From The Editor's Notebook

Editor in Chief

in March, I spent two days in Pottsville, Pa. For those who are unaware of Pottsville's landscape, let me describe a couple scenes: At 8:30 a.m., many of the town's blue collar workers are walking to work, the males carrying steel lunch boxes which probably are securing the baloney sandwiches they prepared the night before. Many of the motorists on their way to work were in older model cars. There were more cars from the 1970s and early '80s than there were late model cars.

Down the street from the location that required me to be in Pottsville was a luncheonette which had a long counter filled with several of Pottsville's locals. They were dressed casually, most in jeans and parkas, and it was like the place where everyone knew their name.

I remarked to a couple of my colleagues who were with me that I felt like I was in a completely different world and imagined how simple and easy living in Pottsville could be.

I also remarked that if some of these people were displaced and were forced to live in our area, they wouldn't be able to keep up with the pace. They seemed so behind the times.

But, ironically, the reason I was in Pottsville was to learn how to be ahead of the times and it was at the offices of the Pottsville Republican, the region's daily newspaper, where I would collect this information and bring it back to use at Worrall Community Newspapers.

The future of newspapers depends on how quickly and conveniently we in the business can get information to our readers, we were told by some of the staff of the Republican. Give readers the power to access information when they want it, and you'll satisfy an important need.

We were sold.

And this week, we are introducing the item we bought — InfoSource.

With InfoSource, we can provide more information to our readers than we ever dreamed possible, all with the use of a telephone. To begin with, readers can dial 686-9898 and enter the selection number for the information they desire. A complete listing of what InfoSource offers is on Page B3 this week. We'll publish that list every week in all 12 of our Union

Do you want the daily lottery results? We have a selection number for you. How about a soap opera update? The daily horoscope? We have those selection numbers as well.

County weekly newspapers.

Do you want sports scores soon after the big game ends? We'll post them for you on a special selection number. Wonder how that council meeting ended? We'll tell you, but not too much because we still want you to pick up-our newspaper and read the whole story.

InfoSource can provide a wealth of information for every reader. It can provide a Homework Hotline so parents can be informed of their child's homework each night and it can be used by schools superintendents to alert parents when the district is closed because of inclement weather.

InfoSource is a product of the New Horizons Group of the Republican. It is designed to enhance, not replace, the printed word. It is designed to keep us in the weekly newspaper industry more competitive with daily newspapers and even television news.

InfoSource is designed to keep us ahead of the times—so we can keep our readers ahead of the times.

Safety campaign beefed up for promgoers

By Chris Gatto

Regional Editor
The high school prom, like graduation, is supposed to be something that participants as well as their friends and family want to remember always, not something they will wish they could forget.

That is why the Union County Prosecutor's office is teaming up with the New Jersey and Union County Juvenile Officers Association. Together they will beef up the annual campaign against teen-age drunk drivers, as students throughout the state begin making their plans for school proms and graduations.

Members of the prosecutor's Violent Crimes Unit who have expertise in investigating fatal accidents will be joining area juvenile officers in getting out the message concerning drinking and driving at prom time.

"The status quo is not going to cut it — we're talking about a combined message to business people, parents, schools and the kids who need to be safely celebrating this wonderful time in their lives," Prosecutor Andrew Ruotolo, Jr. said in a prepared statement.

On May 12, a meeting at which school officials and police will discuss ways to combat the carnage that always seems linked to this time of year, according to Clark Police Sgt. Robert Sarnecki, president of Union County Juvenile Officers Association.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert P. O'Leary, counsel for the association, has been directed to alert police officers to the new provisions of the state's Code of Criminal Justice that makes parents criminally liable for serving alooholic beverages to underage drinkers in their homes and that make it'd disorderly persons offense to rent rooms to teen-agers with the knowledge they will be consuming alcohol.

"It's very simple — parents can't be serving other kids and hotel and motel owners can't be renting rooms to minors for parties with alcohol," O'Leary said, citing a recent campaign established in Ocean County to help enforce the law. It carries a fine of $1,000 and up to six months maximum confinement.

School officials and law enforcement officers throughout the state are planning festivities and education programs to heighten awareness concerning drunk driving, according to officials from the state juvenile group.

Already in place are events such as Project Graduation where students have a night of substance-free fun rather than driving around from party to party and support networks and programs set up by Mothers Against Drunk Driving and the various municipal alliance, committees, which receive state funding to run alcohol and drug projects.

Officers throughout the state are having mock car accident drills, putting crashed-up automobiles outside high schools and getting local business folks to sponsor healthy and safe celebrations, he noted.

According to O'Leary, the county's association will make available copies of two videos that can be used for student assemblies and discussion groups.

One is "Death in the Fast Lane," which features interviews with survivors and defendants from fatal accidents involving alcohol, drugs or both and the other is "Staying Alive," a 15-minute news clip with graphic crash scenes and a strong public service message.

School officials or law enforcement officers may reserve a copy of either for two days at a time by calling O'Leary at the prosecutor's office.

Detective John Odin of the prosecutor's office, who assists local departments in investigating cases involving assault by auto and death by auto, said he has visited a number of schools already to discuss the consequences of underage drinking.

"The students really seem to respond to the message," he said, adding the office is currently prosecuting a death-by-auto case involving a Fanwood teen-anger killed in a Plainfield crash, and a severe car crash that decurred on the Bayway circle intersection in Elizabeth.

According to First Assistant Prosecutor Michael Lapolla, the county is using a $47,000 grant to improve evidence collection and prosecution of fatal accident cases. "Much of the painstaking work involves actual accident reconstruction," he said.

NJ Transit offers 'link' for disabled

NJ Transit's "Access Link" paratransit service this week began operating in Union County, completing phase three of the agency's program for people with disabilities.

The Union County service will be operated for NJ Transit by Laidlaw Transit, Inc. of Kenilworth under a $7 million, three-year contract. NJ Transit will provide Laidlaw with the 15 vehicles necessary to operate the service.

"Access Link has been gaining momentum in the 10 counties already served by the program," said NJ Transit Executive Director Shirley A. DeLibero. "Currently, almost 9,000 people per month take Access Link to school, work, medical facilities, stores and recreation areas. We expect those numbers will continue to grow as more and more people find out about the program." With the completion of Phase Three, Access Link will be operating in Union, Hudson, Essex, Burlington, Camden, Cumberland, Gloucester, Salem, Atlantic, Cape May and Ocean counties.

