League renews battle against auto thefts

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Union County League of Municipalities renewed its campaign this week against rampant automobile thefts along Route 22 and elsewhere by endorsing a proposed car theft task force to be coordinated by county and local officials.

A non-partisan organization, the league is comprised of 20 Union County communities who united last year to tackle issues and problems common to all of them. It is headed by Mayor Paul Werkmeister of Linden, with Mayor Robert Viglianti serving as vice president.

Union County Prosecutor John Stamler, Union County Police Chief Richard Mannix and several other officials discussed the task force proposal at length during the league's Saturday meeting, including projected costs, manpower needs and strategic locations which would require special surveillance.

Automobile thefts are especially prevalent in municipalities along the Route 22 corridor, including Union, Springfield and Mountainside, and those crossed by Route 1, such as Linden. The highways afford car thieves easy access to parking lots, as well as quick escape routes back to their home communities.

The majority of car thieves, officials say, come into Union County from Newark and Essex County. They also generally return there after having stolen the cars, authorities say, and either abandon the vehicles or sell them to "chop shops," where the cars are disassembled and parts are sold.

League members had initially discussed the possibility of establishing a task force similar to the Union County Prosecutor's Office Narcotics Strike Force, but determined that the cost of maintaining such an operation would be financially prohibitive to area municipalities.

A more practical task force, according to Mannix, would be modeled after an informal car theft task force which was successfully coordinated by Union Township with assistance from county officials in late 1989, but which was discontinued because of manpower and budgetary constraints.

The proposed task force, explained Mannix, would be supervised by the prosecutor's office and the Union County Police Chiefs Association, with area municipalities supplying manpower support from their own police departments.

Mannix added that the size of the task force, manpower needs, and scope of operations would have to be determined by area chiefs of police in conjunction with the prosecutor's office.

He predicted that the manpower supplied by each municipality would likely be based on the level of need in each community. Mannix estimated that the planned task force would operate in area municipalities two or three days a week, with hours to be formulated based on need.

"It is clearly a major problem in the towns along Route 22 and Route 1," Stamler remarked. He added that while car thefts are not as frequent as narcotics activity, it is still a very serious problem for law enforcement officials and citizens.

Stamler advised the league that certain guidelines would have to be established for task force operations, particularly regarding high-speed chases, so that innocent bystanders would not be injured or killed.

"We support whatever it takes to stop these car thefts," Mayor Werkmeister remarked on behalf of the league. "We also think of this as a county-wide problem and that's what county government is for.

"We'll cooperate 100 percent. This is a problem to all of us. We want to work together. There's nothing more demoralizing then to come home or come from work and find your car gone," he added, disspelling the notion that car thefts are a "victimless

Music Association seeks new talent for the future

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside Music Association, which has supported music and ough for more than three decades, is seeking a new generation of members to help carry on its philanthropic traditions.

The MMA has been staging musical productions annually and semiannually since 1959 to raise money for the purchase of band instruments and other educational materials for students in the Mountainside school

Several scholarships are also awarded each year by the MMA to Mountainside students who have demonstrated exceptional voice and instrumental talents during their elementary school years.

The association originally began as a splinter group from the Mountainside PTA and was formed by parents who hoped to improve music education in the borough. The group is currently comprised of between 40 and 50 members.

In December, MMA members presented Bea Reich, the group's founder and first president, with a resolution honoring the organization's 30-year history. Reich has also been a performer in many association productions.

In November, the association had marked its 30th anniversary with a lavish musical revue titled "Everything Old Is New Again," which featured the song-and-dance talents of more than 50 past and present MMA members. The two-night event drew more than 1,000 people altogether.

Borough Councilman Louis Maas, a former vice president and long-time member of the association, reported this week that many current MMA members, while having been steadfastly dedicated to the group over the years, are planning to retire within the next several years.

Maas explained that the MMA is hoping to recruit more younger people to join the organization, particularly parents of children presently enrolled in Kindergarten through the eighth grade in the Mountainside school district.

These families, according to Maas, would not only bring new energy and talent to the versatile troupe, but would also have the "greatest stake" in the organization's future, since it would be their children who would benefit from any funds the association raised for education.

One of the MMA's most gifted younger members is Jonathan Dayton Regional High School choral director Brenda Kay, who performed a wellreceived rendition of "The Man That Got Away" during the association's tion to everyone to attend our March anniversary show.

The three workshops will focus on different aspects of the use of poetry creation as a therapeutic resource. Safety tips provided to avoid accidents

"Local authorities and the general public can help the United States Postal Service deliver the mail as timely and as safely as possible this winter," says Postmaster William E. 6chaefer of the Westfield Post Office.

Schaefer emphasized the need for ice and snow removal from walkways as a major aid in preventing slips and falls to letter carriers. Slips and falls result in fractured or broken bones, or sprains to letter carriers.

The other main winter hazards that impede mail delivery, according to Schaefer, are ice and snow on streets, roads, driveways, stairways and porches.

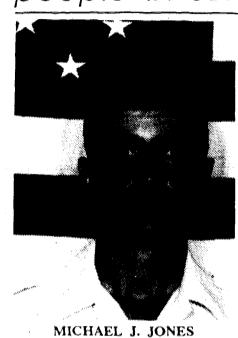

Local road authorities and postal customers are requested by Postmaster Schaefer to keep public and private approaches to residences and mailboxes clean during the winter months.

Last year, according to Schaefer, thousands of letter carriers across the nation were injured because of hazardous conditions on customers'

The cost of winter accidents is high on the list of human suffering. Of equal concern to the public is the financial burden a postal customer may have to bear due to liability for a letter carrier's accident resulting from hazardous conditions on private property.

Schaefer said that when walking and driving hazards are reduced or eliminated, the safety of all members of the community as well as letter carriers are greatly reduced.

Workshop planned

Professional Resources Organization, a local group made up of licensed psychologists and educators, will hold a workshop geared toward helping child caregivers improve their basic skills.

The workshop will be presented at the Springfield Library, located on Mountain Avenue in Springfield, on Saturday, Feb. 10, from 1 to 4 p.m.

A $75 fee includes materials and a refreshment break.

In today's world, where there are so many working mothers, more and more families are in the position of having to hire daytime caregivers for their children, including live-in nannies, au pairs, or babysitters.

Problems often arise when these caregivers manage or discipline children in ways which are not consistent with parents' ways. This leads to friction between the parents and the nanny, as well as providing an opportunity for the children to play both ends against the middle, which is never in the child's best interest.

"Nannies are frequently uneducated with regard to basic child devepment and don't know what to expect from a normal child at a given age," reported Dr. Sue Avedon, a psychologist in the Short Hills area, who has worked extensively with children and families.

"They then either have expectations which are too high, and put pressure on children to perform tasks for which they are not yet ready, or they may infantalize children by being overprotective and not allow the child to master important new skills such as separation, bedtime alone, or the development of language," she said.

Avedon noted an experience with one family's babysitter where she would carry the 11-month-old child

Winter

You can always hear people say

In this season of winter.

Many people think winter is cold and ice,

But, I think that it's very nice. I like this season's brisk air,
That others don't even dare to bear. I used to run to and fro,
In the white, fluffy snow.
But, now some say I'm too old,
Although my childhood is still

The point of this is, never put winter down

Or you'll lose a smile and gain a frown.

Student talks with pride of life with mom

Winifred Phillips of Union, a pretty, 17-year-old senior at Union High School, has a phenomenal talent for one so young. But people have been saying that about Winnie from the time she was learning to walk ... so at what age does her versatility reach its peak?

Since she learned to read and write, she has been writing plays, musicals, books and radio scripts. She also was a child model on television commercials; and she directs, produces, acts, sings, dances, paints, studies the classics, reads and listens.

And now she's ready for college. With all these accomplishments, one would think the 5-foot-61/2 -inch healthy-looking teen-ager with blonde hair and hazel-colored eyes would walk around with her head in the clouds and her dancing feet six inches above the ground. No way! Winnie is very down-to-earth. And when she talks about all that she has done so far in her young life, she is very casual and earnest — and occasionally excited.

What she can't remember, her mother will, and during a recent chat with Winnie and her mother, Winifred Phillips Sr., a kindergarten teacher at Franklin School, Union, one marvels at the warm, loving relationship between the two.

"I've always been very proud of Winnie," says her mother. "And I'm proud of her latest achievement. Recently, she found out that she was nominated by the school for the 'USA Today' All USA High School Academic Team Competition, where 20 students from high schools throughout the country are selected and compete based on their creative endeavors. They are offering a $2,500 scholarship, and there will be a banquet and reception in Washington, D.C., in May. That's when we'll know who won."

"It's some big project," says Winnie. "The high school nominated me for my musicals, 'Common Man' and 'Socrates,' both about the Greek philosopher, which I had staged at the school in evening performances.

"I also went to Drew University in Madison for an interview. I want to major in writing for the musical theater and minor in the classics."

Winnie, who was born in Mobile, Ala., lived in North Carolina for four years, then moved to Union when she was 6 years old. "Even before we moved to Union, when we still lived in North Carolina, Winnie was learning songs by ear and performing them on a xylophone. Actually, she could sing before she could talk," her

Winnie laughs. "It's true. I was singing the melodies of the alphabet before I could talk."

"We would be waiting in the doctor's office, and she was singing away, and I sat there very, very proud. We bought a piano, which later we had shipped up here. She played music on her own."

"I was writing my own songs," says Winnie. "Just by ear."

"You could sing anything to her and she'd play it on the piano. At that time, she didn't take lessons," says her mother. "She just played by ear. When we moved to Union, Winnie started first grade at Battle Hill School. And it was in first grade that she was crowned 'Little Miss Union.'

After she was crowned. Winnie became a television model. "I sent her picture to an agency in New York," says her mother, "and before long, she was being interviewed and was the principal performer on the Pringles commercial and later for Piedmont Airlines." She also modeled for catalogs for major department stores such as Sears, J.C. Penny, K mart, Montgomery Ward, James Way, Bradlees, Caldor, Gaylords, in addition to such company products as Eastman Chemical, Jell-O and more.

"When she was in the second grade, she became my student," explains her mother. "I taught dancing at the Boys and Girls Club in Union. By the end of her ninth year at Burnet Junior High School, she was teaching dance lessons at the club. She had started assisting me and teaching students dance steps.

"That was my first experience with choreography," says Winnie. "It never really was an effort. It was a fun thing to do."

"Mother and I used to sing in church — in St. Michael's at masses during Good Friday and on Christmas with the choir. I also sang a solo as well," recalls Winnie.

Winnie took singing lessons a few years ago with Angela Stokes. She also took acting lessons from David Christopher, keyboard synthesizer with William Santamaria, painting at the Summit Art Studio, playwriting at Montclair State University and piano with Carol Ferri.

The first thing Winnie ever wrote was a novella called "The Golden Shoes." She was in the sixth grade.

"The first writing for which she was acclaimed," says her mother, "was when she won the Children's Radio Theater award called 'Penny Penny Playwriting Contest.' She was 13 at the time:"

"That was done at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts," recalls Winnie. "They flew us to

THE NAME'S THE SAME — Winifred Phillips, 17, left, a Union High School student, poses with her mother, Winifred Phillips, a Union school teacher. Mother and daughter take great pride in each other's accomplishments.

Washington, D.C., and put us up in the presidential suite at the Watergate. It was the first play I'd ever written and it took two months to write it."

Winnie has since written for and/or appeared on The Learning Channel for the New Jersey Institute of Technology, where she composed and performed the theme music, "Positron"; the New Jersey Network, Channel 13, where she won the National Playwright award for a feature story for the "New Jersey Nightly News"; and Suburban Cablevision, Channel 34, where she served as writer-hostess and wrote "Science Fiction: Science Fact," a documentary.

Last year, she composed and performed the theme music "The Governor's Theme" and served as assistant producer at Union Educational Television network, WGM-95, for the Inaugural Broadcast with Gov. Thomas H. Kean. Also, last year, she composed and performed the theme music "Presidential Fanfare," on the Learning Channel, U.S. Department of Education, during an educational conference with President George Bush and eight state governors.

"That was when President Bush came to Union," Winnie says, "and before and after the show, I was running around organizing ... and things like that. It was very exciting."

Winnie says her mother has "a wonderful singing voice. She participates in practically everything I do. She's so good. She's been wonderful to me, and she's always been there offering an incredible amount of guidance ... a very well-rounded person. We even wrote something together and we taped it. It's called 'Alphabet Avenue,' and it was on ED2 Channel 34 and the Learning Channel. It's a musical with 26 alphabet songs for every letter of the alphabet."

