MOUNTAINSIDE, N.J., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1984

The 'Nutrition Theatre' makes its debut at Vail-Deane School

A new form of theatre, "nutrition theatre," was presented recently at The Vail-Deane School in Mountainside a few days ago.

It was performed by a New York actor who has appeared on The Captain Kangaroo Show, on cable's Nickelodeon, on PBS-TV, and all across North America. His story has been written in everything from the New York Times to Newsweek.

"Slim Goodbody" looked like a human x-ray, wearing a skin tight body suit decorated with colorful pictures of muscles, bones and internal organs in the appropriate spots.

The audience was composed of students in grades kindergarten through seven, approximately half of the School's kindergarten through grade 12 student body.

He cavorted about the stage, singing, dancing and posing questions about the anatomy and bodily functions to the audience. "When you go to sleep, does your heart go to sleep?" "When you go on vacation, does your heart go on vacation too?" "When you quit your job, does your heart quit its job, too?"

Then he began singing songs that he had written about the workings of the human body. His repertory includes numbers about bones, teeth, the heart, heredity, mental health, the eyes and digestion. When he wasn't singing or dancing, he held a dialogue with his tape recorder which sat beside him on a stool on the stage, brightly decorated with eyes, a nose, and red lips.

In addition to performing, Slim writes books, makes records, gives lectures, all while encouraging children to brush their teeth, take baths, eat wholesome foods and to be polite. "I thought the show was excellent," said Marian Carter of Mountainside, health teacher at The Vail-Deane School.

NJ Transit hearings set on 5 bus route changes

NJ Transit will hold public hearings next week on proposed changes to five bus routes which serve Union and Essex counties.

The routes which are affected by the proposed revisions are the No. 8 Morristown Avenue, No. 9 Clifton Avenue, No. 13 Broadstreet, No. 39/48 Harrison-Union and No. 140/141 Somerville-Newark routes.

The hearings will be held Wednesday in Newark at NJ Transit's headquarters next to Penn Station and Feb. 9 at the Union Township Municipal Building, 1976 Morris Ave., Union. Both hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

According to NJT Project Manager William Wallace, the proposed route revisions, which if approved, would go into effect April 28, were based on a review of ridership statistics. The agency also considers requests from the public and county officials when proposing such changes.

The revisions include:

— No. 8 Morris Avenue, between Short Hills mall and downtown Elizabeth — Service would be discontinued to Short Hills Mall and via Magie Avenue and Green Lane. Service would be rerouted between Burnet Avenue and Salem Road in Union onto Vauxhall Road.

— No. 9 Clifton Avenue, between Newark's Bloomfield and Lyons avenues — Service would be extended from Lyons Avenue to serve Hillside via Maple and Hillside avenues.

Newark's Bloomfield and Lyons avenues — Service would be extended from Lyons Avenue to serve Hillside via Maple and Hillside avenues.

— No. 13 Broad Street, between Irvington and Belleville via downtown Newark — The 40th Street, Irvington-Chancellor Avenue service at Valley Fair would be terminated. The Chancellor Avenue service would be rerouted between Valley Fair and the corner of Clinton Place-Lyons Avenue to operate via Lyons Avenue and replace peak hour service to Penn Station, Newark, with rerouted service on the No. 39/48 Harrison-Union route.

— No. 39/48 Harrison-Union between Harrison and Union via downtown Newark — Routes of the Hillside-Union branch would be replaced with sections of No. 9 Clifton Avenue and No. 141 Somerville-Newark routes; Valley Fair service would be extended to 40th Street in Irvington; service between Valley Fair and Maple Avenue would be rerouted to Chancellor Avenue from Lyons Avenue and service would be provided to Penn Station from 40th Street in Irvington.

— No. 140/141 Somerville-Newark — Four off-peak hour No. 140 trips to and from Somerville would be discontinued; No. 141 service west of New Providence Road in Mountainside would be discontinued as well as all Westfield service; No. 141 service would be extended to Union County College in Cranford; Vauxhall Road and Burnet Avenue service would be rerouted via Salem Road and Liberty Avenue through Union and Hillside. Peak hour frequency on the No. 141 would be adjusted to reflect rider demands and coordinate with the No. 49 route.

According to Wallace, if the changes are adopted, an estimated 37 riders who use the No. 8 route via Magie Avenue would have no alternate service. An estimated 110 riders would have to transfer who use the No. 8 route to Short Hills Mall.

Wallace said that the revisions were proposed for three reasons. "We are reviewing routes that were not looked at recently," he said referring to a June 1981 restructuring of routes in the Newark-Elizabeth area. The other reasons were to improve operative efficiency and serve new areas could be served and to reduce duplication and lightly-used route segments. He said that any savings from the changes would be put toward the extension of routes into new service areas and increased service on present routes.

Those who seek more information, including a fact sheet on the changes, may call NJ Transit at 800-772-3606 or 201-761-8612.

Lautenberg scheduled to speak at an area dinner Monday night

U.S. Senator Frank Lautenberg (D,N.J.), a longtime proponent of computer science as a mandatory educational requirement in America's public schools, will see the result of one such program at the Alper Civic Association's annual dinner/dance in Springfield on Monday.

Two computer science students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, under the guidance of computer department coordinator Thomas Baker, have designed a computer printout charting Senator Lautenberg's career, including all the vital statistics a former president of a major computer company should expect.

Lautenberg founded ADP, Inc., a New Jersey based firm responsible for much of the growth in computer usage by business and industry over the past thirty years.

The students plan to present their work to the Senator at the dinner.

The Alper Civic Association is a Springfield-based non partisan organization that sponsors scholarships, shows and other events for students, the hospitalized, and the elderly, and provides forums for communication between citizens and elected officials throughout the greater Springfield area.

The dinner/dance will take place Monday, at 7 p.m. at the Springfield Holiday Inn, Route 22 West in Springfield. For ticket information call 467-0486, or write to: Dinner/Dance, P.O. Box 675, Springfield, 07081.

This year's recipients of the Alper community service award were former mayor and Springfield Township Committeeman Stanley Kaish, former mayor and township committeeman Robert Weltcheck, the late Joe Montanari, who serviced on the township committee; and Hazel Hardgrove of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

An Alper Civic Association-sponsored scholarship this year went to Linda Seymour, a 1983 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, who received a scholastic achievement award and a $100 U.S. savings bond for her work and interest in the areas of civic affairs and government.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER—U.S. Senator Frank Lautenberg, right, discusses with Mike Alper of the Alper Civic Association plans for his appearance as keynote speaker at the association's annual dinner-dance Monday night. The public is invited for the dinner at the Springfield Holiday Inn, Route 22. For more information, call 467-0486.

The Association also sponsors magic shows that bring laughter into the lives of hospitalized children; publishes a monthly newsletter, "Newslines", which promotes community programs and neighbor-to-neighbor communication, and gives to such charities as United Way, Deborah Hospital, and the Springfield Save-A-Life Committee. The group also publishes "at-a-glance" telephone listings of state and local agencies that can be of help.

Drug awareness program set

Mountainside lodge 1585, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, is beginning a drug awareness education program here aimed at fourth through ninth graders announced Michael Sakelarides, Exalted Ruler.

The program's goal is to stop drug abuse before it starts by informing youth of the physical and mental consequences of using illicit drugs, according to Sakelarides.

"The Elks are confident that, given the facts, our children will decide for themselves that drug abuse is dangerous and then avoid the temptation to experiment with drugs", Sakelarides said.

"Our program is designed to provide kids with the facts and dispel popular myths and misinformation about harmless drugs", he added.

The Elks program targets marijuana and cocaine specifically.

"Research shows that roughly two-thirds of all Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school, and one in 16 seniors smokes marijuana daily," he said.

The local program is part of a nationwide campaign for the Elks. The organization's involvement was applauded by First Lady Nancy Reagan in a message to the Elks Grand Lodge Convention July, 1983.

Franks' 3 bills signed by Kean

MOUNTAINSIDE—Legislation affecting the state's response to energy emergencies, bus transit and municipal tax accounting, all sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks (R-22) have been signed into law by Governor Tom Kean.

Franks, who began his third term in the State Assembly two weeks ago, said all three bills passed both Houses of the legislature by wide, bi-partisan margins.

