CELEBRATION

Cubs defeat Blue Stars, 6-3, to halt 9-game winning streak

The Mountainside Little League experienced an explosion of scoring this past week as the season reached its critical stage.

The Blue Stars had their nine-game winning streak snapped by the Cubs, 6-3, as Jamie Downey pitched the route allowing only three hits. Eric Weinstein and Neal Swartz had the key hits for the Cubs with Swartz saving the game in the final inning with a backhanded stab in rightfield to rob Blue Star slugger Jeff Stoffer of what appeared to be his seventh home run of the season. Tom Kelly and Joe Ventura were the hitting stars for the losers with Larry Levine playing an exceptional game in center field.

The Mets continued their late season drive toward a possible championship playoff with the Blue Stars with three resounding wins.

The Blue Stars were the Mets' first victims, 13-9, in a see-saw game. Marc Castelo pitched two scoreless innings in relief to record the win and also went three for three at bat with David Connolly and Brian Delaney each having run-producing doubles. The Blue Stars again were the victims of a game-saving catch, this time by right fielder Brandon Rushe. Jeff Stoffer with three hits, Tom Kelley with two hits and Jim Barrett with a smooth game at short stood out for the Blue Stars.

The Mets next pounded out a, 30-11, victory over the Cubs. Jim Kellerk with three hits, Dale Torborg and Jim Kellerk with two hits each did most of the damage for the Mets. Joe Castelo with four hits and Jamie Downey with two hits sparked the Cubs and catcher Mike Price had a fine defensive day.

The Mets made the Twins their next victim, scoring twelve runs in the first inning to ease to a 20-11 win. Marc Castelo with three hits, Pete Kozubel with two doubles and David Clifford with a single and a triple led the Mets' onslaught. Craig Carson with a long home run, John Mayer with a two-run double and catcher Steven Smith with four putouts and four assists were the bright spots for the Twins.

The Twins bounced back with an 11-run second inning and overwhelmed the Vikings, 20-5. Craig Carson pitched well for the Twins, getting strong defensive support from catcher Eric Incandela, who had three fine tag plays at the plate. Billy Kennedy and Tom Szuba had key hits for the Twins who stayed in contention in the tight Little League race. Matt Ventura was the hitting star for the Vikings with Keith Hagey and Joe Hurley having busy days at second and first base, respectively.

In the American League, the Angels began to have their own heavenly dreams of a pennant as they picked up two wins on the week. In their first game the Angels eked out a 6-5 triumph over the Yankees. Eric Wilhelm Becky Bell and Rob Oswald were the run producers and Tom Cukier pitched out of several jams to record the victory. Debbie DePaolo continued her strong hitting with two doubles.

In their second game, Andrew Gallagher, Steve Bunin and Jimmy Alder provided the punch and shortstop Tom Chippendale provided the defense as the Angels beat the Phillies, 8-2. Charlie Dougherty and Scott Meissner had back-to-back doubles to account for the Phillies' runs.

Signups set for swim team

Swim Class registration at the Mountainside Community Pool began Saturday and will continue on weekends until the pool opens its regular season June 26. All classes will follow Red Cross guidelines and will be taught by ARC-certified instructors.

Classes began Saturday and run through July 30th. A second season will run during August. Basic Rescue and Advanced Lifesaving also will be offered.

Dana Zonneyville is coordinating the competitive Swim Team program. She will be on hand to meet with and to register swimmers for the team. The team's first meet is June 29 against New Providence. Plans for the July 4 weekend activities are being formulated.

Further information regarding pool schedules and activities may be obtained by calling 232-0132.

Oil paintings are on exhibit

The Free Public Library of Mountainside has on display this month oil paintings by local amateur artists.

All of the artists are students of Ruth Goense's, a Mountainside resident who has been teaching in her home for four years.

This year's class, on the beginner and intermediate levels, began meeting in October and is composed of members of the Mountainside Gospel Chapel, the Mountainside Women's Club and Mountainside Senior Citizens.

Their paintings are the culmination of the year's work, and they include landscape and still lifes.

Borough students excel in basic skills testing

By LYNN JOFFE

Results of the four-day Minimum Basic Skills exam displayed good scores in math and reading for third- and sixth-grade Mountainside students.

The exam results were made public during the Tuesday night meeting of the Mountainside Board of Education. Of the school's third-grade students, 100 percent passed the reading and math areas; while 98.9 percent of the sixth-grade students passed reading and 97.7 percent passed math. "The scores are a little better than last year's, although it was very close," according to Dr. Margaret Kantes, superintendent of schools. "Our pupils have always done well," she said.

After an in-depth study into new math books for the 1982-83 school year, the board approved a motion that nine sets of the Hartcourt Brace Jovanovich math texts be adopted as the district text for grades kindergarten through eight. According to Kantes, the texts were "strongly recommended by all teachers in the district." The new math books offer students a text and workbook for grades one through eight; a workbook will be issued to kindergarteners. "The book is more rigorous than our books now and matches the curriculum closely," Kantes said.

In a letter sent by James J. Clancy, county superintendent, Mountainside was commended for "the concerted efforts of administrators, staff, Board of Education members and community members in planning and implementing the reorganization to a single school district; expanding its gifted and talented enrichment program during the 1981-82 school year to include grades one through eight and its maintenance of an art program component for identified gifted students in grades two through eight; developing program goals, indicators and objectives for the guidance department in an effort to improve services to the students in the district, and initiating a library skills program for middle school pupils which is designed to instruct pupils in the use of the library research tool."

The letter included plans for program instruction and expansion in the use of microcomputers for seventh- and eighth-grade students to begin in September. The district has purchased six microcomputers in preparation for the program.

In personnel matters, Janice Vreeland was appointed by the board as a full-time school nurse for the 1982-83 school year at $20,540. The appointment followed a motion to rescind the position of two part-time nurses due to a recent state ruling that a school nurse must be a certified registered nurse. In the past, the school system employed two part-time registered nurses, only one of which was certified. After a brief synopsis of the ruling of a recent Bernards Township case, Board Attorney Raymond O'Brien informed the board that "only a certified school nurse can dispense medication."

The 1982-83 committee appointments for the board are as follows (committee heads are listed first): buildings and grounds — Robert Gardella, Linda Esemplare; education — Linda Schneider, Camie Delaney; finance — Gardella, Arthur Attenasio; legislation — Pat Knodel, Schneider; long range planning — Attenasio, Knodel; negotiations — Knodel, Attenasio; community relations — Attenasio, Delaney; transportation — Esemplare, Sandra Burdge; policy — Burdge, Esemplare; special education — Delaney, Burdge.

Dayton cites students at annual awards night

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School honored its outstanding students for scholastic and extra-curricular activities June 3 with its yearly Awards Night program.

Scholastic awards were given to: Lisa Wallach, the Michael Alper Civic Association, and Paula Edelcreek and Richard Kesselhaut, the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm.

