New code opens police ranks to women applicants for 1st time

Women can join the ranks of the Mountainside police department for the first time since the borough council unanimously passed an ordinance Tuesday night revamping the municipal code sections pertaining to the law enforcement agency.

The ordinance amending chapter 78 of the borough code will allow women to apply for police positions, and adjusts height and weight requirements for female applicants.

The sub-section regarding police promotions was also amended to allow performance by officers to be considered in granting advancements. In the past, seniority was the only criterion used in promotions.

Now, after passage of the new ordinance, policemen with ranks higher than patrolman will be judged on merit, service records, mental and physical fitness, scores on police exams, performance at special police courses, general qualifications and seniority.

Councilman Abe Suckno, police commissioner, said all these areas would have equal weight in promotion considerations.

Suckno also said the police department will move into its new headquarters in borough hall, the former Echobrook School, well before the first of the year. The original target date had been Sept. 1.

The police commissioner said he inspected the construction work with the architect this week and the jail and some offices are expected to be completed within 30 days.

One of the holdups in the completion of the police headquarters is the purchase of the department's communication system. Ten firms have picked up specifications for the project and bids are to be opened next Monday.

IN OTHER COUNCIL ACTION, Walter Heckel, Inc. was contracted to remove snow and ice from the borough roads for the upcoming winter season. The firm was the only one to submit a bid for snow removal, though, borough engineer Robert Koser said he advertised five separate times in three different publications.

Koser said the lack of bidders was probably due to the fact the one-year contract did not offer contractors the stability they desire as would a multi-year contract. He suggested the council consider extending the contract length when letting next year's bids.

The Heckel firm, which did the work last year, is guaranteed $6,000 for removing the snow and ice off municipal roads this winter. If the season proves unusually long or hard,

Reduced-price lunch available to students

The Mountainside Board of Education announced last week that low-cost nutritious school lunches and milk will be available to all children enrolled in Beechwood and Deerfield Schools.

Free or greatly reduced-price meals will be provided to children whose family's gross income is at or below a predetermined income scale. Applications for the program were sent to all students enrolled in the district. Free milk is also available to children meeting the income standards.

Families, whose income exceeds prescribed levels, may also qualify for free or reduced meals and milk if the family experiences special hardships such as unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs, special education expenses or disaster losses. Foster children are often eligible for this program.

Application for free or reduced-price meals and free milk can be made at any time during the school year. If a family member becomes unemployed, the income or family size changes or if hardship conditions occur, parents should contact the school to receive proper benefits.

To qualify under the income levels determined by the state, a family of three, for example, may not have a gross income over $6,390, a family of six may earn up to $9,860 and a family of 10 can qualify if its gross income is under $13,760.

In the operation of the Child Nutrition Programs, no student will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin or ability to pay. A child will not be identified as a program recipient.

The information provided by parents on the application will be kept confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

The school will advise parents as to their child's eligibility within 15 days. Any parent dissatisfied with the eligibility determination may contact the school and request a conference with Dr. Levin Hanigan, superintendent of schools at 232-3232.

Further program information can be obtained from Marianne Beckers at 232-3711.

$94,600 bid is accepted for Dayton tennis courts

The Union County Regional High School District board Tuesday accepted a $94,600 bid for construction of four tennis courts on the Jonathan Dayton campus in Springfield.

The bid was accepted as part of a $139,300 package deal with the Valley Paving Co., Ramsey, also awarded the $44,700 job of resurfacing three tennis courts and building a fourth at Gov. Livingston High in Berkeley Heights.

"With any luck from the weather, people will be able to practice on the courts at Jonathan Dayton late this fall, and the courts are sure to be finished next spring," said Lewis Fredericks, the district's assistant superintendent for facilities.

The board had already budgeted up to $154,900 for the projects at Dayton and Gov. Livingston, and district administrators said the total should be within that figure even when engineering and legal costs are added to the construction price.

For would-be tennis players at Jonathan Dayton, the bid approval means the end of five years of

Anne Romano chosen as principal at Dayton

Anne Romano, whose love affair with Jonathan Dayton Regional High School began on the day it opened in 1937, became principal at the Springfield campus yesterday.

The Union County Regional High School District board promoted her late Tuesday from the assistant principal's job to the top position at Dayton, where she was valedictorian of the class of 1940 and where she is starting her 34th year as an educator.

The appointment, effective yesterday at an annual salary of $30,650, makes her the first female principal in the four-campus district which also operates high schools at Livingston, Clark and Kenilworth.

"The Rock of Dayton," she described herself with a smile. "It's no secret that I had many opportunities to leave the regional district for other jobs, but this is my love. I was gone only long enough for college."

And she hurried through college, earning a bachelor's degree in three years at Montclair State, where she was also an honor student. She did her practice teaching at Dayton and became a fulltime history and English teacher there in 1943, before her 20th birthday.

"I was in a rush," she recalled. "There was a critical shortage of teachers" at the height of World War 2, "and I knew I was needed."

She remained on the Dayton faculty while she earned a master's degree and additional credits from Rutgers University.

