Children's hospital offers 'specialized' touch

A very special rapport hás been established between residents of a very special community, according to the officials who are in charge of running a very special medical facility.

Richard B. Ahlfeld, executive director of Children's Specialized Hospital, explains that not only is the hospital a major resource to Mountainside, but likewise, the community is very supportive of the

"We are a regional hospital serving areas in New York as well as community hospital - a major resource of the community," Ahlfeld says. "But we could not exist without the cooperation of the Mountainside community," he adds.

"From the police department, to the volunteer rescue squad and the community pool - there is a threeway merging of sharing," he says.

Another combined effort includes the development of the Fitness Trail, comprised of excerise sections and equipment for handicapped children. The trail, expected to be completed in spring 1985, is a joint project between the Borough of Mountainside, the CSH and the Union County Board of Freeholders.

Maybe the bond between the community and the pediatric rehabilitation hospital stems from the fact that a large portion of the 230 volunteers are from Moun-

Even the president of the hospital's board of trustees is a resident of Mountainside, Leigh Levitt. And the board's first vicepresident, William J. Biunno, lives in the community.

Then, there's Jeanne Wilhelms, a Mountainside trustee, and the Rev. Raymond J. Pollard, of Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church

Suzanne Scott is a Mountainside representative of the Senior Auxiliary to the board and resident George W. Bauer is listed among the honorary board members

The volunteers, who supplement the hospital staff, put in a total of 20,000 volunteer hours last year, officials report.

Ahlfeld says that many volunteers are full-time business people, with a few spare hours each week to offer

Federal suit claims union violated pact

The U.S. Department of Labor has filed a complaint alleging that the trustees of Teamsters Local 863 employee benefit plans in Mountainside violated the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA).

The complaint, filed in U.S. District Court Jan. 14, charges the trustess of the local's pension and welfare funds with violating their fiduciary responsibilities under

Among the charges, the complaint alleges that the trustees caused the union's benefit program to enter into lease agreements with Local 863 Corporation, a party in interest with respect to the plans, for the rental of office and storage space without adequate consideration of alternative arrangements and on terms that were unfavorable to the plans.

their assistance at the hospital.

"We've invited presidents of (area) organizations to the hospital to have their meetings here; we want the community to feel the hospital is a resource for them," Ahlfeld says.

He says the 60-bed hospital, which offers outpatient care services as well, is the only children's specialty hospital in the state which deals with the active rehabilitation of its patients, who range from the newborn to age 21.

Last year, 34,000 outpatient visits were recorded, in addition to the inpatient caseload, Ahlfeld says.

Community Resource Director Shirley Biegler explains that the hospital was founded in 1891 as the Children's County Home, a summer haven for disadvantaged children

Officials say the first sick child was admitted to the facility in 1895, which followed with the care of children stricken with influenza and pneumonia, with admissions restricted to polia patients by 1945 "After the polio vaccine was discovered, the hospital took children with a greater variety of disabilities, and the hospital was then known as Children's Specialized," Biegler notes. A west wing addition to the hospital was constructed in 1979. where the small children are housed while the older patients are in the east section of the inpatient facility. The hospital's philosophy is geared toward "The Total Child," with therapists working with the disabled child emotionally, physically and educationally.

'Our cases range from infants with birth defects, to young adults.

Usually, the majority of patients from age 16 and up have sustained injuries from car accidents, Biegler says

She says the hospital is full to capacity, and the average length of stay is around 60 days, with the recovery rate marked at "very

The weeks and months spent at the facility may include inpatient care from specialists in one department, working jointly with professionals in

Specialized services are geared toward children with spina bifida, genitourinary problems, epilepsy, cerebral palsy, coma treatment designed for children and young adults who sustained head-brain injuries, a weight control program

Hospital officials report they are seeing more birth defect cases brought on by Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS), a pattern of physical and mental effects caused by a woman's excessive drinking during pregnancy.

Defects may include heart defects; severe growth deficiency and malformed facial features.

The state-licensed hospital, which is certified by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, is a member of the American Hospital Association, th National Association of Children's Hospitals and Related Institutions Inc., the New Jersey Hospital Association and the Union County Hospital Society.

The hospital is also certified by Medicaid, Medicare, the State of New Jersey Rehabilitation Commission and Special Child Health Services

Coletti speaks out on budget

By SHAWN EVANS

Addressing members of the Union County Women's cent of the total county operating budget. For 1985. Political Caucus Tuesday night, County Manager Lou Coletti told his audience he sees a tremendous number of qualified wemen applying for various positions within the realm of county government. Coletti was the keynote speaker at the organization's regular monthly meeting, which was held at the Mountainside Borough Hall.

"I don't see as many men applying for these positions, and I don't know the answer as to why; maybe it's because they do not want to transfer from jobs, but it is a very interesting phenomenon," Coletti said.

Keying in on the county's proposed $120.2 million 1985 budget, Coletti said this is the year that the rubber band lost its elasticity.

"I think 1985 can be classified as the year the rubber band has broken; there is just not much flexibility. For the first time since 1980, 100 county employees have to be layed off, and we must eliminate 50 vacancies," he said.

In determining just which employees are let go. Coletti said it depends on the programmatic impacts, or those services where cuts can be made with only a minimal effect. Coletti said under the cost-containment programs, the cutbacks include reducing "other expense" budgets of administrative code departments and constitutional offices below the level that they were funded at in the 1964 budget. The cutbacks also would force the county to institute an immediate 1985 hiring freeze - except for essential personnel - a halt in the creation of new positions, no new equipment and the elimination of most existing vacancies.

Coletti said the growing pressures placed on the national level to reduce government spending, have become reflective in the federal and state funded programs to Union County.

federal and state grant funds within the executive budget have been reduced to reflect only 10 percent of the total budget, "he said.

He added that the outlook for the fiscal year in Union County can be seen as a "paradox of rising citizen expectations of services while the realities of fiscal restraint dictate an attempt to maintain the present level of services with less available dollars.

"We are not in a position anymore of making sure that everyone gets their piece of the pie. We have got to learn to say no, which is the hardest thing for a county official to say," Coletti said.

Coletti said because of decreases in the federal and state resources, it is necessary for the county to assume additional fiscal responsibilities to compensate for "shortfalls in several programmatic areas vital to the health and welfare of county residents."

Such initiatives would include the establishment of an Urban Development Bank and Human Service Demonstration grants, as well as the establishment of a blue ribbon task force on tecnological development, the development of a new John E. Runnells Hospital facility and the creation of new programs at Union County

The Women's Political Caucus of Union County meets monthly throughout the county, with some 60 members representing every municipality.

According to Marie Hagemann, president of the local chapter, the political group is one of the largest women's groups in the state.

She said the local organization has been in existence for 10 years, and its purpose is to get women actively involved in the political arena.

Lawyers ready responses to exam suit

Attorneys are preparing answers for a suit filed two weeks ago by Springfield Township Committeeman Philip Feintuch against the committee and the N.J. Chiefs of Police Association, which recently administered a promotional sergeant exam in the Police Department.

Feintuch, an attorney, filed independent court papers when the Democratic majority of the governing body voted Jan 22 to withdraw litigation the former Republican majority had initiated, by his recommendation, against the Chiefs' Association.

Femtuch, who observed some of the oral examiniations, advised the committee that he thought the test questions were "irrelevant and subjective

In a public budget hearing, the committee authorized its insurance agent, Dan Kalem, to purchase a first-time pollution hazard policy, in addition to its regular coverage

Kalem said the insurance will cover the township in the event of a pollution problem resulting in its negligence, however, it does not provide coverage for leekages from waste disposal sites.

After a discussion of potential pollution causes in Springfield, the committee opted for the insurance mainly to protect itself from possible insurance claims related to the Rahway River accused Feintuch of playing politics. The PBA said Feintuch was delaying the promotion because one of the candidates for the sergeant promotion, known to be active in the local Republican party, did not pass the oral test

Members of the PBA held demonstrations prior, to the November election to show their objection to the postponment of the sergeant promotion.

Feintuch denied the allegations that his actions were politically motivated and said he was only concerned with the validity of the test

When the Chiefs' Association would not release their scoring procedure, the Republican majority voted to sue.

At its last committee meeting, when the Democratic majority appointed Chisholm to sergeant, along with withdrawing the litigation, Feintuch accused the Democrats of making a "political payoff" to the PRA

When Feintuch filed his suit, which he will litigate himself, he requested a restraining order to keep the township committee from proceeding on the matter. However, he'was denied the injunction by Judge Edward Begland, assignment judge for Union County Superior

""The judge felt there was no irreparable harm," Feintuch said, and added that Begland warned that if the court proceedings determine the sergeant exam was invalid, Chisholm will have to relinquish the position.

Mayor Edward Fanning believes, "If the decision to promote, which dosen't have to based on the exam, is improper, then he would have to give up the title."

Anthony D'Alessio, township attorney, said he and the attorney representing the Chiefs' Association will file court replys shortly.

The attorneys will first appear before Superior Court Judge Milton Fetter of March 1.

> "Since milk is a common denominator in most children's diets, what better way to advertize for missing children?" Gill said.

"I have contacted state and local authorities and have learned that an average of 500 to 600 children are eported missing each month in the state of New Jersey. This translates to well over 6,000 youngsters per year. If only one child is located through these efforts. I would consider the program a success,' Gill said. "There are a lot of children out there that may be identified and reunited with their families through this plan," he added.

"Since many missing children are runaways; I would hope that our neighboring states will follow New Jersey's example and institute similar reciprocal programs. Our children are our most precious commodity. It our duty to protect them in every way we can," Gill. concluded.

Fire chief pay raised 6.9 pct.

The Springfield Township Committee last week passed several ordinances on final hearing, approved a number of resolutions and introduced a new ordinance.

An ordinance which provides a 6.9 percent increase in the 1984 salaries of the fire chief and deputy chief was introduced. It sets the chief's salary at $35,357 and the deputy chief's at $31,746

An ordinance that required owners of multi-dwelling units to post a security bond with the township for emergency repairs on their premises was rescinded.

Committeeman Philip Feintuch said the township never needed the fund, which amounted to about $400. The money will be returned to the owners with interest.

At the Jan. 22 meeting, the committee also passed a 1984 salary ordinance for municipal department heads. It authorizes a salary increase of 6.9 percent or $1,200, whichever is greater.

An ordinance to establish fire zones in the township was also

The committee authorized the sale of a lot at 89 Washington Ave. for a minimum price of $37,500. Committeeman Stanley Kaish said the land "was not needed for public use.'

The committee amended a resolution that applies to the fire department's rules and regulations. One of the major changes omits a clause which stated that any changes the fire chief made in the department's rules were subject to township committee approval.

The other eliminates a regulation that said the township committee could only promote a fire captain or deputy fire chief to the rank of fire chief. Feintuch said the ordinance "locked" the committee into who it could appoint as chief.

Kathleen Wisniewski, formerly of the tax collector's office, was appointed deputy township clerk. The committee also authorized tax refunds of over $22,000, based on judgments from the Union County Tax Board.

