First Aid Squad renovations on the horizon

By SUZETTE STALKER

Borough officials are hoping to finalize plans within the next couple of weeks regarding renovations to the Mountainside First Aid Squad Building, which is earmarked for expansion later this year to upgrade services to the community.

Past squad president Kit Carson, who presently heads the squad's Renovations Committee, confirmed on Monday that borough representatives met recently with architects from the national RBA Group's Morristown branch, who designed a preliminary plan outlining the proposed renovations.

Mountainside Mayor Robert Viglianti, Borough Councilman Louis lances and the third for borough vehi-Maas, Borough Administrator James Roberts, Squad Captain Steven Susman and Carson himself met with RBA's representatives, who submitted two concepts for the officials'

The squad building, located near the entrance to the Borough Hall complex on Route 22 east in Mountainside, currently features a meeting room, a single upstairs bedroom for the night crew, a downstairs meeting room and two bays for the squad's dual ambulances.

The preliminary proposal calls for three bays at squad headquarters, two of which would be used for ambucles and equipment, according to Carson. One existing bay would be transformed into a meeting room for on-duty ambulance personnel.

In addition, sleeping quarters for the crew would be expanded to include two bedrooms and baths, allowing crew members of both sexes to stay overnight, and providing sufficient space for six people instead of just three, Carson said.

Finally, the present meeting room would be converted into a training room where members of the Mountainside First Aid Squad and neighboring communities' squads would be able to conduct joint drills and training sessions, according to Carson.

The Mountainside First Aid Squad has 36 members, of which between 20 and 25 are active, with the remaining crew being away at college but available during the summer months. The squad is, however, continuing its campaign to attract new members to its ranks.

One of the factors which prompted the renovation plans was the increased size of modern van ambulances, which a decade ago replaced the smaller Cadillac ambulances. The existing bays, according to Carson, did not have enough room for both ambulances to be pulled in at the same three men "instrumental in promot-

An equipment room adjacent to the bays, said Carson, will also allow ambulance crews to more easily load vital medical supplies, oxygen, backboards and extracation devices into the ambulances for an emergency.

Items such as wheelchairs and crutches will also be moved from an upstairs attic to the downstairs training room once the renovations are completed.

Carson credited Mayor Viglianti, Councilman Maas and Roberts for their efforts in helping the renovation plans get off the ground, calling the ing" the project.

During the next meeting between borough officials and RBA Group architects, the latter are expected to resubmit their renovations proposal, this time combining both the architects' design and the officials' own specifications.

"We're pleased. It appears to meet our needs into the foreseeable future. We just know we need to improve the service," Carson commented on Monday about the renovation plans. "Bids will have to be put up, and hopefully we could start building around September or October."

Deerfield pupils celebrate Earth Day with activities

By SUZETTE STALKER

Students and faculty at Deerfield School in Mountainside recently held a week-long observance of Earth Day by participating in various environmental activities, culminating with a special Arbor Day ceremony last

The celebration, which lasted from April 23-27, was designed to teach students that environmental protection is a continuing responsibility, as well as to provide a link between Earth Day and Arbor Day, according to Deerfield Principal James Johnson.

"I think what we try to do is not just take a day, or even part of a day, to celebrate the importance of (environmental protection)," Johnson explained last week. "These types of things take place over a period of days, weeks and even years."

The week began April 23 with Deerfield's three kindergarten and first-grade classes. The kindergartners learned a song about recycling, and each class also "adopted" a tree on school grounds which they will watch over to ensure that these trees are not damaged.

The kindergartners were also encouraged to hug each other periodically during the day as a demonstration of affection and concern for living things, whether they be fellow human beings, animals or plants.

The children also made "spring spotters," using the tubes from paper towels, to "focus" upon examples of nature's beauty and problems, such as pollution, which threaten the environment. In addition, they planted flowers in special classroom planters.

The three first-grade classes at Deerfield conducted individual activities that day. Carolee Garcia's class made and decorated their own paper' "Earth Day" hats, similar to ones they have created for other occasions.

Mary Jo Nicholson's students wore paper costumes to look like plants and trees, and also made signs promoting the preservation of trees and flowers, which were hung up in the halls and classrooms. Annie Horohonich's class did its part by picking up litter around the school property.

One child from each class also read an "Earth Day Pledge" to fellow students over the school's public address system.

On April 24, Deerfield's three second-grade classes performed a home recycling survey by filling out a worksheet describing their own families' recycling efforts. They also wore small tin cans on strings around their neck as "recycling reminders" throughout the day.

The three third-grade classes also came up with some original Earth Day activities that day. Susanne Christensen's class wrote stories about recycling something "old," such as old containers, old sneakers and old hats.

Students in Jeanette Turley's class searched for debris in the school yard, and also discussed wildlife, trees and recycling. Susan Schreiber's class created collages using pictures taken

Association honors actor as a 'hero' for disabled

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) of Union County, which includes several Mountainside residents, held a candlelight ball Saturday honoring television actor Chris Burke and the Summit Trust Company.

The event, subtitled "Reach For The Stars," was held at L'Affaire Restaurant in Mountainside, with more than 400 people in attendance. ARC second vice president Phyllis Apperman and organization volunteer Rose Huff, both of Mountainside, were among the guests.

Burke, star of the ABC television series "Life Goes On," was the recipient of the association' 's highest honor - the 1990 Humanitarian Award. The actor, who has Downs Syndrome, also portrays a high school student with Downs Syndrome on the show.

The actor, who resides in California with his father while taping his television series, arrived at the ARC ball with his mother, brother, sister-in-law and two cousins to pick up his award. "Life Goes On" has been acclaimed by media critics and has been renewed by the network for next season. "The breakthrough he has made, being in a regular series, has made him a real hero to so many of our people with disabilities," remarked ARC Community Education Coordinator Alice Knecht on Monday.

"He's an extremely personable young man and his role on the show is something to admire," she said. She added that Burke was extremely popular with those who attended the candlelight ball, particularly with retarded citizens themselves and their children, who were among the guests.

Knecht maintained that Burke's rapport with audiences, and with children, has helped the siblings of retarded people to better understand ter's limitations and special needs. "He's really created a kinship with all children living with those who have disabilities," she commented.

The Summit Trust Company was given the Community Service Award in appreciation of the financial assistance the banking firm has given the association over the years, including Summit Trust's handling of a bridge loan which allowed the ARC to purchase its thrift shop in Plainfield in

The thrift shop enabled retarded citizens to develop retail skills by processing and pricing merchandise, working out on the floor of the store and manning the cash register, as well as clean up work. The store is now defunct, but the building is being used by the ARC for other projects.

Ball guests were treated to hot and cold hors d'oevres during the cocktail hour and open bar, and later dined on filet mignon and chicken française, stuffed potatoes, vegetables, soup, salad, and brownie ala mode for dessert. The affair lasted from 8 p.m.

In accordance with the theme of the occasion, the ballroom was adorned and accept their own brother or sis with silver and black decorations, including star-shaped balloons and ceramic centerpieces with white and silver flowers. They were entertained by Friends and Brothers, a five-piece band which played a variety of dance selections.

> A branch of the New Jersey Association of Retarded Citizens and the National Association for Retarded Citizens, the ARC of Union County provides assistance and support to mentally handicapped residents and their families through a variety of workshops and programs for all ages.

Police investigate fatal crash

By SUZETTE STALKER The Mountainside Police Department is still investigating the cause of a traffic accident on Route 22 east in Mountainside April 22, which claimed the life of a motorist and left his passenger in critical condition.

Authorities reported that Stephen Tominus, 41, of South River was travelling on the highway and suddenly veered off the road, striking and knocking down a traffic light poll near the intersection of Route 22 and New Providence Road.

Tominus, who suffered severe internal injuries, died several hours later at Overlook Hospital in Summit. Isabell Duran, 50, of Lawrence Harbor, was seriously injured and remained in Overlook's Intensive Care Unit this week, according to

Mountainside Police Chief William Alder stated on Monday that his department is still awaiting the results of an autopsy which was performed last week by the Union County Medical Examiner's Office, including the toxicological

Alder added that authorities have been interviewing Tominus' relatives and hope to eventually speak to Duran in an effort to gain some insight into the cause of the accident. The department is still in the process of gathering information, he said.

Candidate cites key campaign issues

By DAVE WISE

Bruce Bergen says he will emphasize the environment and the war on drugs in his campaign for the 7th Congressional District seat now occupied by Republican Congressman Matthew Rinaldo.

The district includes Mountainside. Bergen, who is the Springfield Democratic municipal chairman, recently obtained the endorsement of the Regular Democratic Organization of Union County.

He is the first Democrat to declare his candidacy for the June 5 primary.

"It's important certain issues be addressed in this campaign," said Bergen, who grew up in Cranford. "I don't know if they are adequately being addressed."

"One of the major items is the environment. If we don't have clean air and water, nothing really matters," added Bergen. "The federal government has softened the clean water bill and I don't believe we have the luxury of waiting any longer."

Bergen said, if elected to Congress, he would strengthen the Clean Air and Clean Water acts. According to Bergen, state environmental laws are less effective than federal government intervention.

Although environmental issues are now the focus of national attention, Bergen noted that illicit drug usage continues to be a big problem in the country.

"Another issue is the severe drug problem," Bergen said. "As attorney, day in and day out, I see young kids dealing in drugs. It takes them out of school, out of society.

"People aren't aware of the extent of the problem," he continued. "Crime, problems in school — it all comes back to the drug problem. We have to stem the flow of drugs into the country."

Bergen said he will run an issueoriented campaign as opposed to a mudslinging one.

"I do have some valid ideas which will get people thinking," said Bergen, who is a partner in the Linden law firm of Kaplowitz and Wise. "It doesn't take a lot of money to run an effective congressional campaign."

Bergen added that as a congressman, reducing the growing trade and national deficits would be another "extreme concern."

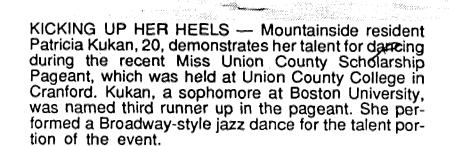

The attorney said "the deficit will have a ripple effect" which will adversely affect future generations.

Bergen maintained that one way of tackling the huge national deficit is to "drastically reduce the military budget," which can be accomplished "without damaging our ability to defend ourselves.'