One of the new laws directs the Department of Energy to plan and periodically review the state's reaction to future energy shortages. "The law is intended to avoid 'crisis management' during future energy emergencies," Franks said. "It has the effect of causing the executive branch of the government to plan ahead to avoid crises."

Another bill of Franks' sponsorship signed into law by Kean would regulate certain aspects of the private, non-subsidized bus industry to encourage the development of more bus service. "The affect of this new law is to create the same fare procedure for independent operators engaged in providing regular bus routes as those used by New Jersey Transit."

The third bill Kean signed is a housekeeping measure to provide a procedure for local government to process certain property tax refunds.

"Obviously, I am very pleased that the Governor has seen fit to enact my bills into law," Franks said. "Several other bills that did not reach the Governor's desk before the end of the last session have been pre-filed for consideration by the new, 201st legislature."

'United Ostomy' to meet Tuesday

KENILWORTH—The United Ostomy Association will meet on Tuesday, at the Schering-Plough Corp., 8 p.m., Galloping Hill Road, Kenilworth. President Abe Siminoff will have as his guest speaker Dr. Samippan Muthusamy of St. Elizabeth Hospital, who will talk about colon cancer and related areas. This will be followed by a question and answer period.

Spouse and family members are welcome to ostomy meetings.

Adult Learning Center offering varied courses

KENILWORTH—The Adult Learning Center at David Brearley Regional High School provides many courses for adults that are not readily available elsewhere. The school fits right in with Governor Thomas Kean's proclamation that last week was Adult and Community Education Week in New Jersey.

"The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 has maintained a comprehensive adult education program for many years through which residents of the regional district community have had the opportunity to enrich their lives," said Superintendent of School Donald Merachnik. "We are very proud of a quality adult school and, therefore, it is only fitting that Gov. Kean has emphasized the importance of adult education by issuing this proclamation."

More than 650,000 adults participate in programs offered by 163 school districts throughout the state. Last year some 4,200 residents of the regional district and beyond attended adult programs offered at the regional high schools Governor Livingston, Arthur L. Johnson, David Brearley and Jonathan Dayton, and the Adult Learning Center. The communities of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield comprise the regional district.

From antiques to yoga, and from tennis to word-processing, some 123 courses were available at the four schools. Registration for the spring term will be Feb. 14 at each school. For more information, contact Harry Linkin, director of Adult and Continuing Education at 376-6300, ext. 99. Programs at the Adult Learning Center, located at the Brearley School in Kenilworth, include English for the Foreign Born; improvement of basic skills in reading, math and grammar; preparation for the high school equivalency test; or study to earn an adult high school diploma.

Students enrolled at the Learning Center study at their own rate, individually or in groups. Counseling is offered and the staff is qualified to test for learning disabilities. All courses and services of the Center are provided free of charge to any resident of the area. For more information, contact the Center's director, Carol Beris, 272-4480. Registration is ongoing throughout the school year.

Motel guest robbed in hallway in first of two similar incidents

SPRINGFIELD—A guest at the Spring Garden Inn, Route 22 East, Springfield, was accosted by an armed robber in the hallway of the motel about 9 p.m. Jan. 25. A Cherry Hill resident told police that a young black man of medium height and medium length hair, wearing a green jacket, approached him with a handgun, and demanded his money.

The robber took $175 in cash and then fled, on foot, along Route 22 East. An identical incident occurred at the Holiday Inn, Boulevard, Kenilworth, a few days later.

A Morris Plains man was arrested on Meisel Avenue, Thursday night for various drug and motor vehicle charges. Police said Ralph Lopez, 22, was charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana, possession of a controlled dangerous substance, possession of narcotics paraphenilia, and multiple motor vehicle violation. Lopez was released on a summons.

Thomas Reider, 56, of Newburgh, New York, was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol. Reider was stopped on Route 22 West about 1 a.m. Thursday after police observed him, "weaving all over the road."

A 29-year-old Millburn man was also charged with driving under the influence of alcohol last week. Paul Baker was arrested at Morris and Maple Avenues.

An overturned tractor-trailer truck caused Springfield police to close a portion of Route 24 off for six hours about 2:30 p.m. Saturday. According to police, the truck, which was rented to the Shop Rite supermarket chain, overturned shortly after a temporary driver had taken over from a union driver who declined to make a delivery through picket lines set up by striking meat and deli workers at the Shop Rite on Morris Avenue.

Vincent Wolsky, 24, of Iselin, had just taken over the route at the Union Market, a quarter-mile from the accident site. Wolsky told police that he felt the truck begin to tip, causing him to lose control, while rounding the bend. Police said Wolsky failed to negotiate the curve and struck a utility pole.

Police closed Route 24 from Morris Avenue to Valley Street and rerouted traffic to Main Street and Millburn Avenue, causing average 15 minute delays. Jersey Central Power and Light Co. worked at the scene to restore power to a small area that lost service due to a resulting power outage.

It took three wreckers to upright the 18-wheeler.

A Maplewood man was issued a summons Monday for going through a red light after he was involved in a resulting four-car accident. Mark Tilipman, 19, collided with a vehicle at the intersection of Main Street and Morris Avenue about 1:30 p.m., causing a chain collision involving two other cars. Tilipman was taken to Overlook Hospital where he was treated and released.

A Short Hills woman was issued a summons Monday morning in a bizarre accident on So. Springfield Avenue that involved only herself. According to police reports, Christine Laurie, 18, was traveling north on So. Springfield when she jumped a curb at 141 Milltown Rd. and hit a tree. The car continued across the driveway of 281 So. Springfield onto the lawn and struck another tree.

She continued across the sidewalk and then back into the northbound lane of So. Springfield for about 40 feet. According to reports, the car then swerved to the right and over the curb, striking a utility pole. The driver went in reverse across the street and through a fence, and then came to rest in the rear of the Raymond Chisholm School grounds.

Laurie, who was issued a summons for careless driving, told police that she had been attempting to avoid a vehicle that was making a left turn into Milltown Road from So. Springfield Avenue.

A Summit woman pleaded guilty to driving while on the revoked list in municipal court Monday night. Maria Panos, 25, was fined $515. She was also found guilty of going through a stop sign and fined $75.

Michael Saunders, 25, of Somerset, was fined $315 when he was found guilty of driving while revoked. Saunders also had his driving privileges revoked for 60 days.

Robert Stokes, 33, of Elizabeth, was found guilty of operating an uninsured vehicle. He was fined $115 and received a six-month revocation.

Victor Fresolone, 34, of Scotch Plains, pleaded guilty to driving while suspended and was fined $515.

Manuel Velez, 29, of Elizabeth, pleaded guilty to operating an uninsured vehicle. He was fined $315, and received 30 days of community service and a two year license revocation.

Joseph Palumbo, 28, of Westfield, pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol and refusal to take the breathalyzer test. He was fined $530 and had his license revoked for one year.

Gill is 'pleased' about funding

UNION—Assemblyman Edward K. Gill (R.-District 21) said this week that he is "pleased" that the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs has awarded a $1,560,336 grant to Union County.

The grant will provide funds for numerous social service programs for the elderly, including transportation, sticker, and a self-addressed envelope to return a tax deductible donation. The firemen have found from past fund drives that it is inconvenient for a homeowner to come up with a donation on the spur of the moment. Instead, they will leave the envelope to be returned when possible.

nutrition, limited health services, recreation, counseling and information and referral services.

"I am pleased," Gill said, "that the county has been enabled to provide services and promote programs for this most deserving segment of our population, our senior citizens."

With funds raised in last year's drive, the volunteer fire department purchased a $10,000 high pressure system for refilling air bottles at the station. The system, which is one of the last pieces of equipment, provides pure breathing air for the firemen to use before they go inside a burning building.

If this year's drive is successful, the volunteers plan to purchase a new rescue truck for the station. The rescue truck responds to calls along with the fire trucks, and contains safety equipment, such as extra lights and extrication equipment. The present rescue truck is a 1956 model.

Fire department asking for detector information

SPRINGFIELD—As a service to township residents, the Springfield Fire Department has a program pertaining to life and home fire protection. Any resident of the township who now has smoke detectors located within the home should register them with the fire department. There is no cost.

