

Cancer center conducts dedication

Pioneer in local treatment of leukemia, malignant solid tumors, hemophilia and other bleeding problems, the Valerie Fund Children's Center at Overlook Hospital conducted a dedication Sunday, not only to mark its move to new facilities at Overlook, but to tell its story. It's a story of the best state-of-the-art treatment for cancer and blood disorders, with personalized support for patient and family, available close to home at any of the three Valerie Fund Centers.

As part of the ceremony, the Valerie Fund presented a check to Overlook towards its yearly contribution of $150,000 for the Center.

The first Center was established in 1977 at Overlook Hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Goldstein, of Warren, who named the fund and center after their daughter, Valerie, who died at the age of nine after a lengthy battle with bone cancer.

During their child's illness, the Goldsteins also dealt with the burden of out-of-state travel—several times a week for 6½ years. They, too, learned first-hand the disruption and frustrations of going to a large, sometimes impersonal urban center for treatment.

As a result, Mr. and Mrs. Goldstein envisioned a community-based treatment program for New Jersey children that would help minimize the disruption of family life and normal day-to-day childhood activities, and would be small enough to provide personal attention for patients and families.

All of these things are true today at the three Valerie Fund Children's Centers in New Jersey. "Pediatric cancer patients who live in New Jersey are fortunate to have a choice," says Dr. Wolff, director of the center at Overlook. "They no longer are forced to go out-of-state because the same treatment is available at an accessible Valerie Fund Center in New Jersey."

Susan Ansari, who took her daughter to the center for 3½ years for chemotherapy, explains, "By getting immediate care, the patient gets better care. Immediate care helps the general outcome of treatment because for these kids, a common cold is a major catastrophe. Last year, Kayte had five colds and four developed into pneumonia. When your child is sick, has a 104-degree fever and you have to take her to an out-of-state hospital, that in itself can be a major catastrophe. We have two other children and since we've been coming to the Valerie Fund Center, I can do everything for Kayte and be home when the other kids arrive from school."

"The attitude of the patient has important bearing on his or her recovery from these diseases," says Dr. Wolff. "Since the Valerie Fund Children's Center is small and we treat fewer patients than the large medical centers, we can spend more time with each patient and family. We have teen and parent support groups and everyone on the staff—physicians, nurses, the social worker and even office personnel—get to know the patients and their families personally. Our staff goes to the homes to see our families and we visit our children's school to ease their way.

In announcing the new chairman and chairwoman, Posyton said, "Livio and Vivian are very active in our community, and I am confident that they will conduct a very successful campaign."

"Here in Kenilworth we expect to raise $2,000 this year," said chairmen Mancino and Keenan. This money will be used to support programs in Union County for prevention, early detection and treatment of cancer as well as to provide assistance to cancer patients.

CHAMP WALKER Carl Johnson of Springfield, an employee of Foster Wheeler, Livingston, poses with 1985 March of Dimes Poster Children Kim Trani, center, and Brent Crane. Johnson has raised more than $12,000 for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

Town man walks for charity drive

On the strength of the effort by a township resident, Foster Wheeler Corporation, Livingston, again participated in the Annual March of Dimes TeamWalk campaign Sunday to raise funds to support programs in research, education and medical services for the prevention of birth defects.

Last year, the corporation's employees led New Jersey teams by raising more than $25,000. A major volunteer fund-raiser is Foster Wheeler's Carl Johnson of Springfield, who has raised more than $12,000 for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. He set a goal of $10,000 for this year's walk.

Prior to the event, Johnson believed his goal was attainable because his method of securing sponsorship is somewhat unusual and advantageous. His position as security officer enhances the opportunity to talk about TeamWalk with Foster Wheeler executives. Afterward, nobody can refuse they each sponsor him with $5 per kilometer. Last year, an executive from Indiana sponsored him for $100 a kilometer and sent a check for $3,000.

This year's route was reduced from 30 to 20 kilometers with the Prudential Complex in Roseland as the starting point. Johnson's firm provided a T-shirt and survivor to all TeamWalk '85 participants and refreshments at the walk's conclusion in Verona Park.

Polish festival set for May 26

Edward Wojcik of Parkway Drive, Union, is program book chairman of the New Jersey Polish Heritage Festival Committee. The festival is set for Sunday, May 26, in Asbury Park's Convention Center and is sponsored by committee.

This day-long festival of ethnic music, singing, dance, as well as cultural and historic exhibits, underlines Poland's 1,000 years history of Christianity, he said.

The day's activities are divided into a series of events starting in the morning with musical and dancing entertainment by various children's groups in colorful ethnic costumes.

At 12:30 p.m., a Holy Mass will be celebrated by Bishop Edward U. Kmiec of Trenton, assisted by many of New Jersey's Polish clergy. The Mass will honor the Reverend Saint Maksymilian Kolbe, who died in a Nazi concentration camp in Poland during World War II and also the Reverend Jerzy Popieluszko, murdered by Communist government security officers in Poland last winter.

A musical extravaganza will start at 4 p.m. in the Paramount Theater under the direction of Professor Walter Legawiec. It will feature young Polish stars such as pianist Elzbieta Tarnawska, a prize winner of the IX International Chopin Competition in Warsaw; singer Barbara Libersky-Nowicka, winner of Metropolitan Opera competitions; ballet dancer Lorna Zawacka, principal dancer of the Zawacka Ballet of New York; and "Eleni," the singing sensation from Poland who will sing with the popular Leszek Swierszcz Orchestra appearing throughout New Jersey.

Jan Lewan, a singing star currently appearing throughout the New York-New Jersey Metropolitan area will be featured, as well as the Polish American Folk Dance Company, choreographed by Stanley Pelc.

The program will be concluded by the Statue of Liberty Pageant staged by Legawiec.

In the evening at Convention Hall will be public dancing to the music of the "Jersey Express" and the "Brass Release."

For ticket information call Wojcik at 688-2439.

Orchestra in concert May 16

The Union Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Leo Rindler, will present its final concert of the season on Thursday, May 16, at 8:30 p.m. in Connecticut Farms School.

Guest artist will be pianist Carol Ferri, who will perform the Grieg Concerto in A Minor.

In addition, the orchestra will perform selections from the works of Mozart, Bizet, Boieldieu, Gershwin and Souza as well as Chabrier, Rossini, Bizet, Shostakovich and Strauss.

Tickets are required and may be obtained without charge from the Franklin State Bank, The Union Center National Bank, Gruber's, Stan Sommers and the Altenburg Piano House in Elizabeth.

Further information may be obtained by calling 688-6887.

'Stop smoking' forum for pregnancies

Pregnant women who want to kick the cigarette habit may want to attend "Smoking Cessation Through Hypnosis," a free session that will be offered May 7 at Rahway Hospital.

Glenn Wey of Creative Mind Concepts, Inc., Fairfield, "feels so strongly that pregnant women

Pedersen said that Wey conducted the smoking cessation program for Rahway Hospital employees and many of them were able to stop for the first time in years.

The May 7 session will run from 7 to 10 p.m. in the hospital conference room. Pre-registration is necessary. More information and registration forms are available from the Rahway Hospital community relations office, 499-6137. The registration deadline is May 3.

a program on osteoporosis for the general public.

"Osteoporosis develops slowly, over the course of many years and affects eight times as many women as men," Dedrick explained. "Most people don't realize it, but bone is active living tissue and needs to be fed calcium. Unfortunately, most adult women (two out of three over 17), and many men, don't get enough calcium in their diets."

"However, if you keep up an adequate daily intake of calcium, you can prevent the occurrence of osteoporosis. That's why during the ages 20 to 40, it is very important to take in enough calcium so that after 40 you are starting from a strong base."

Rodino charges legal service 'abuses'

Rep. Peter W. Rodino, Jr. (D-10th), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has released a General Accounting Office (GAO) report revealing abuses by the Legal Services Corporation in the procedures it used to award over $1 million in federal grants on Sept. 30, 1984 - the last day of fiscal year 1984.

Congressman Rodino requested the report last October after various questions were raised about the propriety of the grants.

"The GAO report," said Rodino, "indicates that three grants were awarded for national legal support centers in September, 1984, without proper public notice required by law. The report shows how the Legal Services Corporation did not assess the need for these grants, failed to evaluate the legal assistance priorities identified by local legal services programs, and did not solicit proposals from existing support centers, which has been the procedure in the past."

representatives, and eligible clients, evaluated the proposals."

The three support centers that received grants are the Constitutional Law Center of Cumberland, Va. ($337,000); the National Legal Center for the Medically Dependent and Disabled of Indianapolis, Ind. ($337,000); and the Urban Legal Foundation of Oakland, Calif. ($400,000).

