Future bonds topic of special meeting

By PATRICIA GEOGHEGAN
The Mountainside Borough Council Tuesday night decided to draw up a new figure for the financing through bonds of several proposed municipal projects.

The special meeting was called to discuss bonding under the advisement of a New York bonding attorney group, LeBoeuf, Lamb, Leiby and Macrae and the borough auditors, Suppley and Clooney.

Council member Robert Vigilanti, finance chairman, was asked to present a specific figure for the projects at the council's next meeting Tuesday.

The current estimate of the cost of the projects is $1,137,000. The projects include improvements to municipal and Board of Education buildings, such as weatherstripping, insulation and switching from an oil to a gas heating system.

Other proposals include the Nomahegan Brook project, a storm sewer project, and the Baltrusol retention basin. An ongoing discussion concerned the amount needed for the purchase of a new fire truck.

The fire truck issue failed when first proposed in June for two reasons. The specifications drawn up by Fire Chief Walter Duda allowed for a maximum figure $19,000 less than the only bid received by the council. The difference in price, coupled with the sole bid, prompted the council to reject the original proposal by a unanimous vote.

Vigilanti's figure will include a more accurate estimate for the fire truck ordinance.

The overall consensus of the council was for future employment of bond anticipation notes to be sold to the lowest bids given by various banks and brokerage houses. The advisory council urged the borough to examine realistically its proposed planning and spending in order to facilitate use of bonds in the future.

The borough has two major 20-year bonds, one which has its final payment in 1988, the other in 1992.

Another item discussed at the meeting concerned the joint sewer projects of Mountainside and Springfield. When the borough last attempted action on the plan, Springfield backed out, council members said, and left Mountainside without recourse. The physical requirements necessitate a joint layout with Springfield for proper execution of the plans.

During the interim, a new state aid program for flood areas was developed, and Mountainside applied for assistance. A letter from Gov. Brendan T. Byrne granting tentative state aid has been received by the council. The borough plans to resume talks with Springfield to attempt another joint effort to use the proposed funding most effectively.

Programs for women keeping pace at YWCA

The Westfield YWCA, which also serves Mountainside, is keeping abreast of women's changing roles in society, according to executive director Shirley Renwick.

Comparing current YWCA courses with those of 10 years ago, Renwick remarked, "Widespread changes can be noted within the realm of course offerings."

Unlike the arts and crafts classes which dominated YWCA non-physical classes in 1970, today's courses emphasize job skills, stress release and the responsibilities of single parents.

The YWCA's outreach program concentrates on special needs of minority women and teen-agers, offering both a social outlet and counseling services.

Renwick says the YWCA also offers service to women in the traditional roles of wife and mother. When YWCA recognized the need for a place women could speak freely about the joys and frustrations of motherhood, they affiliated themselves with the Mothers' Center of Central New Jersey. The center sponsors support groups, conversation hours and post-natal counseling.

A request for educational programs resulted in the popular "Learn and Lunch" programs featuring monthly one-hour lunches with guest speakers on a variety of subjects.

During the 1970s the YWCA also expanded its traditional role of providing recreational and physical fitness programs. The YWCA now offers dancing-to-music aerobic courses as well as swim and gym classes.

"Over the past 10 years," Renwick proudly notes, "our swimming and diving teams have improved immeasurably. The swimmers finished second and the divers first in the national YWCA competitions."

The YWCA's Aqua Sprites, organized for young girls in 1970, is now rated among the top 10 teams in national synchronized swimming competition. Day bus tours sponsored by the YWCA continue to attract long waiting lists.

Renwick admits women's changing roles have effected the YWCA's ability to provide volunteer aides. An increase in the number of working women and a decrease in the child population has made it more difficult to recruit volunteers. Nevertheless, Renwick says the Westfield YWCA lists almost 400 individuals offering services without pay.

"There are bright stars in the YW horizon," Renwick says pointing to the Tribute to Women in Industry (TWIN) program. An annual event, TWIN recognizes outstanding women in business, professional and managerial capacities. This year's TWIN awards dinner, held at L'Affaire in Mountainside, also honored businesses with progressive hiring policies.

Renwick stresses that the YWCA, a United Fund affiliate, is open to new ideas to broaden the interests of local women and encourages individuals to suggest programs and special events.

Indian way of life emphasized in program for parent and child

The Westfield YMCA has announced registration and orientation for the Indian Guides and Indian Princesses programs for parents and children.

Indian Guides is for fathers and sons and Indian Princesses is for fathers and daughters. The programs are designed to encourage parent and child to attain insights into family life based on the American Indians' strong concern for development of their children and desire for bestowing affection, love and understanding. The program's duration is from mid-September until early June and children must be in first, second or third grades.

The orientation and organization meeting for interested Mountainsiders is Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Westfield YMCA, 138 Ferris St., Westfield.

The organization meetings will consist of registration and orientation to the program. Films will be shown for children. The annual introduction.

Regional board praised and blasted by parents

By FRANCIS X. MURPHY

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education received both praise and complaints as the board tightened its transportation policies and moved to accept increased state funding for special projects, Tuesday.

Confronted by a contingent of parents, angered at the board's failure to meet transportation needs, Board President Charles Vitale prefaced opening the meeting to public participation with advisory remarks. "We will try to give you all the opportunity to speak," Vitale said.

Despite Vitale's request that the public be mindful of the board's long agenda, the open portion of the meeting lasted more than 45 minutes.

In one of the meeting's brighter moments, the board approved a resolution accepting a $60,000 increase in state funding for its auditory-impaired program. Board Member Stephen Marcink noted that the increase brought state funding to $160,000. Marcink said Dr. Frank Kenney had done an admirable job with the 4-year-old program, and the state's willingness to practically double its funding was recognition of a job well done.

Parents' complaints on transportation stemmed from the board's active enforcement of minimum home-to-school distances for bus passes and the board's failure to negotiate transportation for Union Catholic High School students from Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

According to Vitale, the board's policy provides transportation in compliance with the state mandate of 2.5 miles. In addition, the board will provide transport for students living as close as two miles from school, when the route is deemed hazardous.

The board was unable to obtain to-and-from school transportation for Union Catholic students because the bus company involved withdrew its bid when an insufficient number of riders was provided.

According to state law, a board of education is required to obtain transportation for a Catholic school student at a cost of $250 or less, or reimburse the amount to the student's parents.

Wussler Bus Co., which had been transporting students to Union Catholic at the maximum $250 per student, declined to renew its contract with the board when the number of students dropped to 116.

Last year, Wussler contracted to transport 144 students. The decline in ridership made the route $7,000 less profitable. Vitale summarized the problem saying, "The bottom line is going to be money, and contractors want to make money."

Rose Marie Federico, the parent of a Union Catholic student from Kenilworth, urged the board to consider the domestic disruption terminating bus transportation would and cause. Federico also reminded the board of the district's considerable annual savings by having the 116 students not enrolled in its schools.

Federico said that if the board couldn't get a contractor to transport Union Catholic students, "Get us a bus; we'll drive it ourselves."

Vitale assured parents, "If there is any legal way this board can get your children to school, we will do so." Vitale than instructed the transportation committee to investigate recommendations that district Union Catholic students be combined with students from other districts such as Cranford or Rahway.

Lodge to hold annual picnic

The Mountainside Elks Lodge 1585 will hold their annual picnic Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Elks Lodge, Route 22 east.

The Elks will serve hot dogs, hamburgers, sausage and peppers, chicken, corn on the cob, soda and beer. The picnic also will include games and prizes for children.

Admission is $7 for adults and $4 for children 10 to 16 years old. Children 10 years old and younger will be admitted free. Additional information is available from the lodge at 232-9667.

University Women continue education long after the time they receive degrees

How do educated women meet their needs for social activism in an affluent, stable residential community such as Mountainside?

Twenty-one years ago Billy Tulchin and her neighbors answered this question by founding the Mountainside branch of the American Association of University Women. Tulchin readily recalls the branch's age because she "was extremely pregnant" with her youngest daughter, Melanie, at the time of its founding.

AAUW is a national organization dedicated to continuing education among women and support of postdoctoral research by women. Membership is limited to women who have received baccalaureate or more advanced degrees from regionally accredited colleges.

