Borough Council adopts municipal budget

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside Borough Council formally adopted its $4.9 million municipal budget for 1990 Tuesday night, following notification by the state that the borough's tentative budget had been approved.

The budget represents a 5.95 percent, or $278,630, increase over last year's figure, according to Borough Administrator James Roberts. Borough officials have cited this year's budget as having one of the lowest percent increases of any in Union County.

Of the total figure, $2.9 million falls within the state-allowed cap, which covers the borough's normal operating expenses, while the remaining $2 million has been allocated outside the cap, for additional costs.

The municipality was faced with certain fixed costs during its preparation of the budget, Roberts noted recently, which were primarily responsible for the increases which did materialize.

These costs included such things as increases in salary and municipal employee health benefits, and an annual 15 percent increase to the Mountainside Library as mandated by

Municipal officials have emphasized, however, that the 1990 budget has managed to keep increases low while expanding services to Mountainside residents. These services include the leaf composting and expanded recycling programs which were implemented last year.

Municipal department heads within the Borough Hall network itself were also credited by local government leaders with keeping the budget low by managing to restrain expenses in their own departments. In addition, officials anticipate increased revenues this year through the borough's investment program.

The effect of the 1990 budget on residents' taxes will not be fully determined until the local and regional school budgets and the Union County budget are adopted. The Mountainside school budget is expected to be adopted on Monday, April 2, and the regional budget on April 3.

Each of the school budgets will be voted on by district residents during school elections on Tuesday, April

The Mountainside municipal budget will raise local taxes this year by five points. The Mountainside school budget is expected to increase taxes by two points, and the county budget by 10 points. There is no projected increase from the regional school budget.

The total tax estimate for Mountainside residents with properties valued at $151,000 or less is $256.70 for 1990, according to a municipal budget summary and analysis issued by the Borough Council last month. These property owners comprise 59 percent of Mountainside's population.

High school district eyed for state certification

By SUZETTE STALKER

Dr. Donald Merachnik, superintendent of schools for Union County Regional High School District 1, announced Tuesday that the district has been recommended for state certification based upon recent monitoring of its educational system.

The announcement was made during the regional Board of Education's regular adjourned meeting at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, one of four high schools encompassed by the district.

The district also includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth and Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from Mountainside.

In January, Union County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Vito Gagliardi headed a team of monitors from the Union County Office of the State Department of Education through a comprehensive, three-week evaluation of the regional district, as mandated by the state for all New Jersey school districts.

The monitors also evaluated the district on 10 major categories, as well as a number of sub-categories, covering everything from instruction and curriculum to Affirmative Action programs and financial aspects of the school system.

"It is my recommendation to the Commissioner of Education that Union County Regional High School District 1 be certified for a period of five years," the county superintendent stated in a letter to Dr. Merachnik.

"Upon review by the commissioner, this recommendation will be submitted to the State Board of Education for consideration," Dr. Gagliardi

The county superintendent reported that the monitors' findings were based on the "many, many positive things" which have been demonstrated by the regional high school district, which he noted had earned an "acceptable" rating, the highest mark possible, in all 10 categories in which it had been evaluated.

"While I am not surprised by the findings resulting from the monitoring process, I am certainly pleased that the regional district has passed monitoring and will be certified for the next five years," Dr. Merachnik remarked earlier this week.

"I believe that the report summarizing the visit by the state monitoring team confirms what we already knew; that the regional high schools provide a high quality education and meet all standards which have been set by the State Department of Education," he concluded.

Dr. Merachnik also commended the efforts of regional district staff members in the four high schools, who had prepared for the monitors' visit over a 10-month period beforehand, "to ensure that the district would be in compliance with all statemandated regulations, especially in the area of paper documentation."

Dayton kids tape mock talk show

By DAVE WISE

Mountainside student Dale Torborg, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, recently went before the cameras with nationally-known sportscaster Gary Thorne to record a live talk show at the school.

The show was taped March 12 by students in Marcia Kendler's television production class at Dayton, and broadcast over a fictitious television station whose call letters are JD-TV.

Torborg, playing the show's host, interviewed Thorne on his life and career in the sportscasting field. The student, no stranger to the sports world himself, is the son of Chicago White Sox manager Jeff Torborg and his wife, Susan, who live in Mountainside.

The classroom, where the program was taped, resembled a small studio - complete with two sophisticated television cameras, several monitoring screens, audio equipment and set furniture.

With the host and guest appearing before an audience, sitting around a coffee table, and against a blue backdrop which displayed the letters JD-TV, the make-believe program appeared incredibly real.

"It's looks so nice, it doesn't look like a classroom," said Margo Demski, a student in the television production course.

"We have the same cameras as they do on TV-36," added Kendler.

Producing the show, which was taped "as if it were on the air," was a thorough learning experience for the students, according to Kendler.

Through "hands-on" learning, the students gained experience on how to switch camera angles, monitor the taping, and maintain the sound quality.

After Torborg and Thorne took up their positions, director Demian Boroff, a Dayton junior, started the countdown, the tape started to roll, and the interview began. While the show progressed, Boroff gave the directions via a headset to the two cameramen, who periodically switched the camera angles.

The student director continually watched the television monitor as the interview proceeded. "When you look at it on tape, it looks like a studio on TV-36," Boroff remarked.

"It looks totally serious on camera," added one student cameraman.

The interview between Torborg and Thorne sounded very authentic. Thorne, who has worked as an announcer for Mets games on WFAN radio, answered many questions about his career and his experiences in broadcasting.

"The questions just seemed to flow," Torborg remarked, adding that he was pleased with his own performance on the show. "It was easy for, me to do."

"I just sent out resumes and a tape, and a station in Maine — where I grew up — responded," Thorne said when asked how he got his break in sportscasting.

Thorne said he has been in the business since high school and that "I've never been out of broadcasting since "The first job I had, I earned $1.25 an hour," Thorne informed his interviewer. "Most of your entry level jobs in the media are going to be at minimum wage."

Although Thorne practiced law specializing in labor law, arbitration and mediation — for 10 years, he decided to leave the profession to pursue sportscasting on a full-time

"I loved the law; I didn't like the practice of it," Thorne told Torborg and the listening audience.

When Torborg asked what was the most important factor for achieving success in the broadcasting field, Thorne replied, "the most important thing is experience," adding that "you better get used to a lot of rejection."

However, he acknowledged that "all it takes is one acceptance to get you in the business. And if you make it in a city like New York, you can make good money."

The competition in broadcasting, however, "is real tough. Once you get in this field, it taxes you," Thorne stated.

Thorne, who covered the Mets on radio during their 1986 championship season, called this period "the pinnacle - a wonderful time.'

"I got to know the guys — became good friends with people like Dwight Gooden, Keith Hernandez and Gary Carter... I love sports and I love the people who are in sports. I love the players, broadcasters, media people and writers."

"I actually worked out with the Mets — pitching and working out in the field," Thorne continued. "The same with the New Jersey Devils."

Thorne, who also "taught at the university level for five years," said he "doesn't live anywhere more than six months," and that his contractual obligations only required him "to be near an airport."

Thorne's current contract with ESPN on cable TV will have the sportscaster providing baseball coverage of nationally-televised games this year, when and if there's a baseball

The sportscaster said he "plans to buy a house in Portland, Maine," but for now he "lives in hotels and travels with the team."

"I enjoy traveling," Thorne told the JD-TV studio audience. He noted that "some broadcasters spend all their

Clean up day eyed for April

By SUZETTE STALKER

Borough officials conferred with more than a dozen area residents on Monday regarding the problem of littering in Mountainside, and organized plans for the borough's first Clean Communities Program.

Borough Councilman Louis Maas; Walter DiNizo, Director of Public Works and Facilities in Mountainside, and Borough Administrator James Roberts met with representatives from various borough organizations to discuss the planned clean-up day.

The event has been scheduled for Saturday, April 21, from 9 a.m. to noon. Municipal officials are seeking local groups and individuals to participate in the clean up effort, which will be supervised by the Mountainside Department of Public Works.

Mountainside organizations represented at the meeting included the Board of Education and the PTA, the Active Retirees, the Senior Citizens, the Little League and Recreation Commission, the Democratic Club, the Volunteer Fire Department and the Friends of the Mountainside Free Public Library, among others.

The Clean Communities Program was developed last year through a $10,936 grant from the state Department of Environmental Protection's Division of Solid Waste Management, plus an additional $3,118 which was also awarded to the borough.

Borough Councilmen Maas, Werner Schon and William Jackson comprise the governing body's Solid Waste and Recycling Committee, which is coordinating the project with the Mountainside DPW.

DiNizo, who is serving as Clean Communities Coordinator for the project, opened the meeting with a slide presentation highlighting areas of Mountainside which are especially vulnerable to litter, and which have been targeted by borough officials for the clean up effort.

Some of these areas are the Borough Hall complex, including the Fitness Trail, the Municipal Pool and the property around the municipal buildings: the Barnes tract, a stretch of borough-owned land off Mountain Avenue: Possum Pass, and heavily-travelled Mountain Avenue.

Each of these areas, according to DiNizo, are commonly subject to littering and illegal dumping. Slides of these sections showed bottles, cans and paper bags, and other debris strewn among the woodlands and Several other municipal streets and areas were also designated by local officials as being trouble spots for litter. In addition, Mountainside residents who attended the meeting recounted incidents of littering in their own neighborhoods, which they maintain have largely gone unpunished.

Maas and DiNizo outlined the proposed program for the representatives, and urged them to recruit volunteers from among their respective organizations to participate in the clean up program. Maas stated that 30 volunteers, working for three hours, could accomplish the program's

Following the discussion, several representatives confirmed that they and other members of their group would be available for the clean up day. Participants should meet outside Borough Hall at 9 a.m. on April 21. Tools, including rakes and bags, will be provided to the volunteers by the Mountainside DPW.

"One of the purposes of this program is to tell the community 'We're going to clean this place up and we're going to keep a more watchful eye," remarked Maas. "The next step is to let the community know we have the ordinances and that we're going to enforce them."

Several residents at the meeting called for stricter penalties for those convicted of littering, including jail terms, and for increased cooperation by the Mountainside Police Department in responding to reports of littering in the borough.

State grants for the Clean Communities Program were awarded to New Jersey municipalities on the condition that the communities enact ordinances recognizing littering as a crime and establish penalties for violators.

Participating communities are also obligated to conduct at least one clean up program during the year, stated Councilman Maas.

George Serio, president of the Mountainside Little League and the Recreation Commission, announced that Little League members and their parents are planning their annual clean up of the Deerfield School and Our Lady of Lourdes School properties on Saturday, March 31. Rain date is Saturday, April 7.

After the interview was over, the students seated around the makeshift set questioned Thorne further with the tape still running.

The students seemed tense and a little nervous at first, but they "became more relaxed after the cameras stopped" recording, according to Kendler. One student told Thorne she was interested in sports law, and asked the sportscaster how she could enter such a profession herself. "Do well in college, find a good law school and pound the pavement," Thorné advised.

"Those who move up in this business have a college degree," he added. "Those who make it without a college education are one in a million."

Health Day announced

The Mountainside Board of Health has announced that it will conduct a Health Day on Saturday, April 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Mountainside Municipal Building, located at 1385 Rt. 22 East in Mountainside.

The health program will offer an extensive blood screening, consisting of a SMAC 26, a Complete Blood Count (CBC) and a High Density Lipoprotein (HDL). The blood tests will be performed by Roche Biomedical Labs.

The SMAC 26 is an elaborate blood analysis monitoring several bodily functions. The CBC test is a test including a red blood cell count, a white blood cell count, and differential count.

