Man given $3.25 million in Rt. 22 shooting

By SUZETTE STALKER

A man who was rendered disabled after being shot accidentally during a stolen car chase in Mountainside nearly two years ago recently received $3.25 million in an out-of-court settlement with the borough.

Barry Muster, 44, of Berkeley Heights had been traveling home on Route 22 west on July 8, 1988, when he was struck by a bullet fired by a Mountainside police officer at a stolen Porsche fleeing eastbound on the opposite side of the highway.

Patrolman Dennis Tassie fired three shots at the Porsche after witnessing the driver of the car, Archie Worthy, 20, strike fellow officer Thomas McCartney, who was standing near the highway divider attempting to clear a path through traffic to allow other officers to catch up with Worthy's vehicle.

One of the shots ricocheted off the Porsche and struck Muster in the forehead. Muster, who suffered brain damage from his injury, sustained permanent paralysis in his left arm, walks with a brace, and has impaired vision and a speech impediment.

Officer Tassie, who is now employed by the Newark Police Department, was later cleared by a grand jury of any wrongdoing in the case. Officer McCartney, who also suffered extensive injuries after being struck by the stolen vehicle, is still with the Mountainside force.

Worthy, who surrendered to authorities a week after the shooting, was acquitted last February of attempted murder but convicted on six other counts, including aggravated assault, burglary, theft and possession of stolen property. He was sentenced in April to 17 years in prison.

A lawsuit was filed on behalf of the Musters last December, which named the borough, Mountainside Police Chief William Alder, and Officers Tassie, McCartney, and Todd Turner as defendants.

Newark attorney Alan Y. Medvin, who represented the Musters, explained last Thursday that the out-of-court settlement was actually reached in April, but that neither side made an effort to publicize the agreement.

The settlement was reached following several months of negotiations, according to Medvin, between himself and representatives from the borough's insurance company.

Medvin stated that the settlement was "the product of negotiations and reflected what each side thought the jury would do if the case came to trial, and the benefits of having the plaintiff settle now rather than later.

"It was basically an economic analysis," the attorney continued, "of what the case might be worth later on and the risk each side had of losing. It was what was considered to be a reasonable compromise."

"It was basically an economic analysis of what the case might be worth later on and the risk each side had of losing. It was what was considered to be a reasonable compromise."

— Attorney Alan Medvin

Muster, who is co-owner of a florist shop in Jersey City, has been able to operate his business in a limited capacity, according to his attorney. Muster and his wife, Anna, 29, are expecting their first child next month.

Muster has been undergoing therapy at the Mt. Kemble Rehabilitation Center, an arm of Morristown Memorial Hospital in Morristown. Medvin stated that the Musters are settlement is within the policy limits of our insurance coverage and that the settlement will not impact on our taxpayers."

Chief Alder added that "the Police Department is pleased that the matter has been settled and that we were fortunate to have this covered by our insurance company. We're glad the whole matter is concluded."

The specter of a large lawsuit lodged against a municipality, and the importance of that municipality having sufficient insurance to cover itself, was recently faced by the borough of Kenilworth.

A court recently reversed a judgment against that borough which awarded $8.4 million to a man rendered a quadriplegic in a 1982 traffic accident, though Kenilworth still faces an upcoming retrial in the matter to determine liability.

DPW targets boro roads for reconstruction work

By SUZETTE STALKER

The Mountainside Borough Council approved plans Tuesday night for reconstruction of several borough roads this summer, which have become weakened or deteriorated due to drainage problems or heavy traffic volume.

Director of Public Works and Facilities Walter Dinizo stated that contracts for the reconstructive work will now probably go to bid by the end of this month, with the actual work scheduled to be done in July and August.

Dinizo explained that road reconstruction will involve workers going below the asphalt surface of the road and either improving drainage by replacing pipes or strengthening the road itself with added layers of stone and asphalt.

Local roads currently earmarked for reconstruction include Sunny Slope Drive, South Fork Road, and the intersections of Wood Valley Road and Central Avenue; Grouse Lane and Fox Trail, Mill Lane and Vasser Road, and Friar Lane and Hawk Ridge.

Dinizo added that Mary Allen Way, a private drive, may also be serviced. He emphasized, however, that road reconstructions will be done "on a priority basis based on funds available in the budget, and there are a couple we may not be able to get to this year."

The DPW director maintained that the planned road work is not expected to significantly inconvenience motorists, and that the reconstruction will be done in sections to better accommodate traffic flow in the areas.

He added that the Mountainside DPW will also be doing some "cutting and patching" of its own during the summer, including minor repairs to roads and basins on Sheffield Street, Sherwood Parkway, Ridge Drive, Birch Hill and several other areas.

He explained that road problems along Sheffield Street and Birch Hill have been caused by heavy traffic flow. Birch Hill is frequently used as an access road between New Providence Road and Deerfield and Our Lady of Lourdes schools.

Sheffield Street is located in a light industrial section of the borough and is frequently traveled by heavy vehicles, Dinizo noted. He added that Ridge Drive and Sherwood Parkway have basically been experiencing drainage problems.

Dinizo reported that road repairs by the Mountainside DPW would most likely get under way when the weather is consistently warm, "since the temperature of the road has to be warm enough to bond with the new asphalt being put on."

The director acknowledged that his department has been able to develop more projects, including the planned road repairs, since the Mountainside DPW was expanded after Dinizo came on board several months ago.

The DPW is also planning to utilize television cameras within the near future, according to Dinizo to conduct inspections of sewer lines and detect problems. He added that the cameras will give a better indication of such common hazards as sewer backups, root growth and debris clogging the sewers.

Vail-Deane musical honors work ethic

The Vail-Deane School in Mountainside recently staged a musical production titled "Working," featuring students from Vail-Deane's upper school, which played to sell-out audiences at the school for two nights.

The play explores the lives and talents of those people who design and manufacture the things most necessary for daily living, but which other people generally take for granted, according to director Karl Sikkenga of Plainfield.

In describing the work, Sikkenga said "try and put whatever is on your mind on hold for a moment, and think of an object. Something you use every day: the car you drive, the carpet you walk on, the skillet you cook in."

"Now try to think of every person who was somehow involved in getting that object into your life," Sikkenga continued. "Someone found the materials; someone mined, farmed, bought or sold them; someone designed the object; welded, tested, painted, cleaned it, inspected, sewed, dyed, approved it."

"Someone drove the truck that delivered it, made the phone calls, filled out the orders," he said. "The play reminds us that we are all so busy that we take this incredible mosaic of people for granted."

"Author Studs Terkel was concerned in the late '60s with the devaluation of the working woman and man and conducted over 100 interviews with people in all ranges of work, from laborer to executive," the director continued.

This collection of interviews eventually became the book "Working," which Stephen Schwartz adapted for the musical stage. The monologues and song lyrics are taken almost directly from the words of the workers, according to Sikkenga.

"Their stories, and the mosaic of pride, frustration, glee, cynicism and strength are as relevant today as they ever were."

Dayton grads to receive degrees

By SUZETTE STALKER

One hundred and sixty five high school seniors from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, including approximately 60 Mountainside residents, are expected to receive their diplomas next Monday, June 18, during the school's 53rd commencement.

The graduation ceremony will be held, weather permitting, at 7 p.m. on the Meisel football field on Meisel Avenue in Springfield. In the event of rain, the ceremony will be held in Jonathan Dayton's main gymnasium.

Student council president Jason Yee and senior class president Dwight Dachnowicz will lead the procession of graduates as the traditional processional theme "Pomp and Circumstance" is played. The national anthem will be performed by the school band.

The Rev. Raymond Waldron will offer both the invocation and the benediction during the ceremony. Dachnowicz will present the welcome address following the invocation, after which class vice presidents Valerie Rau and Beth Engert will present the class gift.

Valedictorian David Schlossberg of Springfield and salutatorian Tatiana Aizenberg of Mountainside, who are ranked first and second, respectively, in their graduating class, will also address the graduates and their guests.

The two students' speeches will reflect both past experiences of high school years as well as hopes and dreams for the future. Schlossberg's address is titled "The Past — A Bridge to the Future," while Aizenberg's is titled "Through the Years."

Springfield resident Natalie Waldt, president of the Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1; vice president David Hart of Mountainside; and board member Margaret Hough of Springfield will hand out diplomas.

Dachnowicz and Aizenberg were recently honored, along with their counterparts from the other three high schools in the regional district, at the fifth annual Recognition Breakfast for Outstanding Scholars of Union County, which was held at L'Affaire in Mountainside.

The salutatorian and valedictorian were joined for that occasion by their families and by district educators in celebration of the two students' many outstanding accomplishments during their high school careers at Jonathan Dayton.

This year, many members of Jonathan Dayton's Class of 1990 are expected to attend "Project Graduation," an all-night drug-free and alcohol-free party to be held at the Westfield YMCA, where students will be able to enjoy movies, swimming, games, and dancing with music provided by a DJ.

The party, organized by Jonathan Dayton's Parent-Teacher-Student Organization, including Dachnowicz and other students, was designed to give the Class of 1990 a genuine grand finale to their high school years without experiencing the tragedies which often occur when alcohol or drugs are involved.

Borough youths honored

Mountainside resident Dwight Dachnowicz was recently presented with a medal for "Special Recognition as a Young Citizen" by U.S. Senator Bill Bradley at the fifth annual Young Citizens Dinner at the Rutgers University Commons in New Brunswick on June 4.

DWIGHT DACHNOWICZ

A senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Dachnowicz was among only 14 students to be selected for this honor out of 324 who were nominated from throughout the state.

Fellow Mountainside resident Christian Phillip La Fon was also recognized with a Young Citizens Award, established by Bradley, to honor young people 15 to 20 years of age who serve their community and state with distinction.

In his presentation Senator Bradley declared, "The Young Citizens Award has been established to recognize young people of New Jersey who are dedicated to community service and who identify their own well-being with that of their community."

"This program celebrates the contributions of dedicated people who help others, often at considerable sacrifice and with no thought of recognition or reward," Bradley said.

"I hope that by calling attention to the hundreds of unselfish teen-agers ton, he addressed the governing bodies of both communities to enlist their help.

The student is also a supporter of "Safe Rides," and has devoted many hours in attempting to reinstate the program.

Several examples of Dachnowicz's personal involvement in his neighborhood, in which he helped fellow residents through their difficulties, were also cited.

Dachnowicz has served as Jonathan Dayton class president for the past two years, and has garnered varsity letters in both football and track.

Selected as Jonathan Dayton's June "Student of the Month," Dachnowicz is also the recipient of the Thomas J. Ricciardi Scholarship and a Baltusrol Golf Club Scholarship.

Nominations for the Citizens Award were submitted from public, private and parochial schools; service, civic and religious organizations; youth groups, Scouting troops, public safety officials; elected officials and business leaders.

The awards committee, composed of over 60 volunteers, elected the 14 students who were awarded special recognition medals. The committee includes educators, civic leaders, sports figures, business people and elected officials.

Bill to cut voter lists

County clerks would be required to submit only one copy of voter lists to the state party chairman under legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks, R-22, that cleared an Assembly committee today.

Franks' district includes Mountainside.

"Under current law, the county clerk is required to provide state party chairmen with five copies of voter lists," said Franks. "I just don't see the necessity of placing that mandate on county clerks."

"For one, it takes a lot of time and manpower to prepare and update the voter lists, and I'm sure many of these clerks have enough work."

Dems elect officers

The Mountainside Democratic County Committee held its organizational meeting on June 10 the home of Eli Hoffman of Rolling Rock Road.

Officers elected were Hoffman, municipal chairperson, Virginia Heinze of Wyoming Drive, vice chairperson, and Russ Cardoni of Short Drive, secretary.

Hoffman, in accepting the position, announced that the committee "will increase its activities toward making an effective contribution to increase

BOE meeting is slated

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District One will hold an adjourned regular meeting on Tuesday, June 19, at 8 p.m. The meeting will take place in the Instructional Media Center of David Brearley Regional High School, Monroe Avenue, Kenilworth.

The regional district includes Brearley, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside.

During the meeting, the board will hear a report regarding an updated master plan of the district, which includes demographic data, facilities use and priorities for maintenance and facilities.

In addition, the public will be invited to comment on a proposed new grading system, which will have its second reading as a new policy.

All residents of the regional district, parents of students attending district programs, and teaching staff members of the four high schools are invited to attend the meeting.

campus corner

Kenilworth resident Adele Petrino, a junior at Union Catholic Regional High School in Scotch Plains, was among four students at the school who recently won recognition in a national high school contest for students studying Italian.

The student earned honorable mention in Level III of the contest.

Kimberly Anne Sommer of Highlands Avenue in Springfield was among 11 New Jersey students who were recently named to the dean's list for the spring 1990 semester at the University of North Carolina in Charlotte, N.C.

Sommer is a sociology major at the school.

To qualify for the dean's list, a student must complete at least 12 semester hours with grades of A, B or C and achieve a quality point average of at least 3.40 but not more than 3.79.

Stacey Ann Meissner of Sylvan Lane in Mountainside was among those students at the College of Wooster in Wooster, Ohio, who were recently named to the second-semester dean's list at the school. Students must achieve a grade point average of 3.5-4.0 to attain dean's list status.

Julia Claire Ehrhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ehrhardt of Mary Allan Lane in Mountainside, was among those students who were recently named to the dean's list with distinction at Duke University for the 1989-90 academic year.

To make the dean's list, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.6 or above out of a possible 4.0.

