From The Editor's Notebook

California Gov. Pete Wilson recently took action in his state which governors across the country should follow. Gaining nationwide coverage, Wilson assailed affirmative action and said he would take whatever steps were necessary to sharply curtail affirmative action programs in state government where the law allowed.

Affirmative action programs, billed as a way to give minorities and women an opportunity that many were not receiving in the workforce, has become merely another term for reverse discrimination and has shifted racist attitudes to white Americans because they are being denied the same employment that, at one time, was denied to minorities and women — among whom racist attitudes also existed for the same reasons.

It's only in America where government can tell an employer to hire someone not on their merit, but based on their ethnic background or gender.

Affirmative action programs are unfair. They lead to an erosion between and among races, ethnic backgrounds and genders. They pit people against people. It's not about white American males being denied employment. Today, women are being denied employment because a program might have a quota system for Hispanic males. Conversely, that Hispanic male could be denied employment because the program might have a quota system for women.

State and local governments that have adopted affirmative action programs should wonder how efficiently their agencies would be operated if they had hired people based on merit and not on race or sex. Are all minorities and women the cause of some of the headaches we sometimes encounter when dealing with state agencies? Of course not. But when that agency based decisions simply to fill an affirmative action quota, the public is not getting its money's worth in the taxes it pays.

In the private sector, diversity in the workforce has become the politically correct terminology for affirmative action programs.

Employers, several in the field of journalism, hire employees based on race and sex simply to meet the needs of a quota system they developed to create diversity among the workforce. Diversity in the newsroom is a wonderful thing, if used the right way. According to a report in American Journalism Review, many newspaper employers target the background or gender of a person to fill specific needs. For example, what's wrong with hiring a Hispanic person if you plan to devote much of your editorial space to a Hispanic segment of the community?

In this case, it makes sense to look for a particular kind of person. That is what employers should have the right to do — to hire based on their needs.

But when it comes to hiring simply to fill a quota system — perhaps because it looks good to the

UCC retirees remembered at gala

Thirteen members of Union County College's faculty and staff were recognized upon their retirement from the institution during a recent reception in The Commons, Cranford campus.

Each of the retirees has or will have retired from the college between July 1 and June 30 of this year.

The event included a presentation of gifts to retirees, reading of Board of Trustees resolutions that outline each individual's involvement with the college, reading of a historical fact sheet about events of the year in which the individual was first hired, and photographing of each retiree with Thomas H. Brown, president, and members of the boards of trustees and governors.

The individual retirees, who also were accompanied by family and friends, were invited to a social gathering among colleagues and co-workers.

Retirees who were recognized during the May 11 reception, and the year of their initial hire are the following: Alma Baker of Cranford, 1981, biology laboratory assistant and peer tutor and advisor; Doris DeMarco of Union, 1983, payroll clerk; Dr. Paul Evans of Highland Park, 1971, Psychology/Sociology Department faculty; Frederick Heckman of Neshanic Station, 1971, counselor; Professor Donald Hedeen of Onancock, Va., formerly of Cranford, 1969, Mathematics Department faculty; Robert Lacey of Sewaren, 1973, senior maintenance mechanic; Ann

Thomas H. Brown, president of Union County College, congratulates Barbara Riley-Scott of Roselle, associate librarian, upon her retirement. She and 12 other UCC employees were honored during a recent retirement reception. Riley-Scott was a librarian at the college for 26 years.

Richards of Clark, 1984, executive secretary to the secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Others are as follows: Barbara Riley-Scott of Roselle, 1968, associate librarian; Professor Robert Schultz of Berkeley Heights, 1972, Engineering/Physics/Engineering Technologies faculty; John Slota of Roselle Park, 1968, custodian; Jean Waldron of South Plainfield, 1974, executive secretary to the Plainfield campus provost; James Watson, 1981, custodian, and Olga Wolf of Westfield, 1982, secretary in the Counseling Center.

Science programs fit teachers' plans

The Steering Committee for the innovative, creative Science Alliance Program, recently met at Kean College to review the Science Alliance modules developed in Union County by scientists and teachers.

Science Alliance features a teacher paired with a scientist, engineer, technologist or environmentalist to develop a hands-on, scientific module for use in the grade level of the teacher. The program is housed at the Union County Chamber of Commerce office, is coordinated by the Somerset/Hunterdon Business and Education Partnership and funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The Steering Committee is made up of business and education representatives and their role is to evaluate and review the modules developed. The members of the committee are as follows:

Business representatives — Bill Grand, Paradigm Associates; Marilyn Marcin, president of Fundamentals; Anthony Marrazzo, Elizabeth town Water Co.; Charles Sales, president of Union County Chamber of Commerce; Joseph Starkey, Schering-Plough and Althea Talento, Merck Institute for Science Education.

Education representatives — Willa Adams, secondary science supervisor, Plainfield; Bob Briaki, elementary principal, Roselle; June Coatas, supervisor of curriculum, Roselle Park; Art Fredman, director of Business/Education Partnerships, Elizabeth; Roland Marionni, science supervisor, Union County Regional School District 1; Al Musmanno, elementary science supervisor, Plainfield; Vito Scarpelli, assistant supervisor of curriculum, Roselle Park; Walter Tylicki, supervisor of math and science, Linden.

Steering Committee looks at the following concepts: safety, age-appropriateness, goals/objectives, consumer relevancy, list of materials, lessons/outline plans, enrichment activities, interest to students, problem solving/critical thinking skills and teachability.

The Science Alliance Program began in Somerset and Hunterdon counties. The program now has been extended to Union, Middlesex, Morris and Mercer counties. In Union County, there are about 17 business and 13

UCUA reuse plans gain DEP's insight

The Union County Utilities Authority's plans to "demanufacture" certain commercial and residential products is moving forward. Both the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Union County Alliance are now involved in the project.

"The cooperation and support that has been offered by the DEP in developing incentives to attract demanufacturers to Union County and the support from the alliance are two of the key reasons this project is moving forward," said UCUA Chairwoman Blanche Banasiak.

"Demanufacturing" is the process of locating, collecting, dismantling, selling and reusing valuable components of discarded products.

UCUA officers and staff and representatives of the DEP, alliance and Union County's Office of Policy and Planning recently met with officials of several major electronics companies to obtain their input and support for the program.

