Regional budget sliced by $900G

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The six governing bodies of Union County Regional High School District 1 agreed Tuesday to reduce the tax levy created by the Regional Board of Education's $36 million budget for 1991-92 by $900,000. The budget was defeated by voters in four of those communities during school elections April 30.

Leaders from Mountainside, Springfield, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights had met May 15 with the Regional Board at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield in an unsuccessful attempt to reach a unanimous decision on whether to increase, decrease or leave the budget alone.

Each of the governing bodies had to be in full agreement before any action could be taken on the budget, which was passed by Springfield and Berkeley Heights during school elections but was rejected by Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark and Garwood. This voting pattern was an exact repetition of the one which defeated the 1990-91 Regional budget.

Mayor Robert Vigilanti of Mountainside, whose constituents defeated the Regional budget by 189 votes during school elections, called for a $4 million reduction by closing one of the four Regional high schools. He called the board's decision to allow all four schools to remain open a "waste" of the district's financial resources.

In addition to Jonathan Dayton, which enrolls Mountainside students, the Regional District includes David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

"We have seen such a reduction of our students that today our Regional system serves less than half the students it served 10 years ago. And yet our costs continue to rise dramatically," he said. "Perhaps the board should face reality and recognize that the taxpayers are not saying they don't wish to pay for quality education but just want a fair return for a fair tax."

Mayor Marc Marshall of Springfield had strongly criticized Vigilanti's proposal to close one of the high schools, stating that "it would be devastating to our tax base to even be considered in this position." He also accused the Mountainside Borough Council of being unwilling to negotiate the amount to be reduced from the budget.

Marshall expressed support for the Regional budget in its present form. He had announced that the Springfield Township Committee would be willing to discuss a maximum $100,000 decrease, but wanted to know first how such a reduction would impact upon education programs in the district.

"We recognize the sincere and honest effort you made in dealing with some tough and unpleasant budget issues, and coming in $1.7 million under the state cap is to be commended," but we were willing to come to this table with an open mind," Marshall told Regional Board President Burton Zitomer.

Marshall was referring to the frustration experienced by New Jersey school boards several months ago as they attempted to complete their budgets while awaiting state aid figures and facing the financial uncertainty of the Quality Education Act, which calls for a 25 percent reduction in state aid to school districts during the next four years.

The Regional District, although it will be receiving $1.2 million in transitional aid from the state for the 1992-93 school year, will lose $300,000 of that aid annually until 1995-96. Beginning with the 1993-94 school year, the district will also be obligated to pick up teacher pension and Social Security costs, as well as health benefits.

During the course of the meeting last week, representatives from Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights offered proposed budget reductions ranging from $100,000 to $900,000. See BUDGET, Page 2

Collision injures 2 as driver swerves to miss deer in road

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

A motorist attempting to avoid hitting a pair of deer on Summit Road in Mountainside May 13 collided head on with a paramedic unit from Overlook Hospital in an accident which sent two people to the hospital, the Mountainside Police Department acknowledged on Monday.

Anthony Santulli, 33, of Jersey City was traveling north on Summit Road when the two deer entered the road onto the right lane at 1:11 p.m., according to Lt. Joseph Mazur. Santulli moved into the left lane to avoid hitting the deer, then moved farther to the left as the animals moved across the road.

As Santulli swerved farther left into the southbound lane, the driver of the paramedic unit, Ronald Jacobs, 40, of Short Hills, who was traveling south at the intersection of Heckel Drive, attempted to move around Santulli's 1987 Ford Taurus but was unable to avoid a collision, Mazur said.

Both vehicles did manage to avoid hitting the deer.

Santulli, who suffered head and facial injuries, was transported by a Westfield ambulance to Overlook Hospital, where he was treated for multiple injuries and released two days later, a hospital spokesperson said.

Jacobs, who sustained chest injuries in the crash, was taken by a Mountainside ambulance to Overlook, where he was treated and released.

The paramedic unit was responding to reports of a heart attack victim at a business at the rear of the Echo Lanes bowling alley on Route 22 East in Mountainside at the time the accident occurred, Mazur said. That victim was transported to Overlook Hospital by a Mountainside ambulance.

TREE TRIBUTE — Brandee Awylward, Student Council president at Deerfield School in Mountainside, delivers her speech to teachers and fellow classmates on preserving the Earth during the school's annual Arbor Day celebration. Arbor Day is a national event which promotes the planting of trees. The local Lions Club donated a tree for the occasion, which was then planted on the grounds.

Board introduces licensing of cats

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Mountainside Board of Health, in response to a recent rabies outbreak among raccoons and other forms of wildlife in Union County, introduced an ordinance at its May 13 meeting calling for the licensing of cats in the borough. Several other area municipalities have introduced similar measures as well.

The ordinance, approved on first reading, is scheduled for a public hearing at the board's June 10 meeting at the Mountainside Municipal Building, Route 22 East, Mountainside. The ordinance will then be considered for final adoption.

Health officials, meanwhile, are advising Mountainside residents to follow "some simple preventive measures" to protect themselves, their families and household pets from contracting rabies.

These measures include making certain that all cats and dogs are vaccinated against the rabies virus; keeping family pets indoors overnight and not feeding animals outdoors; avoiding contact with all wild animals and instructing children not to bring home, pet or attempt to help a sick wild animal.

Cats are considered to be especially susceptible to the virus since, being nocturnal and with a tendency to roam, they may encounter contaminated wildlife. In addition, cats are not inoculated as frequently as dogs. Health officials maintain, however, that vaccination for cats is just as important.

Local concern over rabies has escalated since the New Jersey Department of Health confirmed a case of the virus in Cranford in March, discovered after a rabid raccoon bit a dog. It was the first known case of rabies in Union County since the epidemic entered the state last November.

It is believed that the rabies epizootic — an epidemic among animals — was brought from Pennsylvania across the Delaware River into New Jersey late last year by a raccoon. It has since spread to nine New Jersey counties, with several hundred cases having been reported, according to health officials.

Prior to 1989, no rabies cases had been reported in New Jersey for 40 years. Police officers and public works employees, among other people who frequently work outdoors, have been advised to take extra precaution if they should come into contact with a wild or stray animal.

If a person is bitten by any animal, the Mountainside Health Department urges him or her to consult their physician immediately and to contact the local Health Department at 789-4070. Mountainside is a member of the Westfield Regional Health Department.

Parade to pay tribute to veterans

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

Mountainside veterans will join together with their Westfield comrades Monday for their annual Memorial Day Parade, which will kick off at 9 a.m. at the World War I monument at the Westfield Plaza and conclude at Fairview Cemetery, where a special ceremony will be held honoring American military members who gave their lives defending freedom and democracy.

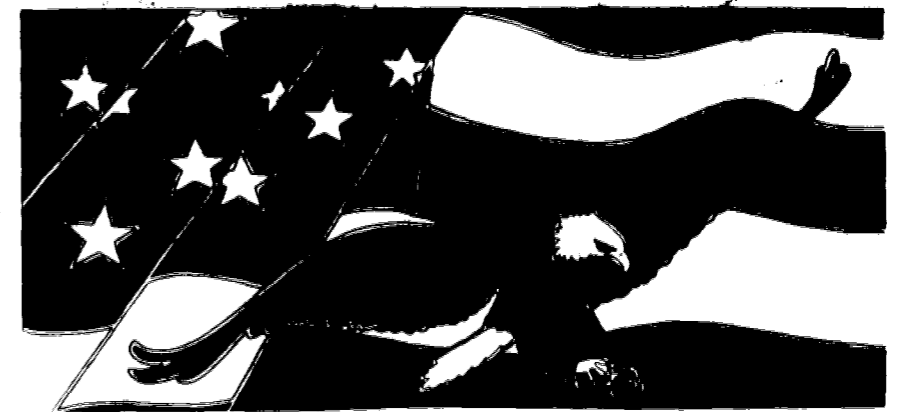

Chaplain Henry E. Loeffler of American Legion Martin Wallberg Post 3 will offer the invocation, followed by speeches by Westfield Mayor Richard H. Bagger and Post Commander Al Uguarti, with traditional wreaths to be laid at the monument by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Sons of the American Revolution and Daughters of the American Revolution will pay their respects to veterans of the American Revolution with a special ceremony to be held at the Mountain Avenue Cemetery. This year's Memorial Day parade is expected to feature an array of attractions, including antique automobiles, floats, banners and bands, with more than 30 area civic and youth organizations expected to participate. Orange drinks will be available at the entrance to Fairview Cemetery, East Broad Street, Westfield, to those who complete the march.

Parade master Joseph Sisto of Mountainside announced that the parade, led by Grand Marshal Fred H. Malchow, will include representatives from the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary; Mountainside Memorial Post 10136 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and the Mountainside Volunteer Rescue Squad.

Other veterans' and service groups expected to participate include the Chosen Few, an organization of Korean War veterans; Daughters of the American Revolution; Sons of the American Revolution; New York Lambs Artillery Co., Knights of Columbus, Bound Brook Drum and Bugle Corp. and the Red Cross.

Mayor Bagger and the Westfield Town Council are also scheduled to march, along with the Westfield High School Marching Band, Westfield Fire and Drum Corp., Westfield Lions Club, Woman's Club of Westfield, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Brownies and the Westfield Rescue Squad, among numerous other organizations.

Commander Charles F. Ivory will represent Mountainside Memorial Post 10136, along with the Chosen Few, in the proceedings at Fairview Cemetery, which will pay tribute to all deceased United States military veterans from the American Revolution up until the present.

Following the services at Fairview Cemetery, Post 10136 will conduct a noon memorial program of its own at the veterans' monument outside Mountainside Borough Hall, Route 22 East, Mountainside.

In the event of rain, Memorial Day services will be held at Roosevelt Intermediate School in Westfield at 9:30 a.m. One can call 232-8041 between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. on the day of the parade if the weather is questionable.

Men seeking lottery prize

Mountainside residents Giuseppe M. Cioffi and Edward H. Hafeken are among the 310 finalists who will have a chance at $1 million Wednesday when the New Jersey Lottery holds a Pick-6 Lotto Bonus Million Grand Prize drawing.

