Idea of larger classes stirs parent opposition

By PATRICIA GEOGHEGAN
Mountainside parents, concerned with the prospect of larger fourth-grade classes for the 1981-82 school year, voiced their objection to the idea at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday night.

In a lively exchange, a group of 25 parents discussed with the board ramifications of the combining classes in the fourth grade from its present four. Parents said they are concerned that the 1981-82 budget, due in April, will influence the board's decision to group more children together in an effort to cut costs.

Dr. Arthur Williams, board president, assured them the budget is not a direct decision factor in the class groupings, and that the board did not have sufficient material to make a decision yet.

Margaret Kantes, superintendent of schools, told the group that the one factor which would decide the fate of combined fourth-grade classes in 1981 was the class, not the budget.

"It's not budgeting I'm thinking of. I would recommend it if I thought the children needed it. But I was in that third-grade class and I saw the them in action." She repeatedly referred to the class she observed as independent in their learning achievements.

Kantes contended that while the educational effectiveness in the first and second grades relies on the strictly controlled environment of a small group, that rule can't be applied to fourth-grade classes because of the instructional differences between the three levels.

Nancy Rau, a Mountainside parent who serves on the state Commission for Educational Improvement, commended the board on what she called their open-mindedness on the subject, but urged the board to consider the sex balance and personality conflicts which might arise from a larger grouping.

"When you limit the alternatives to two grade levels, you're limiting the alternatives to the child as well," she told the board. "You're playing a numbers game you're not even aware of."

She was told by Kantes that each class is treated as an individual unit, and a group which is not suffering from a two-class grouping in third grade should not be broken down in the fourth.

"I don't go by the number in a class. I go by the make-up, pupil achievement and interaction," Kantes responded.

Although the present fourth-grade class has four groupings, Kantes was quick to explain that that grade had a number of students with learning and other disabilities warranting a small-class situation. She said each class is judged on its own merits and a steadfast rule cannot guide the board throughout each grouping decision. The combining decision is scheduled for April, according to John McDonough, board secretary.

Ironically, small classes are one of the strengths of the district, according to the results of a survey done by Kantes. She spoke with teachers, administrators, parents, students, and other community members on the positive and negative aspects of the district.

The area most in need of improvement, according to the survey, was the curriculum. Kantes told the board and parents in her report. She noted that the consensus was that the present curriculum needs to be updated and coordinated throughout all the grades.

The next weak point cited by the survey were items of administrative decisions—for example, lack of formal opportunity for parent-teacher conferences and grading practices.

Physical improvements included curbing vandalism, additional lighting and provisions for the handicapped.

Strengths included the teachers, parents and administration as well as the quality of instructional material available for the student. An early identification of student needs, diagnostic and prescriptive techniques of instruction and the wide variety of programs and activities were lauded by those questioned.

Borough Bestowers continue their father-to-son tradition

By PATRICIA GEOGHEGAN

There is a very special tradition shared in Mountainside this time of year which proves the true spirit of Christmas is alive and well and living in the hearts of some very special people.

This tradition has been passed down from father to son, neighbor to neighbor for 20 years. More than 10,000 less fortunate children and senior citizens have found out, as a result of this group's efforts, that Christmas morning can be a fond memory shared because people care.

The people who care enough to raise over $70,000 in 20 years for needy organizations are the Mountainside Bestowers. This year, they raised more than $3,000 at the annual Christmas Party Sunday at L'Affaire, according to this year's chairpersons James and Patricia Debbie Jr.

James Debbie Sr. was one of the founding fathers who two decades ago joined with other residents and merchants in an effort to help St. Joseph's Villa in Montvale for orphans and other children usually forgotten during this joyous season.

Together with other Mountainside residents Gene Mitchell, Albert Benninger, George Coughlin and Werner Schon, a party was organized to buy gifts and raise money for the children.

The first year, $750 was raised by auctioning gifts donated by local merchants and businesses, and as the years passed, other citizens joined the cause, including Mayor Thomas Ricciardi.

Sunday carried on the noble tradition as 130 guests who had brought gifts for the children and seniors took part in a lively competition where the highest bid had more than a monetary value.

At the first affair, 16 nuns, one priest and 50 children entertained the guests with Christmas carols. "It was the most beautiful sound you ever heard," said Benninger. He was there then and he was there Sunday, reminiscing about the foundations of the group.

"Back then, I guess times were better," the 73-year-old former council member said in the tinsel- and garland-decorated hall. "People would bring several gifts, and one year we had so many toys that we had to get a tractor-trailer to haul them up to Montvale."

According to Benninger, in the early years, Mountainside families took in a child for a holiday weekend and treated him or her to a taste of what it feels like to have a home for the holidays.

After their first success, the Bestowers made a wishing well for donations and raised $1,000 their second year, which they gave to Children's Specialized Hospital for equipment, Benninger said. Since that time, the organizations to benefit from the Bestowers had grown to 10, including St. Peter's Orphanage, St. Joseph's School for the Blind, Rannels Hospital, Mountainside Public Assistance and Little Sisters of the Poor.

Steve Escoff has played a major role in making Christmas joy a reality for those not blessed with a family or wealth for 14 years with the Bestowers. He sees the group as a community effort.

"The group is a small nucleus of people who embody the personality of the community," he said. "It's a self-perpetuating group of involved residents. In my opinion, in each community you'll find about a handful of people who care enough to give. That's the Bestowers."

Escoff remembers 10 years ago when the group donated all their funds and toys to a town in Pennsylvania which had been almost totally destroyed by a flood. The principal of the school which received gifts, books and equipment from the Bestowers came to thank the group personally, and Escoff said the man's tears of gratitude were a Christmas present he will never forget.

"We try to aim our work at children," he explained. "But we have to establish our priorities of charity, so the most needy ones receive."

The Bestowers begin plans in June, and by September, the different committees are appointed and the real job of finding donors and volunteers begins. The hall is paid for by the $15 per couple ticket price, but the rest of legwork and organizing is up to the Bestowers.

The job of chairman is handed down and while there is no real membership, the ranks grow with each season.

Escoff said he feels there is a little Bestower in all of us. "I think there's some charity in everyone, especially at Christmas," he said Sunday. "And today really spells out the spirit of the community."

Yes, there really is a Christmas spirit, and you can find it in Mountainside.

Students excel on tests

The ninth- and 11th-grade students of the Union County Regional High School District demonstrated a very high level of achievement on the state Minimum Basic Skills Test, a district spokesman has announced. In comparison to the similar school districts, the Regional students' achievement was equal or above in math and reading.

The Reading Test comprises three sections: Word Recognition, Comprehension and Study Skills. Assessment in the Mathematics Test is based on computation, number concepts, measurement geometry and problem solving.

Interpretation of the Minimum Basic Skills Test results was based on a comparison of the Union County Regional District's test results with 50 similar school districts, all assigned to the same District Factor Group "H."

No weaknesses were identified in the reading results of the ninth-grade students. Areas in need of continued reinforcement were: recognition of "antonyms in content," comprehension of "related ideas not in the discussion," and identifying "appropriate reference source."

