Board backs group battling $$$ losses

BY PHILIP HARTMAN
The Union County Regional Board of Education announced Tuesday night its support of an education group that is attempting to restore money lost by districts in state minimum aid cuts this past June.

Supervisors, N.J. Association of School Business Officials and the N.J. PTA association.

The regional district was one of the state districts hit hardest, losing $1,012,435. Also, the local Springfield district lost $202,058.

David Hart, a board member from Mountainside, said the only way districts will be returned at least part of the aid is if parents, boards of education and other education groups pressure members of the legislature.

He stressed that pro-aid to school legislators must impress their constituents that the money is needed "now, not later."

Springfield board member Natalie Waldt called for public campaign to restore the funds. "The key is to have parents write to legislators," Waldt stated.

The cut to the regional district has necessitated budget cuts thus far amounting to $490,215. Buildings and grounds, transportation and staff were the areas cut; however, the board has said it will maintain curriculum through further budget reductions or the use of surplus funds.

The coalition's action comes on the heels of several aid restoration bills which have not passed the legislature.

Other appeals from school districts have been ineffective.

"We need this money immediately, if not sooner," Hart said.

"It is important school boards voice their opinion... when the money was cut, most of the school boards didn't voice their opinion... (the state) senate president said only two boards voiced their opinion strongly," he said.

Also, the board of education has called the cuts unfair because they came after school budgets were already approved.

Hart called for a more equitable method of funding.

"I urge the state to establish a stable means of funding education. We've had a crisis with funding for the past four years. It's not fair after budgets are made to cut money," he asserted.

In other business, the board has called an open public meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday to discuss declining enrollment and future plans for the four regional schools.

The district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson in Clark, David Brearley in Kenilworth and Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights.

Also, members of the David Brearley Band Parents Association said at the meeting they are concerned with the hiring of a new marching band director. Current director Robert Ridsen is resigning his position effective Oct. 31 and so far no one has been named to fill his position.

Approval was given at the meeting for 17 auditorily handicapped students from Governor Livingston to attend a conference for deaf students who plan to attend college. The New York State School Counselors College Conference will be held Oct. 17 and 18 in White Plains, N.Y.

Pass resolution opposing mall

BY SUE SWEENEY
The Mountainside Borough Council passed a resolution opposing the proposed Springfield Mall at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

After careful consideration, a task force that was originated to view the impact the mall would have on the residents of Mountainside decided to oppose the mall proposal.

The task force, which began in August, was comprised of Councilman Louis Maas, Police Chief William Alder, Borough Engineer Robert Koser and Borough Administrator James Roberts.

The task force was opposed for five reasons. The most predominant factor in the opposition of the mall was the increase in traffic. The traffic would cause problems on Route 22, Springfield Avenue and the possibility of congestion on the residential streets of Mountainside.

The council expressed its concern for the cost of emergency service and where the responsibility will lie for that cost.

Ricciardi said "The money is safe, however, with high inflation and banks having problems, interest rates go down. It is better to limit the amount of funds intelligently."

Viglianti, who had made the proposal of utilizing additional banks, stressed that "our present banks are not in trouble." The additional banks are just a precaution. This will allow the council access to monies elsewhere if money gets tied up in a bank that defaults.

The council approved a resolution to reject alarm panel bids. Because of ambiguity in the bid document, companies were not bidding on the same package. The council will readvertise for bids to be received by Oct. 22.

The council approved a resolution to reject bids for janitorial services. The council will readvertise for bids to be accepted by Oct. 22.

The council passed a resolution to return a cash bond of $1,000 to P.J. Enterprises for the completion of the snack bar located at the community pool.

SWORN IN—Robert A. Honecker, Jr., left, of Mountainside, is shown recently being sworn in as assistant prosecutor of Monmouth County at court house in Freehold. With him are his wife, Kim Roberts, Prosecutor Alexander Lehrer and Judge Thomas Shebell, Jr. (right). Honecker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Honecker, Sr., is a graduate of the Delaware Law School, and Franklin and Marshall College (Pa.). He will work in the juvenile trial division.

Councilwoman Marilyn Hart also expressed her concern for the possible strain on the volunteer fire department.

Councilman Robert Viglianti said that he was "personally offended" that a few people had accused the council of not taking time to view the mall situation before making a final decision. Viglianti and Hart stressed that the council had discussed the proposal at several meetings and a task force was appointed to view the situation before a decision was made.

Mayor Thomas Ricciardi said that at a meeting of the Union County mayors, the mayor of Springfield stated that opposition to the mall has been made thus far, without expertise.

In other business, the council approved the authorizing of an investment policy. The six additional banks approved are Inter Community Bank of Springfield, Summit & Elizabeth Trust Company of Summit, Howard Savings Bank of Clark, Somerset Trust Company of Watchung, National State Bank of Rahway and Commercial Trust Company of New Jersey of Jersey City.

The council approved a resolution regarding authorization of signatures on checks. The process is that if the Mayor is absent, Council President Abraham Suckno would be authorized to sign the checks. In Suckno's absence the responsibility is handed to the borough treasurer and then to the borough administrator.

The summation of the Raymond Della Serra hearing has been made available to the council and their attorney, David Wallace. Wallace will now prepare a document to help the council. The date for resuming the hearings will be determined after the document is completed.

David Robert Calisevski of Old Tote Road and William Joseph Laurent of Poplar Avenue were approved by the council for membership in the Mountainside Fire Department.

The first reading of the fire lane ordinance came with a slight change. The appropriate lining of the fire lanes at the establishments in the borough will be determined by the fire department instead of the police department.

Metropolitan 'Y' schedules over 400 programs

Members and non-members of the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey are eligible to register for more than 400 programs and activities in fine and performing arts, physical education, swimming, self help, skills development and Jewish culture.

Most classes at the Y, which is located in West Orange, will begin the week of Sept. 26.

This year, every department has expanded, with additional health and physical fitness programs, early childhood and grade school activities, more college workshop and leadership programs for teens and many new classes for adults.

Attention to every developmental stage and interest of the youngest toddler through the kindergarten age child is the focus of programs in the Y's Early Childhood Department. In addition, collaborative pre-school programs are offered in conjunction with the Jewish Center of West Orange. Phyllis Magid, director of the Early Childhood Department, is available at the Y to assist parents in selecting and coordinating programs for their young children.

Classes and clubs for grade schoolers range from drama, dance and fine arts workshops, to sport clinics, swimming and gymnastics classes and crafts groups, to an opportunity to spend a fun evening with Mom or Dad. Additional computer classes have been added to the offerings so that youngsters may develop an awareness of the computer society.

The Youth Services Department offers teens from junior high through high school a full complement of social clubs, sports clinics and drama and fine arts workshops, plus ski and outdoor adventure trips, including the popular whitewater rafting expedition.

The Y's extensive College Workshop Series has grown and now offers courses throughout the year on SAT preparation, campus trips to various colleges in the Northeast and seminars on writing application statements. The annual College Symposium, "The Challenge of College Selection in the 80's," on Oct. 31, helps take some of the mystery out of the college selection process.

For adults, the Y offers a diversity of programs to help men and women discover their potential and enhance interpersonal relationships, learn new skills and try their hand at new hobbies. In addition, social groups meet the needs of young married, older couples, single parents and singles of all ages.

Yoga, back fitness, body sculpture, workout, slimmastics, aerobics, weight training for both men and women, cardiac rehabilitation and conditioning and pre-and post natal fitness are just a sampling of the health and fitness offerings.

Swimming classes are available for every age and ability level.

Adults also may avail themselves of programs in dance and fine arts, with leisure-time classes in calligraphy, poetry-writing, and the popular Y Film Club.

Additional information on the fall program or on Y membership may be obtained by calling 736-3200.

ALL OVER NEW JERSEY HOMEOWNERS ARE SWITCHING TO GAS HEAT

"We like gas heat because it's so convenient and very clean. We used to have a gas furnace, but it was noisy and had a lot of maintenance. Now we have gas heat and it's so quiet and economical. We found that we're saving more money in spite of the fact that the gas rates went up. Really I'm not kidding!"
Theresa Mussano, West Paterson, N.J.

"I converted my house from oil to gas heat about a year ago. I have saved at least 30% off my bill and on top of that by converting to a gas hot water heater I have enough hot water for five members of my family, which we never had before. So my oil-fired furnace had to run to give me hot water in the summer!"
Ron Markovich, Butler, N.J.

Like these satisfied New Jersey homeowners, you too can rest easily and comfortably this winter by switching to economical, dependable gas heat. For as little as $700, you can convert your existing system. An ample supply of clean, efficient natural gas is available to provide for all your home heating needs.

Since nearly all of PSE&G's natural gas comes from sources located in this country, the supply of this fuel cannot be affected by the whims of foreign suppliers or military friction in the Middle East. Plus, natural gas is piped directly to your home so you can count on its delivery — no matter what the weather!

Bucky: Young at 87

BY CY BRICKFIELD
 Buckminster Fuller recently celebrated his 87th birthday. There's nothing extraordinary about that fact, but there is something extraordinary about this 87-year-old man who approaches life as if each day were a new beginning.

No doubt you will recall him as the inventor of the geodesic dome, which housed American exhibitions at a Moscow fair in 1959 and at Expo 67 in Montreal. The geodesic dome, which provides maximum strength with a minimum of supporting structure, has virtually no limit as to its size. Fuller has even proposed using geodesic domes as "sky breaks" over entire cities, making it possible to have climate control, even in Arctic regions.

In 1943, at Henry Kaiser's instigation, he designed a three wheel car with rear engine, front wheel drive, and aerodynamic design. It traveled 40 to 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline and had a maximum speed of 130 miles an hour, but it never got beyond the prototype stage.

"Bucky" Fuller is much more than the inventor of the geodesic dome and an innovative type of motor vehicle. He is a mathematician, engineer, philosopher, architect, cartographer, and poet who continues to excite audiences around the world with lectures that transcend space and time.

He conceives of human beings as passengers on a cosmic spaceship — passengers whose sole wealth consists of energy and information. He contends that the total amount of energy in the universe cannot be decreased but that information (man's knowledge) can be constantly expanded.

He differs with Thomas Malthus, the 19th century English economist, who concluded that population growth constantly outstrips the increase of food production, and must inevitably be controlled by war, pestilence, or famine. He says it is possible for all of humanity to have a higher standard of living than ever known before. The secret is to use our vast technology for the benefit of mankind — to recycle metals, grow more food, harness the energy of sun and winds: as Fuller puts it, to do more with less.

One of his favorite words is dymaxion, which he coined by combining "dynamic" and "maximum." He defines it as "maximum gain of advantage from minimum input of energy."

He told a reporter for Retirement Living: "Some will say that there's not nearly enough to go around. I'm committed, by God, to looking after them."

He deprecates the arms race that grows out of nations' fears and struggles for power. In an interview with U.S. News and World Report, he said: "If there's another shooting war, it's all over for all of us. We're in the middle of a final examination on this planet. Whether we pass that examination depends on whether we run things with our minds instead of our muscle."

He firmly believes in a spiritual force — a greater intelligence — which gives meaning and direction to the universe. He told a Washington Post reporter: "I have absolute faith in this Great Intelligence. I never try to suggest to God what ought to be done."

This remarkable man who liberates our imagination from earthbound concepts has been awarded more than 30 honorary degrees by colleges and universities. Yet when he was in college no one could have predicted this turn of events. He was, in fact, expelled from Harvard. The official reason for the expulsion was his flagrant cutting of classes, but he later said it was actually because of his "general irresponsibility."

Whether or not he was "irresponsible" as a college student, "Bucky" Fuller's long and fruitful life offers proof that creativity and a questioning mind need not be limited by one's age.

As Arnold Toynbee, the historian, wrote: "Our minds, so long as they keep their cutting edge, are not bound by our physical limits; they can range over time and space into infinity. To be human is to be capable of transcending oneself."

(Cyril F. "Cy" Brickfield is the executive director of the American Association of Retired Persons in Washington, D.C.)

Congressman Matthew Rinaldo

Since the 97th Congress convened nearly 20 months ago, the House has addressed some of the country's most pressing difficulties. Hard decisions have been made on many tough and extremely controversial issues that touch the lives of all Americans.

Some of the major issues acted on by Congress include the nuclear freeze proposal, extension of the Voting Rights Act, restoration of the Social Security minimum benefit, and the President's budget and tax proposals.

It now would be an appropriate time to review some of the major legislation dealt with by the 97th Congress, and to tell you how I voted on each measure.

• Three-year tax cut. Rinaldo vote: Yes. A measure to slash individual tax rates by 25 percent across the board over 33 months and then, for the first time ever, index the tax brackets to adjust for inflation.

• Restoration of Social Security benefits. Rinaldo vote: Yes. This measure restored the Social Security minimum benefit, which provides a floor on retirement benefits for retirees with a history of low-paying jobs.

• Voting Rights Act extension. Rinaldo vote: Yes. Legislation continued the Voting Rights Act, which has dramatically increased minority participation in the political process since its enactment in 1965.

• Wilderness Preservation. Rinaldo vote: Yes. This bill prevents oil and gas exploration in wilderness areas and constrains the Interior Department from carrying out plans to permit this activity on government-owned preserves.

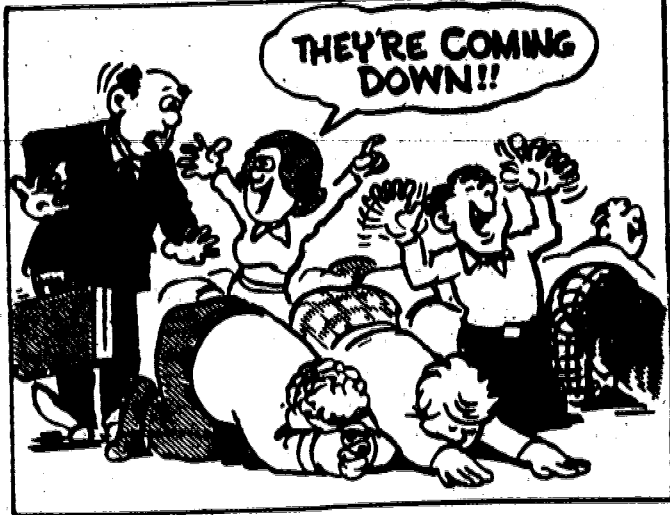

• Chemical weapons development. Rinaldo vote: No. Supported the Bethune amendment to the 1983 Defense Authorization bill to delete funds for the procurement or production of binary chemical weapons.

