Principals leave behind record of excellence

Sister Mary Amelia moves on from Lourdes ; Deerfield School's Shapiro instilled loyalty

By SHAWN EVANS

Each day, just before classes begin at Our Lady of Lourdes School, the entire school body is blessed by the reading of a gospel over the public address system by one of the students.

According to Principal Sister Mary Amelia Cetera, these religious readings instill values in the students which she hopes they will carry throughout the day.

The gospel is followed by a morning prayer for people who are in need, and according to the sister, this brings about a very personal touch.

That has been her mission for the past five years as principal of the private Mountainside school, which was established on the foundation of Christian values: to instill the proper teachings in her children.

But her teachings at the Catholic school have ended as she prepares to follow a call to a higher academic level.

The sister plans to transfer to Caldwell College and assume the responsibilities as academic course counselor in continuing education.

She explained that she formally resigned as Our Lady of Lourdes principal in January.

"That is the time the archdiocese asks if you are going to renew the contract — I decided then that I would not. My decision was based on the fact that I have completed five years here and I felt a need for change," she said.

The college, founded in 1939 by the Dominican Sisters of Caldwell, offers a blended liberal arts curriculum.

Although her new duties will vary greatly, the college will be like a second home to her.

Not only did she graduate from Caldwell College with a B.A. in English, but she served as chairperson of the Education Department for nine years, taught as a college professor for 20 and served as director and instructor of the college's reading program.

Moreover, she developed a curriculum for the college's degree program B.A. in education as well as an internship program in collaboration with the Caldwell and

SISTER MARY AMELIA CETERA, O.P.

West Caldwell public schools.

After serving as principal in the academy on the Caldwell campus, Sister Mary Amelia came to Our Lady of Lourdes in 1980.

While here, she accomplished numerous achievements including the establishment of all-day kindergarten, which she said has really succeeded in preparing the children for the primary grade levels.

Also, as part of the archdiocese, she had to complete a five-year plan for the school and was successful in achieving most of the goals she outlined in a period of only three years.

Other proud achievements include the implementation of an art and computer program, and in conjunction with the efforts of the school board, a new playground was provided.

She is also very proud of the fact that each year the students take part in two plays, which so far at least, have been very successful.

"We had a very special relationship I've worked closely with the faculty, the board, the Home/School Association and the parents. And I have tried not to make my office the seat of disciplinary action," she said.

The sister is looking forward to her new endeavors and plans to bring with her a wealth of determination and experience.

"I think one of the problems involved with being on a college campus is that you are removed from actual society — but I will go back with a very real picture of the state of education and a renewed commitment. I realize the values of teachers and their deep commitment and high ideals," she said.

She added, "I think this (the move) gives me a special sensitivity as to what people should be getting in their education in their adult life."

The hallways at Our Lady of Lourdes are now empty as the students bid their farewells to the principal last week.

One of the few things that stands out in the quiet summer corridors is a huge painting of Pope John Paul, with his arms spread wide as if to welcome those who enter.

Or, to wish Sister Mary Amelia a fond farewell.

On Friday, the school bells will ring one last time for Deerfield School students as they race pass their ball lockers to grab the last remains of their favorite articles which carried them through the 1984-85 school year.

Next September, with the exception of the eighth graders who will move on to a different school, the ambience will remain the same for the Deerfield students, who will continue their educational endeavors at the borough's public school.

There will be one major change though.

Principal Allan J. Shapiro will no longer be seated at his desk.

After devoting a total of 16 years of knowledge and experience throughout the school system, Shapiro has decided to retire to a less "vigorous" way of life.

Shapiro will remain at the school until next Friday, at which time his role will be carried on by James A. Johnson Jr. who is presently a fourth grade instructor at the school. Johnson was appointed by the Board of Education in April.

A former instructor and chairman of the social studies department at Arts High School in Newark, Shapiro left in 1969 to take on the role as principal of Deerfield's summer school.

Following September of that year, Shapiro said he assumed the duties of vice principal which he held for 10 years until June 1979.

"In that 10 year period, I tried to instill in the students good citizenship, pride in our school and a sense of loyalty to the community," Shapiro said.

In July of 1979, Shapiro took over the principal status of Deerfield without the aid of a vice principal.

"I ran the school alone to the present time with the exception of one year, between 1982-83 when we combined with Beechwood School; then we reverted back," he said.

Beechwood was the former kindergarten through fourth grade school in the borough, which Shapiro said he consolidated with Deerfield "without any complications at all."

A modest man who steers clear of many of the more controversial topics such as the widely discussed idea of combining the roles of principal and superintendent, Shapiro enthusiastically reminisces about some of the accomplishments he is proudest of.

"As principal, I instituted an open-door policy for the students and parents. Also, another program which was pretty innovative was the students' principal lunch period," he said.

The lunch period consisted of 10 different students meeting and eating with the principal to give them the opportunity to discuss any subject they desired.

"This was very successful, but as I became more involved I had to discontinue this practice — it was just too much," he said.

Other accomplishments include the establishment of a computer program along with his support and assistance with the Gifted and Talented program.

"I've been a part of all of them," he said.

In spite of his many accomplishments, and the memories that he will carry with him, Shapiro said it was time for him to move on to a quieter way of life.

"Nobody chased me — it was my decision to go. But just because I'm leaving the school system doesn't mean I'll remain idle. I want to get my feet on the ground and definitely keep busy, but not as vigorously," he added.

"I will certainly carry with me nice, wonderful memories I've worked with very wonderful people."

Family establishes fund in memory of victim

LASTING MEMORIES — Robert Carell, above, was remembered best by his family for his love of life. In gratitude for the care he received as a patient at Middlesex General-University Hospital, a trust fund has been established in his name.

Robert Carell's family remembers him best for his love of life, a love that was reflected in his affection for children and animals, his avid interest in athletic events and his involvement in his work and community.

And though the 39-year-old Mountainside resident died in September, efforts in his memory may now enable others like him to live.

On Sept. 24, four days after physicians performed emergency surgery following an automobile accident in East Brunswick, Carell died at Middlesex General-University Hospital.

Even though the memories of the tragedy remain painful, those closest to Carell are remembering him in a way they say would have pleased him greatly.

In gratitude for the care and concern both he and they received at the hospital, Carell's family has established the Robert Carell Trauma Fund by presenting a $5,000 check to G. Bruce McFadden, hospital president, and Stanley Z. Tooskin, M.D., of North Brunswick, chief of trauma surgery, at a recent reception at the hospital.

The check was presented by Mountainside resident Diane Heaton, who was Carell's fiancée, and his sister Joanne McKitish of Trenton.

"Bob would have wanted something good to come from this tragedy," Heaton said. "We really feel he had the best care available, which prolonged his life so we could have a few more days with him," she said.

The Robert Carell Trauma Fund was begun with the gifts of friends, family members and co-workers of Carell at Hooper Homes Inc., a firm based in Basking Ridge where he worked for 17 years.

The fund will be used to support the continuing education of paramedics, nurses and physicians, as well as for the purchase of lifesaving equipment used in the care of trauma patients, according to Dr. Trooskin, who was one of Carell's physicians.

The fund will also support trauma-related research that physicians hope will result in the improvement of the specialized care necessary to keep trauma victims alive.

"The family is doing an extraordinary thing in Robert Carell's memory," Dr. Trooskin said. "I'm sure it will be comforting for them to know that other victims of trauma may live because of their generosity of spirit," he said.

Heaton said she is working on plans for a five-mile marathon in the fall to raise more money for the trauma fund.

The event, according to Heaton, is a particularly appropriate way to remember her fiancée, whose special interest was fitness and who participated in several Garden State marathons each year. She said she has plans for other fundraising events to provide ongoing support for the trauma fund.

"Bob was a doer," she noted. "I know this is something he would be happy about and I want the fund to grow to be a living memory of the kind of person he was," she said.

BOE seeks structural change

The Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday night to petition the Union County Superintendent of Schools for a change in its administrative structure.

The board, by the 7-0 vote, is now seeking to combine the duties of the school superintendent and business administrator/board secretary.

"All of this was prompted by a letter of retirement by our present board secretary/business administrator, John McDonough," said Board President Linda Schneider.

Schneider said the board is now in receipt of the letter from McDonough and action is expected to be taken on or before July 2.

"After 24 years of service, Mr. McDonough is asking to retire," Schneider said. "In view of that, we took a look at our administrative structure at the board level and we felt this was the best way for us to go, with that, we then made a motion to petition the county superintendent," she said.

According to law, the board must notify the county, which in turn contacts the state, and the decision is ultimately approved or disapproved by the Commissioner of Education, Schneider explained.

In other board action, Schneider said the board authorized the New Jersey School Board Association and Eve Marchiony, a member of the association, to proceed with a search for a Mountainside school superintendent with payment of incidental costs, such as printing and mailing, to be paid by the Mountainside Board of Education.

Man is fined for transaction violation

A 53-year-old township man, the owner of a Newark-based bus company, was fined $1,000, placed on two years probation and directed to personally perform 150 hours of community service by U.S. Magistrate Serena Perretti in Newark June 11 on a currency transaction reporting violation, according to Robert C. Roche, chief of the Internal Revenue Service's Criminal Investigation Division.

Nicholas Agathis of Springfield, owner of Olympia Trails Bus Company, pleaded guilty in April to a one-count information which charged him with making cash transactions in July 1983 at the City Federal Savings and Loan Association, Union, in a manner that prevented that financial institution from complying with its IRS reporting obligations.

Under that requirement, banks and other financial institutions must notify the IRS whenever they transact a cash withdrawal or deposit of $10,000 or more with any one individual during a 24-hour period," remarked Roche. "It's intent is to enable the IRS to better track large cash transfers and to discourage money laundering," he added.

The information charged Agathis, who was convicted 13 years ago on a possession of stolen goods charge in Irvington, with using the names of individuals without their authority to obtain three money orders with about $17,000 in cash. Each money order was for less than $10,000.

Magistrate Perretti rejected Agathis' offer to make his bus company available to meet the community service part of his sentence. Instead, she directed him to perform the service himself.

"I have been increasing penalties to this same charge, there will be custodial (prison) sentences to be given in the future," remarked Perretti during the sentencing hearing.

The unreported transactions were uncovered by special agents of the IRS's Criminal Investigation Division in Newark. Assistant U.S. Attorney Jodi Alpe prosecuted the case for the government.

Quick response saves man

The quick reaction of a Springfield police officer has been credited with saving the life of a man involved in a car accident May 20.

Patrolman John Trampler, the first to arrive at the scene of a car accident May 20 on Route 22, initiated cardiopulmonary resuscitation procedures on Norman Banner, an accident victim whose heart had stopped, until the arrival of an Overlook Hospital Mobile Intensive Care Unit. Members of the unit then administered shock therapy to Banner and returned his heart to a normal rhythm.

Banner's condition continues to improve at the intensive care unit of Overlook Hospital, Summit, according to a hospital spokesman.

Mayor Edward Fanning acknowledged Trampler's action at the June 11 Township Committee meeting, reading letters from Police Chief George Parsell and Jeanne Kerwin, mobile intensive care unit project coordinator from Overlook.

"You can be proud of Patrolman Trampler's quick actions that directly contributed to the saving of a life," Kerwin said in her May 29 letter to Parsell.

Men face charges after accident

Several charges are pending against two Newark men following a June 8 accident on Morris Avenue, Springfield, according to township police reports.

Police said Luis Camacho, 26, of Newark was involved in the accident on Morris Avenue when a passenger in the car he was operating, Angel Gravis Torres, 45, also of Newark, attempted to flee the scene.

After Torres was apprehended, police said, a subsequent check revealed an outstanding bench warrant for drug charges from Essex County.

Torres was taken into custody and charged with leaving the scene of the accident. After processing at Springfield police headquarters

Torres was turned over to Essex County authorities to face the charges there.

Camacho was charged with driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage, driving while on the revoked list, driving an uninsured vehicle, leaving the scene of an accident and having an open alcoholic beverage container in his car.

Patrolman William Sedlak investigated a burglary in which $1,071 was taken in under investigation by Springfield police.

Police reports said an office at Metropolitan Life Insurance on Morris Avenue was broken into June 11 sometime after 5 p.m. Entry was gained by breaking a lock, police said.

Police said the money was taken from a cash box kept in a desk in the office.

Detective James Heitala is investigating.

A New York man reported his Escort radar detector missing from his car, which was parked at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Saturday. The unit, police said, is valued at $250. Patrolman Paul Caron investigated.

A female customer at Sneaky's on Morris Avenue Friday reported her creme colored handbag, containing $35 in cash and several personal items, was missing in a separate incident, a resident of the South Springfield Avenue apartments reported two white gold rings were taken from her top dresser drawer Friday. The rings carry a total value of about $3,500, police said.

Certificate earned by psychologist

Beverly Dvorin of Springfield has completed the two-year post-graduate certificate training program in family therapy at the New Jersey Center for Family Studies, 46 Essex St., Millburn.

