Monday is the deadline for eligible residents to register to vote in the April 18 Board of Education elections. I feel having the power to vote is a privilege, although many of us take it for granted, therefore I feel it's important to share some information with our readers about the registration deadline as well as information about absentee ballots. Remember, just because you might be out of town on April 18, you still can cast a vote for the person or persons you feel should represent your children on the school board. These are also the people who will oversee the spending of taxpayer funds during a time when school budgets have become targets of criticism of many residents who feel districts are not providing a quality education for the amount of taxes they are paying.

New Jersey residents can register to vote at the office of their municipal clerk or office of their county clerk. To vote, a resident must be 18 years old, a citizen of the United States and maintain primary residence in the municipality in which they are seeking to vote.

This year's school election falls during a vacation period for many school districts, a time when many families take out-oftown trips. Residents who will be out of town should pick up an application for an absentee ballot.

Here's how to get one: · Voters can obtain applications for absentee ballots from either the office of the county clerk or office of the municipal clerk. April 11 is the last day that county clerks can receive applications for absentee ballots by mail. • April 17 at 3 p.m. is the deadline for applying for an absentee ballot in person at the office of the county clerk.

• Completed absentee ballots must be submitted to the county board of elections office before 8 p.m. on Election Day.

Use the power that many people in other countries don't have. Register to vote for the school board election, get involved in your community, know the candidates who are running, become informed and cast the ballot for the person or persons you feel can best serve the children of the community.

The fate of school budgets in many communities also will be decided during the annual elections on April 18.

Many residents who write letters to the editor of our weekly newspapers complain that taxes are skyrocketing and they feel they can't afford to live in the communities in which they were

Now is the time to check the calendar listings on these pages to find out when the public hearing on local school budgets will be held.

Before attending the hearing - a time when you, the employer, of the Board of Education have the right to add your input - learn the budget, ask questions and probe every line item. Those items are being paid for out of your pocket, and it is up to you, the citizen, to hold the district accountable for its spending practices.

Many residents feel their voices will not be heard by the powers-that-be so they avoid attending budget hearings and asking questions.

They should be demanding answers to why school districts automatically - yes, automatically — increase budgets while the local governing bodies, for the most part, try to present budgets without a tax increase.

Residents must use their power at the polls, but they must also demand answers from their elected representatives.

County garbage fees will be among

By Chris Gatto Regional Editor

Union County Utilities Authority Executive Director Jeffrey Callahan predicted last week that county residents in years ahead will pay one of the lowest tipping fee rates compared to those over a "large region."

Callahan's remarks, which came without reservation, were heard before freeholders March 9, during a presentation by Callahan and other UCUA representatives at the county Administration Building in Elizabeth.

"Without a doubt it will be one of the lowest rates in a large region," Callahan said in response to a question from Freeholder Henry Kurz. The freeholder had asked Callahan if it would be "safe to say" that the county's tipping fees will be one of the lowest in New Jersey.

The UCUA had been asked to appear before the freeholder board in relation to their request for a rate hike: The authority is seeking a fee increase of $4.62 per ton of solid waste. If the increase is granted by the state's Department of Environmental Protection, then the 1995 rate will be $76.12

Several members of the public questioned the need for an increase, suggesting that a non-burner alternative could have spelled lower rates.

Opposing the rate hike was Bob Carson of Rahway, saying he found it difficult to "understand how an unexpected rate increase comes up now." He asked what it would have cost had a non-burn alternative been adopted, a question which Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni said she would call upon the UCUA to answer.

Of Carson's charge that the proposed rate hike was not anticipated, Callahan noted that the UCUA previously had devised an expense breakdown of tipping fees, which he said are expected to rise regularly through the year 2013. By that time, fees are predicted to be $140 per ton. Callahan said the UCUA's proposed 1995 increase is $2 less than had been projected in a feasibility study.

Rates are figured based upon projected costs and revenues, which is affected by the amount of waste processed at the facility. In addition to Union County's waste, RRF accepts trash from Bergen County which paid a slightly lower rate — $70 per ton in 1994 because it does not share in Union County recycling endeavors. Union County recycling costs are added to residents' tipping fees.

Savings realized In 1988, tipping fees in Union County were $138 per ton, and Callahan noted last week that in 20 years from now those fees are again expected to be in that range. The estimated two-year savings by the county, since the Resource Recovery Facility went on-line, is $16,955,000, he noted. The BPU already has approved much of the UCUA's plans, but when a fee increase is requested, Callahan said the state must review it. The only aspect of the budget which had not been approved previously is administrative expenses, he said.

Tom Brennan, the authority's director, said an audit of the UCUA's budget would not be available for a couple of weeks, and that the authority's 1995 budget has not yet been approved by the state's Department of Community Affairs Division of Local Government Services. Brennan said he would make the budget available to freeholders once the spending plan has gained the DCA's approval.

Costs going up According to Callahan, the UCUA requires a rate increase to pay off $283 million in bonds issued to finance the incinerator. Last year, the authority paid $9.9 million in debt service and it must pay $20.9 million this year, according to Callahan. That increase would amount to $8.70 per ton, said Callahan, who noted that some of that cost will be offset by savings achieved during start-up coupled with the renegotiation of several contracts.

Debt was structured in such a way that there will be a "balloon payment" in 2001 and fees will subsequently stabilize, according to Callahan. In 2013, the final payment will be $32.2 million.

The UCUA also will receive a $13.3 million interest-free loan from the state as part of the authority's original financing plan. Repayment has been set at $665,000 per year during a 20-year period.

"We've done our job. We don't have excess costs in our rate and most of our costs are driven by our debt," Callahan told freeholders.

A service fee also must be paid to Ogden Martin Systems, which operates the burner. The contract calls for a fee escalation formula based upon the labor cost/consumer price index which is currently about 3 percent. It will receive $28.37 per ton in 1995. Ogden Martin also is reimbursed for certain "pass-through" costs for materials such as lime, carbon, along with "certain services."

The City of Rahway, host community for RRF, receives nearly $2.2 million a year under an agreement it has with the UCUA. The authority also must pay the city's recycling expenses during a 5-year period which began in 1993.

Additionally, the UCUA has contracted with Empire Sanitary Landfill, Inc. to dispose of ash residue from RRF at its landfill in Taylor, Pa. A contractor also is paid to haul residue to the site. Overall, the authority pays $13.43 per ton for disposal.

Administrative costs include personnel salaries and benefits, equipment expenses and the costs of ash sampling, methane gas monitoring, environmental assessments and recycling, and maintenance. Costs are $8.93 per ton.

Aside from revenue generated through tipping fees, the UCUA receives $7.04 per ton through assorted measures and $19.92 by selling electricty generated at the facility to Public Service, Electric & Gas.

A Rate Relief Credit Account was established by the UCUA in 1993 after the authority negotiated a reduction in disposal costs with transfer stations so that those facilities would remain open during an interim period. Excess funds have been placed in an See DEBT, Page B2

Citizens ask probe of UCUA bond deal

By Andrew J. Stewart Staff Writer

A citizen's group is demanding an inquiry into the Union County Utilities Authority's financing process because its bond advisor plead guilty to accepting bribes from the bank that underwrote bonds for Camden County.

The Concerned Citizens of Union County, a Rahway-based group opposed to the Union County Resource Recovery facility, are asking for an investigation of the UCUA's process in financing the facility's construction. Consolidated Financial Management was the bond sale advisor to the authority in 1991 when more than $300 million in bonds were issued by the authority and Union County.

One of the heads of CFM, Joseph Salema, plead guilty last month to accepting $335,500 from First Fidelity Securities Corp., a division of First Fidelity Bancorp for steering $237.5 million of bond business from the Camden County Municipal Utilities Authority. Salema former Gov. Jim Florio's chief of staff, and his partner, Nicholas Rudi, has been indicted on similar charges, but he has plead innocent.