The ninth-grade students' achievement was excellent in all areas of the test: computation, number concepts, measurement geometry and problem solving.

No weaknesses were identified in the math results. The need for continued reinforcement was noted in addition and subtraction of fractions and in the basic operations involving percentage; rounding off numbers and converting fractions to decimals; metrics; interpreting graphs and charts, and simple interest problem solving.

Student achievement for 11th-graders was excellent in word recognition, reading comprehension and study skills.

No weaknesses were identified in reading skills.

Student achievement for 11th-graders was excellent in three of the four areas of the test and at a very good level in the fourth area. Areas of excellent achievement were computation, number skills and measurement geometry. Problem solving skills were very good.

No area of weakness was identified in the math results. Continued emphasis is needed on additional and subtraction of mixed fractions; rounding off numbers; metrics, and interpreting data in chart and graph form.

Copies of District test results may be seen at the office of the secretary to the Board of Education located at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. Copies of test results pertaining to the individual Regional High School may be seen at the principal's office. Hours of the school office are 8:00 a.m.-4:15 p.m.

How to keep up holiday spirit while Christmas shopping

Educated consumers—persistent shoppers who are unafraid to ask questions, read fine print and compare prices—are the wisest consumers, according to Marion Cramer, who offered hints on "How to Shop Wisely" during a Monday seminar.

Cramer, a member of the Union Township Consumer Affairs Local Assistance (CALA) office, a consumer protection-related organization, said it may be particularly helpful during holiday shopping sprees for consumers to "be a little nosy."

Inquiries at the time of purchase may avoid future complications. Before purchasing an item, Cramer advised consumers to ask about return, exchange and credit policies. State law does not require retailers to display their policies; it is up to the consumer to ask questions, she said.

Shoppers should be aware of signs which are displayed. Some stores do not offer refunds. Other stores may offer a refund up until two weeks after the item is purchased. This may create problems for consumers who shop early in December to avoid the crowds later in the month. Other stores may refund an item after a longer time period, so save all sales slips and receipts.

To avoid these difficulties, Cramer told consumers the importance of where they shop and who they do business with. If possible, shop in a store where previous encounters have proved there will be no difficulty returning or exchanging items, Cramer suggested.

If a salesman refuses to refund or exchange a defective item, be persistent, put all complaints in writing and "go straight to the top," Cramer said.

She explained that salesmen will sometimes take matters into their own hands and make company decisions of which the store owner is unaware. Cramer added that all complaints should be written.

Companies will have no record of verbal complaints, no matter how many times a shopper calls the store. If a complaint has been made by phone, Cramer said, a follow-up letter should be sent to the company, confirming the fact. A photo-copy of the letter should be made for personal records.

Cramer also offered hints for consumers planning home improvements or planning to buy a car.

Any home improvements which will cost over $25 should be contracted. The servicework must itemize such specifics as the name, model and model number of the replaced parts, the date repairs are to begin and end, and all warranties and guarantees.

James Schaefer, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, another guest speaker, explained that a guaranty is less specific than a warranty. A guaranty applies to the function of the entire appliance, while the warranty applies to specific parts.

To avoid confusion, Cramer added that consumers should read the fine print on all appliance cards. When a company offers a five-year warranty on a refrigerator, for example, that usually does not apply to the fan, but only to the compressor and motor. The guarantee of function, however, is usually only 90 days.

When purchasing a car, make sure that all costs and extras—including taxes, registration fees and license plate costs—are itemized and figured into the total price, Cramer said. Once the contract is signed the consumer, by law, does not have to pay for any additional fees requested by the dealer.

Cramer also told consumers to make sure there is a specific delivery date stated on the contract before it is signed. If this statement is not printed on the contract, Cramer advised consumers to write one in: "The automobile will be delivered within six weeks or the deal is canceled and I will automatically receive a total refund."

Cramer and Schaefer were guests of the Union League of Women Voters, who conducted the seminar at the Police Department headquarters on Caldwell Avenue. About 30 persons attended.

A CEREMONY OF FAITH—Seventh-grade students at Our Lady of Lourdes School took part in the annual lighting of the Advent Candle Tuesday morning in the school's church.

Satellite unit plans meeting Tuesday night

The Satellite Chapter of Springfield Hadassah will meet Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Ruth Pinhasovitch of Springfield. The program, "An Evening With Golda Meir," will be presented by Alice Golemba, grandniece of Mrs. Meir. She will read selections from the Broadway play, "Golda." A brief question and answer period will follow. Arrangements were made by Marlene Olarsch, program vice president.

Great Jewish women in history will be acknowledged during a Hanukkah candle-lighting ceremony, including recognition of the birthday of Henrietta Szold, the founder of Hadassah. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

The Satellite group, formed to meet the needs of the younger Jewish women in the Springfield community, is led by Barbara Rubenanko.

Additional information can be obtained by calling Barbara Rubenanko at 467-9549 or Marlene Olarsch at 379-3464.

Ladies' Group slates meeting

The Ladies Evening Group of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield will meet Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the parish house. Bible class will meet at 7:15 p.m. preceding the regular meeting. Dr. Bruce W. Evans will lead the class in the study of the book of Ecclesiastes.

Mrs. George Klein, devotions chairman, will open the meeting with devotions. Mrs. Henry Wright, chairman, will preside over the business portion.

Mrs. Raymond Pierson, program chairman, arranged for Mrs. Florence Degenhart, as guest speaker. Mrs. Degenhart will discuss her work in quilting as a means of evangelism, and some of her quilts will be on display.

The group will sing Christmas carols, and special holiday refreshments will be served by Mrs. Warren Speicher.

Earle-Boyer troth is told

Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Earle of Southern Pines, N. C., formerly of Mountainside, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Stephen Moss Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Boyer Jr. of Westfield.

The bride-elect is a psychology student at Lehigh University.

Her fiancé is an electrical engineering major at Lehigh University.

MR. AND MRS. BOMBARDIER

Nina A. Urban is married in Union church

Nina Ann Urban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milan Urban of Hillside Avenue, Springfield, was married Sunday, Nov. 23, to Loren Bombardier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bombardier of Sonora, Calif.

The Rev. Albert Ursin of Torrington, Conn., officiated at the ceremony in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Union. Gene Rickard of New York City served as soloist and sang "Evergreen." A reception followed at the Club Navaho Manor, Irvington.

The bride was escorted by her father. Nañci Urban served as maid of honor for her sister.

Greg Naham served as best man in proxy for the groom's brother, Mel Bombardier.

Mrs. Bombardier, who was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, attended the University of Akron and Montclair State University.

Her husband was graduated from Salesian High School, Richmond, Calif., and attended California Polytechnic Institute, Pomona, Calif.

The newlyweds reside in Sonora.

Glee Club will perform in Mountainside church

The Westfield Glee Club, under the direction of Edgar L. Wallace, will present its 56th annual winter concert in the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside, Sunday at 4 p.m. and in the First United Presbyterian Church, Westfield, Saturday at 8 p.m.