Dvorin is a school psychologist with the Springfield elementary school system.

Library closed for Friday renovation

The Mountainside Free Public Library will be closed all day Friday because of renovation work. The library will resume regular hours on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Director Johanna Chen.

Foti seeks to disband board

Borough Councilman Vincent Foti stated Monday that he plans to submit papers to Borough Attorney Michael Buynak to propose an ordinance to abolish the Kenilworth Board of Health in order to reorganize the agency and place it under municipal control.

Foti said he intends to make this initiative as a result of the board's attempt to adopt a salary ordinance, without Borough Council approval, in excess of raises being given to municipal employees.

The board's salary ordinance was criticized by some members of council as proposing an unfair change in the salary structure, too minimal for some employees and too excessive for one position, that of sanitary inspector. The package would call for the following salaries: sanitary inspector, $22,787, a raise of 10 percent; board nurse, $8,780, up 3.3 percent; $1,050 for physicians, an increase of 5 percent, and $4,855 for the office clerk, a 4 percent raise.

"I think the Board of Health has a certain responsibility to find out through the council what their raises are going to be," Foti stated.

Foti challenged the board's contention that it had a right to pass its own salary ordinance independent of council, explaining that the board's charter indicates that it may only pass ordinances that pertain to "public, health and welfare. It doesn't mention the word salaries," Foti stated.

"I find it in very, very bad taste to do something like the board did," Foti said. The councilman explained that by abolishing the Board of Health, he hoped to propose an ordinance to reorganize the agency as a municipal Department of Health answerable to council authority.

Summer jobs for youth

Edward J. Smith, Executive Director of the Westfield Community Center announced the receipt of a grant of $97,984 for Summer Youth Employment.

The Union County Summer Youth Employment Training Program (SYETP) is now seeking eligible youth 14-21 year olds for summer jobs. The Westfield Community Center is sub-grantee for this area. Requirements are:

1. If you have passed your 14th birthday, but not your 22nd birthday on June 25, 1985; be a resident of: New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Mountainside, Cranford, Garwood, Summit, Westfield, Scotch Plains, and Fanwood; be a member of a family receiving public assistance, AFDC, Medicaid, SSI, or must have a total family income at or below 70% of the lower living standard income level; or be an employable physically or mentally handicapped youth. (No income requirements!)

Documentation required is proof of age, residency, income, social security number. Further information may be obtained at the Westfield Community Center, 558 West Broad Street, Westfield; or by calling J. Jacques Hodge, SYETP Coordinator, or Karen-Jean Coleman, Client Services Supervisor at 232-0474.

The In-school youth will work 25 hours per week at $3.35 per hour, in public or non-profit agencies. Out-of-school youth, 18 to 21 years of age, will work 40 hours per week at $4.00 per hour, in public or non-profit agencies.

Each year the federal government provides funds for the employment of approximately 850 youth, through JTPA, to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders' Department of Human Resources, Division of Youth Services.

Vail-Deane science buff granted honor

By SHAWN EVANS

According to his dad, 15-year-old Thomas Palmieri has always been interested in science and particularly intrigued by the human body and how it operates.

That interest and intrigue has earned the young man a place on a list of outstanding New Jersey high school students who have been named Governor's Scholars.

Palmieri, a junior at The Vail-Deane School in Mountainside, who resides in Kenilworth, will attend the Governor's School of the Sciences at Drew University from July 28 to August 24.

He is the only Vail-Deane student to be named as a Governor's Scholar in the sciences this year, and one of only 13 students throughout the state.

The Governor's School was begun by Gov. Thomas Kean in 1982.

Supported by public and private resources, the goal of the Governor's School is to stimulate the minds of the state's most gifted and talented high school students to provoke new and independent thoughts and to foster their creativity.

"Since I was in the second grade, I have always been very interested in math and science," Palmieri says. "I enjoy using my knowledge to solve problems — it gives me a sense of accomplishment," he adds.

His dad, Louis, described his son as "a quiet kind of guy" who always read books on science since the time he was a little boy.

"I'm very proud of him — and he's only 15," Louis Palmieri says, noting that his son skipped a year and moved right into the sixth grade because of his outstanding marks.

He also proudly notes that his son was ranked in the top 50,000 out of some 100,000 students nation-wide who were nominated for the National Merit Scholarship.

Thomas says that he was selected to attend the Governor's School on the basis of two essays which he submitted, explaining why he wished to apply, and also an autobiographical sketch.

When asked if he had positive feelings about being selected, given his past records of excellence, the modest Palmieri says he felt anything but positive about his chances.

"It was just the opposite — I was counting my prayers," he says.

It was evident that his prayers were answered after he was notified about a month ago that he had been accepted.

The young scholar, who aspires to become a surgeon after college, says he simply enjoys using his knowledge to discover the answer to many scientific questions.

"Science intrigues me because I have a need to answer the question 'Why?' I feel good about knowing why the sky is blue or why you pull your hand away from a hot potato," he explains.

He adds, "I would like to pursue medicine and preferably become a neurosurgeon since I am interested in the brain and how it works."

The Governor's School has several objectives. While aiming to broaden scholars' appreciation and knowledge of science, the school also aims to introduce scientific research via hands-on research experience, school officials explain. The subject of career exploration is woven throughout the program.

In addition to the science program, scholars throughout the state are named for their talents in the areas of creative arts-writing and public affairs issues.

The students study the subjects on various college campuses during the four weeks.

"I believe it (the Governor's School) is a unique program, one with great potential for the future of the state and great rewards for the students who attend," Kean has said of the program.

I-78 to have minimal impact on Springfield

A nine-mile stretch of Interstate 78 is expected to be completed by the summer of 1986, but the newly-finished roadway will have a minimal impact on Springfield.

"I would imagine it would lessen traffic on Morris Avenue," said Springfield township engineer Walter Kozup.

Kozup, though, said the fact that no new access ramps to the highway are being constructed would indicate that traffic patterns elsewhere in Springfield would remain virtually unchanged.

Kozup said he expected traffic on the interstate itself would increase once it became a through highway, but there would be little increase in industrial or residential development since Springfield is "already pretty well developed."

New Jersey Department of Transportation spokesman Randy Linthurst said underpasses at Glenside Avenue and Nike Site Road were already completed, with work on the rest of the highway already underway.

"All contracts have been awarded," Linthurst said, "and some have been completed."

Jewish veterans honored

The Elin-Unger Post 273 Jewish War Veterans of the United States (J.W.V.) presented its coveted award limited to carefully selected recipients over the years worthy of the honor at its recent 40th annual installation in Springfield.

Ellen Kaplan of Fairlawn, past president of the Ladies Auxiliary made the presentations.

The honorees were presented the distinguished award, named the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Humanitarian Award — which honored past presidents Bobbie Unger Wasserman Eisenberg and past president Ruth Unger Hirschorn both of Springfield.

The two women have carried on the traditions and legacy for whom the post was named.

The Elin-Unger post has upheld the prestige of the Jewish War Veterans; the oldest veteran organization in the United States chartered by congress.

On the bright side

Outcasts of the family enjoy each other

By GERRY DIGESI

We were the outcasts in the family, my grampa Willie and me, but I didn't mind because I was his favorite and that's all that mattered. Every Sunday my family had dinner with my grandparents, my father's four sisters and their families. I hated going because I didn't want to get dressed up and have my hair curled, my brother was a "good boy" and played politely with my 11 cousins, and my mom kept after me because I disappeared with gramp all the time. My aunts greeted me with polite disdain. Since my brother and I were the only ones who didn't attend parochial school, we were judged to be without any academic skills or redeeming social graces. I didn't know anything about First Fridays, novenas or how to talk to nuns. Mass once a week was enough for me. Gramp made it a point to never be ready when company arrived; one of the ways he rebelled against his nagging wife and four daughters. I couldn't understand why he didn't talk back to them, but as I grew older I realized he had many subtle ways of not conforming to their wishes. He'd greet us at the front door in his undershirt, often marked with a large red stain on the front, a sign he had enjoyed a nip of his homemade Chianti before we arrived. His thick, snowy white hair was uncombed and he always needed a shave. He would grab me roughly and rub his whiskers up and down my cheek while I protested wildly, loving every minute. His tiny blue eyes twinkled with the promise of a smooth, sweet cheek to be kissed before the end of the day. Gramp was the only one in the family who ever hugged with love and gusto and when I was encircled in his arms, I felt as if I were inside a big, warm bubble.

My cousins routinely played their boring, organized games and the adults continued the same repetitious conversation week after week. As soon as I could, I ran to gramp to have some fun. He was in the kitchen, flour up to his elbows with just enough sprinkled on the floor. A stiff, white butcher apron which reached the floor was tied tightly around his pot belly. He had short legs, a stocky frame and by the time I was 10, we were the same height. Gramp rolled out the dough for the ravioli on the smooth porcelain table top using a long-handled broomstick, much to the annoyance of his wife and daughters. "They don't do the work, so they should keep quiet and let me do it my way," he grumbled. "This broomhandle works better than anything I've ever used to make this dough spread smoothly." After the dough was rolled and the ravioli filled and cut, we disappeared, leaving the mess for my aunts to clean up. Often we hid in the garden behind the garage and out of sight of the house so gramp could sneak a cigar. Ruby colored grapes, which covered the arbor, formed a cool, fragrant arch. The damp, black earth smelled good enough to eat. Eggplant, basil, zucchini and plum tomatoes sprawled together in a colorful jumble. This was gramp's domain and he chased anyone who tried to join us. Rough and grumbly, his voice scared my cousins, but I knew the gentleness underneath and was never afraid. On rainy days we went to his woodshop in the cellar — a magical place. The low ceiling, dirt floor and hazy light filtering through the tiny window transformed the room into a secure haven. A strong smell of woodchips and varnish filled the room. Gramp could create anything out of wood and I thought he was a genius. My most cherished possession is the bookcase I helped him build. But he abandoned all attempts to teach me to whittle and carve when he realized all my fingers were thumbs. "Aww, you're only a girl — what good are you anyway?" he'd complain and then give me a bear hug. Occasionally grandpa disappeared and I knew where he was but wouldn't tell anyone. He liked to visit his cronies at the neighborhood bar around the corner. Grandpa drank too much whiskey sometimes and I got upset when he went there, so I tried to get him to come home. My cousins trailed after me and we approached the open door with great fear. This was forbidden territory for my aunts had warned us about the awful people who went in there. Peering into the smokey darkness, I saw gramp sitting on a stool, sipping his whiskey and talking to the bartender. I summoned enough courage to open the creaky screen door and waited for my cousins to follow, but they had run home, eager to tattle. I ran inside and clung to gramp's leg. "Up you go little gal," he said. And there I was on the stool, staring through the dim light, trying desperately to see all the terrible things surrounding me. Gramp bought me a cherry Coke and I wanted to stay, but I saw his watery eyes and I knew we had to go. "Come on Gramp, let's go home to eat before everybody gets riled up again." "Baloney," he answered. "Can't a man have a drink in peace away from all those women and kids?" "Come on, Gramp, let's go." I was getting scared. He usually listened to me and if I didn't bring him home right away, mom would be after me since I wasn't supposed to leave the house. "Oh well, might as well make the ladies happy," he laughed as he slid unsteadily off the stool. I put my arm through his and guided him home. We had a plan when we were late for dinner. I stayed in the garden while gramp pulled out a bunch of fresh vegetables to take in for the salad. "Was in the garden the whole time," he mumbled to my aunts. "Don't know what's so awful. Been there all afternoon." Finally we all sat down to eat — my cousins neat clean and polite, my mother glaring at my dirty dress and uncombed hair. I wanted to sit next to gramp, but there was a seating order according to family rank and I don't think God himself could have changed it. Gramp reappeared clean-shaven, his hair plastered flat against his head with Jeris' brilliantine. His eyes sparkled, reflecting the deep blue of his one Sunday shirt. I never could figure out how he transformed himself that quickly. After we finished eating, the adults stayed to talk and nibble on fruits, nuts and pastries. I would slide off my chair, slide down to gramp's end of the table and if I was lucky, manage to slip beneath the floor-length table cloth without being seen. I'd nudge gramp's knee and piece by piece, he would hand me the orange slices which had soaked up the Chianti in the pitcher on the table. The bitter taste took my breath away but the treat was special because only I shared it with him. When we left, I had to kiss my aunts and uncles goodbye and was filled with resentment because it seemed to be a meaningless gesture. Then I got to gramp. The cheek he rubbed against mine as he squeezed me was baby soft, the sweet smell of powder and cologne enveloped him. I never wanted to leave. "See you next Sunday, babe." That's all I wanted to hear.