According to Bergen, he is running for Congress because New Jersey is suffering from "a lack of leadership."

"I think New Jersey needs an active congressman," declared Bergen.

Although Rinaldo has more campaign funds, Bergen said he will still "bring his message to the people."

Tania Aizenberg of Mountainside, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has been named a recipient of a 1990 Jostens Foundation Leader Scholarship

Aizenberg is one of more than 35,500 seniors throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American schools abroad who competed for one of 300 Jostens Foundation Leader Scholarship awards worth $1,000 each.

Selection of scholarship award recipients was based on outstanding achievements in school and community activities and academic excellence. Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America, St. Peter, Minn., administrator of The Jostens Foundation Leader Scholarship Program, selected the 300 scholarship recipients.

Commenting on the scholarship program, Don C. Lein, president of The Jostens Foundation, said, "The Jostens Foundation is committed to developing quality education for today's young people and responding to the needs of our youth."

Funds for The Jostens Foundation are provided annually by Jostens Inc.. a leading provider of products and services for the youth, education, sports and recognition markets.

Earth Day is celebrated

For three days, from April 23 to April 25, Deerfield's two fourth grades and three fifth grades worked on a project dealing with the dangers of toxic substances, beginning with lessons devoted to defining toxic substances, identifying common household products containing toxics and the dangers of toxics.

The students also took and administered a survey to their families to gather information regarding awareness of toxic substances and attitudes toward toxics. The results of this survey were compiled and illustrated in graph form.

Following completion of the survey, the students received a lesson on alternatives to using products with toxins. They also performed an "Earth Day" rap song which was played over the public address system.

Deerfield's two sixth-grade classes on April 26 took and signed an environmental pledge and conducted an environmental survey. The same day, the two seventh and two eighth-grade classes completed a survey on energy, transportation, solid waste recycling, water use and environmentally hazardous material.

Finally, the Deerfield Student Council planted a tree donated by the Mountainside Lions Club on the school property on April 27, with a dedication lead by Student Souncil President Michelle Lopapa. All Deerfield students were also given evergreen seedlings to take home and plant.

JOINT PAIN AND MUSCLE BALANCE

If you've developed symptoms that make you think you have arthritis, it would be wise to have an examination to see if the muscles in the affected area are out of balance. Muscles help keep a joint stable and assist it through its normal range of motion. But if the muscles on one side of the joint are weak, this puts a strain on the joint. It may also cause arthriticlike symptoms.

The doctor of chiropractic will test the muscles to determine their balance and strength. He will also evaluate nerve patterns and may take an x-ray to study the joint structure involved. Perhaps some laboratory procedures will also be needed.

If the problem is in the muscles around the joint, treatment can be given to strengthen and return them to proper balance. Once this is achieved, the arthritic-like pain and discomfort may be greatly relieved or eliminated.

MAKING NEW FRIENDS — Eighth-grade students from Deerfield School in Mountainside and Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield recently got together for a pizza luncheon sponsored by Deerfield School. Deerfield guidance counselor Michele Pitts arranged the meeting to promote positive relations between students from the two sending districts of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield. The luncheon was followed by a question-and-answer session with students who are currently attending Jonathan Dayton. In foreground, from left, are Michelle Lopapa, Deerfield's Student Council president; Andrea Misiewicz, Deerfield's Student Council vice president, and Alison Moskowitz, Gaudineer's Student Council recording secretary. In background is Gina Millin, Gaudineer's Student Council president.

Businessman plays 'Snoopy' for hospitalized children

One of America's favorite dogs recently came to Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence Road in Mountainside to entertain the young patients there.

"Snoopy," also known as Joe Abbate, visited the pediatric rehabilitation hospital to say 'hi' to the children and to have his photo taken with them.

Abbate, an insurance agent for Metropolitan Life in Westfield, explains that it was his fondness for children led him to begin his sideline career walking around a hospital in a dog suit.

"I did it for the kids," he said. "I believe that people should get involved and help others, and if I

Program provides elderly with a change of pace

The Summit Area Association for Gerontological Endeavor (SAGE) is operating its Spend-A-Day Adult Day Care Center at the Hillview School in New Providence. SAGE serves the health needs of elderly residents in Springfield, Summit, Berkeley Heights, Millburn, New Providence and Chatham.

In the tranquility and quiet of a former school, the elderly members find independence, solace, socialization with others, daily exercise programs, memory stimulating quizzes, games, group trips, arts and grafts and an agenda that is designed to maintain mental and physical fitness.

Spend-A-Day Director Judy Gallagher explained that "daily exercise and people interaction are important and beneficial concerns at any age, but they are particularly urgent matters to elderly people in maintaining body tone and flexibility."

Each day, before lunch, members of the center arrange chairs in a group, sit, listen and move in harmony with a coordinated music and exercise plan.

Over a period of 30 minutes, large and small muscles over the body are stimulated to gentle rotation to the physical abilities of individual members. Others gather around for memory stimulating quizzes. At other times, miniature bowling is scheduled.

These unique programs were formulated by the Spend-A-Day staff over four years ago. Riet Cunningham, assistant director, noted that the programs serve the exercise needs of older people in a specialized format that caters to their individual physical requirements.

In addition, Spend-A-Day offers socially stimulating opportunities and relieves family caregivers.

"Spend-A-Day" is open five days a week, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 100 Central Avenue, New Providence. The daily attendance ranges from 20 to 24 people and may be one day or more per week, depending on the older person's needs and the caregiver's schedule.

There is a full-time staff of three professionals, including a R.N., social worker and activities therapist, and one para-professional program assistant, several volunteers and nursing students. Transportation assistance is available.

In the fall of 1975, SAGE initiated a day-care program for older adults who were unable to be left alone for any length of time because of a physical handicap, feebleness or forgetfulness.

A primary aim was to offer homebound people a change of environment and the stimulation of group activity.

The program started out operating once a week at the Edison Recreation Center, Morris Avenue, Summit, with the days and hours increasing to meet a growing demand. The objective was to meet a specific need identified by those caring for impaired aging relatives.

Those involved in the project at the time stated a two-fold purpose: to give the participants a change of environment and an opportunity to be exposed to group activities which would otherwise be unavailable to them; to relieve, on a regular basis, the individual who usually cares for the person.

Fifteen years later, SAGE is still pursuing those worthy goals. Its brochure on Adult Day Care Services states: The SAGE programs offer constructive alternatives to the loneliness, boredom and apathy so often experienced by the elderly.

Group settings provide the opportunity for social interaction and therapeutic recreational activities while emphasizing each person's special capabilities and interests.

Other services to the elderly offered by the Summit-based SAGE agency are: Homemaker-Home Health Aides; Meals-on-Wheels; Alzheimer's Disease Day Care; Caregivers' Support Group; Transportation; Information & Referral; Chore Service; Tel Assurance and Care Management; Prep (self-help group) and stop-ins.

Dance is planned

An old fashioned "Barn Dance," co-sponsored by the Mountainside Deerfield Parent Association and the Harmony Dancers, a local square dance club, will be held on Saturday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Deerfield School, located on Central Avenue and School Drive in Mountainside.

The Harmony Dancers, which were organized last year, meet four for dances several times a month. Each dance sequence generally lasts about 15 or 20 minutes, during which a non-dancing "caller" calls off the dance steps.

No experience is necessary to join in this evening of fun and exercise. Admission is $5 per person, which includes refreshments. Softsoled shoes are required.

All proceeds will be given to the Deerfield School toward the purchase of a computer. For tickets or information, one can call Hindy, 232-5078 or MaryAnn Cusano 654-4913.

Emergency system under way

A new computer system which aids and implements emergency response plans in the event of a disaster is now "on line," according to Gareth Williams, dispatch coordinator of the Tri-County MICU Network Communications Center (CENCOM), based at Overlook Hospital in Summit.

The software for the new "georational" system in CENCOM was funded by the Summit corporations of Ciba-Geigy and Hoechst-Celanese, and will be used in the event of a serious area disaster.

The software provides access to data such as the composition and proper use of chemical, resources and personnel, which are needed during a life-threatening crisis.

The emergency planning program covers towns within a seven-mile radius of Overlook and will expand to encompass Union, Essex, Morris, Warren and Sussex counties.

Operational seven days a week, 24-hours-a-day, the system includes maps of all streets in the coverage area, enabling the quick location of an incident and the dispatching of necessary personnel and data.

In addition, it contains site plans for Ciba-Geigy and Hoechst-Celanese, covering building and floor plans to speed emergency response. With a push of a button, a user can call up a building floor plan or locate a tank which stores a certain chemical.

Users can also easily view lists of detailed county and city maps to help locate areas and to plan strategies during an emergency.

The new software can immediately identify the 3,500 known hazardous chemicals stored in the areas of operation and provide data on how to cope with their effects in the event of a major spill or explosion.

Besides being able to identify the effect of toxin spills or explosions, the system is also able to help out in the event of a train or airplane crash or any other disaster when instant communication is necessary to help victims and analyze the extent of the Area manufacturer offers an alternative to asphalt

After winter's hibernation, the spring's warm sun renews our spirits. Along with our renewed spirits most homeowners want to renew the spirit of their homes and property.

Homeowners are faced with decisions for new driveways, sidewalks, garden walks, as well as the addition of patios and pool decks. An excellent alternative to asphalt, poured concrete or clay brick is Grinnell interlocking concrete pavingstones. John Lignos of S.N.S. Architects and Engineers of Tenafly agrees, "Pavers define space better, rather than having a sea of black asphalt." They have dramatically increased in popularity due to their aesthetic beauty and durability. They virtually last a lifetime.

A major consideration in today's economy is fluctuating real estate values. Homeowners do not want to spend their hard-earned money on an improvement only to find it must be done again or upkeep and repairs are necessary shortly thereafter. Season after season, Grinnell interlocking concrete pavingstones look as beautiful as they did when they were first installed and no maintenance is ever required under normal use.

Another advantage to pavingstones is their ease of removal and replacement. If a utility pipe cracks underneath a driveway, walkway, or pool area surfaced with pavingstones, the appropriate stones are simply lifted out. After the pipe is repaired, the stones can then be replaced leaving no unsightly patches.

The reason for this ease of removal is their method of installation. Pavingstones are set in sand and not mortar. This makes the paving far more flexible, preventing cracking caused by ground settling and sudden climatic changes. Architects are specifying use of pavingstones for waterfront areas for this very reason.