Tulchin says participation in AAUW at the national level is "super-exciting." Delegates to the group's national convention have occupied presidential cabinet posts, and have entered the highest circles of scientific research and finance, according to Tulchin.

AAUW currently has 1,900 local branches throughout the 50 states and boasts a total membership of 190,885. Founded in 1882 it was originally known as the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and holds its national convention biennially. The AAUW's next convention will be in Boston in June 1981.

The Mountainside branch, as all other branches, participates in the study programs selected at the national conventions for a two-year cycle. Study programs for the 1979-80 cycle are Managing Resources for Tomorrow and Families Facing Change.

Literature and study guides for continuing education programs are made available to branches through national

AAUW headquarters in Washington, D.C. Programs of continuing interest in international relations, education, the community, women and culture also are distributed from national headquarters. At its last convention AAUW set ratification of ERA as its priority. AAUW maintains a lobby group in (Continued on page 2)

PLANNING A BALL—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson of Mountainside are chairmen of the autumn ball sponsored by the Middlesex General Hospital Auxiliary for the benefit of the hospital. The ball is scheduled for Fiddler's Elbow Country Club, Bedminster Township, Saturday, Sept. 13. Dancing will be to the music of the Barry Herman Band. Reservations must be made by tomorrow.

University women

Washington providing women a voice in national politics.

The Mountainside branch is politically active providing local politicians a forum for face-to-face debates in borough elections. To ensure an unbiased forum, the Mountainside AAUW recruits a moderator from the Westfield League of Women Voters, according to Tulchin.

Education among women is priority for both the national group and Mountainside's branch. In 1958 AAUW set up a separate AAUW Education Foundation to facilitate the building of endowments and fellowships. The fellowship program brings 50 women from other countries to study in the United States each year. The foundation also grants 100 awards annually to American women for advanced study.

Each year the recipient of a national fellowship addresses the Mountainside branch's pot-luck dinner. Tulchin says fellowship research ranges from analysis of the historic significance of an 1800 pioneer-woman's diary to medical research in communicable diseases.

In addition to contributing to the national fellowship program, the Mountainside branch grants a scholarship to a local college student. Tulchin says to ensure the seriousness of the recipient the scholarship is granted only to a woman who has completed at least one year of undergraduate study.

Linda Bauer, a woman characterized by AAUW members as one with a fine scientific mind, was enabled to complete college after the death of her mother through the auspices of the Mountainside branch. An annual December fair at Deerfield School provides the branch with most of its funds.

While the Mountainside Branch limits its group activism to one local scholarship and candidates' debates, individual members make significant contributions to the borough. Councilwoman Marilyn Hart is an AAUW member as is Peggy McCarthy. McCarthy, who holds a masters in education from Hofstra University, N.Y., provided the Board of Education with professional advice in the selection of textbooks.

ceremony will be held at Four Seasons Outdoor Center, Califon, Oct. 18, from 1 to 4 p.m. Highlighting the introduction ceremony will be the breathtaking performance of the Thunderbird American Indian Dancers from McBurney YMCA in New York City.

For further information, contact David Staveley, youth director at the Westfield YMCA, 233-2700.

Indian Guides and Indian Princesses are programs emphasizing the parent-child relationship. The Westfield YMCA has been involved with the programs since 1958.

Participants are organized into tribes or groups of eight to 10 pairs of parents and children. Tribes meet twice per month and develop tribal activities and ceremonies. Each Mountainside tribe is part of Lenape Nation, which combines with Nomehegan Nation from Cranford and Garwood to form the Unami Longhouse.

Activities are fun while allowing parent and child to spend meaningful time together. Recreational activities include Friday night gym and swim, organization meetings, the annual introduction ceremony, winter and spring campouts, Memorial Day parades and family picnic.

In this fast-paced society, Indian Guides and Indian Princesses provide a valuable opportunity for parent and child to spend time together in a one-to-one relationship vital to a child's development, according to Staveley

Swim classes for children set

Swimming classes for children aged six months and older are among those scheduled this fall at the Westfield YMCA.

"Baby and Me Swim" for children from six months to 2 years old requires one parent with the child who learns water adjustment and basic swimming skills.

Classes also are available for all other pre-school age groups with emphasis on allowing each child to progress at his own pace.

Kindergarten students may enroll in a swim class which concentrates on individual attention.

All pre-school classes, according to Donna Newman, director of health, physical education and recreation, are limited in number of enrollees to meet the needs of small children.

Newman, Olive Hidi and Kathy Franklin, water safety instructors, teach the pre-school aquatics classes assisted by Joanne Hansen.

Swim classes may be combined with gym programs which offer exercise through tumbling and other movements, Newman said.

Registration is available by contacting the YMCA, 220 Clark St. Shirley Renwick is executive director of the YMCA.

YWCA to hold swim tryouts

Tryouts for Westfield YMCA swim team will be conducted Saturday and Sept. 13 at noon, Donna Newman, director of the physical education program, has announced.

Girls interested in trying out for the competitive squad have been requested to fill out application forms in advance at the Y, 220 Clark St. Deck registrations also will be accepted at the tryouts.

The Aqua Sprites, the Y's synchronized swim team, will hold tryouts next Thursday and Sept. 18 at 6:30 p.m., and the Y diving team will conduct tryouts Tuesday and next Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

If sufficient interest is generated, gymnastics team tryouts will be held Sept. 23 and 24 at 4:30 p.m., Newman said.

Borough students on spring honor lists

Seven Mountainside students have been named to the honors or dean's list for the spring semester at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Florham-Madison.

Linda A. Beatrice and Gary J. Dienst were named to the honors list.

Named to the dean's list were Karen Cantagallo, Roger Sussko, Hildegarde Paluk, Marysusan A. Skrynias and Jon C. Ungarten.

Blood drive to help interferon research

The Westfield-Mountainside Red Cross will sponsor a blood drive to advance research of a potential cancer cure.

The blood bank will be held in conjunction with the Greater New York Blood Program which plans to raise 1,000 units of blood for interferon research. The blood bank is scheduled for Sept. 15 from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Presbyterian Parish House, 140 McRait Ave., Westfield.

According to Dr. Robert L. Hirsch, director of New Jersey Blood Services, a donor's white blood cells are extremely important to cancer research. Starting this week, the New Jersey division of the Greater New York Blood Program, operated in cooperation with the American Red Cross, will begin processing white cells (leukocytes) at their laboratory.

Up until now three elements were being separated at the New Jersey site: plasma (the liquid portion of the blood), platelets (cells that guard against hemorrhage) and red cells (cells that carry oxygen to the tissues).

In the new procedure, the top layer of cells remaining on the red cells (after the platelet-rich plasma has been extracted) will be siphoned off into a fourth satellite bag to produce white cell concentrate.

This concentrate will be used to produce interferon. Interferon is a protein produced by the body when disease attacks. Many scientists believe it is the body's first line of defense against viruses, Hirsch said. There is evidence that it may slow the growth of abnormal cells such as cancer, he said.

First mentioned publicly in a Flash Gordon cartoon strip, interferon is hoped to be the space-age equivalent of penicillin for cancer treatment.

Produced by white cells as part of a defense mechanism, interferon has been shown to limit the growth of viruses and also to inhibit the growth of cancer in humans.

Interferon is precious as the white cells from 500 to 1,000 units of blood are needed to produce one milligram of interferon, Hirsch said.

The use of interferon is in a state of relative infancy. It is yet unlicensed for general use and the small quantities available are committed to clinical testing. It is hoped that by increasing the amount of white cells available for processing, the drug research on interferon will move faster and hurry the day when cancer victims can benefit from this new discovery, Hirsch said.

Crackdown urged on juvenile crime

State Senator Donald T. DiFrancesco (R-22), sponsor of three bills that would toughen New Jersey's Juvenile Justice Code, has petitioned state legislators to give "prompt attention" to the problem of increased juvenile crime throughout the state.

DiFrancesco's bills, on which he has called for immediate action when the Legislature reconvenes in September, would provide for harsher penalties for youthful offenders who commit serious crimes.

