Quarry plans may clog roads

Mountainside residents may have cause to share the concern of their Springfield neighbors regarding a former quarry site being considered for two uses which could add traffic to local roads.

Some borough streets, Summit Road in particular, serve as natural routes to the site which is bounded on two sides by Route 78.

The proposed uses of the former Houdaille Quarry, located near Shunpike and Mountain View roads in Springfield, include a landfill for raw garbage as well as a site for a new county amphitheater.

In addition, the Union County Board of Freeholders will consider the possibility of the site as a recipient of ash and non-flammable waste from a proposed waste-to-energy plant in Rahway.

According to Tom Delacruz, Union County senior environmental planner, if the freeholders decide to use the quarry site, his department would then hire a consultant to undertake an analysis of road impact.

"Certain routes would have to be designated by the County Division of Transportation," noted Delacruz.

The 191-acre quarry was privately owned until less than a decade ago when it was sold to the state as a fill site for Route 78. It has been labeled as the only site in Union County capable of handling "putrescible" garbage by a consulting engineering firm hired by the freeholders to conduct a landfill siting study until the planned resource recovery plant scheduled to be completed in 1990 is in operation.

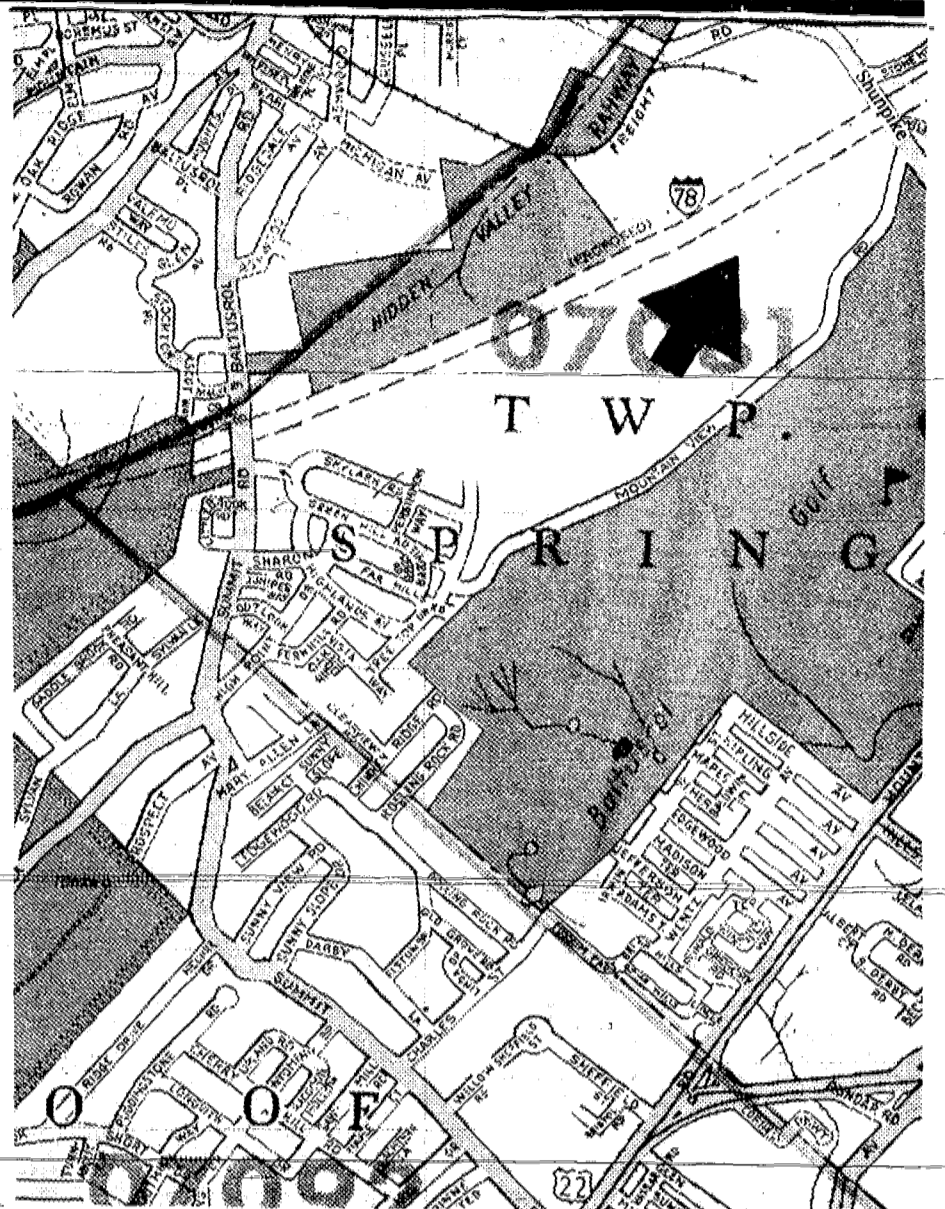

After acquiring the quarry, the state later gave some of the land to the county as compensation for the loss of other parkland due to the highway's completion.

The quarry, however, is also the top choice as a summer home for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra which has proposed operating and managing the amphitheater if it is built. In operation since 1922, the symphony is without a permanent home.

The symphony's executive director, John L. Hyer, said, "We do not gain anything by infuriating anyone," although he feels the facility would benefit Springfield. "Our job is to give people in the state great music and we're not interested in causing any discomfort to any community. And we don't."

The most pressing concern regarding the amphitheater is the traffic increase that is expected to occur near the facility. Many people feel that Shunpike Road will be ill-equipped to handle the incoming amount of cars and other vehicles making their way to the amphitheater.