• Job training funds. Rinaldo vote: Yes. Supported the Job Training Partnership Act, which would replace the CETA program with grants to communities to work with local business leaders on developing programs to train the unemployed in the skills they need to find jobs.

• Tax increase. Rinaldo vote: No. Opposed a bill that would increase federal revenues by $8.3 billion over the next three years and includes such provisions as withholding of taxes on interest and dividend income, and increases taxes on medical costs, cigarettes, telephone and airplane use.

• Nuclear freeze. Rinaldo vote: Yes. Voted in favor of the negotiation of an immediate, mutual and verifiable freeze on the development of nuclear weapons by the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

These are some of the key legislative issues that have been acted on to date.

Housework costs call for extras

Service industries employ two out of every three workers in the private sector and account for about half of each household dollar spent. While many maintenance and domestic workers are hired through small companies, a large number of people work independently, hiring out on an hourly or daily rate. According to the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs), if you regularly hire such an individual worker, you should budget not only for their wages, but also for Social Security taxes and possibly additional insurance costs.

It is estimated that the value of services provided by the average American homemaker is at least $12,000. That covers chauffeuring, tutoring, child care, marketplace. These jobs might pay only minimum wage — $3.35 an hour. And that, according to the Labor Department, is the minimum you must pay household workers whom you regularly employ.

Along with wages, an employer is responsible for Social Security taxes, CPAs say. If you pay your employee more than $50 per calendar quarter, you have to pay half of the 13.4 percent that the Social Security Administration demands. The other half can be that occurs on their property. While homeowner's insurance may cover your liability for these injuries. By February of the following year, the employer must file two forms (W-2 and W-3) with the SSA, which passes the information on to the IRS.

Employers who don't pay Social Security taxes are liable for back taxes and high penalties. In addition, a former employee could later sue for Social Security and the employer could be liable for court costs and attorney's fees besides the taxes, interest and penalty. If your employee refuses to supply a Social Security number, you can protect yourself by withholding the proper amount and reporting the number as unknown.

Employers of part-time domestic workers do not have to withhold federal income tax unless the employee requests it. But there are strict regulations concerning income reporting for local, state and federal payroll taxes. Although the employee might prefer to be paid in cash, paying by check gives you an accurate record of payment and total wages earned.

Taking care of pay and corresponding taxes, CPAs say, isn't the extent of an employer's obligation. By law, homeowners are liable for any injury coverage for regular employees might be limited.

In some states, insurance companies are required to include employee coverage in homeowner's policies. (The additional premium averages only about $3 a year.) In other states, separate insurance policies for workers are available. In one area, that could cost $170 annually.

Recently, the number of states requiring employers to provide workman's compensation insurance for domestic employees rose to 23 and the District of Columbia. Workman's compensation relieves the employer of primary liability by paying the employee's medical bills. In case of long term disability, compensation could also help the worker recover lost wages.

When budgeting for wages, taxes and insurance, be sure to allow for additional benefits you give your employee. Bonuses, paid vacations and holiday gifts can all add up and exceed your budget. If you need to hire domestic workers to care for your child while you work, you might be eligible for a tax credit. Check with your tax advisor for more details.

The State We're In

By David F. Moore, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

A beach is a narrow strip of sand which separates the land from the sea. It is highly regarded as a place for recreation, especially in the summertime. But it is the root of a variety of problems for 12 months out of any year.

I will merely address the matter of recreation. There's a festering dispute in New Jersey, and elsewhere, about whether a beach should be open to one and all, or just to those approved by its owner. How you feel about that will be dictated by whether you live in the town where the beach is, or belong to the organization which claims ownership.

It's been well established that anybody can use any New Jersey beach below the surfline, but access to the "wet beach" is closed by some owners of the "dry beach" above the tidal mark.

In New Jersey the result is that along about 125 miles of coast line, only a relatively few miles of beach are publicly owned. Places like Island Beach State Park draw many thousands of visitors, and overcrowding and chaos would result if wise regulators didn't keep the crowd down to manageable levels.

This private vs. public rights issue has been coming to a boil in Bay Head, along the shore in southern Monmouth County.

Legal action began in 1974 when Bay Head was sued for use of its beach by the Borough of Point Pleasant, narrowly separated from the ocean by Bay Head, and a woman who had moved there from Bay Head and thus lost her beach rights.

Co-defendant with Bay Head was the Bay Head Improvement Association, which actually controls use of the beach. Subsequently, Point Pleasant abandoned the case due to costly legal fees, and the court removed Bay Head as a defendant, leaving the former resident vs. the Improvement Association. By this time the state Public Advocate was pursuing the case on behalf of the open beach concept.

Things dragged on, with the court ruling that approximately 70 owners of beachfront property in Bay Head should be brought into the case. That took a lot of time to achieve, just from the standpoint of detail work. By removing Bay Head itself from the case, the court has limited arguments henceforth to the rights of private owners, bypassing any questions of governmental beach discrimination.

Finally, in 1981, the court decreed that there is no general right of public access to privately owned beach. The Appellate Division of Superior Court upheld that decision this year.

Now the matter is headed for the state Supreme Court, on appeal by the public advocate. Thanks to the nature of the Appellate decision, the Supreme Court will be considering fairly narrow arguments. The whole thing will boil down to arguments about specifics of the case which appear pretty much limited to Bay Head.

So, no matter what happens in the Bay Head case, we can look forward to future legal arguments about beach access. Incidentally I'm indebted to the July issue of the magazine New Jersey Reporter for the history of the Bay Head case. It's published by the Center for Analysis of Public Issues in Princeton.

If there's going to be greater freedom for New Jersey's millions to enjoy beaches in this state we're in, I'll wager that it will be an ultimate side effect of the growing realization, in and out of government, that when we're dealing with the ungovernable forces of nature, we had better be content with dunes and beaches and simple recreation, rather than ongoing beachfront development.

Severe coastal storms in 1944 and again in 1962 did a lot to clear the barrier islands of man's artifacts, such as boardwalks and buildings. But since then there has been a lot of development which is in line for tragic washouts during this or some future hurricane season. Living on barrier islands is great — but only relatively safe, unless you're prepared to move when the ocean does.

For the birds

BY FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

Professor, Union County College
 "What are those kids doing out there in the swamp?"

"What kind of a crane is that?"

"Does anything live out there?"

These are just a few of the questions that people pose as they gaze out the picture windows enclosing two sides of the Wetlands Institute's lecture hall. The answers might run something like this:

"Those young people are stuning the salt marsh by actually seeing and touching plants and animals out there."

"There are no cranes in this part of the country. The bird is a young little blue heron in its white phase. It will turn blue later in its life."

"There are millions of live things out there in the marsh. Some you can see like the heron, but most of them you can't see without patience and, in some cases, a microscope."

One of the missions of the Wetlands Institute just outside Stone Harbor in Middle Township is to familiarize visitors with the value of the salt marsh or, taking it a step further, the wetlands. Wetlands can be found in a variety of places in our state from the estuaries between the mainland and the barrier beaches to swamps in the northern counties of the state. Just what is a wetland?

Former President Carter defined "wetlands" rather well in an executive order he signed in May 1977. It describes wetlands as "areas that are inundated or saturated by surface or ground water at a frequency and duration sufficient to support — and that under normal circumstances do support — a prevalence of vegetation typically adapted for life in saturated soil conditions. Wetlands generally include swamps, marshes, bogs, and similar areas."

Another definition written by someone in the Fish and Wildlife Service describes a wetland as "land where water is the dominant factor determining the nature of soil development and the types of plant and animal communities living in the soil and on its surface." For example, a salt marsh is covered twice a day with water; spartina grass is peculiarly adapted to growing in salt water, and fiddler crabs ply their unusual trade between tides.

We call it a salt marsh, not a wetland, because the soil is not saturated. The soil is just moist. This is a common mistake. This vegetation is dominated by salt-tolerant plants, primarily grasses, sedges, and halophytes. Plants that are usually found in wetlands are not found in salt marshes.

Mental health

Potential exists for explosion

BY JAMES L. ELMORE, M.D.

This column is from The Carrier Foundation, a psychiatric facility. Inquiries should be addressed to The Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, N.J. 08502.

People sustaining a severe injury to the brain as the result of a blow or an accident are likely to suffer long term and possibly permanent loss of some mental or physical function, or various disturbances in emotional responses.

If the injury is to the frontal lobe (that part of the brain directly behind the forehead) the result is likely to be loss of emotional control. People affected in this way may go into violent outbursts — verbal and physical — at the slightest provocation, or with no provocation at all. They may rant and scream and go into a temper tantrum, or they may actually start to beat whoever happens to be there, and continue the assault until they are restrained. This may happen at home, at a restaurant, on the street, or on the job. (It is possible for the brain injury to affect only emotional and behavioral inhibition and to leave other faculties and functions relatively intact, permitting the individual to continue life at home and at work, at a normal level, except for the outbursts of emotional and physical violence.)

What this means is that the family will never know what will set off one of these explosions and will always be

"walking on eggs" so as to avoid doing anything that will trigger an explosion. But even this tactic may not work, since there appears to be no rhyme or reason to this behavior, and no way to determine what will or will not cause a reaction. On the job, the outbursts and the unpredictability are likely to result in fights, injuries and dismissal in short order. In the neighborhood and amongst friends and relatives, the result is likely to be avoidance and consequent social isolation.

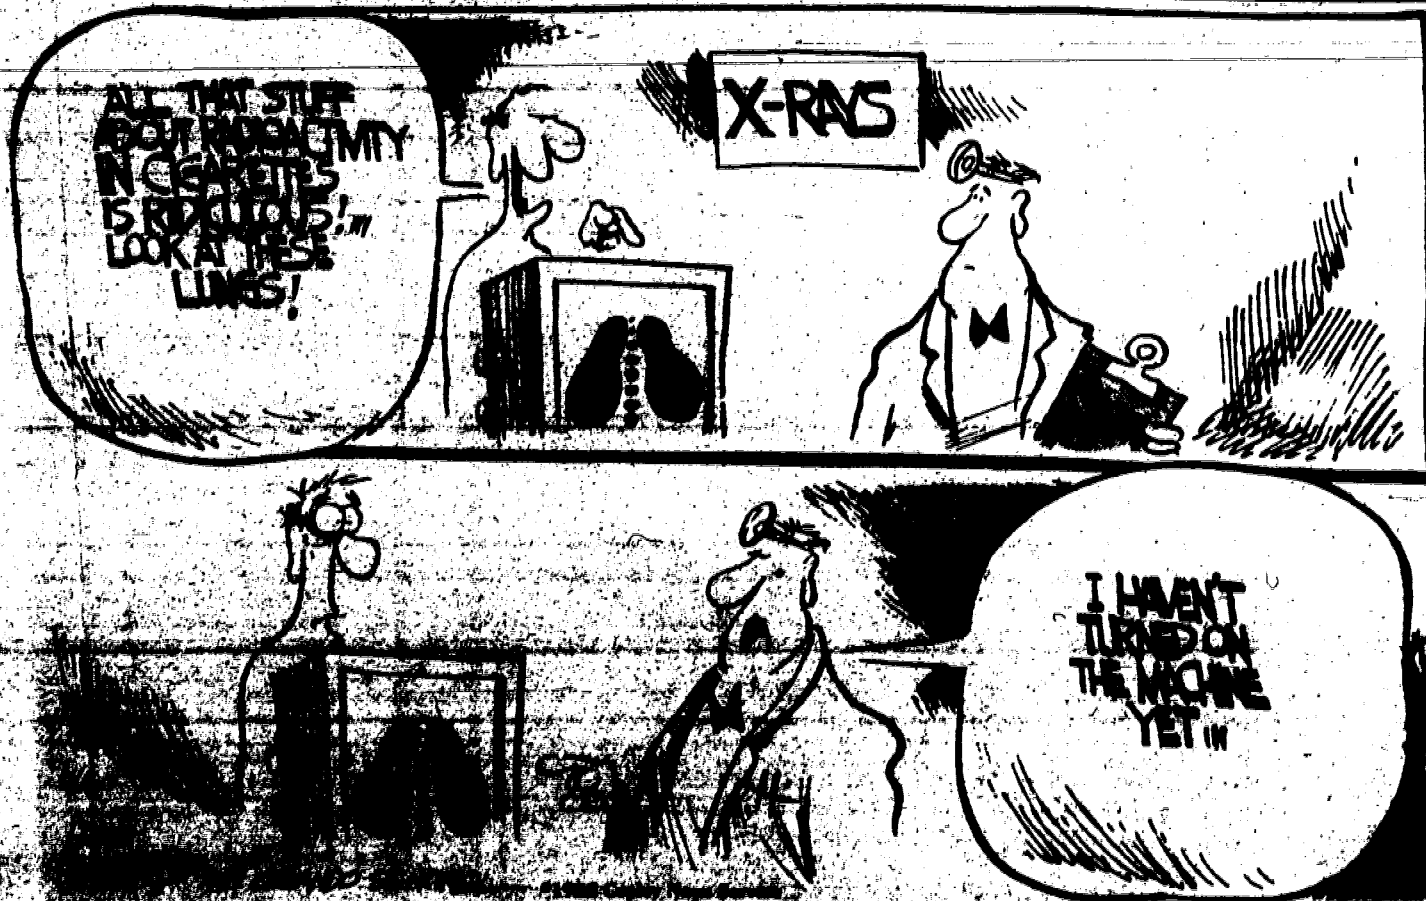

Up until recently, the only thing a family could do when something like this happened was to put up with the individual, if that was possible, or to have him or her institutionalized. Now, however, medical science has found several drugs which sometimes help to keep this reaction under control and to permit the injured person to live a relatively normal life. Medical research has discovered that the drug Inderal (or propranolol), heretofore used exclusively for high blood pressure and other vascular disorders, may be used effectively to minimize and control the explosive outbursts resulting from brain injury or other brain malfunction having the same effect. This drug belongs to a class of pharmacological agents known as "beta-blockers" whose effect is to block the transmission of certain nerve impulses, among them the impulses affecting emotional behavior, including those associated with rage.

