Extra hearings are set over the proposed mall

BY PHILIP HARTMAN

The number of hearings scheduled for the proposed Bamberger's-Alexander's shopping center off Route 22 have been increased by the Springfield Planning Board, which must recommend before year's end whether to rezone the site to allow a mall there.

Every Wednesday evening, from tonight through Dec. 22, has been designated to hear that case. Future hearing dates are Nov. 17, 24, Dec. 1, 8, 15 and 22.

Anzeglio Pancani, planning board chairman, also said that business at the board's regular meeting on Dec. 7 may be put aside to hear mall testimony, if necessary.

All meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. So far in the case, testimony has concluded from developers of the 55-acre tract, General Growth of Des Moines, Iowa. General Growth represents Bamberger's-Alexander's in the application for rezoning.

Since the initial hearing in February, traffic, planning, market, crime and real estate experts have appeared before the board for the developers, who have attempted to show the positive effects of the proposed mall.

Testimony by objectors to the mall began last month.

Westfield was the first to present witnesses against the mall from municipalities officially opposed to it: Westfield, Mountainside, Cranford and Kenilworth.

Yesterday, Westfield was to have given further testimony from traffic expert Robert McMillan of Edwards and Kelsey, Livingston. McMillan also testified Oct. 27.

McMillan said the township can expect traffic backups from one to three miles from the mall site if the center is built.

Harvey Moskowitz, a professional planner who conducted a study for the Township of Cranford on possible detriments of a mall, was also to have testified yesterday.

Westfield Township Attorney Charles Brandt said Moskowitz would attempt to show the harmful effect of a mall on the Cranford Business district, and expand his testimony to cover similar effects in Westfield.

Moskowitz also was to testify on the appropriateness of the zoning of the site, which is currently light industrial. The developers are seeking rezoning to allow retail stores.

Brandt said he did not expect testimony from Westfield to go beyond yesterday.

He added that at the Nov. 17 hearing testimony would begin from witnesses representing the Stop the Mall citizens group from Springfield.

The planning board is attempting to hear the case before the end of the year, when three board terms expire. Should the case not be finished, it may have to be reheard or new board members may have to abstain from making a recommendation to the township committee, which will decide if the site will be rezoned.

Bamberger's and Alexander's presented their case to the board in February. The retail chains are attempting to build a 725,000-square-foot, 85-store bi-level mall off Route 22 and South Springfield Avenue.

CENTER OF ATTENTION—Richard Guard, a student at Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountainside, is all smiles as a Monarch butterfly stops to rest on his head. The butterfly is one of one hundred that were released by the students. The butterflies were beginning their 3,000 migratory journey to Mexico. Right, a closer look at a tagged monarch which rested on a milkweed plant. The tagging program was begun by the University of Toronto and enables the monarch butterfly to be followed and studied on its four-week journey from New Jersey to Mexico.

State gets 66 acres for Route 78

Arthur Crisi, county manager, last week signed a deed releasing 66 acres in the Watchung Reservation to the state for construction of the missing five-mile link of Route 78 between Springfield and Berkeley Heights.

The signing came Nov. 4, just minutes after Robert Doherty, Union County counsel, informed Crisi that County Superior Court Judge Edward W. McGrath had rejected an appeal by environmentalists seeking to stop construction of the highway through the reservation, a county park.

According to Doherty, the Parkland Preservation Fund, an environmental group which has been leading the battle against the interstate highway, filed on the grounds that the 48-hour notice which the Union County Board of Freeholders supplied to the news media did not leave enough time for input by interested members of the public.

Doherty said the Sunshine Law only requires only 48 hours advance notice, which was provided.

The McGrath decision was the second court ruling within a month to go against the anti-Route 78 forces.

Bob Barrett of Winer, Neuberger and Sive, a New York law firm which is handling the case on behalf of the position, said that on Oct. 18, the 3rd

Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia denied an application for an injunction which would have stopped the state from starting construction of the five-mile link, but "without prejudice to the ultimate resolution of the appeal," Barrett said.

He would not speculate on when a final decision on the appeal may be reached.

Options awaiting JCP&L

Board of Public Utilities President Barbara A. Curran announced that the board will make recommendations early next year to Governor Thomas H. Kean and the state legislature on the options facing Jersey Central Power and Light Company, in light of the costs and financial uncertainties imposed by the 1979 accident at Three Mile Island.

On Oct. 20, Curran presided over the 12th in a series of board hearings on the future of Jersey Central at the Summit municipal court on Springfield Avenue in Summit.

The board is holding hearings in each county of the Jersey Central service area on a report on options for the electric company, prepared by Arthur

Young and Company, is being examined at the hearings.

The report explores options for ameliorating the costs resulting from the Three Mile Island nuclear plant in Pennsylvania in March of 1979. Jersey Central is 25 percent owner of that plant, which has been out of service since the accident and is still undergoing cleanup.

Commissioner Curran said that the board has held numerous discussions with financial specialists and officers of other electric and gas utilities serving parts of New Jersey this year, in an effort to obtain a broad range of information prior to reaching conclusions on possible options.

Chase roars through borough

A Newark man was being held in Union County Jail on four criminal charges after a high-speed car chase which resulted in two motor vehicle accidents and two injuries last week.

According to Union police, Juan C. Colon, 25, of 226 N. Third St., was arrested on charges of aggravated assault on a police officer, eluding police, resisting arrest and possession of a stolen motor vehicle at about 10:45 a.m. on Friday.

The arrest came after Mountainside police notified the county that they lost sight of a car they were chasing west on Route 22 for an alleged inspection violation, police said.

Union police officers Paul Gioe and Richard Matthews spotted the car driving into the Union Market Place on Springfield Avenue, where a second chase ensued through the parking lot. The fleeing car rammed the squad car several times before heading over the curbing and onto Springfield Avenue, where it collided with a car driven by Louis B. Rigamonti, 53, of Ashland Avenue, Summit. Both Rigamonti and his wife Audrey were treated for minor injuries in the emergency room of Memorial General Hospital and released, police said.

Colon was arrested near Muir Street, after he allegedly fled the accident great conductor, who was one of Szymanowski's closest friends and it was Mr. Fitelberg who championed the music of Karol Szymanowski by performing his works throughout the world.

The New York Times wrote, "Legawiec is a fine violinist with an attractive tone, technical facility and interpretive warmth." The Christian Science Monitor wrote, "Legawiec is a superb violinist and he did some admirable playing in his improvisation and Fugue."

Paul Kueter, concert pianist, teaches privately and composes as well. He has been on the faculty at Douglass College and Rutgers University and appears frequently as soloist and ensemble artist throughout New York and New Jersey. Prepared childbirth classes under the sponsorship of Overlook Hospital's Parenteral program are being formed for a December start for those couples with a child due in February. Six sections, each limited to eight to 10 couples, will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Each session of the seven-week series features the Lamaze method which prepares couples physically, intellectually and emotionally for childbirth. Couples are taught techniques which enable them to deal with labor with or without medication.

Participants will have a chance to practice the skills under the supervision of experienced ASPO instructors. The course will also include an introduction to baby care and parenting.

Sessions will begin Dec. 6, 7, 9, 20, 28 and 30. The two-hour classes will begin at 8 p.m. Interested persons may register by calling 522-2963.

Pets of children topic at Lourdes

"Children and their Responsibility in the Care of Family Pets" will be presented at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Our Lady of Lourdes School auditorium in Mountainside. Pre-school children and their parents have been invited to attend.

Dr. Steven Schafer will make the presentation. A film, "The Zoo Veterinarian," also will be shown.

'Older Adults' topic of seminar

"Understanding the Behavioral Responses of Older Adults to Acute Illness" will be the subject of a three-part seminar provided by Memorial General Hospital.

Scheduled for today, Dec. 1 and Feb. 2, the hour-long programs will begin at 1:30 p.m., and will be held in the hospital's first floor classroom. The seminar is sponsored by the MGH Department of Staff Development, and will feature Virginia M. Fitzsimons, R.N., C., Ed.D.

"We invite all nurses and other members of the medical profession, as well as our community to attend," said Eleanor Dietrich, R.N., director of staff development at MGH. "This program holds applications for all those who deal with our elderly population and wish to learn more about the needs of this significant group."

The first seminar deals with grief and loss as it relates to illness, and will explore the issue of territoriality, or the increased "personal space" required by older persons. The second session will involve sensitivity training, whereby participants will take part in role-playing exercises designed to increase their understanding of the physical and emotional aspects of aging.

"Motivating the Apathetic Older Person" will be the subject for the third session.

"With New Jersey second only to Florida in the number of elderly persons, it is important for us to address the needs of this group in the framework of health care," said Dietrich. "Consequently, it is our duty as health care professionals to tap this age group for the rich and heterogeneous resources they provide, and to respond to their needs on a truly human level."

She continued, "Through the expertise of Virginia Fitzsimons, this seminar will prove to be most enlightening."

A registered nurse certified in gerontological nursing by the American Nurses Association, Fitzsimons possess a master's degree and doctorate in advanced nursing and nursing education from Columbia University. An associate professor of nursing at Kean College, Union, she is author of "The Older Adult: A Process For Wellness," which was named "Book Of The Year" by the American Journal of Nursing.

Persons desiring registration information for this three-part seminar may call the MGH Department of Staff Development at 687-1900, extension 2270.

Energy plan underway

The New Jersey Department of Energy has begun implementation of a program that will enhance employment opportunities and business development in New Jersey by helping businesses save money through reduced energy consumption.

According to State Energy Commissioner Leonard S. Coleman, the service is part of Governor Kean's recently announced program of energy conservation.

The Commercial and Light Industrial Technical Services (CLITS) Program will provide free energy surveys conducted by trained technical advisors of commercial, small industrial, multi-family and non-profit facilities.

Coleman said that a report will be prepared as part of the service, offering suggestions for no-cost or low-cost measures which could save energy and dollars immediately. The report will also identify renovations which would match or exceed a company's required return on investment.

For example, Coleman cited a Union County paperboard company which as a result of the survey, invested over $300,000 in heat recovery equipment and will see its money returned in less than one year.

Information regarding the program has been mailed to eligible businesses throughout the state. Surveys can be arranged for by calling the Department's toll-free information line (800) 492-4242 or writing to CLITS, Department of Energy, 101 Commerce Street, Newark, N.J. 07102.

Hospitals pick representatives for paramedic advisory group

Representatives of 18 hospitals from Union, Essex, Middlesex, Bergen, Passaic, Hudson, Somerset and Morris Counties have been named to a 24-member advisory committee for Union County College's paramedical training program, it was announced by Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman of Westfield, vice president for academic affairs.

