturday, Oct. 23, at 8:30 p.m. at the United Singers Hall Evergreen Lodge, Evergreen avenue, Springfield. Aquino has been soloist with the New York City Opera Company and the National Symphony Orchestra at Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

Professor Leo Alfassy will conduct the program of English and German favorites, A dance, featuring music by Heckmann's Orchestra, will follow the concert.

Tickets may be purchased at Cafe Mozart & Kuhnen Travel in Union Center, at Evergreen Lodge and from all members.

County seminar scheduled on 'Clean Water Act' plans

The Union County Environmental Health Advisory Board will sponsor a seminar on the Northeast New Jersey 208 Water Quality Management Planning Program on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Union County Administration Building at 300 North ave., East, Westfield.

Harry Ike, project director for areawide water quality management of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection will be the speaker.

The seminar is being held as a result of the "Clean Water Act," which requires that all water pollution be eliminated by 1985. In order to achieve this goal, Section 208 of the act mandates that states institute "areawide water quality management planning programs."

The Northeast New Jersey 208 Water Quality Management Planning Program is a two-year program, scheduled to begin Nov. 1, aimed at developing a plan which would become the blueprint for upgrading and maintaining the area's water quality. All future development in the county would have to comply with the plan. State and federal construction grants and permits will be conditioned upon compliance with the plan.

Public participation is planned through the Policy Advisory Committee (P.A.C.) which will consist of representatives from all governing bodies, the state and federal government, local industries, sewerage authorities, commissions and other public and private groups. The P.A.C. will make decisions in development of the plan as well as adoption of the final product.

All interested citizens may attend this meeting. Further information may be had by contacting Mrs. Joan Buhendorf at the Union County Environmental Resource Center 300 North ave., East, Westfield (654-4499).

Campaign pledge made by Rinaldo

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo has signed the Fair Campaign Practices Code and pledged to conduct his campaign for re-election in accordance with the principles embodied in the code.

The Union County lawmaker, who said he has waged all his campaigns in accordance with the code promulgated by the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, urged his opponent to do likewise.

"I believe that all campaigns should be waged on the basis of issues, not personalities," Rinaldo said. "By signing this code, I have signified my willingness once again to abide by this principle."

The code, which is administered by the non-partisan Fair Campaign Practices Committee, requires subscribers to campaign "in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them, presenting my record and policies with sincerity and frankness and criticizing without fear or favor" the stands of opponents.

Med group plans award to students

The Union County Medical Society of New Jersey has voted to present an annual award to Union County Technical Institute (UCTI) medical assisting program students.

The Mary Louise Rogers award, named after the late executive secretary of the society, will honor the student who best exemplifies the necessary qualities of a modern medical assistant.

"The award will be presented to the student demonstrating the fine qualities attributed to Mary Louise Rogers, of Mountainside, who served the profession for over 30 years," said Mary Gleason, UCTI medical assisting program coordinator. "We are looking for a person who is interested in people, a good humanitarian."

Hiking Club members schedule busy weekend

The Union County Hiking Club has planned a ramble, three hikes and a bike ride for its members and guests for the weekend.

On Saturday, Dick Nicholson will lead a 2-1/2-hour ramble in the South Mountain Reservation. Hikers should bring their lunch and meet at Locust Grove at 10 a.m.

Also on Saturday, Bill Myles will join hikers for an 11-mile jaunt in the Tiorati Circular. They will meet just past the Essex toll barrier, Garden State Parkway, at 8:15 a.m., bringing lunch.

On Sunday, Mary Corulli will conduct a hike in the Mahlon Dickerson Reservation, meeting participants at the picnic area at 10 a.m.

A ten-mile hike in the Silvermine Circular will also be held on Sunday. Hikers will meet the leader, Erwin Conrad, just past the Essex toll barrier, Garden State Parkway, at 8:15 a.m.

Patriots set 'pasta party'

The Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps of Cranford will hold an Italian Nig' tomorrow at the VFW Hall, South and Centennial avenue, in Cranford beginning at 5:30 p.m.

The dinner, at cost of $3.50 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under, will be prepared by director Carmen Cirilione and business manager Terry Cirilione, assisted by Jean and Joe Marando.

The menu will include spaghetti and meatballs, salad, coffee and dessert. Beer and wine also will be available. Members of the Patriots will assist in the serving.

Advance reservations may be made with Jean Anderson, 278-5070, or tickets may be purchased at the door. Proceeds will aid the operation and maintenance of the corps.

Tickets ($5) include the wine and cheese sampling. Tickets may be obtained from UCWPC members in Union, Linden, Springfield or Roselle or at the door.

'Earth Science' subject of film

"Earth Science For Venusians," showing how we might appear to the inhabitants of another planet, will be the subject of a program at The Union County Park Commission's Trailside Planetarium on Saturday and Sunday at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

The program will be repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday, at 4 p.m. and on Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m.

Symphony filling subscriptions for 4-concert series

The Plainfield Symphony Orchestra is filling subscription orders for its 1976-77 season. A subscription to the four-concert series costs $10, a saving of $4 over the single ticket price, with discounts available to students and senior citizens.

Conductor Edward Murray has chosen the following schedule of concerts this year:
 Sunday, Oct. 24, works by Handel, Bartok and Dvorak with Vahuda Hanan, soloist.
 Sunday, Dec. 12 (Special Bi-Centennial Concert), works by Ives, Martini and Mozart with Paul Kueter, soloist.

 Sunday, Feb. 20, 1977, works by Beethoven, Schumann and Mozart with Daniel Schuman and Joseph Kovacs, soloists.
 Choice of Saturday, April 16, 8 p.m., or Sunday, April 17, 2 p.m. ballet concert with the Princeton Ballet Company, Audrey Feter, director.

All concerts are held in the Plainfield High School Auditorium. Performances take place Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock, with the exception of the Saturday, April 16 concert at 8 p.m.

For further information about subscriptions to the concert series, readers may call or write the subscription secretary, Miss Evelyn Craig, 806 First place, Plainfield, N.J. 07064, telephone 52-1271.

Human services coalition to pick area delegates

The Union County Coalition for Human Services will meet next Wednesday, at 1 p.m. in the auditorium of the Elizabeth Public Library to elect delegates from the more than 25 areas represented on the Coalition.

In addition, at large delegates will be elected to represent those general areas which could not be classified.

The public is invited to attend. Representatives, staff and consumers of human services are also urged to attend, as well as representatives of civic or community groups, business, labor and government, and those with any interest in the kind and quality of services which are to be provided in Union County during the next few years.

Proposed changes in Federal regulations governing the Title XX program were reviewed by a sub-committee of the Union County Coalition for Human Services at a special meeting held Sept. 30. As a result, the Coalition will request that HEW extend the time to submit comments beyond the October 17 deadline.

According to Sue Ault, chairperson of the Coalition, the proposed changes indicate what may be a trend toward "decentralization of health and medicare services, in which case we want to consult those agencies most closely involved with implementing the programs and services funded under Title XX."

Symphony offers 3 concerts at UC

Music by Beethoven, Mozart, Strauss and Gershwin will highlight the Suburban Symphony Orchestra of New Jersey's 1976-77 concert season. Saturday concerts are scheduled in Union College Nov. 13, Jan. 22 and April 23, at 8 p.m.

The opening concert will include Beethoven's Leonora Overture No. 3 and Symphony No. 4 and Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 4.

The 60-member Suburban Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Constantine Callinicos of New York City, has performed in Union County for more than 15 years and is currently making its home at Union College.

Tickets ($5) may be obtained by writing the Suburban Symphony Orchestra, 100 Evergreen pl., East Orange, 07018. Senior citizen and student tickets are $2.50.

2 labor groups endorse Halpin

Union County Clerk Walter G. Halpin, Republican candidate seeking re-election, has been notified of endorsement by two major Union County building trade unions.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Millwrights Local 417, Elizabeth, through its business agent, John A. Williams, said, "Your performance and record was exceptionally good and you represented all the people of Union County and not just a political party."

Halpin also said Ironworkers Local 480 of Elizabeth and Union County, in a letter of endorsement, wrote that Halpin's performance

Union College member of unit for handicapped

Union College has joined the Teachers College Handicapped College Student Center Network, it was announced this week by Miss Elaine Orlovski, director of health services.

The Center, which is based at Columbia University and funded by the United States Office of Education, serves handicapped students on college campuses within a 50-mile radius of New York City. Services are limited to students whose physical limitations constitute a deterrent to their college career, Miss Orlovski stated.

The Center is not intended to replace existing college services, she said, but to provide additional services when requested by the participating college. All services are provided without cost to either the student or the college.

Among the services provided are special vocational and academic counseling, liaison and intervention with state rehabilitation agencies and other community service groups.

Job training unit relocates center

Larry J. Lockhart, director of the Union County Department of Human Resources, this week announced the relocation of the Western Center, Division of Employment and Training to the Atlas Building, 128 West 7th st., Plainfield.

The Center's programs focus on providing job training and employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged, unemployed and underemployed persons. The program is federally funded under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) of 1973. Wimphrey Jenkins of Union is coordinator of the Western Center which services disadvantaged and unemployed persons from Plainfield, Springfield, Summit, New Providence, Westfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Clark, Garwood, Mountainside and Berkeley Heights.

The Eastern Center in Linden services Cranford, Hillside, Kenilworth, Linden, Rahway, Roselle, Roselle Park, Union and Westfield.

Further information may be obtained by calling 752-9090.

County PBA local elects Colicchio

Policemen's Benevolent Association Local 199, Union County Corrections Officers, recently elected Thomas Colicchio of Elizabeth to his second term as president.

Other officers elected were: Joseph Salay of Cranford, vice president; Joseph Glackin of Elizabeth, treasurer; Timothy O'Leary of Elizabeth, recording secretary; Bernice Peach of Linden, financial secretary; Joseph Cepparulo of Scotch Plains, sergeant-at-arms, and Patsy Franciotti of Clark, state delegate.

Local 199, which represents Sheriff's Department officers employed at the county jail, is seeking a new contract with the county. Its last contract expired Dec. 31, 1975.

UC Art Society to sponsor print exhibit, sale Monday

An exhibit and sale of original graphics prints, by artists including Goya and Picasso, will be held at Union College, Cranford, next Monday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., under the auspices of the school's Art Society.

The prints are from the collection of the Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore. A representative of Roten will be present to discuss the individual works exhibited and graphics in general, reported Anthony Nicoli, UC art instructor and advisor to the Art Society.

The exhibit will feature some 600 original prints by artists from the past six centuries, including Picasso and Goya, Daumier, Miro, Hogarth, Zox and Krushenick, as well as works by current artists, such as Mauritz Escher, Paul Wunderlich, Peter Milton and Anuszkiewicz.

The Ferdinand Roten Galleries has been exhibiting graphics at colleges and universities for the past 30 years and is credited by many art educators with affording students and the general public the opportunity to experience art in a relaxed, informal setting Nicoli said.