"The Legal Services Corporation was created to provide funds for the delivery of civil legal services for the poor," said Rodino. "By providing access to our judicial system, the Legal Services Corporation was intended to help make a reality of our national promise of 'equal justice for all.'"

"Rather," Rodino noted, "the report suggests that the awards were granted on the basis of 'personal assessments' by staff members, without a review committee. In the past, a review committee comprised of staff, field program

District sets goals for future

The Union County Regional High School District, meeting as a Committee on Future Planning, determined that it will conduct a long-range study of the educational needs of the district through the next 10 years.

At a meeting held at Jonathan Dayton High School in Springfield April 23, the committee heard a presentation from Eve Marchiony, field representative of the New Jersey School Boards Association. Marchiony emphasized that any long-range planning study must first deal with the educational program and services which the board of education desired for its students. Therefore, the administrative and supervisory staff of the district, working under the direction of Superintendent Donald Merachnik, will develop educational plans to determine what should be offered in a quality high school program in 1995.

Once the educational needs and plans are established, the board will consider enrollments, staffing and space requirements. The major thrust, however, will be on the quality educational programs required by students in 1995 to meet the challenges of a changing society.

Agencies link transient services

A new cooperative arrangement linking services to transients has been established by the Jewish Family Service of MetroWest and the Jewish Family Service of Central New Jersey. According to Jerry Harwood and Sidney Neidich, presidents, respectively, of the MetroWest and Central New Jersey agencies, the plan represents "a major step forward in the integration of Jewish services in this state."

Under the newly created Joint

Transient Response Service, the agencies will coordinate information referral, emergency cash relief, housing, food supply, counseling and family contacts.

"We feel that this new approach will make it possible for us to serve our clients more effectively," the presidents said in their joint statement. "We also hope to conserve community resources by preventing the overlap of services."

The two family services are constituents, respectively, of the United Jewish Federation of MetroWest and the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey and beneficiaries of their United Jewish Appeals. The MetroWest agency is a beneficiary of the United Way of Essex and West Hudson and the United Way of North Essex and the Central New Jersey agency is a beneficiary of the United Way of East Union County and the United Way of Cranford. Mildred Hamilton is executive director and Elliot R. Rubin is executive vice president of, respectively, the Central New Jersey and MetroWest services.

IRONBOUND RESIDENTS FOR OBJECTIVE REPORTING

April 18, 1985

Editor
Star Ledger
Star-Ledger Plaza
Newark, N.J. 07102

Dear Editor,

Your recent editorial viewpoint entitled, "A better way", should be recognized for what it is, "An Unsafe Way". It is in fact a restatement of Star-Ledger policy and attitudes that have aided and abetted Essex County officials and the Port Authority in their plans to build a garbage incinerator in the Ironbound section of Newark.

It is a sad yet fully preconceived journey that the Star-Ledger long ago embarked upon regarding support of this incinerator project, under the guise of responsible news reporting and public information awareness. Such misguidance of a freepress, stimulated by Essex County politics, has brought the Star-Ledger to a new low, thus giving credence to what many people already acknowledge as, "The Star-Lier".

Using the same catchall terminology, high-tech, trash-to-energy, and resource recovery, so familiar to high paid public relations people hired by Essex County, the editor has glossed over the truly scientific dangers inherent in this garbage incinerator. Like county official you appear more interested in the rights of garbage as opposed to the rights of flesh and blood human beings.

Your cheap attempt to verbally place the incinerator site outside the boundaries of the Ironbound will not hold water let alone trash. In one paragraph you speak of the emotional controversy of the Blanchard Street location, while in the next you speak of the opposition from residents of the nearby Ironbound section. Upon reading this one wonders if you know anything about the Ironbound at all, for Blanchard Street is part of the Ironbound section. Perhaps county officials have persuaded you by one way or another to spread their propaganda.

County officials have created a subterfuge by distributing maps of Ironbound geographically divided in half with the Blanchard Street site located in the eastern half. A so-called line of demarcation crosses Wilson Ave., runs down Kormorn Street over Magazine Street, and heads to the Passaic River, cutting Riverbank Park away from Ironbound. With this single line the county has geographically altered our historic place on the world map. Ironbound residents are not simply nearby as you put it and Blanchard Street remains part of the community and always will. Whole neighborhoods will not be blotted out with a stroke of the pen for the sake of political expediency and editorial rhetoric.

Your reference to widely and successfully operated incinerators and technology in Western Europe is behind the times. This is the same kind of propaganda county officials shove under the public's nose in an attempt to win approval. They spotlight such countries as Germany and Switzerland, traditionally recognized for their efficiency and order in doing things, yet fail to mention that their incinerators are now being brought to public scrutiny, and for good reason.

A recent newspaper in Switzerland concluded that mass burning garbage incinerators are among the most polluting in the country and that even the newest and best plants can't control carcinogens emitted by burning plastics in waste.

In a July 2, 1984 article in major West German magazine Der Spiegel (The Mirror) it says that the era of mass burning of garbage is over and that the huge mass burning plant in Hamburg emits 700 times more dioxin than the recommended limits.

Quite naturally as you come to the end of your incinerator endorsement you focus in on the true motivating factor behind the Essex County Garbage Incinerator proposal, and that fact is money. There is money to be made, and at all levels, even at the sacrifice of the health and well being of the hard working people of the Ironbound, who already pay the overwhelming share of city taxes.

With complete and callous disrespect for human life you speak of this dangerous project as being a new source of revenues for this city that lacks ratables. You even encourage the importing of garbage from other counties in order to make a 10 percent disposal fee.

The greatest source of revenues this city has are the people who live here and that are helping to rebuild, and the people of the Ironbound are paying their share. The people of our community, mostly Portuguese, have rebuilt their neighborhood. With hard work and sweat that made this country great our people are being punished by this proposed garbage incinerator. The American Dream is being turned into a nightmare by unscrupulous means craving political power, and you and your newspaper are part of it. This is an injustice that shall not be endured so long as freedom loving people in our free land have the breath to speak out.

Newark's best interests will not be served by getting construction of a garbage incinerator under way. The only interests that will be served are of those who support construction of it. You have failed to enliven the public about alternatives, for which you have little or any interest. Your words of support for this project are as ashes produced in an incinerator. They lack feeling, have lost their sensitivity, and are worthless, and like the dead they can not feel.

Sincerely,

Jon Dolberg

Lawn care safety hints listed

Many new power tools for lawn and garden work have become available to homeowners and professionals. While these tools are usually more convenient and effective than the hand tools they replace, they also pose more serious threats to the safety of the people who use them.

The Union County Division of Consumer Affairs reminds consumers to exercise caution when operating power lawn mowers and hedge trimmers.

"Each year we read of unnecessary law accidents and tragedies," noted Ellen Bloom of Springfield, division director. "Consumers must protect themselves, their families, and neighbors by using power mowers and trimmers with extreme care."

The Union County Division of Consumer Affairs and the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) also alert consumers to the special dangers associated with a relatively new lawn care product: the brushcutter and combination trimmer/brushcutter.

The brushcutter is similar to the flexible string weed cutter, but it has a blade of steel or hard plastic that allows it to cut through heavy brush or even small saplings. In the event of an accident, this blade has the capacity to inflict serious injury upon the brushcutter's operator or upon bystanders.

The CPSC recently issued a safety alert which documented a number of severe lacerations and near amputations suffered by victims of brushcutter accidents. The greatest threat appears to be bystanders or helpers who get hurt when the operator loses control of the machine, or when the blade flies loose.

The Union County Division of Consumer Affairs, within the Department of Public Safety, advises all brushcutter operators to take the following safety precautions:

—Keep all people away from the operator while the machine is in use.

—Make sure the blade is properly secured to the shaft before starting work. Replace damaged blades at once.

—Switch to flexible string trimmers or hand tools when cutting close to fences, sides of buildings, or other solid obstacles. Many accidents have occurred when brushcutters ricocheted off such objects into people.

—Clear work area of trash or other hidden debris that could be thrown back at operator or bystanders.

—Wear protective clothing, including safety eye goggles.

—Only adults should operate brushcutters. Children should be kept away from this and all other dangerous machinery, including power mowers and trimmers.

The United States Consumer Product Safety Commission and Echo, Incorporated announced a recall of approximately 62,000 elastic harnesses with spring-loaded snap hooks used on Echo weed and grass trimmers. The elastic harness worn by the operator is attached to the shaft of the trimmer by the snap hook. Under certain conditions, the snap hook may release and fly back into the operator's face. Echo has received reports of severe eye and dental damage due to snap hook recoils.