The hospital representatives sitting on the advisory board are either registered nurses or paramedics. They include:

Union County — John McCarthy, Memorial General Hospital, Union; Kathy Klige, and Kathy Beith, both of Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield; Mary Burkhardt, Overlook Hospital, Summit; Pat Riley, Rahway Hospital; and Thomas Dimino, St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth.

Essex County—Marc Calabrese, St. Barnabas Hospital, Livingston; Marge

Berger, College Hospital, Newark; and Barbara Eiler, and Joan O'Neil, both of Mountside Hospital, Montclair. The program, which was launched in September, is run jointly by Union County College, Cranford, and Memorial General Hospital, Union, which have been designated by the State Health Department to run one of the four paramedical training sites in New Jersey.

In addition to the 20 hospital representatives sitting on the advisory committee, two representatives of Union County College as well as two from the State Department of Transportation's Division of Emergency Services sit on the board. The Union County College representatives are Cynthia Niv of Springfield, vice president and dean of instruction for business, social sciences and continuing education, and Tommie Shelton of Summit program coordinator. The two state representatives are Karen Hahnel and Michael Kline.

Their membership on the committee allows the state to monitor the paramedical training program also, which is necessary to see that the guidelines set up by the state are being maintained," said Shelton.

The hospitals represented on the advisory board send students to participate in the paramedical training program according to Shelton.

"The advisory committee is a method of feedback between the committee members and the hospitals they represent, so that the hospitals stay in touch with what is happening in the program," Shelton said the committee members can recommend changes, if they are needed, in the program.

"It's a good way to run an effective course and exchange ideas about the program."

The hospitals will continue feeding students into the training program, which runs in 17-week cycles, "so without their participation on the committee, which promotes an awareness of what is happening within the paramedical program, they wouldn't be as involved," Shelton said.

Under the joint college-hospital program, 75 students are taking 220 hours of classroom instruction at the college's Cranford campus and 400 hours of clinical training at one of the 15 affiliated hospitals. The students range from members of rescue squads and police and fire departments to hospital emergency room employees and others wishing to become paramedics.

Board of Ed has members at workshop

MOUNTAINSIDE—Representatives of the Mountainside Board of Education attended "Workshop '82," the annual conference of the New Jersey School Boards Association, held recently in Atlantic City.

An intensive three-day series of informational and training sessions, the workshop featured major addresses by State Commissioner of Education Saul Cooperman and Douglas Kiker, NBC News correspondent.

Seminars on critical issues included topics on state funding, improved programming, standards and quality of education, and the application of business practices in school district management.

Because many of the sessions run concurrently, board members were able to attend different seminars and pool their information. They will be sharing knowledge and insights with other board members and administrators throughout the rest of the year.

Attending from Mountainside were Board President Art Altentasio, Board Vice-president Patricia Knodel, members Camie Delaney and Linda Schneider, and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Margaret H. Kantes and Business Administrator John M. McDonough.

Co-sponsoring the workshop are the New Jersey Association of School Administrators and the New Jersey Association of School Business Officials. Certain sessions are geared specifically to the needs of these administrators.

Collier named to key position on committee

MOUNTAINSIDE—Deerfield School librarian Susan Collier has been named to a three-member awards selection committee of the American Library Association/Association for Library Service to Children. The committee will be choosing the U.S. nominations to the Hans Christian Andersen Award Jury.

The Hans Christian Andersen medals are awarded biennially by IBBY, International Board for Books for Youth. The award is for a nominee's entire body of work. Only three American writers have received the honor: Paula Fox, Meindert De Jong and Scott O'Dell, and a single illustrator, Maurice Sendak.

In addition to naming the U.S. candidates, the committee will select two books from the 1981-82 publishing years as nominees for the Honors List, one for writing and the other for illustration. A U.S. translator of children's books from other languages and one title representing his or her work may be named for Honors list as well.

BPW accepting applicants for a scholarship

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Board of Directors of the Westfield Business and Professional Women's Club has announced that applications for a career advancement scholarship are now being accepted by the scholarship committee.

Applicants should be mature women wishing to pursue career changes or those wishing to update their skills and need not be members of BPW.

The amount of scholarship would depend on need but can cover such educational expenses as tuition, books, or equipment. The deadline for applications is Dec. 1.

Student's basic skill rated 'satisfactory'

KENILWORTH—Superintendent Anthony V. Richel presented an analysis of the district's minimum basic skill test to the Kenilworth Board of Education at its regularly scheduled meeting Monday at Harding School. The state sponsored test which measures student competency in the two basic areas of reading and mathematics for grades three and six was administered in March, 1982.

Richel reported that the district's overall performance for both grade levels has continued to be satisfactory. This conclusion was based upon an item analysis of the 1982 MBS test administrators and staff and a review of MBS results over a five year period.

The district's performance on the 1982 test as compared to 1981 showed a gain in reading for grades three and six in all categories—Word Recognition, Comprehension, and Study Skills.

Grade six registered gains in all mathematical categories—computation, number concepts, measurement and geometry, and problem solving and application. Grade three evidenced gains in all but computation. The decline in computation was less than one percentage point (0.7) and is not, therefore, viewed as significant.

Richel indicated that he was pleased that the students at Harding School had continued to maintain their high level of achievement over a five year period.

A detailed report of the district's analysis of the 1982 MBS test is on file in the main office of Harding School. This report is available to the public upon request.

'The Elephant Man' on Vail-Deane stage

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Vail-Deane School, in cooperation with the New Jersey Public Theater of Cranford, held a benefit production of The Elephant Man recently.

Alumni, parents, faculty, friends and trustees attended a champagne reception at the theater on South Avenue prior to the performance. Proceeds from the event will go to help defray the costs of Vail-Deane's recent relocation in the Borough of Mountainside.

Headmaster Ralph Scozzafava, obviously pleased with the affair, stated, "We really are grateful to have had the cooperation of this fine theater group. It's hard to beat an evening that combines entertainment and charitable good." Richard Dominick, director of the New Jersey Public Theater, spoke of their benefit policy, "We like to involve ourselves with worthwhile local organizations. We can help them and gain some exposure for ourselves in the process."

Vail-Deane is an independent, kindergarten through 12th grade, college preparatory school located here on Woodacres Drive. Class size is restricted and a limited number of places become available each year. The admissions office does accept applications throughout the year for Sept. 1983 acceptances.

The speaker will select two teams and ask each questions on different areas of consumerism, ranging from the responsibilities of New Jersey's Division of Consumer Affairs to the least expensive time to call long distance. Electronic scorekeeping equipment will help stimulate a telephone Quiz show atmosphere.

To test the audience's consumer IQ, a series of consumer oriented Questions will be asked.

Members are requested to call the reservations chairman, Mrs. Werner Schmidt (273-2014), by the Friday before the meeting.

Booster Club

MOUNTAINSIDE—The Dayton Booster Club will sponsor a general meeting on Tuesday, 8 p.m., in the high school cafeteria. The speaker will be a college sports recruiter, who will talk on NCAA recruiting procedures for Division I, II, and III colleges. All parents and students are urged to attend.

The Kean administration is taking action to help thousands of unemployed New Jersey residents find new jobs.

The Governor has proposed an $8 million job training program that will teach unemployed and underemployed workers the skills they need to get new jobs and keep them in this changing economic climate.

I will work to get this vital program implemented without delay.

Unlike federal job programs in the past, the administration's proposal will not be a make-work project. Residents will be trained to fill identified job openings in the private sector.

State officials have spent months contacting private businesses and already have identified over 1,200 job opportunities that could be available to participants in this program.

This small investment of state funds will be used to provide training for 4,000 residents and job counseling for 8,000 workers.

The program will be targeted at helping the long-term unemployed and workers who are unable to make ends meet on limited incomes.

It will provide job training for: Workers who have lost their jobs because of plant closings and technological changes.

Workers who need welfare to supplement their low income. And workers who recently lost welfare benefits because their incomes are slightly above the eligibility requirements.

The program is designed to dovetail with a recently enacted federal job training program. New Jersey will be eligible for over $90 million in federal funds to prepare unemployed residents for new jobs. These funds, however, will not be available until next year.

With the lines at unemployment offices growing every week, New Jersey cannot afford to wait another year until federal funds are available to begin retraining jobless workers.

The Kean administration program would not only reduce the unemployment lines, it will reduce the welfare rolls.

Diet Center is growing

MOUNTAINSIDE—With relocation recently to larger facilities at 511 North Ave., the Diet Center of Westfield has added several new features to its offerings.

A Firm and Tone Salon, complete with equipment new to the area, will feature specially-designed tables which provide tension-relieving motion, jogging action and overall massaging.

"Women want to firm and tone their bodies, not build them up," says Mary Ann Parkhurst, Diet Center owner, in explaining why she selected the special equipment. "This type of exercise will break down the fat cells. It is very important that you exercise while dieting, so as not to lose muscle tone."

It is especially beneficial, she states, for individuals who are extremely overweight and intimidated by regular exercise classes, and for those suffering from back problems, arthritis or other ailments.

Also to be initiated are regularly-scheduled classes in "Advanced Behavioral Techniques" and "Stress Awareness Isabel Tabatchnick, Millburn, a certified nutritionist and a food consultant.

The new facilities will house a mini-health food store selling natural vitamins, minerals, seasonings, take-along salad dressings, etc.

 PRETTIER SMILE FROM "BONDING"
 One of the most exciting revolutions in cosmetic dentistry is the use of composite materials that can be molded onto your teeth to change their shape, fill spaces, and result in the smile you've always wanted.
 The dentist can now close spaces between teeth (the Terry Thomas syndrome), cover discolored teeth, making them lighter and more attractive. He can rebuild and reshape disfigured or chipped teeth, often making crowning unnecessary. He can fill in eroded areas; lengthen front teeth that have worn down; and hide gold or amalgam fillings that show when a person smiles. It is also possible to bond tooth-colored plastic fac-

Scene around the towns

For Veterans' Day, when we pay tribute to those who are gone, what more appropriate place to look for a mystery scene than one with a memorial? This one is in Springfield. If you recognize it, let us know by 9 a.m. Monday. Write to "Scene," in care of this newspaper, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., P.O. Box 3109, Union, N.J. 07083.

Last week's "Scene," at right, was in Linden. It shows the old lamp post that still stands, a reminder of days gone by, in front of the Post Office on Wood Avenue. It rang a bell with Richard J. McCarthy of N. Stiles Street, who recognized it.

Commissioner's Column Basic skills testing now only in grade 9

Editor's note: Commissioner of Education Saul Cooperman has recommended that only 9th graders take the Minimum Basic (MBS) test in reading and math this school year. In this "Commissioner's Column," he answers questions about the MBS program and the future of statewide testing in New Jersey.

Q. Do you think a statewide test makes a difference in student performance?
A. Yes, a statewide accountability program can be a powerful agent for improving educational opportunities for children. When scores in an area are low and the problems are clear, students, parents, educators, board members and legislators can and will act to correct them. The current testing program has done this job and continues to do it in some districts, but most students have outgrown the test.

