'Make Today Count' can hit home

BY ADAM SOMMERS

Finding out that you, or a member of your family has a life-threatening disease is a frightening and upsetting reality that many families have to live with.

However, one chapter of an international organization called Make Today Count (MTC) is helping over 40 Union County families deal with diseases such as cancer and heart disease.

In the spring of 1982 Michael Mauri, of Roselle Park, co-founded and now heads the county chapter located in the borough.

He said that although a lot of people he has talked to think that the group must be a depressing organization, "The people who come to the meetings for the first time experience a tremendous sense of relief for finally being able to talk about the disease openly with other people in the same situation.

"Even though you have to cry sometimes you laugh a lot also," he said.

The group's members come from every walk of life, according to Mauri. He said that there is a commonality and a camaraderie between the members that brings them together and goes beyond what they do for a living or how much money they have.

Although there are other mutual support groups that deal with the problems of people with diseases, Mauri said that the chief difference and advantage to his group is that it has nothing to do with hospitals.

"People with those diseases spend enough time in hospitals," he said. The group meetings at the Casano Community Center in Roselle Park give the patients a chance to be away from the hospital atmosphere and talk about their problems at the same time.

The worldwide organization began in 1974 as the brain child of a cancer patient, Orville Kelly of Iowa, who recognized the need for a mutual support group for people with life threatening diseases. It now has over 200 chapters.

Mauri started the chapter with the help of Ann Sheridan, who is also active in the community center.

He explained that he was motivated to begin the chapter after he attended several group meetings at a Long Beach Island chapter with his mother, who is suffering from cancer.

He said that he did not know of any organizations like it in the area and contacted the organizations national office in Iowa and told them there might be a need for a chapter in the Union County area. For a $50 fee the chapter receives an annual charter from the national organization.

Mauri said, "People who don't have a life-threatening disease in their family tell you they know how you feel and can understand, but until you or a family member go through it you never realize how bad it is."

The monthly meetings, Mauri said, are more of a rap session than they are a formal meeting. Members can discuss anything that is on their minds, including the death of a loved one.

"I didn't know if I could handle talking about that at first, but I was surprised," he said. "I think the group found it helpful to talk about it and be prepared."

Aside from the obvious fear of death in such circumstances, two of the major emotional problems facing those with the disease and their families, according to Mauri, are guilt and anger.

The affected person feels guilty about burdening the family with their ailment and about leaving them behind if they die, while the family feels guilty and angry because there is nothing they can do to help.

Loveable Jean Stapleton at Mill offers 'nostalgia' to audiences

By BEA SMITH

Why do audiences feel more comfortable with Jean Stapleton as Edith Bunker than as any other entertainment figure? Even though Stapleton has been away from the long-running television show, "All in the Family," for six years, and has played a variety of roles from "Aunt Mary" to Eleanor Roosevelt, she always will remain deep in our hearts as the lovable Edith.

The versatile actress, whose unmistakable and unchangeable voice continues to twist an audience's heart with nostalgia, is seen as Ma Fisher in George Kelly's outdated stage comedy, "The Show-Off," at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. Stapleton played the role in three other runs of "The Show-Off," and once as Clara in the same play.

With the stage setting at the Paper Mill similar to the Bunkers' interiors (although this one is set in 1926 in Philadelphia), one still seems to expect Stapleton to rush to the door to greet her husband with "Archie!" and smother him with kisses every time the door opens.

Orson Bean plays the title role of Aubrey Piper, "The Show-Off," with gusto, and from the moment he appears on stage to the irritation of Ma Fisher, is annoyingly convincing as her future, and finally, son-in-law. His boyish antics, his manner of dress, his boisterous voice and his outlandish lies, even provoke an uneasiness throughout the theater. One feels relieved when he walks off stage.