The purpose of this registration is to enable the fire department to notify the homeowner at one year intervals to remind them to test and check over their detectors. The necessary information, which is kept confidential at fire headquarters, would be the name, address, and telephone number of the homeowner. In addition, the department would like to know the number of detectors in operation. Also needed is the location of each detector, whether they are operated by battery or household current, the battery type, what type the detector is, (ionization or photoelectric), and the date of installation.

At the end of each 12-month period, the fire department will call and ask if the system has been tested to make sure test buttons and warning lights are working properly. In addition, the department will remind residents that the batteries in the detectors have past their useful life and should be replaced.

The fire department is continuing this program "because we know how easy it is to forget to change batteries. Especially, in an item such as a smoke detector, where the homeowner passes by it many times a day."

Because the fire department has a record of the information supplied about detectors, the homeowner can contact fire headquarters (376-0144 or 376-1740) anytime a question arises.

By registering detectors, the Springfield Fire Department "hopes to put an end to the needless loss of life from fire, smoke and toxic gases. We hope that all township residents who have smoke detectors, and those who plan to get them, will take advantage of this program. The life that will be saved may be yours or that of a family member. Nothing is more precious to us than those lives."

"We also ask that homeowners who have automatic dialer alarm systems in their home ensure that the phone number used is that of our alarm phone number: 376-7670, and not one of our business numbers.

This program is under the direction of Fire Fighter Thomas Ernst.

Education reform

Ever since a national commission last year called American education to account for a long and sorry series of failures, school people and laymen alike have been showing a renewed interest in achieving "excellence."

One of the latest manifestations of this welcome development is the recent endorsement by State Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman and Higher Education Commissioner Edward Hollander of reforms recommended by the Joint Statewide Task Force on Pre-College Preparation.

Among these reforms are proposals for a noteworthy emphasis on teaching English, including writing, and mathematics.

The task force recommended phasing out remedial courses offered at the college level. Colleges, after all, should not have to teach a student what he or she should have learned years earlier.

The task force also proposed sending parents of all eighth-graders information of what is expected of students, as well as recommendations that they encourage their children to "strive for excellence" rather than take the easy way out. This is a recommendation that individual school districts could adopt without waiting for state action — and not just at the eighth grade level. Why not send parents a pre-report card at the start of each year, telling them what is expected of their sons and daughters that year? It could involve parents more closely in the schooling of their children — an essential in good education.

One recommendation of the task force, however, is troubling. That is the proposal to eliminate distinctions between college-bound and non-college-bound students, with all youngsters facing the same graduation requirements. One of the glories of American education — or, at least, of the ideals that American education has set for itself — is the opportunity for all children to complete high school. This means those whose talents lie in vocational areas as well as those in academic areas. To impose the same graduation requirements on all could result in either imposing standards that some children simply can't meet or watering down those standards to a level at which they become meaningless.

Nevertheless, the task force has made some worthwhile points. Its report will undoubtedly provide a platform for further interest in education — and that is a healthy development.

Mental health

A difficult diagnosis

By HELEN PETTINATTI, PH.D.

This column is from The Carrier Foundation, a psychiatric facility. Inquiries should be addressed to The Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, N.J. 08502.

Alzheimer's Disease, sometimes referred to as senility, is a progressive, incurable deterioration of the mental processes. It occurs in about one of every 20 people over 65, but mainly in the 80-and-over age bracket. It may occur as early as the 40's or 50's, although this is rare.

The primary symptoms in this disease are impairment in memory, comprehension and reasoning. Early signs are mild confusion about places, names, time, surroundings, identities, together with some memory loss. This may then progress to loss of interest and involvement with the people and activities in one's life, wandering and getting lost, increased anxiety, changes in mood and personality, difficulty in grasping and using ordinary language, as well as in communicating with others. In the later stages, physical deterioration occurs with progressive loss of control of one's muscles, movements and natural functions. This results in total dependency on a caretaker.

While research has produced some important information about this disorder, there is still no way to diagnose it with absolute certainty while the patient is still alive. Brain photographs (Cat scans) and other tests which pinpoint changes in brain structure and function are helpful in identifying the disease, but only partially. Similar results on these tests can indicate many other ailments occurring in old age. Similarly, signs of memory difficulty — formerly thought to be specific indicators of Alzheimer's Disease — are now known to accompany many other physical and psychological conditions unrelated to Alzheimer's Disease. Some of these are stroke, improper medication, thyroid disease, vitamin deficiencies, brain tumors and severe depression.

Thus, it may occur that persons who have been diagnosed as having Alzheimer's Disease may really be suffering from one of more than 100 different reversible mental disorders that mimic Alzheimer's Disease. In such cases, the patient is likely to go untreated for his illness because it is thought he has an incurable disease. In addition, the patient and the family are subjected to unnecessary anguish.

The illness most commonly confused with Alzheimer's Disease is depression. Approximately 30 percent of the people diagnosed as having Alzheimer's Disease are actually suffering from depression, which in old age may look very much like Alzheimer's Disease. The aged depressed person may show confusion, memory problems, disorientation and language difficulties. At present, it requires extensive clinical testing and evaluation to separate the "pseudementias" that can be treated from the incurable Alzheimer's Disease. In some situations, these testing and evaluation procedures are just not available; in such cases, an inaccurate diagnosis is likely. But even where the procedures are available, considerable time may be lost before an accurate determination can be made and appropriate treatment measures taken. In the meantime, also, patient and family may endure needless worry and suffering.

For these reasons, scientists at The Carrier Foundation and elsewhere are attempting to discover indicators that will confirm Alzheimer's Disease. The research conducted at the Carrier Foundation on this particular problem is carried out in the Specialized Geriatrics Unit where patients are evaluated and treated for various geriatric disorders. Research Division staff visit this unit both at the admission and discharge of a patient and evaluate the patient's memory difficulties and his complaints about his memory. Hopefully, a useful diagnostic tool for Alzheimer's Disease will emerge from this research.

Scene around the towns

Readers on the go should be able to spot this doorway, at right above, without even slowing down. It's in Roselle Park. If you recognize it, let us hear from you by 9 a.m. Monday. Write to Scene, in care of this newspaper, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union 07083.

The Scene is just a hop, skip and jump from last week's mystery location — the First Presbyterian Church at Chestnut Street and West Fifth Avenue in Roselle.

The first person to recognize it forgot to sign a name to the answer, but made up for it by giving quite a bit of detail: "Would you believe," the Scene correspondent wrote, "40 years ago I did a report on that window for a school project. I had a teacher named Mr. England and his father, Dr. England, was the pastor of the church then. We had to pick something that we saw on the way to school that we thought was the most beautiful thing we passed, and I picked the window because I passed it four times a day, five days a week, for four years. The pastor of the church now is Dr. J. Max Creswell Jr. The church was established in 1868."

Danny Parish, a ninth-grade student at Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, is another admirer of the church window. He described it as "unique," adding, "I pass the church every day, coming and going to school."

The smartest pet

Jump: It's an order Rover or Kitty will obey

By FRANK McSWEENEY

(Frank McSweeney of Linden is an animal trainer whose pets have appeared at benefits throughout the area. This article by him is one in a series on training the family pet.)

Are you ready to have the smartest pet on your block? As we said a few weeks ago, we will attempt to teach your dog or cat to jump through a hoop or over a broom or stick.

The first thing in the morning, give your animal a small amount of food. Let him eat what he wants, then take it away. Three or four hours later, your pet should be hungry again. This is the time to start training.

The first couple of days, let the pet get used to the hoop or stick. Keep the hoop or stick on the floor; let the animal walk all over it, so he won't be afraid of it. After two or three days of letting the animal become familiar with the hoop or stick, take him to a corner of the room where he can't back up — just go forward.

Now comes the reward method of training. Hold the hoop or stick up and tell your animal to jump. At the same time, tease him with the piece of meat, or whatever you have decided to give as a reward.

The first couple of times, the animal may not do anything, so you gently push him through the hoop. Each time you push him through, give him the reward. Keep doing this till the animal gets the idea. Don't get discouraged — you may have to do it hundreds of times, but the animal will get the idea.

As your pet gets better, keep raising the hoop. A dog can jump from one to three feet, a cat can jump from one to four feet.

After you have done this for two or three months, the animal will do it without being given a reward.

