Board will vote on land use variance

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside Board of Adjustment is expected to decide on Monday, April 9, whether to grant a land use variance to two Westfield contractors who are seeking to build townhouses on Mountain Avenue.

A variance application was submitted to the board last month by Joseph Scalzadonna and Joseph Marvosa, who have built similar multi-family dwellings in Ocean Grove and elsewhere, according to their Westfield attorney, James Flynn.

The contractors' original concept called for construction of a single townhouse containing 10 units at 940 Mountain Avenue, which is a piece of property slightly larger than one acre. It is currently occupied by a vacant single-family residence.

After hearing the initial proposal, the board requested that the contractors revise their plan because of board members' concerns that the structure could have a serious impact on available parking for townhouse residences, access for emergency vehicles and traffic flow in the area.

The revised proposal calls for two separate townhouses with nine units altogether, including one with four units and the other with five. Each of the buildings is expected to be no higher than 2½ stories, which are within requirements for the zone.

If the contractors are successful with their planned venture, the proposed townhouses would be the first such dwellings to be built in Mountainside. The contractors require a variance since the property is zoned for a single-family residence.

The property targeted by the contractors for the townhouses is bordered by approximately ¾ acres of vacant land on one side and by a machine shop on the other.

The vacant property adjoining the proposed townhouse site has prompted some speculation that additional townhouses could be built in years to come.

Board of Adjustment Chairman George Hancock reported on Monday that the section of Mountain Avenue where the townhouses would be built runs through the center of Mountainside, and is one of the most heavily-travelled roads in Union County.

Hancock acknowledged that the contractors' proposal is in compliance with borough regulations concerning single-family residences, including a 30-foot frontyard and backyard and a sideyard which is 10 percent of the lot's width.

The only digression from borough regulations, according to Hancock, is that the townhouses would occupy 20 percent of the property, while regulations permit only 15 percent building coverage.

Hancock stated that the board's difficulty in rendering a decision is primarily because existing borough codes do not contain any regulations for multi-family dwellings. He added that Mountainside is almost fully developed and that space for these types of residences is scarce.

"It's a question of whether we will or we won't allow multi-family dwellings, that's the crux of the whole case," the board chairman remarked. "It is a very difficult issue."

Hancock advised that multi-family dwellings can significantly alter the character of a community, particularly if builders continue to add on additional units.

If the board approves the land use variance, the partners could present a formal preliminary site plan for the townhouses later this year. Board Secretary Valerie Saunders emphasized, however, that the entire concept could be completely revised before then.

MUSICAL VISIT — The Deerfield School Band performs a variety of tunes for residents of the Manor Care Nursing and Convalescent Center, which is located on Route 22 West in Mountainside. The students visited to present a special concert on March 20, in honor of Music In Our Schools Month. Band members, who play flute, clarinet, trumpet and percussion instruments, perform under the direction of Deerfield's Instrumental Music teacher, Sandi Wagner.

State aid to boro school district cut by 40 percent

By SUZETTE STALKER

Governor James Florio's state budget, which calls for cuts in state aid to several Union County school districts, is expected to reduce Mountainside's share by 40 percent, Superintendent of Schools Leonard Bacarro acknowledged on Tuesday.

The Mountainside Board of Education's proposed school budget, which is scheduled to be adopted following a public hearing on Monday, April 2, is now set at $3.8 million. This represents a $376,000, or 11 percent increase, over last year's figure, the superintendent's office confirmed.

Bacarro reported that the school district had expected to receive $450,000 in state aid this year, but which will now be reduced by $190,000, leaving the district with only $260,000.

State aid covers several categories, including Equalization Aid, which is distributed to school districts based on a government formula which takes into consideration the number of students in the district and the number of tax rates in the community.

The other categories include state aid for Transportation, Special Education, State Compensatory Education, which targets children who have tested below average in basic skills, and non-public aid, which represents funds for textbooks, supplemental instruction and diagnostic testing.

Bacarro stated that Equalization Aid to the district was expected to be reduced from $193,000 to $66,000; Transportation Aid from $81,000 to $68,000; Special Education Aid from $123,000 to $102,000, State Compensatory Education Aid from $19,000 to $16,000 and non-public aid from $34,000 to $23,000.

"It seemed to be the governor's intent to eliminate this type of aid to districts such as Mountainside and Springfield which are rate-rich communities," the superintendent remarked. He added that state aid is now being primarily channelled toward urban municipalities.

Bacarro stated that the Board of Education had managed to reduce budget increases on its own this year by providing for no additional staff increases and by keeping school maintenance costs to a minimum.

He noted that certain mandated costs were primarily responsible for the budget increases which did occur, including $70,000 for a limited asbestos removal project at Deerfield

School; $50,000 for a fire alarm retrofit at the Vail-Deane School, $10,000 for gymnasium and bleacher renovations at Deerfield, and a 30 percent increase in employee health benefits.

The reduction in state aid is expected to raise tax points from six to nine. For Mountainside residents who own property assessed at $151,000 or less, this increase equals $135. Fifty-nine percent of the borough's population falls into that category.

Regional BOE to adopt budget

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 is expected to adopt its $33.5 million school budget for 1990-91 following a public hearing on Tuesday, April 3, district administrators have confirmed.

The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, located on Westfield Avenue in Clark. Arthur Johnson is one of four high schools represented by the regional district.

The other three schools include Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. Dayton enrolls students from Mountainside.

The proposed budget calls for a zero percent increase over last year's figure, which would result in no tax hikes for district residents. It is expected, however, that 35 staff positions will have to be cut in order to accomplish this.

Staff positions will be eliminated for courses where there is insufficient student enrollment, school administrators have acknowledged. District officials recently predicted that the number of high school students enrolled in the regional district will drop by 108 this year.

The number of staff cutbacks could be reduced, however, if faculty members in the low enrollment courses resign or retire on their own and then are simply not replaced, regional district spokesman Thomas Long confirmed this week.

High school staff members, along with parents, students and other residents of the regional district, are invited to attend the public hearing, and may voice their questions, comments and concerns during the meeting.

The Union County Regional Federation of Teachers Local 3417, which supports the regional school district's tentative budget, has also called for the board to reinstate its original budget proposal of a 2.6 percent increase, to retain some of the school programs which may be eliminated.

A number of district residents have recently expressed concern that cutting back on staff members to eliminate budget increases could affect the quality of education currently offered by the school district. The district has been recommended by Union County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Vito Gagliardi for state certification.

"We are encouraging parents and residents to take an active role in the education of our youngsters," Federation president Evelyn McGill remarked in a statement issued on March 21, in which the organization urged parents and other district residents to attend the public hearing on the budget.

"Our goal in urging the restoration of the 2.6 percent budget increase originally proposed by the superintendent is to try and keep remaining programs intact and to avoid possible cuts in other necessary programs such as driver's ed, cultural arts and even athletics," McGill's statement continued.

McGill also urged residents to question the board concerning the impact of Governor James Florio's plans for reduced school funding on the regional district. The regional school budget, once it is adopted, will either be approved or rejected during school elections on April 24.

The story was written by County Leader Newspapers Regional Editor Suzette Stalker.

An editorial opinion titled "Tighten the belt," which dealt with the high cost of educating students in Union County Regional High School District 1, was awarded third place in the editorial comment category. The school district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which enrolls Mountainside students.

The editorial was written by County Leader Newspapers Executive Editor Steve Galvacky.

Also, the newspaper's Lifestyles section was given a honorable mention in the category of family section layout and content. The winning Lifestyles section entries were edited by Bea Smith.

In addition to those awards, four other entries submitted by the Mountainside Echo's sister newspapers in the County Leader Newspaper group were honored with awards by the NJPA.

Joseph Picard, managing editor of the Union Leader, captured two awards. His editorial, "Inheriting bias," which dealt with the social pressures felt by a white Union Township family that had sold its home in a predominantly white neighborhood to a black family, won third place in the category of editorial comment. And one of Picard's news stories, "Teamster official slain by gunshot," was awarded an honorable mention in the news writing category.

Student attends conference

Sofia Fernandez, who lives on Indian Trail in Mountainside, recently attended the 1990 National Young Leaders Conference sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council.

She joined approximately 400 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from around the country who were selected for this unique honor based on demonstrated academic achievement, leadership and citizenship.

Fernandez attended elementary school at Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountainside and is currently a junior at the Oak Knoll School in Summit.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference was "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today." Throughout the six-day conference, the scholars met with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of the program included a breakfast panel discussion led by prominent journalists at the National Press Club, welcoming remarks from a member of Congress on the floor of the United States House of Representatives, and a government relations forum comprised of lobbyists from various corporations and public interest groups.

A visit to a diplomatic embassy and a State Department briefing were also included among the week's activities.

Fernandez had a unique opportunity to meet with Senator Bill Bradley, Senator Frank R. Lautenberg and Representative Matthew J. Rinaldo and members of their respective staffs.

Culminating the National Young Leaders Conference was The Mock Congress on National Service, in which the scholars assumed the roles of United States representatives by debating, lobbying, and voting on proposed volunteer service legislation.

The National Young Leaders Conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council. Founded in 1985, the council is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization committed to recognizing outstanding youth and providing them with a "hands-on" civic learning experience in the nation's capital.

Professor develops Earth center

A Kean College of New Jersey teacher's desire to increase awareness of the earth sciences has led to the creation of a teacher's resource room and preview center that is unique in the state.

Paul Rockman of Springfield, an associate professor in the department of geology and meteorology, is founder and director of the Center for Earth Sciences. Its purpose, Rockman said, is to help both teachers and the public learn about the Earth and the work of earth and space scientists.

While its work with teachers is of primary concern, the center also plans to offer talks, films and other programs for the general public served by Kean College. Recent programs included Scenic Wonders of the United States, the Planet Mars, and the Fall Skies.

The center is interested in working with outside organizations in presenting programs about the earth sciences and welcomes inquiries about such programs. Those interested in being on the mailing list can contact the center by mail or by calling 527-2894.

For its work with teachers and students, the center maintains a resource room on the East Campus of the College. Rockman describes it as a place where teachers at all levels can get information and ideas to help with their teaching of the earth sciences.

The center stocks many teaching aids, including models, computer software, video and audio tapes, maps, posters, periodicals, texts, fossils and rocks and lots of rocks.

All of the center's resources are available for hands-on evaluation, and information on ordering is available for all materials. For educators, the center also organizes workshops, graduate credit short courses and conferences such as its annual fall Earth Science Curriculum Conference.