Playwright Kelly (he is the uncle of the late Princess Grace) wrote "The Show-Off" in the early 1920s. It had many stage revivals and there were three screen versions. The one this reviewer remembers starred Red Skelton. Perhaps "The Show-Off" was appealing 'way back then, but in 1984, despite all of the goings on, interspersed with a few comedic moments, and even with the honest efforts of director William H. Putch, it is a bit slow moving. It seems, even the costumes of the 1920s are rather dull and unattractive.

It is the excellent cast, however, that keeps it moving and alive. Accompanying the real pros, Stapleton and Bean, are Pamela Burrell, who plays Clara, the younger daughter, who loves and marries Aubrey Piper, laughs at his unfunny jokes, and thinks he's the world's greatest guy; Sally Dunn, who plays the older daughter, the beautiful, sophisticated Amy, whose only problem is that she is in love with her cold, withdrawn husband, effectively played by Carl Schurr; Lloyd Brass as Joe, the Fishers' inventive son; John Newton, who portrays Mr. Fisher, the patient husband and father, and P. Jay Sidney as Mr. Gill, a laborer.

"The Show-Off," which will run through March 18, may be worth taking a trip to the Paper Mill—if only to sit around waiting for Stapleton to rise from that familiar looking rocking chair in that familiar looking living room and gallop toward the door, pursing her lips to utter the familiar "ARCHIE!"

Children show set in Caldwell

An educational children's show will be held by Caldwell College March 18 and March 19 at 1 p.m. featuring performers from Caryl Green's Happy Times Theater, a professional company of adult actors.

"Peter Rabbit," "Little Red Riding Hood" and "The Gingerbread Boy" will be staged March 18. "The Country Bunny" and "The Little Gold Shoes" will be presented March 19.

The performers encourage audience participation. Additional information can be obtained by calling 238-4424, ext. 205.

THURSDAY DEADLINE

Irish music set at joint concert

The Chieftains, an Irish musical group, will return to Caldwell College March 10 at 8 p.m., sponsored jointly by the Irish American Cultural Institute and the American Irish Heritage Foundation. Last year, the Chieftains concert "was sold out well in advance of the performance."

The concert is the first to be co-sponsored by the American Irish Heritage Foundation, a newly-formed, non-political organization. Membership information can be obtained by calling 465-1513.

'Gold' rings making successful comeback

Marriage—it's back in style. And with the increasing numbers of couples heading to the altar, a trend towards heavier carved gold wedding ring styles has developed, in keeping with the renewed consumer emphasis on quality and lasting value, according to the Gold Information Center.

Although most Americans typically purchase 14-karat (14K) gold wedding bands, a recent "upgrading" to higher ring karatages, particularly 18K, has also been observed. (Note: 24K is pure gold. Eighteen karat is 18 parts pure gold alloyed, or mixed, with six parts other metals; 14K is 14 parts pure gold alloyed with 10 parts other metals.)

Another significant development: The majority of married men in America under the age 30 currently wear wedding rings, unlike many of their fathers. Today, nearly 90 percent of new grooms receive a wedding ring, compared with virtually 100 percent of their brides.

Classic and updated wedding ring styles abound for those intending to "tie the knot." Unmatched gold bands for the bride and groom are often preferred over matching his-and-her ring sets, yet both options are readily available.

The past few years have ushered in the acceptance of two-tone and tri-color rings of gold, as well as satin-finished and sandblasted matte surfaces which offer interesting color and texture alternatives to polished yellow gold bands.

Texture also comes into play through the inventive use of wrapped wire, woven and braided gold, twisted ropes and ribs. For the rugged Western look, there are gold nugget patterns and rough bark finishes.

A range of contemporary rings features reflective, diamond-cut patterns of shimmering surface treatments achieved through intricate etching or Florentine work.

There are highly-polished bands comprised of dimensional planes or faceted angles; clean, tailored geometrics; and sculptural, freeform bands, often sold with interlocking engagement rings, nicknamed "engagement" rings.

For those preferring a more retrospective look, there are wedding incorporate a sentimental antique pattern, stone accents or granulation.

