Borough BOE race coming to a close

By SUZETTE STALKER

The three candidates running for two vacant seats on the Mountainside Board of Education will be winding up their campaigns this week with the approach of school elections on Tuesday, April 24.

Board President Linda Schneider and board member Patricia Knodel, both longtime incumbents, are each seeking re-election to the sevenmember board. They are being challenged by newcomer Josephine Colicelli.

All three are either present or former educators and have or have had their children go through the Mountainside school district. The candidates recently presented their qualifications and their positions during the Mountainside PTA's "Candidates' Night."

A special education teacher in Union County Regional High School District 1, Schneider, of South Fork Road, is running for her fourth term. She has been on the board for nine years and has been president for five Knodel, of Knollcrest Road, has been on the board for 18 years and is seeking her seventh term. She has taught elementary education in several area school districts and Sunday school in Mountainside.

WILLIAM JACKSON

She was recently appointed to the Federal Relations Network of the National School Boards Association.

Colicelli, making her first bid for a seat on the board, lives on Poplar Avenue. She has taught elementary and special education in Newark and Hazlet, and is presently vice principal of the Deron School in Plainfield.

Voters will also cast their ballots that day either for or against the 1990-91 school budgets for both the Mountainside and the regional school districts. The $3.8 million Mountainside budget marks an 11 percent increase over last year's figure.

The regional district school budget, which covers Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and three other district high schools, is $33.5 million. Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from Mountainside.

This budget represents a zero percent increase over last year's total. It also mandates a reduction of 31 staff positions throughout the district and the loss of 24 personnel, with the remaining seven being reduced through attrition.

All Mountainside voters will go to Deerfield School, located on Central Avenue and School Drive, where the polls will be open from 2 p.m. to 9

GOP pair to run for boro council

By SUZETTE STALKER

Two Republican candidates will run unopposed in the June primary for two vacant seats on the Mountainside Borough Council. Each of the candidates are expected to receive their party's nomination at that time.

Borough Councilman William "Tex" Jackson, of Forest Hill Way, has been on the all-Republican council since January 1988 and is seeking his second term. He and his wife, Elsa, have four children.

Jackson has served on the council's Administrative and Executive; Solid Waste, Fire, Police, and Historic committees. He is currently on the Fire and Police committees, as well as being the governing body's liaison to Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside.

The other candidate is Keith Turner, who lives with his wife, Susan, on Bridle Path. He will be running for the seat currently held by Councilman Louis Maas, who has opted not to run for a third term.

The deadline for filing candidate petitions was April 12.

A co-owner of Park Professional Dental Laboratory in Scotch Plains, Turner is commissioner of the Mountainside Board of Recreation. He has also served two terms as Republican Committeeman for Mountainside.

On Monday, Jackson stated that he decided to seek re-election at the request of Mountainside Mayor Robert Viglianti and fellow council members, whom the candidate explained wanted some "continuity" with regard to governing body representatives.

"I really love this town and I wanted to pay my dues," said Jackson, who added that his heavy business commitments as vice president of Thomas Deming Co., Inc., an equipment rental firm in Jersey City, initially made him hesitate to run for reelection until late last week.

"I've enjoyed the experience, though, so I said 'let's do it one more time," he commented.

Turner reported this week that he decided to run for council "for several reasons. I plan on staying in Mountainside. I feel my future is in Mountainside and I want to be part of Mountainside's future."

"We're not only entering a new council term but we're on the outset. of a new decade, and I think it's important to get the town prepared," he continued. "I would like to keep Mountainside one of the most prosperous and admired towns in the Maas explained that he decided not to seek re-election to the Borough Council because he and his wife, Marge, may be moving to Saratoga, N.Y., within the next couple of years, and said he did not want to make a commitment he might not be able to fulfill.

"I didn't think I should start something unless I could commit myself for the next three years, and I didn't think I could do that," Maas commented. "I hated to make the decision because I've really enjoyed myself."

"I really enjoyed working with Mayor Viglianti and this group," con-

Deerfield band to display talents

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Deerfield School Band is gearing up for an array of spring activities under the guidance of director Sandi Wagner, who is hoping to increase students' interest in band through participation in school and community events.

The band is currently comprised of 29 students, from fourth to eighth grade, who play a wide range of musical instruments including the flute, oboe, clarinet, tenor saxophone, trumpet and percussion instruments, according to Wagner.

"I want us to be playing in public ceremonies, to get the children involved in community affairs," Wagner remarked on Monday. "I also want the kids to hear what a band can really sound like, so they can really

She said that she hopes the band's own upcoming activities will enhance that enthusiasm even further, noting that students' interest in band has waned in recent years, partially due to children's larger interest in such diversions as television and video games.

The band will be performing in a scene from Deerfield School's production of the "The Music Man," to be presented at the school on Friday and Saturday, April 27 and April 28. It will also play during the Mountainside Little League opening ceremonies at the ballfield on Saw Mill Road on April 28.

along, and then we had a little 'name-that-tune,' and they named some songs. It was really a wonderful afternoon, and it was excellent exposure for the children as part of community service." "It was also great for the residents because they love the children,"

Wagner continued. "It brought back great memories for them."

Regional BOE eyes district needs

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 sponsored a special public forum last week to hear recommendations and concerns from area residents regarding district programs.

The district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Superintendent of Schools Donald Merachnik and Board President Natalie Waldt, along with board members Margaret Hough and Joan Toth, presided over the April 11 meeting, which took place in the Instructional Media Center at Dayton.

The board members and approximately a dozen parents and educators brainstormed for nearly two hours about such topics as future academic programs, changing curriculum trends and the proposed closing of one or two district high schools.

A key topic among the board and residents during the forum was availability of certain Advanced Placement (AP) courses which students have increasingly favored over vocational and language arts offerings because of the desire for a high class rank and acceptance into the top colleges.

"We find a lot of students gravitating toward high-powered academic courses," Merachnik remarked. "The jobs which will be available in 10 or 20 years will require a college education; that's the way business and industry is going.'

He explained that the district "tries to run the AP courses as much as possible," adding that if a course is not offered at one high school because of insufficient enrollment, then students will be shuttled to another district high school where that course is

Several parents expressed concern over AP Biology and Chemistry lab courses which are offered at the high schools at 7:30 a.m., and which they hoped could somehow be incorporated into the students' regular school day to better accomodate these youngsters and their families.

The parents maintained that offering these lab courses during the regular school day would lessen the pressure on students who wished to take these courses, and would help families who are unable to transport their youngsters to school that early.

"I would hate to see children who really want to take the labs not have that option available to them," said Springfield Board of Education President Ruth Brinen, who is also a district parent. "I think that would be a shame because they could use this enrichment."

A district committee comprised of regional school board members, administrators and educators is currently investigating the feasibility of establishing an eight-period instructional day, which will be further discussed during teachers' contract negotiations next October.

The superintendent acknowledged that an eight-period day would not only accomodate the AP lab students, but might also encourage more students to take such options as band and vocal or instrumental music, which many students decline to take because these courses do not rank as high as the AP courses.

Merachnik announced the board's intention to maintain quality education at each of the four district high schools, but noted that funding for programs would be affected by whether the regional school district budget is approved or rejected by the voters during the April 24 school

The regional district's $33.5 million school budget for 1990-91, which calls for a zero percent increase over last year's figure, has necessitated the reduction of 31 staff positions.

A number of audience members renewed discussion over whether the district should close one or two of its high schools in order to reduce the expense of maintaining the buildings and to channel funds instead toward the actual education process.

They unanimously agreed that, although having a high school in each community was highly desirable, the closing of one or two of the buildings could benefit education programs while relieving taxpayers of the burden of supporting four schools.

Merachnik and Waldt explained that while the board has examined the possibility of closing one or more of the high schools, it will continue for the time being to operate all four

A Mountainside native, Wagner played the flute in the Deerfield band as a youngster and has fond memories of those years. She added that her own participation in a large school band has inspired her to try and stimulate her own students' interest in instrumental music.

After graduating from Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, Wagner earned a degree from the Indiana University School of Music. She subsequently taught music in various public and private schools, and became band director at Deerfield last October.

She and her husband, Donald, live on Woodland Avenue and have three children. Daughters Ariel and Rebekah are enrolled at Deerfield in second grade and kindergarten, respectively. Youngest child David is three years old. Sandi Wagner is also choir director at the Mountainside Gospel Chapel.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

Dr. Gary Weisman Chiropractor IS YOUR CHILD ATHLETIC?

If your child is athletic, his enthusiasm for sports can sometimes lead to problems. Minor injuries are common enough when two bodies collide at full velocity. But body contact is not the only problem. speed, twisting and turning into awkward positions may cause strains to muscles, limbs, and back. Untempered enthusiasm may cause a youngster to try harder and play longer than is good for him. If his body is fatigued, there is greater potential for accidents and injury. And if he's too proud to complain of minor injuries, how do you find out if there's a problem that should be treated before it becomes worse?