Honor Society awards for highest averages were received by: Patricia Clark, business education; Louis Markos, English; John Sivolella, foreign languages and social studies, and Joseph Cohen, mathematics and science.

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School PTSO Awards: John Sivolella and Helle-May Ebrok, highest ranking boy and girl student. John Sivolella is the valedictorian of the graduating class and Louis Markos the salutatorian.

Kathy Costalos received the Anthony J. Fioridasio Humanitarian Award and Lisa Hartman the Springfield Police Wives award.

Winners of scholarships were: Barbara Burnett, Cheryl Lynn Federico, Daniel Schlager, Anna Marie Cook, Kenneth Palazzi, Benjamin Rubin, Helle-May Ebrok, Marc Parmet, Joseph Cohen, Lisa Kiell, Elliot Wolfson, Scott Connolly, Maury Jayson, Anthony Delia, Maureen Kelly, Bernard Spang, Robert Steir, Mark Dougherty, Henrietta Paschold, Barbara Sauer, Holly Hafeken, Louis Markos, Kim Hagel, Jayne Kakol, Diame Blanda, John Sivolella, Matthew Eick, Sheri Freedman, Brian Hendrix, Jack Levitt, Geryaln Pollack, Jonathan Stein, Renee Trambert, Leon Liem, Jack Parent, Wendy Julian, Nancy Hammel, Julie Klubenspies, Jonathan Brown and Alice Barry.

Awards in the languages went to: Michael Schweizer, the German National Honor Society's Delta Epsilon Phi award for the most outstanding student in German; Helle-May Ebrok, the Steuben Award for excellence in German for four full years; Jack Levitt, the Alliance Francaise award for a senior student who has excelled in French; Louis Markos, the Hispania Award for excellence in Spanish; Karen Fiszler, the Premio De Honor of the Spanish National Honor Society; Helle-May Ebrok and Joseph Cohen, the Latin Achievement Award for excellence in Latin over four years, and Julie McCourt, Paul Centamore and Angela Lombardi, the Italian Language Achievement Award for academic excellence.

The Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages Board of Directors Award, for excellence in language study, went to Jack Levitt in Spanish and Michael Schweizer in German.

Other language awards: Karen Rose and Sheri Lynn Freedman, the Golden "Ayin" Award for excellence in Hebrew; Rivka Marko, the Free Sons of Israel award for the study of the Hebrew language and culture; Renee Trambert and Paula Edelcreek, Springfield Tri-Temple Awards, and Renee Trambert, the Alexander Lampport (Continued on page 3)

Council discusses costs of renovations

Architectural costs for renovating the Free Public Library, Board of Education building and the Municipal Building were discussed at the work session of the Mountainside Borough Council meeting on Tuesday.

Two architects have bid on alterations of the buildings. Jerry R. Ripa has proposed the payment of 12 percent of the total of approximately $140,000 for drawing up plans, while Robert Hall has asked for $13,000 to $15,250 for his plans.

The proposed cost does not include legal fees, but does include the cost of air conditioning, new carpeting and mechanical fees.

The renovations are not expected to begin until September or October. The council will determine the finances on covering the cost of this project at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

An amendment to a fire ordinance passed in 1980 also was discussed. The ordinance that ordered clubs in the area to distinguish "no parking" areas in front of their buildings for fire protection has not been enforced by Mountainside police, according to Mayor Thomas Ricciardi.

The original ordinance, with no exact measurements, is too general for the police to enforce, according to William Alder, police chief. The council had suggested posting signs to advise citizens of these designated areas.

Abraham Suckno, council president, said he believes that this is a police matter.

A resolution to sign a contract with the state on the construction of Route-78 will be voted on at the meeting Tuesday. According to Robert Koser,

Fenwick takes borough race

Solidly Republican Mountainside gave Millicent Fenwick a 554-437 edge over Jeffrey Bell for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate in the primary election Tuesday.

Only a handful of votes was cast in the race for the Democratic Senate nomination, with Frank Lautenberg leading with 66, followed by Andy Maguire with 57 and Barbara Boggs Sigmund with 33. None of the other Democratic Senate candidates received more than a dozen votes.

In the race for the Republican nomination for 12th District congressman, borough voters supported Jim Courter by a wide margin, giving him a 770-170 lead over Rodney Frelinghuysen.

There were no local contests in the primary.

Gill urges delay of mall plans until Route 22 traffic is reduced

State Assemblyman Edward K. Gill, R-21, last week recommended forgoing any plans for the introduction of a major shopping mall in Union County until traffic volume on Route 22 is substantially reduced.

Speaking at a traffic conference sponsored by the Union County Traffic Executive Conference, Gill explained that vehicular traffic on Route 22, between Scotch Plains and Hillside, averages 66,500 vehicles daily — one of the highest volumes in the state. This heavy traffic has resulted in a high accident rate, especially involving out-of-state drivers who are unfamiliar with the road, Gill stated.

The Union County Transportation Advisory Board last week introduced a concurrent resolution also advising against the construction of a major center in the county, specifically, the proposed Bamberger's-Alexander's center off Route 22 and South Springfield Avenue in Springfield.

A proposed center at the site of the Union Drive-In Theatre off Route 22 in Union also is being considered for construction. That application is in litigation.

The board tabled its resolution for further debate after hearing evidence from Newark attorney Robert Podvey, council for General Growth of Des Moines, Iowa, who is the developer of the mall for the retail store chains.

The resolution will be reviewed at the board's July 7 meeting.

In addition to those warnings, the municipalities of Kenilworth, Cranford and Westfield have come out publicly against the construction of the center in Springfield. Along with traffic congestion, a second concern of those towns is what adverse effect a center might have on local retail business.

Gill was specific about his objections to a center.

"Until such time as traffic volume on Route 22 is reduced by 20 to 25 percent, either through the completion of Route 78 or some other remedy, the introduction of a potential hazard in the form of a shopping mall is not desirable; furthermore, the feeder roads of Springfield Avenue in Cranford and Westfield and Meisel Avenues in Springfield are just not able to handle a major increase in traffic which a mall would bring," Gill stated.

The board resolution states: "The Transportation Advisory Committee fears that this mall will have unfavorable local traffic impacts on Springfield Avenue and ... the U.S. Route 22 clover leaf and unfavorable traffic and socio-commercial impacts in such neighboring communities as Cranford, Garwood, Kenilworth, Union Township and Westfield."

Gill, a member of the Assembly Transportation and Communications Committee, has said he will examine traffic flow on county highways and has advised "the need of close cooperation between local, county and state transportation units" in reducing traffic hazards on county roads.

Vocal groups perform today

The Jonathan Dayton Vocal Music Department will present its annual graduation concert in Halsey Hall today at 8 p.m.

