County Seat

By Chris Gatto
Regional Editor

It's almost time to go back to school again.

I used to dread hearing that phrase uttered from my father's lips every year. It was like he was rubbing in the fact that summer fun was nearing an end and we would soon be met with teachers, books and dirty looks.

Most kids probably feel the same way, although I'm sure everyone enjoys seeing the friends they didn't see during the summer. But, outside of that, it's work, work and plenty of it — at least that's much of what school life should be like.

That's why it was so distressful to go back, because it meant it was time to rev up the brain, and stop gliding on the cruise control I had been riding on during the previous couple of months.

What seemed to bother me the most was that my father seemed to take such joy in the fact that we would have to go back to school. Perhaps he did, I thought, because it would keep my sister and me out of his hair.

But, today I know that wasn't true and he would say simply because it was fact, and maybe because in a way he wished it was he who was going back. In fact, maybe that's the reason adults take so much pleasure in saying back to school. Most people have fond memories of school, and even the bad times don't seem quite so bad anymore.

Aside from the obvious fact that we are now more than halfway through August, what reminded me of going back to school was working on our back-to-school tab, which is included in this week's edition. The tab includes some information to assist high-schoolers in their college hunt as well as an article about the advantages of public schools vs. private schools and vice versa.

For many parents, this tab also may serve as a reminder. They may still recall, as do I, the first fall that arrived and we didn't have to return to school. For me, that occurred when I graduated college, and I remember thinking, "Gee, it just doesn't seem the same without having to go back to school."

Yes, I did miss it. And in some ways, I still do. Some day, I probably will return to school to further my education, but somehow I don't think it will be quite the same.

I know kids have heard it before — I know because I used to hear it all the time — but it is important that they enjoy their school years as much as they can, because they will be completed before they know it. If they don't do all the things they can, they'll end up wishing they had later. And it will be too late.

Not to throw a monkey wrench into that statement, but I really am happy to say I don't have to go back to school this year. The reason is because I worked very hard in school and I wouldn't want to have to go through it all over again.

Last week, Linden Leader Managing Editor Doug Miller received a phone call asking if he would like to interview home improvement talk-show host Bob Vila. I laughed. Not that I have anything against Bob Vila, but I just thought it was humorous because my mother rates Old Bob right up there with Regis and Kathy Lee.

Doug asked, what kind of questions would we ask him, and who we could get to conduct the interview. In responding, I joked that we could ask my mother to conduct the interview. I'm sure she would have been most happy. And if she were to ask Bob Vila as many questions as I must endure whenever I speak to her, we would surely have come out with one long article.

UCUA monitoring reports of Pennsy burner explosion

Safeguards double-checked on county incinerator

By Mark Crudele
Staff Writer

The Union County Utilities Authority is closely watching the investigation into what caused a fatal explosion at a Pennsylvania trash-to-steam plant.

That facility was constructed by Ogden Martin Systems, the same company that built a similar plant in Rahway.

In response to the explosion that killed two workers at a Lancaster County, Pa.-based incinerator, Ogden Martin is inspecting the lightning protection at its Rahway facility and at other plants across the country, said Karen Alexander, a spokeswoman for the company.

Alexander delivered a report at the UCUA's meeting last week to answer authority concerns whether what happened in Pennsylvania could happen in Union County.

What worries county officials is that the company still has no definitive explanation as to what caused the explosion in the middle burner of its three-burner plant.

But because there is the possibility that the problems were caused by two lightning strikes that occurred within a 15-minute span, the company is looking at the lightning suppression systems of all its facilities, especially in areas like Union County, where there are frequent lightning strikes. UCUA officials are monitoring Ogden Martin's investigation closely.

"Our ratepayers, and especially the people of Rahway, should know that the UCUA intends to find out exactly what happened at the Pennsylvania facility, and how it happened," said UCUA Chairwoman Blanche Banasiak.

"At this time, we are receiving information from Ogden Martin and we are monitoring their investigation," continued Banasiak. "We await a final report from them."

The Rahway facility has had a lightning incident in its brief history of operation, but did not suffer a direct hit, said Alexander. Lightning arresters on a utility pole on Routes 1&9 absorbed most of the voltage, she said, adding that she could not remember when that incident occurred.

Alexander told the utility that Ogden Martin is investigating the possibility that the propane auxiliary fuel burners at the Pennsylvania site malfunctioned when the lightning struck.

