Borough OK's newsrack law

By PAUL PEYTON

The Mountainside Borough Council has given its final approval to an ordinance which regulates the placement of newsracks within the borough.

Before approving the law, the council approved an amendment to the text by council president Robert Vigilanti. The change involves the placement of the machines in relation to bus stops.

"Newsracks along any curb immediately adjacent to any designated bus stop, unless such newsrack is located 15 feet or more to the rear of any sign marking the designated bus stop, whereas such newsrack is located 15 feet or more to the rear of any sign marking the designated bus stop, whereas such newsrack is located adjacent to a bus shelter at such bus stop or along any curb immediately adjacent to a place marked for handicapped parking," states the amended section.

Vigilanti said that the original text of the ordinance had stated that no newsrack could be placed "within any distance 15 feet of any shelter."

He said that the change will permit newsracks to be placed within the 15 of bus shelters so long as they are less than 15 feet from any bus loading area.

"With this amendment it is my belief that we probably put together a very, very fair ordinance that will enable the borough to regulate the haphazardly placed newsracks throughout our town while not infringing on or even coming close to infringing on the first amendment," said Vigilanti.

The councilman explained that the borough's action of informing the attorney of the newsracks placed in the borough was unique. He said that the First Amendment right of the papers to distribute their product freely had been the main issue in drawing up the ordinance.

"This is a sensitive and extremely delicate area in our constitution. While we would like to protect our rights as citizens and not fall over haphazardly placed newsstands and other machines that can dispense newspapers, the first amendment also gives us the right of freedom of speech and that has been interpreted as also meaning the freedom of distributing newspapers," said Vigilanti.

In other business, the council approved a resolution authorizing the creation of a deputy court clerk position at a salary of $17,000 per year.

Borough Mayor Bruce Geiger said that the new position was created in order to assist the court clerk with a workload that has recently increased.

Freeholders pick Elizabeth landfill site

By MARK HAVILAND

A site in Elizabeth was tapped for the creation of a landfill to handle the ash residue from the county's proposed resource recovery plant, and part of the Houdaille Quarry in Springfield was approved as a leaf composting center by the Union County Board of Freeholders at a meeting last week in Elizabeth.

But plans to site a landfill in Linden were apparently scuttled, and the board also took pains to reassure Springfield residents and officials, who turned out in large numbers, that there would not be a landfill site in their community and that the county would not build an outdoor amphitheater at the quarry site.

The selection of the landfill sites are planned amendments to the county's solid waste management plan.

Freeholder Michael Lapolla of Elizabeth criticized county officials for voting on the sites, explaining the impression the board had given municipal officials at the hearing the previous night was that the board would delay action until more information was available for local officials.

"Everyone was given the distinct impression that there would be no action taken," Lapolla claimed.

The county's Director of Environmental Affairs, Joseph Kazar, advised the freeholders that they should identify the sites immediately, then address the local concerns.

"The kind of additional information that Linden and Elizabeth are seeking... will take a good deal of time," Kazar explained.

The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has mandated that the county develop one or more landfill sites prior to the planned completion of its resource recovery plant in Rahway by 1990. The landfills would be for the disposal of the ash residue that is the by-product of the mass burn water wall process that the plant will use.

Most of Union County's 21 municipalities are transporting their garbage to the Edgeboro landfill in East Brunswick, which is rapidly nearing capacity. Linden relies on its own municipal landfill, which is almost filled too; and Union and Springfield are currently carting their garbage to the Hackensack Meadows, but have been ordered by the DEP to cease this by July 1987.

Siting of the plant in Rahway has been placed in jeopardy by the objections of Rahway officials over the designation of Republican Freeholder James Fulcomer of Rahway as chairman of the Union County Utilities Authority, which will supervise the development and operation of the resource recovery plant.

Council members in Elizabeth had voted against the siting of a landfill in that city, at a waterfront site, because they had argued that the city would lose potential tax rates.

"A careful analysis of that argument is that the additional rates that might be attracted to the site would not offset the tremendous cost of hauling garbage out-of-state," Fulcomer said.

Kazar emphasized that the most prudent step to take was for county officials to name the sites, which then have to be submitted to the DEP for approval.

"The proper way to move on their concerns is by way of a planned amendment," Kazar said. "That would also give us additional time to determine whether we would move these sites to construction."

"It's an absolutely necessary step that must be taken, but keep in mind that it is not a final step," he added.

While the county waits for the DEP's review of the amendment, which Kazar said typically takes at least five months, they could conduct environmental studies at the proposed sites and develop agreements with the host communities. Otherwise, the scheduled opening of the resource recovery plant will be delayed, he predicted.

"Most importantly, we would have to deal with the host communities to determine their concerns," Kazar stated.

Freeholder Robert Gonor of Linden stated, "The siting of a landfill in anyone's backyard is not an easy task."

"When garbage piles up along the highways and byways of this county, people will begin to notice," he added.

After the meeting, Gonor explained that Linden could face similar problems on the local level and said he also wants to explore whether Linden can benefit by being a "contiguous host community" adjacent to where the landfill and resource recovery plant are sited. Gonor said Linden has plans concerning its municipal landfill awaiting action in Trenton.

But Lapolla said after the meeting that he does not foresee the recovery plant being completed by the 1990 date unless the county resolves the impasse with Rahway over Fulcomer's appointment.

Substitute teachers get raise

By MARK YABLONSKY

Acting to remain "competitive," the Union County Regional Board of Education voted "unanimously to increase pay rates for substitute teaching personnel for the 1986-87 school year at its meeting on Tuesday in Clark.

As of yesterday, all substitute teachers who have received full state certification will now earn $50 a day, instead of the previous daily rate of $45. Also receiving an increase were substitute teachers holding only county certification. They will now receive $40 per diem.

In addition, long-term fully certified substitutes — who have instructed the same class in place of the same teacher for at least 10 consecutive days — will now be paid $98 daily.