The Glee Club will sing a variety of Christmas carols including "Angels O'er the Fields," featuring Stanley Ot-

Meeting slated for Hadassah

The Springfield Chapter of Hadassah will meet Thursday, Dec. 18, in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield.

Mildred Seidman, membership vice president, will report on a recent game night, and Dorothea Schwartz, life membership chairman, will discuss the Myrtle Wreath luncheon scheduled Jan. 14, 1981 honoring new members.

The program, under the direction of Shari Dorfman, program vice president, will include the lighting of the Hanukkah candles and entertainment. Refreshments will be served by Evelyn Gingell and her committee.

ton and Frank Richardson as member soloists, and "Do You Hear What I Hear?" in addition to "Ave Maris Stella" and "Hodie Christus Natus Est."

Guest soloists will be the organist of each church, and there will be an ensemble of recorders. James Little, organist of the Mountainside church, will play at the Sunday afternoon concert, and Mrs. Annette White of the Westfield church will play at the Saturday concert. The recorder ensemble will perform at both concerts.

The recorder consortium, which has played together for more than six years, concentrates on church and medieval music. Recordings date from the 10th century and became popular and more developed during the 15th to 17th centuries. Since 1900, recorders have appealed to audiences with their sound and quality. This ensemble, composed of eight players, will play such carols as "Good Christian Men, Rejoice," "Lo, How A Rose" and "O Sanctissima."

Tickets will be available at the Music Staff, Westfield.

LOIS E. DEHLS

RABBI CHARLES KROLOFF

Betrothal told of Lois Dehls to talk Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Allan W. Dehls of Bridgewater, N. H., formerly of Mountainside, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lois Elizabeth, to Paul Lincoln Cornell III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lincoln Cornell Jr. of Washington, Conn.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from the New Hampton School and cum laude from Macalaster College, is studying ceramics at the Sun Valley Center For the Arts and Humanities in Idaho.

Her fiancé, who was graduated from the Loomis-Chaffee School and the Newhouse School of Communications at Syracuse University, is a free-lance photographer in Sun Valley. He will attend the Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, Calif., in the fall.

A June wedding is planned.

Rabbi Charles A. Kroloff, spiritual leader of Temple Emanu-El of Westfield, will be guest speaker Sunday at 10 a.m. in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, when the combined adult education committee presents its second breakfast meeting in the series called "American Jews in Crisis."

Rabbi Kroloff will discuss crises "specifically related to marriage in the lives of American Jews." He is a certified marriage counselor and has taught a course in marriage counseling to rabbinic students at Hebrew Union College, Jewish Institute of Religion, where he also serves on the board of governors, board of alumni overseers and the admissions committee.

The breakfast meetings of the temple are open to the public "at a charge of $2 to help defray costs."

BICYCLE SAFETY—Kathryn J. McKellar, manager of Public Relations and Safety for the New Jersey Automobile Club (AAA), presents the newly designed bicycle safety bookcovers to Alvin Shapiro, principal of the Deertfield Elementary School in Mountainside.

Schools plan holiday music

Holiday music programs will be presented next week at both Beechwood and Deertfield Schools. Primary pupils at Beechwood will be involved in one of two programs, with kindergarten through second-grade students performing at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday, and third- and fourth-graders performing at the same time Thursday. The fourth-grade chorus will participate in both Beechwood programs.

Choral and instrumental music will highlight the evening performance of Deertfield students, at 8:00 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19. Senior citizens are extended a special invitation to attend the concert's dress rehearsal that afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

Fifth-through eighth-grade students at Deertfield will participate. Choral presentations will include a variety of selections for the holiday season. The Deertfield Advanced Band will play a medley of traditional carols, "White Christmas" and "Songs for Hanukah." "The Sights and Sounds of the Holidays" is the theme chosen for the Beechwood concert. Selections range from music with a winter wonderland theme to the closing sound of "Happy Holidays." Orff melodic-percussion instruments played by the children will accompany a traditional English carol and a Swedish dance carol. Other musical choices will salute both Hanukkah and Christmas.

Directors of the concert will be Mountainside music teachers Charles Guinta, Doris Julian and Howard Kravitz.

Harrigan elected head of society

Erin Mary Harrigan of Indian Trail, Mountainside, is among 45 students elected officers of student organizations at Union College, Cranford, in recent elections.

She was elected first vice president of Phi Theta Kappa, the national honorary society for two-year colleges. Harrigan, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is majoring in business.

Stories and crafts at library this month

The Children's Department of the Mountainside Public Library will present several activities for youngsters this month. Children ages 3½ through 5 have been invited to attend a Christmas Story Time next Thursday. No registration is necessary, and children may come to either the 1:30 to 2 p.m. or 3 to 3:30 p.m. session.

Holiday stories and crafts will be offered to children in grades 1 through 5 Monday, Dec. 22, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Christmas stories and the making of quilted ornaments will be featured on that day, and no advance registration is needed.

On Tuesday, Dec. 30, at 1:30 p.m., two movies will be shown in the Emma Weber Meeting Room of the library. "Avalanche" is the exciting story of two boys and their sisters who encounter adventure and danger while on a skiing trip in Austria. "The Tap Dance Kid" is based on Louise Fitzhugh's novel "Nobody's Family is Going to Change," and concerns and conflict between parents' wishes and children's dreams. Boys and girls from first grade and older will be welcomed.

There is no charge or registration.

Parents of children who haven't yet learned how to read are reminded that they can still register their children for the Mother Goose Club. This listening club is designed as an activity for parents and children to do on the home, and it requires no attendance at any library function. Patrons are asked to call or visit the library for details.

Also during the month of December, tating shuttles from the collection of Alice Stronhmeyer will be on display at the Free Public Library of Mountainside.

Stronhmeyer is a member of the Garden State Thimblers and has been collecting shuttles for the past four years. She has acquired many different varieties including sterling silver, tortoise shell, copper, and mother of pearl which was carved in China.

Stronhmeyer has been tating for 25 years, an art she learned from her grandmother. She considers the popular macrame of today to be a take-off on tating, and would be very happy to teach anyone interested in learning this pleasant pastime, which she feels may be a "lost art."

Red Cross appeals for Italy aid

In the wake of the terrible earthquake that has brought death and destruction to Southern Italy, Kenneth Meyers, chairman of the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross, is urgently appealing to everyone to be extra generous this holiday season, and make a donation to help the suffering people of Italy.

As of Nov. 26, 1980, The American Red Cross had provided $27,000, including a $2000 gift from the Youth Fund, to help the victims of the earthquake. The League of Red Cross Societies, located in Geneva, Switzerland, which has released approximately $300,000 for immediate assistance, is coordinating relief efforts, and has already provided funds to

The Italian Red Cross in purchasing medicines, plasma, cots and blankets to the stricken area. The Italian Red Cross, which has set up disaster headquarters in Salerno, has established first aid stations in refugee camps operated by the army, in addition to the operation of water purification stations throughout the devastated area.

Millions of dollars are still needed desperately to assist the estimated 200,000 victims of the disaster. Please send a contribution today to the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter, American Red Cross, 321 Elm St., Westfield, N.J. 07090.