"If the response we received from the electronic industry is an indication, the UCUA may have some significant announcements about this program before the end of the year," said Banasiak.

Late last year, Banasiak directed the authority's professional staff and consultants to develop a plan that would facilitate the establishment of demanufacturing facilities in Union County.

"Union County's waste stream contains literally tons of valuable materials that have economic value," continued Banasiak. "Establishing our county as the hub for demanufacturing activities in this area would provide us with a prime market for these materials, reduce our reliance on landfilling and play an important role in the economic revitalization of Union County."

Computers, electronic equipment, refrigerators and auto parts are examples of the kinds of products that might be involved in a demanufacturing program.

The UCUA is now meeting individually with representatives from the electronic manufacturers, working with the DEP and alliance to finalize economic incentives and will unveil a package this summer to attract demanufacturing companies to Union County.

Created by the Board of Chosen Freeholders in 1986, the UCUA is the designated implementing agency for the county's Solid Waste Management Plan.

Grants to assist workers cut from Elastic Stop Nut

The county will receive two grants from the U.S. Department of Labor totaling more than $1 million to assist about 200 dislocated workers, it was announced by Rep. Donald Payne, D-10.

Payne, who serves on the House Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee, has been actively involved in legislative activities to retrain workers who lose their jobs. He has worked closely with Secretary of Labor Robert Reich on job-training issues.

The grants consist of a $750,000 award to be used to help 150 workers dislocated from the Elastic Stop Nut Division of Harvard Industries, Inc. in Union. The company manufactures small metal fasteners for the aerospace industry. A reduced demand for fasteners from both domestic and foreign aerospace companies caused the plant to close.

The second grant, for $270,000, will be used to assist 54 workers dislocated from the Elizabeth General Medical Center/Hospital East facility in the City of Elizabeth. These dislo-

Past and present linked with sites

The preservation of historic resources in Union County as elsewhere is important. It's a physical and emotional link from past to present, and if those sites are taken care of, it's a link to the future.

"Our county is rich in historic resources that date back to the 1600's," stated Union County Freeholder Linda-Lee Kelly, liaison to the Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board.

"We sponsor the Historic Preservation Commendations annually," said Kelly, "to express our appreciation to those who make the effort to safeguard our heritage."

Kelly stated that this year the freeholders designated the week of May 14-20 "National Historic Preservation Week" in the county. It has the theme, "Real People, Real Places, Real History" to emphasize the importance of local historic resources to their communities.

"An excellent example of the type of program that Preservation Week stands for is the Save Outdoor Sculpture! program," Kelly said. "Union County salutes the efforts of volunteers participating in the documentation of public sculpture in Union County as part of the New Jersey Save Outdoor Sculpture! program. The program shows how the support of individuals can make an incredible difference."

Anyone wishing to volunteer to be a part of the NJ Save Outdoor Sculpture! program, should call Susan P. Coen at the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs at (908) 558-2550.

Disabled locals need help

The Arc of Union County needs volunteers who are willing to spend time developing friendships with individuals with developmental disabilities.

Many of the people enrolled in the Arc's residential and vocational programs have never had a genuine friend who was really interested in them and also able to offer advice and guidance in areas of daily living.

Each volunteer will be matched with a compatible person and will receive orientation from Lois Goldberg, program coordinator. The volunteer will then become a regular part of their new friend's life in whatever arrangement the two can work out. Previous experience working with this population is not required.

Freeholder Linda-Lee Kelly, left, presents a commendation to Sophie Kauchak of Roselle, vice chairwoman of the Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, upon freeholders recognizing the week of May 14-20 as "National Historic Preservation Week" in Union County.

Previously known as the Statewide Prevention Affiliate Network of New Jersey, the name has been changed to NCADD Affiliate Network of New Jersey to better reflect its ties to the NCADD. The name change was announced formally during the non-profit network's annual conference May 18 and 19 at the Port-O-Call Hotel in Ocean City.

"Our involvement with NCADD helps to assure that our services are comparable and of high professional quality," said Dr. Richard Bleecker, president of the NCADD Affiliate Network of New Jersey. "And it makes sense to change our name to reflect our ties to the national organization." Bleecker is executive director of NCADD-Hudson.

NCADD Affiliate Network of New Jersey is at the forefront of prevention, education, information and advocacy efforts in the battle against alcohol and drug abuse in New Jersey and serves all 21 counties. The NCADD of Union County, Inc., one of the network's 19 councils, was established in 1970 as a subsidiary of the National Council on Alcoholism, North Jersey Area, Inc. in Essex County and became an independent agency in 1978.

Member agencies of NCADD Affiliate Network of New Jersey take calls from persons with drug and alcohol problems or their family members, perform evaluations and refer individuals for appropriate help and treatment. They provide information, speakers, literature and videos in their effort to educate Garden State residents about the diseases of alcoholism and drug dependence.

In Union County, the council provides professional training as well as specially designed prevention programs in the elementary, middle and high schools. The member agencies are in the process of expanding their roles and becoming designated as county resource centers on alcohol and drug abuse by the state Health Department.

Demolition work, which was scheduled to begin yesterday, will occur weekdays between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., and should take about three to four weeks to complete. There will be some inconveniences for the public during this time such as noise, dust and partial closure of the running track.

The remainder of the park will remain open for business as usual.

For more information, contact the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation at (908) 527-4900.

Drug council changes name

The only statewide network of alcohol and drug abuse councils — including the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence of Union County — currently providing services for New Jersey residents has changed its name.

Demolition on stadium underway

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders this week plans to begin demolition of the stadium in Warinanco Park, located in Roselle.

The stadium in Warinanco Park has become a safety hazard to the public," stated Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni. "It is in everyone's best interest to take it down and replace it with a new, modern facility building."

Funds to aid Elastic's band

(Continued from Page B1) cations are due to the anticipated loss of state funding which helped the hospital to finance the care provided to uninsured and underinsured members of the community.

"I am hopeful that these grants will help to offset the hardship imposed on workers in Union County who suddenly find themselves without a job," Payne said.

The dislocated worker program is a comprehensive approach to assist workers laid off for reasons such as technological change, foreign competition or government actions.