Spring and summer mean barbecues and outdoor socializing. Because of the high density and low absorption qualities of pavingstones, they are also highly stain resistant. Most accidental spills or grease drippings from the barbecue will come up with the use of detergent.

Also, because Grinnell interlocking concrete pavingstones are non-slippery, they are ideal for pool areas and indoor or outdoor hot tubs. They are durable and do not fade.

There are six shapes to choose from and the standard colors are: red, charcoal, multi-color, brown, buff, and natural gray, which work in harmony with their natural surroundings. With this in mind, homeowners can design their own patterns — their personal creativity is limitless.

Real estate market variables have made it especially necessary to carefully think out any home improvements. Even with the intent to sell a home six months from now, the actual sale may occur a year or two after this expected time. In comparison, a driveway paved with asphalt, or a patio done in clay brick, may very well be cracked or in need of repairs by the time of sale. However, with interlocking concrete pavingstones, this same driveway or patio will still look new if the sale takes place 10 years from now. A profitable investment? Yes!

Many real estate firms agree that an exterior facelift, with the promise of low or no maintenance, can contribute to the market value and sale of a home.

According to Annette Oppermann of E.F. DeFino Real Estate Brokers in Wyckoff, "Interlocking concrete pavingstones enhance the saleability of a home and they are viewed as a sound investment for homeowners and developers."

Grinnell interlocking concrete pavingstones are surprisingly affordable and cost-efficient. The home improvement cost should be less, or at the very least, equal to what you could expect to recover when the home was sold. People with all types of homes can take advantage of a product they only associated with very expensive homes in exclusive areas.

While many elect to have landscapers or professional installers put in the pavingstones, there is a growing do-it-yourself market since their application is relatively easy. Many local authorized Grinnell Concrete Pavingstones dealers are providing additional assistance to do-ityourselfers by offering clinics on how to install these pavingstones. For the dealer location closest to you, call Grinnell at 383-9300.

BUILDING MATERIALS REQUIRED FOR INSTALLATION OF PAVINGSTONES

Easy to install paving stones

Grinnell Interlocking Pavingstones are the perfect choice for creating your new walkway or patio. Besides being beautiful, they will increase your home's value substantially, and mey will never wear out. They will withstand freeze-thaw cycles, won't mack or fade, are non-slippery, and require no maintenance.

Best of all, Grinnell Pavingstones are simple to install. They are the perfect do-it-yourself project. You can install your walkway or patio in just a few days, yet enjoy them for a lifetime. Even the kids can help!

Here is a brief step-by-step guide to doing it yourself:

Starting Out — Once you have measured the area you are going to pave, your Grinnell dealer will help you decide the quantity of pavers, PVC edging, sand, and quarry process gravel you will need. You'll be able to choose from a wide variety of patterns and colors, and you can decide which pattern is best for your project.

Your Grinnell dealer or rental store can rent you the basic equipment you'll need if you don't have it at home. Make sure you receive a copy of the complete installation manual which contains more extensive step-by-step instructions and alternate methods you might want to consider.

Once back at home, stake out the patio or walkway with stringlines, closely approximating the finished shape (see Illustration 1). Make sure to measure accurate 90 degree angles. You can usae the "3-4-5" method pictured in Illustration 1.

☐ Set Height and Slope — Establish height and slope to allow water to drain off and away from the finished structure. Use stringlines, setting

Most Americans never exercise, a survey reports

Americans are becoming more fit, a new nationwide survey reveals that more than half of a major segment of the American population never exercise.

One in three of the overweight adults surveyed (those who are twenty pounds or more above their ideal weight) said they cannot do the exercise programs currently available to them. The telephone survey, commissioned by Nutri/System, Inc., in association with Peter D. Wood, Ph.D., S.Sc., professor of medicine, Stam-

Despite the popular belief that ford University School of Medicine, also reveals that while seven percent of overweight Americans belong to a health club, two out of three of that small percentage attend less than three times a week.

Even more significant is that overweight adults feel that there are no programs available to meet their needs while 49.7 percent find that most are geared toward thin people. A third of the sampling said that home videos are too advanced for them and of those who have tried them, 85 percent quit before six months.

"This is something we've suspected for some time and the survey confirmed our thoughts," explains Dr. Wood. "Most overweight adults don't exercise because they simply cannot handle and succeed with the programs available to them."

However, 75 percent of those surveyed said they would welcome an exercise program tailored to their inactive lifestyle. To meet this demand, Dr. Wood, together with Nutri/System, developed the Body Breakthrough Activity Plan, the only exercise program specifically designed for overweight adults in the ing Plan which gradually builds up process of losing weight. David Skulnik, owner of many Nutri/System Weight Loss Centers throughout New Jersey including his newest center opening in Lyndhurst, feels that this program is very effective and his clients find it easy to follow.

The Body Breakthrough Activity Plan is individualized so that everyone can participate at their own pace. It starts with Slice-of-Life Activities, which are simply everyday activities that won't interfere with anyone's schedule. The next level is the Walk-stamina and strength. The final level, Low-Intensity Stretching and Aerobics Video, designed by the American Aerobics Association, increases total fitness.

In field tests conducted by Nutri/ System, Inc., at Harvard University and the Boston University School of Medicine, those who followed a low calorie meal plan and used the Body Breakthrough Activity Plan lost 25 percent more weight in the same amount of time as those who just reduced calorie intake.

☐ Excavate the Soil — Remove the sod or top layer and excavate 6 feet past your stringlines and to a depth of 71/4 inches from the desired patio surface (see Illustration 2).

☐ Build the Quarry Process Base — The secret to a long lasting patio or walkway is the quality of the base upon which the stones rest. Fill in excavated area with 4 inches of quarry process stone. Your finished patio surface will conform exactly to the surface of the base layer; make certain the surface is smooth. Once it's smooth, compact it down. A plate vibrator can be used.

☐ Install Edge Restraints — Position the edge restraints as shown in Illustration 2. Be careful to follow the stringlines accurately.

☐ Build the Sand Base — Add the sand layer to a depth of 11/2 inches and screed it smooth in approximately 8 feet sections. Be sure to lay pavers before screeding the next section.

☐ Lay the Pavers — Place the pavers in the desired pattern making certain all joints are straight and widths are consistent (about 1/16 inches). To cut pavingstones, use a guillotine cutter or masonry saw. Many of the Grinnell Pavingstones come complete with factory-made edge stones. This will save you some work.

☐ Set the Pavers — Set pavers in the sand using the plate compactor. This forces sand up from the bottom, completing the interlocking effect. Sweep loose sand into the paver joints and compact, continuing this process until no more sand can be swept into the joints. Finish by sweeping off excess sand.

☐ You're Done! — Now, you are done! There's no waiting for mortar to dry or cure, no setting time as with asphalt, poured concrete, or brick You can build it today and throw a barbecue for lunch! women selected nationally to present a paper at this first exchange with the All-China Women's Federation. She will be the lead-off speaker in the area of Training and Education. Her topic is entitled, "An Overview of the Educational Process for Women in the United States With a Focus on the Past, Present and Future."

Walko feels this conference willpromote friendship and understanding between the women of China and the United States. She says, "Women's issues have drawn wide interest and great attention in our nation and society. It is time to hold a Sino-American Conference on women's issues."

The title of the conference is "Holding Up Half the Sky," an expression used in China denoting that women share equally in the work force and the development of society. This significant statement is descriptive of the role of women internationally.

The conference will provide an excellent opportunity for mutual exchange and learning.

Walko, an ethnographer, was honored recently by the Estonian Community of Lakewood for the publication of a book on the Estonian culture. She is currently at work on a treatment of the Carpatho-Rusyn Community in New Jersey. An author of several other articles in the area of education, Walko is also a speaker and workshop leader on the national level in the areas of education and women's issues.

Baptist pastor aids Russians to immigrate

By BEA SMITH

The Evangelical Baptist Church of Union, at 1371 Liberty Ave., will be celebrating its 75th anniversary of ministry Saturday and Sunday during special events. And what better way to celebrate three quarters of a century than to provide passage and homes for immigrant Russian families?

The Rev. Dr. George Boltniew, who has served as pastor of the church for the past 26 years, represents the Russian-Ukrainian Evangelical Baptist Union, U.S.A., and following his many trips to Soviet Russia and the Ukraine, he has arranged for three families to come to the United States and this area within the past five months. "I traveled numerous times to the Soviet Union and was told of families who wanted to come here and of families in need of homes. I made my initial contact at that time," says Boltniew also serves as deputational secretary of the Slavic Missionary Service, is on the editorial staff of the Evangelical Baptist Herald and is a member of the Radio Ministry to Russia.

"Two of these families," says Boltniew in a slight Russian accent, "came to the United States of America because they were harassed as Russians in the Baltic states and wanted to save their children from the religious intolerance which they themselves experienced in the Soviet Union."

All three families will join in the church's celebration, explains the minister. "In November of last year, the church sponsored the George Karpusyuk family with two children who had lived in Latvia. Mr. Karpusyuk began working two days after his arrival in the United States of America. They lived in Union for a short while, but they couldn't afford to pay for their apartment, so they moved to the Ivy Hill Apartments in Newark.

Peter Naumenko family of 10 - husband and wife and eight children came to the United States, and to our area on March 31. They came from Rostov-on-the-Don and Baku in Estonia where they had lived for the past several years. They came for the sake of their children and their future. They are adjusting slowly," explains Boltnicw. "It is easier for the children to adjust than for the parents. You see, the most difficult problem is their inability to speak the English language.

"Mr. Naumenko went to work two days after his arrival in New Jersey, thanks to the church," smiles the pastor. "He was provided with a maintenance job in New York City by one of the congregation's members. But it was impossible to find an apartment in Union or the surrounding towns...because, let's face it, people become apprehensive when they see a family with eight children. They also live in the Ivy Hill Apartments. Their oldest daughter, Lea, will be going to high school next fall, and the church is searching for an apartment in Union or Hillside to relocate the family."

The Union minister says with a smile, "And I must say, they are not only handsome children but very well-behaved. They are a pleasure to be with. However, Mr. Naumenko isconcerned about supporting his large family. In the Soviet Union, he worked as a typewriter repairman. Now at age 40, it will be difficult to retrain, although he is most anxious to do so in order to provide the needed support for his large family.