The concert will include Dayton's three vocal groups, the Chorale, Concert Choir and Vocal Workshop. They will be joined by the three choirs from David Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth.

The combined choirs will perform three numbers. Other songs featured in the concert will be "Serenade to Music," "Alleluia," "O Jesu - Fili David" and "The Lord Bless You," which will be sung with the alumni.

Awards and presentations will also be given out that night. Tickets for the show may be purchased from choir members.

MY HUSBAND THE CHEMIST—Jose Garcia, husband of Beechwood School first-grade teacher Carolee Garcia, holds her class captive as he shows how the interaction of two chemicals can change two clear liquids into a vividly colored one. A chemist at Johnson and Johnson, Garcia explained about chemistry and showed the students how to prepare slides for microscopic viewing. The round hanging objects in the picture are the first-graders' representations of the planets.

Desegregation to be discussed

School desegregation and state support for public education will be the main topics addressed by representatives of the state's local school districts during the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) Delegate Assembly on Saturday in East Brunswick.

"For almost a year, a committee of local school board members studied the methods used to encourage school desegregation in New Jersey," said Kirk P. Wells, NJSBA president. "The group found widespread confusion — and in some cases total ignorance — about state rules, regulations and procedures for remedying racial imbalance in the schools."

He continued: "Most of the committee's recommendations deal with improved communications by the state with all districts — regardless of racial composition — about the history of, need for, and methods of promoting school desegregation. But, the group also found a need for the state to change its approach when seeking remedies for racial imbalance in the schools.

"Currently, in cases where a school district is ordered by the state to desegregate its schools, the ultimate tool used to enforce the directive is withdrawal of aid," said Wells. "The committee is asking NJSBA to seek a more positive strategy on the part of the state — one that would have the state provide start-up funds for costly desegregation programs, rather than threaten to take away aid."

"In addition, those districts that have implemented successful desegregation programs found them to be costly to establish and maintain," the NJSBA president commented. "In the past many of these districts received program aid from the federal government. But, with consolidation of federal education aid into block grants, this funding source has diminished considerably. The committee therefore believes that to successfully encourage desegregation, the state should offer the necessary financial resources."

Other issues to be addressed by the delegates include full funding of the state's education aid statutes and the timing of information to local districts about state aid.

Wells said, "Local school districts this year were again notified late in their budget-setting process that amounts of state aid they had been told to expect in November would not be forthcoming under the administration's 1982-83 budget. Since then, NJSBA has been working with the legislature for restoration of these funds, which total approximately $65 million. Two local school boards, Shamong Township in Burlington County and Bogota in Bergen County have submitted resolutions to redress this situation in the future. Another measure, from the Plainfield school board, calls for NJSBA to seek legislative action to restore this year's $65 million shortfall."

In all, the delegates will act on more than 20 resolutions submitted from various school boards on such topics as budget caps, penalties for passing stopped school buses, and loss of property tax revenue due to the Pinelands Preservation Act.

In addition, the local district representatives will elect a new slate of officers to lead the Association during 1982-83. The Delegate Assembly is the major policy-setting body for NJSBA, a federation of more than 600 local boards of education.

TV workshop being planned

Television for Teachers, a hands-on workshop, will be conducted at Caldwell College by Sister Vivien Jennings, O.P., director of the college communications program, on June 28. The workshop will offer simulated studio experiences with video cameras and recorders while exploring what is appropriate in available technology for the school setting. Cost and sources for purchasing videotape equipment will be discussed.

Sister Vivien will explain and evaluate creative video experiences the college has conducted with school age youngsters and ways to tailor projects to the classroom.

Cost for the workshop, which runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., is $7. Those wishing to register may contact the Office of Continuing Education, Caldwell College, Caldwell 07006 or call 228-4424, ext. 214.

Condos topic for landlords

Two speakers will participate in a panel discussion on "Condominium conversions: suitability, feasibility, costs, and return on investment," at the bi-monthly meeting of the Property Owners Association of New Jersey, Wednesday at the Coachman Inn, Cranford.

The lead-off speaker will be Wendell Smith, a lecturer on condominium law for the New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education. He is associated with a Woodbridge law firm that specializes in condominium conversions.

The second speaker will be Peter Smith of Maplewood, a specialist in the appraisal of commercial and apartment properties and tax assessor for Irvington.

A question and answer session will follow each speaker's presentation. The panel discussion will be preceded by a demonstration exhibit of a computerized system for apartment house management coordinating accounting and check writing.

Landlords who are not members of the Property Owners Association and who wish to attend the meeting may obtain further information by phoning POA at 467-2119 or 964-5010. The POA — a statewide organization headquartered in Union — is devoted to the interests of New Jersey multiple dwelling owners.

Letter

APPALLED AT HEARINGS
As a concerned citizen of Mountain-side I am writing this letter to my friends and fellow citizens who I hope will become aware of what is happening in our town. I have lived here all my life so I feel qualified to speak out now. I have never written a letter like this before, but after attending the public hearing at Borough Hall recently I feel compelled to do something. I was appalled at what I witnessed. My husband served on the police department for 28 years here so I have strong feelings where the police are concerned. To think that a member of this same police department should be subjected to such ridiculous charges is beyond my comprehension. I cannot understand how our mayor and council can sit and listen to the list of charges brought against Sgt. Della Serra by Chief Alder. I am sure their time, as well as the money they are spending for lawyer fees, could be put to much better use somewhere.

The charges relating to the sale of guns by Sgt. Della Serra have already been dropped by the Elizabeth court so I see no point in having his family and friends humiliated further by this farce being conducted in our town.

I sincerely hope many more citizens will join me at the next hearing on June 9 to show their support for the fine police department that I have been part of for the past 30 years.

Runnells Hospital cites volunteers

MOUNTAINSIDE—Four borough residents were honored last month at a luncheon for volunteers at John E. Runnells Hospital of Union County, Berkeley Heights.

Anna Mae Hanson was cited for 1,300 hours of service; Joan Baumler, 700 hours; Mary Sussko, 600 hours, and Brigitte Weickel, 400 hours.

LAURIE ANN RILEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riley of Iris Drive, Mountainside, has received a bachelor's degree in clinical psychology with a minor in education from Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa. A magna cum laude graduate, she was selected for inclusion in 'Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges' and received an alumni fellowship and scholarship.

Council discusses renovation costs

borough engineer, the construction, which will take place under Summit Road, involves the relocation of Mountain-side sanitary facilities in that area. The construction will be at no cost to the council. An agreement by Springfield is necessary in order to take action.

A proposal for a street light on Bridal Path, near Mohawk Drive, was initiated by a resident of that neighborhood. The council cannot approve the resolution until a petition is signed by the residents in the surrounding homes.

Weiner to instruct in summer program

MOUNTAINSIDE—Kay Weiner will be among the instructors who will teach in the "College for Kids" program to be offered at the Union College this summer.