Back pay payments for Firefighter Wayne Masiello, who was suspended from work for 21 days by a restraining order, were approved. Masiello had to stop working when a group of volunteer firemen filed a suit objecting to his being hired.

The volunteers challenged the committee's hiring of Masiello because of a question on residency, but the court later ruled the com-

(ILR) in Edison, but ordered that as of March 11, communities in Union County, including Springfield and Mountainside, will have to stop using the ILR and truck their waste to a landfill in East Brunswick.

On Jan. 23, Superior Court Judge Stephen Skillman granted a new series of brief extensions in the planned phaseout of the ILR, after hearing several hours of testimony on the potential impact of prematurely redirecting ILR's waste to the Edgeboro Disposal Inc. landfill, East Brunswick.

Originally, Skillman ordered Union County to stop dumping at ILR as of Feb. 25 under a plan calling for the gradual phaseout of the facility from Dec. 29 to March 25.

But after agreeing with the testimony of East Brunswick and Edgeboro operators that the initial schedule would prevent them from preparing for the transfer, the judge pushed back the timetable, enabling the ILR to remain in operation until

In explaining his decision to grant a slight delay in the waste transfer, Skillman explained that the extension was necessitated by the unforessen flow of waste into Edgeboro from 20 communities in northern Morris County. Waste from these communities was redirected by an unrelated court order on Dec. 8, in which the site used by much of Morris County, Hamm's Sanitary Landfill in Lafayette, was shut

Edgeboro officials testified last week that as a result of the flow of Morris County trash haulers into Edgabero, East-Brunswick was overwhelmed by traffic problems, with the backup of garbage trucks along Edgeboro Road causing tieups and safety hazards. Some 830 garbage trucks dump at the Edgeboro facility each day,

The extension in use of the ILR was opposed in testimony from the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). Two-years ago, the DEP ordered the ILR to shut down on June 30, 1984, but a series of subsequent court-ordered extensions has kept the facility operating beyond capacity ever since. The redirection of ILR waste to Edgeboro was initiated by a controversial letter from DEP Commissioner Robert E. Hughey, which has set off numerous challenges culminating in a major lawsuit between the state and six counties over responsibility for finding a long term waste disposal solution.

Blood clinic offers testing

The Mountainside Board of Health will conduct a blood pressure screening clinic tomorrow from 9 to 11 a.m. in the courtroom of the Municipal Building.

Persons should be screened for high blood pressure if they: are 35 years of age or older; have not had their blood pressure checked in a year or more; are not under the care of a physician for high blood pressure; have a family history of the disease or have stopped taking blood pressure medication without their physician's approval.

The test is a screening only. A confirmed diagnosis can only be made by a physician. Anyone found to have an elevated reading will be referred to his or her family physician for a consigned diagnosis and follow-up.

Early detection of high blood pressure can enable individuals to live a normal productive life.

A great house

Mountainside officials took admirable action last week, unanimously standing behind a proposal to preserve one of the borough's oldest historical landmarks, commonly known as the "Dutch Oven House.'

In the first reading of an ordinance at its Jan. 22 public meeting, the council approved a bond ordinance which would appropriate $70,000 in funds to relocate the 230-year-old house at 1260 Route 22 West to another site — a step which would save the structure from being razed.

Records indicate that the house, listed as the Deacon Andrew Hetfield House, was originally built in 1755, with other portions constructed later in 1800.

Within the last 18 months, the borough has lost two of its greatest historical structures, with the Dutch Oven House in acute danger of becoming the third. First, there was the demolition of the Union Chapel on Route 22 by the state Department of Transportation in late 1983, followed by the tragic torching of the Badgley House last spring, then the borough's oldest landmark and only building on the National Register of Historic Places.

The threat of losing another landmark prompted representatives of the borough's Historical Preservation Committee to plead with the governing body to assist in saving the Dutch Oven House.

The house is special not only because of its age, but because its architecture reveals many unique and distinctive construction features that date back to a rarely appreciated, if not forgotten, era.

It might be said that the surviving works of the past become a standard of quality for the future, and so it is important for all residents to share in the concept and cause of preserving the community's bulwarks of history

The governing body and all the members of the Mountainside Historic Preservation Committee, past and present, are to be commended for their efforts.

Thanks are also in order to the property owners of the Route 22 site, who were willing to wait and give committee members an opportunity to save the home, rather than going ahead with their original intentions of razing the structure.

By preserving its few remaining ties to its early history, Mountainside will retain its identity and its greatest source of pride. The borough and its people are richer because the years of history contained within the walls of the Dutch Oven House will be allowed to stand undisturbed.

Surplus suggestions

Since Gov. Kean delivered his annual State of the State Message recently. I have received several dozen calls from residents of Moutainside with their suggestions concerning the use of the state's $800 million budget surplus. I wanted to take this opportunity to share with your readers my views regarding the state's fiscal affairs.

-My-strong-belief is that the governor and the Legislature have an obligation to balance the long term needs of the state with the goal of providing direct property tax relief in dealing with the surplus.

Already, scores of legislators have filed bills to use portions of the excess funds for a variety of projects: The aggregate cost of these proposals exceeds $2 billion

The budget year began with an anticipated surplus of $75 million in the general fund. It has grown to at least $500 million and some experts expect it to approach $1 billion by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

In times of fiscal crisis, the legislature doesn't hesitate to increase taxes. Now that we have accumulated the largest surplus in the state's history, it is only fair that we rebate a substantial portion.

We recognize, however, that there are several major problems confronting the state which require our immediate attention. Therefore, I will work in support of a program that includes $100 million to accelerate the cleanup of toxic waste sites in our state. With the future of the federal Superfund program in doubt, we have the responsibility to rid our state of this serious threat to public health and safety. ASSEMBLYMAN BOB FRANKS 22nd District Assistance sought

Rinaldo: 'Tell me about your concerns'

By REP, MATTHEW RINALDO R-7th District

Whether you are outraged by government waste or need help in dealing the federal bureaucracy. one way to get action is to bring your concerns to my attention

As your elected representative in Washington, I want to know of your concerns regarding government actions, to help resolve any problems you may experience in dealing with the federal government, and to get your views on legislation before Congress

During the new session which opened earlier this month, Congress will be acting on numerous legislative proposals that will not only affect the future of our nation but, in some way also touch your life and the lives of every American.

For example, Congress will be dealing with such issues as the mounting budget deficit, tax reform, U.S. policy in Central America, and arms in space. We also will be considering the future of Medicare. reauthorization of Superfund, and proposed spending cuts in various social programs serving millions of

In order to more effectively represent you, I need to know how you feel about these and other issues or to ask for help in dealing with that will be voted on in the new Congress. One of the best ways to make your concerns known to me is to write. Letters serve as a valuable barometer as to how constituents feel about a particular issue and guide me in casting my vote when that issue comes up for consideration on the floor of the house.

In addition to giving me your views on legislation before Congress, you should bring to my attention any problems you may be having with the federal government. Each year more than 50,000 letters and inquiries are received at my Washington office and the district office in Union Township, Constituents write to urge me to either support or oppose a particular bill. veterans, immigration, Social Security, or other federally related problems

Unless it is an inquiry which requires research, or depends upon obtaining information from a federal agency, your letter will most likely be answered the same day it is received. Any constituent who takes the time to contact me deserves a expeditious response. Even when you sign a petition, or are part of a group signing a letter, you will still receive an answer.

Obviously I cannot promise you that I will be able to completely solve your problems or agree with you on each and every legislative issue. However, I assure you that your views will be given, every consideration and every effort will be made to quickly and fairly resolve any problems you may have with a federal agency.

The next time someone urges you to write your congressman, please do. I want to hear from you.

Spring races may become state classics

New Jersey's growing reputation as a national sports center was further enhanced early this month when I had the privilege of participating in the announcement of a major new sporting event which I hope will become an annual fixture on the Garden State sports calendar the first New Jersey Waterfront

I have long maintained that one of New Jersey's most valuable, and least acknowledged, resources is our magnificent Hudson River waterfront, with its unique and unparalleled view of the Manhattan skyline. Now, thanks to the dedicated efforts of the people who put together "Festival New Jersey," the non-profit corporation that is sponsoring the event, we will be able to focus wide attention on this rapidly growing area of our state -The organizers, which include members of my staff and the commissioner of Commerce and Economic Development, have planned a first-class racing event, including a full marathon, certified by the Athletic Congress, and a fivemile run. Athletes from New Jersey and throughout the region will have the opportunity to race with worldclass runners, including marathoner Bill Rodgers and the great middledistance runner Betty Springs.

I believe the New Jersey Waterfront Marathon has the potential to become one of the classic American road races. ranking with the Boston, New York and Chicago marathons It will not only further enhance our growing reputation as a sports mecca, but it will alow people from all over the country to get a closer look at our Hudson County waterfront.

The races are scheduled for Sunday, May 5, with the marathon beginning at 10 a.m., and the fivemile run starting half-an-hour later.

The start and finish line for the marathon and the five-mile run will be at Liberty State Park in Jersey City. The park, which is the mostused state or national park in the -country, will also be the setting for a number of race-related events. including food sales, entertainment and a Health Fair sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, which is also one of the sponsors of the race.

The 26.2-mile course will wind from the park through Jersey City. Hoboken, Weehawken, West New York, Union City, North Bergen and Guttenberg. Officials in all the towns along the route have volunteered to help make the Waterfront Marathon a safe, well-run event. Our Department of Defense and Hudson County police will also participate in maintaining security and support for the runners. New Jersey Transit and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey have also pledged their support.

I'm proud to report that we will also receive the support of Fred LeBow and the New York Road Runners Club, who sponsor the New York City Marathon Fred LeBow's generosity in offering the services of his fine, organization, and the anticipated participation of members of the New York Road Runners Club in the race itself will certainly add a fine dimension to the event.

Thanks are also due to the corporate members of Festival New Jersey, who are generously lending the financial support needed to assure a safe and well-run race. AT&T Communications, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, First Jersey National Bank and the McDonald's Corporation have all pledged their assistance, as have the Harborside Corporation and Newport City, developers of two major business and residential complexes on the Jersey City waterfront.

Festival New Jersey has also obtained the services of two highly respected race organizers - Dean Shonts of Millburn and Tony D'Andrea of Bayonne - to organize and direct the races. Both have been active in organized running in New Jersey for many years, and their presence as organizers assures that the Waterfront Marathon and Five-Mile Run will be races designed an organized with the runners in mind.

Recycle poinsettias

By JAMES NICHNADOWICZ Program Associate in Agriculture Union County Cooperative Extension Service

Each year after the holiday, I see many of neighbors' poinsettias in the garbage. Poinsettias do not have to be disposable. They are a perennial by nature and, with a little attention. can bloom many more Christmases.

After blooming, the poinsettia will keep its showy look for a few months... Gradually. however, its leaves will drop off. This signals the time for the plant to rest. It should be moved to a low-light spot, such as a north window, and watered less frequently.

Eventually all the leaves will fall off. When this occurs, all the stems should be clipped back to 6 inches. The plant can be left in the northern window if the temperature there is cool, between 45 degrees and 60 degrees. If not, move the plant to another cool spot even if it is dark.

plant again to an area where it receives full sunlight. Repot the plant and resume watering and fertilizing it regularly.

