BOE hears report on ninth-grade testing

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 heard a report Tuesday by Dr. Frank Kenny, director of Pupil Personnel Services, regarding Task and Otis-Lennon test scores for Jonathan Dayton and David Brearley regional high schools.

The regional district includes Dayton in Springfield, which serves both Springfield and Mountainside; David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

On Nov. 21, Kenny gave a preliminary report to the board on the Task and Otis-Lennon tests, which are administered annually to ninth-graders at the four district high schools. The tests, given each September, measure students' academic abilities in various categories.

Task measures students' achievement in reading comprehension, reading vocabulary, spelling, English and mathematics. Otis-Lennon is a school ability test which determines students' potential to do academic work.

Dr. Kenny's follow-up presentation on Tuesday offered a break-down of the test scores among Dayton students from elementary and middle schools in Springfield and Mountainside, and among Brearley students from Kenilworth and Garwood.

The test scores compiled in the report, according to Kenny, indicated that each of these local schools was doing "an adequate or better" job in preparing its students for high school level work.

"These tests are given so early in the kids' freshmen year, that it's important to know where these students are coming from and who needs work," added Media Coordinator Tom Long. "There is no evidence to suggest, however, that any one school district isn't doing a good job."

One district goal, Long reports, is to "mainstream" as many students as possible, including those with certain learning disabilities. These test scores allow educators to pinpoint students' academic weaknesses early on, and enable them to help these students to achieve their full potential — including college.

In other news, the district announced and approved its candidates for the annual Governor's Teacher Recognition Program, which each year honors outstanding teachers throughout the state. Teachers are selected for the program by a special panel based on recommendations from administrators, fellow teachers, parents, students and community members.

This year's nominees from the regional district include Ruth Townsend, a physical education, health and driver education teacher at Dayton; Vincent Albano, a science teacher at Brearley; Betty Linaberry, a physical education and driver education teacher at Johnson, and Sandra Dols, a teacher of English and reading at Governor Livingston.

Each of the teachers will receive a certificate of commendation from the governor and are scheduled to participate in the Governor's Convocation on Excellence during the spring. In addition, the regional district will be provided with a $1,000 grant for each of these teachers, which must be used exclusively for educational purposes as designated by the teacher.

A HAPPY FAMILY — Mountainside residents Joseph Percario Jr. and wife, Elizabeth, cuddle their new son, Joseph Anthony Percario III, who was the first borough baby born in 1990. The couple and their son, who was born Jan. 10 in Overlook Hospital in Summit, are the winners of the 1990 Mountainside Diaper Derby, sponsored by the Mountainside Echo and local merchants. The Percarios also have a 14-month-old daughter, Gabriela.

Baby Joseph wins Diaper Derby in Mountainside

By SUZETTE STALKER

Joseph and Elizabeth Percario of Mountainside celebrated the New Year all over again last week when they became the proud parents of Joseph Anthony Percario III, the first baby born to borough parents in 1990.

Little Joey made his grand debut on Wednesday, Jan. 10, at 12:32 p.m. in Overlook Hospital in Summit, becoming the winner of Mountainside's 1990 Diaper Derby, sponsored by the Mountainside Echo and local merchants.

A bouncing boy weighing 8 pounds 1 ounce and measuring 20½ inches, the baby was delivered by cesarean section by Dr. Richard Bodner. He was actually due on Jan. 20, according to his father, but arrived 10 days early.

A $50 savings bond will be opened in the baby's name at United Jersey Bank on Summit Road in Mountainside as the prize for Joseph's being named the winner of this year's contest.

A native of Killen, Tex., Joseph Percario Jr. lived in Linden and Warren before he and his wife, who hails from Elizabeth, moved to Mountainside in July 1988. The couple will be married three years on March 7 and have a 14-month-old daughter, Gabriela.

The Percarios own a three bedroom ranch home on Darby Lane, and deer from nearby woodlands frequently make nocturnal visits to their yard, according to Joseph Percario Jr.

The new baby's bedroom is white with a champagne carpet, and adorned with various Disney characters and a collection of "about 50 or 60 stuffed animals," said the new father.

"It's the greatest thing," exclaimed Percario last Friday, when asked how it felt to become a father again. "My father is going crazy, because he feels now that his family name will go on forever. I'd like to have as many children as possible."

New mother Elizabeth remarked that she feels "very proud and very happy and blessed" about her newborn's arrival.

Big sister Gabriela is "really looking forward to the baby coming home," according to her father. "She's learned how to say 'baby' now. She's 14 months and she goes around the house crying for her mommy. She hasn't learned to say Joey yet, but she knows baby."

Percario owns Joe Percario, Inc., a home improvement business based in Roselle, which was recently awarded a contract to build a deck around the Mountainside Municipal Pool, scheduled to be built later this spring. Elizabeth Percario is a homemaker.

The baby's maternal grandparents, William and Margaret DiIollo of Elizabeth, are the owners of the Armor Roofing Co., a roof contracting firm in Elizabeth. Paternal grandparents are Joseph Sr. and Helen Percario of Warren.

"I love it here," commented the new father about Mountainside, which he says has brought him good luck in a number of ways since he and his wife arrived. "I'm very happy here and I intend to stay around the town."

A GREAT PLACE TO BE — Linda Wyglendowski, center, recreation director for the Union County Association for Retarded Citizens, demonstrates proper use of ski equipment during a cross country ski clinic for the organization, which was held last Saturday in a recently-renovated basement room in the Trailside Science and Nature Center museum in Mountainside. The room was transformed into a bright and airy classroom by area Eagle scouts and other volunteers. ARC member Raymond Payne of Winfield Park, right, gets his skis ready, while Stacey Gravina of Springfield, a friend of the group, looks on.

Scouts enhance Trailside

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside, through the help of some dedicated Eagle Scouts, was recently renovated at no cost to Union County taxpayers. It was a program which not only enhanced the local landmark, but also taught the scouts leadership and responsibility.

The scouts, all of whom belong to Troop 23 in Elizabeth, were awarded their Eagle badges Jan. 7. Eagle Scout is an elite rank which only 1 or 2 percent of scouts nationwide ever achieve, according to scouting officials. One of the Eagle Scout requirements is completion of a major service project.

Eagle scout Gregory DeSalvo, 17, of Roselle and a team of volunteers helped convert an unused upstairs classroom in the Trailside Museum — the oldest natural history museum in New Jersey — into a climate-controlled storage room for approximately 200 species of taxidermed birds.

These species, including hawks and owls, seagulls, sandpipers, herons, egrets, game birds, swans, ducks, geese and several exotic birds, were obtained by Trailside over the years from other museums, including the Museum of Natural History in New York, and from private collectors.

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation last winter had installed florescent lighting, carpeting and air conditioning in the planned storage room, after which Gregory's group sorted through the bird collection, fumigated the birds to prevent damage from parasites, and assembled metal display shelves.

The birds were tagged and arranged on the shelves according to species, reported Trailside Assistant Director Betty Ann Kelly this week. She explained that the birds are used in various museum displays, as well as for school visits, birthday party exhibits, and other nature programs. Kelly added that Trailside is especially seeking more bird species native to the Watchung Reservation area.

"It's so much nicer, all organized and with easy access to the birds," Kelly commented. She added that open storage, coupled by the use of an air filter and a humidifier hooked up to the plumbing system, is better for the bird collection.

A second project was coordinated by Eagle scout Richard Lear, 18, of Union, involving the transformation of what Kelly described as a "dungeon-like" basement room in the museum into a bright, airy classroom complete with a kitchenette, closets, and tile floors.

The room is now used for adult arts and crafts program, children's summer events, nature clubs and school and scout group meetings. Last Saturday, it was utilized by the Union County Association for Retarded Citizens' cross country ski clinic, one of the many area activities held at Trailside.

New Eagle Scout Brian Farrar, 19, of Watchung, acquired more than $1,000 worth of lumber and with his team of volunteers constructed wooden gates to be used as barriers to bridge paths along the Watchung Reservation, which prevents joyriding by motorists.

Fellow Eagle Jim Byrne, 18, of Union and his volunteers revised a map of the 2,000-acre Watchung Reservation, originally completed in 1981. The scout's map reflects new trails, relocated stables other structures which have been added since the initial map was made.

Principal awaits challenge

By RAY BOGUSZ

The new principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Judith Wickline, reports that she is looking forward to the challenges awaiting her at the Springfield school once she assumes her duties on March 1.

Judith Wickline, a San Francisco native, served in administrative positions in three different schools before coming to Jonathan Dayton.

"I've always enjoyed working with kids," said Wickline in an interview last week. "Prior to beginning my teaching career, I'd participated in swimming and ballet."

"They're so honest, full of vitality and fun to be with that I knew my career would have to involve working with them," the educator remarked about her rapport with her students over the years.

Wickline earned her bachelor's degree in English Education from Michigan State University in 1970 and a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Eastern Michigan University in 1975.

She taught for 5½ years at Grand Blanc High School in Grand Blanc, Michigan, before being named deputy principal. After moving to New Jersey, she was named vice principal at Sparta High School and later to an assistant principal's post at Parsippany High School.

As the move to Jonathan Dayton is her third move to a new school system, Wickline foresees no transition problems. She has met at length with the outgoing principal, Anne Romano, as well as many of the administrative officers at Dayton, to help facilitate the transition.

On Feb. 14, Wickline will meet with the teachers of the school to further familiarize herself with her duties.

She foresees no problems whatsoever. "They've had the same principal for 13 years at Dayton," she explained. "Things are extremely stable and organized, and that will be a big help."

This is not to say that she has no ideas for new programs at the school. She explains that she hopes to install programs to involve the community in educational and extracurricular activities.

While at Grand Blanc, Wickline introduced a program called the "50-50 club." This novel community involvement plan led to the recruitment of 10 interested parents from the school district to assist in student-oriented activities.

Each parent in turn was to find five more local people to assist, expanding the size of the organization. Club members brought their various talents to bear assisting students, from managing tutoring programs to counseling and discussing aspects of the business environments.

"It was enormously successful," Wickline commented. "The seniors of the community were the most helpful. I find them generally to be a vast, untapped resource."

The program, which she hopes to bring to Jonathan Dayton, brought the community into the process of educating students, which she holds is as important for the citizens as the students they assist.

New courses for the spring semester include "Introduction to Gerontology" and "History of Modern Philosophy."

Courses to be offered are "Plants and People," a biology course at 1 p.m. on Thursdays at the Biertuempfel Senior Center, Union; "Principles of Economics I," two sections, offered at 10 a.m. on Mondays at the New Providence Senior Citizen Center, and at 1 p.m. on Mondays at Clark Senior Center.

"Introduction to Shakespeare," will be offered at 10 a.m. on Thursdays, Feb. 1 through May 17, at the Community Presbyterian Church in Mountainside.

Also, "Literature of the Jewish Experience," will be offered at 1 p.m. on Thursdays at the YM-YWHA, Union; "English for Hispanic Seniors," will be offered at 1:30 p.m. on Mondays at Farley Towers, Elizabeth; "English for Russian Seniors," will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays at the O'Donnell-Dempsey Center, Elizabeth, and "Music History," will be held at 1 p.m. on Tuesdays at the Biertuempfel Senior Center.

Also, "Painting I," will be offered at 10 a.m. on Mondays, at the Cranford Community Center, "History of Fine Arts II," will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesdays at the John T. Gregorio Center, Linden, and "History of Architecture II," will be offered at 1 p.m. on Wednesdays at the Biertuempfel Senior Center.

"History of Western Civilization II," three sections, will be offered at 10 a.m. on Mondays at the East Branch Library, Linden, on 1 p.m. on Tuesdays at the William J. Buie Center in Hillside, and 1 p.m. on Fridays at the Summit YWCA.

Also, "History of the Middle East," two sections, will be held at 10 a.m. on Thursdays at the Jewish Community Center, Scotch Plains, and 10 a.m. on Fridays at the Congregation Adath Jeshurun in Elizabeth, for the first month, followed by Workman's Circle, Elizabeth.

In addition, "Introduction to Gerontology," will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays at the Summit Housing Center; "History of Modern Philosophy," at 1 p.m. will be held on Tuesdays at Temple Shalom in Plainfield, and "Psychology of Personality," two sections, will be held at 10 a.m. on Mondays at the Gregorio Center, and 10 a.m. on Tuesdays at the Buie Center.

"Small Group Life," will be held at 10 a.m. on Thursdays at the Cranford Community Center; "Psychology of Later Years," will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesdays at the O'Donnell-Dempsey Center, and "Beginning Spanish II," will be held at 1 p.m. on Wednesdays at the Clark Senior Center.

The LIFE Center also will sponsor a line-dancing class in cooperation with the Student Government Association from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. on Fridays, March 2 through April 27, at Yvette Dance Studios on Walnut Avenue in Cranford. This class is free of charge.

Retirees to convene

The Mountainside Active Retirees will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 a.m. at Borough Hall. Guest speaker will be John D. Jacobson, a noted etymologist and chairman and chief executive officer of Jacobson and Co., a specialty ceiling contracting firm based in Elizabeth.

co-author of "Word Sleuths," a syndicated column that appears in local newspapers. It is based on their knowledge in etymology, which is the study of the history or derivation of words.

For information one can call 232-2343.

DIAL-A-FRIEND — Little Sonja, center, a patient at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, makes the first call on the new AT&T Phone Pal, which allows hospital patients and their families to telephone throughout the country at no cost. The large teddy-bear phone, with easy-to-read block numbers, was installed by AT&T at the pediatric rehab hospital in December. Children's Specialized is one of 20 children's hospitals nationwide to participate in the program. Looking on, from left, are Sonja's mother, Joyce; Lynn Newman of AT&T in Basking Ridge, and Warren West of Fanwood, the hospital's vice president for Administrative Services.

Clarification

An article in last week's issue of the Mountainside Echo, titled "Hospital calls traffic, real estate experts," quoted real estate appraiser Robert Heffernan as stating that houses near Children's Specialized Hospital had depreciated at the same rate as houses in other parts of Mountainside.

Heffernan actually stated that the houses near the hospital had appreciated at the same rate as other houses during the years 1979-1986, for which Heffernan's firm had conducted a study late last year. He had noted, however, that there has been a statewide depreciation in property values since 1986.

New officers named

The Mountainside Rescue Squad installed its new officers for 1990 during its annual holiday party held recently at September's on the Hill in Waichung.

The squad's operational officers are Captain Steven Susman, Deputy Captain Michael Stickler, First Lieutenant David Munch and Second Lieutenant Erin Clabby.

