GE recalling lamp holders due to defect

Ellen Bloom, director of the Union County Office of Consumer Affairs, warned consumers this week that the General Electric Co. announced the recall of about 9,000 "Time-A-Tan" sunlamp holders manufactured between January and March this year.

Faulty timers in some of the units, it was reported, could fail to turn off the sunlamp, resulting in over-exposure and possible severe sunburn, although no such incidents have been reported to GE. The timer device is supplied by another manufacturer for assembly into the GE sunlamp holder.

The GE "Time-A-Tan" units are easily identified by their yellow color and dome-shaped base. In addition, the model number RSK-6 appears on the bottom of the unit.

GE is requesting the return of all sunlamp holders, whether faulty or not, with the number 60, 61, 62 and 63 on the face of the bulb itself. The two-digit number appears below the letter "P" in the word "sunlamp" on the bulb face. The recall does not include units with bulbs numbered 59 or lower or those units purchased by consumers before Jan. 1.

Returned units will be replaced free of charge. Owners may ship the lamp holder (without bulb) to GE Sunlamp Return Office, 1705 Noble road, Cleveland, Ohio 44112, or obtain additional information by calling the toll free long distance number 800-321-7170.

Bateman post goes to Alliston

Mrs. Ethel Alliston of Mountainside who served as deputy clerk and chief clerk of the Union County Board of Freeholders for 50 years until her retirement in 1976, has been appointed chairman of volunteers for the Union County Bateman for Governor Committee. The appointment was announced by State Senator Peter J. McDonough, campaign manager for Senator Raymond H. Bateman's bid for the Republican nomination.

Mrs. Alliston will operate from the Bateman for Governor headquarters located at Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge Rt. 22, Springfield.

Mrs. Alliston announced that the committee has phone centers operating from Springfield, Clark, Elizabeth, Westfield and Summit. She said college student volunteers are among those phoning Republicans to urge support for Bateman. She also noted that phone volunteers include several Spanish-speaking citizens.

Senator Bateman made several campaign stops in Union County last weekend and plans "at least six more" before the primary election June 7.

POLISH CONSTITUTION MONTH Walter E. Boright, (left) Freeholder vice chairman, presents proclamation marking May as Polish Constitution Month to Mrs. Katherine Green, vice president of the county Federation of Polish Organizations, and Jacob Krowicki, president, as Freeholder Rose Marie Sinnott (right) looks on. Boright noted that the Polish Constitution, adopted in May 1791, was probably the most liberal document in Europe.

Non-clinical setting for treatment center

An alcohol detoxification center "can be operated for much less money than a medical center."

She said the center "will be a home, a place to feel comfortable while detoxifying. We want to make it as open and cheerful and home-like as possible."

Back-up medical services will be available for the 20-unit center, which Mrs. McGeary expects to serve 1,700 persons annually.

Teresa McGeary, director of the Union County Division, National Council on Alcoholism, said a non-medical

Mollozzi backs Hoffman drive

John Mollozzi, chairman of the Union County Board of Freeholders, this week announced his endorsement of Joseph Hoffman for governor. Mollozzi said that Hoffman "is the only Democratic candidate who has the capability and potential to pull our state together and to solve the problems that confront us, especially the unemployment problems."

"Joe's 15 years of experience in state government makes him the most qualified to govern New Jersey. When Joe was commissioner of labor and industry, he brought 20,000 new jobs to New Jersey at no cost to the taxpayer. At the same time, he cut his state budget by 6 percent."

"Joe is our favorite son," continued Mollozzi. "He grew up here in Elizabeth and Roselle. He is the candidate with the strongest statewide base of support and he is building an impressive base in Union. Joe can unite Democrats throughout the state. He is the only Democratic candidate in the race who can win in November."

Union College schedules 100 courses in summer

Union College's first summer session will open Tuesday with an anticipated enrollment of more than 2,000 students, it was reported by Prof. John Wheeler of Westfield, director.

