State shouts down cheerleaders' bid

By LINDA CARLEU

Union County regional high school cheerleading squads will have to compete in a league with a formal scoring system for the activity to be considered a sport. That is a recent decision by the Office of Equal Educational Opportunity (OEEO) in the state Department of Education (DOE).

The OEEO considers cheerleading to be an extra-curricular activity in the same category as twirling, color guard and drill squad. It therefore cannot be used to achieve parity between male and female athletic programs under Title IX of federal school regulations, said Franz J. Skok, board of education attorney, at Tuesday night's regional board meeting.

"It can be transformed into a sport if effort and money is put into it. The main prerequisite would have been cheerleading in a competitive, possibly conference-wide situation," he told the board.

Competitive cheerleading before a sports game or during halftime with rules adopted on a conference level could be convincing evidence to the state commissioner of education and the federal DOE that cheerleading is a sport, he said.

Title IX of federal regulations states that a school system's athletic program must be available on an equal basis to all students regardless of race, color, creed, religion, sex, ancestry, national origin or social or economic status.

The regulations also state that a school "may choose to operate separate teams for the two sexes in one or more sports and/or single teams open competitively to members of both sexes," provided that the programs give students of both sexes a chance to participate in sports at comparable levels of difficulty and competency.

If separate athletic programs are operated, they must receive equal treatment in staff salaries, purchase and maintenance of equipment, quality and availability of facilities, scheduling of practice and games and length of season.

In an April 10 letter to Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of regional high schools, Skok advised that, in order to meet the criteria for a sport adopted by the OEEO, the four cheerleading teams of the district must establish regular competitions with a set of rules, a scoring system and a time frame. "If other schools outside the regional district also could be persuaded to participate in the competition, it would make the argument that cheerleading is a sport that much more persuasive," he wrote.

At Tuesday's board meeting, board member Roland Hecker said the cheerleaders would have to take the initiative to establish regular competitions to make cheerleading meet the

Nofederal vehicle available Local police release aliens

Mountainside police picked up nine illegal aliens from El Salvador last week, but had to release them because Newark Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) offices were closed for the weekend.

Police said they stopped a pick-up truck with Texas license plates carrying the nine illegal immigrants after it made an illegal turn on Route 22 at Lawrence Avenue.

When the driver could not produce a driver's license and was told he would be taken to headquarters, the occupants of the camper back fled into the surrounding neighborhoods, according to police. Westfield and Union County police were notified, and all the aliens were apprehended.

Mountainside police called the IMS and talked to an answering service and were told an agent would call them. An agent did, but said he was not able to pick up the Salvadorans because he could not get a supervisor's approval to use an IMS vehicle, police said. Agents turn in their vehicles for the weekend, he said. Police also said they were told only federal officials could press charges in cases involving illegal aliens. The agent said Mountainside would have to hold them until Monday. Because there were no criminal charges, police released the aliens.

Police said they learned through a county police officer serving as an interpreter that the men paid $300 each to some one to arrange their slipping into Texas, but when they made it, he "dumped" them. They said they pooled their money to buy the truck and were heading toward New York City.

Police also are investigating the theft of $11,000 in coins from a Deer Path residence last week.

According to police reports, the house was unoccupied from 1 to 3:15 p.m. The intruder smashed a pane of glass in the front door, reached in and unlocked the door to gain entry, police said. The first and second floors were ransacked, and the coins—two separate collections—were reported missing.

In court action, a man was fined for possession and use of drugs. Robert Agolia, 19, of Union was fined $125 for the use and possession March 22 of less than 25 grams of marijuana. He pleaded guilty to both charges. A case involving Anthony Picciuto, 22, of Springfield, accused of use and possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and with possession of cocaine on March 9, was forwarded to the grand jury.

In other action, $50 fines were levied against another long list of persons for possession of alcoholic beverages in the Loop section of the Watchung Reservation.

Fined were: Thomas Data, 25, of Clark; James Sanyi, 24, Rahway; David Paterson, 24, Linden; Paul Giordmaine, 20, Summit; A.B. Allocco, 24, Summit; Lisa Dorothy, 23, Bloom-

Rain slows first week of softball competition

Heavy rains shortened the opening week of play in the Mountainside Softball League. In the Junior Division, the Apaches Comanches, Cherokees, Navajos, and Shawnees each won one game, while the Cougars, Jaguars, Pumas and Tigers each recorded wins in the Senior Division.

CHEROKEES 10 — COMANCHES 4
Winning pitcher Etta Hafeken struck out 11 and hit a three-run homer to pace the Cherokees. Kathy Betyeman sparked on defense, and Kim Thorlakson singled three times. Comanche Mary Kaye Huelbig pitched well and received good defensive support from Tara McGrath and Suzanne Crane.

NAVAJOS 19 — CHEROKEES 2
Kim Richerkauser and Gail Engert shared pitching duties for the Navajos, and Tara Quillin hit a double. Cherokee Lori Hagey hit a line-drive single to center field, while teammate Kim Thorlakson fielded well.

SHAWNEES 28 — NAVAJOS 13
Beth Post hit a home run for the Shawnees. Jill Solescia, Gail Engert and Tara Quillin shared pitching honors for the Navajos.

COUGARS 7 — TIGERS 3
The Tigers played a solid game, but the Cougar defense, sparked by Kim Federico, Michelle Coddington, Nancy Pracht, Lisa Jackson, Lisa Wood and Laura Stancati, was outstanding. Barbara Cromarty hit a home run for the Cougars.

TIGERS 16 — BOBCATS 6
The Tigers exploded for 11 runs in the sixth inning, including Beth Ann Mayer's grand slam home run. Carolyn Laffan and Patti Salimbene played well on defense, and Sharon Kutsop hit a double Bobcat Eileen Hurley batted well, and teammate Sandy Kadesh had a triple. Donna Rinaldo played well on defense.

PUMAS 8 — LEOPARDS 7
Puma Cindy Caivano pitched well, while rookie catcher Cindy Terry Meisner had four hits and scored twice. Karen Rose played well at second base. Leopard Kim Genginger pitched well and hit a triple. Moira Quillin made several good plays at shortstop.

JAGUARS 5 — BOBCATS 4
Andrea Wilson drove in Linda Lees in the bottom of the ninth for the Jaguars in a brilliantly played game. Both teams played exceptionally well in the extra-inning contest. Amanda Wykoff homered for the Jaguars. Donna Rinaldo made a fine catch in center-field for the Bobcats, all of whom contributed to a solid defensive effort.

SCHOLARLY MOTHER—Ruth Spina of Mountainside, wife of Borough Councilman Thomas Spina, gives her eyes a rest from her study of zoology at the School of Continuing Education at Drew University, Madison. She was recently elected into the university's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Mother is awarded Drew honors, grant

It's been a semester to remember for Ruth Spina of Creek Bed Road, Mountainside, a Continuing University Education (CUE) student in zoology at Drew University, Madison.

Spina, a mother of two and wife of Borough Councilman Thomas Spina, recently was inducted into the university's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and is one of five women sharing a $2,000 grant from a Shell Oil Foundation program to help women train for new careers.

And Spina's scientific work is a new career.

A piano teacher since she was 14, she's a past present of the Mountainside Music Association and former teacher of piano and music theory at Kean College of New Jersey, Union. Her switch to zoology, however, was not so much a radical shift in interests as a shift in emphasis. "I was teaching at Kean and I knew I wanted to teach college level, but I thought I'd try a different subject." Her interest in biology and zoology dates back a lot further than 1977 when she enrolled at Drew.

