Kukan is crowned N.J.'s Miss Pre-Teen

Patricia Lynn Kukan, II, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kukan of Raccoon Hollow in Mountainside, will compete for the Miss National Pre-Teen title to be held later this year in Atlanta. She is a student at Our Lady of Lourdes School in the sixth grade.

Kukan, 12, was named Miss New Jersey National Pre-Teen on May 15 at the Somerset County Vocational High School. She was crowned by New Jersey's 1981 Miss Pre-Teen, Jennifer Loper of Cape May.

For her state victory she received a $500 savings bond, a scholarship to Cappa Chell Model Agency in Washington, D.C., the trip to the national finals, a trophy, official banner, tiara and a year's subscription to Co-Ed magazine.

"I'm really excited and can't wait for the nationals," she said.

Kukan, who describes herself as a "good student," says she is not sure but may go onto a career in a science field.

Participating in the nationals will be girls ages 8 through 12 who have been selected by their official state selection committees.

They will be recognized for their scholastic and leadership achievements, poise, personality, stage presence and personal interviews, Joseph Hembrooke, the state director of the competition, said.

The National Teen-Ager Foundation provides cash awards and prizes to the national and state winners, who also will represent businesses and service organizations in parades, openings and other public functions.

Kukan is sponsored in the Pre-Teen tournament by Adidas/Libco of Springfield.

She also is a member of the Fanwood-Scotch Plains YMCA Swim Team and has received academic honors including first place this year and second place last year in the local American History Essay Contest sponsored by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

DOT to seek bids

The state Department of Transportation has set a target date of July to advertise for the first of three excavating and grading contract bids in relation to Interstate Route 78.

The DOT has announced that eight major highway and bridge construction projects in northeast New Jersey will be advertised for bids during the final seven months of 1982. Three of the contracts are for the construction of I-78 in Union County.

All of the Route 78 contracts are for excavating and grading. One extends approximately two miles from west of Glenside Avenue to west of Shunpike Road in Springfield, Summit and Mountainside. This project will be advertised in July.

Another I-78 project is 1.1 miles in length and begins east of Glenside Road and ends west of Glenside Avenue in Berkeley Heights and Summit. The third extends one mile west of McMane Avenue to east of Glenside Road in Berkeley Heights. These two projects will be advertised in August and September.

Blue Stars nip Vikings to win first half crown

The Mountainside Little League crowned its first half champion as the undefeated Blue Stars made it seven in a row at the expense of the Vikings, 11-10. Joe Ventura with a two-run triple and Ian Sharkey with a two-run double paced the Blue Stars, as reliever Jim Barrett came on in the last inning with the tying runs on base and shut off a furious Viking comeback. Mike Sabatino and Peter Rosenbauer each had three hits for the Vikings.

The Mets pounded out two wins during the week to finish tied for second with the Vikings. In their first game the Mets rallied for four late runs to pull out a 9-8 victory over the Braves. Matt Swartz led off the rally with a home run, Pat Attenasio squeezed home Dale Torborg with the tying run and Mark Castelo, who had three hits on the day, drove in the winning run with a triple. John Saraka pitched four strong innings for the Braves and Tom Logio chipped in with two hits.

In the Mets second game, Brandon Rusche scored three runs to pace the Mets to an easy 26-8 decision over the Cubs. Pete Kozubal pitched well for the Mets as Brian Martin chipped in with two hits. Danny Chung had a three run double for the Cubs and Jamie Downey played a smooth game at shortstop.

Alan Gardiner and Grayson Murray combined to pitch a five hitter as the Dodgers pounded the Orioles, 10-2. Frank Tennaro with three hits and Justin Toner and Glen Miske with two each paced the Dodger offense. The Orioles got two hits each from Mike Rinaldo and Joe Crilly and a two-RBI single from Greg Barisonok, good relief pitching from David Blackwell and fine outfielding from George Serio and Romel Sanchez.

The American League Division witnessed a 6-5 Yankee triumph over the Angels with all the runs being scored in the first two innings. Colin Graham sparked the Yankees with a two run triple and fine fielding at shortstop and combined with second baseman Eric Dowdle on a double play. Peter Gitrich came on in relief to record the win. The Angels were led by the hitting of Jimmy Alder and Eric Williams and Becky Bell and strong relief pitching by Chris Chiavarelli.

The Pony League continued its intertown play with Springfield, and the Mountainside Colts came away a winner, 10-5, over the Springfield Rotary. Todd Richter went the route for the Colts and was strongly supported at the bat by Kevin Everly with four hits. Joe Grande with three hits and Bill Quandt with two hits. Catcher Larry Basnals of the Rotarians stroked a long home run and played a strong game in the field, and Robert Fusco chipped in with two hits.

The Mustangs moved back into contention with a double-header victory over the Mavericks. In the first game Kevin Rodgers, Todd Lischin and Frank Antonacci came through with the timely hits in sparking the Mustangs to a 13-4 win. Mark Walters was overwhelming in his two-inning relief stint. Chris Ventura and Louis Federico were the hitting stars for the Mavericks and Jim Clifford played a solid game at third base.

In the night cap, Shane Connell struck out 11 and hurled the Mustangs to a 10-2 triumph. Connell also had two hits as did Greg Torborg and Russ Picut, with David Dietz contributing several nice plays in the field. Pat Danielle had a spectacular day at second base for the Mavericks and Louis Caiola supplied the bulk of the Maverick punch.

Iroquois hold top spot in rec softball league

In the Mountainside Recreation Softball League, Junior Division, The Iroquois edged out four other teams in a five-way tie for first place in the first half of league play.

The Blackhawks, Mohawks, Shawnees and Comanches, along with the Iroquois, finished with records of three wins and two losses. Last place was awarded to the Apaches.

The Iroquois were led offensively by Chris Piscitelli, who homered eight times and drove in many runs. Andrea Wood and Joanne Esemplare hit well to put their team in first place.

The Apaches were working defensively behind the good pitching of Jennifer Price and Dawn Ray. They got a lot of offensive help from the strong hitting of Becky Zirkel and Maria Buckley.

The Blackhawks were led by Pitcher Tracey Everly, who also was outstanding with the bat. Robin Mishkin and Marianne Lopapa also were strong hitters, along with Jennifer Johnson, who hit her first home run of the season.

The Comanches ended with a winning record, thanks to the superb pitching of Dana Fisher, who led the league in strikeouts. Hitting for the Comanches was led by Fisher, Christine Castelo and Debbie Montmarno, while their fielding was strong, too.

The Mohawks were led in their season by the hitting of Lauren Venes. Lisa Quandt and Ellen Rappaport. The power was supplied by Harrison, Kukan and Sandra Trano, along with consistent hitting by the team as a whole.

The season continues with the second half of play, after which the first- and second-half winners square off in a playoff.

Blood Center is presenting exhibit of art

Treccaricche's works are done in oil, acrylic or watercolor, and focus on a variety of scenes or objects, ranging from landscapes and from studies of people to studies of flowers. She is a cum laude graduate of Seton Hall University, where she majored in art history, and is a New Jersey certified art teacher, having received her certification from Montclair State College.

Her work has been exhibited throughout New Jersey, and she has won a number of awards. Her most recent award was won at the 1981 Fourth of July Art Show in Maplewood, where she won second prize for her oil painting. Her works are also currently on display at The Hello Dolly, in Riverside Square Mall, Paramus.

Her work can be seen at the Blood Center's headquarters, 45 South Grove St., East Orange, during the center's regularly scheduled hours on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.; and Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. All exhibits are free to the public.

NJIT gym instructor is ex-beauty queen

When students at New Jersey Institute of Technology signed up for gym classes last fall, they figured that the Sindet listed as an instructor was just another new guy.

But when they reported to the gym, they discovered that the instructor was Sharon Sindet, a 28-year-old former beauty queen.

"The girls in the class were glad to have someone of their own sex to relate to," said Sindet, who was a finalist in the Miss USA contest of 1973 and also Miss Middlesex County Junior Miss of 1971. "The boys seemed to think it was pretty good, too."

As the institute's first female member of the physical education department, she has had no problems with either the male or female students and never has to raise her voice or blow a whistle.

"They tell me I'm always smiling. I do have a lot of fun with them," she said, adding that she often gets on the courts to fill in with teams and participate in all the sports she teaches. She now wears a cast on her right wrist and thumb, a reminder of her enthusiasm for volleyball.

However, the summer she spent doing biophysical profiles of the New York Rangers was a different story. She found that working with professionals was not very gratifying for her.

"The situation here is quite the reverse," she said, explaining that by working with amateurs as individuals she can see rewards in a very short time.

Sindet came to NJIT last fall as supervisor of women's activities and to teach specific electives such as women's volleyball, yoga, slimnastics, gymnastics and aerobic dance. While all her classes, with the exception of women's volleyball, are coeducational, she believes that her presence is giving the institute's 660 women students a greater choice of electives and extracurricular activities.

