Mayor recalls bittersweet year; council reorganizes

Hosts sought for foreign

By SUZETTE STALKER The Mountainside Borough Council officially began a new year of municipal government Tuesday night by welcoming one councilman on board, bidding farewell to another, recognizing others for exceptional achievement, and expressing hope for a prosperous 1991.

Councilmen William "Tex" Jackson and Keith Turner, elected to the governing body last November, were administered their oaths of office by Municipal Judge Robert Ruggiero. Jackson is beginning his third term, while newcomer Turner has replaced Councilman Louis Maas, who opted not to run for re-election.

Mountainside Mayor Robert Viglianti offered his annual end-of-theyear address to approximately 100 people who gathered in the council chambers. In it he reflected on the borough's joys and tribulations during 1990.

Viglianti strongly criticized the state for its development of the New Jersey 911 emergency response program, which would not only place a 6 percent sales tax on all telecommunications equipment to fund 911 but also compel municipalities to tax residents for maintenance of the system once it was in place.

The mayor also lamented the potential impact of the Quality Education Act, currently under review in the state Legislature, which would significantly reduce state aid to New Jersey school districts from 1992-96. He also noted that Mountainside would be among the hardest hit financially by the QEA.

On a more positive side, Viglianti commended the Mountainside Public Library and its new director, Miriam Bein; recent renovations to the Mountainside First Aid Squad building; projects completed by the Mountainside Department of Public Works; new turn out gear for Mountainside firemen; and increased services to senior citizens.

The mayor and Borough Council presented a plaque to Maas in recognition of his years on the governing body and wished him well on his retirement. Maas announced earlier this year that he and his wife, Marge, may be moving to Saratoga, N.Y., within the next couple of years and therefore decided not to seek reelection.

Viglianti particularly praised Maas for guiding the borough's Solid Waste Committee from its inception several years ago. Maas oversaw the development of the solid waste program, according to the mayor, while encouraging his fellow residents to participate in cleanup programs which became highly successful.

Teen is nabbed on weapons rap

A 16-year-old Plainfield youth was arrested and charged with weapons possession last week after a Union County police officer stopped the vehicle carrying the suspect and two companions, which was observed traveling in an erratic manner through the Watchung Mountains in

Trailside to feature basketry art exhibit

An exhibit of contemporary and traditional-style baskets created by professional basket makers Elisa Kessler-Caporale of New Providence and Barbara Maxwell of Summit will be on display at the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside until Monday, Feb. 25.

The exhibit, titled "Artistry In Basketry," is open to the public daily from 1-5 p.m. and baskets will be available for purchase. Visitors will be able to view the basket makers' individual techniques and the various materials they use to create their crafts.

Caporale teaches adult craft work shops at Trailside, gives private instruction, and also teaches workshops for Union County and Summit adult schools.

She is a member of the Westfield and New England Basket Guilds and is also secretary of the New Jersey Basketweaver's Guild. Included in the Trailside exhibit is her most recent work, "21st Century Fish," which makes an environmental statement.

Officer James Debbie of the Union County Police Department was on patrol Jan. 3 at 11:18 a.m. when he spotted a 1980 Chevy being operated in a careless manner, crossing over the double yellow line and weaving erratically in and out. Debbie stopped the vehicle on W.R. Tracy Drive.

When Debbie asked the driver, an 18-year-old Plainfield woman, for her credentials, the officer noticed "a strong odor of burning marijuana emanating from inside the vehicle," according to Detective Richard Tuschel of the county's Detective Bureau.

He said Debbie also saw a pack of rolling papers on the front seat between the driver and the passenger, a 16-year-old male, and observed that a second male, also 16, who was in the back seat, appeared to be "very nervTuschel. The teen was charged with possession of a weapon and was subsequently released into the custody of his parents, the detective stated. A Family Court date had not yet been scheduled this week. Tuschel confirmed.

The driver of the vehicle was issued a summons for careless driving and was released at the scene. Tuschel said. No charges were brought against the other male youth. The detective stated that authorities have "no evidence" at this time that the gun found on the first male was used in any crimes in the area.

"Right now we're trying to identify the owner of the gun through state police records," Tuschel remarked, adding that the gun did not belong to any of the youths' families. He acknowledged, however, that the weapon "is believed to be stolen."

STUDENT WINS PRIZE - Teddy Schundler, left, a fourth-grade student at Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountainside, is congratulated by school Principal John Aslanian, right, for being named as the secondplace winner in a recent National Geography Awareness Poster Contest. The contest was sponsored jointly by Kings Super Markets Inc. and Nabisco Brands Inc., and was designed to teach youngsters about the importance of geography and to give them an understanding of where various places are located. Teddy was awarded a Nabisco Sampler gift box and a National Geographic Society Global Pursuit Game.

A REASON TO SMILE - 'Baby John,' a 4-year-old Mountainside youngster, is finally able to enjoy a relatively normal life after having undergone eight opera-tions to correct a serious colon disorder. Since the Mountainaide Lions Club first launched a fund drive in 1989 to banefit the youngster, borough officials, local civic and religious organizations and numerous individuals have contributed money toward his hospital and medical expenses.

Baby John' starts '91 on happy note

By SUZETTE STALKER For the family of "Baby John," a seriously ill^{*}Mountainside toddler whose plight touched the entire borough, 1991 bears the longawaited promise of health and happiness as the boy takes his first steps toward leading a normal life.

"Baby John," now 4, whose last name has been withheld to protect his'family's privacy, suffered since birth from a condition known as Hirschprung's disease, a congenital disorder in which nerves are missing from the colon.

In the first three years of his life, the blond youngster underwent eight operations in an attempt to correct his condition, which without treatment would have required him to wear a colostomy bag.

Hospital and medical expenses drained his family's financial resources, however, and exceeded their medical insurance.

The Mountainside Lions Club, after learning of the youngster's plight, kicked off a fund-raiser campaign in March of 1989 to help cover the cost of "Baby's John"'s seventh operation, eventually netting several thousand dollars in contributions.

The surgery, performed last March 28, took eight hours and was the most complex of "Baby John"'s operations, according to Mountainside Lions Club spokesman Angelo Rapp. The procedure was deemed successful, however, though doctors continued to monitor the child's progress every 10 days.

Rapp reported that "Baby John" successfully underwent yet a ninth operation in November, which was an adjustment for past surgery. He added that after this operation, "for the first time in his 4 years, 'Baby John' was able to function as normally as possible without benefit of a colostomy."

"The parents and the grandparents are very grateful to the town and all the people who contributed to 'Baby John''s fund," remarked Rapp, who noted that the child's story drew support from the Mountainside Borough Council, local clubs and organizations, religious groups and others.

The Lions spokesman said "Baby John" is currently attending a morning nursery school program three times a week and that "he can run around and do all the things" that a child his age normally does. Rapp added that Baby John has gained about four pounds since November and that he "looks great."

Both Kessler-Caporale and Maxwell are professional basket makers and have each developed their own styles using a variety of materials including honeysuckle, wisteria, reed, seagrass and ash in their basket weavings.

In addition to being a part-time professional basket maker, Kessler-

Maxwell, who is treasurer of the New Jersey Basketweavers' Guild. conducts basketry workshops at the Newark and Morris museums, the Reeves Reed Arboretum in Summit and the Westfield and Chatham aduin schools. She has developed a tech nique called "twilling," which differs from traditional patterns which weave over one "spoke" or "upright" at a time.

For more information about the exhibit and adult craft workshops, one can call Trailside at 789-3670.