"We teach the youngsters and make it fun," says her mother. "Every week I teach the students a new song. Every March, we go to Union High School, and Winnie directs it and helps put the scenery up.

"She's an artist, you know." "Well," says Winnie, "my art teacher, Richard Carmella, taught me. He used to say, 'Well, Winnie, guess you've come here to learn everything ... and you've learned it.' I did a clay bust by myself," she says proudly. "It's very strange looking, and it's sitting on my book shelf."

When she was graduated from Burnet, she received an art award of which she also is very proud. "That was wonderful," beams Winnie, "and I did all the scenery for the Farewell Dance. I was wearing Mr. Carmella's smock, with his face painted on the back of it, and I painted these huge canvases. There were big murals of comets and rockets and planets. I did most of the detail work on it."

"She also worked as an aide at the high school library," says her mother.

"That was great!" replies Winnie. "I spent a lot of time there. I love to read. It's my great passion ... especially science fiction. And I could digest all the Greek classics there. When I started writing 'Socrates,' Mother and I went to all the book stores to do research on the Greek classics."

Winnie, who is a member of the Dramatist Guild and the Screen Actors Guild, also has written and directed plays for the theater at Union High School. She also appeared in the New Jersey Public Theater, Linden Summer Theater and Chatham Community Players Theater. She's won many awards, and has written several brief comedies, which she thought were "great fun."

Late last fall, she wrote a science fiction novelette, "Amazing Grace," and is working on a new musical, "Aristotle," with book, lyrics and

"My mother! She's the most wonderful person I have ever known, the best teacher I will ever have, and the truest friend I will ever know."

Kent to provide education shops

Kent Place School, Summit, repor- Kent Place students, parents, and tedly New Jersey's largest nonsectarian school for girls, will provide answers about educating women Tuesday beginning at 7 p.m. in the Kent Place Theater, 42 Norwood Ave., Summit, when the school family presents "Kaleidoscope: Bringing Girls' Education into Focus." The snow date is Wednesday.

Kent Place Headmistress Arlene Joy Gibson noted that "for a number of years, education researchers such as Myra and David Sadker of American University have studied gender issues in the American education system." An update on research findings concluded that the "chilly climate for women in the traditional co-ed classroom undermines self-esteem and damages morale."

"Since we are committed to singlesex education at Kent Place, we see the gender issue from a different perspective. We give our girls every opportunity to lead and excel while they are with us, and, at the same time, we foster the self-confidence that will help them do the same in the world at large," said Gibson.

The Kaleidoscope event will feature an opening commentary on educating girls by Gibson at 7 p.m. in the theater, followed by two sessions of concurrent workshops on "important issues in women's education."

The workshops will be led by Kent Place faculty members and administrators, including director of College Advising John Ramsey, director of Admissions Kathleen Hanson, Drama Department chairman Robert Pridham, and Athletic Director Tizzie Benthien. They will be assisted by

Topics for the first workshop session, which will run from 7:30 to 8:10 p.m., include "Getting into College," "Innovations in Math," "An Arts Sampler," and "Financing An Independent School Education."

The second session, from 8:10 to 9 p.m., will repeat "Getting into College" and will introduce "Games Women Play," athletics for women, "Writing Across the Curriculum," "Parenting with Kent Place" and "Giving Back," community service in today's world.

"The incredible importance of reexamining how we educate our daughters is underscored by comments made by researchers like David Sadker, who once said that if the cure for cancer is in the mind of a girl being educated in today's traditional co-ed environment, we may never get it. Fortunately, parents do have options such as Kent Place, and the options can be made very affordable through a variety of assistance opportunities," says Gibson.

Kent Place was founded in 1894 by a group of parents who were concerned about providing every educational opportunity for their daughters. The school is known today for its "rigorous curriculum in the nursery through grade 12, its exceptional college placement record, and its awardwinning arts and athletic programs."

The Kaleidoscope event is open to the public. There is no admission charge, it was announced. For directions to the Kent Place campus, one can call the school at 273-0900.

Biblical historian Frank J. Korn of Kenilworth, who is on the staff of Irvington High School and a professor of English, Latin and Italian, has written a new book about the Roman Empire's persecution of the Christian martyrs called "The Tiber Ran Red," published by St. Paul Books & Media, Boston, Mass.

It concerns the early conflict from within and without the church, and the struggle by the early Christians to plant the seed of faith into the soil of a pagan world.

A foreward offered by William F. Buckley Jr. in which he says, "I like especially....the simplicity with which the wonderfully informed Mr. Korn tells the story, the details of which we may have forgotten, however nebulously it remains in our memory that our very distant forefathers made great sacrifices to elevate our vision from the dark paganism even of a society that struggled with the challenges of civil law, the definition of justice and the idea of contract. Mr. Korn's eloquent book should be a part of the curriculum of everyone who is a beneficiary of the great sacrifices he chronicles so eloquently."

on the shelf

The daily life of a Roman in A.D. 150 is presented amidst trials and tribulations and martyrdom. And martyrdom, according to Korn, "means giving witness or testimony, through suffering and death, to one's beliefs."

Korn takes it from there to describe the suffering Christians, the city of Rome itself, and the apostles Peter and Paul, who made the "extreme sacrifice for the Faith" in the Eternal Within 10 chapters, Korn discusses the burial of the martyrs and the martyrdom of the first 30 successors to Peter.

The book should be read by all serious students of religion, and church and religious school libraries should have permanent copies on their shelves of "The Tiber Ran Red."

LONG-TIME FRIENDS - William F. Buckley Jr. and author Frank J. Korn of Kenilworth share a laugh at a recent get-together in New York. Buckley wrote the foreward for Korn's latest book, the recently published 'The Tiber Ran Red.'

Korn has traveled extensively in Italy, and he spends part of each year in the Eternal City.

His books include "Rome, The Enchanted City," which is a documentary of the Italian capital also, as he says, a personal memoir of his days there as a Fulbright Scholar in the late 1960s — "From Peter to John Paul II," a volume of the daily life in the Vatican City, and "Country of the Spirit."

"The Tiber Ran Red" is yet another tribute to his beloved Rome.

The weekend's burglary at Mountainside's Deerfield Middle School, where several classrooms were vandalized, was unfortunately not an uncommon event. This sort of thing regularly happens to schools everywhere — as the recent incident proves, not just in crime-prone neighborhoods — and must not be dismissed as mere mischief.

Police believe that the damage here may have been committed by juveniles. Students have been known to deface a school in retaliation for a poor grade received, to "get even" with a disliked teacher or principal, or simply as an act of youthful

These youngsters fail to realize that vandalism to public school property impacts not only the building itself, but those who commit these acts and their families. It is a crime, even if unsolved, whose price eventually is paid by the perpetrators and those to whom they are closest.

The cost of repairing or replacing materials, desks and equipment damaged by vandalism is absorbed by local taxpayers, which often includes the parents of those who commit the damage.

In addition, school property lost to vandalism may deprive other youngsters, perhaps the culprits' own brothers or sisters, of educational opportunities. Again, innocent people are the victims.

School vandalism — in fact, vandalism in general, no matter where it is directed — is a senseless and self-degrading means of venting frustration or of dealing with temporary grievances. It solves no problems, achieves no goals and penalizes everyone.

Mountainside forges into the '90s

By ROBERT VIGLIANTI Mayor

The following is the mayor's annual address to the residents of Mountainside, given on Jan. 2.

Dear Fellow Resident: 1989 was a very good year for the borough of Mountainside! It was a year filled with many accomplishments by many of the borough's various departments.

The list is so long and exciting that I felt not only should these accomplishments be discussed at our reorganization meeting but they should be shared with all residents.

Tonight we are holding Mountainside's 96th reorganization meeting. As in years past, this meeting again will set our course for the new year. Even more importantly, we will be setting the course for a new decade.

We will not only acknowledge those who have served our community so faithfully in the past, but will welcome new volunteeers to carry on the tradition of good government in Mountainside. Always remember that all members of council and all boards are true volunteers; none receives a salary.

Before we discuss each borough department and commission, I would like to thank publicly George Novitt, Bill McNamara, Henry Largey, and Frank Hiljer. These four have given years of unselfish service to the borough. We will later this evening present each with a resolution of appreciation.

We will also welcome into the borough's family of volunteers Patricia Connolly, James Debbie Sr. and Albert D'Amanda, each of whom will carry on the tradition of community involement with their new assignments: Pat Connolly and Al D'Amanda on the Board of Adjustment, and Jim Debbie on the Shade Tree Commission.

Let us proceed with reviewing how each department within the borough functioned during 1989. We will start with the borough's largest department:

POLICE: 1989 saw many changes in our Police Department.

We have recently hired four new police officers, including our first female officer, Dorothy Sullivan. With the hiring of these new officers, less the officers who have left our service, our department has been increased by one, bringing our total to 21 officers. We also employ four civilian dispatchers and a police secretary.

1989 saw a 65 percent increase in arrests for drunk driving, 50 percent reduction in attempted burglaries and a 275 increase in arrests for possession of stolen vehicles.

Our ongoing cooperation with the state Division of Motor Vehicles in carrying our motor safety road checks resulted in 1,647 motor vehicle violations issued by the department. The Police Department worked closely with the Union County Task Force in combating the increase of stolen cars.

Working very closely with the Police Department is our MUNICI-PAL COURT.

Our court has collected, in 1989, $238,895 in revenue as of Nov. 30, 1989, representing the issuance of 5.420 summonses. Our court is using a new computer system which allows them to process work in two hours that took two days when processing manually.

Through the generosity of a local businessman, Howard Massler, our entire Police Department received the most up-to-date body armor.

LIBRARY: It has been a very good year for our library. You will be pleased to note the following increases in library services: Expanded programs such as on-site books at the pool and Manor Care, and a new TV and VCR with an increasing videotape selection.

Local Assistance Board: Most of

They are responsible for complying with various county and state programs and serve approximately four families.

SHADE TREE: A dedicated group of citizens responsible for all the borough-owned trees. This group helps Mountainside retain its description of a "tree-lined community."

HISTORIC PRESERVATION: This year saw a successful fund drive and, most important, the inclusion of the Hetfield House in the National Registry.

SOLID WASTE/RECYCLING: Since coming to Mountainside on Sept. 11, 1989, our new director of Public Works, Walter DiNizo, has been focusing his attention on the leaf collection program and the expanding of our capabilities to provide an expanded level of services for our residents.

1989 saw Mountainside's first leaf collection program. We sold approximately 19,000 biodegradable bags and 1,100 residents participated.

With the exception of a few problems, the program was well-received and a success. We are also applying for a Clean Communities Program grant of $10,936, which when granted, will be used mainly for tools and equipment needed for a litter pick-up program.

Other new programs will be discussed in the 1990 portion of this

PLANNING BOARD AND BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT: The Planning Board has completed our new master plan and is presently working on the new zoning ordinance. They have also responded to the new cross acceptance program as mandated by the state. The Board of Adjustment has and will continue to protect our zoning and environment.

Even though we are losing three highly-qualified members of this board, you can rest assured that with the remaining talented and dedicated members together, with the two new appointees, this board will carry on its well-earned reputation.

It is a result of the fine planning of both of these boards that many think of Mountainside as a totally residential community. Many are very surprised to find a large amount of corporate headquarters and local businesses that thrive in Mountainside.

One new major corporation that chose Mountainside as the location for its United States Headquarters was Chinon. There is not a great deal of turnover in the business community due to Mountainside's desirable location, setting, and stable tax rate. Mountainside continues to have one of the lowest tax rates in the county.

SENIOR CITIZEN COORDI-NATOR: Helen Rosenbauer's new office is the mayor's office next to the main entrance fo Borough Hall. Helen is responsible for the printing of the seniors' newsletter and the running of the blood pressure screening program. She is here to assist any senior on any problem and works closely with all senior organizations in town.

RECREATION: The Recreation Commission purchased a new computer system which allows for the printing of the high-quality newsletter, bulletins, senior citizen calendars, and brochures. This new computer also replaced the manual bookkeeping system used at the pool. The Recreation Commission is sponsoring an adult square dance club and an adult duplicate bridge group, as well as their normal programs and

The pool had a safe, successful year. Overall membership and revenues increased while there was a drop in total attendance.