Letters to the editor

Baltusrol is 'always accommodating'

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Golf team recently concluded its fourth consecutive successful season with 18 dual match victories, a third place finish in the Mountain Valley Conference tournament and its second Regional High Tournament title. The team plays its home matches on Baltusrol's renowned lower course, site of six U.S. Opens. Our ongoing relationship with Baltusrol continues to be one of cooperation with the high school golf program. Even with Nancy Lopez Day on the upper while we were playing a match on the lower, or with Hale Irwin conducting a clinic on Mountain Valley Tournament Day, the club makes adjustments to be accommodating. All our matches were completed even though Baltusrol will be host of the 1985 Women's U.S. Open on the upper course in July. Greens Superintendent Joe Flaherty is always receptive to our team schedule. The pro staff takes an active interest in the team's progress, headed by Bob Ross with assistants Tom Staples, John Twissel, and Bob Mulcahy. Our thanks to Pro Shop Manager Sue Hyde. Caddy Master George Baker and assistant John O'Connell monitor our team matches. Club Manager Mark DeNoble handles our team schedule and is always available to handle any situation. Ranger Jim McGowan keeps traffic moving on the course. We would like to extend our gratitude to the Governing Board of Baltusrol, Paul Hanna, president, for its approval of our practice and match dates. A special thanks to member Bill Koonz, for playing host to the Dayton team at the annual luncheon and for the gifts presented to the students. RAY YANCHUS Head Coach of Golf and the Jonathan Dayton Team

Thanks extended to fair friends

On May 11, Mountainside held its annual fair. The theme this year was "International Friendship" and it was a high success. It is to all our "friends" that we owe this success. Mountainside Fire Department, First Aid Squad, Police Department, Historical Society, students, faculty, members and the PTA of Deerfield School. A special thanks also to Ruth and Bill Frolich for sharing their film with us on the Statue of Liberty. Thanks again to all those people who supported us and area merchants who donated prizes to us. Without the help and support we received, this fair would not have been the success it was! NANCY KULCSAN ROBERTA KRUMHOLTZ Fair co-chairpersons

Your mental health

By PAUL WEBER, M.D.

A great deal has been written lately about the successful treatment of phobias — the disorder in which a person develops a baseless dread of situations such as elevators, heights, supermarkets, trains, buses, driving on an expressway, etc., or of some animal or insect. To some extent, the tendency has been to paint an overoptimistic picture with accounts of easy cures. The fact is that while treatment often brings about quick and lasting recovery, there are cases where there is not much change, or where the fears return after an initial improvement. Study of many of these cases has led us to the conclusion that treatment failures are often due to the fact that only one of several available treatment methods was used — medication or psychotherapy or "exposure therapy." Exposure therapy consists of bringing the patient, step by step, back into the dreaded place or places he or she has been avoiding. It is our opinion, at The Carrier Foundation, that a combination of methods needs to be considered, suited to each individual case. For instance, a patient might come to us suffering from panic attacks, a condition which occurs in many but not in all cases of agoraphobia. A panic attack is an overwhelming surge of terror, coming "out of nowhere," accompanied by frightening physical symptoms — palpitations, hot flashes, faintness and dizziness, trembling, choking and suffocating sensations. The experience is so terrifying, that the person thinks he is having a heart attack, or that he is going to lose control and "do something crazy," or that he is going out of his mind. In cases where the panic attacks are a major problem, we would initiate treatment with medications we call "panic blockers" to control that symptom. We might need to continue this for quite a while, but, then, we would simultaneously initiate exposure therapy and psychotherapy. The reason for psychotherapy, is that the panic attacks and the phobia are generally related to some underlying emotional problem which must be dealt with. To illustrate: A young man started having panic attacks in his last year in college, the attacks occurring in class and in social situations. Although he was able to graduate and assume responsible positions, he was always under a terrible strain. Not knowing when or where he was going to have another panic attack, he would deliberately stay away from situations where he was likely to encounter people in groups, thus becoming an isolate, socially, and "a loner" at his work. Even self-enforced isolation did not end anxiety and he took to alcohol, which eventually cost him his job and resulted in his having to be hospitalized. After treating this young man with "panic blocker" medication, we placed him in individual and group psychotherapy. In individual therapy, we learned that this man came from a closed-in family where he had not been allowed to have much contact with people on the outside. He grew up shy, timid, fearful. When it came time for him to leave his family and go out on his own, his panic attacks began. His timidity and shyness were a central factor in his problem and he needed help in overcoming them. In group therapy, this patient was encouraged to express himself without fear of "looking silly" or of being rejected. Exposure therapy brought him back into social and group situations, the kind he had avoided since adolescence. In cases where panic attacks are not a problem — and these might be cases of agoraphobia, or more simple cases such as driving phobia or phobia for heights or for airplanes — we would not need to resort to panic blockers. We might use mild tranquilizers to start with, to reduce the patient's anxiety, but the basic treatment would consist of exposure therapy and individual and group psychotherapy. Patients who have not had relief from their phobia with one type of treatment need not be discouraged. They should seek a treatment situation where a variety of approaches are used and where the treatment measure or measures would be chosen to suit their particular case.

Phobias: There aren't any easy cures

Fighting 'shadows' in Central America

By ROSE P. SIMON
The following are reviews of books currently available at the Springfield Public Library.

INVOLVEMENT IN CENTRAL AMERICA

"Endless War." By James Chace

For 160 years since the Monroe Doctrine was adopted, the policy of the United States in Central America has been dominated by two ideas — one was the fear of revolution; the other was that foreign nations might influence Central America, thus threatening our own security. Chace — formerly managing editor of Foreign Affairs, now senior editor of the New York Times Book Review — asserts that we have never had a successful foreign policy in the region, but have intervened politically and militarily from time to time, always fighting "shadows." Today, the "shadows" are those of Soviet-Cuban expansionism.

The author describes the present dilemma as "an old story," citing President Reagan's Cold War approval: using the military instead of an economic or diplomatic approach to resolve the complex issues. As a result, violence has risen drastically, as have general social and political tensions. The situation in each nation is explored, including our responses to changes — usually military build-ups.

Several suggestions are advanced: gradual demilitarization, negotiation of security grantees, postponement of interest payments (especially for Mexico), the issue of long-term, low-interest bonds, reconstruction of present trade arrangements, some limited economic aid, and permission for Mexico to take the lead in finding peaceful solutions with her neighbors. "The United States must finally learn to distinguish between indigenous revolution and Soviet-inspired subversion," according to the author. We should try to reinforce "democracy where it already exists."

A TROUBLED ADOLESCENCE
"An Angel at My Table," by Janet Frame

This autobiography is the second, her adolescent period, of Janet Frame, the New Zealand poet and novelist. It begins with the long train ride to Dunedin — her first big city — where she would live with close relations while attending the University Training College, studying and teaching. Timid, overawed, extremely shy, she led a lonely, miserable existence, avoiding people, busying herself with reading, and writing poetry.

Her unusual sensitivity and fears came to a climax when she abruptly left her classroom to avoid observation and supervision of her headmaster. Instead of returning to teach, she waited on tables, then attempted suicide, eventually being diagnosed as schizophrenic. She became an inmate of mental

Blitzer to head RCA credit union

Judith J. Blitzer of Crest Place, Springfield, has been elected president of the RCA Globcom Employees Federal Credit Union of New York and New Jersey.

Blitzer previously held the positions of assistant treasurer and vice president. She is also active in community affairs and is the president of the Springfield Public Library board of trustees, president of the Springfield Republican Party and vice chairman of the Springfield Republican County Committee. She is the elected district leader in the 6th District.

Blitzer is a member of Temple Beth Ahm and the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm.

The credit union currently has more than $2 million in assets.

hospitals, intermittently, for about eight years. She worked on her own, studied psychology, took menial jobs to support herself (she always denigrated herself), visited her parent's home (but not for long), and published her first poems. But her depression increased after her younger sister was drowned, and after her mother became ill.

A surgeon, who was about to perform a lobotomy on the young woman, accidentally discovered that Janet Frame had been awarded a prize for her published work. This was a turning point in her hitherto unhappy life. She gives an account of the mistaken diagnoses of the past, the absence of interviews and probes to ascertain her sanity.

Her introduction to Frank Sargeson (1954) — an older author — was extremely fortuitous. He helped her to develop her literary knowledge and to restructure her work. Under his beneficent guidance, Janet's works were published. This resulted in a contract which would enable her to travel on the continent. Although still unsophisticated and shy, she was prepared to face the world on her own.

Brearley pupils win awards

Awards to the David Brearley Regional High School students who competed in the 22nd Annual Joseph J. Sott Mathematics Day have been announced. Students from Governor Livingston, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and David Brearley high schools competed in the two levels of competition.

The Mathematics Day is named for respected and recently retired mathematics educator and coordinator, Joseph J. Sott. Contestants were ranked according to placement in the school they attend and were not in competition with those from the other schools.

Cecilia Rizzo won top honors in the Level I competition. Karen Ketchel took second place and Donna Silver and Tricia Zanetti tied for third place.

Pam Rae Kresge and Vincent Tango tied for top honors in the Level II competition. Maria Poecia took third place.

Pupils 'kick off' for spinal research

Students at the Pingry Lower School, Short Hills, have literally kicked off a campaign that has raised more than $4,400 for spinal cord injury research.

All pupils who attend the private day school, from kindergarten through sixth grade, took part in a soccer kick as part of the school's Annual Field Day. Each student pledged for sponsors for each soccer goal they could kick out of three tries; then returned to sponsors to pick up their donations.

Participants from Springfield included Apu Mullick, Gregory Stevens, Jennifer Joel, Haley Joel and Randy Schnur.

Monies raised will help support research sponsored by the Stifel Paralysis Research Foundation, also headquartered in Short Hills. The Stifel Foundation was started in order to fund vital research into finding a cure for spinal cord injury paralysis, which affects more than 500,000 Americans.

Students also prepared "get-well" cards for one Pingry School graduate, Henry G. Stifel III, who was himself paralyzed in an automobile accident two years ago. Stifel's father, Henry G. Stifel, began the foundation when he recognized the dearth of funds available for research into spinal cord injury paralysis.

PTA at Caldwell picks new officers

The James Caldwell PTA of Springfield elected its 1985-86 slate at its annual meeting at the spring concert May 21. The new slate includes president, Marie Florio; vice president, Carol Gebauer; secretary, Patrice Hunter and treasurer, Carrie Greenberg.

Installation was held at the Caldwell teachers luncheon, given by the PTA yesterday. The installing officer was Nancy Paley, president of the Union County Council of Parent Teacher Associations. The luncheon was a special thank you to all the teachers and staff at Caldwell School for their work and dedication throughout the school year.

Immediate care center open

Doctors on Duty, the first walk-in immediate care center in the Union area opened Monday, at 2624 Morris Ave., Union. Richard L. Siegel, M.D., medical director, points out that freestanding emergency centers have been proclaimed the most rapidly growing form of health care delivery over the past decade, due largely to pressures on the profession to contain health care costs.

Doctors on Duty provides a new environment for treatment of minor, non-life-threatening illnesses and injuries. In addition, Siegel said, "Our aim is to provide convenient, cost-effective, quality care to persons experiencing a variety of home, work, sport or recreational injuries and to offer routine physical examinations to the industrial community as part of our dedication to wellness." The facility is fully equipped with state-of-the-art medical equipment including laboratory, ECG and X-ray services.

Siegel emphasized that it is not the mission of Doctors on Duty to replace the family physician, or to dismiss the importance of hospital emergency rooms in life-threatening situations. "Doctors on Duty," he said, "can best be described as an innovative cross between a hospital emergency room and a doctor's office. We try to combine the features of convenient, rapid attention to a patient's immediate needs with a personal atmosphere."

Doctors on Duty will, the physician believes, reduce the non-emergent load for hospital emergency rooms and provide services to the patient who does not have a personal physician. "We will work with the patient and, if the problem is of a serious nature, we will contact the patient's private physician, arrange for a specialist, or coordinate hospital treatment," Siegel continued.

The cost of health care at Doctors on Duty can be up to one-half the cost for the same care in a hospital emergency room. "Freestanding emergency centers," says Siegel, "do not charge usage fees for the facility, enabling us to pass on significant cost savings to the patient and/or the employer."

Siegel is director of Emergency Services at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center (NBIMC). He is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College and received his degree in medicine from Tufts University School of Medicine. He has been director of Emergency Medicine at both Lenox Hill Hospital and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine prior to joining the NBIMC staff. He is a member of the American College of Examiners and a member of the Medical Advisory Committee to EMS (Emergency Medical Service) which is responsible for medical control of all paramedic activities in New York City.

Siegel's partner at Doctors on Duty is Seymour Charles, M.D., former chief of the Department of Pediatrics at NBIMC and a member of the attending staff there. Charles is an assistant professor of Pediatrics at the University of Medicine and Dentistry-New Jersey Medical School, a Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics and is certified by the American Board of Pediatrics. He is a graduate of the School of Medicine, New York University; served his internship at NBIMC, a Pediatric residency at University Hospital, the University of Michigan and a residency in Pediatric Pathology at Children's Hospital, Michigan. He has been engaged in the private practice of pediatrics in the community for the 30 years.