The CBC test may indicate the presence of infection, anemia, allergies, lung disease and other test indications. The HDL test measures factors protective against coronary heart disease. The SMAC 26 is used in assessing total cholesterol results, to determine possible coronary risk factors. Robert M. Sherr, Director of Health, has noted that anyone taking the blood test must fast 12 hours before taking the test, with the exception of water.

Pre-registration for the blood test is mandatory. Information on registering for the test may be obtained by contacting the Health Department at 789-4070, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Registration for the clinic will begin on Tuesday, April 3. The registration deadline is April 12; however, registration is limited and may be discontinued if program capacity is reached prior to scheduled deadline.

The cost associated with the blood test will be $19, which must be paid in cash only, at the time of registration.

The Health Day will also offer a blood pressure screening and breast self-exam program. Hemmocult test kits will be available to test for occult blood in the gastro-intestinal tract. Test packets and dietary restrictions will be given out at the health program.

The Health Day is open to residents of Mountainside, Fanwood, Garwood and Westfield exclusively.

Mineral show slated

Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, will host its annual Mineral Club Show on Sunday, March 25, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Visitors will be admitted free of charge. They will see a unique slab of the world's smallest dinosaur footprints - less than one inch long - as well as a child-sized dinosaur footprint and a full-sized dinosaur skull replica.

Robert Salkin will have these and more than 200 pounds of dinosaurrelated material to illustrate his talk, "The World of Dinosaurs," at 1:30 p.m. at the show. Salkin has discovered dinosaur footprints in 12 different areas of northern New Jersey. He also discovered the skull of a phytosaur, a dinosaur that roamed this area millions of years ago.

Other activities planned for the show include a 3 p.m. showing of the film "Volcano Surtsey" and an illustrated talk by the Hammer family of Springfield at 3:45 p.m., focusing on the minerals of North Carolina.

Visitors who have any unknown minerals, rocks or fossils, are invited to bring them along for a mineral club member to identify. There will also be a children's touch table, a display of unusual minerals and demonstrations of cabachon and faceting. Minerals and jewelry will be sold.

and refreshments will be available for a nominal fee. Trailside is a facility of the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation. For more information, interested persons may call the center at 789-3670.

ocal students are cited.

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth recently announced their newest "Students-of-the-Month." The program honors students who have demonstrated exceptional academic ability and involvement in extracurricular activities.

Marc Penchansky, a senior at Jonathan Dayton, has been named as that school's "Student of the Month." He is the son of Ronnie and Sheila Penchansky of Springfield.

The student has attained a gradepoint average of 3.3, on a scale of 4.0, and is ranked 18th academically out of 160 students in this year's senior class at Jonathan Dayton.

In school, he serves as the editorin-chief of The Dayton Journal, the school newspaper; co-editor of The Regionalogue, the school's yearbook, and as president of the Dayton Latin

He is also an active member of the Jonathan Dayton Key Club and he has earned academic recognition as a Garden State Scholar and as a Commended Student in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Outside of school, Penchansky serves as vice president of the youth group at Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, and works as a volunteer at the Sylvan-Kohen Religious School for mentally retarded children, located in Caldwell.

Upon his graduation from Jonathan Dayton in June, Penchansky is planning to attend college and major in either Economics or Political Science. He has narrowed his choice of colleges to three - Cornell University, Rutgers University or Johns Hopkins University.

MARC PENCHANSKY

Kenilworth resident Jeff Barr, 18. has been named as "Student-of-the-Month" at David Brearley. Barr has been ranked tenth in his senior class and is a member of the National Spanish Honor Society at Dayton.

A versatile youth, Barr enjoys playing baseball and football at school and spending time with his friends outside of school. At home, he said he enjoys playing pool and experimenting with computer graphics.

After graduation from Brearley, Barr hopes to attend either the University of Rhode Island or the University of Connecticut to study computer science. He said he eventually would like "to work for a corporation or run my own business."

The student cites "A Separate Peace" by John Knowles as his favorite book. "It was a book I could easily relate to because I saw a little of myself in both Phineas and Gene both the scholar and the athlete," he

Scholarships noted

The Central Jersey Bank and Trust Company, which has local branches in Mountainside and Westfield, is now accepting applications for its eighth annual Robert B. Barlow Memorial Scholarship program.

Established in 1981 in memory of former Central Jersey Bank Chairman Robert B. Barlow, the program to date has awarded 36 college scholarships to exceptional students in Union, Monmouth, Ocean and Middlesex counties.

The deadline for applying for the 1990 scholarship is April 15, according to Judy Franchetti, the bank's scholarship program coordinator. Area high schools will soon receive a letter outlining the program and detailing the qualifications set by the bank's scholarship committee.

Applications may be obtained at area high schools and at any of Central Jersey Bank's branch offices throughout central New Jersey, or by calling 462-0011, extension 78414. Applications may also be received by writing to Franchetti at P.O. Box 30, Freehold 07728.

Springfield resident Mina Zotti, a junior business major at the College of St. Elizabeth in Convent Station, is among 19 students at the school who have been selected for inclusion in the 1990 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Selection for this annual list of national outstanding student leaders is based on academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Franklin E. Miller of Willingboro, a senior student at the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside, was recently awarded the Thomas J. Lipton Achievement Scholarship. The award is given by the Thomas J. Lipton Foundation, Inc., of Englewood Miller, who plans to pursue a career in law and politics, has been on the Vail-Deane honor roll for four years. He has also been a member of the Student-Faculty Senate for four years, and has been Judiciary Committee chairperson for two years.

In addition, Miller has been on the varsity basketball team for two years and has served as captain; has been on the varsity baseball team for two years, and on the varsity soccer team for three years.

He has been a member of the Foreign Language Club for four years, serving as treasurer and president, and a member of the Drama Club, the Yearbook Staff and the Ready For The Gospel Church Choir for four years each.

Matthew Joseph Eick of Springfield was among those students from The University of Delaware who received degrees at the college's winter commencement exercises, held recently at the Delaware Field House on the University campus in Newark.

He earned a master of science from the university.

Mountainside resident Kathleen M. Conti, was among the 947 students who received degrees from Boston University in Massachusetts. She was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in philosophy and psychology.

Steven K. Burton, son of Dr. Gil and Vetta Burton of Mountainside, has qualified for the the fall semester dean's list at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, N.C. Burton is a senior finance major.

He is a graduate of Jonathan Day-

To be named to the dean's list, students must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or more. Burton is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and the business manager of Old Gold & Black, the WFU student newspaper.

Kevin McGrath of Mountainside is participating in the Cooperative Education program at Montclair State College. This program is designed to provide students with actual work experience during their college years, for which they receive both pay and

McGrath is an adult fitness major. Montclair State's program, cited as one of the top in the nation by "Better Homes and Gardens," places some 600 students in corporations, public agencies and industrial worksites each

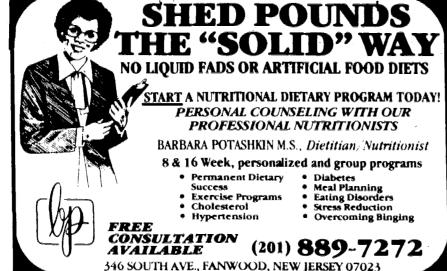

Significant numbers of these students go on to assume full-time employment with their co-op companies following graduation, heightening the program's attraction for an increasing number of career-minded undergraduates.

Tara McGrath, a junior at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester.

Dean's list students must achieve a 3.5 cumulative average based on a 4.0 scale to qualify for this honor.

Tara is majoring in toy design. She is the daughter of Frank McGrath of Mountainside.

Association holds membership drive

The Summit Area Association for Gerontological Endeavor, also known as SAGE, Inc., is looking forward to the 1990s and beyond as it embarks on its fourth annual membership campaign at its DeForest Avenue headquarters in Summit.

Letters are being mailed to SAGE's service areas in Springfield, Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Millburn, Short Hills and the Chathams.

The campaign describes SAGE's health services to the elderly and seeks local support to continue such programs as Meals-on-Wheels, Home Health Aides, Spend-A-Day Adult Day Care, Alzheimer's Disease Day Care, Transportation, Information and Referral, Care Management and Care Support Group.

"The relationship between SAGE and the communities it serves is truly a partnership," explains SAGE Trus--tee Carol Graybeal.

"By providing these services, which allow the elderly to remain in the comfort and security of their own homes for as long as possible, SAGE improves the quality of life for the entire community.

"And as a non-profit agency, SAGE provides services that communities look to from their local governments, thereby keeping tax rates date," Graybeal notes.

The drive, started in 1986, provides services to 34,500 households in the greater Summit area and brings in well over 1,000 members. Nearly half of SAGE's volunteers are members who offer both their support and dedication.

Serving the greater Summit area for more than 35 years, SAGE has been more deeply involved in health care due to the increase of elderly needing assistance to maintain quality lives and their personal independence.

"New Jersey has the second largest concentration of elderly citizens in the United States following Florida, and Union County has the highest concentration of elderly within New Jersey," according to Dr. Mary Madigan, executive director of SAGE.

At a time when federal, state and local funding for senior health services is remaining constant, actually declining in terms of real dollars available, SAGE has turned to the local communities it serves.

Last year, SAGE was able to provide subsidies of more than $75,000 to elderly persons needing services but who were unable to assume the full cost of those programs. Compounding the financial problem is the need for additional support as the elderly population continues to increase in numbers.

Fully 75 percent of the people attending SAGE's Adult Day Care programs at Hillview School, New Providence, Spend-A-Day and Alzheimer's Disease Day Care are over 75 years of age.

BLOOD DRIVE - Springfield Community Blood Drive Chairman Janice Bongiovanni holds up a placard urging area residents to give blood. The blood drive will be held on Thursday, March 29, from 1:30 to 7 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield. A free cholesterol screening will be offered to each blood donor.

Headmaster is appointed Raymond S. Londa, president of the board of trustees of the Vail-

Deane School in Mountainside, has announced the appointment of David B. Koth as Headmaster of the School, which is a coeducational independent college preparatory school enrolling 200 students from Pre-Kindergarten through Grade 12.

"We are so pleased to have someone with Mr. Koth's extensive and varied background in education," said Londa. "It is particularly gratifying to have someone at the helm who has had a close association with Vail-Deane for such a long time.

"His mother taught at the school for many years, and for the three years prior to his recent studies at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, which will award him a master's degree in Theology in May, Mr. Koth was business manager, development director, director of alumni affairs and mathematics teacher at Vail-Deane.

"He comes to us already knowing us well and having strong feelings for the school."

Koth is a graduate of Princeton University, and received his first master's degree in Liberal Studies from Wesleyan University. He spent five years teaching mathematics to Turkish students at Robert College of Istanbul, and from there did extensive traveling in Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, and southern Asia.

He has been head of the mathematics department at The Bush School in Seattle, and was mathematics teacher, business manager and assistant headmaster at the Thacher School in Ojai, California, and served as the first Dean of Students at the Pingry School.

"Vail-Deane enjoys a long an distinguished history. My effort will be directed toward cooperating with faculty and staff to preserve and enhance the school's honorable traditions of sound learning, a caring atmosphere, and an emphasis on integrity," said Koth.

"My recent return to the student side of education at the seminary has given me a healthy added perspective on all areas of the school's life."

Placque Rack stocks variety of craft supplies

The Placque Rack and Craft Shop is located at 23 East Westfield Ave... Roselle Park, and has been established there since 1973.

It carries a huge selection of plastercrafts — alternates to ceramics which need no firing — and all the supplies needed to complete each

In addition, the store carries all forms of craft supplies, wreaths, hoops, kits, wood, frames, styrofoam, silk flowers, ribbon, music boxes and electrical hookups.