Q. Will the department save money by testing 9th graders only?
A. It would be more correct to say that the department will be keeping within a reduced budget. The only funds available for testing this year are $558,000 carried forward from fiscal year 1982. The cost of giving the MBS test to students in grades 3, 6, 9 and 11 would have been $741,500, almost $200,000 more than available.

Q. What prompted the department to review the MBS testing program?
A. The primary reason is that the test is passed by so many pupils that it is no longer an accountability measure for the great majority of the districts. For example, 95 percent of the 3rd graders passed the reading test in 1981-82. The average score was 93.4. Sixth graders scored similar results. Now that a majority have a firm mastery of minimum basic skills, it is time to refocus on higher level basic skills.

Q. What about those districts whose students have not mastered the present minimum basic skills?
A. I realize that the department cannot ignore the minimum competency problem, since more than 40 percent of the students in the state's 14 largest urban districts failed the 9th grade reading test. I also realize that if the department designs a test that emphasizes higher level educational proficiency, more students statewide and, in particular, more students in our large urban districts will continue to encounter difficulty in meeting the requirements of the test.

I believe, however, that if higher educational standards are not established for students we will be doing them a great disservice in the long run. Only by setting higher standards can we help students focus on skills beyond those needed simply to survive. And only by setting higher standards can we hope to help all of our young people to compete effectively in today's society.

A bright voice gone

Farris Swackhamer died last week. We were never fortunate enough to meet Mr. Swackhamer. But we did know him. We knew him through his monthly column, "For the Birds," which was distributed by Union College to weekly newspapers, including this one.

Mr. Swackhamer was an authority on birds, among other subjects.

A one-time physics and chemistry teacher at Morristown-Beard School, he also, at other times in his life, was a research chemist for American Cyanamid Co. in Stamford, Conn.; director of the technical services laboratories for Shell Chemical Co., Union; research associate for South Jersey Wetlands Institute of Lehigh University; instructor at the Union County Police Training Academy, and chairman of the chemistry department at Union College, now Union County College.

It was, however, in his capacity as an ornithologist that we knew him.

Learned but never obtrusive, he delivered a column each month that was as bright as the plumage on some of the birds to whose conservation he was so devoted. He will be missed.

Money Management

Sharing of expenses can bring problems

For many singles, the solution to the high cost of living is to share expenses. While this may cut costs, it could turn out to be more expensive than you anticipated, says the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs). Unless the extent of sharing is understood, you might find yourself paying more than your half.

Singles often share rent, groceries, utility bills and other expenses of living. And it's usually obvious that some expenses should be split evenly (unless there are unusual circumstances, such as one roommate occupying the master bedroom with a second bath). But what about paying for furnishings and all the extras - how can you keep track of who pays for what and whether or not it's fairly divided?

CPAs suggest a detailed record-keeping system for singles who share, and a complete agreement beforehand about who is responsible for what payment.

A joint account can be maintained for paying rent and utilities and any food bills that are split. You would have to decide how much each person contributes to the account and when the money must be deposited.

However, while a joint account can assure you that shared expenses will be covered, it can also create financial problems. For example, since both - or all - parties have access to the funds, both people are responsible for any check one of them writes. In the event of a disagreement, or one person withdrawing from the arrangement, the account would have to be closed immediately. And you would have to provide for any monthly fees or check charges that the account incurs. You would also have to divide up interest accumulated.

If each of you takes turns paying for joint expenses, be sure money is available when needed. For instance, if your rent is due on Monday, and your roommate gives you a check the following Sunday, your own check might not be covered in time.

Remember also that shared expenses for utilities will probably be charged to only one person's account. For instance, if you pay your half of the electric expenses, but your roommate doesn't pay his or hers, you could still lose service. And, if the account is in your name, you're the one responsible for payment. Any late payments are noted on your credit history, even if they're not your fault. On the other hand, payments on your roommate's account will not show up on your credit record.

Matthew Rinaldo

More than one million jobless Americans will be given the opportunity to learn valuable skills they need for long-term employment under the Job Training Partnership Act signed into law by President Reagan.

The legislation creates a federal jobs program to help the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and targets funds to the states for the training and placement of unskilled adults and inexperienced young people.

Unlike the failed CETA program, the Job Training Partnership Act will direct 79 percent of its funds for actual training. In contrast, the CETA program spent almost as high a percentage on administrative overhead and stipends to trainers and for non-actual training.

Under the new program, heavy emphasis will be placed on training in the job training in both public and private sector employment. The law grants states wide latitude in developing local businesses and participants bearing the cost with a federal government income tax credit.

labor force residing in each state and the number of economically disadvantaged in each state.

The law contains two amendments I offered in the floor of the House to benefit older unemployed workers. One of them requires the governors of participating states to set aside a portion of the funds they receive to aid mature workers with their employment problems. The second amendment expanded a provision of the act creating a special program for displaced workers to include any older individual who has encountered long-term unemployment, or has been discouraged from seeking employment, and who may face substantial barriers to employment by reason of age.

In the meantime, I plan to take action during the lame duck session of Congress by introducing an amendment to the Public Works Authorization bill. It would allow New Jersey to begin a pilot experiment by using $100 million that it annually receives in public works grants for an infrastructure bank. This idea by Governor Thomas Kean would permit the state to capitalize a lending bank that allows county and municipal government to borrow funds at no interest.

It is estimated by Governor Kean that as much as $2 billion worth of road and bridge work, sewer construction, waste water treatment plants and other vital public works projects that have been hanging fire for several years could be undertaken in New Jersey. The bill would provide thousands of construction jobs, with the most-needed and most profitable to the state's economy.

A sports fan learned what suffering's like

By SAM ARENA

Perhaps I am not quite the sports fan I have so long considered myself to be. It could be due to the fact that I don't know what it is to suffer, although I am inclined to doubt that.

In the summer of 1981, when major league baseball struck the season, what I did with my time was to get in a little more fishing than normally.

The twenty or so dollars which I would have spent for gas, tolls, parking, refreshments and the ticket to the ballpark for the ballgames accrued, and, as a result, I managed to buy the mini cassette recorder for myself which I would not have been able to swing otherwise.

Instead of spending pleasant summer evenings inside the house, glued to the television set, watching the ballgames, I did other things with my time, like making some exterior repairs to my house, spending more time in my garden, doing some long neglected work on my car and sitting in my yard, enjoying the outdoors after a full day of being shut up in a stuffy and fluorescent lighted office.

I can't honestly say that I did all of these without sacrifice. After all, I was deprived of the concern about whether I would leave the ballpark to find that my car has been vandalized, or sit and breathe the fumes which fogged the air all around me, or be privy to the vulgarities and the obscenities which spew from the mouths of fans, in total disregard of the women and children who surround them.

I used to read the quotes which were attributed to those selfless ballplayers, claiming that it was not themselves for whom they were concerned as much as it was the fans, who suffered most, as they alleged.

That began to bother me because, until that time, I had no awareness of the fact that I should have been suffering. I felt that maybe I was missing something which was my rightful entitlement. I hate to think of myself as selfish but I am the kind of guy who wants all that is coming to him.

This past September, professional football pulled a strike. It has to do with wage scales, television revenues, gate receipts and other considerations, things which I don't get into about football. Heretofore, I looked upon football as a game where one guy either kicks or throws the ball and another guy catches it and runs, the object being to carry the ball across the last white line on the field.

Now I find myself with nothing to do on Sundays, again on Monday evenings, and, sometimes, on Thursday evenings, other than to get around to painting the room I had planned on refinishing last year, replacing two light switches which have been inoperative for several months, finishing the paneling job which I started in the foyer in the spring, sorting out the junk which I piled in the center of the attic floor in June, reorganizing my files, straightening up my den, cleaning up and putting away my fishing tackle, listening to some tapes and records which I purchased but have yet to play - and many other things which I had relegated to limbo.

Actually, it occurs to me that were it not for the fact that the news programs keep reminding me that there is a strike affecting professional football or that the sports pages continue to report daily on the failure to make progress in the talks in arbitration, I would give no thought to professional football whatsoever.

Despite this, I read of the sympathies of the selfish striking players, those who feel for the suffering fans.

A reminder doesn't hurt now and then because I have been too busy to notice that I am suffering.

So there it is!

Within a period of 15 months, two major professional sports have gone on strike and I have not suffered.

What the football walkout has permitted me to do is to read my newspapers more comprehensively.

I read about how my country is in such a financial bind that the future of Social Security and many other programs is in jeopardy.

I read about how the American marketplace has been taken over by the foreign manufacturers.

I read about how the Arabs are buying up my country from underneath us.

I read about nuclear dangers and mass evacuation contingency plans.

I read about a 10 percent-plus rate of unemployment in my country and of cascading business bankruptcies.

I read about the greatest drop in the stock market since 1929, the initial year of the Great Depression.

Suddenly, I get the feeling that maybe even Congress is on an undeclared strike because it has done nothing about any of the foregoing since this term was seated except to lean back, point an accusing finger and scream: "Reaganomics!!"

And, just as quickly, I suddenly know what suffering is!

Man! Do I ever!

State We're In Water conservation urgent for the future

What I consider the ultimate comment about agitation for providing adequate water supplies in the event of future droughts is contained in the magazine Resources, published by Resources for the Future. It says simply:

"The appropriate response to pervasive uncertainty about future precipitation levels is planning to have shortages and not planning to prevent them."

Those words should be carved in stone for all to learn. To put it differently, instead of furiously planning to guarantee enough water to everybody to waste as they see fit, the emphasis should be on having enough for everyday needs, and then having restrictions on excess usage during droughts which come relatively seldom during any century.

We've just had a drought, and we've learned that people can pitch in and conserve water for the common good during such an emergency. Something else we should have learned - but I think the point has escaped too many of us - is that the drought cost no jobs and caused no hardships. The only hardship was the kind of hardship which comes with a brown lawn or a dusty car.

People took the situation seriously enough last year to overwhelmingly approve a $350-million water bond issue in the general elections. They did so on the premise that the money would help to forestall future emergencies, and in general they were right. Nobody claimed the money would make it rain on a guaranteed basis.

With the work under way by the Department of Environmental Protection and the new state Water Authority, we can logically expect to avoid the kind of water crunch we survived over the past couple of years. We need to spend that money wisely, and in general the state's Water Supply Master Plan points that way.

Conservationists pushed hard for watershed protection and water conservation elements in the Master Plan after their omissions from early drafts. Unfortunately, little has been done to carry out either concept. There has got to be greater emphasis now and forever on water conservation!

As for protection of watersheds, it makes little sense to continue to fill up floodplains and stream corridors with buildings. Those locations are destined to be part-time rivers, and keeping water away costs too much, increases flooding elsewhere, pollutes and generally cramps nature's style. It costs too much to permanently protect buildings from floods. They should remain unbuilt!