The center is open during the school year from 3 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and from 6 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays. Summer hours also will be established.

The center opened in the summer of 1989 with the help of a grant from the New Jersey Department of Higher Education and now is funded by the college.

Rockman said the Center is an outgrowth of his involvement with the New Jersey Earth Science Teachers Association, an organization which he helped establish and for which he served as the first president.

Serving as assistant director of the center is Mark Shoengold of Colonia, an Earth Science teacher at Roselle Park, High School.

Rockman describes himself as more of a general earth scientist with an interest in education than as a specialist in some particular aspect of geology or one of the other earth sciences. He admits to having a particular interest in the geomorphology of the earth and the planets and in the environmental aspects of the earth sciences.

His main interest, however, is in the Planet Earth. As Rockman explained, "Some of us look at the Earth as our home in a planetary context and we like to know about our home because to know it is to better enable us to take care of it and ourselves. Besides, it is a rather an interesting place."

Mothers' program is due

Mothers' Exchange II, a series of five consecutive weekly Tuesday evening sessions for mothers of children aged nine months to two years, has been scheduled at Overlook Hospital in Summit beginning Tuesday, April 17, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The program provides mothers with the opportunity to meet other mothers in order to share experiences, explore and explode the "Supermom" myth, and learn more about many aspects of their growing child such as sleep, nutrition, socializing, and safety.

Also included in the class fee is enrollment in Overlook Hospital's BLSD course, a two-evening certification class in infant and child CPR.

For registration information, one can call Parentcraft at the hospital's Department of Health Education, 522-2946.

Diabetics warned of eye disease

The increasing number of diabetes cases occurring in minority populations has also resulted in a dramatic increase in the number of persons with diabetic retinopathy.

The disease is a complication of diabetes that is the leading cause of new blindness among Americans, reported Dr. Eric Gurwin, an ophthalmologist at the Suburban Eye Institute of Berkeley Heights and professional education chairman of the American Diabetes Association, Union County Chapter.

"The incidence of diabetes has been increasing at an alarming rate in minority populations, particularly Latins, blacks, Asians and Native Americans," said Gurwin, citing a report from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

"Among the non-white population the incidence of diabetes has tripled over the past 20 years, while among whites that rate has only doubled over the same time period," he said.

According to the physician, diabetes weakens small blood vessels in various areas of the body. When this happens in the back of the eye, damage to vision can occur, he said.

"To detect diabetic retinopathy, the ophthalmologist painlessly examines the interior of the eye," said Gurwin. "The interior of the eye may also be photographed to provide further information."

Those interested in receiving further information on diabetic retinopathy can call the Suburban Eye Institute at 464-4000.

Student Writes

The material for this month's Student Writes Page was contributed by students at James Caldwell School in Springfield and Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountainside. James Caldwell submitted the artwork, while Our Lady of Lourdes provided the compositions. The compositions include cinquains, which are five-line stanzas.

Signs of Spring

Some leaves are already out. And people go biking and hiking.

Animals start coming out. Many people play tennis, baseball and soccer. The flowers are also coming out. And some children go skateboarding. Birds start hatching out of eggs. The weather starts getting warmer. People go for spring training. The air is fresh and clean. The first robin comes out. Birds come back. You can have barbecued chicken. Days get longer and start to get hot. That is how I know it's spring!

— Jennifer Colline, Grade 3

The way I know that it is spring is the flowers are blooming, camps are opening, weather gets warmer. The days get longer. Thousands of kids are playing outside. Leaves are growing back on the trees. Birds are making nests. Soccer and baseball is opening. There is spring training. The first robin. Tennis lessons are starting.

And that is how I know it is spring.

— Lauren Kitzhoffer, Grade 3

In spring my barometer goes up to norm and my thermometer goes up to 70 degrees. Our garden looks nice and good. I and my family have picnics and I play with my solar set on sunny days. I hear bees as they buzz. I play Koosh paddle. Those are the main signs of spring. My favorite seasons are winter and spring. Winter is a whole different story.

The Silliest Thing

Date: Jan. 31, 1990
Place: Our Lady of Lourdes School

It was in the afternoon. I was reading in the classroom. We were told to line up. My mom was at home and my daddy was at work. Then it happened! The silliest thing ever. The teachers were singing funny songs about work. It was so silly. They were singing different versions of real songs! That was truly the silliest thing I ever saw.

— Gregory Iannelli, Grade 2

One day I was picking out some fish. I saw two kissing fish. They looked very silly kissing. They looked so very pretty though. I never saw anything like it! They were actually kissing. There were many more fish, but they were the silliest ones.

— Jullanna Mulr, Grade 2

One night my daddy said, "Next week we are going to Hershey." e were very happy and merry. My baby sister and I were the happiest. The ride was pretty long. We were there. First we went to a show. They didn't show a puppy or a lamb not a bunny or a kiity not even a cub. There were many people there and they couldn't guess either. Finally they told us it was a seal. He did a silly trick. He went over to a lady in the audience and kissed her. She said "Yuck!" and started to laugh. Then we went back to the hotel and my dad said "Does anyone want dinner?" We all said "yes." We had a great day!

— Nicole Manzano, Grade 2

The silliest thing I ever saw was a snake at the Trick store. It popped out. Everybody gave a merry laugh. It had pretty spots. It was very silly. It scared my baby sister.

— Kara Barnes, Grade 2

My little baby brother's birthday came. He took his face and put it into the cake. Everyone laughed and took pictures of him. I had a good day at my brother's party!

— Quanisha Abercromble, Grade 2

One day I was watching T.V. I saw a funny zebra. It was a silly-looking zebra. I saw many of them on T.V. I think I saw a daddy zebra and a baby one too.

There were so many pretty things that were silly.

I felt happy when the show was over.

— Melissa von der Heide, Grade 2

One day I saw a man with a hat. He took the hat off and ice cream fell on his face.

The man was very mad when I laughed at him.

Then he yelled at a kitty and stomped his foot at the kitty.

The kitty ran off.

The man walked off.

Then the man went home and laughed at himself in the mirror.

The End.

If I were the governor of New Jersey

If I were the governor of New Jersey I would go out in the ocean every day. I would have a net put in the water and all the trash would be scooped into the net. Garbagemen would bring it to the landfill. I would also have the trash burned and melted. After the trash was melted, I would have people mold it into glass for soda, milk and for glass windows. I would bass the bill named S-2222 so that no black bear hunting is allowed in the state of New Jersey. I would also put a policeman on every street corner, main highway, and mostly every store in the state of New Jersey. I would have buildings knocked down that the people of New Jersey don't want anymore. After they are down I would build shelters for the homeless.

— Nick Bourlotos, Grade 4

If I were the governor of New Jersey, I would make a law that everyone must recycle aluminum, glass and plathat the people of New Jersey don't want anymore. After they are down I would build shelters for the homeless.

— Nick Bourlotos, Grade 4

If I were the governor of New Jersey, I would make a law that everyone must recycle aluminum, glass and plastic. I would sign a law that there would be no more polystyrene. I would help the farmers raise fruit and save more land for the farms. I would lower the car insurance and taxes for the people of the state. I would sign Bill S-2222. I would try and stop the drugs in New Jersey. I would make a care center for the homeless. The world will not last forever so I will try and clean it up.

— Katherine Klimuc, Grade 4

If I were the governor of New Jersey I would pass the bill S-2222 and make it a law! There are a lot of other sports when you shoot animals, but we only have 200 black bears left in New Jersey. I would also try to make a law, that senior citizens should have lower taxes. If a senior citizen is retired and can't pay the prices of taxes they will be on the street.

SAGE and hospital unite to aid seniors

Overlook Hospital in Summit and the Summit Association for Gerontological Endeavor (SAGE), have teamed up to help some of the area's senior residents deal with the problems of aging, loneliness, depression and physical handicaps.

SAGE has staff members and volunteers from Springfield, Mountaintide and Kenilworth, and serves a number of area communities.

Spend-a-Day, one of SAGE's many programs aimed at providing help for the elderly, is a five-day-a-week program where senior citizens can go and meet with people their same age and who have the same problems.

The seniors can talk, play a variety of group games, participate in crafts, mild exercises and have lunch, all under the watchful eyes of the professional staff.

Overlook Hospital enters the picture through its Family Practice Program, whereby resident doctors visit the Spend-a-Day facility as part of their geriatric curriculum.

The residents interact with the program both as caregivers and educators. As caregivers, they assist in serving lunch while observing and participating in the day's activities.

As educators, they provide informal patient education by speaking to the patients and staff on topics of interest to them.

Judy Gallagher, R.N., B.S.N. director of Spend-a-Day, says, that in this way, "The Overlook Family Practice residents can get to know our participants on a one-to-one basis. Overlook provides a tremendous service for our Spend-a-Day program."

Now 13-years-old, SAGE began the Spend-a-Day program at the Edison Recreation Center on Morris Avenue in Summit. The program grew quickly and now meets at the Hillview School in New Providence.

SAGE shares the building with the Summit Child Care Center and the YMCA.

At first, Spend-a-Day was open one day a week, but as its popularity grew, it expanded to five days a week, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Gallagher feels Spend-a-Day is an important bridge for people who have sold their homes and are now living with relatives or are alone; have experienced the death of a spouse, or are alone because the family is now scattered. The program provides a means of communication for those in the community who need somewhere to go and something to do.

When a new participant enters the program, a "buddy system" is used to acquaint the new members with the "veterans."

Some of those who attend are stroke victims, or suffer deep depression or lack self-esteem because they feel unneeded or unwanted. Spend-a-Day tries to correct that through its programs and its relationship with Overlook Hospital.

Recently, Spend-a-Day established a program for Alzheimer's victims. There are now 15 who attend the program, which is specially designed for their needs. Simple crafts, one-on-one games and close attention make up part of the program.

At present, between 15 and 25 senior citizens attend the regular Spend-a-Day program every day. There are six full-time volunteers who help Gallagher manage the program, in addition to the staff.

Participants are watched closely and if some become difficult, are noticeably steered in a deep depression or their behavior alters radically, the family is immediately notified to help provide possible information for the sudden personality change.

Spend-a-Day is an upbeat program devised by SAGE and assisted by the comprehensiveness of the Overlook Family Practice Residency's Geriatric curriculum.

Teen volunteers sought

Teenagers residing in Springfield, Mountaintide and Kenilworth are urged to contact the Association for Retarded Citizens of Essex County for C.I.T. (Counselor-in-Training) positions at Camp Hope.