This year, the Placque Rack has added a rental section of shower umbrellas, wishing wells, table centerpieces, favors for all affairs and all

The Placque Rack also carries wedding accessories of ring pillows, garters, money bags, bridal and special toasting glasses, party decorations, and wedding and attendants' headpieces and veils — as well as Communion veils. These may be custom-made to order or do-it-yourself. Since there is a wide selection of supplies to choose from, patrons can custom-make their next affairs to any decor they wish. Classes in plastercraft and other crafts, including wood, are given at the store for both children and adults. Also, children's birthday parties will be starting up very shortly.

The Placque Rack's motto is, "If we don't have it, we will get it." The service is friendly and efficient. The store is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Roselle Park Appliance provides personal service

Established in 1941 at 286 West Clay Ave., Roselle Park Appliance has been family-owned and familyoperated at the same location ever since.

The firm carries a full line of major appliances, including washers, dryers, refrigerators, ranges, air conditioners, microwave ovens, disposers and dishwashers. Prices are extremely competitive and the firm features a complete line of General Electric and RCA brand appliances.

Roselle Park Appliance can accommodate customers with immediate delivery and do complete hook-ups and custom installations. Most important is a full-time service and repair department, with considerations given to customers regarding special times for working people and weekend emergency refrigeration repairs if the unit was purchased there. Replacement parts are also made available to our do-it-yourself customers.

All work, as far as delivery, installation and repairs is done by the firm's own people - nothing is subcontracted. Since Roselle Park Appliance is service-orientated, it is natural to advise customers what particular unit may best suit their needs, meaning a couple with several growing children will need a stronger washer and dryer or a bigger refrigerator than a retired

Since owner John Zaleski says he has to keep a relationship with customers long after the sale, it is important to him to have the products that will keep them customers for years to

"We find that we are serving the needs of our original customers' children, and a good percentage of our business is on the basis of recommendations and word of mouth," Zaleski

Overlook program acquaints kids with hospitalization

The Communities-on-Cable program "30 Medical Minutes" shows what Overlook Hospital in Summit is doing to lessen the fears children may have about hospitalization and some of the amenities which are offered to parents who want to participate in their child's care.

The show is broadcast on TV-36, the local public access station, which reaches cable subscribers in Springfield, Summit, Berkeley Heights, Millburn and New Providence.

The program, which is entitled "Trends in Pediatrics: Family Centered Care," will appear on Channel 36 Mondays at 7:30 p.m. and Thursdays at 11:30 a.m. throughout March.

Sharon Altongy, Overlook Hospital's child life coordinator, talks with Connie Frank Williams, health education director, about the children's orientation program.

These include a pre-admission visit to familiarize youngsters with some of the things they will encounter. They can try on such possibly "scary" things as oxygen and surgical masks and even give a doll an "injection."

She tells how Kindergarten classes also come to the hospital for pediatric orientation programs and gives viewers a peek into the pediatrics play room. There is an intriguing array of toys which await children of all ages from toddles to teens. Teen-agers can even make their own tacos or pizzas. The hospital's philosophy of family-centered care has resulted in changes in the Pediatric Department. These are described by Judy Batterson, director of nursing for Maternal Child Health.

To encourage families to participate in their children's care, a newly renovated unit of more than 20 cheerfully-decorated rooms now has pull-out couches where weary parents can spend the night. They can bathe and feed their children, order meals for themselves, and even bring siblings to visit — all in the interest of more pleasant recuperation for their

This new unit was planned with the help of designer Susan Blum of Morristown, a mother who had been in the old unit and had first-hand experience with parents' needs.

Volunteers are needed

The Union County Community Companions Program, a support and advocacy program of the Mental Health Association of Union County, is seeking people who have a few hours of spare time and understanding to give to another individual suffering from emotional problems. Volunteers will be given training which includes medication information, listening and communication techniques, information on existing mental health services and clientadvocacy. Individual support and guidance is also offered to volunteers by the program director.

To volunteer, one can call Steven Pharo at 272-0302, or contact the Mental Health Association of Union County, 15 Alden St., Cranford,

Agency aids disabled

Employment opportunities are available through Our House, Inc., of Berkeley Heights, a non-profit human service agency which provides programs and services in Union County for individuals who have developmental disabilities.

June Anderson, Our House human resource coordinator, said that a variety of full- and part-time positions are available, many of which offer a great deal of flexibility for students and homemakers returning to the workforce.

Applicants must be 18 years of age or over, have a valid driver's license, and have a commitment to work toward the goals of independence and community integration for individuals who have disabilities, Anderson said.

Our House, Inc. sponsors four group homes, supervised apartments, and a supportive living program, as well as a communitybased employment program that provides on-site training and support to agency-placed employees who have developmental disabilities.

For further information about employment opportunities available through Our House, Inc. programs, individuals may contact Anderson at Our House, 599 Springfield Ave., Berkeley Heights, 07922, or call 464-8008.

CLOWNING AROUND — Paula the Clown entertains children from the Mountainside Newcomers Club Mommy and Me group at a neighborhood home. The children watched Paula make a live rabbit appear, color and uncolor a coloring book with a wave of her wand, and make flowers appear from a bunch of leaves. She also painted the children's hands and faces, and made balloon animals and swords.

Skilled-labor shortage seen as '90s business crisis

In an informal opinion survey of some of the state's most prominent government, business and media leaders, the shortage of highly-skilled workers was chosen as the issue that could have the greatest impact on New Jersey business in the 1990s.

The poll was conducted by Coleman & Pellet Inc., a public relations firm based at 1609 Vauxhall Road.

Union, at a breakfast in Washington, D.C., following the annual New Jersey Chamber of Commerce Congressional dinner.

Rick Sinding, editor of the New Jersey Reporter, was the featured speaker at the breakfast. Sinding discussed the major policy issues facing the Florio administration.

In response to the survey, participants also ranked environmental regulations, health insurance and foreign competition as critical business issues in the next decade.

In other questions about state issues, the majority of respondents believed that New Jersey's auto insurance premiums would be the same or more than 5 percent higher at the end of the year.

The majority, 75 percent, also supported state takeovers of school systems, while voting was divided on whether residential housing prices would increase, decrease or stay the same in 1990.

In other issues, 85 percent of the respondents favored drug testing in the workplace, and 50 percent supported a statewide policy mandating smoke-free work environments.

Survey participants predicted that Christine Todd Whitman, former president of the Board of Public Utilities, or state Sen. Leanna Brown, R-26, would be the most likely Republican challengers to incumbent U.S. Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., in this year's senatorial race.

The majority of the group also believed that former governor Tom Kean's political days were not over. Survey respondents predicted that in five years Kean would be a candidate for U.S. Senate or appointed to a federal government position.

The Coleman & Pellet breakfast was the sixth event of its kind sponsored by the public relations firm.

UCC awards $1.2M pact for asbestos abatement

A $1.2 million contract has been awarded by the Board of Trustees of Union County College for asbestos abatement of its Elizabeth campus, utilizing the former headquarters building of Elizabethtown Gas Company.

The utility moved its headquarters from Elizabeth to Union last summer. The contract was awarded to the low bidder, a joint venture of D&S Restoration of Saddle Brook and Four Strong Builders, Inc. of Fairfield.

The college accepted the low base bid of $1.199 million and alternate No. 1 of $71,891 to remove asbestos from the roof of the building, for a total contract of $1,270,891.

Asbestos removal work is expected to begin within the next two weeks and will take about 25 weeks to complete, Acting President Roy Smith reported.

Smith reported that 52 firms participated in a pre-conference bidding session on Jan. 15 and bids were received from 17 firms on Feb. 9. The bids were reviewed by the college's asbestos abatement consultant, James and Moore of Cranford, and by the college's staff.

The college plans to develop a fullscale campus in Elizabeth, providing classrooms, laboratories, library, learning center, lounges, theater, and faculty and administrative offices for more than 3,000 students.

The college currently conducts its Elizabeth campus in leased space in the Thomas and Betts Building, 10 Butler St. There are about 1,000 students enrolled there in the Institute for Intensive English, a program of English for speakers of other languages, and in the Employment Skills Center, a program of jobs training and basic skills for unemployed and underemployed county residents.

The programs currently conducted at the Thomas and Betts site will be moved to the new building. These programs will be augmented by associate degree offerings in liberal arts, business, computer science, and office systems technology, as well as by a wide variety of continuing education offerings.

Following the completion of asbestos abatement, the college plans renovations to provide academic and other facilities in the 100,000-square-foot, eight-story structure now known as the Lessner Building. The target date to open the new campus is September

Union County feted for leaf facility plan

Union County Department Public Works Director Patrick T. White, and Clinton Bogert Associates, consulting engineers of Englewood Cliffs, have been presented a Merit Award for the planning and design of a fast-track, leaf-composting facility for Union County in Springfield.

They were presented the award by the 1990 Consulting Engineering Counsel of New Jersey.

The facility officially opened to accept the fall leaves last Nov. 8. To date it has received more than 80,000 cubic yards of leaves.

The facility, was mandated by New Jersey legislation prohibiting leaf disposal at landfills. The county, which had been composting county leaves at a deficient site adjacent to the new facility, is now providing effective and nuisance-free leaf disposal for the county's 21 municipalities, according to county officials.

The new composting facility is sited at a former disposal site for Interstate 78 construction, which contains spoil matter and was formerly part of the old Houdaille Quarry. Parts of adjacent Hidden Valley Park had been left stripped and infertile from quarry activities and highway construction, and will be reclaimed using the end product from the new facility — a high-grade compost.

Clinton Bogert Associates applied new technical approaches to assure that this basic facility would be environmentally sound.

According to White, "We had a compressed time frame to meet New Jersey Department of Protection deadlines and regulations. Permitting was complicated, but the project proceeded at a breakneck schedule starting in June - and we were ready for the October leaf fall."

The compressed schedule precluded a normal construction-bid process. The Department of Public Works staff worked around the clock with about $100,000 of rented equipment to clear and grade the site under the advice of their consulting engineers, Clinton Bogert Associates.

Concurrent with site preparation was planning, design and permitting, all three requiring coordination of complicated elements, such as a temporary certificate of authority to operate and noise studies, traffic studies, landscape and site development design, environmental impact studies, and air- and water-quality testing programs.

The process, using intermediate composting process technology, was done with only empirical design data available from Rutgers University and no actual operational records.

The design maximized the width of leaf "windrow," rows in which moistened leaves are placed to decompose, utilizing front-end loaders and Wildcat compost turners specifically designed for leaf aeration. The process expedited leaf composting, creates a high-grade final product and uses about 50 percent the normal composting space requirement.

The composting facility is the centerpiece of an overall county conservation plan, linking two area parks via a nature trail.

The composting area has been landscaped to complement the aesthetics of this area of parks, residences and Baltusral Golf Course in Springfield.

"Our design was meant to complement and improve the surrounding area," said Herbert L. Kaufman, a partner in Clinton Bogert Associates.

"Corrections are being made to previously existing drainage problems in adjacent properties, and we have included a sand filter system — more typical of water treatment at the site to treat any runoff from the compost area. The facility is self-contained and is intended to serve as a model for future work," he said.

Lincoln Tech has $10G to help grad in business

Lincoln Technical Institute, 2299 Vauxhall Road, Union, has announced the availability of a $10,000 financial award to a qualified Lincoln Tech graduate and member of the alumni association who is interested in starting a new business in the industry for which the person was trained.

