School bus, car collide in snow, children unhurt

A school bus filled with children going home for the day collided with a car on Central avenue in the snowstorm last Friday shortly after 3 p.m., Mountainside police reported. Only the bus driver was hurt.

According to police, the bus, driven by Pamela J. Bellek of Roselle Park, was travelling north on Central avenue near Hedge row when it was hit by the car driven by Joyce A. Wyckoff of New Providence road in Mountainside. Police said Wyckoff lost control of her car because of the icy condition of the road.

The bus driver later complained of pains in her side, the police report said, and she went to see her own doctor. The children and Wyckoff reported no injuries.

Police also reported that a man was injured after his car hit an abutment Monday morning on the exit of Rt. 22 east leading to Mountain avenue.

Police said when Christoph Bruno of East Brunswick made the turn off Rt. 22 his car got caught in the snow and he could not avoid the abutment. Bruno was taken to Overlook Hospital where he was treated and released, the police report said.

Maguire seeks state change on housing quotas

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-22) this week renewed his call for Gov. Brendan T. Byrne to rescind his Executive Order 35 mandating quotas for low and medium income housing. Maguire cited the Jan. 11 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court to support his argument. The court, in a case involving Arlington Heights, Ill., said it must be proved that the exclusionary impact of local zoning laws must be coupled with guilt of intentional discrimination before a federal constitutional violation can be established, Maguire noted.

"The clear and obvious intent of the ruling is to set aside arbitrarily established 'goals' similar to those proposed in the governor's executive order," he declared. "I call upon the governor to rescind the order now rather than face sure reversals in the courts later on."

The Byrne order ties county and municipal housing goals to financial penalties for noncompliance which Maguire has called "fiscal blackmail." He is one of 17 GOP legislators who filed suit to have the order set aside.

"I realize there are those who will argue that the Supreme Court ruling involves a case heard in the federal courts and that the executive order is a state matter," he said. "But the principle that local zoning laws and

Ice, snow removal costs reach $19,000 in less than a month

By KAREN ZAUTYK

The recent sub-freezing weather has put the heat on Mountainside's snow removal budget, necessitating the expenditure of nearly $19,000 in less than a month, it was reported at the Borough Council meeting Tuesday night.

Councilman Bruce Geiger, public works commissioner, noted that since Dec. 25, six snowfalls (a total of 22 inches) and icing conditions on five other days resulted in a total cost of $18,726. Approximately $5,000 was spent for the Dec. 25, 26 and 28 road clearing, and approximately $13,000 has already been used this month from a temporary 1977 snow removal budget appropriation of $21,300.

Geiger stated that "it may be necessary to make more money available" for road clearing work. Borough Attorney John Post said the governing body could make an emergency temporary appropriation. Council may call a special meeting to pass such a resolution.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi, noting he had received "a series of phone calls" from borough residents complaining about road conditions, explained that the borough must limit its clearing work since it does not have its own plows. "We have a contractual arrangement and we pay by the hour for each vehicle put on the road," he stated.

The mayor also noted complaints had been received that roads were not plowed during the previous week's slush storm. He explained this was not done on most streets because "we have found that when the forecast is for a deep freeze, it is wrong to push the slush and snow to the side of the road. It will turn into a block of ice, with damage resulting to cars and (causing) the inability of the storm drainage system to operate. The critical areas, however, were plowed."

Also at the session, Ricciardi noted a council committee, composed of Geiger, Abe Suckno and Nicholas Bradshaw, has been appointed to study the possibility of hiring of a borough business administrator. "The committee will define the job and select candidates for the Borough Council's review," the mayor said. No date was given for a final decision, but Ricciardi noted the task will take at least three months.

Two ordinances were introduced, with public hearings on both scheduled for the Feb. 15 council session. One would authorize the appropriation of $8,000 from the capital improvement fund for the purchase of a new public works truck; the other, adoption of which is required by the county and the National Flood Insurance Program, would regulate encroachments and land use in floodways and flood hazard

Teacher given time off for her military duties

The Regional High School Board of Education last week approved a military leave of absence for Karen Rusin of the Jonathan Dayton business education department so that she can take part in National Guard training exercises Feb. 28 to March 4. The action came at an adjourned regular meeting at the Arthur L. Johnson School in Clark.

In other business, the board established the position of assistant superintendent for facilities and maintenance and abolished the position of director of buildings and grounds, which is now vacant. The new post includes the duties of the old one, plus additional responsibilities.

Major functions for the new post will be: to plan for facilities usage in coming years, to develop and execute a districtwide maintenance and buildings and ground program; to make and maintain cost studies in those areas and to serve as a consultant in maintenance programs. There will also be staff responsibilities in improving custodial services.

The board approved course changes in the areas of industrial arts-home economics, business and distributive education, social studies, foreign language, social studies, English and cultural arts.

Louise DeRosa was named principal of Johnson Regional. He formerly taught at Dayton and then coached and taught at Johnson before becoming assistant principal there in 1964. DeRosa became acting principal following the death last summer of the principal, Robert Hough of Springfield.

Reel in Arizona on geology trip

Christopher Reel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Reel of Tanglewood lane, Mountainside, is one of 11 students at Franklin and Marshall College who are spending three weeks this month in Arizona doing geological field work.

A goal of the project is to give students a chance to compare the geomorphic and environmental development of an arid region such as Arizona with a humid region such as eastern Pennsylvania.

From January 5-9, the group explored the surficial, environmental and economic geology of the Phoenix area. Later, the students will do detailed mapping in the Superstition Mountain area, and then spend a week exploring the Oak Creek Canyon and the Grand Canyon.

Reel is a 1972 graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School and is majoring in geology at Franklin and Marshall.

New career for Freeman — teaching future tailors

Sal Freeman, who was a leader in almost every phase of civic life in Springfield before he retired last year, has embarked on a new career—as a teacher.

