Boro Council and BOE slice school budget

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside Board of Education last week approved a $75,000 reduction in its 1990-91 school budget — a cut which was recently agreed upon by the board and the Mountainside Borough Council following the budget's defeat on April

The original $3.8 million budget called for an 11 percent increase over last year's figure, primarily due to a boost in fixed costs, as well as Governor James Florio's proposed cuts in state aid to New Jersey school capital outlay portion or debt service. The revised budget will also result in a 1.5 tax point decrease for Mountainside residents.

Mountainside Superintendent of Schools Leonard Bacarro reported that the board met with Mountainside Mayor Robert Viglianti and the Borough Council earlier this month to discuss ways to trim the budget without affecting the quality of education in the borough.

"The Borough Council and the board both tried to keep all the cuts away from educational programs and we feel we've been successful in doing that," Bacarro remarked last Friday, adding that discussions between the two sides were "very positive."

Bacarro said that the board was able to arrange for certain major services and renovations to be conducted at a lower cost than had originally been anticipated, which he said contributed significantly to the board's ability to reduce the budget.

The greatest reduction involved a $30,000 savings in the budget's Building Repairs and Maintenance category concerning two statemandated projects, which he explained was accomplished through early bidding.

These included the recent removal of asbestos at Deerfield School and the planned installation of a fire retrofit system at the Vail-Deane School. The two projects had been expected to cost $110,000 altogether but instead cost $80,000.

Bacarro reported that the asbestos project, originally slated to cost $25,000, was done for $10,000 because of early bidding. The earlier figure had been based on an estimate made by the district's consultant, Princeton Testing Labs, following an inspection of the school building.

The fire retrofit installation had initially been estimated at $50,000, based on the amount the district had paid to have Deerfield outfitted with the will now actually cost $35,000, according to Bacarro.

"We received excellent prices on asbestos removal because we did it on Easter weekend instead of waiting for the summer when they get busier and the prices go up," Bacarro commented. "We also went to bid early on the fire retrofit and got a good price on

"There was quite a bit of competition," he added.

The board was able to trim the budget's Operation of Plant category from $77,000 to $57,500, according to Bacarro, by reducing garbage dis-same system last year. The project posal costs from $25,000 to $14,500, a difference of almost $11,000.

> An additional $5,000 was saved through cancellation of a planned erosion prevention project involving streams which run adjacent to Deerfield School. The Contracted Services category was also sliced from $7,000 to $4,500 by withdrawal of a planned blacktop project at Deerfield School.

> Bacarro reported that the budget was further reduced by anticipated salary adjustments pending the resignation of Deerfield School Principal James Johnson, effective July 5, and Deerfield art teacher Lois Radding, who is retiring.

Dayton students planning a 'safe and sober' party

By DAVE WISE

The graduating class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which includes Mountainside students, is planning a special graduation party this year to ensure that all its members enjoy a safe and sober finale to their high school years.

This event, which stresses sobriety, is being designed to be both drug- and alcohol-free. It has received official support from both Mountainside Mayor Robert Viglianti and Springfield Mayor Philip Kurnos, who each recently issued municipal resolutions. endorsing "Project Graduation."

Jonathan Dayton's graduation ceremonies will take place on Monday, June 18, at / p.m. on the Meisel 1001ball field on Meisel Avenue in Springfield. There are approximately 165 students in the senior class, of which about 60 are from Mountainside.

The "Project Graduation" party will start around 10 p.m. on graduation night and conclude at 6 a.m. the next morning, and is scheduled to be held at the Westfield YMCA. Planned party activities will include games, a dance featuring a DJ, swimming and watching movies.

Mountainside resident Dwight Dachnowicz, Jonathan Dayton senior class president and one of the organizers of "Project Graduation," recently approached Viglianti and Kurnos about the project in an effort to gain community support.

Viglianti said he was surprised though pleased that high school students would organize a party free of drugs and alcohol on their own. "It's mindboggling to have the kids ask you to do this. Everywhere in the state there's a tragic story. If we can save one life, it's well worth it," he said.

"I've always been a strong advocate against drug abuse," echoed Kurnos. "These kids are looking to have a party free of drugs and alcohol, and we are going to help them in every way we can.'

Kurnos mentioned providing food, chaperones, money and "getting local merchants involved" in order to make "Project Graduation" a safe and successful operation.

Bècause there are students from Mountainside who attend Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, party organizers have sought support from the Mountainside community as well.

"We're supporting 'Project Graduation' financially and morally," said Viglianti, whose borough already has donated $200 to the project. "We encourage all businesses in town to support the effort."

Dayton's Parent-Teacher-Student Organization president and project organizer Barbara Weinberg said the goals of "Projection Graduation" are to provide "a completely substancefree" environment and to "keep kids off the roads."

WE REMEMBER — Members of Mountainside Post 10136 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and others, hold a traditional Memorial Day wreath-laying ceremony at the monument outside Mountainside Borough Hall Monday, as they solemnly recall American servicemen and women who died defending freedom and democracy. Earlier that day, the Mountainside post members marched with their Westfield comrades in Westfield's annual Memorial Day parade.

Boro residents to renew litter clean-up campaign

By SUZETTE STALKER

Mountainside residents are expected to turn out again on Saturday, June 16, for the borough's second Clean Communities effort, a follow-up to the program's successful debut last month which boosted public awareness of local litter problems.

Volunteers will tackle trash and debris at about a dozen borough locations from 9 a.m. to noon, according to Mountainside Department of Public Works Director Walter DiNizo, who has been coordinating the program with borough officials and residents.

In preparation for the program's April 21 inauguration, DiNizo and the Mountainside Borough Council's Solid Waste and Recycling Committee recruited cleanup volunteers from among various local organizations and individual citizens.

Approximately 20 Mountainside residents participated in the first effort, despite rainy weather that day.

DiNizo said that if the weather is good for the upcoming effort, there may be double that number of volunteers involved in the project.

The locations targeted for the second cleanup include Possum Pass, a one-way street linking Mountainside and Springfield; New Providence Road, from Mountain Avenue to Route 22, Oak Tree Road, Outlook Drive, Camelot Court, the Sylvan Lane area, and an unpaved path between Knightsbridge Road and Mountain Avenue.

DiNizo confirmed that many of the Mountainside organizations and individuals who participated in the first cleanup are expected to return for the second.

These groups include the American Association of Retired Persons, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10136, the Democratic Club, the Policemen's Benevolent Association, the Honorary PBA, the Friends of the Mountainside Public Library, the Little League, the Garden Club and the Rotary Club.

As with the first Clean Communities day, volunteers will meet outside Borough Hall at 9 a.m., where they will be provided with tools and bags and assigned an area to be cleaned up, after which DPW employees will go around and collect the bags. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

The Clean Communities Program is being funded through a $10,936 grant from the state Department of Environmental Protection's Division of Solid Waste Management, plus an additional $3,118 from the same

"It's really made people aware that we have a problem in Mountainside," DiNizo remarked of the program. "The DPW is getting more calls about problem areas, and about people dumping in Mountainside. People are (Continued on Page 2)

ON THE MARCH — These two teachers from Deerfield School in Mountainside were among 30 members of the Mountainside Teachers Association who demonstrated outside the offices of the Mountainside Board of Education last week to protest a deadlock in contract negotiations between the board and the association over teachers' salaries, which the teachers claim are lower than in other Union County school districts.

Trailside to bring children back to nature

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside is planning an array of summer activities for youngsters in pre-school through fifth grade, which will focus upon the natural world and the universe.

For preschool children, Trailside is offering "Natural Beginnings" and "Dinomite." A four-day program, "Natural Beginnings," will allow children to explore nature through stories, crafts and hikes conducted by staff naturalists.

The program will be held July 9-12, July 23-26, Aug. 6-9 and Aug. 20-23, from 9 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. each session. There will also be a second program during the Aug. 6-9 session from 11 a.m. to noon. The fee for this program is $20 for four days.

"Dinomite" is a three-day program giving children the opportunity to learn about dinosaurs and search for "fossils," as they take a make-believe journey back through time. It will be held July 9-11, July 16-18, July 30-Aug. 1, Aug. 13-15 and Aug. 20-22, from 11 a.m. to noon each side, and pretend they are paleontologists while seeking "fossils" on the Trailside grounds. The fee for this program is $18 per session.