She grew up on Lake Erie in West Lake, Ohio, where she followed the efforts to rid the lake of devastating pollution, and she studied zoology at Syracuse University. "I've always really cared about zoology and biology," she says.

Her interest in the environment was fostered by vacations with her family on Chase Lake in the Adirondack Mountains, near Lowville, her husband's home town. Chase Lake, like many other lakes in that area, is virtually untouched by pollution, and a model habitat for the biologist, she says.

Her work at Drew, specifically in fresh water biology or limnology is for the completion of her bachelor's degree. After her graduation this year she will attend the Rutgers Graduate School of Environmental Science for her master's degree. She plans to go on to earn her doctorate, thereby qualifying to teach at the college level. She expects to have eight years of study behind her by the time she earns her doctorate.

Although she's currently studying for final exams, she attends Drew full time, sometimes staying until 4:30 or 5 in the afternoon for laboratory work.

Continuing her education has been made easier, she says, by the fact that both her children will be in college next year. Rick is a sophomore at Princeton, and her daughter, Linda, graduates this year from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and plans to enter Bucknell University in the fall.

And while some of the other CUE grant recipients are using the $400 award to defray child-care expenses, Spina is able to put hers toward a new dissecting microscope.

County Dems have candidate surplus

While local candidates for Mountainside Borough Council will run unopposed in the June 3 primary, candidates for Union County offices in the Democratic primary will have to fight their way through a crowded field of candidates to win a spot on the November ballot.

Incumbent Timothy Benford and newcomer Louis Maas will run in the Republican primary, while Stuart Lutz, last year's candidate for mayor, and Frances Ehman are on the Democratic line.

There are 16 candidates for the party nominations for three places on the Board of Freeholders; most of them in the race as a result of a struggle for the Elizabeth mayoral nomination.

The organization candidates include incumbent freeholders Thomas Dillon of Elizabeth and Walter Boright of Scotch Plains, the three of them running on a line with the organization candidate for mayor of Elizabeth, David Conti.

Joan Allen of Cranford and two Elizabeth residents, Dexter Martin and Herman Schreiber, are running for freeholder on a line with the incumbent mayor, Thomas Duma, who failed to get party support for renomination.

Running with Assemblyman Raymond Lesniak, another candidate for the nomination for mayor of Elizabeth, are Luis Rodriguez, Bessie Kaplan and Eugene Menajra, all of Elizabeth.

Other candidates for the Democratic nomination for freeholder are Thomas and Pamela Rosenthal of Rahway, Roslyn Nemel of Scotch Plains, Frank DeLorenzo of Linden, Virginia Cassale of Clark, Maureen Flanagan of Linden and Stephen Yanek, also of Linden.

The Republican organization slate for freeholder is unopposed. The candidates are Pete Okrasinski of Union, Virginia McKenney of Roselle Park and Frank Lehr of Summit.

In the only other contest for county office this year, Sheriff Ralph Froelich has received the nod from Democratic screeners for renomination, but is opposed in the party primary by Nicholas Maruschak of Elizabeth. Alfred Vardalis of Westfield is running unopposed on the Republican side.

Rep. Matthew Rinaldo of Union, running for his fifth term as congressman from the 12th District, is unopposed for the GOP nomination. But Democrats also have a contest in this column: Charles Leary of Elizabeth, the organization choice, is opposed by Rose Monysak of Rahway.

The shortage of space on the June 3 primary ballot was resolved last week when Walter Halpin, Union County Clerk, took the right of the various Democratic factions to have a line all to themselves and combined their slates with unaffiliated candidates.

This newspaper and the other eight papers of our group have recently installed the newest computer system available to set stories and classified ads into type.

In describing the Mycro-Tek Inc. System of Wichita, Kans., Publisher Asher Mintz said that future benefits to readers of the newspapers will be many. "I feel that the substantial investment in the Mycro-Tek system will benefit our readers and advertisers with a better product in the near future."

As with all highly sophisticated equipment, there are some gremlins to be worked out, and employees to be trained.

Bulldogs fall in UCT after routing Oratory

By DAVID GOLD
The Jonathan Dayton baseball team evened its record at 6-6 last week despite losses to Caldwell and Linden. Dayton will attempt to go over the .500 mark this afternoon when they are host to Millburn.

The Bulldogs' toughest game of the week last Saturday was a 12-2 loss to Linden in the second round of the Union County Tournament. Linden is ranked third in the county. Junior John Baumgartner was the losing pitcher.

Friday, the Bulldogs beating Bayley-Ellard, 5-3. Senior Kevin Karp was the winning pitcher. Senior Joe Policastro had two RBI and junior Don Meixner one.

The Bulldogs lost last Thursday to a strong Caldwell squad, 10-8. Meixner had two hits and three RBI and Policastro one hit also three RBI. Kerry Lesslauer was the losing pitcher.

Dayton opened Union County Tournament play last Saturday with a 6-1 victory over Oratory. John Baumgartner was the winning pitcher. Meixner led Dayton hitters with a one home run and two RBI.

Dayton also edged Millburn, 6-5. Baumgartner had three RBI as Policastro gained the victory.

The victories over Millburn and Oratory rounded out a four-game winning streak. Dayton's longest of the season.

Coach Robert Lowe said he is pleased with the way his team is playing.

Varsity track teams have a strong week

By PENNY LEVITT
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track teams, now well into their competitive season, last week had an extraordinary record of success. The girls' squad added another victory to its undefeated dual meet record last week, with a triumph over West Orange, 68-32.

The team competed at the Union County championship meet Saturday in Cranford. For the second year in a row the Dayton girls placed second in the team standings.

Kathy Kelly ran an impressive 800 Meters and captured third place. Linda Spina made it over the hurdles in her fastest time this year and received second place.

The mile relay team of Laura Clarke, Trish Taylor, Debbie Keller and Kathy Kelly combined a superb effort for second place. Clarke went on to place fifth in the long jump.

Taylor leaped to fifth place in the high jump and later earned the title of Union County Champion in the long jump.

Maria Sannino scored strongly in the weight events by throwing for a second in the javelin and then winning the shot put with a remarkable 36-foot toss. Sannino's shot also marked school record for Dayton.

Taylor, Clarke, Spina and Kathy Kickerhauser merged their efforts in the 440-yard relay to capture third at the championships and set another new school record.

Also competing for Dayton were Elinor Sadin, Beth Mortimer, Marcia Irving, Maureen Kelly, Carol Hay, Penny Levitt, Judi Hockstein, Karen Rickerhauser, MariAnn Booger, Dana Levinson, Janis Levine, Kathy Rodgers and Alice Barry.

The boys' squad increased its record to 6-1, with victories last week, over West Orange and Clark. Impressive performances were turned in by Matt Smith in the javelin and intermediate hurdles and Jeff Knowles, who soared a remarkable 13 feet 2 1/2 inches in the pole vault to set a new school record.

Head Coach Martin Taglienti said he was particularly pleased with the younger boys, many of whom are competing in track for the first time. In the weight events are Peter Ball, Kevin Iaone and Jim Pabst. Hurdling are Steve Salemy and John May. Distance men are Jim Roche, Steve Wright, Steve Halpin and Bob Krop. Middle distance runners are Scott Connoley and Bob Carroll. Sprinters are Anthony Bachus, David Shipatowsky and Lee Weiscott.