In addition, speculation that Route 78 could be used to help alleviate traffic conditions was rebuffed by Federal Highway Administration

Area Engineer Richard Krauter who explained that the interstate roadway concept is designed to eliminate entrance and exit ramps in order to allow for safer driving conditions.

"There would be no chance of getting an exit or entrance there," Krauter emphasized.

Although there is total opposition to the possibility of a landfill by all five members of the Springfield Township Committee, some members of the governing body are debating over whether or not the amphitheater would be an acceptable alternative.

"Nobody wants it as a garbage dump, but it could be forced upon us," speculated committeeman Jeffrey Katz.

"I don't think we have a choice at all," argued Springfield Mayor William Cieri. "I personally would oppose either proposal," commented the mayor.

Springfield resident and developer Jerry Polcaro raised the possibility that even approval of an amphitheater might not prevent the landfill from being constructed adjacently.

"There's plenty of land available at that site to do both," worried Polcaro, who lives in the vicinity of the quarry.

Delacruz concurred that it was possible to house both facilities on the site and said, "The state has the final say. It's up to them."

Freeholder Michael Lapolla explained that under solid waste management law, each county is responsible for the disposal of its garbage. He also said that, prior to approval from the state Department of Environmental Protection that would allow another county to accept Union County's refuse, proof must be given that no other county site would be acceptable for a landfill.

Calling it a "very hot political issue" because municipalities are generally unwilling to accept garbage from other communities, the freeholder said he doesn't believe that the state would force the quarry to be used as a landfill site. "The concern now, he added, is the 'unpredictability and volatility' of the statewide garbage crisis.

Lapolla believes Springfield should allow the symphony to present its proposal.

In addition to managing and operating the amphitheater, which would cost an estimated $4.5 million, the symphony proposal indicates the facility could be used for commencement exercises and business conferences as well.

The symphony's public relations director, Helen Paxton, said, "Traffic problems are certainly something we're aware of. We're not going to destroy a community; we're going to enhance a community."

"We're not at this point so committed to that site that we're just going to barrel in there and build it hell or high water."

A meeting on the use of the former quarry will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center in Springfield.

CONTEST WINNER—Mountainside Resident Tara McGrath receives a $50 U.S. Savings Bond from County Leader Newspapers Assistant Publisher Ray Worrall for winning the Statue of Liberty art contest sponsored by the eight-paper chain. Tara will be entering her senior year at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and hopes to major in art in college next year. Her sketch, pictured in the background, appeared on the front cover of County Leader Newspapers' special 'Liberty' edition.

County's I-78 'missing link' road opens

Gov. Thomas H. Kean and Transportation Commissioner Hazel Frank Gluck will open the Union County "gap" in I-78 in a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday on the west side of the landscaped "cut-and-cover" overpass in Summit.

The long-awaited 5.5-mile "missing link" cost $111 million and took nearly four years to build.

Approximately five million cubic yards of earth were moved during construction, some of which were used to construct embankments along the route with the rest dumped into the former Houdaille Quarry in Springfield.

The new link connects the 18.8-mile piece from Springfield east to the Holland Tunnel in New York and the 38.3-mile section from Berkeley Heights west to Still Valley, near the Pennsylvania border where the last segment of the interstate in New Jersey is under construction.

The road consists of three 12-foot lanes with a 12-foot right shoulder and a 10-foot left shoulder in each direction, separated by a concrete median barrier.

Opening this portion of I-78 is expected to relieve existing congestion on Route 22 which currently operates at or near capacity for several hours each weekday. It will also relieve traffic on many local east-west routes, including Mountain Avenue in Berkeley Heights, Springfield Avenue in Summit, and New Providence Road and Plainfield Avenue in Berkeley Heights and Watchung.

According to Department of Transportation officials, the project is unique in that it includes more environmental safeguards than any other road construction project ever undertaken in New Jersey.

Because the highway skirts the northern edge of the Watchung Reservation, a 2000-acre natural recreation area, approximately 70 acres of the park area were needed for construction. However, the DOT developed a variety of methods to minimize the impact of the road on the park and park users.

Where the road goes through parkland, a 1.7-mile segment, the road bed was constructed in a cut below ground level, and in four locations special "cut-and-cover" structures were built to provide landscaped vehicle crossovers across the highway and connect the bridge paths and hiking trails that wind through the park.

Two of the structures, at Glenside Avenue and Baltusrol Road, include equestrian trails separated from vehicle roads by high fences. The vehicle crossover at Nike Site Road is heavily landscaped. The largest crossover between Nike Site Road and Glenside Avenue, is reserved for animals and hikers.

In addition, all noise barriers, embankment and retainer walls and other structural safety features are designed to blend with the natural cover and colors of the reservation.

New stables were built in the Watchung Reservation in Mountainside to replace the old stables in Summit where a portion of the riding area was required for the highway.

Last July, I-78 westbound, from the Diamond Hill Road interchange to Plainfield Avenue in Berkeley Heights, was opened to traffic.

High schools upkeep studied

By MARK HAVILAND
 Members of the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education are weighing different methods to respond to increasing maintenance needs at the four regional high schools.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merachnik said that members of the district's Building and Grounds committee made inspections last year of the four district schools. Many of the maintenance problems focus on the 50-year-old Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which suffers from a leaky roof and gutters and leaders that need repair.

The board voted unanimously at the meeting Tuesday at Jonathan Dayton to direct the district's administration to explore a different organizational pattern for the maintenance staff.