"We are trying to be competitive," explained regional school superintendent Donald Merachnik. "There are not enough substitutes to go around. We feel we have to be competitive and pay a competitive rate for substitutes. That's why we raised it."

Unlike fully certified subs, however, the long-term rates will not apply to substitutes with county accreditation.

In other matters, the board heard an unofficial address from Union County School Superintendent Dr. Vito Gagliardi, who was the evening's guest speaker. Now serving his fourth year as head of the county school system, Gagliardi took the occasion to describe his job title and the responsibility that goes along with it.

Explaining that "my office is mistaken for Dr. Merachnik's office because of the title," Gagliardi likened his position to a "narrow part of an hour glass," with one end of the glass being the district itself, and the other being the state department of education, for whom he works.

Gagliardi also lent his support for a controversial state plan, that, if approved by the state legislature and Governor Thomas Kean, would see school districts deemed as "troubled," eventually run by a specially-appointed state superintendent, who would have the authority to remove the district's school superintendent and board of education from power.

"We're talking about school districts that are in dire need of correcting a problem they can't correct themselves," the superintendent explained. "If it were a business, the state would take it over as a receivership. Ultimately, the state is responsible for education, anyway."

"I believe that it will pass ultimately because I believe the public will understand. I think the public will support that action."

Survey shows support for limiting suits

A recent survey of residents in the 21st district, which includes Springfield and Kenilworth, revealed strong public support for legislation that would restrict the ability to sue in the interest of curtailing high insurance costs, Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick has announced.

Seventy seven percent of homes expressing an opinion on the issue said they would favor the idea of restricting damage suits as a way of reducing such costs, the Speaker noted.

"The survey results show convincing support for the rationale contained in the Assembly liability insurance package approved in June," Speaker Hardwick said. The Assembly package, currently awaiting Senate action, would place caps on awards for non-economic damages, eliminate double payment for economic damages, and provide immunity to volunteers, non-profit organizations and public officials from lawsuits not involving intentional misconduct.

More than 8,000 homes were visited and close to 2,000 interviews conducted during the summer-long Legislative Office On Foot (LOOF) project conducted by four student interns from the Speaker's office.

The survey also reported that 60 percent of district households expressing a judgment were in support of the Assembly's Initiative & Referendum legislation, which would give the state's voters the power to petition to place key legislative issues on the election ballot.

Speaker Hardwick said, "The survey results clearly show the public considers I & R to be in the best interest of effective and responsive government here in New Jersey." The Initiative and Referendum measure, which was approved by the Assembly in June with the backing of the Speaker and the Republican leadership, is currently pending action in the Senate.

In other results tabulated in the LOOF project, 90 percent of district residents expressing an opinion said they approved of the job performance of Speaker Hardwick.

"The high approval ratings for the Speaker evident in the survey are testimony to the progress Chuck's made as a legislator," said Westfield Councilman Rich Bagger, who directed the LOOF project. "The results are also a confirmation of the new positive legislative direction that's taken place in his first year as Speaker."

District residents expressing an opinion also gave Gov. Thomas Kean an 86 percent approval rating, a result which Speaker Hardwick said "further solidifies evidence of the positive impact being made by the Republican leadership in Trenton."

The Speaker said the work of the LOOF student intern staff was also instrumental in pinpointing the issues of greatest concern to the residents of the district.

The interns also responded to personal citizen complaints and problems by performing a variety of "case work," the Speaker noted. Research and assistance was provided by the interns on a multitude of cases, such as intervening to direct needy senior citizens to state agencies and assistance programs; expediting a license renewal problem with the state Division of Motor Vehicles; answering tax questions; and informing residents on how the revenues from the state Lottery are distributed.

"Speaking with citizens about the issues affecting our state and performing the legwork to assist citizens in resolving such casework problems is an invaluable experience that the interns thrived on," the Speaker said.

Councilman Bagger said the interns visited more homes—in excess of 8,000—than in any previous summer of the LOOF project, now in its eighth year of operation under Speaker Hardwick. "The interns were an especially dedicated group," said Bagger, himself a LOOF alumnus who participated in the program during his college years.

"This year's group of interns surpassed my most demanding expectations," Speaker Hardwick said. "It's legwork like that conducted by these four students that ultimately contributes to my goal to be as cognizant and responsive to the problems and issues of the 21st District as I can be."

Teddy Bear Day slated at hospital

Saturday will be "Teddy Bear Day" in Middlesex and Mountanside. That is when Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountanside will receive a collection of bears of various sizes and shapes from different manufacturers courtesy of Bea Skydell's Dolls and Toys.

The presentation will be part of a two-hour program at the store, located at 476 Union Avenue, Middlesex, which will take place from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On hand will be Otto Steiff, former president of Steiff stuffed animals. He will autograph all Steiff teddy bears and animals purchased at the store that day or two stuffed animals purchased on an earlier occasion.

In addition, Christian Revi will be at the store to identify and appraise teddy bears. He is the editor of The Teddy Bear and Friends Magazine, a nationally distributed magazine with circulation of more than 55,000. He will also conduct a Best Dressed Teddy Bear Contest.

The presentation of bears to Children's Specialized Hospital will take place at 1 p.m. Community Resources Coordinator Shirley Biegler will accept the bears on behalf of the hospital.

"Children's Specialized Hospital, a highly regarded facility, was selected for this presentation because of the excellent care it provides physically disabled children and young adults. We feel very strongly that the excitement of the Teddy Bear Day should be shared with children who cannot be there to enjoy it. We know that the teddy bear will become very special friends for some very special children," a store spokesman said.

In conjunction with Teddy Bear Day, the store will launch its coin donation campaign on behalf of Children's Specialized Hospital. A coin collection jar will be permanently placed in the store that Saturday, with the proceeds going towards the purchase of a Kids Quickie 2 wheelchair.