She noted that the Rahway facility uses natural gas, not propane, for its auxiliary fuel burners. She said if that is what happened, it would not affect Rahway.

"Because of the unique circumstances, the UCUA is not concerned that this could happen in Rahway," said authority spokesman John Tiene. "We are interested to find out what happened and how it happened."

Referring to Ogden Martin's investigation into the propane burners, Tiene said, "One of the things Ogden is looking at is a possible involvement of the propane gas system in the explosion. Rahway does not have a propane system. We use natural gas. Additionally, our burners are always in manual mode, never in automatic."

Tiene said Ogden Martin plans to make future reports to the UCUA. "They will report regularly at public meetings of the authority. And when the final report is received, that will also be reviewed at a public meeting."

Other public bodies are also looking for information. The Rahway City Council unanimously introduced and approved a resolution last week requesting to see the full reports on the explosion at the Pennsylvania incinerator site from both Ogden Martin and the Union County Utilities Authority.

The city is also seeking to have representatives from the UCUA and Ogden Martin to appear at a City Council meeting.

The Concerned Citizens of Union County, a group which opposed the facility's construction, also is pressing for information.

Beatrice Bernzotti, a concerned citizens member, said she is worried because residents are told that facilities in the area of Linden are referred to as state-of-the-art, and they still have problems.

The first bolt of lightning, which struck the plant on July 28, knocked the Pennsylvania plant's first and third units off line. Two plant employees, Aaron Moore, 23, and Glen Wiley, 33, both of Pennsylvania, were sent to deal with the problem.

The facility lost power and was hit by lightning again, causing the entire facility to lose power. Seconds after the second lightning bolt, one of the boilers exploded, and the two men were burned by hot gas.

Ogden Martin found 10 ruptured boiler tubes in the exploded burner.

Alexander maintained that the plant was safe, and denounced unidentified former employees who claimed Pennsylvania plant workers did not have adequate training.

But a business representative for Local 675 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Frank Donnelly, said that some Ogden employees at the Union County site are worried about safety, and that charges stemming from those concerns have been filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

Donnelly said the workers, who are afraid to raise the issues for fear of being fired, report that safety meetings which are supposed to be held weekly are not, and that worker safety concerns are not addressed.

Workers are also not given copies of accident reports filed by Ogden, said Donnelly, fueling employee concerns that the reports might be slanted to put the blame on the staff, not on the equipment.

The Lancaster site has been in operation since 1991. The Rahway facility was placed on-line in February 1994, and it burns garbage from Union and Bergen counties.

Both facilities are identical, with the exception that the Rahway site has greater waste-burner capabilities.

Ogden officials said they have 170 facilities around the world and have never had an explosion like the one in Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania plant has been shut down. Trash from that area is being diverted to a nearby landfill.

Running to the hoops

Union County Freeholders Frank Lehr, left, and Walter McLeod, present a resolution to Chris Smith, formerly of Linden, honoring him for being selected to play for the United States as a member of the Florida All-Stars Belgium Basketball Tour. Smith's mother, Charlene, works for the Division of Employment and Training in the Union County Department of Human Services.

Three additional days set to dispose household waste

The three spring Household Special Waste Disposal Days of 1995 held in Westfield, Union and New Providence saw a total of 1,494 vehicles during household chemical wastes for proper disposal.

There will be three additional disposal days this fall. The first will be held Sept. 9 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Scotch Plains Public Works Garage at 2445 Plainfield Ave.

The second fall event will be held in Rahway at the Municipal Building Parking Lot at City Hall Plaza on Sept. 30 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. The final event for the year will be held at the Berkeley Heights Municipal Swimming Pool on Locust Avenue on Oct. 14 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There is no cost to participate, however, pre-registration with the UCUA is necessary. The event is open to Union County residents and public only. Proof of residency is required.

Public and private Union County schools will also be able to dispose of their lab wastes at these events. In order to participate, schools must contact the UCUA at least two weeks prior to the event for more information and registration.

"This is another opportunity for residents to help protect the environment by properly disposing of unwanted household special waste," UCUA Chairman Blanche Banasiak said. "This type of waste, such as oil-based paints and pesticides, should not be thrown away with other household garbage."

