Regional super plans report on monitoring

By SUZETTE STALKER

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merachnik of Union County Regional High School District 1 is expected to give a report next Tuesday, March 20, regarding the State Department of Education's recent monitoring of the district.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from Mountainside.

Dr. Merachnik is scheduled to address the board during its 8 p.m. meeting in the Instructional Media Center of Governor Livingston, located on Watchung Boulevard. All staff members and students of the four high schools, as well as all district residents, are invited to attend.

The state's policy of monitoring New Jersey school districts was developed under the Public School Education Act of 1975, and follows guidelines set down in the Department of Education's Manual for the Evaluation of Local School Districts, according to regional district spokesman Thomas Long.

The monitoring team covered the regional district from Jan. 8 to Jan. 31, evaluating the four high schools both collectively and individually. Team members compiled documentation, visited classrooms, and examined many facets of the district's program, according to Long.

All Union County school districts are evaluated in 10 categories by county Superintendent of Schools Dr. Vito Gagliardi and a team of monitors from the Union County Office of the state Department of Education, Long confirmed.

The 10 categories include Planning; School and Community Relations; Comprehensive Curriculum and Instruction; Pupil Attendance; Facilities; Staff; Mandated Programs; Mandated Basic Skills Test, which is the state-wide High School Proficiency Test; Equal Educational Opportunity/ Affirmative Action, and Financial.

Long explained that the basic categories, along with several subdivisions in various categories, comprise the "43 elements and indicators which the state Department of Education dictates must be met in order to qualify as a thorough and efficient school district."

School districts which pass the state's evaluation are then certified for five years. Union County Regional High School District 1 was last monitored in 1984.

A special task force, comprised of various regional school district officials, prepared for the state monitoring for more than 10 months beforehand, Long said. The group reviewed all aspects of the regional district, he added, to determine that all facets were up to par before the monitors arrived.

The task force included Merachnik, the principals of the four regional high schools, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles Bauman, Board Secretary and Business Administrator Harold R. Burdge Jr., and Director of Curriculum Dr. Martin Siegel.

"Its a very thorough process," Long remarked of the task force's review and the state monitoring process. "It's the kind of thing where we look at what we're doing and then the state takes a good, hard look at what we're doing."

A TENDER MOMENT - Betty Santoro of Union, a 'cuddler' at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, gives some extra love to a tiny patient at the pediatric rehabilitation facility on New Providence Road. 'Cuddlers' are volunteers who spend several hours each week holding infants and toddlers at the hospital, reading and singing to them, or just providing companionship to the youngsters.

A comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility, Children's Specialized provides treatment for children and adolescents suffering from spinal cord injuries, congenital defects and other anomalies. The facility houses 60 rehab beds and 25 long-term care beds at its New Providence Road headquarters. The "cuddlers" are volunteers who donate several hours per week to simply holding babies and young children in the children's rooms in the hospital's west wing, according to CSH Community Resource Coordinator Shirley Biegler. Volunteers hold the babies in rocking chairs, talk to and soothe them, and provide an overall comforting presence which is considered by the hospital staff to be vital during the youngsters' convalescence, Biegler explained.

Three Mountainside youngsters will be among the adolescent performers from "Kathy's Cable Kids," a children's program on cable television, who will be featured in the program's new anti-drug series titled "Feeling Good."

A non-profit program now entering its fifth season on New York and New Jersey cable, "Kathy's Cable Kids" was created by Kathy Renna, owner of Kathy Renna Enterprises on Echo Plaza in Springfield.

The 13-episode series "Feeling Good," slated to kick off on Oct. 4 on Channel 48, will also be written, produced and directed by Renna, and will address drug and alcohol abuse through informative interviews conducted by the children themselves.

Seventh-graders Nicole Coddington, 12, of Summit Road and Brandee Aylward, 13, of Beechwood Court, and sixth-grader Jill Latora of Peachtree Lane, will be among those conducting the interviews, and who will also perform on the show. They are all enrolled at Deerfield School in Mountainside.

All three girls are accomplished jazz dancers, and Jill does ballet and tap as well. They study dance with Kathy Renna at her studio, and have performed with "Kathy's Cable Kids" at assemblies and other functions.

The grown-ups who will be interviewed on "Feeling Good" are expected to include school guidance counselors, policemen, rabbis, former drug addicts and others who are knowledgeable about substance abuse.

According to Renna, who has received two national video awards, the primary goals of "Feeling Good" will be "imparting information, providing answers and stimulating young minds.

Along with educating children on the pitfalls of chemical abuse, "Feeling Good" offers segments which give youngsters advice on how to utilize their free time constructively.

These feature spots have been designed to get children interested in hobbies, sports, arts and crafts, and performing arts.

Renna is hoping that children who watch features such as "Tennis Anyone?" and "Computer Crazy" will be motivated enough to "actively participate in something they like," so they can "say no to drugs."

As children get involved in positive activities, according to Renna, they start to feel good about themselves, which is the objective of "Feeling Good."

The show's ultimate goal will be to enhance a "child's positive self-image and self-esteem," in order to help the youngster lead a "fulfilling and productive life," said Renna.

Renna, the creator of "Cable Kids," said her program "took a slightly different direction when we wrote our own anti-drug commercials for ABC-

"We produced 54 public service spots that are currently on Channel 7." Renna explained. "They are fresh, innovative, original and through the eyes of children. From that direction, we combined ideas to come up with 'Feeling Good.'"

Renna reported that even though producing "Cable Kids" is a strenuous job, she receives assistance from her (Continued on Page 2)

Benefit is planned

The Auxiliary of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside will present its annual Spring Party and Fashion Show, on Friday, May 4, hospital officials have announced.

The theme of this year's event is "Centennial Countdown," in honor of the upcoming 100th Anniversary of Children's Specialized Hospital in 1991.

The event, which includes a luncheon, will be held at the Short Hills Hilton Hotel, with fashions provided by Saks Fifth Avenue. The festivities will begin at 11:30 a.m.

All proceeds from the Spring Party and Fashion Show will benefit Children's Specialized Hospital and will go toward purchase of needed rehabilitation items for the young patients.

The auxiliary, a volunteer group in service to the hospital, traditionally raises money for Children's Specialized. Last year's Spring Party raised over $25,000 for equipment for an audiology lab at the hospital's outpatient center in Fanwood.

Tickets for the luncheon and fashion show are $35 each, and reservations are currently being accepted. In addition to the fashion show, the auxiliary will conduct several activities at a benefit scheduled to be held during the event. Tickets for each are $2 and can be obtained from any auxiliary member.

Patrons who can not attend the Spring Party and Fashion Show but who wish support the auxiliary and the hospital may making a donation. All donors will be recognized in the annual program, distributed at the event.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term care beds. The hospital also provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in Fanwood.

Tickets are available at the hospital reception desk or from any auxiliary member. For more information, one can call the hospital at 233-3720.

The program began in January 1987, according to Biegler, when CSH therapists in the Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy departments requested that outside volunteers be recruited to supplement the young patients' therapy. Biegler reported that the hospital has since acquired about 25 to 30 "cuddlers."

The "cuddlers" are given their assignments by the head nurse on duty, who directs them to a specific youngster's room. A nurse supervises the volunteers while they are with the children.

Hospital therapists believe that "cuddlers" help reinforce the children's therapy program by providing companionship and additional stimulation. A volunteer, for example, can sit with a disabled youngster while the latter practices holding a lapboard to improve dexterity.

"It's a wonderful feeling, frankly," remarked Mountainside resident Betty Anson, who has served as a volunteer at the hospital for more than 30 years. "It's lovely to cuddle these doing something for them."

"Cuddlers" visit Children's Specialized on weekdays, generally between the hours of 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., when the babies are most likely to be awake. The hospital maintains a flexible schedule, though, and is now planning to expand the program to weekends as well.

Parents of CSH patients have responded very positively to the "Cuddler" program, according to Biegler, especially since many work during the daytime, have other children at home, or live far away from the hospital and cannot always be with their youngster who is ill.

"If the parents aren't here, and if the nurses are occupied, the volunteer is here to hold the baby," the program coordinator remarked. "The holding of the baby comforts the baby, relaxes the baby...it's an expression of love that babies need."

Prospective "cuddlers" are interviewed by Biegler, who then arranges a tour and orientation program to familiarize the volunteers with the children they will be spending time with.

The volunteers are also issued a handbook and given instructions on hospital protocol regarding CSH children and their families, for the benefit of all concerned.

Biegler reported that Children's Specialized Hospital is eager for additional volunteers, both for the "Cuddler" program and the various other programs and services offered by the facility. Interested persons can contact Biegler at the hospital at 233-3720 for further information.