If this drug does not achieve the desired results by itself, other drugs may be introduced, namely anti-convulsant preparations and/or tranquilizers.

It is being found, now, that using medication along these lines, hospitals are able to deal more effectively with patients admitted for emotional disturbance due to head injuries. In the past, their emotional outbursts made it difficult to initiate and sustain necessary medical procedures. Further, hospitals have been unable to do much with these patients beyond minimizing the physical injury to the brain and tending to the patient's related medical needs. Now it is often possible to treat the emotional and behavioral aspects of the illness along with the others.

Families, employers, friends and relatives are, of course, being able to benefit, by having restored to them a person whose behavior is only minimally affected. It should be understood that this requires continued treatment. The injury to the brain is irreversible and the medication Inderal does not in any way improve that. The medication serves only to rectify the malfunctioning which results from the destruction of brain tissue.

Artist will give one-man show starting Oct. 1

Works by painter Bruno Civitico of New Hampshire will be on display Oct. 1 through 25 in the Tomasulo Art Gallery at Union County College's Cranford campus.

A series of narrative and mythological figure paintings by the internationally known artist comprise the gallery's first scheduled one-man art show of the fall semester.

Civitico was born in Trieste, Italy, and was raised in Bologna, coming to New York with his family in 1951 at the age of six. He studied at the Pratt Institute in the 1960s, the time when teachers there, trained as abstract expressionists, were working together with their students to teach themselves classical techniques.

His work reflects what "American Artist" magazine, in its March 1982 article featuring Civitico, describes as a "new spirit of classicism, in which mythological, historical and literary references, together with figurative forms from the European tradition, are being synthesized with the perceptual and formal concerns of 20th-century art and are often placed in contemporary architectural or landscape settings."

The artist holds a master of fine arts degree from the University of Indiana. He has taught there, as well as at Pratt, Brooklyn College, Princeton University and the University of New Hampshire. He is a visiting professor at the Tyler School of Art, Philadelphia.

A frequent exhibitor in group shows, Civitico has also presented four one-man shows at the Robert Schoelkopf Gallery in New York. He was the recipient of a 1982 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and has also won Guggenheim and Tiffany awards.

Civitico's style combines traditional references typical of European classical painting with modern influences in costumes and settings. The New Hampshire sea coast area where he lives and works provides the artist with lighting in which forms and space are sharply defined in a photographic sense.

Sponsored by the fine arts department of Union County College, the Civitico exhibit will open with a reception for the artist at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 1. Thereafter, it will be on view to the public, free of charge, Monday through Saturday, 1-4 p.m., and Monday through Thursday, 6-9 p.m. The Tomasulo Gallery is located in the MacKay Library on the Cranford campus of the Union County College, on Springfield Avenue, opposite from Nomahegan Park.

Workshops planned for parents, children

The Eastern Union County YM-YWHA and the Jewish Family Service will offer a series of workshops for parents, children and singles beginning the week of Oct. 4. The workshops will be held at the Y building on Green Lane in Union.

The workshops will deal with the single parent experience, children who have lost a parent through death, parenting a teenager, and how to choose a mate.

The Single Parent Experience Workshop beginning Monday evening, Oct. 4, will explore the stressful life situation that involves the single parent. The six session workshop is intended both for parents who have custody of their children and those who have visitation rights.

Included in the sessions will be the problems of guilt, loneliness, overwhelming responsibility, dating, juggling job and parenting, children's reaction to the divorce and other pertinent issues. Barbara Glatzer will be the facilitator. The workshop meets from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Another workshop is for children from age 12 to 18 who have lost a parent through death. This group will explore common concerns and issues such as saying goodbye, coping with sadness, and creating a new family lifestyle. Mildred Hamilton, executive director of Jewish Family Service, will be the leader of the six session workshop beginning Tuesday, Oct. 5, 4:30 to 6 p.m.

The workshop entitled "Parenting a Teenager" will explore the emotional and psychological changes occurring within the teen, parenting skills and Jewish values during the adolescent years through the sharing of information and group discussion. Mike Goldberg, the assistant director of Jewish Family Service, will be the facilitator of this six session course beginning Wednesday, Oct. 6, 8 to 9:30 p.m.

In the "How to Choose a Mate" workshop, participants will explore myths and realities in the quest for conjugal living and will discuss the conscious and unconscious elements of mate selection. The workshop is intended for singles, divorced individuals, and anyone considering marriage or remarriage. Goldberg will lead the six-session course beginning Oct. 7, 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Additional information on the workshops is available from Renee Drell, Y program director, at 289-8112.

Rotary to hold Oktoberfest this Saturday

UNION The Union Rotary Club will present an Oktoberfest Saturday at Farcher's Grove on Springfield Road.

Jack Anderson, club president, and Peter Fischer, Oktoberfest chairman, said the program will include "oom-pah-pah" music and traditional folk dancing by colorfully costumed dancers. The music will be by two German bands, Henry and his Bavarians and The Entertainers.

The celebration, the 25th annual one of its kind, will get under way at 3 p.m. There will be continuous music until midnight.

German-American food will be served during the afternoon and evening, Anderson and Fischer reported.

Proceeds from the event will be donated to area charities, they said.

Lions offer testing

UNION Those who attend the annual Festival on the Green Saturday will be able to have their eyesight and hearing checked from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., by courtesy of the Union Lions Club. A mobile unit and qualified personnel will be available during those hours for the testing.

Nurse service names Altman

The appointment of Shirley Altman to the position of director of professional services of the Visiting Nurse and Health Services of Union County has been announced by Rosemary Cuccaro, executive director.

The organization is a non profit home health agency serving 15 communities in Union County, providing nursing and other professional therapies to patients in their place of residence. Through contracts with many of the communities, it also provides additional services such as Well Baby Clinics, health screening and school nursing.

Before coming to the Visiting Nurse and Health Services, Altman served six years as executive director of the Visiting Nurse Association of Troy, N.Y., and prior to that, as an assistant professor of nursing at Russell Sage College in Troy. A native of New Jersey, she holds a master's degree in public health nursing from New York University.

Imagine What Moving Every Two Years Would Do to Your Family

Imagine moving for the second time in four years. To a city whose name you can't pronounce. In a country you never even heard of.

And you've got to tell your little boy, he can't bring his hamster. And your little girl, she can't bring her friends. While you tell yourself, "Be brave."

When you're the wife of someone in the service, that fantasy is a reality. And sometimes, it's hard to handle the loneliness alone.

At the USO we help the service family both stateside and overseas with learning their new community with informal classes and with assistance on any kind of problem. We try to make moving away from home a little bit more like moving home.

Players offering to present skits

Elizabeth Rukeyser, president of the Mental Health Association of Union County, has announced that the Union County Mental Health Players are now available for 1982-1983 performances for women's and men's clubs, business and professional organizations, churches and schools.

"If a group is looking for an informative, enlightening and entertaining program, the Mental Health Players can provide it for you free of charge," she said. "Serving Union County for the past three years, the Mental Health Players are specially trained mental health professionals, concerned community residents, and community dramatists who have volunteered their time to perform for various organizations."

The group gives dramatic presentations of real life situations dealing with a range of subjects which include stress at the workplace, marital conflict, alcohol and substance abuse, communication problems within the family, peer pressure and chronic mental illness.

The audience becomes involved in the immediacy of the drama which unfolds right before their eyes, Rukeyser said. "A dialogue occurs between the Players and the audience around enacted situations. The result is a memorable and thought-provoking program," she added.

She said those interested in a program by the Union County Mental Health Players can phone the Mental Health Association in New Jersey at 744-2500.

Alumni association adopts new name

The Union College Alumni Association has voted to change its name to the Union County College Alumni Association.

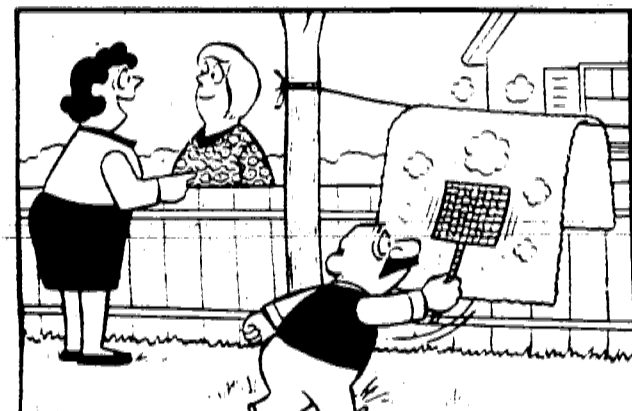

The association authorized the college's attorney to revise the bylaws to reflect the name change and to amend the articles of incorporation.

Union College, Cranford, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, consolidated on Aug. 17 to form Union County College. The association, which has some 18,000 members, has invited all alumni of Union County Technical Institute to join the Union County College Alumni Association. Dorothy Gasorek, association president, reported.

The Union County College Alumni Association was formed in 1946 as the Union Junior College Alumni Association and changed its name in the mid-60s to reflect the college's new name.

"We expect all current activities including the annual giving campaign and phonathon to continue, but with greater enthusiasm and, of course, involving all those formerly associated with Union County Technical Institute," Gasorek said.

Saint Barnabas hospital plans new town 'medical meeting'

The public is invited to participate in Saint Barnabas Medical Center's new "Medical Town Meetings," a series of special community forums on health and medical topics of high current interest. Physicians and other medical professionals from Saint Barnabas will address a different health topic every month, with audience participation a key part of each televised session.

The first topic, "Exercise: Fact and Fiction," will be explored at 8 p.m., Wednesday, at the Medical Center in Livingston. The free one-hour panel presentations, which Saint Barnabas will hold monthly from now until May, stem from the "town meeting" concept of providing the community with a public forum to address concerns.

"Medical Town Meetings" is a project of Saint Barnabas Medical Center and the Saint Barnabas Development Foundation and will be produced for television through the facilities of Suburban Cablevision TV-3. For those unable to attend the meetings, or for members of the audience who would like to see themselves and other area residents over the airwaves, Channel 3 will broadcast each meeting every Tuesday evening at 8:30 p.m., beginning Oct. 5. Suburban Cable's TV-3 reaches an audience of 140,000 viewers in Essex, Union, Hudson and Middlesex counties.

The eight topics include something for everyone. The premiere segment on exercise will be followed by discussions on your heart (Oct. 27), breast cancer (Dec. 1), diet in relation to health and disease (Jan. 26), teenage dating and drinking (Feb. 23), hearing problems of the young and old (March 30), developmental problems in children (April 27), and medical care of older people (May 25). All medical forums will be held Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Saint Barnabas Medical Center Auditorium. Free parking is available.

In the opening segment, for example, the myths and realities of exercise and sports medicine will be explored by Saint Barnabas physicians S. Kenneth Jacobson, M.D., cardiology, and Harold Leeds, M.D., orthopedics. Their presentation will cover four major topics.

"We will discuss injuries and preventive measures in common sports such as running, football, skiing and racquetball, and the topic of nutrition for the exercising individual," said Dr. Leeds. "We'll also talk about the cardiovascular benefits and hazards of certain sports as well as the psychological reactions to exercise—for example, releasing stress. And, we'll anticipate and welcome questions from the audience."

Panelists and topics for "Medical Town Meetings" were selected by the Community Relations Committee of the Saint Barnabas Medical Staff, chaired by William Weiss, M.D., who will also serve as host for the meetings. Dr. Weiss and Lynne S. de Vries, consultant to the Saint Barnabas Development Foundation, are co-producers of the series.

Further information is available by calling the Saint Barnabas Development Foundation at 533-5047.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Garden State Arts Center Ticket Office at 442-8600, ext. 222, or the General Chairman Judge Joseph Talafous at 656-6700. The proceeds will be used to provide free programs for New Jersey's school children, senior citizens, disabled veterans and the blind.

Brearley Bears the foe

Classic showdown for Bulldogs?

By RON BRANDSDORFER
Can the Bulldogs beat the Bears? Are Dayton and Brearley two of the Mountain Valley Conference powerhouses once again? What kind of high school football season will it be?

First-year Dayton coach Tony Policare is hoping his team can provide Bulldog fans with some answers on Saturday when it travels to nearby Kenilworth for a 1:30 p.m. game with the powerful Brearley Bears.

The opening of the high school football season is always very interesting, but Saturday's showdown between the Bulldogs — 8-3 and sectional semifinalists a year ago — and the Bears — 11-0 and sectional champs last year — could be downright crazy.

If, that is, the Bulldogs can get themselves all pumped up for the football game. For some reason, and much to head coach Tony Policare's dismay, the 'Dawgs have taken a very laid-back approach to the opener.

But that was early in the week. Come Saturday, the spirits should be riding very high.

Some wild battles have been waged during pre-season workouts, and Policare has almost arrived at a starting lineup.

That's a solid unit, with plenty of offensive options.

Obviously, the key men will be Martignetti, the team's top rusher a year ago, and Hudgins, a major college prospect at flanker. But Policare is also thrilled with Policastro's play at quarterback.

"Richie's very quick and possesses excellent skills," Policare said.

And he'll have to be at the top of his game against the Bears.