Club plans trip

The Watching Nature Club will be sponsoring a birding trip to Barnegat Inlet Sunday and an Audubon Wildlife Film presentation Monday at Terrill Junior High School in Scotch Plains. Further information is available by calling Lorraine Kennington, publicity chairman at 635-7065.

Students plan drive

The Deertfield Student Council will hold a paper drive from 3 until 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19 and 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Sunday Dec. 20. Contributors are asked to tie their bundles of newspapers. Further information is available by calling the school office at 232-8828.

Selected for team

Two players from Mountainside have been selected to play on Oak Knoll School's basketball team for the coming season.

They are junior Lynn Bunin, returning to the squad this year, and freshman Kim Genkinger.

Trynin finalist

Jennifer Trynin of Mountainside placed among 23 finalists at the College of New Rochelle Annual Poetry Contest.

A student at the Pingry School in Hillsdale, she competed against students from 2,000 high schools in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

EARTHQUAKE-RELIEF DRIVE—State Senator Anthony Russo and Genevieve Pasquale DiVenuto discuss plans for the fund-raising drive being held by the Greater Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross to aid victims of the earthquake in southern Italy.

Russo leading drive for victims of quake

State Senator Anthony Russo of Union Township has been named head of a fund-raising drive being conducted under the auspices of the Greater Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross for victims of the earthquake in southern Italy.

"Our government has been wonderful in its assistance to the victims," Russo said, "and so have the many American individuals who have already sent checks to the Greater Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross."

The chapter has received about $2,000 to date for earthquake relief, he reported. "However, more money is needed and we hope to raise as much as possible to lend further assistance to the thousands of homeless and helpless victims of the earthquake," he added.

Genevieve Pasquale DiVenuto, a Red Cross volunteer, will be co-chairperson of the campaign.

"We are planning to contact friends of Red Cross for contributions," she said. Special events also will be held next month to raise funds, she reported.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution should send a check payable to American Red Cross to 203 W. Jersey St., Elizabeth 07202, with a notation that the money is for the Italian Red Cross, for relief for earthquake victims.

Book Fair at Lourdes

A Christmas book fair will be held at Our Lady of Lourdes Friday from 11:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m., and Sunday after all masses. The book fair will offer all types of children's reading material.

In other school affairs, students from the school were winners in Roselle Catholic's Annual Scholastic Olympics last week. Fred Filler and Ellen Westerman placed second and third, respectively.

Pet as a gift? Be very certain

More than a million puppies and an undetermined number of kittens, hamsters and other living creatures will be given as gifts this Christmas. Since most of the recipients will be children, and many of these pets will be bought on impulse with very little thought given to their necessary care, Bide-A-Wee Home Association urges everyone to consider the pros and cons of giving an animal as a gift very carefully.

First make sure that the animal will be wanted and will be well taken care of for its lifetime. Pets are living creatures; they require a great deal of time and care and not everyone is willing to accept such a responsibility.

You could wrap a photo of the animal or pet accessory (such as a leash or dish) and leaving that under the tree, then bringing the animal home when the excitement has died down.

There's a lot more to keep in mind, not only concerning new pets but also the animal at all times? Does the landlord allow animals? Do members of the household have allergies to animals? All to often a pet is adopted simply because it is "cute"—and then given up because the owner "can't take care of it."

Christmas day is an especially bad time to give a pet to a child. Some children can get carried away by the presence of toys and packages and treat an animal much like a toy. A new pet is a full-time commitment, especially for the first few weeks it's with you. Animals being introduced into a new home require a certain amount of attention and work—Christmas Eve and Day are too hectic for a good adjustment.

Never put ribbons around an animal's neck, or put an animal in a box. Puppies or kittens may suffocate or become entangled in the ribbon.

Stick to your pet's regular diet. Christmas turkey or ham dinner may be a tradition in your home, but feeding the new pet from the table can cause diarrhea.

Christmas trees, ornaments, lights and tinsel are a potential danger to a pet. Cats and kittens like to climb trees and can't resist playing with shiny ornaments. Pups chew on wires and eat tinsel. Plants such as holly, mistletoe and poinsettia contain toxic substances. All these things can ruin a merry Christmas and result in an expensive trip to the veterinarian.

If getting toys for your pet's Christmas stocking, be sure they're safe—not easily chewed and swallowed.

Young animals need a lot of sleep. Don't let them become overtired or they may scratch or bite. If there are children in the household, teach them how to handle pets properly to avoid unnecessary roughness and injuries to both pet and child.

If, after taking everything into consideration, you've decided that a pet for Christmas is the answer—and it will be welcomed and well-cared-for in its new home—by all means give someone you love a present that loves back. Really get into the Christmas spirit and adopt a dog, cat, puppy or kitten.

Think beforehand of all that's involved. Will the new owner be willing to take on the duties of pet ownership—(feeding, housebreaking, walking a dog, changing and cleaning cat litter pans, etc.)? Will there be someone available to care for the animal at all times? Does the landlord allow animals? Do members of the household have allergies to animals? All to often a pet is adopted simply because it is "cute"—and then given up because the owner "can't take care of it."

Selections will be offered such as "Symphony in C Minor," Williams; introduction and wedding march from "The Golden Cockerel," "Prelude in G Minor," Rachmaninoff; "Stampie," Nelhybel; "La Chasseur Maudit," Franck; "The Final Covenant," Fisher Tull; "Tribute to Canterbury," Jacobs; "Prelude, Siciliano and Rondo," Arnold; and "Concertino for Marimba," Paul Creston.

Dr. Charles F. Del Rosso, chairman of the fine arts department, is the music director. Peter T. Boor is associate conductor. Paul Price will be guest conductor, and Walter McAloon, a student, will be a soloist during the program.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 377-4700 ext. 389.

Handel music is featured

The Oratorio Society of New Jersey will present Handel's "Messiah," Part One, in addition to the "Hallelujah" Chorus Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the First Congregational Church of Montclair, 40 South Fullerton Ave. Nixon Bicknell will direct "Messiah."

Members in the audience will be invited to join the "Hallelujah" Chorus. Soloists for the concert will be Sandra Bicknell, soprano; Roxanne Leatheam, mezzo; Edwin Morrison, tenor; and Brian Sunkten, baritone. The concert will be presented free of charge, and a free will offering will be received.

9 POUNDS OF PICKLES

The average American will consume nine pounds of pickles this year, compared with 8.7 pounds in 1978. Twenty-five years ago the average was only two pounds.

SUGAR PLUM SCENE—The New Jersey Ballet Company's production of "The Nutcracker" will be staged at Symphony Hall, Newark, with a cast of more than 100 performers and a full orchestra under the baton of guest conductor David Gilbert. Performances are Dec. 19 at 8:15 p.m., Dec. 20 and 21 at 2:30 and 7:20 p.m. Additional information can be obtained by calling 643-4550.

Exhibits at college

Twenty-eight recent acquisitions to the Kean College art collection, including paintings, drawings, prints, books and ethnic objects, are on display in the college gallery, Vaughn-Eames Hall, Union, now through Friday, Dec. 19.