Local BOE member attends conference

Patricia Knodel, a member of the Mountainside Board of Education, met recently with Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo during the annual Federal Relations Network Conference now taking place in the nation's capital.

Knodel joined 30 colleagues from the Garden State and hundreds of others from across the United States during the three-day conference. She is seeking re-election to the Mountainside school board in April.

The Federal Relations Network (FRN) is a nationwide organization of local school board members, coordinated by the National School Boards Association.

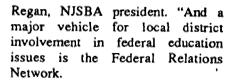

Network members served as liaisons between Congressional representatives and local school districts in their areas.

New Jersey's FRN contingent consisted of one delegate and one alternate from each of the state's 14 Congressional districts, as well as leaders of the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) which coordinated the state unit's activities.

Knodel serves as an alternate representative to the FRN for the state's seventh Congressional district.

"School boards will be playing a critical role in federal legislative issues that will shape educational policy and practices at the local level for years to come," said Heremiah F.

"The FRN members serve as the vital links between local boards of education and their representatives in Congress," he continued. "They promote an open line of communication about federal education issues and develop working relationships with the House of Representatives and New Jersey's two U.S. senators."

The theme for this year's FRN conference was "Launching a New Era... The Changing Federal Role in Education." In addition to conferring with their local Congressional representatives, the New Jersey FRN members met with Senators Bill Bradley and Frank Lautenberg.

Also on the conference agenda were sessions dealing with the impact of education as national priority and its connection with Presidential and Congressional politics, and briefings on issues before the second session of the 101st Congress.

Major issues facing Congress this year include early childhood education and child care; Chapter 1 funding; desegregation and magnet schools; environmental concerns; taxes and bonds .

A key member of the staff is Vivian Coddington of Mountainside ----Nicole's mother — who has been involved in many civic organizations such as the Board of Education, the PTA and the Girl Scouts in Mountainside and Springfield.

"I try to pull all of this together," said Coddington of her "Feeling Good" responsibilities. "I think the kids are beginning to realize that there's kids that are involved in drugs.

There are about 20 more adults who will be volunteering their services for the production of "Feeling Good," which is still in the planning stage, although the show's taping starts in April.

Many of the shows will be shot on location, while portions of "Feeling Good" will be filmed inside Renna's PTA. studio in Springfield. Also on the production schedule is taping of the dinner theater talent show fundraiser, which is designed to generate some badly-needed funds to pay for the show's cost.

The total cost of producing all 13 episodes of "Feeling Good" is conservatively estimated to be $98,750, or $7,596.15 per show. Renna is expecting much of the show's funding to come from corporate sponsorship and state grants, as well as from individual contributions.

"We're hitting major companies," Renna remarked. "Companies do have anti-drug money." To encourage funding for the program, Renna is offering corporate sponsors a choice of on-screen credit or commercial airtime.

Currently, "Kathy's Cable Kids" receives tax-deductible contributions from several companies, including Danskin, Inc. of New York, Hudson Heights Physical Therapy, Inc. of Hudson and Bergen counties, and Adlergraphics, Inc. of East Hanover, among others.

The program is also recognized by the American Red Cross, The American Cancer Society and the national

With the taping of "Feeling Good" approaching, Renna is still in need of children for the show's cast. Children who have a special interest in sports, acting, dancing, cheerleading, music, computing, collecting or science are encouraged to audition. An audition can be arranged by contacting Kathy Renna Enterprises at 376-2111.

Dr. Dushkin, who has been working in the mental health field for 13 years, said that stress is present in everyone's life.

"There are critical periods in life when we experience more stress, such as adolescence, college, a new job, getting married, or having children," he added. "Then again, there is the everyday kind of stress that is all around us."

"Stress and Stress Management" will focus on ways to identify one's stress, and ways to deal with it once a person has identified it. Dr. Dushkin will be able to give the audience many practical tips on how to control stress in their lives.

The program, which will be held in the community meeting room of the library, will begin at 7:30 p.m. The lecture will be followed by a questionand-answer period.

Support groups under way

The Family Service Association of Summit will be starting new educational support groups to help Premenstrual Syndrome (PMS) sufferers and Adult Children of Alcoholics (ACOAs), which also includes those who grew up with parents who abused addicting substances other than alcohol.

To launch the new PMS series, the non-profit counseling agency will offer a workshop about PMS on Wednesday, March 21, at 7 p.m. at Family Service Association, located on 43 Franklin Place. It will be conducted by therapist Patricia Marino, MSW.

PMS, often characterized by fatigue, depression, mood swings, headaches, erratic behavior and food binges, has long been accepted as something that must be lived with.

Marino will explain some of the causes of the physical and emotional symptoms and effective ways to cope with them.

Those attending the workshop, which costs $10, will be entitled to a reduced fee of $8 per session for the on-going support group if they wish to enroll.

To register for the workshop or to obtain information about the series, one can call Marino at 273-1414.

Also forming at this time is a support group for Adult Children of Alcoholics. ACOAs typically suffer from low self-esteem, procrastination, problems in expressing feelings and in conducting relationships.

Because of their background, they perceive themselves as different and struggle with feelings of depression and anxiety. This group helps ACOAs come to terms with the past and offers understanding and growth as well as support.

It will be led by therapist Joanne Shovlin, MA. For information or to register, one can call Shovlin at 273-1414.

Family Service Association is a private, non-profit counseling agency. As a member of United Way, it serves residents of Springfield, Summit and New Providence on an ability-to-pay basis.

Family Service is the only counseling agency in Union County accredited by the Council on the Accreditation of Services for Families and Children.

Tracy Murray 'entertains' in music classes

By BEA SMITH

More than 250 students in Connecticut Farms School, Union, and Union High School have had fun participating in some very special music programs in the past three years.

The young man responsible for bringing music as a means to an end to all these youngsters is Tracy Murray, a music teacher at both schools. He also serves as leader of musical groups and currently as director of "Bye Bye Birdie," UHS's huge production which will be staged March 23 and 24 at the Boys and Girls Club of Union on Jeanette Avenue.

Murray is lovingly referred to by the students of Connecticut Farms School as "Our Mr. Murray" because he entertains as he teaches. What really brought him into the public's eye was a show called "Mr. Murray's Show," which he staged for the youngsters and their parents last April as a fund-raiser, and which became so popular, he did it again in November.

"Basically," he says during a recent visit, "it's a children's show that initially was done as a fund-raiser to get additional teaching materials. And I had students from my high school music classes, from chorus to musical theater, help to put some of the things together at Connecticut Farms School. That was where the show was held — in the auditorium.

"In the show, we did silly dances which were lots of fun. I even put in some small comedy skits with the assistance of my high school students. I had my jazz students from the high school jazz band help with the 'Scat Like That' song."

Murray grins and nods his head. The first show, last April, the PTA liked so much that they asked me to do it again in the fall. So, I did it again in early November. And we had more fun! Then I was asked to do a Christand to get them to continue to appreciate music through the rest of their years in school."

Murray is an active teacher, who frequently gestures with his hands to prove a point. "I try to make it as pleasant and as much fun as possible for them. For example, during the 'Mr. Murray Show,' at the grand finale, I would come out with some of the high school students dressed up as the California Raisins and lip-sync a version of 'I Heard It Through the Grapevine.' I wore a garbage bag over my body, and I stuffed it with newspapers to make me look like a big raisin."

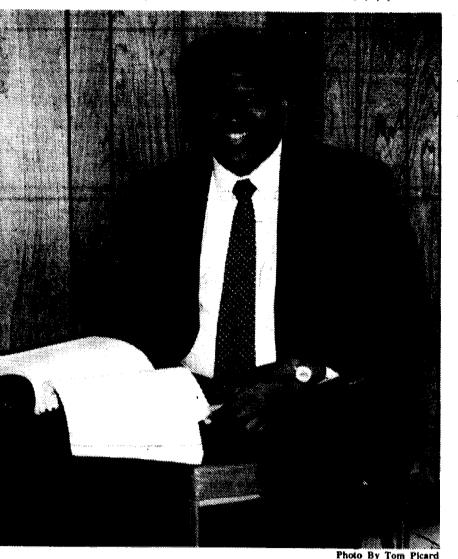

He laughs. "The first time I did it, all the newspapers fell out of the bag. So, the next time, I used costumes that looked like raisins."

He gives the schools, faculties and the PTAs equal recognition in helping him with his "Mr. Murray" shows. He also gives credit to Robert Petracco, the principal, who he says was very supportive.

Murray, who was born in Newark, resides with his mother, Mabel, in Maplewood. He was educated in Newark and was graduated from Montclair State College, where he majored in music education.