Favorite classics include carved and embossed florals in yellow or multi-colored hues, the traditional yellow gold circle and the popular trilogy ring of interlocking yellow, pink and white gold bands.

For the purist, wedding bands of pure (24K) gold are now offered by some trend setting jewelry stores around the country.

ELEGANT REFINEMENT— This black 100 percent worsted wool tuxedo adds a touch of class and elegance to the wedding. It has notched lapels and features a red lining with upper and lower stain besom pockets.

Tips to know that save $$

- Know what the average wedding costs in your area are—if your friends will tell you. Prices vary tremendously.
- Talk openly about the possibility of both families sharing expenses. Then, get everyone's idea of how much they think the wedding should cost.
- If cash is limited and your guest list enormous, scale down visions of prime ribs and an open bar, rent a hall big enough for everyone and serve cake and punch instead.
- Consider wedding packages that may save time as well as money—packages where flowers, cake, liquor, etc. are included.
- Do work with a budget, but leave a portion of money unmarked to deal with all the little things that come up (cake boxes for the groom's cake?).
- If you must pare the guest list, agree on a formula that's arbitrary. For instance, no first cousins; no business clients. Apply the rule to both families.
- When working with the bridal shop or salon owner, the florist, the photographer, etc., be very clear about what you want and don't want.
- Don't forget things like tips for the banquet manager, the minister's fee, any church or temple rental, etc. "Nice guys" expect to be paid for their work, too.
- Ask how much things will cost; find out answers to the "what-if's" too: What if we want the band to play another two hours? A dozen more four-color prints made?

Picking the 'right' wedding gift can be tricky

It used to be that every couple needed a toaster, or a salad bowl.

But now, with so many young people living on their own or living together before they marry, and with so many marriage re-marriages, this isn't necessarily so. To pick a perfect gift these days, a guest needs the power of ESP combined with an active imagination—or some help.

According to Bride's Magazine, this is exactly what wedding gift registries are for. Registries work by providing a clearinghouse where couples can record the items they'd like and guests can look over the list and choose the gift that suits their taste and budget. Over 65 percent of today's brides and grooms register for gifts.

What's new about wedding gift registries is where they're turning up. They started in the 1930's in jewelry and department stores, but now they've expanded to furniture stores, gourmet food shops, liquor stores, luggage shops and bookstores. You'll even find them in museums—the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City opened one a year ago.

What if a guest can't or doesn't want to use a wedding gift registry? "It's still possible to sort through the options and find a present that will please," says Alecia Beldegren, Gifts Editor of Brides's.

First, it's a safe bet that anyone can use extra blankets, towels, linens or breakable items like wine glasses. Second, there's a whole category of out-of-the-ordinary gifts that aren't likely to be duplicated, such as:

1. A gift certificate to a class that the couple can take together—anything from cooking or exercise to photography or ballroom dancing. Busy newlyweds often don't schedule enough time together and such a present can provide an incentive.

2. The foundation of a home library. An encyclopedia, for example, is something people often don't get around to buying for awhile. Depending on the couple's interests, a beautiful art book or a lavish cookbook also make special gifts.

3. A Telephone Company gift certificate. More and more couples are buying their own phones and this present lets them choose the one that matches their taste.

4. An evening out to a gourmet restaurant. What could be more fun than receiving a gift after all the other gifts are in? This special night could be planned for the week the couple get back from their honeymoon, perhaps.

Complexion is essential

On a complexion perfectly prepared with foundation lightly dusted with translucent face powder, the warm tones of colors provide the subtle understatement you'll want for your wedding.

For eyes that highlight happiness, use a blend of eye shadows applied to lids and eye creases. It is crease resistant for up to 12 hours and waterproof.

Complete the effect by defining the eye with eyelining pencil—available in three complimentary shades in a slim, easy-to-control stick.

