liams seeks to halt unemployment aid bill

Dr. Arthur Williams, president of the Mountainside Board of Education, this week urged the public to write or telephone state legislators about a proposal that would allow many 10month school employees, such as secretaries and custodians, to collect unemployment compensation during the summer recess.

The proposal passed in the Assembly,

43-19, on June 14 and awaits action in the State Senate, where it is before the Labor, Industry and Professions Committee.

Dr. Williams and Mountainside board member Bart Barre issued a press release urging the public "to be aware of the bill, A-1813, and its large potential costs to Mountainside and all other school systems" and to contact the

"I anticipate that the Mountainside board will take a stand against A-1813," said Barre before the meeting. "It seems to me that unemployment compensation should be for people who are really unemployed, not those who sign 10-month contracts and could budget in advance for the summer recess.

The N. J. School Boards Association (NJSBA) has called for "a concerted lobbying effort" to stop passage of A-1813 in the senate, according to the press release from Williams and Barre. They said the NJSBA lobbying effort failed to stop the bill in the assembly, but resulted in an amendment excluding teachers and other professionally certificated emplo, es from the senate labor committee.

Majors take pair on road

The Mountainside Little League Major League All Stars continued undefeated with two road victories. In the first game. Mountainside topped New Providence, 7-5, as David Gagliano, Kyle Wissel and Jimmy Thorlakson led a well-balanced attack, and Vincent Mannion picked up a save in relief, aided by two double plays.

Nationals and rallied from a five-run deficit to win, 8-5 David Rizzo, with three scoreless innings of relief, picked up the win. The offense was led by Darren Iaione with a home run and a double, Chris Carpency with a home run with Rizzo with two hits. Peter Grett played well at third base.

Mountainside then visited Summit

Mountainside held a pet day in which students brought in their pets. All pets received blue ribbons and were blessed by the Rev. Eilert.

The pets included dogs, cats, fish, rabbits, sea monkeys and guinea pigs.

A spokesman for the NJSBA estimated that statewide about 19,000 school employes could collect unemployment compensation during the summer if A-1318 passes in the State Senate. This would include about a dozen in the Mountainside school system, Barre said. Each would receive up to $117 per week for 10 weeks. according to the NJSBA, and local school boards would have to raise property taxes or curtail educational programs to finance the costs.

Andrews and Barre listed addresses and telephone numbers of senate labor committee members, including Eugene J. Bedell, Chairman (D-12), 1 Church st., Keansburg 07734, (201) 495-2800; David J. Friedland, (D-32), 99 Montgomery st., Jersey City 07302, (201) 798-0303; John T. Gregorio (D-21), 304 W. Curtis st., Linden 0,7036, (201) 486-0898; Brian T. Endure lines by planning trip to pump

Motorists can take some of the frustration out of gasoline lines if they budget ahead for the time, according to Mountainside service station operators police, parents and county officials

The county's Department of Central Services last Friday opened a gasoline hotline, 527 4704, which motorists may telephone between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays to find out when a specific service station will be pumping gas

Jim Delaney, vounty director of central services, said the hotline will be staffed for the duration of the long-lines problem. He said his emergency budget allows only 9-4 weekdays staffing, but motorists may telephone a day or so in advance if they plan to buy gasoline before 9 a.m. or on a weekend.

Lt. Joe Mazur said the Mountainside police department supplied the hotline with information about each of the seven service stations in the borough During pumping hours, Mountainside dealers said, a motorist should plan on waiting about an hour for every 50 to 75 cars ahead of him in line

"We handled a quarter mile of carsabout 50 to 75 cars-in half an hour, said one service-station spokesman in Mountainside, "But we can't be sure the line will always move that fast. It's better to count on waiting about an hour if there are that many cars ahead of Mazur said there were two gasolinesiphoning thefts last week-one on Timberline road and one from a Postal Service vehicle. But the vast majority of motorists braved long lines to get gasoline honestly, he pointed out.

Mazur said most of the motoristsincluding off-duty policemen getting gasoline for their family cars-seemed to be learning quickly "how to make the best of a bad situation." There were few reports of panicking.

A Westfield woman stopped at Mountainside police headquarters Friday to report her car was running low on gasoline enroute to a hospital in Summit, where her husband had

Deerfield 'erases' vandals' painting

Deerfield School custodians quickly cleaned windows and repainted doors last week after vandals defaced them with red and black spray paint.