"Since Brearley's front three weigh 250, 290 and 240 pounds," Policare said, "I don't think we're going to knock any people down. I think we have the skilled people to go outside with a perimeter attack."

And on the defensive end, Policare knows his Bulldogs will have to stop the Bears' muscle up the middle.

So he'll counter with Vogel or Tom Verducci at nose tackle, D'Achille at one defensive end slot and Kuperstein or Castellani at the other and linebackers Tony Apicella, Joe Roessner, Kent Murray and John Baber. The defensive backfield includes Brett Walsh and Mike Nicholson at the cornerbacks and Esemplare and Hudgins at the safeties.

Also expected to see plenty of action will be Anthony Romano, Dan Klinger, Carlos Hernandez, Parish Powell, Matt Dooley, Paul Stieve, Craig Kobrin and Ed Hayes.

All in all, Policare plans to go with a "conservative" game plan, though there might be a few surprises.

"We'll have an interesting offensive attack," he said. "We may do some things that people haven't seen."

That goes for the entire season. Policare insists that his entire offensive system isn't quite in place yet, though the Bulldogs seem to be comfortable with their coach's favorite plays.

"I think we'll be a much better football team three or four games into the season," Policare said.

The question, then, is whether the Bulldogs are good enough, right now, to stop Brearley's 13-game winning streak. The answer will come on Saturday.

Tough games for Kean, Knights?

Squires ready for battle with tough Indians

Kean College's football team, following a disappointing setback to Ramapo, will be seeking to put its game together Saturday when it opposes the powerful Montclair State Indians in the fourth annual Pride Bowl at School Stadium, Newark, at 2 p.m.

Kean will be making its first appearance in the charity contest. The game also is a New Jersey State College Conference affair. Defending champion Montclair State boasts a 7-0 series lead over the Squires.

"We beat ourselves with stupid mistakes and physical errors," said coach Jim Hazlett of Kean after heavily-favored Ramapo (2-0) had posted a 14-7 victory. "We had the ball three times inside the five and only scored once. They didn't stop us, we stopped ourselves. Once we lined up wrong and the other time on a missed blocking assignment."

The defense again turned in a strong job, notably linebacker Tom Rasmussen of Union, Gil Sharp of Edison and defensive back Paul Mertz of Fanwood. Rasmussen, who "tore up the pea patch," according to Hazlett, and Sharp each finished with 13 solo and assisted tackles. Defensive end Ken Murphy led the assault on Ramapo passer Mike LaFrance with two of Kean's quarterback sacks.

LaFrance was limited to six completions in 15 attempts for 70 yards. Kean, although 0-2, has allowed just 10 completions in 32 tries (31 per cent average) and 130 yards.

While Kean's passing game was erratic, the Squires moved well on the ground led by the running of Kevin Forker of Edison and improved blocking up front. Forker, a 5-9, 190-pound sophomore, rushed for 85 yards in 17 carries.

Among the standouts in the offensive line were Fred Hemsey of West Paterson, John DeBisco of Berkeley Heights and John Fisher of Somerset.

"Hemsey had a great game blocking," Hazlett said. "Most of Forker's gains were following Hemsey."

Hemsey and Forker received the Offensive Players of the Week awards. Rasmussen and Mertz were named the Defensive Players of the Week.

"Montclair State," Hazlett flatly said, "is a great football team. They have the best overall team speed of any team I've seen in my three years here. They really protect Casale who easily is the best quarterback we will be facing this year."

"To win we must play a flawless game. Everything we try will have to work. We will need a super effort from the offense and defense but the capabilities are there. One of our problems in that the sputtering offense gives mental problems and puts added pressure to the defense."

County stars can't help RU break streak

Despite the presence of area athletes on the team, Rutgers football has been in a rut. A losing rut.

Tailback Albert Smith of Union is the Scarlet Knights' second leading rusher, having gained 87 yards in 25 attempts. He was the lone bright light in the season-opening 31-8 loss to Syracuse and started against Penn State, carrying for 24 yards on one play early in the contest.

Roselle's John Cummins has seen limited action so far, returning three punts for only 12 yards. But the biggest worry of the players is when are they going to win.

The Knights have lost seven in a row dating back to last year, and have not won since a 17-0 win over Army last October. Coach Frank Burns is still seeking his 71st victory as the Knights' boss. Over the span, Rutgers has only scored 68 points, 24 of them on Alex Falcinelli field goals. Three of the six touchdowns were scored against Boston College in the 1981 season finale.

RU scored twice at Penn State last Saturday, sophomore quarterback Jack LaFrance hooking up with Andrew Baker on a 65-yard scoring toss and Baker then running five yards on a reverse.

"I thought the kids played well in spots," said Burns. "Much better than against Syracuse. But the turnovers killed us. We were in the game until we fumbled and they went down and scored."

That came on the first Scarlet possession of the third period after Rutgers had gone to the halftime dressing room behind 21-14. Rutgers did lead in total offense, 194-177, 76-75 on the ground and 118-102 in the air.

This week, the Scarlet travels to Philadelphia for a meeting with Temple, a team that beat Syracuse earlier this month.

Rutgers holds a 6-5 edge against the Owls, with the teams alternating in success since 1977. Temple has won in the odd years (1977, 1979 and 1981) while the Knights won in 1978 and 1980.

The series dates back to 1948, when Burns, then quarterbacking RU, won 34-20.

Hoping to push their coach to win number 71, the Scarlet reasons that since the Owls started the losing streak, it's justice to bring it to a halt against them.

But the 2-1 Owls won't make it a gift.

OPEN FIREPLACE

Ninety-five percent of the heat given off by an open fireplace either goes right up the chimney or is used to heat the cold air drawn into the room.

On very cold days it may take more heat to warm the cold air than the fire can put into the room; thus an open fireplace can actually cool a house rather than warm it.

Ginsberg takes tennis crown

Jeff Ginsberg won last week's Springfield Recreation Department Youth Tennis Tournament, defeating Gregg Kahn, 6-2, 6-1 in the finals.

The final match was a well-played affair and featured two of the township's most talented young players, according to tournament director Susie Eng.

Ginsberg, the tourney's top seed, had reached the finals by winning one semifinal match, while Kahn had to get past two foes to reach the finale.

In his semifinal match, Ginsberg beat Jeff Levy, 6-0, 6-1. In a quarterfinal match, Levy downed Erik Peri, 6-1, 7-6. Peri reached the quarters with a 6-7, 6-4, 6-0 win over Kenny French.

Kahn reached the finals by upsetting second seed Bland Eng, 6-1, 6-2 in the semis and Gary Millin, 6-2, 6-1 in the quarters. Millin defeated Andy Wasserman, 6-0, 6-1 in a first round match.

Michael Peri turned back Matt Zucker, 6-0, 6-0 in the first round before dropping a 6-3, 6-0 decision to Eng.

The recreation department donated trophies for the finalists, Ginsberg and Gregg Kahn, while U.S. Open souvenirs were given to all the participants. The presentations were made by Susie Eng.

In the Avis Women's Challenge Cup doubles event sponsored by the department, last week's winners were: (Ojoaj

Chung-Marie Morrocco defeated Shirley Ross-Eve Buzin, 6-0, 6-0; Corrine Kay-Arlene Diamond beat Blanche Meisel-Claire Falkin, 6-0, 6-0; Lucy DeVries-Simone Gechlik outlasted Kay-Diamond, 6-1, 7-5 and Julie Liem-Audrey Young defeated Phyllis Zlaton-Harriet Tesse, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1.

The top two teams from the four groups will advance to the championship round which starts next week.

Views On Dental Health

By SEAN T. FENTON, D.M.D.

TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE

There is a legal phrase: "Time is of the essence, which means there is no fooling around with dates in a contract. If your youngster accidentally gets a tooth knocked out and you'd like to give the dentist half a chance to successfully replant it — "time is also of the essence."

Take the typical case where a child gets his front tooth knocked out at a hockey game. He skates over and hands it to his parents and finishes the game. Later on - probably the next day - they'll go see a dentist. Too late, my friends. No chance for saving that tooth.

The proper reaction would be to take Johnny - skates and all - immediately to the dentist. This is an emergency. A tooth replaced within 30 minutes has a 90% chance of being saved, but in two hours the success rate drops considerably.

To improve the chances of a successful replantation of a knocked-out tooth, rinse it in tap water (don't scrub it), replace it in its socket and have the patient hold it in place with his tongue on the way to the dentist.

Franks will oppose increase in state tax

Assemblyman Bob Franks has announced that he will strongly oppose any effort to increase the state income tax or to eliminate Homestead Rebates as suggested by some of his colleagues.

Franks, noting that several bills have been filed that would create a graduated income tax in the state with rates as high as 10 1/2 percent, said government must "keep its pledge to cut fat and waste" through consolidation and program review before modifying either of the state's broad-based taxes.

"There are no circumstances under which I would support any modification to either the income or sales taxes except to reduce them," he said.

"We also face the prospect of dramatically reduced federal aid this fall," Franks said. "The effect will be a substantial budget crunch that could freeze the state in its tracks while shifting a far greater burden to the property tax. In my judgement, a modified gas tax program is a better alternative."

Franks said that the legislature should re-open debate on Governor

Thomas Kean's proposed gasoline tax defeated by one vote in the Senate in June. He said recent revelations by State Treasurer Kenneth Biederman that the yield from the state's income tax is off sharply "underscores the need for an alternative funding source."

Biederman said that the projected $57 million surplus in the new fiscal 1983 budget will not materialize because job lay offs have trimmed the income tax yield. Several bills have been introduced to use a portion of the surplus to restore transportation aid, minimum aid to schools and additional funds for the Department of Corrections.

Franks, who voted in favor of Kean's proposed 5 percent tax on motor fuels, said he would vote yes on a proposal to increase the gasoline excise tax by 3 cents.

"I am co-sponsor of bills to restore the $24.5 million in Minimum Aid to Schools as well as the $18.5 million needed to avoid a new 25 percent commuter fare increase," he said. "The money supply isn't available from anticipated surplus and the gasoline tax is the most palatable alternative," Franks said.

"Serving Union County"

VOL. 18 NO. 38 — September 23, 1982

Published by Suburban Publishing Corp. 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, N.J. 07083

We're here to help: Dean McDermott lifts a coffee urn while his parents, Marie and Leo, load the Red Cross canteen truck with supplies in preparation for a quick response to any Union County disaster. The McDermott's have been Red Cross volunteers for the past 10 years.

They do work that money can't buy

BY LYNN JOFFE

During times of crisis, no matter what the weather conditions, the victims of life's hazards usually have one place to which they can turn for comfort: the Eastern Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross, which will do its best to help ease their suffering.

Volunteers of the Eastern Union County Red Cross Chapter serve 12 of the county's communities by providing disaster assistance in forms that might have otherwise be overlooked.

According to Chuck Canavan, the disaster coordinator for the chapter, disaster assistance can be broken down into two major categories: relocating victims who, for one reason or another, cannot return to their homes due to damages; and through the canteen service or "kitchen on wheels."

"For example, the community's fire or police department may call us to the scene of a fire in which people are out of a home. We, in turn, contact area hotels or motels and provide shelter for the night, or until the next business day. We have Red Cross caseworkers who will meet with the people and determine any additional needs, be it further stay in a motel, clothing or food," Canavan said.

"We deal mainly with people who are just above the welfare level," he said.

The Red Cross canteen truck is, in essence, a mobile feeding operation that is equipped to feed in excess of 200 persons with the help of a refrigerator, stove, two-way radio, supplemental generator and cooking and serving utensils. The basic objective of canteen volunteers is to provide relief at the scene of a disaster; they do so by offering a variety of hot and cold beverages, donuts, soup and beef stew, as well as other snacks, depending on the season.

"There is no charge for disaster relief. All assistance given by the chapter is considered an outright gift," Canavan said. "In effect, this aid is a gift from the American people delivered through the American Red Cross."

According to Canavan, the Chapter is funded through donations from area residents and through the United Way. "We are a quasi-federal agency, except we don't get money from the government," he said.

"Unfortunately, over the past 10 years or so, chapter funding from United Way has increased only about 1 percent per year — this despite the area's becoming more and more fire-prone, Canavan said. And, he added, this does not even take into account the double digit inflation of previous years. The chapter is hard-pressed to meet the increased demands for service with what is "basically constant funding," he noted.

The disaster service is available 24 hours a day, every day of the year. "Statistically, most calls for chapter assistance are received during the hours of midnight to 5 a.m. Frequently, this is during the worst weather conditions," Canavan said.

"The work is done mostly by volunteers who do a tremendous job. There may be fires at 3 a.m., but they'll get out of bed and come to help. If we had to pay people for this service, we wouldn't be able to," said Canavan.

He explained that each community in the chapter's service area has a disaster plan to provide shelter in churches, schools and public buildings during any major crisis. "We try to get people back to normal living as soon as possible," the Red Cross official said.

This year, the American Red Cross was 101 years old. The Eastern Union County Chapter, one of the oldest in the nation, was "66 years young," Canavan said that the Red Cross is always looking for volunteers. The prerequisite? "Only the desire to help people. It has to be in your blood."

In addition to responding to local disasters, the chapter's canteen truck participates in other types of operations such as offering refreshments to participants in Memorial Day and Veterans' Day parades.

According to Capt. Thomas Nowelsky of the Union Police Department, the Red Cross canteen has helped the township by providing services at the scene of disasters where police have had to spend many hours. "We appreciate the help offered by the emergency volunteers who come out at all hours of the night. They've spent many long hours in the cold helping to service our men as well as the disaster victims. The services they offer have helped us get through some really rough times," he said.

The Red Cross also conducts blood drives. Each point of blood donated, he said, can be broken into seven different components. As a result, he added, "each donation may save seven different lives."

During times of high unemployment, the canteen truck frequently provides refreshments for those waiting in line at the state unemployment office in Elizabeth," Canavan said. During the gas crunch, an unfortunate accident involving a young boy who was struck by a car triggered an innovative idea of sending the canteen to gas stations where long lines were forming early in the mornings. The canteen provided coffee and donuts to drivers. "We thought the coffee might help wake up the drivers," Canavan explained.