"Recent events here in Scotch Plains, involving a teenage kidnapping ring, emphasize the importance of trying offenders according to the crime, rather than simply on the basis of age," said DiFrancesco, referring common court practices as letting criminals under the age of 18 "off the hook."

DiFrancesco continued, "The age of leniency toward juvenile delinquents is coming to an end, primarily because it didn't work. Young offenders who were repeatedly released from courts with merely a slap on the wrist did not reform, but developed, instead, a cynical disrespect for the law."

DiFrancesco has sponsored legislation that would amend New Jersey's code to provide that certain suspects 14 or older be assigned to the appropriate adult courts to be tried for their alleged offense. Under present law, criminals under the age of 18 are tried in Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, where penalties are traditionally mild, he said.

In companion legislation, DiFrancesco would reduce from 16 to 14 the age below which certain conditions must be met in order to fingerprint or photograph a juvenile.

Additional legislation adds restitution to the list of dispositions that a Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court may order if a youngster is found delinquent.

The State We're In

Something important has been happening during the past year or so, not only in this state we're in but throughout the country. It's the growing public polarization about threats of toxic waste bequeathed to us all by the greedy, the selfish, the unwitting and the homicidal.

Society in general, which means all of us, has been very slow to recognize this growing threat. We've emulated the ostrich, which allegedly buries its head in the sand to avoid confronting reality. It wasn't until our beaks began to dissolve, figuratively, at places like Love Canal and the Chemical Control dump in Elizabeth that we woke up.

The predictable result is that an aroused public is looking for somebody to blame. Somebody else, that is. Logically, the heat is being directed at the various governmental agencies which are supposed to be cleaning up the mess.

Here in New Jersey, the target is the Department of Environmental Protection, which, like the rest of us, has been a little slow to get its act together on toxic waste. The fact that DEP is clearly ahead of any other comparable state agency means nothing when it's my well, or your well, that's polluted.

My point in belaboring the obvious is that before any governmental agency really gets moving, it has to be driven by an aroused public. This public push must be so strong that every legislator will be afraid not to vote for increased appropriations to beef up the puny forces of government in this new war.

The focus of this public demand is the key to the situation, and it hinges on understanding of complicated issues and priorities. The public has got to understand that nobody yet realizes the scope of the toxic damage which has been allowed to plague our land. It must learn that once an aquifer is tainted, it will stay that way for an unknown length of time, and that our emphasis must be directed toward keeping other aquifers clean while we still make haste to clean up all the poisons that we can uncover.

Above and beyond all that, there looms the overriding problem of what to do with the fresh toxic wastes generated every day here and elsewhere. The answers remain few and imperfect: incineration, chemical and biological neutralization and very careful landfilling.

As it is now, toxic waste producers find disposal illegal or expensive. They are looking elsewhere—like in other states, or midnight dumping in old iron and coal mines, in piles of steel drums in warehouses, or by pulling the plug on tank trucks while they curise along some interstate in the rain.

Hysteria won't help. I'm reminded of this because DEP and the Delaware River Basin Commission recently announced results of a geological survey pinpointing underground formations which would insulate hazardous waste landfills from aquifers.

It turned out that the best such clay formation, or aquaclude, runs in a narrow band approximately from Raritan Bay to Salem County. It next turned out that, without any attempt being made as yet to identify the best sites for such landfills, people all up and down that formation began screaming, "Don't put it here. We don't want a Love Canal!"

Who can blame them? Once sensitized, we all get upset at the prospect of something like that in our neighborhood. Unfortunately, the stuff has to go somewhere, yet the public outrage needed to spur bureaucracy threatens to make it even more ineffectual.

Recently I wrote here that big federal installations such as military bases should be utilized for incinerators and hazardous waste landfills, on the premise that they'd be far enough away from local populations to avert political stalemates on siting such facilities and that they're already storing and disposing of toxics in such places. I also suggested that coping with toxics is a better job for the Corps of Engineers and Chemical Warfare arms of the Pentagon than dam-building and poison gas-making.

This resulted in incredulous stares from most of my friends and associates. Their universal reaction was, "How can you suggest such a thing? You know darn well we can't trust those types to do anything right!"

That's where sustained, controlled and accurately focused public attention comes in. With those factors, our governmental friends would have been performing better all the time.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY: School closed for Rosh Hashana.

DAILY: Large salad platter with bread and butter, homemade soup, individual salads and desserts, pre-announced specials.

Boosters plan open reception

The Jonathan Dayton All-Sports Booster Club will sponsor an open reception Sept. 18 at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cafeteria.

The 8 p.m. affair will feature coffee, cake and a presentation on athletic programs for the upcoming school year. All Dayton students' parents are invited to attend.

The clubs newly elected officers: John McLearn, president; Jim Heulbig, vice president; Elsa Jackson, recording secretary; Suzie Torborg, corresponding secretary, and Howard Clemson will be at the meeting to answer parents' questions. Also attending the meeting will be Peter Falzarano, Dayton athletic director, and the Dayton coaching staff.

Disc & Data

By Milt Hammer

Pick of the LPs—SAVAGE MUSIC by the Tigers (A&M Records SP-4817).

Is a band born, or is it made? The Tigers were born within the brain of one Tony Jacks, a London musician, who had simply tired of hearing the usual unkept promises of music industry people and took off on his own. The end result is the group's debut LP on the A&M label.

The real birth of the Tigers was in 1978 with the introduction of Strike Records. The aforementioned unkept promises forced Tony to bring together a band of friends and record four titles with the idea of getting the music to the lovers of same. "Night Time Games" was the result, and close friend, Carole Striker, became a partner. Strike Records had begun—and almost finished its founders.

"It was a nightmare," Tony said from the more comfortable retrospective view. "We had a thousand records printed up, and they all came out scratched. So, through anguished negotiations with the pressing people we got a thousand more. And they sounded worse. It's okay to talk about it now, and what we learned was invaluable, but it was hell at the time."

The Tigers were made upon the return home of Tony and Carole from a visit to Los Angeles to recover from the pressing plant blues. "I just wanted to have some music that would travel the world," Tony explained. "Too many English bands are isolated, regional. The Tigers can play to everyone."

Five-concert season due at Kean campus

Ray Fowler, conductor of the Kean Chamber Orchestra, has announced the programs for its five-concert 1980-81 season scheduled in the Wilkins Theater on the Kean College campus, Morris Avenue, Union. Series tickets and additional information can be obtained by calling the box office at 527-2337, Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

At its opening concert Sunday, Sept. 28, at 3 p.m., the orchestra will perform the Sarabanda, Giga and Badinerie of Corelli, Cimarosa's Concerto for Oboe in C minor featuring the oboist Joel Timm; Rossini's Sonata No. 2 in A major for Strings and Ancient Ais and Dances (Suite III) by Respighi.

The second concert in the series will be held Monday, Oct. 27, at 8:15 p.m. Naoko Tanaka will be violinist. Works will be Sinfonietta by Rousset, London for violin and strings by Schubert and Grieg's Holberg Suite. On Monday, Dec. 1, at 8:15, the program will be made up of Concerti Grossi. Featured will be Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, No. 8 in G minor ("Christmas"), Bloch's Concerto Grosso No. 1 with iano obbligato performed by the pianist Herbert Golub and Handel's Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, No. 10 in D minor.

The Monday, April 20, 1981 concert at 8:15 p.m., will be an all orchestral program. It will feature Mozart's Divertimento, K. 136 in D major, Walton's Sonata for Strings, the Scherzo, Opus 11 by Shostakovich and Tchaikovsky's Serenada, Opus 48.

The season will conclude on Sunday, May 17, at 3 p.m., when the orchestra will be accompanied by the Cranford High School Choir, James Lenny, director, and Ted Hoyle, cellist, in an all-Haydn program. The performance will include the Missa Brevis Alla Capella (Rorate Coeli Despar'), Symphony No. 45 in F-sharp minor ("Farewell") and the Concerto for Cello in D major.

In addition to the concerts, the Kean Chamber Orchestra will make its debut at the Carnegie Recital Hall in New York City next spring. The orchestra schedules concerts in the surrounding communities, and arrangements may be made by calling the office at 527-2107.