Our swim team placed second in an 18-team league. Our pool was the host of the New Jersey-Ontario Diving Exchange held in town for the past 25 concrete apron, replacing of building panels, purchasing of new chairs and trash receptacles and the addition of portable lifeguard chairs.

CODE ENFORCEMENT AND CONSTRUCTION CODES: For the first time in recent history, all of these inspections and enforcement are being handled by in-house professionals. There have been training programs for the Fire Department and staff of both Children's Specialized Hospital and Manor Care Nursing Home.

EMERGENCY MANAGE-MENT: Mountainside not only has its complete plan in operation, but I am happy to say that through the efforts of its director, Ron Romak, along with Mike Duffy and Todd Turner, we were one of the first communities to complete and have our program approved by both the county and RESCUE SQUAD: The squad had a very successful year. Their calls have increased significantly with the opening of Manor Care. Our squad still needs volunteers.

FIRE DEPARTMENT: Again we have enjoyed a fire-safe year, thanks to the dedication of our Fire Department. Their new computer has enabled the department to maintain their records and reports in a new, more efficient manner.

ENGINEERING: Besides doing the normal day-to-day work, our Engineering Department has worked on the new water line placed on Route 22 West, and has worked with both the county and state to continue our progress on the red lights at Summit Road/Summit Lane, Springfield Road/Mill Lane and Mountain Avenue/New Providence Road.

ADMINISTRATION: There have been significant changes within this department during the past year, the most important of which has been the addition of a major computer system installed early in 1989. This system now allows the borough computer access to budget and accounting, purchasing, tax collection, spread sheets, word processing, ongoing tax assessments and the ability to use the state construction code program.

This past year also saw a change in our primary financial institution, and change in our health insurance program with a savings of $40,000 to $50,000 per year with no loss in coverage. We have also added a new copy machine and a FAX machine.

Our strong financial condition was once again underscored by an excellent annual audit. Mountainside 2000 — Sense of •Mabel Young Award. •Baby John campaign.

•"Nature of Mountainside" program. Mountainside assisted in the creation of the Union County League of Municipalities. POLICE: The 1990s will see major changes taking place within our Police Department. We have presently several officers who are reaching retirement age. We will be seeing a younger department in the future. We will also see advancements in police technology; dialing 911 at the time of any emergency will be in place in the next few years.

We will see the Police Department advancing in the field of computers. Our present physical space dedicated to the Police is inadequate. We must start to give consideration to their future space needs.

LIBRARY: 1990 will see major changes in our library. New expanded hours will start shourtly - Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sundays 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. through May.

Summer Saturday hours will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. In January, a new FAX service will be ready to provide information to both our residents and business.

SOLID WASTE/RECYCLING: Our newly-formed Public Works and Facilities Department will expand their programs for 1990. The department will:

•Start cutting our road depressions and fill.

•Maintain all borough lawns and shrubs. •Increase our sanitary sewer maintenance program. •Improve the leaf collection program.

•Increase storm drain maintenance. With this increase of services and future plans to handle our own recycling, the department will need a location to house their equipment.

SENIOR CITIZEN COORDI-NATOR: As the needs for this service continue to grow, Mountainside will address these needs with a review of staff and facilities. Our population is reaching a higher age group that is entitled to new and expanded RECREATION: This department will continue to expand and change its programs as the need arises.

The pool will see major construction this spring with the addition of a new deck area which will increase their seating capacity. The Recreation Department has planned the resurfacing of the Deerfield School tennis courts and an upgrade of the playground area between Deerfield School and Our Lady of Lourdes.

EMERGENCY MANAGE-MENT: This year, a new emergency communication radio will be added to the program.

RESCUE SQUAD: The squad is presently working out of a building that is too small for its needs. Not only does it lack the necessary space to properly house its two ambulances, its has virtually no space for storage and training.

This building also lacks proper bathroom facilities; remember, your Rescue Squad members sleep in the building at night to provide you with a faster response. This council is committed to assisting the squad in renovations and enlargement of its facility during this year.

FIRE DEPARTMENT: The department is in need of new turnout gear. We are presently going out to bid on this equipment and will have each firefighter newly equipped by the spring. ENGINEERING: With the creation of the position of Public Works and Facilities director, and considering the fact that our community is almost fully developed, it has been determined that we no longer require the services of a full-time engineer. Starting as of this evening, we will employ a part-time, fully-licensed engineer. This will not lessen any sevices that this department provides.

ADMINISTRATION: This year will see the continuation of programs that were started in 1989. They will continue to expand the use of the computer in the areas of purchasing, budgeting, fiscal analysis, tax collection and assessment.

As always, staff will be offered opportunities for professional education and skills enhancement. We will also see Mountainside receiving its own television station.

As you can see, there are many areas of improvement that are being implemented.

Good government requires learning from yesterday... providing for today... and planning for tomorrow. As Mountainside proceeds toward her 100th birthday, this council will plan and prepare her for the year 2000 and

County adds jail officers; PBA wants more

By SHARON CATES

The president of PBA Local 199. the union which represents the 120 corrections officers presently working in the Union County Jail, has criticized as inadequate the county Board of Freeholder's decision last Thursday to add 10 corrections officers to the county payroll.

Michael Sica, head of Local 199, contended that 10 positions, which is less than half of the 22 that William Tisdall, director of the county's Department of Public Safety requested, is an insufficient number if the facility is to operate safely.

The freeholders explained that they would review the need for any additional officers as the budget process

The new corrections officers positions were included in the 1990 executive budget.

The increasing number of inmates being held in the Union County Jail and the impending opening of the Ralph Oriscello Correctional Facility has justified the need for additional corrections officers in the county, according to County Manager Joseph Martin.

Sica contended that the new facility - which was orginally expected to be occupied in December, but still remains unoccupied due to problems with a subcontractor - will require more officers than the old jail to oper-

Sica explained that the additional officers are needed due to the way the new facility has been constructed. In the new facility, the inmates will be held in bi-level pods that require two corrections officers at all times. according to Sica, who added that the facility must be staffed 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. In addition to the officers in each pod, Sica explained that other officers are needed to transport inmates to various locations throughout the facility.

Sica stated that there would always be some overtime within the corrections department, due to vacations and illness. However, he said, the excessive overtime that presently exists could be cut down if adequate staffing was allocated.

The PBA local president also explained that the 22 officers originally requested represented the number of officers needed "just to open the new jail."

"We are not going to go into the new facility if it's not safe," Sica said. "We want the board to make an agreement to allocate more officers, and we want that agreement in writing, so we can hold them to it and we are not faced with empty promises."

Sica claimed that ideally, 50 officers are needed to safely operate the new facility. He explained that the facility would, however, be able to operate with 25 additional officers.

"The Division of Corrections can justify all positions needed to minimally staff the new jail," Sica said. "However, operating the new jail under the minimum staffing requirements will place both inmates and officers' lives in danger. Money cannot replace lives.

"To safely and effectively run the new jail, 25 corrections officers are needed," Sica said. "This is not an inflated staffing proposal.

"We were going to settle for 22 corrections officers just to open the facility," Sica added. "But, there is a big difference in running the jail and operating it safely and securely."

The additional officers will help cut down on the excessive overtime that corrections officers are presently working, according to Sica.

In 1989, the county paid approximately $1.9 million on overtime for corrections officers. That figure is expected to be duplicated in 1990. The 10 new positions will not deflate the present overtime situation, according to Sica. He contended that the overtime problem will not be alleviated until sufficient officers are

"I agree with the PBA that additional officers are needed." Martin said. "As the budget process goes forward, we will document those additions to the board.

"I'm not sure what the 'right' number is," Martin added. "I am sure that there will always be a healthy disagreement, regarding that number, between the PBA and the freeholder

Prosecutor pursues parole revocations

For the one-year period ending last June 30, the Union County Prosecutor's Office led the state in prosecutor's parole revocation applications, with 28 percent of the state total.

Union County Prosecutor John H. Stamler said that he expects that his office will probably more than double that figure when the current parole statistics years terminates on June 30, Stamler said that his office had its most active year of involvement in two major areas of the parole process.

Stamler noted that by statute, each county prosecutor is afforded the opportunity to request that the state Parole Board initiate parole revocation procedures concerning parolees who have been arrested and charged with a new criminal offense while on parole.

During 1989, the prosecutor indicated that his office had responded to 196 notices from the Department of Corrections, Bureau of Parole, each indicating that a parolee had been rearrested. Approximately 60 percent of those rearrests involved new drug charges.

Stamler said that in 117 such cases, his office had requested the implementation of accelerated parole revocation procedures. Normally, parolees who are rearrested are admitted to bail unless the Bureau of Parole files a parole warrant based upon alleged technical violations of the requirements of the parole system.

The county prosecutor has the authority to initiate revocation proceedings based upon new criminal charges. If the prosecutor's application is accepted by the state Parole Board, the parolee may be arrested by the Bureau of Parole and held without bail until probable cause and final revocation proceedings take place.

In the other significant area involving the parole process, Stamler noted that during 1989 his office responded to the Parole Board in 410 cases of inmates who were becoming eligible for parole. Of that total, the prosecutor filed formal objections in 199 cases.

Each such review requires that the prosecutor first obtain a pre-parole package from the Parole Board which describes the inmate's progress, or lack of progress, while serving his sentence. The package also provides a history of the inmate's involvement in the criminal justice system and provides the prosecutor with the information on which he can make a determination as to whether an objection to parole is appropriate.

Under the law, Stamler said, an inmate is to be released on parole upon his eligibility unless it can be shown that if released there is a likelihood that he will commit further criminal acts.

"Sometimes, it's very frustrating to. find that there is no current basis to object to parole, but we have to live within the statutory framework of the parole system," Stamler said.

"If we file objections merely based upon a kneejerk reaction, the Parole Board would lose respect for our recommendations," he added.

Stamler noted that for several years he has been sending copies of his parole objection letters to the state legislators for the district in which the crimes have occurred, as well as to the police chiefs.

Dayton wrestlers suffer first loss

Things were tough all over for the Jonathan Dayton Regional sports teams last week.

The wrestlers suffered their first defeat of the season to perennial power Roselle Park, and the boys' and girls' basketball teams were each beaten twice.

WRESTLING

Roselle Park's Ron Jones pinned Mike Montanari at 4:32 of the 171-pound bout on Saturday to hand the 'Dawg matmen their first loss after eight straight victories.

The 35-25 final boosted Roselle Park's record to 5-1-1.

It figured to a long afternoon for Dayton almost from the outset. After Dante Puorro got coach Rick Iacano's grapplers off to a good start with a quick pin of Park's Mike Demaio at 103 pounds, the Panthers' Bob McCafferty stunned the home crowd in Springfield by decisioning previously undefeated Jason Yee, 7-6, at 112. Yee had entered the contest with a sparkling 11-0-1 record.

A 10-0 major by Pete Carpenter at 125 and a pin by Chris Moreno at 130 kept the 'Dawgs in the match, but Roselle Park's strength in the upper weight classes proved too much for Dayton. Only Dan Murphy at 152 and heavyweight Scott Adderty, the latter by forfeit, could manage victories for the home team over the last eight

The 'Dawgs fared much better earlier in the week against 3-3 Watchung Hills.

Dayton swept the first eight bouts as Carpenter and 119-pounder Kevin Delaney registered pins. Murphy, moving up a class to 160, also sent his opponent to the canvas.

Dayton benefited from four Watchung forfeits and also received technical falls from Chris Moreno at 135 and John Maxemchuk at 140 and a decision from Mike Masi at 145.

The 'Dawgs were slated to meet neighborhood rival David Brearley Regional last night.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Dayton's second win of the season appeared to be within reach Friday against an up-and-down Ridge squad, trailing 55-53 late in the game.

But the homestanding Red Devils were deadly on the foul stripe in the last 1:21, particularly Mike Pascarella who canned all six of his free throws for the game. Ridge, 6-7 on the season, tallied eight of the game's last nine points to win, 63-54.

Joe Perez fired in 16 points and Brandon Giordano contributed 13 points and 11 rebounds, but the young Dayton team slipped to 1-11 for the season. Ken Warmen led Ridge with Earlier, Dayton fell 56-41 to Immaculata. A 19-10 margin in the fourth quarter allowed the visiting Spartans to pull away after the 'Dawgs had kept it close for the first three periods.

Giordano turned in another good effort with 17 points and seven rebounds. Jamie Schutz snared eight rebounds for Dayton. Chris SanGiovanni poured in 20 for the Spartans.

