Condominium decision predicted within month

The long stalled attempt by Chatham Realty Co. to win permission for a 21 apartment condominium in Mountainside may reach a decision next month, the Echo learned this week.

The matter has been under consideration at one level or another since 1973, when Chatham Realty applied to the Board of Adjustment for a zoning variance to construct the apartments on a 1.3-acre tract at the northwest corner of Rt. 22 and New Providence road. The board denied that request in April of 1974.

The applicant then sued to upset the denial. Judge Cuddie E. Davidson of the N.J. Superior Court ruled in 1975 that the denial had been arbitrary. He directed that the board approve the application and that the matter be forwarded to the Borough Council for its decision.

That was done, and the Council denied the variance on Jan. 20, 1976. The applicant then took the matter to court again.

Borough Attorney John Post this week commented on the status of the case: "Chatham Realty has moved for summary judgment on that count of the complaint which asserts that the governing body arbitrarily denied the variance. The governing body has filed a brief which asserts that it properly denied the variance. The issue is scheduled to be decided by Judge Milton A. Feller in N.J. Superior Court some time in July."

Post noted that the applicant had also attacked the constitutionality of the zoning ordinance, which forbids multi-family buildings anywhere in Mountainside.

Several recent decisions have been interpreted as weakening this argument, which leans heavily on the so-called Mt. Laurel decision. That precedent is now limited to developing communities which have ample land for future development. Mountainside has virtually none.

The Mt. Laurel decision directed that a community near Camden to provide in its zoning regulations for housing which could bring a measure of racial and economic balance to the community.

The Chatham Realty condominiums, with prices ranging up from $40,000 per apartment, are seen as unlikely to bring many underprivileged members of minority groups to Mountainside.

A new lease on life CSH aids smoke victim

Leon Lawson sometimes appears to have an inexhaustible amount of energy.

He also has a hearty appetite, an outgoing personality, and he loves to talk.

"Sometimes," laughs his mother, Susan Lawson, "he talks too much."

But Mrs. Lawson is really thrilled with Leon's happy chatter, seemingly boundless energy and friendly personality—for it means that Leon is a healthy and happy 2½ year old.

It's quite a contrast to the Leon she knew last New Years Eve.

Leon had been sleeping with his father in their East Orange apartment when the father smelled smoke. He discovered a fire in the kitchen, but when he returned to the bedroom, he couldn't find his son.

About a half-hour later, the little boy was found unconscious under a bed, in respiratory arrest, and suffering severe smoke inhalation.

Leon was hospitalized in critical condition and required a respirator for six days.

The lack of oxygen during the fire apparently had caused severe brain damage, and after three weeks, Leon was transferred to Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside for rehabilitation.

When he arrived at CSH on Jan. 20, "he had no control over his head or limbs. His eyes didn't focus, he seemed unaware of the world around him, and he couldn't talk," recalled Dr. Mary Boyer, director of patient services at CSH.

DOT to explain Route 78 decision

The New Jersey Department of Transportation has announced it will sponsor three "information centers" in the local area relating to development of the Final Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) on Rt. 78 in Union County.

Department personnel and consultants will staff the centers from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the following dates and locations: Thursday, July 21, Springfield Municipal Building; Tuesday, Aug. 30, Braden Elementary School, Summit; and Thursday, Sept. 22, Berkeley Heights Municipal Building.

According to Lawrence T. McLaughlin, area coordinator for community involvement of the DOT, the sessions, "unlike the community involvement program that was conducted prior to the corridor public hearing (in June 1976)...will be designed to provide information rather than to gather local input."

The programs will cover data for the Final Environmental Impact Statement which will support the DOT's preferred highway alignment through the Watching Reservation, from Plainfield Avenue in Berkeley Heights to the area near Baltusrol Road in Springfield. The statement will be submitted to the Federal Highway Administration in early 1978.

At the sessions, the following information will be discussed and reviewed:

- Noise contour maps based on the latest analyses.
- Revised air quality data.
- Lowering the profile of the highway to reduce noise impact.
- Reducing the width of center medians and returning slope easements to the Union County Park Commission for park use.
- Constructing, at specific sites, several cut-and-cover sections of highway, 500-700 feet long, to preserve access between sections of the park.
- Modifying or eliminating interchanges.

Senior men may enter either the open or senior tournament, but not both. The registration deadline for singles is July 15.

