Freeholders ice mall resolution

BY PHILIP HARTMAN
With the idea of gathering further information, the Union County Board of Freeholders has tabled a Sept. 1 resolution opposing the proposed Bamberger's-Alexander's mall off Route 22.
Freeholder Frank Lehr said the board was not against making a decision, but "there is an awful lot of information to come."
He said an environmental impact study, which has not been done, is necessary before the board can take any position. The board also wants information on what effects may be felt on traffic, police and fire department numbers, and local retailers.
"The lack of a great deal of information was the major reason. For example, the mayor of Springfield (Stanley Kaish) said the hearings may be going on for another year," Lehr said.
Kaish, who was present at the meeting, said: "The reason they tabled it was Mr. (Garland) Boothe (a Westfield committeeman) suggested it was an innocuous resolution - that Springfield consider both positive and negative effects, which is what we intend to do anyway."

Boothe, who called the resolution "bland" and in the category of "mom, hot dogs and apple pie," said the freeholders should have adopted the resolution because "they are the only county body that exists and since this is really a county wide problem, it will have county wide effects."
Lehr, however, said the board must objectively base its position. He added that he has received a number of calls from citizens, the majority of whom ask that the board go on record against the proposed mall.
"In this case, they're asking us to disapprove without any of this information. If we approved this (backed the mall with as little information), the sky would fall in on us."

County Counsel Robert C. Doherty had advised the board that any position, pro or con, could be seen by the courts as prejudgment, made without all the necessary information available.
Doherty urged the board to wait until action is taken by the Springfield Planning Board, because, he predicted, the case will probably go to litigation.
Freeholder Thomas Long, who was the lone board member opposed in the 8-1 vote to delay the decision, said: "I felt we should take a position on it. I think the whole thing is a ploy in not addressing the concern. I want our professional staff on top of it immediately so we have all the input to deal with it."
"At least it would have drawn attention that the freeholder board had some very serious concerns that should have been addressed ... At least it would have been an objective consensus of concern on the part of the board that our people at least should be looking in detail and depth to report back to us," he stated.
Long stressed that a mall at the site has "got to impact on the Lenape detention basin," located in county-owned Lenape Park which is adjacent to the site. Flooding there has been a past problem and could be aggravated by a mall, the freeholder said.
"I would assume of the posture taken by the board, that they are not going to do so (take a position) until input by our professionals. I can't put any time posture on that," Long commented.

Whether the county will make its own study of possible effects is still in question.
Lehr said: "That has not been decided. Traditionally, the county does not make an individual study; we rely on the studies presented. We are concerned about spending money for it, and whether to take a great deal of time to make our own study."
Kaish suggested that the county send fact-finders and witnesses to the township planning board meetings, rather than draft a resolution.
"I can rest assured we plan to be fair with or without their resolution," the mayor said.
Aside from the county freeholders, the Mountainside Borough Council last week passed a resolution against the mall. The council acted unanimously on the recommendation of a task force which it had created to study the impact of the proposed center.
"An already over-burdened Route 22 will be clogged and congested and will negatively affect the pattern and flow of traffic along Springfield Avenue in Mountainside," the report said.
The council also charged that a mall would increase the burden on local police, fire and other emergency personnel.
With passage of the resolution, Mountainside joins Westfield, Cranford and Kenilworth as municipalities formally opposed to the mall.

Jersey Central plans to punish violators

Jersey Central Power & Light Company said recently that it will prosecute to the fullest extent possible any person or persons who illegally enter the company's substations or tamper with other company-owned electrical equipment.
A major reason for this, according to C.D. Cudney, vice president of J.C.P. & L.'s northern area operations, is to protect the public. Electric substations are extremely dangerous facilities, and anyone who is not trained nor wearing protective clothing and enters a substation can be badly burned, injured or even killed.
Cudney said there have been several recent incidents where persons have illegally entered company substations and have been severely injured. "Our decision to prosecute such cases is not to punish offenders, but rather to discourage others by calling attention to the extreme dangers that individuals expose themselves to when they enter these facilities. Every piece of equipment within the fenced enclosure has the potential to kill," said Cudney.
The utility vice president also pointed to the danger of climbing poles and towers or even trees that may have electric wires passing through them. It also is dangerous to fly kites or model airplanes in the vicinity of power lines.

Downed power lines are another source of danger. Anyone who sees a downed wire should stay away from it and keep others away. The condition should be immediately reported to the utility or to the police.
"Electricity is a very powerful form of energy -- our way of life, our standard of living, our very existence depends upon electrical power. However, if it is used carelessly or if electrical substations or other equipment are tampered with illegally, it can be the cause of severe injury or even death," said Cudney.

Behind-the-scenes volunteers included Carol Hancock of Summit Lane as program chairman, and Charles Bunin as a member of the set construction crew. Last year's production of "Mame" netted $14,000 for the hospital's Center for Community Health and received high acclaim for its professionalism.

Material presented covers historical, legal, psychological and societal information on wife battering and also the effects on children who witness violence in their homes. It also includes updates on battered women's shelters.
The following persons can be called to arrange for a speaker for any civic, religious, professional or educational group: Gladys Green at 232-8147 or Alice Gray at 233-8939. Requests for speakers also may be mailed to NCJW, P.O. Box 12, Westfield, 07090.

Fire department plans 'Get out alive' program

The Mountainside Volunteer Fire Department is presenting Tuesday, 8 p.m., at the Deerfield School Gym a "Get out alive" program directed at hotel, motel type fires, but also helpful in surviving any type fire.
This program is part of the annual fire prevention week reminder that once a year an individual must reassess his own life safety habits and make the necessary changes to correct any careless habits that one may have acquired.
The ever increasing number of hotel type fires and multiple death is increasing the concern of more and more people who frequent high level buildings for business or pleasure. An individual owes it to himself and his family to see this program and clear up any misunderstandings regarding safety in a fire. There will be a question and answer session after the program.

This program won the "Man of the Year" award in 1980 from the state of New Jersey and a public service award of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut on April 1981, presented on the Bill Boggs television show.

LOCAL ISSUES DISCUSSED—Howard Schwartz and Ed Stiso, Jr., Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, meet with Township Committeeman Robert Weltchek, Stanley Kaish and William Cieri to discuss important issues affecting Springfield.

Dems lambast GOP

Howard Schwartz and Ed Stiso, Jr., the Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, today issued the following statement regarding the appointment of a replacement to fill the present vacancy on the committee: "Springfield's Republican party has chosen to play politics with the tragic death of former Township Committeemen Joe Montanari. Under the law, the Township Committee may select a successor from a list of three names offered by the local Republican party or it may reject all names and leave the seat vacant.

The Township Committee's Democratic majority advised the Republicans that they were anxious to appoint a Republican of quality and experience and any former Republican Mayor or Township Committeeman would be acceptable. There is a long list of prominent Springfield citizens who meet this qualification: Raymond Forbes, Arthur Falkin, Philip Del Vecchio, Bill Koonz, Henry Bultman, Norman Banner and Bob Wasserman.

"Instead of offering someone with experience who could pitch right in, the local Republican organization played politics and insisted that the Township Committee choose one of its two announced Republican candidates, in effect, appointing him or her to office without need for election, or Ray Condon, whom the voters have already rejected twice. The law anticipated a local political organization doing something like this and provided that the governing body can reject all names and leave the seat vacant.

"The Democratic majority on the Township Committee really does not want to leave the seat vacant. If the people of Springfield are being deprived of a Republican representative, it is the local Republican organization that is doing it by proposing three names whom it knows to be unacceptable and by refusing to propose that is, one, incidentally, whom the Republicans of Springfield have already elected in the past.