The Jonathan Dayton track team, boys and girls, will face stiff competition at the Suburban Conference championships.

Dayton volleyballers rally to beat Roselle

By DAVID GOLD
Despite a noticeable improvement in serving and all-round play, the Jonathan Dayton volleyball team dropped three of four matches last week as its record fell to 2-9.

Dayton lost to a powerful Millburn squad which is ranked third in the area, 15-10, 15-6.

The Bulldogs started the match strongly and held Millburn even (5-5) before finally losing the opener.

The more experienced Millburn team dominated the second game.

Coach Steve Fenton felt that Millburn had "psyched out" Dayton. He said the serving was not as sharp as expected and that Dayton lost its concentration.

Earlier, Dayton defeated a visiting Roselle team 7-10, 15-3, 15-10. The opening game was characterized by long, time-consuming volleys and time ran out with Dayton losing.

Dayton dominated the second game. Fenton cited the serving of Fran Resner, a junior varsity player filling in for an injured regular.

Dayton easily won the third game on Resner's serves and strong defense by Dorothy Sullivan.

Last Wednesday, the Bulldogs were overwhelmed by Summit, ranked third in the area, 15-2, 15-0.

Dayton opened the week losing in West Orange, 8-15, 15-7, 15-11. The Bulldogs started off strong and won the first game as Mary Jo Scuderi and Caroline Cupido turned in fine performances.

West Orange then went into a defensive posture, just tapping the ball over the net. Dayton, wanting to avoid this type of play, tried to attack. Despite showing good discipline in sticking to the game plan, Dayton made mistakes and lost the next two games.

Fenton feels his team is, as a whole, playing better. There still is a slight problem on concentration. Fenton has taken some of the strain off his team by switching to a more basic offense.

Dayton will play in Madison tomorrow afternoon in Madison and Fenton expects a highly-competitive game.

Softballers advance to UCT's 2nd round

By DAVID GOLD
After advancing to the second round of the Union County Tournament, the Jonathan Dayton Regional softball team (8-4) has been ranked second in the Suburban Conference along with Caldwell.

Dayton opened the Union County Tournament last Saturday with a 7-2 victory over Hillside. The victory qualified the Bulldogs for the state tournament for the third year in a row.

Kathy Clark, a senior, was Dayton's winning pitcher. The Dayton offense was led by Theresa Young, Jody Gassaway and Jill Shoefield.

Last Friday, Regional outscored West Orange, 25-14. Dayton fell behind, 9-0, after the first inning but strong hitting brought the Bulldogs back. Clark was the winner in relief.

Last Thursday, Dayton surprised Caldwell, 8-7. Caldwell is ranked 19th in the state. Dayton coach Hope Valenti cited the hitting of Lyn Zeoli (two hits and one RBI) and Jody Gassaway, whose two hits included the game-winner.

Dayton's only problem has been illness. Among the sidelined starters are Linda Graziano and Jill Jacobs.

The Bulldogs, 6-2 in the conference, are tied for second place with Caldwell behind conference-leading Madison.

Tennis varsity outscored by two top teams

For the first time since the opening week, the Dayton varsity tennis team failed to break even, losing to Summit and Millburn by identical scores, 4-1, thus dropping its record below .500 (5-7) and being disqualified from state playoff competition. Both victories were earned by the second doubles team of Michael Berliner and Robert Steir as they maintained their unblemished record in 12 starts, easily the best in the Suburban Conference.

Playing host to Summit, ranked third in the county, Alan Berliner extended his opponent to three sets before losing 6-1, 4-6, 6-3. Mark Dooley at second singles also extended his foe to three sets, losing 7-5, 5-7, 6-3. Danny Schlager at third singles lost 6-1, 6-2 as did the first doubles team of Mike Pine and Steve Bloch 6-0, 6-4. Michael Berliner and Steir wore down their opponents, both seniors, 6-4, 7-5.

Traveling to Millburn, ranked seventh in the State, Alan Berliner lost 6-2, 6-3 (having beaten this same foe in two sets last week). Dooley lost 6-0, 6-1; Schlager extended his adversary 6-1, 6-1, 6-2 before losing, while Pine and Bloch fell 6-2, 6-1. Michael Berliner and Steir squeaked by in their first set 7-6 (5-1), rallying from a 5-4 game deficit, and easily won the second set 6-1.

Golfers whip Roselle squad

By PENNY LEVITT
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team recently defeated the Roselle squad by a score of 219 to 288. The match was particularly gratifying for senior Martin Swanson who went one under par with his low score of the year, 35.

This achievement earned Swanson the "first titlist" award and qualified him for the State Tournament to be held Monday. He will compete on an individual basis at the Essex County Country Club.

Later last week the team went on to win another match with West Orange, 241 to 263. Swanson scored a 41, Tod Leonard had a 44 and Ted Nugent a 50. David Wheeler, Frank Kelly and Brian Silbert also competed.

This afternoon the squad is away at Madison. Tomorrow it will compete against Kenilworth at Galloping Hill course. Monday the golfers enter a tri-meet with West Orange and Summit at Baltusrol. Tuesday they will be away at Verona and Wednesday they will compete against Metuchen.

Clifford lifts Vikings to victory over Mets

The Mountainside Little League opened its 27th consecutive baseball season Saturday with almost 500 marchers and many spectators along the route of the annual parade.

In major league action, Jimmy Clifford pitched a complete game as the Vikings outlasted the Mets, 11-6. Kevin Rogers paced the Vikings with three hits. Richard Kolton, Scott Crabtree and Stephen Smith provided stellar defensive plays. The Mets' Tom Salimbene hit a grand slam homerun; outfielder Kirk Daniele and catcher Mark Franciosa were outstanding in the field.

The Braves routed the Twins, 31-14. Billy Quandt, Brian Dailey and Chris Wixom had perfect days at the plate as Kevin Everly breezed to the victory. The Twins had home runs by Blair Mücke and Mark Garrison and three hits by Brett Stolz.

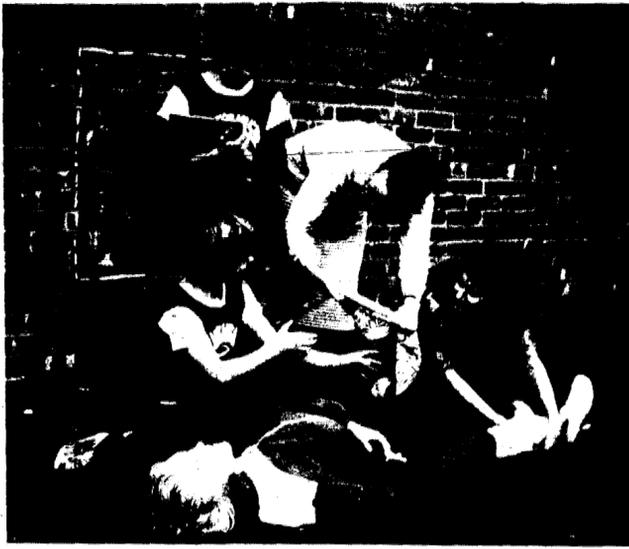

The Cubs spotted the Orioles a 5-0 lead and rallied for an 8-6 victory. Matt Miller hit a three-run triple and stole home for the deciding run. Outfielder Mike Magera cut down a runner with a fine throw. Drew Dunlap played well at short and pitcher Steve Burton held the Orioles in check in the late innings. Jim Rau, Eric Weinstein and Frank Tennaro paced the Orioles.