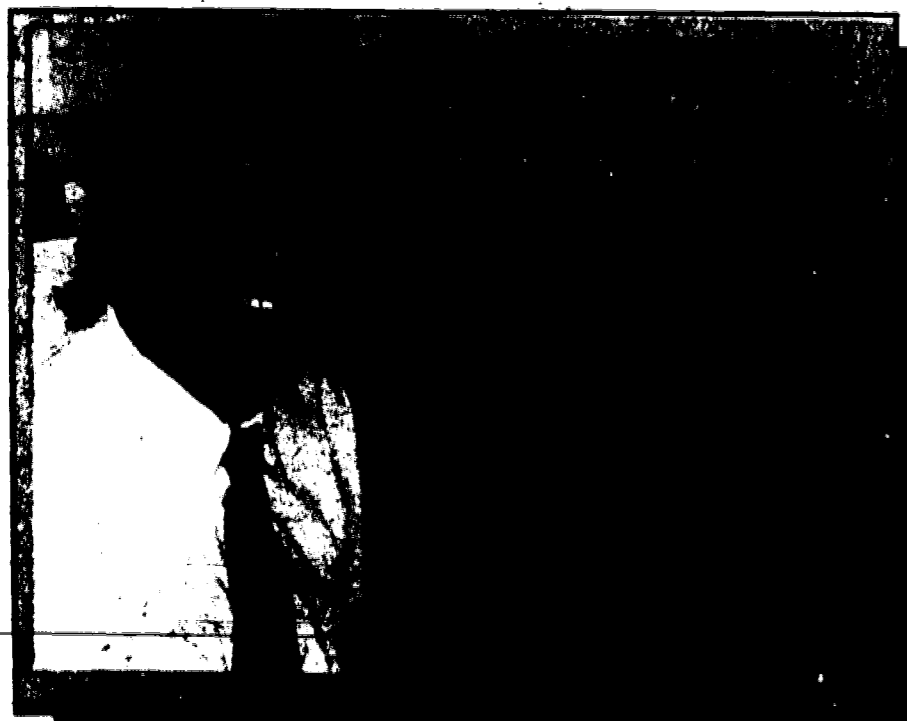

The Lottery last week announced the 310 finalists for the drawing, which will begin at 12:15 p.m. in Atlantic City.

The finalists won their ways into the drawing by matching, in exact order, the five-digit Bonus Million Game number picked Monday and Thursday evenings as part of the televised drawings for the Pick-6 Lotto twice-weekly game. Entered in the May 29 drawing are winners whose claims were received by the Lottery in Trenton by April 8. Additional Bonus drawings will be announced in the future.

Wednesday's drawing also will award 14 additional prizes, all in cash, totaling $220,000. There will be a second prize of $50,000, a third prize of $40,000, a fourth prize of $30,000, a fifth prize of $25,000, a sixth prize of $20,000, a seventh prize of $15,000, an eighth prize of $10,000, a ninth prize of $7,500, 10th through 12th prizes of $5,000 each and 13th through 15th prizes of $2,500 each. All other finalists will receive consolation prizes of $500.

GOOD DEED — The Daisy Girl Scouts of Mountainside Troop 820 recently made wash cloth bunnies with candy-filled eggs for the young patients at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside. The bunnies were given out to the hospitalized children at their spring party. The girls enjoyed this project and were happy to do something for the hospital. Governor presents county with tax relief check

By Mark Faris
 Managing Editor

Presenting a $20.6 million check to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders on May 16, Gov. James Florio said that the funds were the "benefit of decisions made last year."

The funds represented Union County's share of $300 million set aside for property tax relief by the governor and the state Legislature following the approval of modifications to the Quality Education Act in March.

The symbolic presentation of the funds is the result of the state assuming the costs of providing welfare, mental health and other social services to Union County residents.

Florio told the assembled Union County and municipal officials that the state took over the burden of social services costs because of opposition over the state's policy of "telling counties what they had to do, without giving them any money to do it."

The governor said that the funds that Union County has received from the state have turned that policy "upside down."

"We are assuming the responsibility of paying for social services," Florio said.

Provisions within the amended version of the QEA require that the money provided by the state must be used to lower the county property tax levy.

With the influx of $20,674,579.44 in state funds, the 1991 county budget is expected to reflect a 4 percent reduction in the tax levy, for a total projected tax levy of $131.4 million. The total amount of county taxes collected in 1990 was approximately $137.8 million.

The 1991 county budget is projected to equal $216.4 million, which is an approximate 6 percent increase over the $203.6 million 1990 county budget.

The governor said that the drop in property tax rates in municipalities across the state was the result of the difficult decisions that he had to make last year.

He said the difficult situations facing governors of states throughout the northeast portion of the country show that it does not pay to hide from problems.

"If last year was about investment, this year is about dividends," the governor said. "If last year was about promises, this year is about fulfilling those promises."

Freeholder Chairman James Connelly Welsh said that he has had a "front-row seat" while watching all that has occurred with the county's property tax rates. He said that the large rise in taxes and governmental expenses over the last decade was the "legacy" of the previous governor.

"I publicly thank Governor Florio for being the first governor in memory to stop the upward-spiraling property tax rate," Welsh said. "To say no is not easy, and takes great political courage."

According to the freeholder chairman, the methods that Florio has used to bring "fiscal restraint" back to state government — specifically, the state's early retirement program, layoffs of employees, and a reorganization and downsizing of the state government — are things that the Union County government "has already done."

Welsh said that the state's adoption of actions already taken by the county shows that the freeholders are on the "frontline" in terms of property tax relief.

Florio also used the meeting to announce the Supreme Court's ruling last week that upheld the constitutionality of the governor's reforms of the insurance industry, and the abolishment of the Joint Underwriters Association, or the JUA.

The governor said the ruling rejects insurance company arguments that they have the right to pass through to customers their share of the costs levied on them with the abolishment of the JUA.

"After being out of control for so many years, car insurance is back under control and in the hands of drivers," Florio said.

Postmaster offers tips to prevent dog bites

Springfield Postmaster William G. Daniels has asked area dog owners to help protect letter carriers, utility workers and other citizens from the dangers of dog bites now that the warm weather has arrived and pets are spending more time outdoors.

The postmaster said that nationally, more than 2,000 letter carriers were bitten by dogs last year.

"In recent years, the public has responded to our plea to keep their pets restrained, and we have seen a decline in bites nationally," Daniels said. "Nevertheless, much is still to be done to eliminate the hazard to our employees and other citizens who might be bitten."

Daniels explained that all dogs are territorial by nature, and even the most gentle pet will bite if it feels its domain is threatened by the presence of a carrier or other person. "With a little care, a pet owner can not only protect our carriers, but his or her pet and pocketbook, too," he said.

Postmaster Daniels stressed that the Postal Service protects its carriers from dog bite hazards. Among remedies in situations when a pet owner fails to restrain a dog is interruption of home delivery to the residence or, in some cases, to entire neighborhoods.

The Postal Service will also seek to recover worker's compensation damages and provides counseling to carriers who have been bitten and who wishes to seek legal action against the dog owners.

Postmaster Daniels said these policies underscore the Postal Service's commitment to protect its employees and added that pet owners can easily meet their responsibilities to control their pets.

"We suggest that pets be kept away from the mailbox and areas the letter carrier uses for access to the property," Daniels said.

Scout director chosen

Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, which includes Girl Scout troops in Springfield and Mountaintown, has announced that Cindy J. Williams has been appointed as its executive director by the council's board of directors.

Williams, who was previously at Nation's Capital Girl Scout Council in Washington, D.C., brings expertise in the areas of membership and program to her new position. Her career has also included positions with Girl Scout councils in Boston, Oklahoma City and Austin, Texas.

As executive director, Williams will be responsible for overseeing administrative operations of Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, which serves more than 7,000 girls, ages 5-17, in most of Union County and parts of Middlesex and Somerset counties.

Commenting on the 1991 theme of Girl Scouting, "The Girl Comes First in Girl Scouting," Williams explained emphasized that "the girl is the focus of the Girl Scout organization."

"That is why Washington Rock Girl Scout Council is providing girls with challenging, diverse and innovative opportunities that help them develop to their full potential, make friends and become a vital part of their community. I am happy to be part of Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, which has been serving area girls for almost 55 years.

"We will continue to look to our Girl Scouts as the leaders of tomorrow," she concluded.

Trailside volunteers sought

Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountaintown, is looking for several volunteers to assist staff naturalists with summer programs at the facility. Volunteers are needed to work with four and five year olds and children in grades 1-5.

Anyone wishing to volunteer should be reliable and have some experience working with children and enjoy working outdoors. Participants will have an opportunity to meet new people and to gain valuable skills and experience while working at a Union County facility located in the Watchung Reservation.

To volunteer one's time or for more information, one can call Betty Ann Kelly, Tuesday through Friday, at 789-3670. Trailside is a facility of Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

County slated to introduce budget

By Alec Schwartz
Managing Editor

Responding to the need for property tax relief, the Union County freeholders are scheduled to introduce a budget tonight which will amount to a 4 percent decrease in the county portion of the property tax levy.

The latest figures from the county are for a $216.4 million budget with a corresponding $131.4 million tax levy, according to Margaret Woliansky, Union County ombudsman. In 1990, $137.9 million was raised through taxes for a $203.6 million budget.

Freeholder Chairman James Connolly Welsh said Monday that the proposed budget and tax levy decrease is the result of combining departments and divisions at the county level. He said that the number of departments would be decreased from 11 to six and the number of divisions would be reduced to 27 from 38.

He added that money would also be saved by moving toward privatization of some services, and an aggressive early retirement program.

Gov. James Florio also presented a symbolic check for $20.6 million May 16, which represents property tax relief that is being applied to the county budget.

"This represents the first county tax decrease in at least 15 years," Welsh said. "It represents a stabilization in terms of the spiraling rise of property taxes."

Welsh added that in order to effect the reduction, the freeholders did have to reduce funding of some services like the county colleges, but said that he thought the demand for lower taxes from residents was important enough to make sacrifices.