If you have any problems with this, or don't understand, please feel free to call me at 486-1945. I am usually home every evening.

Our next trick will be "shaking hands." This has to be combined with sitting down. It is a trick that can be taught to a dog or a cat.

Be kind to your animals — don't mistreat them, and good luck!

Campaign against cancer making headway

By CONGRESSMAN
MATTHEW RINALDO
(R-7th District)

A decade after Congress launched the nation's crusade against cancer, there are positive signs that major changes are taking place in the treatment and prevention of cancer.

In virtually every area, the public is benefiting from breakthroughs in cancer research and treatment. Early detection, surgery, radiation, chemotherapy, experimental immunology and vaccines offer promising methods of coping with cancer. On two other fronts, knowledge about the environmental causes of cancer and the prevention of cancer through proper nutrition and health habits, also give us cause for hope.

Congress recently authorized $1 billion in fiscal 1984 for the National Institute of Cancer, which funds major research projects around the nation. The increase of $70 million in the budget will enable a number of private research centers to continue their work on cancer viruses.

Money management

Married working couples getting tax break

Many married couples nowadays have a hard time making ends meet. And, with tax filing season upon us, they need to get the best deal they can from the IRS. When it comes to taxes, that means taking advantage of what the law allows, says the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The most significant tax break this year is the deduction for married working couples. It has doubled since last year. If you and your spouse worked and file a joint return, you can deduct up to 10 percent from the salary of the lower-paid spouse. The maximum deduction is $3,000.

Last year, when married working couples could have received as much as $1,500 for the marital deduction, two million couples failed to claim it. If you are among them, file an amended return to get your deduction — plus interest. The IRS is paying 11 percent interest (compounded daily) for the overlooked deductions, and the interest paid is computed from your filing deadline of last year.

Here's how the marital deduction works. If Bob earned $20,000 in 1983 and Linda's salary was $15,000, they can deduct $1,500 (10 percent) from Linda's salary if they file jointly. Keep in mind, however, that contributions to IRAs and Keoghs, as well as business expenses, must be subtracted from your gross income before making the 10 percent deduction.

Though the marital deduction provides an easy-to-get tax break, some couples may get even bigger breaks if they file separate returns and take advantage of other tax laws. Just a few minutes of simple computations can help you see which option is best, CPAs say.

To illustrate, take a closer look at this year's tougher medical deduction formula.

Now, you may deduct only unreimbursed medical expenses that exceed 5 percent of your income (it used to be 3 percent). Furthermore, you may no longer deduct $150 separately for medical insurance premiums you paid; they're to be included with your overall including cancer of the breast, colon, rectum and prostate. At the Mayo Clinic, researchers are developing a vaccine against the Epstein-Barr virus, and it promises to provide the first vaccine to prevent cancer.

Scientists at the National Cancer Institute also have discovered special agents produced by tumors that are being tested in combination with interferon, developed by Schering-Plough, to inhibit cancer growth.

But it is on the environmental front and in the field of nutrition that the most radical changes are expected to take place. One of the major reasons for passage of stringent environmental protection laws and occupational health and safety legislation is to prevent the incidence of cancer through exposure to cancer-causing agents on the job or in the environment. As early as 1964, the World Health Organization estimated that 75 percent of the world's cancer causes are the result of environmental forces. Strong evidence of this viewpoint was supplied by the National Cancer Institute, which reported that cancer rates increased as much as five to ten times from one part of the country to another. The same pattern is repeated in other industrial states.

Armed with these environmental findings, and research into nutrition and cancer, Dr. Marvin Schneiderman of the National Cancer Institute has stated that more than half the cancer deaths in America are preventable. Some steps to prevent cancer can be initiated by individuals, such as proper diet, less exposure to sunlight, abstaining from tobacco, and moderate consumption of alcohol.

On the other hand, government must regulate toxic substances that are linked to cancer, such as dioxin. Through the Clean Air and Clean Water acts, Congress can compel industry to substantially reduce the levels of pollutants that are believed to cause cancer in humans. In essence, we are making considerable progress towards preventing cancer, and we can expect bigger payoffs through the rest of the century.

In Bob and Linda's case, with their combined income of $35,000, they can deduct any medical expenses above $1,750 (5 percent) if they file jointly. Because Linda incurred $3,000 in medical expenses, they are entitled to a $1,250 deduction if they file jointly. If they file separately, however, Linda is entitled to a $2,250 deduction ($3,000 minus 5 percent of her income). It may pay for Bob and Linda to file separate returns. Always figure it out both ways, CPAs say, because there are many factors involved, including a higher tax rate for separate returns.

One of the best ways for a married couple to cut taxes is to open two Individual Retirement Accounts. Two wage earners can stash away up to $4,000 a year in their IRAs and avoid paying taxes on that amount until the money is withdrawn. The principal is tax-deductible and the interest it earns is tax-deferred.

Married couples with children may be eligible for the child and dependent care tax credit if they paid someone to watch their children while they were at work or attending school full-time. If your child is under 15, or if you have another dependent who cannot care for him or herself, you may qualify for the credit.

The credit is allotted on a sliding scale. For families with an income of $10,000 or less, a 30 percent credit may be claimed on child or dependent care expenses of up to $2,400 for one child and up to $4,800 for two or more children. So, a couple with an income of $10,000 or less who paid $2,400 to care for their child can subtract $720 from their tax bill. The maximum credit for two or more children would be $1,440.

As income increases to $28,000 and more, the credit decreases to 20 percent of expenses. The maximum tax credit for one child at that level is $480 and $960 for two or more children.

Keep in mind: a tax credit is subtracted directly from your tax bill, not from your income. Dollar for dollar, it's a bigger tax break.

Library column

Killanin was in charge of 'wild' Olympic scene

By ROSE P. SIMON
 SPRINGFIELD—Following are reviews of currently popular books at Springfield Library.

The Stormy Years
 "My Olympic Years," by Lord Killanin.
 Since his election as President of The International Olympic Committee in 1972, Killanin, an Irish journalist who served as a member of the Olympic Committee for 20 years, experienced some of the stormiest sessions ever known before. In his eight-year account (1972-1980) of that period which involved national and international politics, he recalls the challenging crises which confronted him and the world.

Killanin reviews the history of the Olympic Committee, its structure, administrative responsibilities, and aims. He suggests that the idealism of the whole Olympic Movement has suffered from politics and violence. He cites the racial bias of South Africa as one example, and that of the 1980 boycott (to protest Afghanistan) as another.

As demonstrations of violence, we are reminded of the battle in The Square of the Three Cultures in Mexico (1968) and of the unspeakable terrorist assassination of Israeli athletes in Munich (Summer Games, 1972).

Despite male chauvinism in sport existing in some places, the post of director of the International Olympic Committee is held by a French woman—Monique Berlioux—a former Olympic swimmer (1948). The author speaks of her efficiency, the role of the hostesses, the growth of women's sports, and the increasing participation of women in the Games. In 1984 cycling will be added; in 1988 judo will be represented.

There are ongoing discussions about professionalism versus amateurism to determine eligibility for participation, also advertising, sponsorship, and the use of drugs. The Committee also has enormous technical, logistic and political problems to be faced and ironed out—some of them years in advance. Lord Killanin gives us an overview of his own challenges and how he met them.

Replacing I.Q.s?

"Frames of Mind," by Howard Gardner.

Although traditionally, intelligence has been assessed by a score resulting from a paper-and-pen administered test, the author believes that there must be better ways to ascertain an individual's capabilities. He outlines a new theory of human intelligence competences, reviews the history of the traditional view and explains the new theories he is propounding.

In formulating his brief on behalf of multiple intelligences (MI), gifted individuals, brain-damaged patients, normal children, normal adults, experts in different lines of work, and individuals from diverse cultures.

Gardner wishes to stress the biological and evolutionary roots of cognition, and cultural variations in cognitive competences. He wishes also to identify an individual's intellectual proclivities at an early age, and then to enhance that person's educational opportunities. He hopes that this study will develop a model of how intellectual competences may be fostered in various cultural settings.