The Cubs again overcame a deficit, scoring two runs with two out in their last at-bat, to top the Blue Stars, 8-7. Steve Burton picked up the victory with three strong innings of relief hurling. Bill Bryant had three hits. Burton and Allen Gardiner aided the Cubs offensively and catcher John Kovacs made several fine plays at the plate. The Blue Stars were led by Shane Connell, Jim Kellerk, and Bill Kennedy.

The Orioles rallied for a 13-12 victory over the Dodgers. Joe Grande (home run and a double), Greg Torborg, Tommy Genkinger and Jimmy Rau paced the Orioles. Chris Debbie pitched well in relief. The Dodgers got strong pitching from Mike Wood. The hitting stars were Jeff Stoffer and Brian Moran.

In Pony League action, the Colts exploded for seven runs in the third inning in a 15-4 victory over the Pintos. David Rizzo went the route for the Colts and was backed by the hitting of Jim Dascoli, Chris Federico and Brett Walsh. Pinto hitters were Chris Capreny and Mike Tomko.

Overlook alters basis for billing

Overlook Hospital has begun billing its patients by the illness rather than by the length of stay under the state's experimental new reimbursement system, known as DRG for "Diagnosis Related Groups."

Overlook is one of 26 New Jersey hospitals required by law to test the new plan, which eventually will be adopted by all of the state's 116 hospitals.

DRG is a kind of hospital "package plan," tying together all of the elements which go into hospital care. Charges have been established by the Hospital Rate Setting Commission using 383 diagnosis classifications, from number 001, which is infectious disease, age less than 16, to number 383, which is a special admission with surgery.

In addition to this patient-care component, other factors such as the hospital's cost for indigent care and fixed expenses like capital upkeep are added. The state intends that computing patient care this way will result in more equitable hospital reimbursement while at the same time containing costs by rewarding greater efficiency.

According to Thomas J. Foley, executive vice president, Overlook is prepared for the new system. "We have made every effort to gear up for DRGs," he said. "We have added to our staff a DRG coordinator to tie together all of the hospital systems which will be affected by the new plan. All necessary changes in our medical records and billing practices have been made. In addition, we have undertaken an education program directed to our medical staff, our supervisory personnel, and even our patients."

Foley pointed out that the DRG system will require more teamwork than ever if it is to work as planned. "In order for the new plan to function properly, doctors, nurses and other members of the health-care team will have to work closely with the patient to provide the most efficient treatment," he explained. "That means emphasis on pre-admission testing and the use of our hospital beds only by the acutely ill."

Computer method takes over in producing this newspaper

The magic of electronics now is helping to produce this newspaper and its eight sister publications.

One of the employees who has seen the step-by-step developments leading to what is the most modern system of getting a reporter's story into type is Alice Stuerze who, 14 years ago, joined the composing room staff at this newspaper. The composing room is responsible for the mechanical steps in producing a newspaper.

When Stuerze became an employee of this newspaper, type was being set on machines called Friden Justowriters.

These machines had some similarities to an ordinary typewriter: There was a keyboard, and it used long sheets of coarse paper so what was typed could be seen by the operator. Typists had to justify—make lines come out even at the right-hand side of the paper—line by line. If only a part of a word would fit on a line, operators had to decide how to hyphenate it.

At the same time, the Justowriters also produced a perforated tape on which each letter of the alphabet and other symbols were represented by a different combination of small holes.

This type was run through a reproducer to turn the story back to type, which eventually could be printed.

Since the reproducer used carbon ribbons, the type had to be sprayed to avoid smudging. Also, the ribbons often ran out in the middle of stories, Stuerze recalled.

Eventually, the Justowriters were replaced by AKI Autotape machines.

These machines eliminated the need to manually justify lines. They did it automatically, at the same time hyphenating words as necessary. They also did away with the coarse paper, but forced the operator to read the story in a dot code on a punched tape. Skilled operators like Stuerze learned to read the tapes, but they were still typing blind.

The tapes then were run off on a Compugraphic Phototypesetter, which produced film that was developed before the type could go into the newspaper.

While a few stories still are being set on tape, most are being produced with VDTs—video display terminals—connected to a computer. The system, manufactured by Mycro-Tek Inc. of Wichita, Kan., represents the most modern equipment of its ilk on the market. VDTs have replaced the tape-punching machines in the composing room and typewriters on reporters' desks in the newsroom.

Stuerze can once again see what she is typing without having to decipher a maze of small holes in a paper tape.

If she hits a wrong key, she doesn't have to delete anything; she just types over it, and the correction is made.

From the computer that controls the VDTs, the electronic impulses go to a Compugraphic Unisetter, where the story is reproduced photographically, developed and placed in your newspaper.

GETTING TO THE TOP—Stan Gibson, installer for Mycro-Tek Inc., runs wiring through the ceiling while Bob Brumell, vice president of advertising, works in the background.

ELECTRONIC WIZARDRY—Dave Hamrock, production manager, watches as Stan Gibson of Mycro-Tek Inc. installs interface so that stories can be sent to a Compugraphic Unisetter electronically.

THE SLEEPY-EYED CREW—Composing room crew put in about 40 extra hours in just two days last week before this newspaper went to press, ironing out the bugs in the new Mycro-Tek Inc. system. Seated is Joanne Trybus; standing, from left, are Alice Stuerze, Ernie MacArthur, Randy Cohen and Linda White. Two other composing room employees who put in extra hours, Barbara Nicol and Diana Childs, were out when photo was taken.

MAKING CONNECTIONS—Steve Weber, Mycro-Tek Inc. installer, puts together connecting cables for new front end system.

NJEA raps moves to reduce state's aid

Two angry teacher leaders told an audience at the Clinton Manor, Union, that "the state is going to keep asking you to do more with less" and urged teachers and other school workers to actively oppose state cutbacks and mandates.

NJEA President Frank Totten told the annual Union County Education Association Legislative meeting that the State Legislature and State Board of Education are making more demands than ever before on the public schools, while cutting education funds and capping school budgets.

The two pointed to new requirements for state-mandated high school graduation and the State Board of Education's plan to classify each school and as "unapproved," "interim approved" or "approved with commendations and recommendations."

NJEA Executive Director James Connerton said, "They're going to tell you how to teach and what to teach and how many students you'll have and where you'll have to teach—and if you don't like it that's tough. With cuts in state aid and budget 'caps', they're going to pay school employees less and less in real dollars every year."

Professors to instruct on writing plays, acting

Creative artists capture the imagination in American theater audiences daily. Much of their success is technique—something almost anyone can learn.

Two Fairleigh Dickinson University professors will share the secrets of the playwright and actor in a special free "How to Write a Play... And How to Act In One" workshops at the Rutherford Campus, May 5, 12 and 19.

Marc Alan Zagoren, award-winning playwright, will open the series with techniques for play writing. Participants will have the opportunity to develop a character for a play before the second session. The follow-up meeting will examine the writers' works. At the final meeting, Joel Wechsler, a professional actor, will illustrate ways to interpret that character on stage.

Both writers and actors can hone their skills by experiencing their counterparts' method of character portrayal.

Zagoren, the author of five full-length plays and two screen plays, was recently awarded grants by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New Jersey State Council of the Arts.