The final phase of Access Link, scheduled to begin in the summer of 1996, will encompass Bergen, Passaic, Morris, Sussex, Warren, Hunterdon, Somerset, Middlesex and Monmouth counties, and require the use of 92 vehicles. Access Link provides fully accessible mini-van and mini-bus service in accordance with the federal Americans with Disabilities Act, which requires public agencies operating local and regional bus service to provide paratransit services to people whose disabilities prevent them from using existing accessible services. Most of NJ Transit's local bus routes are already served by lift-equipped buses operating on regular schedules. These lift-equipped routes are marked with a "W" symbol in NJ Transit's timetables.

Under ADA, those eligible for paratransit service include:

• Individuals who, because of their disability, cannot ride an accessible bus without assistance:

Individuals who have impairment-related conditions that prevent them from getting to or from a bus stop or train station;

 Any person with a disability who can use an accessible vehicle, but no accessible service is available;

Individuals who are certified ADA paratransit-eligible in other states; and Individuals who are personal care attendants of ADA-eligible riders or persons traveling as companions of eligible riders.

NJ Transit has established application centers in the counties served by

Access Link to certify eligible riders. Those who believe they may be eligible for the program may contact NJ Transit at (800) 955-ADA-1 for information on the certification process. An Access Link vehicle will transport the applicant to an application center to complete an application form.

Once an applicant has been certified, he or she can call NJ Transit to make

Once an applicant has been certified, he or she can call NJ Transit to make reservations for paratransit service one to 14 days in advance of their trip. The agency will schedule all trips with the service providers. Fares for paratransit trips are similar to those on NJ Transit's regular bus routes in each Access Link area.

County's arts council adds folk arts program

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs will be offering a new Folk Arts Program thanks to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

In recognition of the significance and value of traditional folk arts and crafts, the NJSCA has established a Folk Arts Program that will provide support for both artists and activities of New Jersey's ethnic, regional and occupational communities.

"We are extremely pleased to see the continuation of folk Arts Program by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts", stated Linda-Lee Kelly, member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and Liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "This is a wonderful opportunity for the many cultural groups in Union County to further promote and teach the significance and value of their heritage", she

In order to encourage communities to continue passing on their traditional aris, and to provide greater support for the folk artists who perform them New Jersey State Council on the Arts, with the assistance of the National Endowment for the Arts, is offering grants for Folk Arts Apprenticeships.

These grants provide stipends to apprentices so that they can pay master folk artists to help them develop their skills in traditional folk arts and crafts. The grants range between $1,000 and $3,000. Potential apprentices and the master folk artists they wish to work with apply as a team and complete a form giving information on their backgrounds, their plans to work together, and their art form. They must also provide support materials that show their level of skill.

Apprentices must be residents of New Jersey and must be at least 15 years old. Applications will be evaluated on the following criteria: excellence on the master; preparation and commitment of the apprentice; shared cultural heritage of the team; traditionality and significance of the art form within the community, adequacy of the work plan, and appropriateness of the funding request.

Women of status gain accolades from commission

The Union County Commission on the Status of Women recently held its annual dinner honoring women of achievement at the Westwood in Garwood

"The 12 outstanding women we are honoring today work in fields ranging from government to medicine, and this year we are also celebrating the 75th anniversary of women gaining the right to vote," said Freeholder Linda-Lee Kelly, liaison to the commission.

More than 400 people attended the event, which also included an exhibit featuring notable women of Union County, and the first phase in.

"It's fitting that this exhibit depicted 15 women from the past century who have displayed great courage to overcome obstacles and become the first in their fields," said Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni, "since tonight we honor 12 women who are outstanding in their respective fields."

This was the first phase of the display, which will be completed by the fall, and will be made available to elementary schools and high schools countywide, as a learning toll on women's history.

"The exhibit began as an initiative of the commission to promote and preserve women's history in the county," said Freeholder Linda Stender. "It's a great compliment to our past and present leaders."

The commission has been working with the Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Division of Parks and Recreation, since January to unveil the first phase of the exhibit, according to Freeholder Frank Lehr.

"Although it took a long time for women to gain the rights they deserve, this commission wastes no time in getting things done. I salute them," he said.

The commission began as an advisory board in late 1974, and was changed to its present status in 1990 to give it more authority, said Union County Manager Ann Baran. The goal of the commission is to study the needs of women in the county and to make recommendations to improve the quality of life for women and children.

The 12 women honored were Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni; Maria Sartor of Scotch Plains, founder and owner of Macrisart Media; Union County Register Joanne Rajoppi, a Union resident; Joan Yankitis of Linden, vice president of

Aid available to address parent-child squabbles

As an adult, do you sometimes have better rapport with your children's friends than your own children? That's not at all unusual, and that's one of the reasons Host Home families are playing a crucial role in helping families and their adolescent children overcome their difficulties.

Families today are often under a great deal of stress and strain; sometimes a juvenile-family situation that appears to be getting out of hand can be resolved if the juvenile can spend a night or two away from the family.

In many cases, the youngster ean stay with friends or relatives during this cooling off period but some families do not have anyone to whom they can turn.

Host Home volunteers allow a carefully screened adolescent to stay in their home for a night or two while the youngster and family try to resolve their problems.

Host Home volunteers provide a bed for one or two nights for a juvenile who needs to be away from a family situation that may be escalating. Youths are between the ages of 12-17 and are screened before being accepted for Host Home placements as are Host Home volunteers themselves.

Anyone who resides in Union County, has a spare bed and would like to help a family in their community, should call Karen Robinson, Host Home coordinator, at the Union County Youth Service Bureau, (908) . 298-7800, for more information.

Gospel band takes Great White Way to . . . Rahway

Arts and Entertainment Editor

Gospel music has taken the Blind Boys of Alabama to Broadway - now it's taking them to Rahway.

The Blind Boys of Alabama will headline a concert at the Union County Arts Center on May 13, as part of the Woodson Foundation's Onstage in New Jersey concert series. The show will feature Minister Darryl Cherry and the Covenant Choir and the Linden High School Gospel Choir. For its segment, the Blind Boys will have more than 50 years of music-making from which to draw.

The group was formed in the late 1930s by Clarence Fountain while he was a student at the Talladega Institute for the Blind in Alabama. In the early years, the band was called the Happy Land Singers, and it could only be heard at school. However, after receiving a good response from these shows, the members decided to take their talents on the road, and they haven't left it since.