There are discussions about intelligences (linguistic, musical, logical-mathematical, spatial, bodily-kinesthetic, personal) followed by their implications and applications. To illustrate his theories more clearly, the author refers to three disparate individuals, culturally different, who have learned certain skills: the young, non-literate boy who became a master-sailor; the 15-year-old Islamic youth who "committed to heart the entire Koran and mastered the Arabic language; and the adolescent Parisian youth trained in a modern secular school—who is a computer expert and is beginning to compose music with the aid of a synthesizer.

An Inveterate Letter-Writer
 "Letters: Sylvia Townsend Warner," edited by William Maxwell.

Known on both sides of the Atlantic for her seven novels, four volumes of poems, scores of short stories, and a biography of T.H. White, Sylvia Townsend Warner (1873-1978), through her thousands of letters, can be viewed more intimately by her readers.

Edited by her good friend William Maxwell, these selected letters allow us glimpses of an unorthodox woman as she lived in England, chatting about her surroundings, her work, her travels, the people in her life.

Although Miss Warner's letters are often whimsical and poetic (much metaphor, imagery) her first poems were narrative, later becoming abstract and philosophical. Her novels (among which are Lolly Willows, Mr. Fortune Maggot, After the Death of Don Juan, The Corner that Held Them) were more mystical, enigmatic and usually about eccentrics. During a 90-year period, almost 150 of her short stories were published in The New Yorker.

An only child, Sylvia adored her father (schoolmaster at Harrow) who preferred to educate her at home. She disliked her autocratic, demanding mother, so, after the death of her father, she left home to live in London.

Gagliardi enters a national honor society

SPRINGFIELD—Vito Gagliardi, Union County schools superintendent, and three members of the faculty at Kean College have been inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. Inducted along with Gagliardi, who is a Kean alumnus, were Dr. Catherine Dorsey-Gaines, a reading specialist; Dr. Robert Metz, a geologist; and Dr. Jack Kamerman, a sociologist.

Dr. Eileen Kennedy, a professor of English who is local Phi Kappa Phi president, and coordinator of the Kean College master of arts in liberal studies program; said Gagliardi is considered to be an outstanding alumnus, and the faculty members are distinguished for their research.

Gagliardi received his bachelor's and master's degree from Kean College and his doctorate in education from Rutgers University. He formerly was acting assistant deputy commissioner in the State Department of Education. He was named to Phi Kappa Phi on the basis of his outstanding contribution to local education.

Dorsey-Gaines, a professor of early childhood education, received her master's degree from Kean College and her Ph.D. from Fordham University. She will deliver a scholarly paper to the International Reading Conference and the Urban Reading Consortium Reading Conference.

Metz, a professor of earth sciences, holds a Ph.D. from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. His articles on physical stratigraphy and sedimentation have appeared in a number of scholarly journals and he as co-authored two laboratory manuals for use in introductory geology courses.

Kamerman, an instructor in sociology, received a Ph.D. from New York University where his dissertation was a study of symphony conducting as an occupation. He is co-editor of a book on the sociology of the performing arts. Several of his essays are in the book, "Performers and Performances: The Social Organization of Artistic Work," published by Praeger. He currently is researching life changes and stress.

Gross on dean's list

SPRINGFIELD—Ira N. Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gross of Springfield, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Kean College. Gross is a sophomore majoring in management science. He is a 1982 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Academy in 1981, the first woman ever so honored. She lives in Maine and still writes entirely in French, mostly on historical subjects.

In "The Abyss," her protagonist is a free-thinking physician, alchemist, and philosopher named Zeno, who must navigate carefully between the warring camps of Catholicism and Protestantism. One critic said the book showed "the underside, the nightmare of the Renaissance."

The meeting is open to the public, free of charge. No copies of the book are for sale, but a few are available for borrowing at the library.

The next scheduled book discussion is March 6, when Cynthia Ozick's "Leviathan: Five Fictions" will be discussed.

Incest is no longer a taboo subject for discussion

By VICKI VREELAND
 SPRINGFIELD—Unpleasant to think about, and even more so to talk about, the taboo subject of incest has come alive for public discussion.

Recently, an ABC-TV movie, "Something About Amelia," broke ground when the subject was dealt with in prime time. Last night, an hour-long special on incest aired on Suburban Cablevision's TV3 program, "A Woman's Place."

The shocking high incidence of incest has caused television producers to bring the subject out of the closet. Current statistics claim that one out of five girls will be incest victims before the age of 18, and one out of eleven boys.

Barbara Friedman, producer of the TV3 presentation, said she is proud of their show, "because it is not done in shadow." The Woman's Place special is a taped interview, hosted by Friedman, of three incest victims, three offenders, and two psychologists. The victims, who prefer to be referred to as survivors, speak candidly of their personal incestuous experiences.

The three women, now in their 30's and up, all agree that being child victims of incest, has shaped their adult lives. One woman was divorced twice, one never married and one has severe difficulty engaging in sexual relations with her husband. They attribute their fear of becoming intimate to, "a lack of trust in human beings."

Jaqueline was only four when her father began coming into her room at night and fondling her. He was not an alcoholic, but approached her after he had been drinking. The episodes continued throughout her developing years and into her late teens. The hardest betrayal for Jaqueline, however, was her mother. "One night my mother walked into my room and saw him. She just said, 'Get out of there.' My mom told me she didn't want to be bothered with him," she said.

Carol was five when she was raped by an uncle, and eight when her father began sexually abusing her. Carol admitted contemplating, many times, murdering her father.

Elizabeth said her father also came into her room at night. She would feign sleeping as he, felt under the covers. One night, she screamed. When her mother came running into her room, her father pretended an intruder broke in. Elizabeth believes her mother was always aware of the circumstances, but she never intervened.

Many people are amazed that victims cannot prevent incestuous affairs as they get older, and wonder why they don't report them. The three victim-survivors tried to explain the pattern through their experiences. First, as young children, they didn't realize anything was abnormal about their relationships with their fathers. As they grew older, and into the teenage socializing years, they were discouraged from going to friends' homes or having boyfriends.

Elizabeth went to a teacher for help with her problem but got this answer, "I'll pray for you." Jaqueline went to an agency but was told she wasn't of legal age to file any complaints.

According to Psychologist Howard Silverman, this was an attempt by the abusing parent to maintain control over the child and deprive them of seeing other "normal" households. "The need to have a power relationship over a child, especially over their emotional state, is a characteristic of an incestuous father," said Dr. Silverman. He continued, "Dad controls the activities, no girl scouts, no girl's club..."

Dr. Silverman stated, "There doesn't have to necessarily be a break-down in sexual relations between the married couple." The incest offenders interviewed admitted that they continued having sex with their wives during the period they were having relations with their daughters.

Fifth TWIN awards set for May

MOUNTAINSIDE—Corporations from throughout central New Jersey have nominated candidates for the Fifth Annual Tribute to Women and Industry (TWIN) Awards.

The TWIN Awards, sponsored by the Plainfield and Westfield YWCAs, honor career-women for outstanding accomplishments in their executive, managerial and professional roles and recognize corporations whose personnel policies make such achievements possible.

"Our purpose is to join the forces of women, industry and community to achieve our shared goals," TWIN Project Chairperson Brenda Anderson said recently at a kick-off reception for corporate representatives.

"By honoring individual women for their successes in a variety of fields, we demonstrate that all women can strive to succeed in all fields and continue to contribute to the growth of business and industry in the future," she said.

The reception was hosted by Charles O. O'Brien, President of the Pharmaceutical Division of CIBA-GEIGY Corp. in Summit and honorary chairman for this year's TWIN project.

In a letter to officers of 400 area corporations, he urged them to join him in supporting TWIN and "its precept that women should have every opportunity to advance in their careers and develop their potential."

"I ask you to acknowledge the importance of this dynamic organization to your company, to your employees and to the communities in which we operate," he wrote.

Since 1980, TWIN has honored 126 women from 41 Central Jersey companies for their significant contributions to business and industry.

These women, in turn, have gone on to represent their companies at a variety of career education sessions sponsored by the year-round TWIN Career Options

Unlimited program where they serve as speakers and role models for students and members of community groups.

In addition, TWIN honorees are invited to join the Management Forum, a support network for career development and advancement.

The 1984 TWIN Awards will be presented Thursday, May 17, at the Town and Campus in West Orange.

After leaving the MountainSide Echo, Ayling he kept his engineering post with Aircro Inc. until 1974, when he began practicing hypnotherapy until retirement in 1980.