"We would point out that Governor Kean, when confronted with the need to fill the seat in the U.S. Senate vacated by Harrison Williams, went out of his way NOT to appoint one of the announced Republican candidates. Instead, he chose a 'caretaker', Senator Brady, to hold the seat until the next election. The Democratic Township Committeemen are more than willing to appoint a qualified Republican, but they just feel that there must be someone available besides two candidates and a reject."

Schwartz and Stiso concluded, "We feel that it is time for the local Republican organization to show a little statesmanship instead of its usual brand of cheap politics. The Republicans should live up to their own slogan of 'People, not politics,' and follow the lead of the Republican Governor."

KEEPING ON TOP OF IT—Republican Township Committee candidates Joanne Tedesco and Philip Feintuch read press reports of a proposed "amphitheater" at the Houdaille Quarry site. The Republicans have severely criticized the Democratic Township Committee for "ineptitude" in the Quarry matter and massive traffic jammes the "the mini-arts center" will create on Springfield streets.

Republicans blister the 'mini-arts center'

The proposed Union County "mini-arts" center at the Houdaille Quarry site in Springfield is a "bad deal" for the Township and new evidence of "gross ineffectiveness" on the part of the Democrat-dominated Township Committee, according to Republican Committee candidates Joanne Tedesco and Philip Feintuch.

"Suddenly, and with no apparent objection or input of any kind by our ostrich-like local government, our citizens are confronted with the prospect of massive traffic problems and noise pollution," the Republicans said. "Even worse, everyone's first notice of the arts center was newspaper accounts of the 'deal' worked out between the County Freeholders and the state."

"Where was our township committee?", they asked. "If they didn't know about the deal, why not? If they did know, why didn't they demand a voice for our Township? Why should the county delight in the prospect of a new amphitheater at the expense of Springfield?"

"The simple fact is the Democrats have butchered the entire Houdaille Quarry situation from start to finish," Tedesco and Feintuch said. "They have been guilty of repeated errors of omission and commission that have cost us our fifth largest ratable, $93,000 in annual tax revenue, some $30,000 in wasted legal fees and the prospect of a noisy, traffic jam on our local streets."

"The Democrats owe the Township more than an apology," they said. The Republicans said the "deal" resulting in the proposed amphitheater arts center "would never have happened" if the Democrats had taken Republican advice over the years.

"Once confronted with the inescapable fact, some years ago, that Route 78 was going to be completed, we should have negotiated the best possible arrangement for the Township and retained control of the quarry site," they said. "Instead, the Democrats threw stones at Goliath, wasted money and time, lost our negotiating position and exposed us to the decisions of outsiders that will dramatically affect the lifestyle of the Township's residents."

"The horror-story rests squarely in the laps of the Springfield Democratic organization," the Republicans said.

Cancer center establishes ties Sloan-Kettering with Memorial

The Children's Cancer Center at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston is the first pediatric center in New Jersey to formally affiliate with Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, which has the largest pediatric cancer program in the metropolitan area.

"The affiliation enables physicians at the two facilities to share in the care of each patient," according to George M. Gill, M.D., pediatric oncologist and director of the Saint Barnabas program.

"Children with either leukemia or tumors benefit from dual consultations and the availability of all the various diagnostic and treatment protocols, including research drugs when necessary," he said.

Denis R. Miller, M.D., associate chairman for hematopoietic malignancies and principal investigator for Memorial's Children's Cancer Study Group activities, has encouraged the affiliation.

The affiliation also provides the Saint Barnabas Center with membership in the Children's Cancer Study Group, the first national cooperative cancer research group, founded in 1954 by the National Cancer Institute. "Membership in the Children's Cancer Study Group assures the best possible care for a child," Dr. Gill said. "A national panel of experts evaluates all the information and formulates the treatment protocols. Cancer is not a disease where too many cooks spoil the broth."

Since the opening of the Saint Barnabas Children's Cancer Center in March 1981, physicians have cared for 24 patients between the ages of birth and 20 years with cancer and cancer-related problems. Patients may require as many as 75 to 100 treatments a year and more than 80 percent of these can be provided at Saint Barnabas.

"Each patient is evaluated by physicians at both Saint Barnabas and Memorial," Dr. Gill said. "Consequently, if a crisis occurs in the disease or treatment, the patient is not a stranger to the physicians on either staff."

In addition to Dr. Gill, the staff of the center includes Neil Senzer, M.D., a pediatric hematologist-oncologist, and Catherine Cerutti, a social worker and counselor. The staff works closely with the referring pediatricians and family doctors as well as pediatric surgeons and other surgical subspecialists at Saint Barnabas.

"The addition of the Children's Cancer Center to the Department of Pediatrics is another step in Saint Barnabas' continuing commitment to the health of the community it serves," said Ralph Cobrinik, M.D., chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Saint

Barnabas. "Added to the other programs at the hospital, such as the Jeffrey Dworkin Infant and Child Development Center and the Cystic Fibrosis Center, and added to the other pediatric subspecialty services available here, the Children's Center allows Saint Barnabas to care for the great majority of the special health needs of the children of northern New Jersey."

'House rich,' cash poor helped by new program

By Cy Brickfield
Millions of older Americans are both "house rich" and cash poor. Approximately 10 million of the 12.5 million older homeowners in this country have paid off their mortgages entirely and have an average equity of at least $50,000. One researcher has estimated that Americans over 65 currently hold more than $500 billion in net equity in their homes.

At the same time, the number of older persons living in poverty has sharply risen over the last few years primarily because of dramatic increases in living costs, particularly health care and energy. And significant cutbacks in Medicare and other government programs for older persons are making things even worse.

But a new real estate concept that could dramatically improve the situation was recently endorsed by an influential government commission.

Under a plan called "equity conversion," an individual could obtain monthly income from the accumulated capital in his or her own home without having to leave or sell the property.

Although still in the experimental stage, this concept may become one of the most important financial developments in the 1980's according to both government and private-sector experts. It is seen as particularly beneficial to thousands of low- and moderate-income older homeowners.

In its final report released in May, the President's Commission on Housing strongly endorsed home equity conversion. The commission urged three federal agencies to take steps to eliminate immediately all regulatory or legal barriers to the plan.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development must develop guidelines for lenders, consumers and local governments who want to use equity conversion, the commission said.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board must streamline its regulations to make it easier for lenders to make line-of-credit or lump sum payments to older homeowners, secured by the equity in their homes.

And the Internal Revenue Service — or Congress — must define more clearly the rules affecting a key form of equity conversion called sale-leaseback.

Hopefully, the commission's endorsement will help stimulate the necessary governmental action. It has already stimulated a great deal of excitement among both commercial firms and non-profit social welfare organizations throughout the country.

Equity conversion programs allow homeowners to convert a portion of their "frozen" equity into cash. Participants receive income supplements of anywhere from $100 to $500 or more per month with no limits on the number of payments during the owner's lifetime. These payments allow owners to maintain a higher standard of living in their own homes, travel, or pay their bills. The money they are "borrowing" is actually coming out of the savings they've built up themselves (with the help of inflation) through the appreciation of their homes over many years.

Matthew Rinaldo

New Jersey high school seniors interested in a free, quality education, while at the same time serving their country, should consider seeking appointment to one of the nation's service academies.

Every year since I was first elected to Congress in 1972, I have nominated a total of 50 candidates from the Congressional District for appointment to one of the academies.

Young women as well as men are encouraged to apply. Since the academies were opened up to women in 1976, five of those I have nominated have won appointments. Even though the competition is keen for the limited academy openings, New Jersey applicants have been of such high caliber that they have fared exceptionally well. More importantly, once accepted, they have consistently proven their ability in meeting the high standards of the academies.