Youngsters will make a clay cast of an actual dinosaur footprint at Trail-

Two programs will also be available for first- and second-graders. "Something Fishy" is a three-day program which will take place July 9-11 and again Aug. 6-8, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each time. The fee is Youngsters will sample and identify various fish from Surprise Lake, located on the Watchung Reservation, before releasing them back into the lake. They will also be able to take home a small fish of their own at the conclusion of the program. The second offering, "Lenape

Lore," will teach youngsters about the lifestyles and customs of native New Jerseyans through samplings of food, storytelling, games and other related

This one-time event will be held July 30-Aug. 1 and will climax with a trip to Lenape Village in Waterloo Village, located in Waterloo, For the first two days, the program will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The third day, when the trip is scheduled, will extend from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The fee for "Lenape Lore" is $25 and includes admission to Lenape Village. For the trip, youngsters should bring a lunch and beverage or money for the snack bar.

For children in third to fifth grade, Trailside is offering "Moon Madness" and "Watchung Trailwalkers."

A brand-new program, "Moon Madness" will be conducted in conjunction with National Space Week in Trailside's air-conditioned planetarium, under the direction of new planetarium director Wendy Ackerman, from July 16-18, from 1 to 2:30 p.m. (Continued on Page 2)

Two are expected to garner GOP nod

Republican candidates Councilman William "Tex" Jackson and Keith Turner, running unopposed, are expected to win the GOP's nomination for two vacant seats on the Mountainside Borough Council during the June 5 primary.

The winners in the primary determine who will run in the November general elections. There are no Democrats running for council this year.

A member of the all-Republican council since January 1988, Jackson is seeking his second term on the governing body. Newcomer Turner is seeking the seat held by Councilman Louis Maas, who recently opted not to run for re-election.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mountainside voters in Districts 1, 2, and 6 should go to the Municipal Building auditorium; voters in Districts 3, 4, and 5 should go to the assembly room of the Presbyterian Church at Deer Path and Meeting House Lane.

Voters in Districts 7, 8, 9 and 10 should go to the all-purpose room at Deerfield School on Central Avenue and School Drive.

Kids go back to nature

Youngsters will take an imaginary trip to the moon while learning about the moon, its craters and phases. They will create a moon flip-book illustrating the moon's different phases and make a crater to take home.

The "Watchung Trailwalkers" program will permit youngsters to explore little-known areas of the Watchung Reservation's 2,000 acres through a series of hikes, while learning valuable hiking and map-reading skills.

"Trailwalkers" will be held on Wednesdays, July 11, July 25, Aug. 1 and Aug. 15, from 9:30 a.m. until noon. Each hike will feature a theme and will include a trail snack. The cost is $5 per hike.

"Environmental and nature-related education is very important," explained Trailside Assistant Director Betty Ann Kelly last week. "We feel that kids need to get back in touch with nature now more than ever.

"We hope to foster in them an awareness and an awe of their natural surroundings," Kelly continued. "This has always been the case, but even more so because of Earth Day. We hope that by inspiring them, they can be more responsible adults."

The assistant director reported that many children who have participated in Trailside's summer programs in the past return year after year and that the programs have remained very popular.

DiNizo reported that the state grant has also paid for four new stone trash receptacles, holding about 35 gallons each, which have been placed in Mountainside's downtown business district. The DPW will use additional funds from the grant to purchase special equipment for cleaning up Glen Road and the Barnes tract, which will be handled by the Mountainside Public Works, according to DiNizo. Glen Road is a borough thoroughfare which has become overgrown with weeds.

Postmaster advises area pet owners

Springfield Postmaster William G. Daniels is advising area dog owners to help protect letter carriers, utility workers and other citizens from the dangers of dog bites, now that the days are getting warmer and pets are spending more time outdoors.

"Nationally, more than 2,000 letter carriers were bitten by dogs last year," Daniels reported. "In recent years, the public has responded to our plea to keep their pets restrained, and we have seen a decline in bites nationally.

"All dogs are territorial by nature, and even the most gentle pets will bite if they feel their domain is threatened by the presence of a carrier or other person," the postmaster continued. "With a little care, a pet owner can not only protect our carriers, but his or her pet and pocketbook, too."

In situations when a pet owner fails to restrain a dog, mail delivery will be interrupted to the residence or, in some cases, to entire neighborhoods, according to Daniels.

The Postal Service will also seek to recover worker's compensation damages and provides counseling to carriers who have been bitten and who wish to seek legal action against the

"If the pet cannot be kept behind a secure fence, the owner should restrain it with a secure leash or tether or at least keep the pet inside the house during the usual hours carriers are making their rounds," he said.

Hospital receives award

The Recreational Therapy Department of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside was recently honored with the Excellence in Programming Award from the New Jersey Recreation and Park Association.

The award was presented to the department for organizing and implementing a statewide composition contest on "Recreation: What It Means To Me As A Disabled Person."

Over 75 compositions were received for the contest, which was held as a part of the 10th anniversary of the Governor's Conference on Recreation for the Handicapped.

"There was an overwhelming response to the topic," commented Andy Chasanoff, the hospital's director of recreational therapy. "This contest illustrated how important the recreational needs of the disabled are in this state."

The Excellence in Programming Award marks the second time in three years that Children's Specialized was so honored.

The New Jersey Recreation and Park Association is a statewide organization of professionals concerned with parks, recreation and conservation. The purpose of this group is to broaden the public's knowledge of leisure time pursuits and to stress the importance of physical and mental well being.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long- term care beds.

In addition, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in nearby Fanwood, and has received state approval to develop a 30-bed inpatient facility in Ocean County.

In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

Picnic will cap school benefit

A school picnic will be held for students at Thelma L. Sandmeier and Edward V. Walton schools in Springfield on Tuesday, June 12, at Sandmeier School on South Springfield Avenue.

Sandmeier School enrolls students from kindergarten through fourth grade and Walton School is a special education school which mainstreams with Sandmeier.

This year at the picnic, the schools will be presenting the Ronald McDonald House of Long Branch with a donation raised by the students through the PTA fundraiser titled "Children Helping Children," which was held during the school year.

The students learned about Ronald McDonald House and experienced the joy of giving to a charity, according to PTA Fundraiser co-chairpersons Liz Bussiculo and Rochelle Denning.

The children were requested to do chores around their homes for an amount of money decided on by their parents. The money was collected for two weeks in a large water jug. A McDonalds representative informed the PTA that this type of contribution has never been given to them by a

The picnic day will start out with field games from 9 to 11:30 a.m., a cook-out lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., a "Children Helping Children" presentation at 1 p.m. and a show for the children to end the day.

Residents invited to tour local hospital

Area residents and groups interested in learning more about the services of Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and its outpatient center in Fanwood are invited to tour the facilities with the staff.

Tours of the hospital will be conducted on the second Monday of each month. All tours will begin at 1 p.m.

"Many area residents know about our hospital and the good work that we do here," explained Shirley Biegler, CSH community resource coordinator. "By touring the facilities, people will be able to see firsthand our treatments and how we help the children in many ways."

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital providing medical and nursing treatment along with physical, occupational, recreational and speech/hearing therapies to children and adolescents.

Among the many services at the outpatient center in Fanwood are a preschool, daycare, and the Westlake School, the Union County school for handicapped children.

For more information or to schedule a tour, one can call the hospital's Education Department at 233-3720.

In addition to the hospital in Mountainside and the outpatient center in Fanwood, Children's Specialized has received state approval to develop a 30-bed inpatient facility in Ocean

In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

Pastor brings God's Gospel with his song

By BEA SMITH

Every servant of God has his or her way of bringing faith and religion into the hearts of the people, and the Rev. George R. Dawidiuk is no exception. Dawidiuk, pastor of the Ukrainian Evangelical Assemblies of God Church in Union, does it with music, and he has been singing the Gospel of God to the people throughout the world ever since he was 16 years old.

On June 7 at 7:30 p.m., he will take part in a symposium, "Is Religion Alive in the USSR Today?" with Rabbi Gerald A. Goldman, spiritual leader of Temple Sholom, Plainfield, in the Union Township Municipal Building. It will be sponsored by the Council of Congregations of Union.

The 36-year-old minister, who is a member of a singing trio known professionally as "Paul, George and Tony," has visited the Soviet Union five times with the ministry of music. He will discuss the historic changes he witnessed last year when, for the first time ever, Soviet citizens attended the group's concerts of sacred music.