Today, Ayling narrates "books for the blind." He spends the winters in Stuart, and the summers in Tewksbury, N.J. His son, Tom III, lives in Maine with daughter in law, Mary, and grandson, Tom IV.

Give attention to the fitting of child's shoes

By ELLAWASE B. MCLENDON
Extension Home economist

"As the twig is bent, so it grows." This also may be true for children's feet. Poorly-selected and poorly-fitted shoes can mold a child's foot out of correct growth.

According to Florence Minifie, specialist in Consumer Textiles and Clothing, at birth, the infant's feet are in a "rude" state of development. Of the 26 bones in the foot, only the heel bone is a real bone. The others are soft and pliable cartilage floating in flesh. Therefore, proper shoes and foot care in infancy through childhood are important to the development of healthy feet.

Very close attention should be given to the first shoes that a child wears. Nothing should ever be put on a baby's foot that would tend to restrict the normal growth of bones, muscles and nerves. Never buy shoes according to age or by guess, but have shoes fitted to the baby's foot. The child should be taken to a reliable dealer for this fitting. Always have both feet fitted. If one foot is longer than the other, have shoes fitted to that foot.

Shoes with soft leather tops, leather soles about 1/8 of an inch thick with no heel, are a wise choice for the child's first walking pair. These should also be laced high top shoes. The leather soles must be tough enough for protection and still flexible so that it bends easily at the ball part of the foot so that he makes natural use of the foot.

Even little feet grow rapidly over the first year. Therefore, buy new shoes as soon as needed even though the old ones are not worn out. At this age, the foot can change a whole size in four to eight months. Check the child's feet each week and examine carefully for any possible irritations. This can be an early sign of poorly-fitted shoes.

It is wise to observe the same rule with stockings as with shoes. Discard those which have shrunk or become outgrown. Tight stockings also restrict the feet and can cause deformities.

AIR WAVES

The next person who sees Warner Wolf at a live sports event will receive a FREE year's subscription to this newspaper.

Speaking of studio announcers, Sal Marciano has returned to local airwaves via weekend duty on Channel 4. This completes the triple play for Marciano, who previously worked for Channels 7 and 2. He most recently worked at ESPN, which didn't renew his contract last spring. Having a high-powered agent like Jimmy Walsh (Joe Namath is his most notable client) obviously can do wonders for one's career. Marciano, who fancies himself a boxing expert, did a bout on ESPN where he mentioned Robert Duran was the "former lightweight champion at 126 pounds." (It was 135. Sal)...

Tom Heinsohn sounds like Tom Carvel. But at least he doesn't sound like Bill Russell, and that is a plus. Billy Packer's candor is refreshing. While working the UCLA-DePaul game Saturday, he remarked "Al (McGuire) finally had a close game" when the score of NBC's Oklahoma-Memphis State tilt was announced. Ironically, Packer's UCLA-DePaul game turned into a blowout.

There is no love lost between NBC and CBS. In the past year, the Peacock network has snatched two major tennis tournaments, the French Open and Grand Prix Masters, from the boys at Black Rock. Only the U.S. Open remains firmly in CBS' grasp. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could listen to Bud Collins do the matches from Flushing Meadows, rather than have Pat Summerall put us to sleep.

Brent Musburger was right on top of things Sunday when he remarked referee Richard Steele took his time in stopping the fight when challenger Billy Costello was pounding Bruce Curry into submission. Musburger contrasted Steele's performance this time with his quick stoppage of the Mancini-Chacon fight two weeks earlier. It appeared Steele was overreacting to the criticism from the Chacon fight.

If your cable can't pick up Channel 17 in Philadelphia, feel fortunate. The play-by-play man, Dan Funk, refers to this club as "Our Sixers". And during the game, he calls the players by their first names only: "Maurice drives, Bobby with a layup, Moses, etc."

Bob Costas seemed like a fish out of water working the studio as the roundup man during NBC's coverage of events Sunday. He has too much talent and energy to be confined to reading scores and introducing events.

Two big events on the airwaves this week. ESPN is showing a rerun tonight (8-11 p.m.) of one of the most exciting football games of all time, college or pro, the 1984 Orange Bowl between Miami and Nebraska.

And beginning Monday, ABC launches its two-week coverage of the Winter Olympics from Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. Due to the time difference, most events will be shown at night on a six-hour tape delay basis.

Dayton girls capture Group 2 relays title

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School girls winter track team captured the Group 2 indoor relays last week at Jadwin Gym in Princeton.

Dayton registered 21 points to edge out Madison Borough, which had 19, and Newark Central, which accumulated 18. Dayton won only one event, the distance medley, but recorded seconds in the two-mile relay (10:13.2) and shuttle hurdles (34.2), a third in the mile relay, a tie for third in the team high jump (9-6) and a fourth in the sprint medley (4:38.6).

The distance medley team ran in 13:20.5, well ahead of runnerup Holmdel's 13:36.2. Making up the quartet were Margaret Taylor, Sandy Brenner, Tracy Biber and Mary Pat Parducci, who ran the anchor leg.

Dayton had taken an 18-15 lead into the final event, the mile relay, and posted a third in 4:26.2 to secure the victory.

The Springfield boys tied for eighth with three points in their division. The Bulldogs posted a 33.7 for a third place in the shuttle hurdles. Asbury Park won the event with 30 points. Composing the quartet were: Walter Clarke, Walter Jackson, John Dahmen, and Brian Speer.

The girls' two-mile relay team set a school record. On that team were: Parducci, Sue Rauschenberger, Biber and Laura Richter. The hurdle group was composed of Karen Apicella, Diane Cohen, Nancy Gaglio, and Amy Kiell.

The one-mile relay team was made up of Rauschenberger, Kiell, Gaglio and Sandy Brenner. The sprint medley team was composed of Amanda Summer, Kiell, Ann Marie Cocchia and Richter. The high jump tandem was Donna Commorato and Karen Wnek. Also competing were shotputters Lauren Arnold and Robyn Lifschultz.

UCC schedules an alumni tilt

As part of its 50th Anniversary celebration, Union County College will sponsor a womens Alumni-Varsity basketball game on Feb. 25 in the Campus Center gym.

Members of the College's nine varsity squads will be invited to participate in the Alumni-Varsity game at 1:30 p.m. under the helm of Donna Herran of Linden. Herran, who is assistant varsity coach, will challenge Coach Fred Perry's 1983-84 version of the Lady Owls, who have compiled a 10-3 record, including a nine-game winning streak.

Among the players who will return to their "home" court are Kathi Penzack and T.C. Flynn, both of Roselle. Penzack a 1977 honorable mention All-American, scored more than 1,100 points in her two years with the Lady Owls. Flynn is the only player in the history of the college to have her number retired.

Flynn is the all-time leading scorer in Region XIX, National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA)—with more than 1,300 points in her two years at Union County College. The point guard returned to the Lady Owls as an assistant coach in (1982-83).

The long tradition of winning teams at Union County College can be attributed to college's only women's basketball coach, Fred Perry of Roselle. In the 10 years of the program at the Cranford-base college Perry has posted a record of 187-62.

Geraghty to be cited by St. Peter's cagers

John Geraghty, a resident of Mountainside, will be among the honorees when St. Peter's Prep cites its 1934-35 and 1944-45 basketball teams at its second annual Homecoming Basketball Game on Friday, Feb. 17, as part of the Prep-Hudson Catholic game that night. Geraghty, of Corrine Terrace, was a member of the 1945 team.

At halftime, members of the 1935 team that won the first Jesuit Basketball Tournament and the 1945 squad that captured the Jersey City championship will be honored. There will also be a post-game reception in the cafeteria.

All basketball alumni have been invited to attend the game and reception. At the first Homecoming Game last year, Prep honored its then four 1,000-point scorers—Ed Lawson joined the list later last year—and the late Roy Leenig, who coached Prep to five Parochial A state championships in six years before he moved on to Holy Cross College where he went 104-48 in six years.

Coached by Tommy Myers, who also coached the St. Peter's varsity football and baseball teams at that time, the 1935 team won the inaugural Jesuit Tournament at the then new St. Peter's College Collins Memorial Gymnasium.

