Teachers protest salary deadlock

By SUZETTE STALKER

Thirty members of the Mountainside Teachers Association held an hour-long demonstration Tuesday outside the Mountainside Board of Education offices in protest over what teachers claim are unfair wages and delayed contract negotiations.

Deerfield School teachers, wearing colored placards and buttons saying "Settle Now," paraded in an orderly fashion starting at 7 p.m. around the entrance drive adjacent to the board offices in the Borough Hall complex off Route 22 east.

The Board of Education, which met that night at 8 p.m., has been negotiating with the teachers' union since last December, but reached an impasse several weeks ago. The board and the Teachers' Association are expected to resume talks within the next several weeks pending the appointment of a state mediator.

The placards carried by the teachers, who attended the board meeting following the demonstration, bore such messages as "Quality Teachers Deserve Quality Pay," "We Want A Fair Contract" and "You Get What You Pay For."

"We are here tonight to let the board know we are frustrated with what is happening with contract talks," remarked Teachers Association President Carolee Garcia during the protest. "We would like a fair contract."

Garcia maintained that teachers' present salaries are "far below the county and state average," stating that the average salary for a teacher at Deerfield School is $36,436 and that the average for Union County is $38,498. Deerfield School, which covers kindergarten through grade 8, enrolls approximately 470 students.

During the meeting, Garcia read a prepared statement to the board, which outlined the teachers' grievances over salaries and related matters, which drew a round of applause from her fellow association members.

"As president of the Mountainside Teachers Association," she said, "I am here relaying a message of deep frustration and disappointment from the membership to you...due to the board's inability to recognize a fair and equitable settlement that both sides can live with."

In addition to salaries, the teachers are opposing having to pay for increased health benefits "when no other school employee group in Union County has had to do so," according to Garcia, who added that the teachers are not seeking any extra benefits.

They also claim that they are required to work nine days over the 180 school days which are mandated by the state, which they maintain is more days than teachers from any other district in Union County must work.

Mountainside Board of Education President Linda Schneider stated at the conclusion of Garcia's address that she did not feel it was "appropriate" for the board to respond at that time, "but we appreciate you're coming in and speaking to us."

Mountainside Superintendent of Schools Leonard Bacarro remarked on Wednesday that "all the teachers' concerns are being investigated and will be addressed by the board's Negotiations Committee when negotiations resume."

Bacarro described the contract talks prior to the recent stalemate as having

Borough Council awaits land use ordinance

By SUZETTE STALKER

A draft ordinance covering future land use in Mountainside is expected to be received by the Borough Council by June 1, officials confirmed this week, which will set the tone of local development over the next several years.

The Mountainside Planning Board, which approved the ordinance on May 10, has submitted the document to professional planner John Lynch of the firm Queale and Lynch of Yardley, Pa., for final review.

It will then be sent on to the Mountainside Borough Council for the governing body's own consideration, according to Planning Board Chairman Thomas Macek, who added that a public hearing on the matter will have to be held and that the document may not be approved before next fall.

The ordinance, which was developed in accordance with the borough's most recent master plan, was revised following the Planning Board's April 19 meeting, during which Mountainside Board of Adjustment Chairman George Hancock and several others made various recommendations.

Macek reported on Monday that he and his fellow planners had considered all recommendations and proposals which were made regarding the ordinance, and that many were incorporated into the document before it was finally approved.

One successful recommendation, proposed by Hancock during the planners' April meeting, was that the board place such common home additions as roof overhangs, porches and decks outside the borough's 15 percent ground coverage requirement.

Hancock maintained that expanding this requirement would make it easier for Mountainside residents to enhance their homes and properties and reduce the number of cases which the Board of Adjustment hears each month.

Macek reported that under the revised ordinance, the foundation of a house must still conform to the 15 percent ground coverage requirement, but that any appendages which do not exceed 25 percent of the area of the building will be allowed.

He cited the hypothetical example of a house covering 15,000 square feet on a R-3 size lot. An addition to the house, comprising an extra 560 feet, would increase the total ground coverage to only about 18 percent, as compared with some towns where the ground coverage minimum exceeds 20 percent.

"This liberalizes the 15 percent a little bit," Macek commented, "and it may not even apply in all cases."

Macek explained that several other revisions were made in the draft ordinance since April, including recommendations made by Borough Engineer Mike Disko and other members of the board and the public regarding water pressure regulations and development of sloping properties.

He noted that, under the revised ordinance, developers will be responsible for proving to the Planning Board that there is sufficient water pressure available at a prospective site for both fire prevention and residents' needs, before any plans for development are finalized.

"This is so the developers know in advance what's required," the Planning Board chairman explained.

"That way, they won't have to contest anything. Its the same as with many other modifications, we just want to make sure that it's clear in advance." Macek added that the ordinance establishes a new definition of slope requirements for the borough, which states that if a property in Mountainside is on a severe slope, only a portion of it will be accepted for development.

"The bulk of the land use ordinance will remain the same as it was," remarked Macek, when comparing the proposed new ordinance to the one which existed under the previous master plan, approved by the Borough Council in January.

"We still have the same three residential zones, R-1, R-2, and R-3, depending on the size of the lot," the Planning Board chairman continued.

"We also have a limited industrial zone, a business zone, and a new hospital zone."

The Planning Board redefined the Children's Specialized Hospital property on New Providence Road from an R-2 zone to a hospital zone following last month's meeting. Macek dispelled fears expressed by some residents that the change will lead to further expansion of the hospital's local facilities.

"They think that this will permit radical expansion of the hospital, which isn't the case," commented Macek. "This will limit the hospital to the facilities that it has now. They can't expand beyond the limits of the hospital zone."

"I think we have guidelines now for development of that zone which we didn't have before," the Planning Board chairman concluded.

Veterans to join holiday parade

By SUZETTE STALKER

The members of Mountainside Memorial Post 10136 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will renew their patriotic spirit on Monday, May 28, when they join their Westfield comrades in the annual Westfield Memorial Day parade.

Borough veterans from World War II, the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War will march in the parade alongside members of the Westfield V.F.W. chapter and American Legion Martin Wallberg Post 3, also of Westfield.

The parade will kick off at the Lord and Taylor store parking lot on North Avenue in Westfield at 8 a.m. and proceed through the center of Westfield to Fairview Cemetery on East Broad Street, where a joint wreath-laying ceremony will be conducted at approximately 11 a.m.

Post 10136 will hold its own wreath-laying ceremony at noon that day outside Mountainside Borough Hall, according to Lt. Joseph Mazur of the Mountainside Police Department, a past commander of the post.

Grand marshal for the Memorial Day parade this year will be ninety-seven year-old Leonard Sanders, an Army veteran of World War I, who is a member of Post 10136. The Mountainside post has 112 members, including some Westfield residents.

A native of Westfield, Sanders enlisted in the Army in Summit at the start of World War I, and served with

Squad leader is remembered for contributions

By SUZETTE STALKER

Borough resident Marguerite "Marge" Becker, who was instrumental in developing the modern Mountainside First Aid Squad, was recalled this week as a reliable and caring individual dedicated to serving her community.

A native of Newark, Becker, died last Wednesday, May 16, at her Whip-poorwill Way home in Mountainside after a long illness. She would have turned 78 the next day, according to her nephew, Tom Dunkel.

A borough employee for years, Becker simultaneously coordinated the efforts of the Rescue Squad from her desk, according to Ruth Keuler of Locust Avenue, a 26-year member of the squad and a friend of Becker's.

"She would call every member of the squad to find someone to get in the ambulance to go," recalled Keuler, who added that there were only nine squad members in 1955 and 22 in 1962. "The girls used to go mainly in the daytime."

During World War II, Becker was a member of the Mountainside Rescue Squad's auxiliary, comprised mostly of women, which took over the duties of the Rescue Squad, during World War II when there was a shortage of available men to serve.

For many years, Becker was in charge of training recruits and was eventually appointed as the squad's first female captain. After her husband, Lewis, died in 1964, Becker established a memorial fund in his name to benefit the squad.

In 1964, Becker made two recommendations which led to major changes in squad policies. One was that all squad members be instructed in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, which was then still a relatively new technique.

The second recommendation made by Becker was that the Rescue Squad form a cadet corps to encourage young people to serve with the organization.

In the course of her long career with the Rescue Squad, Becker served as secretary, trustee and a lieutenant. She was also on the squad's Nominating, By-laws, Uniforms, Ambulance and Radio committees. She also acted as the squad's delegate to the New Jersey State First Aid Council several times.

Becker was also a Red Cross instructor who frequently taught life-saving techniques to fellow members of the squad and to the Girl Scouts, among others. She was made an honorary member of the squad after she resigned in 1967.

In 1962, Becker arranged for the purchase of chairs and cabinets for the current Rescue Squad headquarters in the Borough Hall complex, with donations of $600 each which were made to the squad from the Mountainside Women's Club and the Mountainside Lions Club.

She also helped plant shrubs, which still flourish outside the squad building, which were provided by Ronald Druett, the owner of the former Druett's Nursery on Route 22 east in Mountainside.

"She was a terrific person," remarked Keuler, who received her training from Becker in 1963. "She was always there and so easy to get along with. She was a firm instructor and you had to know what you were doing, but she was always there to help."

Becker worked as an executive secretary for Bristol-Myers in Hillside, working for the company's Recreation and Travel Program, where she arranged trips overseas for company employees, before retiring in June 1977.

A funeral for Becker was held last Saturday from the Gray Funeral Home in Westfield. Becker is survived by a brother, Paul Phillip Huber, of Winston-Salem, N.C.; a sister, Norma Dunkel Karle, of Flat Rock, N.C., and eight nieces and nephews.

In lieu of flowers, Becker's family has requested that donations be made to the Mountainside Rescue Squad, c/o Borough Hall, or to the Overlook Hospice Fund, c/o Overlook Hospital, 99 Beauvoir Ave., Summit, 07902-0220.

Although he was gassed during combat, Sanders remained with his outfit in the Army of Occupation, which was the first unit to cross the Rhine river and enter Germany. He was discharged from the service in 1919.

The veteran, who lived most of his life in Westfield, is currently a resident of the Old Soldiers' Home in Menlo Park. He described his selection as grand marshal for the parade as being "one of my wildest dreams come true."

"I think he deserves to be grand marshal," remarked Mazur last week, praising both Sander's longevity and his service to his country. "There's not too many veterans left around this area from World War I."

In the event of rain, the Memorial Day ceremonies will be conducted the same day at Roosevelt School on Clark Street in Westfield, according to Mazur. The wreaths, in this case, will be displayed for those in attendance and later brought to the cemetery.

Last weekend, Post 10136 began its annual poppy sale at various locations throughout Mountainside to benefit disabled veterans and those veterans who are in financial need. The 10-day project is expected to wind up today or tomorrow, according to Mazur.

The Mountainside veterans and their Westfield counterparts have also placed American flags on veterans' graves at Fairview Cemetery and Colonial Cemetery, located across from the Presbyterian Church on Mountain Avenue in Westfield.

Mountainside Memorial Post 10136 participates in various patriotic endeavors throughout the year, including Fourth of July ceremonies and observance of Veterans Day each November.

The post meets at the Mountainside Elks' headquarters on Route 22 east in Mountainside.

The post recently sponsored its annual dinner at the Elks Club for hospitalized veterans from Lyons Veterans Hospital in Lyons, which featured both American and European cuisine, as well as games and entertainment for the guests.

Open house planned

Our Lady of Lourdes School, located at 304 Central Avenue in Mountainside, has scheduled an open house for Wednesday, June 6, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Tours of the school will be available.

Our Lady of Lourdes School is a Catholic co-educational school for grades pre-kindergarten through grade 8, with an all-day kindergarten program and a half-day pre-kindergarten program.

Kindergarten to grade 5 are self-contained classrooms. Grades 6-8 are departmentalized, with offerings in science, language arts and mathematics, including algebra, social studies, and foreign languages, including French and Spanish.

Religion, music, art, computers, physical education and library studies are integral parts of the curriculum.

All teachers at Our Lady of Lourdes are New Jersey state certified. Registration is now being accepted for the 1990-91 school year. For further information, one can call 233-1777 during school hours.

Local teachers oppose delay

(Continued from Page 1) been "friendly and amiable," and that the two sides had "agreed to go to mediation" to settle their differences over salaries and other matters.

In other news, the Mountainside Board of Education unanimously voted against revising the 1989-90 school calendar, a proposal which had recently drawn protest from district parents and teachers who opposed altering the calendar so close to the eighth-grade class's graduation from Deerfield.

The proposed change would have moved the last day of school for students at Deerfield from Tuesday, June 19, to Friday, June 15, because no school days had been cancelled during the year due to inclement weather. Deerfield eighth-graders graduate on Wednesday, June 20.

'Reunion' sale planned

The Mountainside Newcomers Club will hold its "Mother and Child Reunion" sale on Saturday, June 2, with the rain date for Saturday, June 9, at the Mountainside Presbyterian Church, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Club members will be selling good-quality maternity, infant and toddler clothing, as well as baby and infant furniture, toys and other paraphernalia during the sale.