The citizens' group has sent letters asking for an investigation of the UCUA and the Board of Chosen Freeholders to the Union County Prosecutor's Office, the state attorney general and State Commission of Investigation. The group is not ready to accuse anyone of wrongdoing, but the presence of Salema and First Fidelity in the Union County bond issue is cause for concern, Concerned Citizen's Vice Chairman Robert Carson said.

"Given that all these guys showed up at the same time and in a similar situation, it gives one pause," Carson said.

In addition, the UCUA has a history of being taken advantage of by criminal elements, he said. Lin-River Associates, a real estate holding company in charge of the Automated Modular Systems trash transfer station in Linden, plead guilty last year to defrauding the county of more than $2 million by inflating tipping fees illegally.

"Oversight has not been real tight," Carson said. In his report on the case, Union County Prosecutor Andrew Ruotolo criticized the authority as not being well equipped to oversee and detect such

First Fidelity Securities underwrote $35 million in county bonds while $282.9 million was underwritten by a group of bond agencies led by Lehman

Brothers and Smith-Barney. The $289.9 million was specifically for the incinerator, according to UCUA spokesman John Tiene, an account superviso at Coleman & Pellet, a public relations firm retained by the authority. The $35 million was for non-resource recovery costs the authority had to deal with, he said. It was used to pay off an existing $16 million debt, covered expenses in the county's solid waste management system and the county backed the bonds under a deficiency agreement, he added. The county backed that portion for financial reasons, Tiene said.

"Having the county involved increased the rating of the bonds and reduced the amount of the debt by getting a better interest rate," Tiene said. "At that point we were looking for everything possible to reduce the amount of that bond

One of the reasons for creating the authority was to keep the burden of the debt off the county itself, he said.

The authority is concerned about the possibility of wrongdoing because Salema and First Fidelity also were involved in the UCUA's bond issue, Tiene said. The Securities and Exchange Commission investigated their dealings with Salema in the spring of 1993 when CFM's dealings in Camden County came to light, he said. The SEC was given every document on the case requested, and the authority offered additional ones, he said. "They told us they could find nothing on the UCUA and CFM," Tiene said. There has been no further contact between the SEC and the authority, which means no more evidence of wrongdoing has been found, he added.

The Concerned Citizens are aware of the SEC probe but think a more indepth investigation is needed, Carson said.

"I think the question is not whether public documents are in order but whether there was any undue influence in giving First Fidelity a 435 million bond issue," he said. "How many receipts do you get from bribes?"

The authority also has looked into the situation itself and if any criminal activity took place it happened without the authority's knowledge, Tiene said.

"We've done all we can possibly do to detect any misconduct and so far, we haven't been able to find anything," Tiene said. The authority no longer pays any money to CFM, which has been sold and renamed. The company was replaced as the authority's financial advisor in 1993.

"They are no longer on the payroll. Their contract ended in 1993," Tiene said.

Truck route provisions are passed

By Chris Gatto Regional Editor

A means of ensuring trucks traveling to the Resource Recovery Facility in Rahway are using the correct route was adopted, color coding and all, by freeholders last week. But it did not sit well with residents.

Following freeholders unanimous approval of the ordinance, which was previously held so that a color-coding system of tracking trucks could be implemented, met with opposition from Rahway residents.

Freeholder Elmer Ertl was absent from the meeting.

Ann Parker, member of Rahway's truck traffic committee, upon passage said she is "still very much opposed" to the route trucks are taking to the incinerator despite the ordinance's adoption.

She spoke of pictures "bouncing" on residents' walls and the inability to get "a good night's sleep" because of the heightened truck traffic. "We are not going to go away." Parker told freeholders, adding that she hopes the truck route is changed.

Rahway Councilman Jerry Coleman expressed his discontent over the county requiring his municipality to pass an ordinance restricting overweight trucks from traveling on Rahway roadways including Lawrence Street. Coleman questioned why it was necessary for the city to pass the ordinance in addition to a county version.

Coleman was informed that Rahway's passage of such an ordinance would allow for it to enforce the measure with its local police force in addition to the utilization of county officers.

Under the color-coding provision trucks traveling to the incinerator will be required to bear placards so that sit will be easy to determine if the vehicles are traveling the correct route.

Rahway recently approved a pair of ordinances to ensure trucks travel the proper route. One of those calls for 10 video cameras with tape recorders to be placed at various locations throughout the city. Monitors will be placed at Rahway Police Headquarters.

Also, the owners of trucks traveling to the incinerator will be required to obtain annual permits, $25, with a $500 penalty being assessed for those who do not comply. Routes, days and times of travel also must be designated.

The Union County FFA Chapter of the Horticultural Program at the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools took part in the celebration of National FFA Week, Feb. 18-25.

Superintendent Thomas Bistocchi signed a proclamation during the school's open house held on Feb. 16. Chapter President Vivian Ridgway and Reporter Robert Duthie, both of Plainfield, were on hand for the ceremony.

On Feb. 24-25, members of the chapter attended a personal development "Made for Excellence Conference" and the New Jersey Flower and Garden Show, both held in Somerset. Throughout the week, the chapter conducted a variety of activities, displays and demonstrations on campus, all geared to call attention to the FFA and the UCVTS Horticulture Program.

Debt, rising costs cited for UCUA garbage hike

While the UCUA has requested a fee hike, Callahan noted that tipping costs around the state reveal that Union County's rates are on the lower end. Burlington County is lowest at $49.40 per ton and Morris County, which utilizes a transfer station, is tops at $140 per ton

Rahway Councilman Frank Janusz. who was on hand for last week's free holder date, asked why the city will not receive a cost-of-living increase for 1995 as had been stipulated in the host agreement. Callahan informed Janusz the DEP had denied the CPI portion of the pact, although there was no stipulation that a proposed increase could not be sought annually. A hike will be requested in 1995, Callahan

Upon questioning by Freeholder Vice Chairman Edwin Force, Callahan said that about eight employees have been added since the facility went on-line. There are 30 people employed with the authority, he noted.

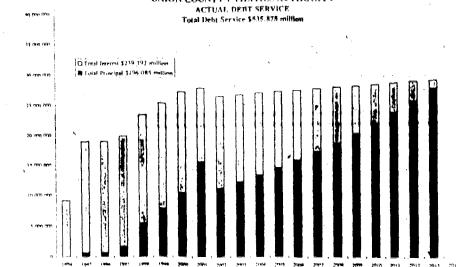

Callahan said the position of public information officer has been eliminated and the role of the public relations firm of Coleman & Pellet Inc. has been "lessened." Much of that work is now being handled in-house, he noted.

After discovering that UCUA employees do not contribute copayments for health benefits. Force said, "I would like to see you look at that in the future. I have a problem with that because today many people are being asked to contribute."

The authority recently rebid its dental 'plan for employees and expenses were cut in half, but health insurance was not rebid, according to Callahan. Workers do have a standard deductible, he noted.

Trouble lurking?

Freeholder Linda Stender questioned what would occur in the future if the state's system of regulating wasteflow is ruled unconstitutional. Callahan noted that should a court determine the system to be invalid, the UCUA does have a contingency plan, but the executive director was advised by counsel that such a planwould have to be discussed with freeholders in closed session.

ladelphia, was termed a violation of interstate commerce, a ruling which may adversely effect wasteflow coming to RRF. That could pose severe financial ramifications.

UCUA representatives and residents sparred over whether they believe pending federal legislation, which would make the courts ruling null and void, has a realistic chance of becoming law. Bills are pending in Congress which would allow states to regulate wasteflow.

Move for county funds killed by GOP majority

By Chris Gatto Regional Editor

Republican freeholders thwarted a bid by Elizabeth Mayor J. Christian Bollwage to have the more than $7 million Union County received in a settlement with the state returned to Bollwage, who spoke in favor of a resolution proposed by fellow Elizabeth resident, Freeholder Daniel Sullivan, was denied in his bid for what would have been the largest share of the $7,050,889.