Verdi course due at Kean

Verdi, a new course focusing on the 19th century Italian composer Giuseppe Verdi, will be offered at Kean College of New Jersey, Union, during the fall semester. The three-credit course will feature trips to rehearsals of the New York Metropolitan Opera's production of "La Traviata" and to a dress rehearsal of "Turandot," which stars Luciano Pavarotti.

Class hours for the course will be 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. Enrollment will be limited to 18 students. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Dr. Herbert Golub at 527-2108.

Lyric Opera seeks piano

The Jersey Lyric Opera Company has announced that a piano is needed for use in rehearsals. An "angel" award will be presented to the person who donates the instrument, it was announced, and that person will become a charter member of the Opera Guild.

The Jersey Lyric Opera Company is a recipient of a grant from the New Jersey Council of the Arts, and it is in its fifth year. Presentation of the "angel" award will be made at the next performance of the company, Saturday, Nov. 15, when "La Boheme" will be presented at Union College, Cranford, at 8 p.m. Additional information can be obtained by calling 232-0814.

Neil Simon comedy continues at Neil's

"Chapter Two," Neil Simon's comedy hit, the opening show of the seventh year at Neil's New Yorker Dinner Theater, Mountain Lakes, continues its run through Sept. 14. The play is produced by Jack Bell and directed by Terrell Sharp. The musical hit, "Gigi," will open Sept. 17 and will run through Nov. 25. Additional information can be obtained by calling 334-0058.

Volunteers needed for juvenile program

Juveniles account for nearly half the arrests in Union County, according to latest statistics. Though many of the charges are status offenses—truancy, incorrigibility, running away—an alarming number of more serious crimes are being committed by young people. But most kids don't start out big.

A juvenile's first encounter with the criminal justice system can often be what determines whether he straightens out or continues to pursue criminal activity. That's where Union County's Volunteer Probation Counselor Program comes in.

Since its inception in 1971, more than 300,000 hours have been donated by county residents involved in the program. Men and women from all walks of life spend at least two hours each week working on a one-to-one level with juvenile offenders, freeing regular Probation Officers to concentrate on more serious cases. The success of the program is demonstrated in the low recidivism rate of juveniles involved with the program—and the receipt of a national recognition award for the program's accomplishments.

More volunteers are desperately needed in order that the program continue to be successful in keeping the cost of crime down. The Union County Probation Department is now accepting registration for its autumn volunteer counselor training program. Classes, held in the Freeholder meeting room in the county's Administration Building in Elizabeth, begin Monday night Sept. 22 and run for 2½ hours. Training includes films, discussions with present counselors, role playing and counseling and listening techniques.

The only requirements are that counselors be at least 18 years of age and have at least two free hours a week to spend with a young offender.

For additional information or to register for the training seminar, contact Dr. Faye Granberry or Rick Younghouse at the Probation Dept., 32 Winfield Scott Plaza, Elizabeth, 353-0500.

Fair campaign is pledged by GOP hopefuls

The Republican candidates for Union County Board of Freeholders this week promised to "adhere strictly to the principles of the fair campaign practices code."

The three, Frank Lehr of Summit, Virginia McKenney of Roselle Park and Peter Okrasinski of Union, cabled their opponents to do the same.

Calling for a campaign on the issues, Lehr said the code requires candidates to discuss the public record and issues "with honesty, openness and sincerity while criticizing constructively the inadequacies of the public performance and stands of their opponents."

As signers of the code, McKenney said, "we strongly oppose...character assassination, whispering campaigns, vilification, scurrilous attacks." Okrasinski added, "By all candidates following this code of ethical conduct, these issues can be drawn clearly and the dialogue between the parties can be maintained on a high level."

Y schedules orchards trip

Reservations are being taken through Sept. 12 for a bus trip to Apple Orchards, Colts Neck, under sponsorship of the YWCA of Eastern Union County, Elizabeth.

The trip, planned for Sept. 19, will permit participants to pick their own apples. The group will go to Asbury Park for lunch.

Further information and reservations are available at 355-1500.

Star Trekker opens lecture series at UC

James Doohan—"Scotty of Star Trek fame"—will kick off the Union College Student Government Association's 1980-81 Lecture and Entertainment Series Sept. 26.

The series also will present the comedy group, Chicago City Limits, on Oct. 24; Frank Abagnale, the "great imposter," Nov. 14; Gil Eagles, master mentalist and hypnotist, Feb. 6; National Lampoon alumnus Tony Hendra, who also produced and directed the rock musical "Lemmings," March 27, and Dr. Wilson Bryan Key, the author of two books on subliminal persuasion, April 14.

The "Star Trekking with Scotty" program, will include a Doohan lecture, a full-length Star Trek TV episode, a blooper film of comical outtakes from the television series plus a NASA film on the Star Ship Enterprise.

Described as a "most outrageous comedy group," Chicago City Limits specializes in improvisation. Cast members ask the audience for suggestions and then create their own kind of "hysterical" comedy.

Abagnale, who is retained by big business to lecture on methods of preventing the crimes he once executed so expertly, talks about his escapades and escapes and such matters as check forgery, bogus documents and other frauds.

Church has Jewish School starts kinderkrirk

The Kinderkrirk Nursery, an outreach of the education committee of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, will resume its activities at the church parish house Monday with afternoon sessions under the direction of Mrs. Bonnie Stender.

The school, which is a community service specializing in pre-school education, offers a curriculum of small group socialization and play experiences in "a specially-equipped classroom under the supervision of accredited teachers. The program fosters intellectual, social, emotional and physical growth in preschoolers in a church atmosphere."

It was announced that limited openings are still available, and information can be obtained by calling the church office at 379-4320 in the mornings.

The center, now in its 24th year, helps students develop the skills, concepts and techniques needed to improve scores on the verbal and mathematics aptitude tests.

The mathematics course will be taught by Morton Seltzer, former chairman of the math department at Weequahic Reared in Tanganyika, East Africa, Eagles is a compelling speaker and dynamic showman.

A serious exponent of hypno-therapy for personal growth, he conducts personal growth seminar-workshops and success motivation clinics for major corporations.

Hendra became the editor of National Lampoon in 1971 after appearing on numerous TV shows during the '60s, including the Tonight Show and Ed Sullivan. The producer and author of the first three National Lampoon record albums, he presents "The Right program for the Wrong Time," also known as the first history of the 1980s, or "a look back at the tumultuous decade 1980-1989."

Dr. Key, author of "Subliminal Seduction" and "Media Sexploitation," has testified to a Senate subcommittee and the Federal Trade Commission on the subject of subliminal indoctrination and manipulation used in advertising. A former advertising man, he has taught journalism and communications at several universities and now heads Mediaprobe, a public interest research company.

The SGA Lecture and Entertainment series is intended primarily for students faculty and staff at Union College but tickets are offered to the public on a space-available basis one week before the scheduled event.

The Suburban Jewish School, a non-profit organization not affiliated with any synagogue, is in its 23rd year and is part of a national Conference of Secular Jewish Organizations, which stresses the promotion of a Jewish heritage with emphasis on cultural and ethical aspects. Information is available from the school president, Milton Zisman of Springfield, at 376-5629.

High School; the English classes will be taught by Irving J. Goldberg, former director of the Education Center for Youth. Information is available at 731-3995.

Seniors plan church confab

The senior citizens of Mountside will meet Wednesday at the Presbyterian Church, Meeting House Lane, Mountside. A covered-dish luncheon will precede the meeting.

A meeting, scheduled Sept. 23, will be followed by a fellowship period.

All senior citizens have been invited to join the group. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at 232-0015 or Mrs. Hazel Johnson at 232-3287.

Slichot event is scheduled

The annual pre-Slichot gathering of Congregation Israel of Springfield will be held Saturday at 10:45 p.m. at the synagogue on Mountain Avenue and Shunpike Road. Abraham Borenstein, chairman, has announced that a reception-social will honor new members and newcomers to Springfield who reside near the synagogue. Refreshments will be served.

Cantor Samuel Koenig will lead the Slichot service at the traditional after-midnight hour. Rabbi Israel E. Turner, spiritual leader of the congregation, will introduce the service and interpret key passages in English.

There will be no cost or obligation to attend the event, it was announced by Borenstein and his committee.