Gas was more available

According to the New Jersey Automobile Club's (AAA) April Fuel Gauge Survey, 21.6 percent more service stations were open on Sunday than in January of this year. And availability of gasoline in Essex, Morris and Union counties looked good, with no stations reported being completely out of fuel the club stated.

Compared to January of this year, 18.5 percent more service stations are remaining open after 8 p.m. on weekdays and 12.3 percent more are open past 6 p.m. on Saturdays. "Availability is up—but so are the prices," said

Matthew J. Derham, club president. "Since the beginning of the year regular, premium and unleaded grades of fuel have risen between 16.3 and 16.7 cents, premium unleaded has risen 18.1 cents and diesel has risen 10.7 cents per gallon." April's Fuel Gauge report added a gasoline station to its list of 31 stations contacted for the monthly survey.

THE MANOR, West Orange, has been singled out for the fourth consecutive year for the Mobil Travel Guide Four-Star Award, one of the most prestigious honors in the food and lodging industries. The award, in the guide's words, means the Manor is "outstanding—and worth a special trip." The Manor is the only establishment in New Jersey to receive the Four Star rating.

Harry Knowles Jr., owner and founder, said the Manor will celebrate by offering a special "Four Star Buffet" every Sunday in May, from 1 to 8 p.m. Reservations are required. Information is available at 731-2360.

Want a finer lawn? Then read this!

What makes a finer lawn? A better quality grass, of course! Warren's A-34 BenSun Kentucky Bluegrass has been performance proven from coast to coast for over fifteen years.

In the most ambitious lawnglass research ever attempted, eight universities, doing lawnglass research, with partial funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, studied forty three bluegrass strains for a period of five years at eleven locations in several states.

These bluegrasses were studied for quality, density, texture, color, disease, appearance and overall condition. Only A-34 BenSun received a top rating during all testing periods. Warren's A-20 Kentucky Bluegrass was rated second.

At Michigan State University, A-34 BenSun bluegrass was tested along with seventeen other bluegrass strains for "wear tolerance". Again, A-34 BenSun came out on top as being the only bluegrass to receive an excellent rating.

And that is not all! A-34 is the only bluegrass that will grow from full sunlight to deep shade (up to 65%) with satisfactory results. It is drought resistant, tolerates extreme heat or cold, thrives in all types of soil and if a short cut is desired, it can be mowed down to 1/2 inch.

A-34 BenSun bluegrass is available as seed, sod and sod plugs. It is the finest grass available for establishing a new lawn or should your old lawn look tired and worn out it can be brought back to life better than ever by overseeding with A-34 BenSun Sun & Shade Mixture Lawnglass Seed.

So... when it's a finer lawn you want... with less care and bother... then plant the highest rated bluegrass available, Warren's A-34 BenSun Bluegrass. You will be amazed how little a quality lawn will cost.

To help your new or restored A-34 BenSun lawn to develop and maintain its superior performance, we recommend the use of Warren's 10-0-4 Lawn Food. It is specially formulated to give any grass the proper nutrients for a healthy life.

See your landscaper or garden supply dealer and inquire about Warren's A-34 BenSun Kentucky Bluegrass.

"Grand Central Station releases far more radiation than a nuclear plant"

Alexander von Graevenitz
Professor of Laboratory Medicine
Yale University

Dr. von Graevenitz is a Diplomate of the American Board of Medical Microbiology, a member of a Commission of the International Association of Microbiological Societies, and serves on the editorial boards of medical publications including the Journal of Cancer Microbiology.

Formed in 1976, Scientists and Engineers for Secure Energy is a society concerned about nuclear energy. It is a non-profit organization that has been active in many areas of the country, including the states of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. The society's primary concern is to educate the public about the risks of nuclear energy and to promote the use of safer energy sources. The society's efforts are supported by many individuals and organizations who share its concerns about nuclear energy.

Many of statements will emphasize the potential for bringing about a new era of energy and the world's energy needs for a third of a century. The society supports the mastering of nuclear energy, not our worst fears, and we will continue to utilize this potential wisely and safely.

Hospital fund-raisers continue phonothon

The community phase of Overlook Hospital's $7.5 million campaign for its Center for Community Health is at its mid-point as phonathon volunteers from Summit, Short Hills, Springfield, Chatham, New Providence, Berkeley Heights and Mountaintown have secured pledges amounting to more than $200,000 from donors in their communities.

During the first two weeks of soliciting scheduled to run through mid-May and involve a dozen area communities, campaign leaders noted enthusiastic responses from most of those asked to pledge.

"People have read the campaign brochure we've mailed describing the center and are ready to make their commitments when we call," said Community Campaign Chairman Doris Sullivan. "The rigorous training given each volunteer has resulted in a corps of effective spokesmen for Overlook. Their obvious enthusiasm for the task has resulted in growing success each night." Individual pledges are averaging close to $200, she said.

Sullivan also said that during the next two weeks, additional residents of Summit, Chatham, Short Hills, Union and Springfield will be given the opportunity to participate. Volunteers from each of those communities are assigned specific nights to man the two dozen telephones at the Overlook Phonathon Center at Washington School.

Evenings for the 20-plus volunteers begin with a sandwich supper and a brief review of telephone procedures. A training film made by members of the campaign's steering committee, broadcast over the Washington School's closed circuit television channel just prior to the start of telephoning, "gives the volunteers another burst of positive reinforcement," according to Sullivan. The 300 volunteers were organized from the Overlook Auxiliary, area service clubs and friends of the hospital.

PHONOTHON GOES ON—Over the next week residents in Union, Springfield and other surrounding communities will be hearing from volunteers manning the phones at Overlook Hospital's "Put Yourself in The Center" campaign headquarters in the Washington School in Summit. With the phonathon now in the third of four scheduled weeks, the volunteers already have received over $200,000 in pledges to help build the new Center for Community Health. The phonathon will continue until next Thursday. To date, more than $4,400,000 has been raised toward the total campaign goal of $7,500,000.

DOT plans to plant trees

The State Department of Transportation said this week that its spring landscaping program on state highways this year will include the planting of 1,820 shade trees, 2,816 flowering trees, 3,200 evergreens, 76,000 shrubs and 1,400 vines.

"Highway landscaping, in addition to aesthetic value, helps solve environmental problems by controlling erosion, by screening for sight and sound, and by providing wildlife with food and cover," said Transportation Commissioner Louis J. Gambacini. "It eases maintenance tasks by controlling snow drifting and eliminates the need for mowing in some areas. It also increases safety through relief of driving strain and boredom," he added.

Bradley plans battle to retain aid

WASHINGTON—Moving to reverse a Senate Budget Committee decision, Sen. Bill Bradley (D-N.J.) said he would lead a bipartisan fight to make sure General Revenue Sharing aid continues flowing to state governments next year.

"Preserving his assistance is vitally important to New Jersey and many other states that are struggling to meet the rising cost of providing basic services for their citizens," declared Bradley, chairman of a Senate Finance subcommittee that is responsible for the revenue sharing program.

"If state governments are denied this money, many will have to reduce financial help they give to local and county government. In New Jersey, for example, about half of the revenue sharing aid received by the state government is passed through to the local and county governments. If such assistance is no longer available, there will have to be a reduction of services or higher taxes or both. That would be a painful high unemployment and erosion of their tax base."

In a statement outlining his position, Bradley noted that the Senate Budget Committee has voted to wipe out the entire state share in the first 1981 federal budget resolution that is about to be considered by the full Senate. If the committee version is approved, he said, New Jersey would lose about $75 million of the total of $225 million it received from the revenue sharing program this year.