What's more, keeping development away from stream corridors helps keep water clean, with steadier flows.

Let's face it, in a state with an apparently perpetual budget crisis, where urban services are falling apart and transportation systems are inadequate and in poor repair, we can hardly afford the millions of dollars in extra expense for the luxury of washing cars and sprinkling lawns during an occasional drought condition.

Because we have the ability to cut back and because we're providing needed interconnections to move water to where it's needed, we are not likely to face the 1981 problem again.

With a fungicide, let dry in garage or cellar.

The cool days have forced Christmas cactus to bloom indoors. Mine was so loaded with blooms this October it was a joy. Don't forget: don't overwater any plants indoors now. If you can feel moisture by placing your finger on top of the soil, it doesn't need water.

Gardenias should be fed monthly all year.

If you didn't attend the rose and rhododendron shows in early October, you missed a gorgeous sight! Gardeners enjoy life more - it's true.

Gardeners fortunate: frost holds off

By MAE SAMMARCO
President, Union Garden Club

We have again been very fortunate in not having even a light frost as of the end of October, at least in this area.

There's still time to plant your bulbs outdoors. Don't forget to put some bonemeal in the hole first, and don't let it touch the bulbs.

Don't prune your spring flowering shrubs now or you cut off next year's blooms.

Clean your grounds before the leaves get wet and make raking hard. If leaves are healthy, save them on your compost pile. Otherwise put them out for the garbage people. If you have no place to put a compost pile outdoors, you can put leaves in plastic bags and hide them somewhere out of sight. I like to put lime in the bag to hasten composting.

My fall mums were great and still blooming. I will cut them back to the ground after the first frost; the same with my peonies, hostas, phlox, etc.

Enjoy your dahlias until frost, also. But because it's so late coming, you shouldn't leave them outdoors to dry anymore. Rinse the soil off, sprinkle

Garibaldi is lauded by realtors

SPRINGFIELD—Joseph J. Garibaldi III was honored in the "winner's circle" at the Meadowlands Racetrack recently...and he didn't even have a horse in the race!

Garibaldi, president of the Garibaldi Realty Corp. of Springfield, was honored with the fifth annual Real Estate Broker of the Year Award by Summit Associates Inc. of Edison, prominent office and industrial developers.

Presented during a special "Night at the Races" dinner at the Pegasus Restaurant atop the racetrack complex, the affair was attended by close to 200 of New Jersey's leading real estate brokers.

Summit Chairman of the Board Vincent Visceglia opened the presentation ceremony by saying, "by holding this event on an annual basis, Summit Associates wishes to say 'thank you' to the many real estate brokers across New Jersey who have...through their hard work and effort...made our state a leader in industry and commerce. Summit Associates recognizes the vital contributions brokers have made to the Raritan Center Office and Industrial Park and the entire state...and we dedicate this evening to you."

Garibaldi was presented the award by Diego R. Visceglia, President of Summit Associates Inc. Visceglia described the recipient as "having the ability to generate new business development in the state despite the dark economic clouds that have been overhead for far too long."

Garibaldi's efforts in retaining and bringing numerous business concerns to the state have been outstanding...and we at Summit felt they should not go unrewarded."

A graduate of Villanova University, Garibaldi joined his firm in 1966 as a salesman. Serving in every managerial position with the Garibaldi Realty Corporation during the next 15 years, Garibaldi attained the position of president in 1981.

President of the New Jersey Chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors, Garibaldi has also served on several national committees of that Society. He is also past President of the Industrial Real Estate Brokers Association of the New York Metropolitan Area, Inc. and is a current member of such nationwide organizations as the National Real Estate Federation, National Association of Realtors and the National Association of Industrial Office Parks.

Visceglia explained that the Broker of the Year Award is given annually to that broker who demonstrates the professionalism, expertise and integrity that typifies the best qualities of the industrial real estate broker. The award, Visceglia said, is presented strictly on the abilities/credentials of the recipient and is an acknowledgement...by his peers...of a job well done.

has been responsible for the sale or leasing of property to such major firms as Bell Laboratories, Allstate Insurance Company, Litton Industries, Penwalt Corporation and the Newark Star-Ledger.

Garibaldi has served as a real estate consultant to firms such as (divisions of) Johnson & Johnson and the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America.

Upon receiving his award, Garibaldi said: "I am proud to be the recipient of one of the more acclaimed awards presented in the New Jersey real estate profession. Over the years, we have had numerous 'opportunities' to work with Summit Associates on a wide variety of real estate transactions. Their honesty and integrity in the real estate profession is a model for all of us to emulate."

Founded in 1919 by Joseph J. Garibaldi Sr., and known as the Jos. J. Garibaldi Organization, the company was originally a "full service" real estate brokerage house. In the 1950's, Garibaldi became involved in representing "Fortune 500" clients exclusively both as real estate brokers and consultants.

Today, Garibaldi is recognized as one of the country's leading real estate corporate firms, with 40 percent of their business being consultant work in the national and international arena.

Flu shots set

SPRINGFIELD—Free flu shots will be given to all Springfield senior citizens Monday, Nov. 22, at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, 30 Church Mall, 10 a.m. to noon.

SPRINGFIELD—Dr. Fred Baruchin, local superintendent of schools, was featured speaker at the first dinner meeting of the Madison Public Schools' Instructional Council this year.

Speaking on the topic, "Forecasting Educational Change," he laid the groundwork for the Instructional Council's effort to fine tune its educational program to the future.

Baruchin discussed the conflict between present-day societal realities as tight money, changing family conditions, personal stress, inter-agency competition for funding, altered states of consciousness, unemployment and expanded curricular demands vis-a-vis the need to project today, educationally, to our students' lives in the new century.

Investors Savings Individual Retirement Accounts.

No matter how young you are, there has never been a better time to consider retirement than right now. And there's never been a more rewarding place to save for retirement than at the best, Investors Savings.

The benefits of opening an IRA have been expanded by the federal government. By opening your IRA at Investors, you will be permitted to contribute up to $2,000 of earned income annually to your retirement account; if you have a non-working spouse, the limit is raised to $2,250. For the first time, even if you're in a qualified pension plan where you work, you can open an Investors' IRA -- and contribute up to $2,000 annually; if you have a working spouse, you can open two plans and contribute up to $4,000.

Every dollar you contribute to an Investors' IRA -- and every dollar of interest it earns over the years -- is completely tax deferred until you retire, when you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket.

Best of all, at Investors you'll earn a lot. And you don't have to deposit your funds all at once. Come in for full details.

Federal regulations require substantial interest and tax penalties for early withdrawal.

Alice Seget, class secretary, has announced that the Battin High School Class of 1937 held its 45th and two former teachers. The attending were classmates from 10 states. Seget presented a program of poems and essays from some of the 432 class members who wrote them in 1937 and were present at the reunion. Among mementos displayed were Battin High School athletic letters, diplomas, photographs of other reunions of the class and newspapers' articles gathered during the 45 years about the members. Letters and photos of those unable to attend also were included.

Selecting pharmacy important

By GWEN WARANIS
Extension home economist

People can choose their pharmacies for a variety of reasons. It may be the extra services offered, such as free delivery or income tax records. Perhaps the drugstore is close to home, the prices are lower, or the pharmacist is someone you've known for a long time. Whatever the reason, you should try to pick one pharmacy and stick with it.

It is the state law that every drugstore must keep Patient Profile Records for each customer. This is a listing of all the prescription drugs you have bought at that store, and your drug allergies. With these records, the pharmacist will be able to watch for any harmful drug interactions. These are side effects which can happen if you are taking more than one medication at a time, such as prescriptions from two doctors or a prescription drug and one you buy over the counter.

A person who sees more than one doctor and shops at different pharmacies will not have anyone to check the effects of the drugs they are taking. Another benefit of the Patient Profile Records is that your pharmacist will be able to know you better, and how you react to drugs. He will then be better able to help you select over-the-counter products. Also, your drug records will be in one place should you need them for insurance or income tax purposes.

So, shop around for a pharmacy for whatever reason you want. Once you find one you like, stick with it to get better service from your health dollar.

Big step for child in school

Sending your child off to school for the first time is an important event for both the child and parent; it should be joyful and constructive for the family. Kindergarten is a giant step for children.

Children begin to learn their roles as citizens and acquire the increasingly-complex skills they will need in the future. Parents should use the summer months to help prepare their children and themselves for this important step.

Visit the schools available in your community and then select the one that best meets your goals for your child. Learn as much as possible about new educational methods and remember that the school does not have to be just like the one you went to. Make an appointment with the principal to discuss any questions you may have about the school and the opportunities it will offer your child.

Even if the school situation seems less than perfect, parents should remember that they can have a positive effect on changing schools and they can help their youngster profit from less-than-perfect experiences by being sympathetic and displaying confidence in their child's abilities to cope. Visiting the school with the child will help familiarize the child with the new environment and pave the way for a good school beginning.

Over the summer, parents should also be conscientious about taking the child to the doctor, dentist, and eye doctor for the examinations and immunizations that are appropriate at this time. This is also the time to help the child learn his or her full name, address, and telephone number and the other things which will help the child become more self-sufficient.

By encouraging confidence and the needed degree of independence, parents will help the child make the most of this new experience. Each child's greatest asset for school is a feeling of self-confidence. Remember, parents can help their child develop self-confidence early in life.

Bulls win but Bears beaten

It was a good day for the Dayton football team, but not so good for the Brearley Bears.

Dayton evened its record at 3-3-1 with a 27-8 defeat of Governor Livingston as quarterback Rich Policastro hit on 12 of 14 passes for 114 yards and three touchdowns and Kyle Hudgins caught seven losses for 73 yards.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Bulldogs scored 13 points in the second period as Policastro hit Mike McManey on a one-yard pass and Hudgins with a seven-yarder. In the third period, Hudgins latched onto another Policastro pass from six yards away and Ron Martignetti's one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter closed out the scoring.

The Bulldogs will try to go over the .500 mark this Saturday when they play at Manville in a 1:30 p.m. contest. The Mustangs, 1-6, are coming off an 18-7 loss to Bound Brook.

As for the Bears, they were beaten, 15-12, at home by undefeated Immaculata. The loss drops Coach Bob Taylor's team to 5-2 as they go for a berth in the North Jersey, Section II, Group I playoffs.

Brearley grabbed the early lead as Mike McSorley's nine-yard run capped a 30-yard drive that began after Dennis Miller recovered a Spartan fumble.

After Immaculata took a 9-6 lead in the second quarter, the Bears rallied to regain the edge as McSorley was on the receiving end of a 72-yard bomb from quarterback Rob DeMayo.