He is the instructor for courses in basic and advanced tailoring in the adult education division of Seminole Community College in Florida. Freeman operated Hy-Way Tailors in Springfield Center for 30 years before moving to East Orlando, Fla., last year.

He was also executive secretary of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce and director of the municipal civil defense program. Freeman moved here from his native Manchester, England, with his wife Lillian following World War 2.

He was honored for his contributions to the community by such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, B'nai B'rith, Elks, United Fund, Lions Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Freeman commented that the course he has initiated is designed to fill a need for trained tailors in the central Florida area. He stated, "I will be teaching a trade, not a hobby. This course is intended for those persons who need a job and want to make a start in the tailoring business."

"I'm not going to teach them how to custom tailor whole garments, but rather how to do the sewing, fitting and alterations that are needed commercially."

Report from Washington

By Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo

The recent Senate hearings to confirm Mrs. Patricia Harris as the new Secretary of Housing and Urban Development produced very little information about the future course of the Carter Administration in tackling some of the problems of the nation's urban centers.

At this point, talk of rebuilding the nation's cities and relieving New York City's financial pressures is not much more than an echo of campaign oratory. The long-range ambitions of urban renewal, which did not work effectively in the fifties and sixties, have been supplanted by short-term funding of community development projects.

In our own district of Union County, community development leaders complain that they cannot keep up with the constant shifts and changes in HUD policy. Just as soon as they fill out an application for HUD funding, the policies are changed at the federal level. Little wonder that local elected officials lose inspiration as a result of the red tape, delay and over-sold ideas.

However, the nation's housing and urban development record of the last 20 years probably deserves more credit than censure. Although New York City's regional planners bristle at the thought of suburban growth at the expense of the cities, they overlook the achievements in our new suburbs and what is happening in large cities around the globe.

While the United States' population has been decentralizing through suburban development, major cities in other parts of the world have been suffering a massive population explosion. This has created overwhelming social and economic problems that exacerbate existing government policies in those countries.

Whether by design or accident, the population of the United States has been leaving the larger, older central cities. Federal housing and highway construction policies have helped to direct millions of people, and business and industrial development, to new suburban areas. Had it not happened, the American cities might now be overwhelmed by population problems far more severe than those they now confront.

Contrary to the claims of some urban specialists, these policies have been successful in promoting new jobs, economic investment, education, housing and social opportunities.

This is not to argue in favor of deserting the cities. But it is apparent that no amount of government prodding can compel the American people to return to the cities unless they become safe, more attractive and offer better job opportunities.

Among the steps that should be taken are:

—comprehensive welfare reform including uniform national standards and a federal takeover to lighten the burden on the local property taxpayer.

—combating crime through tougher law enforcement, with speedy trials and mandatory prison sentences for certain crimes.

—new efforts to promote the use of the latest technology in energy, waste recycling, housing, transportation and health care within the central cities. In addition to making the cities more attractive and contributing to their vitality, it is often more economic to use new technology in the most densely populated centers.

—a revised approach to urban planning and design that rewards beauty and harmony ahead of the economics of using every square foot of space for business or housing rentals. The latter has produced a cluttered, unattractive and self-destructive atmosphere in which urban congestion costs money, hurts business, pollutes the air, and drives middle-income families to the suburbs in search of greenery and tranquility.

—flexibility in urban development policies to respect local interests, finances and ideas. Government programs that breed pre-packaged communities and formulas are hardly worth the effort or the enormous expense.

To sum it up, a new urban revival strategy in Washington must begin with welfare reform.

Average welfare benefits for each poor person in fiscal 1976 ranged from $370 to $3,033 with New Jersey and other Northeastern states paying an average of $2,428 per person.

During the election campaign, President Carter promised to clean up and reform the welfare mess. Now that he is in office with the support of a Democrat-controlled Congress, I want him to deliver on his promise.

I have written to him citing the new statistics on welfare payment disparities and asking that a federal takeover of welfare be included in the first package of proposals he sends to Congress.

While welfare is a major factor in the growth of problems facing our cities, there are, of course, other issues involved.

A new urban revival strategy for America must look beyond the immediate crises in New York City, Detroit and Cleveland in order to arouse national enthusiasm and support. It should be as concerned about cities like Elizabeth, Rahway and Plainfield as it is about New York.

But—above all—a bold approach must be taken to the nation's welfare mess.

March backed by lawmakers

A group of elected officials from Union County has endorsed the "March for Life" to be held in Washington, D.C., on Saturday. The date marks the fourth anniversary of the Supreme Court's 1973 decision legalizing abortion. The purpose of the event is to call upon Congress to enact a "human life" amendment to the U.S. Constitution to prohibit abortions.

Among officials endorsing the march are Congressman Matthew Rinaldo (12 C.D.), who co-sponsored a version of the amendment in the 94th Congress; State Senator Donald DiFrancesco and William Maguire (22 A.D.).

areas and establish storm drainage requirements within the community.

Concerning another flood prevention measure, Geiger reported that the borough has received plans from the county for channel improvements along Nomahegan Brook as part of the New Providence road storm drainage project. The borough attorney will review these; the council must now appoint a consulting engineer to complete the design work.

A contract covering the proposed joint project between Springfield and Mountainside for construction of a flood detention basin on the Baltusrol Golf Club property has been forwarded to Springfield officials for their review and comment. Post emphasized the borough has made no commitment as yet to the terms and provisions of the contract: "This is just a draft, for both sides to comment on, evaluate and perhaps modify."

Regarding the new "right turn on red" law, Police Commissioner Abe Suckno reported that council may ask the state highway department, which controls Rt. 22, to prohibit such turns at the light at the highway and New Providence road. Right turns on red are being permitted from Woodland avenue onto Mountain avenue, but this also may be reviewed. One resident attending the meeting requested such a prohibition because of possible danger to children who congregate at the Friendly's ice cream shop in warmer weather.

Mayor Ricciardi, commenting on the recent transfer of borough offices to the former Echobrook School, noted, "I think this is a tremendous business move for the community. We'll save the borough one heck of a lot of money by the use of Echobrook."