The exhibit will be in the faculty lounge and main hall in the Nomahegan Building. The public has been invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

RADIO STATION WVNJ IS ON STRIKE

The station is seeking to discharge 4 of its 7 radio engineers and have their work done with non-skilled, low salaried employees. The Union, Local 1212, I.B.E.W., has refused to accept this company ploy to destroy the work standards and benefits that its members have built over a 20-year period of service to the station.

Mr. EDWARD (NED) SCUDDER is the chief owner and operator of radio station WVNJ. Mr. Scudder is known for his anti-union activities when he was the owner of the Newark News. He is a multi-millionaire who has used others to amass his personal fortune, but who denies the right of others to enjoy the simple benefits of their labor.

THE PUBLIC CAN HELP

particularly other union members in New Jersey can pitch in:

1. Let the station know of your displeasure with WVNJ anti-union tactics.
2. Let the WVNJ advertisers know what the station is doing.

JNF dinner to hear talk by Israeli

Lt. Col. Elyahu Y. Schwartz, retired from the Israel Defense Army, will address the Sabbath dinner which will open the 35th annual conference of New Jersey and Rockland County Region, Jewish National Fund, on Oct. 29. The conference, continuing through Oct. 31, will be held at the Stevensville Country Club in Swan Lake, N.Y.

Born in Jerusalem, Lt. Col. Schwartz was 15 when he joined Haganah, the underground defense force which guarded Jewish settlements in Palestine prior to the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948. He fought in the defense of Jerusalem and in the drive to oust the warring Syrian Army from Galilee.

At the conclusion of hostilities in 1949, he enlisted in the newly-organized army and later was named Chief Training Officer.

MIMES PERFORM—Heather and Patrick McDermott are featured in "The Cartoon Opera," part of the Dance Performance Series at Kean College next Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 8 p.m.

'Cartoon Opera' plays at Kean on Wednesday

The Dance Performance Series at Kean College will present "The Cartoon Opera" next Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 8 p.m. in the Eugene G. Wilkins Theatre for the Performing Arts.

The troupe will perform on keyboards, bass and marimba to accompany ancient and original stories mimed by Heather and Patrick McDermott.

From a repertoire of music, mime and dance they will select "Little Man," a Zen Koan, "King Solomon and The Otter," a Hebrew folktale, "The Request," a Chinese fairytale, "The Madmen," from a poem by Kahilil Gibran, and other tales.

The Cartoon Opera draws its inspiration from allegories, anecdotes, riddles, sagas and fables.

There will be no charge; additional information is available at 527-2044.

Fund-raiser for Chorale

The Kean College Chorale will sponsor its second annual dinner dance Nov. 19 at the Gran Centurions in Clark. Proceeds will help fund the Chorale's annual tour.

Kean will initiate new course for government aides

The public administration program at Kean College, Union, is initiating a new form of in-service training for government employees. "The new program will make it possible for persons with or without a college degree to improve their understanding and skills in public administration," a college spokesman said.

Persons without a college degree will be able to work toward a bachelor's degree in their area of primary occupational interest. Persons who already have a degree, but who wish to update their information on public administration, can take advantage of the post baccalaureate major offered at the college. The program also is open to anyone considering a career in government, regardless of previous governmental experience.

The curriculum and courses will focus on administration in state, county and local government and will emphasize government in New Jersey. Classes and course requirements are designed to allow students flexibility in adapting their academic schedules to occupational and other commitments.

Applications are being accepted now. For more information readers may contact Dr. Eleanor Laudicina, Coordinator, Public Administration, Department of Political Science.

$50,000 given to save Barrens

The New Jersey Conservation Foundation has received a gift of $50,000 from the Victoria Foundation as the first major donation toward its campaign to save fragile areas of the Pine Barrens from encroachment.

Percy Chubb II, president of the Victoria Foundation, presented the check to NJCF president Edward F. Babbott. The gift will further NJCF's drive to raise $750,000 for purchase of 20,000 critical acres of the Pinelands for eventual resale to the state or federal government as public parkland.

"We are indeed grateful for this generous contribution toward our campaign to keep the Pine Barrens in its natural condition," Babbott said. "We hope to rescue as much of this valuable region as possible from the widespread and piecemeal development which would destroy its agrarian way of life."

CONSUMER GUIDELINES

Mail Order Safely

According to recently enacted Federal Trade Commission rulings, mail order sellers must notify you of any delay—if your merchandise cannot be shipped within the time stated when you ordered it. If no time was stated, delivery must occur within 30 days of your order. Also, the seller must supply you with the option to cancel your order and a cost-free means of doing so (a postage-paid card, for example). If you don't respond to this notice, it's assumed you agree to a 30-day delay.

Charge for Pictures
There is a charge of $3 for wedding and engagement pictures. There is no charge for the announcement, whether with or without a picture. Persons submitting wedding or engagement pictures should enclose the $3 payment.

B'NAI B'RITH CITED—Mayor Robert Weltchek signs proclamation declaring this week, Oct. 10-16, as B'nai B'rith and B'nai B'rith Women's Week in Springfield, looking on are Joel Kaplan and Blanche Levine, presidents, respectively, of B'nai B'rith Springfield Lodge and Women's Springfield Chapter. Yesterday marked the 133rd birthday of B'nai B'rith and the 80th birthday of its women's unit, it is the world's largest and oldest Jewish service organization. (Marty Feins Studio)

PTA 'back to school night' listed Tuesday at Gaudineer

The PTA of the Florence Gaudineer School, Springfield, will hold its annual "back to school night" on Tuesday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Parents will gather in the girls' gym for a brief meeting, after which they will visit their children's classrooms, where the year's programs and activities will be explained and discussed.

A cake sale also will be held during the course of the evening, and there will be an opportunity for those who have not already done so to join the PTA.

The PTA executive board for the 1976-77 school year is as follows:

President, Anna Daniel; vice-president, Dr. Thelma Sandmeier; vice-presidents, membership, Judy Weiss and Heather Chasman;

vice-presidents, ways and means, Lois Shpitofsky and Rhona Jaffe, recording secretary, Jo Farinella; corresponding secretary, Eleanor Kuperstein, treasurer, Ruth Davison; room mother representatives—sixth grade, Martha Lefkowitz; seventh grade, Gail Barton; eighth grade, Myrna Miller

The committee chairpersons are: Hospitality, Sande Baltus and Judy Klein; bylaws, Gail Barison; high school representatives, Ruth Davison and Marion Soled; health and safety, Eleanor Kuperstein; legislation, Alice Ferguson; publicity, Enid Steir; newsletter, Helen Christodoulou and Ann Rogers; cultural activity, Marilyn Schneider; exceptional child program, Arlene Stein; book bank, Lois Shpitofsky; bus emergency, Scotti Musto and Peggy Hammer, and worthy cause collection, Ellen Wolsten.

Heart diseases topic Wednesday

The Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will meet on Wednesday evening at 8:15 at Temple Sha'arey Shalom.

A representative of the Essex County Heart Association will speak on the subject, "The Heart in Your Home," which deals with heart disease, diets necessary, etc.

All members have been urged to attend and bring guests. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Mrs. Lee Wolf is program vice-president. Mrs. Abe Levine is president of the Springfield Chapter.

YWCA sponsors Philadelphia tour

A tour of historic Philadelphia will be held by the Summit YWCA on Tuesday.

The tour, which will involve a good deal of walking, will be guided by a resident of Philadelphia who formerly lived in Summit, Sarah Hatzfeld. It will begin with Society Hill, the Visitor's Center and lunch at "the most genteel tavern in all America," City Tavern.

The afternoon will include Independence Hall, Congress Hall, Penn Mutual's Phil-a-del-phia, Betsy Ross House, Carpenters' Hall, Second Bank and other sites that time permits.

A chartered bus will leave the YWCA at 8:30 a.m., returning at approximately 5:30 p.m. Open to the public, reservations may be made at the YWCA, 79 Maple st., Summit.

Meals-on-Wheels is 10 Volunteers keeping costs low

The SAGE Meals-on-Wheels program, which serves many Springfield residents, is observing its 10th anniversary this month. "The program helps to embody the philosophy of SAGE—allowing older people to age with dignity and independence," according to Mrs. William Corbett, chairwoman of the steering committee. "We are particularly proud that we are able to run our operation without federal funds."

Volunteers arrive at SAGE headquarters, 50 DeForest ave., Summit, every weekday around 11 a.m. to pick up the meals which are to be delivered that day to persons who are unable to shop and prepare meals.

The service is available for a nominal fee because much of the work is done by volunteers. Only the cook and part-time administrator are salaried.

The meals are nutritionally planned and prepared by a professional cook. A typical meal might be pot roast, mashed potatoes, tossed salad, green beans, buttered roll and custard.

The volunteer packers assemble the cold food for those customers who have ordered supper as well as the main meal. This is usually a sandwich, fruit, cookies and a beverage. The packers put the hot food in aluminum containers and put the containers in a sealed heat-resistant bag.

The volunteer drivers pick up the bags and off they go to people in Springfield who are unable to prepare meals for themselves.

For more information about Meals-on-Wheels, readers may call SAGE headquarters, 273-5550.

HOT MEALS, TO GO—Susan Hoggan (left) and Alma Cox, SAGE Meals-on-Wheels volunteers, prepare to deliver food to Springfield residents.

PROGRAM PLANNERS—Mrs. Albert Rothfeld of Springfield (left) is luncheon chairwoman, and Mrs. Emanuel Nathan of South Orange (center) and Mrs. Milton Low of Springfield are reservations and hostesses chairwomen, respectively, for the Metropolitan New Jersey Israel Bond Women's Division luncheon and Israeli couturier fashion show, to be held Nov. 3 at the Chanticleer, Millburn. The style show will be coordinated by Jaim and Co., Millburn, the luncheon guest of honor will be the Division's former chairwoman, Mrs. Lester H. Lieberman of Springfield. Admission to both programs will be $8.50, plus the purchase of a $500 State of Israel Bond.

20th anniversary will be observed by Woman's Club

The Mountainside Woman's Club board will meet at the Mountainside Inn, Rt. 22, on Wednesday morning, Federation Day, at 10. Immediately following at noon, the regular monthly luncheon meeting will celebrate the 20th anniversary of the local club. The table centerpieces will be homemade birthday cakes provided by members of the executive board.

Mrs. Joseph P. D'Altrui will introduce Adele Waring, a soprano, who will entertain.

The Woman's Club has planned a bus trip to Liberty Bell Race Track for Friday evening, Oct. 29. The bus will leave from the rear of the Somerset bus terminal at 5:45 p.m. The price is $18 per person, which includes dinner, entrance to the race track, bus fare, gratuities and tax. Deadline is tomorrow. Readers may call Mrs. John Walsh at 233-6630; tickets are limited.