Breakfast is Sunday

The Men's Club of Congregation Israel of Springfield will hold a "sports breakfast" Sunday at 10:15 a.m. at the synagogue on Mountain Avenue and Shunpike Road. Featured will be a color movie on "Giants Hi-Lites of 1979" with scenes from the games of the Jersey football Giants. Men have been invited to bring their children.

The breakfast will inaugurate the Men's Club, 1980-81 schedule which will include bowling, outings, cultural and other events. Joseph Weinberg is chairman and Jerry Felker, co-chairman. Other information can be obtained by calling the synagogue office at 467-9666 or 467-0217.

Board votes on pay pact

paperbound and will cost approximately $3 to $5 each. Hanigan, superintendent of schools, described the books as "enthusiastic as a high school senior" and cited the skills of the students in the preparing of the books.

The controversial application again involved Clifford, who has asked for money to put on another musical show this year. Board member Pat Knodel mentioned that the minigrants originally were to be used for innovative programs.

"It bothers me to see the money for the play come out of the minigrants; however, I have no objection to the play," she said.

The vote to table the request was 4-1, Barre dissenting.

Costumes for the Beechwood School holiday play. From left, Scott Boyd and Jennifer Garippa. The play will be performed Tuesday at 1:45 p.m. for the Christmas season.

Roller skating sessions planned

Registrations for both trips are being accepted weekdays at the Recreation Office from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. Payment must accompany registration.

'Grandmother's' book on view

An exhibit of photographs, costumes, posters, books and regalia which represent historical costumes as social history is on display at the Free Public Library of Mountainside, through Jan. 3. Featured in "Grandmother's Trunk: Costume as Social History," are costumes for mothers and children from approximately 1890-1920, selected in honor of The International Year of the Child.

Two films on Costume as Social History will be shown next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the library meeting room. At that time all of the items from the exhibit will be on display, and books and bibliographies will also be available.

The display and films are part of the project, "Ways of Knowing: The Humanities in New Jersey."

Marching band plans blow-out

Members of the Jonathan Dayton Marching Band will be honored at a covered dish supper tonight at the high school. The Band Parents Organization is host at the dinner to thank the students for the hours of work which led to the band's winning the Tournament of Bands Chapter V Championship, Class I.

Following the dinner, the band will present its annual December concert.

Cleanup time: glass, papers

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Key Club will hold its twice-a-month Glass-In on Saturday. All residents of the area were urged to bring glass (sorted by color, with the metal rings removed from around the mouth of the bottles) and newspapers (tied in bundles), for recycling.

The Glass-In will be held in the high school parking lot from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A holiday 'gift' idea—blood donors sought

Union County residents can donate a gift of life and health for the holiday season during a special blood drive tomorrow at Red Cross headquarters, 203 West Jersey St., Elizabeth, from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The special blood drive is an attempt to bring up the level of local donations, which have been dropping during the past two years because of resident "apathy," according to the Red Cross.

No appointment is needed for tomorrow's blood drive and locations of other area blood banks outside of Union County are available from the Red Cross at 353-2500.

Blood donations are needed especially before the coming holiday season and most holiday weekends, when there are more emergency accidents and bloodmobile hours are cut, Overton said.

The amount of blood being given by Union County residents is becoming lower and lower, according to Peter W.

Overton, manager of the Union County chapter of the Red Cross. Two years ago, the Red Cross used to receive about 40 pints of blood per drive day; now it receives between six and 10 pints per day, he said.

"Alienation from one's neighbor is spreading," he said.

"Severe public apathy continues to deteriorate the position of the Red Cross in collecting voluntary blood" because of a "lack of concern for others," agreed Vera Maier, chairman of the local Red Cross blood program.

The Red Cross now must import about 35 percent of the blood used for medical purposes from Europe. About 5,500 pints of the 8,000 pints used annually in Union County donated by residents, Overton said. As a result, the Red Cross, now requires that patients who receive blood must replace it, Overton said. That can be done by finding friend or relative to donate the blood, he said. Until now, the Red Cross has provided blood to anyone who needed it without that requirement, Maier said. She noted, however, that the Red Cross will continue to cover all individuals participating in the program, senior citizens and those unable to give blood, but in need of it. Another problem is receiving donations from unhealthy specimens. Overton cited an example of a New Year's Day in Lowell, Mass., when a number of people lined up to give blood, but most of it was unacceptable.

Group seeking more vests aid

The Honorary Mountainside PBA 126 inaugurated a "Bulletproof Vest Fund Drive" in October for the purpose of raising monies to equip each member of its police force with a bulletproof vest. A spokesman said, "the fund drive has been successful but is still short of its goal, and it is hoped that those who were of a mind to contribute and who have not yet done so will do so in December."

Businesses and individuals were requested to send their donations to the Honorary Mountainside PBA, Local 126, Vest Fund, 895 Mountain Ave., Mountainside, 07092.

HOWARD T. ROSEN—Attorney will talk about Israel and the United Nations Saturday evening following the Selihot service in Temple Sha'rey Shalom, Springfield. A question and answer period will follow.

Lawyer to discuss Israel in Springfield temple

Temple Sha'rey Shalom, Springfield, will hold its Selihot service, which is one of self-examination and confession that institutes the High Holy Day season Saturday beginning with Havdallah at 9 p.m. The speaker for the evening will be Howard T. Rose of the law firm of Gelman & Weiss, Newark. He will speak on "How Israel Has Isolated Itself in the United Nations" at 9:30 p.m. with a question and answer period following.

Rosen, a graduate of Syracuse University with a bachelor of arts degree in business and economics, and Harvard Law School, where he earned his law degree in 1951, was appointed by President Jimmy Carter and served as a member of the United States Delegation to the 34th Session of the United Nations General Assembly in 1979.

He is a member of the Essex County, New Jersey and American Bar associations and serves as commissioner from the State of New Jersey to the Professional Ethics committee of the New Jersey Supreme Court. Rosen is a former deputy attorney general of New Jersey and lecturer in law at Rutgers Law School. He served a clerkship for Justice Nathan L. Jacobs on the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Active in community and civic affairs, Rosen is chairman of Professions for the United Negro College Fund of New Jersey, president of the Committee for a Responsible Legislature and a trustee of Millburn Neighborhood House. He is a member of Temple Israel of the Oranges and Maplewood, and is a former chairman of the New Jersey State Committee of the Family Service Association of America and president of the Jewish Counseling and Service Agency of Metropolitan New Jersey.

Refreshments will be served at 10:30 p.m. followed by the Selihot service from 11:30 p.m. to midnight which was written by Temple Sha'rey Shalom's spiritual leader Rabbi Howard Shapiro.

The entire program for the evening will be under the auspices of the temple's social action committee and Dr. Stanley Newman of Springfield.

REGM to hold annual tea on Monday night

The Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial for Cancer Research (REGM) will hold its 32nd annual membership tea Monday at 8 p.m. in Jahn's Ice Cream Parlour, 945 Stuyvesant Ave., Union. Adele Hirschhorn will preside. Chairmen of the evening will be Helen Goldberg, membership vice president, and the membership committee, Fran Gelb and Betty Weber, both of Union, and Rita Stein and Barbara Merkin, both of Springfield. The program will consist of "an old-fashioned evening of ice cream, pie barbership quartets."

At the June meeting, the investigations committee, Jane Kiss, Rhoda Goodman and Helen Zipper, all of Union, and Evelyn Pollack, presented an allocation of grants for 1980-1981.

They pledged $3,500 for the first installment of a $14,000 grant to recipients, Dr. Joseph Leighton of the Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Dr. B. B. Segel of the University of Rochester in New York and Dr. R. F. K. Fournier of the University of Southern California School of Medicine in Los Angeles.

It was announced that REGM's more than 500 members have raised and donated more than three-quarters of a million dollars to cancer research.

Additional information about REGM can be obtained by writing to REGM, P.O. Box 194, Springfield, N. J. 07081.

Antique show slated Sept. 13 by school guild

St. James School Guild, Springfield, will sponsor an antique-flea market and craft show Saturday, Sept. 13 on the church grounds, South Springfield Avenue. The flea market will be held in the auditorium and will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This will mark the beginning of its eighth year of operation. The previous 28 flea markets have featured more than 1,000 dealers selling items from antique candle snuffers to leftover bathroom tile, hand made silk flowers and stained glass window ornaments.