Deerfield supports U.S. troops in Gulf

By SUZETTE STALKER

Students at Deerfield School in Mountainside are doing their part to boost morale among American service men and women stationed in the Persian Gulf as part of Operation Desert Shield, while also learning the importance of democracy and freedom to the American way of life.

For the past month the youngsters, in kindergarten through eighth grade, have been bringing in various items to be mailed to United States troops. These gifts include toiletries, magazines, games, puzzles, shoestrings, playing cards and such specialty items as Tabasco sauce, among other things.

Deerfield social studies teacher John Theis, who coordinated the project, explained that each homeroom was in the process of preparing a package to be sent to troops in the Per sian Gulf, and that approximately 25 boxes were expected to be mailed sometime next week.

Theis, who teaches sixth-, seventh and eighth-grade students, said the primary purpose of the Desert Shield project is to instill in students "an appreciation of the people who serve overseas. It lets students play a small role in helping them out, and lets them know we're thinking of them.

"It also gives them an appreciation of living in the United States, of freedom and democracy, and about the importance of such things as postage stamps," Theis concluded. "The students have all reacted very positively to this."

at the library

The Mountainside Public Library has announced that starting on Friday, Feb. 1, the following fine rates for overdue materials will go into effect: adult books, 10 cents per day; children's books, 5 cents per day.

This increase is in response to the rising cost of postage and notification materials and brings the library in line with neighboring libraries in Union County. Fines for best sellers remain at 25 cents per day and video cassettes at $2 per day.

FBI seeking suspect in holiday holdup of bank

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the Westfield Police Department are searching for a female suspect involved in a New Year's Eve bank robbery.

According to FBI Special Agent Gary L. Penrith of the Newark office, a lone white female entered the Summit Trust Company bank located at 302 East Broad St., Westfield, on Dec. 31 at noon and approached a teller with a note.

The note ordered the teller to give her money and stated that she had a gun. The teller complied with the demand and the female robber walked out of the bank, Penrith said. No getaway vehicle was observed.

An investigation later determined that the robber had been in the bank earlier in the day and had made inquiries about how to conduct a transaction. A review of the bank vid-

Volunteers are needed to aid troubled families

Support group available

The Union County Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) Program in cooperation with the Family Court will offer training to prospective volunteers beginning Feb. 7 from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. at Union County College, Springfield Avenue, Cranford, in the Nomahegan Hall faculty lounge.

Trained CASA volunteers are appointed by the presiding judge of the Family Court, Hon. John J. Callahan, to advocate on behalf of abused and/or neglected children that are in placement outside their natural homes. Volunteers come from all walks of life with no special background required.

They must, however, be mature, responsible adults who have the ability to talk with people who are having problems, to care about children and to have the time to commit to this endeavor. Volunteers are selected on the basis of their objectivity, competence and commitment.

Once appointed to a child's case, the CASA volunteer is responsible for finding out as much as possible about the case. The CASA reads the records and interviews as many people as possible who touch the child's life, including parents, teachers, social service workers and others.

The CASA then presents the findings and a recommendation to the Child Placement Review Board as to what is in the child's best interest. The goal is for the child to have a safe, secure and permanent home.

In the training program, professionals from different fields will present an overview of the Family Court system and the various agencies and community services that work with the children and their families. Advocacy, interviewing skills and the special needs of the child will be discussed.

For more information or an application, one can call Linda Jeter or Joyce M. Conrad at 527-4917. The CASA office is located on the eighth floor of the Union County Court House, Broad Street, Elizabeth.

wheel demonstration Museum to present spinning

Several winter activities will be taking place at the Miller-Cory House Museum, Mountain Ave., Westfield on Sunday, Jan. 13, from 2-4 p.m. Mary Salmon of Berkeley Heights will explain how to use a spinning wheel to produce finished threads from woolen fibers.

The winter months provided more time for spinning during the 18th and early 19th centuries in New Jersey. There are three necessary steps for making thread: drawing, twisting and winding. It is believed that the first spinning wheel was developed in India about 1,000 years ago.

Introduced in Germany in the early 16th century, the treadle type of spinning wheel made it possible for the spinner to sit while both hands were free to draw the fiber.

The inventory taken of Joseph Cory's estate in 1802 includes three pairs of wool cards, used for preparing the fibers for spinning, one spinning wheel, a spooling wheel and swifts, used for winding yarn.

Patricia Mason of North Plainfield and Maria Romano of Hillside will highlight an early cooking technique in the main house during the afternoon. Costumed docents will be conducting tours through the furnished rooms of the farmhouse, begun by Samuel Miller for his bride, Sabra, in 1740

Many new items are available in the museum gift shop, also open from 2-4 p.m. The museum features different crafts and tasks each Sunday and offers group tours by appointment. Anyone wishing additional information can call the Miller-Cory House Museum office at 232-1776.

Bill would scrutinize hospitals that hospitals are adhering to provisions of the state's Uncompensated Care Trust Fund Law was recently introduced by Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen (D-Union) and John S. Watson (D-Mercer).

Cohen explained that the bill (A-4273) would direct the State Auditor to conduct quality control reviews of hospital uncompensated care audits for 1989 and 1990. The audits are pitals with the highest uncompensated requried by a provision of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund Law, he be included in the State Auditor's said.

"We need this review to learn how the Uncompensated Health Care Trust Fund became the fiscal and operational problem it is today," said Cohen. "One area of immediate concern is Commissioner, he said.

A bill designed to help guarantee hospital debt collection procedures. Hospitals must take more aggressive actions to recover bad debts so that the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund can be used for those who truly are unable to pay, instead of those who choose not to pay."

Watson said the bill would require the State Auditor to review a representative sample of hospital audits. However, the audits from the 20 hoscare costs in the state would have to review.

The State Auditor would report his findings - and recommendations for improving the system — to the Legislature and the New Jersey Health

SS payments have risen

A 5.4 percent cost-of-living adjustment will increase the amount of 1991 Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments, George Dearness, Social Security manager in Elizabeth, recently stated.

People will see the increase in their benefits received in January 1991, according to Dearness.

The annul increase raises the amount of the maximum Social Security retirement benefit to $1,022 for a person retiring in 1991 at 65. The average Social Security benefit paid nationally is $602, Dearness said. The full Federal SSI payment goes up in 1991 to $407 for an individual and $610 for a couple. In most states, a supplement increases these amounts. Living arrangements and other income also affect SSI payment amounts.

People can get their questions answered by calling Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1 - 800 - 2345 - SSA (1-800-234-5772). They can speak to a representative 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays. Or, if they wish, they can visit the Elizabeth Social Security Office located at 24-52 Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth, N.J. 07202.

Watering Your Teeth

The title of this column is neither a joke nor a play on words, and it doesn't describe a method of making your teeth grow like grass or plants!

It refers to a dental care appliance that has become quite popular in recent years - the water pick, or, as your dentist would more formally call it, "oral irrigating device."

The water pick works on much the same principle as those shower heads that shoot bursts of water at you instead of a continuous spray. It pumps tiny pulsating jets of water against your teeth with more force than your own rinsing efforts could generate, searching out places where a toothbrush and even floss are relatively ineffective.

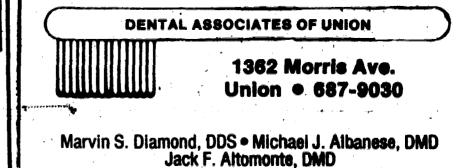

Another advantage the water gick has is that it can be aimed like a gun at those places where food particles are readily trapped - around the gums, between the teeth, and under bridgework, flushing them out of their hiding places.