And, finally accent the lashes with waterproof mascara, so that even your tears of joy won't mar this fabulous finish.

For up to eight hours of color on the cheeks of the blushing bride, add one of the six natural looking shades of blush stick to the cheekbones, delicately blended from the hair line.

Shoes: comfort and style

On the wedding day, take into consideration two very important items—your feet. Since you'll be on them most of the day, comfortable shoes are a must. Tired aching feet will only make for an uncomfortable bride.

But wanting comfort doesn't have to mean forsaking style. Your shoes should be the finishing touch on the beauty of your dress.

For stylish comfort, think pumps. "Classic white pumps give the allure of simple elegance and gracefulness yet give sturdy support," says Steve Cassidy, women's dress shoe-buyer-for Kinney Shoes.

From the newer low heeled versions to the traditional high, there is a pump suitable for everyone. And a pair of white pumps will be a staple in your wardrobe on our honeymoon and all through spring and summer.

If you don't wear high heels everyday, don't wear them on your wedding day. There are many low-heeled and flat styles that can complete your look. If you do opt for high heels, make sure the fit is right. Here are some guidelines to follow when shopping for those special shoes:

- Have both feet measured; the two are not identical.

- Accomodate the larger foot and, if necessary, alter the fit of the other shoe.

- Shop after you've been on your feet awhile, not early in the morning.

- Wear hosiery similar to what you'll wear on your wedding day.

- After both shoes are on, wiggle your toes, walk on tiptoe and arch your feet. Sit down, Walk again. If the shoes don't fit now, don't count on breaking them in.

- Use a full length mirror to see how shoes will look to others; you're the only one who will look down at them.

Eyes sparkle with contacts

Here comes the bride, all dressed in...GLASSES!!!!??why would any bride want to wear glasses on her wedding day? Glasses mask those sparkling eyes that a bride wants everyone to see on the day she says "I do."

Brides no longer have to fret about glasses ruining their special day. Now there are easy-to-wear contact lenses for all types of vision problems.

Soft lenses are by far the most popular since they can be worn all day with no discomfort.

Brides also have more options for makeup application with contact lenses. Cosmetic colors can be chosen to match the bridal theme, instead of to counter the effect of unattractive glasses. A bride can subtly enhance her natural beauty with pastel colors or opt for a more dramatic look.

LEGGY LOOK FOR BRIDES— New spring French lace pantyhose enhances wedding day romance. An all-over dotted Swiss pattern on a gossamer leg is interwoven with a trellis of delicate floral lace running down the side.

Roses are available in different shades

A recent survey of retail florists found that today's brides are choosing roses as the reigning bloom in their bouquets, in a resurgence of formal weddings with all trimmings.

But these brides are combining an old-world tradition with their personal signatures by replacing classic white roses with blooms ranging from yellow to lavender hues.

Yellow roses, the traditional symbol of joy and gladness, are popular with spring brides, particularly for morning or mid-afternoon weddings.

Although many brides prefer to carry nosegays of yellow rosebuds, others are opting for wicker baskets brimming with blooms and trimmed with delicate ribbon.

Pink roses also bring a delicate touch to weddings, with their symbolism of grace and gentility. Florists report that pink roses are especially popular with brides whose fashion themes include taffeta gowns and dainty lace gloves.

Sweet-smelling lavender roses go well with both old-fashioned lace and sophisticated silk wedding gowns. Because lavender roses have perfume-like scents, many brides trim veils and headpieces with the blooms for a fragrant touch.

Other trends in "new tradition" wedding roses, including:

- Coral or orange roses mixed with autumn greenery for September and October weddings:

Head attire hard choice for bride

When a bride is considering what to wear on her wedding day, the question of what to place on her head is one of her most difficult decisions.

Today's bride may not realize that whatever type of headdress she chooses, she will be representing a mix of tradition and origins throughout the world.

During the late 1800s in the United States, the type of veil or hat the bride wore was determined largely by her role in society.