A variety of subjects have been selected to provide an enjoyable learning experience for young people 9 to 16 years old. In a setting different from the usual classroom approach, youngsters will be encouraged to get involved, to be creative, and to do things with their hands as well as their minds. Dr. Frank Dee, dean of continuing education, said.

The object of the program is to stimulate interest by exposing the youngster to new subject matter in the hope that the young student will want to explore the material at greater length in the future, Dr. Dee said.

Weiner will teach "Stained Glass for Kids," which is designed for youngsters aged 11 to 15. The eight-session course will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., beginning July 6. Tuition is $30, not including the cost of materials needed for the course.

Nutritionist to talk to PTA members

Dr. A. Susser, nutritionist, will be guest speaker at the general Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the All-Purpose Room of the Deerfield School, Central Avenue.

Susser will discuss how students can earn higher grades; increase attention span and alter behavior through improved nutrition. The doctor also will discuss the hyperactive child and depression in women.

A vote on PTA officers for 1982-83 will be taken before Susser's talk.

Views On Dental Health

By SEANT T. FENTON, D.M.D.

THE ABCESSSED TOOTH

When an abcess hits you, you'll know it! The pain is severe and constant, with the side of the face swelling in a few days. This is an emergency.

The abcess normally starts with a cavity which is left untreated. The bacteria begin their treacherous work by destroying the outer case of enamel, then the inner (more sensitive) part of the tooth called the dentin. Eventually, the cavity will invade the innermost part of the tooth, called the pulp where the nerves and blood vessels are. Now, you've got trouble and you'll know by the pain. It is caused by the swelling of the blood vessels against the nerves since the pulp is surrounded by rigid walls.

The pulp loses the battle and slowly dies, leaving the tooth full of decomposed tissue and swarming with germs. When the germs reach the tip they will set about making an abcess. Then they will proceed to gradually destroy the surrounding jawbone and tissue.

A filling will not help a root abcess. The decision now (after the infection is treated) is whether to save the tooth by root canal therapy or have it extracted. This pain and possible tooth loss can be prevented by having cavities filled early.

MARIE DI GIORGIO, daughter of Albert DiGiorgio of Mountainside, graduated June 7 from Brown University, Providence, R.I. DiGiorgio, who was valedictorian of her class at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, earned a bachelor of science degree in computer science and a bachelor of arts degree in economics, and compiled a 4.0 cumulative grade point average. She also was a varsity cheerleader for three years. DiGiorgio will begin work for the Exxon Corp. in the fall.

PAMELA ANN MCSHEA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. McShea of South Springfield Avenue, Springfield, has graduated with a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Muhlenberg Hospital School of Nursing in Plainfield. McShea is a 1979 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. She will be working in obstetrics at Muhlenberg and in the fall will be attending Wagner College, Staten Island, N.Y.

ARC seeks volunteers

Young people ages 14 at Lyons Veterans Hospital are needed during the summer by the interested in volunteer work.

Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross, Donald Stouder, executive director, announced that an orientation program will be held at the hospital for those interested on June 30. Transportation will be provided by the Red Cross and potential volunteers should report to the Chapter House, 321 Elm St., Westfield, at 9 a.m. A brief orientation session will follow at the Chapter House upon returning from Lyons and should conclude by 1 p.m.

This program provides an opportunity to ascertain interest in particular health fields as well as providing a significant service to the community. Stouder said that assignments are available in all areas of the medical center, including recreation, library, pharmacy, laboratory, chaplain service, office work, occupational and manual arts, therapy, photography and assisting nursing personnel on all types of wards.

Volunteers usually work one day a week and transportation is provided by the Red Cross from the Chapter to the hospital and back. Potential volunteers should call the Red Cross at 232-7090 and arrange to fill out an application prior to June 25.

Flea market rescheduled

SPRINGFIELD—The combined flea market, book and bake sale sponsored by the Historical Society was rained out June 6 and has been rescheduled for Sunday.

The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 150 Morris Ave., at the corner of Springfield Avenue. June DeFino, 376-7523, is chairwoman.

Panel discussion set by alcoholism group

Toughlove Inc., a self-help organization for parents troubled by teenage behavior, will be described at a panel discussion sponsored by the Union County Council on Alcoholism tomorrow from 8:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

The agency's alcohol awareness seminar, "Alcohol Abusing Youth: Impact on the Family System," will present two professionals and two non-professionals — all with experiences in the area of dealing with alcohol abusing adolescents, at the council's offices, 300 North Ave., Westfield.

After the 9 a.m. coffee and registration, the panel members will discuss the difficulties faced by parents of substance abusing youth and ways to deal with the resulting family problems. Joan Collins, a representative of the N.J. Division of Youth and Family Services, will describe her professional experience dealing with families and adolescent family members. She will define the problem and discuss ways of dealing with it.

Other panel members are Jean Baker Wunder and Carol Dixon of Toughlove, a self-help group of parents who have organized to support each other in dealing with adolescent children whose behavior is regarded as intolerable.

Moderating the discussion will be Judy Knowlton, certified alcoholism counselor and board member of Today Inc., a corporation dedicated to planning and securing funding for inpatient services to adolescents in trouble with alcohol and drugs.

Pingry cites Guss

SPRINGFIELD—The Director of College Guidance at The Pingry School, Hillside, David Allan, has announced that Debra Guss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Guss of Chimney Ridge

Child abuse documentary topic

"He wouldn't stop crying, so I hit him. He cried even louder, so I hit him again."

This is from "Living Hell — A Frank Look at Child Abuse," a documentary videotape made by Frank F. Calo as a class project in a course on broadcasting at the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University.

Perhaps for the first time, a documentary on child abuse plays down graphic horror. Beaten children, their faces and bodies puffed, bloody or bandaged, are not shown. Instead, young producer Calo conveys brutality through words — including interviews with two convicted child-abusers, who are seen in silhouette in the 25-minute program.

"We have found that explicit pictures of assaulted children turn people off — they don't like to look at the victims," Calo said. "This would have defeated the tape's purpose."

"Living Hell" will be distributed to child-abuse centers and may be aired on cable television. "My goal was to make a videotape that can help others through a format suggested by the Association for Children of New Jersey, a private, statewide advocacy organization in Newark," Calo said. Citizen-supported, the association sponsors programs in public awareness, independent research and community assistance on a variety of problems.

The project began when Calo, a junior at the State University of New Jersey's Newark College of Arts and Sciences, was asked by the course instructor to "look over a script."

Professor Nathan Shoehalter, a longtime producer in broadcasting both at Rutgers and in New York, thought the script outline and its theme had possibilities for his students when it was brought to him by Carl Moore, associate director of the Association for Children of New Jersey.

Calo, president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the Rutgers Newark chapter of the national broadcasting society, asked if he could produce a documentary based on the outline. "I knew that the problem needed all the new public information that it could get," Calo recalled. The project began in November of last year and was completed late this spring. Moore was consultant to the project.