He added, "I am aware that the Barnes Tract was purchased for a borough hall, but I would like to see the borough continue to hold it and not sell it. I think it would be a mistake for the property owners of this community for their elected officials to sell that land."

Coffee boycott given support by freeholders

The Union County Board of Freeholders has gone on record in support of a consumer boycott of coffee following a recommendation from Freeholder Walter E. Boright.

Boright stated, "the skyrocketing cost of a pound of coffee has approximately doubled over the course of about one year. This is such a horrendous increase that it far exceeds even the cost of inflation. In spite of foreign excuses there really seems to be no sound reason for these unconscionable increases.

"Many consumer groups and advocates have suggested that the public take any of the following steps to support the boycott of coffee: 1. Completely eliminate purchasing of any coffee, and substitute in its place tea, soup, bouillon or other beverages. 2. Cutting down on the number of cups of coffee one drinks each day. 3. Drink your regular number of cups of coffee, but fill the cup only half way. 4. Brew less coffee in the pot with the usual amount of water, but brew the coffee longer than usual and 5. at work replace the coffee pot with a hot plate

UC to establish office for consumers affairs

A Consumer Affairs Office will open at Union College, Cranford, Tuesday. It was announced today by Douglas Sedelmeyer, director of community services.

The new office, located in the Union County Room of the Kenneth Campbell MacKay Library on the college's Cranford campus, will serve county residents who have consumer complaints or who are seeking information about their rights as consumers, he said.

The office will be an affiliate of the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs and will be under the direction of a member of the state staff.

The director will be assisted by volunteers from the county's 10 municipal consumer offices and student interns from Union College.

The Consumer Affairs Office will be open Tuesdays from noon to 2:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. It is expected, Sedelmeyer said, that Union County will establish a Consumer Affairs Office in the near future which will function in cooperation with the Union College Office of Consumer Affairs.

In addition to handling individual questions and complaints, the Union College Consumer Affairs Office will conduct workshops, lectures and seminars to help county residents become better informed and more alert consumers, Sedelmeyer said.

"The rights and needs of consumers in today's economy cannot be minimized," he added, "and Union College believes that this new community service is an appropriate activity for the college in its role as a community college."

In addition, he said, the program will afford students a valuable experience and the opportunity to serve the residents of Union County. The students, who will earn college credit for their efforts, will participate in a survey of pricing and quality of consumer-related goods and functions as support for the State Division of Consumer Affairs; in the development and dissemination of consumer education materials; in the formulation of policy for the county office, in drafting new legislative and regulatory initiatives, and in the evaluation of the college office's progress.

Union College, in cooperation with Union County Technical Institute, serves the community college needs of Union County under the aegis of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education.

Girls 4-0 in loop play, meet Verona Tuesday

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls' basketball team has won its first four Suburban Conference games, beating Summit, Caldwell, Madison and West Orange. The team will be host to New Providence in a game which Coach Ruth Townsend considers crucial. The team started the new year well by topping Summit, 37-35. Two technical fouls on the opposing coach, converted by Dayton's Sue Tacofsky, provided the margin of victory.

Dayton sophomore Ellen Stieve scored 14 points, her personal high, and grabbed 10 rebounds from her backcourt position. Tacofsky added 12 points, as did Cricket Franklin.

The Dayton squad rolled up a 14-point halftime lead and then held off a spirited Caldwell squad. Caldwell never quit, chipping away steadily at the Dayton advantage.

The Bulldogs were led by Stieve, Tacofsky and Franklin, who connected for 12 points in the game. Mary King and Cathy Gerndt each scored six points.

Against the Madison Dodgers, Dayton was in complete command throughout the game while winning, 68-62. The outcome of the game was not as close as the score indicated. Late in the game, when Dayton substitutes took the floor; the determined Dodgers fought back to close the gap.

Tacofsky led the scoring with 20 points. Franklin added 18 and Stieve 11. King rebounded well and scored nine points; substitute Barbara Martino hit for six points.

Dayton rolled over West Orange, 68-42. The runaway victory gave the starters a well-deserved rest.

Tacofsky again led the scoring, hitting 22 points from her forward position. Franklin added 15 while Stieve scored 12. Gerndt directed the attack and contributed a career-high total of 10 points.

Coach Townsend's squad is now tied with Verona, last year's conference champions, for the conference lead. Tuesday, the Bulldogs will travel to Verona to face their arch rivals in their most important game to date.

Faculty five, Yank 'stars' slate benefit

CHRIS CHAMBLISS

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Varsity Club will sponsor a fund-raising basketball game between the American League champion New York Yankee All-Stars and the Dayton Regional faculty Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

The major league stars' roster will include Roy White, Thurman Munson, Jeff Torborg, Rudy May, Willie Randolph, Gene Michael, Elston Howard, Chris Chambliss, Willie Wilson, Micky Rivers, Glen Borgman and Johnny Briggs, but only seven or eight players will show up—depending on who is available that evening. A Varsity Club spokesman said the club will not know until five or six days before the contest which major leaguers will actually be on hand.

Tickets for this contest may be purchased in advance for $2 from any Varsity Club member or by calling the high school office. Tickets will cost $2.50 at the door. An autograph session will be held at halftime so youngsters may get autographs of their favorite baseball players. Refreshments will also be available.

Dayton wrestlers fall to late Caldwell surge

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team split last week defeating Arthur L. Johnson, 32-29, but lost to Caldwell, 34-22.

The Dayton Bulldogs, now 3-1, will face Millburn tomorrow at Millburn. Four pins in the Johnson match gave the Bulldogs their victory—Dean Pashian at 101 pounds, Pat Picciatio at 108 pounds, Alan Layton at 135 pounds and Dan Solazzi at 148 pounds. Pat Smith also won at 148 pounds and Mark McCourt at 170 pounds.