The score remained 12-9 until halfway through the fourth quarter when Spartan signalcaller Mike Frauenheim scored from three yards out to give the Somerville team the lead.

EXTRA EFFORT—Dayton running back Ron Martignetti touchdowns in the Bulldogs' 27-8 romp last Saturday. (Ed Kisch Photo)

Brearley had two more chances, but a 25-yard field goal attempt by Joe Lospinoso was blocked and a last-minute drive was stopped on downs at the Immaculata 17.

The loss, which broke a five-game winning streak, should be added incentive Saturday when the Bears host North Plainfield in a 1:30 game at Ward Field. The Canucks were beaten 34-0 by Middlesex last week and stand 2-4-1 on the year.

The Bears know that they must beat North Plainfield to have a shot at a playoff bid. A loss means instant elimination and wipes out the Bears' hopes of repeating as sectional champions.

Exciting games the rule in soccer

Close games were the rule in recent action in the Roselle, Roselle Park and Kenilworth soccer program.

In Midget Division play, the Kenilworth Demons beat the Roselle Park Sockers, 6-4. Matt Poorhees scored two goals and adding one each were Eric Manasso, Don Frio, Felix Aly and Ryan Driscoll. Manasso played well on defense.

Chris Powers scored twice, and Scott Trella once, as the Park Timber downed the Kenilworth Cosmos, 3-1. Adrian Kotiga and Chris Placca added assists, and John Petrowski played well in goal. Lenny Lueddeke scored for the Cosmos.

The Park Earthquake beat the Park Drillers, also by a 3-1 count. Rocky Strazzella scored two goals and Frederick Schroder once. Chris Todd, Patrick Huey, Jennifer Kosch, Steven Cordery and David Meadows played well.

In the Intermediate Division, the Kenilworth Cosmos won by forfeit over the Garwood Animals, while the Park Sting played to a 2-2 tie with the Roselle Rockets.

Charlie Havanki scored both goals for Park, and Keith Loneker played well in goal, along with Kevin Graves and Adam Connors.

Finally, the Park Teamen edged the Park Cosmos, 2-1. R.J. Kuterka and Tim Farrell, assisted by Brian Bodnar, scored the winners' goals, while Kyle Davey tallied for the losers on a penalty kick.

Playing well were John Allen, Scott Perretti and goalie Brett Salinaro for the Teamen, while Jim Accardi and Allen Kennedy had good games for the Cosmos.

Cushman on soccer team

David Cushman, a Dickinson (Pa.) College sophomore from Mountaintide, is a member of the 1982 Red Devils' soccer team.

A graduate of Jonathan Dayton High School, he is the son of Robert and Vaughn Cushman, Long Meadow, Mountaintide.

Weisholtz drills in hat trick in soccer

The Gold Team defeated the Red Team, 6-3, last Saturday in the Springfield Lower League All-Star game at the Gaudineer School.

Drew Weisholtz scored the three-goal hat trick for the winners, with Brian Costello, Alan Kane and Bobby Grohs adding one each.

Chris Pack and Josh Verbel played in the nets, and other fine efforts were turned in by Tommy Severini, Philip Marchetti, Josh Bernstein, Chris Gomes, Chris Jorda, Joe Fasalo, Timour Haider and Peter Kay.

The Red goals were by Jimmy Basile, Josh Beck and Pat Reddington. Jeff Lippman had an assist and several outstanding saves were by goalies Danny Marcus and Ryan Huber. Also playing were David Broad, Ben Ginter, Peter Kaupp, Gard Knutsen, Eric Hausmann, Danny Weiss, Josh Kestler and Anthony Masi.

Jets power

The Mountaintide Jets "A" team, coached by Bob Castello, won its fourth game of the season against two losses last week in a 20-0 victory over the Chatham Borough Cardinals.

Mike Gallaro scored two touchdowns, both in the first quarter, and Robert Fusco added the other.

On defense, Gary Bernstein led the Jets with nine tackles, while Fusco and Ed Apicella added six each. Also playing well were John Lynch, Rick Gil, Duane Georgiadis, Mike Barisonok, Bart Barre and Chris Patino.

The lightweight team also came out victorious against Chatham, winning 6-0 as Greg Barisonok's 17-yard run late in the first quarter was the only score.

Matt Ventura added 82 yards rushing and 10 tackles, while Barisonok had 62 and four quarterback sacks. Also playing well were Jim Alder, Sean Stevens, Rich Roche, Rich Ventura, Glenn Stevens, Mike Weiss, Mike Jackson, David Servello and Brian Jarabek on offense.

Standouts defensively were both Venturas, Barisonok, Rich Antonacci, Lou Georgiadis, Frank Servello, Mike Price and Mike Rinaldo.

Local athletes eyeing medals in gymnastics

By RON BRANDSDORFER
A 10.0 may be perfection in gymnastics, but a 13-4 team record and a third place finish in the Union County championships isn't too far off that pace. But don't expect Dayton's talented squad to be satisfied with anything less than perfection.

"With a 13-4 record, it's been a great season," explained head coach Howard Cushnr. "But by our standards, it's a little disappointing."

After all, Dayton's girls captured the Union County title back in 1980 and finished second in the sectionals and ninth in the state a year ago.

But when 28 schools and 95 competitors, including the local girls, visit Dayton Regional on Saturday for the sectional meet, only six of those teams will battle for the sectional title.

And Dayton won't be among the competitors. Despite the 13-4 record and strong effort in the county, the girls just missed qualifying for the top six. And so Randolph, Scotch Plains, Montclair, Columbia, Union Catholic and Hanover Park will battle it out for a spot in the state championships, while Dayton can only watch.

Dayton co-captains Gina Pashjian, and Karen Rose have qualified for the sectionals in all-around competition, while Carol Carpenter and Joanne Fusco will also compete.

Dayton girls place 1st in sectional title meet

By BOB BRUCKNER
Saturday was a day to remember for Dayton's boys' and girls' cross country teams. Especially the girls.

The girls, who had already won the Mountain Valley Conference title, added the North Jersey, Section II, Group II title to the list last Saturday at Warinanco Park. They will now compete in the state Group II meet at Holmdel Park on Saturday.

In the MVC meet, Mary Pat Parducci became the first Dayton runner ever to win the title. She ran a 20:30, breaking the MVC mark by one second.

Laura Richter, Tracy Biber, Beth Ann Mortimer, Shirley Salemy, Nancy Gaglio and Traci Karr followed Parducci across the finish line.

"The girls went out and did what they had to do," said Coach Bill Jones.

In the sectionals, Richter finished fifth overall in 20:04, the fastest any Dayton runner has raced at Warinanco. Parducci, Biber, Mortimer, Gaglio, Salemy and Karr followed in that order. "It was a very emotional effort and experience for everybody involved.

And it will be one of those memories that I will never forget," said Jones. "I am very proud to be associated with this group of young ladies, not only because they are outstanding runners, but because they are outstanding people."

As for the boys, they finished second in the state sectionals. Dan Connolly was 10th for the best individual finish, followed by Mitch Cutler (15th), Tom Lauston (21st), Sal Colatriglio, Herb Foster and Joe Melkowitz.

According to Coach Martin Taglienti, Dayton used a different strategy than in the conference meet.

"We tried to go all out in the first mile and hold position in the conference and we broke down in the second mile. In the sectionals, we didn't reverse, so we didn't break down. We held back in the first mile and ran hard in the last two. And it paid off," he said.

The coach felt the runner that paced himself best over the three mile course would win. And even though they didn't have a first place, he was pleased with his team's effort.

He also had high praise for Connolly. "Dan is consistent. He is steady. It's his job to get out there. He is one of our best runners timewise. For these reasons, his race is different because his pace has to be quicker. He must pace himself much faster than over the three mile period," said Taglienti.

Now comes Dayton's crucial test in the state Group II meet at Holmdel.

"Serving Union County"

Appearing in the Union Leader, Linden Leader, Springfield Leader, Mountainside Echo, The Spectator, Kenilworth Leader.

Veterans Day: a time to remember

IN MEMORY—Springfield remembers its brave citizens who died serving their country during the war in Vietnam.

All over Union County tomorrow, as well as the entire nation, America's national salute to veterans on Nov. 11 is an annual time for prayers, parades, and speakers attempting to emulate an address delivered 119 years ago.

There was no Veterans Day then. There was only a time of great uncertainty during the Civil War when also in November, Abraham Lincoln spoke of an obligation to those who died.

"It is for us, the living .. to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they ... have thus far so nobly advanced.

"It is .. for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion."

The meaning in Lincoln's words is enhanced by the fact that 85 percent of today's 30 million living American veterans served during one of our country's wars.

Veterans Day is more important than statistics. Just as it is a day for all citizens to recall battles and dark periods of adversity, it also is a day to remember bright victories, devotion, and bravery.

It is a day when we should rededicate the country to Lincoln's call to the Congress and the American people "to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan."

This charge has become the motto of an agency that honors veterans all year long.