Close to 100 courses in all major disciplines will be offered in day and evening classes during the six-week session, Prof. Wheeler said. Courses parallel freshman and sophomore offerings at four-year colleges and universities. Areas include liberal arts, fine arts, business administration, biology, physical science, engineering and criminal justice.

In addition to three new courses in literature, Existentialism and Literature, the Wisdom of China and India, and Women in Literature II, a number of existing Union College courses will be offered in the summer session for the first time. They include: Journalism Practicum, Music in the Twentieth Century, Introduction to Television and Myth and Literature. The basic studies certificate program designed to prepare adults for college level work will also be included in the summer program.

Classes will be conducted Monday through Thursday with the exception of three Fridays, when classes will be held to make up for holiday closings. The session runs through Friday, July 8.

A second summer session will be conducted from Monday, July 11, through Thursday, Aug. 18. It is possible, Prof. Wheeler said, for a student to earn up to 24 credits by taking courses day and evening in both sessions.

Consumerist praises Crestwood policies

Citing what he termed Crestwood Village management's "wonderful organization," Damian G. Murray, director of the Ocean County Department of Consumer Affairs, singled out the builders of the retirement community on Rt. 530, Whiting, for "their community spirit and the fact that they do care about the consumer."

After having received a copy of the Crestwood publication, "How to Figure the Costs to Purchase and Live in a Retirement Community," Murray was asked to comment.

"This is exactly the type of document we wish every developer would provide for his prospective customers," he declared. "It provides in advance a disclosure of the costs the buyer will incur, and at the same time serves as a basis of comparison with other communities. I'm sure it inspires confidence in the buyer, since it demonstrates that Crestwood has nothing to hide," he added.

Murray was the guest speaker at a new residents' "Get Acquainted Luncheon" at the express invitation of the retirement community's builders, Mike Kokes, Herbert Wishnick and Jan Kokes, because, as Wishnick put it in his introduction, "we at Crestwood are particularly proud of the protection that we afford our consumers ... we spend literally hours analyzing and scrutinizing our sales messages to insure our consumers truly get an honest representation of our product ... the 'Honest John' approach."

In remarks made following his prepared address, Murray said his office "hadn't had any problems with Crestwood Village. We have had full compliance with any problems in the consumer field," and contrasted it sharply with smaller, "fly-by-night" builders and remodeling contractors who take deposits and then cannot be found.

Mobilehomes, rec vehicles in June show

The mobilehome community offers an enticing lifestyle, according to Annette E. Patrick, executive director of the New Jersey Mobilehome Association of Trenton, which is sponsoring a Statewide Leisure Living Show in Burlington next month.

Scheduled June 8-12, the show will tie in leisure living at home in mobilehomes and on vacation in recreational vehicles. Show site is a large complex at the foot of the Burlington Bristol Bridge.

The mobilehome is an "instant house" set up by the dealer on a lot leased by the purchaser. Mobilehomes come in different sizes, ranging from about 900 square feet to 1700 square feet, and cost from $14,000 to $35,000, with the average in the $17,000 range. Homes are built to government standards. There are one, two and three bedroom models.

"Today's mobilehomes are energy savers, offering extra insulation, storm windows and doors, and foundation skirting. Some manufacturers are experimenting with solar heating," a spokesman said.

"New Jersey's new mobilehome communities are miniature resort areas offering social and recreational facilities previously known only in the expensive southern vacation lands."

The largest display of mobilehomes ever assembled in New Jersey will be featured at the Statewide Leisure Living Show. A variety of manufactured homes will illustrate single and double unit models; new products also will be displayed, including solar heating methods, supplies and accessories; and there will be displays on mobilehome communities

THE SUTTON, a four bedroom colonial priced at $66,990 is one of nine new home models available at Shadow Oaks, a Garden State Land Co. development in Holland Township, Hunterdon County.

Energy-saving package a Shadow Oaks plus

Shadow Oaks in Holland Township, Hunterdon County, has one of the lowest tax rates in the state of New Jersey, (effective rate of 76 cents per $100), thus providing low operating costs for the homeowner. A $63,000 home would be taxed at the rate of $485 annually or $40 a month.