The county, which is to receive the funds as the result of the settlement with the state's Department of Human Services, will be reimbursed by the state during a three-year period. A portion of those funds already have been paid to the county by the state.

Sullivan's resolution failed by a 3 to 5 margin, with that vote coming along party lines. Freeholder Elmer Ertl, a Democrat, was absent. Both Bollwage and Sullivan are Democrats.

Bollwage would have like nothing more than to have taken the greatest share of the pot, which would have been returned to municipalities based upon population, because it would have allowed a Democrat to take credit for something the Republicancontrolled freeholder board accomplished.

But, it was not to be. Republican Freeholder Frank Lehr, reacting to a comment made by a Summit resident, called Sullivan's resolution "very unusual" and Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni, prior to a vote, asserted that the resolution did not have the backing of the majority.

The next speaker to come before. the board was Bollwage, who exclaimed "I'm here to talk about something that some people find very unusual.'

The mayor spoke in support of Sullivan's proposal, saying "it's all too often" that windfall funds are placed into surplus as opposed to being returned to taxpayers. Bollwage noted that Governor Whitman has gone on record opposing inflated surplus funds.

Lehr noted, however, that the funds the county will receive were the result of a settlement achieved only after the county took legal action. The county discovered that the state had been receiving money from both the county as well as lederal Medicare dollars to again "complaining taxes are going pay for indigent care. The county, up.

according to Lehr, spent about $100,000 on an audit and court. expenses before the settlement was reached.

The freeholder said the funds will be used for property tax relief, but at the county level. "Ithink it's ridiculous to give it to the cities. Why don't we just increase our taxes by $10 million and give it to the cities," said Lehr sarcastically.

Bollwage asked DiGiovanni to direct Lehr to draft a plan of how he intends to use the funds for tax relief. After some resistance, Di Giovanni agreed.

The freeholder chair noted that the funds will be given to the county during a three-year period.

Rahway 1st Ward Councilman Jerry Coleman, a Democrat, during the March 9 freeholder meeting, also asked that the funds be disseminated among municipalities. He noted that the county would not have paid legal fees had it not been for taxpayers footing the bill.

Sullivan noted that his proposal would have called for funds to be returned to municipalities and used solely for the purpose of property tax relief. "Municipalities are those most affected by rising property taxes," said Sullivan, who noted that "it is not too often we come upon money like

Upon voting on the measure, several Republicans accused their Democratic counterparts of taking a Jekyll-Hyde approach toward Sullivan's offering. Democrats had opposed the county budget in the past because they believed Republicans had delved too far into surplus, and on March' 9 opposed the idea of using settlement funds as surplus.

Sullivan said the point made by Republicans was moot because Lehr had already indicated the funds would be designated for tax relief.

Freeholder Vice Chair Edwin Force called such non-renewable revenue "smoke and mirrors" because it can be used to mask a tax hike. Force, however, said he does not believe these funds are "intended to be used for surplus." He said the funds could be better spent as a downpayment on a state-mandated $50 million juvenile detention center.

Force predicted that if there is a county tax hike, then Bollwage will appear before the freeholder board

Reality talk focusing on alcohol, drug abuse

The National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence of Union County has teamed up with the County of Union and several area medical centers to bring William Glasser to Cranford on March 24 for a one-day conference, "Facing Reality."

The training conference is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Coachman. th Jackson Drive Exit 136 on the Garden State Parkway, Cranford.

Glasser, a psychiatrist and founder of the Institute for Reality Therapy, will help area health and human service professionals kick off the month of April as Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Awareness Month by presenting his work to an anticipated capacity crowd. He will focus on reality therapy and control theory, which have proven effective in the prevention and treatment of alcoholism and many other addictions.

Since Glasser has not been in New Jersey for the past several years, NCADD has reached out to medical professionals, health and human service counselors, educators and business administrators to urge them to take advantage of the opportunity to let Glasser help them revitalize their effectiveness with patients,

Joint Meeting picks interim head after Brinker exit By Anthony Puglisi Staff Writer

One week after embattled executive director Mike Brinker resigned, Joint Meeting of Essex and Union Counties promoted one of its own engineers to temporarily head the bicounty sewerage treatment plant.

With 10 of the 11 member municipalities present during an emergency meeting called March 7, one which participated by telephone, Joint Meeting voted 6 to 4 to name A. Ralph LaMendola acting executive director.

LaMendola will perform all the duties Brinker did - chief engineer. purchasing agent, chief financial officer and personnel director — until a permanent replacement is found. He will be paid a $1,000 stipend to perform the extra work.

Joint Meeting Chairman Jim Jenkins of Irvington said he expects the search for a new executive director to take anywhere from three to four months, although even that timetable is questionable.

The same five-member committee that recommended Brinker be maintained but a financial and managerial review of Joint Meeting operations be conducted will hold the preliminary search. Heading the committee is Anne Lord of Hillside, and the other members are Joel Weingarten of Millburn, John McKeon of West Orange, Mildred Crump of Newark and Jerome Petti of Union.

A straw poll was conducted March 3 by Jenkins and Ted Olcott from Summit to choose an acting director, but attorneys for Joint Meeting recommended an emergency public meeting be convened to make the decision

Still controversy

Brinker-announced his resignation from Joint Meeting Feb. 20, four days after the recommendation to retain him was made. His last day with Joint Meeting was March 3, although he left Feb. 28 using three vacation days to finish out his tenure. In the interim, Joseph Bonaccorso, treatment plant superintendent, fulfilled the director's

As superintendent, Bonaccorso is the second in command, and the four members voting against LaMendola believed the superior officer should have been named acting head.

Olcott and Gerry Ryan of Maplewood said Bonacçorso should have gotten the position because of his seniority. This move would have been "the least disruptive." according to Rvan.

"The fact is Bonaccorso is presently in the superior position in terms of compensation and responsibilities," Olcott said. Bonaccorso also was picking up the slack in the meantime without being asked, he added.

Olcott added that a March 1 memo was distributed informing Joint Meeting members an acting director had to be chosen. The March 3 telephone poll was conducted, but Bonaccorso was selected by a 7 to 2 margin.

Changing their minds to back LaMendola in the meantime were Jenkins, Lord and Beverly Williams of East Orange. The four votes for Bonaccorso during the meeting werecast by Olcott, Ryan, Weingarten and Toby Katz of West Orange.

In the time leading up to the special meeting, some members changed their mind, Jenkins said. He was joined in support of LaMendola by Lord, Williams, Petti, Crump and Chris Hartwyk of South Orange.

Registration cutoff nears to vote in school races

New Jerseyans not currently registered to vote in their municipalities must do so by Monday to participate in the state's annual school election.

The election will take place on April 18.

'Citizens in approximately 550 of the state's 606 local school districts will have the opportunity to elect members of their local school boards and to approve or reject proposed school budgets for 1995-96," said Mark J. Finkelstein, NJSBA president.

To participate in this election, citizens must be registered to vote in their municipalities. New Jersey residents can register to vote at the office of their municipal clerk or office of their county clerk. To vote, a resident must be 18 years old, a citizen of the United States and maintain primary residence in the municipality in which they are seeking to vote.

Anyone who wishes to vote by absentce ballot should observe the following:

• Voters can obtain applications for absentee ballots from either the office of the county clerk or the office of the municipal clerk.

• April 11 is the last day that county clerks can receive applications for absentee ballots by mail.

• April 17 at 3 p.m. is the deadline for applying for an absentee ballot in person at the office of the county

Completed absentee ballots must be submitted to the Union County Board of Elections office before 8 p.m. on Election Dav.

"Local school boards play a vital role in the operation of our schools," said Finkelstein. "On April 18, more than 1,500 school boards positions will be on the ballot statewide. We urge New Jersey residents to participate in this important election."

Arc gala to honor Bassano

The Arc of Union County will hold its annual Chandlelight Ball on April 22 at L'Affaire in Mountainside.