In addition to her classes, Sindet coaches the school's first cheerleading team. Last semester there were 13 women who, in addition to their schedules as engineering students, led cheers at three basketball games a week and also practiced four hours weekly. She is now opening cheering to both males and females for both soccer and basketball.

She is also coach for women's team sports, although she does not think it feasible to field a women's varsity team for at least two years. The women's softball and tennis teams she works with are primarily recreational rather than competitive.

Sindet sees physical education as a real necessity in a university. She calls it a great way to relieve stress and tension from heavy study schedules, and also teaches physical fitness as a means of "getting ahead."

"These students know that many big business deals are made on the golf courses and on the tennis and racquetball courts," she said. "I want to help them excel in personal sports, too."

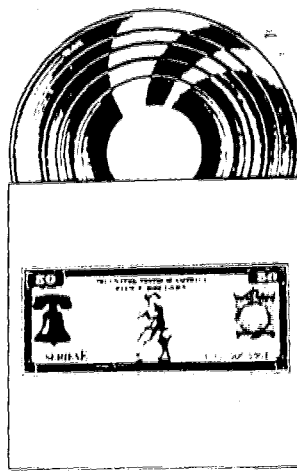

Since the atmosphere of the gym is more relaxed than that of the classroom, Sindet tends to serve as a friend and counselor to her students. A broken romance, a poor test grade, a damaged self-image are often soothed by her advice.

Free Sterling Interest Checking ... it gives you so much for so little.

You're busy; you work hard; you know you need a checking account, but you can't be bothered looking for a good one; anyway, you think they're all alike.

But you're very wrong.

For instance, many banks still have conventional checking accounts that don't pay interest. Perhaps most regrettably, many require that customers keep $1,000 or as much as $2,000 in their checking accounts in order to earn any interest and avoid service charges.

None of these instances could be further from Investors Savings' business philosophy.

With Sterling Interest Checking you can have a free checking account, one that pays a full 5 1/4% per annum, with only a $50 monthly minimum; and that very same $50 is all it takes to avoid service charges. It's just that simple.

Exceptional? We think it is. And we think that no matter how busy you are, you have better things to do with your money than spend it on a high priced checking account.

Investors Savings' Sterling Interest Checking... because you deserve the best.

Invest with the best.

Folk festival at Echo Lake Park to launch summer arts program

The Summer Arts Festival opens its 1982 calendar with the Third Annual Folk Festival in Echo Lake Park, Westfield, on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation, the folk festival features Gary Struncius with Debbie Lawton, Frosty Morning, McDermott's Handy and Elaine Silver. The rain date is Thursday. If it rains on this day, the concert moves to the Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside.

This is the third year Struncius has entertained and helped coordinate the folk music program. He sings contemporary and traditional folk music and accompanies himself on guitar, Appalachian dulcimer and mouth bow. Lawton sings harmony and plays the spoons.

Frosty Morning is an "old-timey string band" which plays old time tunes. A trio, McDermott's Handy presents a multifaceted Irish-influenced program with renditions of reels, jigs, hornpipers, folk songs, ballads and dance music. Also starring at this evening's concert is Elaine Silver, who is nationally known on the coffeehouse circuit. She sings songs by legendary performers such as Bessie Smith and Billie Holiday as well as by contemporary artists.

A free weekly concert series, the Summer Arts Festival continues each Wednesday evening in Echo Lake Park

CPR course to focus on saving children

If you've ever wondered how you could prevent a child from choking to death, or help save a life if a child's heart stopped beating, Overlook Hospital's new Little Heart Saver course will provide those answers.

The one-session course, to be held on June 16 from 7 to 10:30 p.m., is an offshoot of the adult Cardiopulmonary (CPR) Resuscitation courses.

According to Jeanne True, CPR coordinator: "We've been running the adult course successfully for many years. However, we felt a need to develop a course geared specifically toward saving the lives of children, because the skills that must be learned are different than those used for an adult." The course will be taught by certified American Heart Association instructors. Participants will have a chance to practice skills on electronic infant manikins to simulate real-life situations.

Other CPR programs to be offered in June will include a four-part Basic Cardiac Life Support Certification Course for the general public, and a two-part course for physicians only.

Participants will learn one- and two-man CPR, infant and child CPR and

More graduates plan to work right after commencement

Reflecting the poor state of the economy, more Union College graduates than in past years plan to go to work immediately after commencement exercises on June 3.

A survey of the 404 candidates for associate degrees indicates that a larger percentage of those planning to transfer to four-year colleges and universities will attend lower tuition public institutions and more of them will attend New Jersey colleges and universities.

"Many more of the graduates this year are unsure of their future plans," Violet Wilmore of Roselle, transfer counselor, said. "The state of the economy, and the uncertain student aid situation, seem to be factors in the graduates' indecision."

Union College is a two-year community college whose graduates receive the associate in arts, associate in science and associate in applied science degree.

The college transfers about 80 percent of its graduates to four-year colleges and universities, with advanced standing.

Wilmore said the public institutions in New Jersey are attracting more Union college graduates than in the past. There is in particular increased interest in various units of Rutgers—the state University and in the state colleges.

Keane College continues to attract the largest percentage of Union College's graduates, Wilmore said, while the various units of Rutgers attract the second largest group.

"There is a decided decrease this year in the number of graduates headed to the independent colleges and universities, both in New Jersey and out-of-state," Wilmore said. "And there seems to be considerably less interest this year in out-of-state institutions, both public and independent."

Union College graduates also will

Group cites importance of posture to health

Correct posture is one of the keys to physical and mental accomplishment. Dr. Richard Eden, treasurer of the Union, Middlesex and Somerset Chiropractic Society, said in a statement calling attention to May as National Correct Posture Month.

A series of events and public education campaigns, sponsored by the U.M.S. Chiropractic Society in cooperation with the American Chiropractic Association, will take place during the month to emphasize the importance of posture to health.

Eden said: "The objective of correct posture month is to direct the attention of the public to the role of an awareness of posture as something that does more than just make you look better."

Eden pointed out that in addition to the appearance advantages of the body's being erect, good posture helps the individual do his job better, gives him more energy, creates greater physical efficiency and aids in maintaining good health.

"Posture habits are developed at an early age. As a result, there are many children who have diminished chest cavities and breathe improperly. We have to bring public attention to the need for spinal examinations, so these cases can be found and corrected before they progress to more serious stages," Eden said.

TIMING AND TOOTHBRUSHING

Does toothbrushing prevent tooth decay? One has to wonder because tooth decay is widespread despite the increased sale of toothbrushes and dentifrices.

There are reasons for this. The most effective. Acid formation on the tooth surface begins within moments after sugar has entered into the secluded areas and reaches a maximum in 15 to 30 minutes. This is why the toothbrush should be used immediately after eating if it is going to exert its greatest effect in disrupting acid formation. Brushing teeth after getting up or before going to bed has a beneficial cosmetic effect and a stimulating action on the gum tissue, but is not of much help in controlling tooth decay.

If the teeth cannot be brushed promptly after meals or snacks that have a high sugar content, brush the teeth thoroughly fermentable sugar from the sheltered areas before the acid attack takes place.

At long last, Union County would have its own community college under a bill I have introduced in the Legislature.

The legislation would merge Union College, a private school, with Union County Technical Institute, a public institution, to create one of the largest county colleges in the state.

The merger would provide the residents of Union County with a comprehensive two-year public college offering 39 different programs. The new college would operate a 45-acre campus in Cranford, a 42-acre campus in Scotch Plains and an urban Educational Center in Elizabeth, making it easily accessible to residents from throughout the county.

I share state Chancellor of Higher Education T. Edward Hollander's belief that the new college has the potential of becoming "a public county college of local, state and national stature."

The Union County delegation in the Legislature supports the merger, along with the state Department of Higher Education, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the two schools involved.

The merger is needed to improve educational services by cutting administrative costs and eliminating duplicate programs at the two colleges.

Since 1969, the county has had a Union County Coordinating Council Agency for Higher Education that contracted with Union College and the Union County Technical Institute to provide education services.

Union County Technical Institute faced serious financial problems as a result of a state audit that found the school failed to properly report enrollments and was actually receiving state higher education funds for students who were enrolled in the county's vocational center, a secondary school.

The state ordered the institute to pay back close to $2 million in higher education funds it had received over the past years.

The merger I propose would wipe out that debt to the state, sparing the taxpayers of Union County the burden of paying for the mistake.

And my bill should save the taxpayers money in the long run by reducing administrative costs.

At the same time, the merger should provide residents more varied and better quality higher education.

I am confident that the Legislature will act swiftly to pass my bill and Governor Kean will sign it into law so by this fall Union County will have a county college to call its own.

What's H.R. 5132?

Few if any New Jerseyans know much less care that this obscure bill before Congress would rename a lock and dam on the Alabama River.