Named the Enterprise Award, the winner will be selected by a committee following review of the applications and supporting materials. The award is intended as a financial incen-. tive to a Lincoln Technical Institute graduate who has a sincere desire to become an entrepreneur.

ing trained technicians into the workforce. The Enterprise Award is an example of how we continue to care about our graduates and their future, even after they have left our campuses," said P. J. Santagelo, president and chief operating officer.

The Lincoln school in Union is one of 11 training centers nationally. Their local curriculum includes hands-on training in automotive, diesel and truck-service technology; air-conditioning, heating and refrigeration service; and mechanical and architectural drafting/CAD.

Nationally, more than 90 percent of available Lincoln graduates are employed in the field for which they were trained. Lincoln also has developed customized training programs for regional businesses, government entities, business and trade groups and large multi-national corporations.

Graduates interested in applying for the Enterprise Award or in joining the Alumni Association may contact the Union school at 964-7800 for information and applications.

Crimestopper Program targets auto theft The Union County Crimestopper Program, now beginning its sixth year of operation, is setting car thefts as a priority for 1990. The Crimestopper Program, in operation since April 1984, has paid more than 30 callers cash rewards for crime tips called in on its 24-hour hotline - 654-TIPS.

Ronald Posyton, chairman of the Crimestoppers board of directors, said the group wants to pay cash rewards for callers who report car thieves working in the Union County area.

"We are willing to approve cash rewards in an effort to help Union County authorities curtail our severe problem with auto theft," Posyton explained.

Union County Prosecutor John H. Stamler has called Crimestoppers an "effective tool for law enforcement" in helping solve crimes where assistance from the general public is needed.

Citizens have been encouraged to offer information without giving their names concerning crimes they have witnessed or have heard about. If the information provided leads to an arrest and indictment, the caller becomes eligible for a cash reward. "The amount of reward is generally based on the seriousness of the crime, the amount of information provided and whether or not there is a likelihood that the caller will call again," O'Leary said.

O'Leary added that 75 to 80 indictable crimes have been solved by information provided anonymously by callers.

To date, the hotline has recorded more than 600 telephone calls, or an average of one call every four days, O'Leary said.

WOMEN'S CAUCUS HONORED — Maryann Dorin of Linden, left, president of the Union County Women's Political Caucus, accepts a Union County resolution from county Freeholder Vice Chairman James Connelly Welsh. As part of Women's History Month, the caucus was honored by the freeholders for its efforts.

in 21st Century to be explored

Demographic changes facing New Jersey will be explored by educators attending a conference on "Diversity 2000: Living in the 21st Century," to be held today and tomorrow at Kean College of New Jersey in Union.

Conference organizers say that by the year 2000, changes in the age, racial and ethnic composition of our population will have a profound impact on our schools, our workforce and our daily life.

While organizers warn these trends increase the potential for racial and ethnic conflict, they also point to the possibility of creating a context in which diversity is welcomed and celebrated.

Teachers and administrators at the conference, to the held in Downs Hall, will hear from authors and lectures who are nationally recognized on the issue of multicultural education.

BUNIONS and BONE ENLARGEMENTS

By Dr. Michael Eglow

A large percentage of our population may develop a bunion. Both men, women and children can develop bunions, although it appears that bunions are more commmonly seen on women's feet. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. As bunion deformities progress, they do become quite symptomatic and bothersome producing swelling, redness and pain.

There are many ways to treat bunions. Your Podiatrist can select from a wide range of sophisticated surgical and nonsurgical techniques which are available thanks to advanced research and scientific study of the various foot deformities. Many surgical procedures can be performed in an out-patient hospital setting. The doctor will recommend what is best suited to your needs and your particular situation.

Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active and fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

Dems put former Clark official on freeholder slate

By SHARON CATES Former Clark Township Committeeman Fred Eckel has been nominated for the vacant spot on the regular Democratic freeholder ticket by the party's 21 municipal chairmen in Union County.

The selection was made Saturday, three days after Freeholder Neil Cohen announced that he would not seek re-election to a second term.

Cohen said last week that he would give up his freeholder seat to concentrate on his job as a state assemblyman in the 21st Legislative District. The district includes Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union, among other towns.

Eckel will team up with Democratic freeholder incumbents Jeffrey Maccarelli and Joseph Suliga in this year's race.

Emergency response team eyed

By SHARON CATES

Union County Freeholder Joseph Suliga has been asking his fellow freeholders to form an emergency response team for two years.

At the most recent freeholder meeting, he finally got his wish.

The March 6 oil barge explosion in the Arthur Kill — the latest in a string of environmental mishaps to occur this year in the waters off Union County - prompted Freeholder Chairman Gerald Green to form a three-member committee that will appoint members to a county emergency response team.

Green, Suliga and Freeholder Casimir Kowalcyzk make up that threemember committee.

"I saw the need for this long before the latest disasters," Suliga said. "Now, we will have a team from Union County, instead of from Middlesex County, responding to emergencies."

Two years ago, $100,000 was appropriated in the county budget to purchase a hazardous-materials response vehicle. That vehicle, however, was never purchased. Instead, Suliga said, those funds were diverted to other areas.

Now, Suliga has said he would like to "expedite" the purchase of that Although all of the details have not yet been finalized, Suliga explained what the teams' responsibilities would include.

"The team will be made up of volunteers from municipalities from throughout the county. They will have uniforms, gear and protective equipment, and will be headed by a person with expertise with environmental issues," Suliga said.

"They will respond to emergenices, environmental concerns and problems, make recommendations on how to handle and prevent environmental issues, and will oversee any type of clean-up operation in the county," Suliga concluded.

Tax aid offered

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Union County is providing free income tax assistance for low-income Union County residents for the 1989 tax season.

Senior volunteers have been trained by the Internal Revenue Service and the State of New Jersey, and are available by appointments only at the RSVP office through April 15.

Those seeking assistance should bring their W-2 forms, interest statements from banks, copies of their 1988 income tax returns, the tax package received in the mail and all other applicable forms.

To make an appointment, interested persons may call the RSVP office 60 Prince St., Elizabeth, at 351-0070.

Democrats currently occupy all nine county freeholder seats.

The municipal chairmen chose Eckel from a host of possible candidates, according to county Democratic Chairman John Malone. That selection was made at a special screening which was held on March unsuccessfully to get the party's freeholder nod last year.

"I am honored that I was selected, and I am happy that they gave me their backing and their recommendation," Eckel said. "I worked hard for the Democratic ticket last year.

"I am a team player and I have been Malone noted that Eckel tried active in my community," Eckel added.

> Eckel, is a 27-year-old veteran to the Newark Police Department and he served on the Clark Township Committee for eight years.

He claimed that his candidacy will add expertise in business and law enforcement to the freeholder ticket in this year's election.

Auditor writes 'poetry' book in diary form

Kenneth L. Smith of Irvington, a former Unionite, who is an auditor by profession, wants to see his dreams come true as a "poet-novelist."

A romanticist-by nature, the 31-year-old Smith has written three books and is working on a fourth. He arranged to have one of them, "How the Words Rhymed," published by Vantage Press Inc. in New York. It is a book of prose and poetry, the pain of love, the anxieties, the frustrations and the happiness. Two others, a straight novel, "The Lonely Dreamer," the first of a trilogy, and "Rhyme On," are in the hands of an agent. The fourth is called "Uniquely Proposed."

"The reason I had 'How the Words Rhymed,' the second volume of my trilogy, published by Vantage, was that I was working in New York as an auditor and didn't have time to go around to the publishers to present my book," he says during a recent visit. "But I have an agent now who will handle my other books. She is Dr. Barbara Bower of Barbara Bower Associates in Totowa."

Smith, who was born in Union to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, attended and was graduated from Livingston School and Union High School. He says he started early in life and wrote a play in his 10th grade English class under the guidance of his teacher, David Emma. He was graduated from Morgan State University in Baltimore, where he majored in accounting. Perhaps he felt that accounting would be a safer, more secure profession at the time. He went to work at the Bröoklyn Union Gas Co. as an auditor. In college, he played varsity lacrosse and completed his first novel.

"Actually," he says, "auditing means writing a lot of reports...at least I'm writing. But you see, I had a lot of poetry I'd been writing through the years, and one day I showed it to a library director who said, 'You should get them published. They're really

"So, the poems came about as poetry representing the story. The first novel is like a diary...a dream...and the second and third have more poetry than story. But the poetry is the story. And the books are based on real people and stories. I have a very vivid imagination, but the real part of it is me. They're all written in the same kind of style and you could call it a diary, but I didn't write it to be a Smith says, "I wrote the poetry over a span of three years, and it took four months to write the story. Recently, I've been scheduling autograph sessions. My first signing party was successfully held at Roseville Presbyterian Church in Newark. Last Friday, I had my second one at Walden Book Store in Brooklyn. Last Saturday, I had one in Beauty-Biz in Montclair, a beauty shop owned by my cousin, Charlene Wilson. And after I called Rick at the Book Review in Union Center, he said, 'Send the book to me.' So, I did, and now I will have a book-signing session this Saturday.

"My new book, 'Uniquely Proposed,' is a single man's guide on how to propose to a woman. It tells you a story with each chapter and shows you different ways to propose. There also are references to Biblical sayings that might help," he grins.

Did it help when he proposed to Lynda, his bride of eight months?

"Well," he says shyly, "that's a story in itself. I was singing with her mother, Alice Blaney, in a choir rehearsal in church. I also sing, by the way...and the church is where I've been singing lately. And Alice asked me, 'Do you have a girlfriend?' and I said, 'No.' 'Why?,' she asked. 'Because there are no more good women in the world,' I answered smartly. 'What do you mean by that?' she said indignantly. 'My daughter, Lynda, is a good woman. She's living in Savannah, Ga., and working there.' "After that conversation, I'd nearly forgotten about it, when we had a concert in church, and she came up to see her mother...and the concert. That was June 13, 1987. She was all that her mother said she was," he beams. "We got engaged on April 2, 1988, and married on July 16, 1989, when we moved to Irvington.

"Lynda's a business manager for TBWA Advertising Co. in New York. And she loves my books. She was really touched when I dedicated 'How the Words Rhymed' to her. Now she acts as my publicity agent."

The other members of Smith's family, who are all truly proud of him, are his parents, his two brothers, Edward Jr. of Baltimore and Mark Belton of Union, and his sister, Jerra Byrd, also of Baltimore.

"I've been an auditor for eight years," says the ambitious Smith. "When writing stories starts paying off, I'll give up auditing.

"And maybe," he says with pride, "I might become professional enough in my music to start doing shows. After all," he shrugs, "anything can happen."

Poetry, prose, love expressed in book

By BEA SMITH

Everyone has memories of the pangs of first love, young love, passionate love, unrequited love, lost love, but not everyone can write about these emotions. Even when one writes one's true feelings in a diary, it can be very difficult to express oneself.

Not so with Kenneth L. Smith. Smith, who resides in Irvington with his wife of eight months, Lynda, and who is formerly of Union, born and bred, expresses all these feelings in poetry and prose and autobiographical style in a small book called "How the Words Rhymed." According to Smith, it is part of a trilogy, and he had it published by Vantage Press Inc. of New York. It is curiously written in diary form and is generously sprinkled with poetry.

Reading the poetry, one can feel the hurt and heartbreak of every one of his romances. And the exhilaration in his brief moments of happiness. And thanks to Smith's inborn talent, one can identify with his emotionalfeelings.

on the shelf

The book is easy to read and the poetry makes one want to recite whole parts, particularly from "A Little Gift," "Scared," "Without," "Alone and Secure," or "Hurt No More."

This reviewer read the book in one sitting and identified with Smith's youthful feelings of romance in poetry form.

From one Smith to another, one poet to another, one can only say that this is a brave, ambitious, promising effort to build on. It could mean the beginning of a fine literary career.