Administrative officers are President Connie Farr, Vice President Frank Catena, Recording Secretary Anne Marie Hilse, Corresponding Secretary Ruth Keuler, Treasurer William Van Blarcom, Board Member-at-Large Nancy Bieber and Chaplain John Keuler.

Also installed as delegates to the New Jersey State First Aid Council were Ruth and John Keuler and Connie Farr.

The new officers were given the oath of office by Mountainside's Mayor Robert Vigilanti, an honorary member and past captain of the squad. The officers assumed their duties on Jan. 1.

In 1989, the squad responded to 459 calls. Of these, 302 were emergencies, 48 non-emergency transportations, 76 motor vehicle accidents, three fire stand-bys, three maternity, and 27 miscellaneous calls.

Among these calls, there were 135 industrial calls and 48 calls for mutual aid to other towns. Additionally, paramedic assistance was requested by the squad on 176 of its calls.

The Mountainside Rescue Squad anticipates an equally busy year in 1990, and is actively seeking new members. Anyone interested in joining can call 233-6338.

Bill benefits employees

Legislation requiring employers to provide leave to workers with serious family medical problems is on Governor Thomas Kean's desk after being approved recently in both houses of the state Legislature.

Sponsored by State Sen. Donald DiFrancesco, R-22, the legislation gained final legislative approval in the state Senate recently with a 25-3 vote.

DiFrancesco's district includes Mountainside.

The "Family Leave Act" would require employers to grant up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave to workers with pressing family problems. According to the sponsor, it is the product of hard work and cooperation between labor activists and business leaders.

DiFrancesco said that under the measure, employees with newborn or seriously ill children, or whose spouse or parents are extremely sick, would be able to take leave with a guarantee of full reinstatement upon their return.

"People should have the right to fully dedicate themselves to their families in times of crisis. The 'Family Leave Act' calls on employers to recognize that right, and to set aside the business-as-usual attitude when one of their own is faced with unusually trying circumstances," said DiFrancesco.

Families sought for exchange students

American Scandinavian Student Exchange programs (ASSE) is seeking local families to host Scandinavian, French, Spanish, German, Dutch, British, Swiss, Japanese and Australian girls and boys, 15 to 18 years of age, who will be coming to this area for the upcoming high school year.

These personable and academically-select foreign exchange students are bright, curious and anxious to learn about this country through living as part of a family, attending high school and sharing their own culture and language with their newly-adopted American family, according to ASSE.

The local contact for ASSE is Eileen Voorhees of Kenilworth.

The students are fluent in English and are sponsored by ASSE, a non-profit, public benefit organization, affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education and cooperating with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education.

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins in late August and return at the end of the school year in June. Each ASSE student is fully insured, brings his or her own personal spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyle.

The students are well-screened and qualified by ASSE. Families may select the youngster of their choice from extensive student applications, family photos and biographical essays. Students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the students arrival.

ASSE is also seeking local high school students to become ASSE exchange students abroad.

The local students should be between 15 and 18 years old and interested in living with a European, Canadian or Australian family, attending school and learning about the lands and people of Scandinavia, France, Spain, Germany, Holland, Britain, Switzerland, Canada and Australia.

They should have a good academic record and a desire to experience another culture and language through living with a warm and giving volunteer family.

Academic year and shorter-term summer vacation programs are available.

Persons interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family or becoming a student abroad should contact Eileen Voorhees of Coolidge Drive, Kenilworth, by calling 276-7514. They may also call 1-800-333-3802.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS — Kathy McCabe, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, awaits a response to her question during a recent Union County Regional High School District Student/Board of Education Press Conference held at Dayton. Dayton enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside. The regional district includes Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth.

Candidates urged to file BOE petitions

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District No. 1 reminds residents that the deadline for filing a nominating petition to run for a seat on the Regional Board of Education is Thursday, Feb. 8.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Three seats on the nine-member regional board, one each from the communities of Kenilworth, Clark and Berkeley Heights, will be contested on School Election Day, Tuesday, April 3.

Each of the candidates elected on that day will be chosen for a full, three-year term. To be eligible to run for the Regional Board of Education, interested individuals must obtain a nominating petition in the office of Board Secretary Harold Burdge at Jonathan Dayton, located on Mountain Avenue in Springfield, on any school day between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The completed nominating petition must then be returned to the board secretary's office by 4 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 8.

For more information, one can call 376-6300, extension 328.

Volunteers are needed

Applicants are needed for a 10-week hospice volunteer training course at Overlook Hospital in Summit. Scheduled to begin in February, classes will be held on Tuesdays from 9:15 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.

The Overlook Hospital Hospice Program is open to men and women who are interested in volunteering their time to the hospice program.

Conducted by the hospice staff, trained volunteers provide a variety of supportive services to the terminally ill and their families, such as companionship, shopping or light chores.

There is also a need for a variety of office services.

The goal of hospice is to provide care which focuses on the quality of life such as comfort, dignity and support during the final days of life.

Care is provided by a team of highly-trained professionals of which the volunteer plays an integral and important role.

Those interested in registering for the classes should call the Overlook hospice office at 522-8040 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. before Friday, Jan. 26.

Area groups donate gifts to patients

The John E. Rummells Hospital of Union County recently held its annual Christmas Gift Distribution for patients at the facility. "This event is sponsored by the Rummells Hospital Volunteers Guild and the New Providence-Berkeley Heights Lions Club," Union County Freeholder Walter Boright, liaison to the hospital Board of Managers, said. "These wonderful, caring people have been bringing cheer to our patients for the last 35 years, and we owe them a debt of gratitude," Boright said. The gifts were contributed by the following groups: Rummells Hospital Volunteers Guild; New Providence-Berkeley Heights Lions Club; AGS Information Services, Mountainside; Burgdorff Realtors, Murray Hill and Summit offices; Gardenaires, Westfield; Mountainside Garden Club; Cherry Dale Garden Club, South Plainfield, and the Women's Clubs of Fanwood, Scotch Plains, and Berkeley Heights.

at the library

A Time magazine article dated Jan. 15, reports on the changing role of public libraries in communities all across the country. Some libraries lend ladders and household tools, while others provide software, computers and even fax services.

The Springfield Public Library maintains a large collection of framed art prints which can be taken out for eight weeks at no charge. Polaroid cameras go out for 14 days and cassette players for 28 days also at no charge.

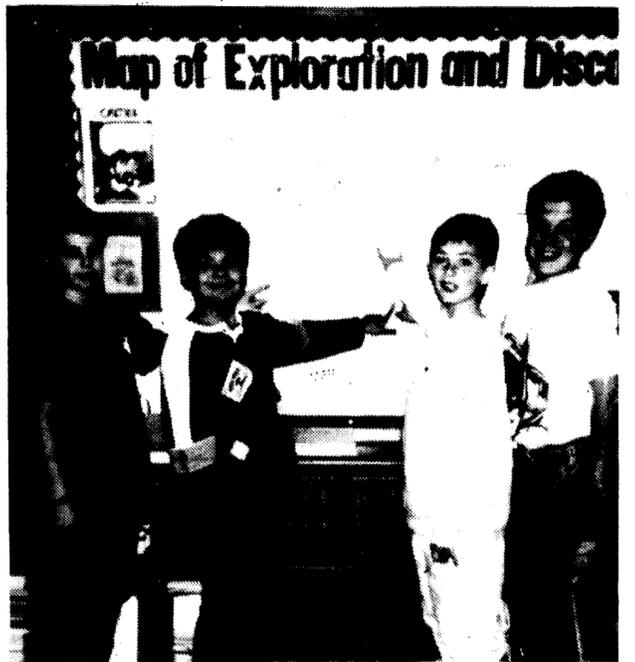

In addition, the library has available for borrowing a Big Eye magnifying lamp for the sight-impaired.

Books on Tape, records, language tapes and a changing video rental collection are also available.

In addition, the library keeps puzzles, road maps, street maps of local and major cities, telephone books from around the state and country and a large collection of pamphlets and newspaper clippings.

Browsers will find mail order catalogs, reduced price theater tickets, bus schedules, adult school brochures, tax forms and a coupon exchange.

Library users may also borrow free video tapes and obtain free data base searches from LINX, the Union-Middlesex Regional Library Cooperative of which Springfield is a member.

Nurse gets scholarship

Scholarships have been awarded to 11 nursing professionals at Overlook Hospital in Summit, Martha Kiff, RN, MA, Nursing Quality Assurance Coordinator, has announced.

Tracey Apgar of Springfield, a staff L.P.N. on the surgical unit, is one of the recipients. She is studying at Felician College for an associate degree in nursing.

The nursing and Allied Health Professional Scholarships are funded through contributions by the Overlook Auxiliary and the Adele M. Lynch Nursing Scholarships.

Cholesterol course set

A six-session program titled "Eater's Choice" and sponsored by Overlook Hospital in Summit will begin on Thursday, Jan. 25, at 10 a.m. The series will focus on cholesterol.

More than half of all adult Americans have cholesterol levels above 200 mg. "Eater's Choice" will help participants sort out all the information on cholesterol.

Individuals who attend will learn to control their diet, develop a personalized limit for saturated fat, test low fat snacks in class, order from restaurants, and more.

For further information, one can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963.

Nutrition program noted

Overlook Hospital in Summit reports that millions of Americans diet and gain the weight back. Health officials maintain that Americans have become a nation of "yo-yo" dieters, with their weight cycling down-up and up again, leading to frustration and health risk.

New evidence shows that repeated "yo-yo" dieting may also increase risk of heart disease.

Art classes to be offered

The New Jersey Chapter for Visual Arts is preparing for a new session of classes to begin on Jan. 22. The center offers courses in a wide variety of media such as drawing, painting, photography, jewelry, ceramics, sculpture, and graphic art.

Children, teens, and adults at beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels will find an outlet for their creativity and imagination at the center.

In addition to the established courses, many new classes are being offered. The History of Photography, taught by Margaret Lunn, for example, will provide a survey of the development of photography as an art form from 1839 to the present.

Although the lectures will emphasize photography as art, documentary, photojournalism, and photography's influence on painting will also be considered.

Another new art history course, Frescoes of the Italian Renaissance, will explore the Renaissance culture and analyze Italian frescoes of the 14th, 15th, and 16th centuries. Taught by Ann Williams, NJCVA's executive director, this class will meet for four weeks on Tuesday evenings.

For drawing enthusiasts at all levels, a new Techniques of Drawing class on Thursday evenings is being offered. Students will investigate proportion, perspective, light, and composition in charcoal, pencil, and pen and ink washes.

The beginning and intermediate Color Photography classes will be instructed by Nancy Ori, who is the Media Specialist at Ciba Geigy Corporation. Ori will show the students how to produce Cibachrome prints from slides with a CAP 40 color print processor which is the latest in color darkroom technology.

A new sculpture course will be held on Tuesday evenings and will be taught by Gary McGowan. McGowan, who worked at Johnson Atelier as a bronze caster, is currently a conservator of archaeological objects as well as an artist. This course, open to students at all levels, will explore the structural and expressive qualities of stone or clay sculpture. Instruction in form, composition, and development of personal images will be provided. For those interested in graphic design, the new course Graphic Design Essentials, taught by Kathie Mukaida, will cover principles and technical aspects such as mechanicals, rubylith, overlays, and the use of a stat camera in practical design production.

Kathie Mukaida is the owner of Mukaida Design, a firm that serves such clients such as Columbia Pictures, Crossroads Theater, and Warner Brothers. No experience is necessary to participate in this class, held on Monday evenings.

Also of special interest, and part of the 1990 Photography Symposium at the center, is the Whitney Biennial Film Exhibition. This selection of short and feature-length films in narrative, documentary, and animation genres provide a look at perhaps the most important films produced in the last two years.

Viewers may sign up for the six week, series which begins on Feb. 22, or they may attend on a single viewing basis.

Walk-in registration for these new and established courses at the center will be held today, Jan. 18, through Saturday, Jan. 20, at NJCVA, located on Elm Street in Summit. For more information, one can call 273-9121.

Census takers are needed

This year's census in New Jersey could result in an undercounting of the population unless thousands of census takers are hired in the next few months, according to Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, R-7.

Undercounting this area's population, Rinaldo said, would result in smaller allocations of federal funds for the homeless, transportation, the fight against drugs, environmental protection, and a range of social services over the next decade. Many federal grant programs are based on population formulas.

Following a meeting with U.S. Census officials, Rinaldo said the local offices need 500 census takers in his 7th Congressional district alone.

The district includes Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

"The most serious problem the Census Bureau faces is prosperity. With so many people now working and with a low level of unemployment, it is more difficult to attract census personnel for the temporary positions," Rinaldo said.

The jobs last from two weeks to two months, with a pay scale ranging from $6.75 to $9.50 per hour, he said.

Rinaldo said an employment promotion campaign by the Census Bureau will reach out to students, homemakers, retired people, teenagers, and the unemployed.

Test sites have been established at State Employment Service offices at 208 Commerce St., Elizabeth, and 525 Madison Ave., Plainfield, and at the Cranford Public Library, 224 Walnut St., Cranford.

The Census Bureau's main office in the 7th Congressional District is at 240 Sheffield St., Mountainside. It is open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old. However, persons as young as 16 may be hired if they meet certain conditions.

Most jobs require early evening or weekend work.

Applicants are not required to have any prior experience. The jobs include enumerators, crew leaders, clerical personnel, stock and supply assistants, data transcribers, supervisory office clerks, and workers to visit hotels, hospitals, colleges, nursing homes, and other special places to collect information.

Each applicant for the Census Bureau jobs must take a written 30-minute test on reading, clerical, math, evaluations and organizational skills.

Rinaldo said the Census Bureau plans on having hundreds of census workers available after the questionnaires are mailed out on March 15.

Thaxter story has brimful of remembrances

By BEA SMITH

When an actress can speak casually of a friendship with former president of the United States Ronald Reagan, an embarrassing love scene with Gary Cooper, luncheon dates with Spencer Tracy, complimentary letters from Barbara Stanwyck, a lifetime association with Van Johnson, and a walk down the marital aisle with Sydney Greenstreet as escort, one has to sit back in admiration.

And when that actress beamed at a reporter with laughing eyes and a familiar smile during a recent luncheon in Millburn, it evoked great emotional nostalgia...and memories of a similar newspaper interview which took place more than 30 years ago.

"Oh," says veteran actress Phyllis Thaxter, "that must have been when I left Hollywood for New York to do the first live General Electric play on television."

Thaxter, who was nicknamed "Sparkle Plenty" by Cooper, is starring at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn in "The Cocktail Hour." She is known and loved by movie buffs for her many motion pictures for MGM and Warner Bros. and for her co-starring performances with many of the legendary men in Hollywood. The younger generation would probably remember her as Clark Kent's foster mother in "Superman," the Christopher Reeve movie from about 10 years ago.