Maria Francollno, of Mountainside has been named to the dean's list of the Middlesex campus of Berkeley College of Business, Woodbridge.

To be appointed to the dean's list at the two-year college of business, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.2 and have no grade lower than a "C."

High school district boosts cultural arts

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District One will again be sponsoring its summer cultural arts workshops for all residents of the regional district.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

This summer, the regional board will conduct a musical theater workshop at David Brearley; a vocal music workshop at Jonathan Dayton; a crafts workshop at Governor Livingston and two fine arts workshops at Arthur L. Johnson.

Workshop sessions will begin during the week of Monday, June 18.

Each program will conclude with a public performance or display in late July. Classes and/or rehearsals for each workshop will be held on week-day evenings.

All residents of Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights are eligible to enroll in these workshops, tuition-free. Residents of other communities may also participate, as tuition students.

For their own personal enjoyment and artistic enrichment, residents of the regional district and neighboring communities are encouraged to participate in these workshops. For more information on the regional district's summer cultural arts workshops, one can call the Union County Regional Office of Adult and Continuing Education at 376-6300, extension 276 or 326.

Student seeking home

Postal tips offered

Springfield Postmaster William G. Daniels is reminding area residents that there are procedures for having one's mail delivered while one is on vacation.

"When going on vacation," Daniels stated, "make sure you notify your post office by submitting a change of address card, called form 3575, to your carrier or local office."

"When filling out this card, make sure Items 2 and 3 are completed. These items indicate when your vacation period begins and ends," he added.

"Failure to properly fill out these items will result in your request being treated as a permanent order and your mail will continue to be forwarded to that address."

This service of forwarding First Class Mail, Express Mail and Priority is provided free by the postal service for a period not to exceed one full year.

"We know how important your mail is, so assist us in giving you better delivery during your vacation and fill out a change of address card," Daniels concluded. "Have a safe and happy vacation, and don't forget your mail — we will not."

Homelessness is topic

A television documentary titled "Feed My Sheep," which focuses upon the plight of the homeless in New Jersey, and produced and directed by Natalie D'Alessio from Springfield, is scheduled to be cablecast on Suburban Cablevision, TV 32, on Tuesday, June 19, at 9:35 p.m.

The program was funded by a grant from the Interfaith Council for the Homeless of Union County and the New Jersey State Council for The Arts through the Union County Division of Cultural Affairs.

The program was produced and edited in the facilities of TV-36, located at 70 Maple St. in Summit.

TV-36 plans to cablecast the program on the homeless of New Jersey throughout the summer.

Cohen honored for jail plan that saves county $

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI
In a ceremony held last Thursday at the Union County Administration Building, United States Marshal Arthur Borinsky presented Freeholder Neil Cohen with a plaque in appreciation for his efforts in arranging a program to house federal prisoners in the old county jail building.

"Neil Cohen is the individual responsible for starting the dialogue between the county and the federal government," Borinsky said. "Through his efforts we have a contract that is good for us and good for Union County."

Cohen said he was "pleasantly surprised" by the award. "I appreciate the recognition," he said. "I thought the idea of a partnership with the federal government would help to offset the costs of keeping the old facility operational."

The contract, the first of its kind in the state concerning prisoners, allows federal prisoners awaiting trial in Newark to be held in the jail building. Previously, such prisoners had been held in facilities in upstate New York, West Virginia and in the Metropolitan Correctional Center in New York City.

Borinsky said the agreement will save his department time and money by keeping prisoners at a location convenient to the federal courts in Newark.

Under terms of the contract, the federal government will pay the county $5 million annually for the upkeep of the jail building. While this money is not considered revenue for the county, it will provide for the hiring of additional staff.

The money will also offset the costs of keeping the jail open for the overflow of inmates from the new county jail. In addition, the agreement gives the county access to grant money to upgrade and renovate the old jail building, projects it would have had to fund on its own.

According to Jail Director Warren Maccarelli, several federal inmates are already housed in the jail, and the number will increase gradually as county inmates are transferred to the new county facility.

Another advantage to the partnership with the U.S. Marshal is the chance for the county to avail itself of free federal surplus items at the General Services Administration warehouse at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

According to Maccarelli, the warehouse contains a variety of equipment which could be used in both the old and the new facilities. "They have everything from furniture like beds and desks to clothing," he said. "We found things like heavy-duty footwear and winter coats which could be used by the inmates who shovel snow and take out garbage in the winter. We're beginning the request process, and plan to check the inventory on a monthly basis."

History projects $ available

Grant money for community history projects is available through the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, from funds supplied by the County Block Grants Program of the New Jersey Historical Commission, a division of the Department of State.

According to Freeholder Walter E.

Boright, "Organizations based in Union County which need help financing projects designed to bring local and county history to the public may apply." While historical organizations are the usual recipients of the grants, any non-profit agency, institution or organization interested in doing a project may be eligible.

HEADACHES AREN'T "NORMAL"

Just about everybody gets a headache once in awhile, so why should you be unduly upset if you happen to be suffering from one? If you've been celebrating with friends and eat or imbibe too much, it certainly would not be unusual to wake up with a headache the next day. But that kind of headache usually goes away as soon as you're eating and drinking sensibly again, and getting enough sleep. But what about the other kinds of headache?

Some illnesses, such as flu, include headache among the symptoms. But if you're in reasonably good health, you have a right to wonder why you suffer from headaches. A resort to aspirin and other medication may dull the pain for awhile, but if the headaches persist you should seek treatment. Among the causes of persistent headache are problems with the cervical vertebrae, the spinal bones in your neck. If they are out of alignment, this could cause headaches until you get the treatment you need.

Brearley students are recognized

David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth has announced that Tracy Hoefling, 17, and James Carrea, 18, have been named as the school's Students-of-the-Month for June.

A scholar-athlete, Hoefling holds membership in Brearley's National Honor Society, Spanish Society and the International Club. She has also participated in field hockey, softball, winter track and basketball.

Outside of school, Hoefling, who will be seeking a part-time job this summer, enjoys "hanging out with friends, talking on the phone or having a moment by myself in my room."

Hoefling stated that her proudest memories in high school include being nominated for homecoming queen last fall, remaining third in her graduating class for two years, receiving the honor of being a Garden State Distinguished Scholar and receiving nine varsity letters in sports.

The student cites her most memorable book as "Flowers for Algernon," by Daniel Keyes. "It taught me to accept people for their individual qualities, that everyone is different and needs to be accepted by other. I learned not to discriminate against anyone who...has a problem," Hoefling said.

In commending Hoefling for her contributions to David Brearley, her nominators have called her "an inspiration — reliable, hard-working and intelligent."

Her nominators have said that Hoefling's "confident commitment to excellence and her tireless spirit of enthusiasm make Tracy the kind of Brearley ideal underclass student should strive to imitate."

STUDENTS OF THE MONTH — David Brearley Regional High School students Tracy Hoefling, left, and James Carrea, right, were recently named as Students-of-the-Month at Brearley for June. Both students are scholar-athletes who have earned many honors during their high school careers.

Hoefling's "confident commitment to excellence and her tireless spirit of enthusiasm make Tracy the kind of Brearley ideal underclass student should strive to imitate."

Hoefling plans to attend Cook College of Rutgers to pursue an interest in pre-veterinary medicine/animal science. Eventually, she hopes to attend the University of Pennsylvania and major in veterinary medicine.

"Don't let yesterday take up too much of today," Hoefling remarked. "In other words, you have to live in the future and look forward to the future. I know this from personal experience."

Carrea, also a scholar-athlete, has devoted his spare time in high school to sports and service, as a member of the varsity track team and Project J.O.Y. — Joining Older and Younger, in which high school students and senior citizens share activities.

The student claims that his athletic attainments, in track in particular have brought him a great sense of pride.

"Through the years I have been a conference, county and state champion, and have made a name for myself and the school through hard work and Mr. Hagan's guidance," he said. He added that "academics are my primary concern although my schedule and preparation may not always reflect that."

Carrea explained that he is also pleased by his selection as Brearley's Student-of-the-Month. He cited being a delegate to Jersey Boys' State as his highest honor, adding that "so many other worthy students could have won."

In naming Carrea to this latest recognition, his nominators referred to him as an "exceptionally bright, purposeful and confident young man."

"An outstanding competitor on the track, Jim brings a similar commitment and a sense of personal integrity to the classroom where he is a fine critical thinker."

Carrea named "Heart of Darkness" by Joseph Conrad as his most memorable book. "I saw 'Apocalypse Now' and didn't realize it was related to the novel. Then I read the book... the first and last that I have been totally engulfed in."

After graduation, Carrea plans to attend Rutgers University and major in physical therapy and recreational studies. He also plans to compete for Rutgers track and field squad on a partial scholarship.

"Eventually I would like to become a team trainer in professional sports or run my own physical therapy practice," he said.

"Sometimes shortcuts are dead ends," the student commented. "If life were one big circus, there would be dozens lining up for the ringmaster's job; I, on the other hand, would be the clown because, after all, that is who people come to see."

Hospital presents talent show

Music, singing, skits and magic filled the air at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside recently as area residents showed their stuff during a talent show for the young patients.

The talent show was hosted by Children's Specialized and the Junior League of Elizabeth-Plainfield in celebration of Children and Hospitals Week.

"All of the patients were delighted with the entertainment," commented Fran Feathers of Fanwood, the hospital's child life specialist, who helped coordinate the event. "The performers were area residents who gave of their time and we appreciated their efforts to participate in Children and Hospitals Week."

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Jerome B. Keating of Westfield and his assistants Goofy and the Chicken from Monkey Business in Scotch Plains.

The various acts included Dixieland Jass, presented by members of the Westfield Community Bank; Mike Sabatino of Hoboken as The Karate Kid; "The Rose", a song presented by Carol Holowka of the hospital staff and sing-a-long guitarist Neil Acio of Scotch Plains.

Other acts were melodies by Ellen Vaida, Flemington; The Velvetene Rabbit, presented by Westfield's Roosevelt Intermediate School's drama club, with director Mary Anne Murray; a Bill Cosby skit by Shawn Reilly of Westfield; magician Eric Leinder from Westfield and "Leader Of The Pack" by the Skirts, also known as hospital staff members Fran Feathers, Anna Lima, and Dawn Rahill.

There was also a sampling of colonial music by the members of the Fife & Drum Corp of Westfield with director Agnes Trainor.

Also contributing to the success of the talent show were: J & M Meat Market of Mountainside; Mayfair Footdown; The Golden Egg; Sinclaire's Seafood Restaurant; Periwinkle's Fine Gifts; Video-Video; Hill Ice Cream; The Rialto movie theater and Not Just Cookies, all of Westfield; and Monkey Business of Scotch Plains.

Children's and Hospitals Week was a public awareness campaign to focus attention on the unique needs of children and their families as they interact with the health care system.

A major goal of the week was to promote health care policies and practices which are both sensitive and responsive to the emotional and developmental needs of children.

Children's Specialized is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital which includes 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term care beds. In addition, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in nearby Fanwood, and as received state approval to develop a 30 bed inpatient facility in Ocean County.

Arboretum is grant recipient

The Hyde and Watson Foundation of Chatham Township has provided a $5,000 grant toward greenhouse improvements, including a propagation mist system, at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum in Summit.

Reeves-Reed Board President George K. Ross announced that the grant will help to fulfill the educational functions of the arboretum greenhouse.

The funding will go toward improving techniques to demonstrate plant propagation through adult and children's classes and will enable production of choice and new tropical, house and garden plants for public information and enjoyment, as well as special gifts for volunteers and major donors.

Greenhouse chairman Lea Franklin pointed out that the funding will help with problem-solving. Two automatic vent openers will be installed to stabilize temperatures and prevent frequent overheating in summer months.

Two circulating fan-humidifier blowers will discourage mildew and fungal growths which occur in warm weather.

A plumbing system with tub and sink pump, plus a 10-gallon hot-water heater, will allow for pesticide and fertilizer preparation within the greenhouse and eliminate transport of properly-heated water back and forth between the main house and the greenhouse.

A propagation mist system with heating unit and timer will help foster growth of new plants to maturity.

The Hyde and Watson Foundation was organized to fund capital projects, and is a combination of two foundations consolidated in 1983. The Reeves-Reed Arboretum is a non-profit educational and cultural institution on an 1889 former estate of 12.5 acres.

Separate from the City of Summit budget, the arboretum operates with funding solely from memberships, contributions, grants and fund-raisers. The grounds are open, free to the public, during daylight hours seven days a week. Free access to the greenhouse is provided during office hours on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dentist relocates

After 33 years in Springfield at 493 Morris Avenue, William M. Bloom DDS, FAGD, MAGD, a resident of Mountainside, has relocated this dental practice to 1550 Brookside Road, Mountainside, Mountainside.

Dr. Bloom, a graduate of The University of Buffalo Dental School, is one of a select number of dentists who have been awarded the title Master of the Academy of General Dentistry.

FAGD signifies Fellowship in the Academy of General Dentistry which requires over 500 hours of postgraduate study with MAGD denoting 600 hours beyond those required for fellowship. Only 27 dentists in New Jersey and 496 dentists in the United States and Canada have attained this honor.

In addition, Dr. Bloom is a member of the Union County Dental Society, the American Dental Association and the N.J. Academy of General Dentistry.

Fingerprint identification by computer makes debut

Gov. Jim Florio and Attorney General Robert J. Del Tufo recently unveiled the state-of-the-art Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) at a ceremony at State Police headquarters.