MISS ROMANO, who lives in Mountainside, grew up in Berkeley Heights. She spent her freshman year in Scotch Plains while watching progress on the regional high school being built as a WPA project in Springfield. A sophomore, she was one of about 825 students enrolled at Dayton when it opened in 1937 as the first regional high school in the district that had been created as a cooperative effort by six communities—Springfield, Garwood, Kenilworth, Clark, New Providence and Mountainside—and by residents of adjacent rural territory.

Miss Romano became the district's first female assistant principal in 1961, and some observers thought she would become its first woman principal sooner than she did. But the delay had nothing to do with sex discrimination, she explained Tuesday.

"This is the first time I applied" for a principalship, said Miss Romano, who served under four successive principals at Dayton. She succeeds Anthony Fiordaliso, who died of a heart attack on June 25 at the age of 40.

HER APPOINTMENT came on the unanimous vote of board members Margaret Hough of Springfield, Stephen Marcinak and Virginia Muskus of Clark, William Keyes of Berkeley Heights, John Conlin of Garwood and Charles E. Vitale Jr. of Kenilworth, president. Board members Natalie Waldt of Springfield, who was ill, Dr. Marilyn Hart of Mountainside and Roland Hecker of Berkeley Heights were absent.

In another major appointment Tuesday, the board named John Christiano, a guidance counselor at David Brearley Regional High, to the new position of district director of special education.

Christiano's appointment, effective next Monday at annual pay of $25,000, was cheered by Mrs. James T. Leonard Sr. of Garwood, unofficial spokesman for parents who have been lobbying frustration. Board members wanted to go ahead with the courts in 1972, but ran into problems with Springfield Township officials about aesthetics and with the state Water Control Commission about flood danger. The proposed courts were eventually redesigned to preserve a tree-lined vista on Mountain avenue and to withstand flooding worse than any in Springfield's history.

Fredericks said the construction contract will be signed "right away." He said it will require work to begin within 10 days. Finishing touches, such as grass-planting around the courts, cannot be done before spring, Fredericks added, "but we hope there can be some practice games late this fall."

Springfield will become the last of the four regional high schools to have its own courts. They will be built 178 feet southeast of Mountain avenue, near the clock tower, and engineer Richard Jeske said all existing trees will be preserved, although two must be pruned.

three years to get the job created. Mrs. Leonard convinced the board that Dr. Frank Kenny, district director of pupil personnel services, had "too many other things to do to give the kids with problems the special attention they need." Christiano will serve under Kenny.

The appointments of Miss Romano and Christiano were both recommended by the district superintendent, Dr. Donald Merachnik.

IN OTHER ACTION Tuesday, the school board besieged by petitions and about 40 in person supporters of Louis Peragallo, scheduled a special meeting Aug. 30 to review a decision that would result in Peragallo's ouster as athletic director at the Arthur L. Johnson campus in Clark.

The board voted 6-2 on Aug. 2 to hire a full-time athletic director at each of the four high schools and to abolish the part-time positions. The new directorships would include supervision of

Mountainside A team swims to 6-0 record

The Mountainside Community Pool A Swim Team completed its dual meet season undefeated (6-0), with a 186-112 victory over Mindowaskin Swim Club in a two-day effort Saturday and Sunday at Mindowaskin, Westfield. Delayed by rain at the completion of the backstroke and diving events on Saturday, MCP regrouped Sunday morning and increased a 15-point edge into the final margin of victory. Strong efforts in the butterfly events and victories in seven of nine relays proved to be the difference. Mindowaskin fell to (3-3).

Despite the steady rainfall, three new team records were set. Duane Connell lowered his own eight and under boys 25-meter butterfly time; Beth Post replaced her sister, Sarah, as the new eight and under backstroke record holder; and the girls 13 and 14 200-meter medley relay of Carol Luckenbach, Lisa Fericola, Penny Levitt, and Susan McLaughlan also re-set their record established earlier this summer.

MCP had triple event winners in: Beth Post, Duane Connell, Rick Van-Benschoten and Glenn Baker. Recording double victories were: Andrea Wood, Wendy Wyckoff, John Fischer, Lisa Fericola, Jean Kascin, and Jack Crowley. Winning a single individual event were: Jamie Downey, Joe Castelo, and Laura Perez-Santalla.

The Westfield Outdoor Swim League Championships for those swimmers who qualified at the league trials last Monday are being held tonight at Highland Swim Club at 6:30 p.m. The A League Relay Carnival will be held at MCP on Tuesday, Aug. 23, at 6:30 p.m.

Entries for the House Championship Meets to be held on Saturday, Aug. 27, and Sunday, Aug. 28, are now being accepted at the pool. Awards will be given to first thru sixth place. Please inquire at the pool regarding order of events and entry fees. The House Championship Meet is open to all MCP members—not only swim team members. The deadline is next Wednesday.