Artists represented are Joseph Stella, Robert Rauschenberg, James Rosenquist, Winslow Homer, B. J. O. Nordfeldt, Walter Danby Bannard, Lamar Dodd and Werner Drewes.

Zara Cohan, gallery director, has announced that the show will feature a December unveiling of "81 More," a work by New Jersey sculptor, Tony Smith, given to the college on permanent loan.

Yule concert

The Summit Art Center will present the Madrigal Group's annual Christmas concert Sunday at 4 p.m., at 68 Elm St. Daniel Kautzman, musical director, will lead the 13 vocalists with instrumentalists. The public is invited to attend. Donation will be $1.

Johnny Cash in TV special

"Johnny Cash Ridin' the Rails, The Great American Train Story," a television entertainment special, will be aired Tuesday at 8 p.m. on NJPTV Channels 23, 52 and 58.

The "docu-musical" is designed to go back in time with Johnny Cash as he recreates in song and story the high points of the part the railroads played in the building of America from 1830 to the present. He will be accompanied by George Conrad, Steve Michaels and John Sinclair.

Disc & Data

By Milt Hammer

Pick of the LPs—"Anne Murray's Greatest Hits" (Capitol SO-12110).

You must sing to be heard, to rise above Canada's vast lonely horizons, and Anne Murray's voice spans the horizons with a warmth that touches the heart and spirit.

As the first decade of her career ends, Anne has collected 19 American chart hits, two Grammy Awards, two gold singles, one platinum and four gold albums, attracted countless devoted fans from Monte Carlo to Minneapolis and started a family.

Although Anne enjoyed success before becoming a mother, it really wasn't until the birth of her first child that the entire world was able to sing along with the across-the-border hit singles which appear on her new "Greatest Hits" album. "My career never really took off until I got my life together," says Anne.

"Took off" is a mild and modest way of putting it. In 1979, she won the Grammy for "Best Pop Female Vocalist" with the "You Needed Me," triumphing over fellow superstars Donna Summer, Barbra Streisand, Olivia Newton-John and Carly Simon. The same year, she placed only second to Donna Summer in female solo hits. Anne won her first Grammy in 1974 for "Love Song," and in 1978, earned three Grammy nominations: "Best Pop-Vocal Performer, Female," "Record of the Year," and "Best Country Vocal Performer, Female."

Anne Murray was born and raised in the coal mining town of Springhill, Nova Scotia. She was graduated from the University of New Brunswick, taught high school physical education and, while teaching, became a semi-regular on the Halifax television show, "Sing Along Jubilee" (she refused a full time spot because she didn't think there was enough security in show business to give up teaching). She later married her producer, Bill Langstroth, perhaps conceding there just might be some stability in show business after all.

As Elton John has said, "The only two things I know about Canada are hockey and Anne Murray." For Elton and the millions in Annie's Army, the faithful fans who have been warmed by this gift from the Maritimes, Anne gives you her greatest hits—the songs she sings for all of us.

Groups will hold event to aid Jews in Soviet

The Women's Plea for Soviet Jewry, a coalition of Jewish and Christian women's groups, will hold its 10th annual community-wide program Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in Temple B'nai Abraham, 300 East Northfield Rd., Livingston.

The Rev. Nancy E. Forsberg, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Union, chairman of the Church Women United, will be among the guests.

The event will dramatize the "plight of over two million Soviet Jews, who have been deprived of their human rights by the Soviet Union."

Keynote speaker at the press conference-luncheon will be Sister Gloria Coleman, chairman, of the Philadelphia Interreligious Task Force on Soviet Jewry, who was arrested during a recent visit to the Soviet Union. Featured guests will be the Rev. John Radano, chairman, department of religious studies, Seton Hall University and delegate to the Helsinki Accords Review Conference in Madrid, and Mia Schmukler, a Soviet Jewish emigre, recently released from the USSR.

The event will be sponsored by the American Jewish Congress, Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, B'nai B'rith Women, Church Women United, Hadassah, National Council of Jewish Women, Women's American ORT, Women's Division of the Jewish Community Federation of Metropolitan New Jersey and Women's League for Conservative Judaism.

Dance slated for singles

The Fort Lee Chapter of B'nai Zion will sponsor a dance for singles 33 years old and over Saturday evening at the Fort Lee Jewish Center, 1449 Anderson Ave. A catered coffee hour will be featured.

B'nai Zion, a nationwide organization, supports many charities including the B'nai Zion Home For Retarded Children in Israel. Additional information can be obtained by calling 947-1735.

Batim group

The B'nai B'rith Women, Batim Chapter, will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the new meeting hall, National State Bank, 193 Morris Ave., Springfield.

The program will be "Color No. 1" by Thelma Gold and Sandra Criscuolo, representatives. Their subject will be "The Colors of My Life," and they will show how to shop for colors, make-up and interiors of the home. A question and answer period will follow. Refreshments will be served.

Linda A. Harb, Mr. Whitehead wed Sept. 28

Linda Ann Harb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harb of Union, was married Sept. 28 to Michael Edward Whitehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehead of Linden.

The Rev. Jan Knost officiated at the double ring ceremony in the Short Hills Chapel, Short Hills, where a reception followed.

The bride was escorted by her father, Don Westley of Las Vegas, Nev., served as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Robin La Place, cousin of the bride.

James Whitehead served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Anthony Spirito and Gabe La Conte.

Mrs. Whitehead, who was graduated from Union High School, is employed by Dri-Prints Foils, Rahway.

Her husband, who was graduated from Irvington Technical School, is self-employed at M. W. Paving, Roselle.

The newlyweds, who took a honeymoon trip to the Poconos, reside in Roselle.

CORN

Corn doesn't always mean corn. The word is used in some countries to mean the major crop grown in the area. For example, in England, wheat is called corn; in other countries barley and oats are called corn.

CDA to hold annual party

Court Patricia 1254, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold its annual Christmas party Monday at 7:45 p.m. in Bernard Hall, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Prospect Street, Maplewood, following a brief business meeting.

Estelle DeMarco, regent, assisted by the group's officers, will prepare and serve a buffet. The chaplain, the Rev. John T. Browne, OSB, will be a guest. Christmas carolling will be featured. In lieu of exchanging gifts, the members will make contributions toward a charity project.

The court will celebrate its 44th anniversary Monday.

Merit 100's Win Big In Tests.

Low tar/good taste combination scores impressive
3 to 1 victory over leading high tar 100's.

There's a low tar cigarette that's challenging high tar smoking—and winning.

The cigarette: MERIT 100's.

More MERIT Proof

Latest research provides solid evidence that MERIT 100's is a satisfying alternative to high tar smoking.

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT 100's equal to—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT 100's low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT 100's, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and report MERIT 100's is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT 100's is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

UC sets galaxies talk

"Structure and Evolution of Spiral Galaxies" will be discussed at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of Amateur Astronomers Inc. at Union College.