The club will hold a champagne luncheon at the Mountainside Inn on Dec. 1. Known as "Christmas cocktails," it will feature a fur fashion show by Westfield Furs, presented by Mrs. Barnett Geller.

Readers may contact Mrs. W. Jouett Plackburn for tickets at 232-7583 or Mrs. Joseph P. D'Altrui for reservations at 277-2998. Cost is $6.50.

ADELE WARING

Adoption agency holds fund raiser

Spaulding for Children will hold its 4th annual fashion show Nov. 3 at 1 p.m. at L'Affaire, Rt. 22, Mountainside.

The show will feature fashions from Saks Fifth Ave. of Springfield highlighting furs and junior clothes, "at home wear" from Marie Stadler of Murray Hill, day time apparel from The Wardrobe, Plainfield, evening and ball gowns from Mademoiselle, Westfield and children's clothes from Arthur Stevens, Westfield.

The ticket price of $6 is tax deductible and will include multiple refreshment choices from the Viennese Dessert Table.

The free adoption agency, located at 321 Elm st. Westfield, depends on these events to continue its service throughout the state to the special needs children who are waiting to be adopted.

Tickets for the fashion show are available at Wyatt Bros. and Mademoiselle, Westfield, The Wardrobe, Plainfield or may be sent for by mailing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and check to the agency.

Secretary group travels to Boston

Threemembers of the Summit Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) will attend the Association Northeast District Conference at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel, Boston, this weekend. All are Springfield residents.

Mrs. Frances Stewart, president of the Summit Chapter, will be official delegate and Miss Ethel Muller will be alternate delegate. Mrs. Diane Melnis will also attend the conference.

Presiding officer will be Mrs. Kay Palazey, Northeast district director and a resident of New Jersey.

Danners announce birth of daughter Jeannine

A seven-pound, two ounce daughter, Jeannine Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Brian S. Danner of Fairfield on Sept. 29 at Overlook Hospital.

Mrs. Danner, the former Joan Harback, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Harback of Springfield. The baby is the first great-grandchild of Mrs. George Kakalic of Springfield and Mrs. John Slinchak of Newark. The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Danner of Liberty Corner.

FRIDAY DEADLINE
All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Sisterhood holds paid-up dinner

The Sisterhood of Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield, will hold its annual paid-up membership dinner at the temple on Monday at 7 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Hillik Zadok, an Israeli performer. The meal will be prepared by a committee of Sisterhood members.

Mrs. Marion Krop is vice-president of membership; Mrs. Tama Bruder, aided by Mrs. Naomi Yablonsky, arranged the program.

The Sisterhood is also sponsoring a series of 10 dance lessons for seventh graders. Included in the dances to be taught by Wes Parsons are the Hustle, the Bump, and the fox trot.

Newcomers Club toast to autumn

Mrs. John Dailey is chairman of the Mountainside Newcomers' Cocktail Party to be held at her home on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The first social activity of the fall season will feature an open bar for three hours and an assortment of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. Dailey said, traditionally, the fall cocktail party has been the best way for new members to get acquainted in the community and for old members to renew friendships. The cost is $5 per person or $10 per couple. All Newcomers and their guests have been invited to attend.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Dailey (232-9231) or Mrs. Andrew Dachnowicz (233-5997) by this Saturday.

Caldwell School opens its doors

Open house at the James Caldwell School, Springfield, sponsored by the PTA, will take place Monday at 8 p.m. After a business meeting in the auditorium, parents will be able to visit their children's classrooms and meet their teachers. A social hour with refreshments in the auditorium will close the evening.

The next PTA-sponsored event will be a cake sale at the school on Election Day, Nov. 2. Janice Bongiovanni, PTA president, has announced.

Atmospheric density

Atmospheric density decreases with height. For the first 50 miles outward, our atmosphere is pretty much constant. At 10 miles, it is only one-tenth as dense as at 10 miles, and so on.

Opera lists productions

Boito's "Mefistofele" will be the first production of the 1976-77 season of the New Jersey State Opera. The benefit performance will begin at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at Symphony Hall, Newark.

Other productions for the new season will be "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" on Feb. 27, "Madame Butterfly" on March 27 and "Fanciulla del West" on April 16.

Season subscriptions and individual tickets may be obtained by calling 676-6665 or by writing to the New Jersey State Opera at 50 Park pl., Room 1033, Newark 07102.

CONSUMER GUIDELINES

Mail Order Safely
According to recently-announced Federal Trade Commission rulings, mail order sellers must notify you of any delay—if your merchandise cannot be shipped within the time stated when you ordered it. If no time was stated, delivery must occur within 30 days of your order. Also, the seller must supply you with the option to cancel your order and a cost-free means of doing so (a postage-paid card, for example). If you don't respond to this notice, it's assumed you agree to a 30-day delay.

Charge for Pictures
There is a charge of $10 for wedding and engagement pictures. There is no charge for the announcement, whether with or without a picture. Persons submitting wedding or engagement pictures should enclose the $5 payment.

Heart diseases topic Wednesday

The Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will meet on Wednesday evening at 8:15 at Temple Sha'arey Shalom. A representative of the Essex County Heart Association will speak on the subject, "The Hearts in Your Home," which deals with heart disease, diets necessary, etc.

All members have been urged to attend and bring guests. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Mrs. Lee Wolf is program vice-president. Mrs. Abe Levine is president of the Springfield Chapter.

YWCA sponsors Philadelphia tour

A tour of historic Philadelphia will be held by the Summit YWCA on Tuesday. The tour, which will involve a good deal of walking, will be guided by a resident of Philadelphia who formerly lived in Summit, Sarah Hatzfeld. It will begin with Society Hill, the Visitor's Center and lunch at "the most genteel tavern in all America," City Tavern.

The afternoon will include Independence Hall, Congress Hall, Penn Mutual's Phil-a-del-phia, Betsy Ross House, Carpenters' Hall, Second Bank and other sites that time permits.

A chartered bus will leave the YWCA at 8:30 a.m., returning at approximately 5:30 p.m. Open to the public, reservations may be made at the YWCA, 79 Maple st., Summit.

Meals-on-Wheels is 10 Volunteers keeping costs low

The SAGE Meals-on-Wheels program, which serves many Springfield residents, is observing its 10th anniversary this month. "The program helps to embody the philosophy of SAGE—allowing older people to age with dignity and independence," according to Mrs. William Corbett, chairwoman of the steering committee. "We are particularly proud that we are able to run our operation without federal funds."

Volunteers arrive at SAGE headquarters, 50 DeForest ave., Summit, every weekday around 11 a.m. to pick up the meals which are to be delivered that day to persons who are unable to shop and prepare meals.

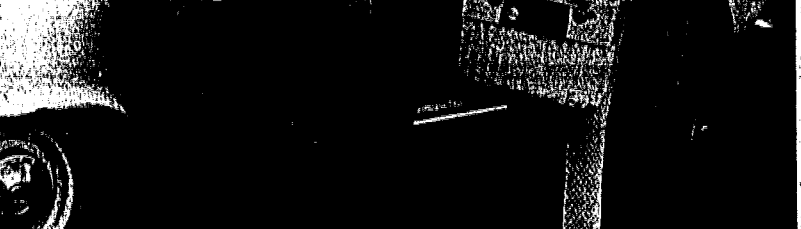

The service is available for a nominal fee because much of the work is done by volunteers. Only the cook and part-time administrator are salaried.

The meals are nutritionally planned and prepared by a professional cook. A typical meal might be pot roast, mashed potatoes, tossed salad, green beans, buttered roll and custard.

The volunteer packers assemble the cold food for those customers who have ordered supper as well as the main meal. This is usually a sandwich, fruit, cookies and a beverage. The packers put the hot food in aluminum containers and put the containers in a sealed heat-resistant bag.

The volunteer drivers pick up the bags and off they go to people in Springfield who are unable to prepare meals for themselves.

For more information about Meals-on-Wheels, readers may call SAGE headquarters, 273-5550.

HOT MEALS, TO GO—Susan Haggan (left) and Alma Cox, SAGE Meals-on-Wheels volunteers, prepare to deliver food to Springfield residents.

PROGRAM PLANNERS

The style show will be coordinated by Jaim and Co., Millburn, the luncheon guest of honor will be the Division's former chairwoman, Mrs. Lester H. Lieberman of Springfield. Admission to both programs will be $8.50, plus the purchase of a $500 State of Israel Bond.

20th anniversary will be observed by Woman's Club

The Mountain Side Woman's Club board will meet at the Mountain Side Inn, Rt. 22, on Wednesday morning, Federation Day, at 10. Immediately following at noon, the regular monthly luncheon meeting will celebrate the 20th anniversary of the local club. The table centerpieces will be homemade birthday cakes provided by members of the executive board.

Mrs. Joseph P. D'Altrui will introduce Adele Waring, a soprano, who will entertain.

The Woman's Club has planned a bus trip to Liberty Bell Race Track for Friday evening, Oct. 29. The bus will leave from the rear of the Somerset bus terminal at 5:45 p.m. The price is $18 per person, which includes dinner, entrance to the race track, bus fare, gratuities and tax.

Deadline is tomorrow. Readers may call Mrs. John Walsh at 233-6630; tickets are limited.

The club will hold a champagne luncheon at the Mountain Side Inn on Dec. 1. Known as "Christmas cocktails," it will feature a fur fashion show by Westfield Furs, presented by Mrs. Barnett Geller.

Readers may contact Mrs. W. Jouett Plackburn for tickets at 232-7583 or Mrs. Joseph P. D'Altrui for reservations at 277-2998. Cost is $6.50.

Rummage sale set by Ladies' Group

The annual rummage sale sponsored by the Ladies' Evening Group of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, will be held in the Parish House next Thursday, Oct. 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The lower level of the Parish House will be given over to an assortment of used clothing, household items and bric-a-brac.

Mrs. Virginia Moore, chairperson of the sale, has announced that anyone who wishes to donate items should bring them to the Parish House between 9 and 4 on weekdays. Proceeds from this sale enable the group to support benevolent projects throughout the year.

Nutrition program planned by PTA

The Mountain Side PTA is sponsoring a program called "Controversy in Nutrition," next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Beechwood School, Woodacres drive.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Elizabeth Mundes, PhD, from Department of Medicine at the New Jersey Medical School, Newark, and Dr. S. J. Cohen, Westfield Pediatric Office. There will be a question and answer period and refreshments will be served.

Newcomers Club toast to autumn

Mrs. John Dailey is chairman of the Mountain Side Newcomers' Cocktail Party to be held at her home on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The first social activity of the fall season will feature an open bar for three hours and an assortment of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. Dailey said, traditionally, the fall cocktail party has been the best way for new members to get acquainted in the community and for old members to renew friendships.

The cost is $5 per person or $10 per couple. All newcomers and their guests have been invited to attend. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Dailey (232-9231) or Mrs. Andrew Dachnowicz (233-5997) by this Saturday.