The best answer is periodic chiropractic examinations. These are recommended before the season begins, so he can start in top form. They're also recommended whenever an injury occurs as well as at the end of the Starts and stops at high season. Any structural defects should get the correction and treatment needed to keep your child in good health.

BOE nominee cites accomplishments

Mountainside Board of Education President Linda Schneider has announced her bid for re-election, citing her continuing interest in serving the children in the borough as her primary reason for her decision.

"The specific legal charge of a school board member is to set the goals and establish the policies for the local school, so that the educational needs of the community can be met.

"With my professional training and career as an educator and my positive contributions to the board for nine years, I know that I have been a responsible leader in overseeing the education of Mountainside's students."

During the years that she has served on the board, the last five as president, Schneider cited the following accomplishments in the district:

Revisions of all courses of study; more instruction time for language arts and math; addition of classes such as computer science, word processing, keyboarding, extended day kindergarten and preschool handicapped programs, and establishment of the After School Child Care Program.

The consolidation of administration positions; reduction of staff due to declining enrollment; cost efficient plans for building operations and improvements; improved public relations with community and staff, and greater use of the school by community organizations.

She said she believes all these achievements have strengthened the education of the Mountainside students.

"I know I have been a positive and responsible leader on the board over the years. I have always made decisions with the best interests of all children in mind and with an attitude of fiscal accountability."

Schneider said she encourages all registered voters to participate in the school election on April 24, from 2 to 9 p.m., at Deerfield School.

"Positive votes for me and for the school budget will ensure the quality education our children deserve.'

Vail-Deane to hold fair

The Vail-Deane School on Woodacres Drive in Mountainside will hold its annual Spring Fair on Saturday, April 28, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the school grounds. The public is invited to attend.

Vail-Deane enrolls students from Mountainside and Springfield as well as other area communities.

The fair is a family event with emphasis on fun for the kids. There will be lots of prizes to be won at many games of skill and fun, and the children will be able to make various items themselves at several craft booths geared to both boys and girls.

There will also be a photo booth with a costume selection for young and old alike to have their pictures taken.

There will be bagels and coffee in the morning, with soda, hot dogs, hoagies and pretzles for the afternoon fare. There will also be a bake sale and an old-fashioned candy booth.

More prizes and fun will be found at the different events that will take place throughout the day, including hula hoop and basketball contests, a fortune teller, a tug-of-war, a nail painting session, and costumed characters reading selections from the books on sale at the book and poster

The Vail-Deane Parents' Association is running the fair, and proceeds will benefit several different school projects. If it should rain, the fair will be held indoors. For further information, one can call the school at 232-5502.

Brearley student earns honor

Katina Williams, 17, has been named as Student-of-the-Month for April at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, the school announced this week.

In school, Williams has worked as copy editor and photographer for the "Bear Print," has been involved with the International Club and Project Joining Older and Younger (J.O.Y.)

She also sings with the chorale, where she is soprano section leader. In addition, she plays junior varsity softball and has run varsity track and Williams hopes to attend the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, where she plans to major in business management and management information systems. "Eventually, I'd like to work for a large corporate firm in New York," she explained.

"I have so many books," said Williams, "One is 'Blues for Mister Charlie' by James Baldwin. I identified with the main character, Richard, because he was able to speak his mind and act from his own convictions without fear."

"Every achievement I can think of, I am proud of," said Williams. "Being nominated as a Student-of-the-Month, being named as a Homecoming Queen candidate...winning the Booster Club trophy for spring track last year as a junior was a special honor because most of the athletic awards went to seniors."

Williams' nominators praise her as "dependable, ambitious, competitive, self-disciplined and mature. She is also described as both "a very good friend and a student willing to share her work and opinions even when they set her apart from others."

Williams ranks 11th in her class and "is a credit to our school and an individual to whom we can point with pride," according to her nominators.

"Each person is in control of their own destiny and holds the key to their future," Williams remarked.

Educator to chair dinner for doctor

Myrna G. Wasserman, a leading educator, therapist and innovator in educational research and programs, with offices in Mountainside and Springfield, is chairperson of a testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Richard Masland, a noted researcher, writer and lecturer in neurology and psychiatry.

The New Jersey Orton Dyslexia Society will be holding a dinner in Dr. Masland's honor on Friday, April 27, at 6 p.m. at the Radisson Hotel at Newark Airport. The event will feature dinner, music, cocktails and dancing.

For over 50 years, Dr. Masland's research and his more than 80 articles and text books have enabled professionals interested in child and adult growth and behavior to identify, diagnose and treat those with dyslexia, a language disability, which affects approximately 15 percent of people worldwide.

Area residents are invited to the event. The donation is $100 per person; funds received from this dinner will be presented to the National Orton Dyslexia Society to support research at the Dyslexia Neuroanatomical Laboratory of Beth Israel Hospital in Boston in conjunction with Harvard Medical School.

International and national leaders in dyslexia research such as Dr. Jeanette Jansky, Alice Koontz, Margaret Rawson and Roger Saunders will be attending.

Dr. Albert Galaburda from Harvard Medical School will be sharing his current research on dyslexia with the group that evening.

Dr. Masland is past president of the World Federation of Neurology and Chairman of the Board of Advisors of the Orton Dyslexia Society. He is the Clinical Professor of Neurology, University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey, Rutgers Medical School and the H. Houston Merritt Professor of Neurology, Emeritus, Columbia University.

Director appointed

Hanna Praport of Springfield was recently named director of Union County College's Industry Business Institute, which provides local business and industry with customized training and educational programs.

A graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University with a bachelor's degree in education, Praport earned a master's degree from Kean College of New Jersey in Union.

She previously worked as a teacher and counselor at the Union County Adult Learning Center in Kenilworth, and has spend much of her career in adult education.

Praport is responsible for organizing liaisons between the college and the employment sector since advanced developments in the field require a cadre of skilled workers.

Companies are becoming increasingly dependent upon the community college and other educational institutions to provide employees with major education and training programs, as well as consulting services, Praport said.

The Industry Business Institute is unique among local community colleges in that it offers these services either at a college campus or on-site at industrial plants.

Workers may study English-as-a-Second Language, learn management skills, develop a computer and technological proficiency, upgrade their secretarial skills, or learn word processing, to name a few areas of training.

Workers may select from hundreds of programs, including both credit and non-credit courses. Each educational program is customized to fit the particular needs of the company, such as a corporation, law firm, insurance company, bank, hospital, or government agency.

New Jersey Bell already has taken advantage of the Industry Business Institute's services, as have General Motors, Elizabeth General Medical Center, Schering-Plough Corp., and Dun & Bradstreet, among others.

"The beauty part about the Industry Business Institute is that we'll come out to the company's location and set things up," Praport emphasized. "We offer a lot of flexibility, whether it's a single workshop to a prolonged, onsite program."

Praport stressed that while larger companies have benefitted from the institute's services, the "little guy." or small business, may equally gain from the expertise of its instructors.

Aid to consumers noted

During National Consumers Week. beginning April 22, Springfield Postmaster William G. Daniels plans to join other community businesses and organizations in helping consumers learn to stick up for themselves in the marketplace.

"It's a time for updating our purchasing skills and learning more about the good and services we buy," said Daniels.

For the Postal Service, consumer protection is a year-round activity, according to Daniels.

LOCAL CAMPER — Tenyear-old Andrew Szafran of Mountainside will this summer be attending the National Computer Camp at Post College, Waterbury, Conn. National Computer Camp is America's first computer camp. The coed camp is for youngsters, aged 8 to 18, of all levels of computer experience, from novice to advanced. The campers will enjoy small group instruction on Apple, IBM and Tandy computers for ample 'hands-on' experience. In addition, NCC offers sports and recreation, including swimming and tennis. For further information and an illustrated brochure, one can contact National Computer Camps, P.O. Box 585, Orange, Ct., 06477, or call 795-9667.

Glaucoma is discussed

lies are invited to participate in educational seminars provided as a service of the Suburban Eye Institute, located at 369 Springfield Ave. in Berkeley Heights, announced Jordan Burke, M.D., FACS, ophthalmologist.

"We have started this educational program to help glaucoma patients understand the importance of medication and follow-up examinations to better control this disease," said Dr. Burke.

"Too often, when patients experience initial relief, they discontinue recommended treatment, a factor which can lead to impaired vision if the disease progresses."

Glaucoma is an eye disease in which the pressure in the eye is too high and causes damage to the nerve Glaucoma patients and their fami- in the back of the eye. Glaucoma has been called "the sneak thief of sight" because it destroys side vision without causing any symptoms. It is one of the leading causes of blindness in the United States.

During the educational programs, Dr. Burke shows a video, explains how and why glaucoma is treated, and stresses the importance of regular examinations and side vision tests.

"This complimentary service is open to glaucoma patients of all ages and their families or caregivers," added Dr. Burke. "We encourage people to take advantage of this opportunity to learn how to better manage this serious eye disease."

Class sizes are limited and advance registration is required. One can register by calling the Suburban Eye Institute, 464-4605.