Placing for MCP vs. Mindowaskin were:

Six yr. boys: Jamie Downey, first freestyle; six yr. girls: Andrea Wood, first freestyle, first relay; Jennifer Ahlholm, second freestyle. Seven yr. boys: Joe Castelo, first freestyle; David Blacksell, third freestyle. Seven yr. girls: Beth Post, first freestyle, first backstroke, first relay; Suzanne Crane.

Juniors end season with tourney loss

The Springfield Junior Minutemen ended the 1977 baseball season last Saturday evening, dropping a 3-0 decision to South Brunswick in the Piscataway Tournament.

Kyle Hudgins went the distance for the Juniors, allowing three hits, but the opposition scored their runs in the third on several walks and misplays. Although they hit well, the Springfield 12-year-olds were held to two hits (a ground single by Tom Ard in the first and a bunt down third base by Michael Rerliner in the third).

The Minutemen threatened in the second when Chuck Bell walked with one out. Rich Policastro, running for Bell, moved to second on Ron Fusco's ground out and then to third on a passed ball by Rich Hinckley, who hit back to the mound, cutting down Policastro at the plate on a close play.

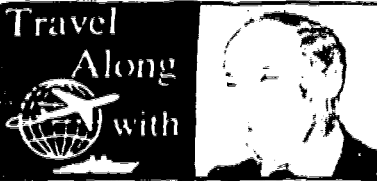

There were many fine fielding plays by the Juniors. Ard handled three grounders at shortstop flawlessly despite a soggy field while Hudgins, on two rollers back to the mound, also fielded well. Andy Rosenthal stopped a grounder at first while assisting on five put outs. Hinckley had two attempts at third, holding onto a vicious liner and charging a high chopper, taking it on a short hop in front of the shortstop.

Bell made two plays behind the plate, catching a popped bunt—diving and falling in the attempt—and throwing a runner out at second for a double play after the batter struck out. Others who saw action were Joe Roessner and Dave Kadish. Rounding out the team were John Mann and Victor Gutierrez.

Golber named NJA chairman

Arnold Golber of Short Hills has been named as general campaign chairman of the 1978 United Jewish Appeal of Metropolitan New Jersey. He succeeds Jack J. Roland, who served in that capacity during both the 1976 and 1977 drives.

Golber, who is now in the process of forming the 1978 leadership team, lauded the achievements of past UJA fund-raising drives. "As a rule," he said, "our campaigns reach a sufficiently high level to indicate clearly a sincere commitment on the part of both UJA workers and contributors at large." He said Israel's mounting financial problems, as well as the spiraling costs of maintaining effective community services here at home, will call for an even greater measure of dedication and philanthropy in the months to come.

Y to hold program

"Live Yer's," a daily movement-education program for boys and girls aged 3 through kindergarten, will be introduced by the Summit Area YMCA this fall, according to Marjorie M. Murphy, assistant general executive.

Children may be enrolled in morning or afternoon classes of 2½ hours from two to five days a week for seven-week periods. Registration is being accepted for the first seven-week period which begins Sept. 12.

The program is designed as an alternative to conventional nursery school. It stresses physical activities to help the child's total development, including intellectual growth, because of the correlation between the ability to move and the ability to learn.

The Y's emphasis will be on teaching basic movement skills to improve small and large muscle control, perceptual motor skills, spatial awareness, energy control, concentration, coordination, creativity, balance and timing. This is accomplished through YMCA instruction methods in movement exploration, gymnastics, daily swim instruction, learning games, arts, crafts, music and rhythms.

DiFrancesco sponsors bill to outlaw porn

Assemblyman Donald T. DiFrancesco (R-22) said this week he has asked Assembly Speaker William J. Hamilton to put in line for a vote his bill (A-3370) which would prohibit the sexual exploitation in photographs and films of children under 16 years old. He said the bill has attracted wide bipartisan support with 48 co-sponsors, "more than enough to assure its passage when we reconvene in September."

"There is a great and obvious need for this legislation in New Jersey," DiFrancesco said. "The sensational headlines and the anger they have caused in New York and many other major cities describing the misuse of our young people could readily happen here in New Jersey. It is important for our children to have effective statutes protecting them from exploitation and to give our law enforcement agencies the muscle they need to fight the insidious growth of this form of pornography."

DiFrancesco said he avoided the "pitfall" of writing an omnibus bill that would have included child abuse and obscenity. "The inclusion of these other areas of concern has bogged down similar legislation in other states," the GOP legislator said. "The obscenity question has bounced back and forth in the courts and in the halls of legislatures for several years and is the subject of separate legislation here in New Jersey. I also elected not to confuse debate on my measure with the needed revisions in our child abuse statutes."

The freshman legislator from Scotch Plains said he had patterned his bill after the federal statutes and is convinced of its constitutionality. "I hope for early passage in the Assembly and am convinced of favorable action in the State Senate," DiFrancesco said. "If my bill can help put child pornographers out of business in New Jersey we will have taken a major step in the protection of our young people."

2 are charged in 'pot' cases; let out on bond

Mountainside police arrested two persons over the weekend for possession of marijuana.