"I've always had an interest in music," admits Murray. "In my high school years, I discovered classical music. And when my high school music teacher, Dr. Carol Fabrini, discovered this, she was very instrumental in getting me into the music program at Montclair State College.

"She knew I was interested in the piano. I played by ear wherever I could find a piano. Well, she acquired a piano for me to practice on and to prepare for the audition. She really went out of her way. I still keep in contact with her," Murray says. "She's my assistant conductor with the Garden State Chorale which I conduct in West Orange. We just did a performance two weeks ago with the Union Symphony in a concert conducted by Mr. Edward Kliszus, the music supervisor of Union schools." Murray says he learned to read music in college. "I had lessons in college, and the rest is history," he says proudly. "Actually, it's very difficult to practice music. I don't have a piano. I'm giving piano lessons in private homes because I don't have one at home. I also give lessons on Saturdays at the Newark Community School of the Arts in Forest Hill. One of these days," he grins, "I'm going to own a piano — but I'll have to win the Pick-6 first." After he was graduated, he taught at Immaculate Conception High School in Montclair. "At the same time, I was playing drums for the Hester Street Troupe, a band that specializes in many varieties of Jewish music. It is based in Cranford. They released an album last year called 'Generation to Generation.' I play drums on two songs and I sing a solo on one. But I eventually had to give it up because of my responsibilities to the Union schools."

Before Union, Murray taught music for more than a year at East Brunswick High School. "I taught piano and chorus and general music. I taught for a whole year, and at that point, I began to work part time at Connecticut Farms School in Union. Later, I was assigned to teach music at the high school and then began at both schools, where I have been ever since.

"And I have been very busy ever since between the marching band and the chorus performances. Last year, I took my groups to competitions in Maryland and Virginia. This year, I will take a barbershop ensemble to compete in Toronto in May. There are about six students and they're called 'The Accidentals.' They perform in annual concerts."

Murray's current involvement as music director of "Bye Bye Birdie" is his first experience with a stage play. "I never did a play," he says, "but I directed a short film in college. It was a silent film called 'The Blade.' It was my version of 'Friday the 13th.' Realienced with the musical theater. We also had a lot of help from all sorts of people...teachers and parents and Union's Cultural Arts Council and the students. I also got lots of help from my supervisor, Mr. Kliszus, constantly...and not to mention the orchestra, which was conducted by Louis Quagliato. He has a major job. The musical scenes are quite difficult. "We have major dances with Lisa Orsini and Donna DeMilt working on choreography. And there are so many others contributing so much of themselves...just too numerous to mention!

"I'm the choral director, and I work in all the music, all the scenes that have to be done. I try to get all the stuff to work. It's kind of difficult to do all this. I have to go to the high school to rehearse my barbershop group, then teach classes at the high school, then go to Connecticut Farms school to teach in the afternoons. Then I come back to the high school for the musical rehearsals.

"We're all helping each other to get the show together," exclaims Murray. "It's definitely a major effort. If I get home before 11 p.m., that's good. I live with my mother, but I hardly see her," he smiles.

mas version in December at the Boys and Girls Club of Union. It was an evening show and very popular.

"I also was asked to do two more at the Newark Community School of the Arts in the Forest Hill location."

What made it such a fun show originally, says Murray, "is that the first time I did it, I had the kids dance around the auditorium with me. We did the conga...one, two three...kick. In the second show at Connecticut Farms, we did the tango around the auditorium. Then we did the 'Chicken Dance,' which is very comical. And then the 'Peanut Butter Song,' and then we played a 'Rhythm Game,' where I clap my hands to the rhythm of a song, and the children clap right after -me...and they have more fun.

"Most of them are students that I have in class. The high school students participate in the show, the PTA helps with the business part of it, and the students from Connecticut Farms attend with their parents. I thought it would be cute to do this with other students. I'd like to provide arts to the students. It's very important that they have a positive attitude toward music ly, it was just for fun."

There is a lot of fun but also a lot of work involved in such a major project as "Bye Bye Birdie." "This musical became officially a function of the music department. During the whole winter recess, we were rehearsing. On Sundays, we rehearsed. And we painted sets and made props. I helped to do most everything, and I also played the piano. I just got very involved.

"And," says Murray, "we got a lot of help from Joanne Liebhauser, who needless to say, is much more exper-

Common sense

Our commendations go to the Mountainside Borough Council for developing a 1990 municipal budget that increased by slightly less than 6 percent while providing for expanded services to residents.

The proposed $4.9 million tab will increase the annual municipal-purposes levy on the average borough home by only about $75.

In an age when many citizens are faced with spiraling taxes, sometimes coupled with reductions in services, it is refreshing to see local government leaders utilizing good management skills and ingenuity to spare taxpayers the burden of increased costs.

Examples of this common-sense planning are the recent expansion of the borough Department of Public Works, allowing for more projects to be done in-house and eliminating the need for outside contractors, and a broadening of the borough's investment program.

Unfortunately, not all governmental bodies are so costconscious.

The Union County freeholders are facing a budget increase of approximately 12 percent this year, a hike similar to last year's. And that budget will help push the typical Mountainside homeowner's overall property tax bill up by $250 or so.

Perhaps the freeholders could use some tips from Mountainside's officials.

Cutting back

Last year, the Union County Regional High School Board of Education, which runs Jonathan Dayton in Springfield and three other high schools, pared down a layoff plan that had prompted a series of protests. Instead of dismissing 25 teachers as originally intended, the board let only nine go.

That seemed to assuage the plan's opponents. The trouble was, the regional schools still had more staffers than an efficiently-run school district ought to have.

And when the New Jersey Schools Report Card was issued last fall, one figure on the district leaped off the page: $9,396. That's what the district spends per pupil.

In its cold, dispassionate numbers, the report card suggested that something was wrong in the district.

The figures showed that no other academic school district in the state spends as much, on a per-pupil basis, as the Union County regional schools.

Furthermore, the runner-up district for the dubious distinction wasn't even a close second: it spent $1,088 less per pupil than Union County's regional schools.

DECORATING CONTEST — The Mountainside Lions Club recently presented awards for its annual holiday decoration contest. Plaques were awarded for three categories of decorations. The winners were Barbara and Robert Graham of Short Drive, Best Residential Doorway; Julia and Paul Schwartz of Stony Brook Lane, Best Overall Residential Exterior: and The Tower Steak House on Route 22, Best Commercial Exterior Decorations. From left are Manfred Wilking, manager of the Tower Steak House; Mountainside Fire Chief Robert Farley; contest judge Ruth Goensa; and Lawrence Curtiss and Howard W. Snyder, Lions Club members.

Red Cross should be appreciated

March is Red Cross Month, a month in which to reflect on the positive side of the American Red Cross over the years throughout our nation and the world. To maintain its charter, the American Red Cross is mandated to provide three things:

- Services to members of the armed forces and their families:
- · Services to victims of floods, fires and other disasters; and
- Blood services.

In addition, the Red Cross offers many volunteer services: first-aid training and cardiopulmonary resuscitation, water safety instruction and training, international services, volunteer services for local and veterans hospitals, Braille instruction and books for the blind, volunteer transportation services for veterans, and disaster canteen service.

The American Red Cross is the vehicle used by the United States government, in times of war and peace, to communicate with all nations throughout the world and to deliver assistance and supplies when called upon.

The American Red Cross receives no financial aid from the government; it is solely dependent upon public funds and United Way assistance.

The American Red Cross is also, perhaps, the most maligned charitable organization, because of its high visibility. It is also one of the best-supported and most-respected organizations.

Detractors go back in history to declare the glass half-empty, but supporters look at the dependability and responsibility of the Red Cross and declare the glass half-full.

The Red Cross is one of the few charitable organizations available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

May we take this opportunity to thank the many municipalities which are flying the Red Cross flag, along with the American flag, during the month of March. We thank, also, the Union Township Library for its lovely display on behalf of the American Red Cross.

Before raising tolls, fix the parkway

These people who run the Garden State Parkway worry about getting increases at the toll booths, but don't care a bit about the condition of the parkway.

It is in such a deplorable condition, you have to swerve from lane to lane to avoid all the holes in the road.

Someone from the parkway office should take a ride on the highway and they would see what I mean. It's about time someone did something about it.

I use that Parkway every day, and sometimes three and four times a day. If I had another way of getting to where I have to go, I would never use it. HELEN STURN Union

Trenton Report insurance bill shifts Auto costs

By MAUREEN OGDEN Assemblywoman, 22nd District When A-1, the Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Act of 1990, was called for a vote recently in the Assembly, I cast a "no" vote.

cal coverage to their health insurance carriers, as allowed in the bill, would realize a projected auto insurance premium savings of $40. However, it's amount to a 9 percent increase in pre-be increased registration fees for vehicles.