"We didn't have anything else to do," said Fountain, explaining the longevity of the group and the maintaining of its original lineup. "We thought we could make a living out of playing gospel. We could have gone on to rock 'n' roll, but we wanted to serve the Lord.

"We sing 'God Is a Spirit,' and we sing by the inspiration of spiritualism. We have so much harmony and movement on stage. People feel gospel. They also feel the blues, but the blues is of the devil," he said.

In addition to the training they received at the Talladega Institute, the members also took formal music lessons in the early stages of their career.

"In the late '30s and early '40s, there were only schools with white teachers. We learned songs like 'Old Virginia' - tunes white people taught; they didn't know gospel. But we took what we learned there and put it into our songs. We were taught how to structure songs," Fountain said.

By the 1980s, the Blind Boys had carved a niche in gospel, having recorded nearly 40 albums. Still, it wasn't until the Great White Way beckoned in 1982 that the band reached larger, secular audiences. The members were featured in the Obie Award-winning musical 'The Gospel at Colonus," in which classic Greek tragedy was presented in a contemporary Pentecostal motif.

"This was the highlight of my career," Fountain said. "Not many gospel acts go to Broadway so it was a turning point for us, and it helped us get our message out to people.

"It was big luck. They needed a blind man to play Oedipus and I was cast. It was a star in my crown," he said, noting the play's touring company recently wound up its tour in Seattle and plans are under way to put it back on the

"We're going all over. We've been overseas so much we don't want to go back," Fountain said. "It's good to be able to sing to the English and French because gospel is big overseas. There aren't any gospel choirs in England and none in France. We only ran across one in Norway."

Over the years, the Blind Boys have performed in noted music events including the Womad, the Montreux Jazz, New Orleans Jazz and Heritage and the North Sea Jazz festivals. At these festivals, the Blind Boys have shared stages with such musical legends as B.B. King.

"I love playing with rock 'n' roll and blues bands because gospel has a different feel. However, all these types of music are related because from gospel came the blues and from the blues came jazz," Fountain said.

"People who attend these concerts know how to appreciate gospel music. The blues is getting bigger and bigger, and we're coming up, too," he said, adding that people who haven't heard the band play can get a taste of its stage performance when its live album is released June 1 on the House of Blues label.

Besides appealing to cross-over audiences, the Blind Boys group has won over the music industry as well. Its first major label release, "Deep River" on Elektra Nonesuch, earned it a 1994 Grammy nomination for "Gospel Album of the Year." In September 1994, first lady Hillary Clinton presented the members with the National Endowment for the Arts' Heritage Fellowship for lifetime achievement, placing the Blind Boys alongside such previous honorees as B.B. ing Stone and Musician magazines. Mark Cooper of England's Q magazine wrote about the band's 1993 release "Deep River": "The Five Blind Boys combine astonishing harmonies with stately fervor that manages to sound both dignified and and ecstatic. Romantic comedy kicks off Shakespeare fest season

The New Jersey Shakespeare Festival opens its 33rd season with "Love's Labour's Lost," Shakespeare's romantic and poetic comedy of love at first sight . . . times four.

Opening May 17 and running through June 10, "Love's Labour's Lost" will be performed at the Bowne Theatre on the campus of Drew University in Madison. Evening performance times are Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m., and Sunday at 7 p.m. Matinees will be Saturdays and Sundays at 2 p.m.; a special series of low-priced student matinees have also been scheduled for this production. For reservations and additional information, call (201) 408-5600.

One of Shakespeare's earliest comedies, "Love's Labour's Lost" follows the fates of the King of Navarre and his three compatriots as they find their yow to spend three years secluded in study - and away from women - threatened by the arrival of the Princess of France and her three ladies-in-waiting. Marked by some of Shakespeare's wittiest wordplay, "Love's Labour's Lost" lays the groundwork that comes to its fullest fruition in "Much Ado About Nothing" and "As You Like It."

"Love's Labour's Lost" will be directed by Daniel Fish, who returns to the festival after last season's Borscht Belt production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor." Fish has a long association with the Shakespeare Theatre in Washington, D.C. where he was the associate director of "Richard II" starring Richard Thomas. He was also the assistant director on Michael Kahn's productions of "Hamlet," "Measure for Measure," "King Lear" and "Much Ado About Nothing," also at the McCarter Theatre. Fish most recently directed "Say It With Flowers," a new opera based on a play by Gertrude Stein, "The Misanthrope" and "Death and the Maiden."

the Utah Shakespeare Festival and was seen in "King Lear" at Florida's Asolo Theatre. His New York credits include "The Commedy of Errors" at the New York Sheakespeare Festival and "Hostage" at Primary Stages.

Niebhur's most recent New York appearance was in the production of "Henry VI" at Theatre for a New Audience, where he was also seen in "Romeo and Juliet," "Henry V" and "Love's Labour's Lost." Last season, he was seen on Broadway in the "Inspector General" and the Tonynominated revival of "Timon of Athens." His regional credits include work at Center Stage, Great Lakes Theatre Festival, Playmaker's Rep and Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park, among others.

Returning to the festival to play the Princess of France is Vivienne Benesch. Benesch was seen at NJSF last season as Rosalind in "As You Like It." Earlier this season, Benesch was . seen in the McCarter Theatre production of Thorton Wilder's "The Matchmaker." Since graduating from NYU's MFA acting program in 1993, Benesch has been seen at the New York Shakespeare Festival in "All's Well That Ends Well," at the Long Wharf Theatre in "Sight Unseen" and in a variety of projects at the Westbank Cafe, Manhattan Theatre Club and the Women's Project.

Making her NJSF debut as Rosaline, the princess' closest confidante, is Jenna Stern. Stern is also a graduate of NYU where she appeared in "Threepenny Opera," "Angels in America" - both with Benesch, "The Cherry Orchard" and "Speed-the-Plow." She is a member of the Circle Rep Lab and A-1 Collaborators and recently played Titania in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Syracuse Stage. Her television credits include "The Twilight Zone: Rod Serling's Lost Classics."

Also appearing in "Love's Labour's Lost" as Don Armado, one of Shakespeare's most pompous and hilarious clowns, is John Tillotson. Tillotson just returned from the record-breaking national tour of "The Sound of Music" with Marie Ismond. He was also a member of the first American company of "Nicholas Nickleby" and appeared in the European tour of "The Phantom of the Opera." His extensive New York and regional credits include work with the Acting Company, Great Lakes Theatre Festival, the McCarter Theatre, the Long Wharf Theatre, and Shakespeare Festivals of Colorado, Utah and Alabama. Tillotson's film credits include "Anna" and the upcoming "Die Hard: With a Vengence."