Dr. Philip E. Seiden of the Thomas J. Watson Research Center of IBM in Yorktown Heights, N.Y., will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Seiden has worked with IBM for 20 years, primarily in solid state physics. For the past three years, he has been working in astrophysics. Dr. Seiden has developed a successful computer simulation of conditions for star formation and evolution in the galaxy, which he will discuss in his lecture. An open house will be held in the observatory at 10 p.m. in conjunction with the lecture. In addition to regular meetings on the third Friday of the month in the Campus Center Theatre, which offer talks on astronomical subjects, AAI hosts weekly viewings of the heavens on all other Fridays in the Observatory. All programs are open to the public free of charge.

The twin domed Sperry Observatory houses a 24 inch reflector and a 10 inch refractor telescope. It is the only observatory in New Jersey that is open to the public on a regular basis.

Ala-Call offers help with hotline number

'Tis the season to be jolly, except that during this holiday season, like at all others there will be an increase in sadness, violence and even death.

"Much of this misery will result from the abuse of alcohol," according to Elnor Doyle, director of Ala-Call, New Jersey's state-wide telephone hot line on alcoholism. The toll-free number of Ala-Call, 800-322-5525, may be called at any hour of the day or night for general information on alcohol abuse and specific information on help for problem drinkers.

A big part of the holiday season problem is that people are supposed to be happy, Doyle notes.

"A lonely person looks on the glittering world of the holiday season and sees smiling, happy couples, walking arm in arm, shopping, enjoying themselves. Even on TV, the programs are full of good cheer and happy families."

"The lonely person feels that everyone has someone to love, everyone has friends, except for him. And he can turn to alcohol as a companion."

A person who is unhappy during the holiday season is under more pressure than usual, Doyle notes. "This individual suffers a marked decrease in self-image, because he is supposed to be happy and is not. He may ease the pain with alcohol."

In addition to the psychological impact of the holidays, social and economic realities result in the increased use and abuse of alcohol. "Office parties, cocktail parties, dinners and other social engagements are the norm for this time of year, and most of them involve the use of alcohol," Mrs. Doyle says.

"Of course, the desire to provide all those good gifts to loved ones puts a financial strain on a person. And, if he can't do it, his feelings of inadequacy and failure can be overwhelming."

What is the result of the increased use of alcohol? "Violence, sadness, and even death," she said.

More drunk drivers are on the road, and 50 percent of all fatal automobile accidents involve alcohol.

"Violent behavior attributed to alcohol use accounts for approximately 65 percent of murders, 30 percent of suicides and 60 percent of the cases of child abuse. When alcohol use increases violence increases. Alcohol can turn a jolly season into a nightmare."

Ala-Call provides counseling, information and referral services for people with problems with alcohol—drinkers and their families and friends.

Harlem Boys due tomorrow

The Harlem Boys Choir will perform tomorrow at 8 p.m. in a concert in the Dreyfuss auditorium, Leonard Dreyfuss College building, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Florham-Madison campus. Admission will be $3 for the general public and $1 with an FDU I.D.

The choir is a non-profit group devoted to the full social, educational and musical development of musically-gifted children. It averages four major showcase performances a year, and the repertoire includes works by Bach, Mozart, Menotti, Vaughan Williams and Faure, as well as spirituals, show and popular tunes. The choir also performs compositions written especially for it. Most of the choir's 60 members range in age from seven to 15.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 377-4700 ext 210.

Bikeway plans book published

A 286-page report on "Bikeways in New Jersey—Status of Planning and Development" has been published by the Department of Transportation's Division of Planning & Research.

The first comprehensive inventory of the existing and proposed bikeways throughout the state, and funding mechanisms for bikeways, includes more than 200 pages of maps along with information on the types of bikeways being developed and look at systems in all 21 counties.

The report, prepared in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration, is not for the casual reader or biking enthusiast; it is a technical tool for planners. A bikeway brochure for the general public is being written and will be published in 1981.

Bikeways have become a viable mode of transportation because of the high cost of fuel and the need to conserve gasoline and reduce pollution. The Department has an ambitious bikeway program and has constructed 23 bikeways totalling 50 miles since 1975; another 40 are in the design stage. A NJDOT planner and bicyclist, William Feldman, also has been assigned to the role of Bicycle and Pedestrian Advocate in the planning of transportation projects.

Copies of the report have been distributed to public libraries and bicycle groups for reference.

Chiropractic unit slates meeting

The Chiropractic Society of Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 16 at 9 p.m. at the Ripley Chiropractic Center, 2202 Park Ave., S. Plainfield.

Guest speaker Dr. Robert McCutcheon, president of the New Jersey Chiropractic Society, will discuss state insurance relations.

'Loaded' Clark comes to town

Bulldogs face tough opening matchup

After 17 years of head coaching at Dayton, Ray Yanchus has to be considered a pretty fair judge of high school basketball talent. He's seen plenty of outstanding players in those years, both on Dayton teams and in opposing lineups.

That's why Yanchus must be taken seriously—very seriously, indeed—when he analyzes Johnson Regional, the Bulldogs' opponent in the season opener tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in Springfield.

"Clark is loaded," Yanchus observed, rather matter-of-factly. "They have everybody back from last year, so they really should be a very good team."

Just how good? The Bulldogs will be the first to find out. But Clark's high quality of basketball shouldn't come as a surprise to the Dayton players. They saw plenty of basketball talent in a very competitive pre-season schedule.

"We wanted to get this team exposed to the tough teams," explained Yanchus, who arranged games with Plainfield, Irvington, Kenilworth, Green Brook, Berkeley Heights and Pingry. "Going against the good teams improves your performance."

And that's exactly what has happened. Even though the Bulldogs looked good in the first scrimmage against Plainfield, the defending county champions, Yanchus believes his team has gotten even better.

"We're making some progress," he said. "But we still have to work on the basics, like setting screens, blocking out, passing and playing defense."

The Bulldogs will try to take a crash course in the fundamentals prior to the Clark game. And Yanchus hopes the Bulldogs continue the learning process throughout the season.

Despite losing nine lettermen to graduation, Dayton should be able to piece together a solid starting lineup. Lettermen Larry Walker, a 6-3 senior center, Don Meixner, a 6-1 senior forward, and Tyrone Hayes, a 6-0 senior forward, will probably see plenty of action up front, along with 6-5 senior Jeff Cohen, a 6-3 junior Eric Saline and 6-3 junior Geoff Bradshaw. The Bulldogs will use seniors Alan Berliner, David Geltman and Billy Condon in the backcourt, along with juniors Robert Steir, Larry Maier and Billy Palazzi.

That mixture of good size and plenty of guards will put Dayton in a good running position.

"We always like to run," Yanchus stressed. "But it depends on whether we have the people to do it. And I don't know yet."

"I think we have some guards that can really run, but our big men aren't getting down the floor fast enough. If we don't run, we'll go into a patterned offense, though we will look to run whenever possible."

That's a Dayton trademark, as is tough, hard-nosed basketball. Yanchus doesn't plan to change that either. After all, the Bulldogs will need every ounce of strength to stay with Verona, Caldwell and New Providence, the Suburban Conference's three best teams.

"I think the conference will be a little more even this year," he said. "Summit has lost almost everybody. New Providence will be big and physical, as always, and Caldwell and Verona will be the same way."