Most dentists agree that the appliance is not recommended for small children. Older children with orthodontic bands, however, will find it invaluable in forcing out the food particles the bands invariably collect.

Knowing that the conditions of teeth and gums vary from person to person, dentists have reservations about the indiscriminate use of water picks. Consult your dentist before investing; there may be sound reasons a water pick is not right

Keep in mind one final and very important point. Because they're so effective and easy to operate, water picks may deceive you into thinking you've found the complete answer to the challenge of cleaning your teeth.

This is a dangerous delusion. A water pick removes only food. Don't ask the device to do more than it's intended to do. Use it as simply one part of a total cleansing process and you won't go wrong.

Assembly addresses strip search abuse

The General Assembly recently approved legislation designed to curb abuses of state laws that permit law enforcement officials to strip-search individuals who have been arrested and charged with crimes.

Assemblywoman Barbara Faith Kalik (D-Burlington/Camden) and Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen (D-Union) are sponsoring the bill (A-1182).

Kalik noted that in October of 1988 a series of highly-publicized reports presented evidence of official misconduct by local police officers who performed strip searches. The reports were submitted at that time to the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Following the disclosure, New Jersey Public Advocate's Office recommended changes to existing law in an effort to address strip search abuses.

"Under current law, it's conceivable that an individual charged with something as minor as a routine traffic violation could be subjected to a strip search if he or she is unable to immediately raise bail," said Kalik.

Cohen noted that recent federal and state court decisions have found that strip searches cannot be performed routinely on defendants charged with non-indictable offenses who have not yet made bail.

According to the legislation, police officers and other persons authorized to conduct strip searches would be required to consider the nature of the offense in determining whether there is probable cause to strip search a person charged with a non-indictable crime or traffic offense.

The bill would also require that persons charged with such offenses who are placed in holding cells pending the posting of bail may only be strip searched if there is probable cause to believe that a weapon, illegal drug or crime evidence will be found, or if there is a belief that the defendant poses a suicide risk.

The bill also directs the State Attorney General to monitor any reported abuses of the law and any related disciplinary proceedings against police officers.

"Law enforcement authorities must use tools at their dispossal to fight crime and out criminals behind bars," said Cohen. "However, there can be no tolerance for abuses of authority which violate our citizens' constitutional rights."

The bill, approved by a 69-3 Assembly vote, now moves to the Senate for action.

'Mozart' in church

Commemorating 200 years since the death of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart in 1791, the Choral Art Society of New Jersey chorus and orchestra, under the direction of Evelyn Bleeke, will present Mozart's great "Mass in C Minor," Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, Mountain Avenue and Broad Street.

He later married her, but the Mass however was never finished." He completed the "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Sanctus" and "Benedictus," but only half of the "Credo." At its performance in St. Peter's Church in Salzburg in 1783, Constanze sang one of the soprano solo parts. The society will perform those sections Mozart actually wrote.

Handel's "Coronation Anthems," I and II, were selected to complete the program. "History notes that Mozart at a point in time provided the arrangement and instrumentation of four works by Handel, including "The Messiah," it was announced.

Featured will be Rachel Rosales, soprano; Caroline Thomas, soprano;

Funding has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts through a grant administered by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

Try Again

Democrat leaders in the state Senate are working on a plan to reallocate over 40 percent of income tax revenue earmarked for Governor James Florio's school aid program. The governor wants to pump $1.1 billion into the suffering school systems of New Jersey's poverty-stricken urban areas. But state Senators from Florio's own party propose to subtract $450 million from that sum and re-direct it to property tax relief for, mainly, middle-income communities overburdened by taxation.

Democrat politicians throughout the state are, predictably, distancing themselves from the unpopular governor as quickly as they can. Last November the voters emphatically declared their opposition to everything about Florio, in a loud and empassioned reaction to the governor's tax policy. One thing politicians usually understand is election results. Gangs of Democrat officeholders — many of whom came in on Florio's coattails in 1989 — are now in dread of having their names in any way attached to the governor's. Fear of not being reelected is a great motivating force in American politics, and this force is clearly at work again in the formation of the Senate Democrats' reallocation plan.

Nonetheless, the plan has the potential of being a good and timely one.

Two matters are crystal clear: New Jerseyans, especially those of the middle class, desperately need tax relief; and, education for the millions of urban poor must markedly improve in order to allow these citizens of tomorrow to compete in and contribute to society or, in the matter of a generation or two, the whole fabric of our civilized life could be torn to shreds.

The state Supreme Court, in last June's decision in Abbott v. Burke, declared that the state's system of financing public education was unconstitutional, in that it discriminated against New Jersey's poorer districts. The court ordered the government to equalize school funding statewide.

The court was right. The present system is unfair to poorer school districts, and government should lead the way in making quality education available to all students. What is wrong is the way Florio has gone about trying to implement the court's order.

As this newspaper has stated from the beginning, the governor's tax increases, imposed at a time when taxpayers and the economy itself were struggling, were ill-timed, even though the overall purpose was positive. We suggested that Florio should first strive to revitalize the economy before asking the middle class to give yet again. We continue to hold to this position. The Senate's proposed plan will help to strengthen the economy by bringing property tax relief. It will also buy time - time in which the governor's plans to bolster the economy, through cutbacks in the bureaucracies and investments in construction and infrastructure repair, can be tried.

Housing alert

The Mountainside Planning Board which recently turned down an application for townhouses on Mountain Avenue, is now being asked to approve a variance to subdivide a 100'x 200' lot on Woodland Avenue for construction of two-family house.

The recently-adopted Master Plan tried to preserve the single-family atmosphere of this town. Will this application start a trend for multiple housing? If the residents of Mountainside are concerned about the effects of this application they should attend the Planning Board meeting on Jan. 14 at Borough Hall.

What's that smell?

Something does not smell quite right regarding the garbage situation in Union County! There are too many unanswered questions.

The Essex County incinerator in the Ironbound section of Newark had not been able to test properly because it could not get sufficient garbage. Imagine that -- from all of Essex County! What will happen when there will be less garbage to burn if the 60 percent recycling figure recommended by the Task Force and approved by Governor Florio is reached?

It has been suggested that Union County send its garbage to the Essex County incinerator for a period of 90 days so that it will have sufficient material for testing purposes. What will happen after the 90-day period?

If the Union County incinerator proposed for Rahway is ever built, there will be less garbage for burning than we now have as we approach the 60 percent recycling figure. From where will the garbage come? Incinerators work on a "put or pay" principle. If enough garbage is not available to cover operational costs, the incinerator or the builder, Ogden-Martin, will not suffer. Who will pay to recover these losses? The county will. From where does the county get its money? The taxpayers, you and me.

It is unfortunate that more time and money were not invested in researching alternatives to incineration before the Essex County incinerator was ever built. Proven processes, such as municipal composting, greater recycling, and source reduction are much, much less expensive and much less dangerous to the environment and, consequently, our health. The air in the metropolitan area is already one of the most polluted in the country. Do we need to increase the pollution unnecessarily by adding more poisons from incinerators?

The Concerned Citizens for the Environment of Rahway commend the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority on its decision to compost and reuse its sludge rather than incinerate it after the March 17 ban on the ocean dumping of sludge goes into effect. The resulting material, just as in the case of composting municipal solid waste (garbage), will be a highly desirable substance with many uses.

Let's hope and pray that wiser heads will prevail and see the folly in constructing these costly, unhealthy "white elephants" instead of utilizing proven methods that are so much more advisable and advantageous.