Mrs. Marie Bottino, guild president, has announced the flea market also operates a kitchen for breakfast, lunch and snack items.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Geraldine Welsch, chairman, at 467-2298.

Coast Guard soliciting applications to academy

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as academy cadet in the class of 1985. Applications are being accepted from men and women.

Appointments as Coast Guard cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320, prior to Dec. 15. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT).

of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage, and must reach the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1981. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1981. Graduates of the Academy are awarded a bachelor of science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training.

Sexes' roles become more alike, says poll

By VIRGINIA SLIMS POLL

With more women than ever competing with men for jobs outside the home, it comes as no surprise that 65 percent of American women believe it is likely that by the year 2000 it will be acceptable for a man to keep house and raise children while his wife earns the family income.

47 percent of all American women today say they would not lose respect for a male as a homemaker. Ten years ago, by contrast, only one out of every eight would have agreed. Two important factors that may be responsible for this change in opinion are the rise in the number of women who work outside the home (47 percent), and the belief of a majority of women today (58 percent) that most sexually differentiating characteristics involving masculine and feminine ways of behavior are learned and are not inherent in being male or female.

The poll also found that the male chauvinist may be a thing of the past. A significant percentage of men are quite willing to help out with household tasks that were once handled by women. These findings and other changing attitudes among American women are documented in The 1980 Virginia Slims American Women's Opinion Poll, one of the most extensive surveys of women's attitudes ever undertaken. The study was conducted by The Roper Organization during the latter part of 1979 among a representative cross-section of 3,000 women and 1,000 men.

In increasing numbers, women are accepting this male entrance into what was once a female domain. The 1980 Virginia Slims American Women's Opinion Poll reports that

Suburban Real Estate

A Real Estate Advertising Section

KEY TRANSACTION—Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Danzig accept from Frank Severino the keys to their new home at Townsend Estates, a community in Old Bridge with five, three-bedroom homes remaining. Prices start at $70,990. Available to qualified buyers is 10 percent down, 30-year conventional mortgages at 12 percent interest.

Few homes are left at Townsend Estates

Townsend Estates, the Route 34 on Farrington townhome community off Road in Old Bridge, has only five remaining three-bedroom homes available for purchase before the community is declared sold out.

Frank Severino, president of Green Grass Construction, developer of Townsend Estates, attributes the community's success to a low $70,990 starting price, the many and wanted standard amenities, the 10 percent down payment, 30-year 12 percent conventional mortgage plan and extremely convenient location.

Among the features included within the home's price are a full basement, a dishwasher, oven and range, refrigerator, wall-to-wall carpeting, natural gas heat, efficient insulation, day and night thermostats, 1½ baths and a new tennis court.

As Newman explains it,

Estate living with suburban convenience, Southwyck will feature village condominiums with ultra-modern kitchen, G.E. eye-level self-cleaning range, dishwasher, ample kitchen cabinets, living rooms with separate foyers, powder rooms, dining rooms with built-in pass-through countertops that also close, 2½ baths with tub and shower, master bedroom with walk-in closets and dressing rooms and other deluxe amenities. All side walls which have 2½ inches and six inches of cap fiberglass insulation and insulated glass windows. Moreover, the units will feature a G.E. heat-pump system for central heat and air conditioning.

Southwyck, a planned 304-home condominium complex of sophisticated design combining suburban security in an urban world, is previewing in Scotch Plains. Being developed by Robert B. Newman Building Co. Inc., Westfield, a 30-year veteran of the real estate industry, Southwyck offers a new way of life, complete with all-weather tennis courts and Olympic-sized pool. It has such amenities as central air conditioning, separate foyers and master bedrooms with walk-in closets. A few models are available at only $90,000. Southwyck is an exclusive adult residential estate in prestigious Scotch Plains that offers condominium ownership to persons 48 years old or older. It will feature 24-hour professional security and a variety of recreational amenities. In short, it will be an oasis in the heavily populated northern New Jersey area, just minutes from the Conrail line at Metro Park station. There is on-site pickup bus service, and it is 22 miles from New York City.

Condos offer convenience

when 50 percent of the residences are occupied, the modern swimming pool and all-weather tennis courts will be constructed and made available for use by residents. For those who wish to enjoy even more sports, there are golf courses, bowling emporiums, skating arenas and indoor tennis and racquetball courts all within five miles of the community.

Despite the fact that the village condominiums will be nestled in the secluded countryside over a water bridge controlled by a security office, they are within minutes of nearby shopping, commerce, recreation, cultural activities and educational facilities. With the Conrail trains at the Metro Park just minutes away, residents can leave their cars here and take the train in comfort to New York City for a Broadway show, a visit to a museum or an epicurean excursion to a favorite dining spot.

It is all possible from this quiet, hidden enclave which is fast taking shape in this suburban setting. According to Newman, attractive financing is available and a limited number of $90,000 units can still be reserved while construction work continues on the showplace.

Record earnings for the first half of the year were reported by The Summit Bancorporation. Income before securities transactions for the six months ended June 30 increased 17 percent, or $2.22 per share, compared to $1.86 per share in 1979.

Allstate Insurance Co. has invested a total of $623,000 in bonds in Union County, according to a spokesman for the firm. The investments are part of bonds held by Allstate in all 21 New Jersey counties.

The investments include Union County regional high school districts and the New Jersey Educational Authority-Kean College.

Smoker Puzzle Solved By Merit Taste.

Research establishes low tar MERIT as proven taste alternative to high tar smoking.

There is a difference between other low tar cigarettes and MERIT — a proven difference.

Tests with thousands of smokers provide solid evidence that MERIT delivers the flavor of high tar brands, and continues to satisfy long term.

Smoker Quest Ends

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as — or better than — leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and reported MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried!

MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

Growing Older

Many Americans nearing the age of mandatory retirement are faced with the necessity of finding another job or new source of income—not because they don't want to retire, but because it is a leisure they cannot afford.

Jobs are not easy to find, particularly for older Americans, unless they have a particular trade or skill. The alternative is self-employment or a business venture. If you have a hobby that enables you to make something people will buy, consider yourself fortunate. If you plan to go into some kind of retail business, consider the matter carefully, for these are the days of recession.

The important thing is to decide what you are going to do before retirement. Don't wait for that day thinking you will have more time to look around and investigate opportunities. Begin now, and proceed slowly.

For best chances of success, select a business about which you have some knowledge. Once the decision is made, find out everything you can about the business of your choice, the need for it in the community, the competition, the operating capital you will need and the profits you can reasonably expect. Check the nearest college or business administration school to see if classes related to the business are offered. If not, consider a course in accounting, bookkeeping or marketing if you are not skilled in these areas.

Effective planning, even in recessionary times, gives you a fair shot at success. A business will succeed if it meets a need and is adequately financed. Only careful planning can give assurance in these areas.

Hospital offers swim program

Registration will be held through next Wednesday for a 10-week recreational swim program for handicapped and learning disabled children at Children's Specialized Hospital, New Providence Road, Mountainside.

The program for children five and older, starting Tuesday, Sept. 16, will consist of one-hour sessions starting at 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays. The registration fee covers all expenses for the 10 sessions.

Each child will be handled in the pool on a one-to-one basis, under the supervision of a qualified and experienced water safety instructor. Information is available from Andy Chasanoff of the hospital's recreational therapy department by calling 233-3720 from 1 to 9 p.m.

Senators act to get VHF station in state

In a move to secure a VHF television station for New Jersey, U.S. Senators Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) and Bill Bradley (D-NJ) have introduced a measure which would provide for at least one VHF station in each state.

The Williams-Bradley measure is an amendment to S. 2827, the Communications Act on Commerce, Science and Transportation.

The amendment would require that if a VHF station becomes available in a state that already has other VHF stations, the Federal Communications Commission must allocate the available license to a state without a station, if it is technically feasible to do so. New Jersey and Delaware are the only states now without commercial VHF stations.

"As has been well documented, people in our state must depend on news from major television stations based in and therefore biased towards New York and Pennsylvania," Williams said. "To date, unfortunately, the actions taken by the FCC to rectify this problem have been something short of satisfying."