The club has added another book to the Mountainside Library through its participation in the Book Buying program each time a child is born to a member. The latest book was purchased for Andrew Scott Livingston, born to Debra and David Livingston on April 22.

High school pupils earn recognition

Eight students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and six students from David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth received honors for their performances in the Joseph J. Sott Mathematics Day competition which was held recently at Jonathan Dayton.

In Level I competition, for students with two years of high school mathematics experience, the following Jonathan Dayton students earned top honors: Laura Leyrer earned first place honors, Ryan Arthur took second place and Gurneet Singh, Jason Perle and Andy Sarno tied for third place.

In Level I from David Brearley, Frank Ruggiero took first place, Sang Kim earned second place honors and Elizabeth Scheuerer came in third place.

In Level II competition, for students with three years of high school mathematics experience, these students from Jonathan Dayton received recognition: John Schiano and Kimberly Poindexter shared top honors, while Larry Cohn placed third.

In Level II from David Brearley, Cheryl McSweeney and Michael Toth tied for top honors, while Robert Taylor placed third.

For 27 years, students from Jonathan Dayton and the other Union County regional high schools have been participating in the annual Joseph J. Sott Mathematics Day competition.

This academic event is named for Joseph J. Sott, a respected educator who served as a teacher, coordinator and supervisor of mathematics in the regional district for more than 40 years.

ADDRESSING THE ISSUES — Jamie Schutz, standing at podium, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, awaits a response to his question during the recent Union County Regional High School District Student/Board of Education Press Conference. Twenty-seven students from the four regional high schools participated in this event, which was held at David Brearley.

Regional BOE to meet

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 will conduct an open public meeting on Tuesday, June 5, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

The regional district includes Brearley, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside.

In addition to the regular transaction of business, the Board of Education will consider the first reading of a proposed new regional district academic grading policy.

The educator selected as the regional district's "Teacher of the Year" for 1989-90 will also be honored by the Board of Education at this meeting.

Students and staff members of the regional high schools, parents of students attending district schools, and all other residents of the regional district are invited to attend this meeting.

Rachel wrote her story about a boy who wanted to be adopted. Gerst is pictured at right.

Advice to gardeners is given

"Spring gardeners working around the yard should take certain eye safety precautions when using garden tools and chemicals," advised Jordan D. Burke, MD, FACS, and Eric Gurwin, MD, F.I.C.S., physicians at the Suburban Eye Institute in Hackensack.

"We recommend that people wear protective eye wear when working outside to protect eyes from the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays."

- When gardening the doctors recommend the following:
- Make sure nobody is standing in front or on the side of a moving lawn mower because grass cuttings and debris can spew forth and cause eye damage.
 - Pick up rocks before going over them with the lawn mower. These rocks can hurl out of the rotary blades and rebound off curbs or walls, causing severe eye injury.
 - Direct pesticide or other spray

- nozzles away from the face.
- Be careful to avoid low hanging branches.

The doctors report that eye injuries are the most frequently treated injuries in hospital emergency rooms. "According to the the New Jersey Society to Prevent Blindness, 90 percent of all eye injuries are preventable and 45 percent occur around the home," said Dr. Burke.

A teacher and several students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside were among the recent recipients of academic awards given through the Tandy Technology Scholars program administered by Texas Christian University.

David C. Van Hart, a teacher at Jonathan Dayton, was an Outstanding Math/Science/Computer Science Teacher school awardee, while Dayton student Stephen Fowler, was named as Outstanding Math/Science/

Computer Science Student school awardee.

In addition, the top 2 percent of each participating high school's senior class was recognized for overall academic excellence. Dayton students who received this honor were Tatiana Alzenberg, Lauren Melxner and David Schlosser.

Nicole Czarnacki of the Vail-Deane School received the Outstanding Math/Science/Computer Science Student school award, as well as being honored for being in the top 2 percent of her class.

Springfield residents Patricia Cameron and Mina Zotti and Mountainside resident Julia Kutsop are among 108 students who were recently named to the dean's list for the fall semester at the College of Saint Elizabeth in Convent Station.

The College of Saint Elizabeth is a four-year liberal arts college for women. Those named to the dean's list must be full-time students who have achieved a grade-point average of at least 3.50, or a B plus, for the semester.

Telethon to benefit hospitals

The Children's Miracle Network Telethon, which will benefit two area children's hospitals, is scheduled to be broadcast on Saturday and Sunday, June 2 and 3, featuring an array of entertainers and other special guests.

The young patients of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and Children's Hospital of New Jersey in Newark will be the direct beneficiaries of funds raised in the state during the 21-hour event.

"Thanks to the efforts of many people, organizations and community groups that help the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, many people will receive the medical and rehabilitative treatment that they need," commented Sarah Lewis, regional telethon coordinator.

"Also, sponsorships of many major corporations are invaluable when measuring the success and outcome of the telethon," she continued.

The Children's Miracle Network Telethon will begin at 9 p.m. on June 2 and continue until 6:30 p.m. on June 3.

National and local segments of the telethon will be broadcast by Suburban Cablevision on TV-3 and CTN and will be sponsored by Miss Molly, WWOR's A Plus for Kids ambassador, Jonathan B. Bell of WHIZ radio's Z-100 Morning Zoo Show and Steve Mayer of Sports News Network, formerly of Suburban Cablevision TV-3.

The local segments of the telethon will feature stories of children who have been helped and treated by the two New Jersey hospitals.

On the national show, brother and sister Jake and Ali Stroker of Ridgewood, former patients at Children's Specialized Hospital, will be representing New Jersey as "Miracle Children."

The national show will be hosted by singer Marie Osmond and actor John Schneider and will feature an array of entertainers such as Bob Hope, Marilyn McCoo, Mary Hart, Jim McMahon and Rich Little. It will telecast from Disney Land in California, Disney World in Florida and Disney Land in Tokyo.

Children's Miracle Network Telethon was created in 1983 by the Osmond Foundation, the charitable arm of the performing Osmond Family.

Money raised by the telethon benefits over 160 member hospitals in the United States and elsewhere. Since its inception eight years ago, the Children's Miracle Network Telethon has grown to be the largest of its kind.

A renown institution, Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute care beds and 25 long-term care beds.

In addition, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in Fanwood, and has received state approval to develop a 30-bed inpatient facility in Ocean County.

Children's Hospital of New Jersey, a 135-bed unit of United Hospital Medical Center, is a complete diagnostic and treatment center which offers programs in all pediatric subspecialty areas.

For more information about the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, one can call Sarah Lewis at 233-3412. To make a pledge either now or during the telethon, one can call 750-5070 or 1-609-468-0039.

Cardiac course to be offered

A four-part Basic Cardiac Life Support Course (CPR), open to anyone over the age of 14, will be held at Overlook Hospital in Summit on June 12, 14, 19 and 21 from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Participants will learn one- and two-man CPR and Obstructed Airway Techniques for both adults and children. Those who successfully complete the course will receive an American Heart Association card.

There is a $40 fee for the general public, and the cost to members of a rescue squad, police or fire department is $30.

A 3 1/2 hour CPR course will also be held on June 26 from 7-10:30 p.m. in Overlook's Wallace Auditorium. This class is open to the public, and anyone over the age of 14 is encouraged to attend this class to learn the life-saving technique of CPR.

Those individuals who attend the course will receive a review booklet and a course completion card. The class is limited to the first 25 registrants. There is a $15 registration fee to cover operating costs.

In addition, Overlook will offer a two-session American Heart Association certification course, "Little Heart Saver," for infant and child resuscitation, which will be held on June 25 and 27 from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

To register or for further information, one can call 522-2365.

Hospital to sponsor free screenings

Free speech, language and hearing screenings for pre-school age children will be held on Tuesday, May 29, and Thursday, May 31, at the Children's Specialized Hospital Outpatient Center in Fanwood.

The screenings are being provided by the professional staff of the Children's Specialized Hospital Speech and Hearing Department in honor of Better Speech and Hearing Month, observed in May.

The screenings will be presented in a play format, allowing for a fun experience for the child. During the 20-minute screening, the child's ability to hear and understand instructions, as well as speak clearly with the use of appropriate language, will be tested.

The screenings will be conducted by an audiologist and a speech and language pathologist, and are geared to children four-to-five-years old.

"This is the age where the child and parents are getting prepared for school," explained Ellen Kandel, director of the hospital's Speech and Hearing Department.

"This is also the age group in which articulation and language delays frequently occur as the result of chronic and episodic ear infections," she said.

Based on the results of the screenings, recommendations and suggestions for a follow-up will be made, if needed. Referrals, if needed, will be made immediately. In addition, printed materials will be available for parents.

On Tuesday, May 29, the screenings will be held from 1 to 2:30 p.m., and on Thursday, May 31, from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

There is no fee for the screenings; however, preregistration is required. Call 233-3720, ext 254. The Outpatient Center is located on South Avenue in Fanwood, on the site of the old LaGrande School.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital which includes 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long-term care beds.

Also, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in Fanwood, and has received state approval to develop a 30-bed inpatient facility in Ocean County.

In 1991, Children's Specialized Hospital will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

Mountainside resident is named 'Man of the Year'

Jerry Kamen of Mountainside was recently named Springfield Lodge B'nai B'rith's "Man of the Year" for 1990, and will be honored at a dinner-dance at the Short Hills Caterers on Wednesday evening, June 20.

A resident of Mountainside for the past 28 years, Kamen has been an active member of the Springfield B'nai B'rith's executive board. He has chaired the annual Atlantic City Bus Ride and has been involved in membership drives, fund raising and programming.

A past president of the Mountainside Lions Club, Kamen is also active in community theater, including the Cranford Dramatic Club and the Westfield Community Players. He has appeared in various musical and dramatic productions in the area.

Information about the event can be obtained by calling Herb Ross at 964-1500 during the day, or 232-2926 in the evening.

JERRY KAMEN

AWARD WINNER — Maria Agostinelli, left, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, was recently honored for her academic achievements by the Berkeley College of Business, which has campuses in West Paterson, Waldwick and Woodbridge. Here, the student is presented with an award by Sheree Carnevale, right, the director of admissions with Berkeley's Middlesex campus in Woodbridge.

Kenilworth pupils win reading prizes

A recent campaign called "In Celebration of Reading," sponsored by Reading Is Fundamental, the nation's largest reading-motivation program, was recently held at Harding School in Kenilworth, to remind children and their parents that reading for pleasure brings rewards.

Children were asked to set aside time for reading each day, and for a period of two weeks they were to:

- read independently
- read to family members or parents
- be read to by parents or other family members.

The third- and fourth-graders were expected to spend at least four hours reading during the two-week contest. Time spent reading could be done by reading books, magazines, or newspapers.

The name of each child who completed the challenge was placed in a random drawing. Third-grader Leonel Cardoso's name was drawn as the grand prize winner.

He and runners-up Laura Iden, Michael D'Andrea, Ashish Patel, Lisa Malina and Jennifer DiFazio were given a selection of books, courtesy of Scholastic, Inc. and Leonel's name was sent to Washington, D.C. for a national drawing, which was to be selected randomly.

The national RIF winner and his parents will win a trip to Washington, D.C., a library of paperback books, courtesy of Bookmen, Inc.; a $500 savings bond; a personal word processor, courtesy of Smith Corona; a personalized dictionary, courtesy of Simon & Schuster, Inc., and a two-year subscription to Cricket Magazine, courtesy of Cricket.

Ten runners-up will each receive a $100 U.S. savings bond and various other prizes.

Metropolitan Life Foundation is the sponsor of the "In Celebration of Reading" campaign.

Teens need homes

The ASSE International Student Exchange organization, formerly the American Scandinavian Student Exchange, is still seeking host families for foreign students who will be arriving in August to spend the 1990-91 academic high school year in the United States.

One of these is 16-year-old Martin of Tangstedt, Germany, who is anxiously awaiting word that ASSE has found a family for him to live with during the upcoming school year.

Martin and several other boys and girls from Western Europe have met the high standards set by ASSE International for participation in its home-stay program and are ready for placement in this area.

Each student is fluent in English, has full medical coverage and pocket money for personal needs. The family is asked by ASSE to provide room and board and a measure of parental love.

In return, the family has the opportunity to experience another culture without ever leaving home, and to share their lifestyle as an American family with their student.

For more information on sponsoring Martin or other exchange students, one can call Eileen Voorhees at 276-7514 or call toll-free 1-800-333-3802.

ASSE is a non-profit, tax exempt, public benefit organization. It is officially designated as an exchange visitor program by the United States Information Agency (USIA).

Trailside helpers sought

The Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside is looking for a few good volunteers to assist staff naturalists with summer programs.

Volunteers are needed to work with four-to-six year olds, first-, second-, third-, fourth-, fifth- and seventh-graders.