Charity Council installs slate

Charity Council for Cerebral Palsy recently held its annual installation of officers.

The council was organized 50 years ago as the auxiliary for the Young Men's Hebrew Club in Newark, and looking for a cause for which to work, changed its name and has devoted the years to raising monies as a non-sectarian organization for the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center of Essex and West Hudson, now located at 7 Sanford Ave.

At a recent dinner, at which 19 active past presidents were honored, the proceeds of this group's fund raising for the year was presented to the center — $39,000 — bringing the total thus far raised for the benefit of the center to more than a half million dollars.

Janet Averbach of Springfield succeeded herself as president. Marion Morris of Caldwell was chairwoman of the installation dinner and Cynthia Greenstone of Irvington was the installing officer. Both Morris and Greenstone are past presidents of this organization of about 150 women who come from throughout Essex and Union counties.

OUTSTANDING VOLUNTEER—Union County Freeholder Charlotte DeFilippo (right) recently presented an honor to Sonja Burkett, president of the Junior League of Elizabeth Plainfield, recognizing her for her work in community service. DeFilippo presented the honor as part of a Freeholders' resolution declaring "National Volunteers Week."

ALLERGIC RHINITIS
Rhinitis is the chronic, allergic irritation and inflammation of the nasal passages. It usually occurs with watery eyes and itching. Seasonal rhinitis is usually due to a sensitivity to pollens from trees, flowers, grasses and weeds. Rhinitis occurring year round may be due to dog and cat dander, dust, and molds.
Antihistamine-containing medicines help reduce mucus secretions, itching, and swelling inside the nose. These medicines tend to be more useful in preventing than in correcting nasal symptoms. For this reason, antihistamines should be given before an anticipated attack.
The decongestants cause a shrinkage of the swollen membranes in the nasal passages. On a short-term basis they can bring dramatic relief. Long-term use (especially as drops or sprays) can, however, cause congestion to return.
Topical steroids (on prescription) are often effective in treating chronic rhinitis. The steroid, when inhaled through the nose, soothes inflamed membranes. If almost dramatic results are not achieved, some patients are also given antihistamines and/or decongestants.

MIKE WARNEKE

Mike Warnke will be presented by HOPE Ministries Saturday at 8 p.m. at Burnet Junior High School, Morris Avenue, Union. Warnke, who was recently seen on television's ABC's "20/20" in a program about Satanism and occult. He is a former Satanist high priest, drug user and drug dealer. He explains that his life changed after joining the United States Navy more than 10 years ago and after he became a born-again Christian. Tickets are available at local Christian book stores or by calling 789-9749 or 276-8740. A free offering will be taken to aid World Relief's project in Burkina Faso (formerly Uppr Volta). The money will be used to dig new water wells in the drought-stricken area. All HOPE Ministries activities are given to aid missions working in the United States and/or abroad.

THE SISTERHOOD of Temple Mekor Chayim, Linden, recently installed its 1985 officers. They are Barbara Engelberg, president; Frances Farber, vice president and membership chairman; Marjory Hecht, vice president and program chairman; Myrtle Dembling, Sheila Levine and Delores Sheps, vice presidents and members of the ways and means committee; Rozalind Rosenblatt, recording secretary; Adele Rekon, social secretary; Muriel Ostroff, financial secretary; Annette Diamond, corresponding secretary, and Bess Hoffman, treasurer. Eleanor Fishman was the installing officer. Sandy Schachter was the outgoing president.

RESERVATIONS ARE being received for "Israel Experience 1985," a tour personally designed by the Rev. Nancy E. Forsberg, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Union, with the scheduled departure date of Aug. 19. A veteran leader in group travel, Miss Forsberg (or Rev. Nancy, as she is called in the local areas) will be assisted on the trip by Leola Anderson, director of music of the Chatham United Methodist Church. It was announced that those who sign up "have an option of going for 15 days and returning on Sept. 2, or for 22 days, returning Sept. 9." The tour is open to "people of all ages, races and religions," says Rev. Nancy. "The aim is to provide an experience which will bring life to the Biblical past and an appreciation of the present as well as understanding some of the problems faced in the Middle East."

During the first week, Jerusalem will be "explored extensively, both old and new, including an archaeological lecture on the site of a recent excavation, and a folk lore program at the International Cultural Center for Youth Old and New Testament events will be recreated through devotional moments in such places as the Garden Tomb, the Upper Room and Gethsemane." There will be day trips to Bethany, Bethlehem, Jericho, Qumran, Masada and the Dead Sea area. The second week will highlight the Galilee region, Akko, Caesarea, Capernaum, Haifa, Jaffa, Megiddo, Nahariya, Nes Ammim, Nazareth, Safred, Tiberias and Tel Aviv.

Also, the mountain peaks of history will be visited, such as, the Mount of Beatitudes, Mount Carmel, the Mount of Olives, Mount Scopus, Mount Tabor and Mount Zion. "There will be opportunities to swim in the Sea of Galilee, the Dead sea, the Red Sea, the Mediterranean Sea and to wade in the Jordan River." The third week will focus on the Sinai, with stops at Yad Mordechai, Beersheba, David Ben Gurion's Kibbutz Sde Boker, "the awe-inspiring Wilderness of Zin, Avdat (a center of the Nabatean civilization)," three days and nights in the resort of Eilat, plus three additional days back in Jerusalem to complete the tour.

The two-week program will cover Bible study, music, arts and crafts and recreation. It was announced that early registration is essential. Additional information can be obtained by calling Cathy Pinch at 687-9424.

Pastor to be honored at concert on Sunday

A choir of more than 50 voices under the direction of James S. Little will honor the Rev. and Mrs. Elmer A. Talcott on the occasion of Pastor Talcott's retirement Sunday at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside. Present members of the Senior Choir, former members and students of the Pingry School will participate.

Selections will include the "Gloria" by Francis Poulenc, "Cantique de Jean Racine" by Gabriel Faure, "Herr, Ich Warte Auf Dem Heil" by Johann Michael Bach and "Locus Iste" by Anton Bruckner. An informal part of the program will include "Every Valley," "Every Time I Feel the Spirit," "Shake Hands" and "There Is Sunshine in My Soul."

A reception will follow in the social rooms of the church. Members of the surrounding communities are invited to attend.

Pastor Talcott, who will retire on June 30, will reside in Plainfield. A graduate of Swarthmore College and Yale Divinity School, Mr. Talcott has served the Mountainside Church for 24 years. He was ordained in Greenwich, Conn., in 1947. He had served as pastor of the Fort Schuyler Presbyterian Church of New York City, assistant pastor of the Rye Presbyterian Church and pastor of the Old First Reformed Church and Park Slope Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The minister served on the board of directors of Kirkridge Retreat Center for more than 30 years. His ecumenical commitments involved him in conferences in Canterbury and Vienna. Recently, he traveled to the Soviet Union as a peace ambassador with a group sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

Mr. Talcott's interest in music was largely responsible for the installation of the Aeolian Skinner Pipe Organ and the founding of "Pathways to Music," which for many years "provided opportunities for young performers to concertize in the Mountainside Church."

His wife, the former Helen Bruce Douglas of Rye, N. Y., also has been active in the community. She served as an officer of the PTA and the Library Volunteer Group for the public schools. She also served on the Board of Directors of Youth and Family Counseling services in Westfield for nine years, the Board of Directors of Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, and secretary to its executive committee. Mrs. Talcott does volunteer work for the hospital as a member of the Senior Auxiliary.

Now PEUGEOT OFFERS A BETTER WARRANTY THAN EVEN BMW, SAAB OR AUDI.
That's right. As of May 1st, any newly purchased 1985 Peugeot includes a better warranty package than all three luxury imports.
First, Peugeot gives you a New Vehicle Limited Warranty which extends to three years or 36,000 miles. That means Peugeot will repair or replace, without charge, any defects in material or workmanship.
Second, Peugeot provides a Powertrain Limited Warranty which extends to 5 years or 50,000 miles. Its coverage includes engine, transmission, driveshaft and rear-axle components.
With this kind of protection, you're probably expecting endless qualifications and disclaimers. Well, don't. Peugeot can afford to offer a warranty so impressive because our cars are so impressive.
For 98 years, Peugeot has maintained a reputation for building quality automobiles so some of the most exacting standards in the world. And now, Peugeot is providing a warranty package to match.
For complete details, see a copy of the warranty at your local Peugeot dealer.

Rams hoping early season success continues

By WAYNE TILLMAN
 What a difference a year makes. Last year, the Union Rams finished with a 16-24 record in the Essex County Baseball League, the worst record in the team's seven year history.
 But that was last year. This year's Rams team has gotten off to a sizzling start in the ECBL, winning 10 of their first 12 games, by far the best record in the league. And now they are the team to beat and could be a favorite to win the league crown in August.
 What has been the key in the turnaround? Just ask manager Ron Cappizzano.
 "It has been because of a little conglomeration of a lot of players," he said. "We have an excellent group of players who have jelled together. And we are strong throughout our lineup, there are no easy outs. Plus we have excellent pitching and strong defense in the middle."
 What it has added up to is the best team ever to take the diamond at Rabkin Park, the Rams' home field

And that has added up to bigger crowds and better support.
 Only one starter returned from last year's squad: Bob Marczak in center field and the Rams' leadoff hitter. The rest are new players or players taken from the defunct West Orange Red Sox and Irvington A's.
 At first base is Pat Fagan, who also can pitch and has won two decisions on the mound. The second baseman is Anthony Pacillo, who is currently hitting over .300 and the shortstop is Jim Petrillo, formerly of the Red Sox and considered to be the league's best at his position.
 Marty Carbone, who was with the A's, is handling the duties at third base and Mike Murray, former Kean College star, is behind the plate. The outfielders are Herm Diaz, another Kean star, in left, Marczak and Frank Furlano in right.
 "Carbone has been consistent and been getting the key hits for us, while Murray has been excellent as a leadoff hitter. He is a leader and provides us with a good stick and an excellent arm," said Cappizzano.

 Union has also gotten contributions from Mark Whitcomb and Mark Crisafi as the designated hitters.
 But the pitching has been the biggest factor in the Rams' success. Cappizzano has four sure starters and two excellent relievers waiting in the wings.
 Leading the starters is former A's hurler Hugh McKean, who is 3-0 and recently won his 100th league game; Mike Metayer, also 3-0, from Drew University, Fagan and Dan Borgo. In the bullpen are lefthander Steve LaManna of Roselle Park and righty John Marcisin of Kenilworth. Also available are Frank Gagliano of Springfield and Tom Barrett of Westfield.
 "Through 10 games, our staff ERA is 1.00, which is excellent," said Cappizzano. "This is an outstanding staff. And our pitching should keep us from losing streaks."

And thus far, only the Parsippany Tomahawks and New Jersey Cubans have handed the Rams their only losses. But the season is a long way from over, and the team knows that.
 "Our confidence factor is excellent," said Cappizzano. "The other teams have to catch us. Plus, no team in league history has ever won 30 games in a season (in a 40-game schedule). So that's something to shoot for."
 That, plus some hardware. The Rams have won three division and one league title (1981), but this team is threatening to break plenty of records.
 But the question now is: Can they keep it up?
 "I hope so," said Cappizzano. "But now that we've played everyone at least once, we will be facing very tough games ahead. And we seem to face the aces of every team's pitching staff."
 In the South Division with the Rams are the Millburn Atlantics, New Jersey Cubans, Union Jayhawks and Cranford Knights. The North Division is comprised of the Verona Twins, Parsippany Tomahawks, Montclair Indians and Belleville Braves.

 "Verona and Parsippany will give us trouble because they are also strong in pitching, offense and defense," said Cappizzano. "The Cubans have a tremendous offensive club, while Millburn has good pitching and defense. The Jays are a scrappy team that lack pitching and Cranford, despite its record (0-9) is a strong team."
 The Rams play a majority of their games at Rabkin this summer. They lost, 4-3, to the Cubans this past Monday and played at Parsippany this past Tuesday. Last night, they played host to Belleville. The month's action concludes next week with home games against Verona (June 24), Montclair (June 25) and Belleville (June 26).
 Are the Rams for real? Stay tuned and find out.

Majors to host tourney this weekend

By WAYNE TILLMAN
 It was an idea that came into Betty Zwingrat's head back in December.
 "I wanted to have a tournament in Linden," said the manager of the Linden Majors. "I wanted it to be a big family affair and have some of the area's best teams competing."
 Her idea has become reality. The first annual Linden Majors women's fast-pitch softball tournament takes place this weekend at the Memorial Field complex. There will be 21 teams, nine in the Major Division and 12 in the A Division, competing from four states.

joined in the A Division tourney with the Clark Wildcats, Bergen County Blue Jays, Colonia Crusaders, North Jersey Shilohs, Cedar Grove Gems, Kelly's Crew of Nutley, Rutherford and the Adamucci Oilers of Hammononton from New Jersey, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Stamford, Conn.
 "It will be a tough tournament. Anything can happen," said Zwingrat. "There are many strong teams in both divisions."
 There will be a festive mood this weekend. Linden Mayor George Hudak is scheduled to throw out the first ball tomorrow, and a chicken barbeque is slated for Saturday. That, plus outstanding softball, makes for an enjoyable weekend.