Even though Thaxter has had a varied career in the past 50 years in the theater, movies and television, she really hasn't changed all that much. Oh, she's matured. But when one looks deeply into her marvelous face, the few wrinkles seem to magically disappear, and one uncovers the twinkling merry eyes and the wide grin of the girl who played Van Johnson's pretty little bride in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo."

"I was playing the title role of 'Claudia' in New York, which I had acquired after Dorothy McGuire left the show, when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer called me to Hollywood," she says. Thaxter had originally made stage debut with Laurette Taylor at the Ogunquit Playhouse in her home state of Maine. She made her Broadway debut in George Abbott's production of "What a Life," with Eddie Bracken, followed by two years with her "beloved Lunts" in "There Shall Be No Night."

"I was nervous about testing for my first film," says Thaxter, "even though I was brought up with theater people. My mother, Phyllis Schuyler, was an actress. She was beautiful — just gorgeous! Among her appearances was a role in Booth Tarkington's 'Magnolia.' There always were a lot of theater people around when I was growing up.

My father, Sidney St. F. Thaxter, was a judge on the Supreme Court in Maine.

"I have two lovely children, Skye Aubrey, an actress, who was on Broadway in 'Cactus Flower,' and a son, James Aubrey, who lives in Brazil. And I wouldn't have had them if I hadn't gone to Hollywood at that time and met my first husband, James Aubrey. I met him when he was on leave in the war. We were married in 1944 and the marriage lasted for 17 years.

"Do you know that Sydney Greenstreet gave me away. It was during the war and my parents couldn't come out to Hollywood, and Sydney said he was delighted to give me away."

Thaxter is now married to Gilbert Lea and has three stepchildren. "We're about to have our 12th grandchild," she says proudly.

"I remember that Robert Young wanted to do 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo.' Sam Zimbalist was the producer, and Mervyn LeRoy the director...a wonderful man, who would be 90 today. Fred Zinneman did my test with Richard Carlson.

"Eventually, I got the part and so did Van Johnson. I loved that man then and I adore him now. We're still very, very good friends. When I had my first child, Skye, he came to the hospital in Evanston and brought me some flowers.

"In fact," she smiles, "Van named his own daughter Schuyler."

The following year, Thaxter appeared in "Bewitched," in which she played a dual personality. "It's not my favorite movie," she admits. "But it's a movie that movie buffs seem to like."

In 1947, she made a film called "Sea of Grass" with Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn and Robert Walker.

"Tracy?" she sighs. "I think he was my favorite. He was so wonderful. I did two films with him. The other was 'Weekend at the Waldorf,' and that was also with Van. Spencer was one of the finest actors I ever worked with," says Thaxter. "He would come on the set in the morning to do his job, and boy, he did it! He was magnificent. There was no nonsense about it. He was liked and respected on the set. He used to ask me to go out to lunch with him and with his brother."

And Hepburn?

"I didn't know Katharine that well, but I liked and respected her tremendously."

And speaking of being "respected on the set," one of the most respected, says Thaxter, "was Barbara Stanwyck. I had a small part in her film, 'No Man of Her Own.' I learned from this lady. She always handled herself so well, and she got along with everyone. I remember years later, when I did an Alfred Hitchcock film on television called 'Never Again,' I played an alcoholic. And she wrote me a letter and said she would never forget my performance — and my scream! And Hitchcock never did one of his funny things on this film. He was very serious, and at the end of the show, he said, 'I hope this helps someone somewhere.'"

During her years at MGM, people began comparing her "girl next door" face to the "girl next door" face of June Allyson. "We were in a car one day going to some benefit," Thaxter recalls. "June and I looked at each other, and she said, 'We do look alike, don't we?' And I replied, 'I think we do.'"

After the young actress left MGM, she waited to hear from her agent about joining Warner Bros. "I hadn't worked in six months after I left Metro, and I began to wonder, will I get another job? Then they sent me to Warners, and the director, Michael Curtiz, a foreigner, who did all American films, handed me the script of 'The Breaking Point.' He said, 'Read the script. Now, I'd like you to do this test for me.' On the set was John Garfield, who did the test with me. On my way home, I passed a little church. I went in and I prayed, 'I want this part.'"

"This was the true story of Hemingway's 'To Have and Have Not,' which was later done by Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall. Well, I didn't hear anything from anyone, and a week went by, and finally my agent called and said, 'You got the part.' I was back on my knees with my hands clasped," she grinned.

Curtiz directed another of her films, "Jim Thorpe — All American" with Burt Lancaster. "Burt and I had a very pleasant association," Thaxter recalls. She also remembers that the same year, she did "Springfield Rifle," with Gary Cooper.

"I loved Gary Cooper," she says. "Our first meeting was on the set. We were supposed to be married, and I was supposed to come out to his camp to be with him, and we had this long embrace and kiss. The director said he wanted to wait to see how long this could go on. By the end of that scene, I was absolutely beet red. Gary nicknamed me 'Sparkle Plenty.'"

At that time, Thaxter says, she was pregnant with her son.

"I had polio when I had my son. That was in 1952 when there was a terrible epidemic. I was terribly fortunate. It was non-paralytic. I had therapy, and I had a very healthy son. You know," she sighs, "my legs still bother me sometimes."

In 1951, Thaxter played opposite

BUT THE COCKTAIL HOUR IS OVER — Phyllis Thaxter is trying to tell Ronald Reagan something in the 1952 musical film, 'She's Working Her Way Through College.' The two stars became good friends during the making of the film.

IT'S 'THE COCKTAIL HOUR' indicates Monica Merryman to Phyllis Thaxter 37 years later in a scene from the A. R. Gurney play at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, now through Feb. 4. Merryman plays Thaxter's daughter.

James Cagney in "Come Fill the Cup," and she recalls that "James tried to teach me the two-step." She laughs. "I still can't do it. What a nice man he was. The studio was going to take Gig Young off the picture, but Cagney said 'No!' He also got me to stop smoking."

Thaxter did her first musical film, "She's Working Her Way Through College," with Ronald Reagan.

"Ronnie," she sighs with fond reminiscence. "Of course, I knew him after Jane and before he married Nancy. We had a nice friendship. Ronnie helped me on the set during a tense situation, and we became friends afterward. What happened was that the director, Lucky Humbestone, kept bugging me about a scene. Ronnie was off the set. I was on the telephone, and the director didn't like what I was doing. He kept on bugging me, and Ronnie whispered to someone, 'God, I hope she doesn't throw the telephone at him.' And that's exactly what I did. I threw the telephone at him. It wasn't attached. Ronnie came up and walked me off the set and on the Warner lot for about three quarters of an hour. He told me a lot of things about how he felt about life and the government. I think he's a man of great integrity. I may not have agreed with him on his politics," Thaxter muses, "but anyway I liked him."

"Then I did the first GE Theater, and he was its spokesman. He introduced it on television. Actually, Gene Tierney was supposed to do it, but she became ill, and my agent called me. I had such a short rehearsal. The play was 'The Doll's House,' and I played Nora."

Thaxter says, "I was happier at Warners, and I've always loved doing movies, but the one part I didn't want to play was Superman's mother. That was about 10 years ago. However," she laughs, "my daughter, who is married to Ilya Salkini, producer of 'Superman,' told her husband that she wanted her mother to play the part. So between her, her husband, and my highly respected agent, Stark Hessel-tine — he's dead now — I took the job. I tell you, I never worked so hard in all my life. I worked with Glenn Ford for about 10 minutes in the film, and I said to myself, 'I've got to be good!'"

The versatile actress admits that "I also like television and theater very much. I think they're very much alike...that is, when one does live TV. I wish I had gone back to learn more about my profession at that stage of my life before movies.

"I've always loved the theater. It just lifts you up."

Thaxter recently toured with "The Gin Game" and "Foxfire." And she recalls working with the late Frank Carrington, executive producer of the Paper Mill back in 1966 in "The Women." "What a lovely man he was. I think I was very fortunate to work with him. When I worked here before — and that was before the fire and the renovations, the stage was long and box-shaped. I remember Ethel Mer-man standing at the end of the hall at the end of a performance of mine and saying, 'Good show!'"

"The Paper Mill is a magnificent theater...one of the best theaters in the country. The acoustics are very good. And the art gallery is just fantastic. The other day, I went up to the gallery to see the exhibitions, and I was fascinated."

"I didn't think I was going to do this play, 'The Cocktail Hour,' but Angelo Del Rossi called my agent to see if I was available. I didn't want to leave my husband for any extended period of time."

Thaxter's husband, Gilbert Lea, "was a very famous football player," she says proudly. "My husband went to Princeton, Class of '36. He was an end on the Princeton Varsity Team. He was quite well-known at the time. I adore my husband. We have a wonderful relationship."

"Then I read the script again, and he said, 'It's up to you.' And I agreed to it. And I'm very happy I did it. It's been a wonderful experience."

"Angelo is the best-looking man I've ever seen — so handsome. And the director, John-Going, is just great. It's just a thrill working with him. When we rehearsed the play, I was beginning to feel it. And everybody works so hard."

"I love drinking all that ice water on stage. It's just what I wanted, and what my doctor wanted for me. She said drink eight glasses of water a day. When I do a matinee and evening performance, I think I drink more than that," she laughs. "Good thing I have good kidneys!"

Thaxter will tour briefly with the play, but after the tour, she says, "I'm not sure that this will not be my last play. I want to spend my remaining years with my wonderful husband. We spend the winters in Vero Beach, Fla., and the summers in Maine."

"I've had a nice career, and I'm grateful for that," she smiles her famous Thaxter smile. "I've had a good life, too. But now I want the time now to enjoy my husband, my children and my growing family of grandchildren."

Events planned

The GFWC Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, recently received an award certificate from the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution for participating in its "Bells Across America" project from Warren E. Burger, chairman.

On the state-wide project of "Farmland Preservation Quilt" in November, two members of the club submitted two quilting blocks to be added in the quilt. This quilt will be dedicated early this year and will be hung in the Agriculture Museum on the Cook College campus, New Brunswick, it was announced.

It also was reported that "people, 6 years of age up to 91 have sewed for it, and it is now a 240 quilted block quilt 30 to 40 feet and roughly the size of 17 queen sized quilts." Mrs. John Mihalker and Mrs. Vincent Geloso were complimented "on their work on behalf of our club."

Four members of the GFWC Connecticut Farms Women's Club have been active in community affairs. They are Mrs. Philip Ritter and Mrs. Homer Dukes, who participated in the signing of the proclamation for Family Week Nationwide with Union's Mayor Anthony Russo in November. Mrs. Joseph Cantalupo on the Union Public Library Board and Mrs. Robert D'Arecca, who was honored by Schlott Realtor's Westfield Office as "top sales associate of the month with $6.5 million sales volume for 1989." Others in the organization have key positions in business, schools and churches.

The social service departments of the club completed the projects of "Giving" by collecting food and money and giving two food baskets to needy families.

Twenty-two Teddy bears and other stuffed toys which were collected by the GFWC Springfield Woman's Club and the GFWC Connecticut Farms Woman's Club were given to the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

The club meets on the second Thursday of each month at the American Legion Hall, Union, at 8 p.m. More information can be obtained by calling 686-3465.

B'NAI B'RITH WOMEN of Union will hold its annual breakfast meeting Sunday at 10 a.m. at Sumner Gardens, 35 Sumner Ave., Union.

Muriel Periman, program chairman, has announced that a new video, "The Rise & Fall of the Borscht Belt," will be shown.

Cold set record in December

Union County survived a record cold December, as temperatures dipped to a monthly average of 24.20 degrees, according to meteorologists at Union County College in Cranford.

The month's cold spell broke a record set in 1976. The 24.20-degree average was more than 10 degrees below normal, and was climaxed on Dec. 22 with a reading of only 3 degrees. The monthly high temperature was 50 degrees, recorded on Dec. 6. The previous low monthly mean for December was 28.75 degrees, set in 1976.

Accompanying the cold temperatures was a record-breaking reading on degree days, with 2,267 degree days measured since Sept. 1. At the same time last year, 2,043.5 degree days had been accumulated, and December 1989's three-month accumulation represents the highest total since 1977, when 2,403.5 degree days were recorded.

During December alone this winter, 1,264.7 degree days were recorded.

Another unusual aspect to this December's weather picture was a record set for the lowest monthly precipitation on record, with only .60 inches of rain falling, in contrast to the record-breaking rains that plagued the area during the bulk of 1989.

The December reading was more than three inches below the monthly average.

Only four days during December recorded any precipitation, with Dec. 31 accounting for three-quarters of the low rainfall alone.

This dryness also was evident in the snowfall measurement. Only half an inch of snow fell during December, more than four inches below normal for that time of year.

The previous precipitation low was set in 1980, when only .74 inches hit Union County in the form of rain and/or snow.

College seeking nominees for president

The Union County College Presidential Search Committee has announced it is seeking applications and nominations of people to serve as president of the college.

Nominees, the committee said, must show evidence of "academic leadership, strong, administrative and fiscal experience, ability to manage change, public relations experience, and demonstrated collective bargaining experience."

"The successful candidate," Frank

A. Bolden, chairman of the Presidential Search Committee, said, "must possess outstanding leadership skills, an impeccable history of personal integrity, and the management and creative talents required to lead the college into the 21st century. In addition, an earned doctorate or demonstrated intellectual achievement is essential."

Bolden said the goal is for the new president of Union County College to assume office on or about July 1.

Roy Smith, vice president for development, planning and public affairs, has been serving as acting president since last March 15, when Derek N. Nunney, Ph. D., went on leave.

Nunney resigned as of last July 1, following allegations of financial mismanagement and votes of no confidence in his leadership by the college's faculty and student governments.

The committee said that applications and nominations should be sent to Bolden in care of the Presidential Search Committee, Union County College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford 07016.

Bolden pointed out that the president serves as chief executive officer of the college and reports directly to the Board of Trustees and Board of Governors.

Union County College is Union County's public, comprehensive community college serving about 9,000 students on campuses in Cranford, Elizabeth and Scotch Plains and an extension center in Plainfield. It offers 60 transfer and career programs leading to a degree, certificate or diploma.

Westfield Sale Days kick off today

By DAVE WISE

Many Westfield retail shops will be enticing customers with banners advertising huge discounts as part of the town's annual Westfield Sale Days promotion, which starts today and ends Saturday.

The sale, sponsored by the Westfield Chamber of Commerce, has been around for a long time, according to Joe Specter, owner of The Leader Store, 109 East Broad St., one of the shops participating in the sale.

"It goes back to at least the 1950s," said Specter. "It's a traditional winter sale."

For more than three decades, Westfield merchants have organized to form this mid-winter sale, and it has been growing in popularity each year.

