PBA head calls Suckno 'insensitive' to problems faced by borough police

Patrolman John Garrett, president of Mountainside PBA Local 126, this week criticized Borough Police Commissioner Ahe Suckno because of comments made by Suckno at a Borough Council meeting last week.

Garrett released the contents of a letter sent to Suckno accusing him of being "ignorant of and insensitive to the problems faced by the police." Garrett said the entire police department was angry with Suckno for calling for the charged with an offense, much less convicted of anything."

The PBA president added, "The incident erupted after a borough resident. Mrs. William Grau, appeared before Council and complained how a Mountainside police officer, Wayne Martin, harassed her children and neighbor's children. After listening to Mrs. Grau. Police Commissioner Suckno said that Officer Martin should be reprimanded by the constitutional rights. Martin was not present at the council meeting. Mrs. Grau said anything she wanted. She was not under oath. There was no cross-examination. Nevertheless, Suckno felt a reprimand was in order. If that is Suckno's idea of due process or of how a commissioner should act when a police officer's conduct is questioned, then the mayor should place him in a less sensitive-and vulnerable-position."

> Garrett said he wanted borough residents to know that "no formal charges-disciplinary or in court-have been made against Martin.'

Garrett said that "Suckno apparently believes everyone but police officers has Garrett also stated, "Mrs. Grau's explanation to Council why she didn't file a complaint—because o ridiculous. Any citizen can file a complaint in the municipal court without charge. Any citizen can make a complaint against a police officer at no financial cost.

Borough swine flu clinic tomorrow at Deerfield

Tomorrow from 4 to 8 p.m., the Deerfield chool will be the site of Mountainside's first Meneral swine flu inoculation clinic. Immunization tables will be staffed by 29 nurses, two physicians and 68 volunteers from local organizations. A clinic for senior citizens nlv was held last Thursday

Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mountainside clinic nanager, has urged all residents to obtain the free vaccination either at the borough clinic or at others which will be held in neighboring ommunities. A person need not be a resident of the municipality in which the clinic is held. Mrs. Thompson reported that the minimum age limit has been lowered for bi-valent Inoculation, protecting against the more prevalent variety of the disease, as well as wine flu. The age has been reduced from 65 to

She also encouraged anyone who is hesitant about receiving the vaccine to attend tomorrow's clinic, just to observe or to question the doctors in attendance.

The clinic atmosphere at Deerfield will be brightened by baked goods donated by the Mountainside Woman's Club and a hostess table centerpiece created by the Mountain Trail Garden Club. The Foothill Club donated baked goods for the Dec. 2 clinic.

Persons - receiving - the - vaccinations - have been asked to wear short-sleeved clothing, for easy access to the upper arm.

Regional towns to receive $103,000 in excess funds

Education Tuesday night voted not to exercise its option to appeal for use of $103,000 in funds made available by the state. This means that the $103,000 will go to the district's six member towns for tax relief, along with $2,200 000 mandated by Trenton for that purpose The money is compensation for funds an ticipated last year but not provided at that time because of uncertainties about the state tax structure

In order to use the $103,000, the board would have needed permission from the governing bodies of the six member towns, as well as the state commissioner of education

Fewer than 15 citizens attended the three hour monthly board meeting at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield In other business, the board tabled the hiring of a custodian because of doubts about a possible "gap" in his biography. Members questioned a period of 15 years during which the applicant said he was self-employed in a variety of businesses. The board directed its attorney, Franz J Skok, to determine whether it could legally make a police check or otherwise learn if the applicant was concealing anything.

The board named Mrs. Jane Laustsen of Mountainside to teach health at Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights. Mrs Laustsen, who will be paid at an annual rate of $10,000, is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing. She received a bachelor's degree last June from Jersey City State College, magna cum laude.

Members acknowledged receipt of a permit from the N.J. Water Policy Commission to construct tennis courts on the front lawn at Dayton, near the just completed flood control work along Van Winkle's Creek.

The board will now seek to resolve its differences with the Springfield Planning Board over the exact location of the courtsdifferences which have been a major factor in the delay of the project for the better part of five years.

Skok said he did not believe the school district requires Planning Board approval, but noted that the district has felt "it is wiser" to do so. He added that several variances will be needed from the Zoning Board of Adjustment, for such items as construction in the front yard of the school and the height-of-the cyclone fences around the courts.