Calo spent the next few months gathering information and arranging interviews with abusers, psychiatrists, lawyers and a foster parent of abused children. "From the outset, we low-keyed the horror, but emphasized important comment and opinion by authorities and graphically reported the actual abuse in the words of the abusers," Calo explained.

In professional and public programs on the problem, Moore's organization had used a slide presentation featuring grisly pictures of abused children.

"Some people were repelled by the mere announcement of the program using the slides," he said. "Others, after seeing them, expressed anger at the abusive parents. The disbelief and anger are part of the problem."

Leona was a member of the real-life "cast" of the videotape. She was interviewed by producer Calo, assisted by his director, Nicholas DeMaio, also a Rutgers student. Leona had adopted three abused children. It took several years of court action before she received full custody.

"She told us horrifying stories of beatings by the children's mother, who would entertain men in her one-room apartment," Calo said.

"The children would have to face the wall," Leona relates in the tape, "and not say a word. If they turned around or spoke, they would be severely beaten."

The children went hungry many times. They lived on a daily peanut-butter sandwich, their only meal. This went on for weeks. After Leona got custody, she was mentally abused by the mother, who had also threatened her with bodily harm, she reports in the Calo interview.

The two interviewed abusers are undergoing psychiatric treatment. Mental strain was one reason for beating their children, they said. "He wouldn't stop crying, so I hit him; he cried louder, so I hit him again," one parent said.

In 1977, there were more than 700,000 cases of child abuse in the 50 states. This works out to about one case a minute, the film states. While the number of cases is rising, the percentage rise is slowing each year. The biggest percentage of abuse cases are for neglect only, but many do not consider this a serious type of abuse.

The tape also suggests answers to these questions: How can I tell if a child has been abused, and what can I do about it? What are the warning signs? The signs, the tape points out, include the following: Children who seem unduly afraid of their parents, are fearful in general or are observed confined to crib or playpen for long periods of time.

"Living Hell" is expected to make the needed impact when shown at clinics and elsewhere "without the usual horror stuff," Calo said.

He and DeMaio were assisted on the project by Rutgers-Newark students Peter D. Ciriello, Ana M. Goncalves of Irvington, Michael R. Nunno, Helen Perovich, Anthony F. Salvo and Scott H. Silvani.

Dr. Donald A. Borchardt, a member of the theater arts and speech department at the Newark College of Arts and Sciences, served as faculty adviser.

Professor Shoehalter, who is chairman of the theater arts and speech department, gave the tape high praise, citing its quieter approach to portraying the problems of child abuse.

"The tape is the culmination of a seven-month project that gave the students a real-life, creative opportunity and, at the same time, enabled them to perform a useful public service."

If made commercially, the tape would have cost about $30,000. Professor Shoehalter gave Calo three points of well-earned academic credit.

Toy drive under way in Ayuda campaign

The fourth annual "people power," or Ayuda toy drive, sponsored by Rahway State Prison, has gotten under way. It will continue accepting donations through Nov. 30.

Rick Rowe, an inmate of the prison, founded the project and has coordinated it since 1979. The drive, which relies solely on donations from the public and private sectors, distributes toys to needy children throughout the state in December.

Ayuda accepts donations of new or slightly used toys, wrapping paper and volunteers. Money is also accepted to help defray the costs for the Ayuda hot line and office supplies.

This year the toy drive workshop will be held in the Rahway Prison Camp instead of in the prison. This will allow the public to see the toys being collected.

Sea-Land Services Inc. has donated three trailers and two containers, large enough to store the toys and to work in. A volunteer force of correction officers, police and firemen throughout the state will collect the toys from 130 drop-off sites throughout the state.

Donations may be left at fire houses in Roselle, Springfield, Summit,

Program to focus on speech, hearing

Children with speech through the week of Aug. and language problems can be helped during the summer months, thanks to a special six-week program to be offered by the Department of Speech and Hearing at Overlook Hospital, Summit. The program will begin the week of July 5 and run children from 7 to 10 years old will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday mornings. Each group will be limited to four children.

According to John E. Buckley, chief of the Department of Speech/Language Pathology and Audiology, an evaluation and therapy may be indicated if a child has an obvious speech problem which calls attention to itself or if the child cannot be understood. "The child may withdraw as a result of not being able to communicate," he explained. "The problem can affect a child's learning and relating to others as well as the child's sense of well-being and independence." All children must be evaluated prior to enrollment in the program to determine the type and severity of the problem. If a child has been evaluated by another speech pathologist, results should be made available prior to the initiation of therapy. Therapy will be administered by the Overlook staff of speech/language pathologists, a group with many years of experience working with children suffering from a variety of speech and language disorder. They are all certified by American Speech-Language and Hearing Association and hold master's degrees in Speech Pathology. Persons interested in further information about the special summer program may call Buckley at 522-2283.

Hypertension screening set

Elizabeth General Hospital, in cooperation with the American Heart Association, will offer free blood pressure screening to the public today from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Conference Room 4 at the medical center, 925 East Jersey St., Elizabeth.

Board plans talks on jail

The possible renovation and construction of the Union County Jail will be discussed by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders at a meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Freeholders Meeting Room, County Administration Building, Elizabeth.

The screening can detect any incidence of high blood pressure, often called the 'silent killer' because its victims may not be aware that they have the disease.

ERIC RAY AND JOYCE LEIGH

Concert Wednesday

Popular Country Western sounds from yesterday and today will be heard on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Echo Lake Park, Westfield, when the Summer Arts Festival presents a "Country Music Revue."

Mindy J. and the Cyclone Rangers, the duo of Eric Ray and Joyce Leigh and Dancer Pat Cannon will star at the free evening concert sponsored by the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

Lead vocalist for the Cyclone Rangers, Mindy J. plays fiddle, rhythm guitar and harmonica. She has been performing since she was nine. Together with the Cyclone Rangers, she has opened shows for Maria Muldaur, Johnny Paycheck, Leon Russell, Jerry Jeff Walker and the late John Belushi.

The duo of Eric Ray and Joyce Leigh hails from both sides of the Mason Dixon Line. Eric, a Buffalo, N.Y., native who plays bass, toured and recorded with J. D. Souther, Martha and the Vandellas, King Biscuit Boy and Kinky Friedman. Joyce Leigh, who plays guitar, hails from Norfolk Va. She sang with groups in Texas and Colorado and toured with theatre groups before becoming a Country Western singer.

Bringing country music to life with exhibitions of dance from down-home clogging to Cowboy two-stepping is Pat Cannon. Pat has toured through Europe in shows with Razy Bailey, Ricky Skaggs and Jimmy C. Newman. Since October, she starred at New York's Vista International Hotel.