The recalled models are numbered SRM-200 DA and SRM-200-D. They were sold through Echo distributors from November 1977 to December 1979 for approximately $219.95.

"Anyone who owns one of these recalled harnesses should return it immediately to an Echo dealer for a free replacement harness," said Blom.

Additional information about the brushcutter or the recall of Echo elastic harnesses is available at the toll-free Consumer Product Safety Commission Hotline at 800/638-CPSC.

Those who have been unable to successfully resolve a problem with a retail transaction may write to Union County Consumer Affairs, P. O. Box 186, Westfield 07090, including a brief letter and copies of receipts or contracts.

GO TO HEALTH—Martha Wheeler, education specialist with the Union County Council on Alcoholism, addresses a class during the Youth Awareness Conference recently at Kean College, Union. The conference, entitled 'Go To Health,' was attended by about 400 students from high schools in Union County. ## BPU orders lower gas rates

The Board of Public Utilities (BPU) has directed the Elizabethtown Gas Company to implement an $8.7 million reduction in its levelized purchased gas adjustment (PGA) charge pending final BPU approval of the request, Duncan S. Ellsworth Jr., president and chief executive officer, has announced.

Ellsworth said the reduced PGA would be applied to gas service rendered on and after April 1. Customers on billing cycles which span the April 1 effective date will receive bills pro-rated with both the old and new PGA rates.

The new PGA rate is 2.84 cents per therm lower than the old rate. Thus, a residential gas heating customer using an average of 100 therms per month would save $2.84 on his or her monthly bill, or about $34 per year. A non-heating residential customer using an average of 25 therms per month would save 71 cents on a monthly bill, or about $8.50 per year.

Elizabethtown Gas applied for the $8.7 million reduction Jan. 29 to cover a 12-month period between April 1985 and March 1986. The levelized PGA is a method by which gas utilities can pass along to their customers both increases and decreases in the cost of natural gas purchased from their pipeline suppliers.

WHAT WAS THE PURPOSE AND DURATION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT?
the Lord Promised the Holy Spirit to the Apostles Only

John 14, 15 & 16

We are all aware of the fact that many of the leading preachers of our time (Denominationalism) and especially those on television and radio, claim direct guidance from God through the Holy Spirit. But their claims don't make it true. And this is not new.

If you believe all those who claim a "hot line" to Heaven, I suggest you read Jeremiah chapters 23 and 28, also Matt. 24:11, 24:5, Matt. 7:15, 21:23, 2 Cor. 11:13-15, Matt. 15:13-14. Back then, there were self-styled prophets, who tried to pass their dreams and opinions off on the people as God's word, even telling them "He (God) said." God said they caused the people "to err by their lies." He said, "I have not sent these prophets. I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied in My Name."

There is one thing for sure. When a preacher today claims some modern revelation from God, he is admitting that he is not satisfied with what God has revealed through His written Word, the Bible-complete revelation.

We kindly, yet confidently, challenge any man or woman living today (including all the famous radio and television preachers) to prove by evidence (the kind that we cannot deny-Acts 4:16), and scriptures that they can perform, or cause God to perform miracles such as we read about in the New Testament. We are ready and willing to meet any of the charismatic or pentecostal preachers in public discussion. We will affirm that miracles ceased near the close of the First Century, and that they all are either ignorant of the Truth, or they are fakes, liars, and imposters.

All Bible questions will be answered from the Word of God. For further information, please call Harry Persaud, Evangelist, at 201-761-0871.

Travel experts make the trip

With hopes to trigger a bigger boom in an already booming industry, travel networks across the country will promote National Tourism Week May 19-25. Prospective travelers who are thinking of taking advantage of the celebration would profit by a visit to Progressive Travel Inc., located at 420 Chestnut St., Union.

Progressive Travel is a fitting name for a company run by two, young, dynamic Unionites. Louise and Rich Brinton founded the business in 1977, and are now in the process of expanding their office to meet the needs of their growing clientele.

Progressive Travel is a full service travel agency which represents all major air and steamship lines, as well as hotel and car rental firms.

The agency has directed its efforts to servicing the requirements of individuals, families, and the corporate travel market, as well as senior groups, fraternal and religious organizations.

Ric Brinton, who has 13 years of professional experience in the travel industry, developed his expertise through practical experience as a travel and tour coordinator for various social and fraternal organizations. In this capacity, he planned, coordinated, promoted and escorted numerous group tours, cruises and air charter vacations, and visited world-wide destinations.

Brinton said he has seen a "dramatic" change in the industry since he entered the field. He highlighted recent deregulation, "which now offers the general public limitless opportunities to travel and experience a multitude of destinations through competitively-priced tour packages."

"I am very excited about the recent influx of interest and competitive atmosphere of the steamship cruise line market, in particular, which now offers the cruise vacation the luxury atmosphere of steamship travel at prices well within the reach of many families and vacationers," Brinton said.

"The cruise vacation concept is widely undiscovered by much of the traveling public," he continued. "It offers the traveler the pleasure of a single-priced vacation, including transportation, meals, entertainment, sporting and social activities, in addition to sight-seeing, as well as offering the opportunity to enjoy a relaxing and leisurely vacation, not to mention the first class service and quality of dining one will encounter aboard a luxury liner."

Brinton said his office has seen a surge in popularity in cruise vacations. He plans to expand his offerings in the group market concept of cruise travel for the coming season.

In addition to providing services for the retail traveling public, Progressive Travel is also concentrating its efforts into further developing the group travel market and has offered group programs to such destinations as Hawaii, Europe, the Caribbean, Mexico and distant locations such as Tahiti, Egypt and the Soviet Union.

In 1982, the agency became a member of the National Tour Association, and began an extensive program of motorcoach tours with a series of 20 motorcoach vacations to the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee.

This program has now expanded into single-day outings and multi-day vacations. As a convenience to its clientele, many of the motorcoach tours depart directly from the office or other central locations in Union. The motorcoach program has established success by continuing to expand its market to include such destinations as Eastern Canada, New England, Florida and a series of two, three and four day tours to neighboring states with prices to suit all budgets.

New and innovative itineraries are planned for both 1985 and 1986, which are scheduled to include

Florida cruises as part of their motorcoach programs in addition to offering an attractive variety of air tours and cruises from New York, Florida and the West Coast geared towards individuals and groups.

Among the more exotic destinations on the agenda for 1986 are an air-sea vacation to the Islands of Tahiti in the South Pacific, trips to Greece and a preholiday shopping tour to Scandinavia for this year's Christmas season.

The agency is also exploring the increasing demand for student senior class trip vacations, for both high school and college classes. It plans to initiate this program next year.

Last year, the agency began a unique program of providing tours for senior citizen group leaders to introduce organization leaders to the various attractions, facilities and cruise ships which are offered through Progressive Travel.

The agency found this program was extremely successful and plans to conduct future familiarization programs. Interested group leaders should contact the agency for more details.

A sampling of future vacation programs or inquiries regarding individual, family, group, senior or corporate travel requirements may be obtained by stopping in at Progressive Travel, Inc. between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or by calling Rich or Louise at 688-8787. Saturday and evening appointments can be arranged by reservation.

Shifts in cocaine use reported by Helpline

Suburban and rural America now account for nearly half of all calls to the national 800-COCAINE Helpline, representing a major shift in cocaine use, according to a new survey of callers. The findings also show a change in the profile of the typical cocaine user.

The findings coincide with increases of cocaine production by drug-producing countries reported recently by the U.S. State Department.

The statistics gathered in February by the helpline are in marked contrast to a similar survey conducted in 1983. Calls from the South and Midwest increased more than two-fold, to 46 percent. In the earlier survey, these regions accounted for 20 percent of the calls. The Northwestern and Western states comprised 80 percent.

"Our survey confirms that increased coca production, reported in February by the State Department, and the reported widespread distribution network, are making the cocaine epidemic truly national," says Mark S. Gold, M.D., founder of the helpline and director of research at Fair Oaks Hospital, home of the 800-COCAINE Helpline.

Florida, a major route for cocaine trafficking where the U.S. Government South Florida task force has been operating in recent years, shows a significant decrease in cocaine abuse, according to the survey.

"I believe the South Florida task force under Vice President Bush has been effective in reducing the supply and alerting the public to the problems caused by cocaine use," said Dr. Carlton Turner, drug abuse policy adviser to the president. "The people of Florida are aware of the problems and are responding to the horrors of cocaine use by reducing consumption," he said.

"Cocaine abuse was once considered largely an East and West Coast problem," said Gold. "But if people in the small towns of the South and Midwest think that cocaine is a problem only for big cities, they should know that this is no longer the case.