Caldwell School opens its doors

Open house at the James Caldwell School, Springfield, sponsored by the PTA, will take place Monday at 8 p.m. After a business meeting in the auditorium, parents will be able to visit their children's classrooms and meet their teachers. A social hour with refreshments in the auditorium will close the evening.

The next PTA-sponsored event will be a cake sale at the school on Election Day, Nov. 2. Janice Bongiovanni, PTA president, has announced.

Gymnastics team wins against Verona, Kearny

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gymnastics team rolled past Verona and Kearny this week, bringing its record for the season to 3-2. The gymnasts will face Bridgewater East tomorrow away and Cranford on Tuesday at home.

The team posted its most impressive dual meet score to date on the 76-56 victory over Verona.

Maura Halpin led the team with an impressive 7.5 points to win on the balance beam. Other scorers included Ellen Kaplan, third in the floor exercises, Jill Lipton, second on the uneven parallel bars, Barbara Calamusa, third on the bars, Captain Debbie Arcadiocono, third on the balance beam, Joann Majors, second on the vaulting horse, and Denise Francis, third on the vaulting horse.

The Dayton gymnasts won three first places against Kearny. Halpin won in the floor exercises with 6.95. Lipton scored on the bars with 6.75, and Calamusa led on the balance beam with 6.7.

The team has gone over the 20-point mark in each of the four events at different times, but has not been able to put the top performances together at any one time for an 80. The highest score so far by a Dayton gymnast has been a 7.74 by sophomore Carol Wingard.

Coach Nancy Dougherty noted with pleasure that the team is assured of qualifying for the state sectional tournament—a first for Dayton gymnasts. She also expressed pleasure over the increasing attendance at home meets.

Minuteman B team sets back Chatham on Circelli run, 7-0

Wingback Danny Circelli returned a Chatham Township punt 30 yards for a touchdown in the final minute to give the Springfield Minuteman B team a 7-0 victory over the T-Birds in the season opener for both teams.

The kick, from deep in the endzone, was set up by the Springfield defense, which held Chatham to no gain for three downs after Chatham had stopped a Springfield scoring thrust with a fumble recovery.

Each team had made one serious threat earlier in the game. Early in the second period, the T-Bird tailback raced from his own 35 to the Minuteman 15 before being hauled down from behind by Drew Johns, who came all the way across the field from his linebacker position to make the TD-saving play. The Chatham threat fizzled and on fourth down a pass was batted down in the end zone by Tom Ard.

Boxing tourney slated at Hillside

The fourth annual Maxie Fisher-Lou Halper Memorial All Star NJAAU Amateur Boxing event will be held Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Hillside High School gymnasium. The event is sponsored by B'nai B'rith No. 1514.

This year's event will honor Charlie Fusari, one of boxings' all-time greats. The event is named after two men who were prominent boxers during the late 1930s and early 1940s.

General admission is $3 and ringside tickets are $5. Dave Halper is coordinating the event and tickets may be purchased at Halper Bros., 502 York st., Elizabeth or by calling 355-6005. Tickets are also available through Approved Travel, 5 Westfield ave., Roselle Park or by calling 241-6505. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

Midway in the fourth quarter, Pete Ard took a Chatham punt on his 45 and raced to the T-Bird six before being knocked out of bounds. Two plays later a fumble at the two killed the thrust. The Minuteman defense, operating the entire game out of a 4-4 alignment, had Bill Koppel and Pete Rosen at the ends, Kyle Hudgins and Chuck Bell at tackles and Joe Roessner, Larry Maier, Ron Fusco and Johns at linebacker. Circelli and Tom Ard, at cornerback, and Fran Clemson, at safety, rounded out the starting defense. Also seeing action on defense were Glen Horsewood and Vinnie Morocco. Leading this defense were Maier, Hudgins, and Johns, each with seven tackles.

The offensive effort, directed by QB Clemson, was spearheaded by tailback Ard, who gained 65 yards in 21 carries, including one 30-yard run. The offensive line, anchored by Johns at center, had Bell and Maier at guard, Roessner and Hudgins at tackle, Fusco at tight end, and Tom Daniel at split end. Jimmy Halpin, Kevin Jelinek, and Rusty Grimaldi also saw action in the interior line.

This Sunday the B team meets the Mountaineers Jets' middleweights at home at Meisel Field.

Dayton Booster Club will meet tonight at 8

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Booster Club this week invited all parents to its monthly meeting tonight at 8 in the athletic lounge.

Various fund-raising activities are being considered, and plans for the coming school year will be completed.

Kiel sets pace as runners up record to 5-0

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Cross Country team romped to two victories, downing Verona, 15-50 and Summit, 18-37 in a triangle meet held last Tuesday in Summit. The team, which has now won five meets without a defeat, will take on Summit and Millburn in another triangle meet in Millburn tomorrow.

Charles Kiel led the Dayton runners and was followed by Bob Philips in second, Brad Weiner in fourth, Bob Roche in fifth and Greg Rusbarsky in sixth. Jeff Knowles, Gary Sherman and Rich Bantell finished eighth, ninth and 10th, respectively.

Dayton, which is recognized as the best team in the Suburban Conference, is very much in reach of an undefeated season. Head coach Martin Taglienti said that if the team can go through the whole season without injuries, a perfect record is probable.

But Coach Taglienti cautioned that Dayton still has to face Millburn one more time. Millburn, which is Dayton's toughest competition in the conference, was beaten 18-38 by Dayton in their first meeting, but Taglienti stated that Millburn is capable of coming up with a big meet at any time.

Dayton's tremendous depth will probably prevent this, though. Combined with the top eight already mentioned are Dan Smith, Russ Lausten, Bill Solosy, Jay Bruder, David Gechlik, Howard Doppelt, Kirk Kubach and Bob Fink.

Calvetti gains TD as Minutemen Cs lose season debut

The Springfield Minuteman C team, consisting of fourth and fifth graders in their first exposure to competitive football, opened its season with a 32-7 loss at Chatham Township.

After the game opened with an exchange of punts, Chatham put together a 60-yard drive to take a 6-0 lead. Taking possession on their 35, the Minutemen then moved down the field, with QB Mike McNary directing the attack. Running gains by Paul Calvetti and Brett Walsh on sweeps, and by Paul Centamore between the tackles, took the ball to the 20. Calvetti then carried on a power sweep around his left side, and went 20 yards for the tying points. On the extra point try, McNary called his first pass play of the game and hit tight end Rich Policastro all alone in the end zone.

After this drive, however, Chatham adjusted its defensive alignments and shut off Springfield for the remainder of the game. The victors tallied twice more to lead, 18-7, at the half and added two second-half scores.

Despite the score, there were many satisfying individual performances. Defensive highlights were provided by Mike Leary and Joe Graziano, who displayed solid tackling. Good offensive line play was shown by Jimmy Fasolo, Pat Durante, Vin Castellani and Tony Romano. The big gainer for the offense in the second half was a 20-yard completion from Rob Daniel to Pete Petry.

The C team makes its home debut this Sunday against the Mountaineers Jets.

Mirto is tight end on college varsity

Joe Mirto, a freshman at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pennsylvania, is a varsity member of the school's '76 football squad.

The 6'1", 190-pounder will see action throughout the year from the tight end position. The Grizzly team must face eight teams from Division III of the Middle Atlantic Conference. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mirto live on Iris Drive, Mountaineers. He attended Jonathan Dayton Regional High School before enrolling at Ursinus College.

Mrs. Loranger winner in nine-hole golf tourney

Mrs. E.J. Loranger won a nine-hole golf tournament for combined classes A, B and C at Echo Lake Country Club last week. Mrs. A. T. Savage was second. Mrs. F.F. Kaiser won low putts with 17; Mrs. Savage won chip-in.

In the nine hole championship matches completed last week, Mrs. G.B. Klinefelter was the winner. Mrs. Kaiser was the winner of the "beaten eight."

Dayton, thwarted by Madison, 30-0, meets New Providence on Saturday

By MICHAEL PETRO
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School

(football team lost its first game to a powerful Madison team, 30-0 in Springfield on Monday)

Dayton, which is now 2-1, will face New Providence at New Providence this Saturday at 1:30.

Led by Paul Guerriero who scored two touchdowns, the Madison offense switched into high gear in the second half after being held to one touchdown in the first half. Chris Jilleba scored Madison's other two touchdowns.

The scoring began on Madison's second possession of the game. Taking the ball on the Dayton Bulldogs 34, Madison scored five plays later on a three yard run by running back Jilleba. The extra point was good and Madison led, 7-0.

Dayton threatened to tie the game late in the second period by recovering a fumble on their 18 and moving quickly downfield to the Madison 26. Key plays were 18 and eight yard passes from quarterback Bryant Burke to wide receiver Jim Stadler for first downs. But on a third down play, Madison intercepted at the one and killed the drive.

Dayton came right back with an interception of its own by Don Lusardi, but the half ended with Madison clinging to its 7-0 lead.

The second half proved to be the Bulldogs' downfall. On their first possession, Madison marched 67 yards in seven plays and scored when Jilleba notched his second touchdown on a six-yard run. The extra point was good and Madison's lead was increased to 14-0.

An intercepted Bulldog pass on Dayton's 38 set up Madison's third score in the fourth quarter. Moving in six plays to the two-yard line, Guerriero stormed over for his first touchdown. Following the extra point kick the score stood at 21-0.

Madison added its final touchdown late in the fourth quarter. An intercepted pass set up the ball on Dayton's 30 and four plays later Guerriero scored from the two. A two-point conversion failed but it mattered little as Madison led 27-0.

Madison added a 21-yard field goal just before the game ended to complete the scoring and end the game at 30-0.

Dayton Head Coach Dave Oliver stated that the team did not play anywhere near its capabilities. "We did not look like the team that played our first two games."

The Bulldog defense seemed to play superbly for the first three quarters with tackles Steve Merkebach and linebackers Joe Ragucci and Randy Wissel leading the way. But they finally fell prey to mistakes and gave in to the relentless Madison pressure.

The rest of the defensive starting lineup consisted of Pete Rosomondo and Van Vitale at defensive end, Bob Ventura at tackle, Bob Bohrod and Don Lusardi at linebacker, Steve Pepe at safety and Brian McNary and David Flood, starting for the injured Carmen Apicella, at defensive halfback.

The offense never seemed to be able to get going. Continually hurt by fumbles and penalties, the offense was not able to sustain any drives.

The offensive starters were Bob Conte and Andy Herkalo at tackles, Skip Liguori and Joe Ragucci at guards, Don Lusardi at center, Brian Bellevue at tight end, Ted Parker and Brandon Gambee at halfbacks and Brian McNary at flankerback.

Dayton girls lose despite net upset by Gabay, Craner

By LISA DETLEFS

The Dayton girls' tennis team lost a difficult match last Friday to last year's conference champs, Caldwell. The Dayton record now is 2-5. The disappointment of the loss was mitigated by an upset victory achieved by Dayton's first doubles team, Lori Gabay and Jill Craner.