Produced by Geoff Berne - American Arts Productions, this evening's performance will move to the Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Ave. and New Providence Rd., Mountainside, if it rains.

The Summer Arts Festival is funded through budget appropriations, a grant from Musician's Local AF of M No. 151 and local community minded industry. The next evening concert will be Italian Night on Wednesday, June 23. Additional information and free Summer Arts Festival schedules can be obtained by calling 352-8431.

Synagogue will present certificates to graduates

The Religious School of Congregation Israel of Springfield, Mountain Avenue and Shunpike Road, will mark the close of the school year Saturday morning after the congregation's services. The services will begin at 9 a.m.

Certificates of completion will be presented to students of the graduating class. The brief program will be followed by a kiddush with Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Schneider serving as hosts.

Recipients of the certificates will be Glenn Baltuch, Gary Bernstein, Jonathan Coria, Jerry Lipschitz, Dana Shipitofsky, Laura Talarsky and Mark Winatsky. The certificates will be presented by Bernice Edelcreek, chairman of the school board.

David Schneider will serve as chazan for the Shachrit and Musaf services.

THURSDAY DEADLINE
All items other than spot news should be in our office by 4 p.m. Thursday

Registration can be made for the school year which begins in September. Students, eight years of age and/or in the third year of public school, will be accepted for the Religious School's first grade. Children will be accepted in the upper grades of the school "if they have the Jewish educational level required for these classes."

Additional information can be obtained by calling the school office at 467-9666 or from Mrs. Edelcreek at 376-3283.

Puppet ministry set for church service

"God's Lovin' Hands" Puppet Ministry will present the gospel message Saturday at the regular first Saturday of the month spiritual healing service in the Second Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth. The group, composed of 15 young people, is from Calvary Baptist Church, Matawan.

The service will begin at noon. Additional information can be obtained by calling 352-1659.

AT THE TOP—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ganek, left, of Hawthorne Avenue, Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Skuratov of Short Hills attend the annual dinner dance of the Auxiliary of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, held this year at Windows on the World, New York. The affair, chaired by the two women, resulted in a donation of $120,000 earmarked for the group's project to renovate and modernize the 19-bed Intensive Care Unit. Both women are members of the auxiliary's board.

Annual installation held at a Flo Okin luncheon

The Flo Okin Cancer Relief, Inc. held its annual installation luncheon June 2 at Mayfair Farms, West Orange. Roz Rink, outgoing president, offered a welcome to the new officers, and Amy Arlein, chairman of the board, gave the invocation. She also served as installing officer for the 1982-1983 organizational year.

Linda Renkoff of Union, outgoing fourth vice president and program chairman, served as installation com-

Joint meeting slated Monday by REGM unit

Gale Feingold of Springfield, newly-installed president of the Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial For Cancer Research (REGM), will preside over a combination board and general meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield. The meeting will begin the fiscal year 1982 to 1983.

Candidates for recipients of grants will be presented and voted upon.

Plans for the September membership tea will be discussed by Marilyn Levy, membership vice president. She will take names of prospective members. Additional information can be obtained by calling her at 762-3383.

The organization was founded more than 32 years ago by eight young women in memory of their friend, Ruth Estrin Goldberg, who died of cancer at age 28. There are now more than 500 volunteers from the Essex and Union county areas. To date, REGM has donated more than $300,000 for cancer research.

Additional information about REGM can be obtained by writing to REGM, P.O. Box 194, Springfield, N. J. 07081.

Flea market, sale set by Ladies Guild

The Ladies Guild of Alexian Brothers Hospital, 655 East Jersey St., Elizabeth, will sponsor an indoor flea market and white elephant sale June 26 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Grassmann Hall of the hospital.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 351-9000, ext. 515.

mittee chairman. Among those handling reservations were Bess Walsh and Marilyn Pine, both of Springfield.

In addition to Audrey Model, who was installed as president, Karen Kessler of Springfield was installed as first vice president, Linda Renkoff as third vice president, and Carol Blum of Springfield, financial secretary.

Included among those installed to committees and projects were Esta Perle of Mountainside, games; Springfield women, Rita Braunstein, golden book; Bess Walsh, golden book, reservations; Marilyn Pine, Shop Rite Scrip, reservations; Gale Stadlin, lox box manpower; Lezlie Winter, fashion show; Toby Koppekin, Shop-A-Rama, and Linda Kirsch, historian, and Union women, Gail Katz, golden book; Marcia Kendler, social and service auction, and Iris Rispoli, golden book typist.

Flo Okin Cancer Relief, Inc. is a non-profit organization, which has a staff of volunteers. Funds raised from projects are administered by the social service committee for the care of individual cancer patients. Gale Stadlin serves as secretary and associate.

The organization makes it possible for patients to receive pre and post operative care, X-ray and cobalt treatments, homemaker service, blood transfusions, hospital equipment, visiting nurse service and chemotherapy.

The group was instrumental in the establishment of the Flo Okin Oncologic Center at the Newark Beth Israel Medical Center and has continued to provide special diagnostic and therapeutic equipment needed at the Oncologic Center. The organizations also finances the chemotherapy program at the Medical Center.

The patients served are from the greater Union and Essex county areas.

CDA final meeting of season planned

Court Patricia 1254, Catholic Daughters of the Americas, will hold its final meeting of the season June 21 at 7:45 p.m. in Bernard Hall, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Prospect Street, Maplewood.

The Catholic Daughter of the Year will be named.

Helen Notte and Nellie Macaluso will serve as hostesses.

ACCEPTS CHECK—Lester M. Bornstein, executive director of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, accepts check for $1,000 from members of the Sara Slifer Orthopedic Relief, a Newark-based philanthropic organization, dedicated to aiding orthopedic patients by supplying equipment and providing funds to health care facilities for orthopedic research. Above are, left to right, Dorothy Rubinstein of Springfield, and Union residents, Jula Gelfic, Sophia Bolton and Molly Cohen, president of the organization.

Cantors concert set Sunday in temple

Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, will present the Cantors' Concert Ensemble of New Jersey Sunday at 8 p.m. in the temple on Baltusrol Way and Temple Drive. The program, "An Evening of Jewish Music," will include Yiddish, American Jewish, Israeli, Hebrew and liturgical selections.

The members of the ensemble perform without pay, and proceeds from the concert support the Scholarship Fund of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Cantor Richard Nadel of Temple Beth Ahm is a member of the ensemble and one of the featured soloists.

Arrangements for the program were made by a temple committee supervised by Eleanor Rice, religious affairs chairman.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the temple at 376-0539.

JAPAN RECORD

In the 1980 school year, which ended in March 1981, the number of pupils and students in Japan totaled a record 27,450,000—compared with 19,430,000 in the 1950 school year.

