OPEN SPACE — There's plenty of empty space at the Mountainside Post office that was, until recently, filled with rows of letter bins. Carriers now pick up the Mountainside mail at the Westfield Post Office, making things a lot quieter in the Mountainside office. But a spokesman says complete mail service to customers is still available.

Post Office renovations minimal but deliveries will come earlier

By the looks of it, the Mountainside Post Office appears to be undergoing major changes, but according to Westfield Post Office customer service manager George Howarth, the alterations are minimal and will serve to upgrade the borough's services.

Howarth said "100 percent service" remains for the Mountainside residents, but carriers no longer stop at Mountainside to pick up their mail.

"We moved the carriers to Westfield to start them out earlier," said Howarth. Mountainside mail, which arrives from Newark, has always been sorted at the Westfield office, said Howarth. He said the time needed to transport the mail to Mountainside was putting borough deliveries about one hour behind schedule.

"Now the carriers will all start at the same time," Howarth said. He said Mountainside residents will now be receiving mail about 20 minutes to one-half hour earlier than they used to, and he added that all other post office services will remain intact.

"We are concerned, and the post office is concerned, that we still must provide service for the people in that area," he said.

He added that the change will also make things easier for the nine Mountainside carriers, who split their routes between the two communities.

"Now they'll be able to just stop and pick up at Westfield, without going back to Mountainside," he said.

Howarth said the carrier pickup switch was instituted to comply with resident demands for earlier service deliveries.

"We had numerous calls that deliveries were too late," he said.

"We're trying to solve the problem this way. I don't know if it's the best way, but we're trying."

He added that rumors pointing to the closing of the Mountainside Post Office are "very, very unfounded."

"They were circulated by individuals," said Howarth, "and they just snowballed. There's no possibility of closing the Mountainside office as far as we're concerned."

The carrier change has been in effect for about one month, and Howarth said the office has seen an improvement in delivery service.

"We haven't heard too much from the residents yet," he said.

8th graders question board's ruling on trip

Mountainside eighth-graders say they were promised a trip to Great Adventure amusement park upon graduation, but legal problems brought about by state rulings on class trips and differences on the definition of "curriculum-related" ventures led the board to vote 4-3 against the trip location.

A committee has been formed to come up with proposals for a trip location, to be announced at a public meeting April 4 at 8 p.m. in the Deerfield School cafeteria.

The following is a statement, read by Deerfield Student Council President Beth Burrows at the March 14 public board meeting on behalf of the student body:

During the last two years, a state ruling has been enforced that makes it illegal for parents to subsidize school functions. This was discussed last year between the school administration, teachers and parents. A decision was made to keep the class trip. Unfortunately the school administration did not convey this decision to the Board of Education, and monies were not budgeted for the eighth grade class trip—as they should have been. But we, the students, were told not to worry about it. We were led to believe that we would have a class trip to Great Adventure even to the point where the school administration sent to our homes notices requesting that we pay for our class trip. All of the eighth grade parents have paid the approximate amount of $20 for a trip to Great Adventure as specified in the notice.

The school administration has accepted all monies. Under normal circumstances that would constitute a legal agreement. However, the parents are not allowed to subsidize school programs. Therefore, the school administration requested the parents to do something illegal and, as a result, even though they accepted the parents' money, there is no legal agreement and we, the students, are now left wondering what the outcome will be. In the past it seems to me that we have always looked to adults to solve problems, not create them.

As we understand it, if the board had budgeted for the class trip then we could have it. Therefore, I ask: (1) can you now reallocate funds to sponsor a class trip as should have been done a number of years ago when the state first made this ruling; (2) can we, the eighth grade students, raise the monies and turn those monies over to the Board of Education?

Once the financial complications are resolved, what is holding us back from our class trip?

We, the students, want to go. Our parents, the taxpayers, want us to go. However, Mr. Brown, Deerfield School principal, has stated that we have no voice in this matter, that the teachers determine if and where we go.

Why is that? Don't the teachers follow the administration policy? Doesn't the Board of Education make that policy? If that is the case, why do the teachers determine if we go and where we go? There seems to be misplaced authorities and responsibilities.

The school administration has requested that we pay for Great Adventure. Some teachers say it is not legal for the parents to subsidize the trip and they are correct. The same group says it is additionally noneducational, but should they be given the power to make that decision? The way we see it, the safari in itself would be very educational.

We, the students, are looking not only for a good education but for strong and responsible leadership within our school system. Student morale has been low because of a failure of some of our teachers to show any involvement or interest towards their students.

Would the Board of Education please make a responsible policy with reference to the subject of an eighth-grade trip and inform the school administration and teachers that they should follow it. Remember, in the course of an education, it is much easier to form traits of responsibility if we have responsible people to live up to.

Final action on budget deferred until Tuesday

By PATRICIA GARRISON

A vote on an amendment to absorb $11,500 in increased insurance costs and an additional $5,000 in snow removal costs stopped the Mountainside Borough Council from voting on its $15 million budget for 1978 until Tuesday night.