"He tells me his future plans are to find an appropriate apartment in Union or Hillside and provide his children with a good education. He is looking for a used station wagon in order to transport his family to church and to school and to the market."

A few weeks ago, Boltniew reported, "the Evangelical Baptist Church of Union, has been instrumental in bringing Russian families to the United States. Here are members of two related families now in America. They are, top row, from left, Peter Naumenko, Mark Lysyuk, Vera Vorobeyova, Nadzezhda Naumenko, Svetlana Lysyuk, Vicky Lysyuk, Lea Naumenko and Valentina Naumenko; second row, Zhanna, Kristine, Max and Peter Naumenko, Oleg Lysyuk, and Elena, Irina and Yanr Naumenko.

Lysyuk family, which is related to the Naumenko family. The Lysyuks, who also lived in Estonia, consist of a mother, three children, a grandmother and an aunt. The Lysyuk family needs a used car and furniture. Mrs. Lysyuk is without a husband and is looking for work. She worked as an economist in the Soviet Union. The family was given a temporary home here in the church in Union, but it needs a permanent home."

Boltniew says that "we are still waiting for one more family from the Ukraine -- a family of five -- and in the future, if the need is still there, we would be willing to help others. But it takes an awful lot of time. Ruth Piatnochka, a missionary of our union of churches and also a member of our church, has been extremely helpful.

"I suppose the reason that our church is so helpful to the immigrants is that most of them are immigrants themselves. They came to the United States after World War II. Some came from South America. So they felt that this is our fate, to help others now.

"It's going to be a little more difficult to get the emigrants out now," says Boltniew. "Before, the Jews opened the doors to emigrating from the Soviet Union. It wasn't easy then, but it was easier than it will be now. Because, you see, on Oct. 1, the law "On March 9," says Boltniew, "the Church of Union also sponsored the was changed. Now, only those who missionary conferences.

have relatives in America have a chance to come to the United States."

This weekend a number of events are being planned. And the pastor will discuss the history of the church, which began its ministry in 1915 as the First Russian Baptist Church of Newark. In the beginning the Rev. Ivan Bokmelder and the Rev. Ivan V. Neprash served as interim pastors. During the course of its ministry, the church had three pastors, The Rev. Andrew Borisiuk, the Rev. Victor Narkevitch and the Rev. Anton Radywoniuk. "There also were several lay leaders," explains Boltniew, and "among them were Moses Zapadenko, James Prigodich and Efim Nazaruk. The congregation moved to Union and its present church building was officially dedicated on May 7, 1972. At that time the name of the church was changed to the Evangelical Baptist Church."

The congregation, he informs, "consists of members from many ethnic backgrounds. It serves the community at large and the Slavic community in this area. Its wonderful choir, with Andrew Choromiec, director, sings in English, Russian and Ukrainian," says Boltniew. "Its Balalaika orchestra, with Leonid Jefimowicz, conductor, is well-known throughout the region and has ministered in many American churches and

"Members of the congregation are involved every year in a summer camp ministry at the Evangelical Baptist Center in Ashford, Conn. The church supports missionaries in Europe and South America and a radio ministry to the Soviet Union."

Boltniew carries on a bilingual ministry, English and Russian. "I am a radio speaker to Russia, secretary of the Russian-Ukrainian Evangelical Baptist Union, U.S.A., and special assistant for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe to the General Secretary of the Baptist World Alliance." Boltniew says he travels to South America and Eastern Europe "to minister to the Slavic people in those areas." His wife, Helen, "ably assists me with the music-vocal ministry in the church." They have three children, Eugene, 24, Lora, 16, and Gabriel, 12, and they all have been invited this summer to minister in Baptist churches throughout the Soviet Union."

As a reminder, the minister says that the morning services of the church are conducted in English and its evening services are bilingual.

"The ministry in the Russian language is once again becoming essential as more and more families arrive from the Soviet Union. And with the help of God and the church ministries, we will welcome as many families as we are fated to assist.

Group ends its season

The William Chaison Dance Theater of New Jersey will end its second season with a "Presidential" event tomorrow and "Night of Tribute Concert" Saturday at the Wilkins Theater for the Performing Arts, Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

Among the premiere works will be a solo by guest artist Luis Martinez. The solo, titled "My Little Joy," is choreographed and will be performed by Luis in both tomorrow evening and Saturday matinee concerts. Luis will also be a guest performer in the company's signature piece "To Patsy, With Love." His stylized movement enhances the company's Horton-Limon technique.

Another premiere will be "Hot As Cole," choreographed by Patricia Carter. The concept of this piece is to capture the essence of what true love was like in the day of crooner Nat King Cole. This duet is only one segment of the 30-minute ballet.

Other ballets to be performed consist of William Chaison's tribute to the Civil Rights Movement "Dream," Carter's full company work "First Circle," which celebrates the life of late founder Chaison, and the company's designated signature piece "To Patsy, With Love."

Performances of the Chaison Dance Theater will be tomorrow at 8 p.m., and Saturday, May 5, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. For ticket information and reservations, one can call Wilkins Theater box office at 527-2337.

Woodblocks

Watercolors and woodblocks by Ann Williams will be on exhibit in the Members Gallery of the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, 68 Elm St., Summit, from tomorrow through through June 7.

Williams is the center's executive director. After working in watercolors for many years, the artist recently began switching from that medium to woodblock prints, slowly learning to print multiple color prints from one or two blocks with the use of stencils. The exhibition will include both watercolors and woodblocks.

The show is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and weekends from 2 to 4 p.m. For further information one can call 273-9121. The NJCVA receives partial funding from the N.J. State Council on the Arts.

Mayor proclaims GFWC Centennial Day; honoring local club

Anthony E. Russo, mayor of the Township of Union, proclaimed April 24 as General Federation of Women's Clubs Centennial Day in the Township of Union. The proclamation was made, he said, "to improve the quality of life of its members, their communities and their nation at a time when legal and social constraints severely limited the scope of women's interests and activities."

The mayor continued: "In our own community of Union, organizations affiliated with the General Federation of Women's Clubs, are the Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms and the Junior Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms who are part of this effective volunteer women's movement.

"And while joining in the national and international activities of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the clubwomen of the Township of Union have continually contributed to the betterment of our city and its residents through such achievements as scholarships for Union High school, food baskets for the needy, the Les Malamut Art Gallery, the Union Suffragettes Girls Softball Organization, social services and the Union Township Historical Society."

clubs in the news

He commemorated the 100th birthday of the General Federation as "100 years of contributions by that organization as well as the effective continuing activity by the federation's members here on behalf of their fellow residents." He said, "We have all benefited from their efforts and I urge all citizens to recognize the achievements of the past, the activities of the prsent and the promise for the future of the federation and the clubwomen.." of the two clubs.

Accepting the proclamation in behalf of the Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, were Jeannette Cantalupo, centennial chairman and past president of the club, and Marion Mihalker, a past president. The Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms was founded in 1920 and federated in 1922. It helped to started the first Public Library in Union in 1922. The GFWC includes the establishment of 75 percent of America's public libraries.

INFLAMED ARCHES

By Dr. Michael Eglow

Do you know what the strongest ligament in the human body is? Well, it happens to be the plantar fascia, a ligament that starts on the bottom surface of the heel bone and extends forward to the bottom of the foot to just behind the toes. It acts to maintain the integrity of the foot structure, as well as protecting the softer muscles and tissues on the bottom of the foot from injury.

If this powerful ligament becomes stretched or strained— or in some cases actually torn— this is called PLANTAR FASCIITIS. The arch area becomes tender and swollen, and will likely cause some pain from the heel through the arch.

This is an injury common to athletes—though by no means exclusive to them— and the key to treatment of plantar fasciitis is to reduce movement of the foot in such a way as to allow functioning while ensuring that it fully heals. In most cases, your podiatrist can keep you on your feet-andrunning-while treating this condition.

Wrong move

Gov. James Florio's push for a cleaner environment here in the state of New Jersey took a wrong turn in the appointments of John S. Keith and and Joseph M. Finnin to the state Department of Environmental Protection.

Both men have records of involvement that were against cleaner environmental efforts and shouldn't have even been considered for the posts.

Keith, who runs the corporate environmental affairs department at the Nutley-based Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc., was appointed assistant commissioner of environmental management and control at the DEP. Keith at one time lobbied against the clean water enforcement act.

Finnin, a Ciba-Geigy Corp. attorney, was appointed as DEP Commissioner Judith Yaskin's special assistant for planning and policy. Finnin represented the company in court after the firm and four former employees were indicted on alleged pollution violations in 1985. It was Yaskin, then a Superior Court judge, who dismissed the indictments.

While the nation and the world are celebrating the Earth and seeking to find ways to overcome pollution, clean up the oceans, and create more practical ways to recycle, our state is not doing its share of the work by appointing these two gentlemen to the body that is supposed to lead the way.

Reform needed

There's greed in politics, something we've known for a long time, but it became really apparent as to how much in a recent series of articles printed by The Record called "The Politics of Greed."

The Hackensack-based newspaper should be commended for pointing out how key legislators from both parties are not representing their constituents, but instead powerful special interests such as insurance companies and land developers and getting rich in the process.

It's a conflict of interest of the worst kind. What's going on in Trenton is, indeed, sickening.

While The Record series went a long way in uncovering conflicts of interest among politicians, more must be done and that's starting to happen. A task force to recommend reforms in state ethics and campaign-financing laws has been appointed. The problem is that many of the same legislators who helped create the abuses were appointed to the task

What's needed is more input from you, the citizen. Start by making a "pain in the neck" of yourself. Telephone senators and Assembly members and demand that they introduce and support legislation aimed at cleaning up the mess. Demand that they kick out those committee chairmen who have conflicts of interest. Keep after legislators if there's no improvement after a few months.

Just because a task force has been appointed is no reason for apathy. Let's not pre-judge the panel, but at the same time let's get involved and stay involved. Call the senator and assemblyperson who represents you and let them know in no uncertain terms that greed in politics won't be tolerated.

Candidate thanks voters

I want to thank all the people who supported me in my campaign for reelection to the Board of Education. I especially appreciate the kind words and the dedicated efforts of all those who worked on my behalf. I now look forward to meeting the challenges of serving our children in the schools. Cleanup helped borough

It was a good feeling doing my part on the eve of Earth Day. I was part of an organized group of hard-working and concerned people who picked up litter and recyclabes in our town on April 21.