Excuse me. Governor

As usual, Governor Florio misses the point in his "Governor's best wishes' letter in your edition of Dec. 20. He claims to have reduced automobile insurance rates and property taxes. For most people, he has done nothing of the kind. Instead, he has merely shifted costs from one driver to another and from one taxpayer to another.

A major difficulty with the governor's position on both issues is that he has failed to address the underlying reasons for high automobile insurance rates and high property taxes.

Unfortunately, Governor Florio has chosen to play the demagogue with respect to automobile insurance and have us believe that, out of all 50 states, automobile insurance companies have conspired to single out little New Jersey and force us to subsidize drivers in the rest of the country. What nonsense! New Jersey is a costly state in which to write automobile insurance, partially because it is congested and partially because Governor Florio and his friends in the personal injury bar continue to prevent enactment of no-fault legislation with a mandatory verbal threshold, which would prevent expensive litigation except in instances of serious injury. Because there is greater risk of accident in congested areas than in others, New Jersey automobile insurance rates will always be higher than those in more sparsely populated states. Governor Florio may help some drivers living in our own most congested regions by barring geographical considerations from the rate making process, but guess who will be called upon to make up the difference?

Governor Florio has done nothing in the name of property tax reform but divert funds from other taxpayers to those upon whom he relies for his own political support. For every dollar his friends' taxes go down, someone else's taxes will necessarily go up. The stubborn facts are that most of our property taxes go for schools and that the governor has never even attempted to find out whether at least some school costs might be responsibly reduced. Quality schools will never be cheap, but do we really need as large an administrative bureaucracy as we have now? And have we really made serious efforts to distinguish between that which is essential and that which is merely nice to have?

Come on, Governor, give us a break!

ROBERT B. ARDIS Ledgewood Road Mountainside

Hope for cooperation

The results of the recent meeting of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and President Bush contrast sharply with negative descriptions of previous meetings of the past 12 months.

Agreement seems to have been reached that pursuit of the peace process will move ahead, but not until the Persian Gulf crisis is resolved; that the two countries show similar views on the current campaign against Saddam Hussein; and that the situation of the Gulf crisis will not come at Israel's expense.

Particularly gratifying were Prime Minister Shamir's comments after the meeting that it had advanced further the special relationship between the U.S. and Israel. While matters no doubt will continue to come up that bring on disagreements - it happens with the best of friends - the overall assessment must conclude that the U.S. and Israel, two democratic allies with shared values, stand together in this crucial period in Middle East affairs.

Free death?

For several years tobacco companies have provided military locations with free cigarettes. These generous samples have allowed non-smoking service men and women, and government employees, to develop the smoking habit. Thousands of these people are among the reportedly 400,000 Americans who die annually because they are addicted to nicotine.

As the number of military personnel deployed in "Operation Desert Shield" approaches 400,000 (note the coincidence) it is reported that the tobacco companies have again offered to provide our service people with free cigarettes. If war errupts in the Persian Gulf our forces would now be in "double jeopardy" - possibly killed in action, possibly killed by a cigarette-related disease.

It is sad to note that the unscrupulous tobacco industry is indifferent to the millions of preventable deaths caused by its lethal product. You might say that they are generous to a fault.

Some of the lawmakers who now back the Senate proposal originally supported the governor, and have been voterstunned into the opposite camp. Other Democrats, however, while unwilling for months to publicly go against the party line, had privately expressed serious doubts about the logistics of Florio's education program. It is weak, they say, because the mechanisms, meant to insure that the funds actually get into the school systems and bring about promised improvements, were hastily devised and flawed. That, if true, is distressing. Nothing could be worse than to appropriate vast sums from an overburdened populace, only to have little or no benefit come from the levy. Any allocation of funds to the inner-city school systems, or to any school system, must be properly monitored.

The Democrat Senators advocating the $450 million reallocation for tax relief, have also pledged to construct a monitoring system for the education program that is worthy of the name. They will wait until the depressed communities slated to receive the decreased funds present the government with their needs lists. Once again, we who desire an improvement in the quality of education in New Jersey are in the precarious position of relying on the promises of politicians. But it's a risk we should take: It is better that lawmakers take the time needed to go over the monitoring mechanisms carefully, than that funds be sucked down a black hole to the harm of both taxpayers and students.

We support the Senate Democrats' proposal to assist property owners, with the qualification that the legislators do indeed devise a more viable way of insuring that funds targeted to revitalize poor school districts do just that.

Bob Franks, Assemblyman from the 22nd District, which includes Mountainside, has announced to his constituents that a videotape entitled "The New Jersey Legislature — Your Lawmakers at Work" will be available through his legislative office to the public on a lending basis.

This audio-visual program is an 18-minute, full color presentation designed as an educational tool for informing the public about the New Jersey Legislature and the many aspects of the legislative process. The program portrays the role and responsibilities of legislators as they work to resolve the needs of the constituents. This is reinforced through pictures of legislators in sessions, in committee and meeting with constituents.

The program blends the sights and sounds of the legislative process, from a legislative session to the signing of a bill into law. Visuals include dramatic shots of the State House Complex, historical engravings and images depicting the Legislature's evolution, and candid photographs of the activities and business of the legislative process.

The program is intended for adults or advanced students with some knowledge of the Legislature, It is not designed for elementary school students.

The video format is easily transported and is ideal for small groups. However, the program is also available as a slide show. The slide show's large screen format and sharp visual images make it well-suited for larger audiences.

Anyone interested in borrowing the video or the slide show, may do so by calling 665-7777 or by writing to the Legislative Office of Assemblyman Bob Franks, 219 South St., Suite 109, New Provifence, N.J. 07974.

State We're In Places and plans that just aren't

By DAVID F. MOORE

What makes a collection of buildings an identifiable "place" is a puzzle for towns trying to deal with the State Planning Act, for which the title of the first draft plan is "Communities of Place."

It's difficult, for many towns have grown like Topsy, and have become no place at all. Indeed, in a study a few years ago by the New Jersey Conservation Foundation (NJCF), we found that folks in three sprawling municipalities often didn't know what township they lived in. Instead, they named the nearest village or town that had some sort of traditional center. A few weeks ago, at a seminar jointly sponsored by NJCF and New Jersey Puture, a state planning advocacy group, a panel of planners discussed their recent experiences with trying to recreate a traditional town. Does one build new communities from scractch, build on old ones or repair the damage created by sprawl? A common thread followed throughout; people living in today's sprawl want something else. When asked to design the kind of community they want, people create settlements no longer permitted by any zoning ordinance in New Jersey.

In one program, cited by planner Anthony Nelessen, community preference surveys were held in a score of towns. In every case, people wanted compact town centers, with the chance for different kinds of accommodations to be mixed together, a mix of housing, so that new households, single parents, families and senior citizens can be

Not only that, but shopping and support businesses like doctors, dentists, dry cleaners and the like should be mixed in, too. So should spartments over stores, small employment centers and schools.

Karl Kehde, working as a consultant for the Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions (ANJEC), discovered the same thing in working with ad hoc citizens' groups in a half dozen towns.

Such land-use forums, as they are called, start with a problem. Perhaps it's a suit between a builder and the town, or the need to site a town hall or a school. But after giving all a chance to get involved and insuring that the key players participate, and with all reaching consensus, the ensuing development designs have one thing in common: they can't be built because town subdivision and site plan laws won't allow it.

We need to reshape land-use law in this state we're in if we're going to fix what's broken. We're in a position where we can't build a livable habitat even if we want to.