If you are interested in an appointment, now is the time to act. First you must write to me in Washington. Let me know whether you want to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., or the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y.

Once you notify me of your preference, I will provide you with the necessary materials and instructions for completing your application. Generally, you will be required to complete a questionnaire and submit a transcript of your high school grades and your test scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) or the American College Test (A.C.T.).

To be considered for appointment for the 1983-84 academic year, candidates must file their applications with my Washington office by Nov. 30.

Students interested in applying for admission to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, where appointments are made solely through an annual nationwide competition, have until Dec. 15, 1982. Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320.

The appointments based on my nominations are announced in the spring of each year. I have traditionally invited the appointees from the district to Washington for a luncheon meeting with representatives from the academies and for a tour of the Pentagon. In the past, the luncheons have featured talks by Rep. Jack Kemp and Rep. Samuel Stratton, a member of the House Armed Services Committee and author of the legislation that opened the academies to women.

If you are willing to work hard at getting your education — and willing to give your country at least five years of active service in return for that education — give serious consideration to competing for an academy appointment.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, 2338 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Insurance Quiz

Question: How do I get flood insurance on my home?

Answer: Flood insurance is specifically excluded under any homeowner's policy in New Jersey. A flood policy, either the Emergency or Regular Program, may be purchased through any licensed agent or broker. The coverage is written by the federal government under the National Flood Insurance Program.

Question: What is the difference between the Regular and Emergency Programs?

Answer: Your community is probably enrolled in one or the other federal program. The Emergency Program carries generally higher rates and a limit of $35,000 coverage for private dwellings.

Question: If my basement has backed up water in it, would this be covered under a flood policy?

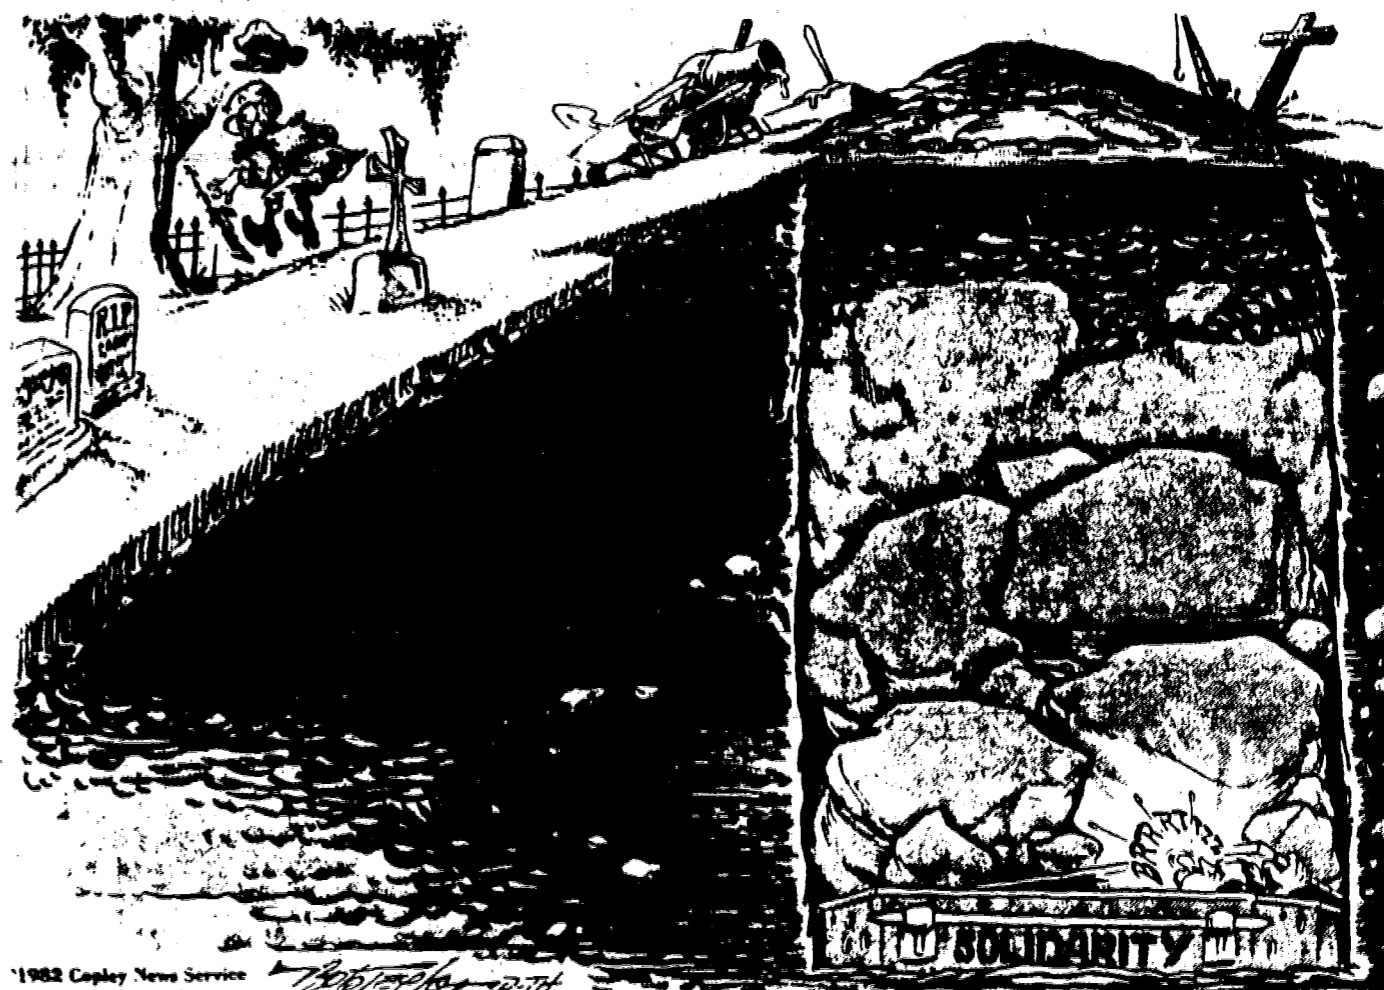

Answer: It depends. It would be covered if it is a general condition in your area. However, if your home is the only one in the area experiencing back-up of water from the sewer, for example, your flood policy would not apply.

Question: What is a flood, then?

Answer: The federal government defines flood as: A general and temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of normally dry land areas from:

1. The overflow of inland or tidal waters;
2. The unusual and rapid accumulation or run-off of surface waters from any source;
3. Mudslides which are proximately caused by flood, as it is defined above, and are akin to a river of liquid and flowing mud on the surface of normally dry land areas, as when earth is carried by a current of water and deposited along the path of the current.

In plain English, a flood is partial or complete coverage of normally dry land from inland or tidal waters, run-off of rain or meltwater caused by flood, mudslides or mudflows caused by flood. This column is prepared by Nelson A. Reed Company, Springfield, Massachusetts. Sources of space advertisements topics covered are necessarily simplified; specific questions should be taken to your licensed insurance agent or broker.

Money management

Study needed on medical costs

In 1981 the Department of Health and Human Services estimated seven million American families spent 15 percent of their income on unreimbursed medical expenses. For a family earning $25,000, that amounts to $3,750. If you're fortunate enough to have an employer-sponsored health insurance plan, your medical costs reflect only a small part of the real expense. And if you are largely dependent upon such a plan, check to be certain the coverage is adequate for your needs.