"Thirty-five to 40 stores are involved," Specter said, "all the leading stores in Westfield."

This year, individual store owners may be offering even greater incentives to customers, because retail activity slumped during 1989.

"A lot of (retailers) are anxious to lower their inventory due to the poor retailing year," acknowledged Specter. "It was a poor retailing year in general, but the Christmas holiday was excellent, mainly because of the cold weather."

Specter explained that the cold weather naturally makes people buy heavier and thus more costly clothing items, like coats and sweaters, rather than lighter and cheaper clothes like neckties and belts.

Specter, moreover, isn't simply a retailer; he's a retailer with a message. And that message is that for businesses to survive, they cannot simply promise good prices; they must deliver on that promise.

"The department stores have cried wolf too many times," declared Specter. "The public sometimes doesn't respond to the word 'sale.' They should know that the word sale means sale."

Specter is critical of large department stores that have markdowms on overpriced merchandise.

"The word 'sale' is a deception, unless you really mean it," he said. "In Westfield, we're dealing with legitimate prices, legitimate markdowms."

His clothing shop, The Leader Store, is a third-generation business established in Westfield in 1947. However, Specter said, the business started "20 years before that in Elizabeth."

The Leader sells clothing, sporting wear and footwear. And according to Specter, "we have quality merchandise."

As one of the leading merchants in Westfield, Specter is both proud of his work and of his town.

"There is a fine mix of stores in Westfield," Specter noted. "It makes Westfield special and unique."

"Westfield is a shopping center for the whole area — people come as far away as Bridgewater and Summit. It's one of the few towns in the state that is a shopping town," he said.

Despite increasing competition from malls and department stores, Westfield still manages to attract many customers.

"There's been a sprawl of development along the Route 22 corridor in the last five years," Specter said. "So we have competition from local communities from all sides."

Although malls like Woodbridge Center are luring many shoppers, Specter negated the value of their convenience.

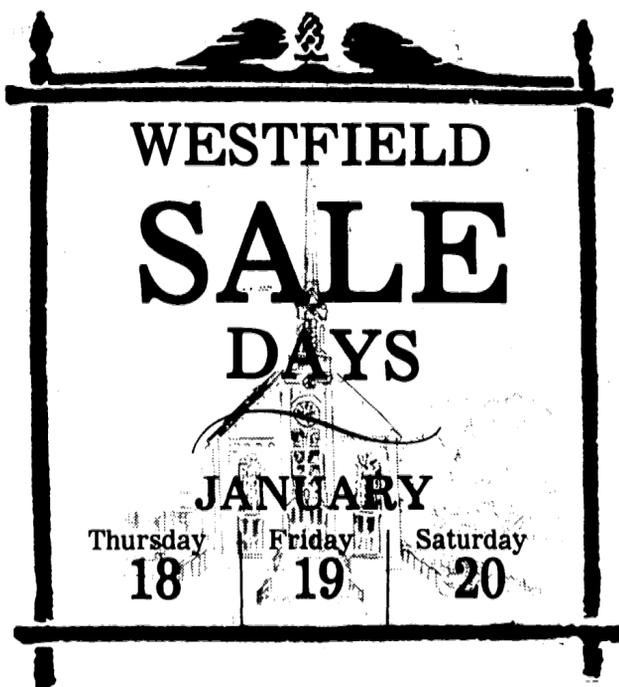

"In Woodbridge, you have to walk 10 miles to get from the parking lot. You can kill two hours going to and from Woodbridge."

Because of the wide-ranging promotional effort, a lot of people are expected to come to the annual winter sale.

"It's a townwide thing run by the Chamber of Commerce," said Randy Tarnofsky, one of the managers of Randal Shoes, 82 Elm St.

The Westfield Chamber of Commerce is doing everything it can to alert residents and commuters of the promotion.

"We're passing out posters to the stores," said Cynthia Kowalczyk, the chamber's executive director. "We're having a banner hung on the railroad trestle."

ISN'T IT TOO EARLY FOR IRISH SODA BREAD AND HOT CROSS BUNS ??

EVIDENTLY NOT!!! Regular customers at NOT JUST COOKIES just plain refused to wait until the middle of March for their Irish Soda Bread and the middle of April for their Hot Cross Buns.

At NOT JUST COOKIES in Westfield, the traditional Irish Soda Bread made with unbleached flour and fresh buttermilk and flavored with caraway seeds or cardamom is baked fresh daily. In addition, David bakes Whole Wheat Irish Soda Bread for those who wish to be a little healthier.

Visitors from Ireland have repeatedly told us that our Irish Soda Bread is authentic - and no wonder - we use the finest unbleached flour, fresh buttermilk, fresh butter and fresh eggs. Our special conveyor oven radiates heat similar to the old-fashioned brick ovens used in Ireland.

Wholesome Hot Cross Buns with flavor are also baked fresh every morning. The scrumptious flavor comes from currants, orange peel and exotic spices such as mace and cardamom - and topped with a thin, white cross of lemon/sugar icing.

Meredith's Camera store offers photography classes

Beginning in March, Meredith Bossert of Meredith's Camera and Video, 222 East Broad St., Westfield, will begin a new series of photography classes designed to cater to several levels of photo enthusiasts.

A 10-year veteran of the photo retail business and with even more experience as a photographer, Bossert realizes the need among customers to understand how to use the somewhat-complicated new cameras, to develop the talent and potential in amateur photographers.

The courses will vary in length and format. Some classes will cover specific topics in one session and others will last several sessions. Most classes will have fees that include a roll of film and processing, so that students can experiment with many different kinds of films.

For further information on scheduling, interested persons may call Meredith's Camera and Video at 654-7620.

B.G. Fields expands menu

The owners of B.G. Fields Restaurant, 560 Springfield Ave., Westfield, are celebrating their 18th month of operation at the former Geiger Restaurant site.

The owners are Gary Odachowski, Bill Delfinis and Brian Fitzpatrick.

The restaurant, which features homemade American dishes, is now offering a complete early-bird menu.

B.G. Fields is open Monday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday until 8 p.m.

The byword at Andrea's Furniture Co. Inc. is quality

"There's no substitute for quality" is the motto of Andrea's Furniture Co. Inc., located at 540 South Ave. West, Westfield.

The huge furniture store, which covers 17,000 square feet of floor space, was established in 1973 by Joseph Papandrea.

He and his sons, Robert and Paul, provide their customers with uncommon professional service and personal attention while offering some of the finest quality furniture available.

Although prices on the merchandise vary, all of the furniture is ordered from the best manufacturers around, Papandrea said.

Andrea's sells exclusive brand names like Henredon, Harden, Pennsylvania House, Fairington, LaBarge, Stiffel and Hitchcock.

Tip 2 Toe offers beauty services

Tip 2 Toe beauty salon, located at 233 North Ave. West, Westfield, is 1 1/2 years old and presently under new management.

Maria DeSantis, a hairstylist from West Orange, says she has attracted to Tip 2 Toe "the friendliest, funniest, craziest and most experienced group of girls around."

The crew includes Sue Hand, Kim Grieco, Jodi Guertin and Lisa Bettencourt.

This group specializes in a wide variety of services — from manicures, tips, wraps and gels, to the newest techniques in porcelain-sculptured nails and the most artistic handpainted nail art.

Tip 2 Toe also has Silver Solarium tanning beds — the top of the line. Customers have their choice of either 12-minute accelerator or 30-minute regular beds.

The salon's skin-care services include paraffin treatments, waxing and aloe herbal body wrapping.

For more information on any of the services, interested persons may visit the salon or call 654-0880.

Michael Kohn Jewelers turns 84

Michael Kohn Jewelers, 226 West North Ave., Westfield, is celebrating its 84th year this year.

The store was established in 1906 by Michael Kohn, and has continued to operate in the hands of second- and third-generation members of his family.

The jewelry store specializes in diamonds, fine jewelry, fine gifts and features such well-known names as Rolex, Baume & Mercier, Movado, Waterford, Lenox, Baccarat Mont Blanc and Seiko. It also is an authorized clock dealer.

Michael Kohn Jewelers creates designs for customers' own jewelry. Appraisals are by appointment.

Michael Kohn Jewelers was located in Elizabeth from 1906 to 1983, but relocated to Westfield six years ago.

The Kohn family says that it is "here to serve you." The family members involved in the store's operation are registered jewelers and belong to the American Gem Society.

At Not Just Cookies, everything is baked fresh

It is often said that an accurate measure of a good restaurant or bakery is how far people are willing to travel to eat there.

A recent survey of the crowd at Not Just Cookies at 107 East Broad St., Westfield, revealed that many customers had traveled a considerable distance to enjoy the restaurant's espresso or cappuccino, along with fresh croissants or Austrian pastry.

Not Just Cookies is that rare food establishment in which everything is cooked and baked fresh daily from the finest natural ingredients available — no mixes, no frozen wholesale pastries, no shortcuts. The apples for apple strudel are peeled and cut up with a paring knife; they don't come from a can.

All baking at Not Just Cookies is done in the unique conveyor ovens located "up front" — where people wait for buttermilk biscuits, English scones, muffins and various Austrian pastries to emerge steaming hot and with mouth-watering aromas.

In addition to the baked goods, Not Just Cookies has an extensive luncheon and take-out menu with fresh soups, fresh fruit salad, quiche, broccoli or spinach strudel, stuffed Hungarian peppers and chicken health salad. No shortcuts here, either — the vegetables are peeled and cooked, and the fruit salad is prepared fresh each morning.

Of course, the treat that started it all is the superb chocolate chunk cookies and oatmeal raisin cookies which continue to receive rave reviews, the restaurant reports.

The chocolate chunk, walnut chocolate chunk, pecan chocolate chunk, peanut butter chip and other varieties of cookies are frequently purchased in a one- or two-pound tin for gifts or for a special Valentine.

The Phone Nook can fill many communication needs

Businesses or homes in Union County in need of a new phone system can find a variety of options available at The Phone Nook, 200 North Ave. East, Westfield.

The Phone Nook is a one-stop store where customers can pay their New Jersey bills and purchase telephones, facsimile and answering machines, beepers, car phones and accessories.

The most impressive fact about the company is that the owner, manager and staff have a combined total of more than 200 years experience with the Bell System.

The company's retail operation is at 249 East Broad St., Westfield, and is easily accessible. Shoppers can visit the store and choose from a large inventory of telephones in a variety of colors and features. Novelty decorator phones come in all shapes and sizes.

Bovella's bakes old-fashioned way

Michael Bove, proprietor of Bovella's Italian Pastry Shoppe, 101-103 East Broad St., Westfield, began his bakery business in September 1949 in Plainfield.

According to many of his customers, Bove has acquired a wonderful reputation for the fine quality of his pastry, taking pride in the excellence of his products.

Bove says that he is still baking "the old-fashioned way," using fresh eggs and milk, and hand-rolling every one of those famous Italian macaroon cookies."

He moved his business from Plainfield to Westfield in 1978 and "has been well-received by this fine community," he comments.

He says he "would like to thank his customers for their loyal patronage" and considers it "a privilege to have served them for the past 40 years."

Christian nursery

The voters of Grace Lutheran Church, Vauxhall Road, Union, recently approved of the opening of a Christian Nursery School in its facilities. It will be open to 3- and 4-year old children of all faiths, with a planned opening in September.

There will be a two-and-a-half-hour session on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:15 to 11:45, and a two-and-a-half-hour session on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 12:45 to 3:15. For more information one can call the church office at 686-3965.

Havura is planned

A Havura, or fellowship for young couples, is being formed in Union, it was announced. The first get-together will take place Jan. 28 at 1:30 p.m., at the Pointe, Route 22, Union. Lunch will be served.

Further information can be obtained by calling Rabbi Howard Morrison, spiritual leader of Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, at 686-6773.

Nursery school set

Holy Cross Christian Nursery School in Springfield is taking applications for the 1990-1991 school year, it was announced.

The school offers sessions on Monday through Friday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30, for 3- and 4-year olds and Pre-K sessions on Monday through Thursday afternoons from 12:15 to 2:45 p.m. for children entering kindergarten in September 1991.

The school is located at 639 Mountain Ave. Information and applications can be obtained by calling the school at 379-7160 during school hours.

Magician on stage

The Linden Lodge B'nai B'rith will present a program of illusion and legerdemain by magician Mark Davis at the Suburban Jewish Center, Linden, Sunday at 10 a.m.

First aid programs

The Jewish Community Center of Central New Jersey will sponsor two first aid programs during this month.

Overlook Hospital personnel will be the instructors for the informational sessions.

Tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock, the topic will be "Emergency! First Five Minutes!"

"Little Heart Saver" will be the topic on Jan. 25 at 7 p.m.

Registration for either or both of the courses is open to the community and can be made by calling 889-8800.

Open school week

The Hedwig Gruenewald Nursery School of Congregation B'nai Israel in Millburn, will hold its annual winter open school week from Monday through Jan. 26 between 9 a.m. and 3:15 p.m.

Registration is now open for September 1990, it was announced. More information can be obtained by contacting Eileen Lurie, director, at the nursery office at 379-4040.

Schantz organ set

Newark's Cathedral of the Sacred Heart will feature the newly restored Schantz organ on Jan. 28 at 7 p.m. in a recital by Haig Mardirosian, director of music, at the Cathedral of St. Thomas More in Arlington, Va., and professor of music at The American University.

For more information one can call the Cathedral concert series at 484-4600. The series of concerts is made possible in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New Jersey State Council for the Arts/Department of State.

Monthly breakfast

The Honorable Menschen Auxiliary of the Elmora Hebrew Center will hold its monthly breakfast meeting Jan. 28 at the center at 420 West End Ave., Elizabeth.

Following a brief business meeting scheduled at 9:30 a.m. and a buffet-style breakfast at 10 a.m., Prof. Ruth S. Hoch will present a program, "Group Dynamics — An Experiential Approach." Hoch is a member of the adjunct faculty in the psychology department of Kean College of New Jersey, Union, and a faculty member in the LIFE, Learning Is Forever, program for senior citizens, sponsored by Union County College in Cranford.

It was announced that reservations must be made by calling the center office at 353-1740.

Guest speakers due

Fred and Betty Ward, counselors and educators, will be guest speakers at the Unitarian Church, 4 Waldron Ave., Summit, Sunday at 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. They will speak on "Communication as Applied Spirituality."

Fred Ward is a minister, counselor and director of the Unitarian Universalist Counseling and Education Service. Betty Ward is the principal of a school in Montgomery Township.

Summer programs

Camp directors from more than 25 northeastern day, sleep-over and specialty camps will discuss their summer programs, show slide presentations and distribute information to prospective campers and their parents on Feb. 4 from noon to 4 p.m. in Temple Emanu-El, 756 East Broad St., Westfield.