Men's and women's doubles will be played on Aug. 6, 7, 13 and 14. The registration deadline is July 29. All of the tournaments will be held at the Echobrook tennis courts.

Driver of ambulance appeals traffic ticket

A volunteer ambulance driver, ticketed for allegedly careless driving during a light-flashing emergency trip to the hospital, is appealing his conviction handed down last week in Mountainside Municipal Court.

William C. King of Garwood was driving a critically stricken heart-attack victim from Westfield to Overlook Hospital in Summit when the ambulance passed through Mountainside on April 19. Mountainside Patrolmen William Moyland and Alan Kennedy, on foot, were directing traffic through a temporary construction tie-up on Summit road, between Sunnyslope and Echo, when the ambulance passed them.

King got the heart-attack victim to the hospital still alive, although the patient later died. Driving back through Mountainside, King was stopped and ticketed for alleged carelessness earlier when he was en route to the hospital.

Mountainside Municipal Judge Jacob Bauer found King guilty after a lengthy trial starting May 25 and reconvened last week. But the judge granted a stay of the penalty—$30 in fine and court costs—pending appeal. Court aides in Elizabeth said it probably will be at least September before the case goes through the usual appeal process in County Court.

Meanwhile, volunteer rescue squads throughout Union County were awaiting the decision with interest. It is believed to be the first local case in which an ambulance operator has been ticketed for his driving on an emergency run.

Testifying in Mountainside, King and the patrolmen differed dramatically about the speed of the ambulance. King said he was driving less than 40 miles per hour. The patrolmen estimated the speed as much higher. Moylan, who signed the complaint, claimed he was almost hit by the passing ambulance.

Defense witnesses included several women from the Westfield Rescue Squad who were tending to the patient while King did the driving April 19. King has been a volunteer several years for the Westfield squad, and he also serves on the Garwood Rescue Squad.

Twins defeat Vikings to pace playoff finals

By RICH REITER

In the final game of regular season Mountainside Little League Major League play, the first-place Braves lost to the third-place Twins, 12-10. The heavy hitters for the Twins were Scott Burdge (five RBI), Glenn Delaney (three RBI) and Matt Dooley, Billy Carthy and M.J. Castelo (two hits each).

The Braves and Twins met again in the opening round of playoffs. The game was a pitching duel between the Twins' Glenn Delaney and the Braves' Greg Van Name until the fourth inning, when the Twins bunched two of their three hits to score two runs. Castelo hit a double in the top of the sixth to give the Twins a 6-0 victory.

The Twins next advanced to the finals, to determine the Major League championship, where they met the Vikings.

The Twins scored three runs in the first on hits by Drew Greeley and Scott Burdge. In the Vikes' first, with men on first and second, Patrick Esemplare lofted a drive to right field that looked like an extra base hit until Kyle Wissel made a great catch and fired to second for a double play to stop the Viking scoring threat. The Twins went on to win, 5-2, behind the pitching of M.J. Castelo, for a one-game lead in this best-of-three series.

In Pony League action, the Broncos defeated the Pintos, 7-2, in the league playoff final. Broncos, with an unbroken string of playoff victories, ended the season with an 11-3 record. Mike Baumgartner earned the victory on the mound, allowing only two hits and two runs in seven strong innings. Baumgartner contributed to the hitting attack, along with Ronnie Zimmerman, Joe Sefack, Keith Hanigan and John Gerndt.

The Mountainside Broncos next traveled to Springfield to meet the Springfield champions, the Yearlings, and won the league championship, 12-3. Baumgartner again pitched, and was aided by the able relief of Keith Hanigan, who gave up only one hit in five innings, allowing no runs. Baumgartner went four for four at bat with three singles and a triple. The Yearlings' Bain, Usdin and Krop hit a total of four singles in the losing effort.

The State We're In

N.J. Conservation Foundation

Read this sentence carefully:

"A new concept in environmental education designed to offer the business-industrial community an opportunity to help eradicate the perpetuation in the public school system of the kind of environmental illiteracy responsible today for imbalanced, cost-benefitless environmentalism, while enhancing your firm's public image in the areas of corporate responsibility, citizenship and social consciousness."

I didn't make that up. I copied it from a flyer describing "an interdisciplinary-environmental education workshop" for elementary and secondary school teachers. Enroll for the six-week course and get six credit hours.