New Jersey motorists have waited a long time for significant rate relief. estimated that such a shift would Under this bill, they will still be waiting.

which caps health and medical benefits at $250,000 is needed. Many drivers accurately see this as a reduction in coverage with only a slight reduction in cost.

• Cost containment would be

And the report card also showed that many districts spendhalf what the Union County regional schools do, per pupil.

Population trends don't suggest a painless remedy to the situation, either.

In 1972-73, there were 5,700 students in the district's four schools; today, due chiefly to a dropping birth rate, there are 2,200. And the district projects a further enrollment decline of 108 students next school year.

Now the regional school board is considering two budget proposals. One would chop district staff positions by 35 and achieve a zero-percent increase in the budget. And the other would hike spending by 2.6 percent and save an unspecified number of teaching positions.

The latter plan seems to be an effort to forestall the inevitable. Large layoffs are coming --- if not for the coming school year, then for the one after that.

When the school board capitulated to pressure last year, it wound up resorting to halfway measures that failed to bring the budget down to a reasonable level — and set the stage for the present budget battle.

But the fact that the board this time has proposed a budget with a zero-percent increase indicates that it is more determined in attempting to control costs. Considering that some neighboring districts are facing whopping budget increases, that's no mean achievement.

The regional school board ought to be commended for its work on that plan — as well as for its courage.

The Union County Regional Federation of Teachers sees the writing on the wall, and it has come out in support of the zeropercent proposal.

We think parents and students should follow suit, and back the tough decisions the board has made to contain the district's out-of-line expenditures.

During my four terms in the Assembly I have supported efforts to lower our auto insurance costs. And I would have supported A-1 if it truly reduced our auto insurance costs by 20 percent, as promised by Gov. Jim Florio.

Unfortunately, this bill shifted costs, more than reducing them, in the following ways:

• While the Joint Underwriting Association (JUA) would be abolished, loopholes in the legislation would allow insurance companies to pass along part of their assessment of $1.5 billion to ratepayers.

• Those who shift their auto medi-

This plan makes no fundamental changes in the way we provide car insurance in New Jersey. The present system is in desperate need of those changes.

The following provisions would improve the bill:

• The very strongest possible language is needed to prevent insurance companies from passing through to consumers the cost of paying off the JUA debt. It does no good to assess the insurance companies for the $1.4 billion to pay the JUA debt, only to have them turn around and raise rates again.

achieved through a strong mandatory verbal threshold, like the effective law in Michigan.

• A provision to protect local governments from any increase in costs resulting from the reform. The state would be required to reimburse such additional local expenses.

I applaud Gov. Florio for dealing with this issue so early in his term, but this bill does not provide the longterm solution that New Jersey motorists need. The Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Act of 1990 provides cost-shifting, not cost-containment. Ogden's district includes Mountainside.

Shopping trips no longer dull By FRANK J. KORN

In the old days, a shopping trip was a rather bland, uneventful experience. I would take the bus into town and get off right at the department store. Once inside, I would take my item to the cashier and hand her the cash. She would press a couple of keys on the ancient, brocaded, bronze NCR cash register. Numbered white tabs would pop up like toast into the little window, the drawer would spring open, she would give me my change, and off I would happily go.

But as John F. Kennedy noted in his memorable inaugural address: "The world is very different now."

I believe he had in mind the world of shopping.

For instance, one recent morning I visited one of the malls a few exits down on the Garden State Parking Lot, er, Parkway, in quest of a microwave table.

After eluding the nosedives of dozens of Kamikaze drivers on maneuvers in the mall lot, I landed a space for my Toyota, about a par-5 distance from the entrance to the store in question.

I wandered about the emporium asking for the microwave table department. One clerk sent me two floors up, where I got directions to go back to ground zero.

After several replays of this scenario, I at last located the appropriate section. By now, my five-o'clock shadow was setting in.

I picked out the item I wanted and the least.

brought it to the counter where I was second in line. But the cashier was AWOL.

After a few eons, he returned to discover that the girl in front of me was an old schoolmate of his. And so they had a rather lengthy colloquy, the subject of which was somewhat less profound than, let us say, Aristotle's Poetics.

All this time, playing over the P.A. system, was the music of Muzak, which usually proves to be an irritant to anyone with an I.Q. higher than his hat size.

Finally, my turn came. "But you can't take the floor model, sir. I have to call the stock room.'

Alas, he could have gotten through to Gorbachev far more easily.

Then he started typing on an elaborate keyboard, and all kinds of data, with no apparent connection to my purchase, began flashing across the computer screen: the weather in Prague, this morning's exchange rate of the yen in Tokyo, the lyrics to all the verses of "Lady of Spain."

Ultimately I would make out on the screen the sale price of the table: 59.99.

Next came a check on my credit card, which involved phone calls to the Better Business Bureau, the FBI and the Library of Congress.

At this point, "Roses Are Red, My Love" was coming over the speakers, and I tried to recall the composer. Mozart? Rachmaninoff? Liszt? Whatever. This was all haute culture, to say

The closing on a microwave table turned out to be about as lengthy and as complicated as the closing on a house — except that no lawyers were present, hence, no closing fees. Undoubtedly, though, the bar association is closely eyeing this potential market for its services.

The next phase of Operation Mall was to drive around back to the merchandise pick-up.

This turned out to be a large, bare room — no chairs, no magazines, no lavatories, and no Muzak, of all things.

I found myself 416th in line.

The minutes passed. The hours passed. Eventually, I lost all sense of time and place.

To keep my sanity, I recited to myself, over and over, Poe's "The Raven." When I had my bellyful of Poe, I would whistle the entire libretto to Verdi's "Aida," much to the evident displeasure of the scruffy, 250-pound, tank-topped culture buff in front of me.

I also seized this opportunity to plan my next book: A "how-to" guide for shopping at a mall.

There would be a chapter on what to bring with you, e.g., a portable TV, a walkman, a freezer chest full of chow and Heineken, a copy of "War and Peace," a sleeping bag, a change of clothes, and a potty chair.

Another chapter would explain how to throw a going-away party for someone about to embark on a shopping trip to a mall.

At last I got my table, and headed home to Kenilworth.

Just how long I'd been away didn't dawn on me until I noticed that all the trees on my block were girded with vellow ribbons and learned that there were official plans for my return.

In 1981, the Iran hostages were welcomed back to New York with a ticker-tape motorcade to City Hall, where, at a great banquet, they receive the keys to the city.