Veils and wreaths were a part of the bridal wardrobe almost exclusively in the early 1800s, while hats grew more fashionable later on.

The importance of the headdress was so great that, according to wedding photos from that period, more money may have been spent on the headpiece than on the dress itself.

Veils varied greatly in the expense and quality of the lace used, with machine-made lace becoming more popular in the 20th century.

Large hanging veils, actually covering the face of the bride, date back to when the groom did not see his intended until after the ceremony.

The late 1800s also brought a unique style of veil: divided down the front, off center, as if to resemble curtains.

Using a wreath to hold the veil in place was a fashionable variant with orange blossoms and jasmine used most frequently for floral decorations.

Many well-preserved Victorian and Edwardian wreaths were constructed with delicate wax flowers. Silk, cotton wool and cotton materials were also popular alternatives for the floral wreath.

In other countries, a variety of colors, fabrics, textures and even precious jewels were used for the bridal crown, or headdress.

An interesting interpretation of this comes from Hungarian folklore, which says the bridal crown or coronet signifies that the bride is indeed queen for the day, with an unquestionable right to her crown.

In the Ormanysag county of Baranya, Hungary, the bride wore a hood of bright red artificial flowers, covered largely with pearls, silver dangles, and paillettes. Fluttering long streamers of ribbon were apparent with every step.

The customs of bright and ornate wedding styles began in the Scandinavian countries.

In Norway, a wedding was always an occasion to display special finery. In the case of the Norwegian headdress, the bride had her choice of two distinctly different styles of crowns.

Even today, the Norwegian bride still has two crowns from which to choose, the "church" crown, with its virgin significance, and a more ordinary crown.

The church crown dates back to early Christian days and was used largely as a protest against lax morality.

The crown is decorated with silver and gilt, chains and dangles which shine and jingle as the bride moves. It may be worn only in a church ceremony, and is placed on the bride's head by the minister's wife.

The more ordinary crown is worn in any other ceremony, and is far more simply designed, made of myrtle or colored paper with gold leaf ornaments.

In Finland, the popular headdress was a combination of the two crowns from Norway. It is a large crown constructed with colored paper and artificial flowers.

The famous Voss bridal crown is made of silver with hanging jewels. Often, the bride's hair did not match the lustre of the crown, so a wig of fine gold thread was used.

Today's brides more closely follow the traditional Swedish bride. She would wear a headdress made of a piece of fine linen.

Meant to frame the face, a small circle at the back of the head is made of wood, covered with linen coming up over the head, pleated and fan shaped.

Wealth also played a large role in the bridal crowns of Dutch women. A wealthy woman marrying into equal wealth would wear a crown of silver adorned with jewels, while the less fortunate bride would wear a coronet of pasteboard with embroidered silk.

An interesting note interjected here would be the unknown origin of the English veil.

It has been noted that what is now one of the most striking parts of the bridal outfit may have been little more than a milliner's substitute for flowering tresses or a mere variation of the garland which medieval brides wore.

During the reign of George III, both wreath and veil fell completely out of vogue, only to be replaced by the unveiled face, which was considered to be more striking and natural.

During the 1800s in Turkey, the Jewish bride would also wear no veil. Instead she would wear a wreath, made of artificial and natural flowers and wormwood, intertwined on her head, which she carried like a crown.

In 1766, European Jews were made to dress more simply, discarding their jewels and fancy clothes in an effort to retain their heritage. The one exception to this self-imposed dress code was for the bride, whose headdress was made of gold or silver and wrapped with flowers.

Bridal headdress origin in Germany varies from region to region. In the Black Forest valleys of the headdress was large and decorated with hundreds of glass balls and beads. In the more traditional Buckenburg, the headdress was also large, but with an emphasis on flowers rather than beads.

On a final note, the historic tradition of Polish weddings had an entirely different twist, with the men wearing the most elaborate costumes. Their hats were decorated with floral sprays, and their coats and trousers were elaborately embroidered and rich with leather finery.