What's worse, local planning boards, builders and the professional planners employed by both have been educated, trained and have an investment in maintaining the status quo. This inertia has to be overcome by changing the minds of stakeholders in development, as well as county and state permitting agencies and the court system.

Since World War II, landowners statewide have been encouraged to plant a house or building anywhere despite location, topography or character.

Regional planning units like the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission, the Pinelands Commission and Coastal Area Facility Review Act (CAFRA) planners have tried to back this system, but each requires town plannig boards to make final decisions following some regional guidelines.

Even though better natural resource protection is achieved, individual developments don't look better or serve today's needs any better inside those special districts than outside.

The State Planning Act, one of the most imaginative legislative moves yet made in this country, sets the stage for change. Maybe, just maybe, if enough of us get behind changes in the the way we do business, we can recreate urban livability.

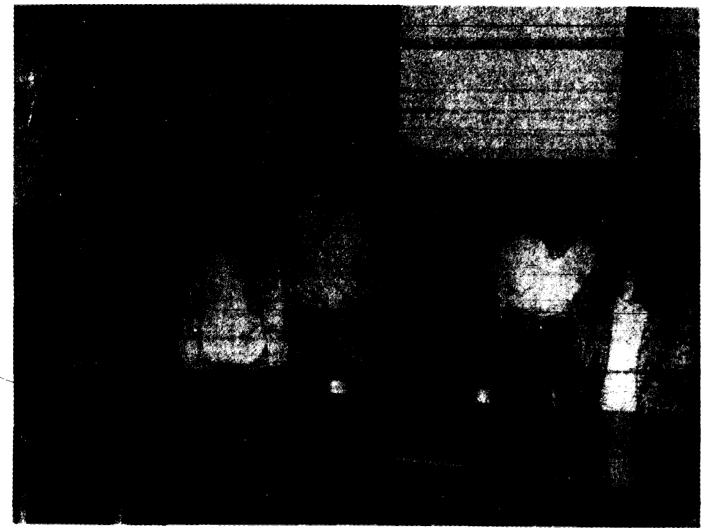

One key is to rethink highway planning. Highway access standards which tend to control much of that blighting abuse are now under review by the State Department of Transportation. That could be start.

Bassano answers civilian questions

By C. LOUIS BASSANO

With the Persian Gulf crisis heating up and the chances of more and more United States troops being deployed, it's important for military personnel stationed in Saudi Arabia and their families to be aware of their rights.

For example, while you or your spouse is away, does your home mortgage still have to be paid? What about your car payments? Can you receive any assistance at all on these debts? The answer — that you must continue all payments but your interest rates will be frozen at 6 percent — is contained in a guide-book prepared by the New Jersey National Guard.

In this time of stress and separation, the guide-book, "What's Next? A Guide to Family Readiness," is available for members' of the National Guard and their families. This book describes benefits, explains how to get personal business affairs in order, and details how to prepare for times and rills or active duty. It also includes information on how to cope who leaves a civilian job in order to with feelings of loneliness and anger. enter active duty in the Armed Forces, Additionally, there are other places to turn for help. The Department of Military and Veteran Affairs can be contacted at 609-530-460. The legal office at Fort Dix can be contacted at 609-562-2497 or 609-562-3043 or at McGuire Air Force Base, telephone 609-724-3086 for family support information.

Looking ahead, when military service is over, one might need to know about Veterans' Re-employment Rights Assistance and Information program located at the U.S. Department of Labor, Veterans Employment and Training Services, 28 Yard Ave., Room 200-CN058, Trenton, NJ 08609; telephone number 609-292-2930. A 24-hour answering service takes messages for veterans' re-employment rights information, at 609-989-2396.

Under the Veterans Reemployment Rights law, any person who leaves a civilian job in order to enter active duty in the Armed Forces, voluntarily or involuntarily, is entitled to return to his or her civilian job after discharge from active duty if you meet certain eligibility requirements.

This means: it must not be a temporary job, the sole reason for leaving the job must have been due to beginning active duty, the active duty may not be longer than four years unless the federal government requests the added time, discharged or release from active duty must be under honorable conditions, and one must apply for re-employment with the preservice employer within 90 days after separation from active duty.

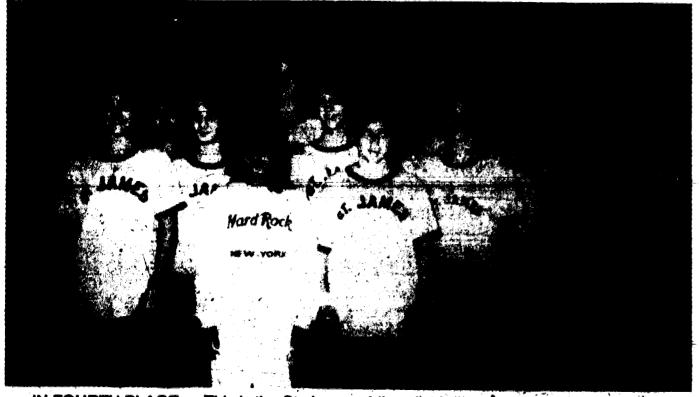

Reading this guide-book can assist those with infomraiton about important rights, and offices can be contacted for further assistance. These services are meant to help, in return for service to one's country.

Union County Freeholder Neil M. Cohen, who also serves as a member of the N.J. Assembly (D-Union) has announced that the Hot Line citizens to halt the illegal dumping that has been plaguing the communities in Union County, has been in place. The law provides for fines of up to $50,000, seizure of the vehicle used in committing the act, and loss of one's driver license," stated Cohen.

Weekend college classes

Union County College's Weekend through mid-May. College, a program of once-a-week credit courses, will offer 73 courses in 20 disciplines during the upcoming spring semester.

Weekend college is designed for adults who have busy personal and career schedules. These courses were originally restricted to Friday evenings and Saturday, but have now been extended to daytime and evening hours as well on the Cranford and Scotch Plains campus.

The spring semester will open on Tuesday, Jan. 15 and will continue lege's Cranford Campus and its subsidiary libraries at the Scotch Plains and Elizabeth Campuses, and Plainfield Center carry a total of 100,000 hold-reference librarian will provide instruciton for the library user to obtain the information on holding availability. What's more, numberous seminars are being conducted to properly arm library users with skills necessary to work the computer with ease.

"We have completed a series of bibliographic instruction sessions for students to learn how to use the system," explained Dr. John Farrell, of edison, associate vice president for administrative systems. There were 65 such sessions last year alone that reached out to some 900 students and faculty members.

Through the system, he said, a person at any one of the four campuses can call up a listing on the computer terminal to see which library would carry a particular volume. This is possible by interconnecting all terminals to a central database.

An interlibrary loan system helps with the delivery of a requested item, often in the same day. In addition, Dr. Farrell said that during the 1989-90 academic year, a series of monthly newsletters was published to include a selected annotated listing of new holdings. Complete listings are to be included in a fiscal year 1991 issues.

Meanwhile, the traditional card catalog will be phased out in 1991, he said, to make way for the more efficient, automated system. Even overdue library notices have been automated.

The automation is in response to a 25-percent increase in inter-library loan activity, attributed in part to an increased emphasis in "Library Across the Curriculum" instruction. Such instruction appears in the form of projects built into existing curricula that call for hands-on library research activities in all subject areas. These activities, explained Dr. Farrell, would help to improve critical, independent thinking and development of resesarch skills in networking information resources.