Teachers seek voters' support

Union County Regional Federation of Teachers Local 3417 President Evelyn McGill is urging citizens of Union County Regional High School District 1 to continue playing an active role in their community's education process by voting in the upcoming School Board Elections on April 24.

The regional district includes Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood, and Berkeley Heights.

"We encourage parents and residents to become very active in the education of our youngsters," said McGill. "And much to their credit, individuals have participated in the education system in many ways.

"They read Board of Education newsletters, attended board meetings and hearings, and kept updated by reading letters and editorials in local newspapers.

"But now," McGill added, "the most immediate and effective way to express concern is to cast a ballot in the April 24 election."

Last year's school budget election drew 17 percent of the 36,445 registered voters in the six communities served by the Union County Regional High School District."

According to McGill, "1989's budget was passed because thousands of parents and citizens concerned with the future of their children's education took the time and effort to get the facts, participated in budget hearings and elections and voted to pass the budget."

The 1990 proposed budget is $33,571,818, which represents a zero percent increase over 1989 spending. This budget covers all school operating expenses including teacher and staff salaries, utility charges and classroom supplies.

The balance of funding will be provided through tuition revenues, and state and federal aid programs, said

"The Union County Regional High School District is facing an exciting year ahead, as we continue to surpass state academic standards, send a large percentage of our students on to colleges and offer solid and exciting educational programs," McGill said.

Parenting seminar conducted

Lawrence Kutner, psychologistauthor of the New York Times column "Parent and Child," recently offered area parents tips on such child-rearing dilemmas as discipline, handling fear of the dark, teasing and concerns about teenagers' friends.

Dr. Kutner spoke to some 200 parents last week in a special program sponsored by Family Service Association, located at 43 Franklin Place, Summit. Family Service Board President Mary Zimmermann described the program as the non-profit counseling agency's gift to the area in appreciation of its support.

A child sees things from a different perspective than the parent, according to Kutner.

"In doing 1,500 interviews over the past two years for my column one thing stood out," he said. "The parents who have most difficulty don't understand the natural history of childhood. They have inappropriate expectations for the child and apply adult perspectives to the child's behavior."

He went on to explain that toddlers who want to grab everything in the supermarket aren't out to frustrate moms. They have merely reached a stage where they become curious and are attracted by all the brightlycolored products.

If a teen-ager becomes argumentative, parents should realize that this is a natural result of hormonal changes and, as he said, "enjoy" and take satisfaction in realizing that the arguments are a sign that the child is maturing and seeking independence.

Discipline, he said, should be concerned with teaching rather than punishment. If, for instance, an adult swats a youngster for grabbing at something he or she may break, the message the child is likely to get is that people can hit other people to get what they want.

He suggested some clever ways to solve or avoid often frustrating problems. He told of the little girl who wanted to wear a combination of terribly clashing colors to school.

Her mother got around this by offering her choices: "Would you rather wear the red or navy pants? The blue or yellow shirt?" All, of course, were acceptable items but gave the daughter some say.

Is the child afraid of the dark? Try giving the child ghost spray, he suggested. Ghost, or monster spray if one wishes, can simply be a can of compressed air, such as is sold in photography stores to clean camera lenses.

If sprayed around the windows or other areas, it can "prevent" bad things from getting in.

First day of school anxiety? Kutner told of a mother who bought a clip-on teddy bear. She wore it around for a day or two, occasionally stroking it. She even put a bit of her perfurme on the bear. Then she gave it to her son to wear on opening day so that he would have part of her with him and would feel more secure. When he returned, he gave it back to her to wear until he needed it again.

Target of teasing? The best weapon is usually teasing back, he said. Dr. Kutner suggested that the parent role play with the child, making a game out of seeing who could come up with the most outlandish humorous tease. This gives the child some good ammunition for retaliating to teasers.

Parents aren't happy with things their teenager's friends do? "Set rules," he advised, explaining that teens often want to avoid going along with the gang but yield to peer pressure. They may welcome the excuse that their parents won't let them. It gives them an acceptable out that saves face with their friends.

Family Service Association has been helping area residents solve family and emotional problems on a nonprofit basis for nearly 77 years. It is a member of United Way and the only counseling agency in Union County that has been accredited by the Council on Accreditation of Services for Families and Children.

DESERTS STUDIED — Fourth-grade students at Harding School in Kenilworth recently learned about various deserts during their social studies class taught by Kathryn Harris. Deserts explored by the students included those in the southwestern part of the United States, the Mojave Desert in southern California, the Sahara Desert in northern Africa and the desert of the Arabian Peninsula. Students made miniature scenes and wrote stories about desert animals. The pupils also made desert booklets, including original stories about make believe animals, a desert word search, and an activity matching desert animals and plants with statements. # Doctor offers advice on safe ways to lose weight tor of the Overlook Center for Weight Management, located in Springfield, has offered several tips on safe ways to lose weight and shape up for

"I am amazed at the lengths some people will go to in order to lose weight. Recent events reinforce the need for potential dieters to be careful and well-informed about which program they select," he said.

"Whether you have 20 pounds to lose or 100 pounds, the selection of a safe healthy diet program should be of paramount concern," he added. Dr. Podell suggests the following criteria for selecting a weight loss program: ☐ Medical screening before one starts the diet, and ongoing medical supervision is a must if one plans to eat less than 800 calories per day.

This is especially important if one has health problems such as high blood pressure, high cholesterol, hypoglycemia or gout, or if one takes any medicines.

The reason: losing weight promotes good health, but dieting can also

Dr. Richard Podell, medical direc- cause metabolic imbalance. For example, severely overweight people have a six times higher rate of developing gall bladder disease. The only way to reduce this risk is to lose weight.

However, dieting itself temporarily increases gall bladder risk. Medical supervision helps to recognize early symptoms; assures fluid balance, and for certain individuals, provides medicines which prevent gallstone formation.

☐ An ideal program should require one to participate in regular health education and psychological support that continues for at least 18 months after one has reached one's goal weight.

The Overlook Center for Weight Management runs two education classes three nights per week. Without aggressive long-term maintenance, most dieters regain all the weight they lost in less than 12 months. With continuing education and support, most people maintain long term success.

☐ Choose a program that is staffed with professionals who are specially

Ask to meet the person in charge of the education and maintenance program. A registered dietician, professional health educator, or registered nurse is usually best qualified.

☐ Choose a program with a strong commitment to regular exercise. One can start with short distance walking — even a few hundred yards per day. As one grows fitter one can increase the distance one can walk or switch to bike riding or swimming. Walking 20 miles per week burns 2,000 calories for a 150 pound person.

This translates to almost two thirds of a pound per week. Not much? Keep it up for 50 weeks and that equals 30 free pounds.

Looked at another way, regular exercise allows one to eat more food each day without gaining weight. For many dieters, their daily exercises means the difference between feeling deprived and eating well.

The Overlook Center for Weight Management is a program of Overlook Management Corp. of Overlook Hospital. For further information, one can call 379-7070.

Books, music are cause for self-assurance

By BEA SMITH

The combination of being a professional librarian and a pianist has been a key factor in getting Eugene Krautblatt out of his extremely shy shell. Krautblatt, the assistant library director at the Hillside Library, who admits that he was shy and withdrawn for most of his childhood and into his teen years, says, "I relate to people more now. Talking to the public constantly in the library makes me more personable. In the beginning it was an

"Also, my music helps a lot, especially when I play the piano in local concerts. I've been playing the piano since I was 8 years old.'

The Hillside-born Krautblatt, a slim, serious-looking young man, explains that he has been working for the Hillside Library for 20 years and that as assistant director "I am in charge of personnel and scheduling. I am responsible for acquisition of adult fiction and non-fiction, videotapes and compact discs and serving the public at the reference desk. That certainly helps me get rid of some of my shyness," he grins.

"I also am a classical pianist who plays for his own enjoyment. But," Krautblatt says, "I have performed occasional recitals for The Friends of the Hillside Public Library and local organizations. I took private lessons for 10 years, but now I practice on my own whenever time allows. As a matter of fact," he says matter-of-factly, "my favorite composers for the piano are Chopin, Beethoven, Schumann and Rachmaninoff."

Krautblatt's father, William, "is a retired educator of the Hillside school system. He was a high school mathematics teacher for many years prior to his 25-year principalship of the George Washington School in Hillside. I went to the same school," he muses. "So, I had to be on my best behavior with my father as principal. But," Krautblatt shrugs, "that was no problem for me. I was very quiet anyway."

Actually, he says he always got along very well with his father. "My father is a musician, a violinist. He used to give violin lessons. He had an upright piano when he first married, and when I was born, hoped that I would take it up. And I did...at the age of 8. We both belonged to the Hillside Community Orchestra. It disbanded about 20 years ago. Really," he says enthusiastically, "it was a complete orchestra, with a music director and everything. But as the town changed, people lost interest. We used to give a concert once a year...and we played...not professionally, but just for pleasure.