But the key battle, according to head coach Richard Iacono, involved 129-pounder David Gchlik, who battled his opponent to a draw. "If Dave had lost to his man, who is an extremely tough wrestler, we might have lost the match."

Against Caldwell, Dayton took an early lead but it was wiped out by a late Caldwell blitz.

Victories by Dean Pashian, Pat Picciatio and Mike Calabrese gave the Bulldogs a 15-2 lead. Caldwell then captured seven of the next nine matches (four by pins) to hand Dayton its first loss of the season.

Dave Gchlik and Rich Cedarquist both won for the Bulldogs with Gchlik getting the lone Dayton pin.

7-2 Senior Minutemen defeat Millburn, Summit

By CRAIG CLINCENGER

The Springfield Senior Minutemen outclassed two opponents last week to boost their record to 7-2. In games in the Gaudineer Junior High School, the Seniors rolled by Millburn Wednesday, 52-32, and outthrust a fine team from Summit Saturday, 67-57.

Guards Alan Berliner and Billy Condon spearheaded the Minutemen in the Millburn contest. Millburn stayed close until Alan and Billy sparked their teammates to a 20-point fourth-quarter rally which put the game on ice. Alan was the top scorer of the night with 15 points and led Springfield with six assists and four steals. Billy's solid floor game and aggressiveness on defense were instrumental in the victory. Billy finished the game with three steals, two assists and 12 points.

Donald Meixner put forth his best rebounding effort of the season and scored eight points while grabbing 20 rebounds. Billy Chesley assisted Donald off the board with 15 rebounds and six points. Jerry Blabolil hit some timely baskets and finished the game with five points. Roy Zitomer (two) and Jack Chin (four) added the offensive attack. Todd Leonard, Steve Altman, Larry Walker and Courtney Bachus came off the bench to help the Seniors.

The Seniors gained their seventh victory of the season against a strong Summit team. The Minutemen put forth their finest team effort of the season to stop what could be the finest shooting team they will see this year. It wasn't until the fourth quarter that superb shooting, strong rebounding and smart ballhandling by Springfield brought the game into the hands of the Minutemen.

Cocaptain Billy Chesley played his best game of the season on offense and defense. Chesley led all players in the backboard department by pulling down 19 rebounds. Chesley also poured in 21 points, 11 in the fourth quarter. Chesley was five-for-six from the foul line. Donald Meixner was right behind with Chesley in rebounds with 15. Meixner turned many of his rebounds into important baskets and finished with nine points.

Roy Zitomer and Alan Berliner paced the Seniors from the guard spots with 13 points apiece. Alan led his team in playmaking as he recorded nine assists; Roy had three. Jerry Blabolil played a scrappy defensive game, snatching more steals than any player on his team, four. Jerry also added a pair of buckets to the Senior offensive attack.

Billy Condon came off the bench in the second half to give the Minutemen a lift. Besides a strong floor game at point and wing positions, Billy also aided Minuteman scoring by netting seven points.

Bulldogs easy victors in opening dual meet

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School indoor track team last week defeated Kenilworth in its first dual meet of the season and competed in the state developmental meet at Princeton's Jadwin Gym.

Against Kenilworth, the Dayton Bulldogs dominated every event. In the 60-yard hurdles, Frank Ruggieri, Brian Belliveau and Jay Fine finished first, second and third. Mike Carrol won the 60-yard dash with Belliveau and Harvey Kaish tying for third.

The Bulldogs swept the quarter mile with Kaish, Carrol, Rick Spina and Peter Kranos taking the first four spots. Jim Stadler and Jay Hannigan tied for first in the half mile with Bob Mercer third.

In the mile Brad Weiner, Bob Phillips and Chris Clunie completed another sweep for the Bulldogs while Bob Roché, Greg Rusbarsky and Russ Lausten finished first, second and third in the two-mile event.

The mile relay team (Ruggieri, Kaish, Stadler and Spina) easily beat the Kenilworth team. Brandon Gambee, Andy Herkalo and John Guiliana swept the shotput to complete the scoring for Dayton.

Head Coach Martin Taglienti was very happy with the team's performance. "I thought our athletes performed very well. Overall, I am quite pleased."

In the state developmental meet, two Dayton athletes had standout performances.

Bob Roche ran a 10:09 two mile, the fastest for a Dayton runner this year, and Brian Belliveau cleared six feet in the high jump.

The Bulldogs competed against 40 other schools from the state and although they did not place in the top 10 the team was very competitive in all the events.

Taglienti feels that meets such as these benefit his team greatly. "I want to expose our athletes to as many of these big meets as possible. They help our athletes get adjusted to tough competition."

Roessner wins midget tourney 90-lb. mat title

The Springfield Midget wrestling team made a strong showing last week while competing against Cedar Grove, Maplewood and Summit in the Maplewood Midget Wrestling Tournament.

Joe Roessner, a sixth grader, went undefeated in the 90 pound weight class, pinning his opponent from Cedar Grove in 47 seconds and defeating his opponent from Summit, 8-2.

Second place medals went to Jack Vogel, Frank Colatruaglia, Tony Apicella, John Kelly and Ed Francis.

Bronze medal winners included Jared Fleisher, Paul D'Andrea, Matty Smith and Ron Buthman. Ribbons were also awarded to Glen Horwood, Eric Eidleman and Chuck Bell for placing fourth.

Team members who did not participate in the tournament, but will be wrestling during the year, include Rich Spillane, Ken Burroughs, Vincent Costellani, David Lubetkin, Mike Burroughs, Jim Halpin, Jeff Miller, Jack Mendel, David Szymanski, Tom Schramm, Peter Herzlinger, Billy O'Toole, Joel Jaffe, Dan Gigantino, David Brown, Jack Zotti, Rich Policastro, Allen Rice and Vincent Giacomo.

Coaches Bob DiNunzio and Gary Wagner said they were very pleased with the team's performance and are looking forward to a winning season and continued support from the community.