Last Friday William Wineglass of Charleston, S.C. was released on $100 bail after being arrested for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

Officer Herman Hafeken reported while he was on patrol he saw a 1973 Pontiac parked on the shoulder of the road just west of Robin Hood road. Hafeken said the car had its lights off and two males were standing at the back of the car. The vehicle had its trunk and hood up and Hafeken said he stopped to see if he could help.

Police reports said Hafeken was joined by officer John Olock and the two policemen inspected the car. Hafeken reported he spotted two packages of cigarette rolling papers on the console and what appeared to be marijuana seeds. Police said three cigarettes and a roach were also found on the seat.

After interrogation at police headquarters, Wineglass reportedly told officials the marijuana belonged to him. His companion, Gary Reed of the Bronx, was not charged.

Last Saturday a Westfield youth was arrested for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. Officer Jack Yerich reported he saw Robert Pritchard, 18, walking on Lawrence avenue smoking a marijuana cigarette.

Pritchard was arrested and released on $100 bail.

THANKS TO BLOOD DONORS
The Westfield-Mountainside Red Cross Chapter held a blood bank at the Presbyterian Church on July 27 as chairman. I wish to thank the people who donated. The turnout was very encouraging since we learned of a child who was in desperate need of negative type blood and many people with the needed type had donated.

To one and all we thank you for helping.

physical-education, health and driver-education program, and each director would be required to hold a supervisory certificate. Neither Peragallo nor Joe Mills, part-time athletic director at David Brearley High, holds such a certificate.

The board also voted Aug. 2 to offer one of the four new supervisory positions to John Brown, district-wide athletics coordinator whose present job would vanish in the reorganization. For the remaining three directorships, the board told Supt. Donald Merachnik to recruit "as widely as possible" for candidates.

But spokesmen for teacher organizations Regina Rice, president of the regional association, and Ann Whitford, representative of the New Jersey Education Association (NJE)—pointed out that Peragallo and Mills could not be among the candidates unless the district postponed the reorganization while each man earned the six college credits needed for a supervisory certificate.

For Mills and for any other part-time athletic directors who failed to get one of the new jobs, the reorganization would mean loss of $1,875 in extra pay per year. For Peragallo, the audience said, it would mean the loss of meaning in his life.

Peragallo would be assured of a job in the district, since he has long-time seniority, but the teacher spokesman said he might have to "bump" another teacher to stay employed.

Coed sports, classical music 'in' Campus clubs change as much as hair

Hemlines and hairstyles are not the only indicators of trends, according to Michael B. Villano, director of student activities at Union College.

Student organizations and activities often reflect what is going on in the world at large, he said, and Union College's social and recreational activities have certainly seen changes in the past decade.

Currently, more than 30 clubs and organizations and some 25 intramural and varsity sports provide the extracurricular activities needed to give added social and intellectual dimension to student life at Union College, Villano stated. The size of the membership and the popularity of certain sports, as well as the organizations themselves, change with the years and reflect new interests and trends.

The impact of the women's movement, he said, has resulted in coed fraternities, greater representation of women in leadership roles and participation of women in intramural sports that were traditionally male oriented, such as touch football, one-on-one basketball and billiards.

In the past 10 years, the director noted, women have occupied every elective position in the Student Government Association; previously, if a woman was elected, it was usually as secretary.

This past year, he added, women were elected president of the Art Society, the Latin American Student Organization, the Black Organization of Students, the Modern Dance Club and the Collegiate Senate. A woman served as editor of the college newspaper and another as co-editor of the literary magazine.

Women's varsity basketball and tennis teams have been organized during the past three years.

Renewed interest in spiritual values is also reflected at the Union College Campus. The Office of Campus Ministry was created two years ago at the request of students. Long-standing Catholic and Protestant student organizations were revitalized, and the college's first Jewish Student Organization was established.

As some fraternities went coed, others disappeared entirely—a result, according to Villano, of disenchantment with initiation rites and hazing and of a new sense of individuality.

The surviving fraternities changed their emphasis and are concerned with service projects, meeting needs of fellow students as well as the community at large, he said. A new club, the Union College Benevolent Association, was organized this year.

College names Cranford man

Ronald Nakashima of Cranford has been named director of counseling at Union College, it was announced by J. Harrison Morson of Edison, dean of student affairs.

Nakashima has been a member of the counseling staff since 1973 and has served as coordinator of freshman orientation and as a career counselor.

A graduate of Cranford High School, Nakashima received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology from George Washington University, Washington, D.C., and a master's degree in student personnel services from Seton Hall University, South Orange, where he achieved a 4.0 average.

In his new position, Mr. Nakashima will direct a staff of five full-time counselors.

From HEW

SOCIAL SERVICES TO FIT A NEIGHBORHOOD'S NEEDS

Wherever you live, you belong to a neighborhood, and the chances are that your neighborhood is not making the most of its social service resources.

To find out how people use their community services, Rachelle and Donald Warren spent five years in on-the-spot neighborhood research under National Institute of Mental Health grants. They interviewed a cross-section of residents in eight different communities in and near Detroit, Michigan. These people talked freely about worries—ranging from "the blues" to local crime—and named the persons or organizations that helped them resolve their problems.