Referring to the needed repairs of the buildings and grounds, board president Natalie Waldt of Springfield said, "They have to be repaired, we have to maintain these buildings properly."

David Brearley principal Joseph Malt said the custodians for the buildings could not be asked to do too much maintenance.

"I would not send one of my custodians up to the top of the third floor of Dayton," he explained. "You have to ask yourself how many things a custodian can do."

Some board members and the school officials at the meeting ruled out the possibility of hiring outside contractors to maintain the school grounds, suggesting the expense would be prohibitive.

"In order to do the kind of maintenance we're asking for, you have to call in experts and that's going to cost a tremendous amount of money," said Louis DeRosa, principal of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark.

Board member John Conlin suggested hiring an expert to look into the problem though.

"Maybe we need more expertise and we're not going to get it unless we pay for it," Conlin said.

Conlin suggested that Gerald Demery, the District Director of Buildings and Grounds, inspect the buildings and report back to the board which could then take action.

Peter Festante, principal of Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, said that someone has to set the priorities.

"I think our problem is supervision," Festante said. "We need people who are responsible, who know their jobs and can direct."

In other business, the board received a report of favorable results on two achievement tests that tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders within the district take each year. The board also received for consideration a report on incidents of criminal violence and vandalism for the past year.

Dr. Francis Kenny, the district's director of Pupil Personnel Services, reported that overall the students in the district scored high on the "TASK" or Stanford Achievement Test—Academic Skills and the Otis-Lennon School Ability Test. He noted however that the district would study the continuing pattern of a percentage of the students not reaching their obvious potential.

Wet down to christen new ambulance

The Mountainside Rescue Squad invites Mountainside residents and friends to join in celebrating the wet down of the Borough's new ambulance on Sunday at 1 p.m.

The event will be held, rain or shine, at Our Lady of Lourdes Church and Deerfield School on Central Avenue.

Members of the Fire Department, Borough Council, Police Department and neighboring rescue squads will participate in the christening celebration.

SERIOUS PLAY—Michael Lewis prepares for a serious move in a lively game of hockey during the summer recreation program sponsored by the Borough of Mountainside. This is the last week of Playground '86.

PLANNING A MOVE—Springfield resident Jamie Ostrow, a student at the Westfield Summer Workshop, plans her next move on the board during a chess class. Teacher Mark Shoengold instructs youngsters in game strategies.

Hospital wins mental health grant

Children's Specialized Hospital has been awarded a grant by the state Division of Mental Health and Hospitals to provide case management to Union County children from birth to adolescence who have psychiatric problems.

The unit will be known by the acronym "YMH" for Youth Mental Health, according to Cynthia Newman, A.C.S.W., Project Coordinator.

The primary focus of the YMH will be children hospitalized at Elizabeth General Medical Center, Arthur Brisbane Treatment Center and Trenton State Psychiatric Hospital. "Our focus is to enhance the child's life upon discharge into the community," Newman said.

The YMH is operated in cooperation with the Union County Department of Human Services, the Union County Mental Health Board and the Union County Children's Mental Health Task Force.

The case management staff at Children's Specialized offers psycho-social assessment, resource and referral services, advocacy, follow-up and monitoring to children and their families.

Case managers work actively with families and communities to unify services for children at risk. They assist the child and family, according to Newman, "through the maze of support services and are responsible for coordinating community services."

There is no fee charged to families for case management services.

"The goal of case management is to assist children identified as having mental health problems obtain the greatest benefit from community resources," Newman said.

The unit expedites provision of a referral to the following services for children and their families:

• Individual clinical child and family assessment and support psychotherapy.

• Resource and referral services to community mental health agencies and other community services.

• Assistance with activities of daily living and education to children and families in need.

• Educational and vocational counseling, ongoing involvement with the school system and child study teams.

• Advocacy for the child and family.

• Links to appropriate health care facilities.

• The youngster's recreational and social needs.

Former Ass't. Union County Prosecutor (1973-1979)

Before the police may question a suspect in custody, they must give MIRANDA WARNINGS or any statements taken may be barred from use at trial. Under the Miranda decision, any request for an attorney means that all interrogation must immediately cease. Recently, the manslaughter conviction of a Gloucester County woman accused of beating her three-month-old daughter to death was set aside on appeal based on the claim that her right to counsel had been denied in giving incriminating statements to the authorities. While being questioned, the woman had spoken with her mother by phone and said she was not permitted to have an attorney. The police thereafter refused to let a lawyer sent by the family speak with her. In ordering a new trial, the appellate court held that the use of those admissions at trial violated the woman's constitutional rights guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment.

Committee reports on restorations

The Mountainside Preservation Committee held its final meeting of the season at a supper party in the home of secretary and treasurer Anne Hese.

Hese reported on the six months of fund raising for the restoration of the Hetfield house. The total raised was more than $18,000 which attested, she said, to Mountainside's genuine interest in the project.

Newest contributions, she reported, have come from the Mountainside Lions Club, the Mountainside Democratic Club and the Mountainside Democratic Committee.

Committee Chairman Fern Hyde reviewed plans for the Restoration Committee's participation in the borough's Fourth of July celebration. She expressed special thanks to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, the Mountainside Fire Department and the Recreation Commission for their cooperation in the program.

Hyde also acknowledged the special help given by Bob Greeley, Marie and Frank Harrison, Kay and Harry Panagos, Andrea Booth, Sue Winans and Mary Stanke.

trustees of the larger Restoration Committee, expect restoration to begin on the Hetfield house this fall. Elizabethtown Gas Company has offered to donate the exterior lighting fixtures.