The attorney general, joined by Col. Justin Dintino, superintendent of State Police, said the computer system will have an immediate and revolutionary impact on crime-solving techniques.

"This system marks a new dawn for the entire criminal justice system in New Jersey. AFIS will help us take a lot of the mystery out of crime," Florio said.

"With the implementation of this system, we have just put more than 1 million criminals on alert. If they leave just a partial fingerprint at a crime scene, it's possible to identify them within 30 minutes," said Del Tufo.

Dintino called the fingerprint identification system one of the most significant technological advances law enforcement since the one-way radio.

"The two-way radio was a breakthrough. The forensic laboratory was a significant advance, but this computer system is a powerful weapon in the law enforcement arsenal. Fingerprints are unimpeachable evidence in a courtroom, and we now have the capability to match even a partial fingerprint with a suspect," the colonel said at press conference held on May 21.

Dintino said State Police already have begun reaping the benefits of the system by solving a four and a-half year old burglary by matching a latent fingerprint with the name of a suspect.

During the training phase of the new system, which is now semi-operational, members of the fingerprint identification unit were using "live" latent prints.

On May 8, a latent print taken from a burglary in a South Jersey community that was committed on November 6, 1985, was entered into the AFIS computer.

Dintino said the latent print provided the name of a suspect and a warrant has been issued for the suspects arrest.

"Without this system, that crime would have remained unsolved. Using the current manual system of checking latent fingerprints, and with no other information provided of the suspect, it would have taken State Police 160 man-years to identify the suspect," said Dintino.

"Due to the recidivist nature of criminals, the rapid identification of suspects will interrupt their activities, resulting in reductions in stolen property, loss of life and injuries to victims," Dintino added.

Designed by North American Morpho Systems, Inc., of Tacoma, Wash., the AFIS consists of a computer-optic technology with high speed scanning devices. It is used to classify and store fingerprints. Currently there are 1.9 million fingerprints in a master file of which more than 1.1 million are fing-erprint arrest cards at State Police headquarters.

The system is broken down into two basic functions, the subject identification from submitted 10-print cards and suspect identification taken from latent fingerprints taken from crime scenes.

For the past several months, employees of the Tacoma firm have been inputting the information from the master fingerprint file into the system on a 24-hour a day schedule. Information from more than $350,000 arrest cards have been put into the computer. The system is expected to be fully operational by next March.

AFIS identifies and stores fingerprint minutiae data (ridge endings and bifurcations). The images are stored on optical disks.

When a latent or partial print is lifted from the crime scene, it is scanned through the system and compared with the 1.1 million arrests and a match is possible within minutes.

Under the current manual system, a latent fingerprint, with no other information available, is rarely checked with the fingerprints on file.

Dintino stressed that it would take 160-man years to check a latent fingerprint with the 1.1 million arrest cards now on file.

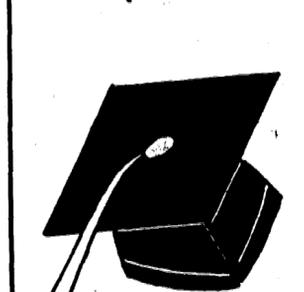

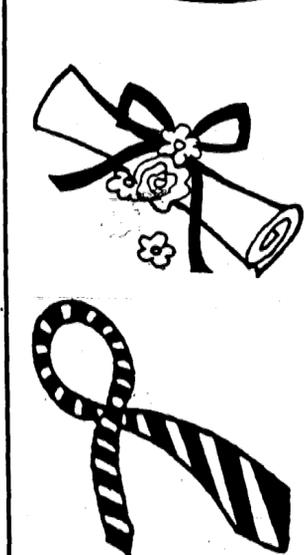

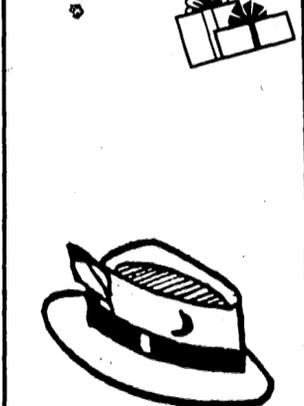

"Checking fingerprints is a labor-intensive, time consuming process. Police don't have the personnel to check latent prints unless they have additional information on the suspects," Dintino said.

Surveys have indicated that New Jersey has approximately 50,000 unsolved crimes, including more than 800 open homicide files. There are about 120,000 latent fingerprints taken from those crime scenes.

The frustrating thing about these crimes is that all police need is a possible starting point and many of them could be solved. AFIS will give us that starting point, the colonel added.

County budget means $16.6K tax hike

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI
At a special meeting on June 7, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders voted 8-1 to adopt a $203.6 million county budget for 1990. The new budget calls for a $137.9

million tax levy, an increase of $16.6 million over last year's levy. That translates into an increase of between 9 and 10 percent for the county's taxpayers. According to Freeholder Elmer Ertle, the chairman of the Board's finance committee, $13 million of the $16.6 million increase is in the form of mandated costs. Some of these "unavoidable" costs include the Superior Court, insurance premiums and the initial $5 million payment on the county's new jail facility. Another $2 million is budgeted for the expansion of staff and facilities at the John E. Runnels Hospital in Berkeley Heights.

Assembly okays Holocaust Remembrance Day

Legislation which would establish an annual Holocaust Remembrance Day in New Jersey was approved by the General Assembly on May 17. The resolution (AJR-78) is sponsored by Assemblyman Neil Cohen (D-Union) and Daniel Jacobson (D-Monmouth).

"Recent reports from Europe have indicated a revival or anti-Semitism, which means the realities of the Holocaust are being forgotten," Cohen said. "The importance of history is to learn from mistakes and tragedies, and we cannot allow the world to forget what the Holocaust represents."

"New Jersey is home to many survivors of the Holocaust as well as the families of those who perished and it is only proper and fitting that they and the memory of those who were killed by the Nazis be properly honored," he said.

"The Holocaust was one of the most horrifying crimes perpetrated against humanity," Jacobson said. "In addition to the systematic genocide of the Jews, the Nazis also murdered millions of non-Jews as a result of the unsubstantiated hysteria that they created."

"We must ensure that our children and future generations be aware of the crimes committed as well as the warped ideology behind the actions so this sort of atrocity will never happen again," Jacobson said.

GREETINGS — Reformist Ukrainian legislator Yuriy Sorchyk, left, elected last year to the Soviet Union's Congress of People's Deputies, is welcomed to the United States by Congressman Matthew Rinaldo, R-N.J., who is a resident of Union Township. Sorchyk toured the nation's capital as a guest of the Rotary Club.

IMPOTENCE IS TREATABLE

Whether the problem be physical or psychological, the great majority of men can find an answer to their problems. But, first they have to ask questions. At Impotence Anonymous they can do so in confidence and in privacy. The next Impotence Anonymous meeting will take place on Wednesday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

There is no pre-registration, and all meetings are free of charge. This weeks' meeting will include a question and answer session moderated by Stanley Bloom, M.D., a urologist at Saint Barnabas, and personal experiences related by successfully treated patients. Wives and partners are welcome to attend. Be there. You'll be in good company.

Hot meals available for seniors throughout county

Residents who are 60 years old or older, or married to someone 60-plus, can get a hot meal at almost two dozen sites throughout the county, courtesy of the Union County Nutrition Program for the Elderly.

"Hot, nutritious lunches are served Monday through Friday at 22 sites countywide, and they include soup or juice, meat, chicken or fish, vegetables, bread and butter, beverage and dessert," said Jeffrey Maccarelli, Union County Freeholder and liaison to the Advisory Council on Aging. "In addition to the lunch programs there is a breakfast program, brunch program and early bird dinner program."

Bill v. Alzheimer's is now in Senate

Legislation that would set up an Alzheimer's disease demonstration residential treatment program in the Department of Health was released from the Senate Senior Citizens and Veteran Affairs Committee today. Sponsored by Senator C. Louis Bassano, R-Union, the bill would address the special needs of Alzheimer's patients who live in nursing homes and other kinds of residential care centers.

"Right now, no county-run facility in New Jersey has a nursing home unit that specializes in the treatment of Alzheimer's patients," Bassano said. Under the terms of the bill, the Department of Health would contract with a health care facility to set up an Alzheimer's unit consisting of between 20 and 30 beds. An appropriation of $250,000 in state funds would be used to set up and operate the representative program. The Department of Health would be required to report back to the Legislature on the program.

"The victims of this degenerative brain disease were once vibrant, clear thinking individuals," said Bassano. "The tragedy of this condition is that those who suffer from Alzheimer's are often physically healthy. They cannot live alone and unsupervised because their memory and reasoning ability fails them."

"Sometimes they are alert and aware of their surroundings and at other times they do not know what is happening in the world around them," Bassano added. "They may think that they are now living in the world they knew 30 years ago."

Bassano emphasized that because of sudden mental lapses, these patients need certain care. They need signs or signals to help them remember where their bathroom and bedroom are. They need the care and supervision of people who understand the intricacies of the disease.

"A model Alzheimer's disease program would enable us to see how we can provide better care of these patients in the most efficient manner," Bassano said.

The bill now advances to the Senate Revenue, Finance and Appropriations Committee.

The program is operated by the Division on Aging, Department of Human Services, and the meals are planned by a nutritionist to provide one-third of the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Science.

"The Union County Nutrition Program for the Elderly attempts health maintenance through improved nutrition," said Maccarelli. "It also fosters social interaction, provides access to other supportive services and satisfies emotional needs, especially for those who eat alone."

Reservations should be made two days in advance and a donation of $1 to offset the cost of the meal and to expand the program is suggested. The program is made possible by a grant from the U.S. Government under the Older Americans Act.

Actor exudes excess energy on Mill stage

By BEA SMITH

When Philip Wm. McKinley, who is accomplished in many phases of theater, sings, cavorts and bounces about the stage in "Mikado Inc." at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, one wonders how he can exude all that energy.

"Everyone asks me that same question," McKinley chuckles during a recent chat. He admits that he will "soon be 38 years old. I've had a lot of energy since I was very young. My sisters, Stephanie and Christie, used to take dancing lessons, and my mother used to take me along to watch. Watch!" he exclaims, "why, I had so much energy I caused trouble throughout the studio. It was a real effort to keep me out of trouble."

Now, he says, the energy he saves after eight performances as Koko, he uses "to restore my Colonial home in Plainfield."

McKinley has performed in many musicals at the Paper Mill, the New York Opera, the St. Louis Muny and off-Broadway. He has directed plays, written them, composed music and at the moment, he has a two-fold job — as casting director of the Paper Mill, and as one of the stars in "Mikado Inc.," which is derived from the theater's Musical Projects.

"I actually did the workshop performance back in February," he says. "I'm usually a casting director, and I was looking for a big star for the role of Koko. We had originally started out with Lee Roy Reams. He did the reading, but he ended up doing concerts with Jerry Herman. And after he saw me in the show, he even called me to tell me how much he liked my performance."

"Well, when we couldn't get a big star, Angelo del Rossi, our executive director, said, 'I really want you to do this role.' I had mixed feelings about it. It was the first new role I'd created in about five years. I read the script, rehearsed...and that was it! I was hooked!"

The versatile McKinley explains that "at the workshop we rehearsed for three weeks, and then we changed more and more, and before long, two of my songs changed. They did a lot of rewriting. And finally, we had the finished project, and we all think it's pretty great."

There is a teahouse scene in the musical comedy spoof on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" in which McKinley races about the stage, sings, rolls over, begs like a hungry dog, tongue lapping, and attempts to prove his fervor to an indifferent Marsha Bagwell. It is one of the most hilarious and exhausting scenes ever staged at the Paper Mill.

"Oh," smiles McKinley. "That teahouse scene is a wonderful workout for us. After that performance, I'm pretty well done in. Actually," he says seriously, "I have to be very careful what I eat before the scene. The heat can get me exhausted. That'll do me in. I have to take a lot of salt tablets. It's like being a runner in training. And I have a super dresser in wardrobe. Her name is Lisa Cilenti, and she stands in the wings with cold water and a wet towel, so I can restore my perspiration. Those are the kinds of people that are like gold to you. She's terrific."

McKinley's last performance in a musical at the Paper Mill was "Guys and Dolls." "I sang in a couple of other shows there," he says. "I replaced Freddie in 'Mack and Mable,' and I went on for an evening in '1940s.' I do a lot of benefits and concerts, and I did the New York City Opera's 'Desert Song.'" He also performed in the St. Louis Muny and national tour of "Pirates of Penzance" and the off-Broadway revival of "New Faces of '52."

"But this is the first role I've gotten in five years where I had to create the character, and I had a lot of fun doing it. Marge Champion came to see the show and liked it. I'm very enamored of the people of that era."

"It's funny," he says, "when I have two shows in one day, sometimes my second show is better than my first show. It's a case of just really pacing yourself."

McKinley, who has had a varied career, says that "of all the things I've done, I prefer the stage. I like hearing the sounds from the audience...the immediate response. That's rewarding. It's the most challenging kind of work. I just like doing good work. It's fun. If you're not happy in your work, then you don't want to do it. And I just want to do good work."

"As a casting director," he says, "I find it extremely rewarding. I love giving work to actors. I like to see their eyes light up when I say, 'I have a job for you.'"

"Because, you know, most of the actor's life is rejection. And," he adds, "it's really great to see a performer start off in an ensemble and grow to do roles...or spotting someone special. That's the creative part of it. Spotting!"