Deerfield Principal Allan Shapiro said the only loss to the school system was in custodial man hours that could have been used in other ways. He hopes that this was an isolated incident. Shapiro said, and that the Mountainside school system will continue a record of experiencing "very much less" vandalism than most. Police were investigating the incident, reported June 26. Authorities said the spray painting was probably done by local children. The painted words included names of several Mountainside teachers changing her mind about waiting for an answer, she decided to risk the rest of the trip with a fuel gauge close to the "empty" mark. She apparently made it to the hospital

Teenagers were especially glum about the problems of getting gasoline. As parents guarded every gallon in their cars, sons and daughters often heard "no" to requests to borrow a car. But teenagers also were among the more inventive in finding activities without a car

Patricia Hanigan of Mountainside, valedictorian of the Class of 1979 at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, said she rides to her summer job in a car pool and joins tamily efforts to conserve fuel after working hours

"Walking's good for you, and a bike is great, too especially afternoons." she suggested

DiFrancesco asks state to set stations' hours

Assemblyman Donald DiFrancesco (R-22) has urged the Byrne administration to mandate hours of operation for gas stations throughout

New Jersey. DiFrancesco said that the governor's failure to develop a comprehensive energy policy was resulting in undue hardship for working people trying to purchase gas on the way to or from their job. "The working people of this state are bearing the brunt of inconsistent information and lack of public planning," DiFrancesco said. "A specific schedule of gas station hours, mandated by the state, will alleviate the uncertainty experienced by our citizens.

DiFrancesco cited the long lines that drivers must endure when trying to purchase gas on their way to work. Lacking mandated operating stations are closing at irregular times, many as early as noon. What this means to the nine-to-five worker DiFrancesco said, is that "if they can't buy gas in the morning, they're not going to be able to get it at all.

DiFrancesco said that mandated hours will eliminate much confusion and panic buying, benefitting both the consumer and the gas station operator.

"If something isn't done soon," DiFrancesco added, "employers will have to let their workers take time off to drive around looking for gasoline.

Congressman Rinaldo

The daily frustration of long gas lines has become a new feature on the American landscape. Motorists have stopped shopping for brands. They take anything they can get, including gasohol

A mixture of 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent alcohol, gasohol has few rivals as the most popular fuel issue in Congress. There are several bills in Congress to promote the development of gasohol production.

The Department of Energy (DOE) is conducting several alcohol fuel research and development programs, and proposes to spend more than $28 million next year on these projects. DOE's research and development programs are attempting to improve the energy efficiency and economics of synthetic fuel and develop methanol conversion technology.

The Department of Agriculture is spending half a million dollars for research on feedstocks and their conversion into fuels, and $500,000 is being spent by the department for competitive gasohol related research grants to colleges.

Last March, I sponsored legislation to promote the use of alcohol as a motor vehicle fuel. It directs the Secretary of Energy and the Environmental Protection Agency to take cooperative action to speed up the expanded production and distribution of gasobol. Another bill I am co-sponsoring would allow the rapid amortization of facilities producing alcohol as a petroleum additive.

A third bill that I am supporting would abolish the feed grain set aside program, which cost taxpayers over $800 million in 1978, and earmark a significant portion of the grain reserve to serve as assured feedstocks for the alcohol fuels industry. It would also provide the Secretary of Agriculture with discretionary authority to make available all agricultural commodities under his control for this purpose. That includes corn, wheat, sugar, potatoes and dry milk.

U.S. farmers have proven they can produce more than Americans can consume or export if the farmers have guarantees that their grain and corn will be purchased. The gasohol industry would give them that guarantee while assuring surplus supply of grain for domestic consumption and for export abroad.

Actually, the development of a gasohol industry would result in reduced costs to the American taxpavers. Farm subsidies of $4 billion to $7 billion a year, depending on supply and demand, would be substantially reduced. Gasohol also would bolster the value of the dollar in international trade by reducing fuel imports. Finally, it would create a new industry to recycle trash and farm wastes.

If the nation displaced ten percent of its unleaded gasoline with alcohol, it is estimated we could save 320,000 barrels of oil a day. The savings would be much higher if there was a total conversion to gasohol, a situation which may be forced upon us sooner than we plan. It is possible for alcohol to be mixed with regular gasoline now, but virtually all dealers mix alcohol with unleaded gas because of the octaine boosting quality

A total conversion to leaded and unleaded gasohol would mean a 20 percent reduction in the amount of imported oil the nation uses for gasoline. Some experts note that it takes more energy to make a gallon of alcohol than to produce a gallon of gas. There will, of course, be a loss of energy when one form of fuel is converted into another, such as coal to electricity. But the real issue in the energy balance is not the specific gain or loss of energy, but the social and economic good that results. If the U.S. needs more liquid fuelwhich it does-and it has a surplus of grain or garbage-which it has-then makes sense. More gasohol importantly, America must decrease oil imports and gasohol will help achieve that objective.

