Time-saving modern appliances are usually your good friends But they can become enemies if you don't allow them to operate efficiently Use them wisely and you'll save money on your utility bills while saving valuable energy too!

Watch your air conditioner. Check the EER (Energy Efficiency Ratio) on any new air conditioner. If it is 71, or greater, the unit has high efficiency and will save you money When the unit is operating, keep windows and doors closed. Wheelchair home grants available to disabled vets

A grant of up to $25,000 is available for seriously-disabled veterans interested in "wheelchair homes."

Max Cleland, VA administrator of veterans affairs, who lost both legs and an arm during the Vietnam conflict, reminded eligible veterans the grant can be applied to a new home, used to remodel an existing dwelling or to pay the balance owing on a home the veteran has modified at his own expense

Under the law, eligible veterans may obtain a VA grant of up to half the cost of a specially adapted home to a maximum of $25,000

Basically, eligible veterans are those who have suffered permanent and total military service-connected disability due to the loss (or loss of use) of both legs; blindness, plus loss of use of one leg; or other injury which prevents them from moving from place to place without the aid of a wheelchair, braces, crutches or canes.

Cleland urged disabled veterans to consult their nearest Veterans Administration office for detailed eligibility requirements. He pointed out other eligibility requirements include a provision that the veteran must be able to afford purchase of the "wheelchair home" with the assistance of the grant and that it must be medically feasible for the veteran to live there. To qualify for a VA grant a new housing unit must have at least two entry ramps located to avoid fire hazards, doorways at least 36 inches wide, hallways at least 48 inches wide, specially equipped bathrooms, specially located electric switches and outlets, an automatic smoke detector and other features

Cleland said VA field specialists will help eligible veterans choose a suitable lot for the housing unit, obtain the services of an architect, secure construction bids and arrange financing. The VA administrator also reminded veterans that some states provide special tax relief for owners of 'wheelchair homes'' and up to $40,000 mortgage life insurance is available to

At least two pairs of ospreys are nesting in New Jersey as a result of an egg-transplant program started in 1975 by the state Division of Fish, Game, and Shellfisheries' endangered and nongame species project.

A ranger at the Gateway national area at Sandy Hook, Deryl Stone, has observed a banded osprey which was one of the young fledged at Sandy Hook from eggs obtained in Maryland in 1975 A pair of ospreys, also from Maryland eggs, is presently nesting at a site

Biologists collected 25 osprey eggs near the Potomac River May 2 and 3 as part of the 1977 transplant program. The eggs were used to replace infertile eggs in Barnegat

The parade, sponsored by the American Zionist Youth Foundation, is the Jewish community's contribution to New York's pastiche of ethnic pageantry

Students from the Solomon Schechter School of Union and Temple Beth Or-Clark Jewish Center will march in the parade, now in its 13th year.

Although the bulk of the marchers will be teens and preteens from the metro New York area, their ranks will be augmented with participants representing professional and fraternal groups and organizations from the entire Northeast region and Canada.

This year's parade will focus on the 10th anniversary of Jerusalem's reunification following the Six Day War and will carry the theme "If I 0 Forget Thee. Jerusalem.''

As has been the case in the previous six years, the parade will be highlighted by the Interstate Marching Band Competition. The bands, which will come from all over the East Coast and Canada, will all perform Jewish and Israeli music.

State unemployment rate shows slight April rise

Both employment and the size of the labor force increases sharply in New Jersey between March and April, leaving unemployment little changed at 9.7 percent of the labor force, according to John J. Horn, Commissioner of the N.J. Department of Labor and Industry

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 9.6 percent in March, after having dropped from an annual average of 11.0 percent in 1976 and from 13.4 percent in September 1975 when it was at its recession high

The number of unemployed in the state increased by 3,100 in April on a seasonally adjusted basis to reach a total of 331,800 Unemployment in surance claims declined, but this was offset by somewhat greater unem ployment among new entrants to the labor market who are not covered by unemployment insurance. According to the estimating procedure mandated by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is being challenged by the state in federal court, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in New Jersey was 9.3 percent in April compared with the state estimate of 9.7 percent, while the unemployment total was 308,100 against the state's estimate of 331,800 Commissioner Horn announced that there was an increase of 25,600 in the state's nonfarm wage and salary employment between March and April. before seasonal adjustment

Two TV statts plan joint effort on N.J. news

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, chairman of the board of trustees of WNET-Channel 13, and Dr. Edward J. Meade Jr., chairman of New Jersey Public Television, have signed a formal agreement to co-produce a nightly news program covering the events of the day in the state and their effect on the people of New Jersey.

The two-year agreement commits both organizations to staff, produce and broadcast the nightly series, which is expected to premiere in the fall. The program will represent a substantial increase in New Jersey coverage by the two public television organizations and will reach an anticipated audience of one million homes a week

The planned joint production will allow for expansion of New Jersey Public Television's present five-day news program to a seven-day schedule and will result in more comprehensive daily coverage of statewide news. Direct production budget for the 30minute program will be $2.5 million, $1 million of which will come from WNET-Channel 13. The executive producer will be chosen by the news directors of the two producing organizations.

Present plans call for the program to air over the New Jersey network at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 7:30 p.m., or earlier. Saturday and Sunday, and to continue broadcasting an updated version nightly at 10. WNET-Channel 13 plans to broadcast the program weeknights at 6:30 p.m., with a broadcast of the updated version early the following morning.

'in the dark' about credit laws Working women in New Jersey don't understand the federal and state laws which ban discrimination against them in all phases of consumer credit. Even state officials responsible for enforcing the laws need to bone up on their knowledge of them, according to a survey of 82 working women and seven investigators at an office of the state's Division on Civil Rights who handle reported violations of laws involving women and credit

The questionnaire was developed by Ellen Klugman, 20, a Drew University junior from Livingston, who coor dinates the Task Force on Credit and Personal Finance for the state's International Women's Year project. The survey was conducted with the help of her fellow students in a class on sex roles taught by Drew sociologist Joanna Bowen Gillespie

Three areas of knowledge and at titude were investigated: recognition of discriminatory practices forbidden by the equal credit opportunity laws. reactions to hypothetical cases involving such discrimination and understanding of the importance and means of establishing a separate credit history, even within the context of the family

On the last point, Ms. Klugman called the responses of the working women surveyed "both distressing and timely." For, starting June 1 and continuing through November 1 of this year, all husbands and wives with joint accounts will be given the option of having credit files maintained separately by their creditors. The woman who fails to make the change, she said, will find all credit information, regardless of whose income pays the bills, going toward the enrichment of her husband's credit history and financial identity.

Working women, state officials

In the event of his death or their separation, her shadow identity as a credit risk would evaporate, leaving her a non-entity in the eyes (and computers) of stores, banks, realtors and all other credit-granting agencies. After June 1, the keeping of separate records in new accounts in which both husband and wife participate will be automatic.

In the Drew survey, only three out of 16 questions pertaining to knowledge of equal credit opportunity laws were answered correctly by half or more of the women surveyed. On two of the three, almost half the women mistakenly thought that prompt payment in cash of all bills strengthens a credit rating while 45 percent did not know how separate reporting would affect their credit histories.

identify asked When tõ discriminatory practices, well over half the women queried either could not, or did so incorrectly. In the area of affirmative action, they showed themselves reluctant to complain or press suit if discriminated against.

The responses to her survey of investigators in a state Civil Rights Division office revealed "unfamiliarity with the federal Equal Credit Opportunity Act (ECOA) of 1975 and confusion over even some provisions of state law," she said.

She added, however, that "the Civil Rights people have been candid about their lack of knowledge and cooperative in considering ways to correct it."