To volunteer, or for more information, one can call Betty Ann Kelly, Tuesday through Friday, at 789-3670.

A BOY AND HIS BOOKS — Leonel Cardoso, a third-grade student at Harding School in Kenilworth, was recently chosen as the grand prize winner of the two-week-long 'In Celebration of Reading' challenge sponsored by Reading Is Fundamental, the largest reading-motivation program in the country. Leonel's name was sent to Washington, D.C. for the national random drawing.

PUBLIC NOTICE
STATEMENT OF DECISION
Notice is hereby given that the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (NJDEP), Division of Water Resources proposes to restrict and control the discharge of pollutants from Schable Oil Company, 191 Mountain Ave., Springfield, Union County.

This draft major modification of the existing New Jersey Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NJDES) permit, located at 401 East State Street in the City of Trenton, Mercer County, New Jersey. It is available for inspection by appointment between 9:30 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday. Appointments for inspection may be scheduled by calling (609) 292-0400. Interested persons may submit written comments on the draft to the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, at the address cited above. All comments shall be submitted within 30 days of the date of this public notice. All persons, including the owner or operator, who believe that any condition set forth in this document is inappropriate must raise all reasonably ascertainable issues and submit in writing to the Department to all reasonably available arguments and factual grounds supporting their position, including all supporting material, by the close of the public comment period. All comments submitted by the interested persons in response to this notice, within the public comment period, will be considered by the NJDEP with respect to the requirements being applied to this facility. After the close of the public comment period, the Department will make a final decision. The Department will respond to all significant and timely comments when a final decision is made. The owner or operator and each person who has submitted written comments will receive notice of NJDEP's final decision.

Any interested person may request in writing that NJDEP hold a nonadversarial public hearing on the draft document. This request shall state the nature of the issues to be raised in the proposed hearing and shall be submitted within 30 days of the date of this public notice to the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, at the address cited above. A public hearing will be conducted whenever the NJDEP determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the permit decision. The public comment period in this notice shall automatically be extended to the close of the public hearing.

Additional information concerning the draft NJDES permit may be obtained between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday from Scott Tyrrall of the Bureau of Aquifer Protection at (609) 292-9975.

Brearley student wins honor

Matt Dolly, a student at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, has been named as Student-of-the-Month for May, school officials announced this week.

In school, Dolly is an active member of the Future Business Leaders of America and served as a co-captain of the Brearley basketball team.

Outside of school, he enjoys "cruising with my friends, maybe to Seaside Heights, maybe to the racetrack, or maybe to a dance club once in a while."

After graduation, Dolly plans to attend St. Peter's College in Jersey City, where he will be in the honors program. Eventually he hopes to pursue a business career that utilizes accounting skills, statistics in particular.

Dolly said that "Magic Touch," about Magic Johnson of the L.A. Lakers, is his favorite book.

"It's about my favorite basketball player," the student explained. "Not only did it teach me about my favorite game, it taught me to work hard for a goal and not to take anything for granted."

Dolly said he believes that trying to say something about an outstanding achievement "isn't easy." He does admit, however, that he is very happy about the scholarship offers he received from four New Jersey colleges because "not a lot of people are that lucky."

Secondly, he said he is proud of being able to "go up from 12 to 9 and to be in the top 10 of my class in a year and a half."

He explained that being named to an honorable mention citation for his participation in basketball was another big accomplishment in a county where there is a lot of tough competition.

In naming Dolly as the May Student-of-the-Month, his nominators described him as a "hard-working, conscientious and personable" young man. They also praised him as a "standout on the basketball court and a motivated achiever in the classroom."

They also stated that his "leadership ability and his good work ethic have enabled Matt to serve as a positive role model for others."

"The road to success is always under construction," Dolly said. "I heard that somewhere, and at first I didn't understand the words. But then I realized that they meant you can never become satisfied — there's always something more to achieve."

Doctor discusses headaches

Chronic and debilitating headaches are the topic of the May 1990 edition of Healthscope, the health education television program of St. Mary's Ambulatory Care Hospital in Orange.

Douglas Ashendorf, M.D., a psychiatrist who has offices at St. Mary's, as well as in Springfield, Newark and East Orange, is the program's guest. This program appears on Health-scope every Monday in May at 10:05 p.m. on Suburban Cablevision channel 32.

"Headaches account for more visits to doctors' offices than any other type of problem," Dr. Ashendorf said. "It is thought that 50 million Americans suffer from recurrent headaches."

"This program highlights some common types of headaches — tension headache and migraine headache, for example. We discuss the things that trigger these headaches, the types of doctors that treat this disorder, and the kinds of treatments available," he said.

"We also talk about the things patients can do on their own to reduce headache activity," he added.

For more information about headaches or referrals to specialists, one can call 673-1291.

Local man to display talents

The Miller-Cory House Museum, located at 614 Mountain Ave., Westfield, will feature blacksmithing on Sunday, May 27, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Volunteer John Boyd of Mountainside will demonstrate how wrought iron was worked into useful objects during the 18th and 19th centuries in New Jersey.

Often referred to as the "King of the Craftsmen," the blacksmith produced such items as tools, cooking utensils, nails, barrel hoops, keys, and chains — items essential to the development of early communities.

Boyd can also be seen each year shearing sheep at the museum's annual "Sheep To Shawl Day."

Visitors will be able to see the various cooking utensils created by blacksmiths in use during the afternoon in the Frazee outbuilding.

Bonnie LoPresti and Betty Palmer, of the museum's Cooking Committee, will prepare a meal researched from period recipes over the open hearth.

Anyone who would like to learn more about the museum and its programs can call the office at 232-1776.

HISTORIC PANORAMA — These fifth-grade students from Joan Krystow's class at Deerfield School in Mountainside, from left, Monika Szymborski, Matthew Dubno, Gena Schlegel and J.T. Wakley, exhibit the social studies projects they made recently as part of a study of westward expansion and the industrial revolution in America.

Swimming season nears, bringing certain dangers

Spring is barely here — and some days it seems it isn't here at all. But it's still not too soon for swimmers and surfers to dream of bright warm afternoons in the ocean or pool, the harsh winds only an unhappy memory.

But the water can be dangerous for the unwary, and not only for those who can't swim or who take unnecessary chances and find themselves alone in deep water.

Dr. Cary Glastein, an orthopaedic surgeon from Tinton Falls, has a saying that he would like swimmers and surfers to never forget: "Feet first, first dive." In other words, when you go into unknown water for the first time, jump in feet first, not head first.

Recalling this bit of wisdom could very well save a life or prevent a crippling injury. "Almost every year," said Dr. Glastein, "we have cases of people who dive unthinking into pool or surf and wind up as quadriplegics or paraplegics."

Jumping into the water feet first is the best way to prevent devastating injuries of that kind, Dr. Glastein said.

Most swimming injuries can be prevented with a little fore-thought, he added, pointing out that contrary to popular belief, neck and spine fractures don't happen very often in swimming pools because there are regulations to ensure sufficient water depth under diving into an unfamiliar lake or creek. "Never, never dive into any water unless you're absolutely certain of the depth and have physically confirmed it," Dr. Glastein warned.

The depth of ocean water can be especially difficult to judge. Dr. Glastein said he had heard of a number of spinal injuries occurring among soldiers stationed at Fort Monmouth — people who were natives of inland areas and were unfamiliar with ocean waters. "They would dive into waves expecting the water to be deep, when it was actually quite shallow," he said.

Often, alcohol is connected to swimming accidents. Excessive drinking clouds perception and leads to risk-taking. Dr. Glastein cited the case of a young man he treated successfully for a neck fracture sustained at a pool party. "Drinking and diving don't mix," he said.

A significant number of serious neck injuries occur early in the season, according to Dr. Glastein, when the eagerness of swimmers and surfers to get into the water causes them to exercise poor judgement. "If precautions aren't taken," he said, "what started out to be a fun day could end tragically."

Dr. Glastein is a board certified orthopaedic surgeon. He is a graduate of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine orthopaedic residency program and was trained in spinal surgery as a fellow at the Hospital for Special Surgery of the Cornell Medical Center.

Skin cancer detection screening

May is national skin cancer detection month and the dermatologists of Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston will be sponsoring a free skin cancer screening on Wednesday, May 30. The screening, which is open to the public, will take place in the employee health area of the Medical Center, located on the first floor, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Appointments are necessary.

According to Lewis P. Stolman, M.D., Chief of the Service of Dermatology at Saint Barnabas, skin cancer is the most common cancer that afflicts Americans. Over 600,000 new cases of skin cancer are expected to be diagnosed this year and this number is increasing. The principal cause of skin cancer is solarophilia (love of the sun or sun worshiping) especially when it results in sunburn and blistering.

The increased popularity of outdoor recreational sports and activities along with damage to the earth's ozone layer may account for the increase in the disease. The sunlight damage sustained as a child seems to be particularly important, for a single sunburn sustained in childhood may double the risk of developing skin cancer later in life. Individuals who work indoors for most of the year and then go on a vacation and try to obtain a golden tan seem to suffer more damage to their skin than people who spend most of their work and leisure time in the sun. The damage takes the form of premature aging of the skin and the development of skin cancers.

There are three major types of skin cancer that are common in Americans: basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and malignant melanoma. All three have the potential to do great damage and, in the cases of squamous cell carcinoma and malignant melanoma, may result in death. Malignant melanoma is the most dangerous of all skin cancers. It continues to increase in incidence each year at a faster rate than any other cancer in the United States. It is estimated that 27,600 Americans will develop malignant melanoma in 1990. At the current rate, 1 in 120 Americans will develop malignant melanoma in their lifetime. Should this rate continue, by the year 2000, the lifetime risk is predicted to be 1 in every 90 persons.

Skin cancer may be prevented by the avoidance of excessive sun exposure, the regular use of sunscreens with a minimum SPF (sun protective factor) of 15, and periodic examinations by dermatologists. For those individuals who are at risk due to their lifestyle or their family history, regular check-ups are advised. According to Dr. Stolman, with early detection and treatment, almost all skin cancers can be easily treated and frequently cured.

Trenton report

New fireworks bill

Legislation aimed at curbing the sale of fireworks to young people was approved by the Senate today. Senator C. Louis Bassano, the sponsor of the bill, said the legislation would make it a crime to knowingly transport illegal fireworks to New Jersey, for sale to residents.

"It is against the law to purchase or use fireworks in New Jersey unless you are holding an authorized, public display. However, fire crackers, sparklers, bottle rockets and other forms of fireworks continue to cross the state's borders through the use of out-of-state mail order manufacturers or other illegal distributors," said Bassano, R-Union.

Under the Senator's bill, it would be unlawful to sell fireworks to anyone who does not have a valid permit indicating authorization to purchase the items.

"People who hold publicly-sanctioned holiday displays, like those commonly held by local fire departments, are legally allowed to receive fireworks. Residents who shoot off fire crackers and bottle rockets in their backyards are not," Bassano said.

"To see the need for this legislation, one only has to look at statistics printed in the 'Fire Journal,' a publication of the National Fire Prevention Association. Statistics from July 1988 report that 51,600 fires were started by firecrackers in 1985, the last year for which figures are available," Bassano said.

The Senator continued, "In just a few short months, some people will be celebrating Independence Day dangerously. They will be shooting off back yard fireworks, illegally brought into the state. What they do not realize, however, is that many of the items are not subject to any kind of safety tests or quality control. They are unpredictable. Playing with fireworks is like walking on a field of landmines. You may think you know your way around them but one may just blow up in your face."

"Every year, hundreds of people are blinded, lose fingers and receive severe burns from illegal fireworks. Three-quarters of these accidents involve young people less than 24 years of age. Many of them are young children," Bassano said.

Under terms of the bill, permits must have an identification number and the specific types of fireworks to be used must be clearly identified. Only one person's name will be allowed on the permit.

The bill now advances to the Assembly for consideration.

NAIL
PROBLEMS

By Dr. Michael Eglow

An ingrown nail occurs when a toenail edge embeds itself into the surrounding skin. It can cause pain, swelling, redness and often, infection. Home treatment may consist of soaking the affected toe in warm Epsom salt water and then packing cotton at the nail edge to keep it from piercing the flesh. Podiatrists handle ingrown-nails on a daily basis using the most advanced techniques to minimize discomfort and provide rapid healing.

To avoid ingrown nails, keep them clean, trim nails straight across and wear shoes of proper length and width. Avoid over-the-counter home remedies.

The same fungus that causes athlete's foot can attack toenails, causing them to turn a yellowish-brown color. Early treatment of fungus is important.

If you experience pain when pressing straight down on a nail, it could be a small bony growth underneath. The growth can easily be removed in the doctor's office with little discomfort or inconvenience.

Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active an fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

2 local women win awards in 1990 Pageant

Two local young women were among the 15 contestants who competed in the Miss Union County 1990 Scholarship Pageant recently, and won runners-up awards. They were Janet Vera Reynolds, 24, of Roselle, second runner-up, and Patricia Lynn Kukan, 20, of Mountainside, who placed as third runner-up.