On the campaign trail Dems: Voters seek township leaders

Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee Bill Welsch and Sy Mullman stated that the people are seeking leaders, not cautious followers. They said:

"A month ago we declared our opposition to development of the Quarry as an amphitheater. We didn't know if this was a popular position or not at the time. We simply felt it represented Springfield's interests for several reasons. The amphitheater would bring horrendous traffic problems, it would bring litter and pollution, and it could bring unruly audiences. We visualized this and took a position that supported SCOPE, the citizens' group working to protect us from use of the quarry as a dump or amphitheater.

"Where do our opponents stand on this? Up to the time of our writing this, they have been completely silent on the topic. They have said nothing on the subject of the quarry except, 'don't worry, it will go away. The Republican freeholders told us so.' So too have their mentors, Mr. Katz and Mrs. Pieper refrained from declaring themselves opposed. We think this has been because they wanted to please the Republican Freeholders board which wants an amphitheater.

"Last week the citizens of Springfield turned out in droves to two meetings at the freeholder board in Elizabeth and voiced their opposition to the amphitheater. They were wonderfully effective. The freeholders were cowed into unanimously supporting a resolution introduced by Democratic Freeholder Michael LaPolla stating that no development would take place in the quarry site without the consent of a majority of the Springfield Township Committee. Thank God for two party government and the fact that LaPolla, only one of two Democrats on the Freeholder Board, was there to introduce such a resolution. The strength of this convinced our opponents that it is politically safe to join us in our position. But even if they do, we are skeptical as to their sincerity.

"Passage of the resolution by the freeholders gives the township committee the power to invite in the amphitheater if it wants to. Today, the Democratic majority doesn't want to. At the meetings, Committeemen Kaish, Fanning and Cieri all stood up and spoke against the amphitheater. Katz spoke against the dump, a safe, non controversial position, and Pieper said nothing. Significantly, they did not speak against the amphitheater."

Mullman and Welsch continued, "If we are elected, there will still be a Democratic majority and the township committee will still reject amphitheater use. However, if our opponents win and there is effectively a one-party, Republican Township Committee in Springfield, led by Mr. Katz, who has never, to date, voiced opposition to the amphitheater, we fear for the future of our town."

GOP hopefuls promise an 'open government'

Republican Township Committee candidates Stanley Fink and Howard Massler have promised if elected that they would give the voters an "open government."

Fink explained, "The Democrats have mismanaged this town for too long, partially as a result of their exclusionary policy denying access to information to anyone who is not a card-carrying Democrat." Fink continued, "Our Republican members, Katz and Pieper, were given a mandate by the voters of Springfield in last year's election to initiate strategic planning and other sound management practices.

"Unfortunately," Fink noted, "you can't manage when you are denied access to information on an ongoing basis." Fink concluded that "this exclusionary policy has contributed to the continuing mismanagement of our town because the full input of all five people on the Township Committee is denied."

Massler noted, "In many decisions affecting our tax dollars Katz and Pieper had to stand up and demand information before they could vote on an issue." Massler continued, "For example, the future expansion of our Town Hall had been proposed for some time. Katz and Pieper got wind that the Democrats had already discussed future expansion with an architect and had to demand to be involved in the decision making process before they would vote." Massler continued, "We promise if elected that both Democrats and Republicans on the Committee will have the same information at the same time so that we get the full input of five people, not just the majority party sitting on the Committee from time to time."

Massler also condemned "management by litigation. Every time the Democrats perceive a problem, their answer always is 'let's litigate.'" Massler cited as an example past developments surrounding the Haudaille quarry and the Democratic promise to citizens' groups that they would move on the selection of a law firm to fight the county. "Thank goodness," Massler said, "we took the initiative and got a commitment from our Republican freeholders on August 7 that the quarry would never be used as a garbage dump and that no amphitheater would come to Springfield without the town's consent."

It is a violation of the CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO COMPEL WITNESSES on an accused's behalf for the State to require, as part of a plea bargain offered to a criminal defendant, his agreement not to testify on behalf of co-defendants at any future trials. A conflict

Wouldn't it be convenient for the people of Mountainside to be able to be in two places at the same time?

That way, they could attend both the monthly board of education meeting and the borough council work session in their entirety.

Although last week's 8 p.m. council meeting adjourned about 9 p.m. and the 8 p.m. board of education meeting was still in session, latecomers missed a crucial part of the school board meeting which dealt with testing results.

Residents, council and board members may depend on the press to cover meetings for people who cannot attend both, but this is not always possible.

Newspapers covering the town are also affected by the conflict in meeting times. The Echo, for example, has only one reporter assigned to the borough and is forced to decide which of the two meetings he should attend.

This newspaper can cover conflicting meetings when a stringer, a part-time reporter, or other staff member is available, but what happens if several communities schedule meetings at the same time?

The Open Public Meetings Act requires that governing bodies hold meetings that can be attended by members of the public and media. Wouldn't it be to the benefit of the public if township and school officials went a step further and held their meetings at separate times?

Conflicting meetings limit the amount of coverage we can give to the borough.

A member of the council recently criticized the Echo for not always sending the same reporter to cover meetings. But when the school board holds a public meeting which attracts a great deal of public interest, we must cover this meeting and assign someone else to cover the council.

The board of education meets on the first and second Tuesday of every month. The borough council holds its public meetings the second and third Tuesday of every month. There are no regularly scheduled meetings on the fourth Tuesday of the month. There are also several other days of the week when meetings could be scheduled.

We hope borough officials will consider the problems conflicting meetings cause its residents. As taxpayers, they have the right to attend both meetings.

Baby arrives with a lot of 'hidden' expenses

What seems to surprise many new parents is the sheer number and variety of costs associated with having a baby, ranging from medical expenses to food, clothing and furniture, to name just a few.

As you budget for these new expenses, the New Jersey Society of CPAs urges that you also review your savings plan, your insurances, and your will — three sometimes overlooked but important financial considerations.