Councilman Nicholas Bradshaw said late word of a hike in insurance premiums, which he said the borough "had no control over," necessitated an extra $22,000 in the budget, half of which has already been taken out of the borough's surplus funds.

The $11,500 will be paid by way of franchise taxes, removing the threat of an increase in the borough property tax levy, which now stands at $3.26 per $100 assessed valuation.

According to business administrator Lee Voorhees, the plan would leave the borough's surplus monies intact and would keep the budget total under the state-mandated budget cap.

In other business, the council voted unanimously to prohibit parking in the Deerfield School traffic circle during school hours, and it introduced an ordinance that would limit parking to two hours on a portion of Lawrence avenue, citing safety hazards.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi said the street is lined with cars owned by commuters who "are all-day parkers." He said they park on the street and then board buses to New York City.

Ricciardi said the ordinance was restricted to a two-hour time limit so as not to inconvenience residents who live on the road or patients visiting a nearby dentist.

A resolution authorizing borough-employed engineers to complete storm sewer plans in the Nomahegan Brook area was approved unanimously by the council. Borough Council president Bruce Gieger said a decision is still forthcoming on the Charles street flood project, which calls for pipe routing through some private backyards in the Linda drive area.

"There's been some resident opposition," he said, "while some are strongly for it."

Although the opposition has been holding up a final decision on project plans, Gieger noted that the council should be able to "make up its mind" on construction, "within the next 60 days."

The council was also presented with the borough's 100-Year Time Capsule, completed by the Cultural and Heritage Committee. The sealed aluminum cylinder contains noteworthy borough artifacts. It will be opened on the nation's 300th birthday, in 2076.

GOING DOWN IN HISTORY — Matthew Powers, left, and Genevieve Powers of the Mountainside Cultural and Heritage Committee get ready to seal the borough's 100-year time capsule with the help of Heinz Kassner of the American Aluminum Co. The capsule will be opened on the nation's 300th birthday in 2076.

A one-century wait for a look at today

In 98 years, residents of Mountainside will open a sealed aluminum time capsule and get a flavor of the past from the contents inside.

The borough's Cultural and Heritage Commission put the lid on the 25-inch cylinder Friday. It will remain closed until the year 2076, the nation's 300th anniversary.

A scrapbook of Mountainside Echo clippings will give future borough residents an idea of major events 100 years before, and a July 4, 1976, issue of the New York Times will add to their knowledge of local history.

The lifestyle of residents will be highlighted through the personal "Who's Who" reports submitted and color slides of Mountainside celebrations will show how residents dressed and celebrated holidays.

Other time capsule material includes: a self-portrait in oil by Carol Sterror, a local artist; a photo album of old Mountainside pictures which include the widening of Rt. 22; cassette tapes of the Bicentennial celebration, Jonathan Dayton Chorale and a rendition by a local opera singer; microfilm of early borough papers; Bicentennial coins and stamps; Jean Hershey's book on Mountainside; a Ukrainian Easter egg; Bicentennial license plates; a 1976 Sears, Roebuck catalogue; and a N.J. Official Bicentennial road map.

DOT resumes work on Parkway project

Widening of the state-owned 12-mile section of the Garden State Parkway in Union and Middlesex Counties has resumed and is expected to get fully under way by early April, according to the Department of Transportation.

The $25.5 million project provides for the addition of one lane in each direction to make the highway four lanes each way.

Work began a year ago under two contracts, one extending from Morris Avenue in Union Township south to Cranford and the second from Cranford south to the New Jersey Turnpike in Woodbridge.

Construction activity was shut down last year with the arrival of freezing winter weather. Work resumed last week on the removal of the old deck and parapet on the viaduct which carries the Parkway over railroad tracks and Rt. 28 in Cranford. This will be followed by the construction of wooden forms so that concrete can be poured for a widened deck and new parapets.

Earth moving and grading work is expected to resume early next month as soon as the ground has thawed sufficiently.

Traffic advisories will be issued to inform motorists of changes in travel conditions as construction work proceeds to different phases.

A different kind of used car from a different kind of dealer.

The used cars listed here aren't ordinary used cars. Because they don't come from an ordinary dealership. At Pace, a customer is respected as the owner of a fine automobile, not dismissed as a troublesome accessory to it.

Because of our service, we're selling more and more new Buicks. And taking in more and more fine used cars as trade-ins. The cars listed here are the best of them.

Before we put a used car up for sale, we inspect it inside and out. We fix what needs fixing—and if we can't we simply don't sell the car to you.

Then, we protect every used car we sell with Pace Buick's own double warranty: 3 months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the entire car plus 6 months/6,000 miles (whichever comes first) limited to the engine and drive train.

Best of all, when you buy a used car from Pace, you receive the same attentive service that's winning us more and more new-car customers.

So, if you're tired of looking at the same old kind of used cars, come to Pace. You'll find the kind of used car you can trust—because you can also trust the dealership they come from.

Church history focus of Seton two-day forum

Scholars and students of Catholic Church history from throughout the country will gather on the Seton Hall University campus, April 7 and 8, for the spring session of the American Catholic Historical Association. The public, teachers and historians have been invited to attend the meetings at 3 p.m. April 7 and 9 a.m. April 8.