Camp Hope for the Retarded is an eight-week summer day camp program, located in East Hanover.

The C.I.T. volunteer positions are available to boys and girls, 13 to 16-years-old, for a four-week period. Daily hours are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Applicants must be available for orientation the week of June 18 in the late afternoon. The camp season is June 25 to August 17.

Those interested can call Lee Bergman, or Cindy Walsh, at 535-1181, to arrange for an interview.

Kindergarten is topic

Parents facing a decision about whether their child is ready for Kindergarten or not will find helpful information on Wednesday evening, April 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Resource Center for Women in Summit.

A panel of educators will address "The Kindergarten Dilemma: How To Know if Your Child Is Ready."

Panelists Grace Kingsbury, principal of Franklin School in Summit, Molly Parkman, director of St. Andrew's Nursery School and Kindergarten in Murray Hill, and Betty Tunny, Kindergarten teacher at the Milton Avenue School in Chatham, will discuss the indicators of "readiness," what Kindertartens expect from children, and what parents need to know to make a good decision.

All area parents are welcome. The Resource Center for Women is located in Calvary Episcopal Church, on the corner of Woodland and DeForest Avenues in Summit. The fee for the discussion is $3 for center members and $5 for others.

Other upcoming parenting programs include an eight-week discussion/support group for mothers of "difficult" children, beginning on Thursday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m., and a four-week morning discussion group on the issue of "Discipline: More Than Just Saying No," beginning on Thursday, April 26, at 9:30 a.m.

"Matrimonial Law: Divorce in New Jersey" is the focus of a workshop to be held at the Resource Center for Women in Summit on Saturday, April 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Kit Dupuis, Esq., of the Westfield law firm of Woodruff & Dupuis, will discuss the legal issues, processes and decisions involved in divorce in New Jersey.

The fee for the workshop is $20 for center members and $25 for non-members. A sliding scale is also available. For information and to register, one can call 273-7253.

Arboretum to offer spring programs

Several spring programs have been planned at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum in Summit to correspond with heightened public interest in native plants and wildflowers. Programs start the last week of March and fill quickly. Early registration is advised.

A few openings remain in the Saturday, March 31, demonstration workshop, "Caring for Your Yard in Spring." Other Saturday workshops include a session on botanical illustration using Arboretum gardens and greenhouse specimens as subjects, and creation of an herbal kitchen wreath with instruction by a herb grower and everlasting flower expert Cynthia Radcliffe.

There will also be the design of a 12-inch living topiary of creeping ficus, in the form of a rabbit or a swan, under the guidance of flower show prize-winners Ginnie O'Brien and Shirley Kane.

During the week of the National Celebration of the Outdoors, two guest lectures will discuss and illustrate "Gardening with Native Plants." Presenting the morning program in April will be F M Mooberry, coordinator of horticulture at the Brandywine Conservancy in Chadds Ford, Pa. and Betty Knorr, Ph.D., a recognized authority on New Jersey flora. Mooberry has for 12 years directed wildflower, native plant and meadow management at the Brandywine Conservancy. A private consultant in meadow installation and environmental impact studies, she is the author of "Brandywine Wildflowers" and "Grow Native Shrubs in Your Garden."

Dr. Knorr, who is active with the New Jersey Native Plant Society, established Project SNAP, a nationwide effort to salvage wildflowers from destruction.

Using color slides, the lecturers will give examples of native plants to grow successfully in residential space, wildflower garden design and plant sources, as well as meadow management, plant habitat preservation and environmental repair.

Included in the program will be complimentary packets of wildflower seeds, a selection of wildflowers for sale and guided tours of the Arboretum gardens and wildflower trails.

Members receive advance information and discounts for adult education programs and trips at the Reeves-Reed. For further details on registration and fees, one can call 273-8787 or stop by the Arboretum at 165 Hobart Ave., Summit, during office hours on Mon., Tues. and Thurs., from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A FOND FAREWELL — Chief Pediatric Resident Michael Goodman of Overlook Hospital in Summit presents a plaque to Dr. Gloria O. Schragger, who recently retired as director of pediatrics at the hospital.

Doctor to give lecture

Dr. James Greenman, an infectious disease specialist and internist, will speak on Lyme Disease on Monday, April 9, at 10 a.m., at Overlook Hospital's Wallace Auditorium in Summit. The forum is sponsored by the hospital's auxiliary.

Dr. Greenman is a member of the medical staff of Overlook Hospital and practices in Westfield. He received his training in infectious diseases at Montefiore Hospital in New York.

School holds geography bee

The first round of the 1990 National Geography Bee was held recently at Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountainside. The bee is sponsored by National Geographic World, the society's magazine for children; Amtrak and Kudos snack.

The school-level bee, at which students answered oral questions on geography, was the first round in the second annual National Geography Bee. Students in the fourth grade through the eighth grade competed in the school bee.

Semi-finalists were: Lauren Friend and Michael Holzbach, Grade 4; John Maudsley and Mary Patricia von der Heide, Grade 5; Kevin Mc Manemin and Adam Supple, Grade 6; Kathryn Boyle and Tommy Ronckovitz, Grade 7, and Jamel Bishop and Luis Ugarte, Grade 8.

Sixth-grader Kevin Mc Manemin won the school's geography bee and a chance at a $25,000 college scholarship. Eighth-grader Jamel Bishop was the runner-up.

Kevin, along with winners from other schools, will now take a written test. One hundred of the top scorers will be eligible to compete in their state bee tomorrow, March 30.

A WORLD OF KNOWLEDGE — Teacher Christine Kazal, far left, joins students Kevin McManemin, the winner of the Our Lady of Lourdes School Geography Bee in Mountainside; Jamel Bishop, runner-up, and Patricia Eilbacher. Kazal and Eilbacher were the coordinators of the event.

The National Geographic Society developed the Geography Bee in response to a growing concern about the lack of geographic knowledge among young people in the United States.

Legion supports care for vets

American Legion Post 470 of Kenilworth announced recently that it has endorsed a resolution to support legislation to extend chiropractic services to eligible veterans, which was passed by its national assembly at its 71st Convention held recently in Baltimore, Maryland.

In announcing the local decision to support the action of the 3.2 million-member veteran organization, the local post brings to the forefront its efforts to make quality health care available to all eligible veterans, to reduce out-of-pocket expenses and other financial hardships brought about by illness, and to support freedom of choice.

The American Legion's resolution puts pressure on the U.S. Department of Veteran's Affairs to include chiropractic health care.

The Veterans Health Services and Research Administration presently has the authority to furnish hospital care and other services to veteran patients, but until now has not provided chiropractic services, although a two-year feasibility study is now in process.

Commander Cervoni of Post 470 stated, "The Legion is looking out for the best interests of all veterans and at the same time is looking to overcome some of the financial burdens of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. I believe both can be served with the inclusion of chiropractic care."

In commenting on the local endorsement, Dr. Jay Gilden of Family Chiropractic Center congratulated the American Legion for its action.

"It is obvious to me that the American Legion has the best interests of the veterans and our country at heart. It is a patriotic organization that propects all the freedoms — including the freedom of choice to select one's physician.

"Likewise, it is an organization that does not like to see waste. If chiropractic care can treat a health problem more effectively and at less cost, there is no reason in the world why the patient should not have the benefit of this health service."

Dr. Gilden pointed out that chiropractic care is licensed in every state, authorized by the Department of Health and Human Services as a complementary method of health care available to senior citizens, and is recognized by the Department of Labor under the Federal Employee's Workers Compensation Act.

Chiropractic treatment also qualifies for patient reimbursement for federal employees and provides services under Medicare and Medicaid.

The highlight will be a 29-day cross-country coach tour, leaving on July 16 and returning on Aug. 13.

The tour will also take in sights in western Canada, including Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver. It will include many U.S. national parks, including Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain, Bryce Canyon, Grand Canyon, Zion, Sequoia, Glacier and Jasper national parks.

San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Vancouver, Denver, St. Louis and Rapid City will be toured. The tour will also stop at the casinos of Las Vegas and Reno.

Frank commented on this trip, "This is chance of a lifetime. The package will include transportation, accommodations and luggage handling. Meals are not included, so you can choose what you want on your own special diet."

The cost per person for a minimum of 20 passengers is $1,995, which will be reduced if more than 24 passengers are signed up. A deposit of $200 is requested.

An orientation party will be held a few weeks before departure so details can be given and questions answered.

Also announced was a new tour to Bardstow, Lexington, Louisville and Frankfort in Kentucky on June 18.

Some of the features of this six-day vacation will be the musical drama "The Stephen Foster Story," Churchill Downs, the Red Mile Race Track, dinner and entertainment with souvenirs at "The Stable," and a trolley tour of Bardstow. The package will include transportation by deluxe coach, accommodations, admissions, five dinners and five breakfasts.

The cost will be $425 per person for double occupancy and $535 for single occupancy. A deposit of $25 per person must be forwarded with the reservation.

Diabetes association awarded grant

The Union/Essex Regional Chapter of the American Diabetes Association (ADA), New Jersey Affiliate, Inc., has been awarded a $500 grant from the Columbian Foundation for programs and services.

The gift was presented to Richard B. Storey, president of the board of directors of the Union/Essex Chapter of the ADA, by Andrew Vassallo, a member of the Columbian Foundation.

The Columbian Foundation, established in 1941, is a voluntary group of 60 prominent Newark-area businessmen and professionals of Italian descent who contribute to charitable organizations throughout New Jersey to improve the economic, educational, cultural, health and social welfare of New Jersey residents and communities.

The Union/Essex Chapter of the ADA, located at 60 Walnut Ave., Suite 100, Clark, offers a variety of educational programs on diabetes to corporations, clubs and organizations. The chapter also sponsors fund-raising events throughout the year, including a bike-athon in May and a door-to-door campaign in March.

Local agency gets $70G housing grant

A two-year, $70,000 housing grant has been awarded to the New Jersey Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped (AAMH) by the state Department of Community Affairs.

The AAMH is a non-profit agency, based in Elizabeth, dedicated to helping individuals with disabilities live full and productive lives in the community.

The agency will use the grant funds to train staff and board members in real estate development, develop creative financing packages, and acquire suitable properties for transitional and permanent housing.

"One of our missions is to have the opportunity to offer safe, decent, and affordable housing options for low-income and homeless people with disabilities," said Sidney Blanchard, AAMH executive director.

"By researching funding sources, such as tax credits, foundation grants, and Housing and Urban Development grants, we are learning how to best utilize the available resources for housing development."