During a recent conversation, the handsome and charming young man discussed his past and future plans. "I will be at the symposium in Union," he says, "because the people there want to hear my own experiences. I will be taking my sixth trip to the USSR in July. We've gone to the Evangelical Church in the Soviet Union five times. And at the symposium, there will be a brief radio presentation and some Ukrainian songs. Our program will be for 45 minutes. Then Rabbi Goldman will be speaking about the new freedom for the Jewish people there in the Soviet Union. We want to have a galaxy of presentations of all faiths.'

Dawidiuk's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Dawidiuk, escaped from the Soviet Union during World War II and arrived with their three older daughters in the United States in 1950. "They settled in the Ukrainian community in Newark," he says, "and the people made it easier for them. My father was a pastor from his younger years, and he was pastor of the Ukrainian Congregation for 30 years in Newark on 20th Street. In 1973, we built a church in Union. I became its pastor in 1982. But I'm getting ahead of my story," Dawidiuk grins.

"My father was a pastor among the refugees. He became a pastor of the immigrants as they came to the United States. He is now retired and he lives with my family — my wife and three children."

The Dawidiuks moved from Newark to Irvington when George was 4 years old. "I attended the public schools in Irvington and was graduated from Irvington High School in 1972." In the meantime, his parents had three more daughters.

"Initially," he says, "I did not want to have the same profession as my father. The demands were so difficult. At first, both my parents didn't speak English, and I wanted to be an American. We had a very public life. But I found myself getting more involved in singing ministries, especially when I had so much success with my singing. I progressed naturally to a point where I actually had a call from God. Something dramatic happened in my heart," Dawidiuk exclaims. "How do you describe a call? I felt in my heart that this was the life that God wanted for me...to be a minister and serve my Slavic community.

"I realized," he adds, "that anything God wanted me to do, I would do it. I felt it. Before when I was told it, I turned away, but now it came from my own desire to be a minister.

"Originally," admits Dawidiuk, I was thinking of going into teaching languages. I had been reared in a multilingual family, so I learned to speak Ukrainian fluently as well as several other languages. Back when I was 16 and in my junior year at Irvington High School, I went on a tour with my singing group, composed of 14 fellows from our congregation in Newark. We took a tour of the churches in Toronto, Canada. We met a lot of young people who had drug problems. One young man gave his life to God after being a drug addict. And that was after he had heard our gospel singing. That was in the summer of 1970," says Dawidiuk. "And we had some more success with other drug addicts."

Dawidiuk explains that he wanted to tour more cities to help more young people. "So, I wrote a letter to my high school teacher that I was prepared to make up the work, and even if I had to repeat a year, I was ready to do so. But we were helping young people with a drug problem, and that it was a real important cause. My English teacher — I believe her name was Mrs. Stark — she was a real gem. She was so impressed with my letter that she read it to every class, and all the classes were impressed. I was a pretty plucky guy at 16. My father was very proud of me."

The youngster organized members of future tours and "we became the singing group known as the Gospel Singers. There were four people, my older sister, Rosita, her husband, John Popowicz, myself and a family friend, Paul Chodniewicz, and the church helped us with our expenses.

"So," he sighs, "it started out as a simple invitation to a church in Toronto. My uncle, the Rev. William Dawidiuk, was pastor of a church there, and as we sang, there was a tremendous impact on the younger people...especially those on drugs. We had spoken to the young people in his church, and with my uncle's help, we went on to western Canada. We visited all the major cities across Canada with school and assembly programs, and we basically had an anti-drug message in our religious singing."

message in our religious singing."
Dawidiuk smiles. "It was in Canada that I met my future wife, Estelle. It was on my first tour. She was 11 and I was 16, and I gave her a piggy-back

RELIGIOUS SINGING TRIO — The professional gospel singers called Paul, George and Tony, are seen entertaining folks at a festival. They are, from left, Tony Weres, Paul Chodniewicz and the Rev. George Dawidiuk, pastor of the Ukrainian Evangelical Assemblies of God in Union.

After that first year's tour, Dawidiuk and his singing group "went to West Orange to publish an album in Ukrainian. We took it with us the following summer. It snowballed and we ended up by taking a summer tour every year."

Dawidiuk and his group toured for 12 years through the North American continent and Europe and recorded more than 14 different albums, which are still used on short wave radio broadcasts in the USSR.

"In 1972," recalls Dawidiuk, "we were invited to the University of Lebanon. We sang to the Armenians and other Christian groups in Armenian churches in Beirut. They were inspiring moments. In 1973 and 1974 we went to the Soviet Union, and we took with us 160 Bibles, cassettes and religious articles. There were five of us in the group and we found we were smuggling more Bibles in than we were allowed. We went as tourists and involved ourselves with the Evangelical churches there. We would sing in Ukrainian to the people, and it was a very moving experience. In 50 days, we visited 15 major cities the first

"The second year we visited 19 major cities. And we got a tremendous response. We started a following, and they have listened to our music for 20 years. Today, in the Soviet Union, our cassettes and music are heard in practically every home around the Christian communities. Even non-church people enjoy our music," he says proudly. "I have to tell you how one thing led to another and blossomed."

From 1975 to 1979, Dawidiuk studied for the ministry. He studied in Lausanne, Switzerland, at the Youth With A Mission School of Evangelism and completed the course. He received further training at Genesis Training Institute and its School of Ministries in Santa Rosa, Calif. He received ministerial credentials with the California District of the Assemblies of God. After two years of practical ministry, he accepted the pastorate of the Ukrainian Evangelical Assemblies of God Church here in Union and became fully ordained with the New Jersey District of the Assemblies of

"I didn't actually take over for my father. My father had retired, and there was an opening and the church people felt that I was what they wanted. After I became pastor, I left the group, but my sister and brother-in-law continued to sing, and they are singing to this day with great success."

The minister explains that "when I got married in 1981, I couldn't travel quite as much as I'd wanted to. Actually," he says, "I thought I had put that all behind me, when after two years of pastoring, one of our members, Paul Chodniewicz, asked to sing with me again, and we sang again, and then we asked a third fellow, Tony Weres, to sing.

"We now have a professional group called 'Paul, George and Tony,' and we have recorded three new music cassettes, one of which is in Spanish, and it receives favorable air play on the Spanish radio station, 'Radiovision.' We have sung at the Felt Forum and Madison Square Garden in conjunction with the radio station."

The minister's handsome face becomes serious. "I love my church very much," he says. We have about 300 to 350 people who come on a regular basis. They love my music and I love them. I have made it a point not to tour more than once a year...and only for a matter of weeks.

"The trouble is," he muses, "I love to travel. It's in my blood. Right now, I have the best of both worlds, but it's not an easy balance to maintain."

Dawidiuk explains that "we have visited the USSR five times and ministered in the churches there. In 1986, we went to the Soviet Union just three weeks after the Chernobyl nuclear incident and sang in Kiev.

"It's been more than 70 years that people have grown up in a religious vacuum of all faiths. It was tough. The people were only left with emptiness in their hearts. What we have been doing has created a tremendous interest in the Holy Scriptures, both Jewish and Gentile, and anything of a religious nature. I read an article recently where the average Soviet was asked, if he could have one book in his library, which would he choose? And, invariably, he answered, 'A Bible!'

"After 70 years of conditioning, a whole nation of Godlessness has gone in the opposite direction."

The pastor has three children, Andrew, 6, known as A.J. at home; Luke, 4, and Larissa Joy, 6 months old. Last Thursday, he accompanied A.J. to Franklin School. He brought his guitar, and A.J.'s kindergarten class and another kindergarten class took a trip to Cornell Convalescent Nursing Home in Union and to two other senior citizen homes. The pastor set his guitar upon his knee and sang songs with the youngsters to entertain the senior citizens. He says he was looking at A.J. intently when they suddenly smiled and nodded at each other in unison. Is it possible that a third generation of ministers was foreshadowed in that special exchange?

End of season meetings slated

The annual installation of officers of the Union Chapter of Hadassah will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in Bardy Hall at Congregation Beth Shalom, Union.

25 teachers chosen for theaters project

The Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation Theater Program for Teachers and Playwrights has announced that an additional 25 teachers have been chosen from high schools throughout New Jersey to participate in the second round of "this unique project designed to bring together and build supportive connections between theater educators and professional theaters in the state."

