Regional board clarifies rules on awards for top performance

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education Tuesday night approved a list of rules for student awards and certificates prepared by a board sub-committee formed to revamp the awards system.

Estimated cost of the new awards program is $2,668 annually for all four schools in the district with most spending for plaques and engraving.

The board had been sharply criticized when it spent about $6,000 on material prizes, such as jackets, for winning athletes in fall sports last year.

The unanimous vote ends months of discussion on the fairness of the previous award system, which many said provided little or no recognition for large groups of students while rewarding the achievements of others, particularly sports participants.

The new requirements also make distribution of awards uniform throughout the four regional high schools and outline procedures for presenting 18 awards in the senior year.

Students will now be recognized for achievement in three major areas, including outstanding performance, intellectual promise or outstanding honors. A limit has been placed on the price of such awards and the type of award symbol that will be presented.

The recommendations state that criteria will be drawn up by staff members within particular subject areas. Outstanding achievement or performance winners will be presented with plaques costing $25 or less including the cost of engraving.

Valedictorians and salutatorians will receive plaques of less than $35 and the total cost per school will be $70. The students' names will also be placed on a school wall plaque that will cost about $73 and $10 for a name inscription.

Other student winners will receive letters of congratulations and certificates of honor.

"This is just the first stage," said the superintendent, Dr. Donald Merachnik. "The committee's work has not ended."

Merachnik said the committee will now look into the process of choosing award winners by the Board of Education and other outside groups—a second step which board member Roland Hecker criticized.

"I don't like the implications of that," said Hecker. "I don't like the idea of going to outside groups and asking them what kinds of awards they give out."

Regional graduates 1978 class of 307

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School graduated the 1978 class of 307 students Monday night under rainy skies that moved ceremonies indoors.

Marie DeGiorgio, valedictorian, and Kristen Peterson, salutatorian, spoke for their classmates on their years at Dayton and projections of the future.

Also participating in the school's 40th annual commencement program were Kenneth Fingerhut, class president; Patricia D'Agostini vice-president; Msgr. Raymond Pollard, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Mountainside, and the Rev. George Schlesinger, pastor of the Methodist Church in Springfield.

PBA, Council meet: It's all lawyers' talk

Representatives of the Mountainside Policemen's Benevolent Association and the Borough Council held their first formal contract negotiation meeting last Wednesday with both sides' lawyers present for the first time.

The parties had met informally earlier this year to discuss contract terms before the PBA declared an impasse and voted for binding arbitration in March. The Public Employees Relations Commission assigned a mediator, Julius Malkin, to the case in April. Malkin is an attorney with offices in Hackensack.

PBA President James Debbie said the seven-hour meeting "accomplished nothing except to clear up contract terminology. We didn't really have to be there," he said, "It was all lawyers' talk."

Debbie said both sides decided against calling in the mediator. The patrolman said "we think we can accomplish things without him" at this time, adding Malkin would be summoned should talks reach an impasse.

He said no further meetings have been scheduled, but he expected a date would be set within three weeks. This marks the first time Mountainside police have sought a contract.

Ricciardi sees setback in Route 78 resolution

By PATRICIA GARRISON

Mountainside Mayor Thomas Ricciardi last week sounded exasperated when informed of yet another setback in the completion of Rt. 78. The Union County Board of Freeholders last week rescinded a 1974 resolution and instead said it favored an alignment that would not cut through the Watchung Reservation.

"This puts us back four years," said Ricciardi, to the time before freeholders approved the "through the park" or original Rt. 78 alignment. "Any other alignment might affect Mountainside homes," he said.

A previously considered "south of the park" alignment could involve destruction of more than 30 Mountainside homes. The borough fought against that alignment, but was satisfied with the so-called original path, that would cut through the park and utilize primarily park land.

"I've been in favor of the original alignment," said Ricciardi, "protecting as much park land as possible." The mayor said the alternate south route "defeats our whole town."

While Mountainside seemed satisfied with the original route, environmentalists have lodged strong protests for several years against destruction of park land.

The protests have continued even though the N.J. Department of Transportation recently unveiled a plan that would go through the park, but cut down on noise and narrow the roadway.

DOT officials have said that the narrowing of medians would save substantial park territory and a lowering of the highway's profile would reduce noise levels.