Charles Vitale, board president, referred the matter to the buildings and grounds committee. He said that Richard Jeske, consulting engineer, will provide the board with a cost estimate before it takes any more specific

Sonya Dorsky of Springfield voiced objections to a new rule which she said requires students to get passes from "subject teachers" before using school libraries. She said this discourages the youngsters from using the

Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools, commented that students are admitted without passes, but priority in use of facilities goes to those with passes for specific study projects.

The board formally directed the athletic directors at all four high schools to schedule evening basketball double-headers for boys' and girls' teams next year when games are scheduled between any two of the four schools The schools are Dayton, Gov. Livingston, David Brearley in Kenilworth and Arthur L. Johnson in Clark.

A similar proposal was made last year in the form of a suggestion. The athletic directors reportedly have said that the plan raises many difficulties in keeping conference and other commitments

Virginia Muskus of Clark reported that the board's dues to the N.J. School Boards

Mitten Tree' set at OLL tomorrow

The annual Mountainside Girl Scout "Mitten Tree" festivities will take place tomorrow evening at 7 at Our Lady of Lourdes auditorium. This annual townwide service project will feature entertainment by individual Scout troops from Brownie through Senior ages.

The principal purpose of the evening, however, is to continue to stress to the Scouts and to the community that Girl Scouting is a service organization. Mittens donated by the girls will go to a local orphanage and socks to the Bowery Mission in New York City. Canned goods will be collected for distribution in Elizabeth.

ALL AMERICAN - Brian Ruff of Mountainside was named at linebacker on the All-American football first team announced this week by the Associated Press. The son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ruff, he starred in football and wrestling at Gov. Livingston Regional High School before starting his college career at the Citadel in Charleston. S.C. Ruffled his team with 213 tackles and added two interceptions. Chosen as the top draft pick of the Toronto Argonauts, he said he is looking forward to a professional career in this country or Canada. He will wind up his season with competition in the Hula Bowl Jan. 8 and the second annual Japan Bowl Jan. 16. Ruff will also appear with the entire AP All-American squad on the Bob Hope Christmas special Monday from 8:30 to 10 p.m. on NBC television.

Why your gas bills are high

One important reason for price rises in natural gas is the steady increase in the cost of finding and tapping new supplies. In just a recent three-year period, the cost of a completed well has gone up more than 60 percent. Over the past 15 years, the cost of drilling for gas has increased 100 percent from about $17 to about $34 per foot ... and wells must go down many thousands of feet.

Gizzi urged all Springfield boys and girls to practice their free throws and to enter this year's contest. There are three age brackets each for boys and girls: 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. The boys compete against boys; girls only against

The winner in each age group in the local contest will then compete with other winners in district, state and regional contest. Regional winners will then compete for national championship honors in Kansas City, Mo.

Gizzi announced that contest rules can be obtained either from the Springfield Elks Lodge or by calling 964-7534.

Master soft shots to control the game

The real joy of tennis is controlling the ball and the person on the other side of the net. Hitting a decisive point-winning shot, after first surviving a long rally, is one of the most exhilarating thrills in

To eventually experience that thrill it is necessary to respect the inherent difficulty of the game. Before you can learn to hit the ball hard (and expect it to go in) you first must learn to hit it softly

Everyone wants to be a winner by hitting winners. When they finally do hit one they're totally surprised. Their gracious opponent acknowledges the play by saying, "Good shot." The returns acknowledgement with, "It was nothing. ... I just closed my eyes and swung.' Many players have little idea where their shots will go. They hope they go over the net and into the green area somewhere. This explains why there are so many hot and players around. Everything is left to chance;

skill has little to do with it.

Everyone can learn to play then alternate. In a match, exhilarating tennis by plan the pace and direction of following this three-step every shot.

Eventually your skills and

1. Slow down. Hit the ball

2. Follow through. In orde to direct the ball you have to keep it on the strings for a moment. There is a big dif ference between hitting and stroking a tennis ball: one lingers on the racket and goes where you wish, the other doesn't stay long enough for you to tell it what to do. Make sure you hit "through" the ball. Long, linear strokes will make the ball respond to your

3. Predetermine every shot Even during practice have a plan for every ball you hit. Aim it somewhere. When warming up make every ball go to your opponent's confidence will grow to the only as hard as you can point where you'll be surcontrol it. When you start prised when you miss a shot, surprising yourself, slow down rather than when you make

Nothing, because a merchant can sell his goods above or below competitors' prices without Better Business Bureau involvement. When you're in the market for an item, it's your responsibility to shop around to compare, not only prices but also available stock and any special features before coming to a decision. Dear Larrie:

My wife and I went to a local car dealer and saw a car we really loved. The salesman said he could hold the car if we gave him a deposit of $100. We did and later, at home over a beer, decided that we really couldn't afford the car Now the dealer won't give us our money back. Can they do that to us?