At the meeting, a framed special award of recognition was presented to Arthur J. Brahm for his devoted service as committee chairman for four years. Brahm was also cited for his creative contributions of photographs and slides used for programs throughout the borough and for originating and fabricating the popular Hetfield house paper-weights.

Brahm, his wife, the former Peggy Chattin, and their children, Debbie, Ricky and David live in a 150-year-old farmhouse on New Providence Road. They possess an early deed showing the property was purchased by early settler Thomas Young when the borough was part of Westfield.

Art groups receive funding awards

New Jersey's commitment to the arts was reflected in the awarding of $10.3 million to organizations and individuals throughout the state recently by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, according to Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden.

The major recipient in the area was the Paper Mill Playhouse with an award of $510,000, of which $285,000 is allocated to increase its "artistic focus."

The intent of the artistic focus program is to give selected groups the means to achieve recognition at the national level. For the most part, recipients will use their funds to continue the initiatives outlined three years ago to secure their reputations in the arts world beyond state borders.

Three local artistic organizations were awarded the following grants: Summit Art Center, $40,000; New Jersey Youth Symphony, $17,500; and Summit Chorale, $17,000. The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs received $35,371.

Commenting on these grants, Margaret Hager Hart, chairwoman of the arts council, stated, "In District 22 there is a variety of highly regarded cultural institutions that mirror the range of arts organizations throughout the state. Because of Gov. Kean's personal interest and the state Legislature's long-standing support, New Jersey has become a national leader in state support of the arts."

This year the state Legislature appropriated $12.7 million to the arts council. Ogden observed, "This appropriation is in marked contrast to the $100,000 that the Council received when it was established twenty years ago. The original grantees numbered 14.

"This year's funding will help 176 arts organizations. There is a great deal of evidence that state funding for cultural organizations is producing a stronger, more vital New Jersey arts community."

Lawsuits prove costly

Lawsuits can give reporters plenty to write about. They can also give taxpayers a lot to gripe about. The trouble with Mountainside residents, however, is that most of us don't complain about the way borough officials get tangled up in costly litigation.

That may be one reason why the Borough Council appears to show little reluctance to appropriate funds for legal volleying.

Right now, the Police Department boondoggle involving Sgt. Raymond Della Serra is wrapping up. Yet to be decided is the amount of compensation the superior court will award the police officer for pay withheld by the borough while he was under indictment for charges subsequently dismissed.

Still to come are final attorney fees for the final leg of the litigation bouncing around since 1981. Unofficial estimates put the cost to taxpayers somewhere in the neighborhood of $400,000. Think about that — $400,000 out of our pockets for issues that still remain questionable.

Last fall the borough became involved in another potentially costly legal maneuver with the Fire Department. Mountainside's budget is now shouldering legal fees to defend its position in a complaint filed with the Union County Division on Civil Rights by an aspiring fireman whose application was rejected by the fire company.

Last week, consistent with its past affection for engaging legal counsel, the council appropriated $78,000 to set in motion legal proceedings against the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority. Of course, Mountainside shouldn't stand for bullying by that powerful board. What's frightening, however, is the council's pronouncement that it would advise future council's to allocate budget money to continue the fight.

This, folks, is not play money. It's the the real thing — our hard-earned dollars.

Municipal officials like to fall back on the simple-minded formula approach of how much an "average" homeowner's taxes would be increased by a particular spending spree. In this case, it's been estimated that, based on an average home value of $150,000, this RVSA encounter will cost only $22 per home.

Experience has shown, however, that Mountainside goes the full mile in litigation and this $22 increase could escalate substantially.

In many communities, taxpayers regularly attend council meetings to force officials into an accounting of their actions. In Mountainside, however, that rarely happens.

Could it be that most of us are embarrassed to complain about the way borough council spends our money? Could it be that we all accept the inevitability of rising taxes? Could it be that we just don't care?

A little culture

Springfield residents are in a quandary over proposed uses of the former Houdaille Quarry.

Few people in Mountainside have given much thought to it as yet. Now, however, might be an appropriate time to open our ears and pay attention.

We favor the proposal to build an amphitheater on the quarry site.

Not surprisingly, no one from Springfield came forward requesting the raw garbage that the state is thinking about dumping in the abandoned quarry. Somewhat disconcerting, however, is the number of Springfield people who are also against a proposed amphitheater for the site.

Sure, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra would attract traffic. But, traffic also means people — people with money to spend.

Mountainside would, in some measure, feel increased road use if the quarry is accepted as the symphony's new summer home.

For merchants and entrepreneurs along Mountain Avenue and Route 22, an increase in seasonal visitors to Mountainside could encourage expansion and revitalization of service industries. Some specialty restaurants and smart shops could also serve to keep a portion of the borough's consumer dollars in town.

More commercial ratables might ease the tax strain on residential property owners as well.

From a retail perspective, Mountainside is limited. Maybe the symphony would help spruce us up.

Advice offered on paying off loans

Pat yourself on the back if you have taken advantage of low interest rates and refinanced your home mortgage for a considerable savings. But don't stop there. With borrowing costs lower than they have been in years, the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) advises you to review your other outstanding loans.

Take a look at your credit card finance charges, auto loans, home improvement and tuition loans. It may be wise to pay off entirely higher-cost, short-term loans or borrow from a less expensive source to refinance long-term debts.

Make a list of all your loans, including the amount, interest charge and length of each loan. Now single out the most costly loans—those requiring high interest-rate payments. Also list those which you feel you might be able to pay off completely.