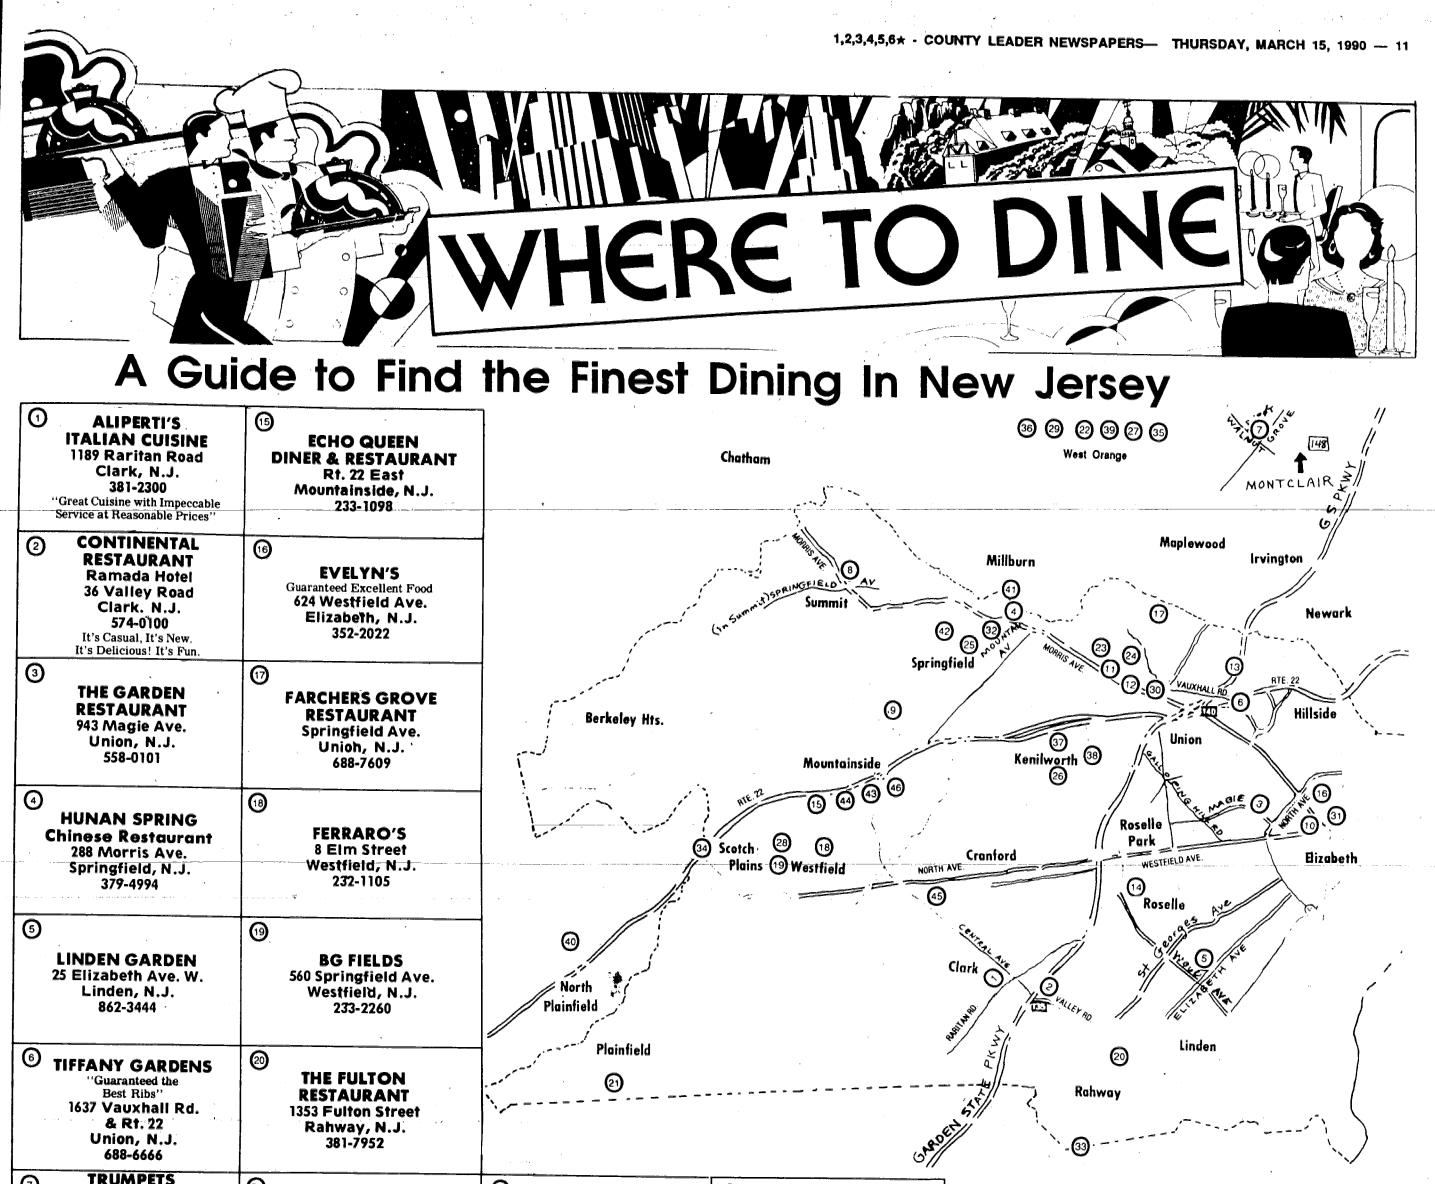

My_affair was considerably less elaborate. My son John drove me in his truck over to Dunkin' Donuts where, over a cup of coffee, a custodian from Borough Hall presented me with a used combination lock. Quaint, charming, picturesque, locker-sized Kenilworth is evidently too tiny to qualify for a "key to the city."

So there was a happy ending to it all.

One last thought. Perhaps I have stumbled upon a real deterrent to criminals. Hard labor in front of a cable TV set doesn't scare them. But maybe the threat of a sentence of one week of daily shopping at a mall would send a terrifying message to the entire criminal community.

I have no doubt that the day when judges start meting out such sentences, the crime rate will drop dramatically, and recidivism will cease to exist.

Rams lose to Hillside in final

By MARK YABLONSKY Nothing ever goes as planned. And things may sometimes work out in the end, but not always. This time, neither was true for the Abraham High boy's basketball team of Roselle, which lost, 70-61, to Hillside in the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 championship game last Tuesday night in Madison.

As a result, Roselle, which finishedat 23-2, did not earn the right to shoot for another Group 2 title overall, as was the case last year when Lance Miller and his Bridgewater-Raritan West teammates prevailed, 59-53, over the Rams in the group finale at Rider College in Lawrenceville.

Was the loss to Hillside a disappointment, especially when you consider that the Rams had pounded the Comets, 90-60, a month earlier in an empty Immaculata gym? Certainly. Was the loss hard to take not only because of the intense rivalry between the two teams, but also because the Rams twice failed to hold 10-point leads in the third quarter? Obviously. "We should've beaten them," conceded senior Ram guard Eugene Brown, who finished with four points. "If we could have gotten a 14-point spread on them, I think they would have folded. It was a heck of a way to go out."

"I think their fans had a lot to do with it, too," added senior shooting guard Craig Martin, who led the Rams with a 25-point effort. "Their fans motivated them to come back."

Whatever the reason, do give Hillside credit for coming back. And the Comets, incidentally, are now Group 4 champions, having beaten Middle Township, 50-48, on a pair of free throws by James Mazyck to win the title this past Saturday night at the "RAC" (Rutgers Athletic Center) in Piscataway.

Trailing by a 29-22 count at the half, Hillside, following a somewhat slowed-down pace by both clubs in the opening two quarters, started livening things up more at the start of the third. Actually, neither team had looked all that impressive in the first half, with both the Rams and Comets shooting at the 33 percent mark from the floor (9-27 and 10-29,respectively).

After the half, Hillside began applying more of a pressing-type defense, which resulted in a few more turnovers. Still, the Rams were ahead by as much as 10 points twice: the first time being when senior Marvin Davenport converted a rebound of a Brown miss for a 36-26 advantage, and again when a pair of Martin buckets gave Roselle a 40-30 advantage approximately halfway through the third period.

Then, not long after Martin's two field goals, Hillside, beginning with two baskets from Mazyck and a big three-pointer by Anthony Jenkins, ran off a 13-5 spurt that trimmed the deficit to only 45-43 by the end of the third quarter. In the frame, Mazyck and Ken Pierce each had six points for Hillside.

It was to get worse in the final period, when the Comets also began picking up steals off of a man-to-man defensive alignment — that also did not allow Roselle to improve its shooting percentage. After a free throw from Martin made it a 46-43 game, Pierce connected on a threepoint bomb from the right side to force a 46-46 deadlock some 40 seconds into the final period. The Rams regrouped and took a 49-46 lead, but when Mazyck swiped an erroneous outlet pass almost right in front of the Roselle basket and converted an easy bucket, the tempo permanently beganshifting toward the Comets.

The decisive basket came about when Dwayne Arrington nailed a three-pointer from the left side to give Hillside a 51-49 lead, its first since Arrington's initial basket of the contest had provided the Cornets with a 4-3 advantage early in the first period. Daryl Purnell then added a short turnaround jumper to stretch Hillside's lead to four points, and the rest became academic when the Comets added a 17-12 cushion over the final five minutes of play to clinch it.

The closest the Rams came after that point was when Martin hit a pair of free throws to make it a 59-55 game with just over two minutes remaining.

"It was a nightmare," admitted Roselle coach Stan Kokie. "But I give Hillside a lot of credit for coming back. We didn't box out as well as we could have. We did not play well."

QUITE A SEASON — And it was for Jon Johnson and the rest of the Roselle High boy' basketball team, despite last week's disappointing 70-61 loss to Hillside in the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 championship in Madison. Johnson had 13 points in that game.

State wrestling tourney begins

By MARK YABLONSKY Albeit one week later than usual, the long and demanding high school wrestling season is coming to a close. For even as you read this, the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association's championship wrestling tournament is underway at Jadwin Gym in Princeton.

And by early Saturday evening, a total of 13 champions — from each weight class — will be crowned. Late yesterday afternoon at 5 p.m., the tournament began with preliminaryround matches between second and third-place qualifiers from around the state: In all, 312 wrestlers representing roughly 200 high schools are battling it out to determine the Final 13, so to speak.