ARC is a non-profit organization that serves people with developmental disabilities by providing them with residential, vocational, educational, clinical and recreational support. The theme of the agency's major fund-raiser of the year is "A Celebration of the Stars."

The evening will begin with cocktails at 7:30 p.m., followed by dinner and dancing at 8:30 p.m. This year's Ambassador of Good Will is seven-year-old Megan Turinchak of Union, an outgoing and talkative young lady. Gov. Christine Whitman is the honorary chair, and The Arc will recognize several individuals for their support and personal achievement.

State Sen. C. Louis Bassano, R-Union, will be honored with the ARC's Humanitarian Award. Bassano is now serving his fifth term in the New Jersey Senate. He is the author of numerous laws devoted to protecting public health and safety, particularly on issues affecting children, senior citizens and people

Bassano was instrumental in the recent enactment of the $160 million bond issue, which will provide funds to open residential facilities that will be "home" to people with developmenal disabilities. Many of the people ARC serves will be directly affected by this legislation.

The Arc also will honor Dr. Deborah M. Spitalnik with the Humanitarian Award. Spitalnik is executive director of the University Affiliated Program of New Jersey at the University oif Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey where she is an associate professor of clinical pediatrics and family medicine. She has recently been appointed to the President's Committee on Mental Retardation and is a former member of the Board of Directors of The ARC of Hunterdon

The Spirit of The Arc Award will be presented to John MacMaster, a logistics manager for BOC Gases America's National Scheduling Center in Bethlehem. Pa. MacMaster organized a BOC-A-Thon that sent BOC employees bicycling through Morris and Somerset counties to raise funds for the agency.

'Wonka' play has 'sweet' appeal

By Bea Smith Lifestyle Editor

The stage production, "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory," was chosen for Burnet Middle School's spring offering by Candace Caponegro, director, "because it has lots of roles for kids."

Caponegro, an English teacher at the school in Union, came by this office the other day with the play's stars, Craig Wojcik and McKenzie Burkhardt, both 13 years of age and both eighth-graders. It will be presented March 24 and 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the school on Morris and Caldwell avenues

"First of all," Caponegro explained, "it was a movie with Gene Wilder that a lot of kids have seen on television that had been made about 15 years ago. They know the characters in the show. Then, I try to get plays that really appeal to grammar school age kids in addition to the adult population. The play," she said, "is based on the book by Roald Dahl called 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.' Sometimes, the play is a little difficult because the book is a little different than the movie.

"But many things are the same. such as the Oompha Loomphas. We have 20 of them — little gold-colored workers, who are from the land of Oompha Loompha, that Willie has rescued and put to work in his chocolate factory," he noted.

The part of Willie Wonka is played by Wojcik, who had been selected at an audition with a group of other teenagers. "We selected him," said Caponegro, "because he had best acting and singing talents."

"Last year," said Wojcik, "I played Linas, the little brother, in 'You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown.' And this year it's just great fun. You have to totally change your character. Willie Wonka is a combination of everything. He's sad. He's happy. He's crazy. He's normal."

"We've had a lot of rehears'al," said Burkhardt, "but it's coming along." She plays Charley Bucket, short for Charleen. "I play the kid who finds the last golden ticket for candy bars, and I win a trip to Willie Wonka's factory, where there is as much candy as you can cat for the rest of your life."

"McKenzie's the only non-brat in the group," added Wojcik, "Everyone else in the group is greedy and selfish. Everybody has a glitch. That means, something is wrong with them."

This is not Burkhardt's first effort. She said that "I have been in many plays at the school and in the Summer Music School. Even though I like singing and acting, I want to have another career in my life. I have two brothers, who are excellent singers and actors, Meridoc, who is in Union High School, and Steel, who is in Central 5. So, it comes natural," Burkhardt explained.

Wojcik said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wojcik, "are happy that I'm doing this." He smiled and said. "I had to choose the play over wrestling.

"Both my parents, Bob and Donna Burkhardt, are teachers," said Burkhardt. "they are both in charge of props and construction here." Her mother is an art teacher in Basking Ridge who also teaches classes in Springfield. Her father is a kindergarten teacher at the James Caldwell School in Springfield. "My dad sings, 100," she added.

"McKenzie has an excellent singing voice," said Caponegro. "We bought the rights to original music by Andrew Montebew. He wrote some original songs for the play. We paid him a small fee, and he lets us use three pieces of his music. One of the songs, which both Craig and McKenzie sing is 'Above the World.' One is a chewing gum song, which is sung by Vanessa Rowe, who plays Violet

Beauregard, a gum-chewing toughie. "We also have an excellent Yeruca Salt, an extremely spoiled kid, played by Kristen Bober," he noted.

"That's also the name of a popular rock group," said Burkhardt.

"Willy Wonka," said Caponegro. "took more work technically, than any other play we did at Burnet. We have creted a special way to make Violet blow up into a blueberry. And we hope it works," she smiled. "Then there's Mike Teevee, played by Scott Goldman, a seventh-grader. We have shrunken and put him inside of a TV. actually, transferred him into a TV.

"Several other weird things happen that require special effects," declared Caponegro, "It's a challenge, because we have more scenes - more steps than we normally have had to tackle. And backstage at the school, we are rather limited. Still, we have quite a few parents and teachers who are working to make the show a success. There are Pat and Mike Shumsky. who are in charge of lights; Ron and Helene Lateiner, sets; Margaret Rowe, costumes, and we get a lot of help from one parent, Al Banks, construction, and Carmen Verderosa, a science teacher, who will be playing drums, and John Schaefer, who is doing the printing.".

Caponegro reiterated that "McKenzie's mom and dad are in charge of props, and there are quite a few props. Then we have Cathy DiLeo from the Performance Center doing our choreography. She started as a parent and is still with us. We also have Mark Filan, a music teacher in Burnet, Connecticut Farms and Livingston School."

Rehearsals have been held every day from 2:45 to 5:30 p.m. and three complete Saturdays. "Terry Malles is bringing over her cosmetology class from Union High School, and they are doing all the makeup, which is quite extensive. So many have to be painted gold, you know," said Caponegro. "They are very, very professional. They always do an excellent job. It's quite a bit of work.

"I really think it's great when the schools in town can work together." she said. "We also take scenes from shows and bring them to granumar schools, such as Battle Hill, Connecticut Farms and Franklin schools. They love our shows. And it's good experience for our kids to perform before an audience the week before the show. We do this every year and the responses have been extremely favorable. Also, the senior citizens are invited to a full run through of the show on the morning of the opening. free of charge.'

This is the fourth production for Burnet. "The kids work very hard." said Caponegro. "We used all the students who have shown an interest not only on stage in the play, but we trained them to be stage managers, in lights and props, and they come to all the rehearsals."

"When we have extra time on the set," said Wojeik, "we do our homework right there.'

Willie Wonka, played by Craig Wojcik, center, offers sweet treats to his fellow workers in Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory,' Burnet Middle School's spring offering, March 24 and 25 in the school auditorium on Morris and Caldwell avenues.

"We try to encourage the kids to an opera singer in New York, Tommy maintain their good grades." explained Caponegro. "And the teachers have been very cooperative. And we couldn't have done all this without our principal, Gary Malles, and our vice principal. Ron Meyers. Another rounded interest in many aspects of important person in the play is Pat Kolesa and her art club, who come every day to paint the sets."

And in between it all, interspersed Burkhardt, "I take vocal lessons with life has to offer.

Smargiasi.

"And I just like sports," said-Wojcik. I'm going out for baseball now, and I did cross country."

Both youngsters exhibit a welflife, and it appears they will be successful in "Willy Wonka" and in their future aspirations. Chocolate candy - and all the rest of the good things

'Der Yiddisher Mikado' will be performed by the Gilbert and Sullivan Light Opera Co. of Long Island at the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union, March 26 at 2 p.m., sponsored by the Hadassah chapters of Elizabeth, Hillside and Springfield as their chief. fund-raisers.