Once the threat of frost has passed the plant can be set outside in full sun. Sink the pot into the soil, to the rim, to prevent rapid drying. During the early part of July, all the stems: should be cut back to 4 inches in height to encourage branching and more flowers.

In early September, the plant should be brought indoors to avoid any chills. Look it over carefully for any insect problems before bringing it inside.

During late September the process of darkening to encourage flowering must begin. The plant needs to be kept in the dark 14 hours out of each day until Thanksgiving. It cannot be exposed to any light during the night. It should be taken out in the daytime and treated normally. Once the red color shows in the leaves, the darkening process is over. The plant can be left out at all times without fear of flower loss.

With a little care, poinsettias can

Center offers complete care

Reaching the decision that one can no longer take care of an aged loved one who is either ill or in need of constant supervision can be heart-wrenching. Telling that person one can no longer care for them confounds the pain and guilt.

Elizabeth Bataille, administrator of Cornell Hall Convalescent Center in Union, tells the families of incoming' patients. "You're putting them here because you love them and you want them to get the best care.

EXPANSION PLANNED

Cornell Hall opened in June 1969 as a new building. It currently has 100 beds in its nursing home unit, with construction plans underway to add 60 more Bataille hopes the expansion will be completed by late summer.

It also is one of the few nursing homes in the state that has a residential unit attached. Unlike the nursing home patients, the occupants of the 20-bed residential unit only require assistance with daily activities such as bathing and dressing, and do not need medical attention.

Cornell Hall is licensed by the state Department of Health and an approved provider by Medicaid, Medicare and Blue Cross. It recently received its third consecutive perfect periodic medical review by the state Medicaid Medical Evaluation Team.

24-HOUR CARE

The center offers 24-hour care by a staff of nurses, along with providing daily social activities. Some of the more popular events are movies, quiz games and monthly birthday parties organized by the staff's recreation director, Peg Morasso.

Bataille said there are also a number of volunteer. organizations that come to visit with the residents. One group even gives weekly manicures.

The residents can also attend religious services for all denominations, exercise classes and an onpremise beauty-barber-shop. Periodic visits are made by a dentist, eye doctor and podiatrist.

The new resident is oriented to the home and introduced to other patients by the nursing staff. Friends and family are allowed to visit between 8 board. Single and double rooms are available. Bataille added that the cost for a bed in the residential unit is half the cost for care in the nursing unit.

Many of the patients' families find it comforting that Memorial General Hospital is next door to Cornell Hall. Bataille also said that a patient in the residential unit who becomes ill can usually be relocated to the nursing care unit.

'VITAL SERVICE' Bataille received an R.N. degree from Elizabeth General School of Nursing (now known as Elizabeth General Medical Center) and went on to undergraduate study at the University of California in Los Angeles. She worked for a time as a field representative for Blue Cross and then served as an administrator at two New Jersey nursing homes before joining Cornell Hall. She recently celebrated her 16th year at Cornell Hall and says she is as dedicated as ever to her job.

"I love it. I don't even call it a job. I enjoy the patients, the family contacts, the community contacts, and I enjoy that we have an excellent staff and an excellent reputation," Bataille said, "and we are also providing a vital service to the community '

85 percent support resource recovery

Nearly 85 percent of the people responding to a constituent questionnaire distributed by Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-22, want the Legislature to mandate resource recovery as a step to solve the state's mounting solid waste disposal problem. Ogden reported.

More than 75 percent of those

Briar Hills aid is announced

Assemblymen Chuck Hardwick and Edward K. Gill have announced that, under the municipal aid portion of the 1984 New Jersey Transportation Trust Fund Authority Act, $20,000 will be applied to the cost resurfacing one side of Brian Hills Circle at Possum Pass in Springfield.

This trust fund, which was established in July of 1984, provides a stable source of money for the next four years, enabling longer range planning for both highways and mass transportation." Hardwick said. "This fund also furnished the monies with which New Jersey can apply for matching-fund grants from the federal government," Gill Allocated in the New Jersey Transportation Trust Fund Authority Act are $19 million for municipal use and $35 million for county use.

Layoring resource recovery want the state to create a siting commission to mandate locations for the resource recovery facilities, she

. Ogden mailed the questionnaire to approximately 3,400 business political, civic, educational and other leaders in the district.

"It is interesting to note that more than half the respondents oppose the concept of returning the growing state budget surplus to the tax. payers in the form of an increased homestead rebate," Ogden said "Instead, more than three in five want tax cuts and a significant percentage want the money to be retained as a 'rainy day' fund."

She'said her survey indicates that 68 percent of the people believe the state now has adequate drunk driving statutes while 20 percent believe the existing laws are too lenient About 12 percent said the current law is too stringent. "I was discouraged, but not particularly surprised, to learn that fully 45 percent of the respondents to my survey said they did not understand the new insurance laws enacted to help reduce car insurance premiums." Ogden said. "Less than half said they did understand the various options available to them and 7 percent were undecided on the issue. In response to a related question, only 42 percent said the state is on the 'right track' in helping to contain insurance costs."

She said nearly 60 percent of the people want the state to assume a greater share of the funding responsibility for such programs as public education, the courts and welfare in order to reduce the property tax burden. Ogden supports the proposal to have the state assume the full cost of the court system in order to remove these costs from the property tax

"When asked to identify the most pressing issues facing New Jersey in 1985, the respondents to my questionnaire listed foxic wastes disposal as the major priorities, she said. "Property taxes, crime and the impact of the Mt. Laurel decision were the next in importance, with higher education, transportation and senior citizen concerns ranking considerably lower than in earlier surveys

Ogden said she will mail a copy of the tabulated results of her survey to the respondents and that others may receive a copy by contacting her degislative office at 266 Essex St. Millburn

A look at the political scene

By ROSE P. SIMON Following are reviews of some books currently available at the Springfield Public Library.

NEW YORKER JOURNALIST "Final Reports," by Richard

This work was completed after the death of the author "an artist among journalists" who turned out "shapely, searching, political pieces characterized by incisiveness and wit "Born in Jersey City in 1915, the son of immigrants this ancestry is vague, mysterious). Rovere was brought up in Brooklyn as a Calvinist, and went to college at the University of Connecticut and Bard.

Notwithstanding his conservative background, Rovere was initially radical by conviction, later liberal by compromise. He was surrounded by Communists (working for the New Masses: The Natcon, Common Sense is but he cut off his connections

'Queen' topic for book talk

Joan Chase's "During the Reign of the Queen of Persia." a first noveldealing with family life on an Ohio farm, will be featured at the next book discussion at the Springfield Public Library, in the library meeting room, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The "queen" of the title is the tough old grandmother-matriarch of a clan of five daughters and their families. The story, set in the 1950s, is told in five overlapping chapters. each focused on one of the members of the family It is narrated by the "we" of two pairs of young girl cousins, granddaughters of the ''queen

One reviewer found the book's prose "limpid; the characterization vibrant, the dialogue crisp," and called it "an important debut by a fine new writer." The novel was named one of the best books of 1983 by The New York Times

The monthly book discussions are free and open to the public. The next meeting will concern Judith Rossner's "August" and is scheduled for March 5 when the Nazi-Soviet Pact was signed (the pact being a shock to many on the left). He then became a Socialist, contributing to the New Republic and American Mercury. In 1944 his talent was recognized by Editor William Shawn of the New Yorker. He was engaged to write political pieces (Letter from Washington) with as much objectivity as he could muster. He covered men of prominence on the political scene: Truman; Dewey. Taft, Vandenberg, Schlesinger, Dulles. Eisenhower, Kennedy, Nixon, Humphrey and Johnson Rover's notes include many of his candid observations of heads of states (often critical), but duly honoring those few who deserved his acclaim for integrity. He describes his family life (parents, wife, children), his many constant triends, his private political views about McCarthy, the Korean and Vietnam wars), his travel for the Peace Corps and the CIA, and his final months of intolerable pain. He died of cancer in 1979.

WOMAN-17TH CENTURY "The Weaker Vessel." by Antonia.

Fraser The author researched letters. diaries, manuscripts, documents, for 12 years to write this history of women in 17th century England from the death of Elizabeth in 1603 to the accession of Anne Here are sketches of actresses, business women, courtesans, criminals, educators, fighters, heiresses, good women, nurses. Regarded as the "weaker vessel" physically. sometimes morally, usually legally, they were often suprisingly superior This book discloses the nature of the society in which they lived, and their response to it.

In the early part of the century, a girl even an heiress might be forced into marriage by her parents. and find herself deprived of her freedom as well as money Men could commit adultery freely; women were denied extra-marital affection, often with disastrous results. In the serving and laboring classes women enjoyed a good deal more freedom of choice in marriage. Women endured an almost perpetual state of pregnancy, although some control was managed by use of .herbal medicines (contraceptives) and abortion (performed secretly). Many women did not survive childbirth, death of infants was common Also explored are: the condition of widowhood, the aged poor, witchcraft, and prejudice against education for girls -

The Civil Wars (1642-1651) brought changes. Women became active as fund raisers, solicitors on behalf of husbands, spies, emissaries, nurses This period saw more evidence of sexual, political, and religious freedom. While a few women taught, became companions to aristocrats. wrote poetry, published (anonymously), painted, preached, and kept shop, others became actresses, courtesans, or if less fortunate, prostitutes. Although the middle period showed signs of progress, the Restoration reversed the process. The relationship between the sexes was scarcely altered The authority of the husband remained absolute.

remained that way with a 10-5 decision. But despite his win, the Bears defeated Dayton, 34-21. Yee is a likely contender for county honors at next week's Union County Tournament (Photo by John Boutsikaris)

RU women's sports program successful

Since its inception a decade ago, the women's intercollegiate athletic program at Rutgers has been marked by high success and continues as one of the nation's largest and most enduring.

Intercollegiate competition was launched in 1974 with seven sports, although formalization of a women's program had been under discussion since the opening of Livingston College in 1966. The move gained impetus when Rutgers College was made coeducational in 1972 and when Cook College was born in 1973. Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 was an added spurto the decision.

With roots in the college-level programs at Douglass College, the all-University program began with field hockey and tennis in the fall; basketball, swimming and gymnastics during the winter and softball and track and field in the spring. Today, Rutgers fields women's teams in 15 sports.

Previous to the decision, women had been eligible to participate on all varsity teams and were indeed active in track, fencing, swimming and crew. Judy Melick, a 1972 Olympic swimmer, began her outstanding career as a member of the men's team and the first Headley-Singer Award winner as the University's top woman athlete also became the first woman swimmer in the history of the NCAA to compete with men.

Athletic Director Fred Gruninger said, at the time, that the University was "totally committed" to the new program and, within a month of the May announcement, named three coaches. Sandy Petway and Judy Vogt, who had previously served as physical education instructors and temporary coaches, were appointed as the track and field and softball coaches, respectively, and Ellen

Registration set

Registration for the 1985 Springfield Junior Baseball League will be highlighted by the appearance of Jeff Torborg, current New York Yankee coach and former major league player and manager.