"We're now seeing calls coming in from such Southern states as Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Texas and North Carolina at the rate of 4 percent from each state. Michigan was tabulated at 9 percent.

"In our 1983 survey, New York City and Los Angeles alone accounted for nearly half the calls to the Helpline," said Gold.

The profile of the typical cocaine user also has undergone considerable change.

"Today, the typical user is just as likely to be a woman as a man and to come from a Midwestern or Southern city, suburban town or rural community," said Dr. Arnold M. Washton, director of research of the Helpline.

"The average age of today's user is 28, he or she is a middle-income earner compared to being in the upper-income bracket we used to see. The user may also be a blue-collar instead of a white-collar worker and we are witnessing greater cocaine use by blacks and Hispanics," Washton said.

According to Washton, the spreading network of cocaine distribution is reaching down into our nation's schools.

"We're seeing a trend toward increased cocaine use among 16- to 19-year-olds," he said.

"We used to get less than one call a day from teen-agers when the helpline started in May 1983," said Washton. "Now, the calls from adolescent cocaine abusers are routine."

The 800-COCAINE Helpline operates as a public service 24-hours a day to give advice, information and treatment referral in all 50 states. The helpline has received more than 750,000 calls from across the nation, averaging 1,200 calls a day.

Talk for elderly homeowners

Two new solutions to the "house rich-cash poor" problem of homeowners 62 years and older will be presented at four area seminars sponsored by Burgdorff Realtors.

A representative of Prudential-Bache Mortgage Services will explain a product the company introduced this year called I.R.M.A., an acronym for Individual Retirement Mortgage Account. I.R.M.A. is Prudential's version of the Reverse Annuity Mortgage which allows qualified homeowners 62 years and older to draw $150 to $700 a month tax-free from their home equity while they continue to live in their home.

A Citibank representative will explain the bank's new Equity Source Account. Through this plan, qualified homeowners can convert home equity to a loan against which they can write checks at their discretion. Interest is charged.

Older Americans faced with fixed and often reduced income, growing inflation and rising costs of maintaining a home have watched their standard of living diminish. With more than 70 percent of the net worth of senior homeowners tied up in the equity in their homes, many have seen no way out but to sell their residence.

These plans make the home a liquid asset for the first time. They may eliminate the fear of outliving savings or becoming financially dependent on children.

"We urge all senior homeowners who would like to remain in their homes indefinitely to attend this informative seminar," said Jean Burgdorff, company co-principal.

"In families where seniors are assisted by their children, we urge the children to attend as well," Burgdorff is a specialist in retirement housing and planning. She frequently addresses senior citizen groups.

The seminars, about an hour long, are being offered at four locations throughout Burgdorff's market area for the convenience of seniors: Wednesday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 70 Maple Ave., Morristown, at 1 p.m., and May 22 at the Environmental Center, 70 Lord Stirling Road, Basking Ridge at 2:30 p.m.

For transportation or further information, call the local Burgdorff office.

Energy audits are available

Elizabethtown Gas has announced the availability of a new Commercial and Apartment Conservation Service Program (CACS) offering free energy audits to non-profit business customers and low-cost audits to small business and tenant customers.

Provided as a special service by Elizabethtown Gas, the New Jersey Department of Energy and the Board of Public Utilities, CACS is designed to help customers identify energy saving opportunities and encourage the installation of measures to increase energy profitability.

Free energy audits are offered to non-profit business customers, including hospitals, churches and local government buildings. Low-cost audits are $25 for commercial buildings up to 5,000 square feet in area and apartment buildings of 5 to 50 units; $50 for commercial buildings from 5,001 to 25,000 square feet and apartment buildings of 51 to 100 units; and $75 for commercial buildings of more than 25,000 square feet and apartment buildings of more than 100 units. All buildings must have been completed on or before June 30, 1980, and the average annual energy use for 1980 (or the latest 12-month period) must be less than 4,500 MMBTU's.

In each case, a qualified energy analyst from Elizabethtown Gas will provide an on-site basement-to-roof structural and mechanical energy audit of owned and leased commercial and apartment buildings. The evaluation includes energy control systems, furnaces/boilers and distribution systems, energy recovery systems, steam distribution systems, lighting systems, windows and doors, insulation levels, air-conditioners, hot water systems and weatherstripping and caulking.

Within 30 days of the energy audit, a customer will receive a detailed, easy-to-understand, written report outlining the areas of energy loss. The report will also detail applicable operations and maintenance procedures and general cost savings and payback estimates for recommended improvements.

A customer can also request, at no charge, a 10-year cash flow analysis for every recommended conservation measure over $500.

To schedule a CACS energy audit, those interested can call the Elizabethtown Gas toll-free energy conservation department number, 1-800-221-0364.

Spring 'makeovers'

"Women automatically update their wardrobes season to season but often don't think to do the same with their hair and makeup," says Glemby hairstylist Paul Lyons. "And it doesn't necessarily have to be anything drastic," he adds.

From May 13-15, women will have an opportunity to get a fresh, new look when Lyons, a makeover specialist, makes an exclusive appearance at Glemby's beauty salon in Abraham & Straus in Short Hills. During these three days, he will be doing hair makeovers by appointment only while a Glemby makeup artist helps each customer to make the most of her beauty potential.

Lyons, whose hairstyling has been featured in top national magazines like Family Circle and Mademoiselle, begins each makeover with an in-depth consultation so that he understands the customer's lifestyle and needs. Other considerations that he takes into account are the women's dexterity with styling appliances and how much time she wants to spend on her hair.

The basic makeover package includes a consultation, haircut, conditioner, blowdry, skin care and makeup analysis, makeup application and manicure. Optional services available are hair coloring (both single process and dimensional), a permanent wave and a European facial. Abraham & Straus' charge card can be used to pay for the makeover.

Appointments with Paul Lyons can be made by calling 467-0800.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss! Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.
And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is

Religious events

The Evangelical Baptist Church of Union, 1391 Liberty Ave., will celebrate its 70th anniversary Sunday at 3 p.m. at a special musical program. The congregation will honor its former members. The Rev. George Boltnew, who has served as pastor of the church for the past 20 years, has announced that the program will include the Balalaika Orchestra, which has been giving sacred concerts for the past 24 years. It consists of church members who play on Russian folk instruments. Guest speakers will be the Rev. Mentus, president of the Russian-Ukrainian Evangelical Baptist Union of the USA, and the Rev. Alex Leonovich, executive secretary of the Slavic Missionary Service.

The ministry of the church began in 1915 in Newark. It was founded as the First Russian Baptist Church of Newark, and its primary ministry was to the Russian-speaking and Slavic population in the area. In 1941, the congregation built a church at 507 South Orange Avenue in Newark and remained there until 1971 when the congregation moved to Union. That year, a new church building was completed at its present address. The name of the church was changed to its present name "signifying a broader outreach into the community. Today," says Mr. Boltnew, "the congregation continues to serve the community and the Slavic people in the area. Its evening services are bilingual (English and Russian)." Mr. Boltnew also has a radio ministry to the Russian-speaking people in the New York area and in the Soviet Union. The church has served three generations of Slavic immigrants from Eastern Europe and South America. The community is invited to the anniversary celebration.

THE FOURTH Binnial Music Festival of Faith, sponsored by the Council of Congregations of Union, will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Holy Spirit Roman Catholic Church, Morris Avenue and Suburban Road. Union Choral and instrumental groups representing Judaeo-Christian traditions throughout the community will participate in the

New Center for Hope ready for Union County residents

CENTER FOR HOPE—Ann Conti, Union County Surrogate, and the Rev. Charles Hudson stand outside the newly-renovated Center for Hope in Roselle.

Complete and coordinated services to Union County residents, who have lost a loved one due to death or separation, will be available due to a joint "networking" venture between county government and a local community-based organization.

The Union County Surrogate's Office, under the direction of Ann Conti, surrogate and founder of Project HOPE (Helping Other People Evolve), has joined forces with the Rev. Charles Hudson, bereavement coordinator of the Center for Hope hospice program, "to provide much needed support to county residents."

Project HOPE was established by Mrs. Conti last year to offer "emotional support and referrals to bereaved residents." The Surrogate's Office handles wills and estates for the citizens of Union County, with HOPE established to meet the growing needs of the public, Mrs. Conti said.

The Center for Hope, established in 1982 in Union, recently relocated to 219 E. Fourth Ave., Roselle, is a private home, donated by the family of a cancer victim the agency supported during a time of grief. The house was renovated recently to meet the needs of the program, Father Hudson said, including offices and a conference area for bereavement counseling.