The annual Camp Fair, sponsored by the Temple Sisterhood, is open to the public, and admission is free. A free directory of participating camps will be distributed.

Guest speaker due

The Rev. Bernie Zick will be guest speaker at the Higher New Thought Center, Sunday at noon at the United Methodist Church of Union. His sermon topic will be "Prayer Is Proper Thinking." More information can be obtained by calling the Rev. Estelle Piercy, founder-director, at 375-3182.

OPINION

The big spill

In these days of heightened sensitivity about the impact that the natural environment has on health, citizens expect industries to pay particular attention to their operations.

Of society's institutions, major industries can most directly affect that environment. Often, their actions have improved conditions; but too many times, they have made conditions worse. And that has forced public institutions to exert a greater influence over what rightfully should be policies and practices decided by private enterprises.

For decades, average citizens — working through legislators to introduce new and innovative policies aimed at protecting valuable wetlands, open space and other natural ecosystems — have been able to tighten environmental restrictions governing a wide range of corporate endeavors.

With this in mind, it has become increasingly difficult for citizens to tolerate "accidents" which jeopardize their natural surroundings.

The most recent such disaster to gain national attention occurred, literally, in the backyards of many Union County residents.

Exxon released half a million gallons of heating oil into the Arthur Kill on Jan. 2. The spill has already killed more than 400 birds, many of which are endangered species. And many more forms of life are undoubtedly marked for death because of the spill, which will cause unquantifiable damage to the kill's wetlands for years to come.

Exxon's response to the emergency was clearly inadequate. Electronic warnings were disregarded by employees, and overnight a reported 5,000-gallon spill increased a hundredfold.

With last March's 10-million-gallon Exxon Valdez oil spill in Alaska still fresh in the mind, Union County residents are confronting another unforgivable display of insensitivity to the ecosystem.

Exxon and its top officers have not kept pace with the rest of America in dealing seriously with the environment. Due to its own lack of foresight, Exxon must now deal not only with an ecological catastrophe, but with a public relations catastrophe as well.

We add our voice to those questioning the integrity and aptitude of the firm's leadership, and those outraged by Exxon's disregard for the public welfare. Those voices form a chorus that dwarfs the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Although no one knows as yet the full extent of the damage done by Exxon to the Alaska and New Jersey environments, we do know that our children and grandchildren will never be able to enjoy a clean and undisturbed natural environment if we allow Exxon, and other firms, to destroy it with relative impunity.

Exxon ought to be fully investigated by federal and state authorities. And the firm and its corporate leaders, if found at fault, ought to receive a just punishment.

Since punishments should be constructive rather than merely vengeful, perhaps Exxon should be forced to clean up not only its own mess, but also to foot the bill for other greatly-needed environmental clean-ups. A beach clean-up or two would have a certain poetic justice to it. It would also send a compelling message to other would-be polluters.

Whatever penalty Exxon receives, our government must begin to consider such flagrant offenses against the environment as offenses against the people themselves.

By the numbers

Thomas Kean's administration loved to spout numbers. Higher employment numbers. Lower inflation-rate numbers. Higher housing-start numbers. Lower interest-rate numbers.

Those figures, collectively, helped give Kean, as New Jersey's governor, the numbers most important to him: popularity points. The state's buoyant economy and Kean's own personal charm combined to encase him in a Reaganesque Teflon coating.

But before he left office, the Teflon began to wear thin. Mistakes in the administration's economic plan had short-changed the state for years, and on Tuesday new Gov. Jim Florio inherited a projected $1 billion budget shortfall for fiscal year 1991. That's one number of which Kean can't be too proud.

Moreover, Kean did little in the last few years to resolve the auto insurance mess or the garbage crisis. He pretty much left it up to his successor to make whatever headway he could on those thorny issues.

Indeed, among all his other numbers was the number Kean did on the next governor.

letters to the editor

Gun control is racist and elitist

I noticed with dismay, in reports from Trenton, the anti-gun comment of state Attorney General-designate Robert Del Tufo.

His desire to abridge the civil liberties of New Jersey citizens is depressing; his displayed arrogance is infuriating; but his ignorance of constitutional law and practice is appalling.

Would that his studies had been focused more on the law and less on politics. Gun-control measures in this country have a proven racist, elitist background. Gun-control has always been a case of the haves attempting to exercise control over the have-nots. The first (and the most, since) gun-control measures have had as their aim the subjugation of our black population. The ignominy of the Dred Scott decision partially arose from a desire to prohibit gun ownership by blacks.

In 1982, the U.S. Senate's Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on the Constitution issued a 160-page report affirming that the right to keep and bear arms was an individual one. It mentioned that, in the mind of the Framers, it was a right that superseded the Constitution and was in fact a natural, unalienable one.

The report mentioned that the Second Amendment was, specifically, drafted to give the common citizenry a protection against an overbearing, tyrannical government. It has absolutely nothing to do with hunting, sport or the National Guard.

The new legislative session is upon us. State Sen. Frank Graves, D-35, is once again ready to prove his political power and his legislative ignorance. He can't govern Paterson, so he goes to Trenton and feeds his ego by proposing anti-gun bills that have no need or basis.

Of course, getting at the truth of a matter is something that often doesn't bother Graves; but with the assistance of Del Tufo, it would seem that the truth of this matter and one of our rights is about to be thrown out with the garbage. When are we going to awaken?

Ben Franklin said that we had been given a republic, if we could keep it! How true, how true!

Column on baseball cards hit home run

I was delighted to read the Dec. 7 column, "Baseball cards now worth as much as the players," by John Tartaglino.

His wry humor reminds me of my favorite, Russell Baker; and I foresee Tartaglino achieving like success.

My son, now serving with the Army in Germany, was an avid baseball-card collector, and his shoeboxes full of cards have been shuffled from place to place as we moved. They, and I, anxiously await his return!

I'm sending the article to him. I know it will bring fond memories of home.

Anti-drug tool: Bar codes on bills

By MATTHEW RINALDO
Congressman, 7th District

Laser scanners, similar to those used at supermarket checkout counters, can help the U.S. Treasury agents track millions of dollars in bar-coded currency used in large drug stings.

With the addition of unobtrusive bar coding to larger denominations of currency, undercover agents could purchase drugs from suspected dealers with money on which the bar coding has been recorded. Agents could then trace the money through business deposits and bank transactions to determine how the drug operation was laundering its illegal profits.

In this way, inexpensive scanners can be used by local police departments, undercover drug enforcement agents and banks to help federal authorities uncover the sources of illegal drug profits.

I am planning to ask the House

Banking Committee to hold hearings on legislation I am sponsoring that would establish an electronic scanning task force to determine the cost and feasibility of the operation. It would require the U.S. Bureau of Engraving to print unobtrusive computer bar codes on all paper currency in denominations of 10 dollars or more.

Combined with computers, bar-coding technology can quickly and cheaply track large money deposits that now must be manually examined and counted by drug enforcement agents in attempting to accurately pinpoint the source of drug transactions.

Although investigators can now manually check serial numbers, it is far too cumbersome and difficult to sort through millions of dollars in currency. As a result, law enforcement officials make infrequent use of serial numbers to trace the source of drug money.

The information developed by the Treasury Department task force study would help the Internal Revenue service and other federal agencies operating under the Bank Secrecy Act of 1988 develop systems to track some of the estimated $220 million in profits generated daily by illegal drug sales in this country.

The Bush Administration is launching an all-out drive against drug-money laundering through banks and the business community. Drug kingpins cannot operate their international drug networks without a cash flow, and our aim is to plug up their financial pipelines.

Attorney General Richard Thornburgh recently told members of the American Bankers Association that the most vulnerable point for any drug operation is in laundering billions of dollars in drug profits.

The recent seizure of $20 million in currency by federal authorities in Los Angeles in a raid on a drug warehouse demonstrated the potential for tracking large amounts of currency to the drug lords. It would take only a short time for an electronic scanner to determine what cities the currency came from and the banks that issued the money to specified accounts.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials have testified that they have been forced to curtail the use of marked currencies used in major drug buys because of the difficulty in manually keeping track of thousands of serial numbers. Federal Reserve Bank officials in New York and Washington have expressed no opposition to bar-coded currency.

State We're In

To control pollution, prevent it

By DAVID F. MOORE

The faster we go the behinder we get — so goes the trite Pennsylvania Dutch saying.

And so it is with many kinds of pollution control.

The reason why pollution problems get worse, in spite of better pollution law and law enforcement, is that we keep adding sources of contamination. What we gain in quality we lose in quantity.

Take car exhaust, for example. We added catalytic converters, low-volatility gasoline and special vapor-recovery devices to gas station pumps, it's true. But then we added more cars to every driveway and began traveling more miles between home and work. The net result is more pollution, not less.

Since 1970, when New Jersey took the national lead in environmental protection, it has held that lead through alternating Republican and Democratic state administrations.

Only through such steady and bipartisan effort can good things accrue.

That's why former governor Thomas Kean's pollution prevention initiative is such a key step. It's been a long time coming and, in some respects, has already been here a long time. I can say that because we have long-standing examples of how pollution prevention works.

For instance, we've known for many years that lead is toxic to animal life; it's been used as an insecticide for many decades. We long ago found lead getting into the bodies and affecting the minds of urban kids, who liked chewing lead paint from interior woodwork and walls.

Lead was poisoning our waterways by washing auto exhaust fallout from streets and highways via storm drains. It even collected in the tissues of tree leaves, which then released their leaden collection in autumn, when the leaves fell and decomposed.

Luckily, no one could think of a way to get the lead out by gadgetry, so we found the better way — in unleaded gas and paint. There's now a lot less lead in our environment.

That's pollution prevention. Source reduction is a variation on the prevent scheme. If a pollutant never makes it to the waste stream, then it can't get to be a problem for us.

Lots of contaminating waste chemicals are sent from homes and factories into sewers, flowing unchanged through sewer plants only to be discharged into rivers — or else entering the atmosphere and then coming to earth. We've won a substantial reduction in that sort of thing, but it still happens far too often.

So if a discharging company prevents its waste and removes the hazardous material from its wastewater and vapor emissions before it leaves the premises, it can't get to be a pollutant at all.

That's also pollution prevention. And dollars are to be gleaned from recycling what's salvaged.

Sometimes, there's an ox gored here or there. Getting the lead out caused a problem for lead manufacturers, and pre-treatment costs companies money which otherwise wouldn't be spent.

But society's costs are worse the farther pollution travels! Remember that when those public relations men shed crocodile tears.

The toll paid by all of us is many times the cost of prevention. While New Jersey keeps on trying hard, if other states don't follow, it makes pollution profitable elsewhere.

Ideally, it takes federal action, but the states need to act soon rather than await such a doubtful prospect.

Moore is executive director of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, a private, non-profit organization.

County manager introduces $199.4 million budget for 1990

By SHARON CATES
 Union County Manager Joseph A. Martin introduced a $199.4 million county budget for 1990 yesterday.

The proposed budget represents a $20 million, or 11 percent, increase over last year's budget.

According to the proposal, $141.1 million of the $199.4 million total would have to be raised through taxes.

The county freeholder board will review the budget and make any necessary amendments before its expected adoption in March.

A large bulk of the $20 million increase represented in the budget, according to Martin, is due to the county's debt service. Debt service represents the amount of money the county must pay in interest on borrowed money as represented in the capital budget.

Martin explained that the county must pay $5 million more than last year's budget because lease payments for the Ralph Oriscello Correctional Facility, which was dedicated in October but not yet occupied, are presently due.

That prompted Martin to counter the extra expense by cutting the county capital improvement contribution in the budget to $3.3 million, down from the $11.5 million recommended in last year's budget.

"The capital budget does not represent free money," Martin said. "There is a cost to borrow money."

"The lease for the jail is an additional $5 million that we will pay this year and every year in the foreseeable future," Martin added. "I feel that county government should pause and carefully consider what capital improvements are needed."

Martin noted that the budget does not reflect a large increase in the county's personnel or programs.

"This budget represents an earnest effort in keeping staffing constant," Martin said. "Personnel, more than any other factor affects the budget."

"More than 70 percent of the county's operating costs can be tied to keeping people on the payroll," Martin explained. "It is essential, therefore, that we contain the number of positions in county government."

"With few exceptions, we should not have an overall increase in the staffing level for county government," Martin added. "If additional resources are needed in any operating unit, those resources should be found within the existing organization."

The budget does, however, allocate funds for additional corrections officers. Martin noted that the additional positions are necessary due to the increasing number of inmates held in the county jail and the impending opening of the county's new correctional facility.

But Martin held the line on hirings in most other areas.

"We cannot fund staffing increases in the courts, Sheriff's Office, Prosecutor's Office and the Probation Department, unless we are willing to sacrifice other county programs," Martin explained.

The budget also calls for the construction of a new juvenile detention center.

"The current (juvenile) center, located on top of the county parking garage, provides an unsuitable environment for the detainees," Martin said. "As the first step in the relocation effort, a feasibility study that looks at relocation choices and costs should be completed."

22 new corrections officers sought

By SHARON CATES
 With the inmate population at the Union County Jail reaching an all-time high last week, County Manager Joseph A. Martin has appealed to the county Board of Freeholders to hire 22 new corrections officers.

But the freeholders, expected to vote on the new positions tonight, have agreed to add only 10 corrections officers, according to Martin.

Freeholder Casimir Kowalczyk noted that he would like to look cautiously at the positions first.

"I don't want to give anybody false hope," Kowalczyk explained. "Just because they have a job today doesn't mean that they will have one tomorrow."

Martin said, however, that he is confident that the board will, after a thorough review, approve the hiring of all 22 officers.

On Jan. 8 the population at the old county jail, which is equipped to hold 238 inmates, reached 867, an all-time high.

Martin explained that the increasing number of inmates in the county lock-up is forcing the county to hire additional personnel.

"There is a direct relationship between the number of inmates and the number of corrections officers needed," Martin stated.

According to Martin, it will take approximately six weeks to hire the new officers, since they must pass a variety of tests prior to their employment.

After the testing process is complete, the new officers must complete four weeks of in-house training, according to William Tisdall, director of the county's Department of Public Safety.

Martin noted that after the initial in-house training, the new officers will then be required to participate in a state Department of Corrections program to receive additional training and to gain their certification.

Martin contended that the additional officers are needed to lower the overtime wages paid to the county's corrections officers and to ensure that the jail — as well as the new Ralph Oriscello Correctional Facility, which is yet to be occupied — is operating in what he called a "safe and secure manner."