College may seem to be a long way off with the baby not yet out of diapers. But starting early to save for college is prudent, and less painful because you can start with small amounts and take more time to reach your goal. College costs vary widely and are difficult to predict, say, 18 years down the road. But let's say you decide to shoot for saving $100,000. Over an 18-year period you need only invest $2,470 a year at an interest rate of 8 percent to earn that amount (before taxes). Wait only five years longer to begin saving and you would have to invest about $4,300 a year to earn the same figure.

Think about setting up a tax-advantaged fund that allows you to defer income tax. For example, a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, representing one of the simplest ways of saving money, could yield 7.5 percent interest over a ten-year maturity period. In the early years, while your child is in a low tax bracket, you may elect to pay taxes at the child's rate rather than defer taxes.

Also think about shifting income to your child through an arrangement such as a trust or custodial account. Remember that control of the assets is often forfeited. Tax reform may reduce some of the benefits, so consult a CPA to help you determine what is best for you.

Before the baby's arrival, take a look at your health insurance. Comprehensive family health insurance policies could cost as much as $3,000 a year, but will go a long way in covering hospital fees, physician's fees and some other expenses. Your company may offer much of the coverage you need under a group insurance program at a lower amount than you would otherwise pay for coverage under an individual policy.

A comprehensive plan includes both basic protection, which covers hospitalization and physician expenses, and major medical, which offers additional hospital and doctor coverage when basic protection benefits are exhausted.

Some health insurance policies don't cover obstetrical fees, and most other policies traditionally do not pay for normal pediatrician visits and immunizations. Still other policies may not cover the costs of prenatal vitamins, genetic counseling, and other services. Once you pay a deductible, usually $200 to $500, a good policy can help control your maternity medical costs.

Check with your employer to see if a health insurance maintenance organization (HMO) is offered as an alternative to traditional health insurance. A yearly fee typically buys unlimited medical care for an entire family.

Review your life insurance. Determine how much is needed to maintain a similar lifestyle and provide for your family in the event one of you dies.

What kind of insurance do you need? The answer depends largely on personal preference. Three basic types are renewable term, whole life and universal life. Term insurance, generally the least expensive, insure a person for a period of time for the set amount. Whole life, the most expensive, offers lifetime coverage and a savings component that you can borrow against. Universal life is a combination of term insurance and interest-paying, tax-deferred savings.

If you have a will, you may want to change it now. Which assets should you leave to your spouse? How would you provide for the future support of your child? Be sure to name a legal guardian for the child in the event both parents die. Without a will, the potential for court costs and lawyers' fees will be higher in order to cover the cost of administering the estate.

It's always smart to have control of your finances, but the arrival of a new family member is a particularly good time to talk to a CPA about reviewing your financial needs.

Legal worries for underage drinker-drivers

By MARVINE SCHLOSSER
Member, Board of Governors
Association of Trial Lawyers of America-New Jersey

The public is greatly concerned about people who drive while drunk. This group of drivers includes, unfortunately, many drivers who are under 21.

At the outset it must be made clear that these drivers are responsible for their own acts and anyone who is injured as a result of their negligence has the right to file a lawsuit against them.

The law in New Jersey expands the victim's rights to include in their lawsuit the establishment where alcoholic beverage was purchased. This is because those who are in the liquor business are aware that it is fraught with dangers and the members of the general public as well as individual patrons are entitled to receive high measures of protection from its abuses.

The group protected by this law includes even those underage drivers who purchase alcoholic beverages and are injured in accidents while driving their cars after they drink. This is because the New Jersey Legislature and Courts recognize that minors are susceptible to the inherent dangers, and not sufficiently mature to partake of alcoholic beverages.

Any driver, minor or not, who is convicted of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor faces a variety of fines, penalties, and insurance surcharges.

The penalties for a first offense mandate a minimum fine of $250, a period of detainment of not less than 12 hours and a loss of driving privileges for a period of not less than six months. The offender also pays a fee of $40, must successfully complete a program of highway safety and alcohol education, and is assessed a per diem charge of $25 for attendance at the Intoxicated Driver Resource Center. A surcharge of $100 is imposed to fund a "Drunk Drivers Enforcement Fund." There is an insurance surcharge of $3,000 payable at the rate of $1,000 per year, and lastly, the court may impose a jail term of not more than 30 days and may increase the minimum fines.

These fines, sanctions, and surcharges have probably arisen in response to the public's awareness of the devastation that can arise from drinking and driving.

With this background, it is now time to turn to an actual case which involved a 17-year-old who bought two 6-packs of beer at a liquor store, drank them, and was later arrested for, and convicted of, driving under the influence. No accident was involved, but she paid various fines, fees and the insurance surcharge.

Thereafter, she sued the liquor store claiming that it was negligent in selling her the beer in violation of state law. She sought to recover all the money she paid out and also for damages because of her license suspension. She claimed that since the liquor store would be responsible for her injuries if she had an accident, then it should also be responsible for her other costs.

Club hears grant discussion

The Kenilworth Senior Citizens Club heard a presentation regarding the $50,000 grant for the proposed senior citizen projects at its September business meeting.

The presentation was given by Phillip Gimson, a legislative aide to Assembly leader Charles "Chuck" Hardwick.

Assemblyman Hardwick thanked Sen. C. Louis Bassano and Assemblyman Peter Genova for their roll in obtaining the grant, in addition to the "legwork" done by Council President Anthony Montouri and Councilman Joseph Benintente.

Comments of appreciation and thanks were made by President Minnie Leikauskas on behalf of the club members.

Chairperson Ann Oles announced that all senior citizens of Kenilworth will have the opportunity to convert their existing wills to self-proving wills at no cost.

Oles stressed the importance of doing this by pointing out that it would eliminate the costly, time consuming and sometimes impossible task of locating witnesses to a will, which could in effect mean there was no will at all. Special arrangements can be made by calling Ann LaCosta, 272-5641.

All seniors were urged to take advantage of the Free Health Fair

Saturday 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Harding School.