Finance Chairman Freeholder Gerald B. Green said that the budget crisis in the county was "very real," and that the decreases arrived at were the result of maintaining lower salaries and other expenses "despite the pleas of the various department heads."

"We have brought about savings through a variety of cost-cutting methods, including the elimination of vacancies, the refinancing of debt, a hiring freeze, the restructuring of the method by which some services are delivered, the successful voluntary enhanced retirement package, and layoffs," Green said.

Welsh said that he is expecting appeals from the Office of the Sheriff, Office of the Court Administrator and the probation boards. Welsh said that the budgets proposed from those departments were "too far away from the goals" which the freeholders set. He added that many other departments came close to reducing budgets to the 1990 level.

The reduction in the tax levy will result in significant savings for all of the county municipalities. Rahway will need to raise $725,689 less in taxes than last year to support the county budget. Other towns will reap similar savings including $527,000 for Union, $414,361 for Springfield, $383,755 for Mountainside, $67,300 for Hillside, $276,993 for Clark, $427,290 for Linden, $209,000 for Roselle, $94,500 for Roselle Park and $54,500 for Kenilworth.

The savings translate to significant dollar savings by individual taxpayers. In Union, where a tax point is around $105,000, the tax rate will decrease by 5 points because of the county. As the other components — municipal and school board — stand, Union residents will see taxes drop by 26 points, or $130 for the average home.

In Hillside the tax rate from the county portion will drop by 2 points.

Honor the fallen

On Monday, people throughout the nation will observe Memorial Day with parades, backyard barbecues and other activities. In the midst of the festivities, however, it is important to remember the significance of the holiday, which is to honor U.S. military veterans who gave their lives defending freedom and democracy.

America's recent victory in the Persian Gulf has sparked a new burst of patriotism which was sorely lacking during the Vietnam War. It also defines American ideals to young people, many of whom were either not born or were too young to appreciate the sacrifice their forefathers made.

Fallen heroes know no age limit. While few lives were lost during the Persian Gulf conflict, those lives belonged to young men and women whose sacrifices were sure to have an impact on our younger generation.

Residents of all ages should take time this weekend to acknowledge the contributions American veterans have made to our way of life. Residents can do this by attending a parade or memorial service in the community, visiting a veterans' hospital or simply by saying thanks to our war veterans.

Americans also should remember our POWs and MIAs, who may still be alive, and pray for their safe return. It is important to remember the families of missing servicepeople, for their war has not ended.

Graphic accounts of tyranny, oppression and the violation of human rights in other parts of the world should make us especially grateful for the men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice so that millions more after them could live in peace.

Let the sun shine

Project Sunshine, a program begun in February by the Society of Professional Journalists, is a much-needed attempt to remedy a growing problem.

Now more than ever, municipal governing bodies and school boards are blatantly violating the Open Public Meetings Act, which ensures that actions being taken on public matters are open to the public.

Project Sunshine will review the Sunshine Laws in all 50 states in an effort to provide maximum protection for citizens. The group will also educate the public about its "Right to Know."

In New Jersey, the Open Public Meetings Act is specific regarding guidelines governing public meetings. Meetings must be advertised in a newspaper of record and posted in a public forum. All public issues are to be discussed in the open and decisions become public record.

To protect specific confidential information, a governing body may utilize a provision of the law which allows executive sessions. The subjects which may be discussed during this time are few, so that the public is kept abreast of all pertinent information, while information which may be detrimental to the welfare of the municipality may be kept confidential.

Only matters related to personnel, litigation, real estate purchase, receiving public funding, collective bargaining, individual privacy, violations of law, or any matter made confidential by federal or state law or court ruling may be discussed in executive session.

Executive sessions not only may, but should, be used when discussing these matters of a specifically sensitive nature. However, it is a citizen's right and responsibility to ensure that no public matters are discussed behind closed doors simply because politicians, because of their own agendas, deem the matters to be sensitive.

The reason the Sunshine Law is on the books is to allow the public to determine motivations. Advisory bodies are also subject to similar regulations in certain situations.

The thought process employed by elected and appointed officials is pertinent to determining motives behind legislation and other official actions.

In addition to requiring matters to be discussed in the open, there are specific guidelines for entering into executive sessions. First, the general nature of the discussion to be held must be disclosed; for example, personnel, in addition to the time, as specifically as possible, when the matter will be released to the public.

The law also voids any decisions made in executive session if it is determined that the "behind-closed-doors" decision should have been reached in public. Further, elected officials may be held punitively responsible for not following the regulations. Fines may range from $100 to $500.

The rules are specific, and although those who try to enforce them are called nit-pickers or rigid, those who let minor details slide are encouraging a major disaster.

County budget reports were not accurate

I must voice my concern for the lack of accuracy in recent reports appearing in another area newspaper regarding tax increases in the county portion of residents' tax bills. In the past week it has been reported in that paper that both Berkeley Heights and Union Township would experience an increase.

That is simply not the case. Under the budget that the majority of the members of the Board of Freeholders has directed the county manager to prepare for introduction on May 23, all municipalities will experience a decrease in the county portion of their tax bill, except two. The Democratic majority on the Freeholder Board has directed staff to prepare a budget that will come in at an approximate 4 percent decrease in the county portion of taxes. Specifically, in Berkeley Heights, we are projecting a decrease in the amount of $258,000 and in Union Township there will be a decrease of $527,000.

Be Our Guest

By James Connelly Welsh

In January of this year, the board received from the county manager a budget that showed a budget gap of $12 million.

In the following weeks and months, the Freeholder Finance Committee, under the chairmanship of Freeholder Gerald B. Green, began an exhaustive process of reviewing and re-defining the (preliminary) executive budget in order to produce a budget worthy of adoption. There were countless meetings for an incalculable number of hours. Departments were denied exemptions from cuts time and time again. In an effort to close the gap, a menu of options to reduce costs was considered including voluntary retirement, layoffs, furloughs, privatization, refinancing of department, reorganization, elimination of vacancies, and a hiring freeze in areas which would not adversely affect the health or safety of citizens. Additional revenue was increased where legally possible through higher user fees, and an increase in the number of spaces leased to the U.S. Marshal's office.

It was with great pleasure that Freeholder Green and myself announced on April 26 that the citizens of this county would experience an unprecedented tax decrease in the county portion of their property tax bill. At the time, we noted that it had been a minimum of 15 years (the first year for which easily accessible computerized records are available) since taxes were decreased. They may never have decreased — no one has stepped forward to say that this has ever happened before in the history of Union County.

I am sure that when you consider the results of our budget-cutting efforts as well as the time and effort of my freeholder colleagues, the county manager, the department heads and the many staff members involved, you will be able to appreciate our frustration over these inaccuracies.

James Connelly Welsh is chairman of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Remove the veil of secrecy

To the Editor:

Memorial Day is intended to honor the memory of those who have sacrificed in the service of the country. This Memorial Day, we should welcome home the members of our armed forces from the Persian Gulf. We honor those who have served and sacrificed in other wars, and we should do whatever is necessary to assure the families of those who did not come home that they are not forgotten, and never will be.

With this solemn purpose in mind, I believe there is no better time to take the necessary steps to help those families still pained by the Vietnam era and the unanswered questions about the fates of their loved ones, missing or captured in Southeast Asia. Now is the time for Congress to act and to give these families access to whatever information might be available in military files about the fate of those who are still missing.

Unverified reports of sightings of American servicemen in Southeast Asia have persisted in the years following the Vietnam War, and for that reason family members of former prisoners and those missing in action have been left to wonder about the true fates of their loved ones.

Families of missing servicemen and prisoners of war have long complained that attempts to learn about missing and captured servicemen have been thwarted by security regulations which cause reports of live sightings of missing Americans to be withheld from the public.

As a member of Congress, I have strongly backed legislation to declassify these secret intelligence files and related documents so that POW-MIA families possibly may find answers to their questions. It is my hope that the warm welcome for returning veterans of Operation Desert Storm and the renewed appreciation for our nation's military will add momentum to this effort.

I am a sponsor of two separate bills that would open records and provide an accounting to families of those missing in action or captured. One important provision would require that information about POW-MIA sightings and related documents be declassified unless it can be demonstrated to Congress that national security matters would be jeopardized.

These families of our POW's and MIA's have lived with horrible doubt and uncertainty for too long. It is time to do what we can to provide some answers for them.

Congress must remove the veil of secrecy; after so many years, these families have a right to whatever information there is about the fate of those missing in action.

Speaks for developmentally disabled

To the Editor:

As executive director of Our House Inc., an agency serving adults with developmental disabilities, I have followed the proposed closing of the Johnstone Training Center and the uproar following the announcement. The focus of the closing has been misdirected. Money is not the primary issue, but rather the rights of the residents to live their lives to the fullest potential in a setting not unlike their non-disabled peers.

Press coverage has focused on the fears expressed by Johnstone parents, coupled with the misconception that this is only an issue of monetary concern. In reality, the closing will allow each resident to experience personal growth and satisfaction when placed in a community setting. This move should be viewed as an opportunity to return to community life, find competitive employment, and interact with non-disabled people.

Those parents who may fear their child's return home are misguided. Many have stated that their children are at Johnstone because they could not handle them. The state is not asking families to take back that burden, but rather to allow professionals to place them in the best possible program available. They can be reassured their loved ones will be placed in community settings with caring and professional staff.

The Johnstone site is in poor condition and not a fit atmosphere to spend all the days of one's life. The millions of dollars needed for renovations can be put to better use: the establishment of new community residences and jobs for these deserving individuals. They have the right to live alongside non-disabled neighbors, rather than in a cloistered setting. The parents have the right to demand alternative placement guided by their child's "best interests." This can only be accomplished if the state is allowed to pursue community residences and alternative living plans.

Throughout the state, agencies such as Our House Inc. are willing to develop individualized programs for each resident; tailor-made programs suiting the individual's needs, skills, and wishes.