"If additional officers are not hired, the present officers are going to have to work overtime to ensure that the buildings are secure, according to Joseph Salemme, special assistant to Martin.

Salemme claimed that the county will not save any money by deciding not to hire new officers.

"The bottom line is that we will spend the money either way," Salemme stated. "Either we will spend it on overtime, or we will spend it on additional personnel."

"I think it would be cheaper to spend it on regular time than on overtime wages," Salemme added.

Martin noted that the county spent approximately $1.9 million in overtime wages for the correctional staff in 1989.

Business workshops tomorrow at Kean center

Company profits and self-marketing will be the topics of two workshops being planned for January by the Kean College of New Jersey Small Business Development Center (SBDC) in Hillside.

"Planning and Controlling Your Company's Profits" will be held from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. tomorrow, Jan. 19. "How to Market Yourself Effectively," will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on Friday, Jan. 26.

The profits course will be taught by Bruce Foster, CPA of Pinkham & Foster of Linden. Mark Duffie, training consultant from Wes Westrom &

Associates of Kendall Park, will conduct the Dale Carnegie self-marketing session.

The fee for each session is set at $15 and both will take place in Room 120 on the college's East Campus. Registration information is available from the SBDC at 527-2946.

Income tax preparation training sessions available to seniors

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program, sponsored by the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Union County, is providing training sessions dealing with income tax preparation today and tomorrow at the Elmora Public Library in Elizabeth.

Seniors interested in being trained as VITA volunteers are asked to contact the RSVP office, 60 Prince St., Elizabeth 07208.

Singer owner knows business

Anthony Gazzo, owner of the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet at 1164 E. Jersey St., Elizabeth, is a man who knows his business.

In business for nearly 20 years, the last four as owner of his own shop, Gazzo is an expert in all phases of his operation, from sales to service to delivery.

"I started out as a mechanic in 1969," said Gazzo, who worked his way up to salesman, then sales manager and finally purchased his own shop when it became available. "This is the only job I've ever had in my life. I've been doing it since I was 19."

At the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet, that means the customer gets the ultimate in personalized service — and since Gazzo owns the shop, it also means some of the lowest prices anywhere on new and used Singer sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture, dress forms and notions.

"Prices are 30 to 60 percent off list," said Gazzo, who worked for Singer on Long Island before moving to New Jersey in 1978, where he worked in several stores before coming to Elizabeth.

"I was the store manager at this location when they sold me the building," Gazzo said proudly.

Prices on used machines start at $49. All machines are fully guaranteed. Gazzo is also in the market of industrial sales and service.

"In the service end of it, we do in-home service on any kind of machine, any make or model," said Gazzo. "Here, they're not just buying the sewing machine. They're also buying the service. The customer is going to be taken care of. I think that's important."

Gazzo, who is on the premises during 60 percent of the store's hours, is assisted by Charlie Garica who has 37 years' experience in sewing machine sales and service.

Although he performs repairs on all types of machines, Gazzo sells only Singer merchandise for a very important reason.

"I'm one of the only Singer dealers that just carries Singer sewing machines," he explained. "I could sell just about any brand, but I like Singer. I can count on getting the parts. You can't fix something if you can't get the parts."

And, when a sale is advertised, the customer can count on the merchandise being in the store.

"If something is on sale," said Gazzo, "the merchandise is always in stock. So the customer who comes in and says, 'Can I take this home?' The answer is, 'Yes, you can take it home.'"

Gazzo, however, does not sell his products and close the door on the customer.

"Any machine they get, they get instructions on how to use it," he said, "and they can come in for instructions as many times as they want."

Gazzo views his business as the continuation of a longterm tradition of outstanding Singer services in Elizabeth.

"The nice thing is this establishment has been here since 1926," he said, adding that he loves the sight of a satisfied customer. "I'll tell you, I like what I'm doing. I like dealing with people."

Home delivery and financing of merchandise are both available at the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet and customers can charge their purchases to Visa, Master Card and Discover. Telephone orders are also accepted.

The Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet is open Monday through Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Thursday until 6:30 p.m.

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990-2,3,4*

SECTION B

WINNING SEASON — This is the Springfield St. James School girl's volleyball team that recently participated in the Union County CYO League and finished with a record of 4-3. The team was coached by township engineer Leo Eckmann, who is also an alumni father.

Bears defeat Mustangs; wrestlers settle for split

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Brearley Regional boy's basketball team broke a four-game losing streak by breaking through for a second-half explosion against Manville, and the wrestling team saw its winning streak come to an end with a 34-26 defeat to neighboring rival Roselle Park.

The following is this week's rundown on Brearley Regional High School sports.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

It's been an up-and-down year so far for the Bears, but things took a turn for the better when Brearley was able to snap its four-game losing streak with a 64-44 victory over Manville this past Friday in Kenilworth.

The Bears, who are 5-5 on the season, hadn't won since knocking off Bayley-Ellard on Dec. 29 to win the St. Pius Tournament, with St. Mary's, Madison Boro, Bound Brook and Middlesex all having beaten Joe Lafferty's team since then. However, a 20-point effort from John Anglim was the glue the Bears needed against Manville.

Nine of Anglim's points came in the opening half when Brearley settled for a 29-29 draw with the Mustangs, and 11 more came in the second half when the Bears took charge. In fact, after taking a modest 40-36 lead with them into the final period, Brearley exploded for a 24-8 burst that put it away.

And Sterling Williams, who had 17 points in a 49-41 defeat to Middlesex the day before, came through with 16 more against Manville, 14 of them coming in the second half — and 12 being recorded in the final eight minutes of play. Anglim had six points in that big fourth quarter, while Matt Dolly sank a three-pointer.

At first, things looked good against Middlesex, as the Bears received all 17 of Williams' points in the first half to claim a 27-17 advantage by half-time. But Jerry Fitzgerald netted seven of his 11 points in the third quarter when the Blue Jays outscored the Bears by a 12-4 margin to get back into it. Then in the fourth, Brian Feath, who nailed a big three-pointer in the third period, registered nine of his 14 points as the Jays overtook Brearley for good. Included among those nine points for Feath was another three-point field goal.

WRESTLING

Even without any seniors and a group of still-learning grapplers, things could definitely be worse for this year's Brearley wrestling squad. To date, the 4-3 Bears haven't suffered a single lopsided defeat; rather, two of their wins — a 66-6 decision over Hillside on Dec. 22 and a 50-12 crushing of Manville on Jan. 5 — have come by one-sided margins.

This past week, the Bears settled for a split, first coming from behind to edge Middlesex, 32-25, on Jan. 10, and then dropping a tough 34-26 decision at Roselle Park two nights later. In both instances, the final outcome revolved around the 171-pound bout.

Against Middlesex, the Bears were down quickly by a 12-0 score and remained on the wrong side of it until Andy Kimmel, who is unbeaten with a 6-0 record, defeated Dalton Anderson, 10-2, to give the Bears a 20-19 lead. Then, Chris Layden pinned Rob Hanes in the 171-pound bout to stretch Brearley's advantage to 26-19. The clincher came when sophomore 189-pounder Mike Ring pinned Jason Minke, thus negating a defeat at heavyweight.

Against the Panthers, things were no less hairy. Not until Eugene Belle defeated Layden by a 14-7 score in the 171-pound battle was Park, by now with a 32-18 lead, assured of victory. Jose Rodriguez battled Ron Jones for a draw in the 189-pound bout, before Scott Dubeau pinned Park's Dan McCaffery to make it close for Brearley.

Individually, some of the records are quite solid. Dubeau is 7-2 at heavyweight, while Rodriguez is 5-2. Layden is 8-2, and young Bob Taylor is having a terrific sophomore season with an 8-1-1 record at 152 pounds. Both the loss and tie were to Jeff Roy of Middlesex, with Taylor shaking off the effects of a 10-2 defeat in the Woodbridge Tournament to emerge with a well-earned 6-6 draw against Roy last Wednesday.

'Dawgs maul 2 more; match with R.P. next

By MARK YABLONSKY

Continuing with their mistreatment of opposing squads — in this case, Pingry and Arthur L. Johnson — Rick Iacono's wrestlers are now preparing for a big match with Roselle Park this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Springfield. The boy's basketball team, meanwhile, continues to search for wins, while the swim team was able to break a losing streak with a victory over Sayreville.

The following is this week's rundown on Jonathan Dayton Regional High sports.

WRESTLING

The 'Dawgs kept it up by pounding both Pingry and Arthur L. Johnson of Clark this past week, 60-12 and 60-4, respectively. Obviously, such scores are only further proof of just how dominant Dayton is this winter — although an earlier 49-22 crushing of Ridge on Jan. 6 should have already underscored that point. Ridge, you may recall, was largely responsible for Dayton missing out on the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs last year, thanks to a 48-24 victory over Rick Iacono's crew on Jan. 7, 1989.

Iacono, though, while fiercely proud of his team, is also quite practical at the same time. And equitable, too. Not wanting to overwork some of his bigger varsity names, the wrestling buff is finding some mat time for less-experienced grapplers, one of whom made quite a debut on the varsity level against Pingry.

That was freshman Bob Tranquilli, who gave Jason Yee the afternoon off by filling in against Dan Sciubba of Pingry in a 112-pound bout. The result? Tranquilli pinned his man in just 32 seconds to really get the ball rolling toward a blowout, what with Dante Puorro having already pinned Mike Zigmoni in the opening 103-pound contest.

Yee, who is 10-0-1, did wrestle against Craig Mahon of Johnson, and the result was another pin for Yee, this one coming at the 1:18 mark. That, too, had been preceded by a pin from Dante; earlier, the 103-pound junior had given Dayton a quick 6-0 thrust with a pin of Joe Lucariello at the 1:27 mark.

"Well, I'm very pleased," said Iacono, whose team, following last night's match with Bound Brook and today's contest with Watchung, will take the mats for Saturday's big 1:30 p.m. home TV-3 showdown with

"I'm very pleased. We had set certain goals before the season, and so far we're on schedule."

Rick Iacono

Roselle Park. "We had set certain goals before the season, and so far we're on schedule."

In addition to Puorro and Yee, it was a strong week for several others. Begin with 119-pounder Kevin Delaney, who won two matches by beating John Lee of Pingry, 11-7, and ALJ's Tim Hoerle, 16-7; while senior Peter Carpenter improved to 9-2 at the 125-pound level by stopping Sean George of Pingry with a technical fall, before beating Gil Virtucio of Johnson, 12-5.

There's more. John Maxemchuk also won twice, once by pinning Pingry's Doug Tansey in a 130-pound bout, and also with an 8-3 decision over Leon Rothbard of ALJ at 135 pounds. Chris Moreno only wrestled once, but that resulted in a technical fall over Andy Troczynski of ALJ at 130 pounds. Brian Delaney got one bout in and that resulted in a pin of Johnson's Chris Beer in only 55 seconds.

And heavyweight Scott Aderty, who is now 8-1-1, didn't even have to wrestle at all, as both of his opponents chose to forfeit.

And now, comes Roselle Park. While not quite as strong this year as in other years, any Dayton-Park match has got to be dynamite. And try as they might, no one can ignore the importance of Saturday's match for very long.

"I'm looking to wrestle well against Bound Brook and Watchung," said Iacono, whose team last beat the Panthers in 1986, that coming by a 33-19 score at home — the first Dayton win over Park in some three decades. "But I realize that the kids will be looking forward to Saturday.

"I guess the kids are hyped up for it. And I guess they'll be ready for us."

BOY'S BASKETBALL

Times are rough for the 'Dawgs, who dropped to 1-9 with losses to Central, Hillside and Governor Livingston this past week.

Hillside, now one of the local area's strongest teams, Group 2 or otherwise, took charge early to take a 29-10 lead after one quarter, with game-high scorer James Mazyck tal-ling 11 of his 22 points during that time. In the G.L. contest on Friday, Bill Williams was the main source of trouble for Dayton with a total of 28 points.

Brandon Giordano emerged as Dayton's high scorer for the week, with 29 points in the three games, including 14 against Central and 13 against G.L.

SWIMMING

Dayton broke its three-meet losing streak by defeating Sayreville, 95-76, in Sayreville this past Friday, to up its record to 3-4 on the season.

While senior Steve Fowler did not win three individual events this time, he was a member of two winning relay squads, as well as a first-place finisher in the 100-yard butterfly, winning that in a time of 1:16.11. Fowler, Chris O'Toole, Laura Leyrer and Rob Bierwirth joined company to win the 200-medley relay; and Fowler, Ben Schneider, Jen Kowalski and Eric Diegman teamed up to capture the 400-freestyle relay.

Individually, Bierwirth and O'Toole won three events between them, Bierwirth taking the 50 and 100-yard freestyle swims in respective times of 28.52 and 1:05.02, and O'Toole winning the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:24.46.

And for the first time this season, Dayton was able to include diving in the meet, and that turned out to be a plus when freshman Jay Geraghty came out on top with a score of 147.025.

The Bulldogs will face Ridge tomorrow at home in a 5 p.m. meet. All home meets take place at the Union Boys and Girls Club on Jeanette Avenue in Union.

Minutemen win, 52-45

By RYAN HUBER

The Springfield Senior Minuteman basketball team recently raised its record to 3-5 by defeating Chatham, 52-45, behind a 22-point performance by Peter Kucharski.

Jason Perez and Brad Mullman also helped out with eight points apiece, while Robert Merkin was right behind with seven. Jimmy Miller had four points, and Roberto Tarantino added two more.

And the Junior Minutemen defeated Chatham as well, by a score of 53-34. Perez this time led all scorers with 19 points, while Miller and Tarantino combined for 17 more between them. Mullman had seven points, Dave Gubernat added six, and Vic Prignano and Jeff Miller each added on a point.

Alumni dinner planned

An alumni reunion dinner for everyone who has played varsity soccer at Brearley Regional and for head coach Al Czaya during the past 20 years, will be held on Sunday, Feb. 4, at the Ramada Inn in Clark.

Further information is available from Wayne Fennes at 241-7371 or Chris Jardon at 789-1827.

ON THE VARSITY — Midfielder Sem Marseille of Linden, who is originally from Haiti, was a first-year starter for the Stevens Institute of Technology men's soccer team this past fall, having transferred earlier from Union County College. The Ducks finished at 3-13, with five of the losses coming by one-goal margins.

Torborg to be at clinic

The Linden Recreation Department and the Linden Police Athletics League will co-sponsor a baseball clinic at Linden High School on Sunday, Feb. 4 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., which will feature guest instructor Jeff Torborg, the current manager of the Chicago White Sox.

In addition, there will be instructions, autographs and a question-and-answer period with the Mountainside resident, who is a former Dodger catcher and New York Yankee coach. There is no admission charge, and the clinic is open to all.