After an opening-round bye, Prep defeated Xavier in the semifinals and then edged Fordham Prep, 22-20, in the finals.

St. Peter's trailed, 20-17, in the closing minute of the championship game when Pete Beronio scored a basket to cut the deficit to one point. Moments later, Jack Woods stole a pass at halfcourt and went in for a layup and a 21-20 lead. Ted Beach made a free throw for the final point.

In addition to Beronio, Woods and Beach, now a Franciscan Monk, members of that squad included junior Harry Leber, team captain for the 1934-35 and 1935-36 teams, Phil Cummings, Bill O'Keefe, Chester Erynowicz, Eugene Ertle, Charles Jamin, Ed Gibney, Virginio Perrotta, John Callery, Joe Rebolini and the late Sylvester Upton, who later was captain of the 1936-37 team and was the sophomore on the '34-'35 team.

Leber is now president of the Leber Funeral Home in Union City. Ertle serves as a guidance counselor in the Jersey City public school system; Woods is an export manager for General American Transportation Corp. in Englewood Cliffs; and Erynowicz is a senior planning engineer for Western Electric in Phoenix, Ariz.

The 1945 squad, coached by Tom O'Brian, compiled a 17-6 record that included the Jersey City crown. Prep was 7-0 in city play, culminating with a clinching 45-29 victory over St. Aloysius. St. Peter's also gained the finals of the annual Jesuit Tournament before losing to Xavier, 53-43.

Three of the stars of that team were former Jersey City Mayor Tom Smith, who is now the city clerk, Ray "Jake" Spanarkel, father of Jim Spanarkel of the Dallas Mavericks in the NBA and Tom O'Keefe, an all-county performer who was voted the team's best player and later starred at and coached Georgetown University.

Other team members included best-selling author Tom Fleming, who wrote "The Officers' Wives," Ed Moriarty co-chairman of the Capitol Markets for Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; all-county football player Joe Cooney, a real estate and insurance salesman for Love, Wanser and Cooney in Jersey City; Jim Luther, who graduated first in the '45 class; Leon Karolewski; Ed Flannery; John Flanagan, the starting shortstop on the baseball team; Geraghty and Ed Knightly. Juniors on the squad were Ed Marck and Joe Sullivan, vice-president of Clara Maass Hospital in Belleville. Marck and Sullivan served as co-captains of the 1945-46 team.

Dayton boys, girls roaring; Brearley collects 2nd

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School boys basketball team has been winning to a large degree because of its excellent defense. And although the defense is still excellent, it was eye-catching when the Bulldogs erupted to bury Roselle Park, 88-65, last week.

As the Bulldogs exploded, Glenn Booker was spectacular. The senior scored 25 points and hauled down 18 rebounds as well as containing Roselle Park's top scorer, Joe Goldie. Goldie wound up with 21 points, but most came after the issue was no longer in doubt. The loss dropped Roselle Park to 12-3 on the season.

Mike Graziano added 17 points for the Bulldogs, while Chris Kneirim had 12 points and Mitch Nenner contributed 15.

It was a 14-2 streak the Bulldogs reeled off to end the first half that put Dayton safely ahead. Dayton led, 37-24, at halftime, and extended the lead to 57-33 after three quarters.

The Dayton boys returning to hair-raising form Friday night when they outlasted Manville, 60-57, in overtime, to increase their record to 10-3. Two late baskets by the Bulldogs sent the game into overtime. Then Dave Cole and Graziano, who had a key basket in the fourth quarter, scored to put Dayton in the driver's seat. Graziano ended up with 15 points and four steals.

Kneirim led the Bulldogs with 17 points, while Booker added 10. Mitch Nenner had eight points, including the basket with seven seconds left in regulation time to force the contest into overtime.

The Dayton girls didn't have the same kind of success against Roselle Park, falling to the Panthers, 47-33. The score was tied, 19-19, at intermission, but Roselle Park outscored Dayton, 28-14, in the second half to win going away.

Linda Hockstein tallied 15 points for the Bulldogs, while Tracy Karr added a dozen, all from the field.

The Dayton girls, who won 10 of their first 13 games, dismantled Manville, 68-48, as Hockstein poured in 30 points and had seven assists. Kathy Drummond added 14 points and Karr chipped in with 12. A 20-12 second period tear opened up the lead for the Bulldogs.

Hockstein then hit for 20 points and passed out 12 assists to pace the Bulldogs by Westfield, 55-36. Trailing by one after the opening period, Dayton outscored Westfield, 20-10, in the second period to take control, 29-20, by halftime. Karr contributed 16 points for the Bulldogs, while Kathy Drummond added eight.

The David Brearley Regional High School boys team had a competitive week, going 1-2 for their second win, and also suffering a narrow loss.

The Bears dropped a 65-63 heart-breaker to Middlesex, which only won for the second time this year.

Middlesex won the contest on Allan

Kosloski's 15-footer with only five seconds remaining in the game. Jerry Stichel paced the Bears with 20 points, and Willie Nickel added 18.

Brearley had made a big comeback to force the contest to go down the wire. Middlesex had built up a 10-point halftime lead, 37-27. But the Bears whittled the lead slightly to eight after three quarters before making a charge in the final period.

The Bears, who are 2-12, notched their second triumph Friday when they disposed of North Plainfield, 54-43. John Barr tossed in 18 points and Stichel added 16. Down 11-9 after one quarter, Brearley went on a 19-9 second quarter to take charge at 28-19 at halftime.

The Bears then bowed to Arthur Johnson Regional of Clark, 58-40. Brearley trailed by only one, 12-11, after the opening quarter, but Clark went on a 14-3 tear in the second quarter to build an insurmountable 26-14 halftime margin.

Sean Barr led the way for Brearley with 13 points, while brother John contributed 11.

The Brearley girls tumbled to North Plainfield, 47-23. Bunny Legg tallied 10 points for the losers. A 20-6 second quarter by NP provided the difference.

The Dayton boys will be home to Bound Brook tomorrow night, 7:30 and at North Plainfield next Tuesday, 4 p.m. The Dayton girls are at Bound Brook tomorrow night, 7:30, and home to North Plainfield, Tuesday, 4 p.m.

The Bear boys are at Oratory in Summit today, 4 p.m., at Ridge tomorrow, 7:30, and at Bound Brook Tuesday, 7:30. The Brearley girls are home to Ridge tomorrow, 7:30, and entertain Bound Brook, 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Local gridder's awaiting rules for '84 changes in Robert F. Kanaby, executive director of the NJSIAA, announced that several rule changes will be evident during the 1984 high school football season as a result of action taken by the National Federation Football Rules Committee.

A significant change was made by the rules committee to reduce the number of legal clips from the game. Legal clipping will only be allowed on initial blocks by players who are within the "free-blocking zone" and positioned on the line of scrimmage.

The players being blocked must also be in the zone at the snap. This contract is permitted only for the initial line charge and may not continue after the position of the ball is established or the ball has left the zone. Previously, backfield players within the free-blocking zone (a rectangular area extending four yards laterally on either side of the spot of the snap and three yards behind each scrimmage line) could clip legally.

Many of the other changes and modifications made by the Football Rules Committee revolved around the issue of player safety in general, and sportsmanlike in particular. Unsportsmanlike fouls will now be treated like non-player or dead ball fouls and will be penalized from the succeeding spot. The change reduces the change of an unsportsmanlike foul going unpenalized since it is no longer a part of a double or multiple foul.

Roughing the passer will now result in an automatic first down, plus the previous penalty of 15 yards already specified by the rules, even in situations in which the yardage needed to be gained by the offensive team is more than 15 yards.

One of the changes among the most obvious to fans involves the opening game coin toss. National Federation rules will now allow the team winning the coin toss to defer its choice to the second half.

"Deferral of the choice now offers more strategic options to the winner while at the same time the loser of the coin toss must elect a choice to begin the game," explained Kanaby.

Another major change made by the rules-making body was to the overtime when the National Federation "10-yard procedure" is used. The rules now call for the immediate termination of the offensive team's series as soon as the defense gains possession of the ball.

"Play will now end as soon as possession changes, consequently the previous possibility of subsequent fumbles and penalties are now eliminated." "It is no longer possible to score defensively in an overtime period except by safety," Kanaby stated.