The chairperson of Volunteer Workers, Lillian Lasser, reported a total of 476 hours for the months of June, July and August at American Lung Association, Memorial General Hospital in Union, and Elizabeth General Medical Center by Marge Kosmutza, Mary Luciano, Josephine and C. Joseph Aragona, Ann and Joseph Oles and Lasser.

R.S.V.P. volunteers, Alice Oehler, Berta Frey, Elsie Burnett, Emily Skwisz and Minnie Leikauskas gave a total of 209 hours. There is a great need in this very rewarding program for volunteers.

Chairperson Ann Sabolchick presented a check for $500.00, profits from Craft Club Boutique, to the General Treasury of the club. Plans are being made for a Craft Boutique in November.

Club member Frank Spital received Blue Ribbon, Best in Show Award for his hand-made doll house dining room furniture and accessories at the N.J. State Fair at Cherry Hill and Flemington Fair. Other Kenilworth Senior Citizen members receiving recognition were Leisel Reimers, Ann Sabolchick, Helen Smith, Della Lohman and Minnie Leikauskas.

Trip chairperson Sophie Strack urged greater participation by club members in the various club-sponsored trips. There will be a 16-day trip to Florida from Oct. 25 to Nov. 9. Information is available by calling 276-0152, Tuesday or Friday.

Van committee chairperson Madelyn Nitschke announced the following committee members: Kenilworth Senior Citizen Club, Florence Zawacki, Laura Angen; AARP Joseph Oles and Joseph Zygmierski.

Ann LaCosta, membership chairperson, reported club membership has grown to 445 members.

George Borger announced a total of 1,057 club visitations for June, July and August.

Club president Minnie Leikauskas urged all members to contact Senator John Russo regarding action on the pending pricing legislation, "to have prices clearly marked on all items."

Evelyn Horing will act as beautification and donation chairperson for the placement of a plaque from out town in Kenilworth, England.

Plans are being made for senior citizens to attend Elmora Theatre in Elizabeth on Wednesdays, free of charge.

Vets urged to attend program

The second annual Supermarket of Services for veterans will be held Sept. 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Morris County Community College in Randolph, Assemblyman Bob Franks has announced.

"I encourage all veterans in our area to attend the supermarket of services, where valuable information on veterans benefits will be available," Franks said.

The Veterans Supermarket of Services, which includes an invitation to lunch for all veterans, is sponsored by the Bureau of Veterans Services and the veterans organizations of New Jersey, including the American Legion, American ExPOW, Fleet Reserve, Vietnam Vets, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and all branches of the military.

Information on insurance services, loans and benefits, on the spot educational help, small business development, and employment assistance will be available. In addition, representatives from the veterans soldiers homes and the veterans medical facilities will be on hand to answer questions and provide assistance.

Workshops are scheduled throughout the day on such topics as women veterans services, agent orange/PTSD, and job search techniques.

"Last year the supermarket of services proved very valuable for over six hundred New Jersey veterans," Franks said. "If you are a veteran you owe it to yourself to make sure you understand fully the wide range of benefits and services available to you."

"If you are a veteran, the Supermarket of Services is well worth your time to attend. For additional information on the program, you may call the Bureau of Veterans Services toll free at 1-800-624-0508, or my office at 665-7777," Franks added.

Four named Merit finalists

Three Springfield students and a resident of Mountainside have been named semifinalists in the 32nd annual Merit Scholar competition. The Merit program applies to academically talented high school seniors in all 50 states.

Honored by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation were Suzanne L. Demitrio, Roy P. Morton, and Amanda Sumner of Springfield, and Maia I. Sisk of Mountainside. All four are among 15,000 semifinalists nationwide.

To be considered for Merit Scholarships, semifinalists must advance to Finalist standing by documenting high academic performance, being endorsed and recommended by their high schools, and taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test with a confirmation of qualifying test performance. These students must also submit information about their school and community activities, as well as personal interests and goals.

Initiated in 1955, the National Merit Scholarship Program is financed independently by over 600 sponsor organizations.

Johnson participates in workshop

While the summer months mean rest and relaxation for many educators, at Deerfield School, Mountainside, principal James A. Johnson Jr. was planned and prepared the 1986-87 school year.

Johnson participated in a New Jersey Department of Education workshop entitled "Instructional Supervision." This five-day program in August was conducted by staff members of the Academy for the Advancement of Teaching and Management in Edison.

The purpose of the Academy, which was formed by Governor Thomas H. Kean, is to refine and enrich the teaching and management skills of educators while at the same time increasing their sense of professionalism. Academy Director Dr. Sylvia Nadel states that the basic premise is that the academy "will work with people who care, who already are positive and effective professionals in education and who still want to grow."

The Academy's programs are designed, to translate the best educational research in instruction and management into practice. The workshop that Johnson attended provided the participants with a generic model for supervision based upon the research of several educational theorists. Participants may utilize this model while incorporating individual school district criteria.

The goals of this workshop were to assist participants in recognizing effective teaching skills and knowledge necessary for instruction and supervision, and to clarify the teacher/administrator conference process.

The participants of this workshop, had an opportunity to prepare and teach a lesson, be observed and obtain feedback via an actual conference. Staff members emphasized that the conference is a collegial effort designed to note strengths and growth areas so that maximum teacher effectiveness can be achieved.

Johnson praised the program and felt that it was extremely worthwhile and beneficial. He looks forward to participating in additional workshops offered by the Academy.

Wise Center aided

The Alzheimer's Disease Fund of New Jersey (ADFNJ) recently donated $5,000 to Memorial General Hospital's affiliated adult social day care program, the WISE Center, Union.

According to MGH president Victor J Fresolone, the money will be used to train additional personnel for the center, which is expanding its existing program.

Part of the donation approximately $2,000 was dedicated in the memory of former Westfield resident Alice M. Gutai. Joan L. Smith, ADFNJ executive director, said that more than 60 friends and relatives made donations to the ADFNJ in Gutai's name.