Juniors coast to two victories for ninth in row

By CRAIG CLICKENGER

The Springfield Junior Minutemen completely overwhelmed opponents from Millburn and Summit last week to extend their unbeaten streak to nine. Millburn was routed by the Springfield seventh-graders last Wednesday, 59-21. The Minutemen controlled the game from the first minute of play. Robert Steir set the pace for the Juniors by scoring 12 points and his teammates followed with a very well-balanced scoring attack. All but two of the Minutemen scored in the contest.

Starters Danny Circelli, Larry Maier and Peter Ard each had six points. Peter led with eight rebounds while Larry led Springfield with five steals, and three assists. John Sivoiella, another Minuteman starter, netted four points.

David Johnson had a strong floor game, coming off the bench to score seven points. Kenny Palazzi added six points while Tom Ard, Kyle Hudgins and Marlon Jackson each had four. Hudgins and Robert Horwood had seven rebounds each for the Juniors.

The Juniors' second victory of the week came against Summit last Saturday. The Springfield seventh-graders produced their largest scoring effort of the season as they defeated their opponents, 74-49.

Most of the scoring was done by Robert Steir, Peter Ard, Larry Maier and Danny Circelli. Steir had 24 points and Ard 17 for the Juniors. Steir's ability to turn rebounds into points and Ard's shooting from his wing position were unmatched. Both boys also displayed their strength at rebounding as they finished with a combined total of 26.

Larry Maier had a field day at the Minutemen point position. He led his team with 11 assists and six steals. The Minuteman playmaker also netted 13 points while Danny Circelli, the other Junior in double figures, had 10. John Sivoiella was a strong force off the boards as he grabbed six rebounds. Kenny Palazzi added a pair of buckets and a foul shot to the Minuteman scoring while Thomas Ard (two) and Robert Horwood (one) were the other Minutemen to score. Ron Fusco, Kyle Hudgins, Jon Usdin, Marlon Jackson and David Johnson also saw action.

State plans to expand its tests of exhausts

The N.J. Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) plans to expand the state exhaust testing program to reach big gasoline powered trucks and buses, and new cars prior to their delivery from the showroom.

currently exempt from inspection." Bardin said other related regulations proposed this week would upgrade the testing program "to achieve more effective pollution control, energy conservation, consumer protection and overall fairness."

State inspection stations will continue to apply the emission standards now in force until the new regulations are adopted. Public hearings will be held in March in Trenton and Newark with a decision expected next summer.

The proposed amendments also: —set a separate standard for light weight fuel-economy cars and more restrictive standards for heavier models.

—prohibit tampering with emission control systems.

—provide for training and certification of emission control mechanics.

—set an upper limit for repair costs for 10-year or older cars.

—entitle vehicle owners, in specific cases, to reimbursement by the manufacturer for necessary repairs (subject to EPA adoption of regulations to enforce emission warranty provisions of the Clean Air Act).

At the present time, all licensed cars and light duty trucks are required to undergo annual emissions testing at state inspection lanes. Passenger diesel powered buses are checked twice a year by the Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

Bardin pointed out that the proposal to begin dealer testing of brand new automobiles may depend on amendment of the Federal Clean Air Act or federal EPA regulatory action.

"Governor Byrne pushed during the last congressional session for the adoption of tough federal new car standards coupled with mandatory in-use vehicle emission testing nationwide," Bardin said. "He intends to renew these efforts with the next Congress as well as request another amendment which will allow states with inspection programs to require the inspection of new cars prior to delivery."

Bardin said the testing of new cars would assure the buyer of getting a clean-running car and would provide a measure of consumer protection. "Pre-sale testing would turn up any defects before the car reached the customer," Bardin noted.

"From our experience since 1974 with the vehicle emission inspection program we know that the air is getting cleaner," Bardin said. "At the same time, we think we can do a better job in setting standards for different types of vehicles making the program fairer to owners."

BABY'S BEDTIME BOTTLE CAN BE A HIGH-RISK ITEM Your baby's teeth are a priceless treasure which the bedtime bottle can destroy.

Scientists at NIH's National Institute of Dental Research point out that your children's teeth can suffer real damage if you regularly put an infant to bed for naps and at night with a bottle filled with sugar-containing liquids such as formula, fruit juice or soft drinks.

The longer this practice is continued, the more damage will be done. The condition that develops is sometimes called "nursing bottle mouth" by dentists and physicians. Most of the upper front teeth of a child with this condition are badly decayed. Restoration of the teeth is difficult and may be impossible. It may be necessary to remove many of them.

Scientists emphasize that the amount of sugar eaten is not as important in causing tooth decay as the frequency of the intake and the length of time retained in the mouth.

Using a bottle at mealtime presents no problem because the solution is swallowed quickly. However, during sleep the fluid pools in the mouth, bathing the teeth in sugar for the entire period. This sugar is changed into decay-producing acids by certain bacteria in the mouth. The reduced flow of saliva at night also helps to keep the solution in the mouth. Decay in these instances is almost entirely restricted to baby's upper front teeth, since the tongue covers the lower teeth and the liquid stays above the tongue.

The ultimate price of infant decay is appalling, not alone in the expense for attempted repair, but also cost to the child's future in terms of physical well-being and appearance. Premature loss of deciduous or baby teeth may alter the eruption time and sequence of permanent teeth with detrimental results. And those front teeth are important in development of proper speech.

Help your baby by giving it a bottle before bedtime; or at least remove the bottle as soon as baby is asleep. Also, water can be used as a substitute for sweeter liquids as a pacifier. Baby won't like this at first, but will adjust.

Finally, parents should be on the lookout for cavities in baby's teeth. Cavities usually start as a little spot, white or dark, but mother should realize that any spot on the front of baby's teeth means that the dentist should be consulted immediately.

In fact, your dentist should be consulted early in baby's life. By age one and a half, or certainly no older than two and a half, baby should have been examined by a dentist. Recent studies show that a high percentage of one-to-two year olds have tooth decay. Much of this decay is believed to be related to "nursing bottle mouth."