It will be held at Cook College, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, from July 6 to Aug. 17. The flyer describes it as "a pilot project, scheduled for nationwide, regional introduction, of the National Environmental Education Institute of the American Society for Environmental Education."

A cynic from the environmental side of the fence might wonder whether a course for teachers described that way contains a little bias favoring companies chafing under pollution restrictions. One must assume, of course, that such is not the case.

There may be educators who would be surprised to hear that the public schools are pushing environmental illiteracy which needs eradication.

Maybe there are those among us who have not realized the dangers of "imbalanced, cost-benefitless environmentalism." After all, the growth of public concern about the state of the environment has resulted in industrial pollution safeguards which a hard-nosed businessman might find hard to justify on the basis of his firm's profits.

A few might even wonder what teachers will be taught to teach our children about environmental values. Our children are tomorrow's voting public, which will shape legislation aimed at protecting the environment.

I've never heard of the American Society for Environmental Education, which says it's nonprofit and tax-exempt. I don't know anything about its sources of financing, but I do know we taxpayers finance Cook College.

This is another beautiful example of corporate issue management. It's fine to have this kind of "education," so long as we all recognize it is geared to enhance the special-interest "public image."

I'm somewhat surprised to see Cook College, as a state institution, providing this point of view, considering that it has devoted a good deal of its time in the past to providing an education which presents a more balanced outlook.

Wild ride costs motorist $185, loss of license

An Elizabeth man will pay $185 in fines and court costs and his driver's license will be revoked for three months for a wild ride in which he unsuccessfully tried to elude Mountainside Police Officer Herman Hafekens.

Roberts appeared June 22 before Mountainside Municipal Judge Jacob Bauer, who handed down the penalties.

Feinberg allegedly took the hubcaps June 1 from Pero Manufacturing Co. of Union and from Myron L. Pine of Springfield. He is free on $500 bail and the case has been sent to the grand jury.

Rose Geiser of Cranford forfeited $30 bail for passing a loading school bus.

the rehabilitative hospital for physically handicapped young people.

An intensive, comprehensive rehabilitation program was started: Physical therapists helped him in efforts to regain muscle tone and strength; occupational therapists worked on his fine motor control; and speech therapists tried to get him to verbalize and redevelop his abilities to understand language.

Then, on Feb. 3, Leon surprised the therapists when he said an emphatic, typically 2 year-old "No"—his first word since the fire.

Within two weeks after arriving at CSH Leon was focusing his eyes again, had gained control over his head and could sit up.

Leon began to regain other abilities, too. Gradually, he learned to walk again. First he toddled, supported by an adult's hands like a baby learning to walk for the first time. Then Leon learned to walk alone.

On April 29, just four months after the fire that nearly took his life, Leon went home.

Although he returns to the Mountainside rehabilitative facility for weekly follow-up and therapy, Leon is to all outward appearances, a healthy, happy and normal youngster.

Letters to the Editor

REPORT CORRECTED

The Mountainside Echo was misinformed regarding the civil rights violation as reported in the June 16 issue. The reporting was of the public Board of Education meeting of June 13.

The article was in error in that the want ad for an English teacher appeared in the New York Times on June 18, 1972, and not on January 13, 1975. The ad contained the following specifications: "A male or female beyond the interfering problems of motherhood is desired," not "above and beyond the responsibility of parenthood, which would interfere with after-school meetings" as reported in the Echo.

The board was unaware of the charge by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in Washington until the decision was handed down Jan. 13, 1975, in favor of the charging party and the board was notified in February 1975.

It is true that the board as it was so constituted, at the time of the insertion of the ad, delegated the responsibility for the placement to the administration and did not pass on the wording. They had to assume that the ad would be worded with reasonable judgment.

The board now has a position for an English teacher open and if the claimant has the qualifications to fill the position, and can be located, she must be offered the position. However, until her qualifications can be examined it is difficult to pass judgment. It could be that she is well

GOP hopefuls: Bateman to lure Dems' support

State Sen. Peter J. McDonough (R-22) and his running mates, Assemblymen William J. Maguire and Donald T. DiFrancesco, this week said the election of Sen. Raymond H. Bateman as governor "would restore the two party balance" to New Jersey. They said they expect Bateman to attract "overwhelming" Democratic and independent support and defeat Brendan T. Byrne in November.

"The two-party system in New Jersey suffered a severe setback in 1973 when the Byrne landslide gave the Democrats a 29-10 majority in the State Senate and a 66-14 majority in the Assembly," McDonough said. "The Republicans added 17 Assembly seats in 1975 and I expect the two legislative houses to move even closer to a balance this year."