119-pounder Earl Finney of Union, 130-pounder Chris Moreno of Dayton, 145-pounder John Ranieri of Roselle Park, and 171-pounder Bob Kuldanek of Union - all were involved in the preliminaries yesterday. Whoever won would have advanced into the pre-quarterfinals at 8 p.m.; any of those winners then advance into the quarterfinal round, slated to begin tomorrow at 6 p.m. Those who are defeated in the preliminaries are out of the tournament; those who win that round are guaranteed of at least an appearance in the wrestlebacks tomorrow.

Magnuchile all such a l and the state tournament director, is enthused about the state tournament. When asked, however, if he thought the late start — due to an NCAA fencing tournament last weekend in Princeton — could have any affect on the outcome, the Roselle Park superintendent of schools indicated that it might.

"I'm terribly disappointed for the student-athletes and coaches who had to wait a week-and-a-half," said Finizio without hesitation. "Already, three boys who qualified had to withdraw because of injuries created by the additional practice sessions, and by having to hold their weight down. place qualifier who owns a 25-5 record, faced Byron Stoll of St. Joseph's of Montvale (20-8).

119 pounds — Finney (24-5-1), a third-place qualifier, faced Mark Peditto of Maple Shade.

130 pounds — Moreno (23-2), a regional runnerup qualifier, faced Frank Dickenson of Vineland (20-5-1).

145 pounds — Ranieri (27-3), a third-place qualifier, wrestled Matt-McCabe of Midland Park (26-2).

171 pounds — Kuldanek (23-7) went up against John DiMarco of Pequannock.

Seven wrestlers from the County Leader coverage area are among that number.

Five of those qualifiers — 103-pounder Dante Puorro of Dayton, Meanwhile, all regional champions, some of whom will be seeded among their respective weight classes, are excused from the preliminaries. That included Region 3 champions Dan Lilley and Mike Francesca, both of Union.

As always, Ernest J. Finizio of Roselle Park, who is both the NJSIAA state wrestling committee chairman "That's my feeling as an educator and a former coach," Finizio added. "I believe it can also have an effect on their everyday progress in the classroom."

Last night's preliminary-round lineup for local-area qualifiers (at 5 p.m.) was as follows:

103 pounds — Puorro, a third-

Meanwhile, Lilley (28-1) entered as the No. 6 seed and was scheduled to meet either Emilio Nardone of Belleville (25-1) or Mark Gankiewicz of Notre Dame (23-6) at 8 p.m. in the pre-quarterfinal round. The same held true for the unseeded Francesca, who was set to battle either Dave DiGiantomasso of Jackson Memorial or Glen Castiglia of Elmwood Park last night.

Tigers came on to enjoy solid season

By MARK YABLONSKY Prior to the start of the 1989-90 boy's basketball season, there was plenty of talk about teams such as Elizabeth and Roselle, but not nearly as much about Linden. That, however, changed.

It's not that Linden turned the local high school basketball scene upside down. But the Figers, who were admittedly "young and inexperienced," came through with a final record of 22-5 and shared the Watchung Conference's National Division title with Shabazz — the same Shabazz that went 27-3 and won the North Jersey, Group 3, Section 2 championship by beating Clifford Scott, 67-62, last Monday.

"I'll take that in a rebuilding year," said Linden coach Wilbur Aikins. "I'm very satisfied because I felt the kids came to play every time out. Nothing much was expected of us this year, but we surprised a lot of people. We lost to quality teams. We had what I consider to be quality wins."

Wins over teams such as Westfield and Union Catholic belong in that category. And yet, it is some of the quality losses that stood out more. For openers, there was a 66-64 defeat to Hillside in that school's Holiday Tournament title game on Dec. 31, in which the Comets prevailed on a pair of free throws with less than 30 seconds remaining.

And it's not likely that anyone will forget that heartbreaking doubleovertime, 63-61 defeat to Roselle in the Union County Tournament semifinals on Feb. 21. That night, the Tigers had the lead entering the final quarter but couldn't hold it, primarily because of an inability to take advantage of numerous free throw opportunities. In all, the Tigers, who sank just 13 of 27 attempts from the line, were beaten on a buzzer shot by Andy Morales at the end of the second overtime. Seconds earlier, a three-pointer from Waliyy Dixon had forced a 61-61 tie, and it appeared that a third OT session would be necessary until Morales came through for Roselle.

"With a more experienced team." Aikins said, "we win those games."

Dixon, a member of this year's All-County Leader team, had a whale of a year, as did Tariq Saunders. Dixon ended up with 497 points in all of Linden's 27 games for an 18.4 scoring average, just two-tenths of a percentage point behind Saunders, who finished with 509 points and an 18.6 PPG average.

In particular, the 6-foot-1 Dixon displayed great jumping ability, which helped him attain 208 rebounds for a 7.7 per-game average. Two of Dixon's better games of the season occurred in a 25-point showing against Westfield in county tournament play, and a 28-point effort in the loss to Hillside. His season-high effort, however, was a 34-point showing in a 90-69 triumph over Irvington on Jan. 11.

"As a sophomore, he played much better than I expected," Aikins said. "He made us much tougher than people thought we would be. He can do it all. He's an intense player. Colleges just love him right now."

Saunders led the team in blocked shots (33) and had the season's best performance with 41 points in a 78-59 victory over Scotch Plains on Jan. 2. That enabled Saunders to set a new school record for most points in one game. Local duo paces Kean

This past weekend, the Kean College baseball team got off to a good start, and so did team members Jim Wiewiorski of Linden and Dave Hartzler of Roselle Park.

Wiewiorski, a 6 2, 210 pound senior pitcher/outfielder, threw a fourhit shutout to lead Kean past Salisbury State, 2-0, in the first game of Saturday's doubleheader in Salisbury, Md. Kean's leading pitcher and hitter a year ago, Wiewiorski struck out seven and walked just three. Then in the nightcap, it was Hartzler's turn.

Hartzler, a key hurler for the 1987 Group 1 championship Roselle Park High squad, fired a dandy two-hitter to defeat the Seagulls, 9-1, as the Cougars swept both ends of the twin bill. The 5-11, 180-pound sophomore flirted with a perfect game through the first five innings, until a leadoff walk and two-out, run-scoring single in the bottom of the sixth ruined the bid.

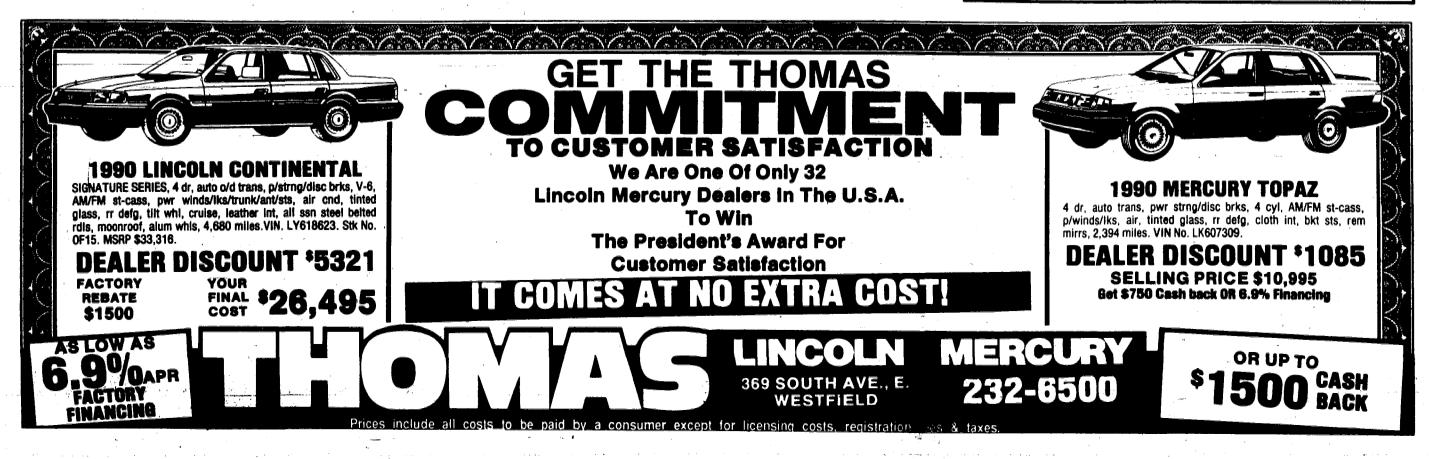

Wiewiorski supplied a leadoff homer in the top of the second inning when Kean scored three times to take control. "Ski," as his teammates call him, later delivered a two-run double for Kean, which is 3-1.