Police to be schooled on seniors' laws

Police officers from throughout the county will be able to take advantage of upgraded training concerning the new package of laws providing for increased protection for abused or neglected senior citizens.

Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo said the special program highlighting the new aspects of the Adult Protective Service Act legislation will be presented June 22 at the John H. Stamler Police Academy in Scotch Plains.

"We have a legal and moral obligation to protect every elderly resident against any form of abuse, neglect or exploitation," Ruotolo said, pointing out that the law enforcement community is being offered this additional instruction beyond the eight hours of required in-service training required annually for every officer.

The course from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. will review the laws that extend protection to the elderly and disabled who are at risk of being abused. Some of the new provisions of the law authorize the investigation of suspected abuse cases, require the reporting of confirmed cases and permit new emergency and non-emergency protective orders.

Also participating in the training, according to Grace Egan, executive director of the New Jersey Association of Area Agencies on Aging, will be the Union County Office on Aging and the Adult Protective Services agency.

"There are important definitions concerning 'vulnerable adults' and the range of 'protective services' that need to be explained," said First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla. "Given the ever-increasing number of police responses involving the elderly and disabled, it is imperative that our officers know how to properly intervene."

Ruotolo has implemented stringent prosecution policies concerning crimes against the elderly. Assistant prosecutors handling cases involving violent crimes such as assaults or robberies where the victim is an elderly resident usually result in maximum prison terms, extended periods of parole ineligibility and waiver motions seeking adult trials in cases where juveniles victimize older folks.

During sentencing, judges throughout New Jersey can consider whether the victim was particularly frail or too feeble to resist the defendant in assessing punishment.

Treating drug addiction topic

How can substance abuse be treated effectively within the managed care system? What are the consequences of the reappearance of marijuana? How can addiction be treated using music and art therapy?

These are just a few of the topics to be explored in the 16 six- and 12-credit courses being offered by the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence of Union County during its Summer Institute for Alcohol and Drug Studies the week of July 10-14.

To be held at Union County College in Cranford, this year's Summer Institute also will feature a five-day, 30-credit seminar, "Reality Therapy Put to Use."

Daytime classes will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and evening classes from 6 to 9 p.m. Each six credit class is $50, 12 credit class $100, and the 30 credit class $250. All courses have been submitted to the Alcohol and Other Drugs of Abuse Counselor Certification Board of New Jersey for certification and recertification credit. This issue is not going to disappear in the near future. Wilson, as well as several other Republicans who have indicated a desire to run for the Presidential nomination in 1996, may make affirmative action a strong part of their campaign platform. Even Democratic President Clinton has instructed aides to review the fairness of federal affirmative action policies.

Perhaps members of both political parties are realizing that affirmative action programs are simply unjust.

'The Secret Garden' blooms at Paper Mill

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

There is something close to magic going on at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. It is a special interpretation of Frances Hodgson Burnett's timeless novel, "The Secret Garden," offered by Robert Johanson and David Holdgrive, co-directors and co-choreographers. The story itself has a universal appeal and has not lost its attraction since it was published in 1911. It also has been successfully enacted in several forms on the silver screen and on television under various titles.

As presented in its musical version on the Paper Mill stage with book and lyrics by Marsha Norman and music by Lucy Simon — Carly Simon's sister — the Tony Award-winning Broadway production of 1991 retains its enchantment in every aspect.

The story of an 11-year-old girl, Mary Lennox, who is torn from her life as the daughter of a British diplomat in Colonial India after her parents and the inhabitants of her home die of cholera, and is sent to a distant relative in North Yorkshire, England, is unveiled in the shadowed gloom of Misselthwaite Manor. The orphan, a strong-willed child, finds herself thrust into an atmosphere of deep, hidden feelings of love and frustration and loss, and a dusty house full of family ghosts. Moreover, she discovers an ailing, crippled cousin whose mother died at childbirth, a brooding, hunchback uncle and another uncle, a physician, who is filled with hatred. She also finds warmth and friendship in a young friend, a gardener and a maid-servant — and in the midst of it all, she discovers her dead aunt's neglected secret garden, which when cultivated, brings love and faith back to inhabitants of the manor.

An exceptionally talented youngster, Cherie Bebout, plays Mary in a very difficult, demanding role, which calls for drama, dancing, singing and a touch of comedy. She does it all with a natural ease, particularly when she does most of the singing in the play. She also is responsible for turning a household of gloom and doom into the strength and magic of love. Bebout is supported by a strong, marvelous cast led by Johanson as Archibald Craven, her lovesick, crippled uncle, who in one of his finest roles, goes beyond versatility. He has a splendid talent for drama and his wonderfully musical voice is endearing to all audiences.

Glory Crampton, as the ghost of Lily, Craven's dead wife, is a lovely young woman with a fine operatic voice, who floats throughout the play wondrously. Keith Rice as the menacing Dr. Neville Craven, Archibald's brother, has a strong voice and is appropriately frightening, particularly when he expresses his enduring, unrequited love of Lily. There are marvelous performances by Celia Howard as Mrs. Medlock, a housekeeper; Stephanie Douglas, the chambermaid, a joy to watch; Luke Sickle, an exceptional actor, as the gardener, Ben Weatherstaff; and Dicon, Martha's brother, wonderfully played by Chad Hudson, who very nearly steals the show with his smooth, operatic voice and natural talents.

Of particular joy is David Lloyd Watson, who starred in the title role of Paper Mill Playhouse's "Oliver," and who gives a genuine performance as Colin Craven, the crippled cousin. Also appealing are Nancy Johnston as the schoolmistress, who also plays Alice, the Dreamer; Craig A. Benham as Major Shelley; and Ashton Byrum as the soldier.

The Dreamers, who are the ghosts of Mary's family in India and who glide through the play with beautiful voices, include Donna English, Gregory C. Watt, Scott K. Ivey, Jonathan Smedley, Drew Taylor, Jary Jo McConnell, Francis J. Cruz and Elizabeth Aosta.

The music, which is not memorable and probably not for humming, is still remarkably entertaining and tells the story as Burnett would have — had she been musically inclined. Among the numbers are the "Opening Dream," "There's A Girl," "The House Upon the Hill," "I Heard Someone Crying," "A Fine White Horse," "A Girl in the Valley." With a background of the maze and the greenhouse, the music includes "It's a Maze," "Winter's on the Wing" and "Show Me the Key."