McKinley, who was born in Avon, Ill., "a town of 1,000 people," says he "grew up in a farm area. I started out as a junior high school teacher. And, now, lately, when I find myself walking through the home of Jerry Herman, or working on this project for the Paper Mill, I say to myself, 'What am I doing here?'"

"All my family still lives in Avon. My brother, Patrick, has taken over our family business as a car dealer, third generation. He also is an extremely talented paramedic. My parents are William and Virginia McKinley. You know, I might be related to President McKinley. At least, my aunt, who has been doing a family tree, is tracing it down. And there's talk in the family that my mother may be related to Rudyard Kipling," he smiles, as his eyes sparkle.

DOING 'THE SAMURAI STOMP' — Philip Wm. McKinley performs the role of Mr. Koko, center, and participates in a wild musical number with the men of the ensemble in the world premiere musical, 'Mikado Inc.' at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. The show will run through June 24.

One of the outstanding phases of his life, says McKinley, was serving as assistant to the famous director George Abbott in the revival of "Damn Yankees" at the Paper Mill. "He was 99 years old at the time we began working together. He was incredible. Sometimes, I feel I was born too late. He was so fascinating to work with, and he had an incredible amount of energy. He became 100 years old after the show opened. He used to come to every rehearsal and used to work 10 out of 12-hour days. Abbott is 102 now, and he lives in Florida, and from what I hear, he plays golf every day."

"I asked him one day, 'How do you manage to get this far?' And he told me that when the day is over, he leaves his work there at the theater. He said he goes home to watch television, which he enjoys. He's extremely witty, and he had great stories to tell. Abbott was a kind of no-nonsense director. He knew exactly what he wanted, and he got it. I learned a great deal from him. I would relish the opportunity to work with him again."

McKinley, who has been casting director for the Paper Mill for the past five years, had directed the Musical Theater Project's "Rhythm Ranch" at the beginning of the season. He says that he is planning to take the show to Illinois next May. "I'm going to direct it," he says. "In fact, I'm working on it right now."

He's still part of the Paper Mill Playhouse, however. "I have to finish casting for next season's show, 'Me and My Girl.'" He says the theater has a special place in his heart. "You know, people outside of New Jersey don't know what the Paper Mill is really like, and when they come out from New York, they're amazed. They expect it to be a little barn of a theater, and they're astounded at what it has to offer. The performers are always commended on their performances by the staff. They're treated very well. And part of that is due to Angelo Del Rossi and Robert Johnson. Every morning when we come in, Wade Miller, the company manager, is there to greet you. It's the staff Angelo has put together that's really so great. They're handpicked and cultivated people."

"And I think it's a credit to have been able to do two original shows in one season. We have an incredible crew. We have 10 days to put a Broadway show together."

"You want to know what really makes the Paper Mill Playhouse so unique?"

"Where are you going to find another theater that does six Broadway shows a year?"

Home exhibit

A new exhibit, "From Disposables to Home Decorating," will be on display at Trailside Nature & Science Center through June 25.

The exhibit features weavings of differing styles and colors created by fiber artist Joan Housman, all woven using recycled non-biodegradable plastic bags.

For further information, one can call Trailside at 789-3670.

Art classes are scheduled in summer

Summer classes at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, 68 Elm St., Summit, will begin June 25 and will run through Aug. 4. The Art Center is offering a full schedule of courses in a variety of media for beginning, intermediate and advanced students of all ages.

Students can choose from classes in jewelry, photography, sculpture, graphic arts, printmaking, pottery, or drawing and painting. Pottery students can explore handbuilding or wheel techniques. For those interested in raku, special instruction will be provided, followed by an outdoor raku firing session.

Painters can take classes in anything from traditional painting and composition to abstract painting. Drawing and painting enthusiasts also will find such courses as Perspective for Beginners and Perspective and Composition — Putting It All Together.

Summer classes for teen-agers include Drawing and Painting Studio, Techniques of Drawing, and Traditional Painting and Composition. Classes in jewelry and a clay workshop also will be offered.

Children can take classes in drawing and painting, mixed media, pottery, and artifacts for kids. For adults and children together, "Partners in Art" will be scheduled.

Walk-in registration for the summer session will be held June 21, 22, and 23 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. To obtain a brochure, one can call the Art Center at 273-9121.

'Jazz Century' due in joint exhibition

The evolution of jazz — from its African roots to bebop and modern jazz — is the focus of "Jazz Century," a joint exhibition which opened yesterday at the Newark Public Library and the John Cotton Dana Library on the Newark Campus of Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey.

Music scores, memorabilia and instruments of the legendary composers, singers and musicians who popularized the American musical idiom are among the hundreds of items that will be displayed in the show that runs through Aug. 25.

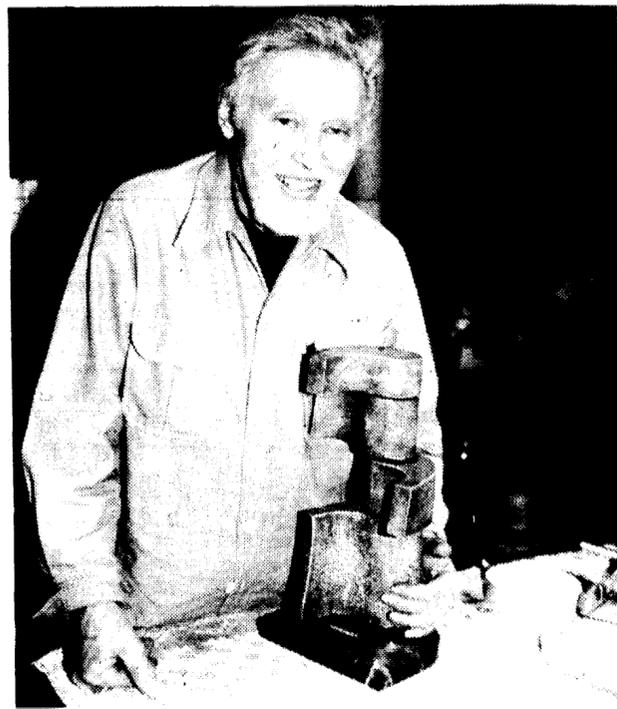

In conjunction with the exhibition, WBOG/Jazz 88 Radio will broadcast live three free concerts performed at the public library. Playing on June 28 will be Chris White and the Survivors; on July 26, the Leo Johnson Quartet; and on Aug. 23, the Andy Bey Trio.

Dana Library Director Lynn Mullins said the exhibit "will interest not only those who love jazz as a music form but the serious scholars who will be amazed at the research materials available at the Institute of Jazz Studies on the Rutgers-Newark campus."

The institute, which is a branch of the Dana Library of the Rutgers University Libraries, is routinely contacted by American as well as international researchers, Mullins said.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 733-8000, 648-5222 or 624-8880.

ARTIST IN WORKSHOP — George Tarr, 76, of West Orange, is seen with some of his sculpture. Tarr's paintings and sculpture will go on display June 24 at the Les Malamut Gallery in the Union Public Library on Morris Avenue.

REHEARSING SCENE — William Paterson College Theater Department opened its 1990 summer theater season yesterday with 'Extremities' at the Hunziker Theater on campus. It will play through Sunday. Rehearsing are, standing, from left, Kathleen McCarthy, Stacy Pine, Michaela Wills, and seated, Michael Deeg of Union.

Paintings on exhibit at hospital

A show of members' paintings by the Westfield Art Association is on display for the summer in Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside.

Artists participating in the show are Michele Mason, Carol Balliet, Allen Higbee, Ruth Nelson, Betty Morris, Emily Buesser, William Coombs and Florence MacDowell.

Florence Laughlin, chairman of members' exhibits for the association, has announced that a percentage of each sale is donated to the hospital by the artist.

More information can be obtained by contacting Shirley Biegler, hospital community resources coordinator.

Irish dance competition planned

The Peter Smith School of Irish Dancing will hold its annual dance competition June 23 at Farther's Grove, 1135 Springfield Road, Union, beginning at 9 a.m.

More than 600 dancers from seven states are expected to compete in 128 dance competitions. Entrants from New York, Delaware, Virginia, Connecticut, Maryland and Pennsylvania as well as New Jersey will vie for awards.

Mixed art work

The Newark Museum's Contemporary Artist Gallery is presenting the mixed media work of China Marks through July 29 at 49 Washington St. "Angel, Fool, Prophet, King" features 11 relief sculptures and one free-standing piece.

Michael O'Hara, school president, and Maureen de Poortere, general chairman, are in charge of arrangements.

For further information one can call Mike O'Hara at 351-3157, Pat Ruane at 338-0042 or Maureen de Poortere at 377-7851.

For further information one can call the Museum at 596-6550.

The Newark Museum is funded primarily by the city of Newark and the state of New Jersey. Additional funding is received from Essex County and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Farms group meets

The monthly gathering of Connecticut Farms Church Presbyterian Women will be held June 21 at 7:30 p.m. in Westminster Hall of the church education building in Union.

An election and installation of new officers will take place during a brief business meeting. Nominated were Anneliese Burkhardt, moderator; Doris Julian, vice-moderator, and Violet Teufel, treasurer.

Helen Beglin, a story-teller for adults, will be guest speaker. Beglin has a master of arts degree in theological education, is the immediate past moderator of the Elizabeth Presbytery and is an elder in the Westfield Presbyterian Church.

Her own stories have appeared in McCall's, Good Housekeeping and other national magazines and have been reprinted abroad.

Beglin also will participate in the installation of the new officers.

The public is invited, and refreshments will be served, it was announced.

Bible School is set

The First Baptist Church of Union, Colonial Avenue and Thoreau Terrace, will hold its annual Vacation Bible School from June 25 through June 29.

Youngsters, ages 3 to those entering the 9th grade, are invited to the "FRIENDimension" adventure. The free five day program "offers creative Bible discovery sessions, craft projects, lively singing, supervised recreation and refreshments."

Classes for the 3- and 4- olds will meet from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. Children, ages 5, to those entering the 6th grade, will meet from 9:15 a.m. to noon and teens entering 7th, 8th and 9th grades will meet evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

It was announced that all youngsters can register on opening day. Additional information can be obtained by calling Vickie Koslowski at 964-5843.

Cubs to wash cars

A car wash will be held by Cub Scout Pack 62 of Grace Lutheran Church in the church parking lot at 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For each car washed, the Scouts will be asking for a $5 donation, it was announced.

Renewal of vows

Three young people of Grace Lutheran Church, Union, were welcomed into communicant membership as they renewed their baptismal vows and publicly confessed their Christian faith within the rite of Confirmation on Pentecost Sunday, June 3. They are Erik Erath, Adam Millers and William Neuberger.

Shabbat for singles

Congregation Beth Shalom, Vauxhall Road, Union, has invited Rabbi Howard Morrison and a group of Jewish singles, 20s and 30s, to a Shabbat service followed by a singles' Oneg Shabbat tomorrow beginning at 8:30 p.m.

For further information, one can contact the synagogue office at 686-6773.

Bible School slated

Rod and Kathi Bowers, directors of Mountainside Gospel Chapel's Daily Vacation Bible School, have announced that this year's school will be held Monday through Friday, Aug. 6 through Aug. 10, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The theme is "FRIENDimension — Jesus Design for Friendship in a High-Tech World." Students will "learn how to make... and keep... God-centered friendships in the Me-centered world." The daily activities will include Bible stories, crafts, special music, recreation and refreshments, and will feature "elaborate skits using puppets and actors."

The staff consists of "more than 60 dedicated and responsible Christian adults, professionals, collegians and high school students." There will be classes for all ages beginning with 4 year-olds through those entering 8th grade.

A special ladies' class will be taught during the same hours as the children's program by Ruthann Dein of Springfield and Marge Voss of Union. There also will be a craft workshop for the women. A nursery for newborns to 4 year-olds will be provided only "for those attending this ladies' class."

Each year the children and staff voluntarily participate in a missions project, it was announced. Last year, attenders and staff donated $1,094 and a local businessman matched the gift, so $2,188 was sent to African Enterprise to be used in their Great African Shoot-out Project, supplying volunteer medical teams with vaccines, syringes, needles and antibiotics in order to be able to immunize children in Uganda, Africa, where many children die of childhood diseases each year.

A special Junior High program led by David Butler, the chapel's interim Youth Group director, is planned for those entering 6th through 8th grades. "This will mostly be conducted off the chapel property, so a permission slip which must be returned prior to the first day of DVBS will be sent to anyone who calls to register for this part of the program. There will probably be one all-day trip for these Jr. Highers. In the past, this group has gone to Forest Lodge, Great Adventure, the Statue of Liberty and Action Park."

There is no registration fee for the school, but "in order to more accurately plan for materials and space needs, the directors ask that you pre-register as early as possible by calling Kathi Bowers at 754-0712 or the chapel at 232-3456.

The chapel is located at 1180 Spruce Drive. Further information can be obtained by calling 232-3456 or 754-0712.

Gabboim honored

On June 24, the Elmora Hebrew Center of 420 West End Ave, Elizabethtown, will honor its Gabboim and their wives at a special banquet.

The Gabboim, Sol Braun, Michael Hecht and Benjamin Siniakin, "have been instrumental in leading the spiritual aspects of the center since the synagogue turned Orthodox under Rabbi Samuel B. Rosenberg, spiritual leader." The Gabboim guide and teach all who come to the synagogue "seeking spiritual gratification." They instruct and assist in various aspects of prayer, tradition and law.