Dear Buff:

Probably so-it would be an interesting legal battle at least. The point of the $100 deposit was to show "good faith" that you did indeed intend. to buy the car and to keep the dealer from selling it before you returned. Larrie O'Farrell, Better Business Bureau

--0--0--Dear Larrie: I'm planning to move to an apartment live. I have such an overwhelming work schedule that I can't possibly take care of the task of packing. How much packing would a moving company require be done in a move? CRAMPED FOR TIME Dear Cramped:

How much packing is done "by owner" depends on how you think you can best spend your time, money and energy. Professional packers can pack more quickly and efficiently—with less chance of damage because of their training and years of practice. But don't forget, without special insurance movers cannot be responsible for items of "extraordinary" value; nor will they usually move food, plants or pets. Since most of us have to go through a moving maneuver at least once in our lives, it is a good idea to approach it calmly. With careful planning and a clear look at both ends of the move, much of the stress and discomfort can be eliminated, making adjustment to your new surroundings much easier.

BE READY Approximately 60 percent of the more than 12,000 annual fire deaths in this country occur in the home. Most of these deaths happen between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. It is important to have a wellrehearsed family escape plan to avoid panie and confusion in the event of a fire. -Decide on two ways to escape from each room:

--When appropriate, sleep with bedroom doors closed. Fire generally takes from 10 to 15 minutes to burn through a wooden door, delaying the spread of a fire. -Determine an emergency the family can use to arouse others in the event of a fire. —Test doors before opening them. Hot smoke and possibly poisonous fumes could be lurking behind the door. If the door is hot, don't open it. Use the emergency exit. -Keep down close to the floor if the room is filled with smoke. Cover your mouth and nose with a damp cloth, if possible.

-Roll-over on the ground or floor if your clothing ignites. Running will only help to fan the flames.

—Leave the building quickly. Don't stop to gather belongings and never re-enter a burning building.

Bell replacing transformers; some units proven defective

As part of a nationwide Bell System program, New Jersey installation and repair forces will soon begin replacing some plug-inthe-wall transformers that have proven defective in other sections of the country. Seven defects have been reported throughout the nation, but none in New Jersey Bell's territory.

"The units will be replaced free of charge on regular repair and installation visits. Only a small fraction of our customers will be involved," said Paul D. Loser, New Jersey Bell's vice-president for operations. "The transformers are not part of the telephone set, and have nothing to do with making or receiving calls. They are separate units used to provide power for the dial light on a small number of Princess and Trimline telephones, usually in homes with one or more of these types of sets."

The transformers in question were manufactured by Ault Incorporated of Minneapolis Each unit is enclosed in a plastic case about two inches square, and is usually plugged into an electric outlet. The face of the case is marked with various numbers and, in very small letters, "made by Ault, Inc. for Western Electric.

"Customers should not unplug transformers That should be left to a trained telephone company craftsperson," Loser said. "If customers have questions, they should call our repair service on 611. This year, 1,065 units have been shipped to New Jersey Bell, and 11.738 have been received since 1972. Loser said the company has stopped installation of the units.

New Jersey Bell's action follows a meeting this week in Washington in which Bell System representatives outlined plans for corrective action to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. The company said the transformers were purchased by the Western Electric company for the Bell System.

They are electrical power supply units which are plugged into an electrical outlet and then wired to the telephone to provide low voltage power for the dial light. Six of the seven reported defects occurred upon installation and the transformers were immediately replaced by the installer. In the other case, the transformer ruptured sometime after installation and a momentary small burst of flame resulted, causing minor damage.

"The chances of any substantial hazard or injury are remote," said Loser. "An extremely small number of these transformers, all from the same outside supplier, have apparently short circuited and overheated, usually at the time they were plugged in.

In addition to transformers manufactured by

EDISON, NEW JERSEY "Our Twenty-Sixth Year"

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

Island Beach State Park is a narrow strip of coastline, purchased by the state in 1953 from the Phipps Estate. It is the southern 10 miles of barrier beach extending from Seaside Park to Barnegat Inlet. The peninsula is, for the most part, about half-a-mile wide, bounded on the east by the Atlantic Ocean and on the west by Barnegat Bay. The ocean side is principally beach and sand dunes and the bay side is covered with natural vegetation.