However, ask about H.R. 5138 and it's a different story. There's a good chance that many New Jerseyans not only can identify the bill as the 1982 Telecommunications Act but also know something about its contents.

This measure, which relates to the government-ordered reorganization of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, has provoked more comment in the state than any other piece of legislation taken up so far during this session of Congress.

Since the recent approval of the measure by the House Energy and Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Telecommunications, I have been deluged with hundreds of telephone calls and more than 12,000 letters commenting on the subcommittee action. Virtually all of those who have contacted me complained that the bill is unfair to AT&T, its workers and shareholders.

As a senior Republican member of the subcommittee who labored over the bill, I understand and share this concern. During the subcommittee's consideration of the bill, I helped to eliminate many of the discriminatory and anti-competitive elements. However, many remain and as the bill goes through the legislative process further improvements must be made to protect the interests of the telephone company workers and shareholders as well as those of the rate payers. I intend to press for these modifications when the bill is taken up later this month or in June by the full Energy and Commerce Committee.

Before discussing the amendments I will be offering, a brief look at the genesis of the bill is revealing. First, Congress has been working for at least six years on revising the Communications Act of 1934. It has been outdated by the enormous technological advancements in the telecommunications industry. In an effort to address some of the emerging issues in the field, Rep. Timothy Wirth (D-Colo.), chairman of the telecommunications subcommittee, offered comprehensive legislation last December substantially rewriting the act.

This was a month before the Justice Department announced the proposed settlement of its antitrust suit against AT&T. That agreement, which is aimed at promoting competition in the communications industry and is now before the U.S. District Court in Washington, requires AT&T to divest itself of the 22 local telephone companies, including New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. AT&T would retain Bell Laboratories, as well as its manufacturing arm, the Western Electric Company, and the entire intercity long-distance telephone network.

Following announcement of the antitrust suit settlement, most of the subcommittee members insisted on moving ahead with Wirth's bill. They were mainly concerned that the settlement would lead to sharp increases in local telephone rates and would turn the divested local telephone companies into financially ailing "Penn Centrals." In pushing for changes in the Wirth bill, my goal was to protect employee wage, pension, and collective bargaining rights, none of which were mentioned in the settlement, and to fight against any backup of the Bell system beyond the terms of the settlement.

During the subcommittee proceedings, I helped to scrap the equipment procurement quotas that would have been imposed on AT&T and the local telephone companies. I further helped to eliminate a provision placing tight restrictions on communications between AT&T employees and those working for the new Long Lines subsidiary that would be set up under the bill.

Other revisions included the lifting of prohibitions on AT&T and Long Lines cooperating in international joint ventures and the streamlining of regulatory procedures to protect Long Lines against protracted regulatory delays caused by competitors. These changes disposed of unfair, discriminatory restrictions that would not have helped telephone users.

The most important revision was the elimination by my amendment of a provision requiring 10 percent outside ownership in the Long Lines subsidiary. Had my amendment been rejected, the legislation would have gone far beyond the Justice Department agreement and amounted to an additional divestiture of AT&T.

In opposing the original bill, I and other members voted to release revised measures in exchange for a number of significant improvements. While we did not secure all the modifications that we had sought, we will be working to get a majority of the full committee to support our position in producing an acceptable bill.

Mealtime has varied significance

By MICHAEL LEWIN, M.D.

(Dr. Lewis is professor of pediatrics and director of the Institute for the Study of Exceptional Children at Rutgers Medical School of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey).

Since biblical times, gathering to break bread has been an important function in most cultures and religions. Whether the food is shared by lovers, colleagues or heads of state, it is an intimate act.

In today's dual-income society, often marked by a lack of cohesiveness, dinner is often the only activity the family does regularly and together. In order to probe this situation, a videotape study of 50 Central New Jersey families was undertaken by me and some colleagues. The subjects included families from a cross section of socio-economic groups—rich and poor alike—consisting of two parents and from one to four children.

Among our observations and findings:

(1) Eating is one of the least significant things that happens at the dinner table. The amount of learning that is gained through dinner table discussions also seems minimal.

(2) As the number of children around the table increases, the level of communication between the parents decreases.

(3) Fathers talk more to their sons than to their daughters.

(4) Mothers talk to fathers more than fathers talk to mothers.

(5) Middle children are often ignored by both parents.

(6) Despite the increase in women who work outside the home, it's still the mothers who prepare and serve the meal in most households.

(7) Children seek more information from their mothers than from their fathers.

(8) Dessert is often used as a bribe to get children to eat other foods.

They didn't tire on the journey of long lives

By CY BRICKFIELD

One was a Pulitzer Prize-winning poet; the other owned a large floral business. Their deaths, within a day of each other, came as a surprise, for, even at the ages of 89 and 111, respectively, it was expected that they would go on forever.

Archibald MacLeish was one of the foremost American poets of the twentieth century. The winner of two Pulitzers for poetry and one for drama, MacLeish sandwiched his literary career in between long periods of government service, including stints as assistant Secretary of State and Librarian of Congress. After retiring from the faculty of Harvard College in 1963, at the age of 70, MacLeish spent his next two decades writing.

Zachariah Blackstone, the founder of Blackstone Florists, Inc., brought the same vigor to the arena of commerce that MacLeish brought to the world of literature and government. Starting with $10 in 1898, Blackstone built up his floral business to the status of a Washington institution. He worked seven days a week right up until his retirement in 1976 at the age of 105. At the same time, he pursued a strenuous physical exercise schedule, including jogging, that made it possible for him to compete in a golf tournament at the age of 100.

Certainly the vitality that marked MacLeish's and Blackstone's old age, if not their longevity, is a result of the fact that neither ever retired in the sense that many people think of retirement. MacLeish, for instance, never stopped writing, using it, as he got older, as a forum for studying and pondering old age itself. Writing in the Boston Globe in 1973, MacLeish called old age "the farthest human journey, the journey toward the meaning of our lives." It was a journey that he pursued with vigor and enthusiasm.

Blackstone, even after he gave up coming down to his main store every day, remained in daily contact with the firm until his death. Neither ever really stopped working.

Until recently, theirs was not the popular choice. For the past 40 years or so, retirement was viewed as the reward at the end of the road. It was assumed that only a small number of people wanted to keep working after they reached the magic cut-off 65. Just as well, really, because even fewer were allowed to keep on working because of mandatory retirement provisions.

In the past five years, however, opinions have begun to change. Recent surveys indicate that more and more people are planning to delay their retirement beyond the age of 70. Part of the reasoning, of course, is financial. As inflation eats away at pension benefits, it is becoming more and more difficult for today's retirees to maintain a standard of living that is even close to the one they had before they retired. But there is more to it than that. Whether it is with a career or a lifelong interest, older people are beginning to recognize the benefits of remaining active and involved.

Mental Health

The mind works on many levels

This column is from The Carrier Foundation, a psychiatric facility. Inquiries should be addressed to The Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, N.J. 08502.

Has this ever happened to you? You pull into your driveway, coming home from work or shopping, and you suddenly realize that for the last five or ten minutes you haven't been aware of your driving, of the stopping and starting in response to traffic signals, of all the maneuvers you must have had to execute in order to get safely home through the rush-hour traffic.

Where were you all this time? Napping? Certainly not, for if you had been really napping, you would probably never have gotten home. Dreaming? Well, sort of. Your mind may have been "off somewhere" working out a problem. Whatever it was you were doing, your conscious mind was certainly not on your driving. But if your "mind" was not, then what was? For there was certainly something in operation which was taking care of the complexities of driving.

The answer is that people do not operate at just one level of consciousness, but at several. While one part of your mind was occupied with your problems, investments and the pedestrians, another was feeding this information into a neural "computer" in your brain, which in turn directed your hands and feet to respond with the correct driving and steering responses. One state of consciousness was not cognizant of the other state of consciousness taking care of the driving, but it was obviously there.

Take another example: when you're in bed, sleeping, you are unconscious of the location of the edge of the bed, but you do not roll over and fall out, even though you move about many times at night. A fire engine roars by, sirens screaming, but you don't "hear" it (because it isn't very important). The baby whimpers in the next room, and you're out of bed with a bound. While you were asleep, some mental mechanism is "awake," monitoring these outside signals and responding to them.

Today, scientists exploring the mysteries of the mind no longer speak of "conscious" and "unconscious," but rather about different states of consciousness. We are just beginning to investigate these phenomena and do not yet understand them completely. Some of these puzzling and fascinating levels of awareness may have something to do with the structural and functional arrangement of the brain.

It may very well be that when we shift out of a state of consciousness dealing with reality and the immediate environment, and into a state of reverie, fantasy, or meditation, we are shifting control from the left lobe of the brain to the right lobe. It may also be that such people as engineers, technical scientists and mathematicians have easier access to the left half, while such people as musicians, artists and "dreamers" have easier access to the right half.