John Pietrowski, Dodge Theater Program Project coordinator and executive producer of Playwrights Theater of New Jersey, has noted that "There is a wonderful spirit of exploration and cooperation in New Jersey professional theater. Our project has fed into this, extending the reach of the participating theaters and enriching the educational experience in our schools."

Specific results of the first two years of the pilot program were noted by Pietrowski. "High school actors performed "Brighton Beach Memoirs" on the set of The George Street Playhouse's production on that theater's dark day, schools shared sets, costumes and projects. Technicians from McCarter Theater helped high school youngsters learn to use new lighting equipment and at least two New Jersey theaters have planned young playwrights festivals for the first time this coming school year."

Recently, teachers from the Dodge Theater Program participated in the
New Jersey Theater Group Conference, "Perspectives in Theater Arts Education," held May 5 in New Brunswick. Pietrowski says, "This is the first time high school teachers have been involved in advocacy and outreach planning efforts in the state's professional theaters."

Highlights planned for the second phase of the project are three "Gatherings" scheduled at different theaters throughout the state to observe new play development in action. A miniconference will be held over a weekend in January, 1991, featuring in-depth workshops in performance skills. In August, 1991, a week-long residence conference will be held with intensive workshops in new play development and how other elements of theater support the growth of a new play. "All events will involve the 25 original teachers, the 25 newly selected teachers and theater professionals from the staffs of various professional theaters in the state.".

In addition to the 25 teachers who participated in the first two-year pilot program, other teachers have been selected to join the cooperative endeavor including Robert G. Young of Columbia High School in Maplewood.

Jewish Festival of Arts planned in Garden State

The 18th annual Jewish Festival of the Arts will be held June 10 at the Garden State Arts Center, Holmdel.

Beginning at 11 a.m., Judaic arts, crafts, gift items, and exhibits will be on display for purchasing and Kosher food vendors will be on hand. An outdoor mail show will take place at 1 p.m. culminating the day's activities with the main show at 3 p.m. in the amphitheater.

The concert, "A Glittering Cavalcade of Stars," will feature singer, Aliza Kashi; recording artists, The Brothers Zim, comedian Emil Cohen, and violinist, Sasha Torma. It was announced that tickets are required for the 3 p.m. show and can be obtained by calling 888-5000.

Renee Balaban is chairman of the festival.

The Jewish Festival of the Arts is one of 10 ethnic festivals held during the spring and fall seasons at the Garden State Arts Center. Profits from the festival benefit the Garden State Cultural Center Fund, which provides free programs for New Jersey's senior citizens, disabled veterans, the blind, the handicapped, and for the school children, as well as participating Jewish organizations and the Jewish Festival of the Arts Scholarship Program.

For further information one can call 888-5000, or write to the Jewish Festival of the Arts, c/o Garden State Cultural Center Fund, P.O. Box 300, Holmdel, N.J. 07733.

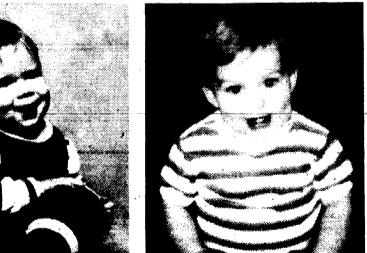

Musical play is fund-raiser

Basketry show exhibited

The basketry of Elisa Kessler-Caporale will be on display in the Members Gallery of the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, 68 Elm St., Summit, through June 7.

Kessler is a part-time professional basket-maker, weaving contemporary and traditional baskets. The artist works with texture and color when constructing contemporary baskets and finds that ideas develop as she weaves. Often paint and found objects are added to the baskets. Kessler-Caporale primarily uses imported reed as well as vines, natural materials, black ash, birch bark and waxed linen. Color is added to the materials through hand dying.

The show is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and weekends from 2 to 4 p.m. The NJCVA receives partial funding from the N.J. State Council on the Arts/Department of and grandparents, were called to the bimah as Bar and Bat Mitzvah. Neither had such a ceremony at the traditional age for differing reasons, it was reported.

Robert Steinhart, starting at age 8, had attended a Reform Religious School where Hebrew was not taught, and the culmination of religious education was a confirmation ceremony. Roselyn began her religious studies at an earlier age with her father, a Hebrew School principal, and her grandfather, the dean of New England Orthodox Rabbis. However, Bat Mitzvah was not part of the Orthodox

The two met at the Jewish Graduate Society at Columbia University in New York and were married by the rabbi who served as Columbia's Jewish chaplain. Throughout their marriage, they have both been interested and involved in Jewish studies.

Their years of devotion to Judaism culminated in their Bar/Bat Mitzvah after studying with Cantor Richard Nadel in the adult Bar/Bat Mitzvah class offered in Temple Beth Ahm. They individually and together led the Shabbat services, read the Haftorah of the day, and delivered the mandatory Bar/Bat Mitzvah speech.

NAIL PROBLEMS

By Dr. Michael Eglow

An ingrown nail occurs when a toenail edge embeds itself into the surrounding skin. It can cause pain, swelling, redness and often, infection. Home treatment may consist of soaking the affected toe in warm Epsom salt water and then packing cotton at the nail edge to keep it from piercing the flesh. Podiatrists handle ingrown nails on a daily basis using the most advanced techniques to minimize discomfort and provide rapid healing.

To avoid ingrown nails, keep them clean, trim nails straight across and wear shoes of proper length and width. Avoid over-the-counter home remedies.

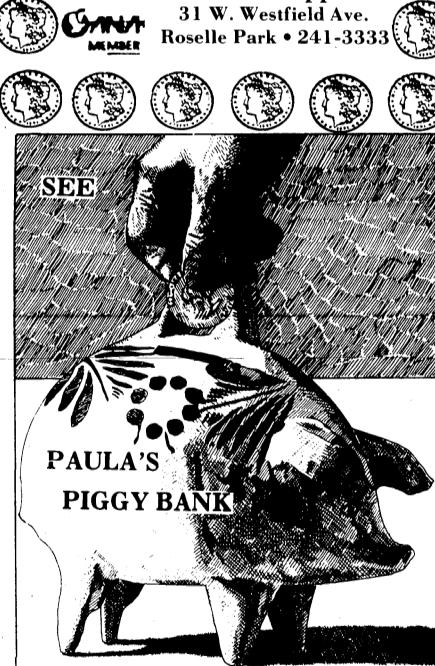

The same fungus that causes athlete's foot can attack toenails, causing them to turn a yellowish-brown color. Early treatment of fungus is important.

If you experience pain when pressing straight down on a nail, it could be a small bony growth underneath. The growth can easily be removed in the doctor's office with little discomfort or inconvenience.

Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active an fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

Two weeks ago, New Jersey's Senate and Assembly took the national lead in sanity by passing legislation to set up restrictions — the toughest in the nation — on semi-automatic firearms. Governor James Florio is expected to sign into law this ban on assault weapons. The sooner he does, the better.

Predictably, the anti-ban special interest groups, especially the National Rifle Association, are exercising their constitutional right to sound off against the Legislature's decision, claiming the ban is unconstitutional, being contradictory, they say, to the right to "bear arms" clause of the Second Amendment.

Shakespeare noted that the Devil can quote Scripture to his advantage. The NRA is not the Devil. However, its members and supporters have shown cleverness and persistence in contorting the meaning of that amendment.

Let's look at the Second Amendment in entirety:

"A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.'

Isn't it quite clear that Madison, Jefferson and the other concerned democrats who collaborated on the Bill of Rights, as well as all the Founding Fathers who attached the Bill to the basic law of the land, believed that the right "to keep and bear arms" was conditional on the necessity for an armed and "well regulated" militia?

That was at the close of the 18th Century, with resentful Indians at the borders and adventurous European "superpowers" on the seas. It is a monumental understatement to say that a lot has happened in military technology — to say nothing of geopolitical realities — since that time. Can anyone, in the United States at the close of the 20th Century, seriously argue that state militias are necessary for our security and freedom?

Are we expecting an imminent invasion from Canada? Are Castro's minnions about to pounce on Florida, or are the Libyans planning a beachhead at Seaside Heights?