Keeping health care costs low, says the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs), requires some investigation and planning. First, understand what, if any, benefits your employer provides. Second, examine different insurance and health care plans for any supplemental insurance you may need, and determine which best suits your needs. Third, keep detailed records and know what expenses constitute tax deductions or exemptions. Remember, health care includes dentistry, ophthalmology, psychiatry and other special areas as well as maintaining your general physical health.

Generally speaking, minimum health care insurance covers some related hospital costs under a basic medical plan, with a major medical policy needed for more extensive treatments. There are three other types of insurance to supplement these plans:

hospital expense, surgical expense, and disability.

Depending on what is covered in your basic and major medical policies, you might need supplemental coverage. For example, if 75 percent of hospital costs are reimbursed, with a weekly hospital stay averaging $2,000, you would have to pay $500 or more each week. Also, you might have to pay a share of the costs of tests and treatment.

If you believe you need supplemental coverage, check policies carefully to make sure they bridge the gaps. And be prepared to compare costs. Individual insurance policies run 15 to 40 percent higher than group insurance and it could cost $500 to $1,000 yearly to insure an individual. A family of four carrying a $750 deductible might pay $900 a year for major medical coverage.

When comparing policies, check the cost of insurance, the deductible and the reimbursement schedule. Is there an annual or lifetime maximum and is this amount adjusted for inflation? If you're insured by your employer, can you arrange coverage for when you're between jobs or retired?

As medical costs continue to rise, some physicians are forming group practices to control their overhead. They further reduce their cost of practice by prepaid fees. In health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and individual practice associations (IPAs), these savings are passed along to users. Not all HMOs and IPAs are open to non-group members.

While physical health care offers a growing number of competitive plans, dental care is basically restricted to group plans. About 35 percent of the nation's companies offer dental insurance; and dental care centers, similar to HMOs, are becoming popular. Check the fees, what services are available and the credentials of the practitioners.

If you have dental insurance, check the deductible, the reimbursement schedule, and the computation method for reimbursements. Because costs vary across the country, the best plans will break down reimbursements geographically. If you're reimbursed on a percentage, rather than a flat amount, your policy is likely to keep pace with inflation, CPAs advise. Some extensive dental work, such as oral surgery, might be covered under your medical policy.

Finally, CPAs say, don't assume all unreimbursed costs are out of pocket expenses. Once medical expenses exceed 3 percent of your adjusted gross income, you can deduct them from your income if you itemize your tax return in 1982. These percentages increase in 1983 and you will not be able to deduct as much of your medical expense. Ask your CPA for guidelines.

Mental health

Toxic waste a cause of illness?

BY GEORGE F. WILSON M.D.
This column is from The Carrier Foundation, a psychiatric facility. Inquiries should be addressed to The Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, N.J. 08502.

Several years ago, the media brought to public attention the distressing story of the community in upper New York State, at Love Canal, which had been built on top of a toxic waste dump. An outbreak of strange illnesses among adults and children in the community brought an investigation which disclosed that innumerable drums of toxic waste materials had been buried there, and that the drums had corroded and released into the ground and air a variety of toxic organic compounds. The illnesses were attributed to contamination by these chemicals.

There is increasing evidence now that the Love Canal incident was not an isolated one, and that in many parts of the country, adults and children are coming down with a variety of illnesses attributable not only to toxic waste, but also to the very products which the industry had set out to produce. These include various insecticides, paint solvents, and plastic solvents. Associated with these products are numerous mental as well as physical ailments. Until now, attention has been concentrated on the physical illnesses; presently, serious mental disturbances are also coming to light.

It has been observed in people presumed to be affected by these chemicals, that they develop reactions quite similar to the depressive syndrome. They become dejected, lose interest in their work or studies, become isolated from relatives and friends, develop intense anxiety, slow down in their physical movements, lose their sex drive and their appetite for food, develop sleep disturbances, and are given to spells of hopelessness, weeping and suicidal thoughts.

Also, they suffer from impaired ability to concentrate, to think clearly and effectively. Memory is also impaired.

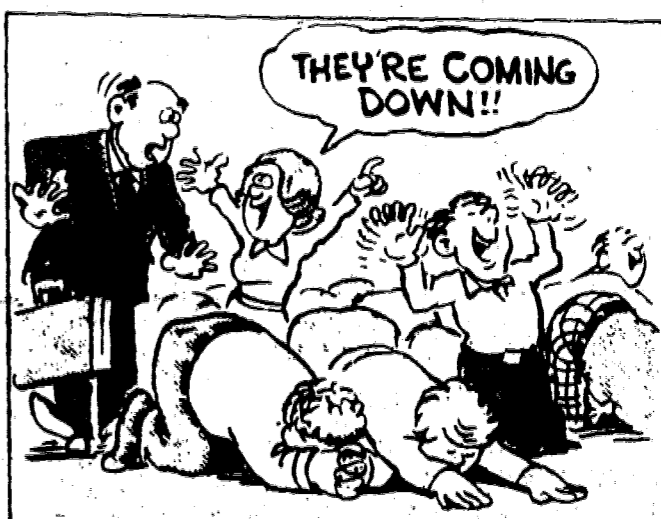

Ordinarily, people who come in contact with these questionable chemicals are exposed to only minute quantities. However, this does not constitute a safeguard. These are all synthetic compounds which do not exist in nature.

The body has no enzymes for synthetic chemicals, and so it cannot break them down and expel them. Consequently, they remain in the body. Eventually, the accumulation reaches a concentration injurious to the nervous system.

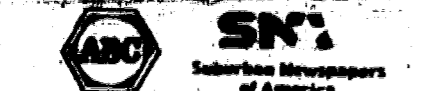

The problem of toxic chemicals in the environment is not a new one. We have long known about the illnesses caused in children by the lead in paint. Ingestion or inhalation of lead products may damage learning ability, and, over the years, may produce an effect similar to mental retardation.

Industries producing the chemical solvents and insecticides and enterprises using them need to be aware of the cumulative factor and to provide safeguards so that no one is exposed to them for prolonged periods. Individuals who are in contact with these chemicals, either in their manufacture or in their use, should also be on guard.

While automobiles now use lead-free gasoline, there are still some using the leaded type and safeguards should be taken to minimize the toxic effects.

Congregants will mark Sukkot festival holiday

The festival of Sukkot will be celebrated by congregants of Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield, tomorrow at 8 p.m. Rabbi Joshua Goldstein and Cantor Irving Kramer will be in charge.

Sukkot, says the rabbi, "brings with it a change from the solemnity of the High Holidays to an air of joy and happiness." Historically, Sukkot celebrates the emancipation from slavery, specifically, the departures of the children of Israel from Egypt. It also has become the Day of Thanksgiving for "the ingathering and harvest of the crops."

In preparation for the festival, parents and their children will gather tonight at 6 in the temple to decorate the Sukkah with fresh fruit, vegetables, branches and greenery. The Sukkah, which is a specially-erected, outdoor temporary structure with an open roof was donated by the Sisterhood of the temple.

Linda Yablonsky, chairman, has announced that a hot dog supper with cider and donuts will be available to the participants.

Fashion show slated today

The Brandeis University National Women's committee will hold a fashion show at Saks Fifth Avenue of Springfield today at 9:30 a.m. A mini breakfast will be served.

Reservations may be made by calling Selma Small, program chairman, at 731-4351; Sylvia Szwalsky, co-chairman, 731-4244; Marian Maitland, 994-2032 or Louis Schuftan, 992-7597.

The Friday night Sukkot Shabbat service "is a special service of consecration for children through the fourth grade who are new to the congregation." The children are prepared by their Religious School teachers for their Hebrew prayers and by Wendy Achtenreith, their music teacher, for their musical renditions for the ceremony of consecration which takes place in the Bima.