Registration will be held Feb. 5 between 7-9 p.m. at the Gaudineer School girls' gym. At this registration, Torborg will conduct a free clinic on baseball skills. Although geared for children, all baseball fans are invited to come.

The 1985 program will be open to all first and second graders for an instructional league, third through seventh grades for the minor and major leagues and eighth and ninth grades for a pony league.

For those that can't make the first registration, another will be held on Feb. 9 from 1-3 p.m. at both the Gaudineer and Caldwell school gyms. A $10 non-refundable fee must accompany each registration.

Johns, the Douglass basketball coach, was selected to head the court program.

Rita Thomas was then named assistant athletic director in charge of women's athletics and also assumed the role as tennis coach. Thomas soon announced that Frank Elm would coach the women swimmers and Johns was named field hockey coach, with Arlene Norris handling the gymnasts.

Charlotte Walker, a sophomore at Douglass, received the first woman's athletic scholarship in August 1974 and went on to star in

Verdict is in on new jury duty system

'It's passably getting better'

(Editor's note: This is the first part of a two-part series on the jury duty system in Union County.)

Jury duty in Union County just isn't what it used to be. In fact, most people who have served in recent months will probably agree that it's getting a lot better.

Union County residents who are selected as petite jurors will find that they're sitting around for only two days now instead of two weeks.

And there's a good chance that jurors' pay will go from $5 to $10 with a new law that will keep employers from taking those hard-earned wages.

Whether you're the kind of citizen who's proud to be chosen for this civic duty and looks forward to it — or the kind of person who would not like to serve and would rather go to work you'll find the county is working to make your stay more pleasant.

THE SUMMONS

Union County residents expected to serve as jurors will find a five-page form containing their summons, a questionnaire and other information about a month before their reporting date.

All residents - even if they fall under the list of exemptions - must fill out the questionnaire and mail it back to the jury management division. The information obtained from the questionnaires is loaded into the jury management office's computer — which will indicate under a person's file why the are not required to serve or why they could not serve at a particular time

The summons states the dates that the juror is expected to serve, and contains other information — such as where to park or what bus service is available.

The one-step form containing the questionnaire and summons together is unique, according to Walter Garthwaite, jury manager, "because people know exactly when they will have to serve.

In the past, prospective jurors would receive a questionnaire in the mail and at some other time receive the summons. And years before that, Garthwaite said that the sheriff's officers would go to citizens' homes and personally hand them the summonses.

Union County began the "2 day/1 trial" system eight months ago, according to Garthwaite, acting on a state recommendation

"The biggest complaint we received from jurors was that they were sitting around idle while waiting to get on a trial," he said.

So if it seems that more of one's friends, co-workers or family members are being summoned for duty - they are. Since citizens are serving for a shorter period of time, more have to be summoned.

The court is idering going to a "one trial" system, which would mean that jurors who are not put on a trible, the end of their first day of service will be excused.

"Most trials that more than two days anyway," Garthwaite said.

When the shock of receiving a jury duty summons wears off, the first question that runs through a citizen's mind probably is "How did they get my name?"

According to the office of jury management, the names are obtained at random from two listings — the state Division of Motor Vehicles's list of drivers and the county's voter registration roster. So the people in Union County who don't drive or vote won't be summoned for jury duty

The computer makes a random selection of names three times a year — usually in March, November and July. Each citizen whose name is stored in the computer is assigned a number; two jury commissioners determine the starting number for each selection and estimate how many jurors will be needed by looking at the court calendar.

The two jurishing hissioner posts are political appointments, according to Garthwaite, who said they receive two per year for their work.

There are interest when Union County residents receive two summonses in one year. This usually happens when residents' names are not written the same way on their driver's license

"The biggest complaint we received from jurors was that they were sitting around idle while waiting to get on a trial." Walter Garthwaite Jury Manager and voter registration card, such as "John Robert Smith" and "J.R. Smith." The computer has no way of knowing it's the same person, Garthwaite said.

The people who receive more than one summons usually do not hesitate to call his office and the correction is made in the computer. As a result of the duplications, a list of 500,000 names has been stored in the computer even though there are only 400,000 Union County residents, he ex-

The computing also supplies names for the county and state grand jurys.

In the days prior to random selection, a percentage of jurors from each town in the county were assigned to each group of jurors. That was discontinued years ago, Garthwaite said. The surors are completely selected at random, he said, adding that the court does not keep records on how many women or minorities end up in each group of jurors although he is often asked that question by public defenders.

WALTER GARTHWAITE, Union County Jury Manager, briefs prospective

THE EXEMPTIONS

The state law is very specific about who is exempt from jury duty.

Those who cannot be jurors are members or employees of state or local police forces, volunteer or paid firefighters or anyone holding an exempt fireman's certificate, fish and game wardens, regularly licensed and practicing physicians and dentists in this state, members of state or federal military, naval or air forces on active duty and school teachers under full-time contract while their schools are in session.

Also, exempt are those who have the "actual physical care and custody of a minor child" and who has given written notice to the jury commissioners of the county that jury service would interfere with the care required for the child; all officers and persons regularly employed by any agency under the authority of the state board of control of department of insitutions and agencies or anyone regularly employed by hospitals.

Telegraph and telephone operators and linemen and those directly engaged in the business of receiving and transmitting messages by telegraph or calls by telephone also are exempt.

Members of the state legislature and members of first aid and resque squads who work in the same town in which they are an emergency volunteer also do not have to serve

Garthwaite said they are working with the state on revising the list of exemptions - citing one area as an example — the fish and game wardens. THE EXCUSED

If a citizen has a valid reason for not being able to serve but does not fall under the exemption list, he or she may be excused from jury duty by Garthwaite or get a postponment.

Since the courts shortened jury duty, Garthwaite says he gets less resistance from those who don't want to serve. There are few automatic dismissals - he makes his decisions on a case-by-

Attorneys, for example, try their hardest to be excused. Sometimes they are given postponements; and often if an attorney is expected in some other court, Garthwaite will speak to that judge for the attorney

Attorneys are required to serve — even the ones with heavy case loads. In fact, Union County Prosecutor John Stamler recently had jury duty; however he was not chosen for a trial, Garthwaite said.

"He went to two civil trials. He just wasn't called," Garthwaite added.

On the first day they report to the courthouse, jurors who feel they have a reason to be excused are given an opportunity to speak to Garthwaite. After hearing them out, he makes a decision. Some are told that they will be excused at the end of the day if they are not put on a trial. Few are immediately dismissed and many are sent right back to the jurors' lounge.

After sitting in on Garthwaite's conferences with more than 30 jurors, one thing was clear: the most common grounds for postponements were weak kidneys — on both men and women with doctor's notes - and pregnancies.

People with hearing problems are usually excused, Garthwaite said, as well as those who cannot speak English or prospective jurors who are not U.S. citizens.

Union County residents who are over 74-years-old do not have to serve unless they want to, and those under 18 won't be permitted to serve.

All but a handful of jurors in this group had reasonable excuses and received either postponements or dismissals after one day of service.

There were a few people who gave Garthwaite a hard time, and in instances like that when he feels that he might be losing his objectivity in deciding whether they should be excused, he lets the assignment judge make the decision.

Women, finances: Topics for authors

A number of books for women and a variety of business and financial volumes have been published frecently

One of the most unusual woman's books is "A Woman's Life In the Court of the Sun King" ($25, Johns Hopkins Univ. Press) which is comprised of the letters of Liselotte van der Pfalz, the Duchess of Orleans, 1652-1722. Married at age 19 to Louis XIV's only brother, her letters over a 50-year-period provide not only an insight to court life, but to what it meant to be a woman, tied to the court and a way of life prescribed by protocol.

"The Life of Jane Austen" ($25, Johns Hopkins Univ. Press) is examined in detail by John Halperin and, for those with an interest in this author this book will prove quite satisfying.

Today's women live with considerably more freedom of choice than their sisters from bygone times. A book like "Knowing The Score" by Betty Lehan Harragan ($3.95, Signet paperback) takes a look at the realities of today's business world and provides "play by play directions for women on the job." Using a question and answer format, Harragan deals with many of the situations women will encounter in a fiercely competitive business environment.

"Pictures of Women-Sexuality" by Jane Root (distributed by Routledge & Kegan Paul, 9 Park St., Boston, MA 02108) is about the exploitation of women by pornographers and advertisers who use women to sell everything from computers to cigarettes. Root is from Great Britian where this book was originally published.

"Sleeping With Soldiers" In Search of the Macho Man" ($14.95, Holt, Rinehart and Winston) by Rosemary Daniell is the story of a woman with three failed marriages who embarks on the quest for the kind of man who's generally described as "a stud." She concluded that random sexual encounters were "an incredible learning experience" for her and her account of this is never dull.

BEING A MOTHER

Dr. Ingrid Rimland overcame all kinds of odds to give her severely brain injured child and herself an education and chance for a better life. The story of her struggle is told in "The Furies and The Flame" ($15, plus $1.80 postage, Arene Press, 20 Commercial Blvd., Novato, CA 94947-6191). Her son, now age 25, was graduated from high school with honors and has a job and apartment of his own. Dr. Rimland is an educational psychologist.

Can you select your child's sex before birth? "Boy or Girl?" ($10.95, Bobbs-Merrill) by Elizabeth M. Whelan, Sc.D, relates techniques said to influence the chances of having either a girl or a boy.

In softcover, there's "From 1 to 2: Your baby's Second Year" ($4.95, Plume/NAL) by Dr. Virginia E. Pomeranz and Dodr Schultz which is a useful, easy to read guide to this age period of child development. Another book I found to be especially good is "Parents, Please Don't Sit On Your Kids: A Parent's Guide to Nonpunitive Discipline" by Clare Cherry ($8.95, softcover from Lake Books, 19 Davis Dr., Belmont, CA 94002) which makes a forceful case for not using force such as spanking or verbal abuse to deal with one's children. It contains a whole list of positive ways of relating to children through encouragement, giving compliments, discussion, flexibility and humor

"How To Protect Your Child From Genital Herpes" is intended for parents with teenage and preteenage children. Not the most pleasant subject to be sure, but one of growing concern these days ($6.95, Clay-Jon Publishers softcover, POB 59221, Birmingham, AL 35259-9221.) Another useful title is "Teaching Your Child About Money" ($7.95, Addison-Wesley softcover) by Chris Snyder. This is often an overlooked aspect of a child's rearing. Likewise, "Teens Look At Marriage" by Jeanne Warren Lindsay ($9.95, Morning Glory Press, 6595 San Haroldo Way, Buena Park, CA 90620, softcover) uses the results of a nationwide survey to describe the odds against divorced teens, this book can help any parent or teen contemplating this major step in life.

Dr. Susan Lark's book, 'Premenstrual Syndrome Self-Help Book: A Woman's Guide To Feeling Good All Month" ($12.95, Forman Publishing Co., Los Angeles) deals with ways to relieve more than 150 symptoms of PMS. Since self-help and home treatment is probably a woman's best chance for long term relief and prevention of PMS, this book represents an important body of information. For further data, you may also want to write to the PMS Self-Help Center at 170 State Street, Suite 222, Los Altos, CA 94022 where Dr. Lark is director.