And even if all, or any, of these invasions were to take place tomorrow, would not the U.S. armed forces be a match for them? And if the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard did need some assistance, the National Guard would be alerted. That's what the Guard is there for — emergencies that threaten security. Each state's National Guard units have long since replaced militias as emergency extensions of state law enforcement, just in case of terrorists or rioters or what-have-

Quite possibly the last fellow a military commander would want to see running to help his troops repulse the enemy would be a weekend rabbit hunter wielding an UZI. With all due respect, hunters, marksmen and Armageddon-romancing survivalists are not necessary for the continued security of New

But the ban on semi-automatic assault rifles is. These weapons are definitely not made for hunting. They are designed, to quote state Attorney General Robert Del Tufo, "to kill as many people as possible in as short a time as possible." They are, as the governor said, "weapons of war."

The deadly effectiveness of the assault rifle was demonstrated in Stockton, California in January of 1989, when a maniac armed with an AKM-47 opened fire on a schoolyard filled with 450 grade school children. In less than two minutes five children were killed, and 30 children and teachers were wounded. This gruesome price for insanity would certainly have been less had the maniac only been able to purchase a shotgun. Anyone who thinks this sort of thing cannot happen in New Jersey probably also thinks that Elvis Presley is selling pizza in Roselle.

In addition to making it more difficult for a lunatic to lay his hands on a semi-automatic weapon, the law will also make it more difficult for our society's "new age" mobsters, the drug gangsters, to obtain these weapons. When the hoodlums have more firepower than the police, civilization is the loser. The weapons ban will give law enforcement, and civilization, more of a chance. Most policemen know this and support the ban.

Yes, lunatics or hoodlums could still drive to another state, or find a black market connection, to buy the weapons. But that gives them more trouble and us more time to catch them before an incident. It makes perfect sense to make it as hard as possible for sociopaths to do evil.

We applaud the state Legislature for passing the assault weapons ban, and we urge the governor not to waste time in signing it. One of the aims of "We the People", as stated in the Constitution's Preamble, is to "insure domestic tranquility." New Jersey's ban on semi-automatic weapons will help to do that.

Cut lawmakers' pay

Ever since Jim Florio became Governor, all the electorate hears from Trenton is of the huge deficit that they inherited from the previous administration. Governor Florio now proposes to balance this deficit with huge tax increases, costing the average tax payers hundreds of dollars per year.

If these are such hard times why doesn't the Legislature "bite the bullet and get off their butt" and as a saving item rescind the salary increases they voted themselves in the last legislative session?

They should mandate new laws only if the cost of these new laws are absorbed by the state government (without a tax increase) or substitute it for an expense already in the budget.

Put a freeze on all new jobs and hiring. Relative to this, why is there such a large degree of nepotism in the state government? Why must a new job be created for a family member of Senator Russo of Ocean County?

The media reports that Senator Russo already has three other members of his family on the state payroll: and with his salary it makes a fourth. Now he wants to add a fifth member of his family. Other families in the State have difficulty having one member gainfully employed.

Also why, in creating this artificial new job for this fourth member of his family, does the state offer to pay a starting salary of $60,000 per year? If the State is in such dire financial straits why pad the state payroll with another $60,000? If the position was absolutely needed, why wasn't a starting salary of $25,000 or $30,000 offered? Why $60,000?

It is stated that Senator Russo's daughter has had experience in fundraising - especially in the recent campaign for governor by Jim Florio. During the period that she was soliciting funds for the governor's campaign was she being paid $60,000 or doing it voluntarily with the expectation that, once elected, Governor Florio would reward her with a state job and thereby getting paid for what she accomplished in soliciting funds for Governor Florio's campaign. Furthermore if this newly-created job is needed, why can't it be undertaken by volunteer organizations?

While on the subject of gross unnecessary expenses, why do we now have to have one executive chairman and one newly created job for a consultant for the New Jersey Turnpike Authority? Each of these individuals is to receive $135,000 per year. Why couldn't the present administration wait for the original contract of the new consultant expire before appointing a new chairman for the Turnpike Authority at $135,000 per year. I thought that the state was facing a deficit problem.

By eliminating just the two of these jobs (fund raising and duplicate salaries on the Turnpike Authority) the State could save more than $195,000 per year in salary and benefits.

Only God knows how much additional nepotism exists in state government which the media does not report. It is just another example whereby the legislators do not heed the wishes of the will of the people to cut spending by the state government and not increase it.

Hurray to no-spray

Congratulations to the Mountainside Director of Public Works and Facilities, Walter Dinizo, in his decision not to spray for gypsy moths! The gypsy moths do not kill healthy trees, but the sprays that are used kill insects indiscriminately, leaving no food for migrating warblers and other insect-eating birds. Recent studies are showing a definite decline in the birds in sprayed areas.

We are happy that Mountainside will not be adding to our already polluted air. With aerial spraying and applications of lawn chemicals so prevalent, someday there may be a "Silent Spring."

Think About It

The worse of the two certainties

By John Tartaglino These are trying times for government. Florio says we're broke. Cuomo says New York's broke. Dinkins says New York City's broke. All three agree there's only one thing to do... Raise taxes.

We're all adults here. We've gone through this before, and we know the score. We know that a nice tax hike is good for whatever ails you. But this time may be different.

We may be living through history in the making. It looks like they've finally run out of things to tax. The tip-off is that New York City is down to taxing dry-cleaning. If that's not rock-bottom, I don't know what is.

If this is true, it's the first time this has happened in centuries. In fact, the last documented case of a government actually running out of things to tax occurred during the Middle Ages. New research suggests the the Crusades were actually a sly attempt to jump start a tax on traveling abroad.

I'm afraid that the days when govemment could just raise any given tax at will are gone. I have the feeling that creativity will be the watchword of the 90's.

Now I don't usually do this, but I have some ideas. I know that offering suggestions for taxes is a lot like naming some good factory-outlet rope stores when you're the guest of honor at a necktie party, but in these desperate times, we all have to put together.

Besides, if we leave them on their own, their ideas will probably be worse.

So here goes.

Mayor Dinkins — Don't charge people to come into the city. Make them pay to leave. Trust me. After a full day of grid-lock, crime, and general inconvenience most folks will take out a second mortgage just to get the heck out.

Governor Cuomo - "New York" is a famous name. Capitalize on it. Why don't you copyright it? The way I see it, it could cost $1 each time the words "New York" were used in print, film, whatever. Not only that, but you could charge a reduced rate for people who only read or hear the phrase. My guess is that half would be fair. Picture the ad campaign: You on a couch, watching TV. You turn to the camera and say... "Watch 'New York, New York' --

Mail us a buck — It's the law!" Liza Minelli's next concert alone should close your budget, and it would also do loads for your visibility. Remember '92 is just around the Governor Florio — You really have the easiest job of the three. There are still 4 or 5 things in Jersey that aren't being taxed yet, but the end is in sight. Don't wait until the fall and find yourself without new revenue opportunities. Build the foundation

now. Mention in passing how interesting it is to watch the other cars when you're stuck in traffic on the Parkway...

Then, come September, you can trot out your plan to charge an entertainment tax on rush-hour commuters. A note to all three of you. "Sin" taxes are dangerous. If you raise the taxes on cigarettes and liquor too high, people may actually stop smoking and drinking. That would be good for our physical health, but bad news for our fiscal health. Try spreading the responsibility around. How about a "Virtue" tax on imported water and oat bran? Why should smokers and drinkers support everybody else? Let the "light lunch and a workout" set shoulder some of the burden.

While we're at it, as much as I complained about Cuomo's recent plan to tax New Jerseyans he might be on the right track. As he discovered, the best people to zap with taxes are the one's who can't vote against you.

I bet that if everybody in the country would but just one extra Jersey tomato and one subway token, all our budget problems would be solved. So let's just bill them for it. Then, as long as they have a vaid tax receipt, every visitor would be entitled to one tomato and one free subway ride if they should ever decide to come on up and pay us a visit. The beauty of it is, we can't lose. If they pay the tax, we get the cash. If they come up here to complain, they'll be paying taxes every time they turn around anyway. It's the classic "win/win" situation.

Another thought. The famous phrase is "death & taxes." Run with it. Tax the dead. If we declare graves and mausoleums to be permanent residences (and let someone argue they're not!), we can start charging property taxes on them. Our governments make a pile of money, and the dead don't vote. Well...except in certain areas of Hudson County, anyway.