Now, the Warrens have published their findings in The Neighborhood Organizer's Handbook, a guide to the effective use of social services, both official and informal. The Handbook emphasizes the benefits to be gained from meshing three types of "helping systems": professional counseling agencies, "quasi-institutional" churches and voluntary associations, and informal networks of family and friends.

An ideal community uses all three systems to the full, but this balance is hard to achieve. Some people are intimidated by formal treatment methods. Others are isolated by lack of communication in their neighborhoods. And many who do seek professional help become lost in institutional red tape.

The Warrens believe that the type of service needed depends on community type. They list six variants of "neighborhood," ranging from "integral" close-knit, with ties to the larger community to "anomic" disorganized, passive, and cut off from the larger community.

The serious community organizer must always keep two factors in mind: whether the problem requires professional and/or "lay" service and how a given community can best provide that service.

Most chapters close with a list of "organizer's exercises" readers answer questions about their situations and are taught by their own responses. A concluding chapter, entitled "How to Diagnose a Neighborhood," lists the major tools to use and approaches to make in the actual organization of an area.

The Handbook is published by the University of Notre Dame Press.

Growing Older

Too Much Time
For those eager for retirement, the work years seem to drag along at a snail's pace. Counting off the days, weeks and years makes it seem longer.

Quite often, the restless, about-to-retire worker will remain restless and unsatisfied after the magic day finally arrives. He or she doesn't know what to do with new-found time. Sitting on the front porch, the creek bank or putting in the garden becomes boring and monotonous. This may create a bad situation.

The restless retiree often forgets that relatives, friends and neighbors have responsibilities and commitments that must be met, that take their time; grandparents often forget their children have been doing an excellent job of taking care of their children—and the retiree's grandchildren—for a long time.

In his new position, Mr. Nakashima will direct a staff of five full-time counselors.

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I am 13 years old and in love with a boy who is 14. We used to like each other when we were in the sixth grade. What can I do to get him to like me?

OUR REPLY: You should do exactly what you have been doing. Your friend probably still likes you very much. The decision is whether or not he will spend his time with you. Give him the opportunity to decide. Let him know that you like him and give him the chance to respond. Most of us spend too much time worrying about whether or not someone likes us and consequently we don't act natural and relaxed when we are around this particular person. Be yourself. Be friendly. But, don't force the situation. Let it happen naturally. If you find that he likes you as a friend, but just doesn't want to be with you all the time, accept that situation gracefully. Things may take a different turn after a while.

Walkathon set by NOW to fund ERA passage

The Summit Area, Westfield Area, and Union County chapters of NOW, the National Organization for Women, will participate in a fund-raising walkathon Aug. 27 in support of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment are being asked to walk the 10-mile route and obtain sponsors to pledge a certain amount per mile walked. The proceeds will be used to fund ERA lobbying in states which have failed to ratify the constitutional amendment.

The walkathon is part of the Women's Rights Day observance on the anniversary of women's suffrage. Following the walk—which begins and ends at Jefferson School, Maplewood—a picnic will be held.

The walkathon, sponsored by the Essex County Chapter, is one of five being held throughout the state on Aug. 27.

The local walkathon will begin at 9 a.m. at Jefferson School, South Ridgewood and Virginia roads, Maplewood, and will travel a 10-mile route through sections of Newark and the Oranges.

Boright ticket says GOP 'misinformed'

Freeholder Walter Boright of Scotch Plains, Mayor Joanne Rajoppi of Springfield and Thomas Dillon of Elizabeth, Democratic candidates for Union County freeholder, this week charged the Republican freeholder candidates with "blatant, ignorant statements which are designed to misinform voters."

Boright said, "The Republican candidates recently labeled Union County's fiscal health 'a financial mess.' They simply do not understand the basic fundamentals of county finance. Union County has the highest credit rating available: a Triple A rating."

Rajoppi commented, "The financial condition of Union County has improved since one of our opponents was voted out of office as freeholder. The county did not even have a financial ledger when this Republican candidate was on the board."

Dillon added, "The erroneous criticism made by the Republicans of the county professional staff, who are nonpolitical, indicates that our opponents do not intend to follow the mandate of the new county charter approved by the voters of Union County."

The Democratic trio also pointed out that the bipartisan State Association of Freeholders recently announced that Union County has the lowest cost per resident of any county in the entire state.

CONSUMER GUIDELINES

Summer is a good time to check for air leaks around the home which hinder the efficient operation of heating or air conditioning. Good weather stripping and caulking of exterior window and door frames will reduce heat loss in winter and heat gain in summer. Stripping and caulking drafty windows and doors is economical in any climate, particularly if you do the work yourself.

2 adult communities report record sales

John G. Andriessen, director of sales and marketing for Guardian Development Corporation, developers and builders of Rossmoor and Clearbrook, adjacent adult condominium communities for adults over 48, reports that the number of visitors to their furnished model homes has exceeded expectations. The result has been record sales for homes in both leisure-oriented communities in Monroe Township, off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike, 42 miles from New York City and 12 miles from historic Princeton.