Junior Sandy Crane, seeded at first singles, has played strongly against top competition. Freshman Kathy Gerndt, at second singles, has proved an asset to the team and is expected to provide strength to future Dayton teams. Third singles player Barbara Martino returned to the team for her second season; the second doubles team is composed of Sue Wallick and Randi Kessler.

The entire squad will be returning and next year's team will benefit from experience gained this season. The games remaining (all to be played at 3:30 p.m.) include:

Oct. 15, at West Orange; 20, Verona; 22, at Madison; 25, Union Catholic; and 29, at Kearny.

Dayton's soccer record 1-3-3 after pair of 1-1 ties

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity soccer team last week tied Madison and New Providence, bringing its record to 1-3-3 and building a string of four games without a defeat. The Bulldog booters will take on Millburn away today and Verona at home Tuesday.

By BILL WILD

The Elizabeth Lancers won a hard fought victory over second place German Hungarians last Sunday at Farther's Grove, 2-0. The win keeps them in the undefeated and untied column, the only such team in the Major Division South. The Brooklyn Italians hold the same record in the Northern division (4-0, for 8 points). The nearest team to the Lancers is Pancypryan with a 2-3 record for only four points.

When I said the game was a hard fought match I meant just that. There were several punches thrown, and at one time it involved three or more players while the official had his back turned running down field. It was obvious that the Hungarian eleven wanted to stall as long as they could in the first half when they were playing against a strong wind and their goalie and defense had the bright sun in their eyes. The Lancers came down on the attack time after time but a solid and sometimes very rough defense held. The Lancers were like a ship without a rudder in that first half and the game was scoreless at halftime. The Hungarian strategy seemed to be working.

After a dull, sluggish first half the Hungarian booters came out playing lightning fast with the wind at their backs. What they didn't figure on was player-coach Manfred Schellscheidt. Many inserted himself in to the Lancer lineup in the second half and started directing his team from his right halfback position. He had his team keep the ball low against the wind and he set up many pretty plays and the Lancers started hammering on the Hungarian goal. The Hungarians claimed that the first goal went in offside but to no avail. The second goal was a beautiful one to watch. The game ended with a few heated words between players and a 2-0 score for the Lancers.

The Lancers will play an away game this Sunday while the Union County Sport Club moves into Farther's grove to host Holy Cross. A 3-1 win over Espana last week put the Union eleven in second place in the Second Division North, just one point behind Eintracht. The Union County booters seem to have trouble in beating the weak teams and play well against the top teams. Holy Cross is second from the bottom, so draw your own conclusion. Union is a much improved team this year and they make it worth your while to go out and see them. Game time will be 3 p.m. with a reserve team game starting at 1:15.

New ranch style
for Pine Ridge

The spacious Jamestowne, an 1,150-square-foot ranch home, is the newest addition to the eight-home exhibit center in Pine Ridge at Crestwood, a retirement community in Ocean County.

"At $22,450, this beautiful, detached rancher with two bedrooms and two bathrooms, has to be the best dollar-for-dollar value in the East," stated Joyce Guerin, sales manager at the manufactured-home community on Rt. 530, eight miles west of Toms River exit 80 of the Garden State Parkway.

"Included in the price are a range, a 14-foot double-door refrigerator, wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies throughout, a snack bar in the den, storm windows and screens," she noted. The Jamestowne provides a 24-foot-wide floor plan, with two bedrooms and two bathrooms, a 14-foot kitchen with pass-through counter to the Pine Ridge is an adult community with two air-conditioned clubhouses. A monthly charge, from $100.50 to $115.50, covers heat; clubhouse membership access to all community recreational facilities; real estate taxes; master community TV hookup, city water (min.) and sewer; garbage and trash collection.

Ranging in price from $13,950 to $23,950, the eight homes are open for inspection from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The exhibit center is closed Sunday.

THE CAMBRIDGE is one of four home models on view at Royalty Estates in Toms River. Level, Cape Cod, ranch and colonial designs are featured, priced from $38,990 to $46,990.

Condominium community marks third anniversary

Marty Newman, builder of Luv, a condominium townhouse community in Stanhope, is forging ahead with a very optimistic outlook. The community is celebrating its third anniversary with 63 percent interest and five percent down. These 63 percent loans are for condominiums that can be delivered this fall.

Planned as a 360-unit condominium community with townhomes, apartments and duplex units, Luv has its own swimming pool and will have its own on-site clubhouse and health club in the near future.

The location of Luv, in the mountain belt of Sussex County, provides the best of both worlds—a site with rolling hills and woodlands, yet within an hour's commuting distance from the George Washington Bridge, New York City and the northern New Jersey industrial centers via the Rt. 80 expressway.

When completed, Luv will consist of 70 cluster-planned buildings containing 360 townhomes and duplex units on a 36-acre site. The trees have been preserved as much as possible to provide rustic settings and open space. Priced from $29,990, the homes will contain one or two bedrooms and one or one and one-half baths. They are centrally air conditioned and some will have finished basements.

The five models are named the Tryst, the Sweet, the Pad, the Tender Trap and the Nest. They reveal the innovative design concepts and quality construction that has been the hallmark of Newman, a spokesman said.

The important thing, as the executive sees it, is the year-round aspect of the community. Luv is surrounded by unspoiled woodland, yet many four season activities are close at hand. It is also near professional services and shopping areas. The junction of Rts. 80, 46 and 206 is also nearby.

Condominium ownership in the Stanhope community offers the enjoyment of the amenities in the lake and ski country area. Seven golf courses are in the surrounding countryside, and the region also provides activities such as camping, hunting, fishing and boating.

The Luv community has city sewers and water, with all utilities underground. Exterior maintenance, lawn cutting and snow shoveling is another advantage to condominium ownership; it is all taken care of for a monthly fee.

To reach the community, prospective buyers should take Rt. 80 to the Stanhope Exit 25, cross Rt. 183 onto Dell road and 80 a half mile to Luv.

Royalty Estates builders invite buyer comparisons

Royalty Estates, a custom-home community on Bay avenue in Toms River, includes an assortment of features within the base price of all homes. Twenty-two homes, including 12 on cul de sacs, remain to be sold.

According to Bob Giovine, developer of Royalty Estates, some of the standard features are all-wood double-hung windows, six-inch ceiling insulation and four-inch wall insulation, underground utilities, all-wood exterior trim, dishwasher, city water and sewer, carpeting or solid oak floors and smoke and fire detectors.

Giovine noted, "I believe that we are giving home buyers more for their money by including items such as half-inch sheetrock throughout the home, seamless baked enamel gutters and leaders, natural wood interior doors, a 550-gallon in-ground heat oil tank, shrubs and trees."

Fairwood Construction Co. provides prospective buyers with a check list of all standard features and encourages buyers to compare with area competitors products and prices. "This is the best method of demonstrating to buyers that a home at Royalty Estates is a better buy," said Giovine.

Four home models are available, including colonial, bilevel, ranch and Cape Cod styles, ranging in price from $38,990 to $46,990. Qualified buyers may take advantage of 30-year mortgages from eight percent interest with a five percent down payment.

Giovine added, "Another of our goals was to build a home community capable of accommodating families of all sizes. Prospective buyers will find homes here ranging from two bedrooms and one bath up to four bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths." He noted that the Cape Cod model is popular among young marrieds: "As a starter home, the Cape offers versatility in that the second floor can be later finished to accommodate two additional bedrooms as needed." Homes are available on slabs with crawl spaces or full basement.

Two department stores and approximately 50 specialty shops have opened in a nearby mall. Opening soon will be another department store and up to 30 more smaller shops. Royalty Estates also is convenient to schools, houses of worship and recreation facilities.

Home models are open for inspection every day from dawn until dusk. Models are located on Bay avenue, approximately 1/4 mile east of Vaughn avenue.

'Buy-Back-Plus' program offered
by Eastpointe

Eastpointe, the oceanfront condominium in Highlands, recently announced a new program "designed to assure buyer confidence, while at the same time offering an added incentive to value-conscious home buyers."

The program, called "Buy-Back-Plus," is designed to provide peace of mind to Eastpointe purchasers, according to R. L. Sarro, director of sales for Eastpointe. He explained the program will work in this way:

"If, at the end of three years of ownership, the buyer decides to move, for whatever reason, Eastpointe's sponsor, General Electric Credit Corp., will buy the home back for the full purchase price plus a five percent bonus. The program is available only to new purchasers, and is scheduled to expire on Nov. 30, 1976."

"Frankly," he added, "it's the kind of offer we couldn't make if we weren't absolutely convinced of the superiority of the Eastpointe lifestyle and the unusual advantages of home ownership here."

Foremost among these advantages, he noted, is Eastpointe's six percent mortgage for the first three years, and 7 1/2 percent mortgage for the next 27 years. This, said Sarro, saves the home buyer over $13,000 on Eastpointe's least expensive model during the life of the mortgage as compared to conventional nine percent mortgages. Savings on higher priced models are higher.

Eastpointe offers one-bedroom, one-bedroom with den, and two-bedroom, two-bath condominiums priced from $35,990 to $71,500, with as little as $1,850 down. There are no closing costs and immediate occupancy is available.

Complementing the financial picture are Eastpointe's location and facilities. The building itself is located on the shore, overlooking Sandy Hook Bay, New York Harbor and the Atlantic Ocean. Among the services and facilities are valet parking, round-the-clock doormen, tennis, heated outdoor pool, saunas, health spa and a penthouse clubroom with panoramic views of the water.

"All things considered," said Sarro, "the value and lifestyle-conscious condominium buyer will find it virtually impossible to duplicate Eastpointe's combination of reasonable terms, financial peace of mind and unusual oceanfront lifestyle anywhere in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area."

Eastpointe is located about 12 miles east of Garden State Parkway exit 117 off Rt. 36, at 1 Scenic drive, Highlands.

Leisure Tech redesigns its LeisureTowne homes

Some developers might be satisfied to coast after establishing a successful track record for creating residential communities. But that isn't the way things are done at Leisure Technology Corp., a Lakewood-based firm.

The company recently redesigned the entire line of homes being offered at LeisureTowne, off Rt. 70 in Vincentown. The result is a new neighborhood of homes: Summerhill.

"Summerhill will continue our focus on spaciousness," said division president Justin Segal. "We've used new techniques to create a greater sense of openness within the houses, while carefully-placed windows reinforce the impact of the community's woodland setting."

Homes in the Summerhill series are priced from $32,990 to $38,990. They will be available with brick, cedar or aluminum exteriors in 12 different color schemes. Each residence features two bedrooms and two full baths, plus an attached garage.

Bedrooms are separated from the living areas, and from one another, to enhance privacy. In three of the models, the living room and dining room sections blend to provide broad sections of wall for shelves and placement of windows for the greatest possible brightness.