Special student matinee performances of "Love's Labour's Lost" have been scheduled for May 23-26, May 30, and June 6 and 9; all performances begin at 11:30 a.m. Tickets are $10, with one complimentary chaperone ticket for every 20 students. Reservations for matinees can be made by calling Mark Rossier at (201) 408-3278.

Tickets for "Love's Labour's Lost" range between $16 and $30 and can be purchased at the Bowne Theatre Box Office or by calling (201) 408-5600. Bowne Theatre is located on the campus of Drew University, 36 Madison Ave. in Madison.

Joining the festival for the first time this summer will be Simone Billig who portrays the King of Navarre and Mark Niebhur, as his best friend, Berowne. Fun, food and good times for all occasions can be found at Finnagel's restaurant, conveniently located at 254 North Broad St. in. Elizabeth.

The warm decor and friendly atmosphere at Finnagel's makes it the perfect place to eat for business associates, college students or families.

Established in 1981, Finnagel's has banquet facilities available, as well as gift certificates. The restaurant also accepts all major credit cards, including Visa, Mastercard, American Express, Discover, Diners Club and Carte Blanche.

The all-American menu at Finnagel's is a delight, and the appetizers are no exceptione.

You can't go wrong when ordering the potato skins. Served with three kinds of cheese - Monterey Jack, cheddar and parmesan — the potato skins are a true find. Bacon or broccoli can be added to this appetizer for a mere 50 cents. Another treat is the breaded combo - a basket filled to the brim with juicy mushrooms and zucchini in a crispy outer covering.

The only problem you will have with the luncheon menu is deciding which of the mouth-watering meals you will choose to silence your hunger.

The omelette of the day served with french fries is a perfect pick for a mid-day meal. Bacon and chedder cheese are wonderful complements to the eggs cooked untilthey are fluffy enough to rival clouds.

A dish that often makes an appearance on the daily list of specials is the chicken terriyaki. It is a happy marriage of skinless chicken breast and pineapple, enveloped in

After a meal, there is no sweeter ending than the very popular carmel Granny Smith apple pie. This yummy dessert is often served with a hefty dollup of ice cream and will satisfy any sweet tooth.

Items on the luncheon menu are served from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30

The Heart of A Healthier Community

Wellness Festival

In an effort to educate women about ways to maintain a healthy lifestyle, Pru-Care — the Prudential Health Care Plan — and Saint Barnabas Medical Center will sponsor a free Wellness Festival on May 13, the day before Mother's Day. Also, in observance on National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the festival will include a pavilion which will provide information about warning signs, risk factors and breast cancer screenings.

The Saint Barnabas and PruCare Wellness Festival will be at the Islami Auditorium, Saint Barnabas Medical Center, in Livingston, from noon to 4 p.m. Activities for children are also planned including face painting, finger casting and a special appearance by the PruCare Bear.

"Women have very unique health needs due to the specialized diseases for which they are at risk including ostcoporosis, iron deficiency, breast cancer and heart disease," said Susan J. Weinstein, director of women's health education, Saint Barnabas, "Prevention is often the best treatment for women and preventive steps like exercise, stress managment techniques, proper nutrition, regular checkups with your gynecologist, and routine screenings for breast cancer should all be part of a woman's lifestyle."

"Women should take advantage of preventive services such as prenatal care programs, PAP smears and mammograms, which are all offered through health maintenance organizations, like PruCare," said Dr. Deborah Hammond, executive director, PruCare of New Jersey.

Regular checkups with a gynecologist or primary care physician are recommended and covered by an HMO.

PruCare and Saint Barnabas offer these tips to women:,

- Exercise, exercise, exercise. Scientific evidence proves that regular physical activity helps a woman's body maintain, repair and improve itself. In fact, recent studies indicate that exercise, combined with a balanced diet, is probably a woman's best protection against many diseases including heart disease, osteoporosis, diabetes and obesity.
- Watch what you cat. New information about food that is good and bad for you seems to emerge daily. The most reliable recommendations are based on dictary guidelines published by the departments of Health and Human Services and Agriculture. They recommend eating a variety of foods with plenty of fruits, vegetables and grains; maintaining a healthy weight; using sugar and salt in moderation; and limiting alcohol intake. To reduce the risk of heart disease, choose a diet low in fat and cholesterol. Limit intake of foods containing saturated fat such as meat and dairy products. And daily cholestrol intake should be timited to 250-300 milligrams.

- Manage your stress. Stress-related disorders, such as alcoholism, heart disease, ulcers, hypertension and emotional distress, have become common among Americans, especially women. Incorporate these stress-relievers into your daily life: take long walks, do breathing exercises, stretch often, limit caffeine intake, take the time to relax, and avoid drugs or alcohol to alleviate stress.
- ◆ Schedule routine mammograms. "These simple X-rays to detect breast cancer early are a woman's best defense against the disease. Evidence shows that nearly nine out of 10 women whose cancer are discovered in the earliest stages will survive with early detection," said Dr. Karen Karlson, chairwoman of the radiology department, Saint Barnabas Medical Center. Check with your health care provider to determine your own schedule and need for a mammmography screening.
- Learn more about prenatal care. "Good prenatal care really begins well before a woman decides to have children. It begins with good general gynecologic health including an annual checkup, PAP test, the proper diet and regular exercise, and a medical health assessment," Hammond said, "In fact, many health care companies offer pregnancy support programs that help educate expectant mothers about taking care of themselves and their babies during pregnancy." For example, PruCare's Starting Right program provides members with health assessments, case management and prenatal education materials developed by the March of Dimes.

The opportunity to give life to another person - or to radically improve another's quality of life are options available to nearly each and every one of us. All we have to do is make a personal decision in our own conscience, discuss it with our families and sign a small, yellow and of our wishes.

Today, in New Jersey alone, there need of an organ or tissue transplant and more than 30,000 nationwide. Perhaps, you have already seriously considered signing on for organ and tissue donation but are unsure of the fine points such as how your family might cope, how parts of your physical body could help a sick or a dying

These questions and many more will be addressed at a free, open public meeting titled, "The Gift of Life," scheduled for Monday morning and sponsored by Overlook Hospital red card that informs those we leave Auxiliary. Thus, he brings to this presentation the perspectives of both patient and donor in addition to first-hand knowledge resulting from daily interaction with New Jersey's four transplant centers. He plans to augment his talks with slides and visual aids.