The Cougars also beat the University of Maryland (Eastern Shore), 8-1, on Friday before dropping a 9 7 decision to Virginia Wesleyan on Sunday. Kean will begin a 12-game tour through Florida with a 7 p.m. contest tomorrow night against Tennessee State University in DeLand, Fla.

Baseball signups slated

With spring approaching, it's time to register for the 1990 Union County Baseball Association's Youth Baseball Leagues. Registration will be held at the Warinanco Skating Center on both April 14 and 21, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Youth baseball is open to county boys and girls between the ages of 8-15, and is divided into four leagues. All games are played in Warinanco Park from June 25 until August 17. More information is available at 527-4902.

Pat O'Halloran was frequently matched against taller opponents up front, but the 6-1 senior swingman nevertheless pulled down a teamleading 127 rebounds, while finishing second in scoring with 283 points for an 11.8 average.

And consider this: from the foul line, O'Halloran converted 99 of 123 opportunities for an astounding 80.5 percent. That includes a 12-for-14 effort from the charity stripe in a game with Hillside. Also, the Moravian College-bound Linden resident had two other games in which he went 11-for-12 from the line.

"He had to rebound for us, he had to score some points, and defensively," Hagan explained, "he would have to play a bigger player. So he's a kid that really did a great job on the boards."

SCOTT BERMINGHAM ROSELLE PARK

ROSELLE CATHOLIC

For the first time in three years, there was something to cheer about for Roselle Park boy's basketball fans this winter, and perhaps the biggest reason why was junior Scott Bermingham.

Park's leading scorer with 370 points in 24 games for an impressive 15.4 average, Bermingham also averaged 13 rebounds a game for a team that reached the North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoffs.

Also someone to watch out for in baseball this spring, the 6-2, 190-pound center owns a fine jumper from 12 to 15 feet out.

"He helped us out a lot," said Roselle Park Pat Lalley. "He was a very good player for us all year on the boards, and in scoring. He was pretty accurate throughout the whole year.

outside shooters. But it wasn't at all

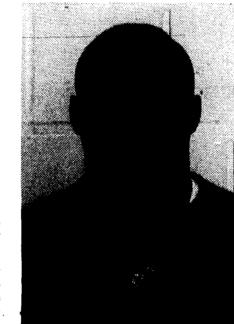

STERLING WILLIAMS BREARLEY

Most people had an inkling that Wallyy Dixon had the makings of a great player, given his late-season promotion to the Linden varsity a year ago as a freshman. Now everyone knows for sure.

With outstanding leaping ability, the 6-1 sophomore forward rang up 497 points for an 18.4 scoring average this winter, along with 173 rebounds. 31 steals and even 22 assists.

And the best thing of all for Linden fans is that Dixon will be around for two more years before some fortunate college grabs him - not that they wouldn't take him now.

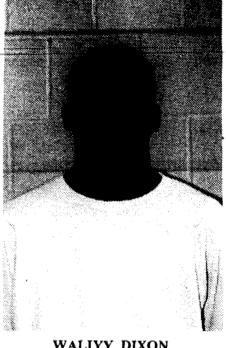

"He can do it all," said Aikins. "He's just going to be an outstanding player. He just works hard and comes to play all the time. He's a winner."

There were a lot of achievements to highlight Sterling Williams' senior year at Brearley, not the least of which included his reaching the 1,000-point plateau - making him only the fourth player to do so in Brearley boy's basketball history.

A repeat player for All-CLN honors, the senior 6-1 swingman dropped in a total of 464 points this season, while averaging eight rebounds and roughly three assists a game this winter. One of his best efforts was a 27-point showing in Brearley's 74-50 win over St. Pius X on Dec. 27, en route to the Piscataway Holiday Tournament title.

"I think he's a great team player," said Brearley first-year coach Joe Lafferty. "He was a very unselfish individual."

WALIYY DIXON LINDEN

From the football field to the hardwood, Eugene Brown traded in his shoulder pads for a pair of sneakers and basketball garb to help the Rams roll to a 23-2 record.

Averaging 16.2 points, 4.5 rebounds, 5.7 assists and 4.3 steals a game, there was little the 5-8, 155-pound senior point guard couldn't do for the Rams. While his shooting wasn't top-notch every night, his quickness and ability to dish out assists from the point never faltered.

What's more, his 76 percent accuracy from the foul line was a big detriment to opposing teams.

"He's very quick," Kokie said. "His ball handling is exceptional. He ran the fast break for us, and his speed was a big plus. He was the main one

Last season, a total of 260 points and 206 rebounds in 23 games helped bring Tariq Saunders All-CLN honors. This time, he deserves it even more - a lot more.

The team's leading scorer with 509 points for an 18.6 average, Saunders also led in rebounds with 212, as well as in blocked shots. His 41-point effort against Scotch Plains on Jan. 2 set a new school mark, but his performance down the stretch was even more impressive, since he scored 117 points in Linden's final four games ---all in post-season — at a 29.3 clip.

"Tariq was our lone returning scorer and he really led by example," said Linden coach Wilbur Aikins. "He really did the job for us, and he really rose to the occasion."

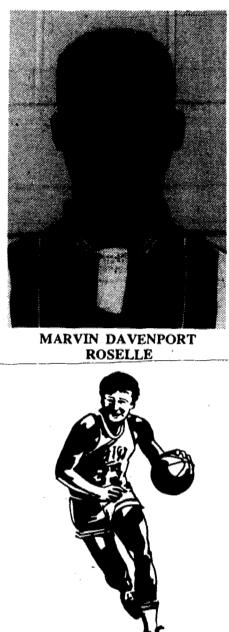

LINDEN

One of the local area's standout players, Craig Martin led the Rams in scoring with a total of 485 points in 25 games for a 19.4 average.

The 6-5 senior shooting guard also led in rebounds at better than 10 a game, while coming up with better than five assists and steals per game.

With schools such as Boston University and Northeastern interested in him. Martin leaves the Abraham Clark program with just under 1,200 career points, second only to Billy Robeson's 1,346. The All-CLN repeater also scores plenty of points in the classroom, too.

"He had to hit the boards, particularly defensively," said Roselle coach Stan Kokie. "He's always been a strong rebounder. He's a complete player. And he's a great student."

Referred to as "Mr. Steady" by Kokie, Marvin Davenport was all of that and more under the boards for the Rams, averaging 10.2 points and 8.2 rebounds a game. Five times this winter, in fact, the 6-3, 195-pound senior forward pulled down 15 or more rebounds.

He also sank 78 percent of his shots from the foul line. Montclair State, Kean and Fairleigh Dickinson University of Madison are among schools that Davenport is looking at for next season.

"Marvin is an excellent shooter," Kokie explained, "probably our steadiest player all year who could have shot more. He's a very smart player who gets very good position.

coach Bill Hazleton said. "He didn't have a super great season because of the kind of team we had, and because of the things that he had to do to compensate. But he had a good season." The Farmers' leading scorer with 406 points and a 15.6 average, senior Michael Danns also collected a teamleading 260 rebounds, which aver-

Is it true that as Tim Zawacki goes, so go the fortunes of Roselle Catholic? Probably.

The team's leading scorer with a total of 337 points in 24 games for a dead-even 14.0 average, the junior shooting guard also nailed 37 threepoint field goals in 107 attempts, a percentage of 34.5. And 34 of those three-pointers came in the team's final 12 games of the season, including seven in a 76-66 loss to Immaculata.

Thrown in a team-leading 79 steals, along with 79 rebounds and 58 assists, and you have a true all-around player.

"He really started shooting better at the end," said Roselle Catholic coach Pat Hagan. "He was important to us. His defense was much improved this year, from last year."

Union County Savings Bank concluded another profitable year in 1989, reporting earnings of more than $4 million, according to Donald C. Sims, president of the bank.

"During these troubled times for the thrift industry, Union County Savings Bank continues to show steady growth," he said.

"Assets surpassed the $300 million mark and at year-end reached a historic high of $309 million," Sims remarked.

"Deposits increased by more than $14 million last year, and already during the first two months of 1990, deposits have substantially grown. This is a very gratifying expression of confidence from our more than 30,000 depositors," he continued.

Union County Savings Bank's surplus and reserve position continues to be among the strongest in the nation, it was also noted.

"While many savings institutions have found it necessary to draw upon their reserves to cover dividend and operating expenses, Union County Savings Bank has tripled its surplus account over the last decade. Our account now stands at more than $40 million, which represented at yearend a healthy 15 percent of deposits," explained Sims.

In its 106 years, Union County Savings Bank has never missed a dividend, Sims also commented.

And, he added, during 1989 the bank made record interest payments totaling more than $19 million.