The Republican incumbents said Bateman's landslide victory in the June 7 primary will unite the Republican party behind his candidacy.

"We hope the income tax issue does not dominate the campaign as the press has speculated," Maguire and DiFrancesco said. Many other failures of the Byrne Administration and the Democrat-dominated legislature deserve public debate. The disastrous "thorough and efficient" education program, the energy mess, the state's "roads to nowhere," the bureaucracy and the total lack of effective leadership are among the other issues that must be discussed during the campaign.

McDonough, the Senate minority whip, seeks re-election to the upper house and Maguire and DiFrancesco seek to retain the Assembly seats they won in 1975.

Barbecuing may be dangerous-- these hints can prevent accidents

The U.S. Product Safety Commission estimates that more than 19,000 persons received emergency medical treatment in the past year for injuries involving barbecue grills; children under five were the most frequent victims. Males were injured twice as frequently as females, possibly due to their role as chief barbecuers.

Concerned with the number of injuries resulting from careless use of home barbecues, the New Jersey State Safety Council offers the following suggestions for accident-free barbecuing during the upcoming Independence Day weekend:

- If you use an electric fire starter, be sure it carries the label of a recognized testing laboratory, such as Underwriters' Laboratories (UL).
- Start the fire early so there is no need to hurry it along. Charcoal burns for a long time and best results come after the fire has burned to grey coals.
- Some of the worst barbecue accidents happen when the backyard chef, or his little helper, "freshens" a fire with one of the liquids sold to start charcoal fires. The moment one of these liquids hit a live coal, there is a whoosh of flame which can envelop the arms and face of anyone nearby in a glistering fire. So play it safe. Don't add starter liquid to perk up a sluggish fire.

--Keep children away from the barbecue grill to eliminate their touching the grill or accidentally pushing it over on someone else.

--The chef should wear close fitting clothing. Loose fitting shirts or frilly dresses can be hazardous around any fire or open flame.

--Use good grill equipment. One necessity is a long-handled spatula, fork or pair of long tongs for turning meat, getting potatoes or corn from the coals or moving hot coals around. A pair of heavy glove-type potholders and a water spraying device to keep the flames down is useful.

--And last, be sure that the fire is completely out before disposing of coals. This will prevent fires in trash containers or storage areas.

More funding for independent colleges asked

Increased and direct funding to independent colleges by the state would save taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars, the new president of Upsala College declared in his first public speech since assuming the presidency.

Addressing parents of new students at the college's first weekend orientation assembly, Dr. Rodney Felder, the sixth president of Upsala, called upon the parents and others to encourage their legislators to support larger and direct funding for the independent colleges and universities.

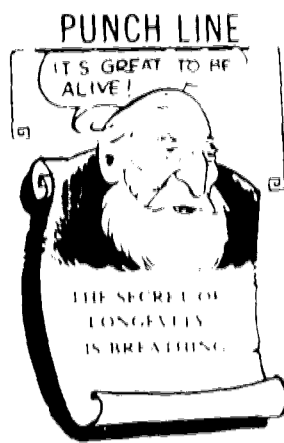

"Not only would the state's residents effect huge economies, but they would be provided with greater freedom of choice and easier access to college and university education for their sons and daughters if more funds were provided the independent sector," Dr. Felder contended.

Dr. Felder stated that more money for the presently underutilized independent colleges would relieve the financial burden of additional facilities at state institutions as well as the need for the larger direct grants to state colleges.

He pointed out that last year the education budget for the entire state

BRING THEM BACK ALIVE

.. You literally "bet your life" every time you drive too fast, try to beat a light, cut in and out of traffic, pass another car on a hill or curve! With the stakes so high and the odds so steep, does this kind of gamble make sense to you? Isn't it a lot better to drive with care...take a little longer to get where you're going...and ARRIVE ALIVE?

Ironically, on summer's happiest occasions the tragic toll of highway accidents zooms to the highest totals! Traffic is congested. Driving strain increases. Millions of good, bad and indifferent drivers are on the road, speeding, cutting in, weaving, challenging traffic controls. These are the times, above all to drive with EXTRA care...keep your temper...watch the other driver and bring your family home ALIVE!

in public education that it says would improve student mastery of the basic skills at every level and wettle a growing controversy over who should get a high school diploma.