To prevent that, Bradley said he would ask the Senate to adopt an amendment to restore $900 million of the $2.3 billion currently allotted to states in the revenue sharing program. Assuming no change in the distribution formula now used, Bradley said passage of his amendment would recover about $30 million for New Jersey's state government.

Bradley said a number of other senators had agreed to join him in pressing for approval of the amendment, including Democrat Jim Sasser of Tennessee and Republicans Nancy Landon Kassebaum of Kansas, David Durenberger of Minnesota, Bob Packwood of Oregon, John Danforth of Missouri, Daniel Moynihan of New York, Charles Percy of Illinois, William Roth of Delaware, and Thad Cochran of Mississippi.

In a letter circulated to their colleagues, the senators appealed for backing. "Revenue sharing has proved itself as an efficient, cost-effective program," they said. Under the proposed amendment, revenue sharing aid would continue to go to state governments without increasing the total budget because there would be an equivalent reduction in some so-called federal categorical grant programs to state and local governments. The Bradley group emphasized in their letter that representatives of state and local governments have told Congress consistently that they would rather endure a drop in aid.

Fred Danielli, artistic director of the Garden State Ballet, and associate directors, Christina Bernal and Peter Anastos, have created a second repertory program including an American revival, "Promenade," choreographed by William Dollar; a premiere of the new Peter Anastos ballet, "Footage," the Balanchine classic, "Concerto Barocco," and a pas de deux, "Raymonda," choreographed by Lawrence Rhodes. It will be performed tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Montclair High School.

Garden State Ballet has undertaken a project to revive famous American ballets from the 1930s and the 1940s.

"Promenade" premiered in 1936 with the Ballet Caravan which disbanded in 1939.

The world premiere of "Footage" will bring audiences back to the 1930s jazz band era.

"Concerto Barocco" was first performed in 1941. Dancers will include Christina Bernal, Kathy Hazeltine, Steven Danielli and eight women to music by Johann Sebastian Bach.

"Raymonda" was created in 1978 for Christina Bernal and her husband, Lawrence Matthews by the artistic director and principal dancer of the Harkness Ballet, Lawrence Rhodes. It is set to the music of Hungarian composer Alexander Glazounov.

Disc & Data

Pick Of The LPs. NOMADNESS: Strawbs (A&M RECORDS SP-4544).

The Strawbs were first conceived as a bluegrass group by founder Dave Cousins (the fastest banjo in the British Isles at the time, according to observers). As the Strawberry Hill Boys, Cousins and friend Tony Hooper made some rather esoteric Anglo-American music for a while, then decided to expand into a larger, more varied group format. Although the literal approach to traditional forms was discarded along with —err—Hill—Boys part of their name, the Strawbs have continued to deal with elements of both folk art and high art in their music (Grave New World, for example, was actually a re-expression of the ancient ages—of—man theme). At the same time, each successive Strawbs album has been powered by a proportionately larger shot of rock electricity, so that the group is now compared with such high-powered art-rock bands as Procol Harum and Genesis.

Cousins has made personal changes in the band to expand its energy potential: when the folk-oriented Hooper left two years back, Cousins enlisted rock guitarist Dave Lambert, who first appeared on 1973's "Bursting at the Seams". After that album, Strawbs' rhythm section, Richard Hudson and John Ford; departed the group to form their own group, Hudson-Ford (also on A&M); they were replaced by drummer Rod Coombes (ex-Stealers Wheel) and former session-bassman

Carson to headline Art Center's stage

Johnny Carson will kick off the star studded 1980 performance season at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel on Saturday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. This will be the first visit to the Arts Center by the television personality. He will also appear on Sunday, June 15, with a curtain time of 8:30 p.m.

In announcing the appearance of the host of the "Tonight Show" at the opening of the 1980 Arts Center season, William F. Smith, chairman of the New Jersey Highway Authority, said that Carson's opening performance June 14 will be followed by a black tie cocktail reception. Governor and Mrs. Brendan Byrne are the honorary chairpersons for the fund raising event.

"The gala performance and reception will benefit the Garden State Cultural Center Fund which provides free programming for more than 400,000 deserving New Jersey residents each year," said Smith.

Tickets for admission to the gala theater performance and the reception that follows are $100 per person, a portion of which is tax deductible. Phyllis McGuire, one of the McGuire sisters, who has added a new dimension to her career by working as a "solo" performer, is an added attraction for both evening performances.

If this should occur, the Arts Center has been assured that another company of international renown will be presented in their place. Additional information may be obtained by calling 264-9200.

Computer credit has its perils Rutgers researchers in cancer projects

By ADAM K. LEVIN

Director Division of Consumer Affairs We live in an age where the use of computers and credit has become increasingly widespread. They help make life more convenient but, unfortunately, computerized credit reporting creates a potential for very serious problems.

Today, more than ever, an individual's credit history represents his or her economic fingerprints. Because of a number of flaws in the current system of information collection, retrieval and dissemination, these paper impressions may not be half as accurate as the flesh and blood identification purposes.

Recently, in testimony before the Consumer Affairs subcommittee of the U.S. Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, I advocated sweeping changes to the nation's Fair Credit Reporting Act. The committee is considering amendments to the act.

The proposed amendments represent a step in the right direction but the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs believes the committee should take even stronger steps to safeguard the public in the credit marketplace.

In one horror case, a consumer's credit report became mixed with that of his father's. Shortly afterward however, the consumer's application for another credit card was rejected. The erroneous information had again crept into his file. After numerous phone calls, the credit bureau once again corrected the file and assured him, one more time, that it was solved and he could reapply for credit. But several months later another credit card request was rejected for the same reasons.

Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act, which was enacted in 1971, every person has the right to know what is in his or her credit file. Although the law does not entitle a consumer to an actual copy of the file (the new amendments would require a written copy), a credit reporting bureau must tell the consumer the nature and substance of all information in his or her credit file, if requested.

IHS reunion

Irvington High School's class of 1950 will hold a reunion Sept. 28 at Forge II, Route 22 in Springfield. Further information is available from Eileen Brunner Anderson, 769 Mitchell Ave. in Union.

Cancer is a disease that is probably 100 diseases," says a researcher at Rutgers University, adding that science is attacking the problem from at least 100 different directions, seeking the answers that can help put to rest one of man's oldest and deadliest enemies.

Part of this research effort is being conducted by scientists at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station of Rutgers' Cook College. The station is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Search for Health

More Americans are living longer than ever before. Since 1900, the population 65 and over has grown from 4 percent, or 3 million people, to its current level of 11 percent, or 24 million people. Fifty years from now, experts predict, about 50 million Americans, or 17 percent of the population, will be 65 years of age or older.

Like younger people, older citizens want to be active and independent. Their greatest fear is of being useless, sick or unable to care for themselves. Although most older Americans are vigorous and on their own today, the activities of about 45 percent are limited, many by mental disabilities but most by such physical impairments as heart disease, arthritis and hearing and visual loss.

As a group, of course, the elderly are more likely than young people to suffer from multiple chronic and debilitating conditions, many of which may have had their beginnings in the unhealthy lifestyles and environmental circumstances of an earlier time. Even when it is too late to prevent these problems, however, early diagnosis and treatment quite often can minimize disability and serious complications.