So far this year, the disaster unit has responded to 48 more disaster incidents than at the same time last year. Seventy-five families have received direct assistance and nearly 3,000 meals have been served from the canteen truck.

"A lot of people say voluntarism is dying in this country. As far as the Red Cross is concerned, I don't see it," Canavan said. "One way or another, we'll be there, even if we have to push the truck to get there."

Trailside offering fall programs

Fall is here; and that means a full calendar of children's programs at the Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside.

Two separate programs are being offered this season at the center, a Union County Department of Parks and Recreation facility.

"Afterschool Explorations" is designed for children in grades one and two and "Afternoon Adventures" for children in grades three through five. Both sections are $2.50 per session and are held from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. once a week.

The younger children in Afterschool Explorations will meet on Thursday, while those enrolled in Afternoon Adventures will meet Wednesdays. Pre-registration is required for both and is now underway at Trailside.

The schedule of subjects for

Afterschool Adventures will be as follows:

• On Wednesday, "Life In a Log" will be featured; it will involve a field trip to view plants and fungi.

• On Oct. 6, "Native Harvest" will feature a sampling of foods prepared the Indian way.

Also included in the series are "Lenni Lenape Crafts" on Oct. 13; "Indian Tools" on Oct. 20, and "Indian Celebration" on Oct. 27.

On Thursdays, "Afterschool Explorations" will take part in the following sessions:

"Adopt a Tree" will be presented on Sunday; "Fungi" on Sept. 30; "Seeds and Fruits" on Oct. 7; "Autumn Color" on Oct. 14; "Indian Ways" on Oct. 21, and "Pumpkins, Gourds and Squash" on Oct. 28.

Participants may register for one month at a time. Registration and other

Program offers full schedule for oldsters

Movement and art therapies, nutrition and medication counseling, group discussions, and a hot lunch are all part of a new service offered to elderly residents through a geriatrics day program at Elizabeth General Medical Center. The new program highlights a growing resolve on the part of the Medical Center to be

"geri-active" — by promoting health, activity and socialization among the elderly community. The purpose of the geriatric day program is to provide a secure setting for elderly clients in which their top level of functioning can be encouraged and maintained.

The program meets once a week and is staffed by a registered nurse, registered dance/movement and art therapists, and an accredited social worker. Movement therapy involves a warm-up carefully designed to improve circulation, respiration and posture and is followed by dance to provide a vehicle of creative expression.

Art therapy allows for the expression of inner thoughts and feelings, while occupational therapy provides an opportunity to increase organizational and manual skills.

Nutrition and medication information and an opportunity to ask health related questions are provided during lunch. The program closes with an hour of discussion in which the main theme is support and guidance in coping with the stresses of aging.

According to Joe Klein and Gail Lashman, program coordinators, "The program offers a full day of activities to the older individual who is alert and ambulatory. Our goal is to provide a comprehensive approach that allows for creativity, verbal and non-verbal avenues of expression, and the heightening of self-acceptance and self-esteem.

"We hope that through the program our elderly clients will maintain an optimum level of physical and emotional health through education, activities, and discussion."

More information on the geriatric day program offered at Elizabeth General Medical Center is available by calling Klein at 558-8126 or Gail Lashman at 289-8600, ext. 2037.

Phi Theta Kappa schedules leadership conference

The Union County College Chapter of the national honor society, Phi Theta Kappa, will be host to a leadership conference Saturday on the Cranford campus for 22 chapters of the Middle States Region.

Members from local chapters in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Washington, D.C., are expected to attend the all-day session, which has as its theme, "Signed by the Masters." According to Rose Henderson of Rahway, president of the Union County College Chapter, that 1982-83 theme was adopted by the national organization to encourage the study by local chapters of masters in one or many disciplines. Those disciplines are not restricted to the arts, Henderson said, but have been broadened to include philosophy, psychology, business, sciences and sports.

Those who attend the conference will find workshops on leadership, parliamentary procedure, and communications. Union County College president Dr. Saul Orkin will address the conference.

The Union County College honor society chapter has approximately 50 members on the Cranford campus. The local chapter plans to initiate members from the college's Scotch Plains campus in 1983.

The college requires members of Phi Theta Kappa who are full-time students to maintain a 3.5 grade average in order to join the organization. Part-time students must maintain a 3.6 grade average.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national organization which aims to promote scholarship, develop character, and cultivate fellowship among men and women students of two year colleges.

Overlook offers CPR

Overlook Hospital in Summit will offer a four-part basic cardiac life support (CPR) course open to anyone over the age of 14 on Oct. 12, 14, 19 and 21 from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Participants will learn one and two-man CPR, infant and child CPR and obstructed airway techniques for both adults and children. Those who complete the course will receive an American Heart Association certification card.

There is a $25 fee for the course for the general public. The cost to members of a rescue squad, police or fire department is $10. Early registration is suggested because the class size is limited to the first 25 registrants.

Interested persons may call 522-2365 for further information.

Dems oppose proposal to build shopping mall

The four Union County Democratic freeholder candidates have expressed "opposition reflective of overwhelming public feeling against proposals to build yet another shopping mall on U.S. Route 22."

Charlotte DeFillipo, a former Hillside township clerk, said that "public officials" have a considerable obligation to listen to public sentiment when it comes to making important policy in opposition. As freeholders, I feel, we would be obligated to reflect that opposition."

Incumbent Freeholder Thomas Long of Linden noted, "The tears expressed about even worsened traffic problems on one of the busiest highways in the country, the negative impact on nearby local shopping districts, and the added problems of increased water run-off in an area already plagued by flooding problems are all very valid, and we feel they out-weigh any of the much-touted advantages the developers have cited."

Jerry Green of Plainfield said that, as a businessman, I am strongly oriented toward the positive aspects of commercial growth. But I think it's plain that all growth isn't necessarily good, particularly in a place like Union County, which is so small and densely populated that virtually any change makes its impact, either negative or positive, felt throughout the area."

Former Freeholder Chairman Walter Boright of Scotch Plains added, "We must do all we can to encourage healthy development that will benefit our county. We also have a duty to oppose growth that we feel will be negative in its impact on the economy and the quality of life in Union County. In this case, we share the views of many other county residents and officials in opposing this ill-conceived mall proposal."

College plan cited by GOP

Union County Freeholders Blanche Banasiak of Elizabeth, Robert Miller of Berkeley Heights and Bernard Yarusavage of Clark and Freeholder candidate John Kulish of Hillside credited the establishment of the new Union County College to the Republican majority on the Board of Freeholders.

The GOP candidates said that the new county college system follows the precedent set by Rutgers University in merging the privately-managed Union College with the publicly-owned Union County Technical Institute.

The advantage to technical students, they said, is that associate of arts degrees will be granted directly by one educational authority without any intermediaries. The new two-year community college offers two-year technical college degrees and two-year liberal arts degrees.

Safety programs set

"Accidents are the number one killer of children," Ellen Bloom, director of the Union County Division of Consumer Affairs, said this week. "Car crashes have been the leading cause of death, yet safety practices can reduce or prevent most of these tragedies."

An educational program designed to promote infant and child safety has been developed by the Union County Division of Consumer Affairs in cooperation with the United States Product Safety Commission. Five presentations, some in English/Spanish, will be made this fall for adults who are concerned about children, parents, expectant parents, teachers, day care workers and others responsible for the care and safety of children.

The talks will be accompanied by audiovisual materials.

Anyone wishing additional information on infant child safety can contact Rhoda Staub at Consumer Affairs headquarters, 300 North Ave., Westfield, 07091, 233-0502.

Disc & Data

By MILT HAMMER

Pick-Of-The-LPs—"Feelin' Lucky" by High Fashion (Capitol Records).

With the release of "Feeling Lucky," a debut album, the group proves that serious students of music also lay down some pretty mean funk. Two members of this New York-based trio have taken time off from their music studies at Juilliard and City College to join with a veteran performer out of Detroit. The result, after a few weeks together in the recording studio, under the guidance of producer Fred Petrus of Little Macho Music, is eight back-to-back dance numbers that convince you these vocalists mean business.

Alyson Williams, whose voice ranges from alto to somewhere in the hinterlands of first soprano, handles lead vocals on the single from this album, "Feelin' Lucky Lately," a tune by Fonzy Thornton. A dancer of 13 years and professional singer of five, Alyson's musical inclinations are a logical outgrowth of living with a father who plays jazz trumpet and manages a 12-piece swing band.

Melisa Morgan, the second member of the trio, is a longtime friend of Alyson's, whom she met in 1977 when each placed as finalists in the Hal Johnson Talented Teen Pageant at Hunter College. A New York resident as well, Melisa now attends the Juilliard School of Music, where she is studying theory. She is very interested in composition and claims writing as well as singing credits on this debut LP with "You're the Winner," an uptempo love song with a decisive dance beat.

Melisa, in the tradition of Donna Summer and so many other talented vocalists, began her singing career in church. She has since drifted out of the choir and into the recording studio to join the company of such artists as Teddy Pendergrass, Melba Moore, Marc Sandance and now, High Fashion.

Eric Mc Clinton, the final third of this trio, differs not only in gender, but in stomping grounds from his distaff partners. Born in Detroit and raised by a classical pianist — his mother has been playing professionally for 22 years — Eric has been singing for 11 years himself and manages lead vocals on four numbers off this release.

In 1970, he decided to head up his own group, Eric and the Vikings, who recorded a single called "Vibrations" that was produced locally in Detroit by Soul Hawk. The Vikings signed with Motown in 1972 and under the supervision of Berry Gordon, produced three more records.

Tiffany Gardens boasts varied list of specialties

BY GAIL CASALE

It's hard to believe, but another summer has come and gone. Falling leaves and a certain brisk chill in the air are indications that it's time to bid farewell to summer and greet the fresh breezes of autumn. What better way is there to welcome in fall's first weekend than with a visit to one of your area's favorite spots. May I suggest the cozy Tiffany Gardens Restaurant and Lounge located on 1637 Vauxhall Road in Union as a perfect toast to those cooler autumn days ahead.

Some eating establishments you frequent because of the atmosphere while others you prefer mainly for their special cuisine and good service. At Tiffany Gardens you can expect all of the above and more.

Known primarily as the "Place For Ribs," Tiffany Gardens boasts a host of specialties that customers can sample for lunch or dinner, accompanied by your favorite cocktail or choice spirits from the plentiful wine list. The two-year old Tiffany Gardens offers all the class and extra touches that you look for.

For lunch, served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., choose from a variety of sandwiches, omelettes and tasty entrees. Among them are fried shrimp in a basket, the hot sicilian composed of pepperoni, ham, bacon, cheese, lettuce and tomato on a bun-delightfully, deliciously different!

Other goodies featured for both lunch and dinner are tender steak tidbits, composed of lean sirloin chunks broiled in au jus, and Alaskan King crab legs combined with Tiffany's famous juicy barbecued ribs. There are 14 specials to choose from and thoroughly enjoy.

Do not by any means pass up the salad bar. Complete with 24 varied offerings daily such as pickled tomatoes, fresh greens and refreshing salads, it's one of the most diverse available in the area, and is generously included with all dinner items. The bountiful salad bar alone is worth the trip to Tiffany Gardens.

The restaurant also specializes in home made french fried onion rings, fresh fruit frozen strawberry or banana daiquiris, and cappuccino. Only the finest ingredients go into Tiffany Garden recipes to please you the customer. All of these successful combination of drink and food, whether they're consumed as side dishes, snacks, lunch or dinner prove to be a winner any time.

There are other elements that make Tiffany Gardens a special place to dine. Check out their late night menu served at the bar from 10 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. nightly. When I say after hours food I don't just mean a BLT or cheeseburger, either.

I'm talking A-1, uniquely prepared specials like mussels marinara with garlic bread, stuffed clams casino or Chicken Wings Tiffany. I ask you my friends where else can you get rarities like these past the bewitching hour accompanied with your favorite cocktail. Imagine, these specials are priced reasonably below $6 and served exclusively at Tiffany Gardens.

Who else offers not one but two happy hours, Monday through Friday from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and nightly from 11 p.m. to 12 a.m.? The soothing atmosphere, featuring hanging plants, subdued lighting, dining by candlelight, stained glass windows and colorful tiffany lamps enhance the relaxed mood further.

We can thank owners Mike and Dom Romanelli and manager Dave King for the dining magic offered exuberantly at Tiffany Gardens. Their skill and expertise have developed this relatively new-to-the-area restaurant into a well-known, reputable eating establishment.

Incidentally, there is a Tiffany Gardens located in Hollywood, Florida on 1716 Harrison Street. In case you're planning a trip down that way, it's surely a stop to include in your travels.

Major credit cards are accepted and reservations are not required. The restaurant features its own parking lot for your convenience, along with additional space across the street.

You may think that only in dreams or on Fantasy Island does anything so worthwhile exist. I will take the pleasure of awakening you to the reality. Delicious food served by lovely ladies in an enchanting tropical paradise await you only minutes away at the elegant Tiffany Gardens Restaurant.

THREE CHEERS for Peter Midas. The owner of Stuffy's has added another eatery to his credit—the new Dunkin Donuts on 857 Springfield Ave., Irvington. In celebration of his current acquisition, a luncheon was held at Club Navaho earlier this month. Present at the affair were Irvington Mayor Anthony Blasi and other distinguished members of the community. Topping off the event, a long string of dollar bills was generously donated to the Irvington First Aid Squad by Dunkin Donuts.

True confessions from the press box

By RON BRANDSDORFER

While area football teams still have to spend weeks and weeks running, jumping, stretching, throwing and hitting, I've gotten my pre-season routine down to a few days of intensive preparation: all my pencils have been sharpened, executive privilege has been claimed over all available notebooks in the newsroom and my thermal undergarments have been taken out of moth balls.

