Second Class Pastage Paid at Mountainside, N.

MOUNTAINSIDE, N.J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1976

Aspects of two long-standing concerns of the Borough of Mountainside-a new municipal complex and flooding problems along

Nomahegan Brook-were dealt with in two ordinances adopted on final reading by the Borough Council at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in the Reechwood

One ordinance authorized a $300,000 bond issue for construction of storm water drainage facilities along Nomahegan Brook on the south side of Rt. 22 near Children's Specialized Hospital, where flooding has repeatedly oc curred, during heavy rains, and upstream, from Rt. 22 across Force drive to Deer Path where pipes will be placed to relieve erosion The project, reported Councilman Bruce Geiger, is being conducted with the cooperation of the county, which will pay the costs of replacing the bridge over the brook at Children's Specialized Hospital. Noting a past concern of local residents, Geiger added, "We have been assured by the Freeholders that they will not widen New Providence road. Originally the county Planning Board had proposed a wider bridge, but it backed down after the borough refused to approve those

Also authorized was a $200,000 bond or dinance for improvements to the Echobrook School to make building and grounds suitable for use as a police headquarters and municipal courtroom. Other renovations have already been made on the structure, and the municipal offices are expected to be transferred there in mid-January. Also regarding Echobrook, the council awarded a $3,259 contract to the Fox Fence Co., Clifton, for construction of fencing discussion, was the new state-mandated ordinance establishing a uniform construction code agency, a construction fee schedule, and a five-member construction board of appealsbut council gave approval only after agreeing to move the implementation date from Jan. 1,

Geiger explained that portions of the new law require that construction inspectors not work or have a business in the town where they are serving. Since Mountainside's inspectors do operate businesses here, he noted, "it is im-possible for us to implement this ordinance the way it is written. We are not sure of the qualifications of the new inspectors under the ordinance, and if we hire others, it will mean a untainside's Marc Hoffman will have a Christmas to remember this year. He will spend two weeks in Japan with the Cornell University lightweight football team.

The Big Red lightweight (150-pound) team will play two games in Japan, this Saturday and Jan. 3, against Japanese all-star teams Tokyo's National Stadium will offer the Silk Bowl on Christmas Day as Cornell meets the Japanese Eastern All-Stars. On Jan. 3, Cornell travels to Nagoya to meet the Japanese Western All-Stars. Cornell Coach Bob Cullen was instrumental in arranging the tour, convincing the American Football Association of Japan to sponsor the lightweights. Previous tours had brought collegiate teams from Northwestern, Iowa State and Hawaii, with the Japanese giving away 100 pounds per man at many positions. Cullen convinced the association that an American lightweight team, in a sport played by seven eastern colleges, would be a more even matchup.

Hoffman, a junior engineering major at Cornell, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hoffman of Rolling Rock road in Mountainside. A graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Hoffman plays at a defensive back position for the Big Red.

The Japanese will cover expenses for the party of 50 while in Japan, with each player responsible for his airfare and personal expenses. The Cornell players have been busy raising funds to help offset the cost of the trip, Contributions to help send the Cornell lightweights to Japan may be mailed to Coach Bob Cullen, c-o Cornell Lightweight Football Office, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. 14853.

Patient burglars pry window pane, carry off jewelry

A pair of patient burglars broke into a Ridge drive residence Dec. 15 and escaped with an undetermined amount of jewelry. According to the police report, the intruders, instead of shattering a window to gain entry, carefully pried a double pane of glass from its molding.

Police believe there were two burglars, since two sets of footprints were found at the point of entry. Only one bedroom was ransacked; from it were taken credit cards and several pieces of jewelry, including diamond rings, earrings, watches and cufflinks. Also stolen was a bedspread, which apparently was used to carry away the goods. The owner is to prepare an inventory of other missing items.

Police said the break-in occurred between 4:30 and 7:25 p.m. The home is equipped with a burglar alarm, but police reported the residents had not turned it on because they had planned to be away from the premises for only

Their message to the President declared: 'We are writing as community leaders in Union and Essex counties in New Jersey who are concerned with transfer of federal funds from military to civilian needs. We have been instrumental in helping to promote resolutions by the freeholders of both counties calling for a halt to the B-1 bomber program and for the channeling of resources to the cities and to the depressed segment of our population.