Making videotape of wedding

How do you go about making a videotape of your wedding? •Speak to your clergy first. Some churches do not permit photography of any kind during the ceremony; others only from the back.

To ensure that the wedding movie doesn't become more important than the wedding itself, you may want to tape pre-wedding and reception events only.

Hire the best. It's a good idea to avoid an untested amateur—or even a pro without wedding experience.

•Select the package you want. Most companies offer several, with the difference lying in the quality of the equipment they'll use, as well as in the look and sound of the finished product.

In the higher price range ($500 and up), your wedding takes on the appearance of a real "movie," complete with titles and special effects. Whatever you contract for, you're smart to get it all in writing.

•Plan the "script" with your cameraman. A pro will know how to cover the basics (the bride and groom cutting the cake), but will appreciate help in identifying not-to-miss scenes involving relatives and friends.

•Arrange for playback. A video cassette recorder is the machine you'll need to run the tape on your own television set.

•If you already own home movie equipment, consider having film made instead of a videotape.

For a 30-minute film, expect to pay about $500 for silent, $1,000 for sound film. Shop carefully in your area for the best price.

Crystal can prove practical after wedding

Shimmering silk, delicate lace, sparkling crystal and silver, combined with the tears and smiles of friends and family, create lasting images of beautiful weddings.

But all too soon after the festivities, the gowns are left to memories, and the elegant pieces of silver, china and crystal are stored away in cabinets and chests until a special dinner or party.

It is suggested that crystal should not be included in the "collect dust" category.

Their research shows that many people simply underestimate the durability and versatility of fine crystal. In fact, handblown crystal is stronger than glass and its versatility is limited only by one's imagination.

For example, consider three of the most popular wedding and shower gifts: stemware, a salad/serving bowl, and a coffee carafe with serving stand. Each can adapt to a variety of everyday uses.

Stemware can become elegant dessert dishes for creamy parfaits, sherbets, chocolate mousse or fresh strawberries dusted with confectioner's sugar.

Open champagne glasses add style to shrimp cocktails and other appetizers.

Create colorful displays of cut or dried flowers or holiday decorations such as individualized Easter "baskets" of colored grass, candy eggs and bright ribbons.

A large crystal salad bowl makes a stylish serving dish for pasta or punch, and a dazzling centerpiece when partially filled with water for floating lilies or flower blossoms.

For seasonal decorations, make displays of fall foliage with dried or satin leaves, pine cones and cattails.

Or, display summer's bounty of fresh fruits or holiday decorations of ornamental balls, holly sprigs and scented candles.

The coffee carafe easily converts to an attractive vase for cut flowers, while the warming stand makes a beautiful wine caddy or centerpiece when combined with fresh-cut flowers and greenery.

With the addition of an oven-safe bowl, the warming stand is a natural for serving dips or hors d'oeuvres.

With just a touch of imagination, treasured crystal wedding gifts can be both elegant and functional accessories to be used everyday, while also offering cherished reminders of that special day when you received them.

Tradition is on way back

Though the days are past when Early American newlyweds drank a brew of sack posset and hot spiced milk to give them energy for the night head, also gone are the wedding ceremonies of the 1960s and '70s when time-honored customs and values were tossed to the wind.

Young couples of the '80s have found a comfortable place somewhere in-between. While keeping what they find best and most beautiful of past traditions, they add to their weddings personal touches that express their individuality.

For example, today many brides have both father and mother walk them down the aisle so that the both parents may enjoy the pleasure and the privilege of "giving away" their daughter.

Other changes in the typical "old-fashioned" wedding include changing ritual phrases such as "love, honor and obey", and "man and wife" so as to be more in keeping with today's ideal of equality.

In present-day ceremonies you'll more often hear "love, honor and cherish" or "husband and wife."

Today's ideas of equality are also bringing the groom more into the limelight. Until recently, all eyes were focused on the bride on her "big day" with the groom himself often feeling like a spectator.