Business and financial books seem to be booming with all kinds of new and updated titles coming out. Some deal with how to save on your taxes, others look at industries or how to manage others, or how to begin and maintain your own business. Some are just business reference books.

Taxes are on everyone's mind and will continue to recommend 'Julian Block's Guide to Year-Round Tax Savings" (Dow-Jones Irwin) updated for 1985. Julian is a regular guest on the "Today Show. He does have some rivals, of course, and they include "Pay Less Tax Legally" ($5.95, Signet softcover) by Barry R. Steiner, CPA. Steiner's book is a very hands-on, how-to approach to filling out your tax form. "How To Pay Zero Taxes" by Jeff A. Schnepper ($8.95, Addison-Wesley softcover) is aimed at the average middle class taxpayers who want to hold onto the one-third of their earnings normally turned over each year to the IRS. It has more than 150 tips on how to accomplish this. Of the three, Block's book is still the best, in my view.

INVESTING AND MANAGING

Many folks are starting their own businesses these days. Others are studying the best ways to invest the money they earn. Here are some books that can help. Barbara Brabec's "Homemade Money: The Definitive Guide to Success in Home Business' ($12.95, Betterway Publications) is truly a first class book to get you past the initial hassles involved while avoiding many of the pitfalls of starting such a home-based business. Valerie Bohigian has written "How To Make Your Home-Based Business Grow' ($7.95, New American Library) which is oriented toward making profits from products. Most such operations take in less than $5,000 annually, but successful ones can earn from $20,000 to $40,000.

"How to Invest in Municipal Bonds" by Robert Lamb ($15.95, Franklin Watts) is a good beginner's guide to the subject. By the way, small, self-contained library on management that includes 'Managing Yourself," "Hiring The Right Person for the Right Job," Morale and Motivation, Leadership, The Key to Management Success" Communicating: How to Organize Meetings and Presentation." These books retail for $15.95 each and, together, represent a fine introduction to these essentials of business management.

For those of you contemplating some serious investing in stocks in 1985. I recommend you consider 'Charting Your Way To Financial Security" ($23.95, postpaid from Merrill Co., 411 Conestoga Rd. 13-C1, Devon, PA 19333), a big softcover which demonstrates how to track a stock's progress and base your buy and sell decisions on your own charts. The Wall Street Journal thought so well of this book, it even advertised in it! While you're at it, pick up "Monarch's Dictionary of Investment Terms" ($7.95, Monarch Press) by Edith Lynn Beer.

Two books take a look at the world of advertising, "The Image-Makers" by William Meyers ($16.95, Times Books) and "Advertising, The Uneasy Persuasion" by Michael Schudson ($17.95, Basic Books) and they take quite different views of this profession. Meyers sees a decline in common sense as creativity and other quasipsychological criteria took over advertising, whereas Schudson takes a kinder view, dispassionately examing the realities of how advertising really works (or fails) in our mobile society of the 1980s.

"Fundamentals of Copy Layout" ($14.95 with $2.50 postage, Crain Books, 740 Rush St., Chicago, IL 60611), a large softcover, will teach you as much or more than all the theory expounded by Meyers and Schudson. For more nitty-gritty, there's "Display Design" by Laszlo Roth ($12.95, Spectrum/Prentice-Hall) and its sister book by Roth, "Package Design" ($13.95, Spectrum) which demonstrate the fundamentals of how what we see determines what we buy.

In its fifth consecutive year, the spell-a-thon raises funds that go toward improving the quality of life for countless disabled children and adults in New Jersey. It is sponsored by Burger King and Scholastic book clubs.

Prizes are awarded on the basis of spell-a-thon winner, top fund-raising student and a series of incentive prizes for raising $30 or more. "Kids for Kids" T-shirts, books, digital sports watches, albums and commemorative yo-yo's are among the prizes. All participating students will receive a coupon from Burger King for a free meal. The class raising the most money will receive a free pizza party.

Larry Kert, an indefatigable. exceptionally-talented performer, with 30 years of Broadway musicals

under his belt, actually believed that he would be and always remain a professional chorus boy

"It's true," he admitted, a boyish grin playing around his handsome face as he relaxed between performances of "Side By Side By Sondheim" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. He had just waltzed off the stage after a matinee performance last Thursday. The interview was being held in the private office of the Paper Mill's executive producer, Angelo Del Rossi. ("The dressing room is too

At the age of 18, he said, he came to New York from his hometown, Los Angeles, and got a job as a production singer at the Copacabana with a group called The Upstarts. "I sang and danced with them. Then I left and decided that I wanted to be a good chorus boy. And I was fabulous," he chuckled. "I worked in Broadway shows behind the stars from 1952 to 1957.

"One morning I woke up as Tony 'West Side Story,' Yes, Stephen

Sondheim's famous Broadway musical. Can you imagine what it was like for me with people such as Yul Brynner, Elizabeth Taylor and Ethel Merman coming to my dressing room to tell me how wonderful I was in 'West Side Story.'

"I had never had a singing lesson," Kert admits, "All the training I had, I got in Broadway shows. But during the Broadway run of 'West Side Story,' I enrolled in the Neighborhood Playhouse.

Now, 24 years later, Kert is still singing Sondheim songs. He had starred on Broadway in the Son-dheim musical, "Company," and during the London production of "Company," Kert received a nomination for Best Actor by the Evening Standard. And he originally starred on Broadway in "Side By Side By Sondheim" and in the road company.

Kert, still fresh from the strenuous demands of the matinee performance at the Mill, where he sings nearly two dozen numbers and frequently dances and cavorts on stage with his co-stars, Helen Gallagher, Judy Kaye and George Rose, was trying to relax his slim, seemingly electrically-charged self in a large, leather easy chair. "I do three matinees here," he explained. "and in a few hours I'll be back up there on stage. Vocally, it's a tiring show, and my throat gets very dry. I try to keep the throat moist. But I love doing the show.

"Why, do you realize that we got the show on its feet in nine days? And it took five more days to get through rehearsals here at the theater. Literally, we were letter perfect in the first run-through. It's not an easy show to do." he said. "interpreting and working with my fellow actors. All three felt that we connected with each other. One really has to concentrate hard.

"It's so wonderful to sing the composer's music," Kert sighed. "I've known Stephen Sondheim for 28 years. He's complex, and he's that easy. He's like a crossword puzzle, and through the years, basically, he hasn't changed. What I like most about him is that he's always willing to take a chance, to teach but not preach. There's so much depth in him.

'With Sondheim, I have my work cut out for me. You know, the word 'love' doesn't appear much in his work. There's a love-hate quality somehow. He's generous; he's stingy. But he loves the theater. His only hit song recently was 'Send in the Clowns.' And that tells a story in

Kert had been associated with

Harold Prince for more than 30 years. Prince directed, as his first show, "Family Affair," in which Kert starred. Kert also starred on Broadway in such plays as "Mr. Wonderful," "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," "Irma la Douce," "Sugar" and "Two Gentlemen of Verona." He did a lot of summer stock appearances throughout his career

In 1979, he said, "I was brought a property, 'Jolie.' It was a production about Al Jolson, as he really was, not as he was portrayed in the movie, 'The Jolson Story.' I took it to the North Stage Dinner Theater, and I auditioned three or four Jolson songs. I knew that something felt right. Here is another side of me, I thought. But it was not a good production even though I believed in the character itself. With Nick Dante of 'A Chorus Line' and Michael Shawn, director and choreographer, we went on the Starlight circuit. There were eight to nine thousand people every night who had come to hear me do the Jolson numbers. We started working on it and had a great production. I played Jolson as he really was, and the audience wasn't able to accept that. Nick wasn't ready to change the book. But he did, and Jolson still appeared too mean. We had to find the right way to present this man; some story line to tie it together. I have not given up on it," said Kert. "I'm still hoping to bring it to Broadway. You know, if the coat feels right, then buy it," he laughed. Kert was asked about his sister,

Anita Louise. She was the singing voice behind Rita Hayworth ("Gilda"), Jeanne Craine, Vera Ellen and dozens of other movie stars of the silver screen

'She's my sister, my mother, my friend," Kert said fondly, "She has a fear of audiences, although once in a while she does a concert. She's spectacular. But she has this fear. She can't function in front of an audience. And she's a wonderful teacher. Anita's one of the biggest artists in the business, and she takes singing lessons all the time. She'll sing with me, but it's painful to her. Anita is married to a successful doctor, Dr. Mortimer Shapiro, and they travel a lot. Really," he said somberly, "I'm proud to be her

Kert made his movie debut with Liza Minnelli and Robert De Niro in "New York, New York," and he would like to do more films.

"In fact, I'm going to California May 1 to do TV and film work, My friend, Beth Howland (she plays Vera in 'Alice'), and I talked for a long time about doing film and television work. She talked me into it. There's so much energy in the theater, but I've decided to go for a different aspect of it. I love New York and Los Angeles. They are like apples and oranges to me.'

When Kert starred in "Guys and Dolls" at the Paper Mill at the beginning of the season, many of the females in the audiences sighed over his resemblance to Paul Newman. Kert grinned and said, "I knew you were going to mention that. That's all I've been hearing. You know, Newman and his wife, Joanne Woodward, are very good friends of mine. We all can't see the resemblance.

"But I was told by others so often, that every once in a while, when I look in the mirror, I try to see the resemblance." He nodded his head, teasingly, grinning his Paul Newman grin. "Sorry, but I still can't see it!"

George Cromarty is a guitarist, a composer, a songwriter and a poet. For a number of years, he has collected folk songs from around the world and songs in more than 20 languages. He is most fluent French and Spanish and has lived in France, Spain, Germany and Mexico.

Born in 1941, George was raised and educated in California, where his family has lived since 1769. He grew up in the central valley, and after two years of travel in Europe, Africa, Canada and Mexico, returned to live on the Monterey coast. There he attended Monterey Peninsula College as an honor student. He later was graduated from U.C. Santa Cruz with a degree in history.

George met Ed Rush at Monterey Peninsula College, and in 1960, they formed a folk duo called

The Gold Coast Singers. They toured nationally and in 1962, released an album of original and traditional songs on World Pacific Records entitled. Here They Are! - The Gold Coast Singers.

In 1963, George served two years in the Army in the Special Services Branch. After the Army, he lived in various places in California and began concentrating on solo guitar.

In 1973, George recorded his first solo guitar album, "Grassroots Guitar," on his own label, Thistle Records (TH-731). This album has original instrumental pieces showing influences from various folk, ethnic and classical styles. Later that year he also recorded "The Only One" (TH-732), a children's album of original and traditional vocal pieces and guitar solos.

'Wind in the Heather'' is a solo acoustic guitar album with all original compositions, produced by George Winston.

Supplement to Albion Ceader & Kenilworth Leader & Mountain Side Echa & Springfield Leader & Linaen Leader & The Spectator

An active year for Springfield board

By STUART APPLEBAUM President, Springfield Board of Education

The past year, 1984, can be described as the most educationally active year in recent memory.