"A Bit of Earth" sung by Johanson is enlightening, as are "Storm

'The Secret Garden' is being enjoyed by, from left, Cherie Bebout, Robert Johanson, David Lloyd Watson and Glory Crampton in a scene from the award-winning musical. It will be staged at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, through the end of July.

I," "Storm II," "Round-Shouldered Man," both by Bebout and Watson, and "Final Storm." A real show-stopper, which nearly brought the house down on Sunday, was "Lily's Eyes" sung with much feeling and power by Johanson and Rice. The other numbers, which are appealing, brought to the audience by Wendy Bobbitt, musical director, include "The Girl I Mean to Be," "Race You to the Top of the Morning," "Wick," "Come to My Garden," "Come Spirit, Come Charm," "A Bit of Earth," "Letter Song," "Where in the World" and "How Could I Ever Know?"

Scenic designer Michael Anania is represented in his own particular expertise in the marvelous settings from the gloomy, dusty grays of the manor, to the magnificent secret garden, which, when revealed, received a handsome reaction from the audience. The lighting by F. Mitchell Dana, particularly in the hanging portraits that come to life, and the stunning garden, is close to perfection.

Most important, however, are Johnson and Holdgrive. They have used their directing and choreography talents to the limit to put together one of the most unusual productions to reach the Paper Mill Playhouse.

After being rather stunned into the first act, the audience begins to relate during the second act, when the characters come alive, the garden comes up roses and the touching reunion scene between father and son wrings one's heart out.

"The Secret Garden," as offered by Angelo Del Rossi, executive producer, and Johanson, artistic director, choreographer, actor and singer, has something for everyone. It truly appeals to children of all ages and to adults who are still children at heart.

'Community' artist has work installed at museum

On Saturday, the public is invited to participate in the opening of artist Pepon Osorio's art installation "Project 5: Pepon Osorio — Badge of Honor." The installation, sponsored by the Newark Museum in collaboration with Aljira, a center for contemporary art, is in a store at 33 Broadway in Newark and will be on display until Aug. 12 on Tuesdays to Fridays from noon to 7 p.m. and Saturdays from noon to 5 p.m. After this community showing, the exhibition will be reinstalled in the Contemporary Galleries of The Newark Museum from Sept. 13 to Dec. 31.

This exhibition has been made possible by the AT&T Foundation's New Art/New Visions programs. Additional funding has been provided by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation.

"Working with Pepon Osorio has been very exciting. His community-oriented approach to creating public art allows the museum to literally expand our boundaries and become even more available to the community," said

Museum Director Mary Sue Sweeney Price.

A generation of artists has been making public art that focuses on concerns central to the public's well-being, said painting and sculpture curator Joseph Jacobs. Not only does Osorio make his work about the community and for the community, but he makes it in the community, with the community even collaborating in the work, he added.

"Badge of Honor" began in March and April when the artist met with several community groups and social service organizations to identify critical issues for the largely Latino and African-American North Newark neighborhood. Among the groups consulted were La Casa de Don Pedro, Aspira and Offenders Aid and Restoration.

Based on these meetings, Osorio decided to focus on the issue of family separation, especially on parents and children who do not know each other because a parent is incarcerated. The artwork is designed to function as a vehicle to confront the disintegration of the contemporary family, whether from separation by prison or a parent holding down two or three jobs, and to provide tools to help hold families together. The installation will consist of two sleeping quarters — a prison cell and a boy's bedroom. Video monitors will play interviews with an incarcerated father and his real-life son to emphasize how important strong family bonds are to the happiness and success of the individual.

"This father and son are really just a metaphor for all the different types of jails people may have, places they can't get out of. It could be a disease, working multiple jobs or some other condition in their lives," Osorio said. "I hope 'Badge of Honor' will lay the positive groundwork to make it easier for the community to talk about some of these things and will provide help for people who are dealing with these challenges every day."

The opening festival is Saturday from 1-4 p.m. at the corner of 2 Broad St. and Clay Street Newark. The festival is co-sponsored by The Newark Museum and La Casa de Don Pedro, Inc., the largest Hispanic community-based agency in New Jersey as well as Aspira and Aljira. There will also be a band and refreshments.

For more information, the public may call (201) 596-6650.

In conjunction with the September reinstallation at The Newark Museum, Aljira will present a related exhibition, "Modern Life," at its 2 Two Washington Place location. Curated by Aljira co-founder Carl E. Hazlewood, the show will focus on socially conscious art by emerging and established contemporary artists. Like Osorio's art, these works are directly related to the community and its concerns. Artists include Grae Graupe-Pillard, James Andrew Bronw, Anthony Murrell and Donald Odita. The exhibition will be from Sept. 13 to Nov. 17.

Paper Mill presents Summer Concert Series

The Paper Mill Playhouse presents Petula Clark as the Summer Concert Series opener on June 27. Clark, a recent Broadway success in her role as Mrs. Johnstone in the musical "Blood Brothers," will share her vocal talent in performances of songs she's made popular since the 1960s. Her current act features her previous chart toppers as well as a flavor of her 1990s material and includes "Downtown," "A Sign of the Times," "My Love" and "Don't Sleep in the Subway."

The Summer Concert Series continues on July 11 with the return of the Glenn Miller Orchestra, directed by trombonist Larry O'Brien. The orchestra will perform the swing tunes of "Pennsylvania 6-5000," "In the Mood," "Moonlight Serenade" and many others.

On July 18, the Paper Mill presents Roberta Flack, a rhythm and blues vocalist. Flack, whose performances with reggae star Maxi Priest, and R & B singers Peabo Bryson and the late Donny Hathaway, have helped create her stardom, is also celebrated for her gold chart-toppers "Feel Like Makin' Love" and "The Closer I get to You." She will perform her popular favorites "Killing Me Softly With His Song," "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and "Set the Night to Music."

Jazz Band of New Orleans returns to the Paper Mill stage performing its jazz combination of blues, quadrilles, spirituals and ragtime.

All shows in the concert series are on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. Tickets are $30 for orchestra seats and $25 for mezzanine. Visa and MasterCard are accepted. The box office is (201) 376-4343. The Paper Mill Playhouse is wheelchair accessible and infrared listening devices are available for individuals with hearing impairments.