Generic food economical

Have you tried any of the generic or plain-labeled food or other products? The generic items may provide the opportunity for consumers to save as they become familiar with the products in the supermarket. Prices of some plain-labeled products may be up to 30 to 40 percent lower than those of similar brand-name items. Generic foods must meet all government quality and labeling standards. They are as nutritious as more expensive brands, but they may be less uniform in size, shape and color.

According to a food distribution specialist at Cornell University, most consumers have found generic fruits and vegetables to be of good value, but have been less pleased with some of the paper and manufactured products.

Additional information can be obtained by writing to REGM, P.O. Box 194, Springfield, N. J. 07081.

'Famine' event set by youths of church

A group of about 25 youths from Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield, will participate in a "planned famine" event and "at the same time do something to help the millions around the world that are forced to go hungry each day." The "planned famine" will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

The teenagers will go without food and at the same time share games and discussions to learn about world hunger. They also will raise money from family and friends to fight hunger. The funds will be used to buy supplies for poor communities hit by disasters as well as help "less fortunate people by improving their health care and farming methods."

The funds raised will be channeled through World Vision International, an interdenominational Christian humanitarian agency. The agency is involved in relief projects in African, Asian and Latin American countries. Additional information can be obtained by calling

IT'S PARTY TIME—The Cafe Mozart caterers display delicious hot and cold dishes offered at the recent 25th anniversary party for E.K. Cumming and Co. in Elizabeth. Pictured are helpers Rosie Gaiser, Mary Ann Napoli, and Cafe Mozart owners Renate and Henry Augenstein.

Cafe Mozart's caterers just right for summer

By GAIL CASALE
Now is quite a busy time for planning parties of all occasions. Who you choose to cater that special affair could be the most important factor contributing to its success. The Cafe Mozart, 1998 Morris Ave., Union, known for its fine reputation as a restaurant, would be the ideal choice. Having a party catered by professionals like Cafe Mozart will turn your event into a memorable experience that your guests will talk about for times to come. Owners Henry and Renate Augenstein handle each occasion individually, tailoring a special menu and providing an appropriate atmosphere to accommodate your party's needs.

Allow me to set the scene for a Cafe Mozart catered event. Perhaps you are of German origin and would like to enjoy some of the tastes and customs of your heritage. One such local businessman requested Schwaebisch-type cooking and received more than just that.

How would you like to have lovely girls dressed in flowing dirndls serve you delicious German dishes, accompanied by your favorite ethnic music? Quite suitably, the menu consisted of homemade noodles called "spatzles," liver dumplings, German potato salad and game food—all reminiscent of the Stuttgart or "Black Forest" section of Germany. Tell me where else you can get such creativity and knowledgeable advice from a catering outfit? You'll be pleased to know that an affair of the "Stuttgarter" type starts at a reasonable $8.95, complete with Dinkelacker beer and imported wine from the region. One thing you can be assured of at Cafe Mozart is the freshness of their foods. Nothing is frozen; everything is deliciously homemade. Imagine having to stuff more than 1,200 mushrooms individually? Daughter Sylvia is one who can take credit for this feat.

May I also suggest their authentic Viennese tables, a welcomed addition to any kind of catered party.

Other caterers offer an Americanized version of a Viennese table, but Cafe Mozart delivers the real thing. The term actually originated from Viennese "Austrian" pastries such as fresh fruit tarts, Sacher Torte (fancy chocolate cake), Linzer Torte, Hasel Nuss Torte and various other tasty pastries served on a traditional glass platter. Think of all the time that goes into preparing these cakes composed of fresh, juicy fruits; but, you dessert lovers, tell me, who wouldn't prefer freshly baked over freezer stored any day? Incidentally, the Cafe Mozart's pastry chef is renowned for his work at the famous Four Seasons Restaurant in New York. Another item to add to your catering menu is the ever popular quiche. Light and extremely satisfying in the warmer weather, Cafe Mozart specializes in many different kinds.

Every detail beginning from the planning, to the preparing and actual serving of courses is skillfully supervised by the Augensteins to insure that your party will run smoothly. The Augensteins have been in the catering business officially for two years, when Cafe Mozart also obtained its liquor license by the public's popular demand.

So whether you're planning a Polish wedding, Italian christening or maybe even an American shower, Cafe Mozart's outside catering can accommodate any private or commercial party from 40 to 400 people.

Reservations are made by appointment only. Call 686-6633 to arrange a consultation.

SHU students learn ancient music

Fourteen Seton Hall University students, members of a class studying the ancient tradition of Gregorian chant, sang during the celebration of a Latin Mass in the University Chapel recently.

"With the opening windows of Pope John XXIII and with the use of the indigenous language now for the Mass, the great Latin tradition and beauty of the chant could be lost," said Prof. William K. Burns of Maplewood, who instituted and teaches the course at Seton Hall.

His interest in chant began during graduate work at New England Conservatory in Boston, where he studied under the leading American authority on chant and joined the Schola Cantorum which performed the chants. During doctoral studies in Germany, he also observed and learned authentic chant recitation at the Benedictine Monastery at Solesmes in France.

"The monks there are the guardians of chant for the Church," said Burns, who is a hymnologist, conductor, composer and consultant in the field of church music as well as teacher and musicologist. An ordained Methodist minister and member of the Memorial Methodist Church in Maplewood, he teaches a course in chant and cinema at Seton Hall as well as classical and sacred music.

Seton Hall is one of the few universities that offers a course in Gregorian chant.

"With a student body that includes minor seminary students as well as music majors, I felt the course would offer them the opportunity to explore a thousand years of this great musical tradition," Burns said.

When first presented, the Seton Hall class in chant interested mostly seminary students, but the current class includes men and women students of several majors and different ethnic and religious backgrounds who performed the chants at the recent Mass. In medieval times, the chant was performed solely by monks.

"I recognize the students can't possibly learn to sing chant in one semester, but I am amazed at the quality with which they sing," Burns said.

The chant notation is the predecessor to modern-day notes, and is depicted in illuminated hand-painted manuscripts displayed in libraries and museums throughout the world. In the course, the students learn the distinctive notation, the terminology, some of the history of the form, and the use of the foremost chants within the liturgical structure of the Church. In performance, they sang from the same "Liber usualis" text created and used by medieval European monks, square notes and all.

"This course has given me the opportunity to experience a fading musical tradition, with the satisfaction in knowing that in some small way I am sustaining the art of Gregorian chant," said one student. In the future,

Burns hopes students will include interested choir directors and other church musicians in the area who want to learn about this aspect of musical culture.

Members of the class who participated in the special Latin Mass include Patricia Antonelli of Bloomfield, Barbara Bongiovanni of Springfield, Mark Burke of Livingston, Ed Czarcinski of Somerville, Dave Gonos of Hillsdale, Rod Jenkins of Montclair, Joann Marinelli of Wayne, John Mastria of Rumson, Michael Pellegrino of Belleville, Tom Powers of Caldwell, Al Sachs of Rutherford, Michael Washington of Irvington and Landrea Trower of Newark. Dance classes scheduled for adults and teenagers

Summer Dance '82, a wide range of dance classes for adults and teenagers ages 14 and over, will begin at the Y-WHA of Metropolitan New Jersey, 760 Northfield Ave., West Orange, the week of June 28 and continue through Aug. 23. The classes, all taught by professional dancers, are offered Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings and Wednesday evenings.