"As I said, I was always a quiet person, shy...and I derived my pleasure from doing things alone. I didn't like sports, so I found music to be a fine outlet to express my feelings," Krautblatt says. "I came home from school every day and practiced the piano while other little boys played baseball."

Krautblatt's father apparently had inspired his son to consider becoming a teacher. "I originally thought I would be a teacher. I attended and was graduated from Montclair State College, where I received my bachelor of arts degree. I was a teacher for a year and I didn't like it, so I decided to go back to college to pursue a master's degree. I received my master's degree in American and British literature from New York University."

In 1963, the young man was drafted into the Army and served for two years in Georgia and Colorado Springs, Colo. "I got out about 1965. I was at loose ends. I started with an advertising agency and worked as a copywriter for two years. It was at Scheer in Newark. I don't even know if the company is there anymore. I had reached a dead end," he sighs.

"Before the Army, I had worked at the Hillside Library as a librarian clerk. After the advertising venture, I went back to work at the library. But the director issued an ultimatum. 'Get a degree in library science.' So, I did. I went to Rutgers University for two years and got my degree.

"I always loved to read as a young boy," says Krautblatt. "I was very studious. My music and my books were my companions. Of course, so were my parents and my sister, Lois Brill, a teacher of first grade in a private school in Highland Park. I enjoyed reading the juvenile stories, and I liked my fictional world.

"Now I find by working in the library I do a lot of professional reading, such as, publishers' weeklies or monthlies, and excerpts about current books and book reviews. The idea of the whole publishing scene is to get to know your patrons and clientele and know what they're interested in."

The Hillside Library, which is located at Hillside Town Hall on the corner of Hillside and Liberty avenues, "is a medium-sized library," says Krautblatt. "We try to give personalized service. We have Edith Herman, reference librarian and cataloger, who has been at the library for about 35 years; and library director Lotti Smolenski, who has served in this capacity since 1951.

"You know, we started at what is known as the Walter O. Krumbiegel School on Hillside Avenue. At that time, we had a little library room in the school, and that was when she started as a director. In 1956, we moved to our present quarters. I worked my way up from the ranks. I was junior librarian, senior librarian, principal librarian and since 1985, assistant library director.

"Actually," he says, "I've been a professional librarian for about 20 years." Krautblatt modestly explains that "I have been honored by the Hillside Education Association with the Alfred Vreeland Award for my working relationship with the students of the public schools in my capacity as a member of the Hillside Public Library

Hillside Public Library, puruses latest books that come across his desk. He also plays the piano in whatever time he has left over from his position at the library.

have a children's department. We're now in the process of becoming computerized. The Elizabeth Public Library is the central site where the main computer is located. There are only two other libraries that join with Elizabeth...the Hillside and the New Providence libraries are going to be linked up. We'll be able to have the staff spend more time with public reference and with the public. We won't be tied to clerical work. It's very challenging," Krautblatt says excitedly. "We're still a little fearful and apprehensive. We have really come a long way since we've-been in the Town Hall." There are about 16 to 18 people working in the library, he indicates. "Most of the staff is part-time, however. We have Joyce Goldberg, the children's librarian, and she does the work of a full-time librarian. She runs three children's programs a week. We also have a chief reference librarian, Susar Lipstein, who is currently on maternal leave. We have two high school students, who shelve books and who are now preparing for computerization.

"And," he smiles with pride, "we have the Friends of the Library, composed of citizens from the township who all are interested in the library and wish to support it with their book sales and cultural programs. We have about 200 paid members. There are about 10 people who are really workers who make the organization really go. Since 1977, when they organized. more than $35,000 was raised. The money went for the purchase of books, to update subject areas, as well as for current fiction...for the purchase of videos and cassettes and library furnishings, stacks, chairs, table display cases, revolving book stands...And they nelp to pay for special children's programs and for guests so the children can be entertained."

This Sunday, the librarian reports, the Friends will hold an installation program at 2 p.m. "The featured speaker will be Barbara Girion, who has written and published about 10 novels for teen-agers and preteenagers. The library has all of her books. Barbara is formerly of Hillside. She now lives in Short Hills.

"During the first week in June, we will have our book sale at the library.'

Krautblatt explains that in addition. to everything the library does for the public, "We try to cooperate with the teachers. For example, we will set aside books and prepare books for their special assignments. We work along with the Hillside High School, and the public schools, which include the George Washington School, the Hurden Looker School, the Walter Krumbiegel School, the Calvin Coolidge School and the A.P. Morris & Saybrook School."

In his spare time Krautblatt practices his music "a few hours a week. I would like to practice more than I do, but I'm so busy with my library duties," he declares.

"In retrospect, I think I did the right thing in trying not to become a professional pianist. You have to have more than talent. The job as librarian is more secure, but it won't take me away from my love of music. I find my job very enjoyable. It's wonderful. I'm never bored. Maybe it's because there are so many different hats that I wear."

Antoinette Stiles is 80

Antoinette Stiles, a resident of Springfield for more than 50 years, celebrated her 80th birthday at a surprise party given by her children, Dottie Bauer of Warren and Ted Stiles Jr. of Basking Ridge. The party was held at the L'Affaire Restaurant in Mountainside, on April 1.

Antoinette Laskey-Stiles was born and raised in Harrison. She moved to Springfield in 1933 at the time of her marriage to Theodore Stiles Sr. of Springfield.

The Stiles family settled in Springfield in the late 1700s.

Both her children attended school in Springfield as did her late husband, as well as his father.

Mrs. Stiles retired in 1976 from Bell Labs in Murray Hill after 35 years of service and is a member of the Pioneers Club. She also is a long time member of the Springfield Women's Club, the Historical Society, Young at Heart Singers, Senior Citizens, St. James Rosary Altar Society and she volunteers for Meals on Wheels.

Seventy-five friends, neighbors and relatives helped to celebrate her 80th birthday.

INFLAMED ARCHES

By Dr. Michael Eglow

Do you know what the strongest ligament in the human body is? Well, it happens to be the plantar fascia, a ligament that starts on the bottom surface of the heel bone and extends forward to the bottom of the foot to just behind the toes. It acts to maintain the integrity of the foot structure, as well as protecting the softer muscles and tissues on the bottom of the foot from injury.

If this powerful ligament becomes stretched or strained— or in some cases actually torn— this is called PLANTAR FASCIITIS. The arch area becomes tender and swollen, and will likely cause some pain from the heel through the arch.

This is an injury common to athletes—though by no means exclusive to them— and the key to treatment of plantar fasciitis is to reduce movement of the foot in such a way as to allow functioning while ensuring that it fully heals. In most cases, your podiatrist can keep you on your feet-andrunning-while treating this condition.

Fish, chips dinner

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will hold its annual fish and chips dinner, catered by the Thistle Restaurant tomorrow from 5 to 7 p.m. in the church fellowship hall. Along with the dinner, coffee and homemade desserts will be served. Take out dinners also will be available for purchase. The dinner is open to the public. All are welcome.

The Sunday School children of the church will lead a special worship service Sunday at 10:30 a.m. in "continuing celebration of Jesus' resurrection. They will act out several of Jesus' post-resurrection appearances and sing several Easter songs."

An invitation is extended to the community. The church has invited children to its Sunday School which is held on Sunday mornings at 9:15.

The Ladies Guild of the church will sponsor a Spring Zone rally of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of New Jersey Sunday afternoon. The featured presentation will be the Bethesda Lutheran Home in Watertown, Wis., a resident home for more than 650 mentally retarded children and adults. Bethesda also has satellite facilities in 10 other states. the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The community is invited to contemporary holiday observances which will take place in Congregation Beth Shalom in Union, it was announced. On Sunday morning, the synagogue will hold a religious commemoration service of Yom Hashoa in the sanctuary at 10 o'clock. Members of the congregation will participate by sharing dramatic readings. In addition, the traditional memorial prayers will be recited and six symbolic candles will be kindled.

On April 29, the community is again invited to a Yom Ha'Atzmaut service and celebration which will begin at 8:30 p.m. The program will start with a creative Maariv service to be followed by a slide-show presentation. The holiday celebration also will serve as an introductory promotion for a congregational trip to Israel which will take place in the middle of February 1991.

For further information about the Yom Hashoa service, Yom Ha'Atzmaut celebration, or the trip to Israel, one can contact Rabbi Howard Morrison at the synagogue office at 686-6773.

Meeting of Havura

The next Havura Singles, ages 25 to 40, of Rabbi Howard Morrison will meet April 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the rabbi's home, 2027 Vauxhall Road, Union. Each monthly program provides an informal open-house atmosphere for young people "to socialize, sing and snack with old and new acquaintances who come from all over New Jersey."

For further information one can call 686-6773.

Rummage sale set

Townley Presbyterian Church, Salem Road and Huguenot Avenue, Union, will hold its annual spring rummage sale April 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and April 28 from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Admission is free.