Rabbi Goldstein will present certificates, and Lillian Brummer, president of the Sisterhood, will give a gift of a miniature Torah to each child.

The special family service celebration is concluded with a visit to the Sukkah, where the Kiddush is recited.

Holocaust study begins at Kean

Kean College of New Jersey, with the cooperation of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, has announced the opening of a Holocaust Resource Center at the Nancy Thompson Library on the Union campus of the state college.

Endowment for the center will be provided through the Holocaust Resource Foundation, an independent corporate body. A Holocaust Resource Coordinating Committee is also being established to coordinate projects related to Holocaust education. Members will be named later.

Kean College will develop graduate courses for teachers who would then incorporate Holocaust units in their curricula; sponsor a Holocaust lecture series open to the public; encourage the preservation of oral histories of Holocaust survivors, and make facilities available for such events as Holocaust memorial services.

Holocaust-related materials, such as rare books and audio-visual materials, will be housed in a special room at the library.

Meeting to commemorate the establishment of the center were Dr. Nathan Weiss of Cranford, college president; Gerald A. Flanzbaum of Warren, representing the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, and Murray Pantirer, Rae Kushner and Sam Halpern, all of Hillside, representing the Holocaust Resource Foundation.

Flanzbaum commented that the center should enable future generations "to carry on with the story so that the world will know and not forget what occurred."

Pantirer, a survivor of the Holocaust, said the most important aspect was "teaching... to make sure by telling and retelling that this will never happen again to anyone."

Halpern and Kushner, also survivors, reiterated the need not to forget.

An unusual souvenir was taken home by Walter Burns, who had his t-shirt autographed by nearly everyone who attended, according to Pagnetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Klosek were the managers of the event, which was the neighborhood's fourth Labor Day block party.

IMPRESSIVE—The Dayton Bulldogs combined tough defense with some tricky offense and knocked off the Brearley Bears, 7-0, last Saturday in Kenilworth. Pat Esemplare,

Trip to New Providence (1-0) next Bulldogs, Policastro debut with victory

By RON BRANDSDORFER
Maybe it was a great psyche-out job or maybe it's just too early in the season to tell. Whatever the case, the Dayton Bulldogs didn't display any wild, unorthodox formations or unusual plays in their season opener — contrary to what first-year head coach Tony Policastro had promised.

It was good, ol' fashioned ball-control football, and it was very effective. So effective, in fact, that the Bulldogs were able to debut with a 7-0 victory over the defending Group I champion Brearley Bears, thus breaking Brearley's 13-game winning streak and a one-game mini-streak — last year's loss in the sectional final — of their own.

So Policastro decided to keep things very basic in Game One, and the strategy worked perfectly. The Bears, who took the North Jersey, Section II, Group I title a year ago with a stunning 11-0 record, never could get untracked offensively against an inspired Dayton defense.

Roessler, a talented linebacker who made 11 tackles, picked off one pass, blocked two passes and recorded two quarterback sacks, came through with a big play, knocking down an attempted pass by Bear quarterback Rob DeMayo.

And the Bulldogs squeezed out the victory. "Our defense played well," Policastro said, referring to the unit which allowed just 81 rushing yards and 15 more in the air. "But the key was that the defense was off the field. We had the football so long, that they just didn't run any plays."

And a lot of people are talking about the Bulldogs. BULLDOG BITS—Policastro felt that offensive lineman Nick D'Achille outplayed Brearley's Miller in the game. And that, he said, was a key to the Bulldog victory. Esemplare picked up 72 "inside" yards. Policastro did a super job in his first varsity start. Walsh's 73-yard kickoff return was a beauty — one for the highlight films.

Surprising Dayton booters roll to easy 2-0 win over Brearley

By RON BRANDSDORFER
A 4-0 record with a team that he put together from scratch in just a few weeks? What's the story, Joe?

"I didn't expect to do as well as we're doing," admitted Dayton soccer coach Joe Cozza. "I've got to be honest."

Indeed, with several of top players out with an assortment of bumps and bruises and with just all-stars Henry Largey and Andrew Grett as the old steadies, Cozza was simply hoping his team could hang tough through the early part of the season.

And maybe, he thought, with some additional experience, Dayton could have itself a solid soccer team by tournament time.

Surprise, surprise. The Bulldog booters made it four straight on Tuesday afternoon, zipping Kenilworth's Brearley Regional, 2-0, as Largey, who drilled in 33 goals a year ago, scored his sixth and seventh goals of the season and Grett picked up his third straight shutout.

In fact, the entire Dayton defense has allowed just one goal in four games, and that came in the season-opening 3-1 victory over North Plainfield. Largey scored a hat trick in that game.

Industrial bonds spur business

Approximately $347.3 million in low cost financings were made available to 162 businesses in the first six months of 1982 through the N.J. Economic Development Authority (EDA), its Chairman Borden R. Putnam reported.

The financings were made possible through the issuance of tax-exempt Industrial Development Bonds (IDB) by the EDA, Putnam explained. They enabled these businesses to realize substantial savings in financing such capital expenditures as the acquisition of land, purchase of equipment and construction of new facilities.

Putnam emphasized that these savings have helped attract businesses to New Jersey and permit existing New Jersey businesses to undertake expansion plans that otherwise were unfeasible.

As a result, the state and its localities will realize new tax ratables, according to James J. Hughes, Jr., executive director of the EDA. In addition, the 162 projects are expected to stimulate 3,857 construction job opportunities and 4,544 permanent jobs, he said.

From its inception in 1974 to June 30, 1982, the Authority has arranged more than $2.8 billion in financings to assist 2,024 projects. An estimated 45,000 construction jobs and 68,000 permanent jobs have resulted from this assistance.

The Authority authorizes IDBs which are used to make loans to companies. Because these bonds are exempt from federal taxation and most state taxes, the bond purchaser will usually accept an interest rate that averages 65-75 percent of the conventional taxable rate.

Hughes reported that the Authority also made 8 loan guarantees and 8 direct loans amounting to almost $5.8 million. EDA targets its direct loans and guarantees to job intensive projects located in the communities with high unemployment and low income levels, Hughes explained. Direct loans and guarantees can be used for working capital as well as fixed asset acquisitions, he said.

Four of the loan guarantees went to companies receiving IDB assistance; the remaining firms had secured conventional loans, according to Hughes. Six of the direct loans were made under the Authority's Urban Centers Small Loan Program, which assists retail and commercial establishments in urban areas.

Hughes also reported progress in the Authority's urban industrial parks program as follows:

Jersey City, sale agreements were executed for five parcels of land amounting to approximately six acres:

Elizabeth, a sales agreement was executed for a 1.5 acre parcel; Kansas Packing Company, a manufacturing firm, moved into its newly constructed 72,000 square foot building; and construction began on an approximate 60,000 square foot building for Papetti Hygrade Egg Products, Inc., an egg processing firm; and Trenton, rehabilitation of the 30,000 square foot marine terminal building was completed and will now be marketed to a commercial tenant. This site includes a 3.5-acre waterfront recreational park.

Under its urban industrial parks program, the Authority leases or acquires and makes improvements to underutilized land in urban areas.

Hughes noted. It then markets these sites to businesses for new facilities. By making available modern, secure, and competitively priced business parks, the program seeks to retain industry in urban areas.

Hughes said the Authority is expanding its real estate development and direct loan and guarantee programs as part of a move to diversify its program activities.

"There is a growing concern in the Congress about the use of tax-exempt financings for any public purpose programs," Hughes explained. "Consequently, we plan to be in a position where we can continue to serve the needs of businesses in New Jersey even if the Congress further restricts tax-exempt financing for IDBs and other similar activities."