The pageant was sponsored by the Cranford Chamber of Commerce. Awards were presented by the pageant committee at Union County College, Cranford campus. Laura Jean Sinnott of Scotch Plains was chosen Miss Union County 1990. First runner-up, LuAnn Schnable of Fanwood, was presented with a floral arrangement by Dawn and Frank Cushing of Union, in addition to other prizes.

Reynolds, who received a $50 educational scholarship and a six-month membership to Pageant Perfect Bodies, also received a trophy and a floral arrangement by Dawn and Frank Cushing.

Reynolds, who danced as her talent presentation at the awards event, was graduated from Abraham Clark High School, Roselle, and has attended Upsala College, East Orange, for four years.

She was honored with the Sportsmanship trophy while in high school and served as captain varsity cheerleader. Reynolds was a select Madrigal Choir member.

She is a "Jersey Girl" cheerleader for the New Jersey Nets Basketball team. Her occupation is child care provider. Reynolds plans to have a chain of day care and learning centers across the country, "enabling women to climb the corporate ladder and feel secure having their children in a safe, learning environment."

She says she wants to continue her education for advanced degrees in psychology. Reynolds enjoys landscaping, growing flowers, traveling, reading and shopping.

Kukan, who received a $50 scholarship, a membership to Pageant Perfect Bodies, a trophy and flowers, presented a Broadway-style jazz dance at the pageant event. She is a sophomore at Boston University, where she is studying for a bachelor's degree in broadcast journalism. Kukan is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists and of Women in Communications Inc.

She is a volunteer in the Champions Community Service Program and a reporter for the Daily Free Press.

While a student at Catholic Regional High School, Scotch Plains, Kukan's extracurricular activities ranged from dancing to competitive swimming.

She appeared on ABC television network in a campaign against alcohol and drug abuse.

In 1986, Kukan placed as first runner-up in the Miss New Jersey National Teen-ager Pageant and also won New Jersey's Citizenship Award. In 1988, she held the title of Union County's Junior Miss.

Her hobbies are dancing, aerobics, lap swimming, choreography, fishing and volunteer work. Kukan plans to be involved in "informing the public of current issues." She believes that "facts, not personal opinion, make history."

Ruth M. Miller, executive director of the Miss Union County Scholarship Pageant Committee, says, "We are proud to present the 1990 Miss Union County Scholarship Pageant, an official preliminary to the Miss New Jersey Scholarship Pageant and the national Miss America Pageant.

"Our committee consists of citizens who value good community projects, and perhaps, above all, believe in the youth of America. We understand the importance of affording young women a 'showcase' to display their talents, to voice their opinions and their ambitions and to gather together and share a mutual experience which will increase their poise and self confidence."

Miller explains that "we would not become involved in presenting young women in 'just a pageant' without the knowledge that this pageant leads to ado of Rahway, fourth runner-up; Janet Vera Reynolds of Roselle, second runner-up; Laura Jean Sinnott of Scotch Plains, Miss Union County 1990; LuAnn Schnable of Fanwood, first runner-up, and Patricia Lynn Kukan of Mountainside, third runner-up.

outstanding educational rewards in the form of scholarships."

The fourth runner-up was Glennidka Jurado of Rahway. Among the other contestants was Kathleen Kennedy, 19, who was graduated from Roselle Park High School with outstanding scholastic achievement in the business field. She is a student at Union County College and is working toward an associate degree in data processing/computer science.

Kennedy, who has trained in dancing for nine years, has performed in various state competitions. She says when she is not dancing, you can find her "swimming, cycling or writing poetry." Kennedy is an insurance representative at a bank. She hopes "to incorporate my dancing skills by owning and operating my own dance study. This way, I can meet many people and still enjoy my first love — dancing."

The other Union County contestants include Veronica Beqaj, 17; Raquel Yvette Liggon, 21; Kathleen Regina Willis, 26; Darcella A. Sosomes, 20; Kristin Elizabeth Rickes, 17; Glennidka Jurado, 22; Kimberley Dawn Crowders, 23; Debora M. Link, 20; Laura Jean Sinnott, 21; and Darlene R. Ford, 21.

It was announced that at local, state and national pageants, more than $5 million in scholarships is available annually.

Information and material were compiled by Bea Smith, Lifestyles editor.

Students show original artwork

A show featuring original artwork by Union County College students is being held at 8 p.m. through May 31 at the Tomasulo Gallery on the college's Cranford campus.

Drawings, paintings, illustrations, and graphic designs are on view as professional judges rank works prepared by students enrolled during the current academic year in the college's art classes only.

The show is co-sponsored by the college's Art Society.

According to Professor Antony Nicoli, art gallery director, the students' artwork will be selected "based on their successful solution to an assigned visual problem, and on their competitive appearances."

For further information one can call 709-7155.

JUMPS FOR JOY — Janet Vera Reynolds of Roselle, second runner-up in the Miss Union County Scholarship Pageant, practices her dance for the event. Among her awards was a $50 educational scholarship.

State Teen Arts Festival

New Jersey students, 13-19, will participate in the 21st annual New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival Tuesday, Wednesday and May 31 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Mason Gross School of the Arts on the Douglass Campus of Rutgers, the State University, New Brunswick. Workshops, performances and exhibits are free of charge to all New Jersey teens.

The festival, a project of the New Jersey State Teen Arts Program, attracts approximately 15,000 teens each year. Participants attend workshops in dance, creative writing, film/video, instrumental and vocal music, visual arts and theater, which are led by professional artists.

The visual art exhibit contains more than 600 artworks by New Jersey students. Individual works are critiqued and selected by a team of professional artists to be exhibited statewide in the 1990-1991 Visual Art Touring Exhibit, or reproduced in the 1991 Illustrated Teen Arts Calendar or used for other Teen Arts projects.

To be eligible to perform or exhibit a work of art at the State Festival, the individual performer or group must have first been selected at one of the county festivals, which are held in the spring. However, workshops are free and open to "every teen who ever wondered what it would be like to dance in a stage chorus, make a clay pot, or play an electric synthesizer," according to Festival organizers.

Students who plan to participate in workshops, performances or the visual art exhibit can contact their arts, English or music teachers. For additional information one can contact Catherine Clark, State Festival coordinator, New Jersey State Teen Arts Program, 841 Georges Road, North Brunswick, 08902, or call 745-3898.

Funding for the New Jersey State Teen Arts Program is provided by the New Jersey State Department of Education; New Jersey State Council of the Arts/Department of State; Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission; Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation Inc.; Mason Gross School of the Arts, Rutgers, the State University; and other private sources.

Union County schools will attend the State Festival on Tuesday.

Workshop set on photo care

"Care and Feeding of Photographs," a workshop on preserving photographs, is scheduled June 9, at the County Annex Building, Westfield, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Presented by the Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, the workshop is for the benefit of area historical societies, museums, and libraries responsible for collections of historical photographs.

Preregistration is required by June 1.

Legendary bird soars in Hawaii

By JOHN B. WOLF

Professor, Union County College
This spring the lava flows from Hawaii's Kilauea volcano were highlighted in the media. One of these rivers of fire and brimstone threatened to obliterate a village on the southeast coast of the state's "Big Island" of Hawaii. Supposedly, some Hawaiians invoked Pele, the volcano goddess, and asked her to protect them.

According to legend, this goddess becomes enraged and jealous when she is upset, as when a mythical chief in the legend spurned her. She told the chief who she was and promised him that she would keep Kilauea's surging rivers of lava away from his people. It is said that Pele assumed the form of a red-billed tropic bird and flew over Kilauea to monitor the flow of the volcano's rivers of lava.

The red-billed tropic bird is a resident of the South Seas. It is regularly spotted as it flies over Kilauea's lava fields. This slender white seabird has a scissor-tail. Each prong of its central tail feathers grows to a length of about 2 feet. The bird's red bill is another distinctive field mark. In flight, it moves like a pigeon, propelling itself with slow but purposeful wingbeats.

The bird has a habit of soaring to a great height. Its movement toward the sun reminded some scientists of Phaethon, the son of Helios, the sun god. In Greek mythology, Helios drove the chariot of the sun across the sky.

The bird's family name, Phaethontidae, is a reference to this tale. Perhaps Pele wanted to soar with the other gods and adopted the form of the tropic bird to enhance her image when she was among them.

Certainly Pele must have been "For the Birds."

Hospital needs an organ player

The John E. Rummells Hospital, Berkeley Heights, needs a volunteer organist to play at its Sunday Protestant services, it was announced by Walter E. Boright, Union County freeholder and liaison to the Rummells Hospital board of managers.

"We desperately need a volunteer organist for these services, which run from 10:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. twice a month," he said. "If we had two volunteers, it would only be once per month, and you could bring joy to many patients."

More information can be obtained by calling Wendy Hall, Volunteer Services director, at the hospital at 771-5848.

RELIGION

Registration opens

Temple Beth Ahm, 60 Temple Drive, Springfield, has announced the opening of registration for the Religious School for the year beginning September 1990.

Programs available are Kindergarten, first and second grade, one day per week; grades 3 through 7, Tuesday and Thursday afternoon and Sunday morning, and high school including eighth grade, one evening per week.

Temple Beth Ahm is a conservative synagogue serving Springfield and surrounding communities. The Religious School program includes preparation for Bar/Bat Mitzvah as well as a full curriculum in history, culture, Bible and holidays. Rabbi Perry Raphael Rank and Cantor Richard Nadel are the religious leaders of the congregation.

Further information is available by contacting the temple office at 376-0539.

Synagogue lecture

Rabbi Chaim Steinmetz, a Fellow of the Caroline and Joseph S. Gruss Kollel Elyon, the institute for advanced rabbinic studies at an affiliate of Yeshiva University, will deliver shuirim, lectures, in Manhattan, The Bronx and Springfield.

Steinmetz is among a select group of 15 Fellows at the Kollel, which is part of the University's affiliated Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary, RIETS, delivering about 60 lectures this spring.

Rabbi Steinmetz will speak on the topic, "Extralegal Morality in Jewish Law and Philosophy," in Congregation Israel, 339 Mountain Ave., Springfield, on June 4.

A Byzantine bazaar

St. Thomas the Apostle Church, St. George Avenue, Rahway, will hold a Byzantine bazaar featuring a Slovak festival with ethnic foods, clowns, games, folk art, handicrafts, church tours, a country fair, face painting, Drum & Bugle Corps and Lee Rouson of the New York Giants today, tomorrow and Saturday. Also featured will be Ukrainian and Slovak dancers.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 382-5300 or 382-2417.

Students confirmed

On Tuesday evening at 8, coinciding with the holiday of Shavuot, Congregation B'nai Jeshurun of Short Hills will confirm 25 students in the Religious School's 10th grade. The confirmands will lead the entire congregation in worship from a special service on the theme of "Commitment."

The procession of confirmands will be led to the pulpit by Charles Dreifus, president of Congregation B'nai Jeshurun; Robyn Margolis, president of the Women's Association; Ronald Lefkon, president of the Brotherhood; Jacki Belin and Mark Furman, of the Couples' Club; Elaine Kadison, director of the Religious School, and the confirmation teacher, Suzanne Newmann.

The service of confirmation culminates 11 years of study for the confirmands. Their curriculum included: Bible and other Jewish literature, Jewish history, Jewish holidays, ethics, philosophy and customs. During the past year, in addition to their classroom studies, each confirmand wrote an ethical will and completed a special confirmation project. In addition to their regular faculty, their instructors were Dr. Barry H. Greene, senior rabbi, Dr. Ely E. Pilchik, senior scholar, Rabbi David C. Levy, Cantor Norman Summers and student-Rabbi Joshua Aaronson.

Levys to receive awards

Pearla and Jody Levy of Springfield, have been chosen to receive the 1990 Young Leadership Award from the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, it was announced by Robyn and Joe Bier, 1989 Young Leadership Award winners.

The Levys have long histories of involvement in Jewish communal activities. They are members of Congregation Israel of Springfield, where Pearla is the Sisterhood co-president and Jody is the secretary.

Pearla, a Bruria graduate, is vice president of Sherwood Management, a real estate company. She received a bachelor of arts degree from Douglass College of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, and a master of arts degree in Jewish education and culture from New York University. She also is a member of the Roselle-Cranford Chapter of Hadassah. She recently served as a co-chairman of the Community Planning Committee of the Federation.

Jody, who is president of Industrial Paper, is a graduate of the Jewish Educational Center, has a bachelor of arts degree in economics from Rutgers University and is a certified public accountant. He is a board member of the federation and has served as the vice-chairman of the Agency-Federation committee and as the chairman of the Community Development committee.

They both are graduates of the Young Leadership program, have served as co-chairmen of Super Sunday last year and are involved in New Gifts and Springfield divisions of campaign. They also serve on the National Young Leadership Cabinet.

They were presented with the award at Monday's Federation board meeting.