A Holocaust project

The Hillside and Union lodges of B'nai B'rith will participate in the international Holocaust memorial project, "Unto Every Person There is a Name." Initiated by the Yad Vashem Holocaust Institute in Jerusalem, the project consists of reading the names of Holocaust victims at public ceremonies in hundreds of locations in Israel and the Diaspora at the annual commemoration of Holocaust Martyrs and Heroes Rememberance Day, Yom Hashoa.

This year, Yom Hashoa falls on Saturday and Sunday. Over the course of 24 hours, beginning at sunset on Saturday, Jewish communities throughout the world will light memorial candles and erect banners at sites identified with justice and rigteousness - courthouses, city halls and houses of worship - and read aloud millions of names.

A ceremony will take place at Temple Israel of Union, 2872 Morris Ave., Union. Local dignitaries are expected to participate. For further information, one can contact Isaak Lenczicki at 964-0766 after 4 p.m. or Jack Kaplan at 686-7903.

Our choices

Mountainside voters will be going to the polls next Tuesday when school elections are held throughout the state. Residents will select two representatives to the local Board of Education, and either approve or reject the 1990-91 school budget.

It was difficult to choose from among the three candidates who are running for seats on the board this year. All of them — Linda Schneider, Patricia Knodel and Josephine Colicelli — possess extensive backgrounds in education.

All three candidates have also expressed a strong desire to maintain the high quality of education offered in the borough's classrooms.

Our choices are the two incumbents, Schneider and Knodel. Schneider is seeking her fourth term, while Knodel is running for her seventh.

Each has a wealth of experience and knowledge in various education matters, particularly the development of the annual school budget.

Schneider has proven her leadership abilities by having served as president of the board for five years, as well as having worked on various board committees. She is also a high school teacher, which broadens her perspective on education even further.

A member of the board for 17 years, Knodel has chaired just about all board committees during her tenure, giving her leadership experience and familiarity with all aspects of the board's responsibilities.

She has also proven to be an independent voice on numerous occasions, even when it meant disagreeing with the board majority.

We also support the Mountainside school district's $3.8 million school budget proposal for 1990-91, despite its 11 percent increase over last year's total.

Many residents, particularly senior citizens living on fixed incomes, may vote against the budget simply because it raises taxes. A vote on a school budget is, after all, a taxpayers' only opportunity to directly affect his tax bill.

We must point out, however, that this year's school budget increase strongly reflects state-mandated costs and a loss of state aid.

Mountainside's school offers a diverse array of programs for its students, including special education children. Rejection of the budget would jeopardize the quality and quantity of those programs.

Finally, Mountainsiders on Tuesday will be asked to vote on the Union County Regional High School District 1 budget. The budget is for four high schools in the district, including Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield, which enrolls Mountainside students.

The regional high school district, according to the state, is New Jersey's most expensive academic school district on a per-pupil basis. But lately the regional school board has taken some tough, even draconian, measures to deal with its shrinking student enrollment and underutilized facilities.

The result has been a $33.5 million budget proposal that doesn't raise taxes af dime.

That, we think, is quite a feat, considering that the regional district is losing $873,000 in state aid for 1990-91 — and especially in comparison to nearby school districts where the proposed budgets have grown by 10 percent and more.

The regional school budget, like the municipal school budget, deserves the support of the voters on Tuesday.

High salaries don't mean better schools

Quality education, in our local school, is not a direct result of increased spending and higher administrative salaries!

It is not achieved with a philosophy, that the leadership of the Board of Education has, that being competitive is the most important factor to ensuring the best for our children.

Even though we are considered to be living in a high socio-economic community, parents and taxpayers work very hard for their money, and 15 percent salary increases are not warranted, especially when no one even has a doctorate in education!

Quality comes when the best interests of the children are primary and when they are receiving the most, and not the least!

Our children are not getting their money's worth, as we are very administrative-rich and still education-poor!

Get involved, do not believe the rhetoric, look at the salaries and the giveaways for the past four years!

Schneider deserving of re-election

When you, the residents of Mountainside, vote in the April 24 school board election, I would like you to seriously consider the candidacy of Linda Schneider, in addition to voting for the school budget.

You probably saw in the March 29 Mountainside Echo that Gov. Jim Florio is revamping the manner in which school districts receive aid, which will result in more than an $80,000 cut in our state-funded school aid. In addition, he is proposing a 47 percent reduction in the state funding to the arts.

In short, funding for our education and for the arts is taking an especially heavy beating.

Schneider is progressive, talented, concerned and motivated, and committed in a positive fashion to a good and cost-effective education for all our children. She has been president of our Mountainside school board for the past five years, with a total of nine years on the board. Her superior leadership qualities were recognized by her peers recently, as reported by the Mountainside Echo, when she was chosen as a leader in the state School Board Association. In addition, the entire Schneider family is involved in education. The children are in school, Linda is a special education teacher at our Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, and her husband, Ken, is a professor at Rutgers University.

Please, in these times of budget shortfalls, let us retain our best. Please vote for Linda Schneider and also for our school budget.

THOMAS G. KNIERIM
Deer Path

Board president has many talents.

I would like to publicly endorse Linda Schneider for re-election to the Mountainside Board of Education.

In that there are many members of our community who are unable to follow the detailed work of the board, I feel it is especially important that these citizens be made aware of Schneider's value to us all.

Schneider has served on the board for the past nine years, and in each of the last five years she has also been elected as board president by her fellow board members. She provides the small town of Mountainside with a level of professionalism on its Board of Education which we could scarcely afford to buy if board members were paid employees and not voluntee account to the part were paid employees.

board members were paid employees and not volunteer community servants. Her service on the board has been characterized by careful analysis of difficult and often emotional issues and by her thoughtful insights as a professional educator. Her responsibility to the community as a whole, and her remarkable ability to be responsive and sensitive to varied opinions and positions, have guided the board and our school system through many complex issues.

Schneider makes a substantial, direct contribution to the excellence in education which we enjoy in Mountainside. She is an invaluable community asset, and I believe that she deserves your vote, your support, and your active involvement in assuring her re-election.

I would also like to endorse the 1990-1991 school budget proposed by the Board of Education. Though this year's budget increase is somewhat larger than the modest increases of the past few years, the majority of the increase is largely beyond local control.

According to information provide by the board at a recent public meeting on the proposed budget, the majority of this year's increase is attributable to legally-mandated physical improvements in our school building, to Gov. Jim Florio's reductions in financial aid, and to a large increase in the cost of health insurance for our teaching and administrative staffs.

For all these reasons, I encourage everyone in Mountainside to vote in the school board election on Tuesday, April 24, and I ask you to support both the budget and Linda Schneider.

Students didn't cause state aid shortfall

I am writing to you in the hope that your readers will decide to support the public school budgets in their respective school districts.

This year is an especially critical one for the education of all of our students. After boards of education spent many days and nights in discussion and deliberation of what was to be included in their school budgets and a tentative, proposed budget was developed, most were told that state aid promises in November would not be honored. Hence, changes, cuts or increased taxation resulted.

This action by Gov. Jim Florio meant that carefully laid plans had to be put aside and budgetary changes made. My concern is that these sudden and last-minute changes could sour residents on educational planning for the next school year.

And, if that occurs, it will mean that students will be adversely affected. I believe we must all pull together for our students, even at a time when the state Treasury is in difficulty.

Let us not take out our frustrations on our students because of a state shortfall predicted for next year. Our students did not cause this shortfall.

I urge all who read this letter to stand firm for the education of students in their communities.

No matter where you live, consider supporting the passage of your public school budget on April 24. To do otherwise would be detrimental to the education of our young people.

YM-YWHA to offer camp scholarships

Thanks to an initial gift received from the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, the YM-YWHA of Union County, Green Lane, Union, is able to offer camp scholarships to families who can justify their need for financial aid.

Last year, scholarship requests totaled an all-time high. This year, the Y's Camp Committee projects double the amount of dollars needed, due in large part to the difficult economy as well as to the arrival of a large number of Soviet Jewish immigrants to the area.

The board of directors at the agency has decided to make spaces available for every immigrant who wishes to register in camp, yet the board can only accomplish its mission through community support.

The cost of sponsoring a child in camp for the entire summer is $850, or $550 for half the season. All donations, however, are welcome.

The community is being urged to send donations to the YM-YWHA of Union County, 501 Green Lane, Union 07083, or by contacting Jani Kovacs, camp coordinator, at 289-8112.

going to take time. It just seems that we get to the sixth inning and things get crazy.

"But that's a young team, and until we turn that corner and get that confidence ...that's what we need. A little confidence builder."

Not only has it been one bad inning, but lately, it's either a three-run homer — in the sixth inning — or some other late-inning catastrophe that's been hurting the Bears.

•Example No. 1: Senior hurler Chris Carey, one day after hurling 21/3 innings of scoreless relief to earn the win in an 8-7 decision over St. ... of hitless relief to save it for starter Mary's, comes on in relief once again for starter Chris Parenti at Bound Brook. But with the Bears leading by a 3-1 margin in the bottom of the sixth, a long three-run homer to left by Bob Hurley --- no relation to the other Bob Hurley — sinks Brearley, 4-3.