Funding is provided in part by the Howard Gilman Foundation.

June 18-24

ARIES — March 21/April 20
While good financial news may lighten a heavy burden, it is wise to be cautious. Superfluous spending habits will certainly yield disaster for those lacking the capacity to plan. Promised yourself you would never date again? An interesting someone may compel you to revoke that promise!

TAURUS — April 21/May 21
Too much to do and not enough time. Such may be the catch phrase in the coming week. Don't carry the entire load on your own — pass on a heavy burden to someone who is not doing their share. Don't rush to make a decision about a personal affair, as you could have a change of heart.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21
Mental quickness characterizes the week ahead. Keep abreast of all issues in the workplace, as this could be a time for advancement. Speak up when you feel the need—you will be in tip-top form and will know how to express spirited ideas. Plan vacations well in advance.

CANCER — June 22/July 22
Daily rigors decrease in the coming days. So kick back and relax. Or, if you prefer, it's also a good time for socializing. A cash gift or your partner's sudden financial success will give you cause to celebrate. A big trip and/or fun in the sun brightens your immediate future.

LEO — July 23/August 23
Keep in tune with the feelings of someone close to you — a single-minded approach to problems could be alienating. Work-related matters may be a source of confusion. While charisma and work ethic may yield satisfaction, a heavy-handed attitude could be the cause of problems.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22
Kindling an old flame may become an explosive venture. A wise Virgo will contemplate the reasons why a relationship did not work the first time before trying again. Keep your eyes and ears open for an unexpected opportunity. A lucky financial break may be on the way.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23
Being extra tolerant of those with whom you are associated will prove wise. If you don't, you may find a quick slip of the tongue will result in long-term regret. A fresh vision, new plan, and a new attitude results in long-term gain for those Libras who are faltering. A loved one will have a special surprise for you.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22
Romance will be the highlight of the week. Single Scorpions will prove irresistible to the opposite sex, while those already in love will find special moments with their significant others. A good time for communication of any kind. You'll find it easy to express yourself.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21
Any goals you have set aside should be initiated this week. Whether you want to start a diet, close a business deal or write a novel, this is the week to start. And don't let pessimistic associates sway your ambitious plans. Believe in yourself and you'll succeed.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20
If you're involved in business or finance you should find this to be a lucky week. You could be in the right place at the right time. A dispute with a loved one may be inevitable. Be open when you voice your concerns and frustrations. Honesty is the best policy here.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18
Although flirting may be fun, it could get you in heaps of trouble. Inappropriate behavior could lead to a soiled reputation. Watch what you say. Don't let yourself get pulled into the middle of an argument between family members. Try to stay neutral if possible.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20
A heated discussion could erupt from what starts as a friendly conversation. Unless you're in the mood for passionate verbatim, don't get involved in conversations on controversial subjects. A project left until the last minute could suffer in quality. Give yourself extra time.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
The next 12 months:
A year of growth and learning. At work, a new responsibility will take up much of your time and through it you will gain a new set of skills. This is especially true for those involved in creative work such as writing or design. A new place to live may be in store sometime later in the year. Perhaps more space is what you need for a happier home. A friend from your past may re-enter your life. This person — a Libra or Leo — will be an even closer friend than before. A new hobby will interest and take up a fair amount of your free time.

NJSO hosts a series of concerts in the park

On June 22 at 7 p.m. at the Ryland Inn in Whitehouse, NJSO Assistant Conductor Mariusz Smolij and the NJSO will kick-off the summer season with a Summer Solstice Gala Celebration chaired by John R. Whitman.

The program will feature light classics including Mendelssohn's Overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and Vivaldi's "Summer" from "The Four Seasons," featuring NJSO Concertmaster Christopher Collins Lee. Cocktails will be offered prior to the concert at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8 p.m. The menu will include a three-course dinner made with herbs and spices, lettuces, vegetables and fruits grown at the Ryland Inn. Tickets start at $200 per person including dinner and the concert. Call Dan Zanella at (201) 624-3713, ext. 213 for tickets and information.

The summer outdoor parks concerts continue with a "A Salute to the Allies" program which commemorates the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II and includes music of composers from allied countries including Copland, Gliere, Sousa, Berlioz, Tchaikovsky, Elgar and Ellington. The summer tour opens at Giralda Farms in Madison on June 25 at 6 p.m., followed by performances at the Great Auditorium in Ocean Grove on July 6 at 8 p.m. with guest organist Gordon Turk; Brookdale Park in Bloomfield on July 7 at 7:30 p.m.; Hank Aaron Field in Newark on Aug. 2 at 7 p.m.; Echo Lake Park in Westfield on Aug. 9 at 7:30 p.m.; Six Flags Great Adventure in Jackson on Aug. 12 at 8 p.m.; and Riverside Park in Paterson on Aug. 30 at 7 p.m. The performances in Bloomfield, Westfield and Paterson are sponsored by Chemical Bank New Jersey. Additional performances may be added to the schedule at a later date.

While the performances at Bloomfield, Newark, Westfield and Paterson are free to the public, tickets must be purchased for the Giralda Farms, Great Auditorium and Six Flags Great Adventure performances. Advance tickets for Giralda Farms are $6 for adults, and $3 for children under 12; day of performance $8 and $3, respectively. Tickets can be obtained by calling the Arts Council of the Morris Area (201) 377-6622. Tickets for the Great Auditorium are $15 for general seating and can be obtained through Ticketmaster at (201) 507-8900 or (609) 520-8383. Admission to the performance at Six Flags Great Adventure is free with park admission; $34 theme park and wild safari animal park, and $31 theme park alone.

Each summer season, the NJSO brings to the citizens of the state and surrounding areas an opportunity to enjoy the weather while listening to performances of popular and light classical music from the orchestra's mobile sound-stage. Picnicking is encouraged in all locations except the Great Auditorium in Ocean Grove and at Six Flags Great Adventure.

Broadway Diner
An impressive list of homemade desserts

By Lisa Ann Battito Staff Writer

Choosing a restaurant is often difficult, when members of the party have conflicting cravings. This dilemma can be solved with a visit to The Broadway Diner and Restaurant, 55 River Road, Summit. This establishment is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week and features everything from omelettes to triple-decker sandwiches to hamburgers to seafood and steak to Italian specialties. There is also an impressive list of homemade desserts, which include cheesecake with a choice of fruit toppings, black forest cake and apple strudel.