Gutai was the wife of the late Mr. John A. Gutai. The couple had resided in Westfield for more than 15 years, where they were active in many community events, before recently moving to Greenville, N.C. The Gutais are survived by their four children, Barbara Gutai of Westfield, Madge G. Nelson of Clifton, Dr. James P. Gutai of Greenville, N.C., and John A. Gutai of Corinth, Miss.

The WISE Center, which stands for Wellness, Independence and Social Interaction for the Elderly, provides professional supervision, cultural and creative programs and socialization for elderly Union County residents, many of whom suffer from Alzheimer's Disease.

Now in its fourth year of operation, the center serves as an effective alternative to the institutional placement of those elderly persons who wish to remain within their own homes and communities, but require some supervision during certain parts of the day or week.

"We are incredibly impressed with the work the WISE Center has done to date and are thrilled to be able to help in its expansion," Smith said.

Retailers charged

W. Cary Edwards, attorney general of New Jersey, has announced that three of the state's largest appliance retailers have paid the state a total of $9,000 and signed agreements to comply with advertising regulations, in order to settle Division of Consumer Affairs complaints that they violated similar agreements signed in 1984.

Tops Appliance City, Inc., Prince Range Co. and Brick Church Appliance, Inc., all were charged with failing to use reference prices in price reduction advertising for items costing $100 or more. According to the regulations, if a general merchandise item is offered at a "special price" or "sale price," the reference price also must be listed — in either the form of the store's regular price, a competitor's price or the manufacturer's suggested list price. The advertising regulations were initially promulgated in 1974, were revised in 1980 and readopted in 1985.

"Our reference price requirement is intended to make it possible for consumers to decide how special a special deal being offered really is," said Consumer Affairs Director James J. Barry. "The regulations require that stores provide substantiation for their advertising claims and therefore prevent misrepresentations," he said.

Tops Appliance City, Inc., operates what it calls "the largest appliance store under one roof on the East Coast" at Route 27, Edison. The firm admitted that it violated a January 25, 1984, Essex County Superior Court agreement under which it was assessed a $900 penalty and $800 costs for failing to list reference prices in its advertising. Tops now has agreed to obey the regulations and has paid the state a $3,000 penalty and $1,000 for costs.

Brick Church Appliance, Inc., operates 21 appliance stores, including four in New York, and New Jersey stores, two in Toms River, Tinton Falls, Rockaway and Edison, and one in Green Brook, Hanover, Jersey City, Arlington, Union, Orange, Paramus, Rahway, Marlboro, Middletown and Newark. The firm has agreed to settle a complaint that it violated a March 30, 1984 Consent Agreement to comply with the reference price requirement by paying the state $1,500 and pledging to not engage in any violation. The 1984 agreement had included an $800 penalty and $500 costs.

Prince Range Co. operates 11 stores in Livingston, Irvington, Little Ferry, Bricktown, Eatontown, Ledgewood, Manalapan, Whippany, Wayne, Union and Menlo Park. The firm has paid a $2,000 penalty and $1,500 costs and agreed to include reference prices in its price reduction advertisements to settle a complaint filed in Superior Court, Essex County, charging the firm violated a March 30, 1984 agreement that had included a $900 penalty and $300 costs.

19 nutrition sites announced

There are 19 sites in Union County where any resident age 60 or older can receive a full, hot, mid-day meal and also take part in various social programs, including trips, arts and crafts and nutrition education, according to Mary Weaver, coordinator for the Union County Nutrition Program.

The program, under the Division on Aging of the Union County Department of Human Services, has four goals: health maintenance through improved nutrition, fostering social interaction, providing access to other supportive services and satisfying emotional needs, especially for those who eat alone.

"The nutrition sites, open to any county resident 60 or older, or anyone married to a person 60 or older, serve well-balanced meals that include soup or juice, meat, chicken or fish, vegetables, bread and butter, beverage and desert," Weaver said.

They also offer programs and activities which include 'Aging and Family Relationships,' insurance, finances and even birthday parties," Weaver added.

The meals are served Monday to Friday and a two-day reservation should be made. A suggested donation of $1 per person helps to offset the cost of the meal and to expand the program.

"I urge our senior citizens to take advantage of our nutrition sites," said William H. Eldridge, Union County Freeholder and liaison to the Advisory Council on Aging. "The hot, well-balanced meal is worth the trip alone, and the chance to learn, have fun and make friends can brighten many dark days."

There are 19 nutrition sites throughout Union County.

They are Bethel AME Church, Vauxhall; Biertuempfel Senior Center, Union; Fred Erleben Recreation Center, Elizabeth; Farley Towers, Elizabeth; Ford-Leonard Towers, Elizabeth; Golden Age Towers-Elizabeth; Hillside Community Center, Hillside; John

T. Gregorio Center, Linden; J.F. Kennedy Housing, Rahway; Linden-Roselle Community Center, Linden; Peach Orchard Towers, Linden, and Plainfield Tower West, Plainfield.

Seniors aided by programs

The Union County Medical Society in conjunction with the Senior Citizens Council of Union County has introduced its Senior Citizen Medical Courtesy program.

The program is the result of a year long study conducted by a joint committee of medical society members and senior citizens. Co-chairmen of the committee are Evelyn Frank, president of the Senior Citizens Council of Union County, and A. Ralph Kristeller, M.D., Dr. Kristeller is chairman of the Union County Medical Society Senior Citizen Committee as well as the Senior Citizens Committee of the Medical Society of New Jersey.

The purpose of the program is to provide access to private medical care for senior citizens on limited incomes. The physician volunteers have not signed contracts with the Federal Government to accept Medicare assignment on all patients. Instead, these Union County Medical Society members will accept assignment only for seniors in need thus preserving the physicians' ability to extend courtesy to younger patients with limited incomes.

The Senior Citizen Medical Courtesy Program provides eligible seniors with a card and a list of volunteer physicians who have agreed to accept Medicare payment and supplemental insurance if any as payment in full, except for those deductible and co-pays for which the physician is required by law to bill. The aim of the program is to provide access to care for those seniors who might otherwise neglect to seek treatment for financial reasons.