The location is ideal for netting birds and since 1956 bird banding has been carried out there on an organized basis. At first banding was done only in the fall during migration, but in 1968 the operation was expanded to include spring migration. Close to 15,000 birds were bahded in the spring from 1968 through 1972 and almost a quarter of a million in the fall of the vears 1956 through 1972.

One would think that along the coast the majority of the birds trapped would be sand pipers, plovers, a gull or two and terms. Just the opposite is true. Island Beach is on the Atlantic Flyway. Many species travel along the beach and quite a few feed on the wild cherry, bayberry and other natural foods there Eight of the top 10 species in the spring were war blers. The little fellow with the domino mask, the common yeallowthroat, was the most common. Over 3,200 of them were banded but only three recovered. Of the three, one was retrapped just nine days later on Block Island, R.I., a second in Falmouth, Me., 315 miles northeast, the same month and the third in Stonington, Conn., about two years later

The yellowthroat was eighth on the fall banding list with a total of 10,297 birds banded Nine of these were recovered, one a little over a year later in Spanishtown, Jamaica, 1,550 miles south. The others were retrapped quite close to Island Beach.

The leader of the 10 most common species trapped in the fall was the white-throated sparrow. Twenty-five thousand of these were banded and 15 recovered. The long distance traveler in this group was first trapped in October 1966 and recovered in Cappahayden, Newfoundland, Canada, in January 1968.

Combining spring and fall statistics, the white-throat was the leader with 25,561 birds banded. Only 15 of this number had been recovered by 1972. A frequent companion of the white-throat, the dark-eyed junco was next with 24,950 trapped. Twenty-two of these were recovered. The remaining eight birds, all in numbers below 20,000 were gray cathird, common yellowthroat, golden-crowned kinglet, American redstart, yellow-rumped warbler. brown creeper, ruby-crowned kinglet and song sparrow. Island Beach Banding Station holds the record for an Operation Recovery station. These stations are situated all along the Atlantic Coast. The record catch was made in 1963 when 31,676 birds of 157 species were banded between Aug. 1 and Oct. 27. The big day was Oct. 13 when 3,337 birds were banded and eight birds recovered or retrapped

The most distant recovery was a semipalmated sandpiper that turned up at the mouth of the Amazon River, 3,800 miles away, the following spring.

We're Survivors...

We started in the floor covering business over 50 years ago.

Many floor covering stores have come and gone in that time Others of our competitors have tinkered with their operations to concentrate on items which would give the most profit. They give up service or scream "Sale" every week of LFO has remained consistent throughout the years.

We have always installed what we sell and have assumed the responsibility for that installation. Our advertising attempts to be straight forward.

The bottom line of every business still determines whether you are going to be around next year, including the "so-called" discount stores. Our overhead is as low as anybody's and our profit is modest so our prices have to be as good if not better than most.

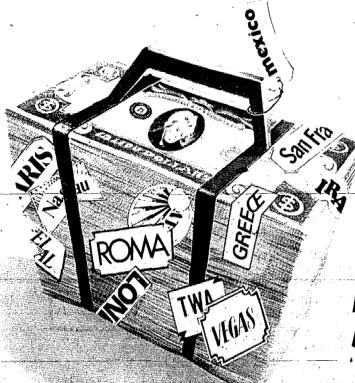

How to shop LFO ...

Needless to say since we never learned to lie or cheat we enjoy a fine relationship with our suppliers. We have access to many bargains in carpet, vinyls, and tile and always keep them in stock with current styles. If you want a bargain, just ask. An LFO salesman will take you

We are the complete floor covering store. You get selection, service, and price. And we mean it when we at LFO say "we are big enough to serve you... yet small enough

Young Artists Auditions set by New Jersey Orchestra

Mrs. Benjamin L. Frank, president of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League, announced this week that the orchestra will hold its Young Artists Auditions in February and March. The auditions are open to young musicians in the state and will be directed by the orchestra's conductor and teacher, Max

"The Young Artists Auditions," said Mrs. Frank, "represent this state's first major program to recognize outstanding young instrumental talent. A unique aspect of these auditions is that the semi-finals and finals will give young musicians an opportunity to perform concertos with a major symphony or

"We know of no other audition or contest in the United States that gives so many young musicians a chance to study and perform as soloists with a major professional symphony