When one enters The Broadway Diner and Restaurant, they are immediately taken in by its airy, cheerful decor, which as its name implies, features marquee posters from hit shows off the Great White Way.

Deciding what to order at the restaurant is dizzying, with each turn of the menu's pages adding to the confusion. On a recent visit, my friend and I went our separate ways: she selecting breakfast fare while I went for a complete dinner — which begin at $7.95 and is one of the best bargains to be found anywhere.

My friend was swayed by the restaurant's claim to have the "world's best pancakes." The menu gave her a choice of chocolate chip, raisin, blueberry, strawberry, apple, pineapple, cherry, ham and french apple but she went for the traditional buttermilk. She also ordered a scrambled egg and bacon, which came with toast and homemade potatoes.

My friend raved about the pancakes, which were light and fluffy yet withstood a saturation of syrup. I snuck a taste and found them to be as good as homemade. She proclaimed the scrambled egg was cooked to perfection, the bacon crisp and plentiful, and the potatoes delightfully crisp on the outside and soft on the inside. She chased her food down with a vanilla milkshake, which she called "divine."

My dinner began with a cup of chicken soup with rice, a hearty offering overflowing with chicken, vegetables and rice. This was accompanied by warm and crusty dinner rolls that are positively addicting.

My entree came with a complimentary glass of wine — a classy touch — and a homemade potato knish. My dinner contained numerous large shrimp, and every type of vegetable imaginable: carrots, broccoli, snow peas, string beans and water chestnuts among others. The ingredients were unmistakably fresh and the flavors blended together perfectly. Additionally, the portion was large enough for two meals.

My dinner also came with my choice of dessert but at this point I was full to capacity. I did, however, squeeze in a fresh fruit salad that was made with three types of melon. It was unbelievably refreshing.

On Friday evenings, The Broadway Diner and Restaurant offers additional complete dinner selections such as homemade macaroni and cheese, jumbo cajun shrimp over pasta or rice, and homemade baked meat lasagna. The establishment also offers professional on- and off-premise catering. Phone 273-4353.

Nicholas Buyard, a waiter at The Broadway Diner and Restaurant, and hostess Christina Penn look over the menu.

SPRING DINING

Arts Calendar

Saturday

Comedian Paula Poundstone will be appearing in the newly restored Community Theater, 100 South St., Morristown, at 8 p.m. Tickets, which are $25, are available at all Ticketmaster locations and at the Community Theater box office. Call (201) 539-8008 for ticket information.

Linda Hellman, a former Union resident and opera soprano who is listed in "Who's Who in Opera," will lecture on "Opera Becomes Real — Verismo," at 1 p.m. at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Ave., Belleville.

The discussion is part of the library's Spring Lectures in the Opera series, which is funded by the Nicholas Martini Foundation. On June 28, Hellman will speak on "Verdi and Wagner" and on Aug. 2 she will discuss "The Mad Ladies of Opera."

Hellman sang with the New York City, Connecticut and New Jersey State operas before expanding her career to sing in Europe for 12 years in Austria, Germany, Spain, Copenhagen, Hungary and Italy.

Upcoming events

July 19, 22

The Shoestring Players, a non-profit professional touring children's theater company and winner of the United Kingdom's "Fringe First" award for excellence in original theater, will host a teacher seminar in creative expression from 1-3:30 p.m., in conjunction with Shoestring PLUS — Workshops in Creative Expression. The seminar will take place on the Douglas Campus of Rutgers University in New Brunswick. In the workshops, educators will acquire techniques to enhance each and every subject of the curriculum, build student self-esteem, and encourage classroom participation, creativity and teamwork.

The pre-registration cost of the teacher seminar in creative expression is $25 per participant and $15 for each additional participant from the same school. Pre-registration is required.

For more information on the Shoestring Players, Shoestring Plus or the teacher seminar, call the offices at (908) 932-9772.

June 23-25

"Five on the Black Hand Side," a play written by Charlie L. Russell and directed by Marsha Trice, will open on June 23 at 8 p.m. in Newark Symphony Hall's Second Floor Theater, 1020 Broad St., Newark. There will be performances on June 24 at 3 and 8 p.m., and June 25 at 3:30 p.m. Tickets are $15.

"Five on the Black Hand Side" is a family comedy that illustrates a father who is having problems with one of his two sons. He is also a possessive husband to his wife, who learns how to resolve her unhappy home environment.

For further information or reservations, call the Symphony Hall Box Office at (201) 643-8009.

Echo Lake summer arts fest getting under way

Music will fill the night air in Echo Lake Park when the annual Union County Summer Arts Festival begins its season on Wednesday.

"This weekly concert series has something for everyone," stated Union County Freeholder Chairwoman Linda Di Giovanni. "Our Parks and Recreation staff spends the entire year looking for talent and planning the best schedule possible."

According to County Manager Ann M. Baran, every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. concerts will be held at the park. The first concert will be Italian Night on Wednesday with Marty DeRose. "DeRose is a crowd-pleaser year after year," said Baran.

Autoland of New Jersey is the sponsor of Italian Night, noted Di Giovanni. "We thank them and our other corporate supporters for their continued support," she said. "This enables us to present all 11 concerts in the series free of charge to the public."

The remaining schedule for the 1995 Summer Arts Festival is as follows:

- June 28, The Banjo Ragtimers, sponsored by Schering-Plough Corp.;
- July 5, The Ocean County String Band;
- July 12, County Western Night, Featuring the Tim Gillis Band;
- July 19, An Evening of Motown, With the Sensational Soul Cruisers;
- July 26, Polka Night, featuring the Jan Lewan Orchestra;
- Aug. 2, Big Band Night, featuring the Sammy Kaye Orchestra, sponsored by the United Counties Trust Company;

Aug. 9, The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, sponsored by Chemical Bank, New Jersey;

Aug. 16, A Reggae, Calypso Evening, featuring Johnny Youth and The Verdict;

Aug. 23, Gaelic Night, featuring the Andy Cooney Irish Show, sponsored by the Elizabethtown Gas Company; and

Aug. 30, Oldies Night, featuring the Party Dools, sponsored by PSE&G.