Professor Jaroslav Pelikan, dean of graduate studies at Yale University and the editor of the Martin Luther Papers, will be guest speaker at the banquet on Friday evening. He will discuss "Overcoming History by History: From Aeterni Patris to Medieval Studies," which will deal with Pope Leo XIII's influence on the renewed interest of the work of St. Thomas Aquinas.

The conference also will feature a panel commemorating the 125th anniversary of the Archdiocese of Newark.

Other discussion topics will include American Catholic ethnicity, English Catholics in the reign of George III, missionary efforts among the Indians of New Spain, Turkish-Catholic relations in the Near East, Leninism and liberation theology and Catholic thought from Pelagius to Hungarian Marxist historiography of the Church of the mid-Danubian region.

Private hospital wages are close to public scale

Differences in wage levels between private hospital workers and those of state and local government hospitals have generally narrowed since August 1972. Herbert Bienstock, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics said during a seminar held by the Association of Hospital Personnel Administrators at the NYU Club in Manhattan.

Citing data from surveys conducted in 23 metropolitan areas by the bureau between August 1975 and January 1976, Bienstock noted that wage advantages of workers in government hospitals have been declining and, in an increasing number of instances, workers in private hospitals now average as much as or more than government hospital workers. In New York City, wages of workers in municipal hospitals continue to lag behind those earned by workers in private hospitals as they did when the 1972 survey was conducted.

In contrast, in 1960, when separate data for private and public hospitals first became available, general duty nurses in municipal hospitals in New York City earned seven percent more than their counterparts in private hospitals, licensed practical nurses earned 19 percent more, hospital cleaners earned 33 percent more and nurse's aides earned 43 percent more. When the latest survey was conducted, Bienstock said, the government employees were earning between five and nine percent less than comparable workers in private hospitals.

Among the major occupations studied in the 23 area 1975-76 survey, average hourly earnings of general duty nurses—the group accounting for between three-fifths and four-fifths of all registered professional nurses in each area—ranged from $4.88 in Atlanta to $7.02 in San Francisco-Oakland in the New York area. Bienstock noted, where 18,200 general duty nurses were employed in all hospitals except those operated by the federal government, the average was $6.96.

Bienstock noted that average hourly earnings for nurse's aides, the largest nonprofessional occupation studied, ranged from $2.67 in Dallas-Fort Worth to $5.12 in New York.

Council urges state to develop plan for traffic

The New Jersey Citizens Transportation Council has asked the state transportation department to take immediate action in developing a "desperately needed" master plan for Southern and Central New Jersey to prevent traffic bottlenecks similar to those present near many New Jersey urban centers.

Acting Transportation Commissioner Russell Mullen was told in a letter from the council's executive vice president, Joseph Mayers that "we can envision a future traffic situation around the shore areas that by comparison will make present day road conditions there look like the Indianapolis Speedway."

The council suggested a crash program to develop a Master Plan for that area (which must be integrated into a statewide Master Plan), and action now for the state to take up rail rights-of-way for early and future use before they get built over and cost the people untold higher amounts.

"It might be wise to again look into the utilization of these rights-of-way for monorail service or high speed bus service routes," the council said.

The Council asked that all transportation modes be integrated into the plan as the growth continues in Southern and Central New Jersey, accelerated by the coming "casino gambling era" and recreational and amusement centers such as Great Adventure in Jackson.

Need for foster homes called 'critical' in area

The New Jersey Division of Youth and Family Services, a part of the Department of Human Services, will launch a campaign this month to recruit adoptive homes for black children in the Union COUNTY AREA.

According to Rose Zeltser, supervisor of the division's Foster Home and Adoption Resource Center in Newark, which serves Essex and Union counties, the increasing numbers of older black children available for adoption has made the need for such homes critical.

Rutgers aide appointed

The appointment of Marjorie J. Cooke as director of admissions at the Camden College of Arts and Sciences has been announced by Natalie Aharonian, director of undergraduate admissions at Rutgers University.

"At the present time, we have a number of older black children waiting for homes," she said. "Of course, we need homes for black children of all ages, but our greatest need is for homes for children over five, groups of brothers and sisters, and for children with special physical or emotional needs."

Zeltser said past campaigns conducted by the division in the area have been successful. "The Essex-Union area has always been an excellent source of adoptive homes," she said. "Last summer, for example, we had a great need for adoptive homes for black infants. The community responded and as a result, we were able to find homes for most of those infants."

Zeltser noted that the requirements for adoption are flexible. An applicant can be married or single and single men as well as women are considered, she pointed out.

There are no financial or religious requirements, and applicants do not need to own their own home or have a large bank account. The agency charges no fee. In addition, financial assistance to help meet part of the costs of caring for a child with special needs is available to qualified families. Anyone interested can call 648-4550, or visit the Center at 1180 Raymond bouv., Newark.

Disc & Data

By MILT HAMMER

Pick of the LPs. Introducing a new artist to American audiences, Fela Anikulapo Kuti in his country, Nigeria. Fela Kuti is a superstar.