The 'Dawgs met Arthur L. Johnson Regional Tuesday and play host to awesome Roselle tomorrow night. GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Dayton forward Jennifer Frances pumped in 23 points, but it wasn't enough to counter the balanced attack of a good (9-4) Ridge team on Friday and the Lady Bulldogs dropped a 39-33 decision.

Frances' shooting helped the homestanding Dayton squad take a 23-18 halftime lead, but Danielle Dourney brought Ridge roaring back with six of her 14 points in the third quarter, when the Lady Bulldogs were outscored 14-4.

The loss left Dayton's season record at 6-7.

Earlier in the week, Immaculata's fast break proved way too much for the Lady Bulldogs to handle in a 74-28 blowout on the Somerville school's court.

Immaculata outscored Dayton 40-11 in the middle periods of the foul-filled contest.

The deep and talented Lady Spartans saw 13 players score. Frances and center Lauren Meixner each netted nine points for Dayton.

Coach Art Krupp's team took on Arthur L. Johnson on Tuesday. The Lady Bulldogs will face Roselle Catholic this afternoon at home, and tomorrow they travel to Roselle.

UPTIGHT — The referee gets a good look, but it's no pin for Dayton Regional's Kevin Delaney, top, against Roselle Park's John Petrosky in Saturday's wrestling match. Petrosky rebounded to win a 9-3 decision.

SHORT WORK — Dante Puorro, top, of Dayton Regional makes Mike Demaio of Roselle Park his latest victim in Saturday's wrestling match. Puorro pinned his opponent in

Wins show Bears aren't in hibernation for winter

Kim Eagan, Scott DuBeau and Sterling Williams lifted their respective teams to victories in this week's sports highlights at David Brearly Regional High School in Kenilworth.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL A tough Brearley defense shut out Roselle Park (1-12) in the third period as the Lady Bears (7-4) coasted to a 37-25 win in Kenilworth on Friday. Eagan dropped in six points in the 10-0 third quarter for the winners and finished with a game-high 15.

Earlier in the week, Eagan tallied the Brearley football team in the fall, showed his versatility by leading the Bear cagers with 26 points in a 66-49 triumph over Roselle Park on Friday.

Williams helped to break open a close 42-36 game with 14 big points in a 24-point fourth period for the visiting Bears.

Matt Dolly and Keith LeBlond each chipped in 16 to help coach Joe Lafferty's team go over the .500 mark at 7-6. Roselle Park dipped to 6-7 for the campaign.

Earlier in the week, a strong New quarters and went on to bury the Bears, 52-32.

Arthur L. Johnson Regional's Rich Velottin in 1:59 of their bout Saturday in Clark to give Brearley a hard fought 32-28 victory over the Crusaders.

The battle of evenly-matched teams left the Bears at 5-3-1 and the Crusaci ers at 5-3.

The lead changed hands in each of the last four bouts as the teams swapped pins. Chris Layden at 171 pounds kept Brearley within striking distance of the home team by registering a second-period fall.

Sophomore Bob Taylor, who's been most impressive at 145 pounds with a 10-1-1 record this year, pinned John Bimson in 1:19. The Bears also got points from 140-pounder Mike Wright's major, and decisions by Chris Sapienza at 112, Amadeo Kaminski at 130 and Victor Verno at Coach Ron Ferrara's Brearley team wrestled a tough Jonathan Dayton Regional squad last night, and next the Bears travel to New Providence for a Saturday night match.

Hot Stove dinner warms fans

By MARK YABLONSKY

It was more than fitting that recordhigh temperatures for Jan. 17 were set last Wednesday across the state, even though the hundreds on hand at the 54th annual Union County Baseball Association (UCBA) Hot Stove League Dinner would never have been left out in the cold, regardless.

An affair that is always a welcome respite from the dreary winter months, last week's dinner at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union was highlighted by the induction of six present and former Union County residents into the UCBA's Hall of Another highlight was the presentation of high awards to a list of 16 county athletes, headed by Kenilworth's Tony Siragusa, the University of Pittsburgh's defensive tackle who is a good bet to be selected relatively early in the upcoming NFL spring draft, according to most accounts.

Siragusa, a major force behind Pitt's recent appearance in the John Hancock Bowl who is fully recovered from major reconstructive knee surgery, was presented with the Chris Zusi Memorial Award as Union County's Outstanding Male Athlete for 1989.

Union's Bonnie Kirk, meanwhile, received the Joseph P. Lombardi Memorial Award as the county's Outstanding Female Athlete; and Lori Baykowski of Linden, who spun two no-hitters for last year's Linden High softball team, took home the UCBA's Memorial Scholarship. Baykowski presently attends the University of Delaware, and Kirk, a member of last fall's District III Mid-Atlantic Conference all-star field hockey team, is a junior at Messiah College in Grantham, Pa., where she also batted over .400 last spring for the softball team.

Another major award went to singer John Amirante of Plainview, N.Y., who won the Jerry Malloy Memorial Achievement Award in recognition of the support he has given the UCBA. Amirante also sang the national anthem prior to the dinner, and did so again at the National Hockey Leagur All-Star game this past Sunday in Pittsburgh.

Others cited included Chris Tokarski of Roselle Park for the Herm Shaw Memorial Award as the county's Most Valuable Scholar/Athlete, and Linden's Pete Fiorini, who was the county's American Legion Most Valuable Pitcher honoree, due to his efforts for last summer's Roselle Post No. 229 legion squad.

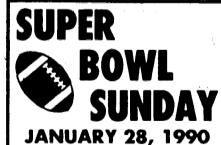

And, of course, the six to gain entry into the UCBA Hall of Fame are former major leaguer Robert Malkmus of Union, Ed Palmieri Sr. of Elizabeth, William H. Wright of Shelter Island, N.Y., Joseph M. Christoff of Linden, Mildred E. Deegan of Pinellas Park, Fla., and Joe Duff, a former All-State outfielder for Cranford

But this year's dinner also received the added benefit of humor, much of it

HOT STOVE LEAGUE DINNER guests last Wednesday in Union included, from left, former major leaguer Bill "Moose" Skowron, University of Pittsburgh football star Tony Siragusa of Kenilworth and former major leaguer Jay Johnstone. coming from former major leaguer Jay Johnstone, one of two guest speakers on hand, along with former Yankee slugger Bill "Moose" Skowron.

Johnstone, who was something of a Roger McDowell-type prankster throughout much of his major league career, entertained the audience of roughly 550 with several anecdotes and quips, as well as one particular story of a spring training physical of his with the Dodgers that brought about the kind of laughter last year's toastmaster, Sam Lombardi, usually Skowron, crew cut and all, doesn't have that kind of wit, but his recollection of his days in the big leagues with a particular fond memory of his late Yankee teammate, Joe Collins, standing out the clearest - is as entertaining as that of Johnstone's.

Teammates on the California Angels in Skowron's final active season of 1967, both men, while different in approach, did seem to share a clear disdain for today's high, over-inflated salaries in the major leagues, in which players of only average caliber often earn better than $2 million per year.

For those who are too young to remember, the average yearly major league salary in 1966, the year Johnstone made it to the bigs with California, was less than $10,000.

"I think Skowron spoke from the heart and I think Johnstone's an accomplished speaker and a come- ing next year's dinner shortly, intends dian," said UCBA President James to make sure that the 1991 event is no the organization's Hall of Fame last year. "And that was the main idea of having them both at the dinner. They both did what we wanted them to do."

The dinner's chief organizer, Iozzi also noted that Johnstone, funny though he may be, is also quite serious about promoting the national pastime, and particularly at lower levels. In fact. Johnstone, who earlier in the day had visited Mickey Mantle's Restaurant in Manhattan, raised $185 for the UCBA by auctioning off an autographed baseball he had received from the Hall of Famer. And that money, an appreciative Iozzi said, was placed into UCBA coffers for the purpose of aiding the county's various summer baseball leagues.

Johnstone, a resident of Pasadena. Calif., and a broadcaster with NBC, among other things, also was dead serious when he praised Siragusa and Baykowski for their achievements, as well as the need for organizations like the UCBA to "keep this country as strong as it is today."

Siragusa, the former state heavyweight wrestling champion and All-State football selection for Brearley, said earlier, by the way, that while it is "frustrating waiting" to see where he'll be going after the draft, he has no particular choices of teams.

"I just look forward to playing in the NFL," he said.

And Iozzi, who will begin organiz-Iozzi, who was himself inducted into less entertaining.

Grammy winner has a hit album

Ear-Pleaser: Carole King, who, in the 1970s, was the first woman to capture the top four Grammys of the year - Best Song, Best Record, Best Album, and Best Female Vocalist -has recorded on the Capitol label. "City Streets," her first album in five

The album proves that she continues to be a force in pop music. It is not a new beginning for Carole King, but rather a continuation of a career that spans almost three decades. The music on "City Streets" is both fresh and in touch with the times.

The songs have more of a rock 'n' roll edge than Carole's previous work - the result of spending time in her native New York after many years of living in Idaho. All the feelings of the "street" are captured - the joy, despair, decay and hope. Co-produced by King and newcomer Rudy Guess, the album features the first single. "City Streets," as well as a new rock/ pop gem, "Sweet Life," and the simple, affecting, "Someone Who Believes In You.

"City Streets" also reflects the work of someone who has taken time off to pursue other interests. Her blossoming acting career has included film, appearing in and scoring "Murphy's Romance," television, and stage work - in both New York and Los Angeles, most recently, Marsha Norman's "Getting Out in Los Angeles."

The impact Carole King's body of work has had on pop and rock 'n' roll music is immense. From her first No. 1 single, "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow" by The Shirelles, contidisc 'n' data

Whether you're having an intimate dinner for two, a lively gettogether with friends, or a night out with the family, the Ground Round in Springfield is the dining spot you're looking for.

The restaurant, located at 380 Route 22, across from the Channel Home Center, features a winning combination of good food, friendly atmosphere and lively entertainment for all ages. Add to that a reasonably priced menu and attentive, courteous service and you just can't miss.

Ground Round has a bright, lighted interior, complemented by paneled and pastel walls, hanging plants and such novelty items as a jukebox and popcorn maker.

Ground Round offers a wide variety of tasty dishes for all palates. For the meat-and-potatoes fan, there's a choice for six succulent steak platters, charbroiled to order and accompanied by a baked potato, fries or rice pilaf and soup or salad. Entrees include the filet mignon, 16 oz. T-bone or choice of two sirloin steaks daily.

Delicious barbecued rib, chicken and burger platters are available as well. On the lighter side, the Ground Round offers a tasty salad menu sure to please anyone. The eatery also has a large children's menu featuring many of Ground Round's favorite entrees in miniature portions.

Ground Round doesn't forget the seafood lover either - and counts Golden Gulf Shrimp, the Golden Clam Platter, and fried flounder fillet among its specialties.

For especially hearty seafood appetites, there is the Hook, Line and Sinker, which combines all three of the above in a tasty platter; and for those who prefer a spicier entree, there are the charbroiled shrimp and swordfish selections, served with authentic Cajun seasoning — a tantalizing blend of peppers, garlic and oregano.

To top off any meal, Ground Round offers a mouth-watering selection of scrumptious desserts, everything from the traditional hot apple pie to New York-style cheesecake to the richly satisfying Mint Chocolate Chunk Pie — a cold and crunchy delight featuring mint chocolate and vanilla ice-cream in a cookie crust and draped with hot fudge.

More than just a restaurant, Ground Round provides nightly specials and varied entertainment for its patrons. On Mondays and Tuesdays, it's "all-you-can-eat" night with fried chicken wings for only $6.95. Tuesday is also a special night for little diners, when kids pay just one cent per pound of their own weight for their meal.

On Wednesday and Friday, it's all-you-can-eat fish or clams, accompanied by potato and coleslaw, for $4.75 and $5.99, respectively. Thursday's special is $1 off the eatery's specially ground burger platter which includes soup or salad, choice of potato, onion rings, fresh fruit garnish for $5.50.

There is nightly face-painting fun for the kids at Ground Round, with balloons handed out by jovial mascot "Popcorn the Bear." For the older crowd, comedian-musician Rich Meyers entertains at Ground Round every Saturday night. Friday night, Ground Round offers a DJ and dancing.