FASHION SHOW PREPARATION — Central Jersey Region of Women's American ORT will hold its fifth annual spring fashion show and dinner Tuesday at the Grand Marquis, Old Bridge, presented by Maureen Productions of Short Hills. From left are Sandi Omansky of Union, fashion show chairman; Mauriel Markman, chairman of the executive board; John Guarino, owner of Guarino Furs, Greenbrook, and Karen Zweig, president of the ORT region.

WITH STYLE - New. breezy looks such as these cotton-and-linen separates from Howard Wolf are the rule for spring.

Variety is the spice of fashion

By Leatrice Eiseman Copley News Service

Fashion has at last caught up with the complexity that makes each of us unique. Gone are the days when we adopted a single style and presented the same image all the time. Now, as our lives follow varied patterns, so do our fashion selections.

We can be sedate and subtle in the office - and bold and dramatic after work or on vacation. Designers are presenting us with greater choices because we are actively seeking them - and making diversity a part of our lives.

The biggest fashion news for spring and summer appears in fit and design. Soft, draping fabrics that follow the natural lines of the body are much in vogue. We're seeing more chiffon and chiffony fabrics than ever before.

An abundance of classic fabrics lends an air of casual elegance to spring and summer outfits. Linens, textured cottons, cotton knits, lightweight woolens and all kinds of synthetics lead the way. Often, a crocheted or lace trim adds a delicate touch to an ensemble - further enhanced by some lovely old-fashioned jewelry.

And though we may not think of denim as a classic, its ubiquitous appearance has certainly earned it a continuing place in our fashion picture.

Folkloric designs create bright new drama in a riot of colors. There are tribal jungle prints, paisleys and batiks and Indonesian ikat weaves with colors running together.

The ethnic influence remains strong, drawing on choices close to home from the American Southwest, Mexico and Guatemala and reaching out to Morocco, Africa, India, Indonesia — especially Bali - and the Orient.

Voluptous types should leave the voluminous clothing to the more meagerly endowed. Tips include the following: Dress in one color for streamlining. Keep dark colors on the outside for a sleek effect. Go for the elongated verticals and avoid cowl or turtlenecks.

Who among us hasn't snatched up what seemed like the perfect outfit only to get home and find that the fabric wrinkled easily, was too hot, looked lower-quality when out from under the store lights.

Or worse. The whole thing was great until washed, then horrors. It shrank, it frayed, it lost its pluck. Be sure to familiarize yourself with fabric types - cotton, wool, silk and synthetics. And check out the laundering instructions before you buy.

Either you're born with an innate sense of style or you're not. Without this intuition, you can still be among the best-clad. But you must seek out those with stylish visions as consultants.

Personal fashion consulting is big business and getting bigger as the choices get broader and time and disposable income get smaller. It's the consultant's job to keep you from looking shoddy in a fading wardrobe. They'll know where to get what you want in your price range.

Many top department stores across the country have in-store consultants. Likewise large malls offer this service. Otherwise, it's a matter of combing your yellow pages or asking acquaintances who've had positive experiences for referrals.

- As part of the service, the fashion consultant will familiarize herself with your existing wardrobe. You'll determine together how best to beef up your look. They keep records of sizes, colors, your credit information and birthdays of kids and spouses, if so desired.

Hit or Miss stores, based near Boston, developed a handbook on coordinating a wardrobe. For a copy of the free booklet, send a self addressed stamped envelope to: Hit or Miss, Box M, 100 Campanelli Parkway, Stoughton, MA 02072.

Tailors are more necessary than most of us would admit. Who among us has a perfectly proportioned body — uniformly bilateral and without bulges? Many a potentially impeccable ensemble is ruined by a droopy hemline, jack-

A tailor can make that outfit fit you and you alone. If you're lucky enough to find one who can also create clothing from scratch, so much the better.

Accessories can give your wardrobe integrity. Mishandled, they can also cause confusion. You don't want to arrive jangling like a jalopy.

The rule of thumb is: Don't wear a scarf and necklace.

CREATIVE FINE JEWELERS: SMALL STORE THINKS BIG

The saying, "Good things come in small packages" certainly applies to Creative Fine Jewelry located in Union Center.

A jewelry store with a display area of about 19 feet, it could easily get lost among other stores. Owner Paul & Yolanda Foti makes the most of it by offering a unique well made jewelry line, in 14K and 18K imported from Italy.

Paul Foti is a designer and craftsman originally from Naples, Italy. All of his work is designed created and repaired by him on the premises. A master of his trade Paul has created "one of a kind" jewelry for both Tiffany and Cartier. The quality, flair and expertise is evident even on the simplest of task of repairing fine jewelry.

"We have been in business at the Five Points for 18 years" Yolanda says "we have gone through ups and downs, what has kept our endeavor successful is our philosophy: the customer is No. 1. Although ours is a retail establishment, we keep service foremost in our mind, by offering and constantly striving to give our clients: consistent quality, creativity and craftsmanship, which our clients recognize and bank on."

It looks as Creative Fine Jewelry is a fine addition to Union Center, certainly a must-see on your next

Feathering nests

Five years ago, State Sen. Raymond Lesniak, D-20, who represents part of Union County in the state Legislature, was running a modest three-lawyer legal practice out of a converted single-family home in Elizabeth.

But in the short time since then, his law firm has expanded geometrically. It now employs 25 attorneys and operates out of a gleaming office complex in prestigious Roseland.

Is Lesniak a legal genius? Perhaps. But more plausibly, his firm's explosive growth can be traced to the day in 1985 when Lesniak was named to a powerful legislative position — chairman of the Senate Labor, Industry and Professions Committee.

Soon thereafter, a flood of corporate clients inundated his

Whereas in 1984 Lesniak's firm represented only one insurance company — Allstate — in a few years its clientele had grown to include Prudential, Travelers, Continental and Hanover, among others. The legal firm was also soon hired by major banks and big second-mortgage lenders, such as The Money Store, which is based in Union.

And these companies paid hundreds of thousands of dollars in fees to Lesniak's law firm.

For example, Lesniak himself has acknowledged that his firm has handled as many as 700 insurance-industry cases at one time. Since each such case generates, conservatively, $500 for a lawyer, Lesniak's firm has probably been paid no less than $350,000 by insurance companies since 1984.

What's questionable here is that, while Lesniak has been fattening his firm's bottom line, he's been using his position in the Senate to push legislation favorable to the industries that use his law firm.

At the time his firm was defending Prudential in autonegligence cases, Lesniak worked with a Prudential lobbyist to design a bill restricting auto-accident lawsuits, as sought by the insurance industry. The bill was amended before being signed into law, but the industry got most of what it wanted.

Lesniak also sponsored and shepherded through the Legislature a bill that loosened state limits on bank growth and another that opened up the state to interstate banking. That happened about the time that two of New Jersey's biggest banks - and two of the biggest benefactors of the bills - Midlantic and First Fidelity, became clients of Lesniak's law firm.

And when second-mortgage lenders such as The Money Store wanted the state to ease restrictions on the interest they could charge and limits on the services for which they could impose fees, they found a friend in Lesniak. He pushed legislation — in part, drafted by The Money Store's attorneys — that once signed into law gave the industry much of what it had sought.

Meanwhile, The Money Store funneled dozens of secondary-mortgage closings annually to Lesniak's firm. Court records showed that in Union County alone, the firm handled at least 69 closings for The Money Store in 1987 and

This all smacks of conflicts of interest. However, the Legislature's ethics code allows a legislator to take positions that benefit his or her profession, so long as others in that profession benefit similarly. So lawyer-lawmakers, unfortunately, can quite legally accept big bucks from clients while shaping laws specifically favoring them.

Of course, interlocking business-legislative relationships are hardly unique to Lesniak; to one extent or another, they are the rule in Trenton.

Now, maybe tightening this ethics-code loophole would do no good. Our representatives in Trenton probably would just replace it with another loophole — one too inconspicuous for the average citizen to notice, yet large enough for hoggish lawmakers to slip through.

But the situation does make one wonder. With lawmakers now considering raising an extra $2.62 billion annually by such all-encompassing means as a sales tax hike and new taxes on necessities, have they forgotten they weren't elected by special-interest groups — but by the people?

Rules on letters to the editor

Letters to the editor must be received no later than noon on the Monday preceding the date of the issue in which they are to appear. They should be typed, with double spacing between lines, and not in all capital letters. All letters must include a written signature, a complete address and a phone number where the writer may be reached during daytime hours, for verification purposes.

This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject letters and to publish only one letter from any one person within any four-week period.

Garage plan would harm residentiality

The following letter has been set to Donald Hancock, chairman of the Mountainside Board of Adjustment.

As residents of Mountainside for 27 years, my husband and I must express our outrage at the intended commercialization of a residential area in our town. This will occur by the building of a three-tier, 200-car parking garage in our small, single-family residential community.

After reading the article in the Feb. 22 Mountainside Echo, and attending several Board of Adjustment meetings on this proposal, we have determined that Children's Specialized Hospital should not be allowed any additional parking. The hospital's land is saturated now, and the various parking lots that presently exist have spoiled the attractive "country home" setting they once enjoyed.

The hospital must accept their parking limitations and plan accordingly. The Board of Adjustment must enforce our present zoning regulations.

Any citizen who is pro a residential Mountaiside must write - or cut out this letter, sign it and send it - to the Mountainside Board of Adjustment, and attend the April 9 meeting in Borough Hall at 8 p.m.

Position on budget stated incompletely

I must take issue with the editorial which appeared in last week's Mountainside Echo concerning support for the proposed 1990 Union County Regional High School District 1 budget.

For you to say we support the budget tells only part of our point of view, because the editorial omitted an important additional statement.

The news advisory I submitted to the Mountainside Echo on Feb. 26 did indicate support for the proposed budget as a necessary minimum means of balancing educational needs with cost-containment necessities. We committed this support on behalf of educational programs we did not want to see taken from the district's youngsters.

However, my advisory also included another paragraph which noted that in addition to our support, we also "encouraged restoration of the modest 2.6 percent increase originally proposed by the superintendent." I regret that the editorial failed to include my entire statement.

It is important that parents and concerned citizens have the Union County Regional Federation of Teachers' entire position on this important educational

Restaurants help you eat healthy

By KAREN E. MONDRONE

Restaurants of all sizes are responding to the growing interest in health and fitness.

With 25 percent of the American population dieting and millions of others watching their salt, sugar and fat intakes, restaurants are luring customers to the table with fresh, lighter and more interesting cuisines. The cottage cheese-hamburger patty diet plate is finally outdated!

Ten years after the publication of The Dietary Guidelines for Better Health," food service has finally revised menus, and chefs are being trained and prepared to deal with customer requests for broiled or baked lean meat, fish and poultry without rich sauces, stir-fried or steamed vegetables, whole-grain breads and rice, fewer processed foods, more fresh fruits and vegetables and low-fat dairy products.

Some restaurants have applied the "lite" concept to the traditional burger meal. The result: leaner, all-beef burgers, lite mayo and cheese, a choice of white or multi-grain buns, reduced calories, extra fiber, a choice of baked potato or fries, vegetarian sandwiches on pita bread, salad bars, frozen yogurt desserts and sparkling apple

If you've noticed tiny hearts beside some entrees on menus, then you've probably eaten at a restaurant participating in an American Heart Association (AHA)-approved nutrition program. In 1975, AHA began assisting restaurants with recipes and menus offering low-fat, low-cholesterol

There are specific criteria for dairy products, salads and salad dressings, oils, breads and desserts. There are no requirements for salt, but restaurants offering low-sodium dishes are rated in an AHA brochure listing participating restaurants.