The National Federation Football Rules Committee consists of a voting representative from 48 member associations. The committee governs gridiron play for all high schools and many junior high schools in 47 states and the District of Columbia.

Other rule changes affecting a projected total of approximately 15,000 high schools and over 90,000 student participants during the 1984 season include:

Requiring hip pads to include a tailbone protector.

Adding a specification limiting the height of platforms used to anchor cleats to 532"

Adding computers to the list of prohibited equipment for coaching and/or communication during the game.

Specifying illegal fair catch if signal is given after the kick has been caught.

Prohibiting the placement of material or any device on the ground to improve the kicker's footing.

By recommendation of the Football Rules Committee, the 1984 National Federation Rules Book will be dedicated to the high school coaches and officials who have supported the Football Rules Committee and joined its efforts in helping to make the game safer for participants.

UCC will add girls' soccer

Women's soccer will be added to the intercollegiate athletic program in September at Union County College, it was announced by Irwin "Wynn" Phillips, athletic director.

"This is the third year that they have had women's soccer on the junior college level, so we are getting in on the ground floor," Phillips said. "Women's soccer has exploded all over the area in the past couple of years and we're looking forward to the new challenges."

Women's soccer was sanctioned by the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA), the National governing body of junior college athletics, three years ago.

Union expects to schedule such rivals as Middlesex County College, Mercer County College, Bucks (Pa.) County College, and several four-year institutions such as Kean College junior varsity.

The new program will join men's soccer, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's tennis, cross country and golf on the list of intercollegiate programs offered by Union County College.

Japanese and Spanish students seeking 'homes' for this summer

By ELIZABETH SEP

Hablas Espanol?

How about Japanese?

Even if no one in the family can speak Spanish or Japanese, taking in an exchange student for a few weeks this summer is still possible.

Interstudy, a North American educational and travel organization, is looking for area families serve as hosts for Spanish and Japanese students.

The Spanish students will arrive in the area in July and stay with their host family for a month and then will move on to Pennsylvania or Massachusetts. The Japanese students will stay for three weeks in August and then return to Japan.

There is no fee for taking in a student, but host families are expected to provide room and board, according to Barbara Bigos, area coordinator.

The purpose of the program is to give foreign students an opportunity to learn about the North American lifestyle by staying with a family while taking classes and touring the area.

Bigos said that the students will take classes three days per week in English as a second language as well as tour New York City.

The Spanish students are high school age and the Japanese

SHARING—Two girls spend a summer day learning origami, a paper folding craft, from the Japanese exchange student who is staying with the family. Interstudy is looking for area families to take in Japanese or Spanish student this summer.

students are college students, she said.

Last year, Italian and German students visited the area. While staying in Union, the students were made honorary citizens by the township.

"The town has been very good to us," Bigos said, adding that Union residents have been taking part in the program for four years.

"This program is a good opportunity for people who are trying to learn the language themselves," she said.

A family can begin writing to "their" student after signing up with the area coordinator.

"The earlier they sign up, the earlier they can prepare for the student's arrival. It shouldn't cost the family that much money because we take them on tour," she said.

"It's nicer if the kids know where they are going and have time to write letters. It builds an association between the student and the family," she added.

Host families are asked to make the student a part of their daily life and not to construct an artificial environment. A handbook for host families states that the American family should "demonstrate the most honest and accurate picture of what life is like in North America."

"The next time he reads negative media reports about the United States or Canada, or listens to a speaker at an anti-American or Canadian demonstration, he won't think of the stereotyped North American. He will think of you or your family. What you are undertaking is important. You are building lasting bridges," the handbook said.

The adults and teenagers in a host family can accompany their exchange student on the area tours they take.

"We will include the host families on the tours as long as their is room on the bus," Bigos said.

Most of the students involved in the program have traveled before, she said.

"They are interesting and adaptable to the situations they find here," Bigos said.

There are usually about 25 students in each group, so Interstudy is looking for 50 host families in the area, Bigos said.

Interstudy has Outbound programs for American students to travel and study abroad. Children in a host families are eligible for scholarships and discounts for one of the programs.

Those interested in becoming host families can call Bigos at 686-2709 or Rose Jackson at 273-1756 for further information.

Lender to receive history prize

Dr. Mark Lender, the director of grants at Kean College and a professional historian, has been selected by the Society of the Cincinnati in New Jersey to receive its 1984 Cincinnati History Prize.

Lender has been advised that he will receive the citation and a $1,000 prize on May 12. It is given "for distinguished achievement in advancing the knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the history of the State of New Jersey in its early years."

Lender is the editor of "New Jersey History," the quarterly publication of the New Jersey Historical Society. He has written numerous articles and is the co-editor of "Citizen Soldier: The Revolutionary War Journal of Joseph Bloomfield." Bloomfield was an officer in the Third New Jersey Regiment from 1776 to 1778 and his two volume diary was found in two different places and brought together by Lender and co-editor, Dr. James K. Martin.

Lender also is co-author of "Drinking in America: A History." Co-authored with Martin, it traces drinking from Plymouth Rock to Alcoholics Anonymous. Lender and Martin met at Rutgers University where they both taught and worked in the university's Center of Alcohol Studies. Martin is at the University of Houston now.

Heart ski marathon scheduled

The Third Annual American Heart Association Ski Marathon will be held at Vernon Valley Ski Area on Feb. 11-12. The marathon will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 11 and continue through late Sunday afternoon.

Last year over 80 skiers skied for 30 hours, raising over $4,000 for the Warren and Sussex branches of the American Heart Association. Marathon volunteers solicit pledges for each ski run they complete. The pledges range from a penny a run to as high as $5 for a single run.

Vernon Valley keeps one lift running throughout Saturday night into Sunday morning so that the marathoners can achieve a maximum number of runs. The area's cafeteria is used as a resting place for the volunteers to spread sleeping bags for naps. The marathoners compete amongst themselves to see who can complete the most number of runs down the mountain. Last year, Scott Paris completed 200 runs with John Reynolds running second with 174 runs.

Interested volunteers should contact Ann Robinowitz, 383-8808. To participate one must be an intermediate or better skier, at least 15 years old and receive a minimum pledge of $25.

For further information, call 827-2000, ext. 275.

Advice: 'Stay in your car'

"'Stay in your car' is the best rule of thumb when disabled on an expressway or in an undesirable area," states Matthew J. Derham, president of the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club.

Should a vehicle become disabled, AAA suggests you:

- Turn on your flashers to alert other motorists. Try to coast the vehicle off the roadway.

- Tie a white handkerchief or cloth to the antenna or door handle.

- Remain in your car with windows and doors locked. Await assistance from a patrol car or service truck. Should a stranger stop to offer help, talk through a partially opened window and ask him to contact the police or a garage. Do not get out of the car, or agree to go with him to look for help.

- If you are lucky enough to have a friend stop to help and you choose to leave your vehicle, be sure to contact local police immediately. Abandoned vehicles are likely to be towed if police are not advised of the situation.

"The chances of becoming stranded can be greatly reduced," concludes Derham, "by checking your fuel supply, air pressure and general condition of your tires regularly, and by giving your vehicle the routine maintenance recommended in your owner's manual."

25th annual art show set for Green Lane 'Y'

Sixty-five contemporary artists have been selected to display paintings and sculpture in the 25th Annual Invitational Art Exhibition and Sale of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA from Feb. 4-Feb. 19 at the "Y" building on Green Lane.

Deborah Cooper who co-chairs the show committee with Mrs. Hanna Kesselman of Elizabeth, pointed out that a panel of four recognized authorities in the visual arts chose the exhibitors. More than 250 works will be shown, she added.

She said the exhibitors will include professors and teachers, winners of fellowships and other awards, artists represented in permanent museum and private collections, some who have given one-artist shows at galleries and other art centers. Among them are:

George McNeil of New York, who has paintings at the Museum of Modern Art, Smithsonian Institute and the Newark, Whitney and Brooklyn museums; has given gallery shows in Manhattan and elsewhere; won Ford Foundation and Purchase awards; long-time teacher.

Janet Fish, Boston-born painter now of New York, who has works at the Whitney Museum; has presented shows at New York galleries and in Washington, D.C., Chicago and Australia; won a MacDowell Fellowship and an Australia Council of the Arts Award.