The Department of Public Works (DPW) worked along side us, and were very helpful. I was glad to see the interest in keeping Mountainside beautiful. I don't know when the next clean-up will happen, but I'll be there! Thanks should go to DPW and local merchants who contributed.

It's surely more than just hot air

By Gerry DiGesu

My indulgence in self-pity had kept me awake half the night and finally pushed me out of bed much earlier than usual. It was still dark and I muttered and grumbled about the unfairness of life as I poked downstairs and make my way into my small cluttered, kitchen. I don't need to turn on the light to know my family had left a pile of snack dishes in the sink and crumbs and papers scattered over the counter.

As I curled my toes away from the icy kitchen floor, I stumbled over a chair and banged my knee. Good start for the day. Well, I thought as I put on the teakettle, at least I'll have some extra time to myself and won't have to rush to get ready for work. I slumped onto the chair and dropped two slices of bread into the toaster. Peace. I could gather my wits and try to shake off the blue mood that had purused me back and forth over the table. Its for days. Suddenly there was a rustling sound behind me. Please, not one of the kids already; it was too early. I need time to think.

Before I could turn around, something brushed against my arm. A helium-filled "happy birthday" balloon which and spent the night in the middle of the living room ceiling bobbed slowly into the kitchen. It was the lone survivor from a cluster of balloons we had brought home from an 80th birthday party for a favorite uncle the night before.

I looked up and realized that the force of hot air from the heat vents must have sent the sphere on its travels toward the kitchen after I had clicked it in the heat. It floated slowly around the kitchen, swaying gently bright foil face was covered by myriad yellow starbursts, blue rocket and a border of red stars. The bold "Happy Birthday" emblazoned across its face curved into a big grin that seemed to smile down on me.

I chuckled as the balloon bobbed against my shoulder, pocking me as I ate my toast. Gently, I pushed it away from me and it floated to the other side of the kitchen. I watched fascinated as it circled slowly in the current of hot air pumping out of the vent, first swinging over the stove, then bumping off the refrigerator but still intent on making its way back to

At last it settled by my side. It nudged me and then backed off slightly nudged me and sidled back again. My laughter broke the silence as I looked up and saw its benevolent face staring down at me as if to say "come on, it isn't that bad. Life is really pretty good. Smile, it's going to the fine day".

I sat back in the chair and thought about my problems. Maybe they weren't so bad. It had just been hectic for the past few months and I had somehow lost perspective along the way. My smiling visitor reminded me that a smile and sense of humor are to the strongest allies I have to reach for before starting each day.

That was a week ago. As I write this in my upstairs bedroom, my birthday visitor has floated up to provide encouragement. It's still visiting around my home, nudging each of us with a gentle remainder that life is good if we take time to enjoy it.

State of the state: pay and pay

By FRANK J. KORN

Guest Column

Tom Kean had it all wrong when it came to our state slogan. What he meant to say was: "New Jersey and Your Wallet... Perfect Together!" This fact dawnedon me rather compellingly just Friday last on my return from a brief sojourn to ol' Cape Cod. Let me backtrack a bit to paint the scene for you:

My wife Camille and I had spent that last morning of a truly romantic vacation ambling through the slender streets of historic, picturesque Provincetown, charmed by its miniature town square, its 19th century architecture, and its ship-lined harbor. A brilliant spring sun warmed us as we strolled. Gentle April zephyrs stirred the dark waters of Cape Cod Bay.

At a cozy coffe shop on Main Street a curvy, redhaired waitress exhorted us to be sure not to depart the area without venturing out to nearby Race Point for the spellbinding panorama it offered, along with a good chance of spotting a whale or two. Heeding her good counsel, we drove a pair of miles to the tourist parking area at Race Point, whence we picked our sandy way on foot to the summit of the highest dune to take in the celestial sights.

Out there, on the breezy northern' tip of the Cape, we felt oh so wonderfully small midst all that sky and sea and space. Three hundred miles from our beloved Kenilworth cottage, I stood there lost in reverie until I sensed a soft tug at my elbow. La Belle Camilla was gently reminding me that it was high noon and time to sing that old Italian favorite "Arriverderci...Che Peccat."

In our spanking new, stunning blue

Toyota Corolla we descended from the rugged, primitive, pristine beauty of the coastal highlands along a constantly curving road flanked by windsculpted sandhillsm out on the Route 6 West. Reaching the midway point on this cross-Cape highway, we detoured a few miles into the picturepostcard-pretty hamlet of Chatham where at a small deli we assembled a brown bag lunch for the long adyssey Munching on provolone and prosciutto and pane (bread, i.e.), and listening to a cassette of Rachmaninoff's Second, we motored past towns with names like Brester, Yarmouth, Hyannis, and Sandwich, over the Sagamore Bridge to the mainland and on toward Plymouth of pilgrim fame. Through Massachusetts we drove unimpeded by traffic lights or any other manmade gadgets and, in another hour, reached the border of tiny Rhode Island. This state also granted us clear passage — along a lovely, immaculate, fir-lined, six lane highway with a generous grassy center island.

After a pit stop at an orange-roofed Howard Johnson's we soon approached the top of Connecticut, whose fine free-of-charge Turnpike led through Groton and New Haven and Stratford and Greenwich on into the Empire State. Up and over the stately Tappanzee Bridge we coasted, through the "New Yawk" towns of White Plains and Nyack, on to the real world of New Jersey where an enormous sign expressed a welcome by our handsome Governor, Jim Florio himself. At this juncture the good times rolled. In truth I do not have the verbal skills to convey to you the joys that awaited us down the homestrech. But I shall try, nonetheless.

Up to this point we had journeyed 275 miles, through four states, "all on the house." But in order to enter our own native state we had to:

a) negotiate an endless bumper-to-bumper line; b) pass through a "Toll Plaza" (red 'barrier''), and;

c) fork over 35c. Six, just six, miles later it was another quote, "Plaza", unquote, another bumper to bumper approach to it, and another thirty five

My mental computer shifted into high gear. If we had had to shell out 35 little ones per every six miles through Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New York, the return from Provincetown would have tapped us for a cool seventeen and a half bucks. If we had had to queue up every ten kilometers, the trip, I figures, would have taken seventeen and a half months. At the end of the holiday season you will often heard harried parents muttering: "Thank God that Christmas comes but once a year!" At this point I distinctly heard Camille moaning, "Thank God New Jersey comes but once every fifty States!" Burning rubber out of Plaza II, we sped, all of nine unencumbered miles, to the next Maginot Line where we waited. An waited. And waited - to make yet another deposit. At Hillside, eight miles down the obstacle course known gradiosely as the Garden State Parkway, another one-armed bandit that never pays off awaited us.

A thought came suddenly to mind: a quarter of a century ago, President Kennedy stood on a buntingbedecked podium at the grim Berlin Wall and empathized with the beleaguered people: "Ich bin ein Berliner!" I began to imagine him returning today to a platform overlooking one of our loathesome "Plazas to utter similar words of compassion to the betaxed people of the Garden State: "Ich bin ein New Jerseyan!"

Just a couple of years ago President Reagan stood tall at the Brandenburg Gate and exhorted his Soviet counterpart: "Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall!" Not long afterwards, the wall, like Jericho's, came tumbling down.

Would that Ron, someday soon undertake a similar mission to N.J. and repeat his performance with a slight revision, to wit: "Mr. Florio, tear down these toll gates, unh,

The spastic stop-and-go, stop-andgo, go-and-stop pace of the final 25 miles had left us in such a tollshocked state that upon getting off at Exit 138 and turning left onto Kenilworth Boulevard, we found ourselves anticipating another "gotchie," that is to say, another Toll "Plaza." But, Heavens be praised, we made it all the way to Dunkin Donuts at the intersection of Michigan Avenue without dunking another dime and quarter. Surely, we thought paranoiaically, there would be a "Plaza" waiting for us at the entrance to Clinton Avenue. To our continued amazement, however, we turned right, into our pleasant little side street and climbed the slope to our green and white cottage untouched. (i.e. the State did not put the touch on us still one more time).

"Ich bin ein New Jerseyan!"

N.J. AAA warns against the fog

Showers are certainly a part of spring — they bring the flowers, but they also create slippery driving conditions for motorists. Temperature fluctuations also cause an additional driving hazar — fog.

"The most effective way to deal with wet roads and fog is simply to slow down," said Paul Kielblock, safety manager for the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club in Florham Park. "In rain, driving at slower speeds prevents hydroplaning and increases reaction time. In fog. remember to keep your headlights on so other motorists can see you. Using your headlights and driving at slower speeds helps you control your car when visibility is poor."

"On wet roads, steer as straight as possible," said Kielblock. "If you feel the front of your car begin to swerve even though your steering wheel is straight, you may be hydroplaning." Hydroplaning often occurs occurs around 35 mph and becomes worse as speeds increase. Bald or worn tires also increase your chances of hydroplaning.

"As water accumulates on the road and your car's speed increases, your tires ride on top of the film of water, like water skiing. At this point you can loose control of your steering and braking. If hydroplaning occurs simply remove your foot from the gas and slow down until the tires once again grip the road," Kielblock explained.

"Other precautions to observe in rainy weather include making sure you windshield wipers are in good condition and pumping your brakes to test them if you ride through a puddle

"The foggy conditions that often appear during rush hours in spring and fall can present visibility problems for motorists," said Kielblock. "Your headlights help other motorists identify you as they approach. Make sure all your headlights and tailights are working.

"Never use high beams in fog; this creates a glare and does not increase visibility. Drive slowly. Be prepared to stop within the limits of your visibility. Use the light from your low beams to help you find the lines in the road and concentrate on staying in your lane. Many accidents that occur in fog are due to motorists crossing the double yelow line or running off the road.

"Make sure your defroster is in good working condition. These devices will keep your windshield clear. And, turning your radio off may enable you to hear what you often can't see."

Kielblock advised, "If you need to pull off the road to wait out a rain storm or foggy conditions, please remember to use your emergency flashers to warn other motorists that a vehicle is stopped on the side of the road."

County college offering thirty summer courses

We invite you to join us at a free seminar discussion of IVF, GIFT and other new and exciting procedures which can assist couples trying to conceive.