Low-fat cooking is not synonymous with bland or boring foods. Many chain restaurants offer natural foods, including baked potatoes, whole grains, pasta, salads, lean meats, poultry and fish.

Following a special diet or just trying to eat in a healthy style often requires asking questions and making special requests. The best approach is to be assertive without being demanding, and appreciative of efforts made, needs. So select carefully - and hapby the restaurant staff. Questions you might want to ask are:

• How are main dishes prepared? Can foods be cooked to order?

- What ingredients are in soups, sauces and salad dressings? Pass up the versions that include monosodium glutamate. Choose homemade bean and vegetable soups while avoiding cream soups.
- Can you order steamed vegetables and a baked potato? Can you order rice, beans and a tortilla in a Mexican restaurant rather than fried and cheese dishes?
- · Can salad dressing and sour cream be served on the side? Can you have a wedge of lemon for your rganize records, save on taxes

Before you visit your tax preparer, the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) suggests that you take the time to carefully sort your financial records.

The extra effort can trim your tax liability and tax-preparation fees -and make it less likely you'll receive a visit from an Internal Revenue Service auditor.

Start by reviewing last year's tax return. Carefully read through each section and take notes on which supporting documents your tax preparer attached to your return. You should also jot down the type of deductions you were eligible for last year.

Not only will this information help guide your current tax-preparation efforts, but it may also uncover deductions you overlooked last year. If this is the case, you can claim these missed deductions now by filing an amended return.

Next, pull out the year's accumulation of financial records and separate them into distinct categories, such as income records, homeowner information, medical expenses, retirementplan contributions, business expenses and charitable donations.

Once you have sorted your records, go back and add up how much money you have earned or collected over the course of the year.

You should also set aside any 1099 forms that you receive. These records will indicate exactly how much money your savings accounts, security holdings or other investments have earned.

Other types of taxable income include unemployment compensation, certain scholarships and fellowships, taxable Social Security or pension benefits, alimony, or state and local income tax refunds.

If you sold your home this past year, you must report the capital gains from the sale. Make sure you set aside your closing statements, records of capital improvements, plus any receipts that prove how much you spent on fixing up the house prior to its sale.

If you are age 55 or over, ask your CPA to explain the $125,000 exclusion-of-gain provision.

You should also take care to collect any documents related to deductible homeowner expenses. For example, your mortgage lender should send you a Form 1098, which indicates the amount of mortgage interest you paid last year.

In addition, you should doublecheck your cancelled checks for such expenses as property and real estate taxes, job-related moving expenses, and points paid to obtain a mortgage on your primary residence.

Owners of rental properties should also set aside cancelled checks related to their operating costs, including advertising fees, house-cleaning expenses, and repair costs.

Your checkbook and charge account receipts can also help you discover such deductible expenses as your business expenses, charitable donations, medical expenses, childcare bills, real estate activities, interest expenses, state and local income taxes, and other miscellaneous

Remember, you don't have to drag all these checks to your CPA. A summary listing the date, check number, amount, payee and purpose is usually much more efficient.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1990-1,2,3,4,5,6*

SECTION B

Pitching expected to be strong in 1990 By MARK YABLONSKY

Up until this past weekend, spring fever was quite rampant, and with all of the warm temperatures that settled in last week, one couldn't help but think of baseball - even if major league players and owners were more concerned about big bucks.

On the local high school level, though, everything's just fine and dandy. And as early as it may be, all indications point to 1990 being the Year of the Pitcher — perhaps not quite on the same level as the 1968 major league season, but in proportionate terms, it may be just a little tougher for batters this spring.

And just a little more demanding on the defense. But then again, who wins without good pitching and good defense, anyway?

BREARLEY

While this year's Brearley team may be young and largely inexperienced at the varsity level, there is already one bright spot — and that is the fact that the Bears, under fourthyear coach Ralph Laconte, are back at newly-renovated Ward Field.

Hit hard by graduation for two years running now, it appears as though this junior-dominated squad may have to experience some growing pains — maybe.

"Being a young team, it's just a matter of time and patience and seeing which way they go," explained the always-cheerful LaConte, who is already 51-17 in his previous three years at the Brearley helm, including last season's 16-6 mark. "They're very coachable boys and only time will tell. But really, the boys are very enthusiastic. And I'm looking for an enjoyable season with them."

Indeed, if nothing else, the Bears will be as involved with the game as their coach — from manager Curt Emery all the way to a group of sophomores that may help out in some way before the season concludes in early June.

Led by returning senior Brian Moleen, the Brearley pitching staff will try to gather wins with the likes of iunior Chris Carey, senior Chris Parenti, and juniors Tim Caufman and lefthander Don Sammet, to name a

Looking to replace the graduated Vito Castaldo at catcher will be junior Mike Archibald. Returning senior Jeff Barr is back at first base.

Moleen and Carey could split time at short depending on who pitches, while junior Peter Accomando is a good bet to take over for Mike Hoydich at second base. Juniors Chris Parkhill and Kevin Bell are competing for the job at third.

And with all of last year's outfield now gone, including Ken Kinney and John Blum, names such as junior Luan Ahmetaj, Don Dayon, seniors Al Pattetta and Bill Durow, and sophomores Jose Rodrigues, Ron Cagno and Scott Dubeau are all looking for jobs.

Also, another sophomore, Mike Emery, is looking to land a backup role to Archibald as catcher.

DAYTON

Dave Lissy is gone, and so is Glen Miske, two of last year's offensive mainstays. And senior catcher Dan LaMorges is currently plauged by a shoulder injury, and isn't expected to play much this year, if at all. And so, with the exception of seniors Dale Torborg at first base and Greg Graziano out in left field, there are going to be a lot of youthful faces on this year's Bulldog squad.

So youthful, in fact, that as many as four sophomores may be in Rick Iacono's opening day lineup. They include Clayton Trivett at second base, Andy Huber at shortstop, Jerry Young at third, and Jason Mullman taking over for Lissy in center.

In the meantime, senior Matt Gallaro is getting first crack at stepping in for the injured LaMorges behind the plate, with junior Mike Reddington on hand to help out if needed. Senior Billy Hart, a key pitcher for last summer's Springfield American Legion squad, will look to be the "stopper" for the Dayton mound corps, while junior Craig Haueisen, Mullman, Gallaro, Trivett, Huber, and even Torborg are all pitching candidates as well.

"If we have a good spring weatherwise, I think we'll be okay," said lacono, remembering last year's rainhampered 5-14 season in which his team often had to use Meisel Field, and not Ruby, as a result. "I've got a lot of question marks right now ...but I just think we're going to be a better team. I really do."

LINDEN

At the start of the 1989 season, no one really picked Linden to do much of anything. But what transpired for Tony Picaro's young team was a remarkable 17-7 season, a No. 1 seeding and a final-round appearance in the Union County Tournament, and then, to top it all off, a No. 1 seeding in sectional post-season play.

Unfortunately, a four-game collapse from May 28-June 5 put a sour finish on an otherwise excellent season, but the Tigers still had a surprisingly good year.

Now this year, that so-called surprise factor is gone. The pitching of last season, however, is not.

Rather, senior hurlers Rinaldo Morales, Ariel Lopez, lefty George Doney and Mike Begarney, all of whom helped shape a nifty 2.46 team earned run average last season, are the backbone of this year's Linden squad.

And junior Brian Figueirido, who did a lot of hurling in American Legion play last summer, will also be part of the pitching staff.

"We are going to have good defense because the pitching in the conference this year is real good," said Picaro, the former Linden American Legion coach who is now beginning his 13th year behind the Tiger bench. "Maybe every team doesn't have the depth we have, but every team has a kid that is a bonafide

"So we are going to work hard this year on defense and bunting, and see if that takes us anywhere," Picaro continued. "It's going to be an interesting year."

Senior Mike Babulski, a 6-0, 185-pound senior, appears to be the starting catcher, with junior Joe Marretta ready to back up and spend some time at designated hitter as well. Doney can play at first base when he doesn't pitch, and Richie Wnek, who will likely spend more time at third, can also play at first base. So can Jim Rankosky. Look for senior Jerry Nigro and junior Joey Kaulfers to compete for the job at second base, and definitely count on returning senior John Cubala to set up shop at shortstop, where he won All-CLN honors a year ago.

At third, Wnek is likely to be the starter for much of the time, but other possibilities include senior Ed Wallace, junior Mark Amato and even Marretta, too.

John Mekovetz or Joe Sokolowski are competing for the left field job, and sophomore Jesse Helfrich is vying to play center, although Doney may also play there as well. Senior Dan Kuczynski should be the starting right fielder, with sophomore Greg Bennett around to serve as a backup.

ROSELLE

Stan Kokie may like his players to sharpen their hitting skills by working out with the indoor batting cage at Abraham Clark High, but the brilliant, almost summer-like temperatures of last week were just as meaningful for his youthful Ram squad.

Exactly what that means for the 1990 season has yet to be determined, but Kokie feels the Rams should be able to improve on last season's dismal, rain-shortened 3-13 record and maybe even gun for a state playoff berth — if the pitching can come through.

"Offensively, I think we'll be all right and defensively, we'll be okay," said Kokie, now in his third year behind the Rams bench. "The big key is how the pitching holds up.

"The weather's helped us a lot because we've been out most of the time," added Kokie. "We keep busy. In the first week of practice, I'm very pleased with the way things have gone."

The biggest player in Kokie's opening-day lineup should be returning junior catcher Mike Massaro, the player with a cannon for an arm and a pretty sharp bat as well, if last year's .444 batting average means anything. The 6-2, 190-pounder will be handling a pitching staff that consists of senior righthanders Eddie Jones and Greg Sekac, along with sophomore righty Steve Morales.

Another pitching candidate could be senior Derrel Dubois, who, according to Kokie, has strengthened his arm during the off-season. Dubois also looks good in the infield, either at second base or shortstop. Another infielder, Matt Duralek can also pitch.

Kokie is also pleased with how 6-0, 180-pound sophomore Mike Moglia has looked at first base, but Brian Daly and David Oxenford are candidates for that position also. And junior Mike Moncada "looks good" in center field.

ROSELLE CATHOLIC

True, the short porch in left at the Lions' Den, so to speak, is always a concern. But this year, Roselle Catholic's opponents had better be concerned with the kind of pitching that Jeff Ryan has to work with. Simply put, the R.C. mound corps is loaded, and that's probably an understatement. For in returning senior righthanders Luke Monsorno, Chad Hensler and Nick Koman — all key members of last summer's 30-13-1 Roselle American Legion team that reached the Final 8 in state tournament play — the Lions are, as Ryan feels, "pretty set" on the mound.

Also, Tim Zawacki and Chris Van Vliet can pitch, as can junior southpaw Eddie Zembryski. Zembryski, a Roselle resident, is probably more of an outfielder, if last year's .365 batting average is any indication. But in addition to making numerous relief appearances, he made a few starts. one of which resulted in a two-hit shutout over Hillside, along with 14 strikeouts.

Behind the plate will be Monsorno when he doesn't pitch.

And the infield? Senior Jim McFadden has the "inside track" at first base, while Ralph Limaldi, who batted .325 in 1989, should return at second. Tim Sadowski and Diego Sei are the candidates at shortstop, while Mark Benedetti and Tony Mendoza are competing for the hot corner. Mendoza, by the way, was the leading hitter for last summer's Roselle junior American Legion squad.

And finally, the outfield. Mike Donnelly will probably start in center, while Zembriski and Van Vliet are possibilities for the other two spots. Ryan, you should understand, will only have 14 players on his varsity squad this spring.