Toy show to debut

The Greater Metro Collectible Toy Show and Sale will make its debut Sunday at the Coachman banquet facility, Cranford, from 10 a.m. to 4

Veteran promoters Greg Talbot and John C. Maurer have assembled more than 50 exhibitors who will fill more than 100 tables with collectible toys ranging from tin lithographed comic character figures to automotive racing cars. Talbot and Maurer have been directing specialty collectible-shows under the Key Promotions Ltd. logo for the past 25 years.

A collectible toy can be any plaything made from the early 1940s to the present. The term covers a wide array of items, which accounts for the amounts of popularity associated with this segment of the collecting

A few of the more familiar items that fall under that category and that will be well represented at the show are Hess toy trucks, lead soldiers, Star Wars items, GI Joe dolls and accessories, Disneymania, McDonalds and other fast-food or cereal-box premiums, Beatlemania, Aurora plastic model kits, dolls, 1/43 die-cast cars and trucks, lunch boxes, Golden books, television action figures, pressed steel trucks, games/puzzles, tin wind-ups and trains -

Special emphasis will be placed on automotive racing collectibles. Exhibitors Mark Henderson, Medford, Vic Medcalf, Reading, Pa., and Cliff Reymann, Milford, will offer die-cast racing cars and transporters of the more prominent NASCAR, NHRA and FI teams and drivers.

The YMHA of Union County, 501 Green Lane, Union, has announced that final concert for the 1994-95 season will take place March 18 at 8 p.m. The cost is $3 a person. Featured will be Patricio Diaz on viola, Dorothea Fayne a Spinto soprano, and Rina Dokshitsky on piano.

Dokshitsky began her piano studies at the age of 6 with Professor Ilona Vineze in Israel. She started her professional career at the age of 11. When she was 13 she performed with the Israel Philharmoic under the baton of David Shalon. That same year, Zubin Mehta sent her to Italy to represent Israel in a concert sponsored by UNICEF.

Since 1992 Dokshitsky has been playing with cellist Suren Bagratuni in Boston and New York City, where they performed in Jordan Hall, the Gardener Museum, WGBH Radio, Harvard University, and the Carnegie-Weill Recital Hall. This past summer Dokshitsky was invited to play solo and chamber music with violinists Scott St. John and Dmitry Berlinsky, and cellist Christopher Costanza in a music festival at the University of Nebraska under the management of Young Concert Artists.

Fayne began her studies at the age of 4 under the guidance of Cantor call Myrna Friedman at 289-8112.

Aaron Marcus, and now studies privately with a former opera singer of the Metroplitan Opera, Patricia Craig. She recently sang Mahler's Kindertotenlieder with an orchestrra in Tel Aviv and has sung such roles as Rosina, Cherubino, Mrs. Lovett from "Sweeney Todd," "Carmen," and Charlotte from "Werther." She has been invited to sing Wagner's "Wesendonck Lieder," Berio's "Folk Songs for Voice and Chamber Orchestra," Kodaly's "Ta Deum" in the 1995-96 season.

Diaz was born in Madrid, where he studied at the Royal Conservatory. He was recipient of the Soviet Governments Scholarship to study at the Moscow Conservatory. He then came to the United States where he finished his studies at the University of Mass and the Manhattan School of Music. Patricio has performed as a chamber musician and as a soloist in Europe and in the United States.

Kawameeh's 'Oliver' slated for 'good-weather' opening

By Bea Smith Lifestyle Editor

Last year, the Kawamech Middle School Musical Theater Department in Union, under the guidance of Nanci Schoenberger, director, school administrators, teachers, parents and students worked hard and diligently to bring the musical, "Annie," to its stage. But Mother Nature was in a foul mood and swept away everything with one major snow storm.

We had to cancel that production. sighed Schoenberger, during a recent visit to this office, "after all that work! Unfortunately, school was closed on the day of the performance. But this ear, we have an even bigger produc-"c., 'Oliver,' and at the look of things. I believe that we won't have weather as an obstecle course on March 24 and 25. At least, I hope int." she smiled. "This year we're going to be OK. The attractive, friendly director who also is a vocal music teacher at Han smeeh, explained that "counting y the performers, the crew and the Thestra, we have about 100 people orking on this production.

How did she choose "Oliver," a ige, ambilious project?

"Basically," she said, "we tried to and a show where as many kids as ressible could be in it, and a wide var-lety of characters gave a lot of students the opportunity to audition. And," Schoenberger asserted, "we specified that every student who auditions gets some type of a part. No one is excluded. It brings the whole personality of the students to the surface, and it gives them more selfconfidence."

Schoenberger explained that "we have a stage crew that's double last year. We have about 20 students doing scenery and props, and about 40 students working behind the scenes. Our vice principal. Harold Bell, and one of the parents, practically built the London Bridge.

And the music is provided by a full student orchestra of 25 members conducted by our instrumental teacher. Gerard Babo. He actually arranged all the music himself. He's put in a tremendous amount of hours. Actually, there is a full student performance from behind the scenes to the probestra," she said.

The theater group, which started rehearsing in December, has been practicing "about six to eight hours a week, and once a month on Saturdays - and that's an eight-hour rehearsal, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. They are doing wonderfully. It never ceases to amaze me." Schoenberger grinned, "what these kids carl do. Three years ago, we did Sleeping Beauty, and there were 17 pages and about 30 in the cast. Now, we've almost tripled. We have over 100 pages and that many kids. We have 15 full production songs, and they're just doing a phenomenal job. They are extremely talented students."

The director mentioned that "we try to get as many students involved as is possible. They are between the ages of 11 and 12, and what's so great about the whole idea is that they know the story. It's taken from a classical novel. Charles Dickens' 'Oliver Twist,' and they've read it in school, and probably had seen the show on stage and on the screen in their ripe old age," she said.

"And, it's not just the students, but the PTA (Parent-Teacher Association) takes a very active part in this. They are involved in backstage help. selling tickets, refreshments. Without the administration and the PTA, and even the secretaries, who have been doing extra work, it would be impossible to do something like this." Schoenberger said that the school has had its T-shirt day, when everyone becomes aware of "Oliver."

"The leading role of Oliver is assumed by a brand new to the school 6th-grader, Justin Conforti, Actually," she explained, "most of the people we have are newcomers to our drama club this year, and some have been with us as far as three years ago, and participated in all three productions. With the magic of 'Oliver,' you see, it involves kids as kids and they can actually be themselves. Their true character comes out."

In addition to Schoenberger, the production staff includes the principal. Gloria Hines; assistant directors, Joseph Canarelli, teacher of the gifted and talented; and Marie Krueger, English teacher: orchestra arrangements, Babo; scenic design, Joan Permison, art teacher; set construction. Emie Krueger and vice principal Bell: program layout. Edward Kliszus: sound design, Tom Haggerty of Gabriel Sound, and T-shirt/cover design, John Graziano of Garden State Screen Printers.

The Art Club, which "has helped greatly with the scenery and the props," includes Kristen Baylock Michael Bontempo, Alison Calefati. Justin Conforti, Christine Corigliano. John Rey Cui, Shali Deutch, Reema Iqbal. Michael Kaspar, Amy Kosiowski, Jessica Loria, Tashana Mitchell, Matthew Overberger, Rachel Parikh, Jitesh Patel, Naishami Patel, Brian Reilly, Michelle Siuta. REVIEW

By Cynthia B. Gordon Staff Writer

Welcome to Pizza Plus, a delightful three-generation, family-owned business, located on Roselle Street in

According to Theresa Rodriguez, everything is homemade. "We cook the way we ate at home. We pick our 1 favorite foods and elaborate on those," said Theresa.

Not only does the restaurant serve Sicilian and American pizza, as well as any sub sandwich imaginaeable, but it also specialize in delicious Uruguayan foods.

I was curious to try the speciality foods, as I had never tasted them before and it is their "specialty."