One model features a formal dining room and a library adjacent to the living room. Additional features which can be purchased include wood-burning fireplaces and wet bar. There is also a storage area above every garage, accessible via a disappearing stairway.

In addition to the basic designs, Leisure Technology also has provided for custom interior arrangements to meet individual buyer requirements.

"This flexibility," Segal said, "is one of the reasons for our continued growth. More than 13,000 people currently make their homes in Leisure Technology communities."

In the new Summerhill series, kitchens are furnished with vinyl asbestos floor tiles for easier cleaning, single lever mixing valves for convenience, and "Day Lite" lighting fixtures for visual comfort. The appliance package is available in either "deluxe" or "custom" series.

BRICK-FRONT 'BROOK'—The two-bedroom Brook model, priced at $34,750, is among the single-detached homes on view at Fawn Lakes in Manahawkin, a 45-and-over condominium community also offering duplex and fourplex units. Other homes start at $24,950. The development, which eventually will include 2,200 homes, features a clubhouse and barbecue area, heated outdoor swimming pool and a natural lake. Long Beach Island recreation areas are less than 10 miles away.

Fawn Lakes community extends vacation season

With clubhouse activities moving into full swing for "pioneer residents" of the new Fawn Lakes condominium community (designed for persons aged 45 and older), the heated outdoor swimming pool has emerged as a favorite relaxation spot.

The pool extends the "vacation" season for residents who have chosen their Fawn Lakes homes in Manahawkin because of nearness to Long Beach Island and the summer sports of Barnegat Bay. Fawn Lakes offers one and two bedroom homes priced from $24,950, in single homes, two-to-a-structure and four-to-a-structure units.

Other features of the community, being developed by the Mancini Co., Long Beach Island builders, include the first of three planned clubhouses, lakes, open spaces and wooded homesites.

Fawn Lakes offers six different model homes, each with leisure room-den. All have large living rooms, dining rooms with space for formal table and chairs, and eat-in kitchen, equipped with cabinets and all appliances, including range with self-cleaning oven and 16 cu. ft. refrigerator-freezer.

A private garage or carport is attached to each home. Each home has a full utility room including washer and dryer included in the basic purchase price.

Large closets are a special feature of Fawn Lakes homes; other storage areas include attic space reached by a folding staircase. In many units baths are divided, with closets making them more like separate dressing rooms. And bedrooms in both one and two bedroom homes are large and have windows placed for easy furniture arrangement.

"Both indoors and outdoors, Fawn Lakes offers features that make the community an excellent choice for vacation home now and retirement home in the future," a spokesman said.

Fawn Lakes is located on Rt. 72 in Manahawkin, 2.5 miles west of the Garden State Parkway exit to Long Beach Island. Models and sales office are open seven days a week. (Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until dusk).

Point of Woods 'grand opening'

Point of Woods, on Wyckoff avenue off River road (rt. 18) in Piscataway, recently opened seven models, offering colonials, split levels, bivelevs and ranches priced from $63,990.

A financing feature, offered to qualified buyers, is 7 1/2 percent mortgages. The builder, A&A Construction Co., feels the mortgages will help place the homes within the reach of a larger share of prospective owners.

Homes, set on wooded lots, include up to five bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, paneled recreation rooms, two-car garages and color-coordinated kitchens and baths.

Featured among the models is the Birch, a split level with three bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, kitchen, separate dining room, 18-foot living room, den or study (which may be used as an additional bedroom), utility room, two-car garage, patio and foyer. The second floor master bedroom includes a walk-in closet and full bath with stall shower.

Point of Woods is close to Rutgers University, and shopping is convenient, with downtown New Brunswick and Plainfield just 10 minutes away. The Menlo Park Shopping Center is even closer. Piscataway's public school system has eight primary schools, two junior high schools and a high school.

Five mobile home models open in 350-unit park

Maple Glen, a new 350-site adult manufactured home community, has announced the formal opening of five new model homes.

The park bordering on Rowman road and Miller road, off Route 571 in Jackson, features a large clubhouse with lounge, kitchen and laundry facilities, a four acre private lake with sandy beach, shuffleboard and other amenities.

The new park will have a variety of homes manufactured by Broadmore Zimmer, Skyline, Holly Park, Burlington and Westchester. According to Don Ellis, sales manager for the developers, Jackson Mobile Homes Community, "these new homes represent the latest innovations and interior designs available in mobile homes today. These homes, together with our beautifully developed park and reasonable costs should have great appeal to folks over 52 years of age who crave the relaxed atmosphere only mobile home living can offer."

The sales area for the new community is on site and features a complete line of single and double wide manufactured homes priced from $11,900. They are fully furnished and equipped and all are available with up to 12-year financing at bank rates.

Purchase of home includes total ownership of the home plus skirting. A modest fee rents the homesite, asphalt driveway and covers all taxes, garbage collection and street and sidewalk maintenance including snow removal. The site will be serviced with municipal water and sewerage.

The new park is in a secluded location yet is just a few miles from Route 9 and the Lakewood-Jackson and Toms River shopping facilities. To the west six miles, is the new "Great Adventure amusement park and the new Exit 7-A of the New Jersey Turnpike."

One of the distinguishing marks of the new park is its massive brick formal entrance walls bordering both main entrances.

Woodlake opens; 16 home styles will be available

Woodlake, a new 114-home community off Metlars lane in Piscataway, recently had its grand opening. Developed by Kaplan and Sons of Highland Park, the new community features 16 home designs priced from $49,990.

The community will offer natural gas heat, city sewers and water, underground utilities and Belgian block curbs. The site is heavily wooded and has been planned with varying setbacks on curving streets to maximize the "wooded look."

Under construction at the site as actual models are eight homes in colonial, bi-level, Cape Cod, ranch and split level designs.

Michael Kaplan, president of the firm, said, "We have made a creative effort here to present the widest possible assortment of designs. We want to accommodate the vast number of people interested in homes in the $50,000 range. Among these homes are several models that are 'expandable' as the family grows, providing up to four bedrooms or up to 2 1/2 baths."

Among the homes featured is the Bostonian Cape Cod. It contains up to four bedrooms, two full baths, living room, "country" kitchen-family room, including sliding glass doors to the rear patio, plus an attached garage. The Bostonian is priced from $49,990.

The Wimbledon ranch includes three bedrooms, two full baths, an L-shaped living-

Laguna Village spotlights

As individual as a fine custom home, the Sutton at Laguna Village in Point Pleasant is a spacious family home offering year round waterfront living on a bulkheaded waterway of the community.

The Sutton is among a selection of large homes, priced from $70,000 at Laguna Village, which is being developed by Joseph Torino of Trend Homes.

Offering 2,300 square feet of living space plus two car garage the Sutton features a wide central foyer that leads to an oversized family room, with fireplace, and a 20-foot long living room. According to location of its site, the Sutton is priced from $79,000 to $89,000.

A formal dining room separates the living room from the custom kitchen, which has a U-shaped working area and dinette within a bay windowed space overlooking a lagoon beyond the backyard. Also on the main level are a full laundry room with additional closet-storage space and a powder room.

Laguna Village is located just west of the resort town of Bay Head. The neighborhood is built around five wide lagoons, with easy access to Barnegat Bay and the Atlantic Ocean through the Point Pleasant Canal, making the homes of special interest to boating and sport fishing enthusiasts.

recreational facilities, educational and travel programs and the nearby resorts of the Jersey shore offer residents a new outlook on the retirement lifestyle.

RETIREMENT LIVING—Individual homes on winding traffic-free streets have attracted buyers from around the country to Greenbriar, a U.S. Home Corporation of New Jersey adult community in Brick Town. On-site

Greenbriar life is action-oriented

A sidewalk philosopher once commented that the more things change, the more they remain the same. Obviously, he never saw Greenbriar in Brick Town, where the concept of "retirement" has undergone numerous changes. "Developed by U.S. Home Corporation of New Jersey, Greenbriar shatters myths and misconceptions about the Golden Years," a spokesman noted.

"From the outset, this adult-oriented community emphasized the opportunities that appeal to mature families. Studies established that a great many people viewed their later years as a time to pursue long-neglected avocations. This also was a general consensus about residential surroundings. This important, growing segment of the population didn't want conformity, but there was a clearcut preference for a stable environment.

"Above all else, the rocking chair was out, except as an ornament in the living room of a detached, single-family home. Thanks to changing lifestyles and our increased national mobility, mature couples no longer think of themselves as standby baby sitters. Instead, they are showing an increasing tendency to select the action-oriented setting found at Greenbriar, where the swimming pools and shuffleboard courts are just the beginning."

Recreation at Tamaron

Recreation at Tamaron in Bergen County doesn't stop with the close of summer. The newly-constructed recreation center offers saunas, meeting rooms, an entertainment-size kitchen and other facilities.

Tamaron features two bedroom, two-bath, one- and two-story homes starting at $53,900, with a monthly maintenance charge of approximately $55.

Models are open daily. Readers may call 445-4455 for information.

To reach Tamaron, take Garden State Parkway north to Rt. 17, Paramus exit. Go north to first traffic light (Race Track road). Follow Race Track road to Waldwick, corner of Franklin turnpike and Wyckoff avenue. Make left on Wyckoff avenue; proceed to next light to model area on right.

A glance at the weekly bulletin published by the community indicates there is no shortage of programs for residents. During any day of the week, the clubhouse is the location for art classes, gourmet cooking instruction and such activities yoga exercise.

Travel is another attractive option for the families at Greenbriar. Some trips are short: a bus ride to nearby theaters or malls, or a day of shopping and shows in New York City. But the community's social planners also have arranged tours to more exotic corners of the world, such as eight days in Mexico, scheduled this month, and a 15-day tour of Japan in November.

In planning and organizing Greenbriar, located off Exit 91 of the Garden State Parkway, U.S. Home implemented a bilateral concept. The community was created to meet the collective needs of mature residents while also giving consideration to individual tastes and interests.

Greenbriar offers residents a sense of community, not only through shared activities, but also as a result of architectural designs. Further, they have all of the benefits of private ownership, while the problems of exterior maintenance are turned over to professionals. This last point is especially important to those who travel frequently.

It means that whether they are away for a long weekend or on one of the foreign tours, the grounds around their homes are tended

If one of you is 52

Here's why our Low-Upkeep Homes are an unusually good value from $32,755.

Prices to increase November 1

Looking for a home can be frustrating. If the price is right, the home usually isn't. And if the home is right, the price isn't.

If that's been your experience, come see the Low-Upkeep Homes at Shadow Lake Village. We believe they're the best value around. For many good reasons.

First, these revolutionary homes are not only beautiful to behold, easy to live in and easy to care for, but they help you save important dollars every month by keeping down your utility and transportation costs. We culled dozens of designs. Tested a slew of new materials. Scrutinized a score of energy-saving features. Then incorporated the best features our research could find.