Ground Round, which opens at 11 a.m. daily, also offers its "red-flag" businessmen's lunch every weekday from 12 to 2 p.m. Happy Hour, lasting from 3 to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday, features discount drinks, plus free hors d'oeuvres and buffet in the GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Avoid throwing past grievances at your partner. Trust his or her good intentions and agree to forgive and forget.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A competitor on the job has hit you with his best shot. Now he will start running out of steam. Lay low this week and show off your best efforts next week.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Keep your mind on the task at hand, whether it is on the job or on the road. This is the week to accomplish small goals at work or around the house. Save daydreaming for the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Beware of friends and co-workers who seem to eager to please. Seek valuable advice from those who are a little skeptical and have a good sense of humor.

Winter activities include demonstrations of fiber

Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mountain Ave., Westfield, Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. Volunteer Mary Jane Allen will demonstrate how "thread was made from spinning, a process whereby fiber is drawn out and twisted into thread." The winter months provided more time for spinning wool and flax fibers into woolen and linen threads during the 18th and 19th centuries in New Jersey.

The inventory taken of Joseph Cory's estate in 1802 includes three pairs of wool cards, used for prepar-

Come home to rich, hearty soup

There's nothing like coming in from the cold to a crackling fire and the rich aroma of homemade soup simmering on the stove. Nothing warms the soul quicker or tastes better than a hearty soup, especially if it's Mom's.

Soup appeal has always been universal, and traditional recipes have lasted through the centuries. And, according to the November/December 1989 issue of "Philip Morris Magazine," as the vogue of nouvelle cuisine tapers off, these one-dish meals are being adapted by American cooks and are making a comeback. From a Russian borscht to a robust Italian minestrone, soup has become a dish to complement anyone's table year-

Soups today truly reflect the ingenuity of the everyday cook, using a wealth of available vegetables. Also, soups can be made in large quantities and frozen for later use. They can be a real treat for today's working person who still wants to savor a homecooked meal, and they are an economical way to feed a large group.

Making good soups is not difficult. The trick is determining which ingredients work well together. The soup pot should never be a haphazard catchall for whatever one has around. Each vegetable's character should be respected. A good stock is a cook's best friend. It makes a new cook a good one, and a good cook, a great one. However, while a homemade stock does produce a more full-bodied soup, great results can be achieved with a doctored commercial broth or a bouillon-cube broth, as long as the vegetables are very fresh. Fresh produce is the most important ingredient. Fortunately, we have access to the basic ingredients of many wonderful soups and stocks: all-season vegetables such as carrots, onions, celery and potatoes. Here is a recipe for one of the season's best from "Perla Meyers' Seasonal Kitchen" Fireside/Simon & Schuster, 1989.

ROOT VEGETABLE SOUP 2 large leeks, white part only

4 tablespoons unsalted butter

21/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour

6 cups homemade chicken stock 3 medium carrots, peeled and cubed 3 medium turnips, peeled and cubed 2 medium parsnips, peeled and cubed 2 medium red potatoes, peeled and

2 hearts of Bibb lettuce, leaves separated and rinsed

1½ to 2 cups fresh spinach leaves. stemmed and rinsed Salt and white pepper to taste

1/2 cup heavy cream Garnish: 2 tablespoons finely minced chives and parsley 1. Cut leeks in half lengthwise and then crosswise into thin slices. Run under warm water in colander to remove all traces of sand. Drain and set aside.

2. In large casserole, melt butter over low heat. Add flour and cook, stirring constantly for one minute without browning. Add chicken stock and whisk until well-blended.

3. Add reserved leeks, carrots, turnips, parsnips and potatoes. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer until vegetables are almost tender
4. Add lettuce and spinach leaves, and season with salt and pepper. Lettuce should just wilt, but still remain crisp. Do not overcook.

5. Before serving, add heavy cream and heat soup through without bringing to a boil. Sprinkle with chives and parsley and serve hot with thin slices of black bread.

Union County

Ŕ

By STEVE GALVACKY

Lt's little. And it's big. Union County stretches only 18 miles east to west, from Elizabeth to Plainfield. All but one of New Jersey's 20 other counties occupy more land.

Yet Union County is home to half a million people. And it serves as the strategic and geographical backbone of one of the most pivotal of the 50 states which comprise the world's greatest economic power.

At New Jersey's hub, next to Newark and New York City, Union County boasts five railroad lines, six major highways, 13 auxiliary highways, Port Elizabeth and a portion of Newark International Airport. Those who live and work here are thus within easy reach of the nation's and the world's major markets.

Long known as a classic example of the industrial revolution, the state's most densely populated county is undergoing a slow but clearly discernible metamorphosis that will bring it into the 21st century.

Within Union County's 103 square miles are springing new commercial, residential and mixed-use developments. The KENILWORT tion of two trends - one towards the retooling of old builddeserted by industrial giants, and the other towards the construction of new sites for fresh ventures geared toward high technology and light industry.

The county's prime location, excellent transportation facilities, advantageous tax base and highly competitive industrial lease rates have been the catalysts of the recent economic revitalization But farsighted planning by the county's 21 municipalities have long played a role in lur-1990s will witness the continua- ing businesses here. There are now 23 qualified industrial parks in the county, and a variety of zonings have created areas set aside specifically for chemical firms, high-tech firms and other industrial groups.

During the 1980s, for instance, the huge former Singer Sewing Machine Co. plant in Elizabeth was turned into a home for nine industries employing thousands of workers; the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey began developing the 120-acre Elizabeth Industrial Park; Cali Associates of Cranford and the Kean Family Trust made progress on the mixed-use Liberty Hall project, located on 63 acres in Union; and the city of Plainfield contracted a local firm, Queen City Development Corp., to build a $60 million residential-office complex in the heart of town.

Ambitious projects are every-

With all the newcomers to the Union County business community, let's not forget the industrial "old guard" that long ago gave the county its reputation as a research-anddevelopment haven.

Merck & Company, situated in Rahway and Linden, was recently named by Fortune Magazine as America's most admired corporation — for the fourth year in a row. The pharaceuticals firm has been headquartered here since 1903.

Then, of course, there's Bell Labs in Murray Hill; Exxon Research and Engineering in Linden; General Motors in Linden; Hoechst Celanese in Summit; Schering-Plough in Kenilworth and Union; CIBA-Geigy in Summit; Bristol-Myers in Hillside; AT&T Technologies in Clark and Berkeley Heights; and approximately 150 other manufacturers.

Large-scale commercial concerns include the Wakefern Food Corporation, which supplies the ShopRite supermarket chain, in Elizabeth. Two big utilities, Elizabethtown Gas Company and Elizabethtown Water Company, call the county home, as do 39 financial institutions boasting more than 200 branches in the county.

So it's a combination of the new and the old that is leading "little" Union County into the 1990s. Together, they are expected to keep the county's economy on a steady footing while it also changes, dynamically, to meet the challenges of the future.

Capitalizing on advances in therapy...

Drawing upon its scientific expertise, Schering-Plough is pioneering unique health care products that treat a wide range of diseases, including allergic and inflammatory disorders, infections and cardiovascular diseases, and certain cancers.

Today, Schering-Plough probes the outer reaches of advanced biotechnology by studying the human immune system and the mechanisms for controlling the growth of cells. 'Intron A', the first commercial offering of this research, is now marketed as both an anticancer and antiviral agent and is being steadily approved for a widening array of clinical indications.

As a worldwide, research-based enterprise. Schering-Plough is committed to extending the limits of medical knowledge by discovering and developing unique pharmaceuticals that prolong and enhance life.

Health Scene," the Union Hospital Foundation's cable television talk show, will go more in-depth when covering health-care issues in the 1990s.

"Aside from featuring our many programs and services we offer to the community, the show will begin to focus on more hardcore issues," Otto Monaco, host/producer of "Health Scene," said.

"We intend to concentrate on those topics that all of us in the health-care field will be facing in the '90s."

The first "Health Scene" edition for the new year will be on the hospital's Patient Representative Department.

Eleanor Hazelton, R.N., is Union Hospital's patient representative.

Hazelton has been with the hospital for more than 22 years. During that time, she has served many capacities of the nursing field. They include the medical/ surgical unit and intensive care unit.

On the program, "Health Scene" will take its cameras for a "behind-the-scenes" look at patient care at Union Hospital.

"We'd like to show our viewers how integral a part the patient representative plays in patient care at Union Hospital," Michael C. Young, director of "Health Scene" said. "We'll follow Hazelton through the hospital as she makes her rounds and visits with patients at bedside."

Young is also video lab coordinator of the media center at Union County College in Cranford where "Health Scene" is videotaped.

The program will air on Suburban Cablevision's channel 32 on Saturday, Jan. 27, and Saturday, Feb. 3, at 6:35 p.m. On TKR Elizabeth Cable, the show can be seen on Wednesday, Jan. 31, on channel 12 at 7 p.m.

System speeds tax filings

Joseph Petrucci, district manager for H&R Block, has announced that the company's Rapid Refund service is being introduced in the New Jersey area during the 1990 tax season.

Rapid Refund is Block's refund anticipation loan service using electronic filing.

Block introduced electronic filing five years ago in two cities. It will be available on a nationwide basis for the first time during this year's tax season.

"Rapid Refund is revolutionizing the way people file their income tax returns,' said Petrucci.

"Rapid Refund transmits tax returns electronically to the Internal Revenue Service," he said.

"Qualified tax preparation clients and nonclients can pay an additional fee to receive a loan advance on their refund. The loan advance arrives a few days after their return is electronically filed with the IRS," Petrucci added.

"The IRS processes the electronicallyfiled return, then deposits the taxpayer's refund in an account the client has established with a participating bank, thereby settling the loan. Filing this way reduces considerably the amount of time it takes for taxpayers to receive their money," he said.

Last year, a total of 825,279 H&R Block clients filed their 1988 tax returns using this faster refund service.

The company transmitted more than 71 percent of all U.S. returns filed electronically during the 1989 tax season.

Local offices include:

• Elizabeth — 1158 East Jersey St., phone number 353-6072.

"Rapid Refund is an important service both to Block clients and to those who prepare their own returns or who have another individual prepare them," Petruc-

The IRS developed electronic filing to improve the efficiency of its service. Taxpayers who do not qualify for a refund anticipation loan can still elect to have H&R Block electronaically transmit their returns.

This can shorten the time it takes the IRS to process a tax return by up to three weeks.

Thus, taxpayers could expect to receive their refund checks up to three weeks

Unique health-care center offers range of services

Vanor Care Mountainside Nursing, Rehabilitation and Residential Center is a modern, 150-bed facility located at 1180 Route 22 West, Mountainside.

Its parent firm, Manor Healthcare Corp., is the fourth-largest publicly-held provider of long-term care in the nation, and currently operates 158 skilled nursing centers under the brand names American, Four Seasons, Leader and Manor Care.

The unique Mountainside facility actually offers three different units in one building.

The Village, a 30-bed residential facility, was designed for independent living. Rooms are tastefully furnished in the Queen Anne style.

As added security, each room is equipped with an emergency call bell system at the bedside and in each private bathroom.

The Village provides 24-hour security, three meals per day, laundry, housekeeping services, activities and medication supervision. A separate entrance, lobby, dining room and lounge area completely separate the Village from the rest of the

This unit is for residents who are ambulatory and independent in self-care, yet prefer 24-hour-a-day security and supervision, if needed.

Manor Care Mountainside also offers a state-licensed 60-bed nursing unit which provides both intermediate and skilled levels of care. Twenty-four-hour-a-day skilled nursing services are provided by trained, professional staff of RNs, LPNs and certified nursing assistants.

The nursing unit is both Medicare- and Medicaid-approved.

Manor Care provides full-time therapy services, including physical therapy, speech therapy and occupational therapy.

One unique feature of the therapy departments is that all of the therapists are full-time Manor Care staff. They are not contracted services. This enables the staff to provide residents with continuity of services by providing therapists five days a week.

Manor Care Mountainside offers shortterm stays for rehabilitation, as well as respite stays in the nursing unit and vacation stays in an independent living unit.

The facility's Reach program is a specially-designed rehabilitation unit for adults between the ages of 18 and 64 years who are experiencing a catastrophic trauma or disease. The program uses an interdisciplinary approach to help patients not only discover but develop their full potential.

The Reach program primarily provides subacute rehabilitation for those with head injuries, strokes, spinal cord injuries, amputations, orthopedic and neurologic impairments, arthritis and other traumas and diseases.

IN 1989, OVERLOOK HOSPITAL in Summit opened its new pediatric cardiology center, featuring the most modern equipment for the diagnosis and treatment of heart conditions in children. Here Donald Leichter, M.D., performs an echocardiogram — an ultrasound diagnostic cardiac test — on a young patient at the hospital. The 615-bed hospital has been serving Union County residents since 1915, but is planning facilities and services in the 1990s that feature the latest in technology.