Union resident juggles diverse careers

By Bea Smith Staff Writer

Steve Finley, who juggles two careers with the ease of a master craftsman, has admitted that he has the best of two worlds. He owns Finley's Fun House and is known around town as "Fun" E. Finley, the magic clown; "Mr. Steve & Friends," ventriloquist and comedy magic, and does face painting, games, costumed character's shows, juggling, balloon sculpture, entertaining children and adults alike.

Also, by profession, he is a funeral director for Krowicki McCracken Funeral Home in Linden.

"Fun" E., who has been entertaining for the past three years at birthday parties, banquets, picnics, school shows, organizational shows and other fun events, is sometimes assisted by his two children, Dane, 6, who is known as Zaney Dane, and Jenna, 4, who is known as Miss Wiggles. He also likes to run races with the crowds.

He only turns serious when he goes to his regular full-time job as a funeral

"Clown. Ventriloquist. Funeral director. I'm all of those, and I couldn't be happier," said the Union resident during a recent visit to this office. Throughout the conversation, Finley, an exceptionally handsome young man when he is not in costume, clown face and all, and being funny, carved and prodded balloons, turning them into birds and animals with astounding ease. "I create all kinds of sculptured balloons," he said. "There are poodles, rabbits, parrots, love birds in a heart, flowers, giraffes, Mickey Mouse, Garfield, the Pink Panther. "My children help me, my wife answers the telephone and books events, and we have another on the way, who may want to be a little clown, too," he said.

Among his characters, which Finley brought forth from a large black suitcase during the interview, are Doodles, the talking Dodo Bird, who "lays eggs, performs magic and juggles;" Wrigley, an "excitable wisecracking, yet lovable dummy, and "Laughin' Louie," who is "not the smartest guy ... but a real crowd plèaser.'

Even though, as a youngster, Finley was interested in both careers, he chose funeral directing. However, it wasn't until several years ago, when "my wife said I was too involved with my funeral work, and that I was always talking about work, to go find a hobby. So, Fun E. found himself a hobby." He grinned a clown's grin.

Finley, who was born in Toms River, where he was educated, recalled that he "stumbled into this when I was in the sixth grade. I had a Howdy Doody puppet, a ventriloquist doll, and some marionettes on strings, and I used to give a few shows for kindergartners. And I did do theater in high school. I played Mayor Dawgmeat in the town of Dogpatch, in the musical, 'Li'l Abner.' That's when I actually started. During the three years I was in the Army, I was in a couple of plays," and his interest in the entertainment world doubled.

However, when Finley was "about 10 years old, I went to a funeral for a great-uncle. They didn't have room for me in the limos so I sat in the hearse between two funeral directors, and I was fascinated. I questioned them so much that I drove them up the wall. 'That,' I said to myself, 'is what I want to be. A funeral director.' I had decided that was what I wanted to do. You know," Finley mused, "I recently showed up at a Toms River High School reunion, and I discovered I was the only guy there who did with his life what he said he would do."

"So, when I came out of the Army, I went to Mercer County Community College School of Funeral Services Education. Actually, two days after I got out of the service; I was hired as an apprentice funeral director by Manchester Memorial Home, I worked there for two years and I was licensed in August, 1986. And for the last six years, I've been working for Krowicki McCracken Funeral Finley said that he "met my wife, the former Patricia Vogel of Maplewood, at a funeral. I knew her aunt, who had died. I found out that Patricia was a registered nurse, and she asked me a lot of questions. I courted her for about a year-and-a-half before we were married.

"My wife works in East Orange General Hospital as a nurse. And one day, she was talking about a doctor who was able to make the famous red handkerchief disappear, and it sounded interesting. So, I decided to tinker with the magic. Subsequently, I was volunteering time with my wife to do a free magic show at the First Congregational Church in Union. You know, Reverend Nancy's church," he said.

Finley recalled that "I was just going to do a few magic tricks, so I went to the Magic Palace here in Union — it's not here anymore, though - and that's where I met my mentor, Toto the Clown, who taught me how to be a magician. But, he said, 'You'll have more fun being a magic clown, you know, a clown who makes magic.' Now, Toto is known as Skylr, the master hypnotist.

"He was responsible for getting me involved. He taught me magic, balloon sculpture, face painting, and juggling," Finley said, reaching into his suitcase for three balls, and juggled them without missing a beat in his conversation. "Toto was selling some of his stuff. He recommended a few things that would go good with

The Finleys moved to Union from Basking Ridge in 1991. "Both my children go to Hamilton School; my daughter is in prekindergarten and my son is in kindergarten. And we have another on the way who will arrive on Sept. 30. So, you see," he said, "we'll have more clowns to choose from."

Finley learned to do ventriloquism for adults and in children's school shows. Actually, he admitted, what he did was take a home study course at Maher Studios in Littleton, Col. "It took me about two months-of practice and on the job training," he said. "Then came Doodles, Do Do Bird, who likes to draw and is a rhymer. I love to rhyme. I do it all the time. I also have a new putple puppy. I have a library at home, study and try to be as original as possible. Jeff Dunham, the TV ventriloquist, who appeared on the Carson show and on Showtime, is my role model.

"I appear once a month at Sports Park, USA, in Union on Route 22. And I have done my magical acts at eight or 10 birthday parties at a time. I also entertain at private parties, country clubs. I let my son tag along to assist me. My daughter is basically our balloon girl. They both can make a puppy dog out of balloons. And sometimes, they don't accompany me. It depends on their moods," he

Where does he find the time? "I'm off every other weekend, and that's when I do my shows. My boss is very understanding," he said.

"The name 'Fun' E. Finley came from a suggestion by Ken Allen, owner of the Magic Palace. It is now a warehouse showroom in Roselle Park," said Finley.

Finley has been on Suburban Cablevision for a tree lighting ceremony in Clark. "I did some 'Happy Birthday' shows on TV. Some day I'd. like to do more television, but I'm in no rush," he admitted. "I'm happy with what I'm doing, If I get a TV contract, of course, I'll take it," he laughed. "Of all my characters, I like 'Fun' E. Finley the best because he's a soft-spoken, gentle character."

Finley will appear on June 7 and June 8 during the annual Strawberry Festival in Connecticut Farms Church, Union.