We ask that parents put emotions aside and listen to what the Division of Developmental Disabilities is saying. Take the opportunity to visit a community residential program and see firsthand how the residents are flourishing. Take note the next time you visit a supermarket, restaurant or retail establishment and note how productive developmentally disabled adults are when gainfully employed. They no longer are burdens to their parents nor the state. They are contributing to their society in much the same way as their non-disabled counterparts, and successfully building their self-esteem.

Open debate needed on Brady bill

To the Editor:

In recent weeks, a great deal has been written about the Brady bill in the national press. Unfortunately, much that has been written and said about the bill is untrue.

While every American feels very sorry for all the pain and suffering that Jim Brady has had to endure, the bill named after him must still be debated openly and honestly.

A few weeks ago, Congressman Charles E. Schumer, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Subcommittee on Crime and Criminal Justice, held hearings on the Brady bill.

Unfortunately, opponents of the bill, including congressmen and expert witnesses, were barred from those hearings. Apparently, Congressman Schumer has about as much respect for the First Amendment as he has shown for the Second.

Among those not allowed to testify was Jacquie Miller, one of the victims in the highly publicized "assault weapon" shooting at the Standard Gravure printing plant in Louisville, Ky.

Like James Brady, Jacquie was severely wounded and is confined to a wheelchair. But unlike Brady, she was not allowed to testify as a pro-gun witness. You see, Jacquie was armed and had she not stopped to render assistance to a victim of the shooting, was within seconds of ending Westbecker's mad shooting spree with her own .38-caliber revolver.

Along with this letter is the testimony Jacquie was not allowed to give at those hearings. I think it would be a service to your readers if you would include her testimony or the Brady bill True/False quiz, also enclosed, in your next article on gun control.

I am pro-gun and support the right to keep and bear arms. The Brady bill is not a harmless waiting period, but a permit-to-purchase law. It would change gun ownership from a right to a privilege that could be granted or denied at the whim of a police chief. Whether you are pro- or anti-gun, wouldn't you agree with the public's right to know this information?

If you need further information, I would recommend that you contact Gun Owners of America, (703) 321-8585. They are a Washington, D.C.-based pro-gun lobby group that can provide some balance to anti-gun groups like Handgun Control that wrote the Brady bill. Sarah Brady is chairman of Handgun Control Inc.

Hostility toward Israel continues

To the Editor:

The evidence keeps piling up that the Arab countries, with the continued exception of Egypt, have little or no intention of ending their long-standing hostility toward Israel despite the hopes raised by the victory of the U.S.-led coalition of Operation Desert Storm.

Only the other day we read that the Arab League has added 100 companies to its blacklist because these companies were also engaged in business with Israel.

And just recently we learned that Saudi Arabia seems to be continuing its practice, when joining international treaties and conventions, to qualify its accession with a statement that it does not intend thereby to recognize Israel. On Jan. 8, during the height of the Persian Gulf crisis, in acceding to the United Nations International Convention Against the Taking of Hostages, Saudi Arabia inserted the following caveat in its letter to the Secretary General:

"The accession of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to this convention does not constitute a recognition of Israel and does not lead to entering into any transaction or the establishment of any relations based on this convention."

The winds blowing across the sands of the Middle East apparently are still bringing their usual measure of Arab hostility toward Israel, hardly a hopeful sign for peace in this troubled area.

Security in the event of divorce

To the Editor:

Many people know that wives and widows can get Social Security benefits when their husbands retire, become disabled, or die. And men have these same benefit rights on their spouse's Social Security earnings. What may be less well-known, however, is what happens if the marriage ends — what rights do divorced spouses have to Social Security benefits on their ex-spouse's Social Security earnings?

A divorced spouse can get benefits on a former husband's or wife's Social Security record if the marriage lasted at least 10 years. The divorced spouse must be 62 or older and unmarried. The worker also must be at least 62. If they have been divorced two years or more, he or she can get benefits even if the worker is not retired.

People often ask if the amount of benefits paid to their ex-spouse will reduce the amount of benefits paid to their current wife or husband. The answer is no. Social Security figures benefits for an ex-spouse without regard to the amount paid to a current spouse. A change in the Social Security law that went into effect in January 1991 eliminated the two-year wait for people who were already getting spouse's benefits at the time of their divorce.

Another new provision of the Social Security law affects women and men who married in good faith and later found out that their marriage was invalid. As of Jan. 1, 1991, these people can qualify for benefits on the worker's Social Security record on the same basis as a legal spouse. Previously, these women and men were considered wives and husbands for the purpose of getting Social Security benefits only if no legal spouse received benefits.

A person cannot receive spouse's benefits if he or she qualifies for a higher benefit on his or her own work under Social Security, nor can he or she receive both benefits. He or she will get the higher of the two. This is one of the reasons why men, with their generally higher earnings and thus higher benefits, are less likely than women to receive spouse's benefits.

The full amount of the Social Security benefit for a spouse is 50 percent of the worker's benefit. If a spouse's benefit is taken before age 65, the benefit amount is reduced for each month before age 65 benefits — to a low of 37.5 percent of the worker's benefit at age 62.

The warmer weather heightens chances of contracting rabies

Rabies is not a disease most people expect to encounter. But as the weather gets warmer and people and pets spend more time outdoors, the possibility of contracting the disease increases significantly. Without prompt treatment, a rabies bite is almost always fatal.

Ten of New Jersey's 22 counties have now reported at least one case of rabies in animals in the last 18 months, for a total of 632 cases. Since the first of the year, 148 cases have been reported by the state Department of Health.

Many of us have a common misconception that treatment for rabies involves several painful shots in the abdomen. In fact, the term "treatment" is a misnomer: We are actually talking about prevention after exposure but before symptoms begin. The treatment is not painful and has few, if any, side effects.

Two different shots are required for treatment. One contains human immunoglobulin, up to half of which is injected around the wound, the remainder in the buttocks. The other contains rabies vaccine and is injected into the deltoid muscle of the shoulder. The rabies vaccine is administered four additional times over 28 days.

Whether treatment is indicated depends on a number of factors, such as the type of exposure, the species and behavior of the animal, and whether rabies is present in the geographic area where the exposure occurred.

Humans can get rabies if bitten by a rabid animal or when infected saliva from an animal comes in contact with an open wound — one bleeding within the past 24 hours, scratch, abrasion or mucous membrane. You cannot get rabies just by petting an animal.

Rabies is an acute infectious disease of the central nervous system. Its incubation period is usually 20 to 90 days, but it may be as short as four days or as long as five years or more before symptoms occur.

The first symptoms are fever,

To Health

nausea, headache, lethargy and a tingling sensation at the site of the bite. Within 10 days, the rabies-infected person becomes hyperactive, disoriented and hallucinatory; experiences severe stiffness in the neck; has difficulty swallowing; and has seizures and paralysis. The patient eventually slips into a coma and dies. Once the symptoms develop, there is no specific cure.

If you have been bitten on the finger, face or neck by a high-risk animal like a raccoon, see a physician immediately. If bitten by a healthy-appearing, low-risk animal like a dog or cat, treatment can wait as long as 10 days, but still see a doctor as quickly as possible. If you are bitten by a domestic animal, try to contact its owner to see whether it has had a rabies vaccination.

Capture the animal that bit you, wild or domestic, if you can do so safely. Contact your local state Health Department office for instructions on where to bring it.

If it is a wild animal, it will be killed so that a piece of its brain can be stained and examined for the rabies virus. Testing the blood of the animal will not necessarily reveal if the animal has rabies. If the animal that bit you cannot be found, you may have to undergo the rabies treatment as a precaution as recommended by a physician or other health authority.

As is the case with any type of bite, washing the wound thoroughly with soap and water is important to help prevent bacterial infection. Then seek immediate medical treatment. You should receive a tetanus shot if you have not had one in the past five years.

Recycling program to be introduced

By Chris Smith
Staff Writer

According to borough Councilman Al Testa, guidelines for a grass clipping recycling program will be unveiled during the next Borough Council meeting.

"We're 95 percent certain that all the data will be in on this plan by the time the governing body meets again," Testa said.

A separate disposal strategy for the grass clippings has been in the works for the last few months. Testa revealed that the proposed alternative would require storage bin sites where local residents may drop off the by-products of their weekly lawn maintenance. The borough would then hire a sub-contractor to remove the waste to a separate disposal location.

The borough hopes to save $67 per ton on tipping fees as a result of the new measure.

"We believe that this procedure will really reduce the total tonnage of our garbage," Testa explained. "Right now, all of the grass has been going to the Linden transfer station along with everything else that we get rid of. Often, these clippings are wet and it really has a negative effect on the overall cost to the taxpayers."

Health department slates distribution

The Kenilworth Board of Health will conduct surplus food distribution on Wednesday between 1 and 4 p.m. at the Board of Health Office on the Boulevard.

Program participants who registered during the board's sign-up process on Tuesday and Wednesday will be presented with commodities such as apple sauce, flour, beans, raisins, beef and fruit.

Only those who took part in the pre-registration are eligible for the give-away.

However, Dr. R.M. Moscaritolo reminds local residents that anyone who meets the federally-ordained criteria can sign up during next week's distribution for the next event, which is scheduled for July.

Details on eligibility requirements can be obtained by calling the health office or attending Wednesday's distribution.

County 200 Club presents medals of valor

By Mark Faris

The countywide organization awarded Medals of Valor to 11 police officers and firefighters during an awards ceremony Friday at L'Affaire Restaurant on Route 22.

According to club literature, the 200 Club is a group of Union County citizens and businessmen who joined together in 1968 to recognize the "valiant" efforts of police officers, firefighters and state troopers who put their lives on the line to protect the citizens of the county.

The organization also offers financial assistance to the dependents and families of the men and women slain in the line of duty, as well as several different scholarship programs.

Blood pressure screenings set

The Kenilworth Board of Health will hold a free blood pressure screening on June 5, from 3 to 7 p.m., in the recreation building, 575 Boulevard, for Kenilworth residents only.

It is known that people with abnormal blood pressures are at greater risk of stroke, heart attack, heart failure and kidney failure than those with normal blood pressure levels. In almost every case, the disease can be controlled if it is detected and treated.