The recommendations—adopted as a policy statement by NJEA's elective Delegate Assembly—would require every local school district to identify lagging students as early in their career as possible and to provide effective remedial instruction at once. The recommendations are not binding on local school districts but express the suggestions of New Jersey's organized teaching force for improving school quality.

On the question of granting diplomas, the NJEA policy statement recommends: "All graduates of an approved high school shall receive a diploma."

Because a diploma alone does not tell the quality of the graduate's attainment, the NJEA policy statement recommends that the high school make a transcript of the individual's work available for job-related purposes just as it does to college-admissions officers.

The NJEA policy statement opposes the proposal that the state give one pass-fail exam to high school seniors—a "diploma test"—just before graduation. "We don't believe young people should have to wait until they've ordered their caps and gowns to be examined on whether or not they'll get a diploma," said NJEA President Judith M. Owens.

"A last-minute diploma test undoubtedly would have the effect of pushing students out of school before graduation, significantly increasing the dropout rate statewide," Owens said. "NJEA has always felt that society's goal should be to lower the dropout rate. If the schools offer their lagging students help—rather than putting obstacles in their path—we will keep more of our students in school and produce better citizens."

On the overall question of pupil achievement, the new NJEA policy says: "Students should be able to attain reasonable levels of proficiency with basic reading, spelling, language usage and arithmetic skills." When students have clearly not achieved "to the degree of their ability," the NJEA policy statement recommends these special programs:

At the elementary level—additional attention within the regular classroom and/or training under a remedial teacher. If that fails to bring the lagging pupil up to acceptable levels of performance, says the NJEA policy statement, then the student should spend an extra year in a catch-up class designed for children lagging in the basic skills before entering fourth grade.

In the middle grades—special developmental classes for children whose achievement in the basic skills is below expectations. If the child's deficit is not overcome, the student should spend an extra year in a "transitional program" before entering ninth grade.

In the secondary grades—students should be required to take developmental and remedial courses in any of the basic skills in which their achievement falls below expectations. Those still lagging at the end of 12th grade should be allowed to enroll for additional study until they have mastered the basic program of the school district.

WAY TO GO — Terry Ann Tracey of Seaside Heights, home from college for the summer and serving as a tour guide, reminds motorists of the new bus shuttle service operating weekends between Exit 81 of the Garden State Parkway and Island Beach State Park.

Shuttle bus connects Toms River and park

A new bus shuttle service is now operating between Island Beach State Park and Exit 81 (Toms River) of the Garden State Parkway.

Donald T. Graham, director of DEP's Division of Marine Services, said "this experimental shuttle service will provide easy access to the park, reduced admission prices for bus users and will permit more visitors to enjoy the park."

Access to the park, Graham pointed out, has been limited in the past to the number of available parking spaces. DEP has initiated the shuttle with the support and services of the Department of Transportation and Commissioner Charles Starkey of the Highway Authority.

The cost of the bus service will be 50 cents per person, while the drive-in

Adults seeking degrees attend Kean session

Kean College in Union will conduct orientation sessions for new candidates for the EPIC (Education Provides Increased Career Opportunities) program (on Thursday, July 14, at 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.)

The program was designed originally as part of the college's commitment to New Jersey's adults, many with their first opportunity to resume an interrupted academic program or to begin work toward a long-desired degree.

Candidates for the EPIC program are permitted to enter Kean College as pre-matriculating students without taking an entrance examination. They can earn matriculated status upon the successful completion of 30 credits. EPIC counselors will also discuss the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) and special programs such as external education courses (home study) at these meetings.

Vocational guidance and counseling are available through the EVE office at Kean College, and there are developmental courses and laboratory work for students with weak skills in mathematics and composition.

Further information about the EPIC program and the orientation meetings may be obtained from Mae Hecht at 527-2210.

Howard assets pass $2 billion

The assets of The Howard Savings Bank, New Jersey's largest bank, with executive offices in Newark, have passed the $2 billion mark, it was announced by Murray Forbes, bank president. This milestone was reached just one month after the bank celebrated the 120th anniversary of its founding.

Howard deposits, representing over 500,000 accounts, now total $1.8 billion—an increase of over 100 million during the first half of 1977. Forbes reports that the bank expects to pay out over $100 million in dividends this year to its depositors; this will bring the cumulative total of uninterrupted dividends paid by the Howard since it was founded to just short of $1 billion.