The AAMH has thus far acquired 15 condominiums, two two-family houses, and one three-family house using creative financing packages. The numerous sites are dispersed throughout Union County in order to avoid concentration in any one area. The organization also has plans to acquire apartment buildings and more multi-family homes and condominiums.

"We believe in small, scatter-site, integrated housing," said Blanchard. "We are not creating mini-institutions for people who have disabilities, are poor, or are homeless."

AAMH employees are being trained in real estate issues through workshops, seminars and expert consultants.

A part-time real estate agent, Joe Ponsada of Union, has been hired to assist in the acquisition and management of property, and a variety of financing techniques are currently being explored.

"The Department of Community Affairs has been very generous with time and financial assistance," Blanchard continued. "They are helping us meet our goals to create small, integrated, affordable housing opportunities for people."

The grant is effective Jan. 1, 1990, through Dec. 31, 1991.

HERO HONORED — Union County Freeholder Vice Chairman James Connelly Welsh, right, freeholder liaison to the county Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, presents a county resolution of honor to Michael Honeyman of Elizabeth, center, for his heroic efforts in reviving a child trapped under a boat in Warinanco Park Lake in Roselle last year. ## Kean gets new president

Elsa Gomez, Ph.D., was installed Sunday as the 15th president of Kean College of New Jersey in Union.

She replaces Nathan Weiss, Ph.D., who last year retired from the presidency after 20 years.

The inauguration ceremonies took place in the Eugene Wilkins Theater on the college's main campus.

According to Kean officials, Gomez, who is of Puerto Rican and Dominican descent, is the first Hispanic woman in United States history to serve as president of a public, four-year institution.

"Gomez will bring her academic and administrative experience in a variety of higher education settings to our campus and our state," said Ruth O'Dell, chairwoman of the board of trustees at Kean.

"She is truly a worthy successor to Weiss, who has worked so hard to prepare the college for the coming years," O'Dell said.

"We made the selection of Gomez after an extensive nationwide search and feel fortunate to have secured an individual of such high caliber," O'Dell said.

Gomez praised the college for its record in accepting students by their potential and abilities, and not by race, religion or sex. She promised to uphold and further this standard, and said she hoped her appointment serves as an inspiration to minorities and to women.

Gomez had previously been dean and director of the Graduate Program at Lock Haven University in Lock Haven, Pa.

She had also been director of Academic Programs at the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education, and associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez.

She holds a bachelor of arts degree from the College of St. Elizabeth in Convent Station, magna cum laude; a master of arts degree from Middlebury College in Middlebury, Vt.; and a doctorate from the University of Texas at Austin.

Kean, a 12,400-student state college, offers both bachelor's and master's degrees in a variety of majors, including education, the sciences, technology, business, fine arts, English and the social sciences.

Cohen won't run for freeholder

Union County Freeholder Neil Cohen has announced that he will not seek re-election to the freeholder board in this year's election, so he can concentrate on his position in the state Legislature.

Cohen was elected to the state Assembly in November, and now represents the 21st Legislative District, which includes Kenilworth, Roselle and Roselle Park. He was the first Democrat elected to represent that district in 16 years.

While a freeholder, Cohen said he has urged the state Legislature to move forward toward regionalization of ash dumps, reopen sanitary landfills for those counties which have shown a good-faith effort in solid waste management, increased reimbursements to the towns from the state when a community cleans up garbage or toxic spills on state roads, and increased revenue sharing between the county and towns for the funding of narcotics task forces.

"One of my proudest achievements was the investigation and action on the investment practices of the Board of Social Services, which revealed that more than $1 million had not been invested in interest-bearing accounts," Cohen said. "As a result of my investigation, these funds are required to be invested in high-interest accounts, and the county now realizes an additional $100,000 in new revenue per year."

He noted that he has introduced legislation in the Assembly to address concerns he raised while serving as a freeholder. As a freeholder, he had sponsored the Seniors Safe Housing Program; as an assemblyman, he has sponsored legislation to levy a fine on criminals who attack senior citizens.

He has also advocated that fines on drug offenders be shared by the county which incarcerates the offender and the town which arrests the offender, and has now introduced legislation to do so.

While serving on the freeholder board, Cohen has witnessed the completion of Union County's Ralph Oriscello Correctional Facility, the creation of the Fire Science Academy, the nearly completed new John E. Ruml Hospital in Berkeley Heights, and last Friday's groundbreaking for a county police academy.

Cohen indicated that his ordinance establishing a $50,000-a-day fine for persons convicted of illegally dumping garbage is in the final draft stage in the county council's office.

Currently, Cohen is one of three assemblymen in the Legislature who serve as vice chairman of two committees and as a member of a third. He is vice chairman of the Consumer Affairs and Environmental and Energy Quality committees. He is also a member of the Alcohol and Drug Policy Committee.

Cohen is a partner in the Montclair-based law firm of Gill and Cohen. He resides in Union.

Transportation council reviews fed plan

The North Jersey Transportation Coordinating Council (NJTCC) voted on March 19 in Cranford to review and recommend alternatives to the Bush Administration's recently released national transportation plan.

The action was taken at the bi-monthly meeting of the federally-mandated regional transportation planning organization meeting.

"The administration plan calls for reducing federal involvement in funding both highway and mass transit projects," said Union County Freeholder Joseph Suliga, county liaison to the council.

"It reverses a long-standing policy of increased federal support in transportation capital and operations funding," he said.

Suliga said he and other council members fear that states and localities will not be able to provide the difference if federal support for highway and mass transit projects is reduced.

He said that the council has already identified a funding shortfall in the region for bridge repair and replacement projects at all levels of government under current funding policies.

"Federal funds, matched with those from state and county sources, are the primary financing mechanisms for maintaining and improving the county's 155 miles of roadway," noted Suliga. "If current cost sharing formulas are changed to reflect less federal support, state, county and local sources will have to make up the difference."

The proposed change in the cost-sharing formula is proposed at a time when the county is beginning to develop its annual six-year infrastructure improvement program.

In addition to 155 miles of roadway, the county maintains 140 bridges and 275 culverts — bridges shorter than 20 feet.

"With fewer federal dollars, the county will likely be called upon to provide a greater share of funding to upgrade these facilities," Suliga continued.

"This may prove burdensome to the county due to its aging infrastructure. Of the 275 culverts under county jurisdiction, currently 140 require major repair and 90 have already been targeted for replacement," he said.

"In addition, reduced federal support for NJ Transit and Amtrak could impact the county as well," he said.

"Station facility and rail-line improvements which are an annual ongoing program could be curtailed as a result of the reductions," Suliga said.

The council, in voting to challenge the Bush plan, called for the reactivation of its Federal Funding Task Force. This ad-hoc subcommittee of the NJTCC full committee issued a report adopted by the council at its November 1989 bi-monthly meeting, calling for increased federal funding to close an anticipated funding gap in infrastructure repair, and replacement projects nationwide.

The task force's report also recommended that a new formula for allocating federal funds be adopted which would apportion funds based upon vehicle miles traveled, as opposed to miles of roadway in a given state.

Under the current formula, New Jersey receives proportionately less federal monies for maintaining its extensively used highway facilities, Suliga said.

The North Jersey Transportation Coordinating Council consists of representatives from 11 northern counties, Newark and Jersey City, and transportation agencies inclusive of NJ Transit and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. The council coordinates transportation planning and project funding in the region.

Meetings are held bi-monthly and are open to the public.

4-H agent is named

James Nichnadowicz of Cranford has been named Union County 4-H agent, according to Ellawese McLendon, director of the Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County.

"The 4-H agent is responsible for helping the youths of Union County acquire knowledge, life skills and attitudes that will enable them to become productive members of society," McLendon, a Roselle resident, said.

Nichnadowicz, a resident of Union County for almost 30 years, was formerly responsible for the Extension Home Horticulture and Master Gardener Programs.

He holds a state teacher certification, as well as bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Rutgers University.

Scouts' hike-a-thon set

The Sea Explorers of Watchung Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will conduct a 10-mile hike-a-thon on Saturday, March 31, on the Victory Trail that runs from the Arthur Kill in Linden to Springfield.

The hikers will seek pledges for each mile they hike. The funds are to help the Sea Explorer ships offset the high cost of the liability insurance and maintenance of the vessels and the Sea Explorer Base in Linden.

The Sea Explorer squadron consists of three ships — two 65-foot ex-Army boats, and an 83-foot air-sea rescue vessel.

The Victory Trail is a historical trail following the route the British army took to try to capture the ammunition and artillery that Gen. George Washington had stored at Jockey Hollow in Morristown.

The British army marched through Elizabeth to Connecticut Farms, which they burned to the ground, then crossed the Rahway River to invade Springfield. There the British were stopped, after they also burned Springfield. The British then turned back and retreated to Staten Island, never to return.

The hikers will be mainly Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, and they will be looking during the month of March for people to make pledges for the hike.

Each scout unit will receive a percentage of its pledges.

For additional information about the hike-a-thon, interested persons may contact Martin H. McCrea Jr. at 665 Richfield Ave., Kenilworth, phone number 245-0624.

LIFESTYLES

Leader marks League's 70th with art show

By BEA SMITH

Jeannette Chubatovsky, president of the League of Women Voters of Union, can pat herself on the back for her unique inspiration on how to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the founding of the League of Women Voters of the United States.

Why not celebrate by exhibiting "a powerful series on the struggle for women's suffrage and provide a vision of the future" right here in Union?

"So, I got in touch with my friend, Elsa Goldsmith, a painter and graphic artist, and arranged for her to exhibit her works right here at the Les Malamut Art Gallery in Union Public Library in Friberger Park," says Chubatovsky, during a recent visit. "This is our way of offering an outstanding example of women in the arts. The drawings are based on historical materials and show Susan B. Anthony, Emily Bloomer, Emmeline Parkhurst and her daughter, Christobel, and Lady Frances Balfour shoulder to shoulder in a struggle ranging from French women rallying in the 1800s through English and American women marching for the vote in this century."

The exhibition will be presented throughout next month by the League of Women Voters of Union and the Les Malamut Art Gallery. There will be an opening-day reception in the gallery on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

"Actually," says Chubatovsky, "there will be two sets of pictures and drawings — one of the suffragette one and another on other subjects."

"It all came about," she smiles, "when Elsa Goldsmith had an exhibition in the East Meadows, Long Island, library in New York. I happened to be visiting there, and when I saw her paintings, I thought they would be suitable for our 70th anniversary. She's a friend of mine," says Chubatovsky, "and has been for 50 years. We used to work together as industrial designers."