The center received a $22,500 federal Older Americans Act Fund grant last year, chiefly due to the efforts of Peter Shields, former director of the Division on Aging of the Union County Department of Human Services, according to Louis J. Coletti, Union County manager.

The Center for Hope plans to open another site soon in the western end of Union County on a 30-acre estate on Glenside Ave., Scotch Plains, in the foothills of the Watchung Mountains, which will be an educational, training and "respite" center for the center's staff, volunteers, patients and families.

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation leased the estate to the center for the token sum of $1 per year.

The Center for Hope has been designated the official county hospice by the Board of Chosen Freeholders at the request of Freeholders Brian W. Fahey and Michael J. Lapolla.

The center, under the direction of Father Hudson, former director of Pastoral Care at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, deals "mosty with the care of the terminally ill and helping their families overcome their grief. Now, the association with Project HOPE, provides the essential practical information that is often put aside in times of sorrow," Conti said.

The center has a staff of five full-time members, plus 40 trained volunteers, including a physician, attorney, accountant, social worker, nurses, counselors and lay people.

The first six-week educational program is in progress with 26 participants. After breaking into smaller groups, an additional six weeks of counseling follows. The group can decide whether or not to continue. Father Hudson is planning three programs a year, "depending on the number of applicants."

Mrs. Conti will address the groups every three weeks (or as needed). Her Project HOPE reaches into all 21 municipalities of the county. She speaks to groups of 75 to 100, once a month.

"A Friend Is Waiting With Open Arms," is the Center for Hope's inscription, and Union County residents can call 241-1132 for additional information or the Surrogate's Office at 527-4280 for information on Project HOPE.

March of Dimes dinner scheduled

The fifth annual March of Dimes Sports Awards Banquet, sponsored by Citizens First National Bank of New Jersey and the North Jersey and the North Jersey Chapter of the March of Dimes, will be staged on May 22.

The gala event, which last year raised more than $100,000 for the fight against birth defects, will take place at the Loews Glenpointe Hotel in Teaneck starting at 6:30 p.m.

Among the notables slated to be honored this year include: Freeman McNeil, Jet of the Year; Phil Simms, Giant of the Year; Maurice Carthon, General of the Year; Horse Racing's Man of the Year, Angel Cordero, Jr.; John Condon, Boxing's Man of the Year; Gordie Howe, the Hall of Fame Award; Dave Winfield, Yankee of the Year; Mike O'Koren, Net of the Year; David Breci, Cosmo of the Year, and the Outstanding Achievement Award to Doug Heir, Gold Medalist in the Wheelchair Olympics.

The Sports Award Banquet has been a large part of the North Jersey Chapter special events calendar since 1981. These banquets have honored sports celebrities, both professional and amateur, male and female, who have proven outstanding in their field. The success and income generated by these banquets have increased tremendously, due primarily to the active role played by the volunteer committee, comprised of business men and women and sports celebrities.

According to Bill Petzinger,

Public Relations coordinator of the North Jersey Chapter, "the award winners are chosen strictly on their performance from the previous year."

Many of the athletes, including some of the award winners from previous years have remained active in their work for the March of Dimes.

SPORTS

The Jet of the Year, Freeman McNeil, said, "It's an honor just to be involved with the March of Dimes." He is active in the North Jersey Chapter and finds the work very rewarding. "It's hard to explain what I get out of it, but it's a special kind of feeling."

Every year in the United States more than 250,000 babies are born with birth defects, both mental and physical. A large percentage of the children, as well as their parents, will suffer the effects throughout their lives.

The courage that it takes for a gifted athlete to come through with a winning effort in a championship contest, admirable as it is, rates a notch below the courageous attitude with which these people face everyday life.

Tickets and additional information for the event can be obtained from the March of Dimes at 882-0700.

left), Marty Duffy and Tony Amitrano. In 14 years as a staff, the bandits have never had a losing season, going unbeaten three times and own an overall record of 105-35-1. Taylor complemented the coaches for their tremendous influence on the youth of Kenilworth.

Rhythmic gym meet helps sport grow

By WAYNE TILLMAN
It's a sport still in its infancy in the United States. But it's one that's beginning to grow and hopefully, will gain support in the future.

The sport is rhythmic gymnastics, and their national championships, sponsored by the United States Gymnastics Federation, were staged last weekend at the Rutgers Athletic Center in Piscataway.

The crowds were small, but enthusiastic during the three days of competition, and it climaxed with last Sunday's individual finals. In all, 77 competitors from 12 states converged on Piscataway for the meet, and the caliber of competition was outstanding.

"I'm happy with the way things turned out," said USGF Committee member Dr. Joyce Bloom, who was instrumental in bringing the meet to Rutgers. "More people have now been exposed to rhythmic gymnastics and developed an interest in it. The seed was planted at this meet."

It has also been planted worldwide. The sport was held in the Olympics at Los Angeles last year, and will be in this summer's Garden State Games and Maccabiah Games (Israeli Olympics) for the first time.

The sport only uses one mat, but girls displayed gymnastic ability while using various pieces of apparatus: a set of clubs, a ball, a ribbon and a rope. It is also done to music and most routines last 90 seconds. But watching these athletes compete proved to be a thing of beauty.

Spots on the U.S. national teams in the senior and junior divisions were determined, as well as the individual champions in the ball, rope, clubs and ribbon.

Making the junior national team were Alexandra Feldman, Dacon Lister, Jennifer Knust, Kellyann Tanko, Mikeala Borynasz and Ingrid Knight. Kerrie Lea Jackson and Molly Krause were selected as the alternates.

Feldman won the all-around title with a total four-event score of 34.85, one point ahead of Lister. Feldman, competing with the Los Angeles Lights club team from California, also won titles in the ball, club and ribbon events. Lister, competing for Oklahoma Rhythmic Gymnastics, took the rope event.

In the Senior Division, Marina Kunyavsky won the all-around title with a 37.45 score. She, Valerie Zimring, Diane Simpson, Lisa Aaronson, Stacy Oversier, Teresa Bruce, Karen Lyon and Irina Rubinshtein made the national team. The alternates are Elizabeth Cull, Simona Soloveychik and Kimberley Stiles.

Kunyavsky, also competing from the LA Lights, took championships in the ribbon, rope and ball competition. Zimring, a member of last year's Olympic team and the most well known of the competitors, won the club title.

"I came here to have fun and I didn't embarrass myself," said Zimring. "It was a good meet and the quality of competition was better this year than in the past."

Lyon, a junior majoring in engineering at Princeton University, was the lone Garden State competitor and she was very happy of making the national team.

"Doing that was most important, and it gives me a chance to compete in the National Sports Festival this summer," she said. "I was prepared and I did a good job, since the competition is improving every year."

"This sport has helped get to travel all over," said Zimring. "The Bulgarians and the Russians are the best in the world right now, but we're getting there."

It may not be overnight, but rhythmic gymnastics is slowly getting there as an accepted sport. And last week's competition helped a great deal.

McCarthy leads Drexel swim

A pair of individual first place finishes by sophomore freestyler Lisa McCarthy of Mountainside, paved the way to the third East Coast Conference title in as many seasons for the Drexel University women's swimming and diving team.

McCarthy, a Union Catholic graduate, successfully defended her 100-free title before adding the 200 free crown and then finished off her effort with kickoff-leg performances for the winning 200 and 400 free relay teams. She also placed third in both the 50 free and 100 butterfly events.

McCarthy is also a member of the 200 medley relay which finished in second place.

The Union High boys track team continues to have a big season, especially in dual meets. The Farmers raised their record to 5-0 last week with a 90-32 rout of Linden, in which 18 personal marks were set or tied.

UHS took firsts in all but three events, with Tony Stewart winning the 100 meters and long jump and Jeff Barber the shot put and discus. At last Saturday's Summit Relays, Union took first places in the shot put relay (Barber, Gordon Byrd and Joe Jelovcic) and the pole vault relay (Garbinski and Eric Renkoff).

Meanwhile, the Union girls track team saw its dual mark fall to 3-2 after a 64-58 loss to Linden. At the Summit Relays, Union's best finish was a third in the 4 x 800 meter relay team of Hennessy, McMahon, Liz Sokalski and Julie Zilberberg. These four also ran the distance medley and finished sixth.

Also at Summit, Dayton's shuttle hurdles relay team of John Lusardi, Mark Zacieracha, Brian Targum and Walter Jackson won, as did Irvington, who got firsts in the distance medley (Terreke Johnson, Fernando Pinto, Nelson Martinez and Mitchell Molina) and the long jump relay (Pinto, Fred Mebane and Stanley Toussaint).

The other local team coming up a winner was Roselle's long jump relay unit of Altissimee Rogers, Cheryl White and Angela Williams.