Mrs. Frank said, there will be five cash prizes totaling $2.500 with a top award of $1,000, known as the Henry Lewis Award for Excellence. This prize was donated by the orchestra's trustees in honor of the former NJSO music director. The recipient of the Henry Lewis Award will also receive a guest appearance as concerto soloist during the orchestra's 1977-78 season. The titles and amounts of the remaining four awards will be announced shortly

Mrs. Frank said, "the auditions are open to all New Jersey residents who are 19 and under; applicants must not have passed their twentieth birthday before Dec. 31, 1977. The auditions will be limited to piano, violin and

State estimates 200,000 driving without insurance

State Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran said this week the number of motorists driving without insurance in New Jersey cannot be determined with complete accuracy. The best estimate, he added, is that there may be as many as 200,000 uninsured cars among New Jersey's 3.6 million registrations.

Sheeran said, that, in response to recent inquiries from the media, he asked his actuarial staff to try to provide a credible num ber. He said that his staff, using data from 1974 first determined the number of claims made under the uninsured motorists coverage of the automobile insurance policy. The staff then assumed that the claim frequency for uninsured motorists is the same as for drivers insured in the voluntary market, and projected the number of uninsured motorists at 175,000

Sheeran added that "the credibility of that number is enhanced by calculations made by the Division of Motor Vehicles, which were based on the number of accidents in which uninsured motorists were involved The number of uninsured motorists projected by the Motor Vehicle Division's calculation is

"These studies are based on 1974 data. Sheeran said, "and quite possibly there has

Thursday, December 9, 197, been an increase in the number of uninsu. i motorists because auto insurance has become prohibitively expensive for some people.

Barrymor adds storm windows to home package

Barrymor Enterprises in Lakewood, one of northern Ocean County's most active custom home builders, has announced the inclusion of storm windows and screens at no extra cost on all homes contracted before Dec. 25 Murray Weshnak, president of Barrymor, also stated that currently advertised prices will remain in effect on homes constructed in 1977, provided purchase agreements are signed prior to the end of 1976

The announcement came following a survey conducted by the Barrymor sales staff, which revealed that prospective buyers are concerned by the possibility of facing higher home prices after committing themselves to a sale

Weshnak stressed, however, that Barrymor homebuyers charges than what originally was agreed to at the time of sale.

Barrymor offers to qualified buyers interest rates from eight percent on 30-year mortgages, and accepts down payments from five percent.

Of the eight models available, the Darby threebedroom ranch, base priced at $36,990, is one of the most popular. Chuck Moore, Barrymor's sales director, attributes this model's success to its appearance, construction and price.

"The Darby ranch includes the same standard features as our higher priced homes and also offers owners the opportunity of making additions as their personal income increases," Moore said.

All eight home models. which include ranch. Cape Cod, bi-level, colonial and split level styles, feature within the base purchase price full-thick wall and ceiling insulation, allwood double-hung windows. Model homes may be seen at

Have a good holiday, everyone--but you'd better watch out

American parents will spend an estimated $5 billion on toys during the holiday season that will inflict serious injury upon 150,000 children, according to Alex A Labonski, New York area director of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission

Despite voluntary compliance by the industry to eliminate toy hazard and Com mission surveillance, too many parents are risking the safety of their children by ignoring basic rules." Labonski said

Parents also ignore their own safety, as well as their families, when it comes to boliday tree lights and decorations. Year after year they string 35 million sets of lights, at an annual expenditure of $20 million, and ignore the useful life expectancy of three to five years of these products. It is not uncommon to see the same family string the same tree lights for 10 straight years

The result of this blatant abuse is too often fire, electric shock burns, and an assortment of injuries that compel an annual expenditure of $1.23 million for medical treatment

The safety rules and regulations are compiled in pamphlets that are available from the CS Consumer Product Safety Commission New York Area Office, 6 World Trade Center New York, New York 10048.