To avoid problems, many dentists advise that bottle feeding be stopped as soon as the child is physically capable of drinking from a cup or glass. They add that a child who takes a bottle to bed after the age of 10 months is likely to develop infant tooth decay.

Proper concern for and care of your baby's teeth can make for a happier childhood and better dental health throughout life.

'Stomp' honors late Pee Wee

The New Jersey Jazz Society has been keeping the memory of jazz clarinetist Pee Wee Russell alive by putting on memorial concerts each year at the Martinsville Inn. This year the concert will be held on Feb. 13.

A spokesman for the society said, "Some of the world's greatest jazzman converge each February to donate their time and talents to Pee Wee's memory. The proceeds from these jazz spectacles have permitted NJJS to create a fully-paid scholarship at Rutgers in Russell's name."

He also said "the 1977 Memorial Stomp promises to be one of the biggest stomps to date. NJJS will honor Joe Venuti, the jazz violinist, and Max Gordon, proprietor of the Village Vanguard in New York, with special awards for their service to jazz."

In addition, he said, eight bands will play at the stomp. Further information and tickets can be obtained from NJJS at 51 Woodland ave., Verona, 07044.

Freehold gets office complex

Barnegat Development Co. of Brielle has acquired a 4.5 acre site for its new professional condominium office complex, Wemrock Professional Mall, off Rt. 537, Freehold. Ground-breaking is expected to take place sometime this month.

The office-condominium concept has proved to be a dramatic achievement for Barnegat Development in its first condominium complex, Ocean Medical Park in Brick Town, which is limited to members of the medical profession.

Financing for the project was arranged by A. Hamilton Associates, a Spring Lake Heights mortgage realty firm. Tom Sheridan, president of Hamilton Associates, said his company has found a strong desire on the part of the banking community to provide financing for projects of this type.

Dr. Thomas V. Sollas Jr., president of Barnegat Development, believes Wemrock Mall condominiums offer professionals unique advantages of ownership, such as freedom from rental and cost-of-living increases, escalation, appreciation of real estate values, tax benefits, professional management and an opportunity to custom-plan their office space.

Wemrock Mall Condominiums were designed by the architectural firm of Armstrong, Jordan and Pease of Somerville. The unique design features an offset rectangular complex of four split-level buildings, interconnected by ramps and walkways and overlooking a central landscaped mall with trees and benches.

Ramps which lead to ground-floor offices and upwards to second-story offices are convenient for the elderly and the handicapped. An unusual system of color-and-symbol-coded signs strategically placed throughout parking areas and buildings will direct visitors to their destinations. The style of Wemrock Mall is contemporary, yet perfectly compatible with the residential feeling of the area. Vertical-sided cedar exteriors and creative landscaping will enhance the non-commercial, park-like effect.

Barnegat Development selected the Freehold Township site for Wemrock Mall because of the area's future as the heart of commercial development in western Monmouth County.

The section of Rt. 537 near Wemrock Mall is within the vital "Rt. 9 corridor" and intersects with other major arteries to the east and west. Nearby is the now-expanding Freehold Hospital.

The two 2 1/2-story garden apartments contain a total of 60 one-bedroom units. All apartments are air-conditioned and there is on-site parking for all residents. Both properties are convenient to the nearby heart of the Elizabeth business district.

Prince Associates was represented in the negotiations by attorney Ralph Fucetola of North Arlington. Attorney Donald Legow of Livingston represented Connix Corporation.

Gebroe-Hammer Associates specializes in the sale of investment real estate and also deals in major commercial properties. Its operations are conducted by a staff of highly skilled real estate professionals who have the necessary expertise demanded by this challenging aspect of the industry.

Merit Technology Applied To 100mm Cigarette.

'Enriched Flavor'™ process adapted to new low tar 100mm cigarette with remarkable success.

MERIT established a whole new taste standard for low tar smoking.

If you smoke but haven't chosen to take advantage of the MERIT breakthrough because you prefer a longer length cigarette, you'll be interested.

Because now there's a MERIT for you, too. New MERIT 100's. Only 12 mg. of tar. Yet packed with extra flavor. The kind of flavor that makes "low tar, good taste" a reality for 100's smokers.

'Enriched Flavor' Tobacco

Like MERIT, MERIT 100's are packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco fortified with certain key flavor-rich ingredients isolated in cigarette smoke, and proven to deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

We taste-tested MERIT 100's against some of the toughest competition we could find: higher tar 100mm cigarettes.

Here are the results.

Test Data Conclusive

New 12 mg. tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg. to 19 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested.* The results: overall, they liked the taste of MERIT 100's as much as the higher tar 100mm brands tested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL King Size and new 100's.

The taste barrier for low tar smoking has been broken again.

Catholic schools launch drive for more students

An army of 500 volunteers has begun an effort to increase enrollment in Catholic schools of Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Union counties, it was announced by the superintendent of schools of the Archdiocese of Newark, Dr. Richard T. Corrado.

Dr. Corrado said the campaign was organized during October and November, with a series of training programs carried out in December. He emphasized that the campaign is designed to attract students to parochial schools "because of their high educational standards and their excellent learning environment."

Corrado said that local school participation is voluntary and based upon need, since in some areas Catholic schools are at capacity.

Out of the 267 parochial grammar and high schools in the four counties, nearly 150 are participating.

"About two-thirds of these will undertake strong enrollment campaigns," said Dr. Corrado, "while the other one-third will be striving to make the local parish community aware of the excellence of Catholic schools without necessarily engaging in a recruitment drive."

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rossi of Nutley and Mrs. Lila Ralph of Newark are Essex County leaders, and Ron Diaz of Elizabeth and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald of Elizabeth are Union County leaders.

Among deaneary leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Rossi and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cifrodella of Newark, Essex County, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lalevee of Springfield, Richard Hill of Westfield and Mrs. Rosanne Barone of Roselle, Union County.

In addition, he said, each parish will designate one leader supported by volunteers or "apostles," as they are called in the campaign.