"Anyway, I brought her to Union to see our gallery, and she was very impressed and agreed she would like to exhibit her work there. Well, Les Malamut and Viola Meskin, the gallery's president, agreed to collaborate. In addition," explains Chubatovsky, "the local and state league are very interested in the art work. I feel that the timing is just right."

Chubatovsky sighs. "I hope we have a nice turnout. People do seem interested. I expect that all 53 members of our local group will be there. Our members are Unionites and former Unionites. Our current board members are Florence Greenstein, first vice president; Joan Azzarello, second vice president; Marion, here, secretary; Bara Goldberg, treasurer; Sydelle Hirsch and Michele Mannino, voter service; Loretta Yacullo, bulletin; Theresa Novak, finance, and Barbara Knobler, membership. I recently learned that Susan Lederman, who is a past president of the League of Women Voters of New Jersey, and who has been nominated to become the LWV national president for 1990 to 1992, may be there too. She is a professor of public administration and coordinator of the master's of public administration program at Kean College of New Jersey in Union."

The League of Women Voters describes itself as "a multifaceted organization dedicated to keeping our democracy strong by giving every citizen a voice in government. We mobilize citizen action for a better America." The league has more than 107,000 members, women and men in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, and in more than 1,140 communities around the country. It works through the American political process and with the citizens of this country to bring about "constructive change."

Chubatovsky explains that "70 years ago decades of struggle culminated in a victory for women with the passage of the 19th Amendment, giving 20 million women the right to vote. The League of Women Voters was established in February of that year."

The Union League of Women Voters was organized in 1958 "to carry on the tradition of giving every citizen an educated voice in government. The local league, like the state and national leagues, is non-partisan but does take a stand on issues after careful study."

The first president of the LWV of Union was Mrs. George Combs. "Only husbands' names were used then," muses Chubatovsky. "We've come a long way. Justina Hunt, the director of the library, was the first treasurer. Janet Wheeler, who is director of the Union library, also is a league member. And among the original members — and still members — are Lillian Abramson, Joan Azzarello, Marion Casey, who accompanied me to this interview; Sonia Hamburg, Phyllis Portnoy, Ruth Geller and Rose Jacobs."

"The first requirements of a league," says the Union president, "is to publish a Know Your Town booklet, which was published in 1959. Over the years the league has continued to be a watchdog and activist in community affairs."

"Today, local members are more than ever actively involved in studying issues, attending and giving seminars, holding forums for candidates and giving out voter information to help the public become informed voters."

Chubatovsky says she has been a member "for about 12 years. I started right in as a secretary. I became involved in the league because I was involved in a recycling program for Girl Scouts in Union. And I worked together with the league, which helped to establish the first recycling program in Union in 1972. I was public relations and environmental chairman of the Girl Scouts. Then I joined the league. And I really became involved."

The petite woman with an enormous amount of energy explains that "we're updating our Know Your Town booklet in cooperation with Tom Strapp in the Administrator's Office and Dolores Danz, assistant to the administrator."

"Chubatovsky, a retired technical illustrator and photographer for the old Singer Co., says, "I was a patent illustrator for them. In fact, I still do freelance work for them. I'm also working on the new Know Your Town booklet. My sister, Loretta Yacullo, is editor of the Bulletin for LWV."

"And we'll be hold Candidates Night on April 19 for the Board of Education at the new Elizabeth Gas Co. on Morris Avenue. I feel," she states firmly, "that it's important to make our community a better place to live."

"And what better place, for example, can there be culturally than the Les Malamut Art Gallery and Elsa Goldsmith's long continuing commitment to women's rights?"

Church plans Seder

The Rosary Society of Church of the Assumption, Roselle Park, will sponsor its annual Seder service Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

Monsignor Joseph F. Loreti and the Rev. John Sweeney will conduct the evening Seder service with spiritual coordinator Gloria Commerato.

The Seder "is not a Christian observance," says the Pastor, but a Jewish tradition. "We as Christians are interested in this ritual meal because it was during a Passover celebration that Jesus instituted Holy Communion. We re-enact this meal so that we are reminded in a prayerful way of the Paschal meal Christ celebrated with his disciples before going out to the Garden of Gethsemane. It is meant to prepare us for the ceremonies of Holy Week. The traditional foods of the Seder ceremony are used such as matzot, moror, charoset and karpas. This is followed by a lamb dinner in silence accompanied by readings pertaining to Holy Week."

Dedication

Union County Prosecutor John Stamler seemed indestructible. Suffering from an illness that at one time reduced his heart's capacity to 11 percent of normal, he had been in and out of hospitals — twice for pacemaker implants, and once to receive a transplanted heart his body later tried to reject.

But Mr. Stamler couldn't beat cancer. He died on Sunday. Despite his ills, Mr. Stamler was undeterred in his lifelong fight against crime. In 23 years with the county Prosecutor's Office, his dedication was unquestioned; he often worked from home when his health problems kept him out of the office.

He was an early leader in the fight against drug abuse and a nationally-recognized innovator of child-abuse prevention programs.

Mr. Stamler's professional reputation was evidenced by the fact that he was the only Union County prosecutor ever to be nominated for three terms, and that he was elected by his peers as president of the County Prosecutors Association of New Jersey.

It is fitting that the new Union County Police Academy, for which ground was broken Friday, will be named after Mr. Stamler. Perhaps prospective law enforcement officers will thus be inspired to achieve the high professional standards attained by John Stamler.

Think About It

Fortune arrives via the bulk rate

By JOHN TARTAGLINO

A little blue postcard found its way into my mail pile today.

At first, I figured it was a bill. My mail consists mainly of bills, with the occasional plea for money from every charitable group in the Western world.

I very nearly put it on the pile marked "pay eventually," when something stopped me. It just may have been one of the most important decisions in my life.

Some force inspired me to sit down and read the card. With the first glance, I realized at once that fortune had indeed smiled on me.

What I, in my ignorance, thought was just another past-due reminder was, in fact, something quite different. What I had in my hands was an "Important Notice."

Apparently, based on my good looks, clean living, and love of God and country, I'll ole me has been selected to receive one of several valuable "awards."

This bounty could be any one of many, many wonderful things. It could be:

- A 1990 Cadillac DeVille;
- A $25,000 home entertainment system;

• A $20,000 cashier's check; or
• A four-day tour of a vacation time-share development.

Gee, I wonder which one's mine? I'll tell you the truth, I'm all a-twitter with excitement. The more I study this postcard, the more important I realize it is.

It says right on the front that it's been delivered to me by an "official agency of the United States government" that's "entrusted with the delivery of important documents."

I've narrowed that down to either the Justice Department or maybe the CIA. Either way, I'm impressed.

Of course, when this "agency" realized I wasn't home, they must have just slipped it into my mailbox for safekeeping. That's understandable. I can't expect an official agent of the U.S. of A. to wait around for me, and let other important missions go unaccomplished.

According to the postcard, "This program is not available to the general public!" This is getting better and better. It makes sense, too.

That explains why it came "Presorted — Bulk Rate."

I imagine all 500,000 cards had to be sorted through, very carefully, to make sure none of them accidentally fell into the hands of the "general public."

Uh-oh! This could be trouble. The "notice" warns me that, in order to claim my "award," I must "Call Within 48 Hours!"

But...
Forty-eight hours from when? I need to know. The clock is ticking. Is it 48 hours from the moment that card was sent on its way, or from the moment that trusted government representative dropped it into my mailbox?

Oh no! When did that happen? Time may be of the essence.

You know, I was a bit confused at first when I read the part warning that a $9.95 "shipping and handling charge may apply."

After thinking it through, I think I understand. I bet that must be if I win the Caddy. The $9.95 must be for tolls and gas from Detroit.

I'm promised "free details" if I call the special hot-line number.

According to the area code, the hot-line is right in the center of downtown Montana. The details may be free, but the call sure wouldn't be.

Then again, maybe I'm being greedy. After all, a big, long-distance bill is a small price to pay for the crack at a "major award." I've got to stop thinking so small.

This is like a dream come true. I've never won anything in my life, and to have this largesse just fall from the sky...

I still can't believe it. I've got to make that call. Just thinking about all those wonderful possibilities is making my heart pound.

Will they give me the car? The stereo? The cash?

The only one I really wouldn't be interested in would be the time-share tour. But there are so many other fabulous prizes, what are the chances of me getting stuck with that?

New taxes may force business to leave

If Gov. Jim Florio is attempting to become a sort of New Jersey version of Michael Dukakis, he seems off to a good start.

Although New Jersey has benefited from very substantial economic growth during recent decades, thanks at least in part to a tax climate considerably less hostile than that of nearby New York, Florio seems determined to force a change. His proposed sales tax rate would surpass, and his proposed income tax rates would rival, those imposed by New York State.

Assuming that New Jersey will continue to grow at the expense of New York, or that it will not lose economic activity in the other direction to Pennsylvania, requires an act of faith somewhat akin to belief in the tooth fairy.

If New Jersey indeed lacks revenues sufficient to pay for every desired expenditure, has it ever occurred to anyone that perhaps we are spending too much, rather than being taxed too little? If the tide of economic growth ever begins to change direction, it may be difficult to reverse.

Florio's offer to forego, for the brief period of three months, a small percentage of the large salary increases for himself and his Cabinet members that were rushed through the Legislature during the closing days of the Kean Administration is grandstanding, pure and simple.

At the same time, he is establishing something he calls the Office of the First Lady, complete with state employees whose combined salaries far exceed any such temporary saving. Mrs. Florio is undoubtedly an estimable person, but I don't recall that she has been elected to state office.

If memory serves correctly, this same governor has also established a special environmental prosecutor, complete with staff, to do something that, while certainly important, in most states falls within the job description of the attorney general and his or her staff.

Ultimately, it is difficult to avoid an impression that Florio's principal accomplishment since the election has been to transfer his long-held enthusiasm for ever-increasing levels of taxing and spending from Washington to Trenton.

What can we do about any of this? Probably not much, as Florio commands working majorities in both the Assembly and the Senate. The axiom that there is no such thing as a free lunch remains true, though.

Businesses can and will leave the state or reduce their activity here when it is no longer in their economic interest to stay or continue to function at previous levels.

Many members of New Jersey's large retiree community may, if the tax climate becomes too oppressive, ultimately vote with their feet. The enormous tab run up by our new governor will then have to be shared by those who either choose to remain or are forced to do so by circumstances beyond their control.