Credit-card loans probably top one of your lists. Current low interest rates give you two basic alternatives, pay off or pay down. Although credit card interest rates have come down recently, many consumers may still be paying on purchases or cash advances with rates as high as 20 percent. It may be wise to dispose of that loan completely by borrowing from a less expensive source or using part of your savings.

Let's say you are paying 20 percent interest on a $1,000 credit-card loan. You are also building a savings account at your local bank or savings and loan, which is paying seven percent interest. If you are in the 40 percent tax bracket, you probably will pay about $120 in interest this year, after taxes. Yet your savings account is only yielding $42 after taxes for every $1,000 saved. If you can afford to reduce your savings, take $1,000 and pay off the credit-card debt and save $78.

If you don't have enough money to pay off the credit-card debt now, try to pay off the loan as early as possible. The quicker you do this, the less money it will cost you over the long term.

The same strategies, pay off completely or pay off at a faster rate, also apply to auto loans, home-improvement loans, vacation loans, or any type of installment debt. But if you don't have enough money in your savings to pay off a high-interest loan, where can you find a less expensive source of funds? Company pension plans. Many pension plans allow employees to borrow against their plan accounts, often up to half of the value of their nonforfeitable retirement benefits.

Credit unions. Because of their lower overhead and nonprofit status, credit unions usually offer their members interest rates lower than commercial interest rates.

Insurance companies. Borrowing against the cash value of your life insurance has proven to be an effective way to make a low-interest loan.

Brokerage houses. Individuals can use their securities as collateral for borrowing from brokerage houses at interest rates often lower than commercial rates.

Your employer. Many employers have lending programs that provide loans to their employees, often at favorable interest rates. Be sure to consult a CPA about tax consequences.

Banks and savings and loans. These institutions can offer reasonable rates, particularly if the marketplace is competitive. But shop around to find the best terms.

Remember, because interest rates are lower now than a few years ago, any loan at reasonable rates is likely to save you money when used to pay off an older, higher-interest rate loan. But you should compare the cost of a new loan with the amount you would eventually save before going ahead.

There is a third strategy that could save you money. Consolidating installment debts by taking out one loan to repay all or some of your other loans could save you money, and free you from troublesome paperwork as well. Again, the key is finding a loan with low enough interest rates to offset any origination or other fees and save you substantial money in the long term.

Those who expect to refinance a home mortgage can consolidate existing loans at the same time. If you refinance for a higher principal than you actually need, you can use the extra cash to pay off a few of your more costly loans.

But before you take out a major loan, particularly if you are using equity in your home as collateral, consult a CPA to help you evaluate the impact of the loan on your finances.

Study commission bill passes in Assembly

Editor's note: The following information was submitted by the office of Assemblyman Bob Franks who represents the Borough of Mountainside and the other communities in District 22.

Assemblyman Bob Franks' bill to create a Study Commission on Regulatory Efficiency in state government has passed the Assembly by a vote of 73-0 and now goes to the Senate for consideration.

A bill, A-2082, was recently honored for its innovative approach by the American Legislature Exchange Council as an example of model legislation.

ALEC, headquartered in Washington D.C., is a nonpartisan, nonprofit, public affairs and research organization created to help elected officials share ideas and legislative proposals in all areas of public policy.

Franks' bill on regulatory efficiency was chosen by the ALEC selection committee as one of the best examples of farsighted legislation in the country, and will be one of the 26 bills included in the 1986 ALEC Source Book.

The Study Commission on Regulatory Efficiency, approved by the Assembly, will be composed of 33 members, including 11 individuals representing various executive departments/agencies, four members of the Legislature, and 17 individuals representing various business, labor, and civic organizations.

"I am keenly aware of the cost to business and consumers of unnecessary government regulation,"

Frank said. "The direct and hidden costs to businesses, jobs, and, ultimately, to the consumers of New Jersey for this excessive bureaucracy, are significant and need to be addressed. I sponsored A-2082 as a means to focus attention on the serious problems present in the regulatory process and to offer a mechanism to institute possible solutions," he said.

"In a complex industrial and highly technological society such as ours, certain regulations on business in areas like pollution, public health, and product safety are necessary. Too often, however, action by bureaucrats has resulted in endless rules and regulations that are often conflicting, duplicative and overlapping, and which create a significant financial burden on businesses trying to comply with them," he added.

"My bill will establish a commission to study the regulatory process in state government. In an effort to promote economic improvements and greater efficiency in the rule-making process, it will develop and recommend procedures to be used when establishing rules and regulations for various businesses performing a wide range of economic activities," said Franks.

Already tremendous support has been given to the proposed legislation. More than 360 organizations, including the state's leading business, labor, and civic groups have joined Franks in forming the New Jersey Coalition for Regulatory Efficiency.

"Many New Jerseyans are up in arms over what they consider a wasteful bombardment of time-consuming, government-required paperwork," said Bill Cleary, state director of the National Federation of Independent Business and a member of the steering committee of the New Jersey Coalition for Regulatory Efficiency. "The objection is not so much with having to provide information to government agencies as with the sheer number of forms imposed on them to comply with state regulations. Most business people think the paperwork load could be greatly reduced without compromising the state's ability to gather necessary information."

"Each year the state adds hundreds of new regulations to its 33 volumes of the Administrative Code with little regard for their impact on the private sector," said Jeff Stoller, director of regulatory affairs for the New Jersey Business and Industry Association.

"Businesses do not believe that it is necessary to sacrifice employee safety to make state regulations more cost-effective," Stoller said. "Savings can come by eliminating the waste, duplication, and delays built into the current regulatory structure. The study commission recommended by Assemblyman Franks could put together a comprehensive reform strategy that works."