On Oct. 26, 1976, a coalition of clergy and community resource people met in Springfield with Sen. Harrison A. Williams to discuss these very questions and found his response

"We feel that we represent the peaceoriented and human needs-concerned elements in our communities. In anticipation of your presidency and with great faith, both in your leadership and your moral sensitivity, we urge "-To discontinue the B-1 program;

"-To effect the transfer of military spending into civilian human needs programs, including support of the cities to limit nuclear arms and defense spending.'

Among the resolutions approved was one supporting the Mountainside Board of Education's appeal to the state for $19,370 in unbudgeted state aid for 1976-77-$17,450 of which will be for student transportation and $1,920 for the salary of a kindergarten aide. The state has allowed for such requests for districts which were limited by law in their budget increases, and which limitations impaired the board's capacity to provide a thorough and efficient education

A total of $17,213 in assessments to six property owners who benefitted from the recently completed Coles avenue sanitary sewer project were authorized in another resolution. The assessments, ranging from $2,408 to $3,378, are to be paid in 10 equal yearly installments at an interest rate of six percent, with the initial payment due Feb. 1, 1977.

Council approved the release of $140,000 performance bond to Baltusrol Top, Inc., for completed underground and road improvements on a nine-lot subdivision near Mary Allen lane, and ordered the firm to post a $35,000 one-year maintenance bond. No houses have yet been built on the property.

When Betyeman checked with borough police headquarters on the ownership of the van, the desk sergeant told him there was a man in the office who had been assaulted by another man driving a similar van. The victim had been struck with a tire iron and had had his car keys stolen. Betyeman reportedly found a tire iron and keys fitting the description of the stolen set in the van he had stopped. The van's driver, Andrew W. Mudrowsky, 18, and his passenger, Dennis M. Pajunas, 20, were taken into custody and turned over to police in Watchung. Police said Mudrowsky has been charged in Watchung with atrocious assault and battery against Joseph J. Jagiello, 46, of West Orange. In Mountainside, Mudrowsky was issued summonses for speeding and for unsafe lane changing. Pajunas reportedly was charged in Watchung with larceny of the car Jagiello told police he was driving on Rt. 22 in Watchung when a van behind him began flashing its lights. He said when he pulled to the side of the road, the van driver got out and attacked him with the tire iron. The passenger then took Jagiello's car keys so he could not follow. Jagiello was picked up by another motorist and taken to Mountainside police headquarters. Police said the victim, who reportedly claimed he did not know his attacker, suffered a severe arm laceration and cuts and bruises.

The transfer was authorized because the elementary school students rarely utilized the magazines. The publications eventually will be made available to public libraries in the area.

Maguire criticizes Byrne on fair housing 'time bomb'

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-22) said this week that Gov. Brendan T. Byrne's decision to delay implementation of his "fair housing" executive order until after the 1977 elections "simply puts a longer fuse on the time

"I am totally unimpressed," he said. "It reminds me of the governor's campaign statements regarding the income tax which were quickly reversed after the 1973 election We were led to believe one thing but had a totally different experience after election day.

Maguire said the income tax will have to share "top billing" with the housing executive order as the major campaign issue next year. "The housing order is fiscal blackmail and will become an issue as soon as its full implications are understood by the voters," he said.

The executive order directed the Division of State and Regional Planning to set local "goals" for the counties and municipalities to meet the state's housing needs. The final report had been due in February but was extended to after the election by Byrne in an announcement last week. The preliminary report set goals for Union County communities which exceed 40,000 housing units, Maguire said.