The Howard's mortgage portfolio has grown in proportion with the rise in assets and deposits. Over $1.3 billion is invested in homes, schools, churches, hospitals and businesses.

Heavy police patrols planned for weekend

In preparation for the long Independence Day weekend, Colonel Clinton L. Pagano, State Police superintendent, announced that a stepped up enforcement program will be in effect during this period to encourage maximum compliance with the 55-mile per hour national speed limit.

During last year's 4th of July weekend period, 18 persons lost their lives as a result of 15 fatal motor vehicle accidents.

State Police plans for the weekend are as follows: Schedules have been arranged to provide saturation coverage by tactical patrol units, mobile radar, task force and breathalyzer operators with special emphasis on the critical hours when most fatal accidents occur. Marked patrol cars will be used to the fullest advantage, particularly where traffic flow is heavy. State Police helicopters will be used to assist ground patrols in spotting trouble areas and coordinating the free flow of traffic.

Secretaries plan meeting

"Hours of Learning—Years of Achievement" is the umbrella theme for the 32nd annual convention of the National Secretaries Association (International) July 18-22 at the Detroit Plaza Hotel located in the new Renaissance Center, Detroit.

The five-day convention will be presided over by Lillian E. Billmeier, NSA international president, who is administrative secretary to Raymond L. Randels, associate director, Michigan Education Association, East Lansing.

Low-cost homes built on Florida property

At a time when the national median price for single family home runs in the neighborhood of $43,000, a Florida builder is producing comfortable if not luxurious dwellings for under $16,000.

INEXPENSIVE FLORIDA HOME—The spacious Bahama VI—featuring two full baths, three roomy bedrooms, large dining area and ultra-modern decorative kitchen, starts from $15,990 on your Florida homesite when built by All Star Homes in Tampa, Fla.

has model home displays in Tampa and Orlando.

"We usually build on the buyer's own lot, often with septic tanks and well water," the former New Englander explained, adding that this system is far more economical than putting up large-scale developments in which the cost of sewers, street lights and paved roads must be added to the price of individual units.

"Also, the package we offer attracts a particular kind of buyer," he said. "In most cases the families have been paying off their land over a period of years with the long-range goal of building on it some day. Local savings and loan associations will generally accept the value of their land as down payment on one of our homes for mortgage purposes."

Rutskin said he keeps building costs down to $11 or $12 a square foot by providing subcontractors with steady, guaranteed work and by purchasing building materials directly in carload quantities.

All State builds in 36 Florida counties within a 200-mile radius of its home centers in Tampa and Orlando.

The company is a member of the Home Owners Warranty Corp., a subsidiary of the National Association of Home Builders. Through the HOW program All State provides each new homeowner with a free 10-year warranty on major structural components.

The firm's address is: All State Homes, 9312 Florida Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Brighton at Barnegat a sensible alternative

Many adults face a crucial decision after their children are grown and out of the house. What type of residence should they choose to replace the burdens of a too-large house? Until recently, the choice had been limited to renting an apartment or townhouse or purchasing a condominium.

"The most sensible alternative for an older couple is our totally planned adult community," said Jim Dyer, developer of Brighton at Barnegat. "Everything about our development is geared to the lifestyle people envision for themselves as they approach the age of retirement."

"Everything," most often an overstatement, is an apt description of Brighton's facilities. The community combines single home ownership with a country club-like atmosphere, with many community-centered activities and services.

First, Brighton at Barnegat is situated at the edge of New Jersey's Pinelands. Brighton, on Rt. 72, is just minutes away from the ocean, Long Beach Island and Barnegat Bay. The natural resources of the area are an outdoorsmen's paradise. Both fresh and salt water fishing abound, as do facilities for storing or renting a boat. The Pinelands themselves include large areas of unspoiled state hunting grounds. In addition, excellent golf courses are located in the immediate vicinity of Brighton.

Dyer added, "It was of primary importance to retain as much of the original environment as possible." With this in mind, the individual homes are situated on irregularly shaped lots in order to preserve the fully grown trees. The homesites themselves, landscaped and sodded, are clustered in cul de sacs to give a greater sense of privacy to the residents.

This generation of manufactured homes is the very affordable and desirable alternative to exorbitantly priced traditional homes. In these times of spiraling inflation, the average price of the onsite constructed home has soared to $51,700, while the average family income is $14,000. No wonder that the American dream of home ownership would only be available to less than 20 percent of American families were it not for the rising popularity of manufactured homes. If they did not already exist, they would have to be invented.