Last weekend, the Majors traveled to Washington, D.C. for a tournament and finished third. Outfielder Kathy Starling and second baseman Margaret Niemann were named to the all-tournament team.
 In an 8-0 romp over Lansdale, winning pitcher Rose Kalisak was backed by two hits each from Starling, Tracy Buono and Suzanne Luna. Dori Breen and Donna Brooks also drove in runs.
 That was followed by a 3-1 loss to the Bandits of Bucks County, Pa. Eileen Gregory drove in Linden's only run.
 A rain washed away Saturday's play, Linden was busy on Sunday.

They edged Johnny's Jets, 3-2, on Bonnie Black's suicide squeeze in the seventh which scored Luna with the deciding run.
 In a 5-1 win over the Washington Metros, Kalisak struck out seven and had three hits, while Gregory, Buono and Starling each had two hits. But Linden's hopes of winning the tourney ended in a 2-0 loss to the Bandits. The Topton VIP's of Pennsylvania ended up winning the tournament.
 Michelle Smith was unavailable to the Majors last weekend, but will be in uniform this weekend for the tournament.

Taylor an All-American

Former Union High girls' basketball star Cheryl Taylor was named second team All-American by Fast Break magazine, a publication that covers women's basketball for the American Women's Sports Federation.
 Taylor, now starring at Tennessee Tech and who will be participating in the upcoming National Sports Festival in Louisiana, was named to the second team for university division all-Americans. She joins Pam Gant of Louisiana Tech on that second team, and Taylor was named to the magazine's all-Deep South squad.

 Among the players chosen first team All-America were Janet Harris of Georgia, Cheryl Miller of Southern Cal, and Medina Dixon and Tracy Claxton of national champion Old Dominion.

County loop needs sponsors

Sponsors are still needed for the 1985 Youth Baseball League. The League, sponsored by the Union County Baseball Association and the County of Union, Department of Parks and Recreation is for boys and girls ages 8-15.
 Sponsorship fees range from $65 per team for 8 & 9 year olds to $125 per team for 14 & 15 year olds.

All games are played at Warinanco Park during June, July and August. Sponsorship fees will be used to defray the cost of uniforms, trophies and umpire fees.
 Any individual or organization wishing to sponsor a team should contact Jean Laham, Program Coordinator, at the Department of Parks and Recreation Office at 527-4916.

Berliners star for Muhlenberg tennis

Two former Dayton Regional tennis stars had fine seasons this spring with Muhlenberg College. One was senior Al Berliner, who was 11-9 this year and served as the team's co-captain. He won his third varsity letter and finished 39-15 overall in singles and doubles play at MC.

 The other was sophomore Mike Berliner, who went 14-6 overall this season (best mark on the squad). He also earned his first varsity letter this year as Muhlenberg finished with a final team record of 7-5.

And the local teams get the ball rolling tomorrow night, when the tourney, sponsored by Lite Beer, begins. At 7:30 p.m. at Toots Nusse Field, the Linden Arians will meet the Pandoras of New York and at 9 p.m., the Majors tangle with Lansdale, Pa.

It is a double-elimination affair, and games will be played throughout Saturday and Sunday at the Toots Nusse fields, the main Memorial Field baseball diamond and at Tremley Point. Joining the Majors and Lansdale in the Major Division are Johnny's Jets of Baltimore, West Haven, Waterford and the Aetna Coeds of Connecticut, Albany, N.Y., Allentown, Pa. and the Montclair 81's.

Hillside Seafood wins three in RP loop

Hillside Seafood won three times last week in Major Boys action in the Roselle Park Youth Baseball League. They beat Jo-Mar Deli (7-0); Colonial Savings (13-7) and Fire Department (5-0).

Tom Ellan and Jonathan Price combined to hold Jo-Mar to three hits, while Scott Sexton had three hits and drove in two runs. Ellan and Price combined to fire a no-hitter in the victory over the Firemen, with Cermele Garrett belting a grand slam homer in the first inning.

Colonial Savings won twice, beating Jo-Mar (9-5) and Buy Rite (7-2). Pat Cook and John Hutchinson each drove in two runs against Jo-Mar and David Patterson cracked a grand slam in the win over Buy Rite. Jo-Mar also won twice, defeating Colonial Savings (9-5) and the Firemen (13-1). Billy Huber and Ricky Trainor were the hitting stars in both victories.

Buy Rite came up with victories over Hillside Seafood (4-3) and the Park Police Department (9-1). Kyle Davey and Freddy Wacker combined to pitch a five-hitter in both games.

In Minor Boys, CWV won three times, beating Morley McGovern (19-7) and Ryan Fuel twice (10-5 and 8-7). Jerry Russo and Justin Shemley combined for the three wins. Hitting stars in all three contests were Russo, George Gyure, Frank Affitto, Vincent Prestinari and Jesse Fuchs.

In Clinic Boys, Pisano Realty won twice, beating DeGeorge Jewelers (10-7) and Somerset Tire (5-2). Kevin Geohegan hit two homers and Dan Hopler one in the victory over DeGeorge, while Hopler hit two more round-trippers in the win over Somerset Tire, his sixth and seventh of the season.

Burger King edged Somerset Tire, 9-8, as Jimmy Webesiek and Alex Gomez combined to drive in five runs. DeGeorge nipped Garden State Tile, 7-6, behind two homers by Vincent Kovacs and Garden State nipped Burger King, 9-8, with Mike George driving in three runs with three hits.

In Major Girls, Four Seasons won three times: 21-4 over McDonald's, 29-14 over Innovation Optics and 20-14 over Donato Florist. In the win over McDonald's, Karen Matthews, Rebecca Dixon and Nina Lott combined to pitch a four-hitter, with Dixon getting five hits and four RBI's.

Matthews and Chrissy Deluca were the hitting stars in the win over Innovation, combining for 15 hits and driving in 10 runs. Laura Milligan went four-for-four and knocked in five tallies against Donato.

Donato bounced back to edge McDonald's, 18-17, as Michele Torres had three hits, two of them homers and the other a triple.

In Senior Girls, Oakwood Deli defeated Joseph's Express, 18-11, on the last day of the season to take first place. Renee Favor was the winning pitcher and drove in three runs, as did Jennifer Smith and Carolyn Bongard.

In Clinic Girls, Cicariello Brothers won three times, defeating Federal Lanes (21-6), Jedji Boat (24-7) and Mom's Club (19-1). Kelly Rox, Tara Bogota and Elizabeth Murray paced the win over Federal, while Jessica Deluca hit three homers in beating Jedji Boat. Bogota and Murray had three hits and three RBI's apiece in beating Mom's Club.

CLYDE'S BACK IN ACTION—Walt "Clyde" Frazier came out of retirement to play in the annual basketball tournament of Garden State Brickface and Stucco, held recently in Linden. The former NBA superstar, who led the Knicks to titles in 1969 and 1973, played for the corporate team in the journey between the company's divisional branches.

Tennis instruction set

The Linden Recreation Department is now accepting registration for tennis instructions for boys and girls age 9-11. The classes will be held at the Wilson Park courts for four weeks. Classes will be held at 9, 10 and 11 a.m., with two sessions being offered.

The Monday-Wednesday sessions will run on July 1, 3, 8, 10, 15, 17, 22 and 24. The Tuesday-Thursday sessions will run July 2, 9, 11, 16, 18, 23, 25 and 30. Each class will be limited to 12 students on a first come, first served basis.

Students must wear rubber soled shoes and supply their own racquet. There is no registration charge, lessons are free. All youths must be Linden residents. Registration will conclude June 21. Further information may be obtained at the Recreation Office, located at 605 South Wood Avenue or by calling 862-300 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Roselle Park, co-champions in the Valley Division of the Mountain Valley Conference, along with Brearley and Dayton, each placed players on the all-MVC softball team selected by the coaches.

Karen Antonucci, outfielder Carolyn Hazlehurst and designated hitter Fran Ciak on the all-Valley Division team. All-Valley choices from Brearley were infielder Mary Ann Drone and outfielder Kathy Carrea. Dayton placed three on the all-Mountain Division team: pitcher Sharon Kutsop, infielder Dawn Pohlman and outfielder Carmela Carpenter.

INSTALL AN ENERGY-EFFICIENT GAS WATER HEATER AND GET A $50 REBATE.

Then the real savings start.

To encourage energy conservation, we're giving $50 rebates to Elizabethtown Gas customers who purchase (from any retailer) and install energy-efficient automatic gas water heaters in existing residential dwellings by December 31, 1985.

The efficiency of gas water heaters is measured by an energy factor based on overall performance in recovery efficiency, standby loss and energy input. Rebates will be provided for units with energy factors of: 56 (30-gal unit), 54 (40-gal unit) or 51 (50-gal unit).

But that's only the beginning of your savings. In use, energy-efficient automatic gas water heaters give you more hot water for less money. The more you use it, the more you save.

For more information, mail the coupon below or call toll-free:

1-800-221-0364

This offer is available to owners of one- to four-family homes who are Elizabethtown Gas customers.

Stadium hosts auto show

The Mountainside Little League crowned a new champion as the Twins eked out a 9-7 verdict from last year's pace setters, the Braves.

The Twins jumped to an early 5-0 on the strength of a two-run double by Jason Perle and a two-run single by Colin Gordon and held on for the victory thanks to strong relief pitching by Peter Gittrich and the defensive play of shortstop Mike Yurochko. Brian Burke, Mike DiBella and Jim Higgins led the Braves offensively with Mike Logie keeping things close with a fine running catch in leftfield.

The Twins then celebrated their crown by outdistancing the Mets, 17-8. Colin Gordon with four hits and four RBI's, Peter Gittrich with three hits and four RBI's and Mike Yurochko with two hits and three RBI's made life easy for winning pitcher Chad Oberhauser. Centerfielder Mike Byrne earned defensive honors by gunning a runner down at the plate to complete a double play. Matt Cook, Tony Kasparek and Ryan Pimentel each drove in two runs for the Mets.

The American League Indians had a good week, winning two of three ballgames. In the opener Jim Hurlley and Bob Gardella combined to hurl a three-hit shutout as the Indians came up with a seven-run third inning to beat the Astros, 10-0. Chris Giannotti, Mark Siefert, Ian Sanchez and Brandee Aylward struck the big blows for the Indians. Andrew Weinberg, Brad Walters and Angela Carrelli had the Astro hits.

The Indians then spotted the Brewers a four-run lead, then came on strong to top the Brewers, 7-6.

John Mennella had a game winning two-run single with Tony Wladkya, David Santos and Tommy Ronckovits getting the Indians back in the ballgame with key hits. Jimmy Forker struck out the side in an inning of relief to pick up the win.

Blake Haggerty, Kevin Barisonik and Brian Anderson each had RBI singles for the Brewers, but Ben Schneider was the Brewer standout, with a double, triple and three RBI's. Alan Kennedy and Jessica Schneider played well at the keystone spots for the Brewers.

Scott Driscoll played an triple and home run and Alan Kennedy was yanked in with two RBI singles as the Yankees kept the Indians win streak to a halt, 6-3. Driscoll and Ryan Davis combined for the pitching laurels with third baseman Carlos Lueky lending ample support with the leather. Mark Siefert, John Mennella and Chris Giannotti produced the Indian runs.

The Yankees in turn edged the Astros, 3-2, in a game that was a defensive thriller. Matt Bonaventura behind the plate and Blair Gardiner at first base combined to choke off the tying run at the plate to pull winning pitcher Andrew Weinberg out of jams. Bonaventura also scored the winning run, coming around from first on Manlio Carrelli's single. Brad VonDerLinden and Gardiner had the other RBI's. Yankees receiver Larry Nistorenko had an exceptional defensive game, while Scott Driscoll, Tom Lyons and David Crosby manufactured the Yankee runs.

Netters win

The Springfield Recreation Department's women's tennis team opened its seventh season in the Suburban Women's Tennis League by defeating Madison, 3-1, at the Irwin playground courts.

Winning players were Lucille Clunie and Maureen Hamilton in first doubles, 4-6, 7-6, 1-0; Pat Horowitz and Ojoa Chung in second doubles, 6-1, 6-3; and Fran Spotts and Julie Liem followed with a 7-6, 7-6 victory.

Susie Eng and Marie Morrocco lost in a tiebreaker, 3-4, after splitting sets, 6-2, 5-7.