Each community offers private, on-premises golf and tennis, Olympic-size outdoor pool, saunas, clubhouse, hobby shops, meeting rooms, concerts, theatre groups, lectures, etc. Mini-buses make special trips to theatres, shopping centers and events of special interest. The adult communities offer many rewards, yet make no demands on time. The homes are well-built, spacious, well-designed, set amidst lush green lawns and beautifully landscaped. All feature the latest G.E. appliances and central air-conditioning. A monthly maintenance charge includes use of the recreation facilities and activities, around-the-clock security guards, all exterior work, fire insurance, landscaping, trash collection, and on premises medical centers.

Rossmoor and Clearbrook homeowners have all the tax advantages and equity buildup of home ownership and none of the headaches. The two communities show what adult condominiums can offer.

Leisure Tech names Corbo

Clearbrook, which opened its newest section (71 homes) in "Hampton Village" only eight weeks ago, has sold more than 41 percent of the homes, which will be ready for fall occupancy. A few choice locations near Clearbrook's private golf course are still available. Prices for homes in both communities range from $27,500 to $55,500 in Clearbrook, $28,500 to $64,900 in Rossmoor. There is a total of 17 models to choose from. Each community offers private, on-premises golf and tennis, Olympic-size outdoor pool, saunas, clubhouse, hobby shops, meeting rooms, concerts, theatre groups, lectures, etc. Mini-buses make special trips to theatres, shopping centers and events of special interest.

Irene Corbo has been appointed assistant director of sales at Leisure Technology Northeast, Lakewood, it has been announced by Terry T. Bickel, regional vice-

ON THE WATERFRONT — Airborne cameraman captures gull's eye view of Channel Club Towers, overlooking the Shrewsbury River.

Brisk sales reported of Channel Club units

Condominium sales at the New Jersey Shore's most luxurious waterfront community, Channel Club Towers in Monmouth Beach, have topped the $10 million mark. Channel Club Towers' marketing director, Jerry Kaufman, reported that Channel Club Towers has sold 65 percent of its homes, with sales now exceeding the half million mark each month.

Kaufman noted that the buyers of the units, which range from $43,300 to $79,550, were almost divided between shore residents who were moving in from their own beach area estates and the younger couples from the Metropolitan area and Northern Jersey area who were using it for a resort-year-round residence.

Kaufman reported that there appeared to be a direct relationship between the escalating costs of beach rental units and the young adult market's acceptance of condominiums.

Channel Club Towers is built on a seven-acre site opposite the Channel Club, overlooking the Shrewsbury River. There are tennis courts and heated pool as well as health clubs for men and women including saunas, shower and locker facilities.

The individual suites are spacious with plenty of closets and storage areas. Owners are given their choice of a wall-to-wall carpeting and vinyl flooring. Kitchens are equipped with luminous ceiling fixtures, a deluxe 22-cubic-foot no-frost refrigerator-freezer, a double oven range, a compact, automatic dishwasher, clothes washer-dryer. All unit contain individual controls for heat and air conditioning and pre-wired telephone and cable TV outlets. The TV outlets are connected to a security intercom system, so that guests can be viewed when announced. Security has also been provided for at ground level with 24-hour door man service.

Fawn Lakes reports boom in home sales

A sales boom has hit Fawn Lakes, a retirement community under development on Rt. 72, Manahawkin.

More than 110 workers are busy, including weekends, to keep pace with the demand in this project which began little more than a year ago.

Since last April, 75 homes have been either sold or settled in contract, according to the manager of Fawn Lakes, William McCleery.

"We have people who want to move in within three to four weeks so, to keep up with the demand, we have increased the construction pace," McCleery pointed out.

Fawn Lakes, being developed by the Mancini Company, located on Long Beach Island, is expected to have 2,200 units on more than 500 wooded acres when completed.

Why the sudden surge in sales? McCleery, a specialist in retirement homes who worked with Holiday City in Toms River as vice-president of marketing for 16 years, points out several reasons.

He noted that buyers are scrutinizing closely what salesmen are offering. "You cannot sway a buyer who has worked for 40 years and is planning retiring with salesman-like talk any more. If you try to feel them they just take off," McCleery explains.

"People are realizing that we have quality homes—homes that are well insulated, spacious and require almost no maintenance...."

The retirement community has other amenities: wooded lots, less density per acre, a heated swimming pool and

WILLIAM McCLEERY, a lake. The prices range from $25,000 to $36,000.

The energy crunch has drawn buyers' attention to insulation. "Insulation has been given considerable consideration to keep fuel bills low," he said.

The manager said new buyers displayed a clear concern for insulation, and Fawn Lakes' emphasis on this spurred sales to a large extent.

"The casino gambling in Atlantic City has most certainly been one of the most important factors," McCleery pointed out. He said many of the buyers were buying homes at Fawn Lakes as "midway" places—between Atlantic City and their place of permanent residence—to spend summers or holidays.