For further information about the Young Leadership programs one can contact Rebecca Glass, Federation staff at 351-5060.

Union Card of thanks

The wife and family of the late Patrick Matthews of Union, NJ would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our dear relatives, friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy. Due to the overwhelming amount of mass cards, floral sprays, food baskets and donations it would be impossible to thank each and every one of you in person.

A Special thanks to Father Ed Gedrich of St. Michael's Parish for his many visits and support, also to the Knights of Columbus, PSE&G, The Boy's & Girl's Club, The Union Police Department, Callmens Ambulance, Schering Plough, St. Michael's Convent and to the various Priests who participated in the Mass, and to McCracken Funeral Home for their efficient services.

Hoping this will be accepted by all in grateful acknowledgment, a Mass will be offered for all their intentions.
Beloved wife Grace and family

Red Herring

Exxon Corporation has posted a $50,000 reward for information concerning responsibility for a rupture in the company's underwater Bayway-to-Bayonne pipeline. Through this rupture, in the early morning of Jan. 2, 567,000 gallons of heating oil poured into the Arthur Kill, extensively damaging the marine and coastal environments of Staten Island and New Jersey.

Exxon's posting of a reward is a farce, or would be, if the true subject matter were at all laughable. It is a sideshow designed to lure public attention away from the main event — the State of New Jersey's pending lawsuit against the oil industry giant for that same monstrous spill.

Yes, the pipe was ruptured — a thin crack within a 10 foot dent caused by some large object colliding underwater with the line. And yes, the oil poured through the crack. But that crack was by no means the cause for the enormous amount of oil that entered the kill. Before Exxon's smoke and mirrors performance does what it is apparently meant to do — confuse thought — let's briefly recount what happened that night.

According to the report of the state's Department of Environmental Protection, at a minute after 10 p.m. on January 1 the Bayway-to-Bayonne pipeline automatically shut down because it recorded a drop in line pressure. The console operator at Bayway noted the shutdown but did not, apparently, follow proper leak-detection procedure. Rather he tried to restart pumping about an hour and a half later. The programmed system did not want to re-start — which should have told the operator something — but the console operator kept trying and eventually got the mechanism going again.

Then, from low pressure in the line before midnight, the gauges started reporting, about 2 a.m., an unusually high volume of oil being pumped through — which is to say, not "through" but into the waterway. The console operator checked with his supervisor, who recommended restarting the system. The operator reprogrammed and restarted, and once again much more oil than should be was recorded as flowing through the line. The operator noted the high rate, but let it flow.

At 3 a.m. the system automatically shut off again. At 3:40 the console operator started it up again. At 3:50 the Linden Fire Department arrived at the plant because of reports of an oil spill. The night supervisor said he knew nothing of any spill. The fire officers left and, minutes later, the line shut down yet again. By this time the notion of "leak" seems to have occurred to the operator and his supervisor, because they finally took proper action.

For at least six hours oil had been pumping into the waterway. If Exxon's own proper procedure had been followed, however, first the grounds and then the water would have been checked for possible leakage a little after 10 p.m. on Jan. 1. According to the DEP's report, the attitude of the two employees in charge was that, since there had been false alarms from the system before, there was no sense in taking these alarms seriously. Imagine if fire departments behaved in like fashion.

The DEP also discovered that neither the console operator nor the night supervisor had taken the required examinations for their posts. Neither possessed the necessary certification.

If the leak detection procedure had been followed the Arthur Kill incident would probably have been a minor oil leak, with little or no legal action attached.

Now, with that civil suit pending, as well as other suits both civil and criminal threatening, Exxon posts its reward, as if to suggest that the massive leak was due to the crack in the line and not employee negligence.

Why is Exxon doing this? Their own consultants have informed them that the line may have been hit a year or more before the crack formed and the leak occurred, and that even the type of object that bumped the line cannot be identified. There is about as much a chance of Exxon finding a culprit — and paying out the reward — as an oil-logged fish egg has of hatching.

However, if Exxon can convince a judge that the company diligently attempted to find the "mystery ship," then perhaps the court would reduce the damages. With that figure likely to reach into the scores of millions, Exxon's "good behavior" might save $5 or $10 or $15 million. Not bad for a diversionary tactic costing about $250,000.

The courts must not let themselves be hoodwinked. A company is responsible for checking the certifications of specialized employees. Exxon must, at least, be charged for the cleanup and the damage done to the food chain. The legal system must not let Exxon slip by with oily maneuvers.

Merachnik mistaken

Dr. Merachnik's statement, "The defeat of the elementary budgets led to the defeat of the regional budget" published in an article on April 26 is not consistent with events, and I take exception to his statement. The recent defeat of the local elementary budget for Mountainside and the Union County Regional High School budget are two very separate issues.

The Mountainside elementary budget was defeated for a variety of local issues. Over the past fifteen years, the Mountainside Board of Education has taken the steps necessary to contain school taxes while meeting the educational needs of our children. The Mountainside board demonstrated through the prudent closing of two schools and the resulting staff reductions a recognition of a declining student enrollment, but has maintained a viable education experience for our youth.

On the other hand, the Regional Board of Education has failed to address the decline in enrollment and has continued to operate four high schools at 50 percent capacity. Bureaucracy, politics, and public pressure are not easy to contend with, but Mr. Merachnik and the Regional Board of Education have a responsibility and commitment to fulfill here.

The defeat of the regional budget was not a result of the failure to pass the local budgets, but the failure of the Regional Board of Education and the superintendent, Dr. Merachnik, to address a long-standing problem of too few students in too many schools. In reality, this oversight may have had a detrimental impact on the passing of those local budgets which were defeated.

We owe our young people the best education possible, but you also owe the taxpayer a commitment to the prudent use of funds and facilities. The youth are our future, but we must also live in the present.

Generosity appreciated

On behalf of the Mountainside Twigs, an auxiliary of Children's Specialized Hospital, I would like to thank the Crisciutiello family of Mountainside for their unsolicited generosity.

The Crisciutiellos recently donated 220 tulip plants allowing our organization to raise $1,600 in an outdoor flower sale. All proceeds of this fundraiser will be used to buy equipment and materials to accommodate the special needs of the children in Children's Specialized Hospital.

It is truly heartwarming to know such caring people.

Impossible, but done

When I first heard what Mr. Paul Krauss was planning to do for the Deerfield School musical I thought he was undertaking the impossible. He certainly proved me wrong. He not only did the impossible; he did it spectacularly! He enlisted people from 5 to 75 from the school community and the borough community to work together for a common cause. That's something very rare these days. And it wasn't just the people in the cast he pulled together, it was the whole town. He did it with a freshness, a vibrancy, and a positive attitude. He certainly has my deep appreciation and admiration.

Now if only a certain Board of Education member would open her eyes and see what is so obvious to everyone else—Mr. Krauss and the Deerfield School play were and are wonderful!

What it means

Memorial Day conveys to Americans the price and pain of the quest for freedom. It is a day to honor the dead and what their service and sacrifice meant for America.

Think About It

My machine'll give yours a buzz

By JOHN TARTAGLINO

I was walking through a parking lot on my way into a restaurant a few days ago when I heard this sound. It was sort of a low metallic buzzing that floated through the air from nowhere in particular. I stopped and listened for a moment, trying to identify the source. Then it hit me. It was coming from one of the parked cars around me. It was the sound of a car phone.

Here's a question of 90's etiquette: Do you answer somebody's SAAB when it's ringing, or do you just walk by? Luckily, the question became moot a moment later when the cellular phone's answering machine kicked in and took the message.

Do you realize that, at this very moment, there's probably some guy somewhere whose beeper is telling him to standby for a FAX transmission that's about to come over his car phone? Granted the odds are this guy's in L.A., so he can't hurt us, but that's beside the point.

It seems to me that our big problem is that we've expanded our ability to communicate by a factor of 10, without really having anything more to say.

Let's take an example. According to my figures, the main function of FAX machines is to deliver millions of un-requested menus from every deli in North America.

Still, FAXES are obviously here to stay. I just read a short article in the newspaper that the U.S. Postal Service is going to equip its post offices with public fax machines under the theory — "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." They've been planning this for a while, but had to work out some technical bugs first. Mainly, I hear from my spies, they were working on a way to lose a few transmissions every so often just to give the whole thing that traditional Postal Service "feel".

Anyway, I've been seeing predictions that by the end of the decade (or maybe the end of the century... no one's quite sure which), most American homes will have their own FAX machines as a basic part of their "personal home communications system." They predict a new era when all Americans, no matter their status, will know the price of countless "Soups de jour" throughout the world.

Think of the revolution in the way we communicate. The way it is now, I get home to find a quickly scrawled message on the table that says: "Call Sam!"

I don't know which Sam, so I spend three hours calling every Sam I've ever met only to find that I misunderstood the writing. It REALLY said: "Call Pam."

Under the new system, I'll come home and check my FAX bin. There I'll find a facsimile of a hastily scrawled note that instructs: "Call me!!!! ...Sam."

Whether those whom we honor died on or off the battlefield is of little importance. What is important is that each of those who died is a part of America's past. Each in some manner has made his or her own contribution to our great American heritage.

We have heard it so many times that the present is merely a prelude to the future. Applying that same logic, we can conclude that yesterday was the prelude to today.

Those to whom we pay homage on this Memorial Day 1990, from the patriots of early America to the dead of the four wars of this 20th century and the skirmishes of the last decade, have played their role in shaping the destiny of our nation and our lives.

From them we have inherited a sacred trust. They established and then preserved our freedom through self-sacrifice, personal valor and an unswerving devotion to the causes which were greater to them than life itself.

We can pay no higher tribute to our dead nor render greater service to our nation this day than to instill in others, who seemingly have no reason for remembering, the true spirit of Memorial Day. This is, in truth, a day for all Americans.

Unflagging remembrance

Each year, through the appropriations of the Department of Human Services and under the support of Ann Baran, the Union County Freeholders and the Division of Veterans' Internment, Peter J. Bartus and the Union County Flag Guardian Committee with Flag Chairman Robert J. Wacker, the graves of all Union County cemeteries are supplied with a memorial flag for our deceased veterans of all wars.

The cooperation of all the veterans organizations in the county make it possible to decorate properly marked graves with an appropriate marker flag for this special day of tribute, Memorial Day, to remind our nation of those who made the supreme sacrifice for our nation and you.

Our cemeteries will be sure to have a supply on hand for those who wish to place a flag on a veteran's grave not marked, free for the asking. Please understand at no time will you be asked to buy a flag; they are given by the County as explained above.

Veterans groups may be found at many of the cemeteries throughout the County with markers to supply for a veteran's grave or any assistance you or your family may need in getting information on graves, stones, or any V.A. assistance.

Graceland Cemetery on the Boulevard in Kenilworth is where you may contact County Flag Chairman Bob Wacker and his veterans committee for any help from May 27 to May 30, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Members of the American Legion, V.F.W., Catholic War Vets, Jewish War Vets and D.A.V. will be with me for your assistance.

Please feel free to stop by and get a flag or anything you may need to know for a veteran's assistance or his family.

Attitude finally changing about Alzheimer's disease

By MATTHEW RINALDO
Congressman, 7th district
As millions of Americans live longer and more productive lives, a new set of health problems is confronting many families as the incidence of Alzheimer's disease rises. Four million Americans suffer from Alzheimer's and related disorders, according to the latest statistics from the National Institute of Aging.

This frightening figure carries an enormous emotional and economic cost to the families of Alzheimer's sufferers. Victims of this illness need almost constant attention, and few families can afford private, full-time nursing care. The costs to society are staggering — an estimated $88 billion a year in treatment, nursing care, lost wages to family members who must care for the victims, and lost productivity.

Alzheimer's was a dark secret that has emerged from the closet only in the last few years. Families who once believed that the symptoms were a sign of mental illness now realize that Alzheimer's is a brain disorder that we know very little about and where research must be increased.

Federally funded research into Alzheimer's has been severely underfunded compared to research funding of other major diseases. While Alzheimer's-related funding totals about $150 million annually, money devoted to research into heart disease, AIDS and cancer each total between $700 million to $1.7 billion annually. This year we will spend less than a dollar on research for every $600 in Alzheimer's related costs to society.

At the same time, we will spend four to eleven times that amount on research on each of the other major diseases whose annual costs to society range from $66 billion to $94 billion.

This disparity is due to several factors, foremost among them the lack of public awareness of Alzheimer's. That lack of awareness stems from years of misdiagnosis, misunderstanding of the disease, and a lack of viable options in caring for Alzheimer's patients. It was, in many ways, a disease that was "shoved under the rug." That attitude is changing, however, thanks to my efforts and those of other members of Congress who realize that we need to make an all-out assault on this disease just as we have in other public health fields.

Moreover, we are finally seeing breakthroughs in research. Recent discoveries into Parkinson's, Alzheimer's and other nerve disease are encouraging. Scientists in the United States, Britain, Sweden and Canada working with new drug therapies are optimistic that further research can lead to new forms of treatment that can arrest these diseases that attack nerve cells and part of the brain.