At the banquet, special tribute will be made to the memory of Jack Gelb, who recently passed away. Mr. Gelb served as head-gabbi for many years. His wife, Gertrude, will be honored for her dedication and service to the center.

A meal will be catered by Ahavah Caters of Elizabethtown. The community is invited, it was announced. Reservations can be made by calling Carole Newman at 353-1740.

Attorney to speak

Marion S. Mogielnicki, Westfield attorney, will speak on the "Question of Divorce" at a meeting June 21 of the Ministry with Separated and Divorced Catholics, MSDC, group of Holy Spirit Parish, Union. The program, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., in Drexler Hall, 984 Suburban Road, will be a one-evening seminar for "those considering or initiating divorce proceedings and will explore the major legal issues surrounding divorce."

Mogielnicki will answer questions on the "rights and obligations of the divorced according to New Jersey law, including those relating to grounds, alimony, child support, custody and equitable distribution of property." There is no charge for the seminar, it was announced, but a free will donation can be made at the door. To pre-register, one can call 687-0048.

1990 Bible School

The 1990 Vacation Bible School will be sponsored by the Linden Intra-faith Council in the Linden Presbyterian Church, Princeton Road and Orchard Terrace, June 25 through June 29, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to noon each day. Classes include to nursery, Kindergarten, primary, junior and advanced.

The Vacation Bible School is open "to any child interested in attending regardless of church membership or place of residence." Advance registration is appreciated, if possible, it was announced. However, registration can still take place on the Monday and Tuesday mornings of Vacation Bible School.

CDA final meeting

The final meeting of the year of Court Our Lady of Fatina 1546, Catholic Daughters of the Americas, CDA, will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in St. Theresa's Roman Catholic Church, Linden.

At the Biennial State Court Convention, Court Fatina placed third in the apostolate awards for the years 1988-1990.

Pastors for pulpit

The First Presbyterian Church of Roselle has announced that the Rev. Max Creswell, pastor, has been granted a month's sabbatical leave for the purpose of writing the church's history. During his absence, the pulpit will be occupied by Edmund Hoener, Sunday. He is a member of the church family and has completed his second year at Princeton Theological Seminary. On June 24, the Rev. George Harkless, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Roselle, will lead the service.

JFS awarded grant

The Jewish Family Service of Central New Jersey has been awarded a $5,000 grant by the Janet Memorial Foundation of Elizabeth "to enable JFS to further develop its Mobile Parenting Center through a community-wide resource library." The grant was announced by Ruth Bilkenr, JFS president.

The Mobile Parenting Center is part of the Family Life program, which brings to the community workshops and programs dealing with issues that face today's families.

The Janet Foundation's grant will enable JFS to stock the Family Life library with videotapes, literature, films, books and resource guides that will be used not only for our own clients and programs, but will be made available to other interested family-oriented agencies in Union County," said Tom Beck.

JFS, through its two offices in Elizabeth and Fanwood, offers a variety of services to the community, including individual, family and marital counseling, resettling of refugees, and services to the elderly and housebound, as well as the Family Life Education program.

The Janet Memorial Foundation is a privately funded foundation which makes grants to organizations that serve Union County infants, children and youth, from birth through age 20.

Vacation School set

Grace Lutheran Church will have a Vacation Bible School from July 23 to Aug. 3, Monday to Friday, from 9 a.m. to noon. It is open to all children of the area, ages 4 through grade 8.

The theme of this year's Vacation Bible School is "FRIENDIMENSION."

The daily schedule will include worship, Bible lessons, singing, refreshments, recreation and crafts. There is no charge for this Vacation Bible School, it also was announced. However, a daily offering is "received as part of worship."

To enroll, one can call 686-4269 or 686-3965.

Youths are installed

The Union AZA, Aleph Zadik Aleph, of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization held its annual installation of new officers for 1990 to 1991, recently. Ryan Rever, outgoing president, discussed the achievements and activities of the chapter during the past year.

Gary Schaefer, incoming president, discussed new plans. Alan Weinfeld, presented a gift, "in appreciation of all his hard work as chapter advisor," to Dr. Drew Harris.

Recently, at a BBYO convention in Marlboro, the Union chapter was presented with certificates of achievement, including Most Outstanding Chapter, Best Year Round Community Service, Social Action Programming, Best Year Round Jewish Heritage, Religious Programming, Best Parents Program, Best Year Round Athletic, Recreation Programming, Best Year Round Social Programming and Best Membership Retention.

SPRAINS AND FRACTURES OF THE FOOT AND ANKLE

By Dr. Michael Eglow

Sprains and Fractures of the foot and ankle bones are common and can result in long-term disability if not properly treated.

A sprain is a tear in the ligament that takes place when the ligament is stretched too far.

A fracture is a break in the bone that can happen in several ways. The most common break results when a ligament rips away a piece of the bone to which it is attached.

Pain and swelling accompany sprains and fractures, followed by discoloration due to injury to the small blood vessels around the injury. First aid should include application of ice to the injured area and keeping weight off the foot. Early attention is vitally important. Whenever you sustain a foot or ankle injury, you should contact your podiatrist right away.

Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active and fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle.

OPINION

Neighbor's fortune

Cranford is not a municipality serviced by County Leader Publications. However, each of the eight municipalities that are reached by one of our newspapers can benefit from the valuable example offered by this Union County neighbor.

Like most of the communities in the county — and a great many throughout the nation — Cranford's downtown business district was suffering from the effects of the large shopping malls. We have all heard the story: the malls offer more, they stay open longer and they have acres of parking space. How can a single community compete against these gigantic bazaars?

Cranford asked itself that question, which in itself is not unique. What makes Cranford different is that it went beyond merely talking about possible solutions. In 1985, spearheaded by an enlightened township committee, Cranford hired a consulting firm to study its faltering downtown and to make recommendations for revitalization.

The firm did six months work and presented the township with both a general list of the downtown's assets and liabilities and a master plan for enhancing the area.

Among the liabilities listed were several that will, we think, sound painfully familiar to concerned merchants and citizens from other municipalities: not enough parking space, not enough greenery, buildings and sidewalks fallen into disrepair, and a downtown layout that displayed a lack of concern for pedestrian traffic.

On the plus side of the ledger the study pointed out the factors that add — or could add — charm to the district. In Cranford's case there are, among other things, the architecture and the Rahway River. There are, without a doubt, elements of charm in each Union County community. What communities, however, will make these elements work in their favor?

Cranford did. Once the consultants' report was filed the residents formed the Downtown Management Corporation, or DMC, which began to work on the report's recommendations.

Taking advantage of legislation already passed in Trenton, Cranford drew up and implemented a formula for assessing its residents and merchants via a Special Improvements Tax. Such formulas can vary from community to community. Cranford's involved an equal assessment on each property owner in the township and an additional assessment upon property owners within the designated downtown area.

No one likes additional taxation. At first the downtown merchants were quite distrustful, according to Meryl Layton, proprietress of the Cranford Bookstore and an active member in the DMC. But once the improvements began to manifest attitudes changed.

"A pride awoke in the people," said Layton. "The DMC made some improvements, then property owners began to make improvements on their own. It was like a domino effect. The Chamber of Commerce became more active. The downtown area began to draw people who had never shopped here before."

Five years after the study and the founding of the DMC downtown Cranford, which was faltering, is thriving. Whereas property values through the township have stayed about the same, the value of buildings in the DMC have appreciated. The DMC has hired a downtown manager. Prospective businesses have been inquiring about moving to the district. They will have to wait because there are, at present, no vacancies in downtown Cranford.

Can the downtown district of Union or Roselle Park, of Linden or Roselle, make a similar boast?

It is not as if these other communities have not discussed management studies and improvement zones. They have. But one stumbling block constantly trips up such efforts. Money. The people concerned do not wish to pay any additional taxes.

But how much has it cost, and is it continuing to cost, these same merchants in loss of business? And how long can merchants allow the present deteriorating situation to persist? Until there are whole blocks of empty stores?

We believe that a thriving center of town benefits the whole community. It not only increases the flow of business, but the currents of communication, ideas and opportunities. And where decent people are active and thriving indecent elements, like the drug trade, have less a chance of establishing a foothold. We need, for the good of all, to revive our shopping districts.

In this case the old adage is true: you have to spend money to make money. Spend it wisely, yes, but do it. Don't pull the purse strings so tight as to strangle yourselves. Things can get better if enough concerned people are willing to work together to make the necessary changes. Consider Cranford.

Bailout's a sellout

Once again I have read in the paper that our overly generous legislators in Trenton have again laid it on us taxpayers. I refer to the bailout of the JUA.

As a conscientious driver of a motor vehicle for many many years, I resent having to have my pockets picked again by our legislators to bail out the JUA Fund.

Why wasn't the JUA Fund adequately audited and policed during all of the past years? What were our legislators doing during these years? Were they blind as to what was going on — or didn't they just care?

By what right has the legislative body in Trenton to assess me by increasing my registration fees to pay for the carelessness of those placed in the JUA classification? Why shouldn't this cost be borne solely by the drivers assigned to this fund and the insurance companies who were so generous in disposing of the cases?

The elimination of this fund should be made by those who created the fund and not by drivers who have excellent driving records.

Stop budget games

Your recent headline announcing how the Board of Education and Boro Council were able to effect a $75,000 reduction was enlightening. I get the idea that the $75,000 should not have been in the budget in the first place. Before we send kudos to our leaders, I suggest that at the next budget review we get a signed statement from the BOE stating they positively explored every item in the budget and that no savings can be affected subsequently. In any event, I would advise taxpayers to reject all budgets no matter what. Perhaps then the budget games will cease.

Don't scuttle the arts

This letter was sent to Gov. James Florio and is reprinted here with the writer's permission.

As a voter, taxpayer, New Jersey resident, and member of the arts' community, I am extremely distressed over two issues threatening the arts. I would like you to reconsider your positions in favor of and to provide active support on both these issues: firstly, on the national level the reauthorization of the National Endowment for the Arts "without restrictions on artistic content"; secondly in state eliminating or significantly reducing the proposed 47 percent cut in the '90-91 budget of the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

While I understand that hard times may be at hand in New Jersey, I believe that the arts community is being asked to bear a disproportionate share of the burden. Frankly a $9 million cut is relatively insignificant in relation to the state's overall budgetary issues; and yet, it is absolutely devastating to the arts and indeed the caliber of life in New Jersey. Not only will such valuable assets as quality of life and state esteem be affected; but very real economic losses will occur. I'd like to bring some information to your attention:

Investment in the arts provides a ripple effect in the New Jersey economy. Recent figures show that for every $1 spent by the government in cultural activity, an additional $4 is generated in spending. Which translates into hard cash figuring that a $9 million cut would cause an overall economic loss of $50 million to the state.

Also, the arts are often directly utilized to maintain and stimulate economic growth and re-development in communities (Seattle, Newark, Camden, Charleston). As recently as May 25 in the Star Ledger, this belief was reaffirmed when Sen. Frank Lautenberg and Congressman Donald Payne spoke about Congress's allotment for a N.J. Center for the Performing Arts in Newark as, "a catalyst for commercial, economic and cultural renewal." The economic turn around in tourism in this state and in many others of recent years has been directly spurred by the recognition, protection and development of the arts and historic buildings and districts.

In addition, while the desire to create is basic to man, creativity's expression is fragile. Most artists and arts organizations are fragile. One cannot rest assured that the best of the arts will survive or that they are already in place in large cultural institutions. In nature's terms, we cannot remain calm knowing that two turtles or four are not extinct? Nor should we rest upon our laurels that those few saved turtles exist because they are older, larger, more established? Think of the food chain in nature, eliminate microscopic plankton and eventually man dies. Let's face it, a 47 percent cut in arts funding in New Jersey will devastate and destroy medium and small arts organizations. These agencies make-up "the food chain" that discover and nurture young and emerging artists, "our future" in creative expression.

Finally, corporations and individuals take their lead from government initiative. The corporate sector has never been able to significantly pick-up and lead where government has left-off in cultural and social concerns. Indeed, our government was founded to preserve and protect specific intrinsic values. Freedom of expression is one of those values. Roosevelt re-affirmed that concern during another more economically difficult time by financially supporting the arts with projects of the "W.P.A.," and John F. Kennedy formally embraced the arts on a governmental level with the establishment of the National Endowment for the Arts. A fellow named William Blake said it much better than I can: "Degrade first the arts if you'd mankind degrade." Let's not step back from where these men stepped forward.

Let's not reduce funding for the arts in New Jersey; and let us surely not place restrictions on artistic content as authorized by the National Endowment for the Arts. At the very least, let's continue to support the arts at current levels in New Jersey and artistry as currently authorized by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Planting trees is just not enough

By DAVID F. MOORE

What with all the talk about planting trees to offset the Greenhouse Effect, you'd think that the solution to rapidly-building carbon monoxide and other so-called greenhouse gases is just around the corner. It isn't.

As a refresher course, our destruction of forests, ensuing desertification, and consumption of fossil fuels have all increased the levels of gases in the atmosphere that allow solar radiation through, but prevent heat radiation from the earth's surface from bouncing back into outer space.

That means the earth is running a fever, which has the potential for creating significant climate changes over a very short time, like 50 or 60 years, whereas normal temperature fluctuations might take thousands of years.

Our climate computer models are not sophisticated enough to predict accurately or absolutely what might happen. But we're sure that those gases are increasing, and that something should be done.