"Those in the enrollment drive are obtaining lists of parents whose children are not in Catholic schools and making contact with them in any number of ways, including open houses at the schools, by telephone or visit, or even by letter. We've supplied them with necessary support material and campaign training guides."

Direct deposit on increase for social security

New Jersey recipients of social security retirement benefits are following the national trend and opting for greater use of direct deposit of their monthly checks.

The New Jersey Bankers Association reported that more than one million persons in the state receiving social security payments, more than 136,000 had signed up for the direct deposit procedure as of December. This was an increase of nearly 3 1/2 percent over the preceding month. Nationally, for the same period the increase was nearly 17 percent.

Under the direct-deposit program, persons receiving social security benefits can arrange to have their monthly checks sent directly to the financial institution of their choice where the funds are credited to their savings or checking account. The program was initiated by the U.S. Treasury Department as an easier and safer way for the recipients to receive their monthly payments.

Of the social security payments now being credited monthly to the savings or checking accounts of New Jersey recipients, the U.S. Treasury said more than 108,000 are being processed directly through commercial banks in the state; approximately 15,500 through savings banks; slightly more than 12,000 through savings and loan associations, and less than 200 through credit unions.

Aid urged to keep ex-cons out of jail

WASHINGTON—Financial assistance to inmates at the time they leave prison is wholly inadequate and unable to sustain them as they try for a new start on the "outside," according to a study completed for the Department of Labor.

The report by the American Bar Association says such programs "fail to ameliorate the hardships confronting a released prisoner during the critical transitional phase between institutional and community living."

Upon release from a federal or state prison, most inmates receive a small gratuity called "gate money" ideally, the report states, it should enable a released prisoner to support himself until he is able to receive his first pay check. In fact, according to the report, it is wholly inadequate in most locations.

The report, "Back on the Street—From Prison to Poverty," by the American Bar Association's Commission on Correctional Facilities and Services, deals with the financial resources of released offenders.

The report identifies the extent and kinds of direct government financial assistance available to a releasee. It states that financial assistance to released inmates could be a major factor in preventing their return to prison, thus "creating attendant benefits in reduced police, court, corrections, and victimization costs."

Forty-six states, the District of Columbia, and the federal government—by statute or regulation—grant gate money to inmates at release. The current assistance ranges from a minimum of $2 in the District of Columbia (for some misdemeanants released) to a potential of $1,430 in Washington state. The largest distribution of gate money falls within the $10 to $100 range (40 states). The four states which do not afford direct monetary assistance are Alaska, Delaware, North Dakota, and South Carolina. In these states, clothing and transportation are furnished on the day of release.

Adequate financial assistance through an income maintenance system would meet the releasee's most pressing need—cash—and would greatly aid in the reintegration process, the report states. Such a system would give him or her time to locate a job, provide for the purchase of living essentials pending employment or receipt of the first paycheck, and nurture the equal treatment of ex-offenders with other citizens in need.

Barrens fund gets $100,000 to buy acreage

The New Jersey Conservation Foundation has received two gifts of $50,000 each toward its goal of raising $750,000 for purchase of fragile Pine Barrens lands.

The two-year grants have been donated to the private, member-supported organization by the Frederick W. Beinecke Fund and the Florence and John Schumann Foundation, to help it acquire sensitive sections of the vast Pinelands in South Jersey for eventual use as public parkland.

NJCF is working with The Nature Conservancy, a nationally prominent conservation group, toward protection of the region from encroachment through sale of selected tracts to the state or federal government.

In announcing the donation, NJCF president Edward F. Babbott said, "These gifts are greatly appreciated by everyone involved in our campaign. They will play a vital part in helping us save a portion of the Pine Barrens from the unplanned development which could prove destructive of the region's wilderness and agricultural heritage."

"It's nothing serious...it just needs new batteries."

Sheehan issues caution on fees for construction

N.J. Community Affairs Commissioner Patricia Q. Sheehan has cautioned New Jersey's local governments to be sure that construction permit fee schedules adopted as part of the Uniform Construction Code do not exceed the actual cost of enforcement.

"A review of ordinances filed with the department...indicates that a number of municipalities are not complying with the requirement that construction permit fee schedules be based upon a report prepared by the construction official or building, plumbing and electrical inspectors," Sheehan said.

"This local report should state the operating expenses of the construction code enforcing agency," she continued. "The fee schedule should then be calculated to cover the municipal enforcing agency's actual costs."

The Commissioner stated that any increased expenses—specifically attributable to enforcement of the uniform code—are exempt from the new "cap" law, but she added "the report is necessary to support the exemption."

"The Uniform Construction Code Act provides for the statewide enforcement of a modern performance code at no direct expense to the taxpayers, but the fee schedule which will finance the enforcement must not exceed the cost of enforcement," she stated. The statewide code went into effect Jan. 1.

'Dreams' talk at Seton Hall

Dr. Leo Gold of East Orange, psychiatrist and leader in the national Adlerian movement, will present a lecture demonstration on "Your Dreams and You" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the faculty lounge of the Seton Hall University Student Center, South Orange. Admission charge for the event, which is being sponsored by the N.J. Society of Adlerian Psychology in conjunction with the Seton Hall Department of Psychology, will be $3 for non-members and non-students.

State's Congressmen endorse 'sunset' bill

Although the New Jersey delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives will be made up of 11 Democrats and four Republicans, the members will be unanimous in their approval of three measures designed to increase the openness and accountability of government.

This prediction comes from N.J. Common Cause, the citizens' lobby whose activists circulated a questionnaire among all the candidates for Congress before the November election, to obtain commitments on proposed legislation.

The measures on which all 15 New Jersey Representatives are in agreement are a "sunset" law, and rules that will restrict the activities of members of Congress and of the executive branch of government in situations where they face a conflict of interest.

"Sunset" legislation, a recently-developed concept, requires that regulatory agencies and other federal programs be evaluated periodically, and terminated unless their continuation can be justified.