We put these homes in one of the most desirable locations you can imagine. In Middletown, on the rim of Shadow Lake. In the Thimble Brook section of Shadow Lake Village. Less than a mile from yacht basins. About 10 miles from the sun and surf of the Atlantic Ocean. About a mile from Red Bank with its fine shopping, restaurants, theatre and medical facilities. As well as direct service to Newark and New York on the Penn Central.

You save money other ways, too. Monthly Association Dues as low as $52.19 include unlimited golf, swimming and tennis, 24-hour security, and exterior maintenance. Plus the use of a magnificent clubhouse.

So, come see Shadow Lake Village. Where you get more of a home at a lower cost than you'd expect to pay.

Retire to full time living.

The minute you drive into Greenbriar, you'll see people enjoying life as it's meant to be lived. And it's easy to see why.

The neighbors here are close friends, but they're not crowded together in cramped condominiums. Everyone enjoys their own fully detached home with GE appliances, air conditioning and private lot.

And all exterior maintenance is done by professionals, through The Greenbriar Association.

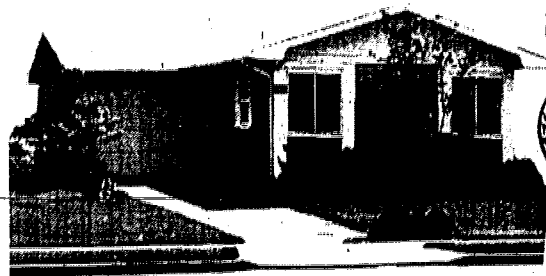

So you'll have plenty of free time to enjoy your friends and family at Greenbriar's magnificent clubhouse (recently expanded, it now has 20,000 sq. ft. of fun-filled space). Or try the par 3 golf course. Take a dip in the 2 swimming pools. Row a boat in the beautiful lake. Or just take a relaxing evening stroll through the parklike community.

Come to Greenbriar. Talk to the residents and inspect the 5 fully furnished, fully detached models. Take the Garden State Parkway to Exit 91 and follow the signs to Burnt Tavern Road east for Greenbriar.

Weatherly expanding Old Farm Village is nearly sold out

Weatherly, "the family place," in Pleasant Plains, Ocean County, has opened its third section of homes.

The five well-planned models combine the elements of safety, accessibility and true family living with the added beauty of unspoiled natural woodlands. A spokesman said. Each home has a private rear yard and access to municipal parklands. City sewers, water, curbs, sidewalks, underground wiring, landscaping and shrubbery are featured.

Typical of the five models is the two-story Sturbridge, with four bedrooms, two colorful tile baths and closets galore. A dining room, 23 by 13 foot living room, foyer and powder room, and entertainment-sized kitchen, with deluxe cabinetry, butcher block tops and appliances, are on the first floor. The home also has an oversized family room with optional fireplace, "tool-n-toy-sized" garage and a 10 by 18 foot patio.

Prices start from $37,900. The homes are located on Rt. 527, adjacent to the Ocean County Agricultural Building. Models can be seen daily or by calling 341-4700 for an appointment.

"Beautiful, fresh air, practical design, and the Atlantic Ocean and beaches only 15 minutes away... All this and more accounts for the tremendous success of Old Farm Village at Neptune Township," says builder, E. Mandelberger.

Old Farm Village, has only two building lots and three model homes left to sell. Pricing, at $37,990 to $42,000, is "tailored to meet the needs of the middle-income family," a spokesman said.

Old Farm Village offers landscaped, oversized lots—minimum 100 feet by 100 feet, underground utilities, color coordinated kitchens with full appliance packages and other features.

Commuting is easy, with the Garden State Parkway and Rts. 33, 34 and 35 just five minutes away. Public transportation is nearby for those who prefer to take advantage of travelling by bus, train or limousine service to the New York Metropolitan area.

Income tax

It will be interesting to learn whether 1975 tax cuts, distributed mainly among lower-income groups to combat the recession, will balance the previous loophole system whereby only 15 percent of taxpayers—individuals earning $20,000 or more each year—enjoyed deductions, exclusions and exemptions totaling over 53 percent of their adjusted gross income. But before you fume over this apparent inequity, note that this same group shoulders 52 percent of the total individual income taxation.

Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

Taste-science breakthrough gives low tar MERIT the flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

By locating certain flavor-rich ingredients in cigarette smoke, ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar, researchers at Philip Morris have disproven the theory that cigarette flavor depends on the amount of tar that goes with it.

They've discovered how to pack flavor—unprecedented flavor—into a cigarette that delivers one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor, natural flavor, and only MERIT has it.

Tests Verify Taste

In taste tests involving thousands of cigarette smokers like yourself, MERIT was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than current low tar leaders.

What's really startling is that these brands have up to 60% more tar than MERIT.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette. MERIT. Incredible smoking satisfaction at only 9 mg. tar.

Seton will offer financial planning help at seminars

A comprehensive course in financial planning for laymen will be presented at Seton Hall University, South Orange, during October and November. Four sessions on Tuesday evenings are scheduled, to be conducted by a corps of professionals and authorities in various areas of financial planning.

"Seton Hall is providing this service in the belief that many of our neighbors in the community are unaware of several money-saving ways of improving their personal financial position," said Frederick J. Garrity, assistant to the president of Seton Hall and coordinator of the program, which was initiated in 1974.

Schedule of topics and dates includes "Estate Planning, Wills and Bequests," Oct. 19; "Trusts—Living and Testamentary," Oct. 26; "Investments—Tax Shelters," Nov. 9; and "Social Security—Charitable Gifts," Nov. 16. All sessions will begin at 8 p.m. in the Victoria Foundation Amphitheater of the College of Nursing building.

Tuition for the seminar is $20 a person and $30 a couple.

Faculty participants include Irving Alpert, CPA and Seton Hall professor of accounting; Sanford Amdur, Newark tax attorney and lecturer at Rutgers and the New School; Anastasia Carumpalos, Social Security Administration field representative; Marie L. Garibaldi, attorney and partner in Riker, Danzig, Scherer and Brown and lecturer at NYU Tax Institute; David A. Nimmo, senior trust officer of First National State Bank; Stanley Wyman, Social Security of America, Inc.; Harold Kamens, attorney and lecturer on federal taxation, and Sanford W. Levine, president of Benefit Consultants and specialist in tax shelters and estate analysis.

TORTOISE TALK—Tome Kolassar, a guide at the Turtle Back Zoo, Northfield avenue, West Orange, gives Penny Roderick, 4 1/2 of North Plainfield, Denise Brooks, 2, and Jimmy Brooks, 6, of Belleville, a close-up look at one of the residents of the zoo's recently-opened Tortoisery. On view in the new structure are species of turtles and tortoises from Africa and India, as well as domestic varieties.

Book will present history of state's ethnic heritages

As a lasting reminder of the Bicentennial observance, the New Jersey Bicentennial Commission has commissioned a new book on the history of the State's varied ethnic groups. Former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, said the book will serve as "a salute to New Jersey's rich ethnic heritage and also as a stimulus to further interest in ethnicity."

Meyner said the Commission plans to distribute copies of the book to libraries throughout the State.

The book will update and expand the pioneering study by Rudolph J. Vecoli entitled, "The People of New Jersey," which received its impetus from the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission in 1964.

As part of the new project, approximately 25 different ethnic groups have agreed to submit short chapters on their ethnic heritage.

The editor of the book is Barbara Cunningham of Ewing Township, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Douglass College with high honors in history and the holder of a master's degree from Rutgers University. She is a candidate for a doctoral degree at Rutgers.

The project is a result of the initiative taken by the Commission, in cooperation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the New Jersey Ethnic Communities Congress, to form the New Jersey Bicentennial Ethnic Council.

Cunningham has organized the project and will edit and write an introduction which will relate the various chapters to the broad picture of ethnic diversity to be found within New Jersey.

The project is being financed through a $20,000 grant received by the State Commission from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) in Washington to develop programs recognizing the contributions by ethnic groups to 200 years of American history.

Odd Fellows hold officer installation

Mt. Sinai Lodge 272, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held an open installation of officers Monday at its meeting quarters at 1444

N. Broad st., Hillside. Officiating were District Deputy Grand Master Joseph Stashin, District Deputy Grand Marshal Morton Werbel and their staffs.

Installed as Noble Grand was George V. Davis, Union; vice-grand, Milton M. Marcus, Rahway; junior past grand, Emanuel Feder, Newark; financial secretary, Alexander S. Goldberg, Millburn; recording secretary, Seymour Gulkin, Irvington, and treasurer, Sidney A. Small, Union. Max Horwitz of Springfield was re-elected to a three-year term as trustee of the lodge.

Planned for the new term are weekly programs of interest to the general membership, weekend outings, theater parties, various sporting events, the lodge's 72nd anniversary dinner-dance in March and Mt. Sinai's annual charity fundraising picnic in June.

Refreshments were prepared and served, after the installation program, by the Good and Welfare Committee under the direction of Max Horwitz, chairman.

'Middle age' subject of discussion at Y

"I'm Middle Aged! What's Next?" is the title of a new lecture-discussion series to be held at the Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. of Metropolitan New Jersey, 760 Northfield ave., West Orange, on three consecutive Wednesday evenings beginning next week.

The fee for the series which begins at 8 p.m. each date, is $3 for Y members and $5 for non members. Registration closes tomorrow. Further information may be obtained by calling the Y at 736-3200, ext. 64.

Courtroom drama will open Seton Hall's theater season

Continuing its tradition of staging plays in the full range of the dramatic spectrum, from classic to modern, Seton Hall University's Theatre-in-the-Round this year plans four productions, each representing a different form of theater: an American courtroom melodrama, a whimsical Irish play, a high historical drama by a British playwright and a contemporary all-Black musical.

Curtain-raiser for the South Orange Institution's season will be "On Trial," a "whodunit" by American playwright Elmer Rice, which will open Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. and continue over two weekends of performances, including matinees Oct. 22 and 28 at 1 p.m. Other performances are scheduled for Oct. 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30 at 8 p.m. Tickets are available from the Student Center Box Office at $2.50 each, or $1.50 per person for groups of 10 or more. Tickets for matinees also are $1.50 each.

The second play of the season, Robert Bolt's "A Man for All Seasons," will play the first two weekends in December. It is a dramatic version of the fateful feud between England's Henry VIII and Sir Thomas More.

Ireland's contemporary playwright, John B. Keane, is the author of "Sharon's Grave," scheduled for performances starting Feb. 24. The play offers a mythological view of human foibles.

The final play of the year will be "Purlie," an all-Black musical comedy about a preacher in a rural community. It will be presented during April.

No seasons at Equator

Near the Equator, climate varies little throughout the year. Rainfall and temperature in those regions remain consistently high. The absence of seasons means that plants do not display a resting period while the abundance of warmth and moisture ensure a particularly luxuriant

Speakers available

Concerned Citizens for Clean Water has announced the formation of a volunteer speakers bureau to make appearances before organizations throughout New Jersey between now and Plection Day.