Further information is available by calling the recreation department at 474-8600.

'Storms' music is upbeat

By MILT HAMMER

Best of the new LPs: Recently, we picked as an ear-pleaser, Nanci Griffith's eighth album, "Storms."

The album marks a departure for Nanci. Her unique, compellingly honest voice remains unchanged, but the musical accompaniment has become more stark and direct. There are few happy endings to be found in the album's 10 songs. Whether upbeat or slow, they reflect Griffith's own life. "It's been a hard year for me," she admits. "Last year we were on the road from January to November. While I write most of my music on the road, that lifestyle makes it impossible to have relationships. I'm envious of people who had a relationship started before they went on tour, because they've got something to salvage when they come home."

"My previous studio album 'Little Love Affairs,' was about couples," Griffith explains, "and this one has storm rumbles all through it."

NANCI GRIFFITH

As for the sound on "Storms," there is a noticeable difference in style. All of Griffith's albums have used a community of musicians, mostly acoustic, that sometimes provided an almost orchestral range of sound to back Griffith's compositions.

"Storms" eschewed the usual recording process of cutting rhythm tracks first, then adding other instruments on final vocals. Glyn Johns, the well-known English producer of albums by The Who, The Eagles, and Joan Armatrading, was brought in to give a more pop sheen to Griffith's music. Although there are some electric keyboard backings, "We tried to keep the small group sound and intimate feel on record, too," Griffith says. "It was recorded live in the studio without overdubs, and Glyn was willing to leave my voice alone."

Griffith was after the emotional immediacy of a live performance rather than any attempt to re-record and overdub every part to perfection. It was completed in three weeks.

Concert set this Sunday

The Composers Guild of New Jersey, in cooperation with Fairleigh Dickinson University, will present William Berz on the clarinet and Paul Hoffmann on piano Sunday at 3 p.m. at Sammartino Hall, Montross and East Passaic avenues, Rutherford. More information can be obtained by calling 773-2431.

Hoffmann and Berz are on the faculty of Rutgers, The State University, in New Brunswick.

The program is financially supported by the Composers Guild of New Jersey Inc., and is a component of the CGNJ strategy "to promote New Jersey composers and New Jersey music composition, uncensored and professionally presented."

The Composers Guild of New Jersey Inc. is a non-profit, chartered New Jersey corporation, whose objectives "are endorsed by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts through general operating support, and by the National Endowment for the Arts, ASCAP, the BMI Foundation, Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation, Meet the Composer Inc. and others."

Solo exhibition of artist

The Green Lane YM-YWHA of Union County Adult and Cultural Arts Department will present a solo exhibit of works by Cranford artist Jeffrey Mason in the Adult Lounge gallery from tomorrow to Feb. 8.

The intent of his paintings, says Mason, "is to establish a dynamic visual order. The paintings elements are neither naturalistic nor symbolic.

Their sole purpose is to create a series of interdependent relationships that force the viewer to experience them as a whole."

The exhibit can be seen Sundays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Mondays through Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information one can call Diane Flecker at 289-8112.

horoscope

For week of Jan. 21 to Jan. 27

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) New faces will come into your life in the near future. Watch for them to make a big difference in your life.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Count on your intelligence to get you out of a sticky situation. Use your clever ways to bring both allies and opponents into your camp.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A new romance could be causing sleepless nights and putting your appetite out of whack. Stop resisting and enjoy it.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) This week might not turn out exactly as you expected, but the change in plans should work to your advantage. In any event, remain calm.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) At last, you are going to have time to relax. Spend some time making new friends or working on the relationships that are closest to your heart.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Take time out to concentrate on your health. Make an appointment for a check-up before those small physical problems become big ones.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take it easy in the mornings, in an effort to reserve your energy. You will need every bit of it to handle a challenging project in the evenings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your sense of good humor can keep small irritations from becoming big ones. Talk out problems instead of becoming angry.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take time to do the proper research. Be sure you know all the facts before you make a decision.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) People will pay back what they owe you this week. Keep an eye out for checks and party invitations in the mail.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Your old-fashioned thinking could be getting in the way of something you want to achieve. Consider breaking out of the barriers that seem to be keeping you down.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Recycle what you have. Tackle those creative projects you may have put on the shelf or spruce up those classic, old outfits hanging in your closet.

Musical director is accompanist

George Lachenauer of Roselle has been appointed as accompanist for the Westfield Glee Club.

Lachenauer is the director of music and organist at the First Presbyterian Church of Roselle. He has appeared as a vocal accompanist and as a singer with choral groups and opera companies. He also has performed in Steinway Hall, Sacred Heart Cathedral, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Muhlenberg College and Miami University.

Lachenauer also composes and arranges music.

Evelyn Bleeker of Westfield, the Glee Club director, has served as a choral director, church musician, music educator and director of community organizations. Bleeker is a participant of local, state and national music organizations and has received recognitions and awards. She also is the director of the Choral Art Society of New Jersey.

The Westfield Glee Club, which has 40 active singers, is now in its 65th season.

The club will present a Spring Concert on May 5 at Roosevelt Junior High School, Westfield. Male singers, students and adults are invited to attend rehearsals Mondays at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church in Westfield.

An annual music scholarship competition will be held for high school students to select a scholarship award winner. Notices and information will be sent to 26 schools in the area to invite student musicians to participate.

The Westfield Glee Club Scholarship Program was established "to encourage music students to continue musical studies at college."

Workshop is directed by a volunteer leader

National volunteer leader Audrey Baird will direct a workshop, "You Can Make the Difference," jointly sponsored by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs and Union County College, it was announced.

The program has been designed for those associated with the development of non-profit organizations in the arts and history and offers a perspective on building effective volunteer support. It will be held at the college's Cranford campus Jan. 27.

Union County Freeholder Walter E. Boright has noted, "This workshop will help board and staff members and volunteers to understand their organization's potential for growth and service. Participants will find practical tools for recruiting and motivating top quality volunteers and long-range planning. Baird's workshop is sure to stimulate new enthusiasm and ideas for cultural and historical organizations in the county." Boright is freeholder liaison to the county's Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, which recommends county arts and history programs.

For further information one can contact the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, 07202, at 558-2550.

EDUCATION AND CAREER GUIDE

Girls' school to explore education questions

In an era of educational questioning, Kent Place School, New Jersey's largest nonsectarian school for girls, will provide answers about educating women on Tuesday, Jan. 30, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Kent Place Theater, 42 Norwood Avenue, Summit.

The program is titled, "Kaleidoscope: Bringing Girls' Education into Focus."

The snow date is Wednesday, Jan. 31.

Kent Place Headmistress Arlene Joy Gibson noted in a recent interview that for a number of years, education researchers, such as Myra and David Sadker of American University, have studied gender issues in the American education system.

An update on research findings, published in the Wall Street Journal, concluded that the "chilly climate for women in the (traditional co-ed) classroom undermines self-esteem and damages morale."

"Since we are committed to single-sex education at Kent Place, we see the gender issue from a different perspective. We give our girls every opportunity to lead and excel while they are with us and, at the same time, we foster the self-confidence that will help them do the same in the world at large," said Gibson.

"Kaleidoscope" will feature an opening commentary on educating girls by Gibson in the theater, followed by two sessions of concurrent workshops on important issues in women's education.

The workshops will be led by Kent Place faculty members, and administrators, including Director of College Advising John Ramsey, Director of Admissions Kathleen Hanson, Drama Department Chairman Robert Pridham, and Athletic Director Tizzie Benthien. They will be assisted by Kent Place students, parents and alumnae.

Topics for the first workshop session, which will run from 7:30 p.m. to 8:10 p.m., include "Getting into College," "Innovations in Math," "An Arts Sampler" and "Financing An Independent School Education."

The second session, from 8:10 p.m. to 9 p.m., will repeat "Getting into College" and will introduce "Games Women Play" (athletics for women), "Writing Across the Curriculum," "Parenting with Kent Place" and "Giving Back" (community service in today's world).

"The incredible importance of re-examining how we educate our daughters is underscored by comments made by researchers like David Sadker, who once said that if the cure for cancer is in the mind of a girl being educated in today's traditional co-ed environment, we may never get it. Fortunately, parents do have options such as Kent Place, and the options can be made very affordable through a variety of assistance opportunities," noted Gibson.

Kent Place was founded in 1894 by a group of parents who were concerned about providing every educational opportunity for their daughters. The school is known today for its rigorous curriculum in the nursery through grade 12, its exceptional college placement record, and its award-winning arts and athletic programs.

The "Kaleidoscope" event is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

For direction to the Kent Place campus, interested persons may phone the school at 273-0900.

Horizon Institute turns 10

The Horizon Institute of Paralegal Studies, a Linden-based school for legal assistants, will celebrate its 10th anniversary in September.

The school is operated by Burton Zitomer of Berkeley Heights and Michael A. Posnock of Linden, partners in the law firm of Posnock and Zitomer in Linden.

The administrator for the institute is Gail Cutugno of Winfield Park.

"The school has exhibited dramatic growth since it was founded in 1979," Cutugno said in announcing the school's 10th anniversary year.

"At the present time, we graduate approximately 120 students per year, whereas the first class consisted of only nine students," she said.

"The growth of our school has been much greater than expected. This is due to the dramatic manner in which law firms, corporate legal departments, the court systems and governmental agencies have accepted and utilized paralegals," she said.

The school offers two six-month courses per year at two locations, Linden and Drew University in Madison. There are three classes; a day session of two hours on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and an evening session of the same duration on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. At the Madison site, a similar evening session is offered.

When queried as to the reason for the success of Horizon, Cutugno elaborated, "We operate on the theory that too much theory is too much."

"Our teachers, all practicing New Jersey attorneys, instruct in a practical, nuts-and-bolts, 'how-to' method that enables our graduates to be job-ready for their tasks by the time they complete the course," Cutugno said.

The students are taught to interview, investigate, draw legal documents, perform research and assist at trials, among other necessary duties. A full curriculum of legal subjects is offered, she said.

About the future, Cutugno said, "Due to the growing demand we are looking into the possibility of adding classes to meet the ever-increasing need for paralegals."

Cutugno pointed out that the paralegal profession is the fastest-growing field of all occupations, according to U.S. Labor Department statistics. It is contemplated that this growth will continue through the next decade, she added.

"Our students enjoy the manner in which the course is taught; our instructors enjoy teaching; and we enjoy offering the opportunity for education in this ever-expanding field," Cutugno said.

"We look forward to the next 10 years with confidence that we can continue to be of service to the legal community of New Jersey. Our graduates, with the help of our placement service, have obtained jobs in both the private and public sectors. In addition, some have continued their education to law school," she concluded.

The next beginning class for the school is scheduled for Feb. 21. Anyone interested may call 486-0404

Elizabeth Med Center gets top accreditation for school

The School of Radiologic Sciences at Elizabeth General Medical Center has been awarded a five-year accreditation, the maximum time frame that may be recommended by the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology (JRCERT), announced David A. Fletcher, chief operating officer.

The recommendation was forwarded by the JRCERT to the Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation of the American Medical Association, following a review of Elizabeth General's unique dual degree/diploma radiography program.

The JRCERT also voted to authorize an increase in the promas's student capacity at Elizabeth General to a total of 26 students from its current total of 22.

The School of Radiologic Sciences conducts a two-year cooperative program in radiologic technology with Union County College.

Graduates of the program are awarded an associate in science degree from the college and a diploma in radiologic technology from Elizabeth General. A one-year program in diagnostic medical ultrasonography is also offered at the school.

For further information, interested persons may call Alice Harris, program director, at 558-8045.

Psychologist aids pupils, parents

Since 1980, Patricia J. Parsons has been in private practice as a psychologist at 309 Western Drive North, South Orange, working with children and their parents to help them learn new, but practical, approaches to solving children's problems.

The focus is on assisting both parents and children.

Parents learn how to talk with their children in a constructive manner about children's concerns at home, in school and socially. Children learn to try out new and better ways to act in situations which are problematical for them.

Parsons' hours are evenings and weekends, by appointment.

Parsons has a doctorate in psychology from Rutgers University and did her post-doctoral training at the Children's Psychiatric Center, Community Mental Health Center in New Jersey.

A member of the American Psychological Association, Parsons has 11 papers and publications, including a chapter on family treatment of psychiatric patients in a recently-published book.

EDUCATION AND CAREER GUIDE

Wasserman Center helps students, parents, teachers

The Myrna G. Wasserman Educational Center, located in Mountainside and Springfield, is a professional association providing interdisciplinary, diagnostic, therapeutic and enrichment services to children and adults.

The staff is comprised of appropriately-licensed and certified professionals representing a variety of disciplines. The team members interact with each other, as well as parents and teachers, in order to identify and meet the needs of each child.

The center's founder, Myrna G. Wasserman, believes that cooperation and open communication among teachers, parents, other school personnel and allied professionals enhances and ensures the positive growth of children. Each is uniquely important in the work of the others and essential for the educational process, she said.

Wasserman believes that although children are varied in strengths and qualities — but that they all are gifted — it is the educator's responsibility to provide the appropriate environment to foster growth and productivity and stimulate children's attributes.

The staff of the Myrna G. Wasserman Educational Center specializes in:

- Assessment and remediation of learning disabilities;
- Tutoring in all academic subjects;
- Pre-school evaluations;
- PSAT and SAT preparation;
- Teacher workshops; and
- Parent training.

Recently, Wasserman, who is an educational therapist, learning consultant, author and inventor, presented a workshop, "The Inside Scoop on Organizing the Disorganized Student." This workshop was presented by the Washington, D.C., Capital Area Branch of the Orton Dyslexia Society for parents, teachers, clinicians and child-study team members.

Wasserman is the inventor of Write and Sew, an organizational writing tool which enhances the expressive writing skills of elementary and high school students. She is a founder of the Association of Learning Consultants and is currently on the board of directors of the New Jersey Orton Dyslexia Society. In addition, she is a member of the Juvenile Conference Committee of Union County.

MICROBIOLOGY TEST — Sue Hacker of Union identifies salmonella in a test-tube solution at Union County College's microbiology laboratory in Cranford. Biology majors at the school may select concentrations in that area, as well as in botany, environmental science and zoology.

Engine City Tech has 20th anniversary

Engine City Technical Institute, on Route 22 West, Union, one of the nation's few specialty schools of its kind, is observing its 20th anniversary as a diesel mechanics training institute.

First approved by the New Jersey Department of Education in August 1969, Engine City Tech's curriculum has quickly expanded from a basic diesel training.

Classes currently cover everything from diesel engine and drive-train repair, to engine tune-up and troubleshooting, to the full servicing of electrical components — and much, much more.