All concerts are held at the Springfield Avenue end of Echo Lake Park, Westfield/Mountainside. In case of rain, Cranford High School Auditorium, West End Place, Cranford, will be the site.

Rain information is available by calling (908) 527-4900 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. on the day of the concert. After 4:30 p.m., call (908) 352-8410 for a recorded message. Lawn chairs, blankets and picnic baskets are encouraged. There is a refreshment stand available beginning at about 6:30 p.m.

Limited transportation is available for people with disabilities and senior citizens by calling the Union County Office for the Disabled at (908) 527-4840.

The Union County Summer Arts Festival is presented by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the Division of Parks and Recreation.

Ole!

Dancer Tjaarda Jones gives a lecture/demonstration "From Fencing to Fandango: Dance in Imperial Spain" on July 1 at 6 p.m. in Hickman Hall, George Street at Route 18, New Brunswick. Admission is free and the public is welcome. For more information, call the Rutgers Arts Center at (908) 932-7511.

Band plans for album release

Sometimes a bad attitude can lead to good things. The Rahway-based rock band Bad Attitude is scheduled to release its self-titled debut album this month. The album, which contains 12 original songs, will be available on both compact disc and cassette. Bad Attitude is comprised of five members: Jamie Heath, lead vocals; Mike Leonard, guitars and backing vocals; Rich Wittek, guitars; Pat McFadden, bass guitar; and Tom Corea, drums and backing vocals. The group has been together since 1991 and over the years, it has appeared in many clubs throughout New Jersey and New York City, and has opened for a number of well-known artists including the Smithereens, the Marshall Tucker Band and Leslie West of Mountain. Bad Attitude has planned a CD release party for Saturday at Major's on the Boardwalk in Point Pleasant. There will be a giveaway of CDs and cassettes. A bus trip to the party has been planned and it will be departing from the Waiting Room Tavern on Irving Street in Rahway at 8 p.m. Transportation, refreshments on the bus, admission to the show and a complimentary CD or cassette are all included in the $30 fee, payable on the bus. Bad Attitude performed in a benefit for the Children's Miracle Network on June 3 at Scoreboard in Rahway and Bet's in Perth Amboy on June 10. On June 24, it will play at Butch Kowals in Rahway. Bad Attitude's album can be purchased at local record stores or by contacting the band's manager, Mike LaFalce of MRM Management, at (908) 283-0334.

Community theater puts out casting call

"The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940" by John Bishop is pure mayhem. Walls move, people disappear and the characters are seldom who we think they are. This is a challenging show with a lot of laughs. It's not a musical but an outrageous comedy about a musical comedy backer's audition with a Nazi spy, a stage door slasher and a house with a life of its own. With this premise in mind, director John Correll and assistant director Linda Behrie Correll, both of Winfield, are looking for a versatile cast to be funny and carry a tune. Auditions for the October show for Westfield Community Players will take place at the theater located at 1000 North Ave., West, in Westfield, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and June 22. Phone (908) 232-9568 for further information.

- The cast requirements are as follows:
- Helga Wenzel — a German maid 25 to 30 with an accent. Actress must be versatile and knowledge of stage combat is helpful.
 - Elsa Van Grossenknueten — a wealthy, eccentric patroness of the arts, early 50s and a little dippy.
 - Michael Kelly — a New York policeman, 25 to 50 years of age.
 - Patrick O'Reilly — an Irish tenor 35 to 40 with Irish, German and "Brooklynese" accents required. Some singing.
 - Ken DeLa Maize — the egotistical director, 30 to 50.
 - Nikke Crandall — an ingenue 20 to 30. A sweet thing, but hard as nails. Some singing.
 - Eddie McCuen — a comedian 25 to 35. A klutz with a heart of gold. Some singing.
 - Marjorie Braverstock — a producer, 45 plus years, on the demonstrative side.
 - Roger Hopewell — a songwriter, 35 to 50. An outrageous personality, some singing. Piano playing is a plus.
 - Bernice Roth — the lyricist, 35 to 50. A little dizzy and a healthy drinker.

All singers should be prepared to carry a tune and all auditions will be cold readings from the script. Those cast in the show must become dues paying members of Westfield Community Players. Scripts are available the week before auditions at the Westfield Public Library. Show dates are Oct. 14, 20, 21, 27, 28, and Nov. 3 and 4.

Commission offers internships

The Educational Advisory Board of the New Jersey Motion Picture and Television Commission is offering internships to students enrolled in film, television and communications degree programs. These internships are available for the fall 1995 and spring 1996 school year and are open to students enrolled in New Jersey colleges and universities. During a full semester internship in the office of the New Jersey Motion Picture and Television Commission, students are provided with an extensive background in pre-production coordination of a motion picture. They will become involved in the scouting of film locations and the preparation of research material for presentation to production companies. Students are also afforded the opportunity to visit the sets of features and television shows being made in the state. Interns are unpaid, but college credits can be arranged through a student's faculty advisor. Interested students may request more information by writing or calling the New Jersey Motion Picture and Television Commission, P.O. Box 47023, Newark 07101; or (201) 648-6279.

Consumer info

Some of the most important information never reaches the people for which it is intended because they are unaware of where to find it. Tax and charity dollars go to support many state and county hotlines. The information they provide is invaluable.

- Residents who want to report safety problems with vehicles can call the Auto Safety Hotline at (800) 424-9393.
- The state Department Office of Consumer Protection has a number for information on banking and credit rights and lending laws at (609) 292-1102.
- A 24-hour, child-abuse hotline is run by the Department of Human Services at (800) 792-8610.

Original manuscripts wanted

The Gemini Group, based at the Community Presbyterian Church of Mountaintop, is looking for simple, easy to produce one act plays for its fall and winter seasons. Interested playwrights are invited to submit two copies of their manuscripts to the attention of John Rupp, 608 Fourth Ave., Westfield 07090. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope to have the manuscripts returned after the review process is completed in late September. The Gemini Group is a year-old shoestring theatrical operation dedicated to providing an outlet for local residents who have always wanted to pursue the theater arts, who have been sidetracked from past theatrical activities by the pressures of careers or raising families, or who are currently active in other area groups but would like to "stretch their theatrical wings" by directing, producing and acting in works by local playwrights. "Right now we're not only non-profit," co-founder John Rupp said, "but non-funded. So when we ask for simple-to-produce plays, we mean just that — relatively short plays with relatively small casts that can be produced on a minimal-dressed stage without the dramatic impact suffering. We're looking for plays that we can take beyond the workshop stage... with relative ease." The group is currently in rehearsal for the Aug. 19 and 26 performances of three such plays: Rupp's "Allee Back," Scott Coffey's "I'll Miss My Train," and Coffey's and Allison Jacob's "A Grand Life."