Under the terms of the executive order seeking the report, counties and communities which fail or refuse to meet their "goals" would be penalized in terms of certain state and federal aid programs. "This is downright blackmail any way you slice it," Maguire said

Maguire is one of 17 legislators who have filed suit to set aside the order on the grounds it abridges legislative prerogatives. "I won't be satisfied until the order is rescinded by the governor or set aside by the courts," he said Housing goals being set by bureaucrats in Trenton's ivory tower are a direct affront to the home rule concept, and financial penalties for noncompliance is blackmail '

Maguire said the decision to delay the final report to after the election is a "red flag" that should alert the voters

"I predict the Republican Party will make the executive order a major issue, and if they don't, I will." Maguire, who is expected to seek reelection next year, added, "The communities in my district have hard-working planning boards and viable zoning ordinances that are responsive to their citizens. They will strongly resent state orders mandating drastic changes in housing patterns. SALE OF PINGRY

The New Jersey Public Advocate's Office has severely criticized the plan for the state to purchase the Pingry School for the education of handicapped children For one thing, the agreed purchase price of $4.65 million was found to be at least half a million too high

For another, if the state pays in advance as proposed and collects rent until the property is vacated, the result will be a loss of well over $100,000 a year of interest on the taxpayers money, until the new Pingry school is com pleted near Bernardsville This however may be a long time coming, because of unexpected serious sewage disposal problems in the area

To make matters even worse, there is serious question whether it is altogether a good idea to bus handicapped children long distances and segregate them educationally All in all it might be best to drop the whole scheme.

There's more ham, bacon and pork chops in retail meat counters these days. Pork is back in good supply and at lower prices, according to the Pork Industry Group (PIG) of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

"In recent months, pork production has soared and prices have declined. It's a favorable situation for consumers," said Verlo Butz, PIG secretary. "Popular and nutritious pork products are now excellent values for the nation's food shoppers."

He said the good supply, high value situation is expected to continue for several months and possibly through all of 1977.

According to Butz, pork production in October was up almost 30 percent compared to the same period last year. This followed an increase of more than 20 percent in September.

The market price for hogs is currently 37 percent below a year ago. Wholesale prices also have fallen, and retail prices are starting to reflect those declines." Butz said. He said the meat counter in the food store is the final link between the producer and the consumer. and, therefore, the retailer is the last one to be affected by changes in on-the-hoof hog prices.

"During the latter part of 1974 and through all of 1975, pork production was down. Because of the reduced supplies, hog prices, wholesale prices and retail pork prices all increased, said Butz. "The situation is now reversed with

U.S. Dept. of Agriculture statistics show that due to the decreased supply, per capita consumption of pork was only 54.8 lbs. (carcass weight basis) last year, a 40 year low. For 1976, the government is predicting that pork consumption, reflecting the increased supplies will increase at least four percent over last year to approximately 56.6 lbs. Pork supplies

CPAs list ways to save on taxes

out their tax year always a challenging task—doubly so this year,' the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants said this week.

According to the society, taxpayers will not only have to try to predict how 1977's income will compare with 1976's and decide what steps to take rules of the Tax Reform Act of Theodore Romak, CPA of Mountainside, president of the society, said that the NJSCPA has studied the problem and has several suggestions for ways to "shift income or deductions into a tax year in which the Federal Governnow to minimize their tax bill, ment's tax bite will be less which will help the taxpayer avoid payment of taxes unnecessary

"The standard deduction is now 16 percent of adjusted gross income up to $2,400, or $2,800 for couples filing joint What's more, it is already reflected in the tax tables for taxpayers with incomes as high as $20,000."

Romak cited guidelines for the taxpayer who decides to use the standard deduction He said:

'If the taxpayer expects to go back to itemizing next year, he should, for example, defer until 1977 as many deductible expenses as he can Among those expenses whose timing can sometimes be controlled are charitable contributions, certain state and local taxes, medical bills health insurance premiums

"In deciding whether to use the standard deduction, the taxpayer should keep in mind that he can do so now while enjoying the tax break given to working parents who have to pay someone to look after their children or other dependents while the parents are at work. Formerly, this was limited only to those who itemized deductions."

Romak pointed out that next vear taxpavers will be able to take a deduction for alimony they pay, without having to itemize other deductions, but not this year. On 1976 returns. he said, there is no alimony deduction if the taxpayer takes the standard deduction.

The society president also noted that possible future government actions can affect tax-planning decisions. He

"For example, there has been speculation about an income tax cut early in 1977 to stimulate the economy. If the taxpayer believes that its likely to happen, or have some other reason for expecting his tax burden to ease next year, he might try to defer some income into 1977.