The GSL Development Corp. offers purchasers another way to cut monthly operating costs by reducing energy costs. At a recent press conference, Sol Bernard, president of GSL, talked of the new package offered to purchasers of homes at Shadow Oaks.

The program is broken down into three major parts: consumer education, standard energy features and energy saving options.

A spokesman noted: "The education begins as soon as the potential homeowner walks into the model home. Energy saving features are highlighted and explained to the prospective purchaser in terms of the annual energy savings and the potential tax credits based on President Carter's proposed energy program."

The standard energy package includes thick insulation in the sidewalls and ceilings. The houses are sealed and caulked, have steel insulated exterior doors, double-hung windows and insulated sliding glass doors, and are heated by an energy-efficient oil hot water baseboard system. "The system should qualify for a tax credit under the proposed energy plan," the spokesman said.

Optional features include additional insulation (up to 11-inches thick), a choice of insulated glass or storm windows, additional weather stripping, automatic clock thermostat, attic fan and other options.

The company has four basic models with major style options on each, providing the buyer with nine different homes from which to choose.

The Cambridge four bedroom colonial, priced at $62,990, offers a family room with one half inch thick paneling and a nine foot ceiling.

Also featured is the Hampton Ranch, at $63,900. Cathedral ceilings make the oversized living room especially dramatic. The house also features breakfast area off the kitchen.

Particularly popular has been the Sutton, a four-bedroom home with three dormers and a colonial style portico. The Sutton features an optional porch with a built-in barbeque, French doors, and a "free extra room" off the master bedroom. Its price is $66,990.

The Canterbury colonial, with 2,000-square feet of living space, offers four bedrooms, two and 1/2 baths, dining room, family room, a 17-foot kitchen with a breakfast area, and an upstairs laundry room—all for $69,990.

All homes have oak flooring, oak bannisters and railings, a choice of aluminum siding, natural or painted cedar shakes, full basements and concrete block foundations.

The purchaser also has a choice of three different developments in which to purchase their Shadow Oaks home. Shadow Oaks East offers a 14-acre park reserved for its residents with individual lots of one to one and a half acres each. Shadow Oaks West is situated on Oak Hill Golf Course, is adjacent to an elementary school and is down the block from the Hunterdon County YMCA. The Y costs $7 a year per person, the golf course, about $560 per year. At Shadow Oaks of Alexandria, the buyer has his choice of several remaining three-acre lots.

Shadow Oaks can be reached by taking Rt. 78 to the Pattenburg exit. Follow the signs to Pattenburg. Go four miles south to model on your left. Models and sales office are open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

Dayton track defeats Verona to hike unbeaten record 9-0

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity track team defeated Verona 78-43 to raise its unbeaten dual meet record to 9-0. The Bulldogs also finished in fifth place in the Union County championship meet. Dayton will face Linden today in a home meet.

Coach Martin Taglienti's squad once again dominated its hapless dual meet opponents. In the 100-yard dash Mike Carroll took first place while also capturing the top spot in the 220. Rick Spina and Harvey Kaish came in first and third, respectively, in the quarter mile. In the half, Jay Hanningan and Mitch Krasnoff ran to first and third place finishes. The mile was taken by Jeff Knowles while the two-mile was captured by Greg Rusbarsky.

Brandon Gambee once again was victorious in the shotput with Andy Herkalo coming in second. In the discus Herkalo took first as Don Lusardi finished in third. Bob Conte hurled his way to a first place finish in the javelin event while Bob Lampert followed in third place. The high jump saw Kevin Doty and Willie Willburn come in first and third as Carroll finished second on the long jump.

Gambee pulled off an upset over favored Ed Urbanski of Union in the shotput event of the county championships. Gambee's throw of 55 feet 4 inches was good for first place in the event. Frank Ruggieri captured third place in the intermediate hurdles and a fourth place in the high hurdles. Brian Belliveau came in fifth in the high hurdles. In the discus, Herkalo finished in fifth place while Rusbarsky ran his best race of the season, running under 10 minutes for the two-mile for the first time.