The Rams' mile relay team of Ray Rogers, Ron Fritz, Andre Rogers and Ezell Baker traveled to the prestigious Penn Relays in Philadelphia last Saturday and, although they did not win, they finished fourth in a heat in a new school record time of 3:25.9.

Ninth Kean girls cage camp slated for June

The ninth annual Kean College girls basketball camp will be conducted from June 24-28 on the grounds of the East Campus in Hillside. The week-long event which will be under the guidance of Patricia Hannisch of Hillside, will be available to girls aged 10 and over.

Hannisch, who has led the Kean College women's basketball team to three consecutive Jersey Athletic Conference (JAC) and two Atlantic Regional titles, will be joined by former Kean standout Angela Mazella of Staten Island, Rich Wilson of North Plainfield and Kathy Matthews of Piscataway.

Mazella is presently the associate director of athletics and coaches basketball at Wagner College in Staten Island, while Wilson is returning for his eighth year of participation in the camp. The former Kean player is also an assistant coach under Hannisch. Matthews has completed a nine-year record of 180-54 as head coach of the Union Catholic Girl's High School team.

"Our camp has been very successful and we're looking forward to working in the newly renovated facilities at the East Campus," said Hannisch, who is also the associate director of athletics at Kean.

The camp, which has been filled to capacity during the past few years, will focus on mastery of the fundamentals through individual instruction. For further information, contact Hannisch at 527-2435.

Area teams in UCT contests

The Union County girls softball tournament swings into high gear this Saturday with eight games, five of them involving area teams.

Games this Saturday in the second round, which will all be played at 2 p.m., are Mother Seton at top-seeded Union, Rahway at Scotch Plains, Roselle Catholic at Cranford, Union Catholic at Johnson Regional, Summit at second-seeded Roselle Park, 10th-seeded Brearley at Governor Livingston, 14th-seeded Linden at defending champion Westfield and Elizabeth at sixth-seeded Dayton.

In preliminary round action last Saturday, Roselle held an early lead against Mother Seton, but a six-run sixth frame gave the Clark school a 6-5 win over the Lady Rams. Joanne Malta had Roselle's big hit, a two-run double in the seventh that cut the deficit to one run. She also pitched a five-hitter. The other game saw Summit use a seven-run second frame to rip Hillside, 13-3.

As for the local teams last week:

UNION
The Lady Farmers began the week in grand style as pitcher Lisa Morelli fired a one-hitter as they routed Plainfield, 29-2, last Wednesday. Morelli, who won her third game of the season, walked two and struck out seven. She was backed by home runs off the bats of Andrea Peters, Julie Brzezinski and Sue Zymroz.

UHS kept its hitting onslaught last Friday in a 16-1 pounding of Rahway as Morelli allowed three hits and Peters smacked two homers, one a solo shot and the other a three-run shot. Rosemary Deglman also hit a two-run homer, and she and Chantay Strickland had three hits each.

But Union suffered its first loss of the campaign after 10 straight wins this past Monday in a 9-4 setback at Westfield. The Lady Farmers only managed to get five hits off Westfield ace Nancy Kasko.

After meeting Kearny at home yesterday, Union will play at Elizabeth tomorrow, host Mother Seton Saturday in the UCT, then face another key showdown this Monday at Roselle Park before ending the week at home next Wednesday against Cranford.

ROSELLE PARK

The Pink Panthers remained hot last week, winning two more games to raise their record to 11-1. They blanked New Providence, 6-0, last Tuesday and then rallied from an early deficit to whip Manville, 7-4, last Thursday. Donna Lewis' two hits and Lisa Dragon's six-hitter sparked Park, who have won 11 straight since an opening loss to Cranford.

Coach John Wagner's team, seeded second in the county tournament, hosted Bound Brook this past Tuesday, will play at North Plainfield today, then host Summit in the UCT on Saturday and will face a key matchup against Union this Monday at home. Then it's on to Middlesex this Tuesday to close the week's play.

ROSELLE

Michele Glassman had two hits and three runs batted in the Lady Rams' 10-2 romp over Hillside as Joanne Malta pitched a two-hitter. Roselle also defeated St. Mary's, but then lost that tough game to Mother Seton.

LINDEN

The Lady Tigers began the week with a 13-7 loss to Scotch Plains, then ended it with a wild 18-10 loss to Irvington. Cindy Apalinski had the key hit in the Scotch Plains game, while Christa Weiss ripped a three-run double against Irvington.

Coach Tony Siano's team opened May action yesterday at Plainfield, then will host Rahway tomorrow. Then it's the UCT game at Westfield Saturday and another matchup against the Blue Devils on Monday, before LHS plays at Kearny next Wednesday.

DAYTON REGIONAL

The Bulldogs defeated Hillside and Governor Livingston in action last week at home, raising their record to 8-3. Sharon Kutsop was the winning pitcher against GL, firing a four-hitter. Suzanne Crane singled in a run and Moira Quillan and Kathy Meixner each stole home to spark a five-run third inning.

Dayton met Roselle this past

Tuesday, then will play the first of three straight home games today against Immaculata. The others are tomorrow versus Millburn and Ridge on Tuesday. In between, they will entertain Elizabeth in the UCT on Saturday.

BREARLEY REGIONAL

The Lady Bears opened the week with a 21-4 rout of New Providence as Mary Ann Drone doubled in a run and Barbara Legg hurled a three-hitter. But they were then limited to just three hits in a 15-0 loss at Johnson.

Brearley, now 5-5, hosted Middlesex this past Tuesday and play at Manville today.

IRVINGTON

The Lady Campers only won one of three games last week, beating Linden while losing to Cranford and Union Catholic. Keisha Quarles had three hits in a 9-3 loss at Cranford, but IHS was blanked by Union

But Cassandra Smith's bases-loaded triple sparked an eight-run eighth inning in an 18-10 victory at Linden. Smith and Cathy Scott each had three hits.

Meadowlands race begins promotion

The United States Grand Prix at the Meadowlands will launch its 1985 promotional campaign this week, when it opens its official Grand Prix Information Center at the North Jersey Business Show, New Jersey's longest running business show.

"We're excited about being a part of this year's show," said Grand Prix Race Director Loris Smith, "New Jersey's business community gave our race great support last year, and we'd like to make them an important part of this year's event."

Smith said visitors to the North Jersey Show, can stop by the Grand Prix Center and get the latest schedule and ticket information on the Grand Prix, New Jersey's premier motor sports event.

Nearly 35,000 fans in the stands, and millions more watching the live NBC telecast, saw Mario Andretti capture the inaugural running of the race last year. This year's contest which takes place June 30, will be run on a 1.68-mile course laid out over the service roads that wind around Giants Stadium and the Meadowlands Arena. Once again the Meadowlands race will draw the world's best Indy car drivers for what has become a true test of driving skill and endurance.

The Grand Prix Center will remain open throughout the run of the North Jersey Business Show today at the Aspen Hotel in Parsippany.

Joining the festivities will be Patti Hopkins, Miss Meadowlands Grand Prix 1985, who will be making a special appearance at the Center.

In addition to up to the minute information, the Center will also feature two exciting displays—the Ford Thunderbird Turbo Coupe, the official Grand Prix pace car, and the AGFA Gallery, a collection of breathtaking color photos of last year's Grand Prix excitement shot by Tom Webster and other noted motor sports photographers.

Center visitors can also win exciting Grand Prix prizes by simply dropping off their names and addresses.

The North Jersey Business Show which exhibits the latest in business products, systems and services, will spot light cellular phone networks and employee leasing this year. The 1985 edition marks the Show's 25th Anniversary.

Waterfront Marathon set for Sunday

The Gateway Tourism Council has announced that the New Jersey Waterfront Marathon and Five Mile Run will be its featured project in celebration of "National Tourism Week." The Marathon and Five Mile Run will be held on Sunday at Liberty State Park in Jersey City.

"National Tourism Week" has been proclaimed by President Reagan and Governor Thomas Kean for May 19-26 in recognition of the enormous economic impact that tourism has both on the nation and on the state of New Jersey.

In the month leading up to "Tourism Week," each of New Jersey's six regional tourism councils will be sponsoring special events. The Gateway Region will be at the starting line sponsoring the New Jersey Waterfront Marathon. This sporting event is being held in recognition of the redevelopment taking place along the New Jersey Waterfront.

Slo-pitch tourney

Union Elks Lodge 1583 will be running its eighth annual slo-pitch softball tournament May 25 and 26. Entries will be limited to 16 teams, with each team guaranteed three games. Further information may be obtained by calling Frank Ciampi at 851-2357 or Walter Ernst at 276-1236.