But it could be a very good spring. "Let's put it this way," Ryan explained. "The potential is there to have a real good season. The rest is up to the kids.

"We've got some experience with some new kids. So it's up to them. If they push and work hard and don't quit, we should be in there."

ROSELLE PARK

With the loss of seven of last year's letterwinners, there will be a lot of new faces on this year's Roselle Park varsity squad, along with one or two of the names that had a lot to do with the 16-8 season of 1989.

Certainly, the biggest absence will be that of southpaw hurler Pete Ausiello, who is now pitching at Brookdale Community College in Lincroft. Conversely, the biggest name returning is probably that of steady senior catcher Ray Jankowski, a CLN Honorable Mention last spring.

What's in store for the Panthers in 1990?

"It depends on how far our pitching's going to carry us this year, and if we can get some timely hitting," replied Park's skipper of 12 years, Jack Shaw. "We have a really good group this year. Their attitude has been exceptional, and they're working very hard. As always, we hope to be competitive."

Even without Ausiello, the pitching staff shouldn't fall apart - not with the likes of returning senior hurler Ron Jones and junior Scott Bermingham, who may be on the verge of a big season. And youthful varsity newcomers Chris Kelly and Joe Arena should also help. However, the man to watch is Jim Freeman, a sophomore letterwinner in 1988 who had to sit last year out because of an injury. With a live arm and proven varsity experience, Freeman could be the catalyst for a lot of good things this

Also, sophomore Chris Hartzler may get some varsity pitching experience in, too.

Senior Scott Perrette should be at first base, while returning second sacker Mike Wielgus should keep Park nice and strong up the middle, along with, of course, Jankowski's presence behind the plate. Andres Alarcon appears to be the man for shortstop, while Arena, when he doesn't pitch, could play third base - and that could create a shift involving strongarmed junior Dan Serrette, whose good hitting skills just might place him 1-2 in Shaw's starting lineup.

Other outfield candidates include Jones and Freeman - when they don't pitch — as well as seniors Peter Cann and Troy King. And sophomore Dave Patterson could earn playing time at either shortstop or in the outfield.

UNION

If by some chance, you're still not convinced that there's plenty of good pitching around the county this spring, then just take a look at the kind of staff Union will have. Does the name of senior hurler Dave Shaw, an All-CLN selection and the owner of a 1.96 ERA last spring, sound familiar? How about Dave Sawicki, another returning senior who had the same identical 1.96 ERA in '89?

Well, those two hurlers are the heart and soul of Gordon LeMatty's mound corps - one that will include senior Bill DiGiovanni, hardthrowing junior Justin Steele, junior Gary Schaefer and others - including sophomores Mike Liloia and John Vicoli, and even freshmen Eric Shaw and Brian Sheridan. According to LeMatty, who is about to enter his fifth decade as Farmer skipper, "any one" of the above "is capable of pitching on the varsity level," although realistically, at least one or two of the younger names will need to pitch at the junior varsity level, if only to get some guaranteed pitching time in.

"I don't see anybody with the kind of pitching staff we have," said LeMatty, who, with 605 career victories, is believed to be only seven wins short of surpassing the late Joe Kasberger of St. Benedict's Prep as New Jersey's all-time winningest coach. "I have a pitching staff. And the second thing we've got is defense. The things I want and I think are important on the high school level are these: pitching, defense and speed."

Replacing Rick Weinstein behind the plate will be junior Dave Melia. although sophomore Anthony Lanzi. who is temporarily sidelined with a broken finger, is expected to help in some capacity when he returns. The infield should remain solid, what with returning lettermen Ken Dehart and

YEAR OF THE PITCHER? - Could be, according to most projections. Several baseball teams in ano around the CLN coverage area have good pitching for 1990, and that includes Union, which features seniors Dave Shaw, left, and Dave Sawicki, both of whom had 1.96 earned run averages last year.

Chris Dunbar at second and third base, respectively.

The quickness of senior Andre Caban at shortstop should help ease the loss of Rob Castellano - now on a scholarship at the University of Utah - while looking to fill the important shoes of Frank Napolitano at first base will be Liloia. However, one of the names that has LeMatty thinking good things is freshman Brian Sheridan, who can either pitch or play at

For sure, LeMatty feels, Sheridan will be heard from in some way by the time the season is over.

Outfield candidates include senior Pete Marra replacing Cliff Baskerville in center, and junior Seton Hall Prep transfer Steve Fernandez, who has the task of trying to replace Paul Air., oso's howitzer of an arm in tight Returning senior Matt McMarac should be back in left field

It is important to note that LeMates fully expects some of these positional forecasts to change by the time (1) ing day on April 2 — at East State rolls around. Other names to jot down. are Bob Kuldanek, Scott Binder, Mike Costello and Pete Simk.

All-Star games for top countywide senior standouts in boy's and girl's basketball will take place on Friday, March 23 at the Battin Career Center in Elizabeth. Both All-Star squads were selected by the Union County Coaches Association, and the event is being co-sponsored by the UCBCA and the Union County Interscholastic Athletic Conference.

The girls will play at 6:30, and the boys at 8 p.m., with a total of 45 players competing in both girl's and boy's play. The girls will play under an East vs. West format, and the boys will be divided into a Mountain Valley-Watchung Conference alignment.

The Jersey City State College baseball team may only be 1-7 at this point, but that one win is due primarily to the efforts of Union's Nick Cucinello.

Cucinello, a freshman centerfielder, paced the Gothic Knights to a 10-6 victory over Trenton State College this past Friday in Florida by driving in five runs. In the top of the first inning. Cucinello laced a two-run single and later belted a three-run triple in the sixth, when Jersey City scored five times to put it away. Overall, Cucinello is batting .310

Some undoubtedly remember Vic Verno for his role in Brearley's drive to the Group 1 boy's soccer final last fail, but you may be sure that many of ms wrestling opponents will remember him for different reasons.

That would certainly include Rah-Auy's Mike Ondovik, who beat Verno twice this season, one being a county tournament consolation win. But in District 11 competition, it was Verno who prevailed, 12-7, in overtime. Overall, Verno was 22-6 with seven

"He's just a real good athlete," Brearley coach Ron Ferrara said. "And the thing that's unique about him is that he missed all of last year because of an injury. So for him to come back and do what he did is just a credit to his athletic ability and to his competitiveness."

With a fine 23-8 record and a District 10 title in his possession, you might say that Bob Kuldanek's accomplishments this season mean ever more when you consider the competition he had to face.

In fact, 13 of his opponents qualified for regional competition. That includes Bill McDermott of Summit - with whom Kuldanek split two matches - and Steve Marcantonio and Carlos Garay. And Kuldanek came through to earn a trip to the states with a hard-fought 5-4 decision over Kevin O'Melia of North Plainfield in the Region 3 consolation

"So he had a really great year against some very stiff competition," Lilley added. "And with Robert, his best moves were his quickness and his natural ability.

Football is the main sport for Dan McCaffery, also known as "Zoo" to many of his teammates. But for the first time in his high school career, the youngest of the four McCaffery brothers came out for wrestling.

And McCaffery ended with a strong 16-6 record in occupying a very key part of Park's lineup. He had several big wins and his presence in the upper part of the Park lineup was a major reason why the Panthers won another sectional title.

Also making his debut in spring track this year, McCaffery is leaning toward nearby Kean College, probably for football.

"As far as our lineup was concerned, he was very competitive," Appello said. "We counted on him and as his record showed, he came through more times than not. He's just a natural athlete."

Scott Adderty might not have been a dominant heavyweight as others in the CLN area have been in recent years, but there's no doubt that the Dayton Regional senior had to beat some pretty tough cookies to attain a 22-5-1 record.

That list includes both Brandon Robinson of Linden and Union's Scott Platt en route to a county tournament title. And his dramatic pin against Rahway's Daryl Fur-bell in the team sectional semifinals on Feb. 14 gave the 'Dawgs a 31-26 win.

"He did a very good job," said Dayton coach Rick Iacono. "I don't know how much more you can get out of a heavyweight that's only been wrestling for three years."

1989-90 All-CLN Wrestling Team

One of the reasons why Union has been so tough during the past two years in particular must be attributed to the efforts of Earl Finney.

Having gone 23-3 last year, Finney followed that up with a 24-5-1 record this year, in helping to lead Union to runner-up status in county and sectional competition, as well as a second straight District 10 title.

And individually, Finney captured a district title and later qualified for the state tournament by placing third in Region 3 activity, due to a pin over Dave Packie of Madison in 5:43.

"I think the thing that set him apart was his dedication and hard work," Union coach Al Lilley said. "He's a very hard worker."

CHRIS MORENO

If you like rooting for underdogs, then you just had to be thrilled with what Union's Mike Francesca was able to accomplish this season.

After being stricken by a strengthdraining illness in September, it was a tough haul for this junior - even after marking his return in late December by winning the Parsippany Tournament's outstanding wrestler award. But by the time it was all over, he had piled up a 27-3-2 record, a second straight district title, and a first-ever regional crown, too.

Like Dan Lilley, Francesca is a repeater for All-CLN kudos.

"I wasn't surprised he came back." Al Lilley said, "but I was very glad he did as well as he did. He wasn't feeling 100 percent during the season ...but it's a long road back from something like that."

160 POUNDS

Because there simply wasn't room for him in last year's Dayton varsity lineup, junior Dante Puorro had to wait until this season to prove what kind of wrestler he really is.

A participant in the National Wrestling Federation Tournament in Iowa last summer, Puorro was nearly unstoppable this winter, rolling to a 27-6 record and 14 pins. He dominated the 103-pound field in the Union County Tournament to win that title, and then finished second in District 10 and third in Region 3 competition — which included Terrance Paul of Irvington, the eventual state champion.

"He's a hard worker," praised Dayton coach Rick Iacono. "He wrestles 12 months a year, and he's an allaround good kid. And I think that his best wrestling is yet to come."

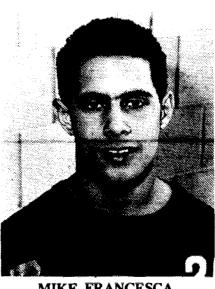

EARL FINNEY 119 POUNDS

Like Puorro, Chris Moreno was involved in National Wrestling Federation Tournament competition last summer. But that's only one reason why the senior did well as a 130-pounder this season.

Following a 20-6 record as a junior last year, Moreno this time went 26-3 for the Bulldogs, including 14 pins. A District 10 champion and a Region 3 runnerup, Moreno was one of only two Dayton wrestlers to make it into the state tournament in Princeton.

He also began the year in splendid fashion by winning the Sparta Tournament title for the second straight, and later, the Kennedy Memorial Tournament in Iselin.

"I think he had an outstanding year," Iacono said, "and the reason he did so well is because he dedicated himself so well in the off-season."

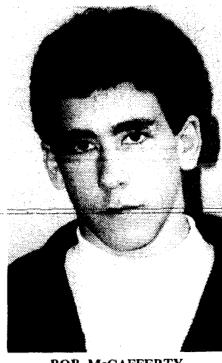

MIKE FRANCESCA 140 POUNDS

For the second straight year, Eugene Belle is an All-CLN selection at 160 pounds, this time sharing the honor with Union's Rob Vieira.

After going 20-9 last year, the hardworking senior virtually mirrored that with a 20-8 finish this winter. Aside from the obvious leadership he provided, Belle placed second in the county tournament, and third in District 10 competition. Keep in mind, however, that Belle also went 9-6 at the 171-pound slot when called upon to wrestle higher.

"He started off slow coming out of football, but once he got going, he provided that much-needed leadership," Appello explained. "He was the main focus of our matches."