Speculating further, we would say that people whose nervous system is so arranged as to allow them to switch control easily from one side of the brain to the other have a decided advantage. Not only do they have easier access to and enjoyment of a wider variety of experiences, they can also shift easily, when they need to, from the demanding difficulties and tensions of life into a nap, a day-dream, a fantasy, or a state of meditation. We used to refer to this phenomenon as "escaping" and indeed, it is just that. These alternate states of consciousness, those in which we daydream or fantasize or meditate, are related in their function to sleep, during which our system recuperates physically and mentally from the wear and tear of the waking hours. If we could not sleep, we would not survive. By the same token, coping with life is more difficult for those who are unable, during the waking hours, to slip out of the state of practical consciousness, into a state of musing or fantasy, or even, briefly, into a state of sleep.

Those who cannot make this shift easily, are compelled to remain in a continuous state of tension from which it is difficult to escape, even momentarily. The need to escape is so great that they may resort to sleeping pills, tranquilizers, alcohol or narcotics. Such people are probably more susceptible to developing psychiatric symptoms, or an alcohol or drug dependency, the dangers of which are too well known to require further elaboration here.

For therapeutic purposes, we try to help people develop the ability to drift off into another state of consciousness where they can relax, daydream, and ease off from the internal tensions and stresses to which they are subject. We do this through a variety of methods designed to reduce anxiety, and/or to induce relaxation. There are many such techniques that may be easily learned with the help of trained mental health professionals. Readers wishing further information about these techniques and where this kind of help is available may write to me at the Carrier Foundation.

Discount house offers no advice

By JUDITH RHOADES

Q. What is the difference between a regular brokerage house and one which says it's a discount house? Their commission schedule seems to be a lot less and I was thinking it would be cheaper for me to use a discount house. — F.W., Napa, Calif.

A. One basic difference between a discount firm and the normal brokerage house is that a discount firm offers you no advice or suggestions for trading or investing. They will not provide research or other services available at the regular brokerage house.

On the other hand, if you're a novice and need to have questions answered or have special problems, you'll be better served by the normal kind of brokerage firm.

Many of the discount houses are offering interest paid on a monthly basis where there is a minimum balance awaiting re-investment. You can receive account information such as your current securities position, buying power (if you have a margin account). You may also have your securities held by the firm even if you don't have a margin account.

If you do use a discount house, make certain that your account is insured by the Securities Investment Protection Corp.

Q. It seems to me that becoming a certified financial planner might be a good profession. How would I go about becoming one? — N.B., New York, N.Y.

A. The best way for you to become a financial planner is to take courses through a school which offers financial planning.

One of the better ones known throughout the United States is the College for Financial Planning in Denver, Colo. Most of the course is done through self-study, which will enable you to keep your present job while going through the course. Each student is provided text books and study guides containing weekly assignments. You can also take courses through study groups organized by adjunct faculty, adult education classes through a local college or university, International Association of Financial Planners study groups or in-house study groups offered to employees by some firms in the financial services industry.

The courses take a minimum of 18 to 24 months to complete and include a rigorous series of examinations.

The curriculum includes courses in the introduction to financial planning, risk management, investments, tax planning and management and retirement and estate planning.

Remember that a financial planner cannot perform the services of an attorney or accountant, but sometimes can obviate the necessity of calling one in.

The best kind of financial planner is one that looks at the entire financial picture and not just one aspect. I have had a brochure from the school sent to you under separate cover. Good luck.

Any other of my readers who might be interested in this type of program can write to the college of Financial Planning, 9725 E. Hampden Ave., Suite 200, Denver, Colorado 80231 or call 303-755-7101 during regular business hours.

Training center sets sky-dive exposition

The Naval Air Technical Training Center (NATTC) Parachute Demonstration Team will perform sky dives at Navy's Lakehurst Air Expo '82 on Saturday and Sunday.

The show is sponsored annually by the Naval Air Engineering Center (NAEC), Lakehurst.

The parachutists, assigned to Lakehurst-based NATTC, the Navy's only basic training jump school, are under the command of Capt. Russell G. Lambert.

The nine instructors have logged up to 1,300 jumps individually and all hold a Class D Expert U.S. parachutist rating. It is the highest rating a parachutist can hold and is mandatory in order to perform in airshows such as Air Expo '82.

Included in the show is the "Tortoise and the Hare," which demonstrates, through different sky-diving positions, how speed is determined. Falling speed varies — from 90 miles an hour in a horizontal position to 120 miles an hour in a vertical position.

A flare pistol is shot out of the plane three to five seconds prior to a fall to alert spectators, and in performing their plunges through space, the parachutists use color smoke to mark their descent. The jumps, which are made from a C-1 Alpha airplane, are usually performed from an altitude of 7500-8500 feet and last for approximately thirty-seven seconds.

The NATTC sky-divers use the square-shaped parachute, which is less cumbersome than the more familiar round parachute.

Capt. Robert M. ALL THE WAY HOME—Rosalyn Jacobs, R.N., B.S.N., of Livingston, director of home health services at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, confers with Geraldine Kuberk of Bayonne, a burn patient, about home care needs. The department provides transportation, nursing services, therapies and equipment to bridge the gap between the medical center and the home.

Health care offered to patients at home

Home. The word connotes a congenial environment for some, but for many hospital patients the anticipation of discharge is fraught with anxiety and tension. They fear the red tape of obtaining a wheelchair, a hospital bed or crutches. They worry about changing the dressings or following dietary instructions. They wonder, "How will I get along?"

Continuity of care from Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston to the home—transportation, nursing services, physical or occupational therapy, social work or equipment—is the function of home health services, under the direction of E. Rosalyn Jacobs, R.N., B.S.N.

Many people are secure in the hospital setting, but when they go home they "fall apart," Jacobs said. "Frequently, the instructions these patients receive in the hospital, such as those given to the mother of a premature baby, a newly-diagnosed diabetic or a burn victim, need reinforcement. With a physician's approval and instructions, a visiting nurse insures that what has been taught is understood and carried out."

The three registered nurses of home health services meet weekly with each head nurse at Saint Barnabas to identify all patients in need of discharge planning, an average of 10 to 15 a day. For example, home care for burn patients is discussed every Friday with members of the burn team.

Recently, a burn patient was discharged with her injured arm wrapped in a splint and extended like the wing of an airplane. Because of extenuating circumstances, the nurse discharge planner, Jacobs, and the hospital therapist made a home visit to instruct the visiting nurse on removing the splint, exercising the arm to prevent stiffening and contracting, applying ointment ordered by a physician and reapplying the splint. The patient's complete medical history with prescribed medication and treatment was given to the nurse who reported regularly to the physician.

"Because of nursing services, the patient was able to receive care on the days she did not come to the hospital for treatment," said Jacobs. "For some patients, even a simple act like hand washing can become a problem."

Referrals or registered nurses and the rental or purchase of equipment can be arranged throughout New Jersey, as well as out of state. For example, physical and speech therapy were required for an Ohio resident who was recovering from brain tumor surgery performed at Saint Barnabas. Home health services provided referrals to his home in Ohio, where a nurse was able to follow the explicit instructions of his Saint Barnabas physicians. Similarly, when the family of a premature infant moved to a southern state, complete instructions accompanied the family and nursing care was provided.

The cost of visiting nurses, therapists and the rental or purchase of equipment is covered by Medicare, Blue Cross or third party payers. In the event that this insurance is not sufficient, other sources are available. "Home health services was created for patients who need nursing care on a less concentrated basis than in a hospital," said Jacobs. "They can go home and relax, knowing that they can immediately rely on a professional who is familiar with their health needs."

Hot line brings vacation tips

A toll-free hotline has been established to answer inquiries for New Jersey's Vacation Guide, according to Borden R. Putnam, commissioner of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development. The 48-page color brochure offers listings, maps and photos for hundreds of attractions in New Jersey's six tourism regions.

A spring ad campaign tied to the guide is being launched on TV and radio stations in Philadelphia and New York.

A 30-second TV spot and a 60-second radio commercial provide details on attractions and recreational facilities throughout the state.

Broadcast commercials emphasize the availability of the guide via toll-free numbers 800-962-0135 in New Jersey and 800-526-0956 in neighboring states.

New Jersey's Vacation Guide and new literature series can also be obtained by writing to the New Jersey Division of Travel and Tourism, CN 384, Trenton, New Jersey 08625.

TAKING CARE OF YOURSELF

"Good thing you checked it out before it did you in."

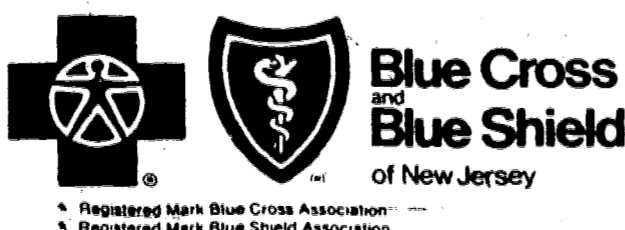

Checking for high blood pressure really is a matter of life and death. Over 35 million Americans are walking around with this life-threatening disease without knowing it. And many will suffer the disastrous consequences: stroke, heart attack, heart failure or kidney failure.