To help further this research, I am sponsoring the Comprehensive Alzheimer's Assistance, Research and Education Act, an important bill that has broad, bipartisan congressional support as well as the support of the Alzheimer's Association, the national group which represents Alzheimer's victims and their families.

Under this bill, funding for Federal research would be quadrupled to over $560 million by 1993, nearing parity with other major diseases. The legislation would also encourage a new Federal, state and private initiative by offering a dollar-for-dollar match of public and private funding totaling $250 million in assistance to the families of Alzheimer's victims.

We have reached a point where a coordinated effort among the states, the Federal government and private groups is warranted. This legislation would improve the care of four million victims and relieve their families of some of the financial and mental agony, while stimulating basic research into ways of curing and preventing this disease.

Money Management

Good time to purchase a house?

With housing costs rising at only about 5 percent annually, the housing market projections for the 1990s are not very rosy. According to the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, CPAs, a key question potential home buyers might want to be asking is whether to buy at all.

CPAs suggest that the decision whether to buy or rent can best be made by weighing the pros and cons of each option. Your ultimate decision will be influenced by the living arrangements you require, plus your current financial situation. Here are some factors you may want to consider when deciding if renting or buying is right for you.

Renting is cheaper than buying. First of all, in many parts of the country it is now cheaper to rent than to buy — even when taking the tax benefits of home ownership into consideration. Remember that although home ownership does open the door to numerous tax deductions, the dollar value of those deductions has been somewhat deflated by lower tax rates.

In addition, if you want to buy a home, you must be prepared to make a 10 to 20 percent down payment and pay closing costs, title insurance, and points. For first-time buyers, the substantial down payment often presents the major stumbling block to buying a home, especially in light of the slow growth in the real income of young people today. And if you do have enough money for a down payment, renting offers you the opportunity to invest the money you would have had to tie up in the down payment and other closing costs.

Of course, the cost of owning a home extends beyond the initial payments. In the first year, the average cost of owning a home (after taxes) is approximately 32 percent of your income. In 1970, that cost was only 23 percent.

As a homeowner, you must be prepared to make a long-term commitment to expensive monthly payments, including maintenance, landscaping, trash and snow removal, as well as unexpected major repairs such as a new roof or furnace.

Renters have more mobility: Suppose you lose your job, or must transfer to another location. If you are tied to a short-term lease, you have far more mobility and flexibility than you have as a homeowner. And with some lease agreements, you can even sublet your apartment.

Furthermore, renting offers you the opportunity to test out a particular neighborhood before making a long-term commitment to stay in that location. If you know that you will be moving within four years, it is almost always more advantageous to rent. CPAs say that in most cases, it takes at least four years for your home equity growth to offset the costs of buying and selling.

Some cautionary advice about renting: If you decide to rent, be sure you understand all the terms of the rental agreement. For example, some leases do not allow sublets. And some rental agreements require that you pay for utilities and other maintenance costs. Check your lease to see if it mentions whether your rent will increase if there is an increase in oil prices or local taxes. The lease should also specify how much notice you must give the landlord of your intention to vacate the apartment — and how much notice the landlord must give you if he or she decides to evict you. You should also find out whether you can fix up your apartment by building shelves or making other alterations.

When is buying right? On the other side of the scale, there are considerable advantages to buying a home. For many Americans, the increase in space, privacy, and freedom to remodel associated with home ownership is vital to happiness.

Obviously, the decision to buy a home depends to a great extent on your ability to pay for the costs of the purchase plus the on-going monthly costs of ownership. Some first-time buyers turn to relatives to help with the down payment, others find loans. CPAs suggest that the total carrying charges of owning a home should not exceed 40 percent of your monthly net income.

If your finances are tight, but your heart is set on buying a home, consider a smaller home in a desirable location. You may also want to explore less expensive homes that may involve a longer commute to your place of employment, although these homes may not appreciate as quickly as you would like. Another option is a "handyman's special," a home that needs lots of work. Finally, you may want to opt for a small home that has the potential for expansion.

Tax benefits and equity: Owning a home can still be a good investment — even if the mortgage interest rates exceed the annual appreciation of your home. The reason for this is simple: In the early years of a mortgage, a larger share of the monthly payment goes to tax-deductible interest rather than principle. In addition, you can generally deduct real estate taxes and points paid to secure a mortgage. What's more, you can defer tax on the gain realized by selling your home simply by purchasing a home of equal or greater value.

N.J. takes another step in abolition of the JUA

Insurance Commissioner Samuel F. Fortunato on May 15 ordered private insurance companies to insure an additional 250,000 cars by Oct. 1. Most of those cars are now insured by the JUA and the action is another step in abolishing the insurer.

The commissioner sent a letter to each auto insurance company in the New Jersey market setting the amount of additional policies each company will have to write to meet the industry's overall target as set by law. The Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Act, FAIRA, signed by Governor Jim Florio in March requires the JUA to shrink to 32 percent of the total insurance market from its current level of about 40 percent.

At the same time, the voluntary market of private insurance companies are required to expand their business. For most of the last decade, private companies have written little new business while the population of the JUA reached at one point about 50 percent of the market.

"This is a significant step towards ending the JUA. But, it is also significant, because it means consumers will have more opportunity to buy insurance from the private company of their choice," said Fortunato.

Under FAIRA, the commissioner was required to set up an accelerated schedule to shrink what is known as the residual market, which is reserved for motorists who cannot buy auto insurance from a private company.

By Oct. 1, 1992, nine out of every 10 drivers in the state will have to be insured by a private company.

Under the "quota" plan announced today by Fortunato, Allstate Insurance Co. would have to add 38,667 cars, or an 8.9 percent increase, by October, the most of any company based on raw numbers.

Some smaller companies would see increases by as much as 681 percent (the Reliance Group).

Should the insurance industry not meet its quota of insuring 68 percent of the market by October, the commissioner will assign drivers now insured by the JUA to private companies.

Any individual company that fails to meet its own quota can be prohibited from non-renewing any of its existing business.

THE SPINAL EXAM
If you have a back problem or some other problem caused by a misalignment of your spine, a thorough exam can disclose where the problem is located.
The usual position for a spinal examination is lying on the examination table. But this is only one phase of a thorough spinal exam. For one thing, it won't give a full picture of your personal condition when you're in a relaxed position.
The examination should include a study of how your spine aligns itself when you are carrying heavy objects, when you're standing, and also while walking or running in place. The doctor will also want to know how your spine reacts to stress. He will test various muscles to look for any weakness.
The spine is closely integrated with many parts of your body and the nervous system through which it flows. Areas out of alignment may not only affect the spine but other parts of your body as well. Only a thorough exam will tell if it's in good working order.

Kean prof aids POWs with flags

More POW-MIA, Prisoner of War/Missing in Action, flags are fluttering beneath the Stars and Stripes in New Jersey than ever before thanks to Dr. Michael Helliwell, an associate professor of management science at Kean College of New Jersey.

Helliwell, a Vietnam War veteran and Rutherford resident, said the flag symbolizes the POW/MIA cause — "the fact that there are over 2,300 American servicemen from the Vietnam War still unaccounted for, with 62 from New Jersey.

"There may be as many as 400 live American POWs still being held captive in Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia at this moment, as well as hundreds of American remains being warehoused for future economic consideration by the Vietnamese government," Helliwell said.

Helliwell is campaigning to have colleges and schools hoist the black POW-MIA flag. He said that since the fall of 1989 seven four-year state colleges, eight community colleges and several Bergen County school districts have raised the banner.

"My efforts," Helliwell said, "have been concentrated in the schools of New Jersey, all levels, where our youth can see the POW/MIA flag every day, understand its meaning, and ask questions of their teachers, parents, and community leaders as to why.

"The POW/MIA flag, with the silhouette of the American soldier, head bowed down with the POW camp in the background, and the motto 'You are not forgotten' is a symbol of hope and life that these heroes should be brought home by our government, alive or dead, right now," he asserted.

In addition, two veterans organizations of which Helliwell is a member have succeeded in raising the POW/MIA banner on municipal buildings, post offices, libraries, police and fire departments and other schools.

He is a member of North Jersey Chapter 151, Bayonne, Vietnam Veterans of America, and the National Forget Me Nots Association for POWMIAs.

"The Vietnam War has been over for 15 years. I have been home from the war over 20 years, but its memory is as vivid to me today as it was back in the late 1960s," Helliwell said.

Weekend riders can now use weekday pass

NJ Transit now offers residents of Union and Somerset counties the flexibility of using their monthly or weekly commutation bus and train tickets interchangeably on certain NJ Transit bus routes and on the Raritan Valley rail line for weekend and major holiday travel to or from Newark and New York.

Monthly and weekly Raritan Valley Line rail tickets, with Newark or New York Penn Station as their final origin or destination, are now honored on certain parallel bus routes free of charge. Similarly, monthly bus-pass riders can use their tickets on the Raritan Valley rail line. The tickets can be interchanged from 6:30 p.m. on Fridays until 3 a.m. on Mondays.

The Raritan Valley line operates between Raritan and Newark Penn Station on weekends and holidays. Weekday commuter service is also provided to High Bridge. Connecting rail service to New York is provided from Newark Penn Station. NJ Transit bus routes No. 59 Plainfield-Newark, No. 65-66 Somerville-Newark, No. 108 Newark-New York, No. 113 Dunellen-New York, and No. 114 Clinton-New York operate parallel to the rail line. The bus and rail services operate approximately every hour.

NJ Transit reminds riders that, along with this new convenience, the NJ Transit Family Supersaver Fare program is also effective each weekend. Under this program, two children age 11 and under are permitted to ride free when accompanied by an adult with a rail or bus pass.

For further information about this new fare policy or for specific schedule information, riders are encouraged to call NJ Transit's Information Center at 1-800-772-2222 or 460-8444.

KEEP ON SWINGING — It hasn't been an easy spring for the Lady Bulldogs of Jonathan Dayton Regional High, with the softball team now standing at 1-13 after two more rough losses last week. But Dayton will try to end a disappointing season on an up note this afternoon against Roselle Catholic, with the possibility of any further makeup games for next week remaining 'tentative' as of press time.

Bears key on winning mark

By MARK YABLONSKY

It may be true that the Bears have saved a couple of bad performances — probably their two worst of the season — for county and state tournament baseball games. But barring the unlikely occurrence of a collapse in their final five games, the Brearley Regional diamond squad is going to have a winning season just the same.

And for a team that has definitely been in something of a rebuilding stage, that's nothing to sneeze at.

"That was one of our goals," explained Brearley skipper Ralph LaConte, whose team, following yesterday's game with Hillside, has four still to play — against Roselle Park, New Providence, Middlesex and North Plainfield. "And I hope we can finish with a winning record.

"They've matured and they've gotten their experience," the coach added, "and they've had some growing pains. All I can say is I hope it pays dividends for them next season. But we're not done yet this season."

The Bears, after defeating Oratory, 9-3, last Monday, took a long bus ride to Warren County the following day where Belvidere prevailed, 12-1, eliminating the Bears from any further state tournament play this season.

The Bears, now 12-8-1, only outhit Oratory by a 9-7 margin, but prevailed largely on the strength of a six-run fourth inning.

After taking a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the second inning on a sacrifice fly by Tim Kaufman and a fielder's choice RBI from Chris Parkhill, the Bears put it away two innings later.

Don Dayton led off the bottom of the fourth with a double, and soon scored when an error immediately followed a single by second baseman Peter Accomando, who was 2-for-3 on the day. After Parkhill and Chris Carey delivered run-scoring singles, Luan Ahmetaj drew a bases-loaded walk for another run, and then Mike Archibald capped the outburst with a two-run single to left.

Parkhill went 3-for-4 with two RBIs, two runs and two steals. Carey, like Accomando, was 2-for-3 in support of winning pitcher Chris Parente, who struck out four and allowed six hits over the first five innings to claim his second win of the season against no defeats. Scott Dubeau allowed just one hit during the final two innings to finish up.

And then the next day at Belvidere, as LaConte put it, the Bears "just came up totally flat...And it was over. No pain, no suffering."

There probably wasn't time. Led by a 3-for-3 effort from rightfielder Tom Karabinus, Belvidere scored all 12 of its runs within the first three innings, including a six-run explosion in the second that quickly put it out of reach.

The Bears got their only run with two out in the fifth when Jose Rodrigues singled home Brian Moleen, who had doubled.

Moleen took the loss for Brearley, his second of the season against five wins.

'Dawgs, Ladies halted twice

The following is this week's rundown on Dayton Regional High School sports.

BASEBALL

The Bulldogs were finally able to get two games in this past week, but lost them both, 8-6, to Immaculata last Tuesday in Somerville, and then, 13-2, to Hanover Park in a state sectional playoff game this past Saturday in Springfield.

Back in action against Immaculata for the first time in eight days, the 'Dawgs got some added muscle from the bat of designated hitter Dan LaMorges, who drove in five runs.