DISCUSS FUEL CRISIS—Charles Beyer, Springfield resident and service station owner, talks with Freeholder Vice-Chairwoman Joanne Rajoppi about the gas crisis. Beyer and many other gas station owners who were polled by the Democratic State Senate candidate in the 22nd District have expressed interest in gasohol as an interim energy measure.

Rajoppi urges probe, gasohol use by state

Board of Freeholders Vice-Joanne Rajoppi, Chairwoman Democratic state senate candidate in the 22nd District, this week urged the state attorney general to conduct a fullscale investigation into the gas crisis and asked state and federal officials to take more stringent action on the energy problem.

She also suggested that the use of "gasohol" be studied by the state for possible use in state-owned vehicles.

"The lines of cars waiting to get gas at stations are growing longer every day," Rajoppi said. "The odd-even system instituted by Gov. Byrne has alleviated the situation to some degree but an increase in the use of energy is expected this summer. The severity of the problem will get worse as the supply of gasoline gets tighter."

Rajoppi noted that the odd-even system, gasohol and other measures will treat the symptoms but won't cure the problem.

"Alternate means of energy must be explored," she said, citing the use of solar panels on the Union County Administration Building in Elizabeth.

"The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders recently directed County Manager George Albanese to look at the feasability of using gasohol in all county vehicles except for those used by the emergency services," Rajoppi explained. "We also asked him to study the possibility of establishing limits on the amount of gas to be used by most county vehicles, as well as organizing car-pooling for county employees."

The State Senate candidate noted that preliminary reports received about gasohol indicate that it does increase mileage by about 5 percent on the average, although the "biggest problem with gasohol availability," Rajoppi said.

Nevertheless, gasohol-a mixture of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gasoline—is being used in the Midwest, the former Springfield mayor said, as well as in municipally-owned cars in White Plains, N.Y., and in New York

"I've been talking to gas station owners and have been listening to their problems and getting their ideas and comments about gasohol," Rajoppi said. "And many said they would take all the gasohol they could get." The freeholder said that, until a more suitable solution to the energy crisis is found, the county will explore two conservation plans: One would reduce the use of gas on a percentage basis and the other would restrict mileage with the exception of certain emergency

"Gasohol also would be an interim measure,'' Rajoppi added.

District 22 includes Berkeley Heights, Chatham Township, Clark, Fanwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside, Plainfield, Rahway, Scotch Plains and Springfield.

davtime as well as in the evening, according to Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman. Union's president for academic affairs.

The program will meet a growing demand for interpreters in the state, Dr. Kreisman said. With a deaf population of 52,000 the current needd is for 94 full-time interpreters for a ratio of one interperter per 553 deaf persons. At present, only 29 New Jersey residents are certified by the National Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, 28 of those work only part-time. As the deaf population grows, that need is expected to increase to a minimum of 109 interpreters needed in 1980 and 120 by 1985, Dr. Kreisman said.

In addition, the ratio of one interpreter for every 553 deaf persons is a low need-estimate, Dr. Kreisman said. Once interpreters become available.

the need will increase as deaf people learn about the services. A Connecticut agency for the deaf has noted that demand for interpretive services increased 800 percent since that state's

Rutgers offers

Gibson course
Mayor Kenneth A.Gibson of Newark will teach a course on "Minority Note the Course of t Politics and Public Policy" in the Department of Black Studies at Rutgers University in Newark in the Fall semester. This will be Gibson's first teaching position at a college or university in New Jersey. In a lecture-discussion format, his course will focus on political power and its impact on minorities, according to Prof. Wendell A. Jeanpierre, chairman of the Black Studies Department at the State University's Newark campus.

"The course will identify the central themes in minority politics and analyze situation of black Americans as a minority group," he added. Gibson also will examine the socioeconomic factors program was initiated. It is also predicted that the demand will increase with the implementation of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act requiring services for the deaf at public institutions, Dr. Kreisman said.

The Interpreters for the Deaf program will become a part of Union College's Psychology Sociology Department. The two-year degree program will require the completion of 64 credits, including 22 in general education, 12 in general human services, 24 in deaf-related technical courses and six in electives. Instructional methods will include lectures, observation and practice, including 465 hours of supervised field work during the student's second year.