If all parents and relatives followed the basic rules when purchasing texts for children, much of the tragedy would be avoided

-Do not buy an electrical toy, or any toy, for a child too young to use it safely. Check the age commendation on the package. Read the instructions on the product, and then read them with the child who will be using

Supervise the use of any electrical product and consider the maturity of the child and the nature of the toy

Be sure that the plug of an electrical product fits snugly into all outlets, with no prongs exposed and teact children to discon nect the electrical as liance by firmly grasping the plug, not by pulling on the cord Keep infants and tod flers out of the area where an electric toy is being used. Store all electrical to as in a dry area, out of th of younger children immediately after

Periodically check electrical toys for broken parts, frayed fords and damage to enclosures of using and other protected components The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Com mission has authority under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act to ban bazardous toys and other children's products from sale Since 1970, more than 1,500 items, mostly toys,

The banning regulations provide that toys having the following characteristics are

New York Botanical Garden

The relative humidity of the average home is substantially reduced in winter due to indoor heating systems and unless we are aware of this lower humidity many of our house plants can be threatened during this time.

Succulents are nice to keep because they can tolerate these conditions, indeed conditions even more extreme. Cacti, for example, are succulents and their hardy disposition makes them excellent plants for the home

The shape of cacti is varied and if you think they are somehow less attractive than broadleaved-type house plants you're in for a big surprise. When you look at a beautiful collection of cacti-varied in texture, height, hue, and configuration there is no doubt as to why these spiny species have developed so many horticultural devotees. The cactus needs only infrequent watering and has virtually no humidity requirements on the minimum side.

Here's how SPORTS SWAPS works.

The soil in which this plant grows is usually thought of as sand. This is inaccurate. The richness of desert soil in mineral nutrients is often underestimated. Very often rich, black. potting soil is not as nutrient-rich as desert soil What desert soil lacks is organic matter and moisture-holding materials. However, cacti require neither of these in major quantities. In fact, the achilles heel of the hardy cactus its roots-suffer quickly from rot if there is too much moisture in the soil.

The spiny leaved cactus survives best in a soil mix which is one part topsoil or potting soil, one part leaf mold or sphagnum moss and three parts coarse builders sand (do not collect ocean beach sand thinking this will be adequate; the presence of sea salt in high quantities will pickle your plant's roots).

Pots should be no larger than one inch wider than the plant's diameter, or for a very tall plant the pot can be half the height of the plant in diameter. Clay pots provide a healthier respiration for the soil and roots than does the plastic variety. However, if plastic pots are used this can be taken into consideration when watering and adverse effects can be minimized by watering less as evaporation will be less.

plugged in and do not use a set if the contracts are not fixed in the recessed part of the socket.

-Before use, test the light set on a nonflammable surface and plug it in for 15 minutes. Check for melting and smoking. -Lights should be fastened securely to the tree. No light bulbs should come into direct contact with the needles or branches. Curtains and other flammable materials should also be kept away from bulbs. -Do not overload extension cords. Do not put more than three sets of lights on any extension cord Keep the connection joints away from the water supply of a live tree. Outdoor lights should be weatherproof and clearly identified as designed for outdoor use. Do not try to use indoor lights outdoors. Remove outdoor lighting as soon as the season is over. These lights are not designed to withstand prolonged exposure to the elements When you leave the house or retire for the evening, be sure that all lights are turned off by unplugging them from the wall outlet.

Any set that is damaged should be thrown out or repaired. 'Everyboty at the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission wishes you and your kids, Mr. Labonski said, "the very best of holiday seasons ... but you'd better watch out.

Consumer prices rise by 0.2 pct. during October Prices paid by consumers for goods and services in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area edged up 0.2 percent in October, it was reported this week by Herbert Bienstock. more than three years The October index rise largely reflected increases for housing and transportation. Higher rents, home purchase costs, electricity charges and homefurnishing prices, according to Bienstock, resulted in an 0.4 percent increase in the housing index

With the introduction of 1977 models, higher new car prices raised the transportation index by 0.7 percent in October. The food price index inched up 0.1 percent over the month as lower meat prices were offset by higher prices for other food items. Partially offsetting these increases was an 0.9 percent decline in apparel

Seasonally adjusted, the index was up 0.3 percent between September and October, following an 0.2 percent rise in the preceding month. Bienstock said that these increases compared favorably with average monthly increases of 0.5 percent in the preceding four

Bienstock noted that the annual inflation rate in October was the smallest since March 1973, when the index was up 4.9 percent. Although moderation is evident, he pointed out that the current annual-rate of 5.3 percent was high relative to historical standards. He noted that for the 20-year period, 1947-67, it was exceeded

Much of the recent moderation in the inflation rate reflects a substantial slowdown in the rate of food price increase, from 6.3 percent between October 1974 and October 1975 to 2.3 percent in the past year. Food prices, Bienstock noted, tend to fluctuate more widely than other index groups.