A recent DOT change would also avoid the wetlands below the Watchung Reservation stables. At a March public hearing on the revised alignment, DOT officials said a target completion date for the roadway had been set at 1985, barring any legal complications.

But the environmental boost from the freeholders might add fuel to their campaign, and hold up construction past that year.

Construction is complete from the Delaware River to Newark Airport, except for the five-mile gap through the Reservation between Springfield and Berkeley Heights.

First listed in Field Day at Deerfield

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders in Mountainside's Deerfield school got a chance to test their physical talents in the school's annual Field Day.

The students were divided into two teams competing against each other, according to Jeanette Sekberg and Charles Carson, the school's physical education instructors.

Field Day events included throwing, jumping, tug-of-war and softball games, as well as running contests.

"Field Day is preceded by a few weeks of practicing track and field skills in the physical education classes," Carson explained.

First place finishers for each event included—300 yard, Heye DeBuhr, Robert Casey, eighth grade; Scott Hewitt, Glenn Delaney, seventh grade; Peter Grett, Alex Caiola, sixth grade.

Jim Boydell of Irvington was fined $10 and $10 in court costs for failing to provide drink, food and proper shelter for his dog, which he apparently locked in his car trunk while in Mountainside. The charges stemmed from a complaint brought by the N.J. Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Reduce chance of skin cancer

As the summer sun gets hotter, thousands of people in Union County will flock to the beaches and lakes to get away from the city heat.

"Although certainly some sun is healthy and beneficial for a healthy body, extreme exposure to the sun's rays can be harmful," explained Dr. Warren Knauer, medical delegate to the Union County Unit "Over-exposure to the sun can cause skin cancer, the most common and preventable form of the disease.

"It is fortunate that simple precautions can prevent skin cancer from developing and that early detection allows for 95 percent of superficial skin cancer to be cured."

Dr. Knauer urges everyone to follow a few simple steps:

- Avoid or limit direct exposure to the sun between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

- Wear a broad-brimmed hat or peaked cap and keep limbs covered.

- Use medically approved creams and sun-screening lotions.

"These simple steps can prevent the development of skin cancer, while still allowing one to enjoy and relax in the sun," added Dr. Knauer.

CERTAIN ODDS

At a well-known gambler's funeral, the preacher observed: "Johnny's not dead, he only sleeps." One of the deceased's partners then mumbled: "I'll lay you one-to-five that he's dead."

Pisano pledges role for women in GOP

Alfonso L. Pisano, chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, pledged to make room for women "at the top" in GOP decision-making roles during a speech at the annual luncheon-installation of the Union County Women's Political Caucus in Scotch Plains.

"God didn't create any second or third class citizens," Pisano said, "and women should have equal opportunity and equal pay."

Pointing to the 12 women candidates running under the Republican banner in Union County, Pisano said, "I personally sought the candidacy of the only woman mayoral candidate (Councilwoman Virginia McKenny of Roselle Park) and predict she will be the first woman mayor in Union County."

"In my campaign for chairman, I said: Give me your hands, no matter your color, ideology, or ethnic background," stated Pisano. "I now add give me your hands no matter what your sex."

Outlining his plans for Republican women in Union County, Pisano said, "I am proposing to add an administrative assistant for the County Republican chairman and hope to fill that post with a woman. Also, I am proposing to do away with the screening committee in favor of the open convention which will give women a voice."

Women were urged to go before their political party's screening committee by Ann Conti, executive secretary of the Union County Democratic organization, who admitted she wasn't the best example, having sought the surrogate nomination and lost.

"Don't wait for your children to be grown before you become politically active," said Conti, adding, "I waited too long."

"Don't consider it abandoning your children, consider it sharing them," Conti continued. "Get active on the municipal level and then the county level."

Conti noted that there are more women candidates today (eight women Democratic candidates running in the county) and more women are serving as legislative aides.

ASPIRIN HELPS

Recurrent herpes simplex infection often can be induced by sunburn, says Dr. Harvey Blank of the University of Miami School of Medicine. He says easily affected people should take aspirin before exposing themselves to the sun for any long period of time, because it can help combat swelling.

TAXPAYER FEAR

Taxpayers no longer fear that Congress will let them down; they just hope it will let them up.

Proofs needed to get social security card

Everyone who applies for a social security number, regardless of age or place of birth, must now submit documentary evidence of age, identity and citizenship or alien status, according to Robert E. Willwerth, social security district manager in Union County.