Here's another good idea. We already make people who own dogs buy licenses. Let's expand on that. I know there's been some talk of widening that to include cats, but do you think that's enough? We could license everything. Dogs, cats, gerbils, goldfish. If you figure it right, the revenue from one decent size ant farm could easily pay for a state car for a year.

And we haven't even scratched the surface. I'm just chock full of good

We could rename the homeless "urban campers," and charge a user fee for the use of heating grates.

We could make people pay registration taxes on shoes, so folks without cars don't get a free ride.

There are others — the 2-year surcharge on graft, the political hot air license, and let's not forget the sales tax on Congressmen, but I'm saving

After all, there's the Federal deficit to deal with too.

Conservationist reflects on Earth Day's 2 decades

Having experienced 20 Earth Days, I'm able to sort out at least a few emerging public attitudes and predict where they are headed. It's an interesting experience for a conservation professional like me, one who devotes daily attention to all things environmental.

Two decades ago all of us who were involved, professional or layman, rejoiced in a simplistic notion that we knew the difference between conservation rights and wrongs, and that technology could deal with any problem that came along. Twenty years later, we find that many of the old problems persist, but countless new ones have come to light. It's like peeling an endless onion, with surprises in each layer.

The clearest impression I get after 20 years is that society finds itself shooting off its own toes, learning the hard way that each of our modern marvels has a dark side. For instance, the more we enjoy the comforts derived from burning fossil fuels, the more we damage our atmosphere.

We all long for a cleaner, simpler and greener world, but we are learning that our lifestyles demand a more complex and dirtier one. People are beginning to realize that we have only so many toes to shoot off!

The corporate community is very tardy at waking up to the fact that more people every day share a desperate search for something they can hardly describe. Locked in pursuit of their own specialized short-term goals, corporate types often cannot see that their consumers, despite all their luxuries, still yearn for a higher quality of life that consists of much more than just bigger cars or houses or other material things.

Concern for the survival of woods and farms, trees and flowers, and the knowledge that fish should keep on living in our streams and birds should maintain their population has become more important to many of us, rich or poor, whether we live in city or country.

Yet our relentless growth in numbers, our longer, healthier lives and our headlong rush toward affluence have indeed made for a strange dichoone hand, we are creating a demand for bringing her closer.

We search for rural homes with pretty vistas, and in the process strip hillsides and uglify our surroundings. What was attractive is no longer. We wind up with houses looking at other houses, the same as in the neighborhoods we fled. Moving to farmlands raises the value of the land to the point that the farmer can no longer resist the impulse to pack it in and head south, and his farm becomes one more subdivision.

Or a town planning board feels it must approve a subdivision next to a trout stream in order to bring in rattomy. While we push nature away on ables to help pay municipal expenses caused by building earlier houses. The additional houses and paving cause higher volumes of water to run off and create more frequent floods, thus eroding stream banks and destroying the local stream's fish life. This ruins the trout stream, which can then no longer draw the business which had helped pay the municipal freight, and destroys the character of the community in the process.

We win reduced volatility of gasoline and smaller, more efficient cars, and we rejoice at the promised improvement in air quality. But more cars and highways and longer commutes offset such improvements as fast as we can make them. So we find that our ecologic-economic system is

area and business will move elsewhere, to be followed by the rest of us. That's what has been happening for a long time in our cities, and is now moving to older suburbs, which harbor mainly those whose grasp on the brass ring has been too feeble to let them join the migratory parade. It's time we took a longer view to make our urban places more attractive

In my job, the long-term objective is to see such good things happen that my job is no longer needed. I guess it's strange to want to put yourself out of your own business. But evidence of the past two decades makes that probability look pretty remote!

the environment

By Matthew Rinaldo Environmentalism is a social and political phenomenon that is more than a passing fad or a celebration of Earth Day. All across the nation, local communities, state legislatures and businesses are joining the effort to create a cleaner world.

A recent Gallup survey posed this question to consumers: "Would you make a special effort to buy products from companies trying to protect the environment?" Ninety-four percent answered affirmatively. When they were asked, "Would you give up some conveniences, such as disposable items in return for environmentally safer products or packaging?" 95 percent said they would. And when the question of paying more for a product that was environmentally safe was raised, 89 percent said they would be willing to pay more.

The economic question lies at the heart of environmental policies in both the private and public sectors. There are some positive signs that businesses and corporations are responding to the nation's commitment to a cleaner and safer environment. Some examples are encouraging.

In the past several years, the 3M company has backed 2,500 environmental projects worldwide. They have involved such efforts as recycling the trimming from "post it" pads to changing from chemical to water based coatings for adhesive tape.

Proctor & Gamble, one of the largest makers of consumer products in the world, is trying to halve the weight of disposable diapers and is testing recycling programs to turn plastic products into park benches, insulation and other reusable materials.

The Securities and Exchange Commission now requires corporations to list potential environmental liabilities in their annual reports. And many mutual funds are basing investment decisions on a company's social and environmental ethic. The newly formed Coalition for Environmentally Responsible Economies, a group of institutional investors with control over $150 billion in pension funds and other assets, is adopting guidelines in which companies are asked to reduce waste, use resources prudently, market environmentally safe products, and take responsibility for past damages to the environment.

In the near future, the Transportation and Hazardous Materials Subcommittee, on which I serve, will turn its attention to the reauthorization of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (commonly known as the Solid Waste Disposal Act), the Federal law that deals with solid and hazardous waste disposal and control. We should use this opportunity to accelerate the process of business and corporate responsibility for protecting the environment. Part of the solution is to reduce the amount of waste produced and to recycle as much of it as

While the cost of disposal has risen, those expenses are not paid by those who sell the materials; they are passed on to the taxpayer and consumer. The result is that the producers and sellers of these materials have little stake in. whether their products are recycled or simply thrown away.

To encourage the use of recycled materials, I have sponsored the Recycling Promotion Act with Rep. Ron Wyden (D-Oreg.). Our bill would increase Federal procurement of recycled goods and institute a specific "take-back" program for specific products, such as lead-acid batteries.

But this is just one of the pieces of legislation now pending before the subcommittee. There are, in fact, a number of innovative, substantive bills that would help our nation get a grip on its solid waste problem, and we ought to take the broadest, most inclusive approach in seeking to reduce the generation of solid and hazardous waste, the promotion of recycled products, and the disposal of waste in as economical and efficient way as possible.

Portions of the Wyden-Rinaldo bill have been incorporated in HR 3735, the bill to be considered by the subcommittee starting on May 16. But I am hoping to improve the legislation in seeking to have additional provisions included.

One such approach is my bill, HR 871, which would establish a national packing institute within the Environmental Protection Agency to minimize the amount of packaging material entering the nation's solid waste management system. Another worthwhile proposal is the Consumer Products Recovery Act. Under this bill, producers would earn credits depending on the volume of recycled materials they use in their products. They also would have incentives to purchase recycled material from their suppliers and could accumulate "recycling credits" that can be applied to their other products. The EPA would set targets for the use of recycled material, subject to approval by Congress.

It is clear we must deal aggressively with the problem of solid waste disposal and recycling. The amount of used lubricating oil that is thrown away, for instance, is equivalent to 35 Exxon Valdez oil spills a year. Most of its pollutes landfills or is washed down sewers and into the bays and rivers. Recapturing the throw-aways would protect the environment, lower clean-up costs, and create a steady and reliable source for recyclable materials.

SECTION B

Lions take 3; in section final

By MARK YABLONSKY

For the first time in his seven years at the Roselle Catholic helm, Jeff Ryan and his hard-hitting baseball team have a chance to win the state's overall Parochial B championship. That chance came about when the Lions, now 19-4, defeated both Don Bosco Prep. and Pingry last week to set up Wednesday's clash with St. Anthony in the North Jersey, Parochial B title game at Paramus Catholic.

The game had been scheduled for Tuesday, but heavy rains moved it to yesterday, weather permitting.

If the Lions did beat St. Anthony, then it's on to Princeton this Saturday for the statewide title.

And even if they didn't, it's still been one heck of a year for R.C. At the very least, just playing in Tuesday's game with St. Anthony's represents the first time Ryan has taken his team to the North Jersey, Parochial B

"Going this far is just great," said Ryan this past weekend, one day after his team had pounded Pingry, 10-2, behind a blistering 14-hit attack at the Lion's Den in Roselle. "It's been a great year so far, and we're in the finals of the section. The advantage is we have a great pitching staff, and every one of them's available on (Wednesday.