It is expected that students will enter a variety of Human Service careers upon graduation, with the interpreting function initially comprising only one aspect of their jobs.

Information on the program, is available by calling the Union College Admissions Hot Line, 272-8580 or

5 occasions; Contact Social Security office

There are tive times when a person should get in touch with a Social Security office, according to Robert E. Willwerth, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

The five times are: -Before a person gets his or her first job—to apply for a social security numbers. A person should allow four to six weeks to get a card.

—After a death in the family—to see if survivor's benefits or a lump sum death payment are payable. —When somebody in a family is disabled—to learn if disability benefits are payable.

—When a person reaches retirement age—65 for full-rate cash benefits or as early as 62 for reduced payments. A person should come in two or three months before 65 to arrange Medicare protection even though he or she is not retiring. -Whenever a person has a question about Social Security.

The answer to any question about Social Security is available from the office at 342 Westminster ave., Elizabeth, or by phoning 800-272-1111.

FRIDAY DEADLINE All Items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Deadline listed for IRS exam

Deadline for filing an application to take the IRS Special Enrollment Examination is Aug. 15, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The examination, split into four parts and scheduled for Sept. 25, and 26 is given annually to qualify persons who are neither Certified Public Accountants nor attorneys to represent clients before the various IRS divisions and branches, such as appeals, collection, or examination.

Persons interested in taking the exam must submit Form 2587, "Application for 1979 Special Enrollment Examination," to the director, Examination Division, CP:E:E:S, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224.

HOMES FOR BOATS AND FAMILIES-The wide, navigable lagoons of Laguna Village in Point Pleasant offer a unique combination of large family homes and spacious waterways that lead out to both the bay and ocean. A variety of home designs are offered in customized plans that include fireplaces and beamed ceilings in family rooms. A recently-opened section of land offers sites on either side of lagoons, all with Swedish-processed bulkheads. Prices for home and land start at $96,900 and each homesite has place for pool or patio between home and lagoonside. The community is being developed by Trend Homes. Sales and information office is located at 2133 Bridge ave., Point Pleasant.

Families, boats mix at village

The convenience of home backs on one of five docking your own pleasure craft right at the backyard of your home is a pleasure that only a small percentage of Ocean County's leisure boat owners enjoy.

When the at-home dockage also provides a classic residential neighborhood, it is truly a unique housing offer. Such is a Laguna Village, community of large family homes in Point Pleasant, where the homes face quiet streets and cul-de-sacs, and each insulation and energysaving elements in heating and cooling systems, plus fireplaces and beamed ceilings in family rooms, and features rarely found outside of individual architecturally designed homes, a spokesman said.

Kitchens at Laguna Village homes are treated as the heart of each unit. bayRear windows of all homes have water views, and there is ample land for pool or patio between house and water.

The lagoons that lead out to both Barnegat Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, via the Point Pleasant Canal and Manasquan Inlet, are bulkheaded in long-lasting Swedish processed materials, which add both beauty and value to the sites.

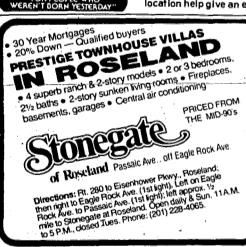

The community is being built by Trend Homes, longtime shore area building firm headed by Joseph Todino, who also is

Fight for Sight dinner-dance slated July 15

The Fight for Sight League of Northern New Jersey will hold its annual dinner-dance July 15 at Mayfair Farms, West Orange.

The theme of the evening will be "Fete Internationale," and all decorations will reflect that motif, stated Helen Thall of Maplewood, co-chairperson of the event. Cochairperson with her is Ruth Schwarz

Edythe Neiwirth of Union is president of the League, and Fran Brody of Westfield and Amelia Radler of Union comprise the president's council

Music for dancing will be provided by Scott Russ and His Orchestra. Fight for Sight, a volunteer group, has been involved in fund-raising for vision treatment and research the past 23 years. In the metropolitan area, four eye clinics have been established by league funding. One of these is the Eye Institute of New Jersey, at 15 S Ninth

The League has also taken on a new aspect for detecting problems in children very early. Trained volunteers visit public and private nursery schools to conduct eye-screening tests. The process detects visual problems in youngsters three to five years old, who seem to have normal vision. An intellectual difficulty is often an eye problem which can be easily corrected, according to the organization.

For information or reservations for the dinner-dance, please call Helen Thall 763-6360 or Diane Denburg 763-