He said the Authority is presently pursuing additional means of financing businesses in New Jersey.

AAA fights against 'big trucks'

The AAA Clubs of New Jersey, campaigning against legislation that would allow bigger trucks on the state's highways, have mailed each member of the Legislature a copy of a pro-big truck brochure prepared by a trucking association that is supporting the legislation.

In a letter to each of the 80 members of the General Assembly, Jack Staskewicz, state chairman of the Public Affairs Council of the AAA Auto Clubs of New Jersey, said, "We are sending out a pro-big truck pamphlet distributed by the trucking industry because we want to make sure that the members of the Legislature take a good look at what they have in store for us if S-1138 becomes law."

According to Staskewicz, trucking industry arguments in favor of this bill "provide some very powerful examples of the reasons why most motorists are opposed to permitting bigger trucks on our already overcrowded roads, bridges and highways."

The cover of the trucking industry booklet features a diagram of the State of New Jersey with roadblocks to north, south and west, and the title "New Jersey...A Roadblock To Interstate Commerce." Poised at the state's borders, behind these roadblocks, are the 60 and 65-foot-long tractor-trailers the trucking industry wants to operate on New Jersey's roads. The arguments presented in the brochure include economic information about the trucking industry and claims about the safety record of the 65-foot twin trailer combinations which would be permitted on New Jersey highways if the Legislature approves S-1138.

"There giant tractor-trailer combinations may be safe for the wide-open spaces of the Great American West," said Staskewicz. "But all the evidence we've seen indicates that allowing them on New Jersey's congested urban highways would prove a destructive and potentially deadly mistake."

"The Triple A...is most concerned with the safety of the 600,000 motorists which make up our membership in New Jersey," Staskewicz said. "I think that, in this respect, the trucking industry has had a tendency to down-play the evidence compiled by the federal government and others which show that the 65-foot twin trailers have a poorer safety record than the single trailer rigs currently in use in the State of New Jersey," he concluded.

BRITISH MILK DELIVERED
More than 92 percent of the homes in the United Kingdom receive doorstep milk deliveries, a distribution system said to be a factor in that country's relatively high consumption of fluid milk and cream, more than 300 pounds per person per year.

Strapp: Major crisis faces infrastructure

UNION—With the recent defeat of Governor Thomas Kean's controversial transportation package, New Jersey's municipal and county roadways, bridges, mass transit, water and sewerage systems face a major crisis, according to Thomas Strapp.

Strapp, Union Township engineer and president of the New Jersey Society of Municipal Engineers, announced that the society has formed a Joint Committee on Infrastructure Renewal to address the problem.

He said the municipal and county roadway system represents 92 percent of New Jersey's roadways, and is valued at approximately $10 billion. Strapp noted, "These roads have deteriorated to a dangerous level because of the absence of a stable funding source to provide proper maintenance."

NJSME has announced its support of a plan supported by 21st District Assemblyman Edward Gill, calling for a massive three-year, $3 billion program to restore the state's $42 billion transportation network. Gill said that most people are completely unaware of how extensive the infrastructure repair is in the Garden State. "Highways don't groan and bridges don't cry when they're falling apart," Gill commented.

Strapp noted that the New Jersey Alliance for Action has formed the Save Our State (SOS) Committee to increase public awareness of the infrastructure crisis, as well as to identify specific statewide capital needs, and to build a constituency for making infrastructure renewal a priority at the state and local level.

"People just don't realize the urgency of the situation," Strapp asserted. "If things continue on as they are now, we're going to see bridges collapsing, water mains rupturing and more."

Strapp said that the NJSME Joint Committee on Infrastructure Renewal is in the process of preparing a white paper on possible approaches to the problem. The paper should be completed before the end of this year.

Scouts to start sale of cookies

UNION—Township Girl Scouts will take door-to-door orders for cookies from tomorrow through Oct. 17 as part of the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council's fall cookie sale.

Funds raised through the cookie sale support activities such as camp outs, badge work and trips which the 300 girls involved are planning. The sale is the primary source of funds for troop programs and the Washington Rock Council's support of troops.

Each $2 box of cookies sold represents a $1.32 contribution to Girl Scouting, a portion of which goes to the troop treasury and the rest to the Washington Rock Council, which provides the training, programs and facilities to make Girl Scouting available in 25 towns throughout the area.

UNION—The Union Township Drug and Alcohol Awareness Organization will conduct a meeting in the Kawameeh Junior High School library Monday at 8 p.m.

Week to be marked for fire prevention

UNION—Members of the Fire Department will be at Union Center and in schools throughout the township to distribute literature, show films and display apparatus in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Sunday through Oct. 9.

According to Capt. Edmund T. Hamtil, chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, first through third graders will receive literature and book covers. Kindergarten youngsters will receive firefighter badges and ride fire apparatus when it is taken to their schools.

A film on fire hazards in the home, casting teens in the lead roles, has been scheduled for showing in the elementary schools.

Quilting to begin

UNION—Quilting Club meetings, sponsored by the township Recreation Department, will begin Wednesday in the special meeting room of the Recreation Center, 881 Stuyvesant Ave. The group will meet every Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. No lessons will be given.

Apparatus also will be on display throughout the week in Union Center. The displays will include smoke detectors and information on their use in the home, Hamtil said.

He added that, in connection with the program, the department two months ago began showing a number of new films on the operation of fire equipment, such as extinguishers. The films, available for viewing by nursing homes, industries, social and civic organizations, have "been going over well," Hamtil said. He added that the department plans to continue the films as a public service to the community. Fire prevention "is not just for one week, it's for every day," Hamtil said.

Information on the proper diet for diabetics is a part of the educational package distributed throughout the county by the Union Chapter, Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

Funds to aid research

Members, friends to dance for JDF

On Saturday, Oct. 9, the couples on the dance floor will be listening to the call of "swing your partner." They will whirl through the patterns of one square dance after another, most of them laughing and breathless. But it is also likely that for many, there will be an undertone of sadness: the memory of a child, or a friend's child, suffering from juvenile diabetes.

The Oct. 9 dance, which will be held at the Rahway Elks Club on West Milton Avenue with Dick Meyers of Cranford as caller, is being sponsored by the Union Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation (JDF), an organization whose goal is finding a cure for diabetes through research.

The Union Chapter, which covers all of Union County, was established on Jan. 15, 1979, by Matthew and Naomi Mirlocca of Union Township.

It was started after a Union Township group, the Mary Liotta Civic Association, sponsored a dinner-dance and donated the proceeds in memory of the Mirloccas' son, Joseph, who had been a juvenile diabetic for the greater portion of his 18 years of life.

Active in government and civic affairs — he has served on both the Union County and Union Township Planning Boards and she is president of the Union Township Board of Education — the Mirloccas still found time to put much of their energy into the new group.

"My husband and I are dedicated to the finding of a cure for diabetes," Naomi Mirlocca said. "To this end, we are expanding our efforts in the area of athletic programs and are currently sponsoring a Little League baseball team under the name JMM Foundation. We will also be offering a scholarship to a deserving child and are in the process of establishing it. It would be our hope that someday we can be a part of the cure that will result from the efforts that many of our community residents have made."

Noting that an organization like JDF "requires many hours of dedicated effort," she said, "Over the past few years, we have had such people. Some have moved on but others join to replace them."

Those now active are working under a slate of officers that consists of Fran Del Sordo of Linden, president; Jay Levin of Union, president-elect; Karen Levin of Union, treasurer; Marge Lewis of Union, membership chairman, and Terri Foti of Linden and Diane Simone of Union, education chairmen.

JDF is an international non-profit voluntary agency founded in 1970 by a group of concerned parents who, like the Mirloccas, have diabetic children.