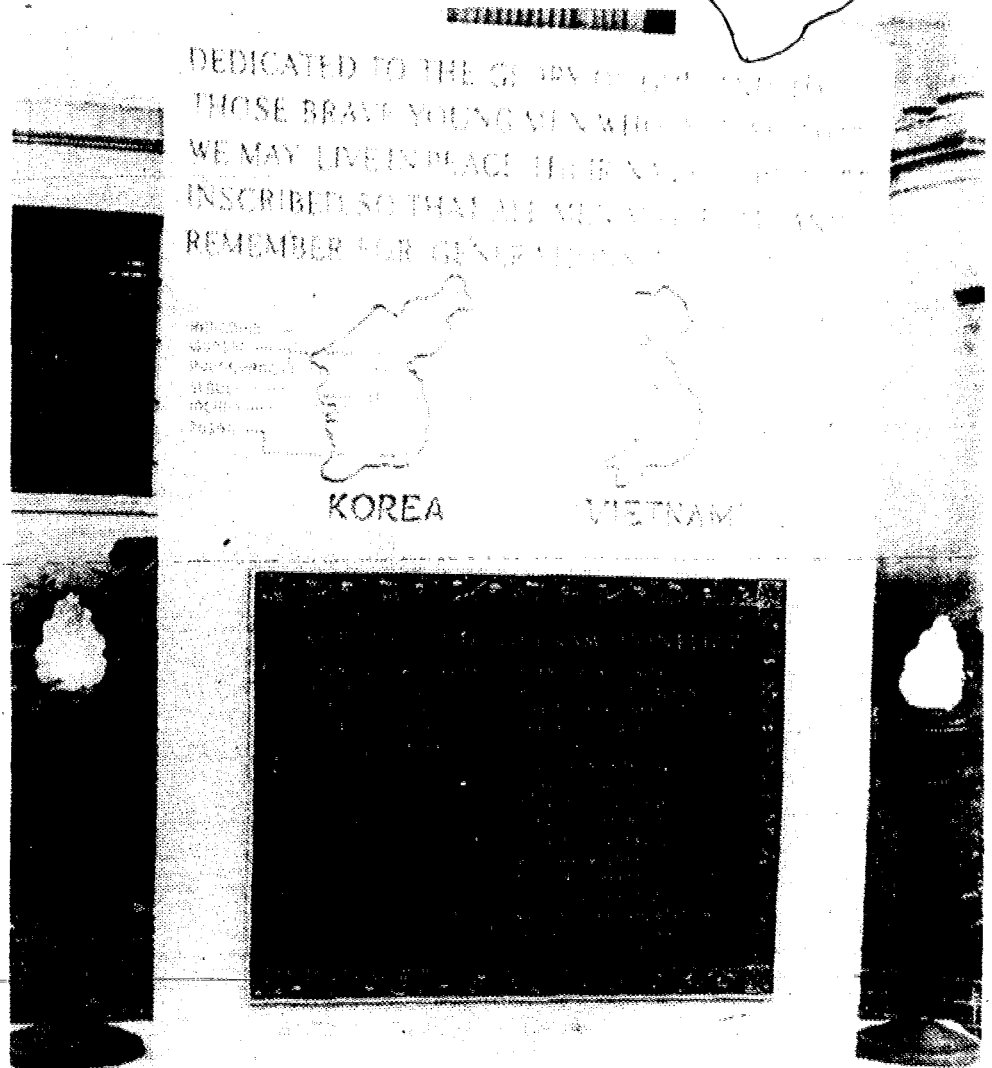

The Veterans Administration which administers congressionally-mandated benefits to veterans and their families is the third largest agency in government.

Veterans have access to 172 VA Medical Centers and 226 VA Outpatient Clinics which treated 1.3 million inpatients and 18 million outpatients last year. The VA also operates 136 outreach Vet Centers for Vietnam veterans.

VA medicine is affiliated with more than 100 of the Nation's leading medical schools. Its medical budget is more than $6 billion a year.

Since 1973, the VA has been running the national cemetery system, composed of 107 cemeteries, with several more opening in the next few years.

Since 1944, 19 million

DEDICATED TO THE BRAVE—Pictured is closeup of memorial plaque erected in Linden by its citizens to the men of the town who died in the Korean and Vietnam wars.

veterans and active duty personnel have received educational benefits under the GI Bill.

The VA sends compensation and pension checks totaling $12.5 billion a year to 5 million people. It administers a life insurance program with more than $100 billion worth of policies.

The VA has guaranteed home loans of more than $184 billion for nearly 11 million veterans. But the VA story cannot be told in abstract figures. Each veteran, each dependent, and each survivor served by the Veterans Administration is a separate story.

Despite its size, the nature of the VA's mission requires personal service.

Success in carrying out President Lincoln's call depends largely on individual ability and willingness.

It depends on the ability of a doctor in Massachusetts—or a nurse in West Virginia—to care for a patient.

It depends on a counselor in Delaware to help plan a veteran's future, or work out a personal problem. It depends on the willingness of a volunteer in Florida to say a kind word at the proper time. For while it is large in numbers of buildings, in its range of activities, in dollars used, the VA is also large in the dedication and compassion of those who make up the system.

More than any other government agency, the VA is people helping people.

One at a time, VA people meet with veterans—in hospitals, clinics, and offices ... in person, on the telephone, or by mail to help answer veterans needs or solve veterans problems.

Veterans wanting benefits information should call the toll-free number listed in the white pages of the telephone book.

Kelly's dance group sets Tuesday series

The Rebecca Kelly Dance Company, an ensemble in the Charles Weidman tradition, will open the Tuesday Evening Dance Series at the YM-YWHA, 760 Northfield Avenue, West Orange, on Nov. 16 at 8 p.m.

Formed by Kelly in 1978, the Company portrays in both abstract and literal modes a range of American dance forms from the neo-classic to post-modern, with a style that encompasses modern, ballet and jazz techniques.

Rebecca Kelly began her professional career as a member of the Charles Weidman Theatre Dance Company. Her Company has performed in France at the Chateauvallon Dance Festival, at the National Dance Week celebration at Citicorps, in New York's Summerdance Festival for two seasons and as guest artists with the Charleston Ballet in West Virginia.

The Rebecca Kelly Dance Company, the recipient of a grant from Avon Products, Inc., has toured the Mid-Atlantic states and recently launched a lecture-demonstration program for school children.

Tickets to the performance on November 16, which is partially supported by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, are available now at the Y Box Office at $5 for adults and $3.50 for students and seniors, with special discounts for Y members.

Series subscriptions, which offer substantial savings, are also on sale. Future events in the Dance Series include Elisa Monte and Dancers, Dec. 14; Chamber Ballet U.S.A., Jan. 18; millerdancecompany, Feb. 15; and Leon Felder Dance Company, March 15. Further information may be obtained by calling the Cultural Arts Department of the Y at 736-3200, ext. 511.

UCC unification going smoothly

A number of major steps have been taken in recent months to implement the consolidation of Union College, Cranford, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, into Union County College. Dr. Saul Orkin, UCC president, reported at a meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Cranford campus.

Orkin said an ad hoc faculty committee is completing a report which will recommend rank assignment for faculty members who taught previously at the Union County Technical Institute. He said the committee is carrying out a task mandated in the legislation creating Union County College.

The president also reported that the faculties of the Cranford campus and the Scotch Plains campus have agreed on appointments to a single curriculum committee to serve the entire institution. Orkin said other unified faculty committees will be organized in the near future.

In addition, Orkin reported, the collective bargaining units for the Cranford and Scotch Plains campuses have held discussions on the formation of a single bargaining unit for all faculty. The Cranford campus faculty is represented by the American Association of University Professors and the Scotch Plains campus by the New Jersey Education Association.

Orkin reported Chancellor T. Edward Hollander has requested the college to prepare a licensure review report by Dec. 1 on the progress of the merger. Orkin said he has requested various units of the college to submit reports on their merger activities for inclusion in a college-wide report to the chancellor.

The president also reported that United Counties Trust Company has opened an automatic teller branch in the Science Building at the Cranford campus for the convenience of students, faculty, and staff. The new facility began operations on Oct. 25.

The resignation of Mary Alice Pugh of Scotch Plains as a member of the Board of Trustees was accepted with regret. Pugh reported her family is relocating to Florida. Lessner reported the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has not yet appointed a successor to Pugh.

The board appointed Aurelia Long as counselor for the clerical program for the deaf program at the Elizabeth Urban Educational Center; Gloria Rufolo as a campus nurse; Tonnie Shelton as coordinator of the paramedic training program; Beatrice Ship as a financial aid counselor, and Victor Moreno, Alejo Morales, Herman Torres, and Ramelfo Vega as custodians. The board also accepted the resignation of Mirna Rosenda as a secretarial science instructor.

Chemistry is cited

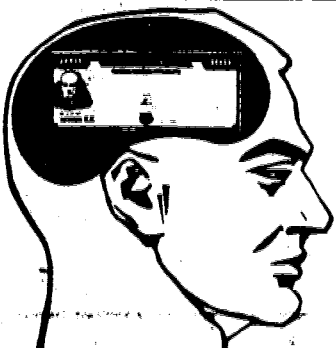

The chemistry program at Kean College of New Jersey has been accredited by the American Chemical Society for its expanded B.A. degree in chemistry.

Dr. George W. Luther III of Berkeley Heights, chairman of the department, explained that students graduating in this program will be eligible to become members of the Kean presently enrolls some 100 students in its total chemistry program with about 15 graduating per year in the expanded B.A. designation. Courses are offered in both day and evening sessions.

The American Chemical Society visited the campus last year to examine the program. Luther said the acceptance of the Kean College chemistry program was based on the content of the program, quality of the faculty, quality of the equipment and quality of the campus library.

'Robert and Elizabeth' is excellent choice for Paper Mill Playhouse opening musical!

By BEASMITH

"Robert and Elizabeth," a new British musical, based on "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," is an appropriate vehicle to open the fully-renovated Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn.

The 40-year-old theater, which was destroyed by fire on Jan. 14, 1980, after serving millions of patrons, and which has been rebuilt literally from scratch and ashes, is attracting audiences throughout the Metropolitan area. The theater is filled to capacity every night, and the audience appears to be caught up in the fever of the practically-legendary love story of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett.

The voices of the cast are resoundingly beautiful, although there is no number within the two acts that is so memorable that it sends a patron home humming.

Regardless, the play, which is set in 1845 in London, with a scene in Italy, tells a dramatic story of Elizabeth Barrett, the eldest of the 11 children of Edward Barrett. Barrett, a stern, domineering widower, who keeps his grown sons and daughters in constant fear of him, has a fanatical, unhealthy attachment to his bedridden daughter, Elizabeth. His conflict with Browning, who is determined to cure Elizabeth with his strength and love, is menacing and cruel.

Leigh Beery is excellent as Elizabeth. She has a lovely operatic voice, and her subtleties in a difficult performance are exceptionally good. Mark Jacoby, as Robert, gives an equally fine and forceful performance.

The large assembled cast has a remarkable sense of music, drama and comedy. Particularly outstanding are Jeannine Taylor, who plays Elizabeth's fiercely-determined sister, who despises her father; Larry Grey, Eleanor Glockner and Thomas Barbour. Veteran actor Ron Randell is extremely effective as the stern and unrelenting father.

The poetry of Barrett and Browning is interspersed in the story, and to the romantic followers of Barrett and Browning (and who isn't?), it provides its own rare and wonderful music!

"Elizabeth and Robert" was directed and choreographed by Robert Johanson. Jim Coleman served as musical director.

'ROBERT AND ELIZABETH'—Mark Jacoby and Leigh Beery portray title roles of poets in musical version of the life and loves of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett at Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn.

Pick of the LPs. "I Fooled You This Time," by Alicia Meyers (MCA Records).

When Alicia says, "I Fooled You This Time," she truly means it for her newest album of the same title, is a wonderful gem, one bordering on the classic. She fooled us because we didn't think she'd come through with such a great record so early in her career. "Fooled" being only her third solo effort.

Previously, Alicia made her debut on MCA with "Alicia," followed by "Alicia Again."

Originally, a lead vocalist with the popular One Way, she not only sang with the band, but co-wrote the infectious hits, "You Can Do It" and "Do Your Thang."

On "I Fooled You This Time," she sparkles on such tracks as "Concentrate On Love," "Better Woman Or Bigger Fool," "Gotta Get Away" and the title track.