The Bulldogs won't get any breathers when they step out of the conference schedule. Games with St. Patrick's, defending state champs Berkeley Heights, Middlesex and Arts are all lined up.

But right now, Yanchus, assistant coach Bill McNeece and the Bulldogs have just one thing in mind, and that's an upset victory over Johnson Regional in the season debut.

"Because we're playing in front of our home fans (8p.m.), I think the players will get a little more juiced up," Yanchus said. "That's one consolation of not being able to match up with Clark all the way down."

But, he added quickly, "we're not conceding anything."

Not against Clark, and not in the rest of the 19-game regular season.

THE SCHEDULE

Dec. 12, Clark, home, 8 p.m.; 16, St. Patrick's, away, 8:00; 19, Bernardsville Regional Tournament, away; 26, Berkeley Heights, away, 8:00; and 27, Tournament Championship-Consolation, 6:30, 8:00.

Jan. 2, West Orange, away, 8:00; 6, Verona, home, 4:00; 9, Summit, home, 8:00; 13, Millburn, away, 4:00; 16, New Providence, home, 8:00; 20, Madison, home, 23, Caldwell, away, 8:00; 27, West Orange, home, 4:00; and 30, Verona, away, 8:00.

Feb. 3, Summit, away, 4:00; 6, Millburn, home, 8:00; 10, New Providence, away, 4:00; 13, Madison, away, 8:00; 17, Caldwell, home, 4:00; 20, Arts, home, 8:00; and 24, Middlesex, home, 7:30.

Team goal: improvement

Clarke to power girls b-ballers

Maybe it was the understatement of the year, or maybe it was simply an obvious observation. But whatever it was, it certainly sounded logical.

"Naturally, this will be a rebuilding year," acknowledged Arthur Krupp, the first-year coach of Dayton's girls' basketball team.

Considering that Dayton suffered through a 1-17 season last year, it appears that the team has nowhere to go but up. And Krupp, who coached Dayton's boys' freshman team for 10 years, couldn't agree more.

"We set three goals for this season," he explained. "First, we want to see improvement individually and on a team basis. Second, we want to have fun and enjoy basketball. And third, we want to improve our won-loss record, and it won't take too much to do that."

No it won't. But it also won't be easy.

Dayton will once again play a difficult schedule, challenging the likes of Westfield, Clark and Union Catholic to open up the season and then moving into a tough Suburban Conference basketball schedule. The teams to beat this season shape up to be Caldwell, Millburn, Summit and New Providence.

"The other four teams will fight it out, and with a few breaks, we could be right in there, too," Krupp said. "It all depends on how Kathy Clarke does. She's the key for us. If she goes well, so will we."

That's a lot of pressure to put on one player, but Krupp believes Clarke, an all-conference player and the team's leading scorer last year, can handle it.

Clarke will probably start at center for Dayton, flanked by junior Linda Graziano and soph Kathy Price at the forwards, and soph Linda Lees and freshman Linda Hockstein at the guards.

Also expected to see plenty of game action are seniors Debbie Brahm and Debbie Baron, juniors Karen Hudgins and Wendy Jullian and soph Monica Preiss.

Krupp has also managed to put a solid junior varsity program together. Along with assistant coach Joe Cozza, Krupp selected nine players to comprise Dayton's jayvee team. Team

Susquehanna tabs Doty new basketball captain

With seven lettermen returning, including last year's top three scorers and top two rebounders, the Susquehanna University men's basketball team is hoping to be a threat in the Middle Atlantic Conference's Northern Division this season.

Coach Don Harnum is missing only two players from his 1979-80 team which went 9-15 overall and 5-8 in league play.

Among the returnees are guard Rod Brooks, the team's most exciting player, and Springfield's Kevin Doty, the team captain.

Brooks paced the Crusaders in scoring with a 17 point per game average and was named to the MAC-North All-Star team and the ECAC's Southern Regional All-Stars. He was also voted the Crusaders' "Best Offensive Player" and "Most Valuable Player" by his teammates.

Doty, a 6-4 junior forward, averaged 13.3 points and 7.8 rebounds per game last year. He played in all 24 games a year ago, leading the Crusaders with 61 percent field goal shooting and 187 rebounds.

When he's not out on the basketball court, Walker, the son of Richard and Arlene Walker of Springfield, can be found studying for a degree in Business Administration, spinning records for WCLH-FM, a local radio station, or taking part in the activities of Wilkes' Black Student Union.

First journey this weekend

Footballers fill wrestling slots

Unlike other sports, wrestling relies on individual performance. That's why Iacono is not stressing a team concept, instead emphasizing individual performance.

"I'm not looking for a team win," he explained, "but hey, if one comes our way we'll take it."

What Iacono would really like to see are top-notch individual efforts.

"Wrestling is not a game like basketball or baseball," he said. "It is a test far from any kind that is found in the classroom. This is because the error in the classroom may be corrected, but the error on the mat could cost the wrestler the match."

Dayton's wrestlers certainly can't afford to make any errors this weekend when they compete against athletes from Governor Livingston, Plainfield, Bridgewater West, Dover, Roselle Park, Bound Brook and Watchung Hills.

Iacono is still trying to get his lineup all set for the tourney, conducting "wrestle-offs" to determine starting varsity and junior varsity lineups.

According to the system, winners wrestle in the varsity matches, while losers move down to the jayvees. But that's not a final situation, as wrestle-offs are conducted throughout the season, giving improved wrestlers a shot at a varsity appearance.

The wrestle-off matches have been very spirited so far. Bill Giordano seems to have nailed down the 101 pound class, while Mike Scudari and Robert Sokohl, both sophomores, are battling it out at 108. Seniors David Cushman and Frank Colatruaglia will wrestle-off at 122, with the winner staying in that class and the loser dropping

Tornado takes local soccer title

The Tornado captured the Springfield Soccer League's Upper Division title last week, nipping the Rowdies, 1-0, on a late goal by Paul Nadzan. The league is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

Both teams had plenty of scoring opportunities in the game, but Tornado goalie Barry Rodberg and Rowdies' keeper Louis Monaco kept the game scoreless until the third quarter. Then, in a classic show of passing, Mark Gross brought the ball down the middle of the field and passed to Ian Scheinmann. Scheinmann made the best pass of the day, sending Nadzan in one-on-one. Nadzan, who had a great scoring chance stopped by Monaco earlier in the game, didn't miss this time, drilling a shot home for the championship game's only goal.

Third place went to the Strikers, who

College picks twin coaches

A head coach is important to any team. How valuable, then, are two head coaches?

The answer in the case of Union College's wrestling team is "very valuable." The College's "twin coaches," Rick Wilson of Elizabeth and Scott Puzia of Hillside, expect their double effort to make a big difference for Union this year.

Puzia was hired along with Wilson as co-head mentor, according to Irwin "Wynn" Phillips of Ocean Township, the College's athletic director.

"My philosophy and Scott's are a perfect blend of experience, hard-work, and determination," said Wilson.

CHAMOIS CARE

Soften up a stiff chamois by soaking it in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added. The chamois will come out soft and clean.