The pity is, high blood pressure can be easily detected and controlled. The test is fast, easy and painless. And the treatment is easy and painless, too.

So Blue Cross and Blue Shield urge you: check out your blood pressure. Make your loved ones do the same.

Your health is far too precious to take for granted. And so is your life.

Police called, two arrested

UNION—Two Newark men arrested after allegedly trying to break into an empty home last week await court hearings later this month, police said.

Carlos Soto, 19, of 68 Hawkins St., and Roy DePack, 45, of Devine St., were arrested on charges of attempted burglary and possession of burglary tools at about 11:15 p.m. on May 19. DePack faces an additional charge of being in the possession of a weapon, police said.

They were arrested after a Townley Avenue resident alerted police to two suspicious men in the backyard of a nearby home. The suspects were caught a short distance from the home, police said.

DePack was released from municipal jail on $2,000 bail; Soto was released on $300 bail.

Russo raps 2 in GOP on utilities tax vote

UNION—Former State Senator Anthony Russo has criticized Republican Assemblymen Chuck Hardwick and Edward Gill for voting against a measure that would have brought more than $700,000 in local property tax relief to residents of the 21st Legislative District.

Russo was referring to unsuccessful efforts in the General Assembly to override Gov. Thomas Kean's veto of A-877, which would have allowed local governments to anticipate 100 percent of the growth in their public utilities franchise and gross receipts during 1982.

As a result of the veto, Union lost $212,180, Russo said. Kenilworth, $39,780; Roselle, $60,222; Roselle Park, $31,128, and Springfield, $65,229.

Instead, the governor is skimming off a portion of the money — originally intended for local property tax relief — to help balance his proposed $6.4 billion state budget, Russo charged.

The governor is using for state budget purposes a statewide average of 31 percent of the anticipated growth in utility receipts normally passed on to local governments to help offset property taxes. Over the next two years, $75 million will be shifted to help balance the state budget.

"For the first time in the 40-year history of this local government revenue, a governor is trying to take this money for his own use, thus depriving local property taxpayers of much needed property tax relief," the Union Township Democrat said.

Bassano urges veto of drinking age bill

Suggesting that Connecticut "save time by doing the job right the first time," N.J. State Senator C. Louis Bassano (R-21st District) has urged Connecticut Governor William A. O'Neill to "conditionally veto" a bill raising the legal drinking age to 19.

Bassano said he is taking the unusual step of appealing to the chief executive of a sister state to "save Connecticut the time and effort of going through the whole process of raising the drinking age twice, as N.J. is being forced to do."

With teenage drinking "almost epidemic" and drunken driving deaths among young people soaring, New Jersey two years ago raised its drinking age from 18 to 19, Bassano reminded O'Neill.

The increase in the legal drinking age was designed to rectify a mistake the N.J. Legislature made in 1973 when it lowered the drinking age to 18, along with 53 other "legal age" changes made when giving teens the right to vote.

Auto fatalities tripled in the Garden State after the drinking age was lowered. The spiraling mortality rate of teen drivers continued to rise, even after the legal age was increased to 19, the Union-County senator said. So did other alcohol-related problems — teen crime, wasted school years, vandalism, unwanted pregnancies.

"Today no less than seven bills have been filed in the N.J. Legislature to increase the drinking age again," Bassano reported. Senator Frank Graves (D-Passaic) has announced he will hold public hearings around the state to assure swift passage of the increase in the legal drinking age.

Bassano, author of the first bill to return the drinking age to 21, which he filed in 1976, declared:

"The best statistical evidence for 21 is the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety study which showed 380 fewer teens died on roads in the 14 states which have returned the drinking age to 21, after first having lowered it to 18.

"Researchers estimate 730 fewer young drivers would lose their lives this year if all states went back to 21.

Shevuoth midnight vigil to be observed tonight

The annual "Shevuoth Midnight Vigil" will be observed in Congregation Israel of Springfield, Mountain Avenue at Shunpike Road, tonight from 11:30 to tomorrow at 1 a.m. Rabbi Israel E. Turner, spiritual leader of the congregation, will present a discourse on "The Golden Chain of Halacha (Jewish religious law) From Sinai to the Present."

A general discussion will follow, and refreshments will be served. The Shevuoth Vigil has been an annual observance in Congregation Israel since the first time the holiday was celebrated in the synagogue building. According to Jewish tradition, "because Shevuoth commemorates the gift of the Torah to Jews in Sinai, intellectual and even mystical perceptions of Vigil participants are heightened in the holiday's midnight and early morning hours. The Vigil is therefore almost universally observed in the traditional Jewish congregations as a setting for renewed spiritual revelation."

Diane Frank of San Francisco, Calif., formerly of Springfield, will read poems from her newly-published book, "Isis," tomorrow during the Oneg Shabbat in Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield. The book will be available for purchase following the services.

She has taught creative writing since 1972, and was an instructor for two years at Maharishi International University, Fairfield, Iowa. The poetess received the Whiffen Poetry Prize in 1972, and her poems have been published in "Alchemy, Antenna, Worksheet, Syacuse Poems, The Cutting Edge, The San Francisco Feminist Journal and the Christian Science Monitor."

She is the director of the Noe Valley Poetry series in San Francisco, and she also writes for films and multi-image productions.

In addition to those attending the rabbi's discourse and ensuing discussion, the Vigil also is open to "those who wish to pursue their own individual study or meditation in the heightened spiritual atmosphere."

Keep a record of your income

By GWEN WARANIS
Extension Home economist

When it comes to finances, many families make the same mistakes. Check your family's weak spots by answering yes or no to the following questions.

1. Do you know how your money is spent?
2. Does your family communicate with each other about money? Family includes adult children and your parents, as well as spouses and young children or teens.
3. Do you have a will?
4. Do you rely heavily on professional financial advice?
5. Have you started planning for retirement?
6. Can you differentiate between what you want and what you need?
7. If you have made financial plans, have you carried them out?

A no answer to any of the above signifies potential problems in your family's money management. Here's why:

1. Keeping track of income and expenses is a helpful exercise. It can increase your awareness of the money earned and how you spend and save it.
2. Not communicating about money—many family power struggles involve resentments which grow from feelings of dominance or dependence created by money. Spouses, adult children and their parents, and children should be encouraged to talk about money.
3. Without a will, the state will distribute your assets for you. This distribution may not be in accordance with your wishes. Also, bonding costs can be high for heirs of intestate (those without a will) persons.
4. Families know themselves and their temperaments best. With the use of current knowledge from media, magazines and other sources, it is possible to become your own financial advisor.
5. Not planning for retirement—Social Security is not a complete retirement wage. Other options (IRAs, Keoghs, annuities, pensions) should be explored early in a person's working life.

Dayton's Senese takes new post at Hopatcong

Angelo Senese is no longer the head football coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Senese, who took the Bulldogs from the depths of a long losing streak to the North Jersey, Section II, Group II championship game and an 8-3 season in four years, yesterday submitted his letter of resignation to the Regional Board of Education.

On Tuesday, Senese was named the new football coach at Hopatcong High School. An English teacher at Dayton, Senese will resume those same duties in the Hopatcong school system.

Dayton and Regional Board officials are currently reviewing applications for the head coaching position.

Liberty loses first game in St. James loop action

Liberty, after winning the week before, suffered its first loss of the season in the St. James Little League last week.

Liberty defeated VFW, 10-1, as winning pitcher Anthony Fiocco struck out five, and Chris Kisch made his pitching debut with two strikeouts in two innings of work.

An eight-run second inning proved to be the difference for the winners. Later in the week, Kisch fanned 12 in 5 1/2 innings in Liberty's 8-0 win over VFW. Peter Eckmann doubled with the bases loaded to drive in three runs in the fourth. The winning streak ended when Atlantic Metals eked out a 6-5 victory last week.

Unico's Joe Kareiuis made two fine defensive catches and drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a triple, but Spring defeated Unico, 13-11. Lenny Saia was the winning hurler and Chris Spirito had a two-run homer. Unico bounced back to defeat Rick Richards, 9-4. Chris Burkhardt worked out of a bases loaded, no out jam to preserve the win. Jimmy Delullo had three hits.

Last week, Kareiuis' grand slam and Burkhardt's two hits and four RBI's helped Unico defeat the Knights of Columbus. Catcher Robbie Hamilton threw out three baserunners attempting to steal.

Later in the week, Unico beat Rick Richards as Kareiuis and Stan Federovich homered and Burkhardt drove in five runs with three hits and Ronnie Salzano knocked in four on two hits.

Jim Roberts stole three bases in VFW's 10-8 win over Farinella, and VFW then lost 8-7 in extra innings to Atlantic Metals.