Promises quickly broken on taxes

The recent election of our new governor and announced new taxes should alert the voting public once and for all about promises and commitments made during campaigns.

I suggest that in the future we demand that all campaign promises be in written form and signed by the candidates, so they can be displayed when the promises are broken.

With all due respect to our new governor, he did inherit what the great "politics of inclusion" which former governor Tom Kean left behind.

I predict that taxes will be raised high enough to create a surplus in the next budget, so at that time Gov. Jim Florio can claim credit for so doing. It's good politics.

Art appreciation benefits society

By MATTHEW RINALDO
Congressman, 7th District

In the last two decades, we have experienced an explosion of the arts in New Jersey, as well as in many parts of the country where the arts have been used to promote tourism.

Appreciation for the arts is flourishing in local communities. It is virtually everywhere — historic site restorations, television series on the arts, music and dance fairs, local theater groups, traveling exhibits, and art as a form of therapy.

The variations in art are endless and limited only by the creativity of the individuals involved in art projects.

Each year, members of Congress sponsor the Artistic Discovery contest for high school-age students. This competition brings together the top young artists from around the country, whose prize-winning work is displayed in the Capitol.

Once again, I am sponsoring the competition in the 7th Congressional District, which is now being held for the eighth year.

The deadline for submitting framed entries is May 4. Prominent professional artists will judge the works which will be exhibited May 7 to May 25 at Schering-Plough Corp. in Kenilworth. Each high school in the 7th Congressional District has been invited to submit one or two works chosen by the school's art teachers.

Judging by past shows, I expect it to be a stimulating and exciting exhibit. Unlike the National Endowment for the Arts, this show will not cost the taxpayers anything.

As one education critic has written: "Virtually all other school disciplines — the sciences, math, even social studies — serve either to measure or to record. The arts serve to create, to expand imagination, to help children ponder why they, and others, are valuable."

What he meant was that the arts serve to humanize people and to make us more aware of our surroundings and of each other.

For the last 70 years, writers, poets and artists of every kind were censored in the Soviet bloc countries. Their art was dictated by state bureaucrats to fit communist orthodoxy.

The failure of communist societies to develop the talents of their people was not only due to profoundly wrong economic assumptions, but a failure to inspire people through the state-controlled arts.

In democratic nations, artistic expression is an essential component of freedom, and we are shocked that some nations are so quick to censor the arts out of fear that they cannot control its message.

In the United States, if people do not like your art or strongly disagree with it, they are free to criticize your work or ignore it.

Sometimes, we pay a heavy price for artistic freedom. Last year, a Chicago artist who is a self-proclaimed revolutionary upset the sensibilities of many Americans when he displayed an American flag on the floor of an art gallery. Using the flag as a doormat not only defamed a symbol of American pride and freedom, but lowered the standard of art to mere political propaganda.

More recently, the New York Council on the Arts awarded a $25,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to a New York theater that showed a porn queen in a lewd performance that masqueraded as art.

I have gone on record as protesting that abuse of federal funds for this performance. We should not be spending public money to promote pornography. That is a great deal different than government censorship.

The National Endowment for the Arts was established to give grants to artists who are producing art that will benefit the public in communities across the country. On the other hand, private sponsorship of the arts can set its own standards.

Ultimately, the standards of art are established by the artists themselves through their own moral code and sense of responsibility for what they create.

Rinaldo's district includes Mountainside.

Ground broken for Union County police academy

By SHARON CATES
After borrowing space from Union County College for the past 30 years, law enforcement officers from throughout Union County will, by summer 1991, finally have a "home" of their own.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the county's John H. Stamler Police Academy took place Friday on the Scotch Plains campus of Union County College.

Construction of the 43,000-square foot facility, which will be built on a 2.6-acre triangular plot on Raritan Road in Scotch Plains, is expected to begin this Sunday, April 1.

G&P Parlamas, Inc., of Allenhurst will construct the $5.09 million, two-story facility.

The facility is to be named after Union County Prosecutor John H. Stamler. Stamler died of cancer on Sunday, two days after the official groundbreaking ceremonies were held.

In a prepared statement released Friday, Stamler referred to the project as a "dream come true."

At the afternoon ceremony, county First Assistant Prosecutor Edmund J.

Tucker reflected on the decision to name the facility after Stamler.

"I think it is extremely fitting that the freeholders, through a resolution, decided to name the building after John H. Stamler," Tucker said. "No one can argue that his name is synonymous with service and professionalism in law enforcement."

"Thanks to the determined efforts of Stamler, the support of the police chiefs and business community and the cooperation of the freeholders, we are finally going to begin work on a sorely-needed project to bring our county up to snuff with the rest of New Jersey," Tucker added.

The final decision to build a county facility came years after discussions and debates.

"During all this time, Union County police officers never had their own training facility to develop a continuing and available source of training for county officers," noted Summit Police Chief Mario Formichella, president of the county Police Chiefs' Association.

"Such an entity was needed when I became a police officer, and is needed now," he said.

DIGGING IN — Jeanne Stamler, center, wife of county Prosecutor John Stamler, prepares to break ground for the new Union County Police Academy in Scotch Plains on Friday. Assisting are, from left, county Freeholders James Welsh, Walter Boright, Walter McLeod, Elmer Ertl and Gerald Green, and First Assistant Union County Prosecutor Edmund Tucker.

Union County Prosecutor John Stamler dies

By SHARON CATES

Union County Prosecutor John H. Stamler, who survived a heart transplant two years ago, died of cancer Sunday in his Scotch Plains home. He was 51.

A funeral Mass will be held today at 10:30 a.m. at St. Bartholomew's Church, 2032 Westfield Ave., Scotch Plains. The burial will take place at St. Gertrude's Cemetery, Inman Avenue, Colonia, following the funeral services.

Mr. Stamler lost his battle with a cancer that was believed to be brought on by cyclosporine, a medication he was taking which was used to suppress his immune system so that his body would not reject his transplanted heart.

He began taking the medication following a 1988 operation in which he received a heart from a brain-dead 27-year-old man. Mr. Stamler's own heart had been damaged from a viral infection and was operating at 11 percent capacity before the operation. Following the transplant, Mr. Stamler contracted lymphoma, a form of cancer that affects the lymphatic glands.

Mr. Stamler's entire life was centered around law enforcement. His father, the late Nelson Stamler, was a prominent special deputy state attorney general in the 1950s who went on to represent Union County in the state Legislature and serve as a Union County and Superior Court judge.

The Stamler family's dedication to law enforcement continues, as two of John Stamler's children are presently employed by police departments in the county.

Born in Elizabeth and raised in Union, Mr. Stamler was first appointed to the Union County Prosecutor's Office in 1967. He served as director of the Union County Narcotics Strike Force from 1972-1975.

In 1977, Mr. Stamler was named Union County prosecutor by then-governor Brendan Byrne.

Mr. Stamler was named to an unprecedented third consecutive five-year term in 1988 by former Gov. Thomas Kean.

He was a member of the New Jersey Narcotics Enforcement Officers Association. He served on the New Jersey State Drug Advisory Council, and was co-chairman of the Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect. In addition, he was president of the County Prosecutors Association of New Jersey.

Just two days before his death, groundbreaking ceremonies for the new county police academy, which will be named in his honor, were held in Scotch Plains.

"There is no doubt that the entire county is saddened by his death," noted

Summit Police Chief Mario Formichella, who is also president of the Union County Police Chiefs Association. "He was dedicated and he was always available to lend his help and advice," Formichella said.

County Freeholder Chairman Gerald Green, a childhood friend of Mr. Stamler's, offered his condolences.

"My deepest sympathy goes out to the family," Green said. "It is obvious that they not only lost a father and a husband, but they also lost a friend. The whole county lost a friend."

"I have known him for 40 years on a personal and professional level," Green added. "He was a man of his word and a very, very close friend. We have been friends since we were kids. To me, it is like losing a brother."

Mr. Stamler is survived by his wife, Jeanne, whom he married in February 1985. The couple have a 3-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, and a 14-month-old son, Dennis.

Mr. Stamler also has three sons by a previous marriage: Richard, 27, a member of the Union County Police Department; Stephen, 24, a Berkeley Heights municipal police officer; and Gary, 20, a college student.

On Monday, First Assistant Union County Prosecutor Edmund J. Tucker was sworn in as special deputy attorney general in charge of the county Prosecutor's Office. Gov. James Florio is expected to announce a permanent replacement at a later date.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

If you're like a lot of people, you may have occasional or persistent back pain and wonder what caused it. You try to think of some incident in which you may have strained your back, and come up with nothing. But there must be some reason why you have back pains. The truth is that even the simplest of incidents may be the cause, such as reaching high on a shelf to get something. Or stooping suddenly to pick up something that has fallen. Or maybe you need some tips on good posture.

Whatever the cause, the problem may be that your spinal column is out of alignment. No pain-killing drug can cure the CAUSE. It can dull the pain for awhile and give you temporary relief. But if your back is out of alignment, the pain will probably not go away unless you get the treatment you need. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1990—1,2,3,4,5,6*

SECTION B

How the '90 softball season shapes up

By MARK YABLONSKY

It's still too early to say that the 1990 high school softball season will be characterized by big hitting, certainly not in the same sense that pitching appears to be in abundance for the upcoming baseball season. But several teams within the County Leader coverage area, most notably Dayton and Roselle Park, have one particular dominant-type slugger in their lineups — Lauren Meixner and Kim King, respectively.

For Union, of course, returning senior hurler Carrie Collins is a lot for the defending Group 4 champions to have — and a lot more for opposing batters to have to handle.

Here's how things are shaping up for the start of the season this coming week.

BREARLEY

When you have only three returning starters back in uniform, you naturally would try to maximize their abilities in the best possible way. And that's what Brearley skipper Marge Egan has chosen to do for 1990.

Returning senior catcher Becky Gages will stay put behind the plate, while Kim Eagan will move from third base to shortstop, and senior Tracy Hoefling, from left to center field. In other words, Egan wants a strong middle to work with, and that's what she appears to have.

Whether that will be enough to equal or expand on last season's 9-7 record remains to be seen, but defensively at least, Brearley appears to be sound in the key areas.

"Well, we're very young and we only have three starters back, but hopefully, we'll hold our own," said Egan, whose team earned a trip to state sectional play last year, eventually losing to Cedar Grove in the opening round. "Every coach's dream is to be at least .500, and second, to remain presentable."