The conflict-of-interest legislation which all 15 agreed to support was a rule that would require members of Congress to abstain from voting in committee on any matter that would provide a significant financial benefit to them.

They also answered "yes" to the question: "Will you support legislation to restrict executive-branch officials, for a limited period after leaving their agency, from taking jobs with private enterprises with which they dealt directly and substantially while in government?"

Answering other questions about conflicts of interest in the executive branch, 14 of the members-elect agreed to support legislation prohibiting officials for two years after leaving government, from taking jobs with companies or institutions that were directly affected by specific proceedings, such as licensing or awarding of contracts, in which the official participated. Congresswoman Helen Meyer, Democrat, answered this with a question mark.

She also questioned legislation prohibiting former officials, for the same period, from representing any party before their former agency in any legal, lobbying, or other professional capacity. Joseph Le Fante, Democrat, 14th District, said he would not support this measure. The rest of the state's Congressmen and women agreed to do so.

EUROPEAN GROWTH
Industrial output for the European Community is forecast at 3.8 percent for 1977, compared with 4.1 percent in 1976.

Fourteen of the 15 also agreed to vote to establish a single House committee, similar to the Senate Intelligence Committee, with legislative, oversight, and budget authority over all U.S. foreign and domestic intelligence agencies. Democrat Peter W. Rodino Jr. said, "I believe that oversight may more effectively be conducted on an agency-by-agency basis. I would support a committee... which has clear oversight responsibility with respect to the CIA. I would also support the continued jurisdiction of the Judiciary Committee over the FBI." Rodino has been, and is expected to continue to be, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

State agency will review how it figures population

A complete reevaluation of the population estimating process and the method used is under way at the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry, according to John J. Horn, acting commissioner of the department.

Because of the increased importance of state population estimates in state funding programs, Horn said, the need for a careful examination of the population estimating process is necessary to clarify differences between state estimates and federal estimates developed by the U.S. Bureau of Census.

Arthur O'Neal, director of the division of planning and research, said, "Currently we are confronted with two sets of population estimates, the state estimates which are used in state funding calculations and the federal estimates which are used in federal funding calculations. Both sets of estimates are produced using widely accepted by different demographic techniques. Our effort in this comprehensive evaluation is to study these differentials and to examine both methods for possible adjustment.

"We are going to make every reasonable effort to improve the estimating process and to offer to government at all levels in New Jersey the most accurate and useful estimates possible."

Assistant Director Shirley Goetz, who heads the Office of Business Economics, said that a special program is now being implemented for consultation with county planning officials. "We want to get all the input we can from local officials in our effort to make our estimates as accurate as possible," she said.

The Division of Planning and Research is also working closely with the U.S. Bureau of Census to analyze the differences in the state and federal estimates, to test alternative estimating methods, and to resolve as far as possible the differences which exist between the two sets of estimates.

Show seeking gal to man ship

Three New Jersey girls will have the opportunity to serve as "captain" and "mates" for the Jersey Coast Boat Show at the Asbury Park Convention Hall, Feb. 19 through 27.

"Piping aboard visiting dignitaries and serving as Nautical Ambassadors of Good Will are among the duties," Tom Gasque, director of the boat event, said. "While the captain and mates are always attractive, appealing to the traditional photographers who flock to the show annually, an outgoing personality and interest in meeting people are important," according to Gasque.

"Because the show runs nine days," Gasque continued, the captain and mates' "duty hours" are flexible, should a New Jersey gal be holding down a regular job or be going to college. Interested girls may contact the Jersey Coast Boat Show for details about the selection. A letter requesting further information should be sent with a black and white photo to Captain and Mates, Jersey Coast Boat Show, Convention Hall, Asbury Park, 07712.

Abuse reports guideline listed

A series of guidelines defining child abuse and neglect situations which should be reported to county prosecutors for possible criminal investigation has been drawn by officials of the state departments of Human Services and Law and Public Safety.

Human Services Commissioner Ann Klein and Attorney General William F. Hyland said the guidelines are the result of several months' work by officials of both departments, under the direction of Deputy Human Services Commissioner David Einhorn and Robert J. Del Tufo, director of the Division of Criminal Justice.

The guidelines are part of a mutual policy statement concerning the referral and investigation of child abuse cases which was recently distributed to all Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) staff and to county prosecutors.

"The guidelines identify the kind of cases which should be referred to prosecutors," Commissioner Klein explained. "At the same time, the statement spells out specifically the responsibility of the prosecutors to give consideration to caseworkers' recommendations concerning the investigation of these cases."

'Safari' tours at Turtle Back

The special weekend "Winter Safari" tours at Turtle Back Zoo, so popular when introduced in November and December, are being offered again during January, a spokesman reported.

Designed to acquaint visitors at the West Orange Zoo with the ways zoo animals acclimate themselves to New Jersey winters, the tours are offered Saturdays and Sundays at 11 a.m. through Jan. 30.

Special Safari guides lead participants around the zoo, explaining the "defrosting" habits of the animal residents. Camels and zebras, for example, popularly considered tropical beasts, thrive in the winter by building up heavy coats.

Safari participants receive a free "Survival Kit" before each tour begins in the Education Building. The tours are free with zoo admission. For further information, readers may call 731-5800.

Assets exceed $300 million

Assets of the Investors Savings and Loan Association rose past the $300 million mark in 1976, according to a report issued this week by Roland Lewan Jr., president of the institution. Total assets for the year were $320,202,381, a gain of $44,685,145.

"Savings soared 17 percent, to a record high of $293,641,322," Lewan said. "Gains in this area were as strong in the second half as in the first six months of the year. Obviously savers remained convinced that the security and convenience of a savings account continued to be the best investment available."

Lewan said the association is looking forward to a strong year in 1977. In December it announced plans to merge with Supreme Savings and Loan Association, which has three offices in Irvington and Springfield. Plans are under way to open a permanent office in Freehold early in the new year, Lewan added.