In that one, Tom Luongo homered and Jason Delorme scored the winning run on an infield grounder by Gary Francis.

Mill-Spring nips Libco, 10-8

Close decisions in local softball

There's never a dull moment in the Springfield Men's Softball League, but this season is even more exciting than usual.

That's because close outcomes and late-inning rallies have been the name of the game thus far. Just consider Mill-Spring Liquors' big victory last week.

Mill-Spring scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat Libco, 10-8. Glen Kelher's RBI triple tied the game for Libco in the top of the seventh, but Mill-Spring came right back thanks to P.J. Burns' two-run home run. Burns had four hits in the game and also scored three runs to support Tom Burke's pitching. Kelher, Bill Nevius and Trip Davis had two hits apiece for Libco.

The Bombers walloped Knights of Columbus, 14-7, with a 14-hit attack paced by John Kronert's four hits. Dave Mitchell, Bob Janukowicz and Lou Vasillo had two hits each for the Bombers, and Bob Hydock was the winning pitcher. Tom Quin led the K of C team with three hits, including a home run, and Bob Whitely also smashed a homer.

Masco Sports rallied to defeat Shallcross/Creative by a 13-10 margin. Shallcross scored seven runs in the second inning for an early 7-1 lead, but Masco chipped away on a three-run homer by Harry Kolb in the third and went ahead in the fourth on a grand slam by Jim Maxwell. Four runs in the sixth tied the victory for Masco. Greg Prussing, Tom Wisniewski and Dan Pepe had two hits each for the winners, while Ray Schramm was the winning pitcher. Roy DeVries and Bob Regna had two hits each for Shallcross/Creative.

Brian McNany slammed two home runs and drove in five runs to power Custom Floors past Ehrhardt TV, 17-11. Ed Johnson, Joe Policastro, Allan Arnold and John Powell each had three hits for the winners, and Frank Pulice was the winning pitcher. Jeff Vargas, Terry Franklin, Ralph Zatte, Jamey Ehrhardt, Kevin Lalor and George Jordan each had two hits in the game.

Master Blasters held on to squeeze past M and M Automotive, 5-4, as the latter's seventh inning rally just fell short. Trailing 5-1 in the bottom of the seventh, M and M scored three times before pitcher Jim Fritz retired the side. Stu Falkin supported winning pitcher Dave Cohen with two hits.

The Bombers scored 10 times in the fifth inning to defeat Custom Floors, 13-8, as Jeff Kronert paced the offensive attack with three hits. John Noce, Bob Day and Lou Vasillo had two hits for the winners, who received solid pitching from Bob Hydock. Frank Lamatta had three hits for Custom Floors. Shallcross/Creative inched past M and M Automotive, 6-4. Ted Johnson drove in three runs with three hits to pace the winners, while Terry Feely, Bob Brandt and Roy DeVries each had two hits for the winners. Bill Daughy was the winning pitcher. Steve Max and Eric Wasserman had two hits apiece for M and M.

John Ehrhardt came out of the bullpen to save Dom Casternovia and Ehrhardt TV, nailing down Ehrhardt's 13-12 victory over Mill-Spring Liquors. John M. Ehrhardt homered for the winners, while Jeff Vargas, Mike Gagliano, Rob Dempster and Jamey Ehrhardt had two hits apiece. Jerry Ragonese and Joe Ragucci had three hits each for Mill-Spring.

Masco Sports blasted 19 hits in a 17-9 rout of Master Blasters. Greg Prussing with four hits, Steve Pepe with three and Ed Graziano, Tom Wisniewski, Harry Kolb and Jim Maxwell with two apiece topped the winners. Barry Gerst was four-for-four to pace Master Blasters.

From 4-17-1 to 16-6—golfers turn it all around

By RON BRANDSDORFER

Winning seasons are nothing new to Dayton's golf program and veteran coach Ray Yanchus, which explains why last season was so disappointing...and why the 1982 season has been so pleasant and rewarding.

The Bulldogs could only post a 4-17-1 record a year ago, which was, admittedly, Yanchus' most frustrating as Dayton coach.

"We've had some pretty good teams and some pretty good players in the past," Yanchus said. "We were very accustomed to the tough competition of the old Suburban Conference, and we had some individual and team champions over the years."

Yet no matter what the Bulldogs did a year ago, it came out in the loss column.

So Yanchus teamed up with John Francis, the assistant pro at Baltusrol, and got the Bulldogs involved with Maximum Golf, a new national program that emphasizes proper physical conditioning and a clear understanding of fundamentals.

And that program has helped Yanchus get maximum golf from his players.

"John really deserves some of the credit for our success," Yanchus explained. "Maximum Golf has really done a lot for our fundamentals and swings."

That program, coupled with what Yanchus proudly labels his team's "constant, persistent determination to improve," have produced a sensational season for the Bulldogs.

Already they have tied the school record with 16 victories in 22 outings. And with four matches to go this week, Yanchus believes his team will crack that record and possibly even hit the 20-victory mark.

"It has been an enjoyable season," he said. "It's nice to be competitive, to realize that not only are you right in the middle of every match, but that you have a chance to win each one."

The Bulldogs have certainly won their share of matches, and they've also fared well in tournament competition. They qualified for the state tournament down at Rutgers and placed seventh overall, and they finished seventh on an off-day in the county round.

And on Monday, the Bulldogs braved the elements and hosted the Mountain Valley Conference championships at Baltusrol. They came through with a sparkling effort, too, finishing just one stroke back of winner Governor Livingston.

In all three championship rounds, Dayton was paced by freshman Mike Tomko and soph Jim Bennett. Tomko fired an 84 and tied for seventh in the state tourney, while Bennett was just behind with an 89. In the county meet, both Tomko and Bennett shot 92's. And in the MVC action at Baltusrol, the Dynamic Duo finished in the top 10.

Joining the two underclassmen in tourney action have been sophs Keith Drexler, Jay Siegel and Bob Daniel, juniors Jon Maul, David Luckenbach and Brandt Feuerstein and senior Frank Kelly.

Yanchus has shuffled his lineup around in head-to-head team competition, but Tomko, Bennett, Maul and Kelly—a freshman, sophomore, junior, senior combination—have been the big four.

In a big 239-246 victory over West Orange, for example, Maul, a transfer from Pennsylvania, set a new Baltusrol record for high school competition with a round of 40.

And there were other heroes in a romps over MVC foes Immaculata and North Plainfield. In the 222-263 rout of Immaculata, Maul, Bennett and Luckenbach finished 1-2-3, while Drexler posted a personal best of 42 in the 233-237 victory over North Plainfield.

But all personal bests are now secondary concerns. The Bulldogs have one goal in mind: to come back from last season's 4-17-1 record with a best-ever 20-victory season.

On to the Group II state meet...

Dayton girls place fourth in sectionals

By BOB BRUCKNER

Just being Mountain Valley Conference track and field champions wasn't enough for Dayton's girls, so they headed into the Union County and sectional meets with the expressed purpose of boosting their reputation.

And that's exactly what they did, cracking four school records and managing a seventh place finish in the county meet. And in North Jersey, Section II, Group II action, Dayton finished fourth.

Nancy Gaglio was one of the top performers in the county meet, placing sixth and setting a new school mark in the intermediate hurdles.

In the 1,600-meter run, Laura Richter ran 5:34.8 and broke a school record. Next, Mary Pat Parducci placed fifth in the 3,200-meter run with a school record of 11:49.7.

Then came the 1,600-meter relay team of Gaglio, Linda Hockstein, Sandy Brenner and Amy Kiell. The girls finished fourth with a clocking of 4:09.5.

Dayton did have a county champion, as Elinor Sadin won the gold medal in the javelin with a throw of 123-0. That's the fifth best throw in the state this season.

"It was a very good performance for a young team," said Coach Bill Jones. "We had a good showing."

Then the girls headed to Mendham and finished behind Vailsburg, Madison Borough and Butler in the sectional meet.

The keys were Kiell, Gaglio, Sadin, Kathy Drummond, Donna Commarato and the 1,600 relay team, as Dayton piled up 21 points, just 20 points behind champion Vailsburg and 11 behind Madison Borough, an old Suburban Conference foe.

Gaglio and Kiell were the standouts in the 400-meter hurdles. Gaglio finished second in 1:07.4, while Kiell was fifth in 1:08.2. Kiell also placed third in the 100-meter hurdles.

Sadin, possibly the team's most versatile athlete, took second in the javelin competition with a throw of 115-11, and that was the second best throw in Group II action anywhere in the state. Sadin then placed fifth in the 100-meter hurdles.

And Commarato and Drummond both managed thirds in the field events. Commarato took third in the high jump, while Drummond was third in the discus.

Prior to the county and sectional meets, the girls put the finishing touches on an undefeated dual meet season, romping past Millburn, 77-45, to close a 7-0 campaign.

Finishing in first place were Sadin in the 100-meter run, Kiell in the two hurdle events, Janet Leber in the 3,200 and Commarato in the high jump and long jump.