•Example No. 2: This time, Carey

pitches a brilliant four-hitter against Roselle Catholic. Unfortunately, though, three of the hits are homers: back-to-back round-trippers by Chad Hensler and Ed Zembryski with none out in the bottom of the fourth inning, and then a three-run shot by winning pitcher Nick Koman with two out in ...you guessed it, the bottom of the sixth. Up to that point, Parenti, working on a two-hitter, had retired eight straight batters. But a single by Zembryski and Tony Mendoza being hit by a pitch set up that fatal three-run

Brearley, incidentally, outhit the Lions by an 8-4 margin, and had twice held leads: first, a 2-0 advantage by way of Carey's two-run homer off of Koman in the fourth; and then a 4-2 edge on run-scoring singles from Carey and Don Dayon one inning

•Example No. 3: Tied with Roselle Park at 3-3 entering the top of the sixth on Monday in Kenilworth, Moleen and Carey are reached for five walks and one hit - a big two-run single by Jim Freeman — as the Panthers jump ahead to stay. Freeman, by the way, worked two innings and winner Ron Jones.

Brearley had scored twice to tie it up at 3-3 in the fifth on a run-scoring triple from Luan Ahmetaj, and an RBI single by Jeff Barr. After Don Sammet's leadoff triple in the sixth chased Jones, Brearley scored its final run when Chris Parkhill drove it in by hitting into a fielder's choice.

So there you have it. A team of hustling players who stay in every game, but somehow manage to lose in uncomfortable ways.

"We're not taking advantage of our opportunities, and we're allowing our opponents to score in late-inning opportunities," concluded LaConte, whose team will play at New Providence this morning at 11 a.m. "But we're going to be heard from. We've outplayed our opponents, we just don't have any W's to show for it."

'Dawgs beat ALJ, 9-2

By MARK YABLONSKY

Because of wet grounds on Monday, the Dayton Regional High baseball team could not get in its planned home game with Immaculata, and the added threat of rain had Tuesday's home game with Governor Livingston in jeopardy as well.

But when the 'Dawgs do get a chance to play, they seem to make the most of their opportunities - as evidenced by last Thursday's 9-2 victory against Arthur L. Johnson at Nolan Field in Clark.

Outhitting ALJ by an 11-4 margin, the Bulldogs increased their record to 2-0 behind the continued hot bats of senior Dale Torborg and sophomore Jason Mullman, as well as the ability to cash in on five Johnson errors. In the meantime, senior Billy Hart was in control on the mound, hurling a neat four-hitter for his first victory of the season.

Through two games, Torborg, the son of the Chicago White Sox manager, is batting .571 (4-for-7) with five runs batted in, three runs scored, and two stolen bases. Mullman, who is the starting centerfielder, is batting .500 (3-for-6) with six RBIs and three runs

"The kids are doing a good job," said Dayton coach Rick Iacono, whose pre-season goal of "winning five of the first 10 games" may yet be exceeded. "We're playing decent baseball and we're hitting the ball.

"I'm very pleased with the way our kids are playing, and I'm very pleased with the chemistry we have," the coach continued. "So far, we haven't beaten ourselves.

"Defensively, if we hold together we're going to be all right."

As was the case in Dayton's 22-3 thrashing of Central on April 6, the 'Dawgs got going right away in the very first inning. With two out, Torborg and Matt Gallaro reached on infield hits, and Mullman reached on an error to fill the bases against Johnson starter Paul Yurovi. Hart reached on another error to score Dayton's first run, and Brian Carson's two-run double to right made it a 3-0 game.

After Chris Fuentes singled in a run for ALJ in the bottom of the first, Dayton scored twice more in the second when Mullman doubled home both Dave Tazaki and Clayton Trivett. Fuentes reached on an error in the fourth and later scored on another еттот for Johnson's last run of the day.

But in the top of the fifth, the 'Dawgs answered right back with three more runs, the first scoring on Andy Huber's fielder's choice, and the final two coming in on a single by Torborg.

Mike Reddington doubled home Huber to close out the scoring in the seventh.

Game of Thursday, April 12 (At Clark)

Montanari gets UNICO award

By MARK YABLONSKY

For the past two seasons, the name of Mike Montanari has been a very key one to both the football and wrestling programs at Jonathan Dayton Regional High in Springfield. Not a name that's stood out in print, but one that has made its mark.

And now, two months before Montanari receives his high school diploma, some deserved recognition has made its way to him. The 6-2, 190-pound senior is this year's choice for the Brian Piccolo award by the Springfield/Mountainside chapter of UNICO, and along with other local region honorees, Montanari will receive his award at a brunch on Sunday, April 29, at Dasti's Inn in Mountainside.

UNICO, the nation's largest Italian-American organization, has numerous chapters nationwide, all of which select similar award recipients, although not always at the same time of year. The award is named after the late Chicago Bears running back who died of lung cancer in 1970 after a courageous, and later, well-noted, battle against the dreaded disease. The award goes to someone who is of Italian-American descent.

As has been the case with other Dayton students who have won the award in recent years, Montanari seemed quite surprised to learn he was this year's selection.

"I was shocked," admitted Montanari, who was informed on a recent personal visit by William Cieri, the current Springfield/ Mountainside UNICO treasurer, as well as its past president. "It came as a shock because I couldn't believe that I could get something like that."

A solid outside linebacker in football since the end of his sophomore year, Montanari had plenty of big plays to make on defense in Dayton's memorable 8-2 season of 1988, in which the 'Dawgs won their first eight games to qualify for the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs for the first time in four

But he also had contributions to make to this year's Dayton wrestling squad — so much so that even with a modest 10-10 record at 171 pounds, Montanari still came away with Honorable Mention status in All-Mountain Valley Conference, Mountain Division criteria.

But he makes no secret as to which sport he prefers.

"I've just always liked football better," Montanari answered. "It's more of a team sport where you can stand out and help the other players.

"Wrestling definitely helped me a lot in football because in wrestling you're on your own, and that helps give you confidence," he added.

Only 17 years of age, Montanari

MIKE MONTANARI has decided to attend the Peddie

School in Hightstown on a postgraduate basis next fall, in order to better prepare himself for college. Wanting to improve on his grade point average, Montanari feels the extra year will be beneficial to his future plans, which also include law school.

Both Lafayette and the University of Pennsylvania are on his list of colleges to attend, depending on "how well I do" at Peddie. Montanari, once he reaches college, plans on majoring in either history, political science, or some other area of pre-law.

"I was reading Sports Illustrated and I got the idea from a football player I read about," explained Montanari.

2 more added to GSG

Two sports with growing international appeal, roller skating and volleyball, have been added to this summer's Garden State Games.

Their addition brings the total number of sports offered to 30 for this, the eighth edition of New Jersey's Olympic-style sports festival. The regional tryouts for most sports will take place in late spring, with the finals being held from July 5-8 on the campuses of Rutgers University and surrounding facilities.

The roller skating competition will include roller hockey, speed skating and figure skating. Roller hockey, which will be an exhibition sport in the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, will hold its Garden State Games tryouts on Sunday, May 20.

Further information on any of the Garden State Games is available by calling (609) 292-9787.

Opening day

More than 500 youths are expected to participate in the Roselle Park Youth Baseball League's opening day ceremonies on April 29.

Ceremonies will begin with a parade starting at 1 p.m. near the Middle School on W. Grant Avenue. There will be a cake sale. Orders for baseball jackets will be taken. And on Friday evening, April 27, all athletes, accompanied by managers and coaches, will go door-todoor seeking boosters to help support the league.

A FINE SEASON — Eighth grader Jessica DeLuca, left, the leading scorer for this year's Roselle Park Middle School girl's basketball team, reflects on a perfect 15-0 season with coach Annie Morrison. DeLuca dropped in 205 points on the season and was also selected as the March of Dimes Dunellen Tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Ryan's camp

Roselle Catholic High head baseball coach Jeff Ryan will be conducting his second annual All-Star Baseball Camp in three-week intervals from July 16 to Aug. 3.

Hitting will be on the agenda from July 16-20. Infielders and outfielders will go from July 23-27, and pitchers and catchers will follow, from July 30 to Aug. 3.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Rev your motor in sports and creative arts. Flex those muscles in the gym. Lift a pen to creative writing and poetyr. Also keep an eye on the fine print in contracts.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The spotlight is on a fresh start, romance and career. Be open to chance meetings you might very well get an unexpected call from someone special.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Too many irons in the fire as usual? Slow down your spread-too-thin twins. Plan a short trip with someone special. Take along some books and a notepad.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Expect a lot of family dealings this week. Some are to your liking, some are not. Try not to project too much onto loved ones right now. A new romance comes into the picture.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Complete projects from the last four weeks. Do the laundry, run errands, patch up rocky relationships. Bold ideas will arrive. Discuss them with your cherished pals.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Must everything be perfect? Of course not. Your house is in order, but your love life could use a spark. Be open and positive; it will happen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You will make a decision concerning a partnership. Stick to your guns on this, even if it is painful. You cannot hide your true feelings. Focus on change, travel and new SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Let your imagination run wild. Focus on secrets and special documents. Do not be tempted by erratic moods. Friends are listening more than you realize.