Professionals from The Diamond Institute, an internationally recognized facility for the diagnosis and treatment of infertility, will present a discussion of the latest advances in infertility and focus on the facts needed to make an informed and intelligent decision on whether IVF or GIFT will work for you. Hormones, Laser Laparoscopy and Micro Surgery will also be discussed.

The Diamond Institute is responsible, in some measure, for the birth of over 10,000 babies to formerly infertile couples.

The seminar will focus on how IVF and GIFT have helped couples with infertility problems due to tubal damage, endometriosis, male factor and unexplained infertility; and how our program supports couples coping with the emotional and financial stress of infertility treatment.

Speakers will include: Dr. Edward Diamond, founder of the Diamond Institute for Reproduction, and Dr. Matan Yemini, former director of IVF Laboratory at the University of Miami Medical School. Patients in our program will be available to answer your questions.

There is no fee and refreshments will be served.

cars more than any other people Americans drive

With 137 million automobiles on the road today, Americans spend more time driving their cars than anyone else in the world. According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, each American logs more than 10,000 miles behind the wheel each year. While that only averages about one hour each day, it quickly adds up to more than 400 hours a year — a whopping 18,000 hours over a lifetime!

Saab-Scania, the Swedish automaker, realizes the enormous amount of time its customers spend in their cars and has devoted resources over the years to design seats that are not only comfortable, but more importantly orthopedically sound.

Robert J. Sinclair, president of Saab-Scania of America, Inc., sums up the importance of seat design. "There are many components to building safe, comfortable cars," he says. "But if a driver isn't comfortable and well supported, he will grow tired much more quickly and suffer from muscle aches, stiffness and discomfort. Naturally, that impedes his ability to drive safely, despite any other advances engineering features."

Buying a car with superior seat design is not enough, says Terry Moule, N.D., D.O., one of Europe's leading osteopathic consultant and sports injury specialists. "Despite the amounts of time Americans spend in their cars, they have not been taught how to use seats correctly, and therefore don't spend the necessary few minutes to achieve the correct driving position. It's easier to blame your aching back on your car seat design, rather than take the time to learn all the benefits of well designed car seating, and adjust the seat until it fits you properly."

Moule, who has treated British Olympic athletes and the Australian Davis Cup squad, is the official sports injury consultant to the English Table Tennis Association. He offers the following tips to properly adjust the seat before any drive:

☐ Move the seat up or down until the top of your hip line is just below the lowest part of the steering wheel.

ward until the clutch can be fully depressed without lifting your left buttock off the seat cushion.

☐ Make sure there is comfortable support under the thigh. Ensure that no heavy pressure is created while depressing the clutch. The longer your legs, the more front support you will require when driving.

☐ Sit completely back and adjust the angle of the seat-back until the whole length of your back is pressing against the back rest. If you sit too upright, your body's center of gravity will put too much stress on your lower back and upper thighs. Leaning too far back will put stress on your neck and ☐ Adjust the seat forward or back- ☐ Once the seat is in the proper position, adjust the lumbar support until there is a gentle awareness of a supporting pressure in the lumber area. This should not feel too firm. In fact, many drives will find that the lowest setting provides the necessary support.

> Adjust the steering wheel until your arms are slightly bent, with the hands at the "Ten and Two" position.

> Moule admits that this position may feel unusual at first, since many people are unaccustomed to the correct sitting position. It may cause some low back and should discomfort in the early stages, because a correctly tive, supplying improved support. However, after five hundred miles or more he reports that motorists should feel a market improvement not only in spinal and muscular comfort, but also with general mental alertness and vehicle control.

Moule also stresses that not all car seats are alike, and that some may not have all the correct adjustment features for the absolutely best possition - while some may have more than drivers will ever need. Moule drives Saab, cars at home in Great Britain, and has prescribed Saab driving as a remedy for back problems for many of his patients.

GAS, NOT PETROL - Union Township Mayor, Anthony E. Russo, left, welcomes the state's first natural gas station to Union, which debuted last Thursday on Green Lane. At the right is Frederick W. Sullivan, president and CEO of Elizabethtown Gas, the company responsible for the innovation. To Russo's left is a Union police car which operates on natural gas.

Assemblyman Bob Franks, R-22, has called on Gov. Jim Florio and the state Legislature to install a meaningful "safety net" for the homeless as a top priority in the new state budget.

He also called upon the New York State Legislature to take immediate action to implement the bi-state compact known as "The Statue of Liberty Trust Fund."

"These tough economic times call for tightening the fiscal belt of state government," Frank said, "However, the state has an obligation to provide a meaningful safety net for the most vulnerable members of our society.

"Homelessness can no longer be considered a condition affecting only alcoholics and the mentally ill. Today, the vast majority of homeless people are single mothers with children.

"As we make the difficult budget decisions, every effort must be made to protect these women and children," added Franks.

According to a special report issued last month by the General Assembly Task Force on Homelessness, there are 28,000 to 50,000 homeless people in New Jersey, 60 percent of whom are single- parent families.

Franks returned this afternoon from the New York State Capitol in Albany, where he met with key legislative staff personnel as well as representatives of Governor Mario Cuomo.

The purpose of the trip was to urge New York officials to take immediate action to pass companion legislation to New Jersey's "Statue of Liberty Trust Fund."

The concept of a "Statue of Liberty Trust Fund" was developed in a bistate compact between Kean and Cuomo in 1986.

Under the agreement, all tax revenues collected at Liberty and Ellis Islands, which now go to New York State, would be divided equally between the two states and be dedicated to homeless relief in each.

An estimated $2 million in taxes is collected annually at the two islands.

To take effect, both states must pass legislation ratifying the agreement and implementing the program. The State of New Jersey passed their implementing legislation on March 2, 1987 and has been waiting for New York State to do the same.

Franks, prime sponsor of New Jersey's "Statue of Liberty Trust Fund" legislation, cited a recent report prepared by the Office of Administrative Law which demonstrated the absence of any long-term aid for homeless people.

"Last year, the State Supreme Court conditionally upheld the state's five-month limit on direct aid, as long as an adequate safety net existed for people after their five months of state aid ran out," the legislator said. "But as we have now learned through the Office of Administrative Law, no such safety net exists."

"The 'Statue of Liberty Trust Fund' would help provide the additional monies required to meet the long-term needs of many of these homeless families," Franks noted.

"In this age of fiscal restraint, the 'Statue of Liberty Trust Fund' provides a much needed shot-in-the-arm to increasing our level of commitment to the homeless."

On his trip to Albany, Franks met with Evan Davis, counsel to Governor Cuomo; Bob Reid, program director for the Senate Majority, and Margaret Sellers, finance director, also for the Senate Majority.

"I hope that our two great states can implement this program in the spirit of cooperation.," Franks said.

Bears defeat St. Mary's

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Brearley Regional baseball team reeled off three straight wins to hit the .500 mark, including a big 12-0 win over St. Mary's in the opening round of Union County Tournament play this past Saturday at Ward Field. And the boy's track team made school history.

The following is this week's rundown on Brearley Regional High School sports.

BASEBALL

It's not only that the Bears have won their last three games, it's also that the games have been blowouts: 11-3 vs. Orange, 18-4 over St. Patrick's, and finally, 12-0 over St. Mary's.

That 12-0 win has advanced Brearley into a UCT first-round game at New Providence this Saturday at 2 p.m. against the Pioneers, who sit atop the Mountain Valley Conference's Valley Division with an 8-0 record.

"I think this team is starting to make a move right now," said Brearley coach Ralph LaConte. "Hopefully, we'll turn things around now. We had a good week offensively."

Against St. Mary's, the Bears wasted little time in scoring twice in the second inning and then three times in the third to grab command early on.

The fun began when Archibald doubled to left-center, driving in Don Dayon — who had walked — with the game's first run. Archibald then scored on a single from Parkhill, and the rout was on.

In the third inning, pitcher Brian Moleen, who struck out five-while hurling a five-hit shutout against St. Mary's, singled and eventually scored on Bill Durow's single. Dayon walked and then two runs came home as the result of a throwing error.

And it was Dayon's grand-slam home run to left-center in the bottom of the sixth inning that invoked the 10-run rule and made playing the seventh inning unnecessary.

In all, Durow was 3-for-3 with three runs scored, while Archibald went 2-for-3 with three RBIs, including a two-run double in the fifth. BOY'S TRACK

Brearley may be 5-2 in dual-meet competition after beating Dayton, 75-56, last Thursday at Meisel Field, but that's not the real story here.

Rather, the big story is that Brearley made its first-ever appearance in the Penn. Relay Carnival this past Saturday at Franklin Field in Philadelphia - and came home with a firstplace finish in its 11-team section.

At the same field where football players such as Norm Van Brocklin once starred, the outstanding quartet of James Carrea, Vic Verno, Devang Muchhala and Jason Fennes won the

It wasn't the greatest of weeks for the Dayton Regional baseball team, which went 2-2, including sizeable defeats to Roselle Catholic and New Providence. But one of the wins the 'Dawgs got was a 9-2 victory over St. Patrick's in Union County Tournament play at hot Ruby Field this past Saturday.

Meanwhile, Jack Drury watched as his boy's tennis team won its first match of the year, while nearly winning another. And after eight straight losses, the softball got its first win,

The following is this week's rundown on Dayton Regional High School sports.

BASEBALL

The one good thing about last Tuesday's 8-1 defeat to Roselle Catholic is that the 'Dawgs will at least get another chance against the Lions this Saturday at 2 p.m. at the cozy confines of the Lion's Den on Raritan Road.

That's because the 12th-seeded 'Dawgs, by way of their win against St. Pat's, have advanced into firstround county tournament play.

Last Tuesday in Roselle, R.C. bashed three homers, two of which came off of losing pitcher Clayton Trivett. Tim Zawacki connected for a two-run, first-inning shot over the short porch in left, and ended up going 3-for-4 on the day, while winning pitcher Chad Hensler hit a two-run homer to left in the fourth.

Nick Koman later added a solo blast to center off of Craig Haueisen. Dale Torborg doubled home Trivett for Dayton's only run in the seventh inning off Hensler, who improved his record to 2-1 with a six-hitter.