Sharks swim squad prepares for season

The Springfield summer swim team, known as the Sharks, will move up into Division II in the North Jersey Summer Swim League. Last year, the team had its best season ever, going 9-1 in Division III and now moving up into the higher division. The Sharks will take on the likes of such teams as Berkeley Heights, Florham Park and Millburn.

The team's reigns this year will be Hal Levine, who started his swimming career with the Sharks. "I think we're a powerful team, and if everybody returns, and we get some new swimmers as well, we have a good chance at a winning season," he said.

Levine started when he was 11, learning all the strokes from Joyce Pinkava and went on to become a four-year varsity letter winner and captain of the Dayton Regional swim team. He also went to the state championships three out of the four years.

Halee Arnold will be Levine's assistant coach, as well as captain for the 1985 season. A veteran of the sport, Arnold has been swimming since she was six.

The season begins today and tomorrow from 3-4:30 p.m. All Springfield residents ages 6-18 are invited and welcome to participate. Starting this Monday, the schedule changes permanently to 11-18 year olds practicing from 10 a.m.-12 noon and 11 a.m.-12 noon weekdays for those 10 years and under.

Further information may be obtained by contact Levine at 467-0523, Pinkava at 273-3276, or pool manager Greg Ficarra.

Another winning year for Bulldog golfers

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team recently completed its fourth consecutive winning season with a record of eighteen wins, seven losses and one tie.

Super spring weather contributed to some low scoring matches and individual totals. The team qualified for the State Tournament held at Rutgers University and also for the County Tournament at Echo Lake Country Club.

The Bulldogs were in contention for the Mountain Division title of the Mountain Valley Conference all season and finished second to the eventual winner Immaculata.

Dayton triumphed in the third annual Union County Regional Tournament for the third year in a row. This year's team was led by senior Mike Tomko, winner of the First Place medal in the Regional Tournament, junior, Mitchell Cohen (80 in the Conference Tournament) and two sophomores, Ken Gargiulo and Gary Gochlik who made up the tournament team.

Senior, Peter Vonderlinn and junior, Glen Gechlik were the other team letter winners. Backups included senior, Jim Rau, junior, Adam Cohen, and freshmen, Mark Wance and Kevin Dailey.

Cohen and Tomko were named to the All-Mountain First Team All-Stars while Gargiulo was placed on the Second Team. Tomko was cited as the team's most valuable player and Cohen was named the most improved player.

Sokol, Taylor win tourney

The Brearley Intramural Racquetball program concluded its season of play at Plaza Racquet Club with its annual Student-Faculty Racquetball Tournament. The program which plays each Thursday in spring at the Plaza, features instruction and play at the newly renovated spa facility.

Ken Sokol and football coach Bob Taylor came back from an early tournament loss to win the fourth annual Student-Faculty affair. Second place went to Jerry Stickle and Bob Parin, third place went to Pat Phillips and Gene Stryker and fourth place were Mike Mancino and Carl Peterson, and the team of Fabio Rodriguez and Steve Grubiesick.

Others competing were: Lou Pascarella and Leo Danik, John Barr and Tim Sexton, Dave Bailey and Jim Hagan, Chris Cocchia and Ron Ferrara, Alan Wagner and Ed Ward, and Tony Siragusa and Keith VonUchtrup.

Awards were presented by Andrew A.J. Jacober proprietor of the Plaza Racquet Club. Host of the tournament.

Fred Soos to attend Albright

Head football coach Bill Popp announced that Fred Soos of Kenilworth will attend Albright College in the fall.

Soos, who saw action at defensive back and wrestling and running back in pro-season practice.

Soos was captain of his wrestling team and was named to the Mountain Valley All-Conference wrestling team. He also received honorable mention All-Metro in football and wrestling.

Soos is planning to concentrate in the business area and he is looking toward a career in law.

Tripodi captures Elizabeth mat event

Mike Tripodi of Brearley Regional came away with the 137-pound weight class championship at the Elizabeth spring wrestling tournament held recently at the Dunn Sports Center. He finished first in his division and won a gold medal.

Twins win MLL title, 9-7

Auto sports fans attending the second annual U.S. Grand Prix at the Meadowlands June 28-29-30 will be treated to an additional attraction with the presentation of the Grand Prix Motorsports Expo in Giants Stadium.

More than 150 different types of vehicles, including Indy-type race cars and custom vehicles, will be on display on three levels of the stadium all three days of the Meadowlands auto racing spectacular.

The exhibition also will include the favorite travel vehicle of auto racing enthusiasts—the motorhome, with several varieties of the newest mini-motorhomes, micromini-motorhomes and the luxurious and expensive full-length models on display.

In addition, the show will have high-performance racing boats and displays of auto and motorcycle manufacturers' commercial products, including chrome mufflers, fancy wheels, custom body and paint shops, custom engines and equipment for race cars.

The 15-foot Indy cars, with all their aerodynamic devices, body work, components and turbocharged engines will be displayed by Penzoi, U.S. Tobacco Co. and Bosch.

The custom cars on exhibit will include street rods, exotic-looking vans with well-decorated interiors, four-wheel-drive pickup trucks and a wide variety of antiques.

The exhibition will be located within the boundaries of the race circuit with easy access to thousands who will attend the three-day racing festivities. Displays will be on the ground level of Giants Stadium and on the concourse lower and upper tiers, with entrances at gates B and C.

Auto racing fans holding tickets to the U.S. Grand Prix will be admitted free to stroll through various displays of the Motorsports Expo 11 a.m. until closing all three days. The general public may attend the exhibition from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday at general admission prices.

The Expo will be conducted by Parkway Productions, Inc., Manasquan, under the direction of James J. McLaughlin, a group which yearly produces recreational vehicle shows, custom car and boat shows in numerous areas of New Jersey, New York State and Pennsylvania.

McLaughlin said Expo spectators will receive an additional attraction with the presentation of a laser light show in the stadium on Friday and Saturday nights. He said free show-related items will be given away all three days.

Elks Club, Kaplow first in junior loop

The playoffs have begun in the Springfield Junior Baseball League's Major and Minor Leagues. In the regular season final standings, the Elks Club topped the Major League, followed by Carter Bell, St. James Angels, St. James Crusaders, AMICO, American Legion, Keyes Martin and Masco Sports.

Kaplow and Company finished first in the Minor League, followed by Rotary Club, Springfield Carvel, St. James Saints, Volunteer Fire Department and the Lions Club.

In opening Major League playoff action, Keyes Martin beat Carter Bell, 13-1, behind the combined one-hit pitching of Matt Gallaro and Danny Monaco. Scott Wishna ripped out four hits, while Gallaro added three, two of them triples. Joe Perez added two hits. David Scheller had the lone hit for Carter Bell.

Dan LaMorges, Chris Swanstrom and David Wickham drove in all the runs as the Elks Club defeated Masco Sports, 6-1. Peter Carpenter, Jason Mullman and Jerry Quaglietta hit for Masco.

In the second round, American Legion edged Keyes Martin, 5-4, in seven innings. Billy Hart's RBI single in the seventh drove in the winning run. Brett Levy and Sean Weinerman each added two hits. For Keyes Martin, Gallaro homered and Monaco and Wishna each rapped out two hits.

In Minor League action, the Volunteer Fire Department downed the St. James Saints, 4-2. Fine pitching performances were turned in by Brigid Leddy, Bob Grohs and Drew Weisholtz of the Firemen and Chris Colatruglio, John D'Andrea and Phillip Marchetti of the Saints.

Weisholtz, Ben Ginter and Grohs were the top hitters for the Fire Department, while D'Andrea, Chris Jorda and Chris Pack led the Saints at the plate.

The Fire Department reached the finals by crushing the Rotary Club, 36-11. Weisholtz belted a grand slam homer, Peter Kay added three hits, Ginter a homer, and Bryan Chesley, Tommy Severini, Grohs, David Shipitofsky and Robert Merken. Rotary was led by Pat Reddington with two hits.

Kaplow and Company advanced to the finals with a come-from-behind 19-18 victory over Springfield Carvel. Carvel jumped to an early 7-0 lead, only to see the winners scored 10 times in the fifth, keyed by Brian Costello's grand slam. Other key hits in that big inning were by Dan Weiss, Brad Mullman and Danny Marcus.

Carvel retied the game in the sixth with seven runs, three on a bases-loaded triple by Leslie Schwarzbek. Jason Winter then singled in the winning run for Kaplow.

The finals in the Major League will have AMICO against American Legion, and in the Minor League, Kaplow and Company meet the Volunteer Fire Department.

Cardinal Garden edges M&M

Cardinal Garden Center, behind a game-winning RBI single in the bottom of the sixth inning by Ed Johnson, edged M&M Auto, 4-3, last week in the Springfield Men's Softball League. Also getting RBI's were Jerry Ragonese, Joe Policastro and Frank Zahn. Tom Burke was the winning pitcher and Rob Bohrod the loser.

Masco Sports also came away a winner, beating the Bombers, 11-4. Harry Kolb had two hits, one a three-run inside the park homer, and five RBI's, while Brian McNany added four hits, one a homer. Joe Pepe Sr. was the winner and Bob Hydock the loser.

Ehrhardt TV edged Walker Foods, 9-8, as Don Meixner had two hits, a triple and three-run homer, and Vinnie Cochia had three hits, two of them doubles. J.M. Ehrhardt also homered. The winning pitcher was John Ehrhardt Sr. and Ralph Bablo took the loss.

KFC beat Shallcross Creative, 8-4, as Joe Dastu had two hits, scored one run and drove in another. Bob Lackage had three hits (two of them doubles) and two RBI's. Mike Medina won his first game of the season and Jim Fritzen was the loser.

Also, Walker Foods gained its first win of the year by forfeit over MEI, and Ehrhardt TV ripped M&M, 19-2, pounding out 21 hits in the contest. Ehrhardt Sr. won it and Evan Wasserman lost.

Finally, Masco Sports downed Shallcross Creative, 14-5, behind four hits by Mike Graziano and two hits apiece by Tom Whiskey, Jim Maxwell and Lou Monaco. Pepe Sr.

Reiner led Kean net squad

Losing seasons are never fun. But sometimes they can pave the way for better times, as far as experience and game pressure are concerned. After a 3-11 overall record and a 1-5 mark in New Jersey State Athletic Conference competition, that's what Tony Ochrimenko is hoping for in 1986 for his Kean College men's tennis team.

But Ochrimenko liked some of what he saw. Felix Omejzo, Evan Levine and Basil Newmerzky won his second game of the week, beating Fritzen on the mound.

Crane selected

Dave Crane, a junior at Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa., has recently been named to the Middle Atlantic Northwest League All-Conference baseball team.

Crane, a catcher, hit .33 with six doubles and one homer. The environmental science major is a 1982 graduate of Dayton Regional and is the son of Mrs. George Crane of Creek Bed Road in Mountainside.

showed development rotating between the four, five and six positions. And as it turned out, all three stand a solid chance of becoming leaders in the future.

As far as 1985 was concerned, however, there was only one team leader, southpaw James Reiner of Springfield, who not only topped the club with a 10-4 mark, but placed third in a conference tournament at Trenton earlier this month.

Katowitz wins soccer award

Dayton soccer coach Joe Cozza, whose team had a fine season last fall, had some outstanding individual performances on the field, but none like the goalie.

The goalie, Stephen Katowitz, a senior, has been named the Class of 1985 Most Valuable Soccer Player Award by the United States Army. This award is in cooperation with the National Soccer Coaches Association of America.

Katowitz, who has been a member of the Bulldog booters the past four seasons and the starting goalie the last two, was also the team captain. In his first two seasons, Katowitz played left wing while Andy Grett, who has been an All-American at Fairleigh Dickinson University, patrolled the Dayton net. Rather than bide his time awaiting his chance in goal, Katowitz looked at his field experience as a chance to improve his goalkeeping abilities—an attitude that is now paying hefty dividends.

He also gained notoriety last fall in the state tournament when he shut out Madison, 1-0, but also scored the only goal on a penalty kick.

Among the honors that he has won during his high school career are: Union County All-Star recognition in 1983 and second team All-Mountain Valley Conference in 1984. He also was named Cosmopolitan

All-Star in 1979 and 1980; New Jersey East Select All-Star in 1981; County Select All-Star for a Hawaiian trip last year.

He has labored in anonymity for a long time. Now Stephen Katowitz is being recognized at last. For him, it couldn't have come at a better time.

Massimino to speak at camp

Rollie Massimino, coach of the NCAA champion Villanova University basketball team, will be a guest speaker at the third annual All-County Basketball Camp June 24-28 at Roselle Catholic High School.

Youngsters ages 8-17 are invited to participate in the camp, which will be directed by Seton Hall Prep coach Bob Farrell and Roselle Catholic coach Pat Hagan.

Massimino, who formerly coached at Hillside High School, will join Georgia Tech coach Bobby Cremins and Notre Dame assistant coach Gary Brokaw as guest speakers.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Farrell at 276-6022 or Hagan at 925-4259.