Eligible seniors must be resident of Union County who are at least 65 years old, are enrolled in Medicare Part B and have an income of no more than $13,250 per year if single or $16,250 if married. The seniors must have no more than $35,000 in liquid assets. Applications will be reviewed by the Senior Citizens Council. If circumstances warrant, exceptions to the requirements will be made.

Following approval by the Senior Citizens Council, the Union County Medical Society will contact the senior and discuss his medical needs. A card indicating his participation in the program will be mailed to him with a list of physicians who can fill his needs. At present, there are 135 physician volunteers from the Union County Medical Society representing a wide variety of specialists and primary care givers.

Applications can be obtained by calling the office of the Senior Citizens Council at 964-7555. The Union County Medical Society has appointed staff member Andrea Maniscalco as senior citizen coordinator of the program.

A day-long conference for senior citizens and care providers for the elderly, "The Older Adult and Alcohol," will be held on Oct. 22, from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., in the Alumni Lounge, Kean College, Union, according to Gladys Kearns, director of the Union County Council on Alcoholism, sponsors of the program.

The conference, presented in cooperation with the Union County Division on Aging, the Kean College Department of Community Services and the Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Union County, will focus on recognizing alcoholism, the elderly alcoholic, problems of mixing drugs and alcohol and networking of available resources.

The conference fee is $15, with senior citizens not representing agencies eligible for a 10 percent discount. The fee includes workshop materials and morning coffee and Danish.

For further information call the council at 233-8810.

A food drive will be conducted at the 14th annual Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Union County, recognition luncheon. All RSVP volunteers are asked to attend and bring with them a can of food or a package of dry goods. All food donated will be distributed to local food pantries. The luncheon will be held at Kean College of New Jersey, Downs Hall, Sept. 28, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

"R and R, for Seniors," a recreation and revitalization program for senior citizens, will begin at Union County College in the gym of the Campus Center on Sept. 30 and will continue through Nov. 19.

Classes in line dancing will be held Tuesdays from 11 a.m. to noon, and in Tai-Chai from 11 a.m. to noon on Wednesdays. The program is open to the public. There is no charge and no need to register before the first class.

Line dancing is a fun program of current and standard line dances to popular music. No partner is required. Debbie McCracken, UCC dance and exercise instructor and professional Broadway dancer, who is the owner-director of Yvette Studios in Cranford, will lead the class. She advises participants to wear comfortable clothing and shoes.

Arthur Rose, who studied for six years with Master Cheng Man-Ching in New York City, is the instructor of the ancient Chinese exercise form of slow and quiet movement known as Tai-Chai. He advises that benefits include physical relaxation, increased mental alertness, grace and balance in movement and inner peace of mind. Loose-fitting clothing and flat shoes should be worn for the class.

"R and R" is co-sponsored by the L.I.F.E. Center and the Union County College Student Government Association.

BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

COIN LAUNDRY DRY CLEANING

OPEN

SUPER CLEANERS—Offering customers everything from shoe repair to alterations, Magie Hill Cleaning Center in Union has become a mini mall for clothing needs.

A laundry service that does it all

One of the conveniences of going to a shopping mall is having a variety of stores under one roof to save the time that usually gets eaten up running from place to place.

Ron Feigen had a similar idea in mind when he opened up Magie Hill Cleaning Center. Only this time it was a shopping mall for servicing your clothes.

For just over a year, Magie Hill has provided every conceivable clothing service under one roof. Patrons of the store can wash and dry their laundry, have their suits and fancy dresses dry cleaned, get their shoes repaired and, while they're there, even have their clothes altered.

"I perceived the need for a service, not just a cleaning store and not just a laundramat," Feigen said. "I saw the need to put everything under one roof."

So far, it seems the idea has paid off as Feigen stated business is going well. And one of the reasons behind Magie Hill's success is that, when it comes to clothes, Feigen provides anything you can possibly need.

"We offer self-service washing and drying as well as a valet service, where the customer drops off their laundry and we wash it for them."

He further explained the valet service, while a bit more expensive than doing it yourself, is ideal for customers who work and simply don't have the time to do load after load.

"We do it during the day and they can pick it up at night," Feigen noted. "It's very convenient."

Another reason for the good business is that Magie Hill is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. all week long, and with five employees, there's always an attendant around to help a customer.

As far as machines go, Feigen said he has very few problems when it comes to breakdowns or maintenance because the washers and dryers are reliable and so is the staff.

"All our machines are Maytags," he explained. And if there is a problem the attendants are all trained to fix it."

Feigen added he plans to replace the machines every five to seven years to keep the equipment modern and avoid breakdowns that come from aging parts.

Feigen is no stranger to the clothing business being an former executive in the garment industry and he realized his rather novel idea just might entice a steady patronage.

"It's a relatively unique idea," Feigen stated. "Certainly, there's not much like it in the area. It seemed like a good idea to try and it's working."

And once the word gets around that there's a place where you can get your pants cleaned and altered at the waist all at the same time, people are bound to flock in. Feigen attributes much of his business to reputation and word of mouth.

"We're tucked away on the corner of the block and not very easy to see," Feigen explained. "I'd say a good part of our customers heard about us from regulars."

So, if your shoe heel comes loose while tripping on a step, spilling coffee on your shirt and ripping your pants, all during your lunch break. Ron Feigen may be just the man you want to see.

Magie Hill is located at 1331 Magie Hill Ave., Union, at the intersection of Galloping Hill Road.

Wadkins to play at Baltusrol

Union County golfers will have the opportunity to tee off with one of golf's greats on Monday, Oct. 6, when Lanny Wadkins helps the Professional Insurance Agents of New Jersey raise money to benefit Special Olympics at the PIA New Jersey Classic at Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield.

The tournament, sponsored by American Reliance Insurance Company in Lawrenceville, will give participants a chance to meet and compete against Wadkins, of the top money winners in golf today.