Since the Board's restructuring in June all of us have spent countless hours planning, meeting and discussing the present and future of Springfield's primary education system.

I am very proud to recognize my fellow Board members and our accomplishments. The Board of Education, formerly the focus of town-wide conflict and complaints, has turned the corner and is presently functioning in an admirable fashion. Prior to mid-June, the Board of Education was mired in internal dissension. Almost nothing was being done; our meetings were circuses of cross-insults and confusion; our members remained slaves to the divisive attitudes in both the community and the two quasi-political factions, C.A.U.S.E. and C.A.R.E., vying for control: It was only when these divisive attitudes were bypassed and the Board of Education members made education and progress their first priority, that this inertia was overcome. I strongly believe that this restructuring and reunification of our Board of Education was the most important development of 1984. and I am proud to have played a part. As the board members began to cooperate with one another, tensions lessened in the community and all sides were able to work together in a new spirit.

One of the first and major results of this new spirit was the recertification of our schools by the New Jersey Department of Education. In this regard, we must not forget Dr. Fred Baruchin, our superintendant, whose efforts toward satisfying the state's requirements were productive and successful.

Another result of the board's interactions with the community was the accomplishment of removing asbestos from our school buildings. We are one of the few communities in New Jersey to have taken an active posture in this matter, and I must thank those concerned citizens of Springfield who helped and advised us in this project. The safety of our children must always be a primary concern.

I am most pleased to thank board member Lee Eisen for his work which resulted in the creation of a Citizen's Advisory Committee. This group has the vital function of providing the Board of Education, on an ongoing basis, with input and advice from the residents of Springfield. All of our citizens must remember that this is their school system and we, on the Board of Education, want to be guided by their ideas.

After many long hours of negotiation, a two-year contract with our teachers was reached. This prevented a strike, which could have been disastrous to our town. While being fair to all parties, the contract is innovative because of its creative provisions relating to buy-outs and step schedules. These ideas were long overdue and Board members Ken Faigenbaum and Ned Sambur played a part in this development.

Following much preliminary work by residents Dolores Johnson and Cindy Matta, the Board of Education approved the Helping Hand Program, which is intended to provide assistance to children, on an emergent basis, where their health or safety is threatened.

Our Board of Education also approved board member Pietro Petino's amendments to our policy book. These, for the first time, provide greater fairness and input in the process of appointing Board of Education chairpersons.

Also, thanks to the efforts of concerned citizens Ellen Fishbein, Iris Diamont, Carrie Greenberg and Jackie Schuyler, the board approved a preschool orientation programwhich is a great improvement on the kindergarten round-up of prior years.

Finally, we purchased the Kammerer tract, next to the Caldwell School. This resulted in the removal of the condemned house on the land, an eyesore and a safety hazzard, and will provide additional playground facilities for the children attending the James Caldwell School

All of the foregoing items represent matters which stand out in my mind as special accomplishments. We must remember; however, that they are in addition to all the regular business which must be conducted. The job is not an easy one, but it does have its satisfactions. I would also like to thank Dr. Luciani, Mr. Gomes, Mr. Monaco and Mr. Pepe for their assistance and input on these projects.

For the future, your Board of Education is in the process of engaging the Middle Atlantic States Association of Colleges and Schools for the purpose of long-range planning and advice, this famous professional organization will provide invaluable assistance so that Springfield can return to its former preeminent position in education.

We are also considering an afterschool activities program to provide our children with extra-curricular enrichment. Resident Helene Sambur has my appreciation for all of her work on this project.

The recent sale of the Harrenburg tract, on South Springfield Avenue will bring added revenues to our coffers and help reduce the burden on our taxpayers.

Also recently approved is the purchase of additional computers and the implementation of a new computer curriculum. These will help acquaint our children with the 'Computer Age.'

I could go on and on, but time and space are prohibitive. I can only hope that the attitudes on our Board of Education and in our town, of cooperation and educational progress, will continue through the April election and beyond. Our children, who have suffered because their parents couldn't get along with each other, must suffer no longer their education is primary; all else must be secondary!

Runnells: Premier health care facility

By J.J. MARTIN

Runnells Hospital spokesman

With its 22 buildings spread across 146 acres in the footbills of the Watchung Reservation, John E. Runnells Hospital stands watch over the communities of Union County.

After more than 70 years of service to these communities, it remains one of the premier health facilities in the area. However, the hospital's esteem did not come easily

In 1910, one of every 50 citizens who contracted tuberculosis died. When the New Jersey Legislature enacted a law authorizing the establishment of county hospitals for the care and treatment of what was then termed the "white plague," Union County got to work planning the construction of the first such facility in the area.

A committee was appointed by the Board of Freeholders to select a site for the county hospital and, December of 1910, it adopted the recommendation to locate the new hospital in Berkeley Heights, then known as New Providence Town-

Air conditions at the site, some 350 feet above sea level, were deemed 'perfect'' for patients with lung trouble. The site also had southern exposure, two springs, and was protected from the northwest winds by the Watchung Mountains. The hospital, which consisted of 63 acres. éight buildings and a bed capacity of 60, served patients from Union

County as well as Somerset, Morris and Middlesex, until those counties could establish their own facilities

Children have always played a special role in the development of Runnells. In 1916, a swimming pool was built for the youngsters, and the Dub'e Children's Shelter was established—a place where kids with family problems, or those who were abandoned, could call home:

In 1961, the admission policy was expanded to admit patients suffering from various chronic diseases, such as stroke victims, voted to change the name to the John Runnells Hospital of Union County, after the hospital's first administrator, in 1969

Today Runnells Hospital is a 309bed facility with 221 long term care beds, 58 acute care beds and 30 alcohol rehabilitation beds.

Throughout its history the hospital has concentrated on offering highly specialized health care services to county residents at a reasonable cost. County residents may receive treatment in the areas of: alcoholism detoxification and rehabilitation, in-patient and out-patient psychiatric services, terminal oncology, geriatric care and physical medicine rehabilitation

Other services that now benefit the residents of Union County are: the JINS (Juveniles in Need of Supervision) program; Integrity House, a halfway house for drug abusers, a program for senior citizens that offers free physical exams twice weekly; various programs to help retarded individuals adjust and live in society's mainstream; and SWIM INC (Specialized Water Interest Interest Movement Program), which won a National Association of Counties Achievement Award in 1983 for helping muscularly impaired patients to move otherwise im-mobile limbs through water therapy.

The hospital, which was reaccredited in 1983, has received wide recognition for its alcoholism and psychiatric units which also have (Continued on page 11)

Elizabeth employment prospects 'flat'

Employement prospects are flat in the Elizabeth area for the first quarter of 1985, according to the latest survey by Manpower, Inc., the world's largest temporary help

Helyn Harnett of manpower's Elizabeth office said, "In our area, of the employers pilled 13 percent plan to increase staff during january, february and march, while the same number anticipate staff. reductions. Another 70 percent expect no change and 4 percent are uncertain of their hiring plans.

In a comparable survey conducted one year age, 7 percent of the employers reported hiring intentions and 10 percent expected staff reductions. Last quarter 13 percent of those surveyed inteded to hire and 20 percent expected to reduce their workforces.

The outlook for the coming quarter for Elizabeth is weak compared to the national outlook, where 20 percent of the 11,500 firms surveyed anticipated increases and 12 percent expect decreases. The local picture also compares negatively with other cities in the East, where 22 percent of the companies inteviewed intend to add staff and 11 percent expect reduc-

Local job opportunities are predicted by employers in the services sector and construction firms. Moderate staff reductions are anticipated by durable and nondurable goods manufacuters and finance/insurance/real estate sector employers.

The job outlook across the country should continue a healthy growth pattern. The 20 percent of companies interviewed who plan staff increases is only slightly below the 22 percent of last year. Only 12 percent anticpate workforce reductions, the same as the first quarter of 1984, which was one of the more favorable in recent years.

The January, February and March qurter is never a highly favorable period for job seekers, since the wholesale-retail and other sectors customarily shed workers hired expressly for holiday rush and construction, mining and other outdoor industries encounter inclement weather in the Northern areas of the country.

It's a perfect partner to our residential mortgage program. The Carteret Leasing Group, another new addition in 1984, arranges lease transactions between substantial investors and the corporate users of capital equipment.

These initiatives, along with investment transactions, fee income and effective cost controls, have made significant profit gains for Carteret. Today, our assets stand at over $5 billion. Carteret Savings is now the 15th largest savings and loan in America, with extensive branch networks in New Jersey and Florida.

We are heading into 1985 committed to strategic growth that will not only sustain, but strengthen the level of performance and personal service that people expect from Carteret Savings.

And so the story continues.

In the past year, a new chapter was written into the success story of Carteret Savings. We've generated new programs, reformulated existing ones, brought in new technologies and emerged in 1984 as a broad-based financial services company.

On the retail front, our Money Market Accounts and Certificates of Deposits continue to be competitive in the field. We've also expanded our involvement in the ATM network soon to be nationwide.

And we've added some important new divisions—the kinds of divisions that enable us to compete head-on with other financial companies.

Our Corporate Banking Division offers clients the services of lending professionals with the experience and authority to be responsive to their credit needs. 1984 was a year for growth at MGH

The completion of a construction outside sources of help in the event project and the acquisition of advanced technological equipment topped the list of events that made 1984 a year of change and growth for Memorial General- Hospital in

Dedication ceremonies were held late in the year to mark the completion of a construction and renovation program at the hospital. The project involved the building of a three-story addition to the main hospital on the site of an inner courtyard and a one-story wing adjacent to the front entrance. The building program resulted in the expansion and renovation of the hospital's dietary/cafeteria area, new quarters for oncology/hospice services, increased space and total renovation of the operating room facilities and remodeling of existing patient areas.

Additionally, the construction created centralized headquarters for the hospital's medical education program of residents and interns.

Last year also marked the start of Memorial General's hospice program, which provides support to terminally ill patients and their families. Follow-up support is also extended during the bereavement period

Another outreach program initiated in 1984 was an emergency response system network, whereby medically, at-risk homebound individuals who live alone can maintain 24-hour contact with

of an emergency. With the push of a button, an automatic signal for help is relayed over the telephone to a central communications center. Personnel from this center then summon aid to the person's home.

MGH offers two versions of this system. The first system alerts a communications center to send emergency aid. The second unit, when activated, allows the individual to speak directly to communications personnel via an intercom system. Neither version of the unit requires the subscriber to dial the telephone, thus affording maximum security in the event he or she is injured or ill and cannot get to a phone.

In the area of technology, Memorial General, late in 1984, acquired state of the art equipment in the fields of anesthesiology and pain control that will come more widely into use in 1985.

The first advancement, called the System for Anesthetic and Respiratory Analysis (SARA), enables anesthesiologists to continuously monitor patients under anesthesia. At a glance, the anesthesiologist can see the quantities of oxygen, nitrogen, nitrous oxide, carbon dioxide and anesthetic gas a patient inhales and exhales, as well as the patient's vital signs. Should the patient be receiving too little oxygen or too much gas, SARA will sound an alarm.