Olsson selected

Dan Olsson, a righthanded pitcher from Irvington who helped lead the Montclair State baseball team to the recent NCAA Division III World Series, was chosen in last week's major league baseball draft. He was taken in the seventh round by the Texas Rangers.

Olsson compiled a 12-2 record with a 2.15 earned run average. He struck out 117 and walked 35 in 104 2/3 innings for the Indians this past spring.

SALES CONTRACT TIPS

Whether buying or selling, here are some basic points to keep in mind about the written agreement:

- 1) Everything is negotiable, but not everything is worth negotiating. Good bargainers yield on minor points while keeping alive important issues.
- 2) Written words count. Many contract forms state that neither party shall be bound by terms or conditions, not found in the sales contract. A verbal promise, such as, "Yes, you can have the clothes washer," is no substitute for a written understanding.
- 3) Beware of suggestions that you can sign an agreement today and change it by yourself later. A contract can only be changed by mutual agreement by all parties.
- 4) If you offer to buy a home for $100,000 and the seller sends back a counterproposal for $110,000, your original offer is generally dead. In effect, the seller has now made a new offer for which you can accept or reject.

Bicycling along Jersey roads

Bicycling is by far the most popular outdoor recreational activity in New Jersey, according to statistics from the Department of Environmental Protection's Green Acres Program.

The majority of the approximately 32,000 miles of state, county and municipal roadways is accessible for bicycling. Trails located throughout the state encourage an awareness of the scenic surroundings and provide a recreational activity that is not restricted by either age or athletic skill.

"The diverse offerings in New Jersey enhance the appeal of biking. Participants can enjoy serene nature trails through forests, trails along the shore or routes through historic areas," according to Victoria D. Schmidt, director of the New Jersey Division of Travel and Tourism, Department of Commerce and Economic Development.

Union County's Division of Transportation Engineering has prepared a bicycle map for the county detailing bicycle paths and the most suitable routes for cycling on county roadways. Information on bicycling and tips for traveling on county roads are included on the map, which can be obtained from the County of Union, Administration Building, Department of Parks and Recreation, Elizabeth 07207.

Along Camden County's Cooper River to Hadonfield there are eight miles of paved bikeways offering beautiful scenery along the river.

Morris County's 27-mile Patriot's Path and Essex County's 40-mile Lenape Trail will eventually join at the Essex Environmental Center in Roseland when completed. The Essex County trail system includes historic sites in Newark, trails through urban neighborhoods, parks and college campuses.

Attractions along Morris County's four miles of paved bikepath are Fosterfields living historic farm, Speedwell Village historic restoration and Jockey Hollow National Historic Park.

The Pinelands Preservation, which encompasses Wharton, Lebanon, Bass River and Penn State Forests, is a favorite for bicyclists because of the rolling terrain.

The seashore towns are one of the best areas for beautiful scenery year round. The Gateway National Recreation Area in Sandy Hook provides more than six miles of paved bikeways affording spectacular views of New York City and its harbor. Bicyclists can take advantage of a marked touring route along the roadway at Island Beach State Park.

Biking through the historic areas and restored historic villages is a relaxing opportunity to explore the atmosphere of the past. Some of the popular historic villages are at Millbrook in the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, Waterloo Village in Sussex County, Speedwell Village in Morristown, Allaire State Park in Monmouth County and Batsto in the Wharton Tract in Cumberland County. In Cape May City, one can ride through 70 blocks of a Victorian town that looks just the way it did in the 1880s.

Bicycling along Jersey roads

A lot of material has been published on the do's and don't's and how's and where's of bicycling.

Among the volumes is the recently published "Ride Guide for New Jersey and Beyond," a

Rules of the road

Title 39 of the revised statutes of the state of New Jersey governs bicycle riding in New Jersey

Under state law, every bicycle in use at night must be equipped with lights on both the front and rear.

Bicycles also must have bells capable of giving a signal audible for at least 100 feet, but sirens and whistles are prohibited.

Every bicycle must be equipped with a brake which will enable the operator to make the braked wheels skid on dry, level, clean pavement.

State statute also prohibits the use of a bicycle to "carry more persons at one time than the number for which it is designed and equipped."

Hitching a bicycle onto a vehicle also is prohibited under state law.

Bicyclists must ride "as near to the right side of the roadway as practical" moving to the left only to make a left turn from a left-turn lane, to avoid debris or other hazardous conditions or to pass a slower-moving vehicle.

book containing 22 bicycle routes for all levels of cyclists. The routes cover northern and western New Jersey and range in distance from 14.4 to 101.8 miles. Most of the routes are in the 20- to 50-mile range, a good day's pedal for a beginner or intermediate cyclist.

The book is available from White Meadow Press, P. O. Box 582, Rockaway, N.J. 07866.

Additional information on exploring New Jersey on a bicycle can be obtained from the New Jersey Division of Travel and Tourism, CN 826, Trenton 08625, 1-609-292-2470.

Tips on bicycling

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation emphasizes that bicyclists should be predictable, alert and equipped when riding on county streets.

"Ride so drivers can see you and predict your movements. Ride defensively and expect the unexpected. Ride easier and safer by using the proper equipment."

The department also has the following tips, condensed from information from the Oregon Department of Public Works, Bicycle and Pedestrian Program:

- Obey traffic signals
- Never ride against traffic
- Use hand signals
- Ride in a straight line
- Don't weave between parked cars
- Ride in middle of lane in slow traffic
- Follow lane markings
- Walk bike across intersection
- Don't pass on the right
- Go slow on sidewalks
- Keep bike in good repair
- Use lights at night
- Dress appropriately
- Use pack or rack to carry things
- Lock bike when it's unattended
- Watch for cars pulling out
- Scan the road behind
- Avoid road hazards

'Tinsel Town Talks' a unique film book

By BEA SMITH

Doug McClelland, formerly of Plainfield, Irvington and Newark, has another winner in his latest book on the silver screen called "Hollywood on Hollywood: Tinsel Town Talks." The book is unique among film books. A virtual history of the California cinema city called by film critic Vincent Canby, "the greatest dream factory in the history of the world," the crucial difference is that this time the story is told in the words of the gifted people who created and built it.

Published by Faber and Faber in large format (price $16.95), the delightful, beautifully-illustrated new book features hundreds of revealing, often witty comments from, and interviews with, myriad movie people on all aspects of the film capital; the section headings are "Growing," "Working," "Living," "Playing," "Politicking" and "Changing."

It took McClelland more than a year to unearth hundreds of useable comments as well as dozens of "rare photos."

Comments range from Gloria Swanson's "Hollywood's come a long way since its infancy, when signs on for-rent apartments warned 'No dogs or actors!'" to Oscar Levant's classic quip, "Strip away the phony tinsel of Hollywood and you find the real tinsel underneath," to Groucho Marx's opinion that "ever since they found out that Lassie was a boy, the public has believed the worst of Hollywood."

In between, the reader is given vivid renderings of what made vintage Hollywood particularly magical. Or on a more personal level, Joan Crawford, according to McClelland, once reported that "Hollywood is primarily a place to me made up of the people I love and the work I love. It has taught me all I know. It has given me everything I have — the good and the bad. We in this business are very lucky, for what we don't know at first is taught to us free of charge. If we have to dance in a film or if we have to speak French in a scene, and we can't do either, we're given lessons. Hollywood can be a great educator."

"Tinsel Town" has proved no Utopia to many, and McClelland sharply illustrates that point by offering Marilyn Monroe's remark that "being a failure in Hollywood is like starving to death outside a banquet hall with the smells of filet mignon driving you crazy." And by Piper Laurie's confession, "If I had stayed in Hollywood, I would have killed myself. Or someone would have done it for me."

In addition to Virginia Mayo, writer McClelland also has interviewed for the book a remarkable cross-section of Hollywood achievers, including director Robert Wise, Anthony Quinn, Jeanne Craine, Joan Fontaine, Ed Asner, Jane Powell, Gloria De Haven, Jane Greer, Nina Foch, Beverly Garland, screenwriter Robert Getchell, Marguerite Chapman, Ann Richards, cameraman George Folsey, Rosemary DeCamp, Eddie Fisher, Natalie Schafer and Paul Clemens (young actor-son of veteran actress Eleanor Parker).

Tomes on Hollywood have proliferated in the past two decades, but "Hollywood on Hollywood," a Herculean job of research by Bradley Beach resident McClelland (author of "Hollywood on Ronald Reagan") may be the definitive book on the subject. For the first time in one volume, we have the thoughts on movieland of Fred and Ginger, Mickey and Judy, Clark and Lana, Bogey and Baby and many other screen legends.

Now that's entertainment!

Advice on working at home

BY ALAN CARUBA

A lot of people are working from home these days and the other day I received "Working At Home: Is It For You?" from my friend Bill Atkinson ($10.95, Dow Jones-Irwin, softcover) which just happens to quote me extensively throughout. For those thinking about working at home, this is well worth reading before you make the move. Another softcover I want to recommend is Valerie Bohigian's "Real Money From Home" ($9.95, Plume/NAL softcover) which is filled with nitty-gritty advice to help profit from a home-based service business.

An interesting softcover for any size business is "The Office Purchasing Guide: How to Save up to 50 percent on..." all sorts of supplies, furniture, machines, et cetera ($17.95, Lowen Publishing, POB 6870, Torrance, CA 90504-0870) by Tod J. Snodgrass. This really is worth its cost in the savings it demonstrates can be achieved and for the fine advice it offers throughout. And, for the pure fun of it, don't miss "The Complete Book of Office Mis-Practice" by Paul Smith (Routledge & Kegan Paul). It's an hilarious send-up of office routines, rules and rigamarole.

Peter F. Drucker is widely regarded as the founding father of the science of management and now three of his best books on the subject are available in softcover. They are "Management" ($10.95); "Managing in Turbulent Times" ($6.95); and "The Effective Executive" ($6.95), all from Harper & Row. These are, indeed, classics in the field; virtual required reading as you learn how to apply management discipline to get any task accomplished.

"Inside Management Training: The Career Guide to Training Programs for College Students" ($8.95, Plume/NAL softcover) provides information on these programs at more than 100 major corporations in over a dozen career areas. This publisher, Plume/New American Library, also has out "Quality Without Tears: The Art of Hassle-Free Management" ($8.95, softcover) by Philip B. Crosby that deals with "zero-defects."

For those engaged in communicating corporate information to employees, there's an excellent book, "Designing and Developing Business Communications Programs That Work" by Judson Smith and Janice Orr ($21.95, Scott, Foresman and Co.) which opens up the world of print materials, audio-visual scripts, use of computers and much more.

Bookviews

How to give an employee the kiss-off is the subject of "Saying Good-Bye: A Manager's Guide to Employee Dismissal" by Paula Michal-Johnson ($7.95, Scott, Foresman & Co., softcover.) Used to be "there's the door", but in today's world, it's more complex. Of course, being fired or laid off may just open new doors of opportunity. Many executives' factor in moving from company to company is part of their strategy of advancement. "The Way of the Ronin: A Guide to Career Strategy" ($17.95, Amacom) by R.G.H. Siu uses the metaphor of the samurai warrior who became his own master to explore how the executive of the 1980's can do the same in today's unstable job market. Published in November, 1984, word of mouth has been most favorable to this book.

"Executive Pursuit: The Insider's Guide to Finding Super Jobs Through Headhunters" ($3.95, Mentor/NAL paperback) fits in nicely with advancement plans if you have them. And "Corporate Messiah" ($4.50, Signet/NAL paperback) tells the story behind the hiring and firing of million-dollar managers.

Marketing & Public Relations "The New Competition" (Prentice-Hall) has three authors who examine the remarkable success of how the Japanese market the goods they're so busy exporting to our shores. What is the secret of their success? This book tells you! There are many good lessons to be learned in its pages. An interesting complimentary book, now in paperback, is "The Fifth Generation: Artificial Intelligence and Japan's Computer Challenge to the World" ($3.95, Signet/NAL).

"Public Relations in the Marketing Mix" by Jordan Goldman ($14.95, Crain Books, softcover) is quite fascinating because it discusses not only how to factor in public relations as part of the marketing program, but why many things marketing people do not take into consideration affect sales. And how PR can identify and offset them. This is, in its own way, a very important book for everyone in business today.

My friend Ted Klein is one of PR's top professionals and his co-author, Fred Danzig, is an editor of "Advertising Age," so it's no surprise that "Publicity: How to Make the Media Work for You" ($17.95, Scribner's) is an ideal guide

PRO-ARTS RALLY—Members of Rahway Landmarks, working to turn the old Rahway Theater into a Union County Arts Center, were among 4,000 supporters of the Ogden-Stockman bills for funding of improvements to nonprofit arts centers to rally in Trenton earlier this month.