LaMorges, a senior who had been sidelined until recently with a nagging shoulder injury, gave Dayton a 4-0 lead in the top of the second inning when he delivered a two-out, grand-slam homer off of Spartan hurler Pat Zec. The four-run blast had been set up on walks to Matt Gallaro and Dave Tazaki, sandwiched around a single by Billy Hart.

Aided by John Hoffman's solo homer in the bottom of the inning off Jay DeSai, the Spartans scored twice in their turn at bat in the second, and then twice more in the third to tie it at 4-4.

Dayton again surged in front, 6-4, in the top of the fourth inning, this time on run-scoring singles from LaMorges and Andy Huber. But the Spartans, sparked by Matt Blum's two-run homer, scored three times in the bottom of the fourth to take the lead for good.

Against Hanover Park, Hart and his Dayton teammates trailed only by a 1-0 margin entering the top of the fifth inning, but a 12-run outburst put the contest totally out of reach. Frank Cefalo singled in two runs for Hanover Park in the inning, and Mike Valentino singled in another.

Terrence Young's two-run single for Dayton in the bottom of the fifth saved Dayton from a shutout, but was not enough to prevent the 10-run rule from putting an early end to the game.

SOFTBALL

The Lady Bulldogs also got two games in, and lost them both as well, first falling, 21-2, to Immaculata in Springfield last Tuesday; and then, 11-0, on Saturday night in North Plainfield. Both games were stopped after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Against Immaculata, Dayton scored its only two runs in the third inning. Sally Kisch doubled in Lauren Meixner, who had walked; and Dawn Ray followed with a run-scoring single to plate Kisch.

Immaculata got off to an 8-0 lead in the top of the first inning, sparked by Judy Mastriano's run-scoring triple off of losing hurler Jen Minieri.

Holly Olarczuk took the loss for Dayton against North Plainfield. Dayton, which is now 1-13, will play at Roselle Catholic this afternoon.

Who's on 1st?

This week's question: What major league baseball player holds the rather dubious distinction of grounding into the most double plays throughout an otherwise illustrious 23-year career? A clue: he could also hit for power — lots of power.

Last week's answer: Don Drysdale pitched his first major league shutout in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium. "Big D" beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-0, on June 5, 1957, as a member of the then-Brooklyn Dodgers.

Keep in mind that in both 1956 and 1957 — the team's last two seasons in Brooklyn — the Dodgers crossed Newark Bay to play a handful of games each year in Roosevelt Stadium, a once-proud minor league facility that later housed rock concerts and other outdoor shows before being razed for a condominium complex in May 1985.

Drysdale ended his career with a record of 209-166 and a 2.95 ERA. And our congratulations go to Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden, who correctly answered last week's question.

Music conveys intensity

By MILT HAMMER
Turntable Treat: "Mil Amores," by Doug Cameron, Narada Equinox Records. "Mil amores" in Spanish means "1,000 loves." In the mind of violinist/composer Doug Cameron, it conveys the intensity and emotion he brings to his music.

DOUG CAMERON

Passion clearly plays a central role in each selection found on "Mil Amores," Doug's third career album and his first for the Narada Equinox label. It joins "Passion Suite," 1988, and "Freeway Mentality," 1986, both released on Spindletop Records, as the newest addition to Cameron's solo discography, and it offers the strongest contemporary jazz orientation ever presented on a Narada Equinox recording.

Entirely composed, arranged and produced by Cameron, "Mil Amores" showcases the remarkable range of emotions that Cameron can coax from his violin: the Latin-tinged exuberance of the "Magia Espanola" and "Cuban Spice"; the evocative romanticism of the title track and "The Journey"; and the uplifting propulsion of "The Time Is Now."

including guitarist Dann Huff from the group, Giant; bassist Jimmy Johnson; and, in Cameron's mind, "the most incredible drummer I've ever known," Vinnie Colaiuta. Cameron combines their talents with his trademark blue violin to successfully build what Billboard has described as "an ingenious bridge between fusion's urban feel and new age."

Cameron also teams up with guitarist Lee Ritenour on several tracks. Ritenour switches to flamenco guitar for a gorgeous duet on the album's closing track, "The Gypsy's Tear." "Lee is a great flamenco guitarist," Cameron says, "and from our very first reading of the piece, I could feel a special electricity between us. I think we really captured the romantic, passionate feeling I was after."

"I enjoy a lot of different styles of music, although I have a special fondness for the sensual excitement of Spanish and Brazilian music," says Cameron, who speaks fluent Spanish.

disc 'n' data

"I think the violin really works well in this type of setting."

Cameron's "Passion Suite" album spent two months as a Top-5 fixture on radio airplay charts, contemporary jazz and new adult contemporary during the spring of 1988, establishing a tradition of popularity that "Mil Amores" will sustain.

"There's some great playing on this record, and it really complements the music," says the 34-year-old Cameron. "My goal is to move people with the atmosphere my compositions create, not simply to impress them with technique."

"I'm more interested in working with different melodic and harmonic ideas than overpowering people with the violin. Because it's a higher-pitched instrument, I try to balance its intensity with other instruments in order to achieve the right effect. And to me, this album feels right."

Local art students

Original artwork of 43 Union County College students has been selected and is currently on display in a student show marking the end of the 1989-90 academic year.

Among the students whose works are on display are Pat Beveridge of Roselle, Martha Venturo of Roselle Park, Louis Fugaro, Patricia Schadel, and Harry Lewis all of Springfield, and Michael Fumero of Union.

The show, which will be on through May 31 in the Tomasulo Gallery in the MacKay Library on the Cranford campus, will feature one or more works by individuals enrolled during the year in the College's art classes. A total of 77 pieces, including drawings, paintings, illustrations, and graphic designs are on view and have been ranked by professional judges.

The show is co-sponsored by the college's Art Society.

According to Prof. Antony Nicoli, art gallery director, the students' artwork was selected "based on their successful solution to an assigned visual problem, and on their competitive appearances."

Gallery hours are from 1 to 4 p.m., and again from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays, and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. For further information one can call 709-7155.

The Passport ProgramSM at Supertots
This summer, parents and children have a very exciting alternative to summer camp—the Passport ProgramSM at Supertots. It's a celebration of life and cultures around the world. Every 2 weeks our Supertots Learning Center will be transformed into a different cultural experience and children ages 3-12 will be involved in age-appropriate learning activities.
For the summer only, Supertots welcomes 6-12 year olds into our innovative program. It's available on a bi-weekly basis or for the entire 10 week period.

Enroll in the Passport ProgramSM immediately—space is limited.
It's also a great way to find out about Supertots year-round "early childhood education program." From our developmentally-planned learning programs, to our state-of-the-art centers, to our superior staff, you'll see for yourself why

$50,000.00 REWARD

On January 1 and 2 of this year, heating oil leaked into the Arthur Kill from a ruptured pipeline. The rupture of the pipeline was the result of an extreme external force. Exxon Company, U.S.A. is offering a $50,000 reward to anyone who provides information leading to the identification of the person or persons responsible for the physical force which led to the rupture of Exxon's 12 inch Bayway-Bayonne Inter-Refinery Pipeline under the Arthur Kill. Exxon will determine the person or persons entitled to the reward. Exxon employees, agents, and members of their families are not eligible for this reward. This offer of reward will terminate on June 30, 1990.

For week of May 27-June 2

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) News from afar — possibly overseas — brings you pause for thought. Do not be a shrinking violet, but calm your hyperactivity. Long phone calls with loved ones could be of help.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Congratulations, you have won the lottery of life: good will among men. Highlight your personal magnetism. Friends will see you with new eyes. Capitalize on this new view.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Write letters, pay bills. A long-lost "contact" emerges front and center. Be extra gabby. Your words and your charisma will spread like wildfire.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Dreamy. Impressionable. Spacey. That is what friends are seeing in you, but you know better. You will save the world. Just do not do it all in one week — save some room for others.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Are you feeling sluggish this week and you do not know why? Unusual for you, but a lack of self-confidence creeps up on you. Do not let the bedbugs bite. Smile and the world smiles with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Picky, picky, picky. Hire some help if you cannot do it all. Your creative powers peak as the summer solstice nears. Plan a holiday, even if it is just a short trip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Let it go in the love department. Too many heartaches abound. Focus your harmonious energies on work and play. Your colleagues are very supportive. You need it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your mind says "yes," but your soul says "no." Think twice before you go jumping into a business deal; and halt any major purchasing. Family responsibilities require some extra attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Sitting still is not your cup of tea, so get up and go. Do not let your mate saddle you down. A busy body is a busy mind, as well. Do some work around the house.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Your sarcasm rears its head again. No problem. Temper it with your gentle side. Focus yourself on new career goals. Plan a summer vacation — you definitely need a break.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Are you all dressed up with nowhere to go? Solve that problem with several phone calls. You are the center of attention. Do not neglect your loved ones. Kind words pay back dividends.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) What you suspected comes true. Use caution as you ferret out the facts. Read the fine print and consult "experts." Your telepathic powers are aces in the hole.

Safe Microwave use

Microwaves are easier and faster to use than conventional ovens, but they can cause serious burns and scalds if not operated with care. Read and follow the manufacturer's directions for operation. Never place metal dishes or aluminum foil in a microwave.

Restaurant review

The Garden Restaurant

 THE GARDEN RESTAURANT, 943 Magie Ave., Union. Serving lunch and dinner. Casual attire. Major credit cards. Non-smoking area. 558-0101.

By KATHERINE BROOKS

The Garden Restaurant is a lovely place to eat when looking for a casual place to dine.

Ideally located on a main drive, this restaurant is easily accessed from most North Jersey towns. The Garden Restaurant is a comfortable eatery, offering a charming and relaxed atmosphere.

A varied menu is offered, accommodating lunch and dinner, or just a snack. The portions are generous and range in price from $4.50 to $14.95. The clams casino, $4.75, were excellent! These clams had a great stuffing. The clams were filled with chunks of clam, crabmeat, herbs, diced onions and peppers. This is not your typical bread-crumbed stuffing — it was very tasty. This delicious stuffing is also used to complement other menu items.

The nachos supreme, $5.25, is outrageous! The tortilla chips are layered with diced olives, beef, tomato, jalapenos, cheese, topped with sour cream and guacamole. These are definitely the best nachos this side of the Hudson River.

Other "tempters" include the Athenian platter, $6.50, which is chunks of sauteed beef with a small Greek salad. The combo, $5.50, is a combination of bacon skins, Mozzarella marinara, and chicken strips. The spuds trio, $3.95, is crisp potato skins filled with seafood, broccoli and bacon, topped with cheddar and served with sour cream.

Soups, pizza and quiches are also available for munching. Burgers and sandwiches, most about $4.75, make for a great lunch.

The pastas are a full meal, served with a house salad. Pasta with shrimp and vegetables, $8.95, is lightly spiced and served over linguine. The Fettuccine Alfredo, Carbonara, and linguine with white clam sauce are also pleasant alternatives.

For my entree, I truly enjoyed the stuffed shrimp, $12.95. It was stuffed with the very same stuffing that I had earlier with my clams casino. Again, I must brag about the stuffing. It was delicious.

This menu has a fantastic seafood selection. A pound of Alaskan King crab legs is only $14.95. Sole is prepared three ways: stuffed with crabmeat for $11.95, baked with spinach, mushrooms, and cheddar with a mozzarella sauce for $9.50, or broiled for $10.95. The grilled swordfish, $11.95, was a good cut, and is also available blackened for $12.95.

The Garden Restaurant has a great 10-ounce New York strip steak for $9.95. The chicken dijonais, for $9.25, is a grilled chicken breast with a dijon mustard sauce. The veal marsala for $12.95, and parmigiana for $10.95, round off the menu selections nicely. A children's menu is also available.

Overall, the Garden Restaurant is a very good place to eat. It even offers a non-smoking section. And a separate bar area is perfect for mingling with friends.

BUSINESS

Divorce lawyers save frustration

Many individuals, in the midst of divorce proceedings, are shocked that they find themselves there.

In fact, most indicate that their marriages had been deteriorating for years. Then one day they have an experience which comprises "the last straw." The marriage is "over" and the divorce has begun.

The spouses search frantically for a competent matrimonial attorney at a chaotic time and attempt to jockey into position to best protect themselves.

A far better procedure would include finding a competent matrimonial attorney and reducing vulnerability earlier, before the divorce sparks fly.

As a matrimonial attorney, Andrea Grayson spends a good deal of time accomplishing goals which could have been realized more easily prior to the onset of litigation. Spouses would spare themselves much expense, delay, frustration and disappointment if they consulted with a competent matrimonial attorney before the divorce begins, the sooner the better.

One need not retain an attorney on a continuing basis prematurely, but rather, should simply arrange for a consultation to become informed as to how to achieve long-term goals and avoid pitfalls while there is time to make a difference, she says.