The machine has more than a dozen safeguards built in to ensure that the monitors are functioning properly, and it calibrates itself automatically four times a day. At the push of a button, an anesthesiologist knows whether the unit is working correctly. SARA also allows anesthesiologists to fine tune. the amount of gas given to the patient so as to achieve the maximum effect with the least amount of gas

The second acquisition, known as the Patient-Controlled Analgesia System (PCA), completely revolutionizes the methods of administering pain-relieving medication to patients. Memorial General is currently the only hospital in New Jersey to have this technology in use.

Located at the patient's bedside, the system consists of a computerized pump that infuses painrelieving medication directly into the bloodstream through an intravenous line. Rather than wait for intramuscular injections, the patient is now able to receive instant relief at the push of a button.

According to hospital officials, because the PCA allows patients to control their own medication, they actually use less.

In the area of community education and wellness programs. 1984 saw a flurry of activity at MGH. The 201-bed hospital was the site of a the Lions of District 16-E, which saw close to 700 persons receive screenings for oral cancer, diabetes vision and hearing, blood pressure respiratory function, height and weight. Other screening services were held in conjunction with the health departments of neighboring municipalities.

MGH also held a major seminar on the subject of child sexual abuse with a panel of experts including Dr. Judith Kuriansky, sex therapist and psychologist, who formerly broadcast a call-in advice show on WABC-AM. The hosital plans to hold additional seminars on this topic in

County ranks 1st in product values

In the Census of Manufacturers for the Middle Atlantic States for. 1982, just released by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, Union County stands first among the counties of New Jersey in the value of products made by county firms.

Net selling value of all goods produced and shipped by firms located in Union County was $12,485,600,000. Middlesex County was next with $9,912,600,000, followed by Bergen County, $8,235,900,000. Lowest in the state was Cape May County, $37,600,000.

In percentages, Union County product sales were approximately 20 percent higher than those of Middlesex, nearly 30 percent more than Bergen's and 97 percent greater than Cape May's

In measuring industrial activity, the Census Bureau's report covered 10 statistical areas relating to manufacturing operations. Among the 10 categories, Union County was first in three and second in five others. In addition to being first invalue of shipments, the county was first in payroll ($2,093,400,000) and first in cost of materials purchased for processing ($8,193,700,000).

Union County was second in new capital expenditures ($248,100,000), number of employees in manufacturing plants (90,900), number of production workers (49,000), total number of hours worked (93,600,000) and production workers' wages ($862,100,000).

"It is gratifying to note," William C. Franklin, president of the Union County Economic Development Corp., "that the county's manufacturing base has remained so strong even while the county is experiencing a shift to a more service-oriented economy. This makes for an extremely healthy and well-balanced business climate in Union County.

Hospital planning renovation project

The third quarter of 1985 is the tentative starting date for Elizabeth General Medical Center's $26.5 million construction/renovation program — the largest project ever undertaken by the 105-year old institution.

This project is in response to advances in medical technology, increasing demand for services, and changing demographics. Today, Elizabeth General's service area possesses an aging population increasingly in need of coronary and intensive care; a growing number of patients needing a broad range of cancer care and psychiatric services; and a growing demand for the cost effectiveness of same-day surgery, according to George F. Billington, president of the medical center.

The construction/renovation program calls for increasing the number of intensive care/coronary care beds from 15 to 20 and relocating and expanding the unit toprovide space necessary to support monitoring devices and other intensive care equipment.

Expansion of the medical center's short stay area will allow more patients to undergo a wider range of surgical, diagnostic and treatment procedures without requiring an extended hospital stay. The unit will be relocated in an area adjacent to the existing operating and recovery rooms to allow for a better flow of patient care service

The project will address a documented need for space generated by greatly increased numbers of psychiatric admissions and referrals by bringing from 33 to 40 the number of beds of the inpatient psychiatric unit, Billington said. This will allow the unit to be divided into two 20-bed sections so that short term patients may be separated from committed patients undergoing more intensive treatment.

A linear accelerator, used to provide radiological treatment of cancer, will be acquired and housed in a structure adjacent to the radiology department. Acquisition of the linear accelerator will enhance a 47-year commitment by the medical center to quality cancer care, Billington added.

Other major enhancements include expanded and modernized facilities for physical therapy, respiratory therapy, and electrodiagnostic services, a new pharmacy, central sterile supply and general storeroom, he said.

According to Sefton Stallard, chairman of Jersey Mortgage Company and chairman of the medical center's board of trustees, the construction/renovation program is in response to a greatly increased demand for health care services

SURROUNDING AREA

The Samuels Family started in business in 1932 when Jacob Samuels opened a used car lot at 2901 Springfield Ave. in the Vauxhall section of Union.

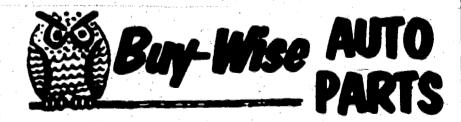

As his 3 sons grew older they joined the family business and helped it grow to one of N.J.'s largest. All went well until world War 11 when business conditions forced them to close. At this point "Pop" Samuels retired.

The 3 boys reopened the business in 1946 and in 1951 added a new car showroom and automotive service facility. As the business kept growing an auto body and painting facility (the largest in Union) was added in 1952. The Samuels boys became the largest Studebaker-Packard Sales & Service showroom on the Eastern seaboard. When Studebaker ceased production in 1964 the boys continued their service and body shop business.

In 1965 a complete turn-around was accomplished when, in addition to their service and body shop business, they converted their auto showroom into the present "Buy Wise Auto Parts!"

Martin and Ervin Samuels recently completed the construction of thousands of additional square feet which will make Samuels, Inc. Auto Parts Warehouse the largest in the state, distributing all the major brands: Purolater, Delco, A.C., TRW, BCA Bearings, Mc Cord, etc. We represent 132 manufacturers.

The firm is presently run by Ervin Samuels with the able affiliation of Robert Samuels, Matt Piano, and Larry Ringler and assisted by Jr. Stradford and Junius Lewter who have matured with the constant growth of the firm and are part of the great future that has made Buy Wise Auto Parts known by the phrase "If it's automotive...most likely we have it." Computer help offered

Home Computer Consultants, founded by Martin Greene, a former public school educator and a long-time Commodore 64 hobbyist, offrs a group of services which will benefit adults and children

Many people have chosen to purchase the Commodore 64 because of the variety of powerful tasks it is able to perform, from educating children to work and information processing to financial manager.

The variety of software available to help perform these tasks is increasing every day. Unfortunately, most adults do not have the time to shop for the software which will best help them and their children get the most out of the computer. The result is often a computer which sits on the shelf or is used for games only

For brand new owners of the Commodore 64 (HCC does not sell computers), they offer in-home setup and evaluation of the computer system to make sure the keyboard works properly with the disc drive, monitor and even the printer. They then spend time helping everyone in the home feel comfortable with the computer and its proper usage.

Another unique service they offer is a wide variety of instructional programs, including one-time lessons on how to use a word processor, how to use a spreadsheet, how to set up a small business bookkeeping system, and many more. For young musicians they offer a whole system which will make practicing fun, encouraging and enriching.

Home Computer Consultants will help you to find the educational software best suited to your children's needs, from pre-school through high school, from academic subjects to music and art.

The most important service they offer is a person to call when you have a question relating to any aspect of computer usage. They have many answers and have the resources to find the rest.

For more information about their services, please call them at 688-8138 or write to P.O. Box 174, Springfield 07081.

Lower interest rates compared to those available a year ago together with even lower inflation, only modest wage increases and low ratio of inventories to sales, indicate that a recession is unlikely," Carlson said.

'Growth of the economy should be somewhat sluggish during the first two quarters of this year before a light accelaration occurs in the second half of 1985 and during 1986,"

The economist explained that a slowing in the rate of gross national product growth is typical at this state of an economic recovery:

After the period of slower growth, the economy normally returns to fairly rapid growth. However, the rate of expansion usually remains somewhat slower than during the initial recovery period. Since 1948, there have been three periods when the economy has followed this growth recession scenario, and it is likely to be repeated his year, Carlson said.

Following are some of the highlights from Carlson's latest "Outlook for the Economy and Real Estate"

After increasing an estimated 6.7 percent in 1984, real (inflationadjusted) GNP is likely to increase

Despite the significant slowdown 2.4 percent this year and 3.3 percent next year.

> On a quarter-by-quarter basis, real GNP is likely to accelerate gradually from a 1.6 percent annualized rate during this quarter to 2.7 percent by the fourth quarter.

By the second quarter of next year, real GNP is likely to be growing at an annualized rate of nearly 3.5 percent.

Short-term interest rates should continue to trend downward duing the first six months of 1985 due to the weakness of the economy and modest easing of credit conditions by the Federal Reserve Board.

The yield on three-month Treasury bills, now at about 7.8 percent, could fall as low as 6 percent during the spring. However, as the economy rebounds in the second half of the year, short-term rates should turn upward, with the rate on three-month Treasury bills back up to over 8 percent through 1986.

Long-term rates should trend downward over most of 1985 due to reduced private credit demands and increasing acceptance by investors that inflation could remain at or near current levels for the foreseeable future.

The effective commitment rate for 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage loans, which is currently about 13.8 percent, should decline by 1 percentage point to about 12.7 percent by the second half of 1985.

While the federal budget deficit for 1984, at $175 billion, is likely to be lower than the 1983 deficit of $1190 billion, the deficits projected from 1985 and 1986 can be expected to

to slow government spending or increase tax revenues

Rapid economic growth in the first half of 1984 and tax increases were the primary reasons for the modestly lower deficit projection for last year

The deficit this year is likely to represent nearly 70 percent of net domestic savings. In 1986, the deficit can be expected to represent the same percentage, or even more, of these savings. Thus funds for investment will have to come from abroad, likely causing lower export volume and higher import volume.

At this point there is a very little likelihood of an increase in inflation in the near term. Rather, inflation is likely to be lower in 1985 than it was last year. Good harvests around the world should keep food prices stable, while oil prices are likely to fall.

In fact in 1985 the rate of consumerprice inflation is likely to fall from 3.5 percent in the first quarter to about 3 percent by their third quarter. A light upturn in the CPE can expected beginning in the fourth quarter and during 1986 in response to the likely increase in economic growth during the second half of 1985 and during 1986.

Campared to an increase of 4.3 percent of 1984, consumer prices are expected to increase only 3.5 percent in all of 1985, and for all of 1986, they can be expected to increase about 3.8 percent

Personal income per household is expected to average about $40, 500 this year, nearly 2 percent more surpass $200 billion in spite of efforts—than last year after adjusting for inflation. In 1986, personal income per household can be expected to average about $42,700, nearly 2 average after adjusting for inflation Little or no further decline in the unemployment rate is expected.

The year 1985 promises an acceleration in the already rapid change in the banking industry, according to Ralph A. Corbin, chairman of the New Jersey Bankers Association (NJBA).

"The change will be evident not only in the way banks serve their customers," he said, "but also in the emergence of interstate banking, unofficial in its form, but unmistakable in its reality."