Rah team!

Now before you think that the life of a sports writer is all courtesy pretzels and hot chocolate in the cozy surroundings of the press box, maybe it's time someone explains all the occupational hazards of this business.

Covering the high school football season from cramped — and always cold — press boxes or next to a 6-5, 235-pound linebacker who always wants to make sure his name is spelled correctly — "Yes sir, No. 77, I realize there are two o's in 'Moose'" — isn't half as glamorous as it seems.

Really, though, there's nothing better than Saturday afternoon high school football. A crisp autumn breeze, a standing room only crowd, a tuba solo. The cheerleaders and twirlers, the ticket-takers and teachers, parents and fans. It just gives me goose bumps to think that they've all come to the game with the same purpose in mind: Blast Bayonne, Crush Cranford, Whip Westfield, Eliminate Elizabeth, Rip Rahway. It's nice to see school spirit — not to mention alliteration — is alive and well.

I, too, am alive and well during the pre-season and even for the first few weeks of the regular season football action. It's the cold, blustery weather that usually makes me yearn for a 9-5 desk job, complete with gossip sessions at the water cooler.

Remember, when the weather gets REALLY cold, when the snow is falling or when icy rains pelt the gridiron, thus are separated the boys from the men in this business.

I'll say one thing for sports writers: we certainly know how to dress. Since the fashion-conscious man or woman would be smart enough not to be covering a high school football game when the wind chill is in the minus digits, outward appearance is hardly a consideration to the deadline-conscious sports writer. In fact, I would guess that more sports writers wear funny-looking orange ski caps with bon-bons at the tip than any other segment of the American workforce.

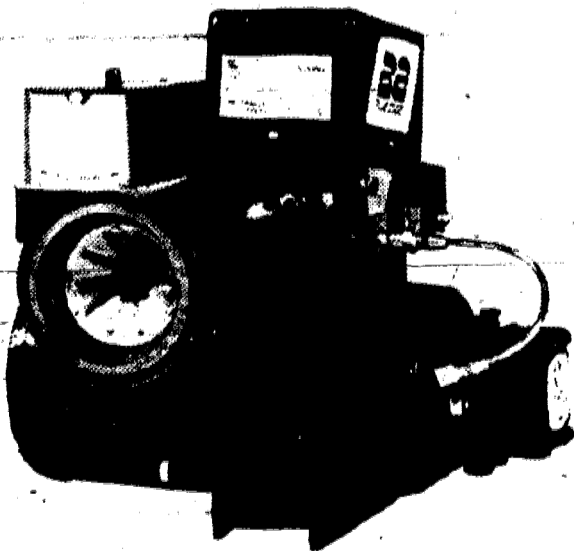

Forget the designer look. That's no way to cover a December playoff game in Hackettstown, with the frozen turf crunching with every step. Rather, the latest in sports writers' wear calls for two wool sweaters, a hooded parka, thermal underwear and socks, a hat — preferably orange with a fuzzy bon-bon at the tip — and a pair of furry gloves.

But the real giveaway is in the writing utensil. If water, Gatorade and mustaches all freeze at 32 below, so does the ink in pens. Pencils, on the other hand, are the all-weather choice but are awfully dangerous when carried in the pocket.

Values still the same, claim football coaches

By RON BRANDSDORFER

Times change, seasons change and the names change. New innovations and strange formations complicate matters for coaches and fans alike. But some things do stay the same.

Like the "important things."

"I have very strong beliefs that what we're doing has a lot of influence on these kids later in life," explained Brearley Regional coach Bob Taylor, a nine-year veteran with the Kenilworth school. "Seemingly minute, unimportant experiences have a carry-over value into later life, and the winning and losing later in life."

For that reason, Taylor insists on reinforcing his players' value system. Other coaches do the same thing.

Many, it seems, still believe the old Vince Lombardi-ish claims that "football makes men" or "football builds character."

"I would like to hope we're relating that to the kids," explained Linden High coach Joe Martino. "The values are the same. They always have been and they always will be."

"What we're trying to do," added Irvington High coach Tom Mendez, "is have the kids accept responsibility, develop a strong work ethic and be disciplined in everything they do."

And football, say the coaches, is a convenient way of getting those points across.

The team concept is an important example. It's as widespread in the corporate world as on the high school football field. Everyone wants "team players" on their side.

"Sacrifices have to be made — for the team, as individuals," Martino stressed. "That plays an important part in growing up."

"We want our kids to lose their own identity for the sake of the greater effort," Mendez added.

There are other equally important values, according to the coaches.

"Character-building is not out of style," Brearley's Taylor said. "It's alive and well at this school. My coaching staff firmly believes that."

There's no better way to build character than through winning ... and, of course, losing.

All three coaches have known both worlds.

When Elizabeth High captured a state championship a year ago, Mendez felt almost a part of the team, even though he was the first-year head coach of the Irvington Campers. He had previously been with the Minutemen as an assistant coach and had watched the program grow into a powerhouse.

At Irvington, though, the Campers suffered through a tough 1-8 season. But through his work at Elizabeth, Mendez can see a light at the end of the Irvington tunnel.

The Borough of Kenilworth enjoyed a different kind of football season a year ago. The Bears were 11-0 and state champs in '81, but many of those players were on the rebuilding 3-6 club in 1980.

"We've had some real fine moments and some down moments," Taylor said. "The kids saw what both ends are like ... and which they like better."

And at Linden, Martino witnessed a different phenomenon last season. Amidst playoff talk in the community, he saw his team jump out to a quick start, only to falter down the stretch.

Much can be learned from all three situations. Or it's possible to generalize.

"A football season is a rocky road," Mendez concluded. "Just like anything else."

Speedy Farmers roll in opener

By RON BRANDSDORFER

The cat's out of the bag. The Union High Farmers sure looked like a football powerhouse — maybe even a contender for a state championship — on Tuesday when they rolled past stubborn Bayonne, 20-13.

So what else is new?

"This team feels it has a lot to prove, a lot to live up to," explained Farmer coach Lou Rettino prior to the ballgame. "These players know that people say we've lost our backs and our all-county players and that it will be a hard, long season. But these seniors and juniors want to prove they can do what has been done before them. They don't want this to be the 'year in waiting' for our sophomores to mature."

"This team has a lot of pride," he continued. "They don't want to be the in-between class, the team in between playoff teams. They feel they can win this year. And I'm rooting for them."

Rettino was certainly playing cheerleader on Tuesday night, when his team rallied from a 13-6 halftime deficit behind some hard-nosed defense and the running of junior fullback Keith Peace, who scored three touchdowns.

More than anything else, though, it was a super opening day test for a Farmer team that features 34 sophomores — and just 15 seniors and 21 juniors — on the roster.

After all, Bayonne had tied the Farmers, 0-0, in last year's premiere and then advanced all the way to the North Jersey, Section I, Group IV finals against Passaic, while the Farmers lost to Watchung Conference rival Elizabeth, 21-0, in the North Jersey, Section II, Group IV finals.

But Bayonne is just one of many tests for the Farmers. Elizabeth and Westfield are powerful once again, while Scotch Plains and Linden appear much improved. And tough East Brunswick has been added to replace Montclair, which left the Watchung Conference.

All of which should make things very interesting — and challenging — for Rettino once again.

"We're more of a question mark," Rettino admitted. "More of a question mark than any year. But we're certainly a question mark with the ability to do very well. We're always looking playoffs and championships, and that's certainly in the realm of possibility."

"I think we can be state champions this year if the questions are worked out," he added. "We also realize we could struggle. We could go into the season and have some problems."

If that happens, that would certainly be no reflection on the Farmers' talent level. After all, in terms of pure talent, Rettino would consider putting this Farmer team up against any of his others in the past six years.

"The biggest thing we lack is varsity experience, and that's always a cause for concern," said Rettino, who saw all-staters Albert Smith and Tom Wilk move on to Rutgers and Penn State, respectively. "Our youngsters still have to prove they can do it in a varsity game, even though most have been very successful on the lower levels and possess good talent. It's the 'experience factor.'"

"This young team is probably as talented as we've ever had at this stage," he added. "But will they progress the way other teams have? Will they be able to help on the varsity level right away?"

Sharp performances in the pre-season have Rettino answering those question marks in the affirmative right now, but he hasn't seen his young team in a real pressure game yet.

The Farmer skill level is obviously very high, particularly in the key positions. Running the offense will be senior quarterback Billy Ludolph, who played behind Cosmo Lorusso a year ago but did direct the Farmers past Linden in the annual Thanksgiving Day game. Ludolph, a lefty, will be backed up by senior Joe DeMauro.

"We have a luxury at that position: two competent quarterbacks," Rettino said. "I think Billy should really come into his own this year, but both quarterbacks show real good poise and strong arms. They both have all the ingredients."

So do speedy backs Peace, Gordon Jones, Quincy Brooks, John Boyd and Rocco DiPaolo. While Jones will probably be watched most closely after some stunning moments late last season, Rettino plans to use all of his backs. And that may give the Farmers some additional offensive balance.

"Jones can be one of the best backs around," Rettino said. "In fact, any one of those five has the ability to be an outstanding back. All five have exceptional speed and can turn out to be the big runner on any given day. I can't single out one runner and say he's our bread and butter guy."

But the Farmers will have to grind out the yardage without a bruising fullback — a Tony Bibbo, Mark Ignatowicz, Joe Gruchacz type. And that's a first in Rettino's six-year reign.

"We've always had a 200-pound fullback here," Rettino said. "I just hope the quickness offsets our lack of size. Whether this turns out better or worse remains to be seen."

Perhaps the best tribute to the talent of the Farmers is that the backfield — the QB and the backs — isn't even the team's strong suit. That honor goes to the linemen.

"That's where the experience is," Rettino said.

And the size. Expected to start on the offensive line are tight end Chris LaFragola (6-2, 215), who could be a major college prospect, plus center Mark Crisafi (6-1, 195), tackles Charlie Bohannon (6-2, 205) and Richard Wilk (6-1, 215) and guards Greg Currie (6-2, 225) and Pernell Crockett (6-3, 235).

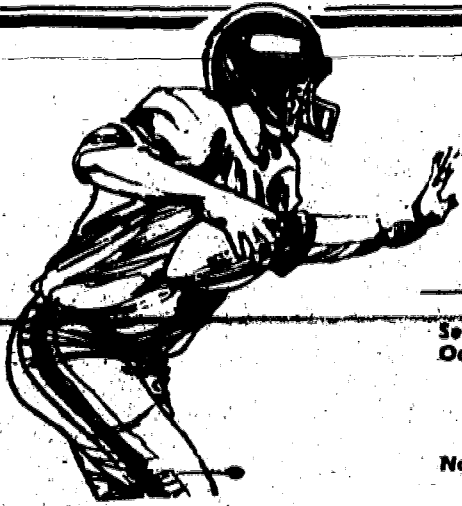

"That represents a typical Union line," Rettino beamed. "About 200 pounds a man."

Waiting in the wings are some big youngsters, too. Should the Farmers need some assistance on the line, Rettino can count on junior Don Schaefer (6-2, 235) and sophs David Price (6-2, 215), Jim Donaway (6-1, 215) and Doug DeLuca (6-2, 185).

The linemen will also be the key to the defense, which has been revamped a bit since last season. Currie, Bohannon, Crockett and Wilk will start up front, with Crisafi, LaFragola, DiPaolo and Mark Caputo at the linebacker positions. The defensive secondary features Jones, Brooks, Ludolph, Boyd and Chris Scala.

"Our defense can be comparable to teams in the past," Rettino said. "We take a lot of pride in the way we play defense. We've never given up 100 points since I've been here, and that includes some 11-game seasons. We always strive to do that."

And to get to The Meadowlands... for a shot at another state championship.

Improved? Linden Tigers stressing T-E-A-M effort

By RON BRANDSDORFER

Better buy a program on Saturday.

A year older and perhaps a year better, the '82 Linden Tigers won't look much like their counterparts from a year ago ... except, of course, for the traditional orange and black uniforms.

There will be some unfamiliar names and some offensive and defensive innovations. Ol' No. 33, Troy Stradford, won't be around to drive opposing coaches crazy, and big No. 61, Frankie Green, now gives college quarterbacks the cold — and hard — shoulder.

Which explains why head coach Joe Martino is taking this new season stuff very seriously.

"We're not a team of superstars," he explained. "We don't have one individual player who can carry the team on offense or defense. It has to be a collective effort."

A team effort. Martino has made that very clear to his players.

How well the Tigers have made the adjustment away from "Stradford and Company" will be apparent on Saturday when Cranford comes to town.

Clearly, though, this is a different Tiger team. Martino is just hoping the moves pave the way to a better-than-1981 (3-5-1) kind of season.

On the offensive end, the departure of Stradford will place lots of pressure on senior Bill McDonnell, the starting quarterback.

"Billy's really improved himself 1000 percent," Martino said. "He has a strong arm and the ability to throw the ball. He also has a lot of self-confidence."

And a solid backfield. John Mack will start at fullback, flanked by tailbacks Roger Harrison and Craig Taylor and wingback Tim Duvon. And look for George Walker, the much-touted transfer from Roselle, to see plenty of action once he finds his spot in the offensive system.

The offensive line is experienced and solid, with tight ends Lee Pridgen and Bob Kleinhans, tackles Mark King (6-1, 218) and Rick Payne (6-0, 250), guards Blaise Wylie (6-1, 195) and Michael Smith (5-11, 190) and center Ron Shamus (6-1, 195).

Backing up the starters will be Joe Dobosiewicz, Finley Brown, Elliot Collins, John Principato, Darrin McCool, Chris Foster, Nick Sheridan, Don Piecka and Bob Schmidt.

"This could be a group of outstanding linemen," Martino said. "They need a little more time to turn into a more cohesive unit."

But the real key to the Tigers may be their dee-fense.