Historically, the Forest Service has been identified with mining, timbering and cattle interests, for which it allows exploitation of public lands in its keeping. But some speculate that the advent a decade ago of a president known to have said, "If you've seen one redwood tree, you've seen them all," emboldened the Forest Service to allow commercial timbering activities in cherished California sequoia groves.

Forest Service spokesmen claim that clear-cutting the rare sequoia groves, except for the largest specimen trees, is the best way to preserve the latter. They claim that lesser vegetation and other species of trees, even small sequoias, compete with the giants for growing space.

To many non-Forest Service foresters, myself included, this seems either harebrained or diabolical: Take your choice. There is plenty of scientific doubt about the validity of this approach in terms of preserving the few remaining giants. What remains resembles bleak smokestacks after a World War II bombing raid.

While President Bush has wisely backed planting plenty of trees to help society's effort to avert the Greenhouse Effect, the counterproductive attitude of his Forest Service tells me that the crowd needs to watch more than his lips!

In this state we're in, the conversion of forests and fields to paving, as elsewhere, just adds to the problem, as do longer commutes and more time spent in cars and more electrical usage. It's just another reason why the basic thinking behind the New Jersey State Planning Commission's work so far, which calls for development concentration as opposed to dispersal of folks all over the landscape, makes sense.

I'm certainly not opposed to planting trees — as a one-time professional forester, I think it's a great idea. But you should be aware that we're losing forests faster than they can be replaced.

In our headlong rush to provide a higher economic level for all of us in a world with more and more people each day, the challenge is to find a way to hedge our bets, to ration resources like large areas of forest land with as large a measure of biological diversity as possible.

That's how we can offer tomorrow's kids a high-quality life, one in which basic human needs — like clean water and a large measure of open space — allow both minds and legs to be stretched.

That's going to take a lot more than planting a few billion trees. More is the executive director of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, a member-supported, non-profit environmental organization.

Time to sing of an unsung hero

By FRANK J. KORN

Michelangelo came to be known as the quintessential Renaissance man in that he was involved in an array of endeavors and demonstrated excellence in them all. He could do everything: paint and carve, design buildings and compose verses, quarry marble from the Carrara mountains and crown cathedrals with majestic cupolas. The Buonarroti family of Tuscany was justifiably proud of the giant in their midst.

Today, the great Florentine is five centuries in his tomb. Yet Renaissance Man lives on. For many a family today can boast of a giant in their midst, of a man who can do everything — with excellence. This fellow represents to those who love him a towering figure — physically, intellectually, morally. His versatility is unbounded. By far, he is the strongest of men and can hit a baseball farther than anyone, swim the ocean wide, defeat all challengers in a fight.

He can support a child on his shoulders until the entire parade passes by. His capacity for work, often holding down several jobs at once, is prodigious and legendary. He alone, with his bare hands, can open a stubborn pickle jar. With a mere smile and a pat on the head he can make a scraped knee stop hurting.

He is also, of course, the smartest of God's creatures, for he knows the answer to every question — even why the sky is blue and what the moon is made of. There is no homework assignment he cannot do, nothing he cannot fix. He can even figure out the impossible assembly directions for a Christmas toy. Indeed, he can produce his own homemade toys, such as backyard swings out of rubber tires, roaring scooters from old roller skates, and booming bass drums from abandoned hat boxes.

And like a diamond in the rough, he has many other facets, this homespun Renaissance Man. He, better than anyone else, can stop a baby from crying merely by cradling it in his strong arms. He can handle a car better and more safely than all others and teach eager teenagers how to drive. He wears many hats: chauffeur, counselor, financial benefactor, humorist, story teller, recreation director on family vacations, official photographer-in-residence, loyal rooster at school plays and Little League games.

Deeply proud and fiercely protective of his brood, he likes to bestow small but precious favors on them such a knee to sit on or, a few years later, the keys to the family Chevy. He gets the newspapers early each morning and tucks the whole gang in late each night. On Sunday, he goes for the buns. He is, in short, a hero — but often, far too often, an unsung one.

There is no one handsomer than he. Small wonder, then, that our hero is married to the world's prettiest lady.

Who is this man for all seasons, for all reasons? He answers to a number of names. You may know him as Dad or Daddy or Pop or Papa. We all know him as Father.

RICHARD VAZ

Muhlenberg College

Richard Vaz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vaz of Kingston Avenue in Kenilworth, has been awarded a bachelor of science degree in biology/natural science from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa.

A graduate of Union Catholic High School in Scotch Plains, Vaz's college honors and activities included being named to the dean's list and being a member of the Muhlenberg Activities Council, the Biology Club and the Catholic Campus Ministry.

He plans to attend the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.

Brown University

Stephanie Levine of Deerfield Court in Mountainside recently graduated magna cum laude from Brown University in Providence, R.I. While at Brown she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa honorary society.

Seton Hall University

Michael A. Tripodi, son of Marlene Tripodi of Kenilworth, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude at Seton Hall University's recent commencement.

Tripodi, who majored in political science and who won the Department of Political Science Honors Citation, will be attending Seton Hall Law School next fall.

While at Seton Hall University, Tripodi was president of Iota Delta chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honor society, and was vice president of the university's Political Science Association.

He also served as the student representative on the University Appeals Board, and was editor-in-chief for "Political Analysis," a political science journal. During his senior year, Tripodi was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Tripodi was graduated from David

The Pingry School

Brett Saul Levy, son of Maxine and Richard Levy of Springfield, was among 106 seniors who graduated June 10 from The Pingry School in Bernards Township.

Pennsylvania State University

Kristin Raamot of Prospect Avenue in Mountainside was one of 230 students who recently graduated from Pennsylvania State University's Scholars Program.

Graduating students in the program completed senior theses or comprehensive examinations in their chosen area of study after regularly participating in honors courses and maintaining a grade point average of at least 3.2 each semester.

Those graduates who also received honor degrees were given special recognition for their achievements and awarded the University Scholars Medal at a ceremony before spring commencement.

Franklin Pierce College

Judith Schlosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Schlosser of Springfield, recently received a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Franklin Pierce College in Rindge, N.H., during the school's 25th commencement ceremony.

Seniors plan summer events

The Springfield senior citizens recently held elections for new officers and committees in their individual groups. Some of the officers and committees will be staying the same.

A few activities are scheduled for the month of June, during which time the senior citizens traditionally enjoy the Municipal Pool. The fee to join the pool for senior citizens age 65 and up is $40 per person for Springfield residents.

The biggest event planned will be the senior citizens' annual picnic, to be held at the Municipal Pool on Wednesday, June 13, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Elmer's Catering of South Bound Brook will provide the following menu: hot dogs, hamburgers, french fries, onion rings, Italian hot sausage and peppers, meatball sandwiches, fried chicken, corn on the cob, watermelon, coffee and cold drinks.

The price of tickets to members is $7.50 and $8 for guests. Entertainment will be provided by Johnny Leonard of Elizabeth. No raindate has been set; in the event of rain, the picnic will be rescheduled when the caterer is available.

The next scheduled trip will be on Monday, June 18, to the Resorts Casino. On Wednesday, July 11, the seniors will go to the Trump Castle. The August trip will be announced at a later date. On Saturday, June 30, a group will leave with trip coordinator Madeline Lancaster to Nova Scotia, and will on Saturday, July 7.

Other day trips will include "A Day at Sterling Inn, Pa.," on Wednesday, July 25; a field trip to Waterloo Village, Stanhope, on Tuesday, Aug. 14, and a trip to Cape May planned from Sept. 3-7.

A senior olympics is being planned for Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center in Springfield with a raindate of Monday, Sept. 24. The price for a ticket for lunch is $2. The senior groups are always looking for active seniors, age 60 and up, to join their groups and enjoy these activities. There are six senior groups which meet twice a month.

Anyone interested in joining the groups or who have any questions can call Theresa Herkalo, senior coordinator, at 912-2227, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Membership is open to all Springfield residents. The fee is $2 to join and 50 cents per month dues.

Hospital aids bike safety

The New Jersey Jaycees and Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence Road in Mountainside have joined together to help children learn and understand the importance of bicycle safety and the use of bike helmets.

The New Jersey Jaycees, a statewide organization comprised of 70 local chapters, will conduct bicycle rodeos throughout the state over the next year. The project was endorsed by the New Jersey Jaycees in February.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a proponent of bicycle safety and is working with the Jaycees in organizing the undertaking. Nearly one-third of the hospital's young patients are admitted due to traumatic head injury, many from cycling accidents.

A bicycle rodeo is a skills test which combines the fun of riding a bike with hands-on safety experience. The use of bicycle helmets, a proven means of preventing head injuries, will be stressed.

"We have found the bicycle rodeos very effective in teaching children the importance of bicycle safety and helmet use," commented Richard B. Ahlfeld, president of Children's Specialized.

"The Jaycees took on this project to illustrate the importance of bike safety, and we're proud to be working closely with them," Ahlfeld added.

The statewide safety bicycle rodeos project by the New Jersey Jaycees has been endorsed by the Union County Association for Retarded Citizens and the New Jersey Safety Council.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility which treats children and adolescents with medical and nursing care along with various therapies, such as physical, occupational, recreational and speech/hearing.

"As a pediatric rehab hospital, we see the unfortunate results of bike accidents," Ahlfeld said.

The Jaycees, an organization for people ages 21-39, provide opportunities for personal growth as members practice the art of leadership, develop management techniques, and serve the community.

Heading the endeavor for the Jaycees is Bob Bracale, a member of the Greater Morristown Area Jaycees and Individual Development vice president of the New Jersey Jaycees.

"The Jaycees are looking forward to staging the bicycle rodeos throughout the state," Bracale commented. "Our children are very important to us — they are our future — and the Jaycees believe in bike safety and the use of helmets."

"We now want to educate our children on these points," he added.

Working with the Jaycees on this project for Children's Specialized is volunteer Jean Pascuiti of Mountainside, who has organized bicycle rodeos for 10 years. Barbara Repetti of the Union County Association of Retarded Citizens and Carol Ann Dillon of the New Jersey Safety Council are also involved with the project.

In 1991, Children's Specialized Hospital will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

Roselle starts quickly

By MARK YABLONSKY

With a team that is both healthy and hungry, Bob Catullo's Roselle American Legion baseball team is off to a fast start — and that's an understatement.

Through games of this weekend, the Roselle Post #229 squad owned a 9-1-1 record, including a 3-0 start in Union County League play. Always heavily involved in non-league play, the #229ers have beaten solid, out-of-county programs such as Morristown and Magnum Post #357 of Magnolia, and have outscored all opponents by the collective margin of 101-35, a victory margin of exactly six runs per game.

"The kids are starting to like each other and do good things," said Catullo on Monday. "This is a great bunch of kids we have here, and we're going to do great things this year."

So far, that definitely seems to be the case in the person of Ed Zembryski, a hometown player who batted .360 for Roselle Catholic this spring and continues to hit. Counting non-league play, Zembryski went 9-for-18 this past week, collecting 11 runs batted in, nine runs scored, three doubles and a home run along the way.

And Roselle won six of the seven games, including two of three from Magnum.

Zembryski, who is this week's selection as County Leader Player of the Week, got it going in Roselle's 18-0 win over Roselle Park last Monday night in the opener of county play at Arminio Field. Zembryski, who was 3-for-4, got all three hits in the first two innings alone, during which time Roselle erupted for 15 runs.

After singling home a run in the first inning, Zembryski singled in his first at-bat in the second, and then cracked a two-run double to right-center later in the frame. But he wasn't alone in his efforts.

Teammates Mike Massaro, Dave Kahney and Greg Sekac all had three hits each as well, in support of winning pitcher Luke Monsomo, who struck out 11 and walked only one in firing a commanding two-hitter. Roselle had 22 hits in all.

The following night at Arminio against Rahway, Zembryski sparked Roselle's 11-4 victory by going 2-for-4, including a long three-run homer over the bleachers in right in the sixth inning when the #229ers scored four times to put it away. His only hitless performance was an 0-for-3 showing in a 6-5 defeat to Magnum in the second game of Sunday's non-league doubleheader, which was played at Memorial Park in Linden.

In a 15-8 win over Morristown last Thursday, the main man was Dave Kahney, whose two-run homer sparked a three-run outburst in the third inning when Roselle scored four times to gain a 5-4 advantage.

Springfield, meanwhile, is only 1-1 in county play and 3-5 overall, but the Post #228 team has already played in a few interesting games. That includes last Tuesday's 4-3 win over Kenilworth at Ruby Field in the county opener for both teams.

A sacrifice fly from Mike Archibald and a Springfield error brought Kenilworth a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but Springfield tied it in its half of the frame by way of a two-run double from eventual winning pitcher Edgar Utset. The #228ers then grabbed a 4-2 lead in the second when shortstop Andy Huber tripled in one run, before coming home on a grounder to shortstop by Clayton Trivett.

And after Archibald's two-out triple brought in another Kenilworth tally in the third, both teams were done scoring for the night. But that's at least partly because of Trivett.

Chris Parkhill had singled off Utset to start the seventh, and when Chris Carey followed with a wicked liner toward the second base bag, it appeared as though Springfield's one-run lead was in great jeopardy. But Trivett made a sensational back-handed lunge to spear the liner, then got to one knee and fired to first base, catching Parkhill totally off guard for the double play.

Jeff Barr then flied to right to end the game.