It now has more than 100 chapters, whose members contribute more than 80 percent of all funds raised for diabetic research, Naomi Mirlocca said.

"It is now recognized that diabetes is an international health hazard of epidemic proportions. It is only through research that we can find the cause and the cure that will ultimately stop diabetes and the many life-threatening complications such as heart disease and kidney failure," she said.

Members of JDF not only raise funds; they also conduct an educational campaign, speaking to schools, senior citizen groups and emergency squads. The Union Chapter has distributed literature to doctors, nurses and lay persons throughout the county.

The organization also lobbies in Congress for funds for diabetes research.

"Annually an appeal is made to the members of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation to write to their representatives in Congress to tell them why our organization is so deserving of federal funding," the Union woman said.

"We tell the story of the complications of blindness, heart disease, kidney failure and amputation of extremities. Although death certificates do not often list diabetes as the cause of death, research indicates that the cause listed can be directly attributed to diabetes.

"One of the frustrations that members of this organization face on a continuing basis is the lack of understanding on the part of the general public concerning just what diabetes is. We feel that it is our duty and responsibility as chapter members to share whatever knowledge we have with them...

"Annually we have a membership drive to encourage both diabetics and non-diabetics to become a part of the JDF organization. We tell them about the loss of lives of our children, our spouses and other loved members of our families. We tell them that one out of every three families is affected by this disease."

There are other reasons as well for joining JDF, she said:

- "We provide the best use for your dollar for finding a cure for diabetes.
- "We provide a mechanism for choosing the type of research which our members want funded.
- "We provide a sympathetic ear for comforting those who have just become diabetic, relatives and friends of diabetics, and those with problems related to diabetes.
- "We can help you educate your school and other organizations as to the special needs of diabetics.
- "We, as we grow, become a powerful force which can sway the state and federal governments to put more emphasis on diabetes.
- "Through TV and radio ads, we make the public aware of diabetes and its problems.
- "We provide a gathering point for exchange of ideas, literature and information about diabetes.
- "We provide speakers to help you better handle and understand your diabetes.
- "Last but not least, we are people just like you, and we will not stop until there is no more need for JDF — that is, until diabetes is cured and prevented."

Speaking of her own involvement in the organization, she added, "As the co-founder of this chapter with my husband Matt Mirlocca, I became its first president. And because of the dedicated efforts of the membership, I am proud of the accomplishments of our chapter and hope that future efforts will bring us another step closer to that long-awaited cure."

The Union County College Alumni Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in dining room 2 of the Nomahegan Building at the college's Cranford campus.

Plans for the annual card party and game night will be discussed, according to Dorothy Gasorek of Elizabeth, association president. The party will be held on Nov. 20, she reported.

All graduates and former students of Union College and Union County Technical Institute — the two schools which have been merged to form the new Union County College — are invited to attend this meeting, Gasorek said.

She added that further information can be obtained by calling the Union County College Office of Alumni Affairs at 276-2600, extension 208.

gallery director; Austin Goodwin, professor of art, and James Howe, chairperson of the art department.

Fox, who is herself known for her fiber art, received a bachelor of art degree from City College and a master of fine arts from Tyler School of Art. She is now in her fifth year at Kean College.

Specialists help young, old

Two new clinical nurse specialists have joined the nursing staff at Overlook Hospital, it was announced by Mary Lindner, R.N., vice president/nursing.

Mary Danneberg is a specialist in geriatrics while Sheila F. Lenihan specializes in pediatrics. The new clinical specialists join three others already at Overlook.

Clinical specialists are registered nurses who have gained advanced expertise in a specific area through graduate education and extensive clinical experience. The clinical nurse specialist provides patients and those close to them, the nursing staff and other members of the health care team with expert consultation, education and leadership. "The end result is enhanced quality of care," Lindner said.

• Danneberg, who has had extensive experience with older patients in hospital and nursing home settings, is a graduate of Boston College with a B.S. in nursing. She also holds an M.S. in primary health care of the aged from Seton Hall University.

In 1975 she received the Adele Lynch Allied Health Scholarship, and later was the recipient of the Schwartz Fund Scholarship and the Federal Nurse Traineeship Fund Award. She is a member of the American Nurses Association and the New Jersey State Nurses Association.

Lenihan has worked and supervised students in the pediatric units of United Hospitals of Newark, University Hospital, Newark, and Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. She is a graduate of Seton Hall University with a B.S. in nursing and has earned her master's degree from New York University.

Consumer director gives warning on baby rattles

Ellen Bloom, director of the Division of Consumer Affairs in the Union County Department of Human Resources, this week issued a warning on babies rattles.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has banned rattles that could cause choking and suffocation. Two such rattles are now on the market, Bloom said.

She advised consumers look for and dispose of Montgomery Schoolhouse rattles sold in blister packages with the words "Rattle, Heirloom Quality, Hardwood, Childsafe Color," printed on the face. Some were sold in plastic bags with a paper insert which said "finest Handcrafted Wooden Toys From Vermont" and the names "TT Rattle" or "TT 5 Disc Rattle." These were sold since September 1981.

Shownack of America, N.Y., is recalling rattles No. 10875/2, a duck on the handle; No. 10875/33, a dumbbell shape; No. 10876/17, bowling pin; No. 10876/3, dumbbell with pieces of wood on the shaft; No. 10876/19, cylinder with six holes and a bell inside.

Customers should return the rattles to the retailer where they were purchased in exchange for rattles that meet safety requirements, Bloom said. Or they can return the Vermont product to Montgomery Schoolhouse, Inc., Montgomery, Vt. 05470 for exchange, she reported.

In an effort to make those responsible for child care aware of creating a safe environment, the Division of Consumer Affairs of Union County is presenting programs on infant/child safety in Springfield, Westfield and Elizabeth, according to Bloom. Further information is available from Rhoda Staub, 233-0502.

Diabetes talks set

What is new in diabetes research will be the focus of one of the sessions of a five-part diabetes course presented at Overlook Hospital, Summit, beginning Oct. 7.

The series continues on Thursday evenings from 7:15 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. through Nov. 4.

The course will be taught by Sanda Negrea, M.D., Roshan Hakim, R.D., community nutritionist at Overlook, and Valerie Novak, R.N., B.S., member of the American Association of Diabetes Educators and on the staff of the Home Care Department of Overlook.

All persons with diabetes, their family members and friends and parents of diabetic children are invited to attend. Fee for the course is $25, which includes the participation of an additional person. A general review of diabetes management and control, including such topics as traveling and diabetes and focusing on feelings, also will be presented and discussed.

Franks urges: elect Sinnott

Union County Surrogate Rose Marie Sinnott of Summit has been endorsed for election by Assemblyman Robert Franks of Berkeley Heights, who commended her for living up to her campaign slogan of being "on the job, all the time, for all the people."

Franks said Sinnott "serves in the fine tradition of former Union County Surrogates Mar. C. Kanane of Union and Walter E. Ulrich of Rahway."

He added, "Besides running one of the most efficient surrogate offices in the state of New Jersey, Surrogate Sinnott has expanded the office hours into the first Wednesday of every month in Westfield, established a 24-hour answering service, initiated an extensive revision of educational literature and expanded the educational program of the office."

Conti criticizes endorsement

Ann Conti, Democratic Union County surrogate, has criticized former Surrogate Walter Ulrich's endorsement of Rose Marie Sinnott, the Republican candidate for that position. Sinnott was appointed to the position about one month ago to fill the vacancy left by Ulrich's resignation.

"The endorsement was obviously nothing more than a political pat on the back for Sinnott," said Conti. "She's been in the position for a month, barely enough time to even become familiar with the office."