'The most obvious way to do this is to delay the sale of an asset on which there will be a capital gain. Some taxpayers also have a certain amount of control over the timing of other income such as bonuses, commissions or royalties. Tradesmen or professional people, for example, might delay or advance their billings to customers. Romak also said that, for those who qualify (such as employees not covered by a pension or profit-sharing plan) one good way to reduce taxable income might be by investing as much as 15 percent of adjusted gross income, up to $1,500, in an Individual Retirement

'IRA investments, and the dividends or interest they earn," he said, "are tax-protected until drawn out after retirement."

He added, "The beauty of the IRA as a tax planning device is that the taxpayer can wait until the closing days of much of a contribution to make, then protect as much as 15 percent of income, up to $1,500 from taxation at this Romak said that taxpayers may have read that some IRA investors now can increase their annual contributions beyond $1,500 to provide retirement funds for a spouse. He warned, however, that this does not apply to 1976, only to subsequent years.

He also noted that if an employer terminated a pension plan during the past two years and gave the taxpayer a cash settlement, the taxpayer can defer the tax on that settlement by reinvesting it in an IRA plan before the end of 1976. "After that," he said, "the taxpayer will have only 60 days between settlement and reinvestment in an IRA.'

In conclusion, Romak reminded taxpayers of an additional step they might want to take before the end of the year. He stated:

"The taxpayer should have his employer adjust the amount of income taxes withheld from final 1976 paychecks. If he is seriously underwithheld, he can avoid penalty and interest by making up the deficiency before the end of the year.

Museum to show students' exhibit of colonial Jersey

For more than a year, students in six Trenton-area school districts have been researching and re-creating the life and times of their own particular areas during the critical period of the American Revolution that has come to be known as "The 10 Crucial Days."

Their work has been assembled and coordinated into a far-reaching "Bicentennial Learning Environment" that will be exhibited at the New Jersey State Museum, West State street, Trenton, starting Sunday and lasting through Jan 23.

Though the exhibition focuses on the activities of the Continental Army from its crossing of the Delaware on Dec. 25, 1776. through its victory at Princeton on Jan 3, 1777, attention is given also to many non military aspects of the period

"Life-size figures, models, reproductions, walk-in displays and hands on exhibits are all designed to give museum visitors - particularly the younger ones - a participatory xperience, a museum spokesman said

School groups wishing to visit the exhibition may make reservations by phoning the museum's Bureau of Education at (609) 292-

CMDNJ begins new cancer study

A technique that could enhance the effectiveness of drug therapy in treating cancer is being investigated at the New Jersey Medical School of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Newark.

The research, supported by a $52,000 grant from the American Cancer Society through its New Jersey Division, involves the delivery of cancer-fighting drugs to a cancerous tumor without harming normal cells.

The CMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School study is directed by Dr. Vilma K. Jansons, assistant professor of microbiology, and by Dr. William R. Redwood, associate professor in the Department of Biochemistry with a joint appointment in the Department of Medicine. Both also serve on the faculty of the CMDNJ-Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences.

AAA offers hints to prevent heavy drinking by guests

"First a Friend... "Then a Host" is the theme of the American Automobile Association's annual campaign to urge responsible use of alcohol during the holiday season.

"As a host, you accept an important responsibility for your guests' safety," said Matthew J. Derham, president of the New Jersey Automobile Club (AAA), who noted that "statistics show that alcohol is involved in at least 50 percent of traffic fatalities, injuries and auto-related property damage. These accident rates rise dramatically each year during the holiday season."

Here are the AAA's low-key ways to distract attention from the bar without infringing on the

-Mix the first drink for guests yourself, if you wish, but have a self-service bar set up for the remainder of the party. Studies show that guests tend to drink less and make less potent drinks when serving themselves.

-Include a variety of non-alcoholic beverages together with other drinks.

-Never pressure a guest to drink if the person has chosen not to.

-Push food instead of drinks. Have a tempting display of rich and starchy snacks and main dishes. Such foods will help slow down the absorption of alcohol into the bloodstream. Serve this food throughout the evening.

-Set an example as host and don't over indulge in drinking.