Wadkins will also present a special showcase of golf tips at his "Play-Like-A-Pro" golf clinic.

Check-in for the PIANJ Classic will be at 8:30 a.m., followed by brunch at 10 a.m. and shotgun start at 11:30 a.m. Post tournament festivities will begin at 6 p.m. with cocktails and dinner. Entry fee per person includes a deluxe tee prize package, "Play-Like-A-Pro" clinic, Bloody Mary brunch, greens fees, cart or caddy and cocktails and dinner.

The three-tier tournament will use gross, low net and Calloway format. Prizes will be awarded for the longest drive, closest to the pin and most accurate drive. Grand prizes, including a car, exotic get-away for two and $10,000 in cash, will go to tournament participants that score aces on designated holes.

For further information on the PIANJ Classic Golf Tournament, call 747-6898.

Y slates gymnastics tryouts

The Summit Area YMCA has announced that tryouts for the 1986-87 girls gymnastics team will be held Sunday, Sept. 28 and Oct. 5 from noon to 2 p.m.

The team competes in the Northern New Jersey YMCA Girls Gymnastics League and is open to girls ages 7 to 17. Girls compete in three ages groups — 11 and under, 12 to 14, and 15 and up. A minimum of two years experience in all four areas of apparatus — floor exercise, vault, uneven parallel bars and beam — is required, but any gymnast may try out and receive a free evaluation.

The team is coming off an excellent year with a record of five wins and one loss, and coaches Dave Bostwick and Christy Remy have high hopes of a more successful season this year.

The team practices Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Sunday afternoon, with meets beginning in December and finishing with state championships in April. Anyone interested in trying out should call the YMCA-272-3330 for more information.

See County Leader's special section on '86 high school football teams in this week's paper.

Fishermen get angle on fun

Final preparations have been made for Tri-County Asphalt's first "Family Fishing Day" and tournament to be held at Hopatcong State Park on Sept. 27.

The event is co-sponsored by the New Jersey Anglers Sportsmen's Association and runs from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Family Fishing Day coincides with National Hunting and Fishing Day throughout the nation.

Many different events are planned for the day. The highlight of the morning will be a fishing tournament for children and adults. Gift certificates and savings bonds will be awarded for the three largest bass, trout and pickerel caught in each division.

The fun continues in the afternoon. An "all you can eat" dinner is in store, with a side of beef and two roast pigs prepared barbecue style on a spit as the main course. Hamburgers and hot dogs, corn on the cob, and assorted salads and soft drinks will also be provided to compliment the dinner. Food and beverages are courtesy of Tri-County.

Admission is $5 for adults and free for children under 13. For more information, call John Baer at 663-1800 or Steve Guerriero of the New Jersey Anglers Sportsmen's Association at 398-4110.

Siter leads Owls for 3rd time

In his second year at Union County College, Len Siter of Roselle Park will perform his season with the Owls' golf team for an unprecedented third time.

That's because Region XIX, National Junior College Athletic Association has shifted golf from a Spring to a Fall sport, making Siter eligible for a third season of golf with UCC. His eligibility is significant, since Siter has been the Owls' number one player for two years and has qualified twice for the national championships.

With Siter playing number one and with five other returning sophomores, Coach Bill Dunscombe is optimistic and expects outstanding showing this season.

Returning sophomores along with Siter are Brian Hendry, Guy Korner and Dan Solecki, all of Cranford; Tom Conroy of Westfield, and Chris McEvoy of Roselle Park. The squad also includes sophomore Bob Natkie and freshmen Mike LaBrutto both of Linden, and Enzo Pallitta of Mountainside.

Campus Sports Corner

Cindy Cohen, a 1986 graduate of Union High School, and member of the Farmers' field hockey and softball teams is a member of the East Stroudsburg University field hockey team. The 5-0, 113 pound Cohen is competing for a spot on the squad at both the link and forward positions.

Fred Soos, a recent Brearley High School graduate is currently a candidate for the fullback position on the Albright College football team. Albright, a Reading, Pennsylvania school opens their season this week against Western Maryland University.

David Huff, a 1985 graduate of Union High School is a member of the Susquehanna University football team. The 6-2, 219 pound sophomore is attempting to earn a starting job as a defensive tackle with the Crusaders.

Another local grad who is affiliated with the Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania school is senior Allyson Glembocki. Glembocki is one of three Crusaders' student athletic trainers.

Split end Dan Rubinetti, a Union High School grad caught three passes for 50 yards in the University of Massachusetts' season opener, a 16-14 win over Jamesison University.

2 weight events set for fall

Joe Weider's "Mr. Olympia" will be televised live via closed circuit television at Colonia High School in Colonia on Saturday, Oct. 11 at 5 p.m.

Mr. Olympia, the world's most prestigious bodybuilding contest in the world, will take place in Columbus, Ohio but will be televised by closed circuit television across the country.

Rich Gaspari, an Edison resident, will be competing in the contest and is among the favorites to win the event. Gaspari was Mr. America and Mr. Universe in 1984. Gaspari will also be the guest poster in the upcoming Garden State Bodybuilding Championships on Nov. 8 at Union High School in Union.

Tickets are available for Mr. Olympia at the Fitness Forum located at 973A Stuyvesant Avenue in Union or Fitness Plus located at 547 Inman Avenue in Colonia. All seats are $20.

Colonia High School is located on East Street in Colonia. Additional information is available by calling 688-5252 or 381-0760.

Shooters aim for skeet title

The 45th annual Union County Skeet Championship will be held Sunday, Sept. 28, at noon at the Trap & Skeet Range, Lenape Park, Cranford.

Each shooter entering the tournament will shoot 50 skeet, two 25 bird rounds. There will be a 25-bird shoot off in case of a tie. Prizes will be awarded to the overall champion and the champion and runner-up in four shooting classes.

Registration for the tournament begins at 11:30 a.m. The cost for 50 skeet is $6 plus an additional $3.50 entry fee.

For more information, call 276-0225 on weekends.