Dr. Farrell added that the increased library use also might be attributed to the use of networks between campus libraries.

the involvement of the citizenry in Authority, the Union County Regioncatching illegal dumpers. We are asking people who witness anyone illeg-' ally dumping trash, construction debris, and other waste materials, to call the toll-free Hot Line number (1-800-235-DUMP). If the information the public provides results in the successful prosecution and collection of a fine, under the ordinance, that 'ing in Union County has posed severe person will receive a reward of up to $250 or 10 percent of the fine, whichever is larger," explained Cohen.

Callers to the Hot Line will be asked a few questions for the purpose of identifying the person or party responsible for dumping the waste. The Union County Police will then work directly with agents of the Union County Regional Environmental Health Commission to investigate leads based on these calls. Information such as the description of the vehicle and license plate number should be reported to the Hot Line as soon as possible to enable these authorities to investigate and prosecute all offenders.

The design of the new law is in keeping the Cohen's philosophy of forming partnerships between various levels of government for the common good of the citizenry. In this case, the county/municipal partnership formed is a joint effort of Union County government, the Union County Utilities al Environmental Health Commission and the local governments within the county. Cohen further noted that this comprehensive ordinance is the first of its kind on a county level in New Jersey and will serve as a prototype for the rest of the counties in this state.

The rash of illegal garbage dumpenvironmental and health problems. These incidents include commerical and residential waste as well as construction and demolition debris, and cause groundwater contamination and the blocking of streams and sewers. Said Cohen, "It has been increasingly apparent that due to the high cost of garbage removal, an incentive exists for individuals to utilize our parks, streets, and open spaces for their private, and free-of-charge landfill."

He further stated that this novel and creative ordinance will be a strong first step toward necessary deterrent measures to avoid the catastrophe of the toxic waste dumping era of several years ago. "Our role in government is to prevent a crisis, not simply respond to the aftermath of disaster."

"We realize that the issue of soaring garbage disposal costs must be addressed, but in the interim, we cannot allow illegal dumping to destroy our most important resource - our environment," Cohen said.

An Open Letter to the Community from the President of St. Elizabeth Hospital

St. Elizabeth Hospital has received extensive media attention in recent weeks concerning rate increases if the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund is not renewed. I'd like to take this opportunity to review this complicated issue with you.

The extensive publicity generated by the expiration of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund has created the impression that St. Elizabeth Hospital's rates will go up 64 percent if the Trust Fund is not renewed. The fact is that St. Elizabeth Hospital has just received its rates from the Department of Health and our rates will only increase 19 percent due to the Fund's expiration. Historically, St. Elizabeth Hospital's rates have been among the lowest in this area.

The impact of the expiration of the Trust Fund upon our rates is somewhat higher than one might expect due to the high percentage of Medicare patients that St. Elizabeth Hospital serves.

We are very proud that St. Elizabeth Hospital has become the hospital of choice for senior citizens in our community. Nearly 50 percent of our patients have reached the age of 65. This percentage of Medicare patients is among the highest in the state of New Jersey.

Since Medicare does not pay any uncompensated care surcharge, other insurance payors and patients must make up for Medicare's share of the uncompensated care burden. Consequently, under the current system, all non-Medicare patients pay a surcharge on their hospital bills.

We are hopeful that the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund will be renewed until a more equitable means of funding can be found. But regardless of the outcome of the Uncompensated Care Trust Fund issue, St. Elizabeth Hospital will continue to provide our community with the quality health care services the community has come to expect from us. Although our eash flow will be affected, St. Elizabeth Hospital has a solid financial base and benefits from the strong support of our community.

As a Catholic hospital sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Saint Elizabeth, we will continue to fulfill our mission to serve all who are in need of health care services regardless of their ability to pay.

BATTLE ON THE MATS — John Petrosky of Roselle Park has the upper hand in this 130-pound bout with Ron Bubnowski of Union during last Saturday night's wrestling showdown in Roselle Park. Petrosky won the match, 14-10, and the Panthers were victorious as a team, 37-26, to stay unbeaten at 3-0.

Bear rallies produce tie, win

BY BOB TAYLOR JR.

Following a third-place finish in the Woodbridge Holiday Tournament, the Brearley Regional High wrestling team finished its third week of competition in respectable fashion. Last Wednesday, the Bears overcame a 33-14 deficit to gain a 33-33 tie with Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights, then defeated Manville, 37-30, on Saturday to push Brearley's record to 2-0-1.

Dom Tripodi led off for the Bears with a pin over Ray Fedeo in 2:44 for an early lead over the Highlanders, but G.L. then proceeded to rattle off five consecutive victories, with the streak finally ending when Ron Cagno drew with at 160, Verno sealed the win with a pin over Dennis Jeff Hammer at 140 pounds.

Senior captains Clint Kaminski and Vic Verno helped bring the Bears back into the match with a fall and forfeit, home to Kenilworth for a match against Roselle Park respectively, then 189-pounder Jose Rodriguez defeated tomorrow night at 7. Both matches are considered key in iunior heavyweight Scott DuBeau pinned John Chen at 1:40 of the first period to knot the match at 33.

The Bear grapplers then traveled to Somerset County and challenged the Manville Mustangs. Once again, Tripodi, a freshman at 103 pounds, opened with a victory in besting Rob Williard, 9-1. But the Mustangs took a 24-4 lead by getting three pins, as well as a forfeit win at 119.

Senior Mike Lynch began the Bears' comeback by winning his first match of the year at 135 pounds, pinning Eric Sanson at 1:09 of the first period. At 145, Kaminski touched off a five-match run that brought the Bears victory, and, Sidorski.

Panthers down Union

By MARK YABLONSKY

Roselle Park won five of the first six bouts to grab 'a decisive 15-point lead early on, then maintained most of it throughout the duration of the match to defeat Union, 37-26, in the first big wrestling showdown for both teams this past Saturday night in Roselle Park.

Union, which had become the first team to defeat Park in regular-season activity since the 1986-87 season with a convincing 46-18 victory last January in Union, received pins from its top two wrestlers, Dan Lilley at 140 pounds and Mike Francesca at 152, as well as a forfeit win by its bruising heavyweight, Scott Platt. But the Panthers, after Mike DiMaio's 13-2 decision over Brian Luizza in the opening 103-pound bout, won four straight matches -- at 119, 125, 130 and 135 pounds - to claim a solid 19-4 advantage, after Dave Gollins' 14-4 victory at 112 pounds had forced a 4-4 tie between the two local rivals.

At 119 pounds, Bob McCafferty received a win by forfeit, and that was followed by Keith Appello's hard-fought 6-5 decision over Mike Acque at 125. Then John Petrosky outpointed freshman Ron Bubnowski, 14-10, at 130 pounds, before Pat McCafferty decisioned Ben Williams, 6-4, in the 135-pound bout.

From that point on, Union did win four of the remaining seven bouts, including Platt's win by forfeit to end the match. But pins by Chris Powers at 145 pounds and Dave Patterson at 171 gave the Panthers enough points to seal the victory. Patterson's fall over Dave Periera at the 47-second mark officially clinched the win for Park, which had defeated Ridge, 31-28, two days earlier in Basking Ridge.

"We won the match where we had to," explained Panther coach Sam Appello, whose team will wrestle against Brearley in Kenilworth tomorrow night at 7 p.m. "We won the close bouts, and our boys wrestled extremely well against Union. And on any other given night, Union could have done the same to us."

Park is now 3-0, while Union, which had defeated Cranford, 35-22, on Friday, dropped to 3-1.

Dawgs give Rams fits

By MARK YABLONSKY

Every now and then, teams that you're used to beating handily can surprise you. Particularly when one or two of your key players are out with the flu.