Hospital going high-tech in '90

Specialty services, stateof-the-art technology, and a hazardous material emergency management program are in the picture for Overlook Hospital in Summit in 1990.

• For cardiac patients: Overlook last fall added a new cardiac specialty — a pediatric cardiology center. It provides a complete range of diagnostic and treatment services for infants and children with congenital and acquired heart disease.

The center provides the physicians with access to an array of diagnostic services not widely available outside major metropolitan hospitals. These services include electrocardiographic evaluation, stress testing and holter evaluations for children with rhythm problems.

Soon to be included in this center will be diagnostic fetal echocardiography, for identification of congenital heart disease in the prenatal period.

In addition, a second cardiac catheterization laboratory is scheduled to be operational early this year.

• For easing patient discomfort during diagnosis of illness or injury: A new CAT scanner that allows complicated examinations with excellent imaging capability at high speed.

• For women only: A second, state-of-the-art mammography unit was added in fall, 1989. This is a low-dose radiation unit which permits magnification of all views of the breast and localization of areas pinpointed for surgery.

• For children and young adults: A new pediatric unit is scheduled to open in early 1990. Its all-new facilities will include 15 specially-designated young adult beds; a four-bed critical-care hub with central monitoring equipment; a section for pediatric oncology patients with special needs; and, for youngsters confined for days—or weeks—an enclosed out-door playroom, to provide fresh air and brighten spirits.

• For community emergencies involving hazardous materials: An emergency information system computer — first in the state located at a hospital — is housed at Overlook's MICU Dispatch Center. The information system gives hospital emergency staff complete information on management of hazardous material incidents.

ST. ELIZABETH HOSPI-TAL in Elizabeth in 1989 added a laser for general surgiry, allowing procedures to be done on a more timely basis and hospital stays and recuperation time to be shortened. Here Pedro Gutierrez, M.D., performs a prodecure using the new device.

Major construction planned in '90

t. Elizabeth Hospital, 225 Williamson St., Elizabeth, will move forward in 1990 with new equipment, a major new service and a groundbreaking for its $40 million-plus construction and renovation project.

Among the new equipment purchases St. Elizabeth Hospital plans in 1990 are a $236,000 nuclear medicine camera - the single-photon emission computerized tomography system for nuclear cardiology, and a $300,000 radiation oncology simulation system for radiation

The state-of-the-art nuclear medicine camera, the hospital's third such piece of equipment, will provide improved service to cardiac patients by providing greater and more accurate diagnosis through more extensive imaging analysis when evaluating cardiac disease.

St. Elizabeth Hospital

The unique simulation system, with its CAT-scan capability, will assist the radiation oncologist in treatment planning by providing greater accuracy when detecting tumor location and volume, thereby assisting the radiation oncologist to determine the most effective dosage of radiation for the patient.

The system also adds to patient convenience as it eliminates the need for additional CAT scans used for treatment planning purposes.

St. Elizabeth Hospital debuted a new emergency room service earlier this month. Called ExpressCare, it will provide quick, convenient service for patients suffering from minor injuries and minor illnesses.

All patients who present themselves for treatment in St. Elizabeth Hospital's emergency room will be seen by a triage nurse who will determine the nature of the problem. Those patients with minor problems will be served separately from other emergency room patients within a one-hour time frame.

The hospital plans to break ground in August 1990 for a $40 million-plus building and renovation project that will provide hospital patients with improved care and services in a modern, technologicallyadvanced facility.

Sister Elizabeth Ann Maloney, president of St. Elizabeth Hospital, believes, "The new project will take St. Elizabeth Hospital into the 21st Century with the physical facility and equipment necessary to serve the community with the highest quality health care possible."

The project will be financed through tax-free revenue bonds and a hospital equity contribu-tion that will include funds raised from the community in a $4 million capital campaign to be announced soon.

The first phase of the project will entail construction of a 137,000-square- foot, nine-story patient tower that will connect to the south face of the hospital's white, seven-story "N" building. The second phase of the project will be the renovation of substantial portions of the "N" building. The final phase will be the demolition of the hospital's aging red-brick "X" and chapel buildings.

This construction project became necessary, says Jane Adams, the hospital's vice president-of-professional services, in order to replace existing patient services and beds that must be removed from the 64-year-old "X" building.

While the hospital's bed count will remain at 325, an additional four critical-care beds will be added, bringing the total number of critical-care beds to 20.

When completed in late 1992, the new addition will house a state-of-the-art emergency room, a surgical suite, 152 medical/surgical beds and the hospital's new labor, delivery and recovery rooms that will enable women to go into labor, deliver and recover in the privacy of a single room.

The hospital's new emergency room will be located on the first floor of the addition and will be three times the size of the current emergency room. It will feature an ambulance-accessible, state-of-the-art trauma room specifically designed for the complicated procedures required to stabilize patients who have had traumatic injury.

Additionally, the ER will house five treatment rooms for specific purposes, such as casting, five more general treatment areas, a special triage room and state-of-the art monitoring systems.

The hospital's five surgical rooms and cystoscopy room will be relocated from the "N" building to encompass the entire second floor of the addition, and will feature larger rooms, an expanded recovery room and the latest in monitoring systems. The rooms will be equipped for specialty work such as laser surgery, and will be able to accommodate future advances in technology.

Along with five labor, deliv- ment system.

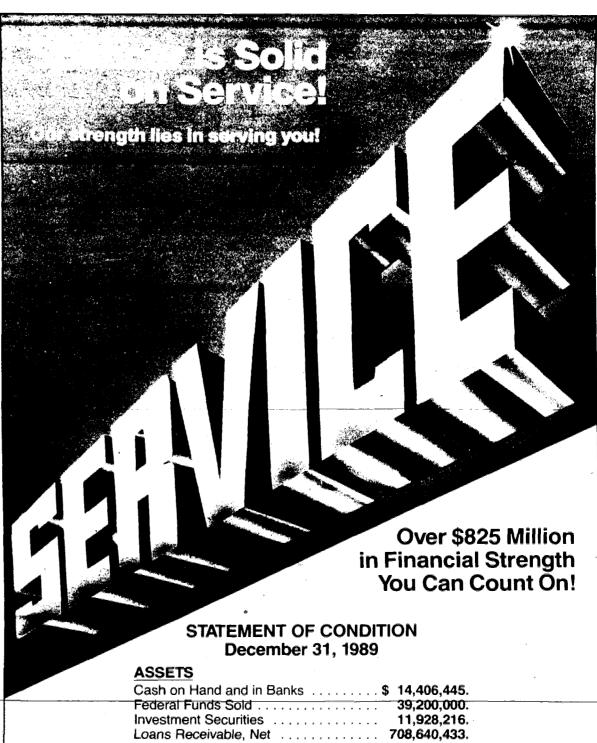

ery and recovery rooms, St. Elizabeth Hospital's maternity area will feature a larger well-baby nursery with clear vision panels for family viewing, the intermediate care nursery for infants with special needs, two highrisk labor rooms and a C-section room. This maternity area will span the entire fifth floor of both the addition and the renovated "N" building. The renovated portion will house private and semi-private rooms for post-partum care.

Another plus for patients provided by the new construction will be a centralized area for all inpatient and outpatient registration adjacent to the emergency room. Patients will be able to go to one general location for all registration, but will be served at separate windows, depending upon their needs, thereby allowing quicker, more convenient service.

Other improvements related to the construction and renovation project include an expanded endoscopy area on the third floor of the "N" building, expanded laboratory and radiology on the ground floor, an enlarged physical therapy department on the first floor and the hospital's Seton Center for Chemical Dependency relocated to the third floor of the "N" building.

In order to provide the entire hospital campus with adequate heating and cooling systems, St. Elizabeth Hospital has already begun construction on a $4 million-plus central utility plant. The new plant will also feature a computerized energy management system.

In 1977, the Union County Economic Development Corporation (UCEDC) was formed to assist businesses in the county.

The UCEDC's initial goal was to help increase jobs and ratables in the county. Today, the corporation also focuses on lending a hand to existing businesses operating in the county.

"We are a private, nonprofit organization whose mission is to help businesses grow and relocate in Union County," explained Maureen Tinen, president of the UCEDC.

"As the official economic development corporation of Union County, we provide technical and financial aid to businesses that wish to expand in this county," she explained.

"We also conduct an active marketing campaign to attract other businesses to move here," Tinen added,

Designed to help both small businesses and large corporations prosper in Union County, the UCEDC offers a variety of programs to companies.

One way that the UCEDC boosts Union County businesses is by offering financial alternatives to companies who cannot get the money they need through conventional banking institutions.

The UCEDC offers lowinterest loans to "high-risk clients" — clients that conventional banking institutions refuse to lend money to, according to

"Part of our job is to stimulate the local economy," she explained. "One way that we do that is by offering money to high-risk groups.

"Most jobs are generated by new companies or small companies which have less than 20 employees," explained Tinen, who added that most small businesses fall into the high-risk category.

"A significant number of small companies go out of business," Tinen said. "Bankers are incapable of approving the loan and accepting that risk.

"We also serve people when a banker only offers to finance half or part of a deal," Tinen added.

In addition to offering financial assistance to businesses, the UCEDC supplies a wealth of business-oriented information.

The UCEDC is a resource center for county businesses. They provide information on demographics, labor, zoning and planning regulations, taxes and government assistance programs—all provided with the design of helping companies make educated business decisions.

Clients can either call or visit the UCEDC to receive the information they need.

The UCEDC also publishes a Union County Property Guide.
By using the guide, companies are given an extensive listing of property and buildings available in the county.

Tinen explained that if a client needs a type of property that is not listed in the property guide, the UCEDC contacts real estate brokers to help them with the property search.

"All of the information is always 100 percent confidential," Tinen explained. "Whether a client is looking for financial, technical or real estate assistance, the client always maintains control.

"The UCEDC provides clients with the information. Then the clients pick and choose what information they need and whom they chose to deal with," Tinen added.

Tinen also explained that the UCEDC will conduct real estate tours, if necessary, for clients who may be making a large investment.

This year, the UCEDC is working on a marketing campaign to bring increased awareness of the corporation's existence to the business community. In 1989, the UCEDC received $100,000 from the county to finance a public awareness campaign.

"Our number-one difficulty is not the nature of our services, but making businesses aware that we exist," Tinen said. "People have discovered us after they have made an investment, but then it's too late.

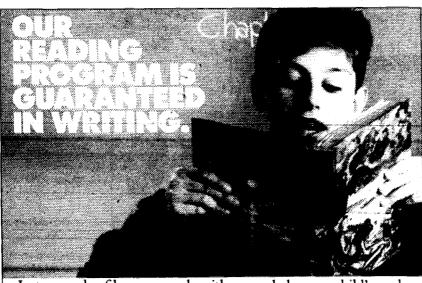

"We could have helped them make cost-efficient decisions," Tinen added. "With the money they saved, they could have bought more equipment or hired additional personnel."

The UCEDC has free information on businesses and services that Union County offers.

Tinen explained that, although the information and services the UCEDC provides is free, companies are expected to reimburse the corporation for mailing fees.

The UCEDC Board of Trustees consists of representatives from Kean College of New Jersey in Union and Cranford-based Union County College, unions, utilities, WJDM, and large and small companies in the county.

The Cuiligan Drinking Water System

Culligan uses Triple Filtration to substantially reduce contaminants. Drink, cook with confidence! Culligan combines Fine Filtration, Carbon Adsorption and Reverse Osmosis. Produces quality water that tastes better, costs less than bottled.

Now the Best Name in Water is in a Bottle

America's best name in water for 50 years, so it's only natural that Culligan now delivers purely delicious bottled drinking water.

After all, nobody knows water better than Culligan.

Culligan has been

Soft water a hard sell, yet dealer prospers

Every salesman knows that the New Jersey/New York area is a tough sell.

When you're trying to sell water treatment in that area, with its low-hardness water, the sell can be even tougher.

But despite that, Culligan International Company's Union dealership - serving six New Jersey counties plus New York City — has survived and grown.

Dan Gerten, vice president and general manager of Culligan Water Conditioning, 2047 Route 22 West, Union, recently told of other factors that make selling tough.

His territory is huge — 1,868 square miles — with high population density and heavy traffic congestion, all of which make it hard to service.

Jobs are plentiful and unemployment is low, making it hard to find good people.