Costa del Sol

Restaurant

review

By KATHERINE BROOKS I have finally found a good Spanish-Portuguese restaurant, for which I do not have to drive all the way "down neck" to enjoy! interesting that even though Costa del Sol is located in Union, nobody seems to know that it is a place for dinner.

Most people appear to believe that this restaurant only offers banquet facilities.

This is because of its preceeding reputation as The Old Cider Mill Grove, which had been doing business at that location since 1921.

Located on seven acres, Costa del Sol now caters to corporate and family functions up to 3,000 guests.

Many of New Jersey's largest corporations hold their annual events on the grounds from May through October.

Large tent weddings are also very popular.

John Mendes, his brother Tino Mendes, and Tony Piera, the coowners, merged The Old Cider Mill Grove with Costa del Sol of Bound Brook in 1982.

Dimly lit and very romantic, the restaurant itself is beautiful.

Huge murals fill the upper wall. bringing my table further into this picturesque setting.

'Cookie' album has rock score

By MILT HAMMER

Soundtrack Disc-Lite. A highspatted comedy-drama, "Cookie," stars Peter Falk, TV's "Columbo," and Emily Lloyd of "Wish You Were Here" as a father-daughter duo out to beat the mob and the law.

With able support from such screen notables as Dianne Wiest, Brenda Vaccaro and Jerry Lewis, the unlikely pair of Falk and Lloyd make for a stormy, memorable combination. "Cookie" presents two strong personalities who contrast widely in style -Falk's Dino is an old-school gangster, while Lloyd's Cookie is a street-wise punk teen-ager.

I'ne "Cookie" soundtrack, released by MCA, reflects the diversity of the characters and setting of the film with care and imagination. The LP mixes classic and new tracks that stretch from modern rock and country to '50's pop sounds.

In selecting the songs, we chose ones that would underscore the person in the film," says "Cookie" music supervisor Jonathan Brett. "For instance. Cookie herself is 18 and required contemporary rock songs like Holly Johnson's 'Americanos' or Jet Vegas' 'Share Your Love.' Her mother's character is stuck in a 1950's time warp, so we chose period songs

disc 'n' data

tike 'Love Is a Many Splendored Thing' by The Four Aces for her."

Much of the soundtrack features upbeat pop/rock tunes by fresh new artists. Holly Johnson, former lead singer with Frankie Goes To Hollywood, performs the Latin-flavored, lyrically witty dance tune "Americanos." MCA/UNI group Transvision Vamp, who scored several hits in their native Britain last year; contribute the playfully trashy "I Want Your Love." CCP and Jet Vegas are UK groups new to American audiences. "Never Had It So Good," heard over the film's end credits, is by up-andcoming dance/pop artist Tommy Page.

Rounding out the soundtrack is Nanci Griffith's wistful country number "Never Mind," along with a pair of golden oldies, Bobby Helms' "Jingle Bell Rock" and The Four Aces' "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." Thomas Newman, the indemand composer, whose previous film credits include "Less Than Zero" and "The Lost Boys," contributes a vignette from the "Cookie" score. "Slammer."

Kean students on stage

Kean College of New Jersey students will perform "In White America," a docu-drama, tracing the African-American experience from slavery to Little Rock, at 8 p.m. on Wednesday and April 26, 27, 28 and at 3 p.m. on April 29 in the East Campus Theater, Hillside. # Linde Gases has it al

Linde Gases, located at 43 Commerce St. in Springfield, is a highly technical, state-of-the-art producer and distributor of compressed gases.

Although the company has been operating out of its Springfield location since Oct. 1, Linde Gases has decided to celebrate its grand opening with an openhouse this spring. The grand opening will be held May 8 and 9 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the public is invited to attend.

Linde Gases of the Mid-Atlantic is a subsidiary of the Linde Division of Union Carbide Industiral Gases Inc., which is one of the world's largest producers and distributors of industrial and specialty gases.

For more than 80 years, Linde has kept its customers satisfied by supplying them with quality products at affordable prices. Linde has been in business since 1907, and Linde Gases has been a part of Linde since Linde Gases, therefore, offers the resources and stability of a major industrial corporation, while at the same time offering the flexibility and responsiveness of a small, local company. Close contact with its customers allows Linde to cater to the specific needs of each and every customer, while enabling them to put their trust in a company with a strong, respected history of customer satisfaction and dependability.

Linde Gases is a heavily "backward integrated" company. That is, Linde actually produces the majority of the products it markets. This is somewhat unique in an industry where the majority of companies in the field simply repackage products produced by others.

This high degree of backward integration allows Linde Gases to offer not only complete reliability of supply on these products, but also total quality control procedures.

Linde Gases distributes its products via a fleet of 15 delivery trucks and two flatbed tractor trailers from three major locations within the New York-New Jersey area. When customers are in need of a product, they can rest assured that Linde will deliver just what is needed quickly and efficiently.

Linde Gases offers a complete line of products used within the analytical instrumentation market, including carrier gases, fuel gases, oxidizers, argon, helium and oxygen.

In addition, Linde supplies industrial gases for maintenance, repair and general welding, and carries a full line of related welding equipment, including power supplies, electrodes, welding helmets, welding curtains, gloves, chipping hammers and the like.

Oils 'tell' ability to protect today's hotter-running engines

In the old days of hand-cranks, high wheels and wooden spokes, Great Grandpa threw out his auto engine oil every 500 miles.

Lasting much longer, petroleum science's modern brew not only provides superior protection for today's hotterrunning engines - but also includes special ingredients that do everything from fighting corrosion to helping engine seals maintain a tight fit.

Today's smaller engines produce more power per pound than ever before — by running faster and hotter. Advances in engine oil have kept pace, with new quality ratings based on tougher scientific tests of improved oil characteristics.

And the label on the container tells you, the motorist, what quality of oil you're buying.

The ratings result from the work of three national industry and scientific societies - the Engineering Society for Advancing Mobility Land Sea Air and Space (called SAE), the American Society for Testing and Materials, and the American Petroleum Institute.

SAE ratings for viscosity (flowability) and API ratings for oil quality are based on testing developed by ASTM.

For new gasoline-powered vehicles, carmakers generally call for SG oil, a new higher rating defined last year, and SAE 5W-30 or 10W-30 viscosity.

"S" stands for "spark combustion," and G is the highest current grade. Many gasolinepowered cars call for SG-CC oil; the CC ratings (the first "C" stands for combustion by compression) were developed for moderate-duty diesel engines. Apparently, a CC oil provides better performance at high temperatures in the ring zone in the engine; CC oils keep rings and pistons cleaner. Under latest rating terminology, the SG rating includes the CC rating; in other words, an SG oil is the top-rated oil for gasoline engines but qualifies also to handle diesel at higher temperatures. engines calling for CC oil.

The smaller the viscosity number, the easier the oil flows. An oil with two viscosity numbers, as in SAE 5W-30, lets you have the best of both worlds: easier flow for easier starting in the winter cold — but more body for better resistance to summer heat. The number with the "W" after it is awarded according to tests at specified cold tempera-Outperforming nature's best conventionally refined engine oils are the "man made" synthetics, like Mobil 1. It's rated both SG and CD, the next higher rating above CC.

A good synthetic's built-in ability to provide superior protection results from the way the oil is made, explain Mobil scientists.

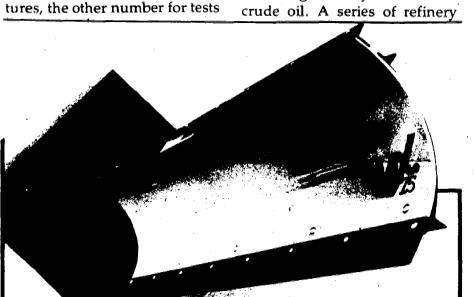

To make a conventionally refined engine oil, you start with crude oil. A series of refinery processes leaves you with a mixture of several thousand KINDS of hydrocarbons more or less working together; but some are not ideal for lubrication.

In contrast, to make Mobil 1, you start with a few pure chemical "building blocks" selected just for their lubricating capability. These you assemble into the finished base fluid. That's why Mobil 1 stays fluid, retaining lubricating capabilities from 35 degrees below zero F.

BOUNCING OVER RUGGED TRAILS in Off-Road races up to 1,000 miles long, Frank (Scoop) Vessels won 1989 series driver championship in two-wheel-drive utility class.