King and Collins will start at the tackles. Kleinhans and Pridgen will be the ends, and Scott Semanchik, Duvon and Taylor are the standouts in the defensive backfield.

Then there is the linebacking corps. "Our No. 1 strength has to be our four linebackers," Martino said.

They're experienced, talented, big and quick. And they work well together.

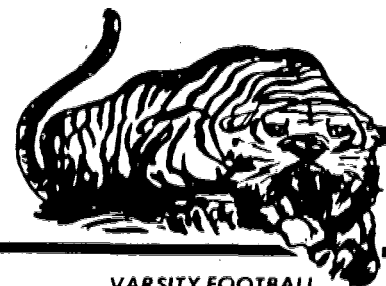

No wonder Martino is thrilled with the play of Wylie (the team captain), Darren Blakney, Smith and Pridgen.

"Three of our linebackers — Blakney, Smith and Wylie — have speed and strength," Martino said. "And Pridgen can play the pass and the run as a down lineman or a backer."

Providing the depth on defense will be Andy Todd, George Jenkins, Jim Johnson and Keith Ingram.

Bears looking ahead— not back at 11-0 season

By WAYNE TILLMAN

The year 1981 was one the Borough of Kenilworth and Brearley Regional will never forget. An unbeaten (11-0) season, culminated with the North Jersey, Section II, Group I championship with a pulsating 17-15 win over Roselle.

But, as Coach Bob Taylor says, "That's totally in the past."

The Bears of 1982 will unveil a new look: one of less finesse and more physical. That should make Olivia Newton-John happy.

"We'll be coming at people, and try to pass more on offense this year," added Taylor. "We do have the people to do it."

One major area that had to be replaced was the graduated Jeff Kopyta, QB/architect of last year's offense. His backup, Bob DeMayo, is now the number one man.

"Bob has fit into our offense nicely. He's a fine thrower with good ability," adds Taylor.

DeMayo's backup, junior Pat Hogan, is more of a running-type quarterback who has come along well in pre-season practice.

In the backfield, Joe Lospinoso returns to replace Steve Ondrof. Taylor warns opponents, "Joe's bigger and stronger than a year ago. He's a power runner, but has the speed when he gets into the open."

Alongside Lospinoso will be juniors Mike McSorley and Tony Costa and senior Louis Madden. McSorley has the early edge on starting Saturday's season opener at home against Dayton.

When DeMayo or Hogan have to pass, they will have a capable group of receivers waiting to catch the aeri-als. Scott Reuter is the split end, possessing good speed and excellent hands, while Nick Chango is the tight end, a fine blocker.

Bill Barberio has impressed Taylor with his ability, as has Brian David as they vie for the flanker spot.

When talking about the offensive line, it starts with Ed Miller at right tackle. The 6-3½, 240-pounder is the basis for the Bears' front wall, and is still growing, according to Taylor. He is being heavily recruited by the major colleges, including Pittsburgh, Penn State and Ohio State, and has been mentioned on many pre-season high school All-America teams.

But his linemates are just as talented. Steve Benko (6-1, 235) is the right guard, Bob Rizzo is an experienced center, with guards Joe Scuzorzo and John Krayowski and tackles Joe Andes and John Rubinetti (6-3, 295) on the left side.

"We want to establish our running game and go from there," says Taylor. "Plus our linemen have worked hard all summer on pass blocking."

Taylor will have a veteran defense returning. Rizzo, Miller, Krayowski, Rubinetti and Jim Havanky (who Taylor calls "a very bright spot") man the front, with Benko, Lospinoso, Jim Foti and Mark Phillips at linebacker. Benko was all-Mountain Valley Conference at the position a year ago.

David, Barberio and Dennis Miller (Jim's brother) comprise the secondary. Lospinoso will do the punting and placekicking.

"Everyone we've faced in scrimmages has really come after us, and it will be no different this year," says Taylor.

Union High's Farmers, whose sights are set on another state championship in '82, were in top form on Tuesday evening when they stopped Bayonne, 20-13, in their season opener. On the offensive end, quarterback Billy Ludolph (12) spent much of the evening pitching the football to speedy Gordon Jones (31) or fading back to throw, while Jones was also a standout on the Farmers' tough defensive wall. (John Shaffer Photos)

UNION FARMERS

1981 record: 8-2-1

(T) 0-0 Bayonne
(W) 41-7 Irvington
(W) 19-14 Elizabeth
(W) 27-6 Plainfield

(W) 34-0 Nutley
(L) 17-14 Westfield
(W) 47-12 Scotch Plains
(W) 21-0 Montclair

(W) 14-0 Westfield
(W) 27-0 Linden
(L) 21-0 Elizabeth

Wrapping up 1981: It was a typical Farmer season — plenty of victories and a spot in the North Jersey, Section II, Group IV finals. But unlike their two previous appearances in the finals, the Farmers were bombed, 21-0, by Elizabeth.

Looking at 1982: Coach Lou Rettino's Farmers have a brand new backfield, a new quarterback and an inexperienced receiving corps. There are many new players on defense, too, as well as revamped offensive and defensive lines.

Yet the Farmers are ranked No. 4 in one pre-season poll. That speaks very highly of the talent level on the '82 Farmers. Key players: The Farmer backfield could be just super — if not incredible — with tricky Gordon Jones, Quincy Brooks and Keith Peace. But the real secret to the Farmers' success is the line.

ROSELLE RAMS

1981 record: 8-2-1

(W) 21-9 Verona
(T) 18-18 New Brunswick
(W) 20-0 Kearny
(W) 14-13 Hillside

(W) 34-0 Carteret
(L) 7-0 Rahway
(W) 16-14 Johnson
(W) 13-0 Cranford

(W) 19-7 Chatham
(W) 6-0 Roselle Park
(L) 17-17 Brearley

Wrapping up 1981: The Rams were simply super in '81, rolling into the state playoffs and falling, 17-15, to the unbeaten (11-0) Brearley Bears in the North Jersey, Section II, Group I playoffs in a terrific playoff finale. The Rams brought a seven-game unbeaten streak into the season and boosted it up to 11 before a tough 7-0 loss to Group III power Rahway.

Looking at 1982: Head coach Lou Grasso has an uncanny knack of producing strong teams, but this will be one of his biggest challenges. The Rams lost a bundle of players to graduation, including some of their big names, as well as running back George Walker to Linden. The Rams will not be as awesome a Group I team as a year ago, but neither will Brearley and the other area powers.

Key players: Greg Moody is a good throwing quarterback and could be very effective if his offensive line provides the time. Sidney Rouse is a solid runner, while Andre Bolden could be a deep pass-catching threat.

DAYTON BULLDOGS

1981 record: 8-3

(L) 8-6 Roselle Park
(L) 17-7 Brearley
(W) 22-0 Metuchen
(W) 27-7 Johnson

(W) 17-14 Ridge
(W) 22-6 North Plainfield
(W) 24-0 Gov. Livingston
(W) 13-7 Spotswood

(W) 29-12 Warren Hills
(W) 34-6 West Orange
(L) 7-6 Hackettstown

Wrapping up 1981: The Bulldogs dropped their first two games and then turned the season around, winning eight straight and advancing to the North Jersey, Section II, Group II finals against Hackettstown. And they finished just an extra point away from being state champions.

Looking at 1982: It will be very difficult to match the achievements of the 1981 team, but new head coach Tony Policare — former boss Angelo Senese is now at Hopatcong — is confident his team can win again. The Bulldogs will open up the offense and throw some wild formations at opposing defenses.

Key players: The player to watch is Kyle Hudgins, a 6-3, 200-pound wide receiver. Policare is positive that Hudgins will be one of the most heavily-recruited players in the state. Ron Martignetti isn't flashy, but he's a top-notch runner.

VAILSBURG VIKINGS

1981 record: 5-2-2

(W) 14-13 Central
(W) 14-0 Shabazz
(L) 35-6 Passaic

(T) 6-6 Barringer
(W) 28-0 Weequahic
(T) 6-6 Orange

(L) 13-7 Scott
(W) 22-6 East Side
(W) 20-0 West Side

Wrapping up 1981: The Vikings were hoping for a playoff berth a year ago, particularly after a pair of early season victories. But the team was never really the same after a 35-6 pounding from Passaic, the North Jersey, Section I, Group IV champs.

Looking at 1982: The Vikes have a bunch of returning vets and some talented youngsters. That's why head coach Jesse Jones is thinking Newark City League title and maybe even a shot at a state crown.

Key players: Quarterback Mike Lindsey may be one of the state's best this season, while Larry Jones is one of his favorite targets. Walter Outing, a senior tailback, will be responsible for picking up some big yardage. Also, you can't miss junior Leroy Simpkins (6-7, 295).

LINDEN TIGERS

1981 record: 3-5-1

(T) 7-7 Rahway
(W) 21-0 Cranford
(W) 33-3 Scotch Plains

(L) 26-7 Montclair
(W) 14-7 Irvington
(L) 12-6 Plainfield

(L) 34-0 Elizabeth
(L) 17-6 Westfield
(L) 27-0 Union

Wrapping up 1981: The Tigers were thinking playoffs after tying Rahway and ripping Cranford, 21-0, and Scotch Plains, 33-3. But disappointing losses to Montclair (26-7) and Plainfield (12-6) were sandwiched around a 14-7 victory over Irvington. That, for all intents and purposes, ended that playoff dream.

Looking at 1982: While the Tigers will enter the season with a four-game losing streak, they'll also debut with a totally revamped lineup. The backfield should be particularly strong once again, especially if head coach Joe Martino can get talented George Walker, a transfer from Roselle, into the lineup.

Key players: Quarterback Bill McDonnell has to make the Tiger offense go, while Craig Taylor will try to fill the void left by Troy Stradford's graduation.

ROSELLE PARK PANTHERS

1981 record: 4-5

(W) 8-6 Dayton
(L) 14-0 Immaculata
(L) 15-14 Spotswood

(W) 27-8 Manville
(L) 35-6 Brearley
(W) 26-12 Bound Brook

(L) 15-0 Middlesex
(W) 36-6 Gov. Livingston
(L) 6-0 Roselle

Wrapping up 1981: The Panthers didn't know it then, but their 8-6 victory over Dayton in the season opener would prove to be their biggest win of the year. That's because Dayton went on to its best record in years, advancing all the way to the sectional finals. As for the Panthers, a.k.a. The Mike Shriner Show, some tough times followed.

Looking at 1982: There's an obvious question: who's going to replace Mike Shriner, one of Union County's finest running backs and linebackers. Granted, football is a team sport, but Shriner came darn close to being a one-man team. Head coach John Wagner is hoping a more-balanced offense — a little throwing, a little running — can put some points on the board.

Key players: Anyone named Shriner has to be considered a key player in Roselle Park, so remember the name Jamie Shriner. But he's only a soph. Mike Corrigan and Carmen Cicaese are proven runners. Mike Loneker (6-3, 290) is an imposing sight on defense.

BREARLEY BEARS

1981 record: 11-0

(W) 20-14 Spotswood
(W) 17-7 Dayton
(W) 29-8 Ridge
(W) 21-0 North Plainfield

(W) 35-6 Roselle Park
(W) 36-28 Manville
(W) 28-7 Metuchen
(W) 51-6 Pinelands

(W) 20-14 Glen Ridge
(W) 49-27 Gov. Livingston
(W) 17-15 Roselle

Wrapping up 1981: The Bears put together one of the great Group I seasons a year ago, ripping through 11 opponents en route to a state championship. Head coach Bob Taylor couldn't have dreamed up a more rewarding campaign.

Looking at 1982: The Borough of Kenilworth was football crazy a year ago, while residents have spent much of this year celebrating the community's 75th anniversary. How would a combination football championship-anniversary celebration sound for '82? The Bears have enough talent to pull that off, but it won't be easy.

Key players: Ed Miller, Ed Miller. Sometimes the 6-3, 240-pound pre-season all-American gives the opposition double vision. There are few better linemen in the country.

IRVINGTON CAMPERS

1981 record: 1-8

(W) 18-0 East Side
(L) 41-7 Union
(L) 21-0 Plainfield

(L) 40-0 Westfield
(L) 37-0 Scotch Plains
(L) 40-0 Montclair

(L) 45-0 Elizabeth
(L) 37-0 Passaic

Wrapping up 1981: There isn't very much to say about a 1-8 season, but give the Campers the benefit of the doubt based on their incredible schedule. Aside from losses to Watchung Conference foes Union, Westfield and Elizabeth, all of whom made the state playoffs, the Campers also played North Jersey, Section I, Group IV champion Passaic on T-Day. And that's enough to make any team lose its holiday appetite.

Looking at 1982: The Campers will be better in '82, simply because their schedule now includes Summit and Weequahic instead of Passaic and Montclair. Second-year head coach Tom Mendez will also field a very, very quick team, with plenty of breakaway backs.

Key players: Everyone will be keying on sure-handed Chris Love, so look for some tough yardage from fullback Cornell Sales. Keith Perkins is a standout on defense.

Panthers find offensive punch in 21-0 laughter over Dunellen

By WAYNE TILLMAN

When John Wagner talks, people ought to listen.

"We won't depend on one person," Wagner said prior to the Panthers' season-opening 21-0 victory over Dunellen last Saturday on the road. "We'll be more of a 50-50 club. We won't be a power team that can run over people, but we do have a club that can hopefully score more points."

And after spending most of the pre-season trying to find offensive and defensive replacements for all-everything running back/linebacker Mike Shriner, Wagner unveiled a wide open Panther attack that stunned the Destroyers.

Jim Coan and Tim McCaffrey split the duties at quarterback, each tossing a TD pass to Jim Steiger, and Mike Corrigan had a big day at fullback, rushing for 90-plus yards and a touchdown.

Wagner wasn't completely satisfied, of course, but he was happy to see his team get off to a quick start ... without Shriner — who's now at the University of New Hampshire — in the lineup.

Balance will definitely be the key for the Panthers, as Wagner plans to call for more split back formations on offense and use the option often.