Williams, co-chairman of the New Jersey Coalition for Fair Broadcasting, has worked for the past decade to secure a VHF station for the state. "In the past, the FCC has refused to give our state a VHF station because, in order to do so, it would have had to take a frequency away from an otherwise qualified out-of-state licensee. This obstacle, however, was recently removed," Bradley said.

Williams referred to a Commission decision in January to deny license renewal for RKO General, licensee for three major television stations, including Channel 9 in New York.

"With Channel 9 available for relicensing, the FCC has a perfect opportunity to resolve New Jersey's long-standing problem," the senators noted.

"We want to indicate to the Congress and to the FCC that our intentions to pursue this matter are very serious," the senators said. "It is quite clear that the existing situation is unfair to the citizens of New Jersey, and it is equally clear that alternative remedies are not the answer."

In the House, Rep. Andrew Maguire (D-7th District), and a number of other New Jersey Congressmen have introduced a similar bill which is before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

Earlier this year, Williams and Bradley joined in petitioning the FCC to reallocate Channel 9 from New York to

The Cranford Adult School and Flotilla 44, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer a free 10-week course in boating skills and seamanship at Cranford High School, beginning Sept. 29.

The course will provide basic information on boat handling, rules of the road, legal requirements, aids to navigation, charts and compass, marine engines, marlinspike seamanship, weather, and radio telephone. There will be practical work on charts and knot tying.

In addition to the regular $4 registration fee, there will be an $8 fee for materials and charts which the student will keep. Registration will be conducted at Cranford High School from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 25, and Friday, Sept. 26, as well as on the first night of class. Mail registrations will be accepted through Thursday, Sept. 25, by Registrar Al Ballinger at Cranford High School.

Mike Berliner reaches tennis tournament finals

Michael Berliner of Springfield took second place in the Advanced Boys Division of the New Jersey Youth Tennis Tournament held at Rutgers University.

About 200 boys and girls, representing approximately 25 towns, participated.

Berliner won eight games in the first day while seeded 16th in a field of 53 boys aged 15 to 17. On the morning of the second day he upset the No. 2 seeded player, 7-6, 7-9, 7-6 to reach the afternoon finals. He lost the final match played in 95-degree temperatures.

Six other players represented Springfield. Alan Berliner made it to the quarter-finals before being eliminated. Perri Teitelbaum, seeded 10th in the Advanced Girls Division, lost in the third round to the fifth seed, Robert Steir. Dan Schlager and Bland Eng lost in the second round after impressive first-round wins. Dan Freidman lost to the 15th seed in the opening round.

Rutgers to get All-American

Kris Kirchner, an all-American women's basketball player at the University of Maryland for the past three years, has indicated that she will transfer to Rutgers University for the 1980-81 academic year.

Kirchner, a resident of New Providence, N.J., is considered by many to be one of the most aggressive centers in the collegian game and has been a major factor in the national acclaim brought to Maryland in recent seasons.

Last year, Kirchner averaged 20.9 points and 12.1 rebounds a contest. Her total of 627 points and 362 rebounds were Terrapin single-season records. Also, at Maryland, she set all-time marks in these categories, pouring in 1,425 points and pulling down 936 rebounds.

The 1978-79 Washington Post's "Player of the Year," Kirchner has received many accolades for her achievements. For the second consecutive season, the 6-4 center has been named to the EAIAW All-Region Mid-Atlantic Team and the Kodak All-Region Team and the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament Team.

Kirchner, too, is a veteran of international play, having represented the United States on several occasions. In 1977, she played with the U.S. Junior Pan-American Team that toured Mexico City and won the "Cristobal Cup." This summer, Kirchner was named to the 1980 Olympic team which played exhibition games in Switzerland, France and Italy.

Seek matmen coach

Seton Hall University is seeking an assistant wrestling coach to work under Head Coach Al Reinoso. Anyone interested should send his resume to Richie Regan, athletic director.

Football magazines: what they offer fans

By JOE STEIN
Copley News Service

Like a good five-cent cigar, a cheap cup of coffee and a tank of gas which you could buy for a $5 bill and still get change, two-bit football magazines are a thing of the past. Actually, there still are plenty of two-bit football magazines, but they will cost you at least a couple of dollars today.

Some of the worst magazines have a True Confessions quality to them, for they contain little information, substituting shock headlines and hollow features that purportedly offer behind-the-scenes views of football personalities. Cheerleader squads even draw feature attention in at least one of the less-memorable football magazines.

With so many football magazines flooding the newsstands these days, it seems appropriate to provide a closeup of the better ones. Some are published with bettors in mind, others stress individual players and a few try to combine a number of qualities.

Street and Smith's College Football — This old standby, traditionally one of the best college football magazines on the market, has undergone a facelift, with a distinctly different look. The result is a more-attractive, flashier layout, but at a sacrifice: the typeface is harder to read. Also, the college schedules, which include predicted winners, are much more fragmented than usual, taking away some of that appeal. At $1.95, this is still one of the better buys.

Popular Sports College Football Preview — Another $1.95 product, this magazine isn't as comprehensive as S and S, but it offers some specialty items, including forecasts of all-regional teams, a look at top freshmen and a closeup on the "25 best high school players." If you prefer more of a feature approach, Popular Sports might appeal to you.

Game Plan College Football — If you're a betting man, you might be drawn to this rather expensive ($2.95) magazine. Statistically oriented, Game Plan offers its "Stat-Key Rating Table," which supposedly enhances one's ability to pick winners. The write-ups are generally well done. If you have faith in the Stat-Key, it could be a good investment.

Game Plan Pro Football — For another $2.95, you can have Game Plan's National Football League preview, but you probably would be better off spending your money elsewhere. That's about $1 too much for what is a very routine look at the pros. A 1980 "Rookie Draft Analysis" is ludicrous in that seven clubs are assigned "A plus" ratings, five get As, five more get A-minus and one gets a B-plus. That's an unrealistic 18 of 28 teams with B-plus or better draft ratings.

True '80 Pro Football — There's nothing to make this magazine stand out from the pack. The $2 price is no bargain when you consider the cursory evaluations inside. About the only thing True has going for it is the memory of its very prophetic 1979 Super Bowl forecast: Pittsburgh 24, Los Angeles 17. You might recall that the Steelers and Rams did, indeed, meet in the Super Bowl and Pittsburgh held a 24-19 lead until scoring a clinching TD in the waning moments. True sees the Steelers, winning their third straight, this time by a 31-27 count over Philadelphia.

Football Action — Even at $2.95, this would have to be considered a bargain at today's inflated prices. You see, it's a double issue, 292 pages of both college and pro information. The magazine is team-oriented, with little emphasis on individual players. The small-coverage section is more comprehensive than that in any other magazine I have seen this year.

Benefit run for St. Barnabas set for Sunday in Livingston

A 1.5-mile Fun Run and a 6.2-mile distance run for youngsters and adults will be included in Hahne's Northern N. J. Distance Run, Sunday, Sept. 7 at Livingston Mall, Eisenhower Parkway and South Orange Avenue.

The event, which will benefit St. Barnabas Medical Center and the Northern N. J. Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, is being sponsored by Hahne's Department Stores and Carteret Savings and Loan Association.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three male and female finishers in the 6.2 mile contest and to the first ten finishers of the Fun Run. Jogging tee shirts will be available for the first 1,000 registrants.

Pre-registration for the 6.2 mile run is $5 if runners enter by noon on Sept. 5 and $3 for the 1.5 mile run. Post entries which close at 8 a.m., Sept. 7 are $7 for both runs.

Boosters plan open reception

The Jonathan Dayton All-Sports Booster Club will sponsor an open reception Sept. 18 at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cafeteria.

The 8 p.m. affair will feature coffee, cake and a presentation on athletic programs for the upcoming school year. All Dayton students' parents are invited to attend.

The clubs newly elected officers: John McLearn, president; Jim Heulbig, vice president; Elsa Jackson, recording secretary; Suzie Torborg, corresponding secretary, and Howard Clemson will be at the meeting to answer parents' questions. Also attending the meeting will be Peter Falzarano, Dayton athletic director, and the Dayton coaching staff.