"I am reminded of the husband who, prior to consulting with a matrimonial attorney, moved from the marital home in an effort at a 'trial separation.' The parties thought it would be a worthwhile experiment as they were contemplating divorce. The husband thought the experiment was a failure and wished to return to the marital home. However, he was precluded from doing so," she said.

"Similarly, the wife of a physician, who did the office's bookkeeping, was 'fired,' upon her husband's planned departure from the marital home, prior to her consultation with a matrimonial attorney.

"On a personal level, it was for the best. However, the wife spent much time and money attempting to obtain 'discovery' of the financial information surrounding the husband's professional practice. The information sought was the very type with which the wife routinely worked and had regular access prior to the husband's move," she said.

The best general advice is to consult with a competent matrimonial attorney as early as possible.

Grayson practices family law in Short Hills and Union.

CLAUDIA FORTUNATO

Union Hospital recently appointed Claudia Fortunato, R.N., of Warren as director of admitting and outpatient services, announced Assistant Administrator for Quality Management Services Mary Ellen McLane.

Fortunato will oversee the day-to-day functions of admitting, pre-admission testing and outpatient services.

PATRICK J. GRANT

The board of directors of Investors Savings and Loan Association has announced that Patrick J. Grant of New Providence has been elected president and chief executive officer.

He succeeds Roland Lewan Jr., who died earlier this month.

Investors Savings, headquartered in Millburn, has assets of more than $2 billion and is the largest savings and loan association in the state. It has local offices in Hillside, Irvington, Short Hills, Springfield and Union.

Grant was formerly executive vice president and chief operating officer of the association and is a member of the board.

E.J. HALL

E.J. "Ned" Hall has been appointed president of QEI Inc. of Springfield.

Hall comes to QEI from a position as Director of Information Technology at Coopers and Lybrand, New York, N.Y., a "Big Eight" public accounting and consulting firm. He previously held positions as President and Chief Operating Officer of C&W Incotel Inc. a New York City-based worldwide telecommunications company; C&W Network Services, a data communications service organization of Dallas, Texas; and SEEK Systems Inc., a subsidiary of Tiger International, a Los Angeles, Calif., Fortune 100 transportation company.

Schering moves

Schering-Plough HealthCare Products has announced that its administrative headquarters will be located in the new Bernards/78 office building on Interstate 78 in Bernards Township.

Schering-Plough also maintains major installations in Kenilworth and Union. Approximately 300 employees will work in the new facility, including the business unit's marketing, sales management and related support functions. Initial occupancy will occur in June, with the site becoming fully operational by July 1.

Schering-Plough HealthCare Products was formed in September 1989 by consolidating Schering-Plough Corporation's Personal Care Group of Memphis, Tenn., with its over-the-counter pharmaceutical business of Kenilworth. The unit's Memphis facilities will continue to serve as an operational headquarters.

"We have selected an outstanding facility at the crossroads of Interstates 78 and 287," said David E. Collins, president of Schering-Plough HealthCare Products.

"Bernards/78, conveniently situated near Schering-Plough's corporate headquarters in Madison and its pharmaceutical operations in Kenilworth, is an ideal location from which to direct the growth of this new business unit."

Schering-Plough will be leasing approximately one-half of the 200,000 square feet available in the building, which is owned by Bernards/78 Associates, a joint venture of Johl Associates III of New York City and Summit Associates Inc. of Edison, N.J. Designed by The Hillier Group of Princeton, the complex comprises two 100,000-square-foot modules connected by a central atrium.

"Schering-Plough HealthCare Products, with annual revenues exceeding $600 million, was formed to help the company target new growth opportunities and extract the most from existing resources," said Collins.

"With such leading brands as 'Coppertone' sun care products and the 'Dr. Scholl's' foot care line, we expect to strengthen our leading position in these markets."

Schering-Plough Corporation is a research-based company engaged primarily in the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of pharmaceutical and health care products worldwide.

Uneda wins award

Uneda Home Improvement Co. Inc. of Linden won an Award of Distinction from the Vinyl Siding Institute for outstanding workmanship in the creative application of vinyl siding products.

The award, in the Historical Building category, was for a building located in Sewaren. The firm was one of 90 winners selected in five diffe-

In their commentary, the judges noted that "the selection of vinyl siding made a significant contribution to the success of the project." They pointed out "both the number and quality of entries were the highest in the eight-year history of the competition."

See the world with Lloyd Exchange

Is it Scandinavia you would like to visit? What about the Caribbean? The Mediterranean? The Far East? California? At Lloyd Exchange Travel, 1988 Morris Ave., Union, the world is waiting for you.

Whether you are planning your first vacation or your fifth, arranging for an important business trip or dreaming of that honeymoon hideaway, you could probably use a little help from a professional.

Making your own travel arrangements for vacations and business trips can sometimes be confusing and costly in time and effort. That is why many people have turned to the travel experts at Lloyd Exchange Travel.

The travel professionals at Lloyd Travel are among the best in the county, and have totaled over 75 years of experience in the field.

"There are about 17 different travel agencies in Union," says Margaret Leyendecker, a native of Germany who has been the owner of Lloyd Travel for about 14 years. She began working for Lloyd in 1955 — her first job after coming to the United States from Europe.

"Out of all of the other travel agents in town, we have been here the longest and we strive to be the best."

"Unfortunately, many people are uninformed about travel and don't know the very best ways to make travel arrangements. That is why we do it all for you, and we do it for the same prices you would have paid directly to the airlines, hotels or cruise lines."

When you step into the office of Lloyd Exchange Travel, all of the options are open. The courteous and experienced personnel there find out your interests and financial constraints and tailor the very best vacation possible just for you.

"We tell you where you can go, how you will get there without any problems, where to go once you are there and how much it will cost," says Leyendecker. "If you were to do it all yourself, you might have to call 20 motels and several airlines before you found what you wanted."

From visas to plane tickets — hotel reservations to singles clubs, Lloyd Exchange Travel does everything possible to make your next vacation the best vacation.

"Satisfied customers are our best advertisement," says Leyendecker. "Most of our business comes from regular customers. The rest usually comes from word-of-mouth recommendations."

"Everyone is different. Our job is to get you where you want to go at the right time, the right way, at the right price."

Lloyd Exchange Travel has been attracting clientele from just about everywhere in the state for decades, and, through consistent quality service, intends to continue to move in that direction.

For all your travel needs and vacation dreams, let Lloyd Exchange Travel take the wheel.

Book on writers

The New Jersey Historical Commission has published a book on three New Jersey authors. Titled "William Carlos Williams, Stephen Crane, Philip Freneau: Papers and Poems Celebrating New Jersey's Literary Heritage," the book contains selections by 13 scholars and poets and was edited by W. John Bauer of Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

The papers and poems were presented by critics and writers during a series of New Jersey Literary Heritage Festivals during the 1980s. The festivals included scholarly conferences, operas, plays, dramatic readings, exhibitions, and other activities celebrating the three authors' lives and works.

Williams — 1883-1963 — who wrote the three-volume poem "Paterson," lived in Rutherford. The papers on him discuss the structure of his writings, the development of his poetics, and the relation between his work and his ideas about himself.

Crane — 1871-1900 — the author of "The Red Badge of Courage," was born and raised in Elizabeth. The Crane section of the book treats his home state's influence on his works, his development as a humanist, the significance of his expatriation, and the translation of one of his short stories into film.

Freneau — 1752-1832 — who lived in Monmouth County, "is usually seen as a minor poet and polemicist. Several of the papers suggest that the politics and poetic conventions of the early national period kept him from full recognition during his life and that bad editing has harmed his reputation ever since."

The 181-page paperback is illustrated with portraits, scenes from the subjects' lives, and photographs of activities that surrounded the conferences at which the papers were given.

The publication was assisted by grants from the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities, the New Jersey College English Association, and the Kean College Alumni Association.

AFTER THE CONCERT — The Westfield Symphony Orchestra performed the third concert in their series recently in Westfield High School auditorium. The concert was sponsored by NYNEX and AGS Information Services Inc. of Mountainside. From left are Ted Engkvist, president of NYNEX Information Solutions Group; Maestro Brad Keimach, music conductor of the concert; Peter Orth, pianist; and Tony Stepanski of AGS.

Annual Members' Show

The New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, 68 Elm St., Summit, will hold its annual Members Show from Sunday to June 24 in the center's Palmer Gallery. The opening reception will take place Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The exhibition will present paintings, sculpture, prints, jewelry, ceramics, and mixed media pieces, in addition to photography by the center's member artists.

Hildreth York, associate professor, Rutgers University, director of the Museums Studies Program and curator, will select works to be awarded Best in Show and other prizes. Awards will be presented during the opening reception. The exhibition and reception are free and open to the public. Most of the work in the show will be for sale.

The NJCVA receives partial funding from the N.J. State Council on the Arts/Department of State.

For further information one can call 273-9121.

New members elected

At a recent annual meeting of the Arts Foundation of New Jersey held at Rutgers University, six new members were elected to the board of directors, three to the executive advisory and two to the artistic advisory council.

Dr. Milton Schwebel, president, welcomed the new members. Among them was Harriet Maynor of Roselle, educator. Among the officers elected was Oscar Granison of Roselle, independent video producer, as secretary to a three-year term on the board.

Individuals interested in becoming involved as participants or volunteers with any of the Arts Foundation of New Jersey's programs can contact Jacqueline Rubel at P.O. Box 352, New Brunswick, 08903, or call 463-3640.

'La Mancha' due

"Man of La Mancha," the musical story of Don Quixote, will open tomorrow at the Cranford Dramatic Club, CDC, 78 Winans Ave. The show will run Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 through June 9.

"Man of La Mancha," best known for the song "The Impossible Dream," is written by Dale Wasserman with music by Mitch Leigh and lyrics by Joe Darion.

Directing the CDC production is Lynne A. Beriont of Linden. Assisting her is Carol Sliker. Betty Sanders is musical director, and choreography is by Cindy Smith. Charles Roessler of Westfield portrays the title role. His servant, Sancho, is played by Ed Dybas of Roselle Park. Janice Lynn plays Aldonza, the woman who becomes Don Quixote's Dulcinea.

Members of the cast include Maurice Moran, George Shuhan, Jim Finnegan, Ginger Jones, Peggy Seymour, Carol Peterson, Marilyn Vice, Christine Guerriero, Ed Wittel, Ken Rosenblum, Bill Wicklem, Dennis Babish, Dale Ramcharan, Don Boland, Art Vice, Tony Smith, Therese Nist and Ginny Jordan.

Tickets can be reserved by calling the box office at 276-7611. The Cranford Dramatic Club also will present "Man of La Mancha," in conjunction with the American Cancer Society, May 31.

Proceeds from the event will go to the American Cancer Society Union County Service Headquarters. "These funds will help life-saving programs in patient services, public and professional education and research."

For more information about ticket sales, one can call the American Cancer Society at 354-7373.

'Mirrors' on exhibition at Swain

"Mirrors: An Exhibition" will feature period designs including Louis XVI and Art Nouveau in a showing through Saturday at Swain Galleries in Plainfield, 703 Watchung Ave. Authentic reproductions by American craftsmen and singular antique pieces will be shown typically finished in 22K-gold on red or blue clay.

For more information, one can call 756-1707.

Theater concludes season with one-man Hoyle show

George Street Playhouse, 9 Livingston Ave., New Brunswick, will conclude its 16th anniversary season with Geoff Hoyle in "Feast of Fools," tomorrow. It will run through June 17.

"Feast of Fools," which is directly from off-Broadway, is a one-man show, conceived, written and performed by Hoyle.

For further information one can call 246-7469.

HILLSIDE AUTO MALL FORD LINCOLN MERCURY

Rich Liebler, Pres. of Hillside Auto Mall became a Lincoln Mercury dealer in Elizabeth in 1974, selling over 300 cars each year. His brother Jeff, joined the business in 1979 and is now the Executive VP. Together they opened Hillside Auto Mall in 1989 and added their Ford franchise to the Mall, making them the largest Ford and Lincoln Mercury showplace in New Jersey. They now sell over 3,000 vehicles a year. Conveniently located on Route 22, between the Garden State Parkway and Newark Airport, they've adopted the motto of "Huge Discounts, No Gimmicks, with Quality Service!" Don't buy a Ford product unless you check with Rich or Jeff Liebler first.

KEY OLDSMOBILE/MAZDA

Dominic Lepore, owner of Key Oldsmobile/Mazda since 1955 started out with a few used cars and a small Oldsmobile Dealership. Since that time the company has grown, added Mazda and developed into one of the most respected dealerships in New Jersey. Key Olds is a family operation. Son, Dennis Lepore, 15 years & daughter Donna Lepore, 5 years with the company, are eager to tell how the feeling is. "We're not just another cold, car dealer. Our customers keep coming back time and time again because of the warm feeling they get, not to mention great service." Sales manager, Victor Rajappi, has been on board for 5 years and offers a great wealth of experience as well. Key Olds has a vast inventory of new and used cars all fully guaranteed.