Spring Car Care

WINDSHIELD WIPERS ACCUMULATE road grime, dirt and dust so that eventually the blades do not come in contact with the windshield, according to International Carwash Association car-care experts. This causes the wipers to smear and obstruct the driver's vision. Professional car-wash owners advise their customers to keep wiper blades clean by wiping them off with a paper towel or dry cloth. If the wipers are hard to reach, activate the wipers, then turn off the ignition to stop them in mid-action for easy access. In addition, wiper blades should be replaced every four to six months. For a free booklet: "13 Money-Saving Tips to Help You Protect Your Car's Finish," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Car Care Advisor, International Carwash Association, 1 East 22 St. Suite 400, Lombard, IL 60148.

makes owners happier

"It's like going to the beauty

this is how numerous car owners responded when asked, "How do you teel when you go to a car wash?" "With the approach of nicer spring weather, keeping one's car looking good can be even more gratifying." says an association spokesperson adding, "Motorists spend an estimated $2.5 billion annually at some 23,000 professional car washes in the U.S. and Canada. Knowing a few facts about car cleaning and care can increase the life of your car and the pleasure of owning it.

- Check your car for winter damage and touch up minor nicks, especially along door edges and door sills. While doing so, make a resolution to keep your car clean - people respect a clean, well-kept car and are less likely to abuse it in parking lots
- The most important time to wash your car is after a rain. Modern finishes are made up of several layers of pigmented paint covered with a coat of shiny protective varnish called a clear coat. Rain often carries sulfuric acid which can eat through the clear coat causing damage that looks like water spots, but cannot be removed. To remove acid-rain residue, professional washes use solutions that are monitored constantly to balance the PH, and neutralize the effect of acid rain. Following up with a coat of wax protects the tinish from future damage.
- According to the International Carwash Association, professional car washing is gentler. It eliminates possible damage from home washing with detergents and car soap mixtures that are too alkaline. Such soap mixtures may not rinse well and in turn leave a filmy, dull finish or spots. In hard water areas, professional car washes soften and demineralize the final rinse to eliminate spotting. Car washes adjust the cleaning solutions depending on the season, and in the summer a high percentage of bug-removing solutions are added. For those in water scarce areas, Association officials note that professional car washing uses less water than the athome, hose and bucket method - 30 gallons versus up to 148 gallons
- Rust and corrosion: The major cause of cars rusting out is dirt and road grime sticking to crevices. This holds moisture to the undercarriage. Professional car washes offer an undercarriage spray that removes dirt and adds a rust inhibitor to reduce

Court Courier signs pact with Motorola

Court Courier Systems, a regional financial services carrier based in Kenilworth, has signed an agreement with Motorola Inc. for Motorola's Coverage-PLUS vehicle tracking and two-way communications service.

CoveragePLUS is the first long-haul vehicle communications system which will feature nationwide vehicle tracking and a real-time two-way voice and data

The CoveragePLUS system is designed to permit dispatchers and drivers to communicate with each other directly by data or voice, providing for operational flexibility and enhanced fleet management.

"We want to provide the best security for our customers in the financial service industry," said Jack McCorkell, Court Courier Systems president. "By enabling our dispatchers to know where each vehicle is, whether it is stopped, and the direction it is moving, CoveragePLUS will reinforce our security system and provide us with more control of our 70-truck fleet.

"In the event of a breakdown or theft, CoveragePLUS will enable the dispatcher to determine the vehicles closest to the disabled vehicle, reroute the one nearest and alert the authorities to the vehicle's location if stolen," he said.

"We also anticipate that CoveragePLUS will increase productivity and lead to substantial savings. Our dispatchers will be able to handle twice as many trucks since they can monitor the trucks' positions via computer and not depend on phone calls. And CoveragePLUS will dramatically decrease long distance phone bills," McCorkell said.

"After looking at all the available communications systems, we chose CoveragePLUS because it is the most cost-effective, and has more capabilities and options than other systems. We can easily integrate our existing computer operations with CoveragePLUS."

The CoveragePLUS system operates through Motorola's existing network of trunked Specialized Mobile Radio transmitters and receivers. When a mobile is turned on, it automatically logs on to the nearest trunking radio system which notifies the dispatcher of a vehicle's location via a Motorola hub. When the mobile unit moves into a new coverage area, it automatically logs on to that system, and the process repeats itself.

Providing nearly seamless coverage for data/voice communications, CoveragePLUS is the first system to offer "real time" position information, as well as a two-way voice and data link.

By late 1990, CoveragePLUS is scheduled to blanket all of the major interstate highways in the United States.

Legal aspects of real estate to be discussed

The New Jersey State Bar Foundation will conduct a free seminar on "Buying and Selling a House," at the New Jersey Law Center in New Brunswick on Wednesday, May 2, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Speakers will include attorney Dennis J. Dempsey, who has offices in New York, Mountainside and Union, and attorney Robert F. Moss, who has taught estate planning courses at Union County College in Cranford.

Dempsey is a solo practitioner dealing primarily with tax and estate litigation and residential real estate. He is a member of the New Jersey State Bar Association's Taxation and Real Property, Probate and Trust Law

Moss, in addition to teaching estate planning courses for five years at Union County College, in earlier years taught estate planning as a skills course for new lawyers. He has been practicing law for more than 40 years.

There will be a question-andanswer session during the last 45 minutes of the seminar.

Interested persons may call 249-5000, extension 249, to make reservations.

Monette will work out of Tenney's Regional Service Office located in Powder Springs, where he will be responsible for Tenney service activities in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina.

Lowell resides in Powder Springs, with his wife, Jerilyn, daughters, Martha and Jennifer, and sons, Jason and Timothy.

Open house at child-care center is a big success rounding communities and can accommodate up to 137 children," Devos

Schering-Plough Corporation recently held an open house at the Schering-Plough Supertots Learning Center, the company's new child-care center, located at 410 Clermont Terrace, Union.

Parents residing in the area, Schering-Plough employees and employees of other local companies were invited to bring their children to meet the Easter bunny and to participate in Easter egg hunts, according to Nancy Siracusa, cen-

Children could also join in games and compete for prizes, including a grand prize drawing, while their parents toured the facility and met the staff, she said.

The child care center is sponsored by Schering-Plough and is owned and managed by Ogden Allied Child Care Services, which has contracted to operate more than 20 centers across the county by year's end. Supertots is the child care services division of Ogden Allied Child Care Services Corporation.

"The Schering-Plough Supertots child care center reflects the company's 'family-sensitive' policies in its employee benefits and human resources programs," said Kathryn Devos, manager of employee services for Schering-Plough

"It recognizes the needs of many employee families for competitively priced, professional day care for their children," Devos said.

Located midway between the company's Union and Kenilworth facilities, the center currently provides daytime care for more than 60 children of company employees, their ages ranging from 2 months to 5 years.

"The center also cares for children of non-Schering-Plough families in sur-customs and traditions of five foreign countries," Tremblay said.

The Schering-Plough Supertots child care center incorporates state-of-the art

"Safety features include a sophisticated security system with entry doors

Farinella named builder of year

Farinella Construction Company of Springfield has received the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) Corporation of New Jersey's "Builder of the Year" award for companies with $10 million or more annual sales volume during a presentation of the Building Excellence Awards.

The award was presented at the 14th annual membership meeting and luncheon in Atlantic City.

The corporation's Building Excellence Awards Program, which includes the Builder of the Year Award, is designed to recognize New Jersey HOW members for their commitment to quality construction and customer service as well as for their overall contributions to New Jersey's quality of life through well-built and well-protected new homes.

Farinella Construction Company was chosen on the basis of its overall record with HOW, its level of involvement with New Jersey HOW, building industry trade associations and civic and charitable organizations, and the quality and effectiveness of its customer service program.

The company, now led by president Mary Farinella-Caporaso, was founded in 1955 by her father, Frank Farinella. To date, the firm has built more than 3,000 new homes and approximately 1 million square feet of office space throughout central and northern New Jersey.

Farinella Construction Company is located at 140 Mountain Ave., Springfield. The firm's telephone number is 379-7888.

Applications for teaching loan program

Assemblyman Neil Cohen, D-21, has announced that applications for the Governor's Teaching Scholars Scholarship Loan Program are available to talented Union County high school seniors at his district office, 1435 Morris Ave., Union.

Cohen's district includes Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union.

The special program can provide up to $30,000 in college scholarship loans for students who are planning to enter the teaching profession, according to Cohen.

"Gov. Jim Florio has informed me that he has approved the continued Munding of this special program and that we, as a state, will continue to encourage and support New Jersey's young students," the assemblyman said.

Students who rank in the top 20 percent in their classes, achieve a combined score of 1,100 on their SATs and receive recommendations from their high school principals or teachers can complete for the forgivable loans. One hundred scholarship loans will be available this year.

Students selected for the program receive $7,500 a year to help pay for their college education at any accredited institution in the country. The loans would be forgiven in exchange for teaching in a New Jersey public school for either six years in a suburban setting, or four years in an urban

"I certainly hope that the many deserving students we have here in Union County will seek to join this outstanding program," Cohen said.

To receive the applications, which must be completed and returned to the state Department of Education by Monday, April 23, interested persons may contact Cohen's district Office at 964-4387.