That was the case last Thursday in Springfield when Dayton Regional gave Abraham Clark of Roselle a competitive showing in local boy's basketball in losing. 55-52.

Dayton, which is 1-5 under firstyear coach John Theis, has lost four of its games by six points or less, including two contests — a 47-45 setback to North Brunswick, and the loss to Roselle — by three points or less. The

But Roselle coach Stan Kokie, whose team won twice over Dayton last year, 97-47 and 77-48, and by similar scores in recent years, did agree that Dayton is progessing, despite its record.

A three-pointer by Joe Perez from deep range had pulled Dayton to within a 52-50 count of Roselle late in the final quarter, but three foul shots from Fullman in the closing seconds helped seal the win for the Rams. Indians finish third

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI

Rahway High School wrestling coach Fred Steuber had hoped for a top-five, finish for his team in the Woodbridge Holiday Tournament on December 28." But the Indians exceeded his expectations and took home the third-place trophy.

"I was hoping to be in the top five, but the kids wrestled very well and we came away with third," Steuber said. "And we had to forfeit three weight classes because of illness. Had we been able to field wrestlers in those classes, we might have taken second place, or even made a run at first place."

Southern Regional High School took first place in the tournament, followed by host Woodbridge High in second. Rahway's county rival, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, placed fourth in the tournament, which featured 12 area schools.

Individually, the Indians had one winner in Eric Wnuck, who took the 103-pound weight class. Wnuck now boasts a very impressive 5-1 record.

Mark Telep placed fourth in the 112-pound class. Frank Castanza finished fifth at 119 pounds, Chris Ott took second in the 130-pound competition, Malik Wilder finished fifth at 135 pounds and Jessie Barrara placed fifth at 140.

Keith Womack took fourth at 152 pounds. Steve Marcantonio took second inthe 171-pound class, Gary Jones finished fifth at 189 pounds, and Daryl Furr-Bell finished third in the heavyweight division.

On Friday, Rahway resumed its dual-meet schedule with a home match against Newark East Side. The Indians actually wrestled only one match and won the other 12 by forfeit. In the one division that was contested, the 189-pound class, Rahway's Gary Jones defeated Anthony Melarra 8-5. The Indians won the match by a lopsided 75-0 score and improved their record to 2-2.

WHO'S ON FIRST

Who's on 1st?

This week's question:

It's time to change gears and ponder upon that other sport of the season - basketball. Here's a little brain teaser to get you started. Who was the first player in the history of the National Basketball League to average 30 points per game over the course of a season? (Hint: The evere two players, and we need both names for your answer to be considered correct.) Last week's answer: The legendary Maurice "Rocket" Richard of the Montreal Canadiens was the first National Hockey League player to score 50 goals in one season. He accomplished that feat in the 1944-45 scason.

The Rocket finished with 50 goals and 23 assists for 73 points in 50 games for the Canadiens, an impressive point total at the time. But Richard didn't win that year's Art Ross Trophy as the league's leading scorer. His Canadiens teammate, Elmer Lach, with 26 goals and 54 assists for 80 points, also in 50 games, took the honors.

The magic number of 50 goals in one season wasn't reached again until the 1060-61 season, when Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion scored 50 in 64 games for the Canadiens. Geoffrion added 45 assists for a total of 95 points, and took home the Art Ross Trophy after that season.