In addition, people 18 or over who are applying for a number for the first time must apply in person. People applying for a duplicate card are now required to submit evidence of identity.

The best evidence of age and citizenship is a birth certificate recorded shortly after birth and this is preferred, Willwerth said. Evidence of identity should include material showing the person's picture, signature, date of birth, age or other identifying information.

People not born in the United States should provide evidence of their U.S. citizenship or their immigration documents showing they were lawfully admitted to the U.S.

Willwerth said that although these new procedures make it more difficult to get a social security number, they are intended to help protect the person's social security record and to prevent anyone else from misusing the person's social security number.

People intending to apply for a social security number should allow plenty of time before it will be required. Three to four weeks are needed before the card will be delivered after all required documents have been submitted.

All documents submitted as evidence may be verified with the agency which issued them to assure they are valid.

FHA program is outlined by mortgage firm

Kennedy Mortgage Co. of Cherry Hill, one of New Jersey's largest mortgage banking organizations, has announced the inauguration of New Jersey's first FHA new home commitments to be officially backed by a 10-year home owner warranty program.

Twenty-two individual commitments were issued to Kennedy on June 15 by the Camden branch of the Federal Housing Administration, a division of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. They permit 22 homes to be built at "Mystic Islands" as part of a 4000-home tract currently under construction in Little Egg Harbor Township, near Tuckerton.

Under the program, builders who are offering their homebuyers the benefits of a 10-year insurance policy covering the various mechanical and structural components will be entitled to special leniency from FHA in the administration of its inspection program. Previously, builders had to submit to a lengthy interim inspection system imposed by FHA.

FHA will require that construction exhibits be approved in advance, that the warranty be furnished at no cost to the homebuyer, and that participating builders maintain a good quality workmanship rating with the Camden FHA office.

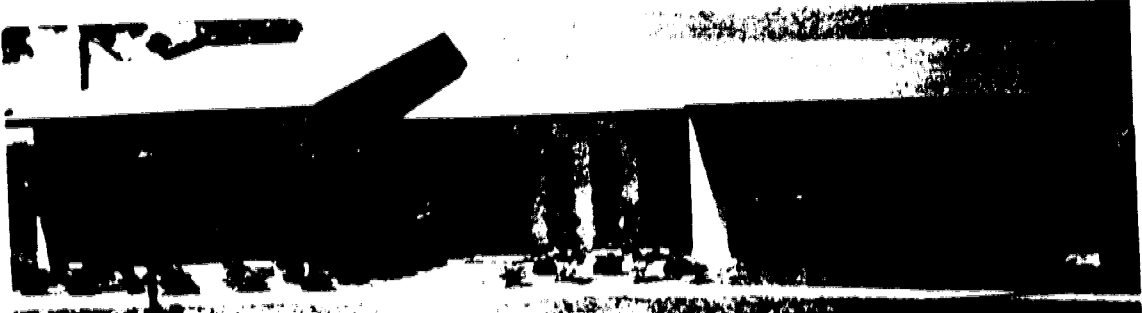

Joseph G. Zinman, vice-president for construction at Kennedy, said, "the initial commitments issued to Kennedy are expected to result in a savings of both time and money for local homebuilders. These savings will benefit the public and, additionally, assure homebuyers of a fair and speedy method of handling disagreements over major structural defects."

Kennedy is involved in financing more than 55 tracts of homes in southern New Jersey, most of which will be eligible for this new program. As the area's largest real estate lender specializing in government-backed mortgages, Kennedy can make available low interest rate FHA-insured or VA-guaranteed loans to qualified homebuyers in each of the nine counties administered by the Camden HUD-FHA office.

The first builder to benefit — Mystic Development Corp. — has built 4,000 homes in the Tuckerton area since 1959. As one of the charter members of Home Owners Warranty Corp. of N.J., all of their homes built since March 1977 have received HOW protection backed by the American Bankers Insurance Co. of Florida, which insures the third to 10th years of the policy. To date, this is the only 10-year warranty plan approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

Participating builders must agree to build all homes according to HOW's approved standards. The entire licensing program is administered by a subsidiary of the National Association of Home Builders which represents a national membership of over 84,000 people.

Kennedy Mortgage Co., in addition to its Cherry Hill headquarters, also operates offices in Fairfield, Wilmington, Del., Woodbridge, Falls Church, Va.