Corbin, who also is chairman of Midlantic Bank/North, West Paterson, said the door has been opened to new steps in the direction of interstate banking by "the failure of the last Congress to act on the issue of who is to be allowed into the banking business, and under what rules"

Regulators, by honoring laws currently on the books, have been obliged to allow the establishment, across state lines, of consumer banks or, as some call them "nonbanks", Corbin said. "There is still debate over what precise form these consumer banks should take, but the cat's out of the bag," he said.

"Consumer banks will be with us, and a potent form of interstate banking is here, now."

"Apparently, most consumer banks will elect to forego commercial loans," Corbin said, "but the inability to make commercial loans, in most instances, will be a non-issue."

Corbin noted threats by Senator Jake Garn, chairman of the U.S. Senate Banking Committee, to force banks to roll back to the status quo as of July 1, 1983; thereby making it risky to open out-of-state consumer banks. Corbin said he considers such a rollback unlikely: "These are the same legislators who could not get a banking bill out in 1984 when the need for such action was compelling," he said. "I don't believe that such threats will intimidate most bankers. For one thing, once consumer banks are operating on an interstate basis, to force their closure would inflict harm not just on banks; but on many others as well. The employees of consumer banks are only the most obvious of those who would be injured by such an action."

Moreover, he added, such a rollback would fly in the face of the general movement toward banking deregulation, a movement which has proved benficial to the consumer, through greater competition. "Deregulation, I believe, is here to stay." Corbin said, "and we can anticipate further dregulation steps in 1985."

New Jersey has a particularly heavy stake in this, Corbin asserted. "Our state, with its healthy, diversified economy, its concentration of major national corporate headquarters, and its countless well-established communities, ranks as one of America's most desireable places for banks to do business. It is not hard to foresee the arrival of a large number of out-of-state newcomers to our scene, seeking to establish consumer banks, loan production offices, and the other elements that make up the banking industry. In fact, some of these operations from out of state are already here, competing with us right now.

Corbin predicted that New Jersey's banks will stand up well to the increased competitive pressure arising from any new out-of-state operations that appear here. "Our banks will compete, and do it effectively," he said. "We already have a strongly competitive climate in our state, and our banks have learned to operate well in such a climate. That goes for middle-sized and smaller banks as well as New Jersey's larger banking organizations. Smaller banks have learned to focus harder on those services they perform best, or inthose geopgraphic areas where they are the most effective. That enables them to formidable competitors with their larger New Jersey cousins They are not going to be frightened by the prospect of more competitors from elsewhere.

proven extremely successful. Since its inception in 1973, the alcoholism unit has served some 7,000 residents and has been cited for excellence and service in three national awards also presented by the National Association of Counties in Washington, D.C.

Both the alcoholism unit and the in-and out-patient psychiatric unit have become part of the "umbrella care" system that has distinguished Runnells from other health care facilities offering similar services.

According to hospital officials, an increasing number of patients have come to Runnells with 'dual diagnoses,' i.e., while they are being admitted for a psychotic incident, they may have a history showing past alcohol and/or drug abuse. Unlike other area hospitals, Runnells can first take whatever time necessary to stabilize the patient in the psychiatric unit; then the patient can be transferred to the alcoholism unit for further therapy and increased socialization, including group meetings and family counseling.

In this area, Runnells is actually paving the way for the future of mental health and psychiatric care. In fact, several physicians now working at the prestigious Fair Oaks Hospital in Summit actually received their training and experience in these areas at John E. Runnells Hospital.

Runnells recently blazed another trail by becoming the first hospital in New Jersey to join an energy savings program which could save the county an estimated $3.5 million in fuel expenses during the next 10 years.

Under the program, a private energy management corporation installs conservation equipment and in exchange will share with the county the resulting annual fuel savings—an estimated $225,000 during the first year alone.

Both the county manager and the freeholders have pledged to county residents that continuation of quality patient care at a reasonable cost will be the top priority for 1985. It is just one more way in which John E. Runnells Hospital combines its rich past with a promising future, improving both health care and the quality of life for all Union County residents.

As we enter 1985, Investors Savings intends to continue to build on the foundation of strength that is the result of operating a sound, conservative savings institution, Lewan concluded.

Springfield enters 1985 with a rare opportunity in hand. It has a chance to create a civic activity center where its residents of all ages can gather to pursue intellectual and recreational activities of interest to them and in the process create a truly tightly knit community. This opportunity has come about as a result of the town's acquisition of the former Raymond Chisholm School.

The nutrition program has become very popular in the brief time that the center has been open. It is evident that it will be a major focal point for many of our townspeople.

A full program of other youth and adult oriented programs is in preparation at the moment also. The Chisholm School offers great promise to be just as cohesive a force for community identity as has

DISREGARD FOR HUMAN NEEDS

PEOPLE OR DOLLARS?

"NATION'S HEALTH BILL TOO HIGH!"

"LIVER TRANSPLANTS EXCEED $100,000" "MEDICARE TO GO BANKRUPT" "PUBLIC DEMANDS CHEAPER HEALTH CARE!"

In recent months these and similar headlines have proclaimed the current financial crisis in American health care. But they all contain the same fundamen-

They all focus exclusively on cost.

EACH OF US WILL HAVE TO CHOOSE

We in Catholic health care recognize the seriousness of the current financial crisis. And we are not so naive as to believe that the choice is as simple as people vs. dollars. But we believe that beyond the need for dollars are more important needs—human needs. The need to continue providing health care to those who cannot afford to pay for it. The need to maintain for everyone—rich and poor alike—the quality of the finest health care system in the world. The need to respect the dignity and worth of each human life. We do not believe that health care problems can be solved on the basis of money alone, without carefully considering these deeper human values.

American Products calls Union 'home

American Products Company, Inc., situated in an award winning building on Rahway Avenue, Union, since 1963 is one of the little known but unique companies which have chosen to call Union their home.

The company, founded in 1955 in Staten Island, moved to Union in 1963 after a short time in Staten Island and later in Kenilworth. In the words of the late Walter Eickele. founder and president, Union was selected as the present home of American Products because it was the "most business friendly" community in the area.

This feeling is shared by his wife, Anna Eickele, who became president in 1984 after Mr. Eickele's death, "We always felt Union was good for American Products because a progressive business can only thrive in a progressive community," she said.

In 1976 American Products was the recipient of the Union Township

"Mayor's Award for Industrial Excellence" because of the eyepleasing brick and bronze facade which its new addition presented to passersby and neighbors. Later, in 1982, the firm was given national honors by its selection as the U.S. Small Business Administration's choice as "National Small Business Sub-Contractor of the Year.'

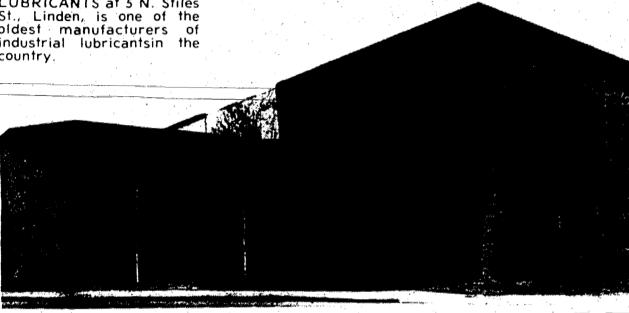

Always a community oriented business, Mrs. Eickele said she was "proud" that American Products has returned some of the help that Union gave to the company over the computer to the high school," she said, "and one of our senior executives, Arthur Harden, donates a lot of his time as a member of the board of directors of Memorial General Hospital."

With more than 200 employees, American Products Company is one of the leading precision metal machining operations in the United States, Its products form major parts of aerospace fuel and guidance systems, ordnance systems, ultrahigh-technology data processing systems, plus many other specialized and unique applications.

Parts made by American Products are literally "carved" from solid bars of special aluminum alloys, all varieties of stainless steels, titanium alloys and exotic alloys of copper. Most of the precision parts have size tolerances which are a small fraction of the thickness of human hair. "Plus or minus one ten-thousands of an inch or even fifty millionths of an inch is fairly routine for us," Mrs. Eickele said.

The company's machinery is largely-computer controlled. Many of the machines the company has are capable of producing large quantities of precision parts that until recent years were something only a highly skilled toolmaker could produce a few at a time.

"We've grown along with Union," she said. "We've had to expand our plant two times already, and we plan to stay here .

Professional Park finds 'ideal' location in Union

according to a announcement by N. Larry Paragano and Marvin Bromberg of Ideal Professional Associates, the developers and builders of the project

The office complex, consisting of approximately 90,000 square feet of luxury office space is situated on the landmark site of the Ideal Dairy Farms at 2333 Morris Ave., Union.

The four-building complex is perfectly suited for all professionals such as lawyers, doctors and accountants or for sales offices.

Phase I of the office park leased up rather quickly because of the many unique features offered. such as 24-hour access with entries to all suites directly from the parking lot. The building offers the newest, most energy-efficient heating, ventilating and air-conditioning systems which provide optimum heating and cooling at a very low cost. Also each tenant is able to individually control the HVAC system in his own suite. Each office has the privacy of a separate entrance and second floor units have private balconies. Separate restroom facilities are provided in each suite. Double-hung thermopane windows are another special feature which permits fresh air enthusiasts the opportunity to open up the windows in mild weather.

One of the unique aspects of Ideal Professional Park is its on-site, individual self-service record storage compartments located in the basement of each building. The units are ideal for storage of dead files, inactive records and surplus or rarely used office equipment. The facilities are individually sized to meet the needs of each tenant and will also be available to those professionals in the area who are only in need of the storage space. In addition, these units are available at a fraction of the cost of office space.

A completely furnished 1,200-square foot model office is open daily, thus enabling prospective tenants to see how a typical office can be beautifully finished.

The park is centrally located at the intersection of Lousons Road and Morris Avenue in Union, only minutes from the Garden State Parkway, Route 22, Interstate 24 and 78, and the New Jersey Turnpike. The location offers direct access to Newark International Airport and the Hudson River crossings into Manhattan.

Among the tenants who took occupancy in the first two buildings were such sales companies as Searle consumer Products, Louis Allis, a Litton Industries subsidiary, and Keeler/Dorr Oliver Company, an affiliate of the Standard Oil Company.

Erisco, a Thomas National Company, occupies more than 5,000 square feet and recently expanded and now has an entire floor of space.

Joel M. Pearlberg and Company, Certified Public Accountants, leased more than 7,500 square feet as well as taking advantage of the record storage facility in the basement of the building.

Physicians at Ideal include Dr. David Wolkstein, orthopedist; Dr. Herbert Hein and Dr. Alan Goldfeder, ophthamalogists; Dr. Nasas Haidrai, neurologist; Dr. Ralph Sweeney, orthopedist; and Dr. Usha Sundaram, pediatric allergist. Dr. Seymour Fish moved his Hillside dental practice to the park and the Hearing Lab opened its third New Jersey hearing aid center in a first-floor suite.

The law offices of Robert Levy & Mark Lybeck took an entire second-floor wing for the expansion of their law practice.

Developers of the park are Ideal Professional Associates of Short Hills headed by N. Larry Paragano and Marvin Bromberg who have teamed up for the first time. Between them, they have combined 50 years of experience in the construction business.