High blood pressure is a hidden disease; there are no warning symptoms.

French pupils visit school

Twelve students from Lycee Saint-Cyr in Nevers, France, recently took part in an exchange program at the Vail-Deane School in Mountainside. The French students were the guests of those Vail-Deane students who had visited their school in March, and enjoyed many educational field trips during their stay in the United States.

These field trips included visiting the United Nations, Ellis Island, Washington D.C. and the Flemington area. They also visited academic classes, extra-curricular programs and social events at Vail-Deane.

Accompanied by Mademoiselle Brigitte Gauthier, an English teacher at Saint-Cyr, the French students found studying and living in the United States to be a fun and rewarding experience, the young visitors agreed.

Bill targets public employees for early retirement program

Public employees at the county and municipal government levels would become eligible for an early retirement program, under terms of legislation approved by the Assembly State Operations and Personnel Committee.

The legislation, a committee substitute for A-4732/A-4772, is sponsored by Assembly members Anthony J. Cimino (D-Mercer/Middlesex/Somerset), Marlene Lynch Ford (D-Ocean) and Neil Cohen (D-Union).

"Early retirement has proven to be a prudent, cost-saving step in budgeting," Cimino said. "It is used widely in the private sector and we are moving to make it a state policy."

Ford added, "The next most logical step is to make early retirement incentives an option to local government, where municipalities and counties are also feeling the effects of the recession and are faced with difficult budgetary decisions."

Cohen added that the legislation, which makes the early retirement program an option, not a requirement, would also be extended to county college employees.

"In light of the fact that hundreds of different governmental entities could offer this option to potentially thousands of employees, early retirement programs could result in millions of dollars in savings. These savings in turn could be applied to budgets for stabilizing or lowering property taxes," Cohen said.

Under terms of the substitute bill, employees in the Public Employees' Retirement System, the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund and the Alternate Benefits Program would be eligible for early retirement.

PERS and TPAF members who are at least age 50 with 25 or more years of service would receive an additional five years of service credit.

Other eligibility criteria include: PERS and TPAF members who are at least age 50 with 25 or more years of service who are also eligible for special veteran's retirement benefits would receive an additional pension of 5/60 of their final year compensation;

ABP members who are at least age 50 with 25 or more years of service would receive one year's salary based upon their base salary at the time of retirement;

The additional benefits contained in the legislation would be offered to qualifying employees who retire between Dec. 1, 1991 and April 1, 1992.

"This legislation would affect a broad scope of employees," Cohen said. "However, it was crafted in a way to avoid the pitfalls associated with losing too many workers over a short period of time."

Under another provision of the bill, when the needs of a county, a county college or municipal employer require the services of an employee who elects to receive a benefit under the act, the employee's effective retirement date could be delayed for up to one year, but not later than April 1, 1993.

The cost of the enhanced pension benefits for PERS and TPAF members would be funded through increased contributions to the retirement system by counties and municipalities which adopt the program. The amount of contributions would vary and be calculated separately for each county and municipality. The cost of the cash payment for ABP members would be paid by the members' county college employer.

The bill now advances to the Assembly Appropriations Committee for further consideration.

Art program results in three shows

Three art shows highlighting artistic creations by teen-agers in Union County schools throughout the state and country is the result of the work which was on display during the Union County Teen Arts Festival.

Freeholder Walter E. Boright, liaison to the Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, said, "The 1991 Union County Teen Arts Festival was our most successful ever. More than 1,500 students, teachers, parents and members of the public were treated to two exciting days of workshops, exhibits and performances. I am pleased that some of the more than 425 pieces exhibited at Union County College during the festival in March will now be displayed in other parts of the state and our country."

Thirty-two pieces of art from the Union County Festival will be part of an exhibit at the New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival at the Douglass Campus of Rutgers University in New Brunswick on May 28, 29 and 30.

"This artwork and the many performers from our county festival selected to perform at the state event demonstrate the excellent level of the art education in Union County's schools," Boright said.

Joining Boright was Marcia Cohen, chairman of the advisory board, who said, "Another 15 pieces from the county festival have been on exhibit since May 9 in the freeholders meeting room in the Union County Administration Building. The public is invited to view the work weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. until June 7.

Cohen also announced the exhibit of 10 additional Union County Teen Arts pieces at United Jersey Bank, 36 Park Ave., Scotch Plains. "We are pleased to have United Jersey Bank host this fine display. It is gratifying to know Union County has businesses which appreciate what the arts can do for our young people. This exhibit may be viewed by the public during regular business hours until May 31."

The 1991 Union County Teen Arts Festival is sponsored by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Parks and Recreation; Union County College; Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board; Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders; and supported by the New Jersey School of the Arts, Department of Education; New Jersey Center for the Visual Arts; and the Cranford Board of Education. Support also comes from the New Jersey State Teen Arts Program through a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State.

Park falls, 6-5

By Mark Yablonsky
Sports Editor

With all of its final four runs being unearned, Butler High came from behind to defeat Roselle Park, 6-5, in the preliminary round of the North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 baseball playoffs Monday in Butler.

Park, which entered as the ninth seed, owned a 5-0 lead by the fourth inning, and still maintained a 5-3 lead going into the last of the sixth inning. But in that inning, Butler scored first on an errant Park throw, and then tied it at 5-5 on a squeeze play bunt from Jack Irglis.

Butler, the eighth seed that will face top-seeded Brearley tomorrow, then plated the winning run on leadoff batter Jim Harding's sacrifice fly to left field. The win went to Chad McConnell, while Scott Bermingham, who came on in relief of starter Jon Price in the sixth, took the loss for Park.

The Panthers were charged with a total of six errors, while Butler made four.

"The most difficult thing about the loss is that we didn't make the other team beat us," explained Park skipper Jack Shaw, whose team is slated to conclude its season against St. Patrick's today in Elizabeth. "We beat ourselves."

Park scored two runs in the second inning when Chris Kelly singled in a run, then saw another come in on a concurrent error. Bermingham singled home Dan Serretti to make it a 3-0 game in the third, and in the fourth, Park scored twice more on a run-scoring single by Derrick Vanderkooij, and also on a delayed steal.

A DAY OF FOOTBALL — These five football coaches were part of the annual Frank LeBarca memorial football clinic last Thursday at Brearley Regional High in Kenilworth. Named after the late Cedar Ridge High head coach, the clinic, "Part 2 of a two-faceted program," in the words of Brearley head coach Bob Taylor, is a gathering of high school and collegiate coaches to exchange and share coaching techniques. From left, are Union High head coach Lou Fattino, Taylor, Chip LaBarca, the Toms River South head coach and older brother of the late coach for whom the clinic is named; Rutgers coach Doug Graber and Fran Ganter, the defensive coordinator at Penn State University.

Union defeats Park in finale

By Mark Yablonsky
Sports Editor

Just two days after losing, 7-1, to Livingston in state sectional play, the Union High softball team rallied behind Shannon Schmitt and beat Roselle Park, 8-1, to win this year's Union County Softball Tournament on Saturday night at Memorial Park, Linden.

Sixth-seeded Union, which improved its record to 21-6 on the season, outhit Park, the top seed, by a 14-3 margin. Schmitt, who was thrown into an emergency starter's role against Westfield in last year's county finale, fired an impressive three-hitter at Park, while walking just one and striking out two.

Roselle Park hurler Jessica Deluca walked three and struck out one in her first-ever championship game.

"That's a nice goal," said Union assistant coach Chris Flinn, referring to Union's set of pre-season objectives, one of which was to win the UCT. "It was really exciting. The number six seed won that tournament. We had a tough road, beating the top three seeds along the way."

"But give Shannon Schmitt a lot of credit. She pitched another good game, kept the ball down and allowed only three singles."

Union struck first for two runs in the top of the second inning. Schmitt opened with a triple to left-center and came home on a single by Steffie Gatto. Doreen Olivo later plated Gatto with a run-scoring single to make it a 2-0 game.

Park scored its only run of the night when senior catcher Maura Geoghegan reached second on a throwing error, took third on a ground ball, and scored on a comebacker to the mound by Jenna Gallicchio.

Union got two more runs in the top of the fifth when Donna Milia singled and scored on a triple to deep left by Kristin Alvarez, who soon scored herself on an infield error.

Union then put it out of reach with three runs in the sixth inning. With a bunt, walk and error filling the bases, Karen Mollach singled in one run and later, catcher Sonny Montes singled home two.

Milia, who made two spectacular fielding plays at shortstop to take Park out of potentially-big innings, singled home Olivo for the game's final tally in the seventh.

Lauren Beasley cracked a pair of doubles and drove in three runs for the Dodgers. Ed Barrett, Jonathan Hamtil, Michael Criscitello and David Weinglass all hit safely.

INDIANS 8, ANGELS 5

The Indians won it by scoring seven times in the first inning, behind singles from Harris Jacobs, Steve Bergeski, Evan Chiswick, Marty Moroney and Chris Barnett; and a big home run by Brian Mann. Pat Higgins and Phil Statile added doubles. Michael Fenton, Peter Ahearn, Teo Fernandez, Nicole Manzano, Matthew Sterenczak and Michael Delcampo all had hits for the Indians.

YANKEES 7, RED SOX 1

YANKEES 11, DODGERS 4

Doubles by Sarah McDonough and Derrick Whitenour paced a seven-run inning for the Yankees in the first. Stephen Cash batted in three runs. David Weinglass and Kevin Watt drove in the Dodger runs.

METS 11, BLUE STARS 8

The Mets took control with eight runs in the third inning, and led by three hits and four RBI from Brian DiVito, outslugged the Blue Stars, 11-8. Jimmy Lopes and Zach Oren-zak added two hits each for the Mets, while Ian Farrington and Chris Bladis got one safety each. Ken Fisher and Jim Debbie both got two hits for the Blue Stars. Brian Cantagallo added a long triple.

METS 7, BRAVES 6

Four runs in the fourth inning enabled the Mets to overturn a 4-3 deficit. DiVito had three more hits and three RBI; and Farrington, Jon Braschi, Zack Oren-zak and Jimmy Lopes added two hits each. Mike Sou-lis had three hits for the Braves, and Jacob Mentlik tripled.