Clearly, the limitations of activity that an older person experiences impair the quality of his or her life. For this reason, any strategy to prevent disease and promote good health among older Americans must aim not only at lengthening the span of life but at allowing each individual to enjoy an independent and rewarding life in old age. The growing availability of social and health-care services for senior citizens is contributing significantly to both of these aims. At the department of meteorology and physical oceanography has been attempting to find if there is a relationship between the occurrence of cancer, pollution in the air and wind patterns.

For the past year, he and his colleagues have been looking at air pollution hot spots across the state, with attention being given to the town of Rutherford as part of the larger effort.

"There is a small area of Rutherford in which an abnormally high incidence of juvenile leukemia has been observed," said Reiss.

"Rutherford is located on a hillside," he noted, "overlooking a valley which contains many industrial smokestacks."

"We used a computer model to simulate the effect of wind and turbulence on the stream of pollutants coming out of the stacks. Two wind measuring devices were set up in Rutherford to record data and help fine tune the computer model," he said. The study concluded that a continuous, long-term release of pollutants could not explain the type of pattern noted in Rutherford, because wind and atmospheric conditions are such that there would have been no incidents, or the incidents would have been spread over a wider area.

"We did conclude that the possibility remains that one or more short-term releases of chemicals could have occurred and contributed to the narrow concentrations of cancer cases observed in Rutherford," said Reiss.

Meanwhile, the Agricultural Experiment Station's department of environmental science has just concluded the initial phase of a major New Jersey study to detect carcinogens and other pollutants in water. The landmark study, first of its kind in the country, involved the collection and testing for carcinogens of thousands of samples of surface water, well water, raw and finished drinking water and stream sediments from all 21 New Jersey counties. More than 100,000 separate analyses have been completed to date.

Peking opera due at Center

The Peking Opera Theater from Mainland China will appear as part of the 1980 classical subscription series at the Garden State Arts Center, New Jersey Highway Authority Commissioner Thomas H. Kean has announced.

Commissioner Kean said, "As previously anticipated, the Moiseyev Dance Company was cancelled as a result of world conditions, and its replacement for the Aug. 28 subscription date is The Peking Opera Theater."

One other change was noted as Kean announced that the Philly Pops conducted by Peter Nero will replace the National Symphony on the Sept. 4 subscription date.

Panther Valley has Jersey Six Hundred

In Victorian New York, the registry of aristocratic families concentrated in the city was known as The Five Hundred. In New Jersey today, families in residence at the state's paramount private address might be considered The Six Hundred. As of March 1, the number of households within the 1500 acres of Panther Valley, off Route 80 in Allamuchy, had passed the 600 milestone.

As a result of record sales volume each year, the Panther Valley population now comprises 159 households living in executive-level single-family homes and 441 households in their respective choices of the three Panther Valley townhome neighborhoods. Truly without parallel in the metropolitan New York-New Jersey area, Panther Valley, off Exit 19 of Interstate Route 80, continues to attract homebuyers seeking that otherwise elusive combination of elegance, safety and private social and recreational pleasure.

Panther Valley currently offers four models of spacious three-to-five bedroom single-family homes on large wooded properties. Priced from $142,900, these homes are characterized by such extreme luxuries as individual home health spas with steam bath and whirlpool, at no additional expense. Each home is set dramatically on rolling terrain below forest slopes to one side and high stone mountain walls to the other. The home spas are available as an option in the townhomes of the deluxe Audubon Woods neighborhood, which includes models priced from $106,500 with up to four bedrooms, along with patios, wood sundecks or both. The Country Town home models, priced from $83,900, also have up to four bedrooms. And The Westgate two-and-three-bedroom models are offered from $64,000. Several of the townhome models also have basements which can be converted into customized extra rooms.

The community population is sure to be increased substantially in the near future, as homebuyers take advantage of current lower prices and the availability of a limited number of townhome models ready for immediate delivery and the single-family homes into which families can move within 90 days. Sales Manager Charles Knoeller has alerted consumers to an impending price increase.

The many amenities at Panther Valley include neighborhood swimming pools, tennis courts, platform tennis and children's playgrounds. Also within the community's gates is the autonomous Panther Valley Golf and Country Club and its championship-level 18-hole golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones.

A gatehouse at the entrance to the property is manned 24 hours a day, while discreet patrols maintain security throughout the night. Security is arranged by the homeowners' association which also handles snow removal, lawn care, exterior home maintenance, upkeep of recreational and common grounds and other chores usually associated with home ownership.

At the entrance to Panther Valley on Route 517 is the Panther Valley Mall, a colonial-motif shopping center which includes a major bank, and the Panther Valley Motor Inn where new residents may stay, if necessary, while awaiting completion of their homes. Excellent public and private schools are located in the immediate area.

To visit Panther Valley, take Route 80 west to Exit 19 (Andover/Hackettstown). Turn left at the end of the ramp and the community entrance will be on your right approximately three-quarters of a mile ahead. The community is but 55 miles from Manhattan.

Sales record at Wellington proves value

As in many fields, real estate has its ironclad rules for success. One is: the most important factor in selling property is location. Another: the lower the price, the larger the number of potential buyers.

Then there's the rule that says you don't "open" a new residential development on Easter Sunday, Mother's Day or in December. After all, "timing" is supposedly everything in the home building business.

But, of course, new precedents are being set and traditional rules of thumb are being broken, though infrequently. It takes guts to buck the rules. The financial risk to a builder can be considerable. But if a new development has enough compelling attractions for buyers, there is a chance for an overnight success despite the rules ordinary real estate developments live by.

Wellington Place, by Weiner Homes Corporation, is a case in point. The new condominium community on Route 34 in Aberdeen Township opened in mid-December and sold out its first two sections in two weekends.

That represents more than 70 homes and more than 3½ million in sales. Quite an accomplishment, even at the height of the spring selling season. But in December, this kind of selling activity was unheard of in New Jersey until 25-year builder Tex Weiner and his sons, Joshua and David, decided to build Wellington Place.

David Weiner, a CPA who heads the company's marketing department, attributed their success to "strong fundamental ingredients, such as a superb location, well-designed one and two-bedroom models including features like fireplaces, plus very exciting affordable prices."

The prices of Wellington Place's four models currently range from $52,500 to $64,900, which certainly qualifies them as "affordable" in today's new home market.

Construction manager Joshua Weiner pointed out that Wellington Place provides all-brick construction, R-30 attic insulation, insulated double-pane windows and sliding glass doors, carpeting and woodburning fireplaces. "These are extremely energy-efficient homes," Josh Weiner added. "They're not only relatively easy to buy, they're less expensive to heat and cool. And everyone who toured our GARDEN VIEW—Artful landscaping of central courtyard highlights individual doorways of Freehold Commons condominium homes. The one and two-bedroom homes of the newly-formed condominium are now at opening prices from $31,900 to $46,900, at an in-town location that makes for easy commuting and a two-block walk to downtown shopping and fine restaurants. Excellent financing of only 10 percent down payment is now available during the preview while non-binding sales reservations are being accepted. Freehold Commons is located at 77 South Street (Rt. 79), opposite St. Rose's, in Freehold, Monmouth County seat.

Recreation abounds at 'Silver Springs'

The folks at Silver Springs Shores in Ocala, Fla., are making a pitch to New Jerseyites to put a little Springs in their future. And what do they have to offer? According to the builders, many New Jerseyites might like to picture this scene: a recreation-oriented community nestled in an area known as the Central Florida Ridge—one of the highest, driest and most fertile regions in the Sunshine State, a land of gently rolling hills, woodlands, clear spring-fed lakes and lush, sub-tropical foliage.