This unique artist has also invented his own style of music known as "Afrobeat." "Afrobeat" is a combination of bouncy high life and American jazz together with African rhythms. With his Africa 70 Band, Fela Kuti achieves his sound through the use of an interesting array of instruments—Western drums, trumpets, plus Kunga drums, klip sticks and the sakere (a percussion instrument made from a calabash).

In performance, Fela Kuti is a powerfully dynamic, constantly moving force. He is considered by far the best musician in Nigeria, and also has a flamboyant, charismatic personality.

He was born into a prominent Nigerian family. Fela Kuti's father is a well known minister and educator, and his two brothers are doctors. His mother originally adopted the name "Anikulapo" from Yoruban mythology meaning "he who carries death in a sack."

UPSIDE DOWN—London SP-44290, Kuti's first album for Phase 4 Stereo, carries the strength of the man, his music and his performance. Featuring a 14 minute 45 second version of the title track "Upside Down," and a 14 minute 37 second cut of "Go Slow."

KAREN STEFKO stars as Mama Rose in "Gypsy," which will resume its performance at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater, Cedar Grove, Wednesday evening. "Godspell" will be staged now through Saturday.

Travolta at Show

John Travolta, who was nominated for the Oscar for Best Actor in "Saturday Night Fever," now playing at the Lost Picture Show, Union, soared to television stardom as Barbarino in "Welcome Back, Kotter." In "Fever," Travolta plays a local disco kingpin at the peak of his popularity, representing the restless and explosive youth of the Seventies.

The picture is based upon a story by Nik Cohn, and was directed by John Badham.

Karen Lynn Gorney is introduced as Stephanie in the film. She has been seen on television as the soap opera princess Tara in "All My Children."

Also in the cast are Barry Miller, Joseph Cali, Paul Pape, Bruce Ornstein, Donna Pescow, Val Bisoglio, Julie Bovasso, Martin Shakar, Nina Hansen and Lisa Peluso.

Difficult writing 'Girl' admits Neil Simon

"The Goodbye Girl," new attraction at the Five Points Cinema, Union, supports the view of Neil Simon, as a man in a happy state of mind. It is a romantic comedy about an unlucky-in-love girl, a fast-talking, but faith-restoring actor and a precocious 10-year-old girl.

"Actually, I find this story more difficult to describe than anything else I've written," says Simon, who has written more hits than any other living playwright. "It's about growing up, and you grow up when you stop making mistakes."

The picture "is about people being caught in a situation where they are very much against being there; and in trying to extricate themselves, they

NEIL SIMON end up very close to one another. It is not a screwball comedy. It is romantic.

Richard Dreyfuss and Simon's real wife, Marsha Mason star, with Quinn Cummings in a supporting role.

Atlantic City new site of Mobilehome Show

The Statewide Mobilehome Show is moving to New Jersey's largest indoor exposition facilities this year. Sponsored by the New Jersey Mobilehome Association, the show will be held at Atlantic City Convention Hall from April 27 to 30.

In 1976 the show was held outdoors, in Asbury Park. Last year, it moved to indoor and outdoor facilities in Burlington, where it covered more than 100,000 square feet of space.

The show, officially known as the "Home and Leisure Living Show," will offer many attractions in addition to manufactured housing. There will be displays on leisure living products and services such as swimming pools, boats and recreational items, vacation living sites and home products. The show goer will see new appliances, energy conserving products, decorator furnishings, hundreds of items of interest to anyone who lives in the tri-state area.

The show is expected to draw more than 50,000 visitors from as far north as New York City and Long Island and as far south as Maryland and Delaware.

"This is by far the largest and most complete home show ever staged in the Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York metropolitan area," stated Dyer.

Information may be secured from the New Jersey Mobilehome Association, 340 W. State street, Trenton, 08618, or by calling 609-393-6562.

POWDER MILL ESTATES—One of the models seen here is not only functionally designed but also built to take advantage its rural setting in Parsippany. The four models now open to the public are the Elmwood, Dorchester, Jefferson and the Regent.

Powder Mill Estates designed for solitude

Located just off Rt. No. 10 in Parsippany, is Powder Mill Estates, created by Pine View Homes Inc. The rolling countryside is dedicated to framing these homes, available on heavily wooded, one acre lots.

There are four models: the Jefferson, a long, low, luxurious 8 room ranch, the Elmwood, a nine room split level, the Dorchester, a 17th century styled French colonial, as well as the Regent, a 2 story colonial.

These homes are priced from $93,000, with sales in excess of 175 to date. Their features include four and five bedrooms, up to two-and-a-half baths, liberal closet space, two car garages, G.E. color coordinated electric kitchen appliances, paneled family rooms, oak flooring, wood windows throughout, aluminum gutters and leaders, underground electric and telephone services and city sewers and water. Also offered are optional features, such as brick fireplaces, full basements, central air conditioning and many others.

Parsippany township has purchased former Knoll Country Club with two 18-hole golf courses for residents. It has a highly rated school system, public and parochial, with nearby colleges as well as convenient shopping, dining, medical facilities and houses of worship. Commuters will find rapid access to all North Jersey and New York City through closeby railroads, express buses and an extensive highway network. Shopping areas such as New Rockaway Townsquare Mall, Livingston Mall and Willowbrook are all only 10 minutes away.