He said at least 30 percent of the buyers own homes in Toms River and want to move here, near the shore, from the increasing congestion there.

The 42-year-old manager, who was born in Staten Island where he started first as a salesman for building materials, predicted that the recent trend was a strong indication of stronger sales in July and August.

Shadow Lake Village opens new section

A new section of two-bedroom homes, the Villas of Friendship Court, has opened at Shadow Lake Village, an adult community off Nut Swamp Road in Middletown.

Del Purscell, Shadow Lake Village sales manager, said the Villas priced at $40,490 to $45,490, are close to the community's golf course and the lake. Even before the models were up, 60 percent of the homes in the first Villas section sold, according to Purscell. He said a buyer must be at least 52 years old or have a household including a family member who is 52 or older.

The constructed models were recently opened to prospective residents. Purscell said The Villa 600 model, for example, is a one-level apartment home with a foyer inside the front door. On one side of the foyer is the kitchen with large windows, wood cabinets, indirect lighting and continuous-cleaning double oven and range near a laundry area. On the other side of the foyer is a bedroom that faces the front, and then a bathroom with linen closet.

The model also includes a master bedroom, 11 by 17 feet, with private bath. This bedroom leads out to a covered patio through sliding-glass doors. The formal dining room and the living room also have access to the patio through another set of sliding glass doors. Purscell said this model and others have sound-deadening masonry, which also offers considerable fire damage protection, double-thick attic insulation, insulated glass windows and sliding doors, private entrances and garages.

community and into the local area, and the association pays for exterior painting and maintenance, snow and garbage removal, lawn and garden care and the cost of utilities in the common areas. The association fee also covers the cost of community security, a gatehouse at the Village entrance, manned 24 hours daily.

Models are open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Shadow Lake Village, reached via Exit 114 from the Garden State Parkway. Purscell said a driver should turn left on Red Hill road and proceed two-tenths of a mile, then turn right onto Dwight road and continue for about three miles to the entrance of Shadow Lake Village on the right.

Shadow Oaks -- low tax rate

We are rapidly running out of building lots, warns Sol Bernard, president of GSI Development Corp. which is constructing three Shadow Oaks Developments in Hunterdon County.

Its simple arithmetic: We offer more house value in the $63,000 to $70,000 range than anyone else. We build beautiful, well designed, high quality Colonials and Ranches. The tax rate is so low that the buyer who had allocated $140 for monthly tax costs can anticipate taxes for that same house of only $40 a month. Adding mortgage costs, a $525 monthly cost is reduced to $425 a month.

And recently we added an energy savings package which we call NRG for Natural Resource Guarantee. Now the buyer can qualify for tax credits. President Carter's plan is approved. Any buyer looking in Hunterdon County, who can judge quality and value and who can count, will buy our homes. Sales records seem to bear him out. Buyers are purchasing homes at an increasing rate due to the unusual values.

Purchasers have a choice of four basic models, each with major style options, thus providing the buyer with one different style from which to choose. Whether the purchaser selects the $62,900 Hampton Ranch or any other model, he is assured of Shadow Oaks quality, energy savings, low maintenance and low taxes.

Shadow Oaks can be reached by taking Rt. 78 to the Pattenburg exit. Follow the sign to Pattenburg, go four miles south to model on left. Model and sales office are open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day.

Kean will offer classes on law, French, opera

"Law for Laymen," "French for Fun" and the "Pleasures of Opera" are among the new non-credit courses for adults being offered this fall by the Kean College Center for Continuing Education.

Other courses being introduced are "How To Start Your Own Business," "Physical Fitness Designed for You" and "Planning Your Public Relations Campaign."

Courses being repeated this fall include "Fundamentals of Tennis," "Rapid Reading," "Grants and Proposal Writing," "Mineralogy: Beyond the Basics," "Swimming for Beginners," "Folk Dancing," and "Writing Your Story."

The fall brochure, describing all of Kean College's Continuing Education courses, will be mailed to area residents and former students this month. Anyone who wishes to receive a copy or obtain information on registration may call 527-2163. Classes will start in late September and early October.

"Law for Laymen" is a six-week course explaining what the average person needs to know about such matters as wills and inheritance, matrimonial law, liability, no-fault insurance, community property, and court procedures. It will be taught by Jerome Krueger, city attorney of Linden, former state legislator and a member of Kean College's Continuing Education Advisory Committee.

"French for Fun" is an informal course for brushing up on French. The teacher will be Mrs. Simone Mokrauer of Westfield, who was born in Alsace and has taught French here and abroad. In "The Pleasures of Opera," Kean College faculty member Dr. Louis Huber, who has conducted opera orchestras throughout the United States, will help the novice and the avid fan gain new insights into the operatic world. Trips to opera performances in New York City will be optional extras.

The reasons so many gift shops, boutiques, service stations, and other small businesses fail and why others succeed will be explored in "How To Start Your Own Business." The instructor will be Robert Snyder, who is chief of portfolio management for the Newark office of the federal Small Business Administration.