METS 15, BLUE STARS 5

Zack Oren-zak went 5-for-5, smacking out four doubles and driving in five runs, as the Mets won again over the Blue Stars. Danny Amiran went 3-for-4 and Jimmy Lopes was 2-for-3 for the Mets. Kenny Fisher, Robbie Gianotti and Jimmy Debbie led the Stars' offense.

CUBS 11, PIRATES 7

Tom Tancred, Kevin McDonough and Joe Leone doubled for the Cubs, and teammates Shaun Farhion and Adam Benninger both singled. Larry Chiswick, Dominick Marletta and Chris McPherson led the Bucs' offense.

CUBS 8, BLUE STARS 4

Farhion struck out 13 batters and went 3-for-3 on offense to lead the Cubs past the Blue Stars, 8-4. Adam Benninger, Chris Datre and Matt Far-ington also contributed for the Cubs. Robbie Gianotti cracked two hard singles for the Blue Stars. Jimmy Debbie's long fly ball with the bases loaded in the sixth was grabbed by Jimmy Russo.

MUSTANGS 5, SPFD. ELKS 4

A bunt by Matt Collins broke an eighth-inning tie in favor of the Mountainide Elks, who won, 5-4, over the Springfield Elks. Tom Lyons struck out five for the Mustangs.

ASTROS 7, YANKEES 3

Eleven batters came to the plate in the first inning and produced all seven Astro runs. Tim Brit, Mike Debbie, David Belden and Shaun Kroon smacked doubles; and Mark Cantagallo, Danielle Denny, Eric Cantagal-lo and Ryan Farhion all singled.

Bears get top seed in sectional playoff

By Mark Yablonsky
Sports Editor

The Brearley Regional High baseball team, for the first time in school history, has earned the top seed in state sectional play. And that's not all.

Saddled with a controversial defeat to Scotch Plains just a week earlier, Ralph LaConte's Bears rebounded with three victories this past week, and in so doing, brought themselves undisputed possession of first place in the Mountain Valley Conference's Valley Division.

So for the time being, the controversy in the 6-5 defeat to Scotch Plains in the Union County Tournament takes a back seat to Brearley's accomplishments — although LaConte still feels that the opposing player whose home run beat Brearley in that UCT game was playing under questionable circumstances.

"It was a straining week for us, but they came through and I tip my hat to them," said LaConte, whose team is now 19-2. "I think they came back in fine style."

"That Scotch Plains thing is behind us. Certain things we don't control, and those that we do control we do well on. We're looking forward to the states."

As the number one seed, Brearley has received a first-round bye, and will face Butler, which beat Roselle Park, 6-5, Monday in the preliminary. The Brearley-Butler game will be played tomorrow by the latest in Kenilworth.

Last Monday, the Bears sprayed out 12 hits in blasting Oratory, 18-6, in Summit. Chris Carey led the way by drilling three singles in five trips to the plate, while driving in four runs and scoring three more. Catcher Mike Archibald went 3-for-4 and scored four runs, while Chris Parkhill was 2-for-4 with one run batted in, along with two stolen bases in as many attempts.

Freshman Joe Sibilia came on in relief of starter Kevin Bell, and hurled the final four innings to get the win, his second of the year against no defeats. Sibilia allowed five hits, while striking out three and walking three.

The following day, May 14, the Bears outlasted Manville by a 6-5 score in eight innings. On the same day, New Providence's win over Middlesex gave the Bears sole ownership of first place in the Valley.

Trailing by a 4-1 margin after four innings of play, the Bears pushed across four runs in the top of the fifth to take a 5-4 lead. With one out, Archibald doubled and scored on a single by Luan Ahmetaj, the team's first baseman. Then after Carey walked and Jose Rodriguez reached on a single to load the bases, Don Sammet walked to force in a run, before Tim Kaufmann's two-run double put Brearley ahead.

Manville answered right back to tie it on Jack Leonard's run-scoring single in the last of the fifth, but the Bears won it in the eighth when Don Dayon singled, stole second and rode home on Archibald's double to right-center.

Kaufmann came on in relief in the sixth inning and hurled no-hit ball over the final three frames to earn his sixth win of the season against no defeats. Kaufmann struck out five and walked three in relief of starter Jon Ciravolo, a sophomore who pitched the first five innings.

Ahmetaj then emerged as the hero of Brearley's 9-6 victory over Middlesex on Thursday by blasting a two-run triple in the first inning, and then a two-run homer in the bottom of the third. Rodriguez later blasted a three-run triple in the fifth when the Bears scored four more times to grab a 9-4 advantage.

Carey got credit for the win by striking out five and walking seven over six-plus innings of work. LaConte turned to Kaufmann with two on and none out in the top of the seventh, and Kaufmann got the final three outs. Carey is now 5-2.

"I feel ecstatic for the kids," LaConte added in reference to Brearley's top seeding in North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2. "This team has gotten everything it deserves, in terms of their effort and hard work. I think they deserved the No. 1 seed."

"I have nothing but praise for my boys."

BEAR TRACKS — As of press time, Brearley held a two-game lead over both New Providence and Middlesex in the Valley Division. Even a numerical tie would go in Brearley's favor, since the Bears have beaten both teams twice in head-on competition. With umpire John O'Hale insisting that he had not ejected Scotch Plains catcher Al Scarpa from an Elizabeth-Scotch Plains game on May 10, LaConte, whose team lost to the Raiders on May 11 because of Scarpa's grand-slammer, realizes his protest is effectively over. However, the Brearley skipper said he will send a letter — through the Brearley athletic department — both to the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association and the state umpires association, saying that the "umpires' responsibility was not fulfilled in this case."

Individualized treatment occurs at Gold's Gym

By David Brown and Tom Canavan

With summer approaching, gyms and health clubs are becoming a haven for men and women interested in shaping and toning their bodies for hot days when less clothing is more appropriate and comfortable. As the peak season escalates, so does the number of people who fill the weight rooms, leaving workout equipment hard to come by.

Not very comforting for a newcomer to the gym who feels he's lost in the crowd. To some, it may even be intimidating.

Well, at Gold's Gym in Kenilworth, the treatment given to beginning weightlifters makes them feel as if they have the entire gym all to themselves.

"Have you ever worked out before?"

That's the first question Gold's Gym manager Jane Dudics asks all beginning clients. The client's response, which in our case was "not properly," determines the course of the workout program.

At Gold's, each client receives the personal touch during the first few weeks with a personalized training program overseen by Dudics or owner Mark Szczygiel. Following a medical profile similar to one taken by a doctor, and a few moments at each of the machines which will become all too familiar to beginners, a training program is custom designed to the needs and abilities of each new member.

Aerobics, an often neglected aspect of physical fitness, is not only Gold's introduction to newcomers, but, according to Dudics, a critical part of any successful fitness program.

Aerobics?

We thought we'd be dancing in a room filled with weightlifters.

"Many people don't realize that aerobics is more than exercising to music. Aerobics gets the heart going and plays an important role in the overall success of a workout program," said Dudics, as we mounted the Life Cycle for a five-minute, eight-mile ride to a healthy heart.

Another aerobics workout, the Stair Master, strengthens the heart as the user simulates climbing a flight of stairs.

The workout continued on a series of alphabetically-identified pin-loaded, circuit training machines which exercise different parts of the body. Unlike free-weights, each machine controls the motion of the user and the action of the weight.

After the aerobics, our circuit-training program began with crunch sit-ups, designed to develop the upper abdomen. An average of three sets consisting of an appropriate number of repetitions is recommended for machines both with and without weights. While this machine does not include weights, they can be added to the routine to increase the difficulty of the sets.

The remainder of the work out consisted of incline press for the upper chest, the military press for the shoulders, the preacher curl for the biceps, and an exercise that develops the triceps.

Each of these exercises has a corresponding program with free-weights, which are also available at Gold's. According to Dudics, members typically progress to the use of free weight after they have gained confidence and experience in their Universal training program.

Gold's also offers the Reebok Step Aerobics program, a new and challenging workout that uses a platform to supplement the standard dance aerobics. Dudics said many members have joined the gym for this program alone.

Gold's is located at 363 Market St. in Kenilworth, and is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Monday to Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekends. For more information call Jane or Mark at the gym at 241-7744.

Lady Bears fall

By Kim Eagan
Sports Editor

Led by senior Chrissy Davenport and junior Stacy Bober, both of whom collected two RBI, the Brearley Regional High softball team beat Manville, 13-3, last Tuesday in Kenilworth.

On Thursday, Brearley lost to Middlesex, 10-2. Brearley kept the game close until the fourth inning, when Middlesex scored three times to put the game away.

Bober led Brearley by going 3-for-4 with an RBI against Dayton, but Dayton prevailed, 11-7. Wendy Saladino's two-run homer in the sixth inning enabled the Lady Bulldogs to ice the win.

The Lady Bears, after facing Roselle Park Tuesday, are scheduled to conclude their season today with a game against Arthur L. Johnson Regional of Clark.

GSG Tryouts

Regional tryouts for the Garden State Games Northeast baseball team, which will encompass Union, Essex and Hudson counties, have been rescheduled for June 9 at 10 a.m. at Columbia High School's Underhill Field in South Orange. Residents of Union, Essex and Hudson counties who are eligible to play high school baseball in 1992 are eligible to participate. The finalists will compete for medals on July 4-7 on the campuses of Rutgers University and a number of surrounding facilities.

More information is available from 225-0303.

Follow the rest of the spring sports season with Worrall Community Newspapers.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question: Since we've just about exhausted the topic of trades, here's a different sort of question to tease your brain. There have been seven sports figures to grace, at least once, the covers of Time Magazine, Life Magazine and Sports Illustrated (though not simultaneously). Who are they? A hint: not all seven are individual people. Last week's answer: Seven years after the Yankees had acquired him, Roger Maris, nearing the end of a productive career, was traded from the Yanks to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for infielder Charlie Smith after the 1966 season.