Runners from all over the region, including Bill Rodgers and Betty Springs, are participating in the races. An entire day of fun is planned for everyone who attends.

In addition to the Gateway Region Sponsored Marathon, other "Tourism Weeks" festivities will include a Shad Festival in the Township Little League was organized in his basement Collins, the father of five children, two of them boys, also played a key role in the Union Township Teener League and the Babe Ruth League.

Ehrhart said he thought the youth of Union Township owed a great deal to Collins. "Although Joe has been less active in recent years, this does not diminish the value of his contributions to the recreation programs in our community. By naming this fine park for him, we can recognize the contributions of someone who has truly done a lot for this township."

Collins, who played for the Yankees from the end of the 1948 season through the 1957 campaign, appeared in eight World Series, six of which the New York team won.

Other members of the committee planning the dedication ceremonies are Monsignor John Koenig, Stephan Manca, Robert Milan, William Nuttman, Albert Perlman, Irene Petras, Joseph Pianelli, Anthony Russo, James T. Schaefer, Louis Vetter, Steven Wolf and John Zimmerman.

Skylands Region, a grand parade through historic Trenton, sponsored by the Delaware Region and a gala reception in Atlantic City. Many Gateway Region theatres, restaurants, hotels and historic sites will offer discounts to tourists during the weeks.

The Gateway Tourism Region is chartered by the New Jersey State Division of Travel and Tourism and consists of business, cultural and civic representatives from Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Middlesex, Passaic and Union counties.

For more information about the New Jersey Waterfront Marathon, please call 376-0231.

Collins park to be dedicated

Dedication of the Joe Collins Park in the Larchmont section of Union Township has been scheduled for noon May 11, it was announced this week by Thomas A. Ehrhart, chairman of the program.

The six-acre facility, which was financed with Green Acres funds provided by the State of New Jersey, has a softball field, a tennis court, a basketball court, a sitting area and a recreation facility for toddlers.

Ehrhart said he thought the decision to name facility for Collins, a 35-year resident of Union who played for the New York Yankees, was "entirely appropriate."

"During the more than three decades he has made Union Township his home, Joe Collins has been intimately involved in recreation for our children," Ehrhart said. "In fact, the Union

Hollywood's golden era

The nice guy tells all

By BEA SMITH

What does the name Eddie Bracken mean to you?

Well, if you're a patron of the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn, you'll say, "he's the star of 'Show Boat.'"

But if you're a movie buff, you'll say something like... "Betty Hutton, Paramount Pictures... Preston Sturges... 'Miracle of Morgan's Creek.'"

"Hey! How about the best of his 20 movies, 'Hail the Conquering Hero'?"

This reporter was hailed by the "Conquering Hero" and nice guy of stage and films for more years than one wants to remember last week, and accompanied by Albertina Reilly, public relations gal over at the Paper Mill, gathered into his car and whisked off to the elegant restaurant, 40 Main Street, for lunch. Before we were out of the Paper Mill parking lot, that nice guy Bracken (perhaps being nice has been the secret of his success) was boasting about a new movie script that he had just finished writing. "You have the exclusive on it," Bracken said to this reporter. "It's called 'Reggie.' Originally, it was a play, optioned by Producer Alfredo Leone, who found the changes excellent. It has a wholesome look about it. It could be a vehicle for Christie Brinkley or Kathleen Turner. It's a mystery, and my wife Connie, didn't like it at all at first. But now she's so excited about it! Then I presented it to National Lampoon and Matty Simmons, who produced my last movie, 'Vacations,' about a year ago, and he loved it, and within the next three or four months it should be made."

Arriving at our destination, the veteran actor and straight comedy man opened the car door and said in a voice that cracked movie-goers up for more than 40 years, "You don't mind my being a male chauvinist pig? Do you?"

By the time we had wiped away our tears of laughter, we were seated in the restaurant and talking about Bracken's 10 years at Paramount Studios. "We were like one big family at Paramount," he recalled. "I came to that studio in 1939," Bracken said, "and the one person of all the people I felt closest to was Betty Hutton."

Bracken starred with Hutton, Paramount's blonde bombshell, in "The Fleet's In," "Star Spangled Rhythm," (both made in 1942), "Happy Go Lucky," (1943), the classic "Miracle of Morgan's Creek," (1944) and "Duffy's Tavern" (1945).

"I always loved her as a right guy, a buddy. We used to pitch pennies between takes of our movies... a rough and tumble gal, all woman, but very boyish. We got along very well..."

Bracken grinned, remembering how the studio kept adding scenes for Betty in "Miracle," and Eddie retaliating by

"sneezing... and getting a lot of footage, or stuttering, for more footage, or moving my hands, upstaging Betty... My fight," he said, "was with the studio, not Betty. You know," Bracken laughed, "Danny Thomas has eight prints of 'Miracle' to make sure they don't wear out, and to this day, he considers it an education on what and how to upstage an actress."

Despite all that, Bracken considers Betty one of his dearest friends. "At Paramount, there really was no one around who could help her with her acting, and I did. After 'Miracle,' I never upstaged her again. Four years ago, I received an award in Washington, D. C. I wouldn't accept it without Betty Hutton there. I called her, promised to meet her at the plane. She came down there, and I never was so proud as at that moment to see her. You know, after all her troubles and problems, Betty truly did find her way. And she's wonderful."

Bracken has had two pictures accepted for the archives in Washington. "I'm probably the only actor who has two pictures in there," he said.

One of Bracken's first movies he made at Paramount was (in February 1940) "Life With Henry," starring Jackie Cooper. Another one of the movies he remembers so well is "Young and Willing," with young hopefuls, Susan Hayward, William Holden, Barbara Britton, James Brown (the actor), and which also starred William Bendley and Mable Paige.

"What was Susan Hayward like back then?" asks Bracken. "Very strong, determined... a fiery redhead, who knew what she wanted, and went after it. We got along very well. She even mentioned me in her book."

"And Holden... he was on his way up. We were very close. It really was like a family back then. I never worked with Alan Ladd or Bob Preston, but we were very close. We used to have parties at the studio every night, with all the stars including Bob Hope and Bing Crosby... Bill Demarest. I remember, early on, I was having lunch at the studio with Hedda Hopper, who told me that Cecil B. DeMille was like God. So when C. B. walked into the commissary, I got on my knees and bowed. Ever since then, I had lunch with him practically every day. He treated me like I was his son. He was just an adorable man."

When Bracken was assigned to do "Out of This World," his role called for a crooning voice every time he caught a cold. "I didn't want to do it," he said, "and I went on suspension. That was because they wanted to use Buddy Clark's voice. One day, I went to NBC Studios, where Bing Crosby had his radio show, and I said to him, 'I want them to use your voice, not Clark's. It's a story about Frank Sinatra, and would you think about this?' And Crosby said, "Tell Buddy DeSilva to call me." Well, we made the picture not only with Crosby's voice but also with his four kids."

Bracken, who appeared with Bob Hope in "Caught in the Draft," also was a gag writer contributing to the Bob Hope Gag Library Index Cards. "His brother, George Hope, was supposed to be my best man when I got married. But he never showed up, so Marty Jurow took his place."

About the personalities of Bing and Bob, Bracken said, "Bing was a loner. You could be with him and make him feel comfortable. He would be fine, but then he would disappear."

"Bob also was a loner... in a crowd. He was a gregarious man. He had a million acquaintances, but I doubt if he had one real friend."

The actor talked about Veronica Lake, with whom he worked in "Bring On the Girls" and "Hold That Blonde" (1945), "Out of This World" (1946) and "Duffy's Tavern." "I really had to work to make her feel comfortable, to make her laugh. I would say to her, 'You're going to get my love. That's my way.' The people at Paramount did not like her. She wasn't a friendly person, and all of her friends, with the exception of Alan Ladd, were outside of the studio. She and Alan got along. I got along with her finally, because of my way," he said. "She just had no expression, no reaction. But I finally had her smiling."

Finishing his egg omelet at lunch, Bracken accepted a second cup of black coffee and smiled remembering when "I introduced Lucille Ball to Desi Arnaz. We were on the set of 'Too Many Girls,' and Lucy came over to me and said, 'I must meet that Latin.' So, I introduced them, and three days later, they were married. And I've always been treated as one of the family."

During his 10 years at Paramount ("Give or take a few months"), Bracken had a good rapport with the producer-director Preston Sturges, who produced, wrote and directed Bracken's best movie, "Hail the Conquering Hero" and "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek."

"Sturges was like a big brother to me," Bracken recalled, "and certainly a best friend. He invited me to a lot of his writing sessions, and I learned from him. I even directed a part of 'Morgan's Creek' and he loved it. He was a man, who called all the shots, but he loved to play games."