A promotion expert, Irene Shapiro of Hillside, will draw on her experiences in planning many public relations and publicity campaigns in teaching the six-week class, "Planning Your Public Relations Campaign."

In the eight-week physical fitness course, Dr. Walter Anzel of the Kean College faculty will help each student, regardless of age or physical condition, work out his own program of slimming and body conditioning exercises.

These homes include shag carpeting by Sherwin Williams, Magic Chef appliances, heavily wooded lots, custom wood kitchen cabinets, double hung wood windows and a large garage with macadam driveway.

Extra insulation is included in these homes. The Rainbows also has made available to home buyers a fireplace starting at $750.

Larry Finkelstein, corporate marketing director, announces 111 homes, valued at $5.8 million, were sold, and another 182 homes, valued at $8.8 million, were successfully marketed by sales associates in the company's 11 residential sales offices in Monmouth, Ocean, Somerset and Middlesex Counties.

In addition, 218 new listings were signed.

Sterling Thompson, with corporate headquarters at 1250 Route 35, Middletown, has offices here and in Matawan, Manalapan, Marlboro, Howell, Bricktown, Ocean, South Brunswick, East Brunswick, Somerset and Branchburg.

Financing arranged

Underwood Mortgage and Title Co., Irvington, in cooperation with its affiliate, New Jersey National Bank of Trenton, has arranged $4.3 million in construction and development financing for two new sections at Crestwood Village, the planned adult community for people 52 and over in Whiting.

The new sections are 70-A, which for the first time at Crestwood Village is being developed as a fee simple community, and 53-A which will be sold as a fee simple community, and 53-A which will be sold as a cooperative.

Underwood has arranged in excess of $1.8 million in financing for the fee simple section of 75 units which features freestanding homes with two bedrooms priced from $29,000 to $33,000. There are three models, and houses in this section are being built for fall delivery.

Underwood also arranged in excess of $2.3 million in financing for section 53-A which offers 99 units selling from $17,500 to $42,500. The homes will be efficiencies, one, two and three bedrooms.

"Put yourself in my place."

"I'm Rose Gordon, and I'd like to put you in your place. Because I've got a feeling that your place is my place. Mine and a lovely group of other folks just like us. Mature adults, with a taste for the good life, a love of nature and... maybe more important than anything else... honest-to-goodness neighborliness. Our place is...

A Country Place

Beside a sparkling lake and beautiful woods, with a trout stream and a lagoon. And the ocean only 12 miles away.

With a swimming pool, health club facilities, and a host of interesting activities for young-thinking people like us. Not to mention the magnificent golf course nearby.

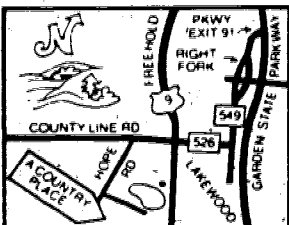

A Country Place is a peaceful, secure, private community for folks 55 and over.

Just far enough from the city. Just close enough to all the really fine conveniences in the town of Lakewood. And for shopping ease, I just love our private community convenience bus... it's so much better than driving a car around town!

And you'll be delighted to know that the prices of the lovely homes at A Country Place are as friendly as the folks who live in them.

Come visit. It just might turn out to be a moving experience for you!

Disc & Data

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of The LP's
PLAYIN' UP A STORM by The Gregg Allman Band (CAPRICORN RECORDS CP-0181) Numbers included on this good-sounding LP include: "Come And Go Blues," "Let This Be A Lesson To Ya," "Brightest Smile In Town," "Bring It On Back," "Cryin' Shame," "Sweet Feelin'," "It Ain't No Use," "Matthew's Arrival" and "One More Try."

Gregg Allman, born in Nashville, raised in Florida and now living in Los Angeles, has won recognition not only for his superb singing but also for his powerful, appropriate organ playing and for his songwriting, which has produced such favorites as "Midnight Rider," "Whipping Post," "Not My Cross To Bear" and "Come and Go Blues."

An artist capable of many shades of emotion, from ballad subtleties to blues ecstasy, he has created in The Gregg Allman Band a unit of equal partners to encompass all hues of his musical spectrum: a band full of energy and promise, well suited for the return to active performing of one of the most musically esteemed and satisfying figures in rock.

Another goodie on the CAPRICORN label (CP-0183) FRINGE BENEFIT discing, "All In Vain," "Darling," "Was God An Astronaut," "Wanna Be With You," "Suzanne," "Patterns," "All Shook Up," "When She's Next Free," "The Ballad Of Phyllis Prewitt" and "Let A Light Shine."

Fringe Benefit was formed a year-and-a-half ago John Jones, the group's lead vocalist and main songwriter, formed the band after leaving a group called Albatross, which enjoyed limited success in England with a single called "Rock 'n' Roll Boogie Man."

John left that band over differences in musical direction, and met up with Dave Gray, Chris Haines and Steve Laurie to develop Fringe Benefit. And judging from the sounds this group of four talented musicians has produced, Fringe Benefit promises to be a long-lasting association.