The 'Dawgs then rebounded with a big 12-2 decision over visiting Abraham Clark High of Roselle on Thursday at Ruby Field. Torborg tripled home a run in the first inning off of loser hurler Eddie Jones, and Andy nine-hole match was junior Shawn Huber, who drove in five runs on the day, smashed a three-run double in the third.

> And then Huber personally invoked the 10-run rule with a two-run double to center in the bottom of the fifth. Billy Hart got the win, his third of walking one.

Then, shaking off the effects of a 10-0 loss in New Providence last Friday, Dayton rebounded with its 9-2 victory over St. Patrick's in the UCT one day later.

Although pitcher Mike Downey hit Jay Desai's first pitch of the game for a triple to left field and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Tony Perez, it was not to be the visiting Celt's day.

After loading the bases with none out in the bottom of the first, catcher Matt Gallaro delivered a two-run double to right field for Dayton. Then Hart singled in Torborg, Gallaro scored on an error and Huber later drew a bases-loaded walk to force in Hart with the fifth run of the inning.

Hart later had a two-run single in the third when Dayton scored four more times to wrap the scoring. Nelson Cabrera tripled home St. Pat's other run of Desai in the sixth.

Downey, believe it or not, ended up striking out 15 over six innings, although many of them came at the expense of younger Dayton players once Bulldog skipper Rick Iacono went to his bench after the third inning.

SOFTBALL

Bleak though the season has been for Dayton, that eight-game losing streak is finally over. Thanks to a seven-run outburst in the top of the seventh iming, the Lady Bulldogs were able to outlast Brearley Regional, 19-15, in drizzly, damp conditions on Monday in Kenilworth.

Junior rightfielder Sally Kisch had the big hit, a three-run triple in the seventh for Dayton. Bases-loaded walks to Lauren Meixner and Holly Olarczuk further padded the lead.

Jennifer Minieri entered the game in relief of Olarczuk in the fifth and worked 1% innings to claim the win. Olarczuk, meanwhile, returned to nail down the save in the seventh.

Earlier, Dayton had dropped a vexing 24-23 decision to Roselle Thursday in Roselle, and then lost, 14-4, under the lights in Roselle Park on Friday night.

BOY'S TENNIS

The losing streak wasn't going to last forever. Somehow, someway, the winless 0-4 Bulldogs were going to find a way to record a W.

Last Thursday, they almost did. The next day, however, they definitely did, beating Roselle Catholic, 3-2, after having lost by the same score to Cranford the day before.

"Well we're working our way up," said Dayton coach Jack Drury, whose team is now 1-5. "We almost won one against Cranford. We won this one. We're progressing and I think the players are better players now than they were at the beginning of the year.

"And I'm sure they're going to continue to get better.'

At the top of Dayton's lineup, of course, stands senior Eric Rauschenberger, who was a vital part of Day: ton's success two years ago when the 'Dawgs made it to the state sectionals. Now at 4-1, Rauschenberger got Dayton going against Roselle Catholic by defeating Eric Ming, 6-0, 6-0.

Previously, Rauschenberger had given Dayton its only point in a 4-1 defeat to Governor Livingston on April 24 by defeating Chris Chiavarelli, 6-0, 6-0. The senior No. 1 singles man also defeated Cranford's Jim Mattis, 6-0, 6-2.

Jim Gutkowski brought Roselle Catholic back by winning, 6-3, 6-3, over Mike Shapiro at No. 2 singles, but Dayton took a 2-1 lead when Brian Costello beat Sean Kane, 9-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Then Dayton clinched it when the first doubles tandem of Roger Ayres and Colin Gordon beat Royal Ewyer and Eric Graszecki, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Dave Hollister and Jeff Lippman lost at second singles, 2-6, 1-6, to R.C.'s Victor Bauer.

Dayton's other individual win against Cranford was by Costello, who stopped Sebastian Brismeur, 6-4,

Siragusa joins the Colts

By MARK YABLONSKY

For those of you who were surprised not to see Tony Siragusa's name included among those selected at last week's National Football League draft in New York, don't worry. He's still going to play professional football, or at least give it one heck of a try.

Siragusa, the former Brearley Regional High football and wrestling standout who has battled back from two major knee injuries during his career at the University of Pittsburgh, said late this past Thursday night that he had agreed to terms with the Indianapolis Colts.

The terms mean a one-year free agent contract for the Kenilworth resident, who left Sunday for the team's four-day rookie camp in Indianapolis.

At first, it may seem strange that Siragusa, after being ignored during the two-day draft, could be signed so soon. What's more, Penn State running back Blair Thomas was the Jets' No. 1 draft pick despite having sustained a knee injury similar to that of Siragusa's less than two years ago.

However, NFL scouts, unpredictable though they may be at times, wilf usually convince their employers to draft a previously-injured player - if they are convinced the injury is a thing of the past, and that complete mobility has returned to the area in

Ausiello wins

Roselle Park's Pete Ausiello, who was 6-2 with a 1.05 ERA and 121 strikeouts for last year's Roselle Park High baseball team, has a new home this year, and that is Brookdale Community College in Lincroft.

This past Sunday, the hardthrowing southpaw won his third game of the year for Brookdale by hurling a three-hitter to stop the Rutgers junior varsity squad, 3-2, in Lincroft. Ausiello's other two wins have come in a 14-2 decision over Schenectady, N.Y. on March 26, and a 9-2 triumph over the same Rutgers J.V. team on April 16.

Brookdale is currently 34-4 and ranked fifth among all junior colleges nationwide.

"I just think that if a guy has had something wrong and has been able to overcome it, why deprive him?"

Tony Siragusa

question, as one local football expert explained.

Apparently, that wasn't the case for Siragusa. Yet, one pre-draft speculation had the 6-4, 270-pound defensive tackle going as high as the 25th pick in the second round to the Los Angeles Rams.

In signing as a free agent, Siragusa admittedly is receiving less money than he would have earned as a draft choice - leaving him and others to believe that he really was wanted by at least one or two NFL organizations all along.

But on their terms, which in this case, are largely financial. In other words, it's strictly business.

"Yeah, that's what I think it was, to tell the truth," conceded Siragusa, who said it was the left knee he had injured during spring practice at Pitt four years ago that had shut him out from the draft, and not the right one that needed major reconstructive surgery following an injury to the anterior cruciate liagement (ACL) in a game against Boston College in 1988.

"I mean, I had to prove myself to a lot of people by coming back to play at Pitt. How about (Joe) Klecko and those guys? They hurt their knees and they came back ... maybe I'll be the deciding factor in kids coming out of college with no ACLs, and be the example.

"I just think that if a guy has had something wrong and has been able to overcome it, why deprive him?"

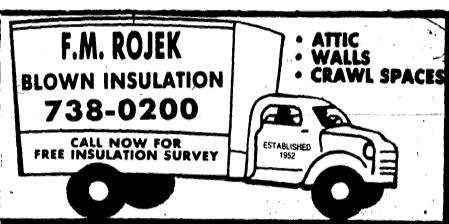

Siragusa's game has long been to deprive ballcarriers and quarterbacks of effective performances, and whatever position he does play with the Colts, he'll be happy to play in the NFL. Period.

"Definitely," Siragusa concluded. "It's a dream. And in such a small town that I came from ...I'll be happy to say I've come from Kenilworth."

Charity golf scheduled

The Westfield Jaycees will sponsor its 6th Annual Charity Golf outing on Monday, May 21, at Echo Lake Country Club.

Cocktails and dinner are included. Registration and practice begins at 10 a.m. More information is available at 233-3720, ext. 310.

ENTERTAINMENT

For week of May 6-May 12

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Important decisions made this week will be in your favor, particularly concerning matters of travel or education. Your overly perky attitude at work may grate on TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A longoverdue bill will really haunt you this week, so be sure to take care of it to appease creditors. Those who owe personal debts should also look into methods of payment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Teaming up with others this week will bring you additional responsibilities. However, you will handle these quite well and all will go smoothly.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The routineness of your job may get to you this week, so look for ways in which you can utilize your creativity. Someone close to you may require your understanding.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Those of you who have children may be tempted to roar at them this week in typical leonine fashion. However, try to use some psychology when dealing with them. Romance is favored this weekend, VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Problems of an intimate and delicate nature may arise with your mate this week, so take time to straighten this out. Both of you must be sure to listen to what the other is saying.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Once again, you will find yourself sitting on the fence, unable to make a decision. As a result, others may have to take hold of the reins for you. Do not let this annoy you. You need it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is time to look around your house and restock those empty shelves. You have been somewhat neglectful of your domestic duties and need to get things in order. Unexpected company just might descend upon you this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some deep thinking will lead to some very intuitive insights regarding yourself and your actions, as well as those around you. As a result, your dealings with others will be more harmonious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) This is your week to be a good samaritan. You may look into community projects, or perhaps will be asked for help by someone close to you. Do not be afraid to get AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) You may find yourself feeling very unappreciated this week as it seems others have not been noticing your hard work. Do not let this get to you. Rewards are waiting around the corner.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) This will be a crucial week for you concerning decision about the direction of your career. By all means, go and seek out the advice of others who can help you in this

Restaurant review

Sergio's Ca Mea

All the other fine Italian restaurants in North Jersey have some stiff competition on their hands now that Sergio's isn't the new kid on the block anymore.

Fully mature, this restaurant has successfully moved into an already existing restaurant site and has succeeded in impressing the Millburn crowd, a very discriminating group. Sergio's knows exactly how to treat the frequent diner and does so with a New York touch.

Moderately expensive, any entree at Sergio's is well worth the price. The presentation of food is superb. The sauces are out of this world. The service is excellent and the place itself is small and intimate, seating no more than about

As an appetizer the Carciofini San Remo, artichoke hearts baked with cheese and tomato, was light and very tasty. The faint hint of oregano added a pleasant note.

I also sampled the cavatelli and broccoli appetizer. It was one of the best pastas I have ever had. Sorry, Grandma.

Other appetizers include scungilli for $6, escargots for $7, New Zealand mussels in tomato sauce for $8, and homemade mozzarella in a sauce of sun-dried tomatoes and roasted peppers for $7. Next time I visit, and there will be a next time, I know that I am going to try Polenta and Gorgonzola, For $6 it is traditional northern Italian corn meal with melted cheese. Sergio's serves perfect Caesar salads for only $4.50. They were and Sat. until 11 p.m. Casual dress. No liquor license, bring your own wine or beer. No separate nonsmoking area. Major charges. Reserappetizer. Although the rack of lamb for $22.95 tempted me, I thoroughly enjoyed every morsel of Scampi Stella, $21, which is jumbo shrimp, cognac, artichoke hearts, sun-dried tomatoes, a touch of cream and Dijon mustard. This cream sauce was blended so beautifully that the cognac and Dijon mustard were not the least bit overpowering.