The estates may be visited by going west on Routes 80 and 280 to Route 287 then south to the Rt. 10 exit. Proceed west on Route 10 approximately 1/4 mile past the Rt. 53 intersection to Powder Mill Estates entrance (Manor Lane). Left on Manor Lane and proceed to Pigeon Hill Road then left to models.

Union industry increase seen, company says

Industrial activity in Union County is on the upswing, according to Elmer Schwartz, president of the Archie Schwartz Company, East Orange Industrial Realtors. The firm has recently negotiated a number of major lease and sale agreements in Union County involving a substantial amount of industrial and office space.

Sales representative Vince Bonadies of Schwartz' industrial division reports the completion of leasing arrangements with Coolen Heat Inc., a manufacturer of nationally-marketed cooling equipment. The firm will be expanding its present operations with this move to a large, modern industrial facility in Linden.

In other lease transactions, vice-president Benjamin Fisher has announced that Esquire Fence Company will occupy considerable space in a modern industrial plant on Lawrence street in Rahway. The firm, whose specialty is fence manufacturing, sales and installation, has taken this space in order to accommodate its growing business.

Ben-Wil Candy Company has recently leased space in a modern industrial building in Elizabeth, another completion credited to Fisher. The move is a new venture for principal Wilfredo Yero.

Howard Press, a Linden-based printing concern, has leased substantial warehouse space on St. George avenue in Linden.

The purchase of modern office and storage space on Rt. 22 in Mountainside has been consummated on behalf of the Tower Steak House Inc., which already occupies one facility on the same thoroughfare. The space involved was procured from Ceramic Mold Inc.

Builder says Portland 'best value in state'

The new Portland Colonial model of New American Homes at Settlers Landing, Barnegat, is "the best home value in New Jersey," according to Kaufman and Broad, developers.

The firm made this claim because of a pre-construction sale which offers the three-bedroom home for $33,900 with no closing costs. However, both the price and offer of no closing costs—representing a saving of about $1,000—will end April 2.

What is expected to continue is the availability of special subsidized low-interest financing with mortgage rates as low as five percent for buyers who qualify under provisions of Federal Housing Act (FHA) 235.

Michael J. Gordon, sales and marketing director of the New Jersey Division of Kaufman and Broad, said that until April 2, buyers who take advantage of the offer will find various features included in the Portland Colonial at no extra cost.

The features include: a large master bedroom, an attached garage, brick front, storage space, storm windows and screens, copper plumbing and energy-saving insulation throughout, among other features.

According to a company spokesman, because of Kaufman and Broad's expertise—it is the world's largest multi-national builder with more than 100,000 homes built to date—the FHA 235 offer can be made.

In all, there are six home models at New American Homes at Settlers Landing.

The models are open daily from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Interested persons may take the Garden State Parkway to Exit 67, make a left turn, then proceed a quarter mile to the entrance.

Solar-assisted homes offered by developer

The newest feature in Builders' energy-efficient homes program is solar assisted hot water systems. These are to be offered as standard equipment in selected models and optional in all qualified homes, depending on location.

Daystar Corporation supplier of the solar equipment and technical services, a leading manufacturer in the field, is a wholly-owned affiliate of Exxon Enterprises Inc.

Its research shows that, depending on family needs and size of house, as much as 20 percent to 30 percent of the heating energy used in the average home is for hot water, washing clothes and dishes for showers, baths and other household uses. Solar systems can supply 40 percent or more of a family's hot water heating needs, according to Daystar.

American Dream Builders' developments include Star Valley in West Milford Section 1 of 20 homes and Section 11 of 25 are sold out, according to a spokesman for the developer, and a third section is being opened for lot reservations.

The Star Valley development is located in Passaic County amidst rolling hills with skung, hunting, fishing and swimming in the immediate area. It is about 48 minutes from Manhattan, via Rt. 23 to Macopin road.

Jefferson Rock, located in Jefferson Township in Morris County off White Rock boulevard, has 10

For the prospective homebuyer who desires South Jersey, American Dream offers two developments. The Rainbows is located on Station Road in Berkeley Township, and the Rainbows at Toms River off Roanoke Drive, both in Ocean County offer unusually styled homes with up to 2000 square feet of living space. There are six models including cape cods, ranches and colonials with from two to four bedrooms and one to two baths. These homes include shag carpeting by Sherwin Williams, Magic Chef appliances, heavily wooded lots, custom wood kitchen cabinets, double-hung wood windows and a large garage with macadam driveway.

Minutemen rally to beat Summit in Florham Park tourney, 81-51

The Springfield Minutemen finished their season with a highly competitive Florham Park tournament last week, beating Summit in the quarterfinals before losing to Florham Park in the semifinals and Morristown in the consolation game.

The Minutemen jumped over Summit Tuesday night, 77-51, despite playing in a rain-soaked gymnasium. The Springfield players trailed 14-0 in the first quarter, but they came out of the locker room in the second half ready to play hard. Minutemen basketball and they led the lead for good as Springfield went on to win 81-51.