Looking to replace last year's pitcher, Pam Ciesla, are junior Ava Cavaliere and sophomore Karen Savage. Cavaliere, when she doesn't pitch, can play third base, and Savage should play at first on a non-pitching day. Look for junior Chrissy Davenport to play first base when Savage is on the mound. Joann Cheeka at second base will complete the Brearley infield, along with Angela Pigua, who will handle third base when Cavaliere pitches.

Jackie DePalma, after missing virtually all of last season to illness, should be the starting left fielder, while freshman Faye Papandrea will be on the other side of Eagan out in right.

Rounding out Brearley's small 12-member varsity squad may be Tina Kaufmann, who is looking to move up from the junior varsity ranks.

DAYTON

For the Lady Bulldogs this season, two familiar faces and one up-and-coming potential star will try to help Dayton improve on last season's 4-16 mark. The two familiar faces, of course, belong to Meixner and coach Arthur Krupp, who is back behind the Dayton bench after a year's absence.

And the newcomer is freshman shortstop Laura Leyrer, who Krupp feels certain will be "a star of the future in softball." Already having distinguished herself in swimming, Leyrer has since impressed her coach with the way she swings the bat. And what's more, Krupp feels, her arm is — or will be — about as good as that of former Dayton shortstop Staci Weinerman, who threw out many an opposing baserunner during her days in the Dayton infield.

"She's just an outstanding athlete, and extremely coachable," Krupp said of Leyrer. "Everything is just so positive about her."

And how does Krupp feel about Meixner, who batted a cool .660 last season, with six homers, four triples and 28 runs batted in?

"She should be our leader offensively without question," Krupp replied. "She can sting the ball. And she can drive the ball more consistently than just about anyone I've seen. And she plays a more-than-adequate left field."

Krupp won't exactly be hurting in pitching, since three candidates — sophomore Holly Olarczuk, junior Sheri DeRonde and sophomore Jennifer Minieri — are all vying for mound time. Olarczuk was a starting pitcher last season. Another plus for Dayton should be returning catcher Jodi Bromberg, whose good arm behind the plate should serve the Lady Bulldogs well.

Currently, there are two "wide open" positions in the Dayton infield, both at first and second base. Senior Dawn Ray, and juniors Jocelyn Hreben and Kristin McLearn are the candidates at first, while DeRonde and sophomore Danielle Coddington — both of whom saw infield time last spring — are in line for the job at second. And at third base, the candidates are Valerie Rau and Marni Cure.

Others who will look for playing time this season are Laura Sexton, Jennifer Beck, Liz Hart and freshman Wendy Saladino.

"I think the key statistic to our year is going to be the number of walks per game our pitchers will allow," Krupp explained. "Our pitching is not going to be the dominant kind of pitching. We're going to have to rely on our defense, and also try to score a few runs."

"And we're going to try to encourage our girls to have a lot of fun," Krupp added. "I think our kids are really going to hustle."

LINDEN

With Lori Baykowski and her 2.09 ERA now at the University of Delaware, and with two of last year's top hitters also lost to graduation, Linden coach Tony Siano has no trouble labeling 1990 as a "rebuilding" year. "But it's tough," said Siano, whose team ended up at 10-10 last season and with its first playoff berth in five years. "It's hard when you lose your three best players."

Those top two hitters, Kim Downey and shortstop Kerry Kramer, aren't easy to replace. Downey's departure from first base, in fact, has created a void that both Kris Leir and Sharmaine Koonce are competing to fill. Replacing Kramer at short will be sophomore Leslie Haddick, who is moving in from center field.

The catching position is also up for grabs between returning junior Kim McEvoy and sophomore Chris DiPalola. McEvoy held the job last year. Second base should be in good hands with Chris Coughlin, one of only three seniors on the team. Junior Jackie Bukowski, described by Siano as a "jack-of-all-trades," will settle down at third this year, after playing three different positions — catcher, outfield and second base — last spring.

Effie Philakapos will try to anchor a young Linden outfield in left.

ROSELLE

While the rains of last spring took a lot of games off of the schedule, no one in the CLN area lost more games than Abraham Clark High of Roselle, which played only 12 all spring — at one point remaining inactive for three whole weeks.

And only once were the Lady Rams able to win, that being a 22-20 slugfest with Dayton in Union County Tournament play on April 26. So what can be done this year?

"I think we'll be tougher," said Roselle coach Bob Giannotti. "We're not that strong in the batting department, but in fielding we're a quicker team. Defensively, I think we're stronger."

The presence of senior Tashamee Dorsey, though, should help account for some offense. An All-CLN selection with a .459 batting average and 13 RBIs last spring, Dorsey should "interchangeably" bat either third or fourth in the Lady Ram lineup this year, with Sherri Brown, another senior, being the other hitter in that situation. Dorsey will divide her time between the mound and second base, while Brown is all set to move in at shortstop.

Senior Michele Barroqueiro is also a pitcher, and sophomore Alicia Dove, when she isn't pitching, should be stationed in center field. Behind the plate will be junior Sharon Waked, with first base going to senior Shalonda Tanner, back in uniform after a year's absence.

Junior Maribel Munoz will complete the infield at third base. Joining Dove in the outfield will be junior Valerie Sieracki in left, and sophomore Jennifer Sorber likely to split time with Judy Eckert around in right.

Other Lady Ram newcomers who should be making the trip to Springfield for Tuesday's opener with Dayton include sophomore utility infielder Aphrodite Pelardis, freshmen Melissa Scott, Lakiesha Williams, Denisha Shields, Damiira McCloud and junior Suzanne Reitmeier.

ROSELLE CATHOLIC

Like Linden, Roselle Catholic will be minus its top hurler of a year ago, in this case Linda Alvarado, who was 8-6 for a 12-9 team, including an opening day no-hitter against Mary-lawn on April 10. Actually, this year's Roselle Catholic squad will have a total of 13 underclassmen, including seven freshmen.

But three seniors, including returning centerfielder Maureen Kelleher and her .327 batting average, will be around, too. So what's in store for the 1990 season?

"I would like to think we'll have at least a .500 year," replied fifth-year R.C. coach Mary Schiller, "and maybe we have the potential to have a good year. They're working hard and they're very enthusiastic. I have a good group of girls."

Schiller won't have Alvarado to call on, but she does have the interesting lefty-righty tandem of senior Valie Kulish and junior Robin Powell to handle the pitching. Powell, who hails from Union, has excellent velocity and went 2-1 with a complete game in three starts last spring. Kulish, a Hillside resident, saw some limited action last year as well. Also, freshmen Wendy Henderson of Elizabeth and Alison Sodroski of Roselle are pitching candidates.

R.C.'s other senior happens to be Roselle's Tara O'Brien, who is back at shortstop for the third straight year. In 1989, she batted a strong .290 over the course of 17 games, while drawing 20 walks and striking out just twice. Schiller is counting on O'Brien for leadership this year at the top of the order, hoping last season's on-base percentage of .506 can also be repeated.

Junior Marilyn Jacobs of Union, who batted .425 last year, is back at third base for the second straight year. Powell can play first when she doesn't pitch, but sophomores Diane Fennell and Jenn Adlassnig, both of Roselle, are first base candidates as well. Rahway's Laurie Mione is another infield possibility.

There could also be a battle at catcher, where three girls — sophomore Karen Worthington of Linden, freshman Beth Catullo of Winfield Park and Aslansig — are all competing.

ROSELLE PARK

With King back, John Wagner won't have to worry about pitching, and certainly not about offensive production from either the third or fourth spot in the lineup, depending on how the batting order is made up. But with Carolyn Bongard, a terrific three-year standout catcher, now at Trenton State College, and without Amy Endler, Kelly Harte, Kelly Adamiak and Michelle Finizio, there are some important positions that have to be filled if Park hopes to at least match last season's 14-8 record.

"Well, to start off with, we have five players coming back with experience, three of whom are seniors," noted Wagner, whose team actually would have done better than 14-8, had it not been for a few tough, late-inning losses. "We start off every year focusing on defense. We're fortunate to have experience with both of our kids back pitching."

"Offensively, obviously Kim's one of the top hitters in the county, and we're looking at a few kids for the one and two positions."

King, who was the CLN coverage area's second-leading hitter last year with a .488 average and 40 hits, will be doing a lot of pitching, looking to pick up on last year's 12-7 record and 2.08 earned run average. She'll be at first base on the occasions when she doesn't pitch, allowing regular first baseman Jennifer Smith to do some hurling.

KIM KING

CARRIE COLLINS

Just who will replace Bongard and her .457 batting average behind the plate? That figure to be junior Maura Geoghegan, who is moving in from the outfield and designated hitter. Freshman Kim Harms should be starting at second, and sophomore Jenna Galicchio will replace Endler at shortstop. Another sophomore, Gina Antonucci, will be at third.

Returning senior Michelle Hazlehurst will be back in left field for the Lady Panthers, and junior Dawn Skebeck will be around in right. Stationed between the two in center will be sophomore Nina Lott.

And candidates for designated hitter include junior Lisa Fiume, and seniors Judy Tandari and Chris Lezzak. Other team members include juniors Chris DeLuca, Wendy Menendez and Kathy Gibki, and freshman Laura Milligan.

UNION

George Hopkins, who in the last three years alone has guided his Lady Farmer team to two county tournament titles and last year's unforgettable Group 4 championship, has taken a look at the schedule for 1990. And that schedule shows that after the opener with East Side on April 2, games with defending Group 1 champion Whippany Park, as well as Westfield and Belleville are next — all in the same week.

That's why Hopkins feels this year is the toughest yet in terms of scheduling for his team. Additionally, Union, as the defending champion of Group 4, knows full well that many of its opponents will be especially ready to play them.

"It applies," said Hopkins acknowledging that it is tougher remaining at the top. "It can only help us to play these good teams because when it comes tournament time, the more the kids see of it, the better it is."

And, of course, the effects of graduation have not been gentle. Gone are Trish Barber, Danielle Shanley and Dina Cutrino. But Collins is back.

Yes, the same Collins who went 15-2 with a microscopic 0.47 ERA last spring — the same Collins who has a whole flock of colleges quite interested in her, to say the least. With quality control and top-notch velocity, that will mean a lot for Union, especially whenever the Lady Farmers must face pitchers of the same caliber.

Vying to replace Barber behind the plate are freshman Sonny Montas and junior Marcie Blank, while Shannon Schmidt, who was a pitcher for the junior varsity last year, will look to replace Shanley at first.