Coach Taglienti said he was very satisfied with the results of the meet. "Only the Group Four schools beat us," he said. "We defeated all the Group Two and Three schools which are on our level."

The freshman track team scored an impressive victory over Linden. Some fine performances were put in by the frosh. John Alexi tied the school freshman pole vault record at 9 feet 6 inches. Israel Joseph came in second and John Meisel finished fourth. Pat Mays took the quarter mile and Jeff Knowles finished first in the mile. Knowles also took first place in the shotput and came in second in the discus.

Bulldogs, now 4-16, play final game today

By MICHAEL PETRO

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team dropped two out of three games last week, losing to Millburn, 3-0, and West Orange, 6-5, after defeating Clark, 5-4. The Dayton Bulldogs, now 4-16, will face Madison today in the season finale at Madison.

Last Wednesday's victory against Clark was an exciting come-from-behind affair. Four runs in the fifth inning erased the 2-1 lead Clark had built up. Ed McCain's two-run single provided the winning runs for the Bulldogs. A single by Ed Johnson had tied the game at two apiece. Brian McNary provided the other run for Dayton with a run-scoring double in the third inning. Rich Galinkin recorded his second victory after relieving Dave Ironson in the fifth inning.

Dayton went down to its fourth shutout loss of the season against the strong pitching of Millburn's Jim Gladson. The Bulldogs managed six hits off Gladson but were unable to seriously threaten until the seventh inning when they loaded the bases with none out. But reliever Mike Mulcahy came on to retire the next three Bulldog batters in order. Pete Episcopo had three hits for Dayton. Mike Petro took the loss despite holding Millburn to just three hits.

Once again, as has been happening all year, a bad break sent Dayton down to defeat in the West Orange battle. A bases-loaded, bad-hop single over the second baseman's head in the fifth inning allowed two West Orange runs to score and break a four-all tie. The Bulldogs fought back in the seventh when McCain's pinch-hit single closed the gap to only one run. But the game ended at 6-5 when a Dayton runner was thrown out trying to move from second to third on the hit. Episcopo had two hits and two RBI and McNary banged out a single, knocked in a run and scored once.

Dayton netters win singles but fall to Madison

By MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School tennis team dropped a 3-2 decision to Madison Monday, despite the stalwart play of Donna Lies. Coach Richard Iacono's squad is mired in a drastic slump.

Lies won her match in the minimum two sets. Dan Schlessinger also defeated his Dodger opponent, but Peter Hess could not keep up with his foe and thus lost the match.

No victories were recorded in the doubles area.

DOT to hold hearing on five-ton truck limit for section of Rt. 78

The Department of Transportation will hold a public hearing next Thursday at its regional office at the intersection of Routes 1-9, 21 and 22 in Newark on a recently adopted regulation that bans trucks over five tons from the westbound roadway of Interstate Rt. 78 between Route 1-9 in Newark and the Garden State Parkway in Hillside, Union County. The hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a one-hour informal information session starting at 6:30 p.m.

The section of the highway is to be opened to westbound traffic about July 1. It will connect with a completed section extending to Springfield and connecting with Rt. 24 at that point.

The restriction was adopted to prevent trucks destined for westerly points other than Rt. 24 from having to exit on local streets.

The regulation contains an exemption that allows permits to be issued for trucks exceeding the five-ton limit if their origin or destination is close to Rt. 78, east of the Garden State Parkway, or if their destination is Rt. 24.

The purpose of the hearing is to afford citizens the opportunity to comment on the regulation and to have their testimony entered in the official hearing record. Based on the evaluation of the hearing record, it then will be decided whether the regulation should be repealed, amended or retained.

The hearing will consist of an official presentation by the department's Office of Community Involvement, followed by an opportunity for citizens to give testimony concerning the traffic regulation.

Persons wishing to testify for the record may register to speak upon arrival at the hearing. Written statements and other documents concerning the regulation may be presented in place of or in addition to oral statements made at the hearing. These statements and documents must be submitted to the department's Office of Community Involvement, 1035 Parkway ave., Trenton, by June 12.