Like Finley, "Fun" E., has a bit of a running career. And on June 19, in full costume, the magic clown will be running in a children's road race in Millburn as part of a Father's Day celebration. He also will be honorary starter for the 14th annual President's Cup Night Run with the adults for the 3.1 mile Men's State Championship.

Said Finley: "One thousand adults will be expected to run. And one clown."

New law gives brokers free rein on ticket pricing

Legalized scalping is finally here. It was just a matter of time for those in Trenton and on the Potomac to ruin what little chance the New Jersey consumer had to enjoy a state concert or sporting event.

The new law defies logic. In a bill already approved by the Senate, and set to be voted in the Assembly this week, it would allow state ticket brokers to charge absolutely any price they wanted for in-state concert or sporting

In the past, former Gov. Kean's anti-scalping law was a godsend for concert goers. Applied only to events held in state, the law had three major provisions:

• It restricted the mark-up on tickets to $3 or 20 percent of their face value - whichever is greater.

• It required all agencies selling tickets to state functions to pay a fee to obtain a license and post a $10,000 bond in order to register them to sell scats to state events.

• It required brokers to operate from offices and post their licenses in a conspicuous place.

As it stands now, only a handful of brokers sell tickets to state events because brokers claim they cannot make a living and profit from them due to the markup limit on the current statute. This new law gives them free rein to ticket broker paradise.

The law under consideration would that had tickets. They were in near would be beneficial to consumers?

How? They believe it would make tickets to sold out events more obtainable through the new open market system from bonded reliable sources.

Legislators believe the new law

Now since this was an out-of-state event, I figure I'd pay a little extra since the concert was at Madison Square Garden. After all, it was perfectly legal for them to charge whatever they wanted because it wasn't in-

When all was said and done, I paid almost $400 for the tickets. For the seats that I craved. I was told that was the going price. Fine. So I pluncked down the credit card, went to the show and met a nice couple sitting next to my party. When I asked them how much they paid for their seats, I was amazed they got a fairly decent price - certainly cheaper than mine. When I asked where they purchased them, I was livid it was the same place I had purchased mine.

Plain and simple, when money is the name of the game, a broker named as a "reliable source" is only as reliable as a $3 bill.

Gov. Christine Whitman has not spoken out on the issue and will only consider the matter if the Assembly

However, there may be a small light at the end of the tunnel. There are a couple of small alternatives to ticket brokers. For Broadway shows, one could call TKTS, Times Square Tickets, a half-price service that sells seats to Broadway shows the same day of the performance. For state sporting events and concerts, one can call TicketMaster the morning they go on sale and reserve their seats at base price. Most of the good seats might be scooped up by brokers, but every now and then, you'll get lucky.

If you don't mind paying for a toll call and have a re-dial on your phone, call the Pennsylvania or Delaware TicketMaster exchange. You'll have a greater chance of getting through and won't have to fight the droves of state residents calling the New Jersey and New York numbers.

And finally, for those who hold an American Express card, check their monthly newsletter. Often, you'll find they offer seats to card members for . various events in major cities throughout the United States.

If Janet Jackson's tour stops at the Meadowlands later this summer or early fall, don't expect to get cheap seats from state ticket brokers where a new law would allow brokers to charge whatever they wanted.

The Arts Calendar is prepared each week and highlites events in and around Union County. To avoid conflicts in scheduling local events, please post dates, times and places as early as possible and send to Arts and Entertainment Editor, Worrall Community Newspapers, P.O. Box 3109, Union 07083.

• ArtsPower, one of America's leading producers of professional theater for young and family audiences, will present its musical, "Anne of Green Gables," at Union County Center for the Arts at 10:30 a.m.

The performance is part of ArtsPower's third annual "Field Trip Series" that features school-time performances of the organization's musicals, "Anne of Green Gables," "Hans Brinker & The Silver Skates," and "Fourscore and Seven Years Ago," at some of New Jersey's cultural centers including the John Harms Center in Englewood, the Morris Museum in Morristown, and the Strand Theatre in Lakewood.

Written by ArtsPower's artistic director Greg Gunning, with music by Richard DeRosa and lyrics by Gunning, "Anne of Green Gables" is based on Lucy Maud Montgomery's classic novel about a young orphan girl who yearns for a better life and a family she can call her own.

Based in Ridgewood, ArtsPower is New Jersey's largest producer of professional musical theater for young and family audiences. It has presented more than 2,500 performances and workshops for almost 2 million young people throughout much of the nation since its start in 1985. This season, ArtsPower will present 450 performances to young people in theaters, civic centers and schools throughout New Jersey and much of

"Vanities" is a chronology of three Texas girls, who, after being high school cheerleaders together, then college sorority sisters, unite in New York City only to discover that they lead divergent lives. # Artist exhibits at Kean College

Springfield resident Marilyn Ostrich-Nelson is displaying her works in oils, pencil drawings and pastels in an exhibit at Union County College's Tomasulo Gallery, MacKay Library, Cranford Campus.

The show will run through June 3, with gallery hours from 1 to 4 p.m., and again from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays, and 1 to 4 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Ostrich-Nelson's works are studies in light and shadow, with the artist selecting her subjects for their diversity and human interest:

She has exhibited in numerous shows, including the Pastel Society of America and the Catherine Lorilliard Wolfe Annual, located at the National Arts Club, New York City, and the Grand National American Artists Professional League, located at the World Trade Center, New York City. McGee-Daly received her bachelor of arts in music from Jersey City State College in 1988. This degree followed a 20 year career of private instruction currently a teacher at the Holy Family Academy and Kean College.

"McGee-Daly brings to her students a wealth of talent, knowledge of the viola and violin, and years of experience on how to bring out the best in her students," said Theodore Schlosberg, director of the N.J. ARIES – March 21/April 20 Face problems head on instead of letting them draw you into a shell. Problems don't vanish when you turn your head, they grow. Delays on an upcoming project give you extra time to perfect your work. Here's an opportunity to show off. It's time to think about diet and exercise. TAURUS - April 21/May 21 You may be faced with an important decision this week. Think if through and don't let others influence your decision. You know what's right for you. A simple project could turn into a big problem if too many people get involved. A loved one may need extra-

GEMINI - May 22/June 21 The needs of others may have to be put before your own. This is especially true if you are a parent. Financial matters look promising. You may be in a position to make that purchase you've been contemplating. Your enthusiasm will be a source of inspiration to someone at work

CANCER - June 22/July 22 Don't let your ego stand in the way of progress. Other people have good ideas, too, and using them doesn't discount yours. A social event you were dreading turns out to be a big hit. You'll feel happy you gave it a shot. There will be very good news by the end of the week.