Peter Ard led the Semars against Summit with 23 points, 12 rebounds and five steals. Robert Steir had a fine all-around night with 20 points, 12 rebounds, five steals and six assists.

Larry Maier directed the offense and connected for seven points. John Sivolella and Thomas Ard each netted six points while Sivolella also grabbed nine rebounds and four steals. Kenny Palazzi had six assists and five points. Danny Cella and Billy Bogar were starting all-rounders for the Minutemen and net four points apiece. John Ustin, John Apicella and Robert Hirswood each had a bucket. John Kury also played well.

In the semifinals Friday night, the Minutemen lost to Florham Park in a game which was a lot closer than the 69-54 score. The Minutemen trailed 17-16 at the end of the first quarter. The Semars were forced to play much of the second period without Steir who was in foul trouble. Florham Park capitalized on the opportunity by taking a 38-27 halftime lead. Florham Park expanded the lead in the third quarter and led by 15 early in the last period. Then the Semars rallied. Hitting from outside, the Minutemen cut Florham Park's lead to four but the Semars blew many easy opportunities to score, missing open lay-ups and several foul shots were missed by Springfield while their opponents began to score again. In the last minute or so, Florham Park sank four quick buckets to win by 11. Springfield's 10-for-22 shooting from the free-throw line played an important role in the defeat.

Ard again led for Springfield, getting 17 points, 13 rebounds and three steals. Steir, despite foul trouble, finished with 15 points and three steals.

Danny Cella had a good game at both ends of the court, scoring 10 points. John Sivolella helped Ard off the backboards with nine rebounds and nine points. Larry Maier had an incredible nine assists while scoring four points.

John Apicella scored one point while Kenny Palazzi and Jon Ustin came off the bench to help Springfield.

Saturday, against a tall team of eighth-graders from Morristown, the Minutemen led, 19-11, after the first quarter, 34-29 after the second and 52-49 after the third period. In the fourth quarter, the Minutemen five began to tire; each man had played three games in five days. They relinquished the lead midway through the final period although the game was close to the last minute, when Morristown opened up and won by 11.

John Sivolella had his best game as a Minuteman with 22 points and eight rebounds. Peter Ard connected for 18 points and led with 12 rebounds.

Robert Steir led with four steals and added 10 rebounds and 14 points. Danny Cella and Larry Maier each had four points and led in assists with six and nine respectively. Kenny Palazzi (2) and John Apicella (2) were the other Senior scorers.

Northwestern signs up Lies to play tennis

An 18-year-old Springfield woman has signed a letter of intent to play tennis for Northwestern University.

Donna Lies signed the letter March 15 and has joined the team on its current California spring trip. She is ranked third in the Eastern sectionals. According to Coach June Booth, Lies is the first player in the history of Northwestern with a national ranking—42nd in the country.

The communications major earned the top singles spot on the Lady Stringer roster following a week of inter-squad matches. Lies beat seventh-ranked Maria Rothschild of St. Louis last fall and also played in an exhibition singles match with Renee Richards.

After signing the letter, Lies said her decision to join the Northwestern team was based on its "competitive schedule coaching" and its "outstanding academic reputation."

Dayton baseball hopes to rest on 11 lettermen

BY MIKE MEIXNER

The Jonathan Dayton baseball team will open the season with Coach Edward Jasinski at the helm and 11 lettermen returning.

The pitching corps is led by speedy right-hander Dave Ironson, a starter last year who should be the staff ace this season. The right arm of Dean Gerber will also be counted on for several victories. He is hoping to lower his earned run average from last year, when he was a bullpen stalwart. Rich Schmedel, another letter winner, is the lone lefthander. Frank Zahn, a versatile player, is also hoping for mound duty. Fast ball artist Dave Vargas is expected to crack the starting lineup after winning four games for the junior varsity team last year. Randy Bain rounds out the respectable staff.

Coach Jasinski is blessed with a strong returning infield. Junior Ed Johnson, a sophomore starter last year, will switch from second base to short-stop, solidifying a strong left side. Dave Lauff, a sophomore letterman, will be at first base, where he received limited duty last season. John Powell is hoped to excel at second or third base during his senior year. His second on the varsity level. The team is fortunate to have peppery Mark D'Agostini coming from the Jayvees to improve the infield. Adam Williams is another who should hook up with the varsity team.

The outfield is talent laden and full of speed, led by Bob Bohrod, a converted first baseman and an excellent hitter. Surrounding him will be Kevin Lalor and John LaMotta, a pair of speedy flycatchers. Competition will be given by Al Preziosi, who batted .406 on last year's junior varsity, and Darren Young, a 346 Jayvee hitter. Other outfield hopefuls include Rick Souders, Kevin Coyle, Rich Hartman, Paul Reiter, Kevin Englehardt, Jeff Ivory and Mitch Slater.

The catching could be done by last year's powerful designated hitter Billy Young. He will be helped by Jim Wnek, another 1977 Jayvee star.