Latin stages campus comeback 'Dead' language revived by new method

"The death of Latin in the high schools was probably a good thing," according to Johanna Glazewski, a classics scholar and former dean of the College of St. Elizabeth who will be teaching an introductory course in Latin at Drew University, Madison, this summer.

"Many high schools have stopped offering Latin at all," she observed. "But perhaps that was necessary to force reconsideration of how to teach and use Latin and the other classical languages in the modern world."

Paradoxically, the decline at the high school level is occurring just when classical studies in colleges appear to be on the rise. A nationwide survey last year showed enrollments up everywhere, said Dr. Glazewski.

In many high schools, the demise of Latin has been painfully prolonged by misguided efforts to save it, she said. Traditionally, the first year was "nothing but grammar." The second consisted of "a steady diet of Caesar's campaigns when one would have been sufficient." The third undertook "the stiff orations of Cicero."

By contrast, teachers using newer techniques save more time by realizing that students have no need to speak, but only to read, a classical language. Dr. Glazewski said she can impart enough Latin grammar and vocabulary to enable students to read some of Horace's urbane verse or Cicero's penetrating studies of friendship and old age by the middle of the first semester.

"The ability to read something of obvious value in the original pleases most students, and many more are willing now to go on with the study than if we had left them at the end of the semester with nothing but grammar," she noted.

But there's more than new teaching methods behind the growing collegiate interest in the classics. Dr. Glazewski traced the phenomenon to a resurgence of the liberal arts in higher education.

"As an undergraduate, what you major in is not nearly so important," she said, "as the process of becoming an interesting, educated person. And I doubt whether anyone who hasn't exposed himself to the ancient authors can be considered educated."

"The ancients had such keen insight into human nature" she said. "You really must go back to them if you want to understand what's happening today. It's not possible to grasp the significance of the women's movement, for instance, or the changing relationships between leaders and followers, unless you study the roots of these issues in the classical writers."

"As for in-translation courses, "there was a time when I swore to myself I'd never teach one," she admits. "But when I realized they might be the only alternative to nothing, I did an about face."

Dr. Glazewski is preparing an in-translation course for the fall on the concepts of leadership in ancient literature.

"It won't be the real thing, of course," she concedes with the trace of a smile, "but, as the Roman philosopher Lucretius first pointed out, before a customer will buy your wares, you must somehow get him into your shop to taste them."

June 2 commencement at Rutgers will honor six

Rutgers President Edward J. Bloustein will confer degrees on some 9,000 candidates for undergraduate and graduate degrees and deliver the principal address at the State University's 211th anniversary commencement in New Brunswick on Thursday, June 2.

Dr. Bloustein will also award honorary degrees to six persons representing law, science, the humanities and business in the 10:30 a.m. ceremony on Voorhees Campus Mall, off Hamilton street.

The honorees are historian Dr. Henry W. Winkler, former executive vice-president of Rutgers who is now executive vice-president of the University of Cincinnati; social psychiatrist Dr. Robert Coles, author of the 1973 Pulitzer Prize-winning "Children of Crisis"; international lawyer Sol M. Linowitz, co-chairman of the National Urban Coalition; theoretical physicist Dr. Philip Morrison of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; sociologist Dr. Talcott Parsons, professor emeritus at Harvard, and Richard B. Sellars, chairman of the finance committee of the board of directors of Johnson & Johnson.

The six will participate in a public colloquium June 1 on "The Democratic Process" beginning at 10 a.m. in the

Dental school goes four-year

The New Jersey Dental School of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, in Newark, which instituted a three-year, "trimester" curriculum five years ago, will begin a phased return to the traditional four-year course of study in September.

Approval of the four-year program has been given by the College's board of trustees, upon the recommendation of the dental faculty, and by the state's Board of Higher Education.

Students in the three-year track will remain on it until they graduate, but those in the next entering class and subsequent classes will enroll for four years.

Allan J. Formicola, D.D.S., acting Dean of CMDNJ-New Jersey Dental School, said that most of the 15 dental schools in the country that adopted three-year accelerated programs in the early 1970's have abandoned the approach, or are considering reverting to four years.