-Keep guests circulating with dancing, games or conversation, diverting attention -About an hour before the party ends, serve plenty of good, hot coffee. It will not sober anyone up, but it's a good substitute for that "one for the road."

-Despite these efforts, should you wind up with a tipsy friend, tactfully arrange transportation home or else offer to let the guest 'sleep it off' at your house.

Extra 'know-how' can help avoid winter driving delays

"Now does everybody remember the words? Happy

In the eyes of police officials who must keep traffic moving during winter storms, a little extra "know-how" can avoid prolonged and costly delays this winter.

"Traffic tie-ups not only inconvenience all motorists," a police spokesman has warned, but they often hopelessly block the movement of crucial emergency services as well. And it makes little difference whether local motorists or out-of-state cars are involved.'

The spokesman was Glen D. King, executive director, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and a director of the Safe Winter Driving League headquartered in Chicago.

King is adding the resources of IACP to a national effort to insure that all drivers have the know-how to overcome adverse weather conditions-winter driving precautions that have been recommended by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and that have been endorsed by IACP

N.J. opera fans to visit Spain

When maestro Alfredo Silipigni, artistic director and conductor of the New Jersey State Opera, conducts in Barcelona, Spain, on Feb. 13, he will be seeing some familiar faces in the audience. In fact, almost 200 opera devotees from New Jersey will attend that performance

The opera at the Gran Teatro del Liceo. Spain's most famous opers house, will be the high point of a one-week excursion by duespaying members of the New Jersey State Opera The group will be traveling to Spain to tour cultural attractions in and around Madrid and Barcelona and to attend the performance conducted by Silipigni

In Barcelona, Silipigni will conduct 'Fedora," an opera by Umberto Giordano. It is a lyric drama set in late 19th century St. Petersburg, Paris and Switzerland. Placido Domingo, world known tenor will star in the

Silipigni also has accepted offers to conduct at the Vienna State Opera and the English National Opera in London

Composed of past and present members of the New Jersey State Opera, the touring group will leave Newark Airport on Feb. 10.

In Madrid-the first stop-the opera followers will stay at the Hotel Palace. From there, the tour will move by plane and bus to Barcelona and the Hotel Avenida Palace. The visitors, besides attending "Fedora," plan an extensive itinerary in this center of Spanish

Barbara Cromarty, a New Jersey State Opera board member who is in charge of the trip, says that one stop will be the Picasso Museum. "Shortly before his death," noted Mrs. Cromarty, "Pablo Picasso donated some 200 of his priceless works to the City of Bar celona These paintings and at least 400 ad ditional 'Picassos' now grace the museum,

Bank industry reports show increase in consumer credit

Banking industry reports on consumer credit in this country show a boost in such borrowings in the latest figures available

The New Jersey Bankers Association said that statistics released by the Federal Reserve system showed that, as of September, bank consumer credit outstanding in the country was $172.92-billion. That included $1.48-billion in new credit granted in September which represented the highest monthly rise since December, 1975.

Figures compiled by the American Bankers Association also disclosed that of the total of consumer credit outstanding as of Sept. 30, delinquencies on the repayment of all of the loans involved was 2.36 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis. At the end of the two previous months it was 2.39 percent for July and August

The September delinquency rate translates to a dollar figure of $4.08 billion in loans that were in arrears on payments as of that date

Consumer loan deliquencies in New Jersey at the end of September were 2 32 percent. In neighboring Pennsylvania and New York the rate was 2 21 percent and 4 52 percent respectively Highest rate of any state was 4.72 percent in Maine and the lowest. 95 percent in South Carolina A loan is classified as delinquent if an installment payment is more than 30 days overdue

Categories covered in the ABA delinquency report included personal loans, those for autos, home appliances, mobile homes, recreational vehicles and property improvement, and bank card and revolving credit plan loans

N.J. Bell adds extra operators for the holidays

New Jersey Bell will have more than 2,800 operators on duty Christmas Eve and more than 1,950 operators on duty Christmas Day to handle calls requiring operator assistance.