"We're starting to come on and if we get the pitching, I think we'll be okay. It's been a fun year."

But not for opposing pitchers. R.C.'s 3-1 week began with a 6-1 win over Bosco last Tuesday when the Lions, while getting only five hits, still came away with a 6-1 victory over the visitors from Bergen County.

That came about when Jose Martinez drilled a three-run homer to leftcenter in the bottom of the fourth inning, erasing a 1-0 Ironmen lead and putting the Lions in front to stay In the next inning, Ed Zembryski doubled and scored on Mike Donnelly's single to make it a 4-1 game, and Donnelly eventually scored the second run of the inning on Tim Sadowski's well-executed suicide squeeze.

R.C.'s final run in the sixth, scored by Ralph Limaldi, was unearned. Matt Medera's solo homer in the top of the fourth provided the Ironmen with their only run, as both Chris Van Vliet and Nick Koman combined for a four-hitter. Van Vliet earned the win, his third of the season against no defeats.

The following day was something of a disappoinment for the Lions, who lost a chance to put an iron grip on the Mountain Valley Conference's Mountain Division title by blowing four leads and eventually coming out on the short end of a 14-12 slugfest.

The Lions did make this wild and woolly battle interesting right down to the very end, though. After Ridge scored seven times in the top of the seventh to go in front, 14-8, Limaldi's grand-slam homer brought the Lions to within two runs of Ridge. But after a mighty double from Tim Zawacki, the rally came to an end.

As it now stands, R.C., to win the conference title, needed for Arthur L. Johnson of Clark to defeat Immaculata either yesterday or the day before.

On Thursday at Ruby Field in Springfield, R.C. returned to its winning ways with a 7-4 decision over Dayton Regional, although it wasn't exactly easy. The Lions jumped to a four-run advantage in the top of the first inning when Ed Zembryski doubled in two runs, and then later came home just behind Chad Hensler on Donnelly's well-placed squeeze bunt. Zembryski, simply put, keep right on running from second even as Donnelly was being thrown out at Dayton, however, which had been blanked, 1-0, by Hillside's Vinnie Cocilovo on Tuesday in Hillside, fought back with a run in the second inning, followed by three more in the third to tie it up, 4-4.

Clayton Trivett's grounder accounted for Dayton's run in the second, and the first two Dayton runs in the third came about on a throwing error. Matt Gallaro's sacrifice fly to center forced the deadlock.

But it didn't last long. Van Vliet walked with the bases loaded in the top of the fifth to snap the 4-4 tie, and the Lions put it away with run-scoring singles by Luke Monsorno and Zawacki in the sixth.

Hensler improved his record to 4-2 with a complete-game, seven-hitter, while Jay DeSai, now 3-2, took the loss for Dayton. Dale Torborg was Dayton's chief offensive weapon, going 2-for-3, including a two-out triple to deep right-center in the first.

And then came R.C.'s big outburst against Pingry this past Friday, also at home in Roselle. Outhitting the visitors by a 14-5 margin, the Lions wasted little time by jumping on Joe Shemman for two runs in the bottom of the first inning.

Limaldi singled, stole second, went to third base on a passed ball, and then came home on Hensler's grounder. Zembryski singled with two out and crossed home plate on Van Vliet's double to right-center.

Van Vliet, who went 3-for-4 with four runs batted in, tripled home Hensler in the third to make it a 3-1 game, and Limaldi's two-run homer to deep left-center sparked R.C.'s three-run inning in the fourth when the lead grew to 6-1.

Zembryski went 3-for-4 as well. Monsomo and Koman joined up for the five-hitter, with the win going to Monsomo, his fifth of the season against no losses.

This week's question:

Home runs have always been a big part of any World Series, but only two players in big-league history - since the Fall Classic began in 1903 - have ever hit three homers in one World Series game. One was Babe Ruth, who happened to do it twice. Can you name the other player? A clue: he was also the World Series MVP in that parti-

Jersey, Parochial B semifinals in Roselle. The Lions,

With the 1990 high school baseball season beginning to wind down, the Brearley Regional diamond squad cranked up its lumber and exploded for 23 hits in two games last week in wins over Hillside and North Plainfield.

The Bears, who are now 14-8-1 overall, blanked Hillside, 11-0, in five innings last Wednesday at Ward Field, behind the one-hit pitching of Brian Moleen. The Bears got both eight hits and an eight-run second inning in support of Moleen, who struck out nine and walked three.

Two days later against visiting North Plainfield, Moleen was again on hand to claim the win, but this time in relief — and in a 10-inning, 7-6 decision. In this contest, the Bears tied a season-high for hits with 15, a figure they had attained earlier during a 9-3 win over Dayton Regional on May 7.

Against Hillside, Moleen and Don Dayon both went 2-for-3 as the Bears put it away early. After run-scoring singles from first baseman Jeff Barr and Moleen staked Brearley to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning, the Bears lashed out for four hits, three of which led to runs, in the

With the bases loaded and none out, Chris Carey doubled in two runs to right-center field, with an additional tally coming in on an error. Molecn singled in a run, and later on, Dayon capped the inning with a two-run single. Carey singled home Luan Ahmetaj to complete the scoring in the fourth.

And against North Plainfield, the Bears stayed tough in a tight, see-saw battle. A two-run single by Moleen and a two-run double from Don Sammet gave Brearley a 4-0 advantage in the bottom of the third inning, but Rick Lewandowski's two-run single and third baseman Bob Lake's runscoring triple were the big blows as the Canucks scored five times in the fifth to take the lead, 5-4.

After a bases-loaded walk to Sammet tied it at 5-5 in the sixth, North Plainfield again took the lead when Lewandowski homered to lead off the seventh. But the Bears rallied with two out in their half of the inning on a single by Barr, a passed ball, and a run-scoring single from Mike Archibald.

Bill Durow scored the winning run in the 10th on an outfield error.

Scoreboard filled with talent

By MARK YABLONSKY

You might say that in Union County, good baseball players never really leave, at least not permanently. They excel in high school and American Legion, go on to do well in college, and somehow, return home to play ball again.

Meet this year's Union Scoreboard team of the Essex County League, which by all accounts, appears to be a real powerhouse - packed with names easily recognizable to many baseball fans countywide.

Players such as Dennis McCaffery of Roselle Park, Ken Hyde of Scotch Plains and Greg Randazza of Elizabeth are all members of the 1990 Scoreboard. And so are Joe Capizzano of Kenilworth, Rob Shalhoub of Linden and Gene Mirabella of Roselle

No wonder, then, that head coach Rick Matarante and brother Steve are so enthused about the 1990 season.

"By far, within the four years of our organization, this is the most talent

(we've had)," said Steve, the team captain who will serve primarily as designated hitter, along with some outfield appearances. "There's not a weakness in our entire pitching staff." Scoreboard, which won the ECL's Southern title with a 28-8 record last summer and then lost in two straight games to Bloomfield in the semifinal round of the league playoffs, is indeed

First off, if you want to see McCaffery play, you'd better do it soon. Rumor has it that he's a good bet to be taken in the annual major league draft early next month.

For however long he is around, though, McCaffery, the 1990 Big East Conference Player of the Year for Villanova University, will surely make his presence felt out in right field. In addition to his strong throwing arm, the 6-1, 190-pounder can also hit like a truck; for Scoreboard last season, McCaffery's five homers, 42 RBIs, 46 hits and .404 batting average were all among the ECL's Top 5.

Three other Villanova players lefty pitcher John Scheurer of South Brunswick, righthander Mike Riley of Cranford and Brian Streko of Sparta - will join McCaffery on Scoreboard this season. Scheurer, who went 7-0 with a 1.69 ERA and 46 strikeouts in 54 innings of work for Scoreboard last year, appears set as the team's number two starter behind Hyde, who was 4-2 for the team last summer.

Mirabella, until recently a member of the Chicago White Sox organization, is slated to be Union's No. 3

The infield will include Capizzano at second base and Springfield's Mike Gallaro as catcher. Capizzano, who helped lead the 1988 Brearley Regional High team to a Union County Tournament championship, is now at Southern Connecticut University; while Gallaro, a former standout for the Springfield American Legion team, is now at FDU-Teaneck.