Maris, while nowhere near the offensive threat he once was, was useful to the pennant-winning Cardinals in 1967 and 1968, while Smith did little for the Yankees.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi and Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden submitted correct answers.

With the recent emphasis on development and the upcropping of strip malls, local businesses more than ever have to be supported. Jean Pessitore of Springfield Taxi, located at 243 Morris Ave., takes being a local business very seriously and prides herself and her company in supporting businesses around town and the people in the community.

"Businesses have to remember their townspeople," said Pessitore, who has owned and operated Springfield Taxi for 18 years. "We are here for the town."

Pessitore and her drivers are dedicated to helping people. One driver was late to a pickup one day because along the way he stopped to lend assistance at an accident scene.

"There was a big accident at South Orange Avenue and Old Short," Pessitore said. "My driver was a medic for many years and stopped to help out. But then he went on to pick up his passenger."

Another time a driver helped rush a passenger, who was suffering from a heart attack, to the hospital. Pessitore said that drivers have also helped pregnant women in labor get to the hospital, and have voluntarily helped children without money get home.

In addition, Pessitore helps people in need when they show up at her front door. People come in out of the snow or rain and are welcome to a cup of coffee she said, even if they aren't in need of a cab.

Cab service is provided primarily in Springfield, but Pessitore said that business also comes from surrounding towns including Mountainside, Summit, Union, Short Hills and Milburn. Springfield Taxi also provides an economical alternative to expensive limousine service to the airports, according to Pessitore.

Springfield Taxi is open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday. Pessitore said that service is also available upon request by calling 376-2552.

Journalist inks up a best-selling crime story

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

Award-winning Richard T. Pienciak of Clifton, formerly of Linden, who could write a book about his own hair-raising experiences, has written a hair-raising, true best-selling book about high living and murder. The book, "Deadly Masquerade," was published last October by Dutton, an imprint of New American Library, a division of Penguin Books USA Inc., New York City, simultaneously with the Penguin publishing houses in England, Australia, Canada and New Zealand. It will be published in paperback this July.

"Deadly Masquerade," the true crime account of Joseph Pikul who was convicted of the murder of his wife, Diane. The best seller also is a Literary Guild Selection.

Pienciak, who served as a national correspondent for the Associated Press for many years and more recently as an investigative reporter for the New York Daily News, is currently at work on another true murder mystery. He has covered such top stories for the AP and the Daily News as the invasion of Grenada, the South and Central American cocaine trail, America's deadly white supremacy movement and the Jonestown massacre in Guyana.

Pienciak has a winning personality but is deadly serious about everything he does, and perhaps that's why he excels in everything. During a recent chat, the 40-year-old writer, who speaks nonchalantly about important factors in his life, discussed the trials and tribulations of writing such a book.

"When I first started writing the book," he said, "I was working for the Daily News. I had taken a leave of absence, but it had taken me a good year and a half to write the book. After that, I went back to work, but I worked nights and weekends on the book."

"I did a great deal of research on the Pikuls before I even attempted to write 'Deadly Masquerade,'" he admitted, "and it was ready to come out in October of 1989. But I added more material in June of last year. It seems the Pikul custodial file was under court seal. I went down to see the court clerk because I had heard that Raoul Folder, the matrimonial attorney, had said that the judge released some of the sealed custodial files. When I went down there, I found that one of the stipulations in the court order was that all material subsequent to a certain date could be released. But someone in the office didn't know what subsequent meant and released all the material."

Pienciak grinned. "There were literally thousands of pages to go through. So, I read them and I added about 30 pages to my book. After all," he said, "it's not my job to worry about where the material came from. And it obviously made a better story. It was another chapter in the chain of events. And it got more color. And being able to read the files, I found I had a basic outline of the city's role in the case. It helped fill in the background a little better."

How did the idea for the book come about?

"Well," he recalled, "I had been covering the Tawana Brawley case, a pretty sensational case, as an investigative reporter for the Daily News."

"When the Rev. Al Sharpton had hidden Tawana's mother in a church in Queens, I sneaked into the church. But they threw me out. And the AP ran a picture of me being tossed out of the Queens church, and they ran the picture all over the country," Pienciak laughed. "Anyway, I made peace with them, and I rode on a bus with Tawana and Sharpton. We went from a church in Brooklyn to Atlanta to a convention and then to Augusta. There were three or four other reporters along. As you know, the Rev. Al Sharpton had a desire to make this case a national issue."

"At the end of the Brawley story, a literary agent approached me to do a book on the Brawley case. I did a lengthy proposal, but no one was interested in the way I wanted to do the book."

The agent then asked Pienciak if he had any other ideas for a book.

"I thought about it, and I mentioned the Pikul story. I did some research, then sat down and wrote a 90-page proposal and a chapter-by-chapter

He's working on a new book. Richard Pienciak, author and former investigative reporter for the Daily News and the Associated Press, celebrates the success of his first book, 'Deadly Masquerade,' by writing a new book. Pienciak is formerly of Linden.

Murder is transcribed in riveting book

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

If anyone can write a gripping, sensational, factual book on a murder mystery that shook the criminal system in New York, it is Richard T. Pienciak. The Linden-born investigative reporter, who covered many of the top stories in the country for the Associated Press and the New York Daily News, has compiled a 420-page book, "Deadly Masquerade," which was published by Dutton in New York City, and which will be published in paperback in July.

The tragic step-by-step drama unfolds as Pienciak unravels the story which led to the murder of Diane Pikul by her husband, a wealthy Wall Street international financier, Joe Pikul. The book reads like a murder mystery novel, with Pienciak narrating the events of the lavish life of the Pikuls — the home in the Hamptons, another in Greenwich Village, the private school for their children, her important job at Harper's magazine.

But suddenly, when the stock market crashed in 1987, it seemed everything fell apart for the Pikuls. They fought violently and there were on the shelf

threats of divorce and revelations of sexual perversity and alcoholism. A bitter custody fight ensued for their two children, Claudia and Blake. Ultimately, Joe, on the pretense of coming to terms with their problems, planned a rendezvous with Diane, and subsequently strangled her, carried her around an entire weekend in a burlap bag in the back of his station wagon, and as a last resort, buried her on the northbound side of the New York Thruway.

After she was discovered, the minute details leading up to his capture and conviction are painstakingly revealed to the rather perverse fascination of the reader.

Further fascination to Pienciak's readers is offered in story-telling photographs, which begin with the youthful Diane and Joe; his previous wife, and his future wife. There are pictures of a rather effeminate-looking young Joe, with his parents, and young Diane, with her parents, their wedding day in the garden of the Dreamworld Inn in Carmel, N.Y., in 1978, their young, beautiful children, looking happy in what appears to be a normal background. There are photographs of the Pikul homes, their Buick station wagon, a strange photo of Diane's murdered body, still wrapped in burlap, which the state police found, and pictures of Raoul Lionel Felder, Diane's divorce attorney, the district attorney, defense attorneys and the judge conferring and witnesses.

This remarkable book, which incidentally, is a Literary Guild Selection, would make a remarkable movie. And one wonders why Hollywood has not yet approached the author about flashing it on the big screen.

"Deadly Masquerade" should appeal to the general public and particularly to mystery fans.

And with author Pienciak working on another book about a murder crime, the talented investigative reporter should make a name for himself in the area of books on crime and murder.

As far as this reviewer is concerned, he already has!

outline. We were successful when we sent it to Dutton. I had covered the murder trial for the Daily News in Goshen, N.Y. That was where they found the body of Diane Pikul. And I went through this process thoroughly in the newspaper articles and of course in the book."

In addition to the text, Pienciak had "a good assemblage of photography that was of interest to the book. Some of the shots are very telling, you know," he said grimly.

"The original title I had chosen was 'Ever Last in Love,' which I thought was a wonderful title. But the marketing people in the publishing house had some questions about the title. And the publisher herself, and the executive editor got together and decided on 'Deadly Masquerade,' which I thought was much better than my original title. After all," he mused,

"you have to capture the essence of the underlying theme of the book."

"Now, I find that the book is selling very well. And the hard cover is a Literary Guild selection. In July, the paperback will be coming out published by the New American Library with a Signet label. The NAL is a leader in true crime books."

Pienciak, who was born in Linden, lived in Linden all of his childhood and youth. His parents, William and Loretta Pienciak, still live in Linden as does his brother, Edward, who works for Exxon, and his sister, Claire Meade, who is a legal secretary. "I began writing when I was in the second or third grade at St. Theresa's School in Linden," he said. "I remember writing an essay on the Boston Tea Party, and I wrote it in the first person, as a crate of the tea leaves," Pienciak laughed. "I always had to

A Guide to Find the Finest Dining In New Jersey

The Lido Diner

By Bea Smith

When one dines at the Lido Diner on Route 22, Springfield, there is an irrepressible urge to wave to the waitress and exclaim, "Give my compliments to the chef!"

For example, last Friday evening, my companion and I had dinner at the Lido Diner, and a most delicious dinner it was. We were greeted at the door by Anissa Andreola, the manager, who apologized that the owner, John Priovolos, wasn't due to arrive until later in the evening.

She took us to our newly decorated booths, where we were met by the warm and cordial hostess, Irene Priovolos, who, incidentally, happens to be the owner's wife. She introduced us to a lovely young waitress, Lisa, who explained that this was her first day. She took our order very competently, though, and handled everything with only a small bit of assistance by the veteran waitresses.

In the meantime, Irene Priovolos explained that John had bought the business five years ago, but the Lido Diner had been in existence for the past 40 years. "And that was even before they put the divider into Route 22."

She mentioned that the diner is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. "We get a very good lunch crowd," she said, "a nice dinner crowd, and we're busy all day Saturdays and Sundays."

"We have good specials on the blackboard and in the menu. Chicken Francaise is very popular, and of course, so are our hamburgers and our desserts."

Our waitress brought our first course, which consisted of an excellent clam chowder — one of the best I'd ever tasted, it comes highly recommended — and a large tomato juice for my companion. Then there was a huge salad, which neither of us could finish.