Springfield, which will face Union at home this Saturday and then play a Father's Day doubleheader in Scotch Plains on Sunday, later lost a 6-2 decision to Elizabeth last Friday night at overcast, rainy Ruby Field. But it was five costly errors, three of which came in the third inning, that did the home team and starting pitcher Vinnie Cocilovo in.

Cocilovo, after retiring Elizabeth in order in the top of the first, was hurt in the second inning when one glaring outfield error helped the visitors to a 2-0 lead. And after three unearned runs had scored in the third — none of which were really Cocilovo's fault — Springfield coach Harry Weinerman wisely elected to give the youthful southpaw the rest of the night off.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth starter Jason Scavalla, while struggling with his control in walking seven, was also tough to get around on, as his nine strikeouts proved. Springfield made it a 5-1 game when first baseman Dale Torborg smashed a long, run-scoring triple to right-center with two out in the third, plating Matt Gallaro, who had led off with a walk. It was Springfield's only hit.

Scavalla then traded places with first baseman Gabriel Rodriguez after the former issued a two-out, bases-loaded pass to Glen Miske with two out in the fifth, making it a 6-2 contest.

That's the way it stayed when Rodriguez whiffed Billy Hart on a 3-2 pitch to complete the fifth, then got Springfield in the sixth, as settling darkness made further play impossible.

Kenilworth, after losing, 10-0, to Roselle on Friday, got into a slugging match with Union at home on Sunday, but lost, 13-7. Matt McMurdo's 4-for-4 effort paced Union.

Both Carey and Parkhill went 2-for-4 for Kenilworth, which dropped to 0-3 with the loss.

POW! — Roselle American Legion shortstop John Cubala lashes a hit during last Friday's game with Kenilworth, which Roselle won, 10-0. Now at 9-1-1 overall and 3-0 in league play, Roselle has outscored its opponents by an average of six runs a game so far.

Jr. Legion team now at 8-2

By MARK YABLONSKY

Just like the parent club, the Roselle Junior American baseball team keeps on winning.

This past week, in fact, Jack Byrnes' Junior #229ers won five of six games to improve the team's overall record to 8-2. Unbeaten in league play to maintain first place with a 4-0 record, Roselle's only defeat was a 7-5 setback to Los Cubanitos last Friday night.

While Los Cubanitos is a league team, the defeat occurred as part of Union's ongoing junior legion tournament, which will have to be completed this weekend after rain late last Sunday afternoon held up further play.

The big story, though had to Chris Van Vliet's sizzling two-hit shutout in last Tuesday's 3-0 win over Scotch Plains. One who figures to be a key member of next year's parent Roselle legion squad, Van Vliet struck out 15 batters of a possible 18 in the shortened, six-inning contest.

Of the three outs that didn't come by way of strikes, none left the infield. One runner was caught stealing, another was retired on a ground ball, and the other popped out to second base.

Jose Martinez supported Van Vliet with run-scoring singles in the second and fifth innings, and Dave Yorke singled across Roselle's other run in the fifth as well.

Two nights later, though, Roselle was forced to pull out an 8-7 decision over Roselle Recreation with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

But they did it in style.

After Vinnie Rettino was hit by a pitch, Willie Byrnes doubled him home to force a 7-7 tie. Then with two outs, Byrnes came home on a single by Fred Knight, the winning pitcher.

Race slated

The 10th annual all-women's one-and-five-mile road race, Catch the Sun, will take place at Tamaquas Park in Westfield on Sunday, July 15.

Prizes include Continental Airlines tickets to the overall winner of the five-mile race, and specially-designed T-shirts to all registrants.

Further information is available at 233-8567.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question:

The all-time record for strikeouts in one season by a pitcher is held by future Hall of Famer Nolan Ryan. But who holds the all-time strikeout record in one season by a rookie? A clue: he won the N.L. Cy Young Award the following season.

Last week's answer: The all-time leader in innings pitched during one season for relievers is Mike Marshall, who hurled a total of 208 innings in 1974 for the pennant-winning L.A. Dodgers. Marshall, who was 15-12 with 21 saves and a 2.42 ERA that year, ended his career with the Mets in 1981 — the same team that now employs outfielder Mike Marshall.

And our congratulations go to Jared Wells of Springfield, who has won another $5 gift certificate to a local sporting goods store.

Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Arians win 3 in tourney

The Linden Arians now stand at 3-4 after winning three of five games to place fourth at this past weekend's Bristol round-robin, fast-pitch women's softball tournament in Bristol, Pa.

Two of the wins came from the pitching efforts of Kelly Schwerfeger, a standout from Bridewater High. In the opener on Saturday, Schwerfeger hurled a two-hitter to beat Voight of Delaware County, Pa., 2-1, behind two unearned runs in the top of the sixth inning.

After Linden scored its first run on a dropped fly ball, Schwerfeger-bounced a grounder toward shortstop that was bobbled, enabling Sue Harms of Linden to cross home plate with what became the winning run.

Schwerfeger later tossed a three-hit shutout to halt the Midnight Express of Bucks County, Pa. by a 3-0 score. Schwerfeger struck out three and walked only one. She then lost a heartbreaking 1-0 decision in a brilliant pitching duel with Kelly Dant of the Blazing Angels, a Levittown, Pa.-based team that prevailed, 1-0. Both hurlers permitted only one hit.

Linden's other win came by a 2-1 score against Maximilian, Pa., with Stacy Witfill handling the pitching chores for the Arians. Both Linden runs were driven in by Karilyn Bachmann.

This coming Tuesday, June 19, prior to the Arians-Staten Island game at 8 p.m., a 12-and-under softball contest between the Clifton Charmers and Colonial All-Stars will take place at Memorial Park, beginning at 6:30.

Roselle wins two more

Roselle Savings won two games within St. Joseph's Boys League play last week to improve its league-leading record to 10-1 inside the Junior League.

The Bankers won their first game, 9-8, by rallying for seven runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Mohamed Jalloh paced the rally with a two-run double, and Tim Benoit also doubled for Roselle Savings. Derek Wlasuk gained the victory in relief.

The Bankers later beat Malin's, 5-2. Benoit finished with a double and two RBI.

JEFF BARR
1B, BREARLEY

One of three All-CLN repeat honorees, John Cubala had a mighty tough task in front of him last year when he had to replace Jeff Coughlin at shortstop. Now the question is, who will replace Cubala next year?

After batting a torrid .410 last year, the talented senior followed that with a .348 mark this year, collecting 24 hits, 21 runs, 18 RBIs and nine walks. His brilliant fielding has led many astute observers to place him among the state's very finest shortstops. And Lafayette University will give him a scholarship for next season.

"He's a hard worker," said Linden coach Tony Picaro. "He's going down as the best shortstop I've ever had. He's got tremendous hands, tremendous range and he's worked to get where he is today."

Believe it or not, Jeff Barr hasn't made a single error in each of the past two seasons for Brearley Regional. And during that same time, he hasn't made too many outs at the plate, either.

This year, in fact, Barr, who will attend the University of Rhode Island, emerged as the fourth-leading hitter in the County Leader coverage area, batting a robust .395 while scoring 20 runs and driving in 18 more.

"He's the best defensive first baseman I've ever coached," said Brearley head coach Ralph LaConte, whose team finished at 16-8-1. "I've coached a lot of good ones, but no one's ever had two seasons like he's had. I'm fully aware of the runs he's saved us."

PETER ACCOMANDO
2B, BREARLEY

Tim Zawacki had a lot of success in baseball for Roselle Catholic this spring — close to what his sisters have enjoyed in girl's tennis at Union High.

The second-leading hitter in the CLN area, Zawacki batted a blistering .429, scored 27 runs and drove in 24 more from his number two position in the R.C. batting order. Actually, Zawacki was targeted to pitch this spring, but once Jeff Ryan saw how valuable the junior was with the bat, there was a change in plans.

So Zawacki ended up at third base, and was charged with just two errors all year.

"He was a very nice surprise," Ryan said. "He was 2-0 as a pitcher, and I thought we were only going to use him as a pitcher."

After losing Mike Hoydich to graduation, there was a big hole for Brearley to fill at second base. But as it turned out, Peter Accomando did just fine.

At first, Accomando got off to a slow start offensively. But he began to hit and ended up raising his average by 200 points from .181 to a final mark of .381, while driving in 10 runs and scoring seven more — and all this as the number nine hitter in the lineup, no less.

What's more, the junior second sacker fielded a cool .935, recording 25 putouts and 33 assists, while committing just four errors.

"He was probably our most improved player this year," LaConte said.

JOE SOKOLOWSKI
DH, LINDEN

For the second straight year, Joe Sokolowski was a major thorn in the sides of opposing pitchers.

Along with his .370 batting average, the 5-11, 195-pound senior also scored 18 runs, drove in 19 more and drew eight walks.

And his late-season hot streak, including a 5-for-5 showing in a 10-3 win over Union Catholic on May 9, was a key factor behind Linden's 14-7 record and its National Division title in the Watchung Conference.

"It's amazing," said Picaro. "He put up .370 with 19 ribbys and yet, it was almost a disappointment for him. Almost any high school kid around would be happy with those numbers. That just shows what kind of intensity he has."

It is true that Hillside's Vinnie Cocilovo ended with a less-than-impressive record of 3-5-1. But rest assured, every other statistic of his was more than impressive.

Aside from the fact that the sophomore lefty owned three-quarters of his team's wins, opposing hitters were held to an anemic average of .193 against him. In 59 innings of work, Cocilovo struck out 60, walked just 23 and only permitted 45 hits.

Cocilovo, who is pitching for the Springfield American Legion team this summer, appears to have quite a future.

"Vinnie was by far my best pitcher this year," said Hillside coach Frank Vitale. "And with a better defense behind him, he could have had a better record than 3-5. His statistics show he's going to be a very good pitcher."

VINNIE COCILOVO
LHP, HILLSIDE

One year ago, Dave Sawicki showed what kind of pitcher he is by matching teammate Dave Shaw's 1.96 ERA. And this year, with Shaw injured for most of the time, Sawicki continued to excel — and win ballgames.

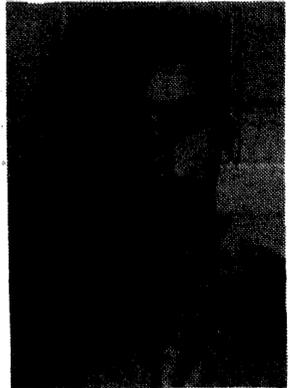

In fact, Sawicki ended up at 7-2, with powerful Elizabeth inflicting the two losses, although Sawicki pitched well against the Minutemen in a tough 5-3 loss in the state sectional semifinals.

In all, the flame-throwing right-hander struck out 83 batters in 59 innings of work and registered an earned run average of 1.54, while allowing just 42 hits.

"It was great to watch his progress over three years," Lematty said.

DAVE SAWICKI
RHP, UNION

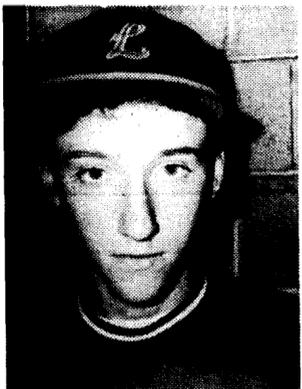

PETE SIMKO
OF, UNION

The third outfielder on this year's CLN team happens to be Linden's George Doney, and with good reason, too.

Simply put, there was little the senior couldn't do. In addition to batting a cool .343 with 12 runs and 22 RBIs, Doney also delivered five doubles, two triples, four sacrifice flies and belted three home runs — including his big three-run blast in the bottom of the seventh inning that beat Rahway's Pat Jackson, 7-6, on May 31, giving the Tigers the Watchung Conference's National Division title.

And his slugging percentage was .610.

"He turned out to be the guy who won the conference for us," Picaro noted, "but he turned out to be a long-ball hitter. And he was excellent defensively in the outfield for us."

JOHN CUBALA
SS, LINDEN

There are several reasons why the Farmers went 18-8 this year, and one of the biggest reasons was the hitting of junior Pete Simko.

The team leader in batting (.368), hits (25) and RBIs (30), Simko was a never-ending source of production as the number three hitter in the Union lineup this year.

His biggest hits included a run-scoring single against Roselle Catholic in the UCT quarterfinals on May 12, and a two-run double against Elizabeth in the state sectional semis on May 22.

And, of course, the hard-hitting leftfielder will return in 1991.

"You expect a hitter to hit in cycles, but his cycle never stopped," said Union coach Gordon LeMatty. "He was a steady, reliable player all year long."

CHAD HENSLER
OF, ROS. CATH.

TIM ZAWACKI
3B, ROS. CATH.

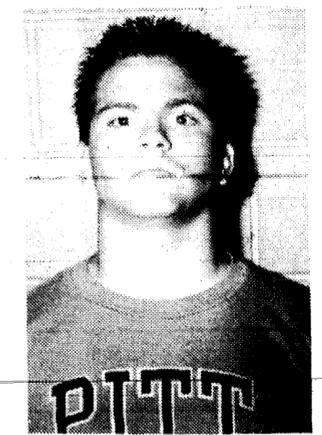

Occasionally, senior Chad Hensler would have an off-day at the plate. But far more often, he was a pitcher's nightmare.

The top hitter in the CLN area, Hensler batted a wild .450, drove in 35 runs, scored 30 more and belted nine homers as the third hitter in the powerful R.C. lineup.