I tried their empanandas, flaky turnovers filled with delicious mixtures of beef or spinach, that comes with a special sun tomato sauce, which takes two months to prepare. The empanadas were especially good - I could have had a whole meal of them.

I also sampled some unique finger sandwiches which are offered as an appetizer. They have corn, harn and cheese, anchovy and pepper sandwiches. I especially liked the pepper and anchovy sandwiches; they were like nothing I had ever eaten before and

For a main dish, I tried the Milanesa Napolitano, tender slices of breaded steak sauteed to a golden brown color with ham and mozzarella. It was out of this world! I also had a tossed salad, which was very fresh and contained a nice and colorful assortment of vegetables, such as lettuce, tomato, cucumber, carrots, mushrooms and peppers.

In addition, I tasted the garlic bread, which was outstanding, as I was pleasantly surprised to find fresh garlic on the bread.

All of their food seems to go an extra step to make it homemade and "people come from far away to eat unique. Their pizzas also are unique Veronica's pecan pie."

in the selections that they offer, as well as pizzas with the usual Gloria and Julio Rodriguez had a ingredients.

For dessert, I tried the Flan, a Latin-Spanish dessert made of a baked-egg custard with caramel sauce. It was very unusual, and especially tasty.

"We're trying to cater to the community as well as present specialities to the community, but it hasn't been an easy task," said Theresa Rodriguez.

"My mom is a great cook and Veronica (her daughter) is the dessert specialist," said Theresa. She added,

According to Theresa, her parents, restaurant in Uruguay about five years Homemade soups also are made ago which they had for 10 years. They decided to come back to the United States to be with the family. They have been in the restaurant business for more than 12 years.

Exhibition, reception set in Mountainside

An exhibit of oil paintings by Patricia Kimsey-Bollinger is on display at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, throughout this month. The public is invited to meet the artist at an opening reception at the hospital March 19 from 2 to 4 p.m.

The artist will exhibit landscape and portrait paintings.

Kimsey-Bollinger graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University. She was a member of the Art Students' League of New York, where she studied with Frank Mason, David Leffel and Robert Majone. She taught art at the Scotch Plains Recreation Department and the C. Loeber's Children's Art School in Westfield, and was an instructor for a painting class for the homeless in conjunction with the Junior League of Elizabeth-Plainfield and the Union County Interfaith Council for the Homeless. She gives private lessons at the Kimsey-Bollinger Westfield Studio.

Her work which has been shown at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, Summit, currently is part of the "Collector's Choice" exhibit at the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts. Her gallery exhibits have included the Windsor Picture Gallery,

Mountainside. Kimsey-Bollinger's work has also appeared at Union League Club; Ken Marcot Restaurant, Westfield; Cranford Dramatic Club: First United Methodist Church, Westfield; Westfield Hadassah Annual Invitational Exhibition, Kenilworth Art Association Outdoor Show; Union Festival on the Green, Union, and Westfield Art Association Annual Oil Show.

Individuals or group who plan to visit the display, which is open to the public daily from 8:30 a.m. - 8:30 p.m., can enter the hospital's East Wing entrance. For more information about the display one can call the hospital's community resources coordinator, Susan Baxter, at (908)233-3720, ext. 379.

The artists' work are for sale with a portion benefiting Children's Specialized Hospital.

Children's Specialized Hospital, reportedly New Jersey's only comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital, is located on New Providence Road.

Six women take charge

When the 37th annual Art Show and Sale of the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah opens on the evening of March 25 in Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, "many people will have worked year-round to ensure the success of

Work on the show and sale began last fall, when the six women who carry the responsibility for coordinating the show, Evelyn Hollander of Rahway, Marilynne Ford, Betty Dubman and Tassie Becker of Scotch Plains, Geralyn Lichtenstein of Westfield, and Ellen Winetsky of Linden, commissioned an artist to create a limited edition graphic which sponsors receive as a gift for their donation. This year, Jacqueline Chesley created a variate edition of monoprints.

The individual Artists committee led Dubman and Sallie Cherr of Scotch Plains, contact the artist who will be participating in the show. Many of the 75 artists are visited by Hadassah members for the purpose of selecting the pieces that will be in the show,

The Gallery Selection committee, led by Maxine Bradie of Mountainside and Carol Karnovsky, visits 20 New Jersey and New York galleries selecting major works for the show.

The Portfolio committee, led by Gail Kelner, Cynthia Samuel and Robin Kaufman of Scotch Plains, selects unframed art to be displayed in

*Other committees not involved in art selection include the Ad Journal committee, led by Lorraine Itzkowitz of Clark and Geralyn Lichtenstein, The gala committee, under the direction of Becker, Ford and Dubman, prepares for the champagne reception. "Le Petit Cafe," organized by Sadie Schoss of Westfield and Karen Langer of Scotch Plains, serves lunch and snacks throughout the show.

Four days before the opening the professioanl show designers arrive. A committee of members and their husbands led by Stan Daitch of Mountainside and Sanford Becker of Scotch Plains, work with the designers to build the sets and arrange the auditorium. The pictures are hung and the sculpture displayed.

On opening night, March 25, the children of members help by serving hors d'oeuvres and checking coats. At the social event, patrons meet many of the artists and have first opportunity to view and purchase displayed works.

March 19-25

ARIES - March 21/April 20 A desire to go against the flow could make this an interesting week. While you are rocking the boat, you could find others who want to come on board. If you are purchasing travel tickets, be sure to check dates and times. Otherwise, you could find yourself in a sticky situation.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21 Self-reliance is the key to success this week as you find others untelliable. This is especially true in the workplace where you may realize that you are pulling most of the weight. Although this may seem unfair, you'll soon realize that rewards are waiting

GEMINI – May 22/June 21 Dreams can produce real inspirations. Share creative ideas, and pool resources. Your active social life may make you somewhat careless with your cash around midweck, so try to set aside a reserve fund. This week, you'll find more pleasure from work than usual CANCER - June 22/July 22

Something that happens this week will support the old saying, "With every bad comes a good." Have an important appointment this week? If so, be sure to leave yourself extra time, or you could end up being embarrassingly late. The mail will bring a pleasant surprise

LEO - July 23/August 23. It's a week for success. If you've been seeking new employment, this could be the week that things finally start moving. Happily employed Leos could find themselves up for a promotion. The social scene may be quieter than usual. Don't feel obligated to lend money to family

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22 Weekend visitors may disrupt your routine, but will add a lighthearted note to the week. A temperamental loved one may put your patience to the test this week. Instead of losing your cool, try to find out the real problem. Money matters will be an issue throughout the week

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

You'll prove all the astrology texts wrong by being a swift decision maker this week. You'll realize that it's not the big decisions you have problems with, but the smaller ones, like what to have for lunch. Even if vou're itching for a shopping spree, consult your savings account before pulling out the plastic.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

If you are in business or politics, this week could be very lucky for you. Your keen intellect and decisiveness will lead you to success. On the home front, try, not to take frustrations out on loved ones. Instead. show your appreciation for what they've done for you

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21 It's an excellent week for getting things done. You'll be able to plow through piles of work that seemed endless. A change in schedule on Thursday will be a nice diversion from routine. If you desire a change in your surroundings, try creative home improvements for a quick fix.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20 Don't let others sway your opinion when it comes to your personal affairs. Follow your instincts, and you're sure to make the right decision: A work associate's behavior may be the source of aggravation. Even though it may be frustrating, realize there's not much you can do. AOUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Pay attention to your health. If you are overdue for a dental visit or physical examination, it's time to go. Accept Inst-minute invitations, especially if they are somewhat offbeat. You could be in for a pleasant surprise. A loved one wants more of your time and attention. PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

Avoid charming salespeople offering "the deal of a lifetime." Remember, there's always a catch. In matters of love, don't wear your heart on your sleeve, especially if you're in a new relationship. A Libra friend will play a prominent role in the week's events. YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Children's musicals slated by Paper Mill

The Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, opened its spring series of weekend musicals for children beginning with "Hans Brinker" by Artspower last week.