The Elizabeth Nugents beat Scoreboard, 4-3, in Monday night's opener.

Arians to battle Belles

The Linden Arians women's fastpitch softball team will begin its 56th season of play this Tuesday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Park, against the Budweiser Belles of Parsippany.

Team members include Linden residents Sue Harms and Pam Gedman, and Roselle residents Linda Lensch and Karilyn Bachmann. Lensch, who is the team's general manager, will also catch this year.

Let your child travel the world this summer and still tuck him in each night.

This summer, parents and children have a very exciting alternative to summer camp-the Passport Program[®] at Supertots. It's a celebration of life and cultures around the world. Every 2 weeks our Supertots Learning Center will be transformed into a different cultural experience and children ages 3-12 will be involved in age-appropriate learning activities. For the summer only, Supertots welcomes 6-12 year olds into our innovative program. It's available on a bi-weekly basis or for the entire 10 week period. Enroll in the Passport Program® immediately—space is limited. It's also a great way to find out about Supertots year-round "early childhood education program." From our developmentally-planned learning programs, to our state-ofthe art centers, to our superior staff, you'll see for yourself why

'Hip' to the top

By MILT HAMMER

Turntable Treat: "Up To Here," by The Tragically Hip, MCA Records.

The band's moniker evokes images of beret-clad French students quoting Jean-Paul Sartre as they sip expressos on their Left Bank drive to an existential nowhere.

Nothing could be further from the truth. These guys are, in fact, young Canadian rock 'n' rollers with blues in their blood and rock in their souls. Their drive is destined to take them to the top, as their debut MCA album "Up To Here" testifies. They're known to their friends as The Hip, and after a few revolutions of this record, that's what you'll be calling them too.

These cats burst out of their Kingston, Ontario, lair a couple of years ago, effortlessly laying waste to the Toronto club scene with consistent, incendiary live shows. Their recording debut was a self-titled minialbum, released independently, but soon picked up by a major label in Canada. In early 1989, MCA Records released the aforesaid tasty appetizer in the U.S. and the U.K.

That was then, this is now... "Up To Here" is the band's first full album, and lead singer/lyricist Gord Downie couldn't be any happier about the final result and the events that led up to it.

"The whole process was the way it should be. We had time to piece together in our minds what we wanted to accomplish before we went down office at 687-4800.

Weichert Realtors has developed an exclusive incentive program that enables sellers to include a consumer protection package to the purchaser of their home.

The innovative three-part program, Buyer Protection Plus, protects homebuyers from home repair bills; insures their home and all belongings; and provides an option to refinance their mortgage, without paying points.

"Most consumer products today come with warranties, guarantees, or insurance. Shouldn't the largest investment of your life come with some protection?" said Ron Mammano, manager of the Union office. "One of the best benefits of Buyer Protection Plus is that it helps sellers distinguish their home from others in a glutted market."

Buyer Protection Plus offers buyers a one-time option to refinance their

Century 21 urges accurate pricing

Accurate pricing is the key to effectively marketing a home in the Northeast, according to a survey conducted by Century 21 of the Northeast. Offering incentives, buying down a mortgage, or assisting in other ways with financing are far less likely to affect the sale of a home.

"We found that home buyers were not skittish about interest rates and were, for the large part, cool on incentives. The key is price and whether they perceive a home to be fairly priced or not," said Carolyn Weber, Century 21 of the Northeast's vice president for Regional Development.

Today's buyer, according to the survey, is likely to be purchasing a first home in the region, and is motivated to buy to move from a rental or because of a corporate transfer. The majority of buyers are selective shoppers but are ready to buy at the right

When asked about buyer activity in their marketplace, 72 percent of brokers said first-time buyers were the most active; 25 percent said demand for housing by corporte transferees vas moderate to significant in their

Based on the survey, Weber said, "Overall, our prediction is for a stronger housing market in the region for 1990. Two-thirds of our offices forecast a healthier year than 1989. Prices will remain stable regionwide with appreciation differing from county to

The market for existing single family homes was reported to be the strongest overall. Century 21 brokers saw a weaker picture for cooperative apartments and condominiums, particularly in areas where there was aggressive development in the mid '80s. Two- and three-family homes were predicted to be strong sellers in

While some housing experts have recently predicted a continued decline in homes sales for the region, Weber said the survey was optimistic. Spot interviews with Century 21 offices in the Northeast revealed that in many areas sales were up during the first quarter of 1990 as compared to 1989.

Century 21 of the Northeast, with 600 franchised offices in Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, and Rhode Island, is a part of Century 21 Real Estate Corporation, a subsidiary of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. It is the world's largest real estate sales organization, with more than 7,200 independently owned and operated offices worldwide.

LAWRENCE KILLMER

In its continued effort to grow and develop as an industry leader, First Provident Mortgage Corporation of New Providence, New Jersey, announces the appointment of Lawrence Killmer as President of the Union County firm. Killmer comes to First Provident with over 12 years of mortgage banking experience. As a Certified Credit Analyst through U.S. Housing and Urban Development, Killmer previously served in management positions at United Jersey Bank, Anchor Mortgage Services and First Nationwide Bank. He currently resides in Union with his wife and daughter.

Killmer also belongs to the New Jersey Mortgage Bankers Association, the New York Mortgage Bankers Association, the Young Mortgage Bankers Association, the New Jersey Builders Association, and the New Providence Chamber of Commerce.

Since its opening day, First Provident Mortgage Corporation of New Providence has been making home buyers' dreams come true. Their professional staff has been working day and night to accommodate its diverse customer base. Known throughout the community for its high degree of customer service, First Provident prides itself on its flexibility in providing mortgage money for purchases, refinances, home improvements, and debt consolidations.

Killmer explains, "I see our role at First Provident as community servants. We thrive on working closely with our neighbors, making them long time clients and friends.'

Antonio Trapani, Vice President of Educational Affairs for the European Academy of Cosmetology, Union will be teaching hair styling, and judging competition at the Spring-Summwe 1990 National Cosmetology Association's National Beauty Show.

Headquartered in St. Louis, the national Cosmetology Association (NCA) is the largest of its kind in the world with membership exceeding 45,000.

Trapani, an artist in the beauty profession, was selected to teach new styles and trends to the hundreds of attendees at this year's bi-annual event. In addition to teaching, Trapani was selected to judge the Gent's Division for the America's Cup.

Union attorney Donald G. Kein, was recently installed as the 88th President of the Union County Bar Association. The Union County Bar Association was organized on Jan. 7, 1902 and presently has over 800 members who either practice or reside in Union County.

Kein attended Union schools and is a graduate of Union High School. He is director of Center Bancorp, and The Union Center National Bank.

Puerari Electric is tops

Joseph Puerari, owner and proprietor of Puerari Electric Inc., operates one of the area's most successful electrical contracting businesses out of his home, located at 315 Boulevard in Kenilworth.

Keeping his overhead low and customer satisfaction high, he says, are the keys to his success.

"I would say the biggest difference between myself and other contractors is lower prices," says Puerari. "Our overhead and expenses are lower and that helps keep prices down."

An experienced and licensed electrician for the state of New Jersey. Puerari has had his own contracting business for over four years, and services Union, Essex and Middlesex counties.

Prior to owning his own business, Puerari worked for other contractors, where he gained the experience needed to establish a successful business of his own.

His training also includes schooling at the Lyons Institute in Newark and Union County College.

Puerari still continues his education by attending various monthly seminars held by the Union County Electrical Contractors Association.

During the monthly seminars, tradesmen in the field discuss new merchandise, supply costs and values, and new and efficient methods of improving productivity of equipment and manpower.

"I offer a full array of high quality, state-of-the-art merchandise and services," says Puerari. "We contract for all types of renovations, new home construction and upgrading of services within a 50-mile radius."

Puerari Electric contracts for all prices for a variety of electrical items, types of commercial, residential and light industrial construction. Most of lighting, recessed lighting, and is a his clients are so satisfied with his ser- fully guaranteed and insured contractvices that they often recommend ing company. Puerari Electric to others.

"I am constantly attracting new reasons for that is because my clients are pleased with our services and spread the word to their friends."

Currently, Puerari Electric has three crews out each day working at various sites throughout the area, servicing any of his 75 regular clients, which include local shopkeepers, homeowners and licensed building contractors.

"We are very busy right now," Puerari says, "and we are still growing."