Silver Springs Shores is in Florida's citrus-growing area, a region that also boasts more than 100 thoroughbred farms where champions such as Affirmed, Needles and Carry Back have gracefully frolicked in the sunshine. Without ever leaving the community, the builders point out, residents can swim, fish, go boating, picnic, play shuffleboard, barbecue, pitch horseshoes and pursue arts and crafts hobbies in special pottery and woodworking shops.

They can also enjoy, on the premises, socials, dances, billiards, community activities and live theater in a social center by a clear, wide lake.

And on another four-mile-wide lake, there's a beach and sail club with its own clubhouse, fishing dock, boat ramp and sandy beach for swimming and sunbathing.

In addition, there's the Silver Springs Shores Golf and Country Club, where members swim, play tennis and challenge one of the finest 18-hole championship golf courses in the southeast. A membership fee is required for use of these facilities.

Eleven miles from the community of more than 4,500 residents is the entrance to Ocala National Forest, a preserve almost half as large as the entire state of Rhode Island and an outdoorsman's paradise with thousands of acres devoted to fishing, hunting, boating, camping, hiking, exploring and natural spring-water bathing. Disney World lies 72 miles away and big-game fishing and water sports await all in the Gulf of Mexico, just 40 miles from the community.

Among the models offered is the Flamingo, a two-bedroom home priced at $39,390. Silver Springs Shores builds two- and three-bedroom homes, all of which contain extensive energy-saving features and are covered by the 10-year Home Owners Warranty Plan (HOW). Home costs include carpeting in the master bedroom and living room, air-conditioning, G.E. range and hood, and a storage area in the garage. Condominiums adjoining the golf course are also available. For more information, write to Silver Springs Shores, 504 Emerald Road, Ocala, Fla. 32672, or call toll free to (800) 874-8760 and ask for Ed Edelman.

Pine Ridge doors open

It was an all-day celebration at the Hovnanian office building in Middletown recently when the official grand opening of Pine Ridge South was kicked off. More than 600 people jammed the beautifully decorated model homes, sampled the catered refreshments and listened to radio station WJLK's Dick Lewis and Larry Brennan, who were on the scene capturing the action.

Pine Ridge South, successor to Hovnanian's sold-out Pine Ridge, is an adult community in Florida's Palm Beaches. It offers seven condominium apartment home designs that include features like central-air conditioning, modern kitchens, plush carpeting and screened terraces. Community facilities include a swim club, sundecks, shuffleboard courts, picnic groves and acres of lakes and landscaping.

"Pine Ridge was the fastest-selling condominium in Palm Beach County in 1979," noted Kevoik Hovnanian, president of Hovnanian Enterprises. "We sold more than 900 homes last year, over 500 of them to New Jersey families." But "Pine Ridge South is already nipping at the heels of that sales record" Hovnanian added. More than 100 homes were sold by 5:30 p.m. the first day.

For some buyers, it was the second Hovnanian home they had bought in Florida. One couple from Keyport, for example, purchased a home at Pine Ridge and then a second home at Pine Ridge South.

His boss can rest easy, though, because Hovnanian's prices have been one of the strongest selling points. Homes currently

Who fills the dentist's cavities?

Another dentist, naturally. But not just any dentist. In my case it happens to be the best—my old friend Jack Ward. He was my teacher at Dental School. Trouble is, he only has hours once or twice a week and he's hard to get to. His only other failing is that he always starts a conversation when your mouth is full of cotton wadding and suction tubes.

"How's your golf?" he asked me last Tuesday. "Mirffvood."

"I shot an 82 yesterday—you know I only come in to the office three days a week now... two in the summer."

"Rrrszaddso?"

"You know, you ought to start thinking about cutting down on your drilling and filling and start living a little. You're only a couple of years younger than I am. Your kids are grown and flown. Your wife is rattling around in that big house waiting for you to take some time off. And I'll bet you can't even break a hundred on a good day."

"Mrawffawoooyufuggett?"

"I'd suggest you sell your nice big house, cut your practice to 3 days a week, and move in next to us at Rossmoor... or Clearbrook. They're both less than 30 minutes from your office—mostly Turnpike." He started to empty the cotton wads.

"Wherszatttat?" I asked between gargles.

"Rossmoor, where we live, or Clearbrook, practically next door. You and Doris come down this weekend and take a look. I'll show you all the facilities, the clubhouse, the homes. We'll swim and play golf. I'll give you half a stroke a hole... and next time don't wait so long between check-ups!"

Thirty years ago I learned all about bicuspidis and impacted molars from Jack Ward. I'm still learning from him... about just plain living... and how to hit a golf ball.

This is a fictional testimonial based on a composite of actual Rossmoor/Clearbrook residents.

Mortgage 'subsidy' approved

WASHINGTON — Chairman Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-NJ) of the Senate Subcommittee on Housing and Urban Affairs has called passage of an emergency homeownership legislation "the first response by Congress, in the midst of the current housing crisis, to the need for more affordable mortgage money."

The Senate-approved legislation, which updates a six-year-old housing program known as Brooke-Cranston, includes an amendment developed by Williams as chairman of a special housing group appointed by Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.).

Under the Williams amendment, funds which have already been appropriated for an existing mortgage subsidy program, Section 235, would be telescoped into a new "shallow subsidy" fund to make some 100,000 mortgages available this summer for moderate-income homebuyers.

The Williams amendment would allow the use of $135 million in home ownership assistance funds from Section 235 for monthly subsidies which would be paid to lending institutions on behalf of homeowners. Borrowers, therefore, could pay an effective mortgage interest rate of 11 percent instead of the going rate of 14 percent on the open market.

In addition, potential homebuyers will be able to take advantage of a graduated payment schedule which could lower their effective interest rates in the first year to approximately 8 percent. Actual outlays for the new program between now and the end of 1981 are estimated at $86 million.

Loans under the Williams amendment would be limited to cases where the price of the home to be purchased is $60,000 or 80 percent of the average new house sales price for the area, whichever figure is higher. The Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development would have the authority to set income limits for homebuyers although he will be directed to target the program to moderate-income persons.

In a typical case under Williams' measure, a homebuyer receiving a $50,000 loan might expect monthly payments of $476 instead of the $600 which would be required at going interest rates. And, if the homebuyer elected to use the graduated payment provision, the monthly payments could start as low as $364.

"Final approval of this amendment by Congress will obviously be a shot-in-the-arm for the ailing housing industry," Williams said. "It may not go as far as some homebuilders would like, but I think it is significant that in these budget-conscious times the Senate has found a way to spur housing production and make some mortgages more affordable while holding the cost to taxpayers at a minimum."

Passage of the amendment does not affect the federal budget picture.

Williams noted, because the funds have already been appropriated by Congress.

The over-all Brooke-Cranston program, which was revised and updated by the Senate, was last used during the recession of 1974-75 to make below-market-subsidized mortgages available for some 300,000 single and multi-family dwellings. The new legislation updates that program and adjusts mortgage limits and interest rates to reflect current market conditions in case the Administration decides to reactivate the program.

The entire housing measure, with Williams' amendment, now goes to the House where it will be considered in connection with legislation authorizing a wide range of housing programs. Williams said that the chances for final approval by Congress are "extremely favorable" and he noted that the White House has lent its endorsement to his Section 235 provision.