On March 18 and 19, the Paper Mill will offer the classic tale of "Snow -White and the Seven Dwarfs." Presented by the Gingerbread Players, the story of good and evil will take the young audience "on a magical journey." This adaptation has its own original musical score.

All the musicals in this series begin at 11 a.m. and are recommended for children ages 5 through 10. Tickets are $7 for orchestra and $6 for mezzanine and can be obtained by calling the box office at (201) 376-4343. Audio described or sign interpreted performances are available for children with visual or hearing impairments. To arrange for either of these services one can call Rita Donald at (201) 379-3636, Ext. 2366.

Tradition alive at Reilly Olds

Robert Reilly, founder of Reilly Oldsmobile, a Westfield landmark since 1956, has done his best to keep the tradition alive at the dealership. In 1956, the company's motto was service — the foundation of its business. That still holds true today. Their goal is customer satisfaction. Pictured from left to right are, Thomas Grace, sales consultant, Robert Reilly, owner and Michael A. Cappuccio, Jr.,sales consultant.

Proper tire care is essential extremely important to motorists concerned about the safe and economical operation of their cars. Since 1921, the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association has shared that concern for the well-being of the nation's motoring public and offers these important car care tips: • Tire inflation: You can turn air into oil, simply by keeping you tires properly inflated.

According to the Department of Energy, American motorists could save 90,000 barrels of oil a day by properly inflating their tires. Keeping their tires underinflated could result in wasting an estimated 600 million gallons of gasoline annually, or about $750 million a year.

Motorists should check their vehicle owners manual to determine the proper inflation.

It is not possible to tell if your tires are underinflated just by looking at them. Since air pumps are not always accurate, NTDRA recommends that you either stop by a tire dealer for an inflation check or carry an accurate air gauge in the glove compartment. Tires should be checked at least once of month and before any long trip.

Underinflation lowers miles per gallon, creates excessive heat, seriously reduces tread life, increases rolling resistance and can cause tire failure.

• Tires: Don't go bald early. At least once a month, inspect tires closely for signs of uneven wear. Uneven wear patterns may be caused by improper inflation pressures, misalignment, improper balance or suspension neglect. If caught in time, the. cause may be corrected. When the tread is worn down to 2/32nds of an inch, or when the wear bars (which look like thin strips of smooth rubber across the tread) appear on the tire, it's time to replace the tire.

 Suspension and Steering: Suspension systems in need of repairs send out warning signals: (1) Excessive bounce at front or rear end when your push down on the bumper (2) rough. uncomfortable ride—caused by leaking shock absorber seals or (3) clinking noises when going over a bump or pot hole. If any of these problems are noticed, motorists could avoid excessive and expensive damage to their cars and tires by having the suspension system checked. If car fails to respond immediately to turn of steering wheel, then a profession check of steering components is in order.

• Brakes: Squeaky is not always. bad, but be careful. All brakes are susceptible to slight occasional squeal or grinding. This occurs after the vehicle has been idle overnight or in unusual damp weather conditions. This noise will dissipate quickly, and has no effect on brake operation. However, if the brake noises (grinding and squeaking) continue, or brake linings haven't been checked by a professional service center for over one year, a professional check should be in order. Also, if brake pedal has to be pushed down further than normal to engage, a check may be needed.

• Alignment: Keep it going straight. If the car seems to pull to one side or appears to be traveling at an angle while all four wheels are straight, and the tire tread is wearing unevenly, the car is probably out of alignment. This could happen to

Tire and related automotive care is either a new or older car. To avoid permanent damage and the risk associated with driving a vehicle in this condition, NTDRA suggests a professional opinion.

Buying a used car is easy at Fette

What's in a name? When the subject is previously owned vehicles, there can be a big difference, between "used" and "Scleet Pre-Owned," according to Larry Fette of Fette Ford/Imports where previously owned vehicles are treated as seriously as the dealership's new Fords, Isuzus and Subarus.

New car prices have made the previously owned market a hot area in the auto industry, but consumers are advised to beware of so-called "sled lots" where they may be victimized. Recent articles in both The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal advise shoppers that the best place to buy a used car is at a reputable new car dealership.

Such a recommendation makes sense in light of Fette's process of evaluation and their warranty policy. Steven Shenloogian, Fette's Sales Manager for Select Pre-Owned and and 18-year Fette veteran, dispells the common image of a customer's trade-in getting a car wash and a price tag before being parked back on the lot the same

Upon trade-in a road test is conducted by the Service Department and special attention is paid to drivability and to trouble indicators like uneven tire wear, engine noises and chassis squeaks and rattles. Vehicles are also put on a lift to check for oil leaks or fram damage. Fette's policy is to not sell vehicles with frame damage. If Shenloogian approves the car's mileage, usually under 50,000, and body condition. it goes to the Service Department for further testing; otherwise it goes directly to a wholesale auction.

The Service Department checks the vehicle identification number, VIN, on Ford and Lincoln-Mercury vehicles against any outstanding recalls for that model before trained technicians subject it to a detailed 32-point inspection and complete any routine repairs they find necessary; a car with major problems will also be sold at a wholesale auction. There is a second road check by a Ford certified technician before the car leaves the Service Department. Finally, the car is given what Shenloogian calls a "trip to the beauty shop." Cosmetic reconditioning might include replacement or repair of pin striping, wheel covers, minor chipped glass, small leather tears or carpet burns, or paint problems. The car is professionally steam-cleaned, including the engine and fender wells - it looks as close to new as possible.

When the title comes back from the Motor Vehicle Bureau any indication that this vehicle has been flooded, stolen, had an odometer problem or frame damage will stop the transaction.

All Fette Select Pre-Owned cars are sold with at least a Fette warranty, and all their pre-owned cars are guaranteed to pass state inspection, but in most cases a factory warranty is still in effect. In fact, since 40-50 percent of the vehicles sold at Fette's Select Pre-Owned lot have come off a Fette lease, their service history is known to the Service Department. Typically, these vehicles are two-years-old with an average mileage of less than 30,000

As one of the leading dealers in the country for 2-year leases, Fette has a better selection of these cars than most. In addition to trade-ins, Fette will also buy Ford executive cars or rental repurchase cars at special auctions, which provides an "almost brand-new" option for the new car shopper who can't quite reach the price of a new vehicle. The origin of these cars is disclosed to the buyer. In fact, Shenloogian explains that Fette's policy of full disclosure is one of the reasons he has worked there for 18 years. "We aim to build relationships with our customers. 'Integrity' is the watch word from top to bottom in this organization."

Fette Ford/Imports, a family business for three generations, has over 600 Fords, Isuzus, Subarus and Select -Pre-Owned vehicles in inventory. Serving Passaic, Bergen, Essex, Morris and Hudson counties and beyond, Fette is located on Route 46 in Clifton near Route 3 and 80 and the Garden State Parkway. The all-new 1995 Dodge Neon, introduced in January 1994, set new standards in what a small car should be in terms of safety, value and fun-to-drive performance.

Available in both sedan and coupe bodystyles with a standard 132-hp SOHC engine, and now a 150-hp DOHC engine, Neon is evidence that small car customers no longer have to sacrifice style, comfort, safety, value and driving enjoyment.

Dodge's technology trailblazes into the next century

From the powerful Viper RT/10 to the fun-to-drive Neon, Dodge's lineup for 1995 is comprised of a broad group of vehicles that is expressively designed and innovative. Included under one nameplate are a best-selling minivan, a pulsequickening sports car and a comfortconscious sedan - exciting yet affordable vehicles that will allow Dodge to compete in a broad market.

The Viper RT/10 remains an image-leader for Dodge - a straightforward super-car that has become a sports car icon. Viper boasts a mannoth 8.0-liter V10 with 400 horsepower, and is balanced by a responsive suspension and taut rack-andpinion steering.