After Bracken left Paramount, he went out as a free lance actor and movie and radio free lance writer.

"Did you know that I co-authored 'Francis, the Talking Mule,' starring Donald O'Connor, and the Eve Arden, Jeff Chandler radio comedy series, 'Our Miss Brooks'?"

In 1952, he was signed by MGM to appear in "Summer Stock" with Judy Garland and Gene Kelly.

"Judy was, without a doubt, the finest actress I ever worked with," Bracken said. "I was her favorite comedian. She could never sing when I was around. She would always laugh uncontrollably. One day, she laughed so much, she developed pleurisy. And she was out for three weeks. Judy was an absolute joy. When she returned to the studio, I wasn't allowed to be around so that she could work. Even if she heard my voice in the next room, she would crack up."

Working with Gene Kelly was an experience for Bracken. "Gene was a real work-a-holic. He and Fred Astaire. They were such hard workers. I fell out of bed on the set, while they did the real work."

"I really believe," Bracken said seriously, "that I was awfully lucky. I was a dreamer while others worked. Some of my pictures I feel I'm impressed with, and there are some that I'm not."

About four or five weeks ago, the President of the United States "gave me a picture of himself and my wife had put it in a glass frame, and the glass broke," Bracken said, his voice cracking. "Now she has it in a plastic cover."

In 1962, Bracken made a movie with Marilyn Monroe called "We're Not Married."

"Marilyn Monroe was a very vague girl," Bracken explained. "I had lunch with her at 20th Century Fox four or five times during the filming. And a year later, she was having lunch with Eli Wallach at Jim Downey's in New York. I stopped by to chat with them, and she leaned over to Wallach and whispered to him, 'Who was that?'"

"Part of her problem was that she was too involved in too many things. She was a much better actress than people gave her credit for. Unfortunately, she met the wrong people."

"I have had a very different kind of life than many of the others in show business," he said. "I have a wonderful wife, five kids and seven grandchildren. And my family is the most important thing in my life. My children are my closest friends. I love them and they love me. There are Judy, Carolyn, Michael, Susan and David. Carolyn, incidentally, is one of the best writers of children's books. Her latest, 'Book on Wheels,' is a best seller. Susan, who does a lot of commercials, recently did a film. David is a song writer."

"I think they all have their own ideas about show business. And," he grinned, "they all advise me. They're my managers."

"I try to stay in the public's eye," he said. "For example, the movie, 'Vacations,' which I made more than a year ago, well, I would not have done it but for my family's urging to go back into pictures again. I wanted to do something really good. When you're away from Hollywood, people tend to forget. So, you have to let people know you're still around."

A 'relative' production

By SAM ARENA
AND RAE HUTTON

For the past 18 years, Union's Natalie Haiken and Joe Babrowsky have been hit with spring fever sometime in October. That's when the two get together to begin making plans for the annual spring production of the PTA Players.

This year's show, "It's All Relative," will run tomorrow and Saturday evenings — for the duo — another pearl in a string it began to weave several years ago. Theirs is a joint effort, one which evolves into an original and highly entertaining stage production which they mount under the aegis of the PTA Players. The two-and-a-half hour production has a completely original book as well as lyrics.

COLLABORATION—Natalie Haiken, producer, Joe Babrowsky, director and choreographer, and Barbara Kunz, musical director for the PTA Players, go over the music for this year's production, "It's All Relative."

"We have a new one every year," says Haiken, proudly, boasting that the amateur group has never repeated a show. This year's production includes 20 musical numbers, aerobic dance routines, tap dancing, group numbers, "acting" and chorus numbers.

Despite their name, the PTA Players are not affiliated with the PTA; however, the proceeds which are derived from these shows are earmarked for a scholarship fund which benefits Union High School students. Since they were formed, the PTA Players have earned nearly $20,000 for the scholarship fund.

"The PTA sponsors us and reaps the benefit from the proceeds," Haiken explained, but that's where the relationship ends.

The amateur actors' group is an idea which was spawned almost 18 years ago. When a young woman sustained severe injuries in an automobile accident, a group of friends mobilized to conceive a means of raising funds to alleviate the burden of mounting costs of medical care. In the tradition of early Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, one of their number enthusiastically suggested: "Let's put on a show! Everybody likes a show! And so, the die was cast."

The success of that first endeavor mandated that it continue annually.

Haiken and Babrowsky serve in multiple capacities. Haiken is co-author and producer, while Babrowsky takes on the jobs of director, choreographer and co-author. In the fall, they meet to come up with a premise for a show. Invariably, they select a timely subject or topic around which to mold a production. Once it is established, they proceed to structure plots and sub-plots to be spun into the storyline. What results is a satirical spoof, one in which the humor is both broad and hokey. They make no attempt to infuse it with sophisticated wit after the manner of Noel Coward. Theirs smacks of the Marx Brothers, Moore and Gaxton, Fanny Brice and the Catskills. It is a homogenization which completely pleases audience tastes. They preach no gospel nor teach no lesson. Neither do they convey a message. Theirs is purely a fun show.

Babrowsky, a former song and dance man, is a veteran performer of the far-famed Borscht Belt of bygone days. His affiliation with the Players is his way of keeping a hand in the business. Cast members come from all walks of life: homemakers, parents, salesmen, engineers. Most are from Union, but others are from surrounding areas. And, from mid-January until late June, they splinter their time between home and the stage at Livingston School in Union where rehearsals are held. In the long period of rehearsal sessions, they pass the time between stage turns in matters domestic. On cue, they shed this image and climb onstage, to metamorphose into a stage role. The performances often induce gales of laughter from their fellow thespians. The few school age youngsters who are on hand to serve as stagehands glance toward each other and shake their heads in disbelief.

Probably the most difficult for the cast to master are the ensemble dance routines which Babrowsky creates.

"It's amazing!" he is moved to exclaim, "When you consider that none of these people have trained voices or dancing backgrounds, you have to take your hat off to them. They do a fantastic job!"

"They work so hard at it and they put so much into it," Haiken is quick to comment. She shakes her head and laments: "The shame of it is in the fact that, for all of the years we've been doing these shows and the purpose for them, none of these people have ever been given any credit or gotten any recognition for all of the time and the work and for all of themselves they've put into these shows, for the sake of the kids."

As rehearsal sessions get into full swing, the chances are that most of those onstage will wear familiar faces. According to the director, about 65 percent of the cast has remained constant over the past 18 years. And, as in the past, Haiken and Babrowsky willingly listen to the same complaints about too frequent rehearsals for too long a time. And, once again, those who complain longest, loudest and most often will be among those who are the first to appear for each rehearsal.

There is a contagion in performing onstage and, once exposed to it, one grows easily susceptible to it.

So it is with the PTA Players.

AEROBIC DANCE ROUTINES such as this one being done by Helen Davis are among the acts which will be performed this weekend in the PTA Players production, "It's All Relative."

ALA plans a 'super' Saturday

Children's Specialized Hospital and the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey will hold "Superstuff Saturday," a day-long family education program for children with asthma and their parents Saturday.

According to the Cheree M. Posch, nurse educator at Children's Specialized Hospital and coordinator of the program, "Superstuff Saturday" is structured to meet the needs of the elementary school child, ages five and above. Planned activities include sessions with physicians, a family counselor and a respiratory therapist. Portions of the day will be devoted to breathing instruction and relaxation techniques as well as group discussions.

Each family will receive a copy of "Superstuff," a self-help program designed by the American Lung Association for children with asthma. The kit contains a fully-illustrated 86-page book of activities which teach children about coping with asthma. The book utilizes games, riddles and puzzles, stories and art activities to help the child learn about the disease.

More than 120,000 children in New Jersey suffer from asthma. The disease accounts for about half of all chronic illnesses among children in the United States and is the number one cause of school absenteeism.

"Asthma can be a frightening experience for a child," says Posch, "but knowledge about it can help overcome that fear." "Superstuff Saturday" is designed to teach children about asthma in a relaxed, fun-oriented environment. "Our goal," she adds, "is to provide them with the knowledge and skills they need to control the disease."

"Superstuff Saturday" will be held at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. To register for the program, contact the Lung Association in Clark or Posch at Children's Specialized Hospital, 233-3720.

YOUTH AMBASSADOR—Darren Haliniewski of Union, right, youth ambassador for the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey, gives five-year-old Danny Vaupel of Rahway a few hints on 'better breathing' in preparation for 'Superstuff Saturday,' a day-long program for children with asthma and their parents. The program will be held Saturday from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside. Cheree M. Posch, center, is nurse educator at the hospital.