The bill has been assigned to the Senate State Government Committee for consideration.

However, at the International Kiwanis convention, the Kiwanis International board of trustees was to recommend a change in its constitution to permit women to join throughout the country at the discretion of the various districts and individual clubs.

Gas company offers rebates

To further aid its customers in saving both energy and money, Elizabethtown Gas for the first time is offering a $25 rebate on the purchase of certain energy efficient appliances.

The rebate applies to the purchase and installation of any high-efficiency gas range or gas dryer with electronic (pilotless) ignition and to high-efficiency gas space heaters with an intermittent ignition device.

Although the appliance need not be purchased from Elizabethtown Gas, the purchaser must be an Elizabethtown Gas customer.

"A significant conservation savings can be achieved through the replacement of existing lower efficiency appliances with new, state-of-the-art high-efficiency gas equipment," noted Clarence Bauknight, general manager of energy conservation for Elizabethtown Gas.

For example, according to Bauknight, a pilotless gas range or gas dryer uses 20 percent less than one with a constantly burning pilot light.

"The Energy Efficient Appliance Rebate Program is designed to stimulate consumer interest in the new energy efficient appliances," Bauknight added.

The rebate incentive program will be in effect through Dec. 31.

In addition to this new Energy Efficient Appliance rebate program, Elizabethtown Gas also offers a rebate of up to $200 for the installation of a high-efficiency gas heating system and a $50 rebate on the purchase of a 30, 40 or 50-gallon energy efficient gas water heater. Additional information about the Energy Efficient Appliance Rebate

Act on liability, says senator

Sen. C. Louis Bassano has called on the Democrat leadership in the Senate to act promptly on measures to address the liability insurance crisis, saying "this emergency situation is having a dramatic impact on all New Jerseyans."

Sen. Bassano said, "Over last July Fourth weekend many New Jerseyans saw another example of how the soaring cost of liability insurance is touching our lives. Many municipalities cancelled fireworks displays and other traditional activities out of fear of being faced with a lawsuit."

"The liability insurance issue has been thoroughly studied. It's now time to act. Throughout our state, municipalities, nonprofit groups and businesses are paying a high price for our failure to address this dire situation. They have been forced to cut back on services to cover rising insurance premiums or to gamble with no liability insurance coverage."

Sen. Bassano said, "I call on Senate President John Russo to make reform of our liability insurance system the top priority of the Legislature. The Assembly already has passed a package of bills to address this crisis. The Democrats in the Senate have come up with their own package on this issue. We, the Republicans in the Senate, also have developed a comprehensive legislative response. The time has come for all sides involved to get together and develop a compromise that will provide long-lasting relief from skyrocketing premiums and will increase the availability of liability insurance."

Sen. Bassano said, "I understand that this is a very complex issue and that the Legislature faces intense pressure from special interest groups. However, we must put aside the interests of lawyers and insurance companies and do what is best for New Jersey consumers."

Sen. Bassano said, "The liability crisis will not go away on its own."

A rare Bard play completes repertory

The addition of a rare production of "Two Noble Kinsmen" by William Shakespeare and John Fletcher last night has completed the three-play classical summer repertory at the professional New Jersey Shakespeare Festival, in residence at Drew University, Rt. 24, Madison, N.J. 07940.

"Two Noble Kinsmen" alternates nightly with the Bard's "Julius Caesar" and "Anthony and Cleopatra." Performances are Tuesday through Saturday evenings, with matinees all Saturdays and some Sundays. Tickets are available at the box office, by calling 377-4487 or by writing to Shakespeare, Madison, N.J. 07940.

"Two Noble Kinsmen," a retelling of Chaucer's "The Knight's Tale," is a fable of imprisoned knights and fair ladies. Written by Shakespeare in collaboration with John Fletcher, the author of romantic tragicomedies, it has been produced only about 10 to 12 times "in this century on either side of the Atlantic." Coincidentally, the Royal Shakespeare Company in Stratford, England, also is reviving the play this summer. Directed by festival artistic director Paul Barry, "Two Noble Kinsmen" features Cal Winn, Margaret Emory, and newcomers Rick Parks and Brian Hugh O'Neill. All four also are seen in "Julius Caesar" and "Anthony and Cleopatra."

The festival also has announced that its fourth annual "Colloquium Weekend," made possible in part by a grant from the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities, will be held Aug. 15 to 17. This weekend will feature lectures, performances, open discussions with the professional acting company and a concluding banquet-panel discussion. Early reservations are recommended and complete schedules and information are available by calling the business office at 377-5330.

The 1986 Colloquium, entitled "Reason, Passion, Power," will deal with all three summer repertory productions. Five national scholars have been scheduled.

J. Leeds Barroll, author of the Folger Shakespeare Library, "Shakespearean Tragedy," and former president of the Shakespeare Association of America, will examine the place classical Rome held in the imagination of Shakespeare and his audience in a lecture entitled "Rome and Shakespeare."

Edward Champlin, who is professor of classics and director of the program in classical archaeology at Princeton University, will discuss the reasons for the fall of the Roman Empire and the historical characters of Julius Caesar and Marc Antony, as well as Shakespeare's alteration of them, in "Caesar, Antony and the Collapse of the Roman Republic."

Charles Frey, Shakespearean scholar, who is professor of English at the University of Washington, will compare "Two Noble Kinsmen" to the Roman plays in "Shakespeare As Collaborator."

David Scott Kastan, another Shakespeare scholar, who is chairman of the comparative literature program at Dartmouth College, will hold a lecture on

"Pillows Left Unpressed in Rome: Public Face and Private Spaces in 'Julius Caesar' and 'Antony and Cleopatra.'" He will examine Shakespeare's treatment of the public world of politics and the private world of love.