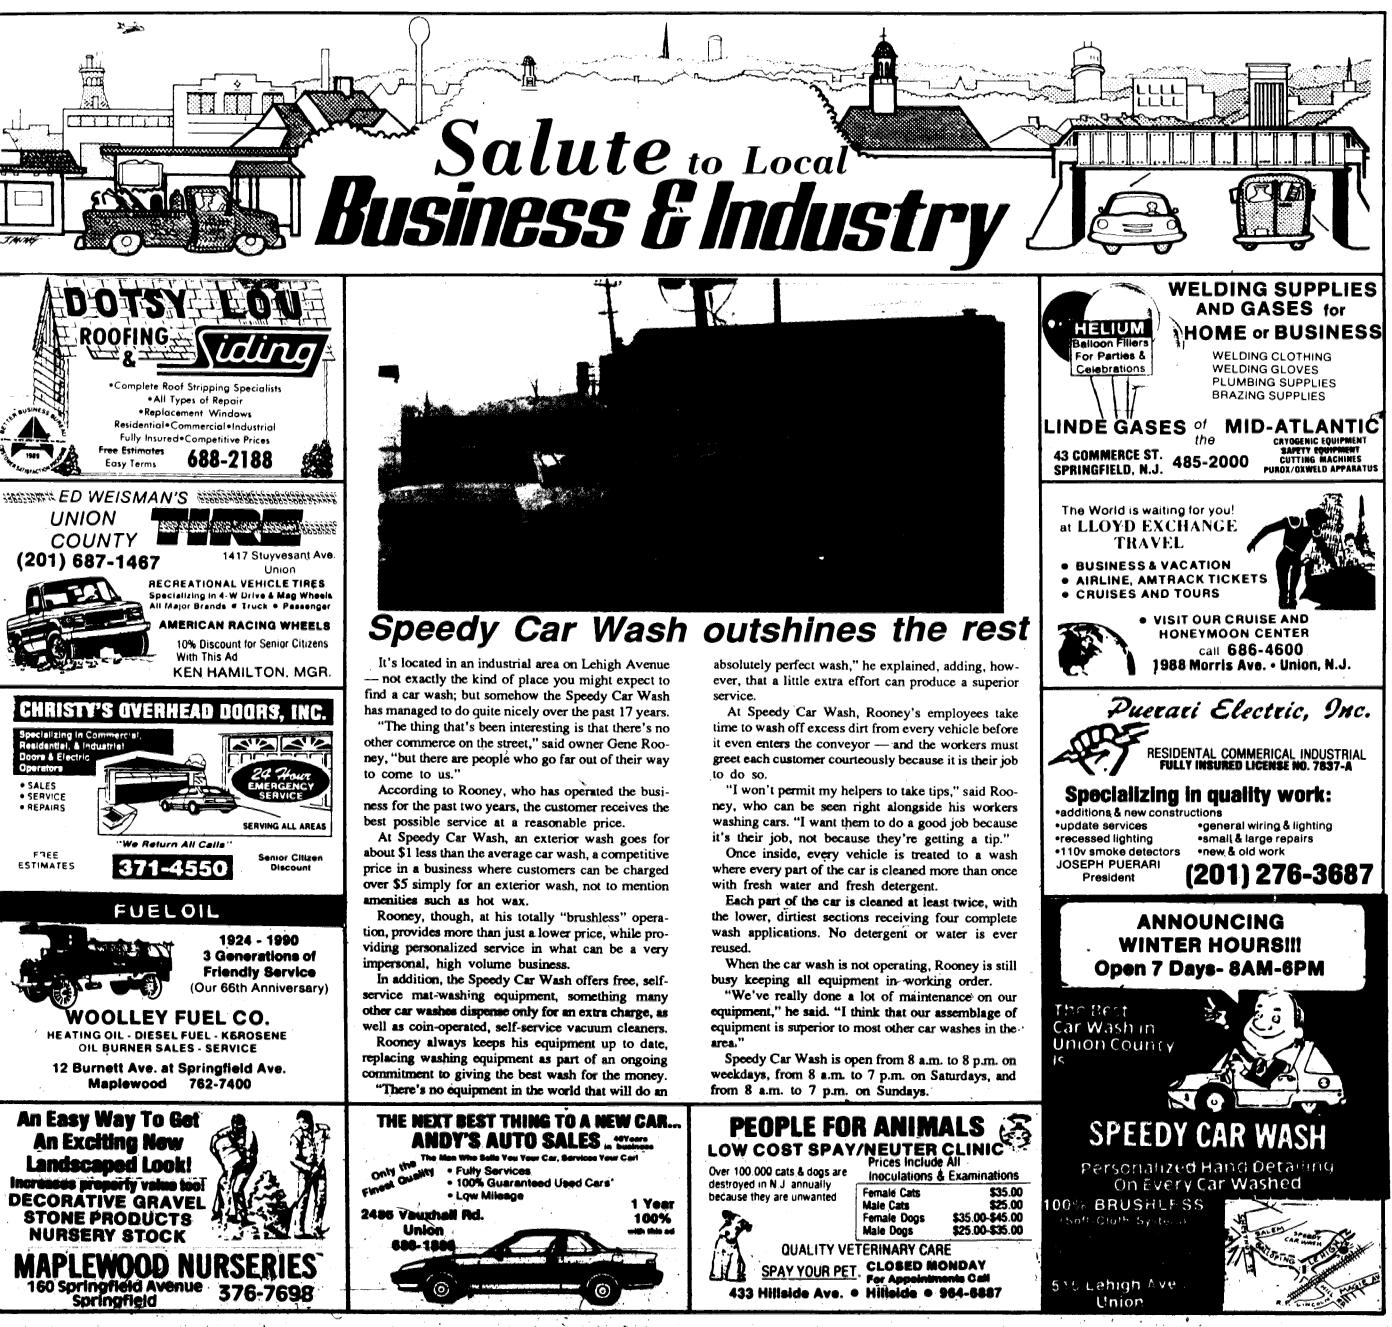

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi, Stephan Reithinger of Union and Ted Chesney of Linden each submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices - at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. - by no later than noon each Monday.

Two New Jersey corporations and a corporate foundation in new York are the most recent donors to the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, it was announced.

Also received were unrestricted grants from Elizabethtown Gas Co., $2,000, and the Crane Co. Foundation, $1,000. Meet the Composer has granted $500 in support of the Visiting Composer, Bright Sheng, whose work "H'un-In Memoriam" will receive its New Jersey premiere by the WSO in March.

Earlier in the fall, the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation awarded the orchestra's education program, $17,000, a 42 percent increase over last year's grant. The Bergen Foundation has been the major benefactor of the education program "a unique and highly regarded series of concerts and other activities designed to foster an appreciation of the arts among all ages in the communities served by the Westfield Symphony."

Recently, the orchestra launched its first major annual fund campaign, with a goal of $4,000. The annual fund is the direct mail component of the orchestra's development operation, which also includes the subscription campaign, the annual gala, and corporate/foundation solicitation. Those wishing to support the annual fund can call the symphony office at 232-9400 for information.

WALK ON FIRE

Group has powerful message in debut album 'Blind Faith'

By MILT HAMMER

Worthwhile listening. As their name suggests, there's nothing timid about Walk On Fire's music. This British rock quintet has an expansive, heroic sound that carries a message of struggle, conflict and hope. "Blind Faith," the band's UNI debut LP, is a powerful artistic statement rendered with passion and conviction.

The album's centerpiece is the title song and featured AOR track, a bluestinged rocker with a brooding spiritual theme. "It was inspired by the hypocrisy of certain American evangelists," says Dave Cairns, the band's keyboardist and chief songwriter. "The subject of preachers taking disc 'n' data

money and living extravagant lifestyles got me thinking. I wrote it in an apartment overlooking a church. The song's a little tongue-in-cheek, but its point is serious as well."

A number of other tracks on Walk On Fire's debut LP reflect a strong social conscience. "Wastelands" is a look at urban deprivaton in the UK, while "Caledonia," written by lead singer Alan King, is a lament for Scottish workers forced to leave their homeland in search of opportunity. The CD bonus track "Land Of The Valentine, who is coordinator of the urban and outdoor recreation curriculum at Kean, also is a musician accomplished in Armenian and other ethnic music forms. His function on the board, which is an advisory group to the museum, will be to ascertain how to best serve the needs of the arts and education community in New York City with respect to 'seminars and conferences.

Holy" takes aim at religious warfare in Lebanon. Driving these themes home is Walk On Fire's fine-honed musicianship and exceptional melodic sense. From the simmering "Hearts Of Gold" to the soaring LP finale "Close My Eyes," "Blind Faith" displays a rare maturity for a first-time release.

Walk On Fire has crafted a widescreen sound that draws the listener in and never lets go. Blind Faith is an eye-opening band worth believing in.

This is a place to go to not just for dinner, but for jazz entertainment at its best! Trumpets, in Montclair, should be frequented again and again. The food is excellent and live jazz is provided nightly from 8-12 p.m.

Restaurant

review

Trumpets also has a Sunday brunch. The strains of a flute playing jazz riffs is very soothing for morning

For branch, an a la carte menu is available as well as buffet. I can't wait to attend because I am sure that breakfast will be every bit as delicious as dinner was.

The owner is always on the premises. A lovely woman, she visits every table for a quick chat while offering helpful menu suggestions. It seems as though she truly makes an effort to get to know all of her guests. Anyone experiencing Trumpets will surely become a regular visitor.

A separate lounge area, on the side, is there for those who do not want to eat dinner but have stopped by only to have a drink and enjoy the music. By the way, great jazz bands are booked every night. The dance floor is a beautiful touch for slow dancing.

On first entering the restaurant, one is greeted by a huge, dimly lighted, square bar. I think it would be a great place to come after work for a drink, or maybe just a simple nightcap.

The service is wonderful and professional. Our waitress was so courteous. I was never rushed and was able to fully enjoy my dinner as well as the dance floor.

For an appetizer, I loved the baked Brie with fresh fruit and almonds, $4.95. It was a meal in itself, with a beautiful presentation. The stuffed mushrooms with 'crabmeat, $4.95, were filled with pure crabmeat - no corners were cut here.

Also available are spiced Southernfried chicken fingers with honey mustard, $4.95, and barbecued shrimp with roasted chile peppers, $6.95.

Trumpets

By KATHERINE BROOKS

The Caesar salad, $4.50, was great. Overall, any of the appetizers would make a great snack in the lounge.

Frequenting Trumpets for dinner will be a pleasure. The main courses are well thought out, offering a wide mix of tastes. This is a menu that I would not find boring if I stopped by for dinner every other week.

I chose to have the grilled Northwestern salmon, $16.95, with a mustard dill sauce. Perfectly filleted, it was heavenly! I also sampled the medallions of filet mignon, $16.95. It was accompanied by a green peppercorn sauce which was very spicy, but a pepper-lover's dream.

The California Cobb salad, $12.50, is filled with grilled chicken, avocados, bacon and blue cheese.

The breast of chicken is sauteed with wild mushrooms at $14.25. The grilled veal medallions is served with an herb lemon butter for $16.95. Sauteed bay scallops are with a shrimp and lobster sauce for $14.50.

Dessert ended my evening on a perfect note. The house specialty is Trumpets' chocolate Jazzberry, $4. Consisting of a chocolate terrine that is served with a "jazzberry" sauce, it is a rich, dense chocolate delight.

The place is fun. It is delicious. It is entertaining. I really did not want to leave, and I cannot wait until I visit Trumpets again.

6 Depot Square, Montclair. Closed for lunch. Dinner 6-10 p.m. Late night menu available until 12 a.m. Jazz entertainment nightly 8-12 a.m. Casual dress. Major credit cards. 746-6100.