Today's groom, however, is taking on all sorts of new responsibilities such as helping to pick the wedding site, choosing china patterns, addressing invitations and writing thank-you notes.

Knives prove their worth in the kitchen

Quality kitchen utensils are now among the most popular of wedding presents.

Good sharp knives, essential for everything from slicing an apple to carving roast, are always welcome. The best knives are made of high carbon stain resistant steel that hold a sharp cutting edge and are easy to sharpen.

Their handles will be comfortable in the hand and in action. All surfaces must be well-finished and have no rough spots.

There are a variety of knives for a variety of uses. Today's brides not only enjoy cooking, but often regard the kitchen as the most important part of their new home. The stereotype of the bride who can't boil an egg is out of date.

Among the different size knives that are popular are the following: an eight inch carver for slicing meat, poultry, etc.; seven inch chef's knife for chopping and dicing fruits, vegetables and meats; boning knife for removing bones from meat, fish, and poultry; and parer for peeling, trimming and other small cutting jobs.

These kinds of knives can often be grouped together and gift-boxed for the lucky recipient.

SLENDER COCKTAIL DRESS—This slender cocktail dress can sizzle on honeymoon evenings. The surface of this back-baring snowy crepe chemise sizzles with scores of miniature rhinestones, creating a soft romantic glow for a private dinner for two.

WILD SENSATION—For the fun-loving bride, she can create a wild sensation with a realistic tiger print on figure slimming fabric of nylon and spandex. The high neck tank has cutaway sides and a T-Back.

Swimsuit: right for honeymoon

Buying a honeymoon swimsuit will be fabulous fun for the girls getting married in 1984.

From sporty "racer" suits in Olympic colors, through a bevy of sophisticated graphical prints in neon brights, to sexy young designs in delicious ice cream pastels, swimfashions for '84 offer all this—and more.

It's really a matter of deciding which category best suits your personality, and the special fashion style you are putting together for those romantic days which launch a brand new life.

For the frankly female bride, lover of delicate fabrics and feminine shapes, Giorgio Sant'Angelo's lingerie lace one-piece (pictured above) might be the perfect choice. In black lace over blue tricot, or white over white, in sizes 6-14, it retails at $60.

But if you're an exotic type, you'll probably go overboard for the impact of a dramatically realistic animal skin print.

Monika Tilley does some of the best—like the illustrated orange and black tiger stripe on a mail-lot with a modified T-back. In sizes 6-14, it retails at $40.

Whatever your choice from the 1984 swimfashion lines, there's one thing these suits have in common—and that's the figure flattery supplied by "Lycra" spandex.

Added to fabrics of "Antron" nylon, or the new blends of "Dacron" polyester and cotton, "Lycra" makes sure your swimwear keeps its body-hugging fit in—and out—of the water.

SOUTHERN BELLE—The wedding dress of the demure Southern belle is exemplified here in a gown of lace and ribbons. There is an asymmetrically ruffled bodice with V-neck and ballgown sleeves. The dress is completed with a full lace skirt, cathedral train trimmed with rows of narrow lace ruffles and satin ribbons. The large-brimmed hat, with removable wreath, ties the Southern look together.

Ruby's celebrating 10th with 'opening'

According to legend, the petite, redheaded Ruby lived a full and glamorous life in the late 1800's. She was witty, charming and gifted with culinary talents that led to the opening of several gourmet restaurants in eastern metropolitan areas.

Her niece and namesake, a flapper of the Roaring 20s and heiress to the restaurant empire, is the inspiration for the newest Ruby's restaurant.

Ruby's flair for exquisite cuisine was recently celebrated at a 10th anniversary grand opening for the newly enlarged and renovated Ruby's restaurant and lounge at the Holiday Inn of Livingston. In her honor, the facility has been styled in 1920s decor, incorporating a glass-enclosed sidewalk cafe and providing additional seating.