The Cranford resident, who is playing for the Roselle American Legion team this summer, also slugged three triples and four doubles, and even went 4-2 with a 2.43 ERA as a pitcher.

Whichever college lands him will indeed be lucky.

"He's like having another assistant coach," explained Ryan. "He just leads by example. That's why he was the captain of the team. He works very hard in everything he does."

MIKE MASSARO
C, ROSELLE

Equipped with a quick bat and powerful throwing arm, Roselle's Mike Massaro enjoyed another productive season for the Rams of Abraham Clark High, who improved to 7-11 this year and made the state playoffs for the first time in six years.

And Massaro had a lot to do with that. A lifetime .388 hitter at Roselle, the junior catcher tied for second in the CLN area in batting at .429, while driving in 16 runs. While he did not hit any home runs this year, Massaro did receive four intentional walks — an indication that many pitched around him.

And from behind the plate, the 6-2, 190-pounder threw out 20 runners.

"He's solid," Roselle coach Stan Kokie said. "So many teams pitched around him. He always made good contact."

See next week's paper for our All-County softball team.

For week of June 17-June 23

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Business and romance will mix together in unusual ways. Instead of trying to separate the two, relax and enjoy the results of that collaboration.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Spend some of your time this week writing letters and making phone calls to old friends. Avoid the habit of taking your relationships for granted.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Do some research into a situation before making decisions. If you act before you know all the facts, you may be likely to take a fall.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You are working too hard. Slow down a bit and take time to enjoy the projects you are doing. Spend a little time on less difficult tasks.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Tackle a problem that you have been avoiding of late. You will be happily surprised and relieved by the results of the stronger action you take in dealing with the situation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Handle money matters with a certain amount of tact. Keep careful records and try to stay calm when discussing financial transactions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use your talent for persuasion very carefully. Take your time and remain patient. Make that talent work in your favor instead of against you. You need it now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Recent events in your life have prepared you well for the challenges that lie ahead. Take a short break from it all, and then get started on meeting those challenges head on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some of your habits are holding you back from finding total success. Find a way to use them profitably and to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Stop trying to succeed with those small achievements, and reach further toward those big ones. You will be amazed at what you are truly able to accomplish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Look for a promotion or a new business opportunity to be heading your way in the near future. Take steps now that will prepare you for that option, so you are ready when it comes your way.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Unexpected news is coming on the horizon. This new information will change plans that you have already made. Be flexible.

Gershwin revue is set in Union

The First Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Burnet and Doris avenues, Union, will hold its first event for the 1990 benefit fundraising cultural program series. It will be the State Repertory Opera's presentation of "Gershwins!," a new revue of the music and words of George and Ira Gershwin, and it will be staged June 27 at 7:30 p.m. The program, with Dita Delman, artistic director, was conceived and directed by Don Penley. It will feature Christie Harrington, Chrystyna Terlecky, Peter Oliff, Don Pendley and Vincent Clarke, pianist.

It was announced by the Rev. Nancy E. Forsberg, pastor of the church, that homemade refreshments will be sold before each performance and during intermission.

Krueger works exhibited

Doris Krueger's artwork, paintings and sculpture will be exhibited at the Watchung Arts Center, 18 Stirling Road, beginning Saturday. A public reception will open the exhibition from 7 to 10 p.m. Refreshments will be served. There is no admission charge.

"Life and Nature Reflections" will remain on display through June 24. Weekday hours are 10 a.m. to noon, Monday through Thursday; weekends from 1 to 5 p.m. The exhibition also will be accessible to those participating in the Arts Center's house and garden tour Sunday afternoon.

This is one of a series of regular art exhibits and sales sponsored by the Watchung Arts Center's Visual Arts Program. All events are open to the public.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 753-0190.

The non-profit Center "offers a comprehensive program of classes, exhibits, concerts and plays throughout the year." Funded almost entirely through contributions, the volunteer-run organization "is always looking for fresh faces and ideas to expand and improve its program," says a spokesman. Its renovated Gallery serves both as an exhibit hall and auditorium, while its downstairs Studio is the site of classes and hands-on events.

Restaurant review

The Cedars Restaurant

By Michelle Joshua

I was looking forward to eating at The Cedars in Elizabeth because it boasts the biggest salad bar in Union County. I thought I could stay on my diet while still enjoying a fine meal out.

The setting at The Cedars is intimate, but at the same time spacious. I liked the fact that the tables are not crowded; conversations from other tables never intruded on our enjoyment. The tasteful decor of Cedars also contributes to the relaxing atmosphere.

Service at The Cedars is excellent. Our entrees arrived promptly after the appetizers. My meal, from the mesquite grill, Cajun Red Snapper, was superb. The fish was cooked perfectly and the spices gave it a nice zing. I must say, that The Cedars definitely shatters the myth that seafood entrees are skimpy. On the side, a nice-sized baked potato and broccoli were served.

My friend ordered the Chicken Primavera. It was loaded with tender vegetables, chicken filets and pasta. After dinner we indulged in chocolate cake, cheese cake, cappuccino and tea, a definite departure from my diet but well worth it.

Over all, my comments on The Cedars are only favorable. My companion and I were pleased with the service and the cleanliness. Our meal was not rushed; we were given an ideal amount of time to enjoy it. If you are looking for a pleasurable dining experience, with entrees averaging $13, The Cedars at 1200 North Ave., Elizabeth, is the place to go.

A unique group

By MILT HAMMER

Good Listening: The New Style. In the highly competitive world of rap music, as in all other fields of music, there are innovators — a select group of individuals who stand out, who demonstrate a unique talent and a distinctive ability to be truly creative. The New Style is aptly named. This local East-Orange-based trio isn't simply just another rap group. Keir Gist, known as Kaygee; Vincent Brown, nicknamed Vinnie Rock; and Anthony Criss, Double Tee Treachery, have something special to offer, as evidenced in their debut Bon Ami/MCA LP, "Independent Leader."

From "Scuffin' Those Knees," the group's first single, a funky, tough rap about what it really takes to break into the music business, to the free-style "Start Smokin'," which, says Double Tee "is all about putting this whole New Style thing on fire, letting people know we are serious!" the group displays their obvious skill at creating a fresh and exciting approach to rap.

Some of the cuts on "Independent Leader" are clearly designed to set the record straight. The members of The Style are putting the word out that they have arrived and they are here to stay. Take "Can't Win for Losin'," which, says Double Tee, "is to let the other rappers out there know that, as much as they try and put us down, we're always going to come out on top."

disc 'n' data

On "To the Extreme," the three guys boast about how they've "done it all — smooth songs, hype songs, love songs, rock and roll songs." The street-style cut, "Droppin' the Bomb," stays true to the same message: "We want to let everyone out there know that The New Style is droppin' the bomb on all the other rappers out there!"

These three talented young men, who attended East Orange High School, were in separate rap groups before they came together in 1986 when they were asked to perform for Kaygee's senior class. "Our performance went over so well," says Kaygee, "that we decided to stay together as a unit and pursue a recording contract."

LORI WEICKERT

Lori Weickert has been promoted to auditor at The Union County National Bank, announced bank president and CEO John J. Davis.

Weickert, who graduated cum laude from Kean College with a B.S. in Management Science, joined the Union-based bank in 1983 as a teller. She is a lifelong resident of Elizabeth.

Anne Raftree of Westfield has been appointed director of resources at Coleman & Pellet Inc., the Union-based public relations firm.

An employee of the firm since 1978, Raftree previously served as office manager. In her new position, Ms. Raftree will be responsible for overseeing the activities of the firm's accounting department and administrative support staff. She also has been named a member of the Coleman & Pellet technical team.

Raftree is pursuing a degree in business at Union County College, where she has attained Dean's List status.

Karen Shapiro of Wayne has joined Coleman & Pellet Inc. as a media specialist in the Creative Services Group.

In her new position, Shapiro will act as a media resource for the accounts serviced by Coleman & Pellet. She will be responsible for assisting client teams with all aspects of public relations communication, including strategic targeting and placement.

Her duties also will include the establishment of an in-house media library and participation in the agency's overall marketing efforts.

Blair W. Hefty of Hasbrouck Heights has been named senior associate by Coleman & Pellet Inc.

As senior associate, Hefty will oversee publicity efforts and develop and implement public relations programs for BMW of North America, Inc.

Karen Ollivierre of South Brunswick has been named an account executive at Coleman & Pellet Inc.

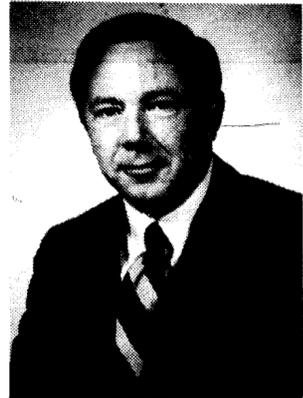

As account executive, Ollivierre will develop, implement and manage programs involving community and environmental issues for clients in the pharmaceutical and paper products industries.

New bank has opening offer

Saturday, June 16, marks the official opening day for American Union Bank and the first day of the "Get Acquainted Days" the bank has set aside for customers opening accounts with the bank. "Get Acquainted Days" will run until July 20. During that time the bank has developed special programs for their new neighbors.

Beginning at 9 a.m. on the 16, Mayor Anthony Russo and other local dignitaries will assist bank chairman Alan Turtletaub, bank president Gerald Metzheiser and bank officials with the official ribbon-cutting ceremony. Proceeds from the currency "ribbon" used in the ceremony will be donated to the committee organizing the "Salute to the American Flag" parade in September.

At 10 a.m. the public festivities at the bank begin with the start of the remote broadcast by radio station WJDM, entertainment and magic by Sunshine the Clown, the opportunity to win prizes with the American Union Bank wheel of good fortune, balloons and American Flags for everyone, plus the official start of the bank's "Get Acquainted" Sweepstakes. Clipping the coupon found in the bank's newspaper advertisements or in the special announcement mailed to all residents from the bank and bringing it in to the bank office located at 2720 Morris Avenue at the corner of Moessner gives everyone the opportunity to participate.

American Union Bank is a full service, federally insured commercial bank.

The bank's hours will be extended during the promotional period to accommodate those customers wishing to open accounts who would like to come in the evening until 7 p.m. either Thursday or Friday evenings through July 20.

Correction

In last week's paper it was incorrectly stated that the Money Store was the parent company of the American Union Bank. Although Alan Turtletaub, chairman of the new bank, is also a Money Store executive, there is no connection between the two institutions.

Bob Sekule, home remodeling expert

Bob Sekule, home remodeling specialist, has been brightening homes throughout Union County for over 11 years. Specializing in custom kitchens, Sekule guarantees his work for customer satisfaction.

Bob Sekule, home remodeling expert

Tired of those old kitchen cabinets? Need more counter space? Or how about a new dishwasher with a matching oven and refrigerator?

If upgrading your appliances and remodeling your kitchen is what you need, Bob Sekule, the remodeling specialist, can make your home perfect for you — guaranteed.

Bob Sekule of Union has been in the home remodeling business for most of his career. After more than a decade in the trade, he has made scores of homeowners happy with their kitchens for the first time.

"A lot of people who want to remodel their homes can't afford to do it all at once," Sekule said. "They want a new kitchen, or a deck, or maybe a dormer to brighten up a dull room, but they want to do it one step at a time."

"Well, that's our specialty. We are a full-scale home remodeling company specializing in quality workmanship at affordable prices."

Sekule, a master carpenter for over 11 years, has helped brighten homes throughout Union County. Working as a fully ensured home remodeling company, Sekule guarantees all of his workmanship and appliances.

"We specialize in kitchens," says Sekule, "but we don't really like to limit ourselves. We're a highly versatile company and all of our work and appliances are guaranteed under the manufacturer's warranty."

As a policy, Sekule makes sure all of his customers are happy with what they pay for. A specialized team of salespersons is sent to your home with samples you can see for yourself. Customers can also choose from an extensive line of name brands — all of which are neatly displayed in a catalog for your convenience.

"A lot of people are choosing to remodel their kitchens with country-style wooden cabinets, giving a whole new look to that area of the home," Sekule said. "Usually the cabinets are offset with tile or Formica and personalized to match what the homeowner has in mind."

Sekule, along with his partner and fellow tradesman, Jim Breheny, have found that most prefer to have a minimal number of people working inside their homes at a time.

As a result, Sekule and Breheny do most of the work themselves with very little outside help.

"We were both professionals working independently at one time," Breheny said. "But we found that it would be better for us and for our customers if we put our skills together."

"Instead of having one professional and one helper on the job, we have two professionals," he said. "That way we can get twice as much done in half the time — and the job gets done right."

Homeowners interested in speaking with Sekule about remodeling or expanding any portion of their home can call 688-5971 for an appointment.

Weichert

And you can say "Yes" with confidence with Weichert's exclusive Buyer Protection Plus!

Lower Rate Guarantee
Let's you buy now. If mortgage rates go down later, you have the opportunity to re-finance without paying additional points. Isn't it reassuring to know that when the house and price are right, your timing will always be right on the money.

Home Warranty Plan
For 1 full year after closing, you enjoy protection from major home repair or replacement bills caused by unexpected mechanical failure.

Pre-paid Homeowners Insurance
You have the peace of mind knowing your home and family belongings are safeguarded against loss and liability for one full year.

Available on select properties only. For complete program details, including required qualifications, exclusions, conditions and limitations or deductibles, see Weichert's Exclusive Buyer Protection Plus brochure.

Shouldn't the largest investment of your life come with some protection? Call now!