According to Larry Berlin, the school's director, Engine City Tech's rapid growth can be especially attributed to three things:

"Our classes are limited in size to give each student maximum individual attention and hands-on experience.

As diesel specialists, we can really make sure that our students get the best training possible. Above all, our instructors' extensive diesel experience is back by fully-equipped shops and classrooms."

Because of the quality of Engine City Tech's graduates, companies throughout the diesel industry have increasingly turned to Engine City Tech over the past two decades for thoroughly-trained diesel mechanics.

Berlin added, "Literally thousands of former students across the country, in fields as varied as trucking, marine, industrial and construction, owe their working lives to the intensive training they received at Engine City Tech. Our 20th anniversary is something the entire diesel industry could celebrate."

Vo-tech responding to machine trades resurgence

The machine tool trades are alive and well in Union County.

After a period when much machine trades work was lost to the inexpensive labor costs of foreign countries, and with the decline of the dollar, companies in the area have tightened their belts, upgraded their machines and, as in all other facets of our lives, become computerized.

By using computerized equipment in the areas of drilling, grinding, turning and quality control, Union County-area machine shops are surviving, competing and starting on the road to recovery.

Due to the resurgence of this formerly flourishing trade, a new, highly-technical, skilled work force is required.

Union County Vocational-Technical School (UCV-TS) in Scotch Plains, one of only a few machine trades training programs left in New Jersey, is providing the industry with just this type of individual. By purchasing new equipment, providing for instructor retraining, and retrofitting some of the school's older equipment, the school has been able to provide a program which is up-to-date and on the cutting edge of the newest machining technology.

Students now learn this highly-skilled trade not only on manual versions of machines, but also on their computerized counterparts.

Students with this type of training are being highly recruited by area industry. Just as industry has had to change to meet the challenge of foreign production, UCV-TS has changed to meet the need of local industry.

Persons interested in preparing for a career in this highly technical field should contact the Admissions Office of Union County Vocational-Technical Schools at 889-2000, or stop in at the school, which is located at 1776 Raritan Road, Scotch Plains 07076.

REAL ESTATE

Prepare home before selling, Weichert says

For homeowners who have resolved to sell their houses and trade up to a better lifestyle in the New Year, Weichert Realtors offers tips to prepare your home for a sale.

Weichert is the largest independent residential real estate company in the country, according to trade organizations. The company, which operates more than 200 offices in five states, has local offices in Clark, Union and Westfield.

Here is the company's advice:

- Make sure your front door is clean and painted. This gives a prospective buyer the first impression of your home, so be sure the door looks inviting. A seasonal decoration adds a warm touch.

- Entry halls and vestibules should be free of clutter, clean and well-lit.

- Have windows clean and sparkling. Open draperies and curtains let light in and give your rooms a cheery atmosphere.

- A clean kitchen is essential. Many buyers will judge the cleanliness by the condition of your stove and oven. Make sure the oven is clean, and shine your cooktop. Don't overlook the dishwasher; remove interior water stains and rust spots with a commercial cleaner. Baking soda will help remove stains from countertops. Clean out kitchen cabinets and clear countertops of clutter.

- Pay attention to detail. Faded walls and worn or scratched woodwork reduce the home's appeal. Polish dry-looking wood surfaces and repaint walls if necessary.

- Bathrooms are a focal point, so be sure to repair caulking around the tub and shower stall. Grout and tiles should be free of soap film and fixtures should be polished. If your bathroom has a window, open it.

- Avoid cluttered appearances by removing or storing excess furniture and other items seldom used. Keep newspapers, toys and other day-to-day items picked up. Clear stairways of any objects.

- Make closets look larger by removing or packing away extra items. Buyers are interested in a home with lots of space, and a neat, well-organized closet will look spacious.

- Straighten your laundry area by removing excess clutter. Dark walls

Weichert advises:
Pay attention to detail. Faded walls and worn or scratched woodwork reduce the home's appeal. Polish dry-looking wood surfaces and repaint walls if necessary.

can be brightened with a coat of paint.

- Check major appliances to make sure they work and look well-cared for.

- Make necessary repairs. Take inventory of all details that may need repair. Be sure faucets don't drip, doors are not off hinges and knobs aren't loose. Minor flaws in your home can suggest neglect to the prospective buyer.

- The exterior of your home is just as important as the interior, since it sets the tone for the buyer's first impression. Be sure shrubbery is well-manicured. Paint the exterior if necessary. Check gutters and downspouts. Repair or replace shutters and missing roof shingles.

Once you have done your part in preparing your house for a sale, leave the rest up to your real estate professional. Have as few people as possible home when your house is being shown. This will put the buyer at ease and not distracted by introductions. Keep pets out of the way.

Be polite, but don't strike up conversations with the buyer. If he objects to or remarks about a feature in your home, let the real estate associate handle the objection.

If your home is visited at night, be sure to turn on all lights to give the rooms a light and bright mood.

And last, but not least, price your home properly. In this market, a home's price can mean the difference between a quick sale or a long, drawn-out experience. Consult with the experts on pricing your home competitively.

Real estate firm plan's nation's first free video-magazine

Weichert Realtors has announced plans to offer prospective home buyers the nation's first free video-magazine of homes.

Weichert's "Home Shopper's Showcase," which debuted on television in April 1989 in both the New York and Philadelphia markets, will be offered to the public later this month as a convenient tool to aid in the process of searching for a home.

Weichert, the nation's largest independent residential real estate company, has local offices in Clark, Union and Westfield.

The 30-minute video-magazine will be offered to those searching for a home in a five-state market area, which includes New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and Delaware.

The video-magazine, which will be updated frequently, will showcase about 50 homes in varying price ranges and styles.

Two editions of "Home Shopper's Showcase" will be produced: one for the northern New Jersey, New York and Connecticut area; the other for the central-to-southern New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware area.

"Video is certainly the medium of the '90s," said James C. Murray, Weichert senior vice president of marketing.

"The growing popularity of video cassette recorders (VCRs), combined with the hectic schedules of today's busy home buyers, made the decision of offering a home video-magazine an easy one," Murray said.

According to a July 1989 survey by A.C. Nielson Co., 65.8 percent of all households in the United States have at least one VCR. And in the New York metropolitan area, that figure increases to more than 70 percent.

"Among prospective home buyers, that number is even greater," Murray added.

"Based on the popularity of our televised 'Home Shopper's Showcase,' we know people appreciate the opportunity to preview properties inside and outside in full color," continued Murray.

"The video-magazine format also gives the home buyer the added convenience of comparison-shopping for values in different communities, as well as repeating properties that interest family members. Additionally, buyers are not restricted to tune in at a designated time which may not be compatible with their busy schedules," he said.

Prospective home buyers can call any of the 200 Weichert offices to request a copy of "Home Shopper's Showcase," which then will be delivered or mailed to the individual making the request.

Each week in Weichert's far-reaching newspaper advertising, the availability of "Home Shopper's Showcase" will be promoted.

According to Roger Scommegna, president of TREC Productions of Milwaukee, Wis., Weichert's "Home Shopper's Showcase" will be the nation's first home video-magazine. TREC is a national leader in producing televised real estate programs with 35 shows in major markets across the U.S.

Weichert Realtors has 200 offices in Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, and provides a full range of real estate services, including mortgage, insurance, commercial, corporate relocation, moving services, new homes and land, and rentals.

Insurance booklet ready

The New Jersey Insurance New Service (NJINS), based in Union, has announced that its 1990 edition of "New Jersey Insurance Facts" is now available.

NJINS is a non-profit insurance information association sponsored by 21 property/casualty insurance companies with headquarters or major facilities in New Jersey.

The free, 16-page brochure contains data about New Jersey's property/casualty insurance industry.

Included in the pamphlet is information on New Jersey's auto insurance laws, the state's seat-belt usage rate and traffic accident statistics. The 1990 edition also gives updated facts and figures on such topics as auto safety, auto thefts and arson.

Organizations may order the brochure in quantity, and individuals can order personal copies, by writing Denise Roman or Eileen McCoy at the New Jersey Insurance News Service, 1609 Vauxhall Road, Union 07083, or by calling 687-2828.

Real estate exam class is offered

Preparation for the Real Estate Salespersons' Licensing Examination will be provided through a comprehensive course to be offered starting in February at Union County College.

In addition, a course helping potential test-takers brush up on their applied mathematical skills also will be provided.

The preparatory course, sponsored by the college's Department of Continuing Education, will be offered for non-credit in a 75-hour sequence.

Topics to be discussed will include property rights, contracts and related property instruments, leases and landlord-tenant relations, mortgages, business opportunity sales, the law of agency, license acts and regulations, and other state and municipal laws and rulings.

Participants may select from two time slots — either from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, Feb. 5 through May 9, on the college's Cranford campus; or from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays, Feb. 10 through April 28, at the college's Plainfield Center.

"Mathematics Review for Real Estate," also a non-credit course, will serve as a refresher on basic mathematical operations for potential and existing real estate salespersons.

Topics will include percentages, commission, qualifying buyers, decimals, measurements, and areas. It will be held from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays, March 31 and April 7, on the college's Cranford campus.

Those interested in further information may call 709-7601.

DON'T LET YOUR DREAM HOUSE SLIP THROUGH YOUR FINGERS, GET YOUR HANDS ON THE MORTGAGE LOAN FIRST!

Sounds backwards to some, but at Schlott, we find you the mortgage loan first, then we find you the home of your dreams. That way you know how much house you can afford before you start househunting.

We do it through The Home Mortgage Network, a computerized loan organization system that has access to almost 3,000 mortgage plans.

Our Home Mortgage Network lets you know the mortgage amount and monthly payments you can afford in advance, then provides you with a Power Purchaser Card. As valuable as your most important credit card, the Power Purchaser Card lets you homesearch with the assurance that you have the money to make your dream house a reality.

The best part of all this is that you can find the mortgage and the home — in that order — in one Schlott office.

So call today. We'll not only help you find the home of your dreams, we'll help you keep it in your grasp.

BUSINESS

on the job

Kelly Temporary Services of Union, a division of Kelly Services, Inc., has announced that Kathleen Woolford, has been named supervisor of the year.

In making the announcement, Tom Anton, executive vice president and chief operating officer of Kelly Temporary Services, said Woolford, who works in the Union branch office, was recognized for her outstanding work performance in meeting the needs of their customers and temporary employees.

JEFFREY M. McKEON

Jeffrey M. McKeon of East Rutherford has been appointed technical marketing supervisor for Dock Resins Corporation of Linden.

In his new position, he is responsible for sales and technical service support for the company's line of synthetic resin products.

McKeon, who has been with the company for five years, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's dual-degree program and has bachelor of science degrees in chemical engineering and economics.

McKeon began his career with Dock Resins in the research and development area and later worked in technical marketing.

Debra Matrick, of Springfield, social worker at Family Service and Child Guidance Center, has been appointed to the Board of the Association for the Advancement of Family Therapy in New Jersey.

The association has a membership of over 100 family therapists.

Matrick has worked at Family Service for three years, primarily as a family therapist.

Previously, she worked at Elizabeth General Hospital on the Child and Adolescent Partial Hospitalization program for severely emotionally disturbed youngsters.

DORIS CLAIN

Doris Clain, a veteran real estate professional in the Union area, has joined the Re/Max team as a broker/owner of Re/Max Realty Associates of Union.

Clain has ranked among the state's top producers and has been a member of the New Jersey Association of Realtors Million Dollar Sales Club for five years, the Million Dollar Circle of the Builders' League of South Jersey and the Weichert Presidents Club, and has received awards for highest net volume and highest number of sales.

In 1987 and 1988, Clain received the Silver Million Dollar Club Award.

Kessler to help Bergen schools

The Bergen County Board of Education recently awarded a major contract to Kessler Consulting Services of Springfield to design 17 distance-education classrooms equipped with interactive audio/video systems for the county's schools.

A technology borrowed from teleconferencing used by big business, the classrooms will allow Bergen County students at one or more schools to participate in classes being conducted at other schools without leaving their buildings. Students will be able to see, converse with and naturally interact with other groups taking the classes at remote sites.

The state-of-the-art classrooms are being designed for Bergen County by Dore Kessler, head of the Springfield firm.

Kessler, whose "expertise, professional training and proven reputation in the field" were cited by the Bergen County school board in awarding the contract, describes these facilities as "21st-century classrooms."

Each of the rooms will be equipped with remote-controlled robotic video cameras, TV monitors, microphones, and the means to handle all types of educational material, including computer graphics, videotape, and laser disks, just to name a few.

The equipment in the rooms is designed to be user-friendly, so that even the non-technical person can operate it from a simple push-button panel.

The classrooms will be linked together by a specialized multi-point fiber-optic network provided by New Jersey Bell.

Scheduled for completion in time for the September 1990 school year, the aim of the system is to allow the local school districts to share educational resources, and to afford students the opportunity to participate in courses that might not otherwise be offered at their schools.

Kimberly Quality Care moves office

America's largest nursing-services and home-care company, Kimberly Quality Care, has relocated its regional office to larger quarters at 292 Bloomfield Ave., Montclair.

Kimberly Quality Care serves Union County and nine other counties in northern New Jersey.

Roselle Park residents Debbie Leszczak and Karol Weiland serve as field staff supervisor and on-call coordinator, respectively, for the company.

The company provides skilled nursing care, as well as home health aides, homemakers, and companions, to people recovering from acute illnesses, those suffering from chronic diseases and elderly requiring medical assistance in their homes.

The regional office is headed by Branch Manager Christine Patrick, R.N., who noted that the move is a result of "our rapid growth and the desire for a more central location to better serve our clients in the northern part of the state." There are currently 11 people on staff in the office, and almost 200 field personnel.

Kimberly Quality Care is a nationwide chain with strong local capabilities. There are 300 community-based offices in 41 states and Canada, able to serve hospitals, institutions and 80 percent of all households in North America.

The organization provides such specialized services as infusion therapy, which allows patients on IVs to be care for at home, and "high-tech" treatment for clients needing care for tracheostomies, ostomies, catheters, and pain control.

There are two satellite offices in northern New Jersey, in addition to the Montclair location. One is in Edison and the other, which opened this summer, in Morris Plains.

Each week, personnel from the organization's regional office provides more than 3,000 hours of home care.

Automat Service expands, relocates

Automat Service has expanded and moved its corporate headquarters from Kenilworth to Woodbridge.

According to Richard Brody, president, the firm purchased a 25,000-square-foot building, which has been completely renovated by Murray Construction Co., Inc., of Springfield.

Established in 1932, Automat provides food service to vending machines in cafeterias, hospitals and other industries throughout northern New Jersey and New York. According to Brody, the firm has quadrupled in size over the past several years. "Our new building required extensive refurbishing."