Multiple-death fires

A recent study reveals that there were more multiple-death fires (three or more fatalities) and resulting deaths reported in 1975 than in any of the previous four years. A total of 250 such fires were recorded in 1975, resulting in 1,091 deaths. Despite the tragic increases, there were no multiple-death fires in nursing homes in 1975 for the first time in many years.

Saint Barnabas already has ordered new equipment for the burn treatment unit and has begun the physical renovations of the unit the medical center cited in its application for state approval. Other conditions set forth in the Certificate of Need are being resolved.

Saint Barnabas is working closely with the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey to assure cooperation in clinical research, teaching and burn therapy in the new unit. Dr Stanley S. Bergen Jr., president of CMDNJ, said: "The burn treatment unit will provide a valuable addition to the medical care and health professions education resources of

The burn unit was built in 1969, but was never opened because of the prohibitive operating cost it involves and the inability of health insurance carried by most patients to cover those costs. It has been projected that the unit would sustain deficits of approximately $500,000 a

The approval by the state clears the way for Saint Barnabas to utilize a $1 million gift to the burn treatment unit from a foundation which asked to remain anonymous at this time. The gift, to be spread over two years, was committed on condition that the burn unit would open. The $1 million will be used to defray thepatients' expenses, not covered by insurance. Operating costs of the unit will be worked into the medical center's budget.

Nichols concluded: "The burn treatment unit will have a vital mission to save lives and minimize the effects of serious burns on victims The opening of the unit at Saint Barnabas will currect a major deficiency in New Jersey's

Public Advocate moves quarters

The Department of the Public Advocate division which handles citizen complaints against state agencies and mediates local government disputes has moved to larger quarters at 428 East State st. in Trenton Public Advocate Stanley C. Van Ness said the move by the Division of Citizen Complaints and Dispute Settlement will enable the staff to better handle an increasing volume of complaints and will provide improved phone service for complainants.

Van Ness said the Office of Citizen Complaints will retain the same phone numbers including a toll free hot line for complaints (800-792-8600) and the same mailing address, P.O. Box 141, Trenton, New Jersey 08601. The hot line is manned during regular office hours Monday to Friday but a recording device enables calls also to be made to the office on a seven day, around-the-clock-basis

Classical studies are alive and useful Seton Hall courses meet 'needs of students'

Seton Hall University, South Orange And so is Greek Seton Hall's Classical Studies Department, which offers courses on the literature and cultures of the ancient civilizations as well as their languages, has more than doubled its total enrollment in the past four years, and some of its classes have increased to four times their 1972 size Current enrollment stands at more than 250 students, and the spring semester saw 357 students registered in Classical Studies a department with only two full-time teachers.

While this growth rate includes an increase in the number of major students (now numbering nine majors, with three freshman majors representing a 300 percent increase in the new major category), most of the growth has been experienced in the non-major enrollment. In the past few years the department has devised new courses not involving languages that have a special appeal to students in other disciplines. These "culture" courses attract nearly three times as many students as four years ago up from 90 to 243

These courses include classes on Greek and Roman poetry, drama and mythology, ancient history as viewed both by Greek and Roman historiographers and in the light of recent archaeological discoveries, personalities of the ancient world, and a course on elements of scientific terminology which draws largely from pre med, pre dental and nursing students as well as students in biology, chemistry and physics

Our enrollment is high because we have adjusted to needs of students," explained Rev. Robert A Antezak, department chairman He also sees a connection to the tight job market in this turn to the classics.

"Having seen others not getting jobs recently, maybe students now are beginning to look at college in another way than just career preparation. Job or career is one thing, education is another. Maybe students today are beginning to believe again in the idea of an individual perfecting him or herseli," he said.

He also said he sees a "new general interest in trying to appreciate the roots of our civilization or personal ancestry through gaining an understanding of the deeper concepts of classical thought. Of three new majors in the field, for instance, one is interested in Judaeo-Christian biblical studies, another is of Greek extraction and seeks a closer touch with that heritage, and the third simply enjoys the classics without necessarily planning even to

Non-majors are encouraged to relate the classics to their own fields, and, in bi-level classes comprised of both majors and nonmajors, separate approaches are followed. In stance, majors read in the original and tran slate, while non-majors concentrate on research into the writers' influence on modern thought and literature Both contribute to the class, Father Antezak pointed out, and even the non-major is put in touch with the language without having to be skilled in it.