Rutgers Art Center site of varied productions

Music from Aston Magna explores Spanish culture from 1550 to 1770 and its transplantation to the Americas in a series of three concerts on June 24, July 1 and July 7 at 8 p.m. in Nicholas Music Center of Rutgers Art Center, George Street at Route 18 in New Brunswick. Admission is $22. For information or to charge tickets by telephone, call the Rutgers Arts Center at (908) 932-7511.

On June 24 at 8 p.m., the concert is "Music of the 16th Century Vihelistas and Music of Spain in the 17th Century," featuring Andrea Pullington, soprano; Paul Hillier, baritone; Andrew Lawrence-King, harp; John Dorenburg, viola da gamba; John Gibbons, harpsichord; and Richard Savino, vihuelas and baroque guitar. The lecture by Michael Mahopney is "Three New Worlds: Europe in the Age of Discovery."

On July 1 at 8 p.m., the concert is "Vocal and Instrumental Music from the Spanish Baroque and Beyond," featuring Sally Sanford, soprano; Judith Malafronte, mezzo-soprano; Daniel Stepper and Emilio Moreno, violins; Laura Jeppesen, viola da gamba; Richard Savino, theorbo; and

Lionel Parry, harpsichord and organ. The lecture by Lynn Matlučk Brooks, dance historian, and Alan Tjaarda Jones, dancer, is "From Fencing to Fandango: Dance in Imperial Spain."

On July 7 at 8 p.m., the concert is "Music and Legend from Spain," featuring Stephen Hammer, oboe; Frederick Unxy, tenor; Richard Savino, guitar; Eric Hooprich, clarinet; Raymond Erickson, harpsichord; Daniel Stepper, violin; and others.

The lecture by castanetist Matteo is "The Castanets."

The 1995 Aston Magna Academy brings together approximately 80 scholars and artists representing the fields of art, architecture, cultural history, dance, literature, music history and performance, history of science, religion, theater and Latin American studies, among others, to explore the topic "Cultural Cross-Currents: Spain and Latin America, c. 1550 to 1750." The focus of the program is on Spanish culture from the peak of the Golden Age up to the Enlightenment and its transplantation to the New World, especially colonial Mexico and Peru.

The Aston Magna Foundation for Music and the Humanities, Inc., was founded in 1972 with the aim of bringing together performing artists, scholars, instrument makers and serious students to study and perform the music of the 17th and 18th centuries. This involves aspects of historical performance practices as well as consideration of the broader social and cultural context in which music was created and experienced.

'The Fantasticks' is staged

Mystic Vision Players will present "The Fantasticks" on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Linden Presbyterian Church, Orchard Terrace, Linden.

Tickets are $7 adults and $5 students and are available in advance and at the door. For more information, call (908) 925-1389 or (908) 925-9068.

"The Fantasticks," written by Tom Jones with music by Harvey Schmidt, ran for 35 years as the longest running off-Broadway production.

Jill Durbin of Linden, directs this production for the benefit of the Linden Presbyterian Church for the support it has given the theater group since its inception in 1992. Vocal music direction is by K. Darryll Charles.

Included in the cast are Faith Agnew as Luisa; David Parmelee as Matt; Patrick Curley as El Gallo; Mike McEniry as Hucklebee; Michael Chiuffo as Bellamy; John Muranko as Henry; Maureen Ryan as Mortimer and Macada McMullen as The Mute.

Guitarist Richard Savino performs with music from Aston Magna on June 24, July 1 and July 7 at 8 p.m. in Nicholas Music Center of Rutgers Art Center, George Street at Route 18 in New Brunswick. For information or to charge tickets by telephone, call the Rutgers Arts Center at (908) 932-7511.

Speedy Car Wash outshines the rest

It's located in an industrial area on Lehigh Avenue — not exactly the kind of place you might expect to find a car wash; but somehow the Speedy Car Wash has managed to do quite nicely over the past 20 years.

"The thing that's been interesting is that there's no other commerce on the street," said owner Gene Rooney, "but there are people who go far out of their way to come to us."

According to Rooney, who has operated the business for the past 20 years, the customer receives the best possible service at a reasonable price.

At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $2, less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged $7 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

Rooney, though, at his totally "brush-

Delegation tours homes

A delegation of 12 Japanese homebuilders on an Asahi Kasei USA Study Tour recently inspected the homes of Peter Burgdorff and Jean Burgdorff, president and chairman respectively of Burgdorff Realtors.

The delegation from Asahi Kasei Homes Co. in Tokyo, who every year sends to the U.S. a team of branch managers to familiarize themselves with new home building techniques and trends.

The tour was organized by Susan Smith, Burgdorff vice president of Development, and led by Masakiyo Miura, a general manager with Pacific Tour Systems Corporation, and Kimiko Miller, a bilingual sales associate with Burgdorff's Ridgewood Office.

The group first inspected the 9,937-square-foot home of Peter Burgdorff on Kent Place Boulevard. Most interesting to the visitors was the new, expansive 2,957-square-foot wing with cathedral ceiling and state-of-the-art kitchen which were designed by and added to the Victorian home in 1994 by general contractor Ted Aanensen, who presented a photo-history of the construction of the addition. The rest of the circa 1904 home also was of interest to the group, with various building and renovation techniques explained by Aanensen.

The delegation then moved down the Boulevard to Jean Burgdorff's home, a contemporary-style residence of cedar and stone construction which was designed by one of its owners, Barbara Keller, and built in 1979. From its unique three-level floor plan to its free-form pool and tennis courts, this home brought the group into the modern age of construction.

The group spent 10 days in the U.S., four days in Scottsdale, Ariz., and six days in the New Jersey/New York area.