Soccer Scene

BY BILL WILD

The Cosmos play their first home exhibition game Saturday at Giants Stadium against the Chicago Sting at 2:30 p.m. The Sting comes off of a 2-2-2 pre-season record while the Cosmos sport a 3-0 record.

The big news on the local level also involves the Cosmos because the "mighty Midgets" are scheduled to play in the first of two preliminary games on Sunday, April 16 when the Cosmos meet the Tulsa Roughnecks.

Any soccer fans who want to see the 8 and 9-year-old team of the Union Lancers play the Bergen Kickers, their arch rivals in the Cosmopolitan League should call Horst Haussler at 687-3063 for tickets. The tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for children under 16 or senior citizens 65 and over.

The game, though, is the first preliminary and it will not get the exposure it deserves. The Lancers sport a 9-0 record while the Bergen Kickers are 8-1. The only loss the Bergen Kickers suffered was at the hands of the Union Lancers. The matchup should be a preview of the playoff game for the New Jersey division of the midget league.

Tickets to Cosmos or New Jersey American games can be obtained by calling Horst Haussler. He has tickets at box office prices with junior and senior citizen discounts. The tickets can be picked up at his shop on Elmwood avenue in Union.

Coach Manny Schellscheidt of the New Jersey Americans held tryouts for his upcoming season at the Rutgers Gym, this past week and took advantage of the situation to get his Union Lancer midgets some playing time. The youngsters look in good shape. "The more they play, the better they get," is the Schellscheidt theory, so he uses every means he has to get playing time for his team.

both ends. Gregg Kahn was instrumental in the rally with six points, all in the second half. Charlie Saia and Eric Yoss were aggressive players for the Pistons on offense as well as defense. Robert DeRonde and Jim Pieper contributed strong defensive efforts.

The Lakers' Adam Jacobs was high scorer with eight points and controlled the Laker offense. Greenberg, in less than a half of the game, collected five points. Anthony Boffa was the top Laker rebounder and scored four. Barry Rodburg had three and Jeff Finberg two points. Nick Ruggeri and Beth Lebovitz were effective in reserve for the Lakers. Gary Francias aided the Lakers with a solid floor game.

Piston coach Charlie Saia presented trophies to the winners. Tom Meixner was named as the 1978 Small Fry League MVP. Other trophy recipients were Gregg Kahn, Charlie Saia Jr., Bruce Oberhand, Eric Yoss, Gregg Giordano, Robert DeRonde, Bob Maher, Bruce Yablonsky, Jim Schmidt and David Alexander.

Mental Health

From HEW

Many people who write to the National Institute of Mental Health ask the same questions. Some of the most common questions, and their answers, go something like this:

Q. If I do seek help, where would I go?

A. You could start by contacting your local Community Mental Health Center. More than 600 of these centers have been funded by the Federal Government in different parts of the country and are being operated by State and local groups and agencies.

Q. I don't have any hospitalization coverage—where would I get the money to pay for help?

A. The cost of any of the services should depend on what you can afford to pay. So—if you have no money, or very little, services are provided free at these centers.

Q. Wouldn't it be better just to tough it out? I don't like to bother other people with my problems—and things could blow over if I just hang on.

A. That's like having a toothache and not going to the dentist. The price you pay is exactly the same—you keep on hurting.

Q. Suppose I decide to go ahead and visit one of these centers... what goes on in one of those places? What's their treatment all about?

A. A specially trained staff member will talk with you about the things that are worrying you.

Q. Talk? I can talk to anyone for free—why pay a doctor?

A. You're quite right—if you have a wise and understanding friend who is willing to listen to your problems, you may not need professional help at all. But often that's not enough. You may need a professionally trained person to help you dig out what's really bothering you—and you may need some medication.

Q. How can just talking make problems disappear?

A. Well, when you're talking to someone who has helped many others with problems similar to yours, that person is able to see the patterns in your life that have led to your unhappiness. In therapy, the job is to help you recognize those patterns—and you may try to change them.

Q. Are psychiatrists the only ones who can help?

A. No, a therapist does not have to be a psychiatrist. A number of social workers, psychologists, group workers, and others have been specially trained to work effectively with people's mental and emotional difficulties.

Q. Since I work all day, it would be hard to come during regular working hours. Is the center open at nights or on weekends?

A. This can be arranged, too. Just contact the center for an appointment which will be set up for a time that is convenient.

Menza calling for TV forum

Alexander J. Menza, former state senator and Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, this week called on TV to provide a forum for open debate among the candidates.

"Television stations have a civic obligation to provide their viewers with the opportunity to see the candidates and hear them express their views," Menza said.

"TV commercials should not be the only way for the public to have the opportunity to judge the candidate. This method could often times be unfair and benefit only the candidate with the most money. The exchange of views in a debate is more important in the selection of a candidate than having the candidate deliver a rehearsed commercial," he said.

The New York and Philadelphia TV stations have too long ignored the happenings of New Jersey," Menza added.

Conference set on preserving 'old buildings'

An all day conference on the preservation of New Jersey's cultural resources will be held Saturday, April 1, at the historic Shadowlawn mansion on the Monmouth College campus, West Long Branch.