The New Jersey service area has a population of 3.5 million, to which must be added New York's 8 million-plus.

The Union office serves the five New York boroughs, which means crossing bridges and tunnels and wading through Manhattan traffic to make service

But New Jersey/New York people are tough, too, and a tough sell is just another challenge to them.

Since the dealership was acquired by Culligan's Retail Division in 1968, it has grown steadily to the point where it now has over 10,000 accounts, including exchange tanks, automatic rentals, drinking water, PE/DI and salt.

The Union office recently installed an American Business

Culligan Water Conditioning

Systems computer system to handle those accounts.

There are good sides to the situation, too, said Gerten. Income in this area is higher that in most parts of the country, and people are willing to pay for quality.

That's how Gerten and his people sell against the competition, largest of which is a national department-store chain.

The dealership is on a sizable piece of land, has 8,000 square feet of plant and office, and employs 27 people. It has 14 vehicles — 7 route and 7 service trucks.

Business is usually 50 percent household, and 50 percent commercial/industrial.

To make working conditions recently remodeled its offices, including new carpeting, and a new lobby that will showcase products in the front window.

The future looks good, Gerten said. He said he will continue management by staff, continue expansion of the domestic sales department, and will use the new computer system to emphasize direct-mail marketing.

Culligan, by the way, offers consumers these safeguard tips to protect people from unethical salespersons, and advice on how to distinguish the fly-by-night companies from the professionals.

When shopping for a home drinking water system, a customer should ask himself:

- Is the salesperson/dealership a full-time, fully-trained water professional?
- Is the equipment listed by more pleasant, the dealership the National Sanitation Foundation?

· How long has the dealership/company been in business? Is it a reputable, professional company?

• Have I checked on the integrity of this retailer with the Better Business Bureau or a county extension service?

• Does the retailer install, warrant and provide continued service? Or do they contract the work out to independent plumbers?

• Can I rent the equipment before purchasing?

• Is the product being promoted as a "cure-all," or have its limitations been explained?

• What is the capacity of the filters, and how often do they have to be changed?

 Have the product's maintenance requirements been clearly explained?

Company turns heat up in 'cold war' with bold ad

The Cold War may be thawing out, but the fight against the common cold sniffles on.

Now, however, in a $200,000-plus multi-media advertising campaign on behalf of the Madison-based Schering Corporation's Drixoral antihistamine/nasal decongestant, President George Bush and Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev lend their "cold war" experience in support of a cold remedy.

Schering has major installations at 2000 Galloping Hill Road, Kenilworth, and 1011 Morris Ave., Union.

The Drixoral ad marks the first time the two heads of state appear in an advertisement in a tangible situation, with actual footage from the recent summit talks imposed on the message:

Schering Corporation

"In the new year, may the only cold war in the world be the one being fought by us."

Demonstrating its commitment to end the suffering of the common cold, Schering is shipping boxes of Drixoral to heads of state in the Eastern bloc capitals of East Berlin, Warsaw, Budapest, Prague, Bucharest and Sofia to help ease the effects of their treacherous winter.

The 15-second television spots broke nationally on Dec. 28, supported by full-paper newspaper ads appearing in the New York Times, USA Today, the Washington Post and the Soviet newspaper Novoye Russkoye Solvo.

According to Tom Feitel, senior brand manager of Schering, "We felt the ads offered a creative, attention-grabbing way to raise awareness of Drixoral, while providing a mechanism for Schering to demonstrate its commitment and belief in the efficacy of Drixoral by providing it free to several heads of state in eastern Europe."

Thrift healthier than ever after 50 years of service

Spencer Savings Bank,
SLA, marked its 50th anniversary of service in 1989 with another successful year of continued growth and progress, according to Charles R. Duess, president and a director of the institution.

Spencer has local offices in Elizabeth and Union.

According to Duess, figures released for the 12-month period ending Dec. 31, 1989, show Spencer's total assets at an all-time high of $825.2 million.

"This is a fitting tribute to our half-century of dedicated financial service to the area," Duess said.

In addition to record total assets, total members' savings climbed by more than $25.8 million to $748.2 million in 1989, while retained earnings increased to $68.1 million.

Despite a year that was characterized by a soft real estate market, Spencer's first mortgage loan portfolio also enjoyed healthy growth throughout 1989, advancing to $708.6 million at year-end.

Rated as one of America's

Spencer Savings Bank

best savings institutions, Spencer Savings Bank continues to be "solid on service," Duess noted.

"We sincerely thank everyone who helped make our 50th anniversary year a true milestone in the history of the association," he added.

"With more than $825 million in financial strength, Spencer is more solid than ever in serving the banking needs of its customers.

"On behalf of everyone at Spencer, we welcome the challenges of the '90s and pledge a continued dedicated effort toward providing excellent financial banking products and services in the year and decade ahead," Duess said.

Headquartered in Garfield, Spencer Savings Bank, SLA, also maintains convenient office locations in Garfield, Lodi, Wallington, Saddle Brook, Clifton, Lyndhurst and Belleville.

Accounts are federally insured to $100,000.

Company, headquartered at 1 Elizabethtown Plaza, Union, was able to do just that, resulting in success stories for the state's oldest all-gas utility.

For example, the current shortage of electric capacity in the northeastern United States has caused large industrial plants to look toward on-site power generation — and natural gas became the fuel of choice.

Both Hoffman-LaRoche and Schering-Plough — two international pharmaceutical companies started operating gas-fired cogeneration systems at major facilities within Elizabethtown's service area.

According to projections, the amount of gas attributed to this market segment will go from near-zero in 1987 to more than five billion cubic feet in 1990, representing 10 percent of Elizabethtown's anticipated growth throughout this year.

Industrial plants are also looking for alternatives to large electrical loads during periods of peak demand. Recent advances in gas cooling technol-

Elizabethtown Gas Company

In 1989, Elizabethtown Gas ogy, coupled with the ready ompany, headquartered at 1 availability of natural gas supplies during the summer, offer an attractive replacement for electric air conditioning.

The New York Times' new printing plant in Edison, for instance, will have 1,250 tons of gas-fired cooling capacity.

Natural gas also provides some of the answers to environmental concerns.

Last July, President Bush unveiled his proposal for a Clean Air Act that would mandate the use of alternative fuels for vehicles in areas that fail to meet federal air quality standards. Northern New Jersey is one of these targeted regions.

Since natural gas is the cleanest and most economical of these alternative fuels, it is the perfect choice for fleet owners who have many high-mileage vehicles that refuel daily at the same location.

Elizabethtown has begun actively promoting compressed natural gas vehicles by converting its own fleet. The company has also constructed a compressor re-fueling station at its Green Lane facility.

Environmental concerns also include ground pollution. Due to strict new rules, owners of underground storage tanks will face costly monitoring and maintenance procedures, along with hefty fines for noncompliance, beginning in 1991. For these businessmen, natural gas is also the natural choice.

Natural gas remains the preferred fuel in new home construction. Despite a nationwide slump in new housing starts, Elizabethtown Gas still registered more than 2,300 new residential units with gas heat in Growth in the residential, commercial and industrial markets has created the need to obtain additional long-term gas supplies. An important step in this direction was taken when the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission approved an application by Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation to conduct a 20-inch pipeline to serve Elizabethtown and several other northeastern distribution companies.

The first section, which will be completed by early 1990, will provide Elizabethtown with an additional 20 million cubic feet of gas per day.

CLIZADETHTOWN GAS

ELIZABETHTOWN GAS COMPANY, which in 1989 moved its headquarters to Union, fields street crews like this to help maintain the company's 2,400 miles of underground pipe, connecting 225,000 homes, schools and businesses in 75 communities. Founded in 1855, the utility is still pursuing new opportunities.

New owners take over

The name is the same, but the faces are different.

Arthur Wells, of Arthur L. Wells Opticians, 248 Morris Ave., Springfield, retired in January 1989. He was a familiar town merchant who provided Springfield with reliable service and quality craftsmanship for more than 28 years.

He sold his business to two newcomers to Springfield — Alan Schwartz and Joann Pellegrino.

Schwarts and Pellegrino may be new to Springfield, but not to the optical field. Both are New Jersey state-licensed opticians, and as such hold degrees in opthalmic science and have many years of experience behind them dispensing eyeglasses.

They have made a few changes in the store in order to update and renew their appearance, but the friendly neighborhood service remains the same. They have increased the store hours in order to suit customers' busy schedules, and have also increased their inventory which allows for a more diversified look that is both individual and fresh.

The store features a full line of Rayban and Bolle sunglasses. Eyeglass lines vary from the upbeat style of Bennetton to the classic styles of Christian Dior and Silhouette.

Schwartz and Pellegrino like to find an individual's eyeglasses needs and then work with that person in order to find the correct combination of features that will work for them.

Upon completion of their first year in Springfield, they would like to thank everyone for their friendly welcome and support.

Restaurant-caterer offers greatly expanded menu

Deli-King of Linden, Deli-King located at 628 West St. Georges Ave., is observing its second of Linden anniversary under the ownership and management of Eddie Levy.

Deli-King of Linden has actually been at its present location for many years, but Levy likes to think of his popular kosher deli-restaurant and catering establishment as always being fresh and new.

"The menu itself is truly the heart of a great kosher deli," said Levy. "It must feature all of the time-honored favorites and it must also stay in step with today's tastes and special eating preferences."

In keeping with his philosophy, Levy, for 1990, is introducing a greatly-expanded new menu.

"Our new menu features many new selections," he said. "It includes a full range of lowcholesterol items from salads to hot dinners."

"All items in this section of the menu list complete dietary information including calorie, fat and cholesterol content,' Levy said.

"Another new addition is our line-up of five new club sandwiches. Most people don't think of club sandwiches as being standard Kosher deli fare, but they have become popular because of changing eating

"We've also added several specialty salads which go far beyond the usual whitefish, salmon and herring salads most delis are still limited to," Levy added.

In addition, Deli-King of Linden recently added a special three-course, weekday evening dinner menu. It includes a choice of soup or appetizer, a selection from a listing of 35 different main courses, a vegetable and a beverage, all for as little as $5.95.

For the heartier eater, these same items are available as a five-course dinner with an appetizer and soup, a larger-portion main course, two vegetables, a dessert and a beverage, all for as little as $7.95.

A reproduction of the new menu is available for mailing. Interested persons may receive a free copy by calling 925-3909.

System increases efficiency of financial procedures

Rahway Hospital, 865
Stone St., Rahway, has begun its fourth generation of health-care excellence on a high-tech note with the acquisition of a system that has dramatically improved operations in data processing.

In 1989, the Data Processing Department completed the installation of the Harmony System, which has completely revamped the financial system of the hospital.

This system is based on a Local Area Network (LAN) concept of having a single-path communication network for all hardware and software," said Michelle Bilach, director of information systems.

"The LAN concept is considered to be the state-of-the-art technology, as it allows for all applications of both hardware and software," she said.

"We have implemented this concept in our financial department, which includes payroll, general ledger, accounts payable and patient billing," Bilach continued.

"These areas are now all linked together by one central personal computer (PC) that contains all of the software and communication that's needed for our system," she said.

"All input from each financial department goes directly into the main computer which, in turn, sends the information to Shared Medical Systems (SMS) in Pennsylvania over a telephone line. SMS generates all reports, which are transmitted back to our main computer and are then printed on one of our two new Hewlitt Packard printers which are also hooked to the central PC and have the capability of printing 300 lines per minute," she said.

Obviously, there are many advantages of this advanced financial system, which will serve as the cornerstone of the foundation for the many technological advances anticipated in this department in the 21st century.

The screen layouts, prompts and edits have been customized to the hospital's needs so that users see only portions of reports that are meaningful to them, thus eliminating any confusion that may occur.

Most processing, operations and back up of this financial system are automatic, which means that once the computer has been given a certain command it will continue to follow those specific instructions until otherwise directed.

Finally, the speed of the printers, which are programmed to know exactly which forms they are each to print and are capable of printing simultaneously 24 hours a day, enable the availability of lightning-quick turn around of reports which is necessary for such documents as utilization review sheets, which are needed first thing in the morning after the day the information is entered.

Bilach said of the system, "The hospital needs the LAN concept in order to grow into more online types of applications.

"For example," she said, "eventually Medical Records can be updated with work stations which would eliminate the paper coding of diagnoses and procedures.

"Also, this system can be used to provide third party software for any PC on the system, such as Lotus or Wordstar, meaning that we could load one version of the software into the main PC and anyone on the system would have access to it. This means that all PC's on the system would grow at the same pace," she said.