Georgian Court-bound Sue Detjen, who batted .346 and fielded a cool .949 for last year's champions, is back at second, and rejoining her to form a solid double play combo at shortstop is Donna Milia. As a freshman last year, Milia committed just two errors — both of the throwing variety — in better than 70 chances.

Karen Mollach returns to play third base.

Andrea Labonia, who batted .388 and slugged three home runs last year, is also back in center field. And a Blank, whether it happens to be Marcie or twin sister Margie, will be in left field. That depends on how much catching Marcie will do. Meanwhile, senior Christine Dega will handle right.

Other team members should be Doreen Olivo, Lorene Cutrino, Melody Collins and Stephanie Gatto. Yes, Cutrino is Dina's younger sister, and Melody is joining her older sister, Carrie, on the varsity ranks as well.

"In losing Danielle, Trish and Dina Cutrino, you're losing an awful lot at the plate," conceded Hopkins, who will be rejoined by assistant Chris Flinn. "We're going to win some games, but with our schedule we'll have to hit the ball."

Spring Run set at UCC

Prizes will be awarded in seven age categories for both males and females who participate in Union County College's sixth annual five-kilometer Spring Run, beginning at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, April 22 at the college's Cranford campus.

The event — which will go rain or shine — will coincide with a campus open house featuring the race and its related one-mile Fun Run at 11 a.m., as well as an International Festival and Earth Day celebration marking the 20th anniversary of the national designation.

Separate age categories for males and females will be set in groups of 14-and-under, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, and 60-and-over. A 5K Race trophy will be awarded to the overall male and female winners of the race, with medals given to the first, second and third-place male and female finishers in each age category.

Additionally, plaques will also be awarded to the first, second and third-place overall male and female finishers of the one-mile Fun Run. Also, custom-designed tee-shirts will be given to pre-registrants who sign up prior to April 16.

Further information is available by calling 709-7600.

Wojtowicz leads Aggies

Joan Wojtowicz of Linden owns the second-best times in two Southwest Conference events as a member of this year's Texas A&M women's swimming team.

Wojtowicz, a senior distance specialist for the Lady Aggies, recently swam the 1,650-yard freestyle in 16:25.63 at the Pitt Invitational in December, making her the only A&M swimmer to qualify for NCAA competition so far. Her efforts in the 1,000-yard freestyle are also excellent, although that is not yet a conference or NCAA event.

Wojtowicz also ranks fourth in the conference in the 500-yard freestyle, and eight in the 200-yard freestyle.

Springfield Nettes end at 6-8

Despite a final record of 6-8 record, the Springfield Nettes girl's basketball team recently completed its first successful season in several years. Coached by Pat Schwarzbek and Sy Mullman, the girls learned a new style of aggressive defense and enough to remain competitive as members of the Suburban Basketball League.

Following an 0-4 start, Springfield rebounded to win six of its final 10 games, including a season-ending 45-35 win over Millburn. Leslie Schwarzbek and Michelle Saunders, who accounted for 26 and 14 points, respectively, against Millburn, were the leaders of Springfield's offensive attack. Both averaged double figures in scoring, and in fact, accounted for nearly 80 percent of the team's points.

Both Amy Ha and Amy Foley worked the boards and did well, even though many of their opponents had a height advantage. Jamie Feeley, Gina Gruber and Nancy Ha contributed strong defensive play.

One of the team's better efforts occurred in the Edison Invitational Tournament, where Springfield, which finished the season with only seven players, played well in a 44-34 defeat to East Brunswick. Down by only two points at the half, Springfield's smaller roster ended up costing them dearly.

"We have nothing but praise for a group of young women who wanted to learn how to play basketball, suffered through the adversity of losing three teammates, and at many times had only three players at a time in practice," said both Schwarzbek and Mullman in a joint statement. "We thank these seven young ladies for a most enjoyable season."

Spring concert planned

A spring concert featuring "Naomi's Chevreh," a song and dance group specializing in family entertainment and music of varying ethnic backgrounds, will be sponsored by Jewish Family Service Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Little Theater of Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

The plans were announced by Herbert Polskin concert chairman, who stated that the event will benefit Jewish Family Service "at a time of increasing need in the community for the agency's services. All funds raised will be used to further the work of JFS," he said.

Polskin explained that "Chevreh" is a Hebrew word for "a group of friends who come together to celebrate, or simply to be together."

The group is led by Naomi Miller, and includes her husband, Harvey, and another couple, Meir and Rose Beer. Naomi Miller has appeared both as a solo performer and with her troupe in nightclubs, concerts and at celebrations throughout the New York, New Jersey, New England and Pennsylvania areas. The group's program features Yiddish and Hebrew music and performances in other languages, including French, Russian, Greek, Spanish, Italian and English.

Tickets can be ordered by calling the JFS office in Elizabeth, 352-8375.

'Ruddigore' staged

"Ruddigore," Gilbert & Sullivan's spoof of Victorian melodrama, will be presented by the Savory Singers Gilbert & Sullivan Company at Union County College Campus Center Theater, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford, Saturday and Sunday, and April 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. and April 8 at 3 p.m.

The comedy, reportedly, is replete with ancestral ghosts and a fiendish witch's curse.

quarters in Summit, is a Gilbert & Sullivan company that has been performing the operettas for the past 14 years. Led by Robert Roper of Summit, the group has, for a second year in a row, won a New Jersey State Council on the Arts grant from the Union County Office on Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

River's Edge Townhomes in Union available to home buyers

Until now, most would-be first-time home buyers in northern New Jersey have been left out in the cold due to the high real estate prices in this expensive region.

With exorbitant rents and the prohibitive cost of living here, many have found it almost impossible to save the cash needed for a down payment — let alone be able to afford the bid mortgage and property tax bills that become a fact of life, once the first home is finally purchased.

But those first-time buyers can now rejoice in the news that River's Edge Townhomes are available for sale.

Situated on Valley Street, just off of Vauxhall Road, in Union, River's Edge offers 28 lavishly-appointed new townhomes in a price range thought long-gone for townhomes of this caliber in such a location.

Each residence at this new community has been designed to afford young professionals the maintenance-free lifestyle that they require. What's more, the townhomes being constructed with only the highest standards of quality and value in mind.

According to the developer, Michael Romanelli, the new community will be second to none.

"I have created River's Edge to be a lasting value and investment for first-time buyers. In fact, only the finest building materials have been incorporated into each townhome — resulting in a convenient and comfortable lifestyle for the residents of River's Edge," Romanelli said.

Each townhome has two or three large bedrooms; 2½ baths; plush wall-to-wall carpeting; central air; a gourmet kitchen with premium appliances and elegant hardwood cabinetry; a convenient, second-floor laundry; full basements ideal for finishing; and ample on-site parking.

Quality construction features that add value include Andersen double-pane windows; ceramic-tiled floors in all baths; Moen bath fixtures; distinctive lighting fixtures; oak rails; colonial six-panel doors; and full, thick insulation.

Each River's Edge Townhome is

U-Haul to conduct fund-raising events

U-Haul Rental System, with local offices at Edgar Road, Linden, will conduct a nationwide fund-raising campaign to help build the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington, D.C. The general manager of the U-Haul center has asked the public to support this cause.

John M. Dodds, executive vice president of the U-Haul System, said all personnel and dealers will be asked to join together in helping honor the men and women who serve in the nation's longest undeclared war — the war on crime.

In 1984 Congress passed and President Ronald Reagan signed a law permitting the construction of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial, but only with private funds.

Over 30,000 peace officers have given their lives since Robert Forsythe — a veteran of the Revolutionary War and one of George Washington's new federal marshals — was killed in 1794 while attempting to serve legal papers on two Georgia brothers.

Since then, frontier lawmen have been gunned down fighting outlaws in the Old West, detectives killed in shoot-outs with Bonnie and Clyde, and Secret Service agents mortally wounded protecting the nation's presidents.

In 1989, 157 police officers died in the battle against crime, many in the war against drug lords and pushers. Today over a half million men and women serve in the ranks of federal, state and local law enforcement.

"In recognition of the special sacrifices made by the men and women in law enforcement, the U-Haul Rental System has become an official sponsor of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial. And, for the first time in its 45-year history, the System is conducting a fund-raising campaign among employees and dealers so that they can help build that memorial," Dodds noted.

U-Haul International pledged $5,000 to kick off the campaign. Dodds said that contributors may wish to make their donation in the name of a beloved fallen friend or relative.

Any U-Haul Center will accept donations from the public for the construction of the memorial. Checks or money orders should be made payable to 'NLEOM Fund,' and will be forwarded to the National Committee.

"By helping to honor those who have made the ultimate sacrifice," Dodds said, "we honor those who serve their fellow citizens today."

Replacement windows at B&M

Having been in business since 1955 installing replacement "windows, siding, storm windows, doors and so forth," B & M Aluminum, located at 2064 Morris Ave., Union, has gotten a pretty good idea of what its customers want.

"We offer expert installation, service and guarantee reliability," said Ira Schwartz, who has taken over the business from his father, Max. "We've been serving the public for 34 years on Morris Avenue, so we must be doing something right."

Taking over a business started by his father when he needed to replace storm windows in his own home, Ira Schwartz prides himself on the quality work offered by B & M.

Selling two types of window and door frame products at reasonable prices, Schwartz likes to give his customers throughout the Union County area an honest and efficient job for their money.

"We start and finish a job," he said. "The time element is between four and seven days approximately for siding."

For replacement windows, most jobs take one day or less, he said, and all merchandise is guaranteed.

"Our suppliers guarantee them to the homeowner," said Schwartz.

And, once a particular job is started, the customer gets the best in punctual and professional service.

"Each one of our installers knows his job very well," said Schwartz.

Over the past 34 years, that kind of attitude has built B & M a steady clientele, with customers coming not only from Union and neighboring Kenilworth, but from farther-away towns like West Orange and Bloomfield. Almost all of B & M's business comes from referrals.

With that clientele, Schwartz maintains a personal relationship, somewhat of a novelty in an age when hi-tech is the buzzword for many businesses.

B & M uses no answering machines, instead preferring to deal with each customer directly and personally to determine what each wants and needs.

"The customer is buying the quality of the dealer here," he said. "We have no machines or answering equipment. We're the place of business and people rely on that."

As such, B & M installs nearly 100 percent of all the merchandise it sells.

B & M is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. So for professional service and quality merchandise at an affordable price, make B & M Aluminum the only stop.