COOK FASTER

A tight-fitting lid on a pan saves water from boiling away and also cooks food faster, thereby using less energy.

Dependent deadline for health plan near

For parents and their 19-year-old children who have health insurance coverage from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, Jan. 31, 1981, is the deadline for dependent children who became 19 in 1980 to apply for separate coverage without having to complete health statements. The coverage will be effective Jan. 1, 1981.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield permit dependents who reach the cutoff date to arrange their own coverage without a health statement; however, a dependent who became 19 in 1980 and misses the application deadline will be required to submit a health statement, which is standard procedure for a regular non-group applicant.

Brochure available on science careers

A free brochure containing information on educational requirements and the employment outlook in the earth sciences now is available.

The new pamphlet entitled "Careers in Geology" describes both physical and historical geology and specialization within each area.

A copy may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The American Association of Petroleum Geologists, P.O. Box 979, Tulsa, Okla., 74101.

"Conversion to separate coverage for the dependent is not automatic," a spokesman said. "We must be notified before we can take any action."

The rule applies to all Blue Cross and Blue Shield community-rated family or parent and child(ren) contracts. Many experience-rated groups of 100 or more subscribers, which purchase programs tailored to their needs, have different cutoff ages for dependent children.

Mentally-retarded or physically-handicapped dependents may remain on a parent's contract after the calendar year in which they become 19 if they are chiefly dependent on parents for support and maintenance.

Dependent children who marry may stay on a parent's contract only until the end of the benefit month of marriage. If a dependent marries before the end of the year of the 19th birthday, notification should be made not later than 90 days after the marriage date.

New consumer booklet details tire care for safety, economy

A new consumer booklet on tire care, with updated tips for better mileage and safety, has been issued by the Tire Industry Safety Council.

The 12-page booklet, entitled "Five Keys To Better Tire Mileage and Safety," stresses five essential areas of tire care. They are proper inflation, regular inspection, good driving habits, replacement in time, and correct alignment and balance.

A free copy of the new pamphlet may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-sized envelope to "Keys," Tire Industry Safety Council, Box 1801, Washington, 20013.

Properly maintained tires can increase gasoline mileage by up to three percent," Lovell said.

NJIT plans competitions in poetry, science fiction

Poetry and science fiction writing competitions for New Jersey students are being sponsored by New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT).

The contests will be judged in four categories: elementary school, junior high school, high school and college. Entries must be postmarked by Feb. 16, 1981; winners will be announced March 31. No payment will be made for works. This will be the fourth year the literary activities will be held by NJIT in conjunction with the New Jersey Writers Conference, scheduled April 25.

Dr. Herman A. Estrin, professor of English, is director of the conference; the program is coordinated by NJIT's Division of Continuing Education.

Participants in the writing competition are invited to attend the conference to broaden their understanding of the writing craft.

BANK EMPLOYEES DONATE DOLLS—The employees of Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co., Summit, have contributed close to 50 costumed dolls to the Salvation Army's Christmas Doll Program this year. The Salvation Army organized the doll program as well as 'Toys for Boys,' which the bank employees also participated in. The donations are distributed to the needy around Christmastime.

Radford Crouse, 46, worked for this paper

A memorial service was conducted Sunday afternoon at Park Funeral Home, Chambersburg, Pa., for Radford L. Crouse, 46, of Roselle, formerly of Elizabeth, Irvington and Shippensburg, Pa. He died Wednesday, Dec. 3, at home.

Mr. Crouse was a copy editor of this newspaper for one and a half years. He joined the newspaper staff in June 1978.

Born in Orbisonia, Pa., Mr. Crouse was brought to Shippensburg as a child. He contracted polio at the age of six, and he spent the next nine years in the Elizabeth Hospital For Crippled Children in Elizabethtown, Pa.

Mr. Crouse was graduated from Shippensburg High School and Dickinson

College, Carlisle, Pa. He became a reporter for the Public Opinion in Chambersburg, then was employed as a sports editor for the Pottstown Mercury in Pennsylvania, and later as a sports editor for the Reading Times in Pennsylvania. He worked as a copy editor for the Morning-Call in Allentown, Pa., before coming to New Jersey.

Mr. Crouse is survived by two daughters, Paula and Renee Crouse, both of Chambersburg; three sisters, Mrs. Miriam Porter of Shippensburg, Mrs. La Verne Jarnett of Chambersburg and Mrs. Edith Jones of Alexandria, Va.; and two brothers, Kenneth Crouse of Greencastle, Pa., and Donald Crouse of Shippensburg.

For the Birds

By Farris Swackhammer

By now, piping plovers have arrived in their winter homes along the Gulf and southern portions of the Atlantic coasts. Most of them departed by the middle of September. Least terns probably left before Labor Day. They have further to go, wintering along the Central and South American shores. Black skimmers lingered nearby until mid-October but they, too, have left to spend the cold weather from South Carolina south along the ocean.

Last summer I walked along a spit of high beach where all three species made their homes. The shallow depressions in the sand can scarcely be called nests, but the eggs are so cryptically marked that they disappear amidst oyster and clam shells and dark pebbles. I tried not to disturb the avian families. However, occasionally I strayed too near, and the birds reacted sharply. Plovers just ran ahead of me, thinking, I suppose, to lead me far from the eggs or young. Least terns hovered overhead, angrily screaming at the intruder below. Black skimmers dove at me some distance away from the nursery. The three shared the area in seeming harmony. The only predators were the gulls and the full moon bringing spring tides.

All three species are under study by the state as their numbers appear to be diminishing. There are several reasons for the decline. More and more land is being filled and utilized for building, restricting nesting sites. As houses move closer, people walk their dogs deeper and deeper into the bird's living area.

Dogs often chase the birds and cause them to abandon their nests. The presence of people picnicking on isolated beaches also disturbs the birds.

Less than 50 pairs of piping plovers were known to nest in Cape May County in the 1979 breeding season. In spite of the fact that most nests originally contained four eggs, only 1.1 to 1.7 young were fledged per family. A more intensive study—of—this species was made during the 1980 summer, but the results are not in yet.

From October 1979 to Sept. 30 1980, Joan Galli of New Jersey Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife's Endangered and Nongame Species Project supervised a study of least tern populations. Twenty-two colonies were monitored by five teams of cooperating field biologists. Fifteen of these colonies were posted in an effort to keep the public from disturbing the nesting birds. An estimated 2,199 adults raised about 675 young on 16 sites.

Galli also watched over a study on black skimmers. These unique birds fared better than the other two species. Although there were only 1,825 nesting adults on 16 sites, 907 young were successfully fledged.

Census slates area job study

A Bureau of the Census survey of employment in this area is scheduled during the work week of Dec. 15, according to William Hill, director of the New York City regional office.

The survey is conducted for the Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the nation. Employment and unemployment statistics, based on results of this survey, are used to provide a continuing measure of the nation's economic health.

In October, for example, the survey indicated that 97.2 million persons in the civilian labor force of 105.2 million were employed; the nation's unemployment rate was 7.6 percent, about the same as in the preceding two months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.