Alicia was born and raised, and still lives in Detroit and won first prize. After that, as more and more people began to recognize her unique vocal styling, she joined various groups looking for that perfect musical chemistry. It came when she was 20 years old and joined One Way. As a member of the group, she has won many, many friends around the world, performing for sold-out audiences in England, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and portions of Africa. And she also has gained from such travels, pointing out that "I've broadened my view on music and people the world over."

ALICIA MEYERS

On her previous solo albums, she clearly showed how she's musically grown, utilizing past experience with her everpresent natural talent. Now, with "Fooled," she leaps into another class of performers, a musical stratosphere.

Turn bland room into 'stunner'

She always looks "put together." Her sense of style is unerring — her taste discriminating. Yet, the decor in her home seems discordant, bland and ordinary.

Split personality? More likely, she may not realize that creating a good-looking room is no different than coordinating a stunning outfit.

Dressing and decorating can come together with the basics: color, line, texture, pattern and contrast. Design experts at Congoleum offer these tips on "dressing" your home.

Texture — Rough or smooth, hard or soft, shiny or dull — texture sets the tone of formality for an outfit or a room.

For a comfortable, casual look, whether it's in sportswear or a family room, use rough textures, such as tweeds or corduroy.

The smooth surfaces of velvet silk in clothing, or marble and porcelain in home decor, are more formal, elegant.

Congoleum offers sheet vinyl flooring to suit any style, with realistic looks ranging from brick to stencil, fine wood grains to marble and slate.

For visual and sensual excitement, introduce lace to a dressy outfit, linen to a formal room.

Polished woods and pewter mugs add extra sparkle to a casual decor. A silver bracelet with culottes and a sweater achieves the same varied interest.

Pattern — A distinguished check, a sophisticated stripe, a delicate floral — pattern possibilities are endless, the effects varied.

A bold pattern or several together, creates a lively mood. Subtle and fewer prints create a feeling of calm and peace. Call attention to a smaller waistline or a special sofa with a splash of strong pattern against a plain background.

Quickly stir excitement in a dull area with pattern on walls or floors. For example, Ultraflor Esteem "Oriental Majesty" sheet vinyl flooring from Congoleum sets the stage for Far Eastern drama with the look of hand-painted stenciling, in a variety of subtle pastel colorations.

Contrast — The struggle between opposites can always be counted on to create drama. A strong contrast in color, texture, line, shape or size almost guarantees visual excitement.

Team a pink blouse with a black suit, a white sofa against a navy wall for colors with dramatic definition.

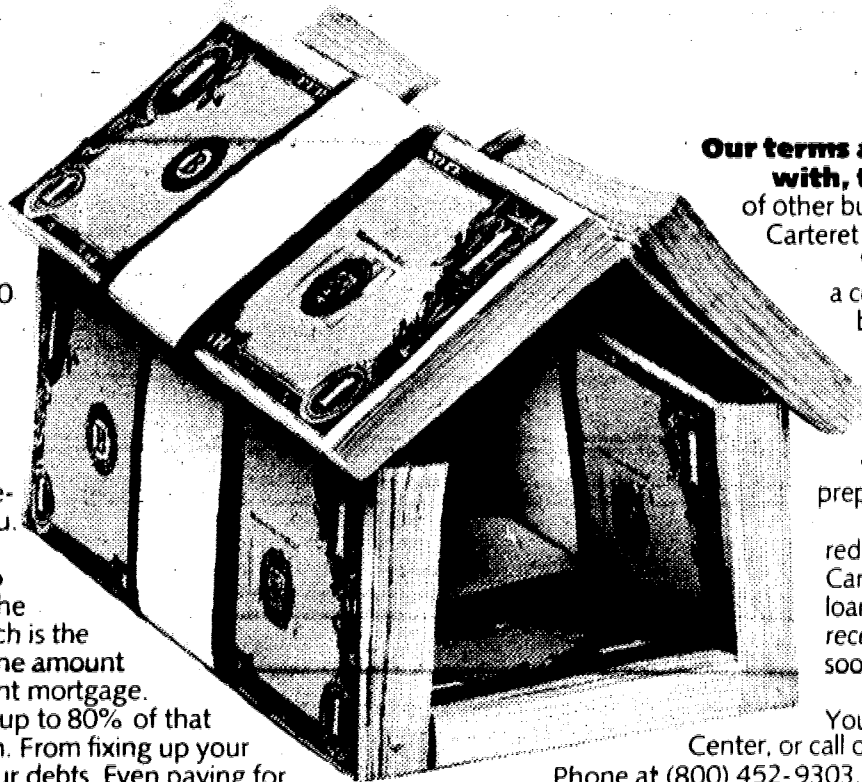

Vary textures — a gold pin on a soft sweater, a copper tea kettle on an oak table — for the more subtle contrasts of hard and soft, glossy and rough.

Giving home new look

Although mankind does not need to hibernate during the winter, most people do spend more time in their homes in cold weather.

Autumn, therefore, has become the season when homeowners repair and redecorate to make their homes more attractive and comfortable for the coming winter.

Fortunately, there are a number of ways to give a home a new look without going to the expense and trouble of buying new furniture or knocking down walls.

Home fashion experts, for example, recommend rearranging the existing furnishings or changing the accessories in a room.

Another simple way to freshen a room's appearance is to provide a new background for the existing furnishings by installing textured wallcoverings.

For years, interior designers have appreciated the beautiful look textured wallcoverings bring to a home. Now, do-it-yourself decorators have discovered that secret and are choosing textured patterns as the perfect background for nearly every room in the house.

Decorating versatility is important to consumers today, and the number of patterns and the colors available for textured wallcoverings is one reason for their popularity.

Wallcoverings manufacturers, like Stauffer, also are using new embossing techniques which have resulted in stylish reproductions of such popular fabric textures as suede, burlap, linen, and grass cloth.

Many homeowners have found textured wallcoverings made of fabric-backed vinyl, such as the Phoenix Textures collection from Stauffer, the most desirable and practical choice.

Textures also are easy to coordinate with many of today's popular home design styles, providing the homeowner with another type of decorating versatility.

Rugged textures such as grass cloths or burlap, for example, provides the perfect setting for a rustic Early American interior.

A slubby linen texture, like the Mar-rakesh pattern from the Phoenix Textures collection, provides the elegance needed to complement a contemporary interior.

Factors affect things we buy

By GWEN WARANIS

Extension Home economist

Many factors affect the price of things we buy—the cost of raw materials, capital and transportation costs as well as covering profits and losses for all segments of the marketing process.

While it may not be difficult for the consumer to control what price he pays for an item, compare prices from store to store. Know prices—particularly with food items. Remember that a display of an item does not necessarily mean that it is at a lower price than usual. Shop sales. Keep in mind that no one particular store has lower prices on everything.

Wicker fills many roles

Wicker is a wonderful way to decorate, whether it be filling the empty corner of that windowsill with a potted plant in a wicker basket or furnishing an entire room in a comfortable, carefree fashion.

Wicker furniture is economical yet sturdy, and a complete set, from sofa, to chairs, to tables may be purchased at a fraction of the cost of a traditional furniture set.

It is also versatile, its natural shade blending with almost any color scheme—and, it is easily painted, so as to blend with or accent the decor of your choice.

Ducts need insulation

Energy conservation in a home shouldn't end with insulation in the walls, ceiling and floors.

Fiber glass duct systems should be included if forced air heating and central air conditioning are among your home's features. The Thermal Insulation Manufacturers Association points out that fiber glass duct systems end condensation and noise in the system and are self-insulating.

Elegant bathroom is 'parked' in a garage

An elegant bathroom is where you find it. Ask designer Virginia Frankel, who fell in love with a house out in the Long Island, N.Y., countryside, despite the fact that its existing bathroom facilities were both small and spare.

Frankel's solution should be inspiration for other space-shy homeowners who think they don't have a place to put an elegant new bath.

Looking around her country house for room to expand into, Frankel's trained professional eye fell upon the attached garage. Never mind that its floor was cement and that its roof slanted off at an angle. They were both to become blessings in disguise.

Plywood subflooring, laid over the concrete and then overlaid with wall-to-wall carpeting, made the room plush underfoot. Overhead, the slanting roofline proved the perfect place to put a clerestory window. It now floods the bath with more than enough daylight to keep a large collection of plants happy.

Piece de resistance, however, is the sumptuous tub sunk in a decking of DuPont "Corian." A solid material that won't delaminate, durable "Corian" can be cut and worked as easily as hardwood. This allowed Ms. Frankel to design a high, raised platform to accommodate an extra-deep tub.

Three terraced steps of "Corian" lead to the tub level with its generously wide "Corian" deck. Stain resistant, it's the perfect surface for the plants which make the bath feel big as all out doors.

Done up in sophisticated grays and whites, the bath is far from a typical country cottage look, and a far cry from its humble beginnings as a garage.

If you're looking for a place to put a Sybaritic spa of your own, start with your local "Corian" dealer during National Kitchen/Bath Week.

Just don't tell your car.

Facing south for solar gain

There's a way homeowners can get free heat. In areas where the heating season averages more than 4500 degree days, says Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minn., the main window areas should face south to take advantage of winter solar heat gain.

Doublepane insulating glass allows the heat to penetrate, yet limits conducted heat loss through the glass at other times.

Bundle up house during winter

Button up your overcoat and bundle up your abode — take steps to conquer the cold by adding some safe, secure and warm touches to the home in preparation for the winter months ahead. While it's almost time to pull out the wools and zip in the linings, it's also time to wrap up the house or apartment against the chilling winds to come.

With no end in sight to the energy crunch, it's up to individuals to take advantage of some simple money-saving ideas that will keep heat inside to work extra hard to warm the home.

By sealing the house against winter winds, home dwellers can be warmer while reducing energy costs, but unfortunately they may also suffer the effects from irritating chemical fumes emanating from cleaning compounds that are locked into the home when windows and doors are shut tight.

Strategic planning. With a plan for clean indoor air in the works and a few warm days left in the forecast, take some time to schedule various house-bundling activities on the calendar for the weeks ahead.

This way, daylong jobs can be determined in advance while tasks that require little time can be managed around already planned events. Ideally, outdoor activities should be carried out first while inside tasks can be scheduled later in the season.

Give windows the works. Get ahead of the cold drafts by tackling the windows early. Storm windows are an excellent means of stopping cold air from penetrating into the home. And, sparkling clean windows serve an additional purpose by allowing the greatest amount of sun rays in to warm the air.

Take advantage of warm autumn days by thoroughly polishing both storm and regular windows, inside, and out, with a safe and effective cleansing agent such as Bon Ami Cleaning cake formulated with the gentler.

Once windows are in place for the season, it is important to weatherstrip around them to prevent the slightest amount of air from leaking in. On cloudy winter days, blinds or curtains should be closed for extra insulation.

Don't forget the doors. If there is more than one entrance to the home, consider closing one off for the winter months by sealing the gaps with weatherstripping material. To keep from getting under doors that are regularly used, place draft dodgers or cozy kittens, which are long, decorated tubes filled with fibers or sand, along door bottoms.