This is the second renovation for the Inn since its original opening. In 1976, 75 guest rooms were added and the banquet area enlarged to provide increased services and facilities for catered affairs of every kind.

"When we were building our first hotel in Livingston almost 10 years ago, the idea of creating Ruby came up," says William Graulich of William Graulich & Associates, owners/operators of the Holiday Inn. "and from that idea my wife, Joan, wrote the original Ruby's biography and the stories associated with all the Ruby's which now appear on the back of each restaurant's menu."

The same care and attention to detail that distinguishes Ruby's restaurant is given to each and every catered affair held at the Holiday Inn, whether it's a formal wedding reception or a business meeting. The Holiday Inns's outstanding banquet facilities and experienced, professional staff insure that every wedding reception receives the same special consideration and, excellent cuisine that made Ruby a legend.

William Graulich and Associates family of hotels and restaurants also includes the Holiday Inns of Parsippany and Springfield, the Rodeway Inn/Matterhorn Restaurant of East Hanover, and the Old Mill of Bernardsville.

Champagne ideal present

Giving champagne can be the ideal gift for the wedding couple. There is no size problem.

It can be shared equally by the newlyweds or with guests. There's no fear of duplication, since a young couple can never have too much. And it can be put aside to be served on special occasions.

The gift can vary from a bottle to a case. Of there can be a dramatic presentation with a single large bottle. To store champagne, keep it on its side in a dark cool place. The wine will keep its freshness for about five years.

Women rate blush, eye makeup as essential

A new survey shows the savvy woman of the '80s can get along without her lipstick if she has to, but her blush and eye makeup are essentials.

The '80s woman doesn't spend hours in front of the mirror but she does use many more cosmetics than women of earlier decades. Most say their eyes are their best features.

The survey focussed on the cosmetic preferences and makeup techniques of trendsetting women and was conducted by Amy Greene of Henri Bendel's Beauty Checkers for the makers of Q-tips, the country's best selling brand of cotton swabs.

A high percent of the 25 million Q-tips used each day are used for eye makeup application and removal.

If the '80s woman has time to apply just two cosmetics, she reaches for her blush and her mascara. In the survey, 48 percent opted for blush; 46 percent for mascara. Lipstick/gloss was just a runner-up.

The popularity of eye makeup and lots of it appears to be the cosmetic signature of the '80s woman.

In response to a query about the use of eye makeup products, 91 percent say they use mascara, 84 percent use eye shadow and 67 percent use eyeliner. Kohl is favored by 18 percent.

Seventy-nine percent of the women use black mascara, but their choices of eye shadow colors vary. Lavender, with 43 percent, was the favorite. Brown, beige and gray each received 30 percent of the vote. When eyeliner is worn, 31 percent choose black, 29 percent use blue.

When applying their eye makeup, more than half (53 percent) of the women surveyed report using Q-tips cotton swabs with their mascara; 48 percent use them to blend eye shadow.

More than half blend two colors of eye shadow; 47 percent avoid messy colors by using cotton swabs as applicators when more than one color is applied. Even more use swabs to remove eye makeup. When a soft, clean eraser is needed, 62 percent opt for cotton swabs.

And do these savvy brides spend hours in front of the mirror? Almost never. In response to the survey question, "How much time do you give to makeup application for street wear?", 61 percent of these busy women said 15 minutes.

Just two percent said an hour. Most, 41 percent, touch up makeup once during the day, 30 percent touch it up twice, seven percent never give it a touch up.

Blend of many unique customs

Today's wedding ceremonial traditions are a unique blend of many national customs, some dating back from centuries ago.

A bride may sign an ancient marriage contract originally devised by Anglo-Saxons. She may walk down the aisle in a Gothic Cathedral to Richard Wagner's Lohengrin.

The bride could wear a medieval veil, a Jewish coronet made of Pagan orange blossoms and her wedding ring may be of Roman descent.