"Plus we have depth this year with skilled backups. I hope they can jell quickly," added Wagner.

One place where Wagner has a nice dilemma is at quarterback, where Coan, a senior, is the starter after a year's experience at the position. Not only will Wagner use Coan, but he also has available juniors McCaffrey and Tom Bialas and sophomore Paul Feola. The latter two can also play end, which is what Wagner will probably do when either Coan or McCaffrey call the signals.

Now comes that burning question: who will replace Shriner in the backfield? Some of that pressure will be on Corrigan, a strong senior who has the potential to be a power runner. Also in the backfield are improving sophomore Jamie Shriner (Mike's brother), senior Carmen Cicalese (who missed most of last year with a broken thumb) and Steiger, a senior.

Along with Bialas and Feola, seniors Kevin McCaffrey and Will Naess, as well as junior Ingy Antonsson, will be the main targets of Coan's passes.

"We must complete our passes to make our balanced offense go," says Wagner.

Wagner doesn't have a big team, and the offensive line seems to emphasize that point. The biggest man up front is 6-3, 290-pound Mike Loneker, who has improved greatly, according to Wagner.

After that, size is a problem. So, Wagner probably will line up with guards Vic Pozsonyi, Pete Gallagher and John Heller. Mark Jaskula is the center, with the tackle candidates being Jim Brady, Bob Maier, Tony DeNezza and Tony Glembocki.

Seven starters return on defense to give Park a very good unit. Senior nose guard Pat Mirabella returns to head the front line, along with Antonsson, Brady, Maier and Corrigan.

Along with Mirabella and Antonsson, Cicalese and Pozsonyi return at linebacker, with Coan, Bialas and Steiger in the backfield. Shriner and 5-4 Lenny Siter, who weighs only 130 pounds but likes contact and reads the game well, will also play linebacker.

"We plan to play a split 40 defense so that we can get an extra linebacker on the field," says Wagner.

Steiger and Feola will handle the kicking duties.

Now the 1-0 Panthers would like to keep their winning streak going against a solid Middlesex team. Battles with powerful Brearley and Mountain Valley Conference newcomer New Providence will also follow.

"We must beat the teams we're supposed to and upset someone along the way if we are to have a winning season," says Wagner.

And the Panthers have already taken one step in that direction.

PANTHER POINTS—When Roselle Park and Roselle get together for the annual Thanksgiving Day game in November, it will be the 65th meeting between the two clubs. Roselle Park has a 30-27-7 edge in the series ... Although Wagner is specifically trying not to put any pressure on Jamie Shriner, the soph knows he will have to put up with the inevitable comparisons to older brothers Bob and Mike. Both were all-everything players and competed in the annual North-South All-Star game. Jamie does have the Shriner touch, but he's only a soph ... In Middlesex and Brearley, Park will meet two of the defending state sectional group champions.

Another title showdown for Roselle High's Rams?

By WAYNE TILLMAN

The big question in 1982 for the Roselle Rams squad is whether or not they can reach the sectional playoffs again.

The Rams start answering that question on Saturday when they open the campaign at home against North Plainfield in a 1 p.m. kickoff.

When Coach Lou Grasso began practice earlier this month minus 24 lettermen who carried the team to within three points of a sectional title in 1981, he knew what he had to do: rebuild.

"We don't have the size we did last year, but we do have more speed. How well we use it will be a key to our season," explained Grasso, entering his fourth season as head man of the Ram football program.

There will be enough speed on both units. Grasso has chosen junior Greg Moody to start against the Canucks.

"Greg can throw the ball well," he said.

Backing him up will be sophomores Matt Schoenfeld and Skip Hutchins and senior Frederic Faulk.

In the backfield, which will be hurt some by the transfer of soph sensation George Walker to L.aden, are Sidney Rouse, Danny Peterpaul, Terence Payne and Tony Milligan. Ready to catch Moody's throws are flanker Andre Bolden and wide outs Ron Robeson, Mike Smith, John Johnson and Frank Horvath.

If the offensive line does its job, the offense could ring up a lot of points this fall. Blocking will be guards Mark Conforti, Brian Burns and Mike Miller, tackles Jeff Rogers, Richard Sacks, Matt Chapman and Darren Barno, and center Tim Bostic.

Depth is a problem this year, so many players will see action on defense as well. Bostic, Conforti, Rogers, Chapman, Sacks, Barno and Peterpaul are slated for duty in the defensive front line, with Alton Smith and Tony Whitehead backing them up.

Milligan in the middle is the hub of the linebacking corps, and Payne, Rouse, Hutchins and Tony Carroll complementing him on the outside. Grasso feels this area will be the key to the defense.

Rouse also is ticketed for duty in the secondary, along with Robeson, Steve Boone, Ron Carolina and Stanley Holmes.

"We'll give different looks on offense and defense," says Grasso. "We'll stunt and use different formations."

As for the Canucks, it was only last week when the teachers' strike was settled there, and during that time the football team didn't practice for 10 days. They might not be as sharp as they would like.

After North Plainfield, the Rams host Orange Oct. 2 before meeting the Cardinals in Kearny on the 9th. Then comes a meeting with Hillside a week later and a road game at South Brunswick on the 23rd before meeting Watchung Conference, National Division power Rahway on the 30th.

Road contests at Johnson Regional (Nov. 6) and Cranford (Nov. 13) follow, then the season concludes with the annual battle with Roselle Park on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25.

Obviously, the Rams have quite a workload ahead, but Grasso plans to take things a step at a time.

Beginning Saturday with North Plainfield.

Dayton sees classic in season premiere

By RON BRANDSDORFER

Expect a classic. A wide-open, hard-hitting football game. Better yet, expect the unexpected.

The opening of the high school football season is always very interesting, but Saturday's showdown between the Dayton Bulldogs — 8-3 and sectional semifinalists a year ago — and the Brearley Bears — 11-0 and sectional champs last year — could be downright crazy.

If, that is, the Bulldogs can get themselves all pumped up for the football game. For some reason, and much to head coach Tony Policare's dismay, the 'Dawgs have taken a very laid-back approach to the opener.

But that was early in the week. Come Saturday, the spirits should be riding very high.

Some wild battles have been waged during pre-season workouts, and Policare has almost arrived at a starting lineup.

That's a solid unit, with plenty of offensive options.

Obviously, the key men will be Martignetti, the team's top rusher a year ago, and Hudgins, a major college prospect at flanker. But Policare is also thrilled with Policastro's play at quarterback.

"Richie's very quick and possesses excellent skills," Policare said.

And he'll have to be at the top of his game against the Bears.

"Since Brearley's front three weigh 250, 290 and 240 pounds," Policare said, "I don't think we're going to knock any people down. I think we have the skilled people to go outside with a perimeter attack."

And on the defensive end, Policare knows his Bulldogs will have to stop the Bears' muscle up the middle.

So he'll counter with Vogel or Tom Verducci at nose tackle, D'Achille at one defensive end slot and Kuperstein or Castellani at the other and linebackers Tony Apicella, Joe Roessner, Kent Murray and John Baber. The defensive backfield includes Brett Walsh and Mike Nicholson at the cornerbacks and Esemplare and Hudgins at the safeties.

Also expected to see plenty of action will be Anthony Romano, Dan Klinger, Carlos Hernandez, Parish Powell, Matt Dooley, Paul Stieve, Craig Kobrin and Ed Hayes.

All in all, Policare plans to go with a "conservative" game plan, though there might be a few surprises.

"We'll have an interesting offensive attack," he said. "We may do some things that people haven't seen."

That goes for the entire season. Policare insists that his entire offensive system isn't quite in place yet, though the Bulldogs seem to be comfortable with their coach's favorite plays.

Mendez hopes rebuilding plan can push IHS into win column

By RON BRANDSDORFER

This isn't a Hollywood story with a good-guy-gets-the-girl theme and a happy ending because, in the real world, everything does not turn out rosy.

It certainly didn't last year for Tom Mendez, who came to Irvington High Camper Country with a solid reputation after several seasons as an assistant at Elizabeth High.

He knew it would take some time to revamp the Camper program and to make it competitive in the rough-tough Watchung Conference, but things were even more difficult than Mendez anticipated, as the Campers suffered through a 1-8 season.

New years, though, bring new hope.

"What we're attempting to accomplish is to create confidence and consistency," said Mendez prior to Saturday's season opener against East Side. "For a Westfield, Elizabeth or Union, for example, the most important day of the week is Saturday. For us, each day is equally important."

"Whether we win or not is not that important," he added. "What's more important is that all the players go out on the field believing they can win."

And the Campers believe they can play winning football in 1982. Whether those positive feelings are enough to carry them past state powers Elizabeth, Union and Westfield and much-improved Linden and Scotch Plains is another matter.

Right now, the primary concern is getting totally prepared — mentally as well as physically — for the opener.

"Everybody works very hard," Mendez stressed. "We've got a good group of young men."

And this is a talented group, too. Many standouts from last year's powerful 8-1 freshman team have moved into the varsity spotlight, improving their skills and their bodies in the process. So expect to see a lot of 10th graders in the starting lineup on opening day.

In addition, what the Campers lack in size and depth — and they do lack quite a bit in both departments, especially for a Group IV school — they more than make up for in team speed.

"We've got excellent speed," Mendez said. "It's just amazing how fast some of these kids are."

And that, undoubtedly, will be the key for the Campers.

As Mendez envisions the game plan, if the Campers can get some of their speed-burners out into the open spaces, they can reach the endzone. Often.

"We'll be a real finesse team, or at least a team that utilizes all of its skill people," Mendez explained. "We've got to be prepared to be quick and to avoid breakdowns in assignments. We're a quick, little team — but a LITTLE team."

On the offensive end, the Campers will look for some big gainers from speedy Art Price, flyin' John Smalls, talented Cornell Sales and bruising Andrew Holley. It's the kind of backfield Mendez knows he'll enjoy watching.

Getting those speedy backs the football will be one of three quarterbacks: Alan King, Eric Dixon or Marcel McDaniels. The only sure bet here is that King will start at split end if one of the other throwers gets the QB nod.

Mendez knows exactly what he wants from a quarterback — good speed, a strong arm, plenty of composure and the ability to get the football to Chris Love.

And the latter condition is probably the most important. Love was one of the state's top pass-catchers a year ago and he has been even more impressive this pre-season. When he has been able to get the football.

"Chris is just super at tight end," Mendez said. "There may not be a better pass-catching tight end in the entire Watchung Conference. We've just got to figure out a way to get the ball to him."

But Love isn't the only Camper target. Wide receivers Reggie Holloway and Mike Pratt have good speed and can get into the clear downfield.

Providing some muscle up front will be Ruben Padilla, Ken Barner, Jeff Jones, Larry Reynolds, Darren Love and Louis Baker.

Then there's the defense. Size and depth will be the big problems, especially against the Watchung Conference's Big Three, but there are several strong points, too.

The defensive backfield, for example, features one of the most intense Camper players, hard-hitting Ed Pelliser, as well as talented Keith Perkins, the signal-caller, and Arthur Price and Anthony Williams.

The linebacking corps is solid, led by big Wendell Huggins and featuring Holley, Rigoberto Franco and Stan Motley.

Vailsburg Vikings debut with conference victory

By WAYNE TILLMAN

If Saturday's 20-7 victory over Weequahic is any indication, then 1982 could be a big year for Coach Jesse Jones and his Vailsburg Viking gridders.

"We looked sharp in the early going, but made some mistakes," he said. "But after we fell behind, the kids came alive and played very well."

After a scoreless first half, Vailsburg scored first in the third quarter on a 22-yard pass from quarterback Mike Lindsey to Larry Jones, then trailed 7-6 at the end of the period.

But the Vikings came back in the final period on a five-yard run by Ellis Thomas and a two-yard plunge by Walter Outing, along with a two-point conversion pass from Lindsey to Robert McNair.

Vailsburg takes on another Newark City League foe in Barringer Saturday, with the latter coming off a 36-12 rout by Elizabeth in its opener.

"After that Elizabeth game, we'll be in for a tough time with Barringer," said Jones. "We won't have an easy game with anybody."

But at least he has the horses to compete with the schedule. After showing more of a passing offense in '81, Jones wants Lindsey, an all-county selection a year ago, to balance the attack this season.

Lindsey is in his third year as a starter, and runs the offense well.

"He's a good ballhandler, with his forte being the passing game," says Jones.

Another senior, Harvey Smith, is the backup and he too throws well.

Outing, Thomas and Reggie Martin are the veterans in the backfield. Outing is the speed merchant, while Thomas is quick and powerfully built and Martin moves to the backfield from guard. Shawn Rudolph and Curtis Hargrove are capable backups.

Jones, who was a third team all-county pick in 1981, heads the receiving corps. The senior split end has excellent speed, gets open and has excellent concentration, according to Jones.

To complement Jones are Hargrove, senior walkon Kerry Gerald (fastest man on the team), McNair at tight end (also a fine blocker), and backups Reggie Dunlop, a junior, and Timmy Myers and Ricky White, both seniors.

Blocking for the veteran backfield are seniors Darryl Scott, a three-year starter, center Karlin Johnson, guard-tackle Eric Thornton and tackle Steve Canterbury, along with juniors Cleon Burton. Ivan Boswell and Leroy Simpkins.

Simpkins, who will back up Boswell, is the biggest man on the team, standing 6-7 and weighing 295. He will head the defensive line along with Scott, Canterbury and Thornton.

Boswell, Thomas and Mark Williams will also play up front, where Jones will use four men and do some stunting.

Outing heads the linebacking corps, along with Jones, Rudolph, Reggie Martin, Johnson, Robert Panky and Kevin Sarrington.

In the secondary are Thomas, Dunlap, McNair, Rob Covington, Rodney Braithwaite and Ricky White. Lindsey will handle all the punting and placekicking.

"We have looked very well in practice, and I'm satisfied with their progress," said Jones. "I only hope we don't peak too soon."