Students learn how to deal with vocabulary and word root derivation and how language is put together. Most scientific words are derived from Latin and Greek, but science students are often bewildered by the sheer volume of complicated terms. The instructor, the Rev. Eugene Cotter, concentrates on the history of the English language and specifically words that occur in textbooks. He finds that students are able to remember words more easily when they know the roots and can break them into

Fr. Antezak regrets that this basic reason for language study has been missed at the elementary school level where it is rarely taught

Fr. Antezak reported there has been no placement problem for Seton Hall graduates. A double major is required, and graduates find job hunting easier in cases of school systems looking for persons to teach one or more languages, especially since a fulltime Latin teacher is seldom required. The second major can be in fields other than languages, one Classical Studies major is doubling in an thrpology, where, because of her trans cultural training, she has become one of the top students in that field, too

The Seton Hall department enrollment also includes cross registered divinity students from nearby Upsala College who need advance department hopes to expand even more with additional interdisciplinary courses, such as one planned for next fall in conjunction with the Modern Language Department on Classical Mythology in French Literature.

Supersnooper says: "Smell gas? It's always the right time to call."

henever you smell gas—nights, weekends, holidays, anvtime—call PSE6G at once! PSE6G servicemen are on call every hour of the day, every day of the year. There is never a charge for gas leak investigation ...and never any reason for embarrassment should the suspected leak turn out not to be a leak.

Actually, natural gas has no odor. We add a distinctive odor so that even the smallest leak can be detected long before it could cause any problem. If the odor is faint indoors, it could be that a burner valve on the range is partially turned on or the pilor light is out. You can easily and safely correct either condition, but if that's not the cause of the odor, call PSEcG at once. Remember, never light a gas appliance if a strong odor of gas is present and never use matches to look-for-a-gas-leak. Avoid-operating any electrical equipment, including electric light switches.

Whenever you smell gas, inside or outside, call the PSEGG telephone number printed on your bill or in your local telephone directory-under Public Service Electric and Gas Company

Society has 'good news' New Bible could set records

The "Good News Bible," was released this week by the American Bible Society The new Bible is expected to break previous records in the publishing industry. The first press order totals 1.2 million copies Bible Society officials anticipate a distribution of ten million copies of the "Good News Bible" during its first year. One million ropies have already been published in Great Britain and are expected to be gone by 'hristmas.

One reason for the officials' optimism is the unprecedented success of "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament portion of the new Bible. When published separately by the ABS in 1966, it soared to the top of the best seller list. In the past ten years its circulation has exceeded fifty million copies.

"The 'Good News Bible' (the Bible in Today's English Version) is the first translation of the Bible in the English language ever produced by the American Bible Society," Dr. Laton E. Holmgren, the Bible Society's senior general secretary, has announced. "Since its founding in 1816, the American Bible Society has assisted in the translation of the Bible into hundreds of languages of the world, but never before has it published its own English version. It has instead always circulated the classic English translations such as the King James Version, the American Standard Version and the Revised Standard Version and will continue to 'The 'Good News Bible' is not intended to take the place of these revered older translations," Dr. Holmgren said, "but is designed to attract people to Bible reading who have found these standard translations difficult or obscure in places. The 'Good News Bible' has been issued especially for use by the churches in reaching men and women who have either never read the Bible at all or have discontinued reading it because they couldn't easily discover its relevance for living in today's world." The text is enriched by nearly 500 line drawings by Mlle. Annie Vallotton, the Swiss artist who illustrated "Good News for Modern

The "Good News Bible" is published in three editions: a gold hardcover edition, a black hardcover edition, and a flexible-plastic cover edition. The hardcover editions sell at $2.50 per copy. The softcover editions for $1.90. Prices include postage and handling.

The "Good News Bible" can be ordered from the American Bible Society, 1865 Broadway, New York, New York 10023.

I work hard to help your children. You work hard to help them too. We do much more when we work together.

For Information On How You Can Help, Write New Jersey Education Association 180 W State St. Trouton, N. J. 08608

In the time I've been a teacher, with the hundreds of kids I've taught, I've learned it's hard work.

I try to be a good teacher - to help children become more highly skilled and well-rounded. I know you try to be a good parent. Together, we do even more

To help your children, make sure they know that school is important - so they will respond to what we provide. When they come home, show them you care about what went on in school Ask them what they are learning Is there anything you can do to help them do better?

And please tell me what's on your mind. Let's talk. Let's see how we might do more together

Isn't that what we both want?

Help me to help them.