Conti also said Ulrich failed to take into account Sinnott's lack of a legal background.

"When Ulrich was surrogate, he frequently pointed out how qualified he was for the position because of his legal training. Apparently Ulrich now thinks that 'on-the-job' training is okay, since Sinnott has no such qualifications for this position."

Conti said that a legal background is essential for the surrogate, since the position deals with probate and family court.

"As a lawyer with extensive experience in estate law and family practice, my qualifications are uniquely suited to this position," said Conti.

College, hospital join to train paramedics

Tonnie Shelton of Summit has been appointed coordinator for the new paramedic program to be conducted jointly by Union County College and Memorial General Hospital, Union, according to Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman, the college's vice president for academic affairs.

The college and the hospital have been designated by the State Department of Health as the Central Jersey paramedic training site. Classes are conducted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and all day Saturday. Following the classroom instruction, the students will be required to participate in 400 hours of clinical training in a hospital.

The Central Jersey area includes Union, Middlesex, Somerset, Morris and Mercer Counties and part of Essex County.

Shelton, a registered nurse and certified paramedic, holds a bachelor of arts degree in education from the University of Colorado and a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Rutgers University.

A native of Michigan, Shelton had been clinical coordinator of the paramedic program at Memorial General Hospital. She has also worked previously at Overlook Hospital in Summit as a paramedic and as a nurse in the intensive care unit.

The paramedic program is designed for rescue squad members, police and firemen and others who want to become paramedics. Shelton pointed out that the program is becoming more and more popular because "basically it saves lives."

Together with a number of professors at Union County College and Emergency Department physicians, Shelton will teach the classroom and lab courses in such subjects as shock and fluid therapy, and rescue techniques. Course content will be intensively in-depth with an emphasis on learning skills to accomplish the methods of treatment.

All registrants must be referred by area hospitals, must hold a current emergency medical technician certificate with a minimum grade of 30, and have first aid squad experience. Students who pass the examination after completing the course will earn a public health certificate to practice as paramedics.

"They will be capable of giving a patient the same treatment he would receive in an emergency room," Shelton said. "What will make the difference is that the victim of a heart attack or an accident, for example, will be treated on the spot, saving valuable seconds, while the volunteer squad transports him to a hospital, and every second counts in saving a life."

Since 1975, the "save" rate of heart attack victims and others requiring emergency treatment has improved from 4 percent with volunteers only, to more than 30 percent with paramedics, according to Shelton. The paramedics are on the scene in a matter of moments with sophisticated mobile equipment to administer basic and advanced life support to critically injured and ill patients

By MILT HAMMER

Pick-of-the-LPs. "LA. Connection" (MCA Records).

It starts with an irresistible bass line; any lower and it would register as a sonic boom. Then the clapping begins, the whistle, the percussion and "Burn Me Up" is already soaring.

"Burn Me Up" is the first single from the self-titled album, "LA. Connection." This Louisiana group's style has been called unique, ahead-of-its-time and simply the basis for some of the finest music being produced today. They're original without being extreme, musical visionaries who know how to craft and forge unique melodies with sensuous lyrics into a hypnotic whole.

The members of LA. Connection are Charles Richardson, bass, background vocals; Michael Caesar, drums, percussion; Wilbert Richardson, guitar; Roger Harris lead, background vocals; Warren Taylor, lead, background vocals; James Wilson, keyboards, background vocals; Webster Jackson, woodwinds, background vocals, and Stacy Cole, trumpet flugel horn, background vocals.

And the album, "LA. Connection," was adeptly produced by Larry Blackmon, the man responsible for all of Cameo's hits. Bringing two such powerful forces together on one album has caused a rare alchemy that happens a few times a year.

"We wanted to deliver something different; we felt the public was really ready for a new sound," explains Charles Richardson, one of the co-founders of the group which was formed in 1974 at Southern University in Baton Rouge. "What we've done is blend some real nice jazz horn lines with R&B rhythm tracks. The album, like the song, 'Burn Me Up,' is basically uptempo though Roger and Warren can really sing the ballads, too. They're in a class by themselves."

So is LA. Connection, which has honed its style by touring or backing numerous other performers such as Teddy Pendergrass, Maze, Con Funkshun, Millie Jackson and Joe Simon. They even were offered another major recording contract, but turned it down because they didn't care for the music they would have to sing.

"We had to wait for the right time to do things our way," Richardson continues. "New Orleans, where many of the guys are from, has a rich musical history. We want to add another chapter to the city's music as well as Louisiana's since there have been few successful musical groups from here in recent years. That's why it was so important when we got together with Larry Blackmon."

And that was why it was so important, conversely, that Blackmon was able to experience the style and power of LA. Connection. Blackmon is the leader of Cameo, which has had four gold albums and six gold singles.

Checks for students resume in October

Social Security benefits for students 18-22, which were stopped last May, will resume with September checks which will be issued in early October, according to John H. McCutcheon, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

As a result of a new law

Lunch-learn program set

Complexion care is the featured topic at a program to be offered through Overlook Hospital's "Learn at Lunch Series." Dorothy Manteyla, a cosmetologist will share her beauty secrets.

The program will be held today 12:30 to 1 p.m., at the Summit hospital's Center for Community Health, Rooms 2A and 2B, and is open to the public.

There is a $1 fee payable at the door. Participants may bring their lunch or may purchase it from a sandwich cart. The "Learn at Lunch Series" is sponsored by the Department of Community Education. Interested persons may call 522-2946 for further information.

that went into effect this year, the amounts of the September checks will be about 25 percent lower than last spring, McCutcheon said.

Students will receive a "beginning of school year" report during the first weeks of the fall term. The report asks about school attendance and work. The student should complete the top part of the form and then give it to the school registrar to complete and mail to Social Security, McCutcheon added.

If the report is not completed and returned promptly, benefits may be stopped, he warned.

Students should also remember that their benefits may be affected if they worked during the year and have earned more than $4,440 this year or expect to earn more than that amount by the end of the year, he said.

More information about Social Security benefits for students can be obtained at the Elizabeth Social Security office, 342 Westminster Ave. The telephone number is 800-272-1111.

Froehlich is named official of the month

Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich was recently named "Official of the Month" by the New Jersey-New York Crime Clinic at a special luncheon in his honor.

The New Jersey-New York Crime Clinic, comprised of police officers, investigators, public officials and private citizens interested in the prevention of crime and the apprehension and conviction of criminals, has been honoring outstanding police officers each month since the group's inception in the 1930's.

Sheriff Froehlich was selected to receive the reward for his achievements as a police officer in the City of Elizabeth and for his administration of the Union County Jail.

The organization cited Sheriff Froehlich's nationwide recognition for his efforts in instituting a Recreational Program and Work Release Program as a means of easing tensions due to overcrowding at the Union County correctional facility.

In the last two years, only five individuals from New Jersey have been honored by the New Jersey-New York

Crime Clinic.

"It is a great honor to be recognized by one's peers. The protection and safety of our citizens has always been of tantamount concern to me during my career in law enforcement, and I will continue to work very hard toward that goal," Sheriff Froehlich said.

The former Elizabeth police lieutenant has received numerous commendations during his career, including being named "Policeman of the Year" by the Exchange Club and receiving the "New Jersey Valor Award" from the Exchange Club and receiving the "New Jersey Valor Award" for rescuing four children from a fire in which three people perished.

In addition, the Sheriff received the "Elizabeth Police Department Merit Award" for the apprehension of an armed robber who was holding the customers of a drugstore hostage. The second holdup man was killed during the arrest.

Assemblyman Raymond J. Lesniak (D-Union, Middlesex) presented the award to Sheriff Froehlich.

Rink due to open