HUD officials recently told a group of industry representatives that "all types of manufactured housing will play an increasingly important role in meeting housing needs."

Brighton's wide variety of styles and sizes begin at less than $14,000. The homes themselves are spacious and luxurious. They all include as standard such deluxe features as name-brand, first quality appliances, wall-to-wall carpeting with beautiful matching drapes, storm windows, a lovely raised wood porch and a separate storage shed. Many low-cost options are available as displayed on the sample homes.

Many of the two and three-bedroom homes also include sunken garden bathtubs, roomy walk-in closets and fine built-in dressing tables, hutches and bars. The kitchens have all been designed for maximum efficiency, and include ample counter and storage spaces. Some models also feature pantries and breakfast

The house itself is only one part of life at Brighton. The community provides many services, such as garbage collection, water, sewage, snow removal and all real estate taxes and township fees—all included in the small monthly $90 homestead lease fee.

For no additional charge, the residents have a swimming pool, tennis courts and clubhouse at their disposal. The clubhouse has a fully outfitted kitchen, billiard room and a large meeting room—the perfect place to meet and entertain one's friends and neighbors, hold social events, civic and service group meetings or give private parties.

Dyer added, "We also have a free daily mini-bus to take residents to nearby shopping and recreation areas." The convenient location of Brighton at Barnegat offers the additional assurance of emergency services in the immediate neighborhood. The first aid squad and fire company are adjacent to the development and Southern Ocean County Hospital is a mere five miles away on Route 72. Brighton at Barnegat is located on Rt. 72, Barnegat. For a free brochure, phone collect (609)-597-1109, or visit the samples daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Disc & Data

Farrah Fawcett-Majors, the hottest young actress to hit Hollywood since Marilyn Monroe, is now a recording star. Her only record is now available for the first time. The 45 is titled "You," is an unusual duet with French singer Jean-Paul Vignon, recorded in 1974 when Farrah was a relatively unknown model.

The record was never released, although it was offered to just about every record company in N.Y. and L.A. Recording executives balked at the sensuous and tender love ballad because the popular musical taste had not yet shifted from rock back to MOR (middle of the road) and, ironically enough, many of them simply did not like the beautiful blonde's voice. The record was actually redone at a recording executive's request because he said FF-M did not sound sexy enough. "You," which won the prestigious Eurovision Song Festival in 1973, is sung in French by Vignon as Farrah breathily translates in English. The record is enjoying huge success on MOR radio stations throughout the country, getting an amazing phone response. Surprisingly enough, most of the callers are housewives whose only question is, "Who is that sexy Frenchman?"

"You," available by mail order only, is being sold for $2.25 by Nelson Barry Recordings, Ltd., P.O. Box 2780, Grand Central Station, N.Y., N.Y., 10017.

Demand Builds For Merit Taste Technology.

High and low tar smokers converted as news of 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco spreads.

There is a way to pack flavor — extra flavor — into a low tar cigarette.

MERIT proved it.

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain "flavor-rich" ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The result was 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco that delivers the kind of taste smokers can switch to. And stick with.

"I tell you that they are fantastic!...if you can change me, you can change anyone."

Bridgeport, Connecticut

100's: 12 mg. tar, 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

This kind of smoker enthusiasm is typical of what smokers are saying about the taste of MERIT.

"After smoking one pack, I was really amazed...they are as good as the cigarettes with higher tar."

—Mrs. Brenda Clark
Opelika, Alabama

"I have been searching for a low tar cigarette for some time now. All others I've tried have no taste...I'm a MERIT man."

—Ray Echard
Parkersburg, West Virginia

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And you can taste it.

"Advent's new loudspeakers are really something to shout about!"

Hear The New Advents Today at Sam Goody!

Making the best-selling loudspeaker in the United States wasn't enough for Advent. Because when they saw the improvements being made in the high frequency capabilities of recordings and broadcasts, they set about re-designing their famous speakers to take advantage of these new technological advances.

The most significant improvement was the development of a new tweeter, capable of more high frequency output—and wait until you hear the difference it makes in the quality of sound.

Incidentally, you'll not only hear a difference but see one as well—because there's a newly-styled oil walnut veneer cabinet that's a visual delight.

So get into Goody now and test-hear the new Advents. They're really something to shout about!