Our eyes widened considerably when the main course arrived. My companion had veal and peppers over rice with string beans, and as she dug in, she beamed, "Just like my mother used to make at home." The cost for the veal and peppers special was $6.95.

And I ordered the chef-recommended special, the fried seafood combination with french fries, coleslaw and tartar sauce. It was extremely delicious and featured fillet of sole, giant shrimps, stuffed clams and scallops.

People who come for dinner have a wide choice of entrees and roasts, $6.95 to $7.95; from the broiler, New York Sirloin steak with onion rings, $11.95, and a variety of other steaks and chops, with prices that run from $6.95 to $13.95; veal, chicken or seafood sautees, $6.60 to $9.45; Italian specials, $6.75 to $8.50; and seafood priced from $16.95 for broiled twin lobster tails to fish from $7.25.

There are luncheon specials, too, which feature full meals, salads, omelets and sandwiches. More information can be obtained by calling 376-1259.

In order to make room for dessert and coffee, we asked Lisa if we could have "doggie bags," and she smiled knowingly and took off with the scrumptious remains of our meal.

Both my companion and I ordered chocolate pudding with whipped cream and coffee. And when Lisa ultimately came bearing the luscious-looking desserts topped with real whipped cream, we noticed how the eyes of other dinner customers lighted up.

When we left, carrying the wonderful leftovers from our still-hot dinners, we discussed the reason why some diners are fly-by-nights, while some diners, such as the Lido Diner, have been in existence for more than 40 years.

Journalist puts a spin on crime book

look for a different approach to explain a story."

Piencki was graduated from Roselle Catholic High School. "Back in those days, it was an all boys school, and we all played a lot of sports together. I was editor of the high school newspaper."

Piencki was graduated from Rider College in 1972. "The school had a very good journalism department."

He worked briefly as editor of a weekly newspaper in Manville. "Two months later, I got a call from my journalism professor that there was an opening for a reporter in the Associated Press, which was located at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark. I began working there beginning in 1972."

"And during my first four years," he recalled happily, "I did a whole bunch of different jobs. I worked with the radio wire service, business news, but mostly, I used to run around the state on big stories."

He said he covered the Karen Quinlan case and the Jimmy Hoffa story. "It was very exciting for me, and it was fun, too."

In 1976, Piencki transferred to the metropolitan staff at AP in Manhattan as the night city editor. "Then they started the same route... covering big stories. I was involved in the Son of Sam case. In Attica, I was one of the three reporters to interview him. It was a crazy time," he recalled. "For about a year, he and I were pen pals. However, since then, he and I parted company."

"I also began to work on national stories. One afternoon in 1979, I got on a helicopter in Harrisburg to cover the Three-Mile Island nuclear incident. Subsequent to that," he said, "I went to school in Oak Ridge, Tenn., at a big nuclear research center. I wrote extensively about the nuclear emergency for about two years."

In 1981, he was transferred to the national staff as a national reporter based in New York. "In the early 1980s, Piencki said, "while I was still with the bureau, I covered the Guyana story. I did a lot of big stories during that time."

"I spent six months working on the problem of sexual abuse of children. And I found, while doing a lot of those big stories, that you get a better feel for the other side of the issue no matter what it is. By being that close to it, you have access to considerably more information. I covered all the Abscam trials, the problems and corruption of Sen. Harrison Williams. It was pretty incredible watching that story unfold."

Piencki added with a sadness in his voice, "I also covered the Challenger explosion. I covered it from Houston, Tex."

"I also was involved in covering the Barbadoes incident. I flew over Barbadoes. They were not letting us cover the war there. It was really a very dangerous thing. We tried to sneak in on a cattle boat. But we were stopped and we turned around and went back. The day after we left, the United States Navy opened the front door for the press. The next day, we went back through the front door."

"I also covered the Manuel Noriega story before I started to work at the Daily News in 1985 as an investigative reporter."

The following year," he said, "some reporters and I went to the jungles of South America in Bolivia, where everything seemed to turn into cocaine. We went with the military who raided the laboratories. It was a pretty scary time. We went to the Amazon, but it was a futile battle. We went to Columbia and were befriended by a guy who offered to take us to meet some guys in a secret hiding place. But we chickened out. We found out that if they don't like you, or if they don't like the stories you write, they kill you! I also went to Bimini."

"I covered drug trafficking, too." During the strike at the Daily News, Piencki took a voluntary layoff. "There was a big reduction in staff," he said, "and it was a very uncertain situation. I decided not to go back to work. I thought I'd be better off trying to write another book."

Piencki, who dedicated his first book to his wife, Cheryl, said his family "is very supportive in whatever I do."

"I met my wife at Rider College. She was a year behind me. We were married in 1974 and lived in Nutley before moving to Clifton about eight years ago." The Pienckis have two sons, Ryan, 12, and Adam, 5.

With about a half dozen national and local awards, including the National Award from the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association, Piencki also is a member of the New York Policemen's Benevolent Association, which he was invited to join after writing one of his award-winning stories.

His new book, which is still in the research stage, is about the case of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., murder, where a dentist, Dr. Glen Wolsieffer, was accused of murdering his wife. "This past November, he was convicted of third-degree murder," explained the author. "A colleague of mine at the Daily News, Tony Burton, showed me an article that the Daily News had run on the arrest of the doctor in 1989. He showed me clippings and said, 'Someday, this may be your next book.'"

"I'll probably start writing it in the fall. I want to keep writing — no matter what the future holds."

LET THE BIBLE SPEAK
Beware 2 Cor. 2:11; Matt 7:15 2 Cor II:13-15

The Bible Teaches That Jesus Promised The Holy Spirit To His Apostles (ONLY) Jn. Chapters 13-16, Lk. 24: 44-49 acts 1:2-8 (acts 2:1-4-Fulfilled)

And The Purpose or Fuction of the Holy Spirit was:
1. To "Reveal The Truth" To His Apostles 1 Cor 2: 1-13 Jn. 16: 5-15; And
2. Was To "Confirm The Word of God" by Signs & Miracles Heb 2: 3-4.

Therefore in the first Century The Holy Spirit gave us The Perfect and "Complete Revelation." The inspired word of God (The Bible) 1 Cor 13:8-11 2 Tim. 3:16-17 2 Pet. 1: 3-10 Ja 1: 25.

Hence Today No Living Person can Perform Miracles including Speak in Tongues (No Need For) as Jesus and His inspired Ambassadors Did In The New Testament.

Infact Jesus warned those false Preachers (Imposters, Radio & T.V.) who Pretended to work miracles today and speak in Tongues contradicts (a Perversion) the word of God and makes it incomplete, and they are in Delusion and Confusion. Matt. 24: 24-25- 2 Thess. 2:9 Matt. 7: 22-23.

These (Deceivers) Sons of The Devil are Enemies of Righteousness Acts 13: 6-11; Jer. 23: 25-26; Deu. 13: 1-5.

Century 21 reports market is improving

Real estate broker optimism for activity in the upcoming year is high. Better than four out of five Century 21 brokers in New Jersey predict that the real estate market in 1991 will be better than in 1990.

Century 21 brokers from New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island expressed their views on market activity and conditions in a recent survey conducted by Century 21 of the Northeast.

Home prices, too, appear to be stabilizing, the brokers report, and further decline in home prices is not expected. A solid majority of the brokers in New Jersey predicted prices would remain level or increase in their area during 1991.

"The feeling for 1991 is overwhelmingly positive," notes Carolyn Weber, vice president for regional development at Century 21 of the Northeast. "Our brokers are seeing increased buyer activity and the market becoming more balanced between buyers and sellers."

This optimism appears to be borne out by Century 21 sales statistics. Open transactions for April ran 8 percent ahead of figures for April 1990. Open transactions represent homes under contract which have not yet transferred title. They are a dependable indicator of future closings.

"As buyer activity has picked up, our brokers are reporting shortages of inventory in some types and prices of housing," Weber reports. "This is the first clear indication that the buyer's market may be coming to an end."

Signs of the real estate market's recovery are not as clear in New Jersey as in the rest of the Northeast. Century 21 reports that 74.1 percent of their brokers indicated that buyers in their area must sell their homes before they can buy, down slightly from a reported 78.2 percent in August of 1990.

"The past three years have seen a logjam of buyers who had to sell their homes before buying another and could not sell," adds Weber. "The market was stalemated, with sellers who wanted to buy and buyers who couldn't sell. That logjam is now beginning to break up."

Weber concludes, "Overall, the market is healthier and more stable now than it has been for some time. Early reports from our offices predict this will be the strongest spring we've had in three years."

SPREADING THE WORD — Weichert, Realtors' Union office participated in the recent Union County Board of Realtors trade show to help inform potential buyers about the real estate opportunities in the Union County area. From left: Kathy Gwaldis, Manager Ron Mammano, Maria Lainez, Bob Schuhlein and Donna Evaristo.

Weichert signs on new staff members

James M. Weichert, president, has announced that George Castro and Trudi Theiss have joined Weichert, Realtors' Union office as sales associates.

An experienced professional, Castro has been listing and selling both residential and commercial properties for over two years. He is a member of the Greater Eastern Union County Board of Realtors and a resident of Elizabeth.

Theiss, a 25-year resident of Union, has been a licensed real estate professional for five years.

"I have returned to Weichert after a brief stay in Florida because Weichert is number one," Theiss said.

Prior to entering the real estate industry, Theiss was employed by Griffith Labs in Union.

Weichert's Union office is located at 1307 Stuyvesant Ave.

Career seminar offered

Weichert, Realtors' Union office is sponsoring a free career seminar for new and experienced real estate salespeople on Thursday, May 30, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The seminar will be held at Weichert's Union office, located at 1307 Stuyvesant Ave.

"There is a lot of opportunity in today's market. Those attending will find out how to get started in the real estate industry and learn what makes top producers so successful," said Office Manager Ron Mammano.

"For the experienced agent, the seminar will also focus on what your company should be providing to help ensure your success. This is a good opportunity to learn about the real estate industry in general, and Weichert, Realtors in particular," Mammano added.

More information can be obtained by contacting Betty Ott at Weichert's Union Office, 687-4800.