LEO – July 23/August 23 Patience will be an important virtue this week, especially when it comes to romance. An old friend will be in touch and may have some surprising news. You'll realize that time can really change people. A young family member may come to you for advice. Be encouraging.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22 Your habit of dotting every "i" and crossing each "t" may backfire. As you're magnifying every detail, be sure to look at the big picture, too, or you could overlook something very important. A new relationship may seem perfect, but don't put all your eggs in one basker.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

It's smooth sailing this week. You'll get through work projects with ease and you'll have plenty of time to accomplish personal goals. Someone you put your trust into will come through for you. A family member will have good news that could effect you in a very positive way. You'll have something to celebrate.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22 Avoid deception of any kind, Even little white lies could get you in trouble this week. Work related problems will be plentiful. Don't let them get the better of you. Just tackle them one at a time. A miscommunication at home could cause an unnecessary delay this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21 Even if it doesn't feel like it, the sacrifices you make now will pay off later. Be patient. Keep your priorities straight when it comes to work projects. Avoid leaving the time-consuming tasks until the end. A romantic evening will make the weekend a memorable one. Enjoy!

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20 Before you get caught with your foot in your mouth, think before you speak. It's better to admit ignorance than to tell "half truths." If you feel frustrated in your current work situation, now's the time to do something about it. Don't take a defeatist's attitude when it comes to your future

May 7-13

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18 Your zany approach to life will be a breath of fresh air to a frustrated friend. Face it, you can cheer people up by just being yourself. Not a bad quality! A surprise phone call from an old friend could set the stage for weekend activities. You may be in store for an exciting time

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20 Go the extra mile if you're working on an important project. It could help you out later on, A change in week end plans gives you the time to your self you've been craving. You,li be able to relax for a change. Be patient: with a temperamental loved one. Try to be a better listener

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK The next 12 months:

If romance has been what's missing from your life, you'll be happy to know that love is just around the corner. And just when you thought you'd give up on love all together! Even though good things usually don't come easily, this time they will. If you're already in a relationship, this year, it will grow much stronger. For Taureans in creative fields, this could be a very important year. You may be honored with an award of high achievement. An acquaintance may grow to be a very good friend this year. You'll wonder why it took so long. It will be important to keep a close watch on finances throughout the year.

Speedy outshines the rest

It's located in an industrial area on Lehigh Avenue — not exactly the kind of place you might expect to find a car wash; but somehow the Speedy Car Wash has managed to do quite nicely over the past 20

"The thing that's been interesting is that there's no other commerce on the street," said owner Gene Rooney, "but there are people who go far out of their way to come to

According to Rooney, who has operated the business for the past 20 years, the customer receives the best possible service at a reasonable price.

At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $2 less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged $7 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

Rooney, though, at his totally "brushless" operation, provides more than just a lower price, while providing personalized service in what can be a very impersonal, high volume business.

In addition, the Speedy Car Wash offers free, self-service mat washing equipment, something many other car washes dispense only for an extra charge. Speedy also offers coin-operated, selfservice vacuum cleaners.

Toyota Motor Sales USA introduces four new vehicles

Toyota Motor Sales, TMS, USA, Inc., is introducing four new truck and sport utility vehicle, SUV, models in 1005

"The big news from Toyota in 1995 will be in the truck and sport utility segments," says Dave Illingworth, senior vice president and general manager, Toyota Division, "With the arrival of the T100 Xtracab in January, the spring debut of the all-new Tacoma and revised Land Cruiser, and the launch of the RAV4 later in the year, 1995 shapes up as the 'Year of the Truck and SUV' at Toyota."

Toyota began selling the RAV4 in Japan in May of 1994 RAV4, which stands for "Recreational Active Vehicle with 4WD," is now sold in Europe and Australia, and will go on sale in the U.S. before the end of the year.

By combining conventional passenger car elements with the features of a light, off-road vehicle, the RAV4 is a new-concept SUV. It will round out Toyota's popular lineup of sport utility vehicles, which includes the full-size Land Cruiser and compact 4 Ruhner. The RAV4 provides Toyota and its customers with an attractive entry into the growing SUV market.

The RAV4 is powered by a 2.0-liter, 16-valve, four-cylinder, twin-cam engine producing 120 horsepower and is available with a 4-speed automatic or 5-speed manual transmission. It has unit body construction, 4-wheel independent suspension and full-time 4WD,

The all-new Tacoma, Toyota's sixth-generation compact pickup truck, features three powerful new engines, an all-new chassis, enhanced safety features and aggressive styling inside and out.

The 19951/2 Tacoma is available in both regular-and extended-cab models, in 2WD or 4WD, with 4-speed automatic or 5-speed manual transmissions. Styling variations in the boldly sculpted front end visually differentiate 2WD and 4Wd models. A 142-horsepower 2.4-liter, fourcylinder engine is standard on 2WD models. A 150-horsepower, 2.7-liter, four-cylinder is standard on 4WD models. A 190-hp, 3.4-liter V6 is optional on both versions. All three engines feature double overhead camshafts and four valves-per-cyfinder. These high-performance engines produce more horsepower and torque than those in the previous compact pickup, have reduced noise and vibration, high reliability, and reduced exhaust emissions.

Fette to offer a novel lease idea

Through June 3, 1995, Fette Ford/ Imports is participating in a Ford Motor Company test of a novel lease program for the 1995 and 1996 Taurus that will allow customers to drive two new cars within one three-year lease period. According to Larry

The program allows for a model upgrade at the end of the 12-month lease period, with the monthly payment revised accordingly.

Fette, "the three-month Ford test is being conducted in only nine market areas in the country, including New York."

Participants will make one case outlay at the inception of a 12-month lease on a 1995 Taurus and will receive a certificate that guarantees pre-approved credit, assuming successful completion of the initial lease, and the same monthly payment for a 24-month lease on a comparably equipped 1996 Taurus.

The program allows for a model upgrade at the end of the 12-month lease period, with the monthly payment revised accordingly. Similarly, if a customer wants additional factory installed equipment on the 1996 Taurus, he can choose between paying the difference upfront to keep the same monthly payment or paying the increase over the term of the lease.