The Veal Massimilano, at $17.95, was tender, with cognac. tomato cream, fresh mozzarella and mushrooms. The Suprema di Pollo Gorgonzola at $14.95 is chicken breast with red peppers gorgonzola, Grand Marnier and cream.

Desserts are announced daily and are every bit as good as dinner

Located on the third floor of a mini-mall on Main and Millburn Avenue, Sergio's is a lovely place to eat after a local show, movie, local shopping, or even just a hard day's work.

NURSERY SCHOOL

Convalescent home honors own staff, and all nurses

National Nursing Home Week is one of the most important annual celebrations for Cornell Hall Convalescent Center.

It is the time of year for increased public knowledge and awareness regarding our nation's nursing homes. But more importantly, it is the time which has been specifically designated to honor both the residents and the staff of nursing homes throughout the country.

This year's theme "Pride in Caring" accurately describes the dedication seen and felt by the staff at Cornell Hall.

National Nursing Home Week also is an ideal time to note the contributions Cornell Hall residents and staff have made in the community. For example, we have raised funds for the American Heart Association, donated to the homeless, and sponsored an

Visiting nurses: quality service

Visiting Nurse and Health Services (VNHS) isn't a single service, but a variety of services aimed at helping people with a variety of problems.

VNHS, a voluntary, non-profit home and community health care agency, has been serving all residents of Union County for more than 78 years. It believes that availability and accessibility of care is the right of all individuals regardless of sex, age, race, color, creed, handicap or financial status.

The home-care and hospice services offered by VNHS include nursing, physical, speech and occupational therapies, home health aides and social services. Community services offered are child-health conferences, health and nutrition education, health screening and an emergency psychiatric outreach program.

The newest program is a child-care center for medically-impaired infants and toddlers from 3 months to 3 years.

annual holiday party and annual picnic for under-privileged children. Another successful program was the "Hug a Bear" project undertaken in conjunction with Girl Scout Troop 393. Together we made teddy bears to be distributed to police departments, fire departments, and hospital to calm young trauma victims.

Also, the staff's dedication to caring for an aging population has lead us to develop the "Guest Service Plan," a service which accommodates older adults who require personal assistance but who are not in need of full-time, nursing care.

Cornell would also like to thank
Union Mayor Russo, the Township Committee, the township school system and the various civic and business organizations which have enhanced the quality of life we provide our residents. Thanks, too, to the many local organizations who have provided Cornell Hall Convalescent Center with 21 years of wonderful memories.

Every nursing facility needs the support of community groups in order to succeed. We at Cornell Hall have been fortunate to have received such support.

100% passing rate.

A reason to celebrate!

We're proud of our June 1989 graduates who all passed their state nursing boards, and we wish them the best! Become a part of our success, come find out about our Day, Evening and Weekend classes.

Mark Twain Diner Restaurant Newly Renovated

We all agree that a top-rated restaurant has four main requisites—first, fine food; second, faultless service; third, a large selection; and last, but not least, reasonable prices. When we find a restaurant that offers these four things, it is indeed a treat, and this treat is yours at the Mark Twain Diner, located at 1601 Morris Avenue in Union, phone 687-1680. This fine restaurant is well-known for its appetizing food. You may make your selection from a wide variety of foods and be assured, regardless of your choice, it will be one of the best meals you have ever eaten. They have recently remodeled and invite you to come and relax in their comfortable surroundings as they indulge

When they opened their doors, they had one primary goal in mind, and that was to offer the people of this area the finest food, served among friendly people in a pleasant atmosphere and always with the best service in town. The fact that the Mark Twain Diner has achieved just exactly that is evidenced by the ever returning groups of people who have made them their favorite place to dine.

Their warm, pleasant atmosphere, delicious food and fast, friendly service will make you want to return time and time again. Remember the name, the Mark Twain Diner-for a truly enjoyable dining experience.

E. K. CUMMING'S MOTORS

Cumming's Motors boasts a 60 year residency at it's present location. The staff is "nontransient'' offering many years of experience. The emphasis here is service. Andy Herneck Service Mgr. started in 1959 and is one reason why the dealership is so well respected. A professional atmosphere is very evident. Prior to becoming a Mercedes dealer, Studebaker and Packard were the main product. Cumming's Motors' success is based on tradition. Their motto: "Always maintain a standard of excellence unsurpassed." If you're going to purchase a Mercedes, this is your dealer. Try Cumming's Motors, you will enjoy the experience.

Union County schedules police training for teens

By DAVE WISE

Union County officials outlined plans on Monday to implement a police academy training program, entitled Police Officer Youth Week, for county high school students.

The police training program will provide selected high school students with one week of simulated law enforcement training at the Union County Police Academy in Scotch Plains, according to Union County Freeholder Walter Meleod.

Students participating in the program will be given classroom instruction on the academic, physical and technical skills required for a career in aw enforcement, said McLeod. McLeod and fellow Freeholder Elmer Ertl helped to establish the program by proposing the idea to the Union County Prosecutor's Office.

Ertl said the program would give high students a good understanding of police work, while fostering goodwill between police officers and young people.

"It's a fun thing for a high student kid," said Lt. Joseph Fitzgerald of the Union County Prosecutor's Office. "It gives them an idea of what police work is all about."

The training will be conducted by the regular police academy staff, and will include courses on Police History and Functions, Motor Vehicle Laws, and Accident Investigations through Firearms Safety.

Additionally, students in the program will engage in discussions and exercises, as well as view films to get a better understanding of the criminal justice system, according to McLeod and Ertle.

The training, which will be provided to 80 selected students, is scheduled to be held from August 13 through 17. To be eligible for the program, a candidate must have completed his or her junior year of high school by June, 1990; must be in good physical condition; must be in good academic standing; and must be recommended by a high school principal or guidance department.

Since the training program does not offer overnight accommodations, students are expected to travel to the police academy each day. The academy leaves the option of providing transportation to the school district participating in the program.

During the training, which starts everyday at 6:30 a.m. and ends at 3:30 p.m., the academy will provide students with breakfast and lunch. Students will also be given regulation issue hats and shirts, although students are expected to provide their own regulation khakie trousers.

Before a candidate can be considered for this program, the high school guidance department or principal must submit the student's nomination to the Union County's Prosecutor's Office no later than June 1.

After a student's nomination is submitted, representatives from the Union County Prosecutor's Office will arrange to speak to the candidate and his parents.

"The final selction will be made by representatives of the Union County Prosecutor's Office in cooperation with representatives of the schools," said Fitzgerald.

Pet disease warnings issued throughout the area

Pet owners have to be on their guard for two potentially deadly infections this spring — heartworm and rabies, New Jersey veterinarians advise.

While canine heartworm disease is preventable, the threat of rabies is a real challenge for pet owners, said Dr. Arthur Baeder, president of the New Jersey Veterinary Medical Association, located at 66 Morris Ave., Springfield.

"New Jersey has been without terrestial rabies for almost 30 years before this recent outbreak," Baeder said. "The rabies virus is rapidly moving along the Musconetcong and Delaware rivers, and will be a danger to the entire northern half of the state within the next two months."

"The best advice for pet owners is to have their pets vaccinated for rabies, and to encourage their local municipalities to enforce the strict laws on rabies control," Baeder said.

The threat of heartworm, however, can be virtually eliminated if owners see their veterinarians for preventive

Revenge of your auto salesman

By TOM ZORO

As a car salesman who does not seek anonymity, for there is nothing left to hide, I challenge every educated consumer to practice what he preaches.

To the consumer-guide and costprintout toting real-estate broker who struts into my showroom and demands to buy a car at $200 over deal cost: I challenge you to sell me a house, any house, anywhere, in any condition, at $200 over what the seller paid for it.

To the all-knowing retailer who shops every dealership in three counties relentlessly over a period of six weeks and then has the audacity to march onto my car lot in his own home town and demand "give me your best price": Shame on you. I'd like to get your best price-the next time I'm buying a shirt, a pair of socks, a toothbrush, a lawn mower, or a record album.

To the six-figure income doctor or lawyer who waltzes in and does, in fact, but at dealer cost because he either treats or represents the dealer himself, I challenge you to reciprocate the same, for as long as you own that car. That's an awful lot of free checkups, Doc!

Last, but certainly not least, the media. To all the television, newspapers and magazine watchdogs that report the zillions of dollars the car salesman profits from the helpless consumer, and advises him on how to prevent that dastardly salesman from earning a profit, I challenge you more than anyone else to explain why, with all these profits, more than 100,000 Americans in the auto industry will be out of work, as of this reading. Why are the "Big Three" closing plants in record numbers and selling off various divisions to keep others from closing? I challenge any form of media to fill the void there will inevitably be when the automaker stops advertising because profit for the car salesman has become a dirty word. heartworm disease, a potentially fatal infection that attacks a dog's heart, lungs and other organs. Once the heartworm larvae enter a dog's system after the animal is bitten by an infected mosquito, the disease takes four to six months to take hold.

In 1989, a wet spring created a dramatic increase in the state's mosquito population. With enough rain, many of the mosquito eggs that were laid could hatch this spring and create a severe mosquito season.

"It takes just one bite of an infected mosquito to pass on the disease to a healthy dog," said Judy Hansen, president of the American Mosquito Control Association. Signs of heartworm disease include a chronic cough, loss of appetite, weight loss and fatigue. These signs, however, generally do not appear until the disease is well-advanced.

Heartworm is easily prevented, but once a dog is infected, treatment is complex and expensive. Veterinarians can conduct a simple annual blood test to detect if a dog is infected with heartworms. After the animal has been found to be heartworm-free, preventive medication to guard against infection, such as daily or monthly tablets, can begin.

Mosquito control is another preventive measure. Dog owners should eliminate any standing bodies of water, no matter how small, around the house and yard, veterinarians advise.

Many mosquitoes that transmit canine heartworm disease are "container breeders" that reproduce in small bodies of water, such as cans, hubcaps and flower pots, veterina-