Hunter season dates decided

Dates for New Jersey's 1980-81 small game and hunting seasons have been announced by the Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife. The printed summary of hunting laws will be available at license agencies next month.

The division said the dates are pretty much the same as last year with the most notable change being the inauguration of a special three-week permit spring season for wild turkey gobblers next May. In addition, the fall bow season for deer will run a week longer and the small game season will open a week later.

Hunters should consult the summary of hunting laws for exact dates and other details before actually going afield, the division said.

Allen Gross earns trophy at Rutgers

A trophy has been awarded to Allen Gross of Springfield for having achieved championship status in competition at Rutgers University Basketball Camp, New Brunswick. Gross had been chosen before as a Rutgers All-Star. Rutgers provides an accelerated sports program for youngsters to augment basketball skills.

Y signing up players in youth soccer loop

Registration is open for the fall Youth Soccer Association program conducted by the Summit Area YMCA, which also announced a series of free orientation classes for prospective participants in the Y's program of aerobic dance and exercise.

Soccer play will be divided into categories: United, Grade 1, boys and girls; National, Grade 2, boys and girls; American, Grades 3 and 4, boys and girls; Premier, Grades 5, 6, 7, boys and girls; International, Grades 3 and 4, girls only, and Elite, Grades 5, 6, and 7, girls only.

Games will be played, starting in early September, on Sunday afternoons on field in the Berkeley Heights-New Providence-Summit area.

Registration for soccer may be made at the Summit Y or at the Berkeley Heights branch.

The JOY orientation classes will be held at both facilities at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 4, and 9 a.m. the next day. Babysitting service will be available for the morning sessions at both Ys.

Enrollment for the first 12-week JOY sessions will be open Sept. 2. The sessions begin Sept. 8.

More details are available at 273-3330 or 464-8373.

Links tourney deadline set

The deadline for entering the 10th annual Union County Women's Public Links Golf Tournament has been set for 5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 6, at the Oak Ridge-Golf Course, Oak Ridge Road, Clark.

Play will begin Sept. 13 at Oak Ridge under sponsorship of the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation. The tournament is open to women who are 16 or older, reside in the county, qualify as amateurs and are not members of private clubs.

A $3 entry fee must accompany each application. Information is available at 574-0139.

Fall soccer sign-ups set

The Springfield Recreation Department will sponsor a fall soccer program for boys and girls in the first through eighth grades.

First- and second-graders will be offered a program to develop interest and skills at an early age. Children in grades three through five, and six through eight will be placed on organized teams in leagues.

A season of approximately 10 weeks is planned with games to take place on weekends. Sign-ups will be held on Saturday at Florence Gaudineer field from 2 to 4 p.m. The raindate is Sunday. There is a fee of $5.

Information is available from Greg Clarke at 379-4520.

Find sites now for fall hunting

Now is the time to line up places to hunt this fall, the New Jersey Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife suggests.

Hunters who show an interest and maintain contact with farmers and landowners through the year are most likely to be welcomed in the fall, the division said, noting that some hunters visit farmers and landowners during the summer and actually give them a hand with their work.

The division also reminded hunters that they should always request permission to enter private lands, even those not posted.

Union harriers set schedule

Three triangular and three dual meets involving 12 Garden State Athletic Conference foes and three non-conference opponents are scheduled for the Union College cross country team for 1980.

The college resumed cross country as a varsity sport last year after dropping the team for several years. The teams record last year under coach Tim McCracken was 4-6. The team's only home meet is against Essex County College and the U.S. Military Preparatory School on Oct. 16.

Recovery is starting

The existing home sales market appears to be recovering, and bringing with it the appreciation of the median price of homes, says Jack Carlson, executive vice president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors. "Existing home sales in June were at a seasonally-adjusted annual rate of 2,480,000 units," Carlson said, "which is a 57.4 percent gain from May and represents the first increase in sales volume after eight consecutive months of decline." Resale activity in June was 31.5 percent below the level of a year earlier, he said. In June, the dollar volume of sales rose 11.7 percent to a seasonally-adjusted rate of $183.8 billion, he said.

6-month drop cited in job total for area

The New York-Northeastern New Jersey area job total has dropped 49,000 since the start of the national recession in January, according to Samuel M. Ehrenhalt, the Bureau of Labor Statistics' regional commissioner. The areawide employment loss was heavily concentrated in the manufacturing sector: down 43,000 to 1,340,000 in June, seasonally adjusted. There also were declines of 15,000 in contract construction and 11,000 in trade. These decreases were partially offset by increases in the services, government, finance, insurance and real estate sectors. The government rise was attributed to temporary hiring for the 1980 census. Nationally, the seasonally-adjusted January-to-June job loss totalled more than one million. Ehrenhalt pointed out that the areawide drop of 0.7 percent was notably below the 1.2 percent national decline. A 4.6 percent cutback in manufacturing nationwide was higher than the 3.1 percent area decline. Non-manufacturing employment changed little since January, nationally and locally; declines, primarily concentrated in contract construction and trade, were largely offset by increases in other sectors.

The areawide job total, not seasonally adjusted, rose 38,000 between May and June: 7,000 in New York City and 31,000 in the rest of the area. Ehrenhalt said the increases did not meet normal seasonal expectations; on a seasonally-adjusted basis, there was an areawide decline of 14,000 with about half the drop in New York City. The job total for the area was down 12,000 for the year ending in June. Ehrenhalt traced the bulk of the decline to New Jersey, where the number of jobs fell 16,000 with sharp losses in manufacturing and contract construction.

Market funds up

Holdings in money market funds by New Jersey residents jumped by 85 percent in the first six months of this year, an Investment Company Institute spokesman has announced. New Jersey residents now have more than $3½ billion invested, he said. For the United States as a whole, money market fund assets went up from $45.5 billion in the first six months of 1980. "The extraordinary growth of money market funds has introduced an entirely new group of people to investing. These mutual funds have a special appeal to those who want extra income to help offset inflation but have only relatively small amounts," David Silver, president of the institute, said.

Our computerized eye exam assures you of the right prescription

Remember all those "decisions, decisions" you had to make during your last eye test? Well, we now use a new "eye computer" in our office which makes the whole vision test easier, faster, and much more accurate. It was invented to test the NASA astronauts. You simply look into the computer through a small window. Then, it instantly measures your eyes and prints out the calculations of any "visual errors" it finds. This computer data helps us prescribe glasses or contact lenses which will give you the sharpest vision possible. In fact, if you wear contact lenses, we can verify that they are the correct prescription, without even having to remove them. Thus, our "eye computer" makes your exam go smoother. It also makes it very simple to examine little children, hard-of-hearing patients and others who have trouble communicating with the doctor. To schedule your computerized eye exam, please call or visit our office soon. Call today for your appointment.

QUALITY... SERVICE... SELECTION...

Now that the children are back to school, the vacations are over and things are getting back to "normal," lets talk about the home. If you are interested in custom draperies, now is the time to order! As we get further into the season deliveries become slower and choices fewer. If you come into the store we have samples of fabrics and styles that will make "your eyes pop out!!!"

Bring in your approximate window measurements and we will send a man to measure after you place your order. If you prefer a visit from us with samples, call, we'll be happy to come. Remember, we have a store chock full of ready made "special order" draperies that may "fit" your needs. See us soon and remember... our personal service costs you nothing extra.

Music schools join in Linden

The Linden Music Center and the Janet Lemansky and Art Headquarters have merged to establish a creative arts center at 850 N. Wood Ave., Linden. Private music lessons for all instruments and voice levels will be offered at hour and half-hour rates. A full series of workshops and clinics will be available for music, art and theater students. Jazz workshop courses will be offered.

Appliance costs data

Those shopping for a major appliance obviously compare size, features, color and, of course, price. But how about the cost of running the appliance? Since May, yellow Energy Guide labels have been required on seven types of major appliances to tell buyers how energy-efficient each appliance is. Refrigerators, freezers and water heaters have labels which show the average energy cost for the model based on standardized tests. Dish washers and clothes washers give you similar information. "Tips for Energy Savers," which suggests ways to cut energy costs, is available free from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 612H, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.