Titled "What's New in Old Buildings," the conference is designed to encourage planners and architects to take a fresh look at preservation as an integral part of planning.

Deputy Environmental Protection Commissioner Betty Wilson said the program will serve as an introduction to more technical regional seminars which will be held throughout the state in the fall.

Guest speakers include Dr. William Murtagh, keeper of the National Register of Historic Places, John Pearce, historic preservation officer for Maryland, Nellie Longworth, president of the National Preservation Lobby, and Carolyn Pitts, senior architectural historian for the National Park Service.

As part of the ceremonies, Shadowlawn and the Guggenheim Mansion, also located on the campus, will be entered in the National Register of Historic Places by Dr. Murtagh.

Registration for the conference is $10, including lunch. Further information available from the N.J. Office of Historic Preservation, 109 W. State St. Trenton, 08625, or (609) 292-2023.

BENEFIT ON ICE—Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner, winners of the bronze medal in pair skating at the world figure skating championships, will perform in Funorama on Ice at the South Mountain Arena, West Orange, April 15 and 16. The program, sponsored by the Essex Skating Club and the Hospital Center at Orange, will benefit the hospital. The show is sanctioned by the U.S. Figure Skating Association.

Library grant given to Drew University

Drew University, Madison, has received an $18,845 grant from the Council on Library Resources to participate in the Academic Library Development Program. Drew is only the third U.S. institution of higher learning to secure such an award.

The ALDP involves a two-staged self-study survey designed to focus on a library's problems and assets. The program was begun in 1975 to help mid-sized academic libraries analyze how they were meeting campus and community needs.

$3.1 million set as state's goal in cancer fight

Governor Byrne has proclaimed April Cancer Control Month. The annual state Cancer Crusade will be highlighted by the most extensive schedule of detection screening programs provided by the New Jersey Division in its 33 year history. Its goal is to raise $3.1 million.

Members of the New Jersey Dental Association will give free oral examinations state wide in work places, shopping malls, health clinics and other public places during Oral Screening Week, April 10-15. American Cancer Society county units also are planning Pap test and colon-rectum screenings throughout the year.

The public education programs will demonstrate methods of detecting cancer in its early stages. Early detection followed by prompt, effective treatment, is the surest cure for cancer yet established, a spokesman said.

Last year, 13,600 patients received assistance, including medications, at a cost of more than $1.2 million. Continuation of the state division's patient service at the current rate depends on substantially increased contributions.

Coast Guard issues warning

The U.S. Coast Guard is warning owners that Elite Boats' model 1600T 15-foot outboard runabout does not meet safety standards for safe loading and powering.

Elite boats of Perry, Fla., the manufacturer, is no longer in business.

Testing of the 1977 model 1600T runabout showed that the boat can safely carry no more than 1,156 pounds (persons, motor and gear) and that the boat cannot carry an outboard motor exceeding 80 horsepower without danger of sinking. The Coast Guard Capacity Information label on this 1600T runabout overstates both the maximum weight capacity and the maximum horsepower capacity.

Owners are urged the use caution in the operation of these boats, and not to exceed the 1,156 pounds of people, motor and gear or the 80 horsepower outboard motor capacity calculated in accordance with Coast Guard safety standards.

IRS will give taxpayers help with paperwork

Many federal taxpayers who do not itemize deductions and have a relatively uncomplicated tax return can have the Internal Revenue Service compute their taxes, a spokesman said. The IRS will compute the income tax for single taxpayers with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 or less, and married taxpayers filing jointly with an adjusted gross income of $40,000 or less.

Either Form 1040A or Form 1040 can be used but the taxpayer's income must be solely from wages, salary, tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities.

To take advantage of this IRS service, the taxpayer needs only complete certain portions of his or her tax return, attach all W-2 forms, sign the return and mail it by April 15.

Exact details of which portions of the return must be completed in order to have IRS compute the tax appear in the tax package instructions mailed earlier to each taxpayer.

Show focuses on health cost

Rising hospital and technological costs, private and public insurance programs and a panel discussion on health economics will be featured on "The High Cost of Healing" on Wednesday, April 5, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, April 8, at 5 p.m. on New Jersey Public Television channels 23, 50, 52, and 58.

IRS gives assistance to deaf electronically

Deaf and hearing-impaired taxpayers can receive assistance from the Internal Revenue Service through a special toll-free TV-phone or teletypewriter system.

This assistance is made possible by a device that electronically connects a telephone receiver to either a television screen and keyboard (TV-phone) or to a teletypewriter (TTY).

Though many deaf and hearing-impaired persons have one of these systems in their homes, those individuals who do not may find there is equipment available through a local service agency or organization for deaf and hearing-impaired persons.

To use this service the taxpayer first places a call to the Internal Revenue Service TV-phone-TTY headquarters in Indianapolis. Residents of New Jersey should use the toll-free number, 800-428-4732. When a response is received, the taxpayer types a question which is transmitted via telephone. The answer from IRS will be made in the same manner.

As there are no vocal responses made through this system, the toll-free number should be used only by those individuals using the special equipment.