BOB McCAFFERTY 112 POUNDS

With still one more year to go in an already-sensational high school career, just look at what Union's Dan Lilley has accomplished to date: a three-year record of 77-12-3, three straight District 10 titles, a first-ever Region 3 title (this season), and finally, two straight appearances in the state tournament.

Naturally, he'd like to shoot for a state title next year, and whether he makes it or not, it won't be because of his work habits. This year, Lilley rolled to a 29-3 record, with two of the losses coming in the states.

"He's the most intense wrestler we have on the team," his father and coach, Al Lilley said. "He wrestles at a very high level of intensity of competition. He constantly works for a fall, no matter what the situation is.'

DAN LILLEY 125 POUNDS

A 16-12-1 record is hardly outstanding, but in the case of Bruce Stevens, it's "very deceiving," says his coach, Sam Appello.

At 135 pounds, Stevens was 11-3 and many of his matches either turned matches toward Park's favor, or at least kept the Panthers within striking distance. A UCT novice champion at 152 pounds last year, Stevens was often asked to wrestle at both 140 and 145 pounds this year. Also, he had a knack for erasing deficits.

"He sacrificed for the team itself," Appello explained. "He was more or less our stopper in the middle. And Bruce was never out of a match. Many of his wins came after he had been behind. So he made things interesting."

JOHN RANIERI 145 POUNDS

Sharing dual honors at 160 pounds with Belle is Union's Rob Vieira, probably one of the most underrated wrestlers in the local area.

> With his father, Robert Sr., having been a two-time state champion for Union prior to graduation in 1961, you might say that Vieira upheld the family tradition quite well in going 19-9-1 and winning a District 10 championship this year.

> "I feel very good about him," Al Lilley said. "He's a very friendly person and I think he was under a bit of pressure because his father and uncles were state champions. But he wrestled very well."

Music students set

The New Jersey Youth Symphony Inc. combined orchestras will perform an annual Play-a-thon program April 1 between noon and 5 p.m. at the South Court of Woodbridge Center. The combined groups will perform three times during the afternoon. In addition, each orchestra will play a 45-minute program.

Among the 240 student members of the three orchestras representing 68 communities of New Jersey are Albert Grohmann of Linden and Joanna Lobozzo of Springfield, both of the New Jersey Symphony Preparatory Orchestra; David Hollister and Michael Shapiro, both of Mountainside, and Laurie Cecil of Union, all of of the New Jersey Youth Symphony Orchestra; and Anand Swaminathan of Mountainside, member of the Orchestral String Training Ensemble.

The students, ranging in age from 8 to 18, are selected for orchestra membership through annual auditions. The New Jersey Youth Symphony Inc., a non-profit organization based in Summit, provides "talented music students with orchestral, chamber music and theory training throughout the school Conducting the orchestras throughout the afternoon will be George Marriner Maull, music director and conductor of the Youth Symphony Orchestra; Vernard Yannotta, assistant conductor of the YSO; and Barbara Barstow, conductor of the Preparatory Orchestra and the Orchestral String Training Ensemble.

More information can be obtained by calling 522-0365.

A special 'Look'

By MILT HAMMER

In good voice is Debbie Allen on her first album for MCA Records, "Special Look." Debbie's list of accomplishments is a long and distinguished one - as an actress, director, writer, choreographer and producer, she's won recognition in TV, theater and film. The LP finds her stepping out with energy, sass and inimitable

"This is something I've wanted to do for a long time," Allen says of recording her album. "I've been singing almost as long as I've been dancing, and it seemed like the right time to release a record. It turned out to be great fun."

"Special Look," the album's title track and first single, captures the high spirits Allen brought to the project. Produced by Attala Zane Giles, the tune is an irresistible invitation to dance, showcasing Allen's sensual vocals to best advantage. Enhancing the song's impact is a spectacular accompanying video, featuring Allen performing with Taimak, star of the film "The Last Dragon." Allen describes the video's concept as "martial arts, dancing, relationship and a matter of honor, with a comedic twist at the end."

Other tracks on "Special Look" are equally ear-grabbing. Hitmaker Kashif, together with co-producer Nick Trevisick, produced such simmering upbeat cuts as "More Than a Man" and "Rock Me Steady." Artist/ producer Jesse Johnson and Dave Cochrane help turn up the heat on the groove-powered "Sexy Ways." Besides the title track, Attala Zane Giles produced the album's outstanding ballad, "Holdin' on to Love," one of Allen's personal favorites.

Allen wrote lyrics for several songs on "Special Look," including "Holdin' on to Love" and "Love of all Time." As a whole, the album reflects her persona as a restlessly creative, multi-gifted artist at home on the screen, on stage and in the studio.

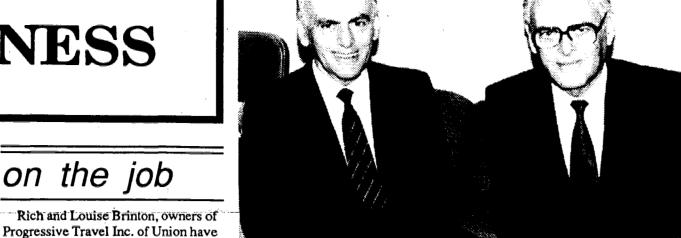

Graphics company relocates

Logic Communications, a graphic, arts service company, has announced their move to larger and more modern facilities at 1025 Commerce Ave.,

Logic supplies computer typesetting and color film services to graphic arts companies throughout the New Jersey and New York area.

Marci Barris, director of operations, says "The new location will provide the company with badly needed space to expand to meet the color film demand of publishers, designers and printers.

"As we enter the new decade, we find that color in print is expanding by approximately 15 percent a year."

The two partners recently donated $1 million to Yeshiva University to establish a scholarship fund for undergraduates.

Brochure is awarded

Association Management Corporation's "60-Second Association Assessment" brochure has won two national awards, company President Peter Allen has announced.

The company, based in Springfield, received a Mercury Award during the National Media Conference in New York and an Association Trends Publication Contest Award during a luncheon in Washington, D.C.

The full-color brochure utilizes a sports cartoon theme to demonstrate each of the firm's six service areas. For example, one panel, which highlights the firm's trade show and meeting-planning services, features a cartoon character sporting a bow and arrow with copy that reads, "Do your meetings and special events hit the Association Management Corporation specializes in trade and professional association management, providing day-to-day administrative, financial, membership development, governmental and legislative affairs, communications and printing, trade show and meeting planning, and insurance services. Their clients include the New Jersey Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association, the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey, and the New Jersey Veterinary Medical Association.

According to Allen, the concept and copy for the piece were created by Association Management Corporation Director of Communications Debbie Hart, while the artwork was created by widely published cartoonist Tony Rosa, who is also the Association Management Corporation graphic artist.

Rosa's work has appeared in Cosmopolitan, Good Housekeeping, and other national and international magazines.

PSE&G receives honors

Public Service Electric and Gas Company (PSE&G) was among 70 organizations from around the nation recently honored by the White House for their community service efforts aimed at helping kids.

The President's Citation for Private Sector Initiatives was presented in a White House ceremony to PSE&G for its "Corporate Responsibility Initiatives for Youth" program.

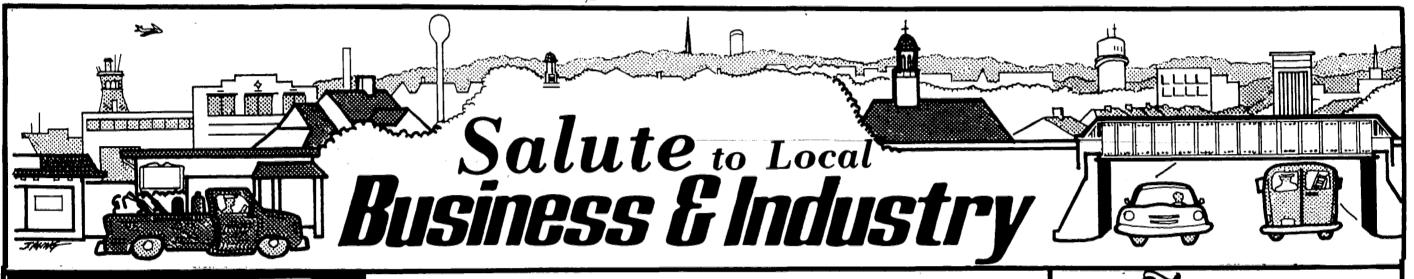

Oswald L. Cano, PSE&G's general manager Corporate Responsibility, accepted the award on behalf of the utility. "PSE&G has a very long history of community service, and we take it very seriously," Cano said.

GAF of Linden transfers its business

GAF Corporation of Linden has announced completion of its transfer of the company's surfactant chemicals business to Rhone-Poulenc Inc., the U.S. subsidiary of the French chemicals firm, for a total consideration of $480 million plus assumption of certain liabilities.

Under the transaction, GAF received $450 million in cash and will retain a continuing interest in the business. The cash will be used to retire $235 million principal amount of Senior Subordinated Increasing Rate Notes due March 1994 issued as part of the March 1989 buyout of GAF by a management group led by Samuel J. Heyman, chairman and chief executive officer of GAF. The balance will be used to reduce borrowings provided in connection with the buyout transaction by a syndicate of banks led by The Chase Manhattan Bank.

GAF's surfactants business produces and markets a variety of surfactants and other chemicals, including specialty phosphates, dispersants, polyols, oil field chemicals, silicone products, and textile specialty chemicals.

Bob Sekule, home remodeling expert

BOB SEKULE, home remodeling specialist, has been brightening homes throughout Union County for over 11 years. Specializing in custom kitchens, Sekule guarantees his work for customer satisfaction.

Tired of those old kitchen cabinets? Need more counter space? Or how about a new dishwasher with a matching oven and refrigerator?

If upgrading your appliances and remodeling your kitchen is what you need, Bob Sekule, the remodeling specialist, can make your home perfect for you guaranteed.

Bob Sekule of Union has been in the home remodeling business for most of his career. After more than a decade in the trade, he has made scores of homeowners happy with their kitchens for the first time.

"A lot of people who want to remodel their homes can't afford to do it all at once," Sekule said. "They want a new kitchen, or a deck, or maybe a dormer to brighten up a dull room, but they want to do it one step at a time.

"Well, that's our specialty. We are a full-scale home remodeling company specializing in quality workmanship at affordable prices."

Sekule, a master carpenter for over 11 years, has helped brighten homes throughout Union County. Working as a fully ensured home remodeling company, Sekule guarantees all of his workmanship and appliances.

"We specialize in kitchens," says Sekule, "but we don't really like to limit ourselves. We're a highly versatile company and all of our work and appliances are guaranteed under the manufacturer's warranty." As a policy, Sekule makes sure all of his customers are happy with what they pay for. A specialized team of salespersons is sent to your home with samples you can see for yourself. Customers can also choose from an extensive line of name brands - all of which are neatly displayed in a catalog for your convenience.

"A lot of people are choosing to remodel their kitchens with country-style wooden cabinets, giving a whole new look to that area of the home," Sekule said. "Usually the cabinets are offset with tile or Formica and personalized to match what the homeowner has in Sekule, along with his partner and fellow tradesman, Jim Breheny, have found that most prefer to have a minimal number of people working inside their homes at a time.

As a result, Sekule and Breheny do most of the work themselves with very little outside help.

"We were both professionals working independently at one time," Breheny said. "But we found that it would be better for us and for our customers if we put our skills together.

"Instead of having one professional and one helper on the job, we have two professionals," he said. "That way we can get twice as much done in half the time and the job gets done right."

Homeowners interested in speaking with Sekule about remodeling or expanding any portion of their home can call 688-5971 for an appointment.