"Customers can save time and money by dialing local and long distance calls themselves without operator assistance," said John J. Donnelly, the company's general traffic

Customers can also save money by taking advantage of an extra day of discount calling rates. Because Christmas and New Year's fall on Saturdays this year, the evening interstate rates on direct-dialed, out-of-state calls will apply from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Dec. 31. Usual weekend interstate rates will apply on both Fridays after 11 p.m. and extend through both Sundays until 5 p.m.

The Bell System also will watch closely the flow of worldwide telephone traffic on the holidays, so that the network can be rearranged to use all available circuits and "There will be, however, times when the network just can't handle additional calls in certain areas. The result will be a 'busy circuit' signal or announcement which the caller will hear." Donnelly said.

New Jersey Bell offers several suggestions to help holiday callers save money and avoid delays in completing calls:

-Dial all calls yourself because rates are lower for customer-dialed calls than for calls requiring operator assistance. -Place calls between 1 and 5 p.m. on Christmas Day, and during the morning and afternoon on Christmas Eve and Sunday. These are the slower holiday periods, although still relatively busy.

--Check time differences between the United States and other countries. It may make the difference between reaching a friend or relative on Christmas or the day after. -Spread calling over the total holiday period Nationwide, the Bell System expects a record 15 million interstate calls will be made on Christmas-one million more than last year's Rutgers administrator aids Puerto Rico farming project tropical horticulture by working with and

"People who think New York City's food prices are high should go grocery shopping in Puerto Rico," says Dr. Richard H. Merritt of Cook College, Rutgers University.

"They'll find food prices averaging about 15 percent higher there," he reports. "One of the main reasons for this is that Puerto Rico produces very little of its own food, which is one of the things they're working to change."

Dr. Merritt, a horticulturist and dean of instruction at Cook College, the state university's agriculturally and environmentallyoriented undergraduate unit, has been asked to help with the reorganization of the departments, curricula, research and extension programs and other related matters at the College of Agricultural Science (CAS) of the University of Puerto Rico.

"Puerto Rico has been a possession of either Spain or the U.S. for about 450 years and as such developed a largely export-oriented agriculture with the main crops being sugar cane and coffee," he pointed out.

"This means that about 60 percent of the commonwealth's food has to be imported, which is a major reason for the sharply higher prices," he said.

He said there has been a good deal of interest in developing a vegetable industry in Puerto Rico for some time but one of the problems: involved has been the fact that vegetable technology is lacking there Much of the necessary technology will have come from the commonwealth's Agricultural Experiment Station, Cooperative Extension Service and agricultural teaching faculty at the CAS, which is where Dr. Merritt is concentrating his work.

Dr. Merritt is tackling the problem of getting vegetable technology to the commonwealth by arranging a faculty exchange program between the CAS and Cook College.

While in Puerto Rico on a six-month sabbatical this year, he provided advice on restructuring the CAS curriculum in agricultural sciences and gave guest lectures in two graduate-level courses. He also had the opportunity to increase his knowledge of

Housewife finds career as construction job boss

Pat Ferris of Toms River is n wife and mother, but she also is boss of a 400-man construction crew, including her own husband, on a real estate job involving more than 5,000 homes—the only woman in the nation to handle a construction project of this magnitude

Mrs Ferris is project manager at Holiday City at Berkeley Township, where close to 3,000 single-family houses have been sold and another 2,000 are soon to be built. Designed for adults, the community features homes on p fee-simple hasis; that is, the house and land are sold outright to the buyer who receives title and deed to the property Mrs Ferris, clad in pants suit and armed with a clip board, can be seen climbing over floor joists, touring the scattered development sites on the sprawling tract or administering the mammoth program from her office in Toms River

The 5-foot, 2-inch project hoss made one concession to the job when she cut her shoulder-length hair to more managable, shorter style "Working in the wind, the rain, etc., and climbing over the job sites dictated a shorter hair style and a pants-suit wardrobe on the job," she

"New Jersey now offers much to the tourist and a summer festival would make our state that much more attractive to the millions of people who visit here," Gershen said

Tourism now ranks as the second largest industry in the state, Gershen said. The Department of Labor and Industry estimated that during a 90-day summer period (June 15 through Sept. 15) more than 45,000,000 tourists travel in the state and spend a total of $3.4 million More than half that number are from out of state.