"Since 1883, Union County Savings Bank has played an important financial role in the community, not only as a safe and reliable depository, but as a source of real estate mortgage loans," Sims pointed out.

"Every cent of the bank's $84 million mortgage portfolio is invested in New Jersey properties with at least 80 percent of those monies devoted to home ownership in Union County," he said.

"We like to stand behind local and state growth," Sims commented, "and we have always maintained a strong commitment to the people of Union County."

Founded 106 years ago, the bank has offices at four locations: 320 North Broad St. and 61 Broad St., Elizabeth; 642 Chestnut St., Union; and 201 North Ave. West, Cranford.

Sims continued: "As we enter the '90s, we also reflect on the policies and values which have allowed Union County Savings Bank to attain its present position of strength and trust in the financial community.

"More than ever," he concluded, "Union County Savings Bank is dedicated to providing our loyal family of savers the security, safety and service they have come to expect."

Spencer Savings Bank starting new half-century on firm ground

Spencer Savings Bank, SLA, has entered its second half-century of service "more solid than ever," according to Charles R. Duess, president of the $800 million-plus financial institution.

"Our net worth ranks as one of the highest in New Jersey and in recent years we have received national acclaim as one of America's top 32 federally-insured savings institutions," Duess said.

"In fact, there is probably no safer or more solid place for people to put their money these days," he added.

Headquartered in Garfield, Spencer Savings Bank, SLA, is one of New Jersey's most respected financial institutions.

It maintains four Union County offices — three in Elizabeth and one in Union.

Other offices are in Garfield, Lodi, Wallington, Saddle Brook, Clifton, Lyndhurst and Belleville.

Having celebrated a successful 50th anniversary last year, Spencer reported another 12-month period of healthy growth and progress at yearend 1989.

The savings institution continues to attract sizeable deposits from its growing customer base as a result of a proven track record of strength and stability guided by sound and prudent management policies.

In addition, all accounts are FDIC-Insured to $100,000.

For a limited time only, Spencer Savings Bank is offering seriousminded investors certificates of deposit (CDs) that pay high rates with guaranteed safety and security. These CDs are in addition to Spencer's full range of other savings.

Berkeley Savings and Loan becomes mutual savings bank

The board of directors of Berkeley Federal Savings and Loan Association has approved a charter change, converting the organization to a mutual savings bank under the name of Berkeley Federal Savings Bank.

This change "better reflects the scope of our present banking activities," said Anthony C. Majeski, president and chief executive officer of Berkeley.

Since the deregulation of the banking industry in the early 1980s, Berkeley has been able to offer customers services formerly available only at commercial banks.

Majeski stressed that day-to-day operations of the bank will not be affected in any way, and added that "aside from seeing our new name and new logo in the offices, our customers will not notice any change in their relationship with Berkeley."

Berkeley Federal Savings Bank, headquartered in Millburn, operates 13 branches across the state and a trust and investment management office in Millburn. Local branches are in Garwood and Union.

State provides funds for local business projects

Plastic Design Engineering Inc. of Union is expanding its exporting activities with the help of a revolving line of credit made available through the New Jersey Economic Development Authority.

The company is using a $100,000 authority export working capital loan to design, develop and manufacture five fertilizer molds that will be used by a Colombian company to produce plastic fertilizer-applicator devices.

According to Alfonso Cardenas, president of the company, he would not have landed the South American contract if he had not been approved for the Authority's one-year revolving line of credit.

"As a small business that exports, I have found it hard to get the working capital I need to handle overseas projects," says Cardenas. He reports that limitations set by foreign governments have made it difficult for many small U.S.-based companies to do business abroad. He says that some do not allow payment for goods and services to be made until the product is being shipped.

"This can be a serious dilemma for smaller businesses that may not have the financial resources available to cover up-front production costs," says James J. Hughes Jr., executive director of the authority.

The authority's program made all the difference to Cardenas, who had approached several banks for money only to come up empty-handed.

"I didn't get anywhere with the banks," recalled the business owner. "They don't seem interested in working with small export businesses unless you're talking millions of dollars."

According to Hughes, the authority's revolving line of credit of up to $100,000 is offered at attractive interest rates and may be used to cover material, production and labor costs incurred to fill confirmed foreign orders.

As collateral for any borrowing under the line, a business will need to provide a confirmed letter of credit for the order or have receivables insured by the Foreign Credit Insurance Association. The one-year line of credit may be renewed annually if necessary.

"The authority program is great," says Cardenas. "And since it is a revolving line of credit, once it's paid back I can pursue other overseas business opportunities."

Businesses interested in knowing more about this program may contact the authority's Division of Finance at 1-609-292-0187.

Stress management program offered

The Cardiovascular Stress Management Program of the Heart Center, located on Millburn Avenue, Springfield, provides answers on how to reduce stress. Their program can be of benefit to anyone who has suffered a heart attack, had bypass surgery or has risk factors such as high blood pressure or high cholesterol.

At the Heart Center, participants are being taught techniques to lower stress and promote well-being, which are derived from scientific knowledge as well as from the ancient disciplines of yoga and meditation. The result is a program that allows each person to become aware of his or her specific stress patterns, and learn methods for replacing destructive habits of mind and body with more life-giving healthful ones.

The Heart Center program has been designed by Dr. Donald Morgan, a clinical psychologist who practices with the Short Hills Associates in Clinical Psychology and is a consultant to Overlook Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation Unit. The program runs over a 10-week course.

Group meetings are the central core, and during a twohour weekly meeting, techniques of stress management are presented and participants are involved in discussions of emotional, family, work and health problems. Help also will be provided for those individuals who need to stop smoking and/or lose weight.

Through affiliation with the Gloria Rose Gourmet Long Life Cooking School, participants will receive nutritional counseling plus actual step-by-step kitchen instruction in creating delicious meals that contribute to cardiac and general health. The yoga class is a gentle and fun way to learn about the body's tension patterns and ways to relax.

Individuals interested in receiving more information on the Heart Center's Cardiovascular Stress Management Program, or the programs for those who do not have heart conditions but wish to lower the stress in their lives, can call 467-9333. The meetings take place on evenings, days or weekends, and most major medical insurance will cover participation in the program.

'Warmth' campaign kicks off

Elizabethtown Gas Company's 1989-1990 "Share the Warmth" campaign will begin distributing in early March nearly $100,000 to help the needy and elderly pay their gas heating bills.

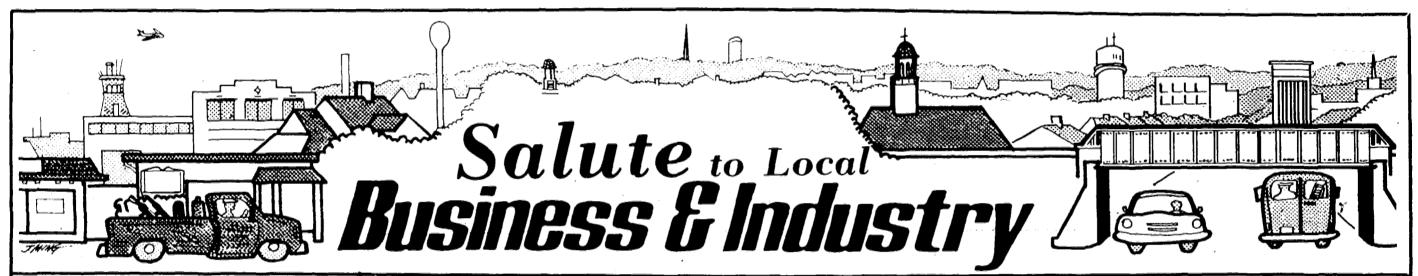

Frederick W. Sullivan, president of the Union-based utility, announced that the utility's customers contributed $23,074.99 to the fund. That was then matched dollar-for-dollar by Elizabethtown's shareholders, who also donated a start-up sum of $50,000.

"Thanks to the generosity of our customers, Elizabethtown has been able to help many needy people pay their winter heating bills," said Sullivan. "Elizabethtown is proud to have provided a way for people to help their neighbors."

According to Sullivan, the money will be divided among four social service agencies operating in Elizabethtown's seven-county franchise area: The American Red Cross of Eastern Union County, the Urban League of Union County, the Puerto Rican Association for Human Development of Perth Amboy, and the Northwest New Jersey Community Action Program of Phillipsburg.

These agencies will, in turn, provide grants of up to $200 to elderly and needy clients for use in paying their gas heating bills.

Contributions are still being accepted. Checks can be mailed and should be payable to "Share the Warmth," c/o Elizabethtown Gas Company, One Elizabethtown Plaza, Union 07083, or enclosed with gas bill payments. Contributions are taxdeductible.