Pro-arts rally draws 4,000

Rahway Landmarks, the nonprofit corporate owner of the Rahway Theater, was represented by about 40 members at a large pro-arts rally in Trenton June 6. An estimated 4,000 people turned out for the rally in support of the Ogden-Stockman Bills for the funding of improvements in the State's several nonprofit arts centers.

Governor Thomas Kean and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Peter Shapiro shared the speaker's rostrum in welcoming the rally participants and affirming their support of the arts in New Jersey. Other speakers included Assembly Speaker Alan Karcher, actors Eddie Bracken and E.G. Marshall, "Sesame Street" personality Bob McGrath and noted opera star Jerome Hines, one of the rally's chief organizers, Telegrams of support from a number of other artists and politicians were read to the rally participants.

Among the Rahway Landmarks representatives in attendance were its president, Sandra Sweeney; officers Alan Hurley, Bruce Conway, Ray Eggers Jr.; Robert Balfour a principal founder, and Board Members Edward Meffe, Maurice Moran and Laszlo Szabo.

Eggers presented Governor Kean with a complimentary copy of "ENCORE For a Worthy Performer," a souvenir 50-page history of the Rahway Theater. Balfour and Meffe were interviewed for a cable news broadcast.

A resolution urging the State Legislature and Joint Appropriations Committee to approve the Ogden-Stockman Bills was signed by virtually everyone present at the rally, resulting in a document 150 feet long. It was delivered to the Joint Appropriations Committee the following day.

The Ogden-Stockman Bills, if passed, would make $50 million available on a matching grant basis to arts centers in need of repairs and improvements. This would include the old Rahway Theater, currently being restored for reopening as the Union County Arts Center. The Rahway City Council recently voted unanimous support for state funding of the project and that support has been echoed by several local representatives in the state Legislature.

The rally was organized by a coalition of New Jersey cultural entities and concerned citizens. Sweeney represented Rahway Landmarks on the coordinating team.

200 Club presents nine scholarships

The 200 Club has awarded scholarships to nine Union County high school seniors.

The nine recipients of the scholarships are: Carole A. Vincent, South Plainfield High School; Krista A. Brechtlein, Union High School; Paul Imbimbo, Governor Livingston Regional High School; Jeffrey K. Ahlholm, Seton Hall Prep; Jennifer S. Scutti, Westfield Senior High School; Brian P. Ketchel, David Brearly Regional High School, and Robert M. O'Connor, Rahway High School.

These nine high school seniors bring to 17 the total number of students receiving aid from the 200 Club of Union County, a non-profit organization dedicated to provide aid to the dependents of police officers and firefighters of Union County.

TWO JAPANESE GIRLS who are enrolled at Kean College are in need of host families in the local area. They are 25-year-old Noriko Ishijima who is coming from Tokyo and 23-year-old Tomoko Hamaguchi from Osaka.

Noriko hopes to teach English to young children when she returns to Japan.

Tomoko hopes to work as a teacher of English and a translator.

Their exchange academic year has been arranged through their sponsor, the Foundation for Intercultural Education, who guarantee their serious interest in study and their willingness to become contributing members of the host families. While they are not permitted to accept regular employment because of their status, they are willing to babysit and help out.

Host families do not receive payment but those who have participated in the past have found it a rewarding and gratifying experience. Many have visited in Japan. The girls are hoping to arrive in late August and will bring their host families some traditional gifts and some traditional skills and recipes. Families are asked to volunteer their hospitality for either the first semester (through the Christmas holidays) or for the entire academic year which will end in May, 1986.

Information is available by contacting Kean College F.I.C.E. Representative Mrs. Janet Hunter, (609) 267-3065.

THE SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE of the Central Chapter of the New Jersey Society of Architects is seeking applications from qualified students of architecture for the chapter's annual scholarship awards. Last year three students from within the central chapter's six-county region were awarded grants totaling $2,500, according to Dennis Bator, AIA, the chapter president.

The central chapter, one of six local chapters that make up the New Jersey Society of Architects, is composed of 400 members from Union, Somerset, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Mercer and Burlington counties.

Although a student must have permanent residency within the chapter's geographical boundaries, the applicant may attend an accredited school of architecture anywhere within the United States and have completed two years.

The closing date for application is mid-July.

For applications and for further information, students may write or call Jeanne K. Perantoni, AIA, 1985 Central Chapter Scholarship Awards Chairman, P.O. Box 758, 350 Grove Street, Somerville, N.J. 08876. (201) 725-7800.

'Hams' plan 'Field Day'

Communication teams from the Springfield, Elizabeth, Roselle Park, Union and Hillside offices of Emergency Management will participate in the 52nd national amateur radio exercise called "Field Day" this weekend.

On the fourth weekend in June each year, ham operators from all over the country pack up their stations and head for some spot where they can simulate the worst conditions after a disaster—no commercial power mains, no telephones and make-shift antennas. The exercise runs for 24 hours nonstop, beginning at 2 p.m. June 22 and ending 2 p.m. June 23.

Officers installed

The Vailsburg Camera Club of Springfield installed officers for the coming year.

They are: Rod Laurencelle, Springfield, president; Tom Lorenzo, Staten Island, vice president pictorial; Rudy Petersen, Passaic, vice president nature; James Waxman, Orange, vice president prints; Julius Shrensel, Springfield, secretary/publicity; Walter Aurnhammer, Maplewood, adviser; Rich Urban, So. Orange, program chairman. Members of the board of directors are Kathy Bauer, Rudy Ozol, Monroe Weller and William Kane.

Field Day is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, a national scientific and educational membership organization representing over 400,000 hams in North America. ARRL's headquarters is in Newington, Conn.

Continuing the yearly tradition, the amateur radio operators from the Union County Office of Emergency Management groups will demonstrate their competence in providing emergency communications during this year's Field Day from the Watchung Reservation, Mountainside. The hams will have several radio operating positions set up in the park and all energy will be provided by electrical generators in addition to solar power. Both simple "wire" antennas strung between trees and complex "beam" antennas on top of a tower raised by the hams will be used to contact hundreds of ham stations throughout the world.

Additional information is available from Jeff Gornstein, 273-1939, or Scott Thompson, 688-9430.

Rebecca's forecast

For week of June 20 to June 27

ARIES (3/21-4/20) The week ahead will focus on property, family and living arrangement matters. Romantic interests see-saw for most of this period, career matters need careful handling and continue to improve your overall health. Later, unexpected greetings brighten your outlook and gossip is reliable.

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) Expect the weeks ahead to generate a lot of activity in local, family and neighborhood matters. This will be a very busy period so be prepared for a hectic though happy period. Later, stick with the tried and true, look forward to career advantages and attend to lingering health matters.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) Think before you speak during this week, misunderstandings are likely and you may be feeling more sensitive than usual. Family matters will assume importance; join in another's happiness. Later, you gain in work matters if you follow your hunches. Finances continue to improve for many.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) Try to keep a tight hold on your purse strings this week; count your change and walk away from what appears to be a bargain! Local travel will be on the agenda for many and entertaining those from a distance will be enjoyable. Later, family and romantic ties improve considerably.

LEO (7/24-8/23) You will gain more this week by remaining in the background and attending to personal or private plans, especially during the early portion of this period. Later, expect to be busy as errands and daily demands are accelerated. Important messages or agreements are indicated.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23) You may not be feeling up to par early this week and your anger is easily provoked. Make time for yourself and let others do as they wish! Later, your financial interests improve, private concerns continue to crowd your thoughts and a change of scenery could be in the offing.

LIBRA (9/24-10/23) This could be a frustrating period of delays for some; don't count on anything and you won't be disappointed! Later property, family and financial interests improve and along with this your mood as well. This is a good time to clear away old or lingering obligations.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22) You may encounter some problems early in this period where business, elders or outside interests are concerned. You can't please anyone for the moment. Later, the social theme is highlighted; mix and mingle! The pace slows at week's end and you may be busy catching up with neglected tasks.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21) Travel matters are likely to be irritating for many during this week; plan on making changes at the last minute. Your career and money matters look promising during this period; take advantage where you can. Certain friendships are more valuable than you realized.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20) This is likely to be an iffy week at best; you may be feeling jittery or anxious off and on. Plan a short trip and take your mind off things for a while. Things often happen in their own good time. Later, new avenues of income open up and dealings with VIP's are indicated.

AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19) Close relationships are a bit strained early in this period; you're feeling moody and so is your mate or partner. Give each other some room for now. Bank or legal matters are indicated for some. Later, you may know more than you can reveal and finances continue to improve.

PISCES (2/20-3/20) Daily obligations are likely to mount early in this week, communications with those at a distance are indicated and schedule health appointments if necessary. Later, career demands could change social or recreational plans. Remain conservative in financial areas.

Polish groups plan program

The 48th annual "Polish Day Program," organized by the Elizabeth Federation of Polish Organizations, will be held Sunday in Warinanco Park. The program, which encompasses Elizabeth's 40 Polish-American associations, will feature singing, dancing and speeches in recognition of Poland.

Highlighting the Polish Day Program which begins at 2:30 p.m. in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, will be musical selections by Vinny Z. and his Polka Vibrations Orchestra under direction of Vincent J. Zjawin.

Dancing performance in Polish native costumes will be exhibited by "The Polonaise Folk Dancers" from New York under direction of Carole Buchalski Colis.

All business, religious, veteran groups and Polish-American organizations are invited to participate in the festivities.

Speakers will include Congressman Matthew Rinaldo, Elizabeth Mayor Thomas G. Dunn and State Senator Raymond J. Lesniak, executive vice president of Polish-American Congress.

Genevieve T. Zagurek, president of the Polish Federation, is general coordinator of the program. In case of rain, the affair will be held in St. Adalbert's auditorium, corner Third and Marshall streets, Elizabeth, at 2:30 p.m.

Disc 'n Data

By MILTHAMMER

Pick Of The LPs, "The Best of Terri Gibbs," by Terri Gibbs (MCA Records).

Toward the end of 1980, a novel, mournful and soulful voice appeared over the airwaves. At first, biographical facts were sketchy, so much so that it seemed she had come from nowhere. But within weeks, the entire nation knew the voice of Terri Gibbs as her brilliant and powerful vocals carried "Somebody's Knockin'" into the country top-10 and onto adult contemporary radio. It was one of those rare perfect marriages of singer and song that makes music so enervating and exciting.

As we came to know her, we saw a singer, blind since birth, who was sensitive and sincere, and who chose to make an emotional rendition of "Georgia" (in honor of her home state), a centerpiece of her live performance.

Subsequent hits included "Ashes to Ashes," "Rich Man" and "Mis'ry River."

Terri Gibbs was discovered by Ed Penny, who became her manager, producer of her first three albums, and in many cases, her songwriter. Her last MCA album was produced by famed Muscle Shoals producer Rick Hall. The "Best Of" collection is the best of all four albums.

Hildrew work in N.Y. show

Prof. George Hildrew of Brooklyn, a member of Union County College's English/Fine Arts/Modern Languages Department, is showing a drawing in crayon at the School of Visual Arts at 209 E. 23rd St. New York, during an exhibition which will run through June 28.

Prof. Hildrew's drawing, "Better Dining," is part of the exhibit entitled "Starved for Art," featuring a simulated restaurant environment. It will showcase the works of 18 well-known artists depicting the theme of eating out.

Prof. Hildrew, a member of the Union County College faculty since 1976, is a member of the Artists' Choice Museum and has been represented in various traveling art exhibitions which featured his other art works. He was invited to exhibit at Blue Mountain Gallery, the Public Image Gallery and the Artists' Choice Museum in recent years.

Teens are sought for summer jobs

The Union County Summer Youth Employment Training Program (SYETP) is seeking eligible youth 14-21 years old for summer jobs. Edward J. Smith, executive director of the Westfield Community Center, has announced the receipt of a grant of $97,984 for Summer Youth Employment.

Requirements are:
 If you have passed your 14th birthday, but not your 22nd birthday on June 25, 1985; are a resident of New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Mountainside, Cranford, Garwood, Summit, Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood; a member of a family receiving public assistance, AFDC, Medicaid, SSI, or have a total family income at or below 70 percent of the lower living standard income level or be an employable physically or mentally handicapped youth.

Proof of age, residency, income and social security number is required.
 Further information may be obtained at the Westfield Community Center, 558 West Broad St., Westfield, or by calling J. Jacques Hodge, SYETP coordinator, or Karen-Jean Coleman at 232-0474.

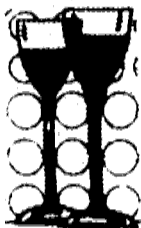

The in-school youth will work 25 hours per week at $3.35 per hour, in public or non-profit agencies. Out-of-school youth, 18 to 21 years of age, will work 40 hours per week at $4 per hour, in public or non-profit agencies.

Each year the federal government provides funds for the employment of approximately 850 youth, through JTPA, to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders' Department of Human Resources, Division of Youth Services.

"Kismet" auditions planned