The speakers will include environmentalists, government officials, business and labor leaders, housewives, students, sportsmen and sportswomen.

Robert A. Briant, executive director of Concerned Citizens, said:

"Their message will be in support of the $120 million bond issue which will create and sustain thousands of jobs directly, many thousands more jobs indirectly, and which will make our state preeminent among those with clean lakes, streams and rivers," Briant said. "Our beach areas will also benefit from the program, and our open spaces will be even more desirable."

Clubs or organizations desiring a speaker or information for a meeting may write Concerned Citizens for Clean Water, P.O. Box 1407, Edison 08817, or call 572-4093.

Magazine sales not sanctioned

Magazine sales or other forms of solicitation represented as being on behalf of disabled or hospitalized veterans are not sanctioned by the Veterans Administration, reports James R. Purdy, director of the regional office in Newark. His statement was made in response to inquiries about door-to-door sales and telephone solicitation in this area.

Purdy noted the VA does not endorse fund-raising programs or solicitation of any type to support its programs, since all VA programs are financed by Congressional appropriations.

Bromberg play will open series

"Visions," a new series of original television dramas, will open on Oct. 24 at 3 p.m. on New Jersey Public Television Channels 50 and 58 with Conrad Bromberg's "Two Brothers," a drama about a man's attempt to deal with his brother's mental depression and subsequent breakdown.

Jedd Hirsch (star of "Delvecchio") and David Spielberg (Danny Thomas's son on "The Practice") portray brothers whose lives are intermeshed emotionally. The older brother (Hirsch) tries desperately to understand and support his younger brother's psychotic actions.

Exhibition of 'Local Limners' planned by Kean Art Gallery

The Kean College Art Gallery will present "Local Limners," an original exhibition of paintings, portraits, landscapes, still life executed by North Jersey folk artists in the 18th and 20th centuries.

The public is invited to attend a reception at the College Gallery, Morris Avenue, Union, at the exhibition's opening Sunday, Oct. 24, from 2 to 5 p.m. Thereafter the exhibition will be open weekdays until Nov. 24 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The exhibition, organized by Dr. Alan Wallach with Prof. Zara Cohen, curator of the College Art Gallery, and the college's museum training class, comprises works from public and private collections and includes paintings by Micah Williams and Henry Gulick as well as many anonymous works.

According to Dr. Wallach, limner is an old word for painter that was usually applied to both amateurs and professionals who had little or no formal artistic training. Dr. Wallach said that the exhibition was selected from an unexpectedly large number of works. The high quality of the exhibition reflects the tremendous wealth of artistic talent that spontaneously flourished in the farming communities and small industrial towns of northern New Jersey," he said.

Special arrangements can be made with the gallery for individual and group tours. For further information contact Prof. Cohen, gallery director. The gallery is located on the ground floor of Vaughn Farms hall. Telephone 923-9700.

Colonial 'opera' at State Museum

"The Disappointment," a recently discovered ballad opera that attracted the ire of Philadelphia censors some 200 years ago, will be presented in the New Jersey State Museum Auditorium West State Street, Trenton at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23, under the sponsorship of the Friends of the Museum organization.

Called as America's first musical comedy, it involves a prankster inspired hunt for buried treasure along the banks of the Delaware River. The museum performance is being staged by the Princeton Opera Association.

The evening will provide a total Colonial theatre concept with continuous entertainment starting before the main feature and continuing during intermission. The audience, free to come and go at will, is being encouraged to dress in period costume and join the fun.

Tickets for Bicentennial presentation include a buffet supper, Colonial style in the Main Galleries after the performance.

Information on ticket reservations is available by phoning (609) 394-5310.

Bill would erase word 'pesthouse' from TB statutes

A bill which would wipe the word pesthouse from the state's tuberculosis statutes made it up another rung of the legislative ladder when the Assembly voted 65 to 0 to send it to the Senate.

Endorsed by the American Lung Association of New Jersey, the bill would update the TB statutes to reflect the modern concepts of TB treatment and prevention. It would repeal 49 statutes, while making major revisions in nine others and minor changes in 14 more.

ALAN president Walter Hislop said some of the statutes date back to the 1800s and reflect the philosophy of isolation of patients in sanatoriums. "We can appreciate how old some of these laws are," said Hislop, "when we realize some of them may have been adopted around the same time as Stephen Crane's birth in 1871 in Newark. The famous author of the 'Red Badge of Courage' died at the age of 28 from tuberculosis."

Hislop said legislation has not kept pace with medical advancements in TB treatment and prevention. Among the laws which need repealing are ones dealing with TB sanatoriums. These laws are obsolete since TB can be treated without special hospitals and these hospitals no longer exist. It is no longer necessary to send the TB patient away from his community for treatment. With modern drugs, the TB patient becomes rapidly noncontagious which means he can be treated as an outpatient in a community health center or physician's office. Some patients may require hospitalization in a general hospital for various reasons.

Even though TB has decreased, the disease remains a threat to the urban poor, Hislop said. Last year 1,271 citizens of our state were newly reported as having TB that needed treatment.

FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union College

The total number of whooping cranes alive in the world in the fall of 1938 was about 27, 14 in the Arkansas Refuge in Texas and probably 13 near White Lake in Louisiana. The species was perilously close to extinction. Few wild families have survived when their numbers have fallen this low.

The vulnerability of their situation was clearly demonstrated by the fate of the Louisiana birds. In August, 1940, a high wind and cloudburst hit the White Lake area. The 13 resident whoopers were blown inland and only six returned to the marsh. Of the seven missing birds, it is presumed that six were shot and eaten. Although injured by gunshot, the seventh survived. By 1942 the population dropped to five and the next year there were but four. Only one bird remained alive in 1947. The sole survivor injured a wing in November, 1941, and was taken to the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans. Thus, the Louisiana whoopers were wiped out and the colony has never again been re-established. Now only the Arkansas birds remained to prolong the life of the species.

Although man knew where whooping cranes spent their winter, he had no knowledge of their breeding grounds. The migration route was reasonably well known. It went north from Texas over Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Montana and then the great birds disappeared into the wilds of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Robert P. Allen of the National Audubon Society, with the aid of government conservationists in both the United States and Canada, undertook a search for the whooper's nesting spot. His first two attempts had ended in failure by 1948. Then on July 15, 1952, Robert Smith, the biologist with whom Allen had flown in his quest, wrote his former partner, "Two of the elusive great white birds found north of Great Slave Lake—just north of Deep Bay." Further aerial and ground surveys continued until now we know where the whoopers breed. There is little chance that man will disturb their homes since the area is virtually impenetrable.

This past summer the number of whooping cranes broke through the magic number of 100 for perhaps the first time this century. It fell back again due to loss of young but the situation is far less desperate than it was in the dark days of the '30s and '40s.

In the Wood Buffalo National Park in Canada, 16 pairs of whoopers laid 32 eggs. In mid July, 12 chicks remained alive with their parents. A daring experiment was conducted this summer when 15 eggs were carried to Grays Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Idaho to be hatched and raised by resident sandhill cranes. Unfortunately, coyotes cleaned out 26 sandhill crane nests along the lakeshore and with them went four of the whooper eggs. The 11 remaining eggs hatched but one of the young died of pneumonia two days later. June saw storms and starvation kill five more of the Solar panel will explore job potential

Jobs from the Sun—a solar energy conference, will be held Oct. 28 at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, by the New Jersey Conservation Foundation.

The daylong seminar will explore the potential for educational, employment and small business opportunities evolving from new solar energy technology and related fields. It will bring together leaders in the labor, business, environmental and social fields interested in generating new jobs in urban areas.

David F. Moore, executive director of the private, non-profit organization, said the conference is being located in Newark "to emphasize the key role solar technology can play in providing new employment opportunities in our major cities."

Since environmentalists are concerned about the waste and potential danger of the traditional methods of producing energy by the use of fossil and nuclear fuels, Moore continued, "we want to encourage the use of the new technologies which avoid these pitfalls."

Panelists will represent industries, colleges and community groups in the New Jersey-New York metropolitan area, all of whom have practical experience in use of solar energy systems for space heating and cooling and for electrical power generation.

HBP WARNING
Doctors are finding out that high blood pressure is more of a killer than they originally believed, for it can bring on heart failure, kidney damage or stroke.

population which will call Idaho its home. The hand of man has been responsible for the extinction of many species. There are still a considerable number of birds on the endangered list, but the story of the great white whooping cranes shows that man can help if he will. Education of the public, particularly those living along the migration route, was a major factor in the whooper's comeback. Dedicated work on the part of U.S. and Canadian biologists did the rest.

Fund ball Nov. 6 at Summit Center

The annual fund-raising dance at the Summit Art Center, "Beaux Arts Bal a la Grecque," will be held Saturday, Nov. 6, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Highlight of the evening will be a Greek floor show by the Trojans. Greek and American hors d'oeuvres are on the menu, and a midnight dessert will be served in the Gallery.

Dress is optional but prizes will be awarded for best costumes in keeping with the theme. A door prize will also be awarded. Tickets are $35 per couple. Checks mailed to the Summit Art Center, 68 Elm St., Summit, 07901, will serve as your reservation. For additional information, readers may call 965-1982.

"Beaux Arts Bal a la Grecque," benefits the Summit Art Center's many programs and wide-ranging services.

Poetry reading Sunday in art center's gallery

Poetry readings by three contemporary New Jersey poets will highlight an afternoon at the Summit Art Center on Sunday at 4 p.m. The readings will be given in the gallery with its exhibition of paintings by another contemporary New Jersey artist, Gary Erbe.

The poetry program will be followed by wine and cheese and the public is invited to attend at no charge. The informal afternoon will feature the following poets reading their published and yet to be published works: William Fiore, a poet published in "The Iowa Review" and accepted in "Marilyn"; and a cultivator of young poets through his poetry workshop and the poet in the classroom program sponsored by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. Dean Maskevich, poetry editor of "The Remington Review," whose poems have appeared in various literary magazines, including "The New Orleans Review" and "The Texas Quarterly." Peter Balakian, winner of the Academy of American Poets prize in 1974 for a short collection of poems and co-founder and co-editor of "Graham House Review," a newly-established review of contemporary American poetry.

For further information readers may call 273-9121. The Art Center is located at 68 Elm St., Summit.

Concert set for Monday

The Paganiniana String Quartet will open its second year in residence at the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University with a concert on Monday.

The program will feature Mozart's "Divertimento," Malipiero's "Sonata a Cinque" for harp and string quartet and Beethoven's "String Quartet," Opus 59, No. 2. Marjorie Mollenauer, solo harpist of the Chamber Symphony of New Jersey, will perform with the quartet.

The concert is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in Lenell Hall of the Mansion on the Florham-Madison campus. It is open to the public. There is no admission charge.