Customers who choose not to participate in the Drive Thru Lease Program have the option of a standard lease arrangement.

Fette Ford/Imports, recently recognized by Ford Motor Company for its exceptional customer satisfaction ranking, has over 600 Fords, Isuzus, Subarus and Select Pre-Owned vehicles in stock. A family business for three generations, Fette serves Passaic, Bergen, Essex, Morris and Hudson counties and beyond. Fette is located on Route 46 in Clifton near Routes 3 and 80 and the Garden State Parkway. For more information call Jim Russamano at 779-7000.

For 1995, Toyota's full-size T100 pickup increases its appeal with the introduction of an extended-cab model and a powerful new twin-cam V6. The expanded Xtracab is 21.7 inches longer than the standard cab and offers an additional 21.4 cubic feet of storage space or seating for six. Xiracab models are equipped with a 60/40. split bench front seat and forwardfacing 50/50 split rear bench seat. There is 29.6 inches of rear seat legroom and 60.4 inches of hip room. Unlike the upright rear seats in some trucks, the Ti00's rear seats are reclined 15 degrees for passenger

The all-new 3.4-liter, V6 engine produces 190 horsepower at 4800 rpm and 220 lb.-ft. of torque at 3600 rpm. In tests conducted by the United States Auto Club, USAC, a V6-equipped Xtracab outperformed all three full-size domestic pickup competitors equipped with base small-block V8 engines, both in 0-to-60 mph and quarter-mile acceleration. The V6 T100 also has the lowest interior noise levels of any full-size truck.

The T100 is available in 2WD or

Toyota's top-line Land Cruiser sport utility vehicle adds new design and safety features for 1995, including standard dual airbags and 4-wheel ABS. Full-time all-wheel-drive and a new second-gear-start feature helps improve grip on slippery surfaces by reducing wheelspin when accelerating from a stop. A 212-horsepower, 4.5-liter six-cylinder engine and 4-speed automatic transmission are also standard on the luxurious Land Cruiser.

Subaru introduces new models at show

parent company Fuji Jeavy Industries. Ltd. have unveiled the 1996 Legacy Outback wagon and a new Legacy GT sedan. Both models feature a larger 2.5-liter version of Subaru's popular boxer engine. This is the second year in a row Subaru has chose the New York International Automobile Show in the Jacob K. Javits Convention Center for a world introduction.

The new 1996 models were part of a display which also included the entire Subaru lineup: the award winning, all-new-for-1995 Subaru Legaey, an expanded Impreza range which now includes a coupe and larger engines, and a lower-priced all-wheel drive SVX luxury performance coupe.

Both 1996 models, when equipped with a four-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission, feature a new 155-horsepower, 2.5-liter aluminum-alloy horizontaly-opposed DOHC, 16-valve four-cylinder boxer engine. Normally found in higherpriced Porsche and Ferrais, the Boxer engine's proven design and low center of gravity contributes significally to a vehicle's performance handling and driveline flexibility. It's this last point which allows Subaru to offer state-of-the-art all-wheel drive technology at compact class prices. All Subaru models feature the boxer engine and are available with allwheel drive:

Both the 1996 and 1995 models on display featured dual front air bags, three-point seat belts, side impact beams and five-mph bumpers as standard passive safety equipment. In addition, active safety features like four-channel anti-lock brakes, fourwheel disc brakes and a choice of two all-wheel drive systems are available throughout the Subaru line.

The 1995 Subaru Legacy was designed as an evolutionary replacement for the original Legacy, the first compact-class automobile sold by Subaru of America, Inc. and its Subaru. Legacy is available as both a sedan and station wagon in base, L, LS and LSi trim. In 1995 a priceleading Brighton station wagon along with the first Outback station wagon was introduced to provide Subaru buyers a wide range of choices when deciding which Subaru Legacy is best for them.

> Subcompact buyers are also given a wide array of choices when shopping the Subaru Impreza. Added to the line in 1995 was the new Impreza coupe in addition to the sedan and sport wagon and the availability of the 2.2 liter 135-horsepower four-cylinder boxer engine-the same engine found in the larger Legacy — in addition to the 1.8 liter four-cylinder boxer engine. The Outback wagon concept was extended to the Impreza line in 1995 and features two-tone paint, all-wheel drive and a list of standard items designed with the outdoor person in mind.

> Rounding out the 1995 Subaru lineup is the SVX luxury performance coupe. First introduced in 1992, this award-winning coupe brought back classic touring performance with a long list of standard features designed to elevate the driving experience without sacrificing comnfort and safety. Available as an L or LSi the SVX buyer is presented the choice of a lower-priced or a more luxurious. fully-equipped touring coupe. All models feature the 230-horsepower. 3.3 liter, DOHC, six cylinder boxer engine and a four-speed electronically-controlled automatic transmission. The all-wheel drive L and LSi have four-channel anti-lock brakes and a rear limited slip differential for added safety and traction.

All Subaru vehicles are available from the more than six-hundred Subaru dealers nationwide. Each Subaru features a three-year/36,000 limited warranty and a five-year/unlimited mileage corrosion-perforation

Drivers have found this new four-door Yukon to offer an innovative combination of rugged durability, handy utility and luxurious comfort.

Local dealers offer popular trucks

(NAPS)—If you're a newcomer to the truck world, you have a surprise in store for you the next time you visit your local dealer. What you'll discover (and what many veteran light truck consumers still marvel at) is the innovative combination of rugged durability, hand, utility, and luxurious comfort

A good example of this is the new four-door Yukon at GMC Truck. Industry experts report the fourdoor Yukon, sized between GMC's popular Jimmy and Suburban, combines several advantageous features in a conveniently priced package: a V-8 engine with electronic four speed automatic transmission, four-wheel anti-lock brakes, driver's-side airbag, air conditioning, full instrumentation. and a choice of twin panel doors or a tailgate/lift glass combination in the

The new right-sized Yukon rides on a computer-designed ladder frame engineered specifically for this application with a 117.5-inch wheelbase. A spokesman at GMC pointed out that the body structure from the B-pillar back is all new, inside and out, and no compromises in its construction were permitted. For example, to maximize cargo-space utility, the spare wheel and tire stows neatly underneath the rear where it contributes to the frame's stiffness. This allows greater ability to haul the four-door Yukon is reported to beat the competition in interior roominess. A six-inch exterior width advantage over both Explorer and Grand Cherokee translates to far more hip, shoulder, and elbow room inside.