Edna Russmann, the final speaker, is associate curator of the department of Egyptian art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Her slide-lecture will explore "Egypt and Cleopatra."

The colloquium is offered to the general public at a fee of $8, "which covers up to five lectures, coffee breaks and complimentary study guide for all participants. Participants can choose a special three-play package for theatre tickets at $40, and/or room, board and concluding banquet. Rooms are available at special discounts either at Drew University or the Madison Hotel, Convent, for Colloquium Weekend."

Further information can be obtained by calling 377-5330 or by writing Shakespeare, Madison, N.J. 07940.

A special 'sight' for glasses

For many people looking for quality and good service in eye care products and glasses, Noble Eyeglasses in Union is a sight for sore eyes. Located at 1721 Morris Ave., in the Bradlees mall, Noble has been open for just over a year. In that time, the store has established a following of faithful customers who come for everything from new frames to contact lens solution. According to General Manager Peter Aquila, who has run the store since its opening, the customers have good reasons to come in and to keep coming back. He said, "We can accommodate everyone who walks through our doors. Seldom does someone come in and not find what he needs at the prices that he can afford." Sure enough, Noble has a complete line of lenses and frames in stock to suit the customers needs. Aquila stated the store has thousands of frames on hand at any given time, ranging in price from $10 to $525. Noble also stocks a line of designer frames from Germany, Italy and Austria to suit any customer's tastes. In addition to lenses and frames, Aquila noted the store also provides for the customer's eye care needs. Dr. Arnold Neiman, an independent optometrist, shares office space on the premises and is available for eye testing. An in-house laboratory means customers can depend on quick and efficient work to be done while they wait. "With out laboratory, we can generally have people in and out of the store within an hour," Aquila stated. Other employees of Noble include Assistant Manager Debbie Feldman, who will be certified as an optician in September and Jorge Lara, the store's laboratory technician. A certified optician, himself, Aquila noted there is always someone on hand to answer a customer's question. Discussing Noble's customer service, Feldman said the key is attitude and honesty. "If someone doesn't look good in a certain set of frames, we tell them. We help customers to pick out frames according to their facial features," she noted. Feldman added that paying attention to each customer's needs also helps. "Our service is good and professional," she said. "We go out of our way to help someone and everyone is given individual attention." Noble's eye products include a complete line of sunglasses and contact lenses. "We specialize in contact lenses and carry most major brands names in both extended wear and toric lenses," Aquila mentioned. "We also carry a complete line of contact lens supplies including solutions, kits, heaters and chemical units." So if you want service and quality in glasses and eye product, Noble Eyeglasses has just what you're "looking" for. Noble is open 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Wednesday; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Thursday and Friday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Legion Stars upset Elizabeth

By DENNIS ORLANDINI
The American Legion Union County League All-Stars overcame the fact that their roster was made up of players from 13 different teams who had never played together as a unit to trounce league champion Elizabeth, 8-2, last week at Memorial Field, Linden.

A quartet of All-Star southpaw hurlers shut down a tough Elizabeth lineup. The league champs managed eight hits off the Stars' staff, but with the exception of the fourth inning when they bunched four hits together to score twice, they were unable to cash in on their safties.

The Stars feasted on the pitching of Scott Farley, Pablo Munoz and Greg Randazza. Only Elizabeth's Rob Wellington, who pitched scoreless seventh and eighth innings, was able to contain the Stars' lineup.

Linden's Rob Shalhoub worked the first two innings for the All-Stars, and his performance earned him the game's Most Valuable Pitcher award.

Shalhoub struck out three, in retiring six of the seven batters he faced. Only Randazza reached base safely, with an infield hit.

Linden manager Anthony Picaro said of his ace's award-winning outing, "Robby had a good curve ball, and his off-speed stuff was working. That can make his fastball look that much faster. When batters have to sit back and wait for his curve, it adds a few miles per hour to his fastball."

Shalhoub kept Elizabeth batters off stride, and off the scoreboard as the his teammates jumped to a 2-0 lead in the top of the second inning. Scotch Plains' Russ Funk's single moved Westfield's Chuck Mueller to third base, after Mueller reached first on a force out.

Clark catcher Bob Banasiak then delivered a blast to the left-centerfield gap. Both runners scored before Elizabeth centerfielder Juan DelGado threw out Banasiak, who tried to stretch the hit to a triple.

In the fourth inning the Stars increased their lead to 4-0 off tiring Elizabeth starting pitcher, Farley.

Summit's Mike Feoli led off with a walk and stole second base. Feoli scored when Cranford's Jeff Spotts rapped a single to right field and the throw home was off-line up the first base side.

After the Stars loaded the bases with two outs, they scored again on Banasiak's squib infield hit.

Kenilworth's Jack Ryan took over the Stars' mound duties in the third and worked the next three innings. He ran into difficulties in the fourth when Elizabeth rallied to score their only runs.

After a double play left Elizabeth with a runner at third with two outs, Pablo Munoz hit a run-scoring single. Randazza doubled home Munoz with a blast to left and Elizabeth threatened to overtake the Stars, cutting their lead to 4-2.

Ryan got out of the jam when he got John Feliciano to fly out to the right fielder for the third out.

Munoz, who moved from the outfield to the mound to replace Farley in the fifth, yielded an infield hit to Rahway's Frank Jones and a walk to Roselle Park's Dennis McCaffrey.

Banasiak followed with a searing line drive double down the left field line to score both runners.