"This is an indication that we could have competed well in the Suburban Conference this season," said Jones. Dayton won the MVC title in its premiere season after years of competition in the Suburban Conference.

Group medals the objectives of Bulldog duo

By BOB BRUCKNER

Sometimes, "the best" just isn't good enough. Such was the case for Dayton's boys' track team in the Union County championship meet two weeks ago.

"Our individual performances were the best of the year," said Coach Bill Byrne.

Yet even those "best" performances couldn't prevent the Bulldogs from being lost in the pack in the prestigious meet, which was won easily by Westfield with Elizabeth, Plainfield, Scotch Plains and Rahway completing the top five.

The problem, Byrne said, was a lack of depth. And that's the same problem that has produced the Bulldogs' 5-4 record.

"We need, in general, more depth," Byrne said. "And after this season, we're going to have to replace some talented seniors."

Those seniors were the stars of the team at the county meet. Team captain Scott Connolly, for example, clocked in at a personal-best time of 9:49 and finished third in the 3,200 meters, while Bob Casey placed second in the long jump with a leap of 21-2 1/2. Casey also placed in the 400-meter run.

Sprinter Ken Palazzi also had a good day, posting a 11.2 in the 100 meters and a 22.9 in the 200. And Anthony Bacchus recorded a time of 11.3 in the 100. Also starring were junior Luca Samino in the javelin, whose best-ever toss of 150-0 gave him sixth place in the meet, plus Scott Hain (140-0) in the same event and John Apicella (11-0) in the pole vault.

And a week after that, Connolly and Casey finished among the top five in their favorite events at the North Jersey, Section II, Group II meet. Connolly was third in the 3,200 meters and Casey placed fifth in the long jump. Both athletes will advance to the Group II meet.

And they'll see some of the state's best in that meet. Connolly will catch the likes of Long Branch's Tom Fischer, the state's best 3,200-meter runner, in that meet, while Casey can expect to see the likes of Orange's Reggie Kelly and West Orange's Brad Mayo, the two top finishers in the sectional meet and two of the better long jumpers in the state.

Medals in the Group II meet would mean berths in the All-Groups Meet of Champions for the Dayton duo.

In dual meet action, the Bulldogs saw their record fall to 5-4 as Millburn romped to an 86-35 victory. Casey came through with firsts in the 100 and 400 and a second in the long jump, while Palazzi was first in the 200 and second in the 100.

The Bulldogs also swept the 1,600, as Connolly took first, Mitch Cutler grabbed second and Jim Stevie finished third. And Dan Connolly was No. 1 in the 3,200.

In the 1,600-meter relay event, Darrell Foster, Sal Colatruccio, Nelson Gill and Bacchus teamed up for first place in 3:56.5.

Parlavecchio honored by local UNICO chapter

By RON BRANDSDORFER

Angelo Senese calls it "the highest compliment."

"In a few weeks, my wife Suzanne and I are expecting our first child," Senese began, choosing his words very carefully. "When I look at Nino Parlavecchio, I somehow envision having a son just like him."

And that's not surprising, considering that Parlavecchio manages to get quite a few compliments everywhere he goes. It's also not surprising that he was honored last month as the 1982 recipient of the Brian Piccolo Award from the Springfield/Mountainside Chapter of UNICO.

"It is not the awards or the honors that impress me," stressed Senese, who just resigned as Dayton football coach. "It is the strong character, leadership and discipline that Nino possesses that impress all who know him. He is one of the finest young men I know and have had the honor to coach. He truly deserves the Brian Piccolo Award."

The local chapter of UNICO certainly thought so. A star on Dayton's outstanding 8-3 football team and the captain of the Bulldog wrestling team, Parlavecchio also found the time in his four years at Dayton to excel in the classroom.

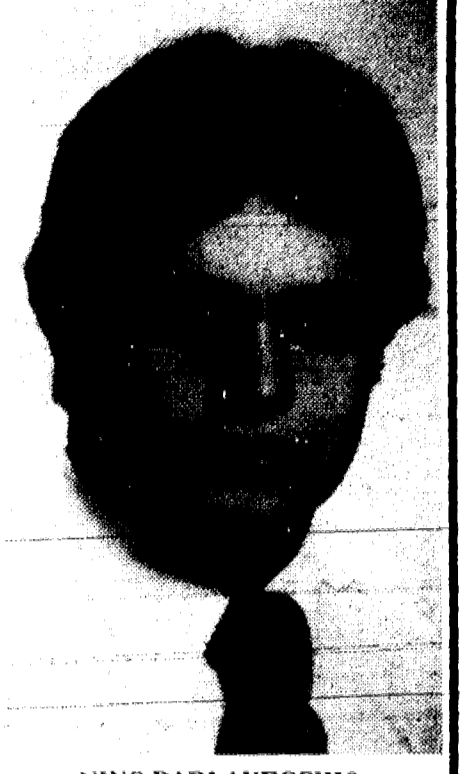

He has decided to attend the University of Delaware in the fall—for academics and not for football. At this point, Parlavecchio has ruled out college athletics in favor of college academics.

"Delaware's a nice school and is very good academically," explained Parlavecchio. "At this point I want to concentrate on academics. I don't want anything else to interfere with my studies."

"Nino can certainly play college football if he so chooses," Senese added, "but he also scored very well on his SAT's and is in the top quarter of his class. I know he wants to pursue some very high academic goals. If he decides to play football he'll be very successful. If not and if he decides to devote his time to academics, he'll be equally successful."

And that's saying quite a bit, considering that Parlavecchio earned All-Union County, All-Area, All-Metro, All-Mountain Valley Conference and All-State Group II honors this past football season.

"In terms of his overall athletic ability, Nino is a top-notch football player," said Senese, who ran many important plays on Parlavecchio's side of the offensive line. "And his post-season awards bear that fact out."

For three years, Parlavecchio starred on offense and on defense for the Bulldogs. A standout at offensive tackle, Parlavecchio earned his greatest praise as a defensive end.

He was one of the biggest reasons the dee-fense carried the Bulldogs to the sectional championship game in 1981.

"He's quick, strong and like a technician at defensive end," Senese said. "He didn't over-power or out-quick people unless he had to. He knew exactly what to do in given situations."

Such was also the case on the wrestling mats. A starter for three seasons in the 170-pound weight class, Parlavecchio gave Bulldog head coach Rick Iacono a fine effort every time out and posted a 14-10 record this past season.

So fine that UNICO decided to honor him for his athletic ability, leadership and citizenship.

"I was very surprised about the award," said Parlavecchio, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Parlavecchio of Gregory Rd. in Springfield. "and I was really excited about it. It was real nice."

And, according to Angelo Senese and the UNICO chapter, very deserving.

Dayton has something to prove

Dayton's tennis team will have much to prove next week when it joins netters from all over the area in the annual Union County tennis championships.

The Bulldogs, 14-3 and ranked No. 3 in Union County, would love to prove they are even better than that. They were ranked No. 2 behind state-ranked Westfield for much of the season but were dropped to the third slot following a tough 3-2 loss to 13-7 Summit.

So Coach Dave Cowden's Bulldogs, who were looking for a state ranking all season long, will be trying to avenge that loss to the Hilltoppers and to prove that they belong in the same class as powerful Westfield.

The Bulldogs also know that they won't have another chance at a championship this season. They were bumped out of the state tourney last week, so the UCT is the last chance.

Dayton posted a 2-1 record last week, dropping North Plainfield and Metuchen before suffering a disappointing 3-2 loss to surprising Mendham in the North Jersey, Section II, Group II semifinals.

It took a clutch effort for the Bulldogs to defeat North Plainfield. Their top two players, Michael Berliner and Dan Schlager, were defeated, but unbeaten Pete Sommer at No. 3 singles and the teams of Robert Steir-Dan Freedman and Kipp Levinson-Tony Millin came through with victories to salvage the team decision.

That second doubles match was the difference. Millin, just a freshman, subbed for Tom Daniels and teamed up with Levinson. And with the match tied at 2-2, Levinson and Millin sent Bulldog fans home happy with a 6-1, 6-0 romp.

Indians upset Red Sox, 22-15, in township girls' softball play

The Indians handed the previously undefeated Red Sox their first loss, 22-15, in Upper League play in the Springfield Girls' Softball League.

Catherine Cameron led the winners with a double, triple and grand slam

Township to host tennis tournament

The Springfield Recreation Department will be sponsoring a summer tennis tournament for township residents beginning June 1. According to tourney directors John and Daniel Schlager, the tourney will be run in pyramid form with several players at each level to facilitate scheduling of matches.

Interested players should contact the Department at 376-5884.

homer. Michelle Tomie and Nancy Stein added doubles, while Inconrona Quagletta, Stephanie Ruelke and Kristen and Kim Jelinek added hits.

Heidi Warner, Dana Wasserman and Fern Drucks paced the Sox.