Lisa Taylor, a member of Dan Wagoner and the Dancers, will teach Monday mornings in July. In August, Monday morning class will be taught by Peentz Dubble, co-director and performer with the Improvisational Dance Ensemble and its presenting organization, the Warren Street Performance Loft in New York City.

Leon Felder, who performed with his own company at Gill/St. Bernard's School in Gladstone and the Horace Mann School and the Cunningham Studio, will teach two jazz classes, one on Tuesday mornings and the other on Wednesday evenings.

Modern dance on Wednesday mornings will be led by Julie Maloney, artistic director and choreographer of her own company. Anita Feldman will lead a class in tap on Thursday evenings. Feldman has performed in Chicago, New York and New Jersey.

Registration is now in progress at the Y. The beginners' classes will meet from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with the intermediates from 10:30 to noon. The class for beginners on Wednesday evenings will meet from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., with intermediates following from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday evening classes for beginners are scheduled from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m., and for intermediates from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m.

Classes run for eight weeks and are open to the community at a fee of $45, with four-week sessions offered at $25.

Elks telethon to aid handicapped children

MRS. CATHERINE SKARBEK of Linden has completed 25 years with Bristol-Myers Products. She is a customer services representative in the Sales Service Dept.

LEO M. MULLER of Roselle has joined Iscar Metals, a manufacturer of carbide tools, as product manager for turning and milling systems.

THERESA S. MAUL of Springfield has been promoted to vice president, account management, by Douglas Turner Inc., Newark advertising agency. She had been account executive.

JEROME A. PERLSTEIN has been promoted to sales manager by Tenney Engineering, Union. He had been a senior application engineer.

ALYN J. ROOS of Union has marked his 25th anniversary as a member of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s sales force. He is a sales representative in the Linden office.

UNION CENTER NATIONAL BANK directors have announced a dividend of 30 cents per share for the quarter ending June 30, payable July 1 to holders of record June 18.

KEVIN J. MURPHY II of Roselle Park, manager of United Counties Trust Co.'s Rahway Avenue office, Elizabeth, has been promoted to assistant treasurer. Other promotions announced by the bank: James Reinhold to assistant treasurer and assistant secretary; Barry Hall, William J. Peper and Thomas W. White to assistant treasurer; George J. Dittenhoefer and Madeline F. Luke to assistant secretary.

DR. REID NAGLE has been elected executive vice president, administration, at City Federal Savings. He had been senior vice president, economics and planning.

ALFRED SOETEBER has been appointed director of plant and maintenance for Memorial General Hospital, Union. He had been director of plant operations for St. Vincent's Hospital, Montclair.

"Help keep a smile on the face of a handicapped child," is the slogan of the first annual New Jersey State Elks Crippled Children's Telethon.

The telethon, held at Bergen Community College in Paramus tomorrow, will be cablecast live by UA-Columbia Cablevision from 7 p.m. to 12 a.m. on UACC-Channel 3 and 0 (28).

The purpose of the telethon is to raise funds for a dormitory-therapy building at the Elks Camp Moore for handicapped children in Haskell, New Jersey. The goal is $150,000.

The 150 Elks Lodges in the state work as a group to support and operate the camp which has facilities for 650 children with more than 12 different handicaps during the summer camping season. The camp operates at no cost to parents.

The telethon, cablecast by UA-Columbia, will be transmitted via microwave links to several other cable companies throughout North and Central Jersey. These cable companies include Sammons Communications, Morris Cablevision, Suburban Cablevision, Vision Cable, CATV of Elizabeth and the Storer Cable Communications TV systems.

This inter-connect of cable systems will provide coverage of the event to almost 500,000 cable homes extending as far south as Freehold and East Windsor, New Jersey and their manager Lou Duva.

Insulin Pump Club to meet on June 21

The New Jersey Insulin Pump Club will sponsor a seminar on Emergency Medicine and the Insulin Pump at the Millburn Public Library June 21.

The club's members are a relatively new development in the control of diabetes. Members of the Club will speak at the seminar as will several doctors and representatives of the various pump manufacturers.

Ralph Snodsmith TIMELY TIPS

- The gardening season is well under way. The brilliance of the billions of Spring blooms is evidence of reduced damage this past winter.
1. The Gypsy Moth caterpillars are here! Caterpillars may be controlled NOW with contact and stomach pesticides. READ THE LABEL.
 2. Gypsy Moth and other caterpillars may be controlled with the biological insecticide Bacillus THURINGIENSIS (BT). Read the label.
 3. Mechanical traps may also be used to suppress the Gypsy Moth caterpillars.
 4. Water conservation must continue. Replace leaky or worn out garden hoses and sprinklers. Install drip irrigation systems in vegetable, flower and ornamental gardens. Save one of our most precious resources, WATER.
 5. Continue weed clean-up. Broadleaf and grassy weeds may be controlled with post-emergent chemicals now.
 6. Prepare hanging baskets, window boxes, and planters for outdoor use. Prepared soil mixes will save time and money.
 7. Feed trees and shrubs now to assure continued growth. Remember, a healthy growing plant avoids many problems.
 8. Crawling insects around the home may be stopped now. Application of insecticides in and around the home must follow label directions. Read the label.
 9. Feed garden plants such as tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, etc. Proper nutrients will greatly increase the harvest.
 10. Spray equipment should be readied for use. Replace drippy, worn equipment. Quality is a must for spray equipment.
 11. Start the 1982 compost pile. Leaves from spring cleanup and grass clippings that have not been treated with weed killers may be used.
 12. Stake or cage tomatoes before they get to be large plants.
 13. Pest control in the vegetable patch is at hand. Always Read the label and follow the manufacturer's recommended rates and directions.
 14. Beautify your surroundings and keep out animals. Fencing will help.
 15. Keep your lawn looking good all summer. Apply a fungicide now to head off later problems.
 16. Prune any winter damage to trees and shrubs. Broken branches provide excellent entry points for diseases and insects.
 17. Plant tender annuals now. These include annual flowers and vegetables such as tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, squash, etc. Be sure to water-in all transplants. A starter solution of fertilizer may be added at the same time.
 18. Apply mulches to proper depth to provide weed control in the garden. Mulching also conserves moisture.
 19. Broadleaf weed control should continue in the lawn. It is often necessary to make a second application.
 20. The "Number One" rule of the Garden Hotline — when using a pesticide, "Read the Label. Follow the Manufacturer's Recommended Rates and Directions."