Utilizing Chrysler's revolutionary cab-forward concept, the Dodge Intrepid's wide-stance design provides increased visibility and maximum space for occupants and cargo. With Intrepid's available 3.5-liter, 24-valve, SOHC V6, safety features such as dual front air bags and an available child-safety seat, and many standard features, buyers get more for

The Caravan and its larger sibling, the Grand Caravan, come in more sizes and offers more engines than any other minivan on the market Both already exceed 1998 car surety requirements, and for 1995, anti-lock brakes are standard on Caravan and Grand Caravan LE models.

Cavalier — Chevy's best selling car rolet Cavalier blooms bigger and better, year after year. Since its debut in 1982, the Cavalier has become the production, the Cavalier was one of the top ten best-selling cars in America in 1993. Now the all-new 1995 Cavalier is blossoming on the automotive landscape. The new car's rock-solid structure and contemporary appearance belie its price tag. The Chevrolet team has produced an affordable entry-level car with style and substance, delivering more than expected in the small-car segment.

To date, the first stage of the launch for the new Cavalier has been an unqualified success. The arrival of both the Coupe and Sedan Cavalier models in the fall of 1994 has shown the thoughtful engineering process behind the complete redesign of the

Now the stage is set for phase two of the Cavalier launch - the all-new Z.24. For those buyers who demand a more sporty appearance with a higher equipment level, the Z24 Coupe is a favorite choice.

The 1995 Chevrolet Cavalier will be offered in three body styles: fourdoor sedan, two-door coupe, and sporty convertible. All models benefit from a nearly 2-inch-wider track and a 3-inch-longer wheelbase compared to their predecessors - yet the new body is 2 inches shorter in overall length for better maneuverability in the cut-and-thrust of traffic.

The Cavalier coupe is also available in a Z24 version with special features: pass lock theft-deterrent system with automatic transmission, 2.3 Liter

Like a hardy perennial, the Chev- Quad 4' engine, fog lamps. P205/55R-16 performance steelbelted tires on 16-inch aluminum wheels, Level II Sport Suspension, best-selling Chevrolet passenger car Tilt-Wheel Adjustable Steering Colin modern history, with over three jumn, aero, rocker moldings, special million sold. After a dozen years in front and rear fascias, deck-lid mounted rear spoiler and dual stainless-steel exhaust outlets.

> The 1995 Cavalier has a longer wheelbase and stiffer structure which create a dramatically improved driving experience. The computermodeled body minimizes flex, so the suspension can provide responsive control without transmitting undue harshness to the vehicle occupants. A new "progressive ride" system and coil-over-shock rear suspension allowed the Chevrolet engineering team to tune the chassis to communicate road conditions to the driver and minimize the forces actually felt by occupants. In addition, ride quality has been impoved through the use of a new torque axis mounting system that reduces engine vibration.

The new Cavalier interior has more shoulder room, more front hip room and more rear leg room than the previous model. Driver-and front passenger-side air bags are now standard. Active safety belts, with the buckle mounted on the driver seat, maintain proper positioning and do not need adjustment when the seat is repositioned. Cavalier has a folddown rear seat that extends its cargo capacity, adding to its intrinsic value. Versatility and comfort go hand in hand in the '95 Cavalier. New integrated rear-seat air ducts keep the rear seat comfortable on frosty mornings and cool on hot afternoons. When equipped with air conditioning, the new Cavalier utilizes R-134a, a refrigerant that's CFC-free and non-ozone depleting. Extended durability components cut the cost of Cavalier ownership. The 2.2 Liter LA features platinumtipped spark plugs that require no service for 100,000 miles under normal driving. Dexron III automatic transmission fluid never needs replacement under normal operating conditions. Front and rear 5-mph bumpers simply shrug off minor impacts, Twoside-galvanized steel is used for all body panels (except the roof, where it is not needed) to stop corrosion cold. High-performance Z24 coupes and sporty convertibles will follow in the spring of 1995, along with an optional Quad 4 engine replete with balance shafts that help cancel out engine vibrations and a new electronically controlled 4T40-E 4-speed automatic

State-of-the-art safety features are high on the list of customer desires in the small-car segment. In addition to dual air bags, Cavalier has anti-lock brakes as standard equipment. Reardoor child security locks (sedan), Child Comfort Guide safety belt adjusters, and safety belts designed for child safety seats are integral parts of the total safety package designed into the '95 Cavalier and should appeal to family-oriented buyers.

Thoughtful details abound. A "sport cluster" that includes a low-oillèvel sensor and low-coolant-level warning lights provides warnings if those fluids get too low. Dramatic "theatre dimming" slowly brings down the interior courtesy lights instead of turning them off abruptly. A new "zoned" rear defroster clears the areas that are crucial to outward visibility,

Maintenance-free car isn't here yet

Remember when your vehicle needed an oil change every 1,000 miles? When engines had distributor points that needed adjustment or replacement every 6,000 miles? When tires wore out, if you were lucky, every 15,000 miles? Your family car used to need a lot more attention to keep it safe and reliable. Cars and light trucks require much less maintenance today, but the maintenance-free car isn't here yet. The National Automobile Dealers Association recommends that you perform regular checks on vehicle systems and follow manufacturer maintenance recommendations to keep your car or truck running safely, efficiently and reliably.

You should perform regular visual checks on vehicle systems between service visits to prevent problems. On a weekly basis, check the engine oil, coolant and windshield washer fluid levels as described in the owner's manual. Check tire pressure, tire tread and operation of exterior lights and look for evidence of fluid leaks under the vehicle monthly. Less-frequently needed maintenance calls for the practiced hands and eyes of a professional.

The manufacturer's recommended maintenance schedule is the minimum service necessary to protect your rights under the warranty and should be performed as indicated in the owner's manual. You can do your part to ensure proper service by alerting your repair shop if your vehicle is frequently subjected to severe driving conditions, as these factors could affect recommended maintenance. Severy driving conditions include a lot of short trips that don't allow the engine to warm up fully, stop-and-go commuting in hot weather, pulling trailers or heavy loads, long periods of inactivity, and environmental factors such as dust, pollution, extreme temperatures and high humidity.

NADA recommends the following tips for better service:

• Read your owner's manual and warranty so you will know what to expect from your car and what your responsibilities are.

· Set priorities for suggested repairs. Not all repairs need immediate attention, and some can be postponed until the next routine maintenance. Experienced technicians can help you determine which problems present risk of injury to you or damage to your vehicle, so you can plan accordingly.

• Discuss special needs in off-peak hours. Early in the morning and closing time are the busiest hours for the service department. A telephone call later in the morning or earlier in the afternoon allows service advisors to give you more personal attention.

• Look for service aids and reminders on your vehicle, such as warning lights on the dash for engine oil level, burned-out exterior lights and fluid levels.

A new vehicle is often the second most expensive consumer purchase, after a home. During National Car Care Month and throughout the year, remember that preventive maintenance is essential to protecting your investment and keeping your vehicle clean-running, fuel-efficient, safe and reliable.

Whenever driving, be careful of sleepiness

Driving, especially, for long distances, reveals your true level of sleepiness. At the start of a trip, excitement makes a driver feel alert. but the alertness wears off once the trip is underway.

The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety offers these tips to avoid driving tired:

1. Start any trip by getting enough sleep the night before. Plan to drive during times of the day when you're normally awake, and stay overnight rather than traveling straight through.

2. Avoid driving during your body's "down time." Take a midafternoon break and find a place to sleep between midnight and 6 a.m.

3. Talk with your passenger if you have someone else in the car. A passenger can also let you know when you're showing signs of sleepiness. If your passenger thinks you're getting sleepy, let him or her drive or pull over and sleep. A nap could save your life and the lives of others.

4. Make sure both people in the front of the car are awake. A driver who needs rest should go to the back seat, buckle up, and sleep.

5. Schedule a break every two hours or every 100 miles. Stop sooner. if you show any danger signs of sleepiness. And during your break, take a nap, stretch, or get some exercise before getting back into your car.