Banasiak moved to third on a ground out and then scored on Feoli's sacrifice fly to right to make the score 7-2.

Lefties Kenny Hyde of Scotch Plains, and Dave Gurak of Summit worked two frames apiece to stump Elizabeth hitters over the final four innings.

The All-Stars left with a parting shot as they scratched a run off Randazza, Elizabeth's fourth pitcher, in the ninth.

Funk walked and moved to second on Jones' infield out. Roselle's Jim Wieworski then smacked a two-out base hit to drive home Funk.

Gurak thwarted a last-inning Elizabeth rally by getting Scott Bangert to ground out for the game's final out, and the All-Stars were 8-2 victors.

Banasiak was an unchallenged choice for the Most Valuable Player Award. The blond backstop drove home five runs in a three-for-five performance at the plate, and caught the entire game.

Ironically, Banasiak almost didn't make it to the game. He and a Clark teammate, also selected to the Stars' squad, were told earlier that week that with the league still trying to make up rainout games, the All-Star game would probably be postponed for a few days.

All games were made up, however, and preparations were made by the league to play the game as scheduled. League director Al Moeller called coaches and players individually to confirm that the game was on.

Banasiak's Clark teammate couldn't be found and missed the game. Moeller said of Banasiak, "I was lucky to be able to locate him."

After the Clark star led them to victory, it was obvious his All-Star teammates felt the same way.

AND THEY'RE OFF—Springfield baserunner Mike Gallaro pivots to change direction by pushing off first base after a pickoff throw from Clark's Rick Duda gets past first baseman Delphin Ortiz. Gallaro reached second base easily after the wild throw.

Tied races force divisional playoffs

In the tightest division races in many years, JF Sprinklers and Ehrhardt TV captured the first half divisional titles in the Springfield Men's Softball League recently by battling out playoff victories. In the Western Division, Shallock Creative, Masco Sports and JK Sprinklers ended with identical 9-2 marks to force a three-way playoff. In the Eastern Division, Ehrhardt TV and M&M Automotive also finished with 9-2 marks and faced off.

A slick John Kronert's diving catch of Frank LaMotta's foul pop-up in the bottom of the 7th ended a tense see-saw 5-4 pitching duel between JK's crafty mound ace Tomie Burke and fire-balling righthander Jim Fritzen of Shallock. Scott Nagar was JK's big bat, driving in three runs. For Benny DiPalma's speed, Lou Gizzi and Joe DiPalma stroked clutch hits to account for the Shallock runs.

Earlier, JK eliminated Masco Sports, 6-2. Once again, Tom Burke was masterful in outdueling veteran Joe Pepe Sr. Guy "Howard" Seal belted his fifth home run of the year in the first frame to stake JK to a 2-0 lead which they never relinquished. Joe Pepe Jr. blasted a two-run homer over the 241-foot sign in the sixth to account for the Masco runs. In the Eastern Division showdown, Ehrhardt broke open a tight battle in the fifth inning and cruised to a 20-7 win. Heavy hitting, the Ehrhardt trademark, was again evident. Eberenz had four hits. John Ehrhardt had a big home run, and Mike Clarke who ignited both big rallies with base hits, led the way. John J. Ehrhardt added to his more than 300 career victories with a route-going performance. For M&M, Big Steve Geltman ripped a homer in the first inning.

The second half action promises to be as torrid with no less than 7 teams in the hunt for the Divisional Flags. The action starts each night at 6:30 P.M. under the big Morrison Road arclights at the Pool Field.

Mountainside wins return match

On Saturday, July 26th, the Mountainside Community Pool Swimming Team faced Summit for the second time this summer. The result of this meet was another victory for Mountainside. The score was 243-151.

Darts champ opposes locals

World Darts Champion John Lowe will throw against top local amateur darts players at two local sites as part of a national exhibition tour.

Lowe will appear at Carole and Paul's Meeting Place, 9 West Westfield Ave., Roselle Park at 4:30 p.m., Monday, August 11. He will give his second exhibition of the day at the Campus Inn, 498 North Ave., Union at 7:30 p.m.

In the midst of the eight-date exhibition tour, Lowe will defend his title August 15-18 at the Watney's Red Barrel Beer Open in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Lowe is a 41-year-old, six feet, four inch Englishman who has authored two books on dart throwing techniques. Lowe will play in local bars, that feature darts clubs on the exhibition tour. Bar owners will select the competitors.

Lowe has won every major title from World Masters to World Cup, for which he has captained the English national team for six years.

In what would roughly be equivalent of a baseball pitcher throwing a perfect game, Lowe threw a perfect nine darts in a title game of 501 in October 1984. For that feat, which took Lowe under two minutes to accomplish, Lowe bagged a jackpot of 102,000 pounds sterling, or a cool $140,000.

Shore bodybuilding meet set

The Muscle Beach Bodybuilding Championships will be held on the beach at Joey Harrison's Surf Club in Ortleby Aug. 9 at 7 p.m.

Neil Torino, director of the contest, said, "We expect a highly competitive field of bodybuilders, but the contest will also draw many beginners. The majority of bodybuilders will come from the tri-state area."

The competition will feature men's novice, women's open and men's open divisions and is sanctioned by the National Physique Commission.

"The event is unique in that it is being held outside on the beach at one of the most popular areas along the Jersey shore," explained Torino. "Obviously, a big crowd is expected due to the time, date and location of the event. It is expected to be one of the premier events in the State this summer."

All contestants must be registered with the National Physique Committee to participate. Contestants may register with the National Physique Committee when registering for the competition.