In other action, the Royals posted a 7-5 victory over the Indians behind the bats of Leslie Ligorner, Courtney Benner and Patty Cameron. Deanna Campos and Catherine Cameron homered for the Tribe.

Catherine Cameron slugged her second grand slam of the week in a 36-9 whipping of the Yankees. Leslie Weinger and Julie Ehrhardt led the losers with hits.

The Royals won their second game of the week with a 5-4 win over the Angels. Winning pitcher Ligorner was backed by the hitting of Joyce Glassen, Joanie Melkowitz, Maria Durante and Patty Cameron. Felice Bartel, Crissy Clark and Jody Simon were the top Angel hitters.

In the Lower League, the Astros beat the Mets, 16-14, behind the pitching of Nancy Rubinstein. Despite trailing by nine runs, the winners managed to rally and tie the game on an RBI single by Rubinstein in the fourth. Liz Pabst hit two homers and drove in seven runs for the Mets.

The Mets were also beaten by the Cardinals, 8-7, as Colleen Drummond, Alissa Hardy and Jennifer Scilla led the hitters and Missy Peterson was the winning pitcher. Pabst and Wendy Bartel had doubles for the losers, with Pabst striking out six batters on the mound.

Julie Koppekin struck out seven straight hitters as the Braves topped the Astros, 10-7. Jodi Bromberg had three hits, one a triple, while Jennifer Epstein, Traci Schanerman, Brenda Hockstein, Brenda Welkstein, Lisabeth Hart and Laura Sexton all played well.

That second doubles match was the difference. Millin, just a freshman, subbed for Tom Daniels and teamed up with Levinson. And with the match tied at 2-2, Levinson and Millin sent Bulldog fans home happy with a 6-1, 6-0 romp.

Against Metuchen, Berliner was stopped at the No. 1 spot, but Schlager, Sommer and the Steir-Freedman team managed victories. And Levinson and Daniel were leading 4-2 at second doubles when the rains came and washed that match away.

That set up the showdown with Mendham. Ol' reliables Sommer (17-0) and the team of Steir-Freedman (14-1) posted victories, but Berliner, Schlager and the Levinson-Daniel duo were beaten. That loss bumped the Bulldogs from state tennis competition.

The Bulldogs will close regular season action this afternoon when they meet Ridge on the road. And Steir and Freedman, in particular, will be ready for that match, since Ridge's No. 1 doubles team handed Dayton's duo its only loss of the season.

Dayton will then begin preparations for the Union County championships.

Pick Of the LPs—"The Duke Brothers Band" (Polecat Creek Records)

To say the Duke Brothers Band is a family affair is putting it mildly. Brothers, David, Mike and Joe Duke, have been playing together in various bands since their early teens around their hometown of Monroe, Ga.

Armed with influences from rock to blues and country, the Duke Brothers Band has evolved from a series of earlier groups, each one further refining the sound of its predecessor. With the addition of Ben Briscoe and Bill Whitley, the band has become a tight knit, musically, unified group that never fails to excite a crowd.

The members and their instruments include David, lead, vocals, electric and acoustic guitars, bass, percussion and blues harp; Mike, electric and acoustic (bottleneck), slide guitar, dobro, pedal steel guitar and vocals;

Joe, bass, guitar; Briscoe, acoustic and electric piano, organ, synthesizer, acoustic guitar, harmonica and fiddle, and Whitley, drums.

Developing their unique sound and original material, the Duke Brothers Band took the big step in late 1981 and recorded their first album at Atlanta's Doppler Studios, with Brad Jones and David Duke, producing. Released on Polecat Creek Records in early 1982, the LP and its first single, "Keep on Tryin'" have greatly expanded the group's appeal and operational base, with airplay from Louisiana to the Carolinas and everywhere in between.

But it is the live concert setting where the Duke Brothers Band's magic really takes hold and never lets go. The excitement and energy generated is enough to light up a city.

And these boys have just begun to fight!

HANDSOME EXTERIOR of the famous eating establishment, Good Time Charley's, 230 W. Westfield Avenue, Roselle Park, greets customers before they enter for the dining pleasures ahead. The restaurant is open 7 days a week for luncheon and dinner from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 a.m.

Good Time Charley's: alive with atmosphere

Back in December last year we told our readers about a lovely place just alive with atmosphere. We said, in effect, that good food should be enjoyed in pleasant surroundings and if you like the turn of the century decor with warm barn-like paneled walls, Tiffany-style lamps, old books and a general feeling of contentment while awaiting your meal, then by all means try Good Time Charley's, 230 W. Westfield Ave., Roselle Park. We said it before, and we say it again, because it's even better now!

As I write this column, I'm glancing at their new dinner menu and it's absolutely fabulous! It's in three parts, the first part being their wine list, containing listings of all your favorite wines that are available. From Italy, there's Soave Bolla; Germany, Liebfraumlisch, and one of our favorites from France, Pouilly Fuisse. The wines can be purchased for the most part by the half bottle and full bottle.

We move to the right of the wines, and the dinner menu begins by offering diners their famous salad bar for only $3.95. There's a reminder to look for their "Daily Specials," that, more often than not, consist of, at different times, select choices of veal and shrimp combo, veal Francaise, veal polignac, steak Murphy, chicken Murphy, chicken Francaise, steak Pizzola and much, much more!

Customers can start off with an appetizer and can choose from clams oreganato, mussels marinara, shrimp cocktail or what they call "Hotsy Totsy Shrimp."

For seafood lovers, the selection has generous offerings of such tasty tidbits as broiled scallops, Alaskan king crab, fresh flounder or stuffed, shrimp scampi, shrimp camarones, broiled seafood combo or their jumbo Panama stuffed shrimp. Sound great? You bet it is, and that's only for starters!

Poultry connoisseurs can feast to their hearts' delight on chicken Teriyaka, Barbecued Chicken or a bountiful plate of broiled chicken, char-broiled with butter.

Good Time Charley's didn't forget the red meat lovers. If you like prime rib of beef served to your specifications—the way you enjoy it, then their prime rib offering is a must at your next visit. Only Western beef is served, and the portion is more than generous with large slices. There also is broiled lamb chops, New York sirloin steak, steak on a stick, ground sirloin and a real popular dish for the true gourmet, steak and Alaskan king crab. How's that for selection?

While we're on the subject of food, don't forget the fabulous luncheons this fine restaurant offers. You can purchase for lunch everything from an omelette to a salad to seafood to 13 different types of burgers and sandwiches. There's dessert of course for both lunch and dinner as well as your favorite beverage or cocktail, including espresso, Dutch coffee or, the most popular, Jamaican coffee.

We sincerely hope you will take our advice and visit this fine establishment real soon. You'll have a ball, and the prices are moderate, to say the least.

Be sure to tell the management that you read about them in our publication. Heartily appetite!

Merck gives grant

The Merck Company has contributed $50,000 to The New Jersey Historical Society's project of providing a new and more suitable residence for future New Jersey governors and converting the former residence into a museum and history center.

Joan C. Hull, executive director of the state's 137-year-old history institution, and Milford A. Vieser, chairman of the Morven-Drumthwacket Corporation and the society's development officer, were presented with the check by Grace M. Winterling, president of the Merck Foundation.

"Our support of The New Jersey Historical Society and its restoration of Drumthwacket is indicative of our concern for the state in which we have our corporate headquarters. We are pleased to see Drumthwacket serving again, as it did during the Civil War, as the residence of the governor of New Jersey," Winterling said.

The presentation was made at Drumthwacket, the Princeton estate now being refurbished to become the official residence of New Jersey's governors. Morven, the former governor's residence and one of the most historic properties in the nation, will be converted to a museum and history center by the society.

Grants made by the Merck Foundation are principally in support of education in medicine and the related sciences. Assistance is also given to health and welfare agencies, civic and cultural associations, and educational institutions serving communities in the vicinity of Merck & Co., Inc. contributed $35.4 million to such causes since the foundation was established in 1957. Merck & Co., Inc. is based in Rahway.

Dear Present or Future Customer:

The Jaeger & Germaine Oil Co. will be inaugurating a new policy for all our customers during the 1982/83 heating season. Budget customers (who maintain their budget payments in accordance with the payment schedule) as well as cash customers (including those who pay within 20 days of delivery) will receive a discount of two (.02) cents per gallon on the total gallonage purchased for the heating season, which will be credited to the customer's account.

If your tire wears evenly to the tread wear indicators before reaching the warranted mileage, Dunlop will, on presentation of the Dunlop mileage certificate to any participating dealer and in exchange for the worn tire, give credit toward a comparable new Dunlop tire based on Dunlop's Mileage Unit Price and tire mileage not received. The Mileage Unit Charge reasonably reflects current retail prices. You pay local taxes and mounting and balancing charges. Tires on front-wheel drive vehicles must be switched front to rear at 7,500 mile intervals. For complete details, see your Dunlop dealer.