Telecommunications store a one-stop shop

In 1990 The Phone Nook, 200 North Ave. East, Westfield, is in its 10th year of helping Union County businesses and homes purchase new phone systems.

Established in 1981, the firm shares its address with its sister firm, TPN Services.

Established in 1981, the firm shares its address with its sister firm, TPN Services.

The Phone Nook Inc., an advanced telecommunications store, maintains the right mix of service, installation, repair and merchandise to accommodate all customers across the board.

The most impressive fact about the company is that the owner, manager and staff have a combined total of more than 200 years experience with the Bell System. Technical experience with AT&T and other systems, as well as installations, repairs and marketing, are under the emplyees' hats, also.

The Phone Nook is a onestop store where customers can pay their New Jersey bills and purchase telephones, facsimile and answering machines, beepers, car phones and accessories. TPN Services installs electronic key telephone systems for large and small businesses and building wire and telephones in larger quantities for New Jersey Bell Centrex systems.

The Phone Nook

The company is an authorized dealer for several manufacturers, including AT&T, GE, GTE, ITT, Northwestern Bell and many more. It also is an agent for Nynex Mobile Communications car phones, New Jersey Bell bill payments, Bell Atlantic caller IDs, Southwestern Bell paging beepers and Comdial electronic key systems.

The success of the Phone Nook stems from the company's reliability, knowledge and follow-up. They offer to small businesses affordable key telephone systems tailored to their needs. They install and supply this equipment, and they follow up on the systems' use and repair when needed.

John Morgan, president of The Phone Nook Inc., points out that they are "a complete telecommunications company from the sale of a single-line phone to the consultation of multi-building networks."

Morgan said he and his staff are available for consultations and presentations for your business. Their expert knowledge and understanding of phone systems will put your mind at ease, Morgan said.

The Phone Nook also offers the same reliability, knowledge and follow-up to the residential customer.

The company's retail operation is at 249 East Broad St., Westfield, and is easily accessible. Shoppers can visit the store and choose from a large inventory of telephones in a variety of colors and features. Novelty decorator phones come in all shapes and sizes.

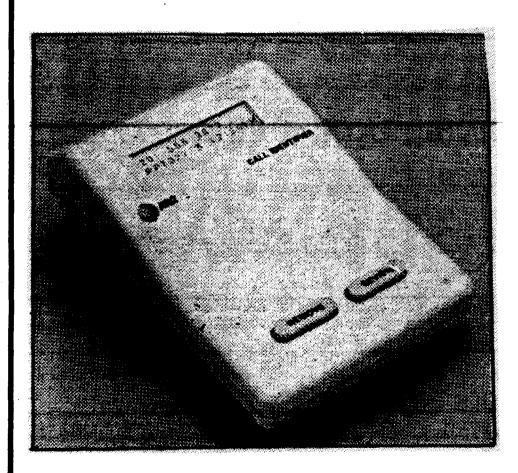

All types of telecommunication equipment are available, including the new Caller ID—caller identification—terminal to be used with the "Class" calling services. These services became available from New Jersey Bell to customers in Union County early last year.

The Caller ID unit available at The Phone Nook indicates from what telephone number the dialer is calling, even before the phone is picked up, or what number called you when you were not home. Customers plagued with annoyance calls who buy the service will be able to eliminate these types of problems.

The Caller ID is a small digital display box, placed alongside the phone, and it sells for approximately $80. Law enforcement and emergency services could be equipped with these features to provide timely assistance in emergency situations and to add a real sense of security.

THE PHONE NOOK in Westfield offers a large inventory of telephones in a wide variety of colors, shapes and sizes. It also stocks related equipment, including the new caller identification terminal which allows a customer to know what telephone number is calling even before the receiver is picked up. The advanced telecommunications store, now in 10th year, expects to become a complete authorized sales agent for New Jersey Bell soon.

State has loans for urban firms

In Rahway, a jeweler has renovated the inside and outside of his store, giving the 43-year-old establishment a new image that helps to draw customers into the city's revitalized shopping district.

The firm, Kennedy Jewelers, needed to refurbish its operations to become a competitively strong business. Unfortunately for the owner, James J. Kennedy, a bank loan to finance the improvements would have placed too much of a monetary strain on the business.

What were their alternatives? Where could he get a loan with an interest rate he could afford to make the improvements he needed?

Enter the New Jersey Economic Development Authority. The authority's Urban Centers Small Loan Program has helped businesses across the state to achieve their goals.

Kennedy needed a lowinterest loan to make interiorimprovements to his aging store. Through the urban centers program, a $30,000 loan was made available to Kennedy for 10 years at an interest rate of 7 percent.

"My store needed a new image to be successful," said Kennedy. "I could never have come as far as I have without the authority loan."

Kennedy is just one of more than 50 business owners that have participated in the Urban Centers Small Loan Program since its inception in 1980.

With a successful track record as its testimony, the program has served as a valuable financing tool to retail and commercial businesses located in the urban centers of the state, according to Eugene J. Bukowski, director of the authority's Finance Division.

New Jersey Economic Development Authority

He said the purpose of the program is to encourage retail and commercial businesses to fix up their properties and stay in New Jersey cities. Bukowski believes the Authority program further enhances efforts of city and state governments to revitalize the business and commercial districts of older Garden State municipalities.

According to Bukowski, through the program a business may borrow from $5,000 to $50,000 for a maximum term of 10 years at an interest rate of 1 percent below the federal discount rate with a floor of 4 percent and a ceiling of 10 percent. The interest cost presently is 6 percent.

The low-cost financing must be used primarily for renovations although a portion may be used for fixed asset or working capital purposes.

A florist, jewelers, drug store, dress shop, and a realty company are just some of the businesses that have used the program since its inception to improve business operations and remain competitive.

Businesses interested in knowing more about this program should contact the authority's Division of Finance at 1-609-292-0187.

Growing Up With Union County

The word Union and the image of a water pump, displayed together on the 210-foot-tall water sphere in Union, N.J., are a constant reminder of the kinship shared by Elizabethtown Water Company and Union County.

The relationship began in 1854, even before the county's formation, when the young water company began serving the residents of Elizabeth. Three years later, Union County was born and, with Elizabeth as its county seat, began to grow. As water needs changed, Elizabethtown Water Company kept pace.

Maintaining its corporate headquarters in Union County, Elizabethtown Water Company is still the major supplier of drinking water to Union County, as well as six other New Jersey counties.

Elizabethtown Water Company is proud to have been part of Union County's growth and will continue to maintain its commitment to Union County's residents, not only as customers, but as family.

The specialized components are linked by one common thread — the good of the patient.

VNHS is a voluntary, nonprofit agency which has been serving all residents of Union County for more than 77 years.

VNHS believes that availability and accessibility of quality health care is the right of all individuals regardless of sex, age, race, color, creed, handicap or financial status.

With patients being discharged from hospitals quicker than ever before, the major number of homebound visits require intermittant skilled nursing services. A patient's home is not a controlled environment and there are no physicians, other nurses or support technicians immediately available to assist in giving care.

Business booming throughout county

Business community.

Those two words, when used independently, can take on very different meanings. But when used together, the words "business" and "community" are nearly synonymous.

In Union County, there are 21 individual municipalities, each with a respective political, civic and economic identity.

The communities, most with their own convenient in-town shopping centers, operate at their own respective paces; local business, for the most part, sets the cadence of each community.

With land area in excess of 100 square miles, all of Union County lies between 15 miles and 25 miles from midtown Manhattan, and it's about an hour's drive from Philadelphia.

Situated near the hub of the busy Boston-Washington corridor, Union County is a key region for not only domestic business, but also for foreign commerce, giving business owners here a competitive

Among the most prominent businesses operating in the county are General Motors, Exxon, Bristol-Myers, Bell Laboratories, AT&T, Merck, CIBA-Geigy and Schering-Plough. The commercial enterprise with the largest presence in the county is Wakefern Food Corporation, the supplier for the ShopRite supermarket

Since Union County is only about 18 miles wide east to west, shoppers can reach any part of the county in a matter of minutes.

Besides being an outstanding place to do business, Union County is also an excellent place to live, and about a half million people live in the county currently.

Union County's superior educational facilities include more than 200 public and private elementary and secondary schools, as well as two colleges.

Museums, movie theaters and cultural opportunities abound, and the county also boasts 5,400 acres of parks and recreational areas. Swimming, tennis, horseback riding, boating, trap shooting and outdoor concerts are all part of Union County living.

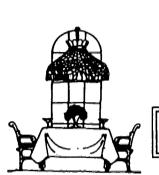

The county's labor force last year was about 170,000 people, and employment was nearly 97 percent. That figure translated into the county's lowest unemployment rate in about 20 years.

The county's location, labor force and transportation network clearly put Union County in the spotlight. But it is the successful blend of business and industry, residential and recreational opportunities that keeps the county shining.

Twice a month, County Leader Newspapers dedicates a full page to local businesses with its Salute to Local Business and Industry page. Each Salute to Business and Industry features a local business the newspaper group feels has earned its place in the spotlight by helping make this county a great place to live, work and do business.

As an innovative and growing business itself, County Leader Newspapers understands the importance of a strong commercial foundation in nearly every locality. We believe businesses and industries are truly the strength of our communities, and seek to recognize those businesses that prove to be among

Pharmacy pioneers boutique concept

Deveral decades ago, a pharmacy was a place where local citizens could come for a soda, a bit of gossip and any necessary personal-care products and medicines.

But while the drug-store soda fountain may be a thing of the past, the concept of the pharmacy as the local boutique is now the wave of the future.

With its recently-completed renovations and new marketing strategy, Galloping Hill Drugs and Surgical, 1350 Galloping Hill Road, Union, located adjacent to the A&P, has pioneered the concept of the boutique-style pharmacy in Union, according to owner Samuel Lerner.

The store, a family-owned and family-operated business, underwent a facelift that included a softened color scheme of mauve and grey, installation of an expanded and upscale jewelry and gift boutique, and a general reorganization of merchandise for greater ease of shopping.

"We wanted to create an atmosphere closer to that of Macy's or Bloomingdale's, in order to reflect the sophisticated tastes and needs of our customers," Lerner said.

And, in accordance with those needs, the carpeted boutique section now features elegant costume jewelry, handbags, hair ornaments, well-known designer fragances, atomizers, music boxes, mirrors, wallets and picture frames.

Other popular items are a line of scented home accents and personal-care products, as well as Galloping Hill's "Create Your Own Gift Basket."

Although the store does cater to the discriminating shopper, it still a health-care product vendor, according to Lerner. The store will continue to concentrate on pharmacy needs, surgical supplies and orthopedic and surgical garment and appliance fittings for physicians and their patients.

"Our first priority has always been to take care of our customers, whether it be a medical concern or a search for the perfect gift," Lerner concluded.

Cornell Hall

Cornell Hall is a modern, progressive, non-profit, skilled nursing facility, located at 234 Chestnut St., Union.

While it is known in the community for offering its residents the highest-quality care, ≥ there are many other aspects to continuous complement to physical care.

Description of the most vital aspect of life at Cornell Hall is the social interaction with most.

the social interaction with members of the community. During the course of the year, local volunteers come to Cornell Hall to spend time with residents on both a one-to-one basis and in group-related activities.

These visits promote interaction among the different generations, and enrich the residents' lives while maintaining their active role in the community.

In 1989, Cornell Hall enjoyed several special activities that helped residents reach out to the community.

One project involved Girl Scout Troop 393. The scouts worked with residents to make teddy bears which will be distributed to police departments, fire departments and hospitals to help calm young trauma victims.

Another project, held each year by the Cornell Hall family, is a fund raising event around Valentine's Day to support the programs and services of the local chapter of the American Heart Association.

Cornell Hall residents have also welcomed the children from the Union United Cerebral Palsy unit to their "home" for afternoons of baking, singing and game-playing.

Finally, each year, a holiday party for underprivileged children from the Grace Episcopal Church's Mustard Seed Soup Kitchen is conducted by the residents, staff, visitors and the International Food Service Executives Association.

In addition to the residents commitment to community involvement, Cornell Hall offers valuable resources and Drograms.

Last year, a video was produced to assist families in selecting a nursing home.

Titled "The Nursing Home Choice — A Loving Alternative," the video features interviews with actual family members and staff within a nursing home.

The video is available on a loan basis to area residents, hospitals and other agencies!