Since sliding glass doors are great heat losers, consider installing a window quilt, a layered polyester item covered with decorative fabric, during the cold season.

Energy efficiency in every room. Furniture placement within each room can be critical in achieving the greatest warmth. Large items should be moved away from heating registers so that air flow is not obstructed. Sofas and chairs might be moved away from doors and windows so they aren't chilled by any possible cool air creeping inside.

An added warming touch is to lay throw rugs on hard floors which are not only kinder to bare feet, but also improve the insulation factor in the room.

Caulk any small cracks in walls, ceilings and floors where air may leak in or out to eliminate any additional drafty spots, remember to close the damper on the fireplace when not in use.

Even the bathroom can become an energy-saver. By limiting the use of fans, less heated air is able to escape. Then after a hot bath, allow the water to stand before draining, to put additional warmth into the air.

It's good practice to clean the tub out after each soak to prevent clogging and, with the help of Bon Ami, rings will vanish while porcelain and stainless steel fixtures will shine. Unlike harsh abrasives that scratch, tests prove that regular use of Bon Ami Polishing Cleaner can actually restore the luster to porcelain surfaces after 30 to 60 days.

To keep the kitchen cozy, get double use of the heat in a just-used oven by warming plates or rolls before a meal or by opening the door to let the heat escape. A heat reducing tip is to use glass or ceramic baking dishes which require a lower setting, as much as 25 degrees.

County population down 7 pct.

The population of Union County has changed markedly over the last 20 years with an approximate seven percent decline in the number of residents here from 1970 to 1980, according to a report prepared by Union County College's Office of Institutional Research.

Five significant trends in the population of the county are cited in the report entitled, "Population Characteristics of Union County for 1960, 1970 and 1980 and the Profile of Students at Union County College in Spring Term, 1982." The report is based on statistics provided by the U.S. Census studies of 1980, 1970 and 1960.

The report prepared by Patricia Bidar of Rahway, director of institutional research, looked at changes in the make-up of Union County's population over the last 20 years. The College will use the report to identify changing trends in the county, and then use that information to plan to meet the educational needs of students.

The report found that not only has the population declined seven percent over the past 10 years, but the present total of Union County residents is lower now than it was in 1960. The report also indicates that the percentage of males in the county appears to be decreasing over time; that in terms of racial/ethnic categories the white population is decreasing, while minority group's population is increasing; the number of individuals under 17 has decreased by 45,624 from 1970 to 1980 with most of the decrease occurring in the racial ethnic category of "white," and the number of individuals age 65 or older is increasing as well as the population of females comprising that group.

According to the study, all Union County municipalities experienced decreases in population from 1970 to 1980. The largest percentages of decline in population in Union County during the time were: Fanwood, 12.9; Clark, 11.3; Springfield, 11.3; Summit, 10.8; Cranford, 10.3, and Kenilworth, 10.3. Hillside, .9; Plainfield, .3, and Berkeley Heights, .4 evidenced the smallest percentage of change from 1970 to 1980.

Hillside, Plainfield, Roselle and Rahway experienced a 20 percent or more increase in the number of individuals listed in a racial/ethnic category other than "white."

Hillside and Plainfield showed a decrease in the number of persons aged 65 or older from 1970 to 1980, while Mountainside, New Providence, Springfield and Union experienced increases of 25 percent or more in the number of individuals who were 65 or older during the same period.

The report shows that Hillside, Elizabeth and Plainfield experienced the largest declines in population in the category of "White" during the past ten years. Hillside showed a decrease in its white population of 35.9 percent from 1970 to 1980. Elizabeth's white population declined by 30.1 percent during that time span, while Plainfield's decreased by 27.4 percent.

The Union County College report also noted that for the first time in the history of the U.S. Census, Hispanic residents in the city of Elizabeth were included in the 1980 numbers. The Census noted that Hispanics make up 26.7 percent of Elizabeth's population with 28,305 of them now living in that municipality. That number is greater than the Black population in Elizabeth which according to the 1980 census is 18,622 or 17.5 percent.

The report shows that overall the Census found that in the last 20 years, Union County's makeup has changed significantly. The current makeup of Union County according to the 1980 Census Study is 74.4 percent white, 15.9 percent Black, 8.1 percent Hispanic, and 1.6 percent in other categories.

The 1960 Census showed the county, at that time, was made up of a very different population which was 92.3 percent white, 7.5 percent Black and .1 percent in other categories, with no statistics available for Hispanics at that time.

Diet program set at Overlook

Is a low fat diet the same as a low-cholesterol diet? Can I use salt substitute if I'm on a low salt diet? Should everyone restrict his/her fat and salt intake? Come find out the answers to these questions at a unique program which combines actual food preparation and taste-testing with valuable nutritional information.

Overlook Hospital's Department of Patient Education will be presenting "How to Make Your Special Diet Special" today and Nov. 17. Today's session focuses on the low-fat diet, and the Nov. 17 session focuses on the low-salt diet.

The classes will be held on the 6th floor of the Center for Community Health, Room 2. According to Ann Oliva, Director of Patient Education, "These courses are designed for all members of the community interested in healthy eating habits, not just individuals who have been placed on a special diet by their physicians."

The fee for each session is $3. Call 522-2963 to register for this program.

Seminars set on union talk

The last of five Saturday Seminars sponsored by Union County College's Division of Continuing Education this fall will be a Labor Relations Workshop Saturday at the Cranford Campus.

The workshop, which will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., will cover topics involving labor-management relations presented in layman's language: managing with and without a union, preventing a union drive, establishing and maintaining effective employer relations, effective discipline and handling of grievances.

Steve J. Toronye, a Rahway attorney, will coordinate the workshop. He is a member of the New Jersey and New York bar associations.

(1858-1946), one of the Federal Reserve system's founders, is the only person in U.S. history to have both his signature on paper currency (during his tenure as President Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the Treasury) and his portrait (over his strenuous objection) on a U.S. coin—the 1936 Lynchburg, Va., sesquicentennial half-dollar.

This violated the 1866 act forbidding portrayal of any living person on U.S. coins or currency.

Several Kean courses in foreign language

Remember what it was like to write a term paper in college? How would you like to write one in a foreign language? That's what some 500 students at Kean College of New Jersey in Union learn to do each year. They also are taking notes, taking tests and taking lots of courses in a foreign language English.

Some of them are new to the United States, some have been here a few years and still are not grounded in English. They speak mostly Spanish. They also speak Chinese, Hungarian and Polish. They are bright and ambitious and don't want to hold up their education until they learn English perfectly.

At Kean College they can do that. A number of general courses are taught in Spanish at least, and the foreign speakers concurrently take courses in a program within the English department exclusively for Kean students, English as a Second Language (ESL).

Dr. Carole Shaffer-Koros of Westfield, who operates the program which now has 500 enrollees, said, "It is our purpose to teach students English language skills so that they can function in the regular college program." She said her program is aimed at students seeking a degree from Kean. Those interested only in learning English are steered toward Union County College and night high school classes.

Schaffer-Koros said students entering ESL are tested for their level of English and placed within the program accordingly. Her department also gives native language tests in mathematics as well as knowledge of native languages. This, she said, determines the foreign speakers' true academic level more accurately.

Among the foreign speakers are many Colombians including Luis Cajiao (Ka-he-ow), a 36-year-old father of three who lives in Elizabeth. He is carrying 18 credits this semester and has seven credits to go before graduation. He has given up his work as a machine operator to accelerate his education.

Although he and his wife Maria, who also is taking ESL courses, have been here 10 years, Cajiao started his Kean program only four years ago. Cajiao said the first year he had only a slight ability with English so he took psychology, philosophy, economics and Spanish composition, all taught in Spanish. He also began his ESL program.

By his second year, Cajiao was taking courses in English such as anatomy, physiology and other major requirements in his selected field, physical education. In the beginning, he said, it was difficult because he would be thinking in Spanish and translating into English.

Although it is easier for him now, Cajiao admitted that depending on the difficulty of the subject matter, language still is a problem. Before he applies to Columbia University where he hopes to earn a masters degree in applied physiology, Cajiao plans to intensify his study of English. He said the entry test and the face-to-face interview at Columbia would be critical and he wants his English to be at its best.

Louis Ornelas enjoys retirement so much, he volunteers 25 hours a week.

Would you?

Louis drives a Red Cross van for a community nutrition program.

Five days a week, Louis shuttles elderly people to a Help Center for a free hot meal. He also delivers hot meals to another 20 shut-ins.

On Thursdays, Louis takes his passengers to the supermarket so they can shop for food.

"The important thing is that you get these people a balanced meal," says Louis. "A lot of elderly people don't cook anymore, and if you don't give them a meal, they probably won't eat."

Passport's 'life' is extended

Union County Clerk Walter G. Halpin has announced that the United States Passport Office has informed him by official communication that the President has signed Public Law 97-241, extending the validity period for new passports issued to 10 years.

The effective date will be either Dec. 1, 1982, or possibly Jan. 1, 1983, depending upon any objections that may arise when it is published in the Federal Register because, along with the extended lifetime of the passport, fees will be increased from $10 to $35, plus an execution fee to the County Clerk of $7.

Halpin said the new regulations will be somewhat different for applicants 18 years and under. They will remain at the present five year validity with a $20 fee.

Two Congressmen cited by seniors organization

About 200 northern New Jersey members of Green Thumb, a U.S. Department of Labor sponsored senior citizen's employment program, cited two Congress persons for services to their group at ceremonies recently in the Little Theatre at Kean College of New Jersey.

Receiving citations were U.S. Representatives Millicent Fenwick and Matthew Rinaldo, both Republicans. Kean College was selected as the site for the event because it co-sponsored with Green Thumb a job fair for seniors, according to Roye-Ann Hargrove of Hillside, director of community services.

Green Thumb employs 1,700 senior citizens in New Jersey and 54,000 nationwide. This summer Fenwick and Rinaldo voted to provide $211 million next year despite the Presidential veto of the supplemental funding bill in which the provision was contained.

Green Thumb has operated in New Jersey since 1965.

Among those attending were Carl Larsen, national director of Green Thumb; Norris C. Ellerton, Green Thumb state director, and Bill Smith, the area leader located in Plainfield.

Federal funds for Green Thumb are appropriated under the Senior Community Service Employment Program Act. Language of the Act provides that this program foster and promote useful, temporary, part-time service activities for unemployed, low income persons who are 55 years old or older.

Workers are hired by the Green Thumb program and sent to host agencies that provide work sites, supervision and on-the-job training. Some work accomplished by Green Thumb people includes historical reconstruction, working as paralegal aids, weatherizing homes, helping in nutrition projects for the elderly, and various kinds of public service work.