Acceptable materials include oil-based paints and varnishes, pool chemicals, corrosives and cleaners, pesticides and herbicides, caustics, solvents, thinners, aerosol cans, asphalt sealer, fire extinguishers, flammable liquids and solids, automotive products, batteries, propane tanks, unbroken fluorescent bulbs, thermostats and mercury switches. Only materials in their original containers will be accepted.

For more information or to register, call the UCUA at (908) 382-9400 Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 1 and 4:30 p.m.

Resident teaches public how to be 'fit for life'

By Anthony C. Venetolo
Staff Writer

Union resident Bill Grant can thank up yet another achievement. Body-builder, actor, TV host, and of late, radio personality, Dedicated to maintaining a healthy lifestyle in today's world, Grant's "Fit for Life" can be heard every Saturday at noon on 1050 AM.

Grant is highly excited about his new endeavor over the radio airwaves because this is a completely new venture for him. "It's a different medium," he said. "Unlike our TV show, we now have to make people imagine and visualize because its continuous talking."

Most recently, Grant has had the opportunity to interview one of his biggest inspirations, Jack LaLanne. Grant's quick to note that LaLanne started the first health club in 1935 and invented most of the workout machines people use today. Unfortunately, they were never patented.

The radio show is a spinoff of Grant's television program, formerly titled "Suburban Gym," and viewed by more than 1 million people in Essex, Hudson, Union and Middlesex counties. They are now both titled "Fit for Life" for easier identification as well as the acquisition of Suburban Cablevision by Comcast Cable.

Both of Grant's shows will discuss the same kind of topics. "It's not just body building," Grant said. "We cover all aspects of physical fitness from wheelchair athletics, exercise during pregnancy, sports training and fitness for children."

Success wasn't overnight for Grant. As a matter of fact, it took about 32 years in the making. Grant, the son of a professional boxer, wasn't born with Herculean-like genetics. He admits he was a former skinny kid who "got pushed around a lot." That all changed when Grant joined the weightlifting club as a freshman in high school. "I didn't start to lift weights to bully other people, but out of necessity, more or less, to protect myself and look better."

Soon after, Grant joined the Orange YMCA in 1960 and began competing on the professional level.

While he did enjoy early success, Grant admits he was somewhat intimidated by competing professionally and was pushed into it. "I had always had the thought of competing but somewhere along the line, I was kind of afraid."

But how does one achieve physical greatness? "It has to become a lifestyle. That's what happens when I tell people who want to get in shape — you have to adjust and alter your lifestyle. That's basically what I did," he said.

With a positive mind, body and attitude, success followed in years to come, with Grant garnering such coveted titles as Mr. America in 1971 and Mr. World in 1974. Grant also formed an alliance with a future superstar while training in Gold's Gym — Arnold Schwarzenegger.

According to Grant, present-day body builders should note that in addition to LaLanne, Schwarzenegger has had "probably the most impact on the sport of body building."

Due to the success of the 1977 film "Pumping Iron," in which Schwarzenegger's quest for another Mr.

'It's not just body building. We cover all aspects of physical fitness from wheelchair athletics, exercise during pregnancy, sports training and fitness for children... Unlike our TV show, we now have to make people imagine and visualize because its continuous talking.'

— Bill Grant

Olympia title was documented, the sport finally received the respect it deserved. Also featured in the film, Grant is proud to be a part of what was the heyday of body building. "We were the men who set the pace and tone for what the sport is today."

It was a turning point for the sport. "After that it became huge," Grant said. "With prize money growing rapidly."

Those early days were special to Grant because they were the glory days of weight training. By the 1970s, Grant started training at the mecca of body building — Venice Beach, Calif. He fondly remembers how the gym "buzzed with a beehive of great activity. We had enough energy to light up the city of Los Angeles."

However, with growth comes change. How does body building differ today in comparison with the golden age? "It's different. There isn't the same camaraderie. We were a lot closer and hung out together and were friendlier. The attitudes have changed because body building has grown and the monet has changed a lot of things," Grant said.

What's in store for Grant next? Since his TV show is improving, there are plans to possibly move the show to ESPN sometime in the future. Grant would also like to see his radio show in syndication. As if that were not enough, he's also working on a series of videos to be a companion with a book he's co-authoring. A screenplay is also in the works about the world of professional body building.

As for Bill Grant the action film star? He casually admits, you may see that as well.

Grant's "Fit for Life" can be heard every Saturday at noon on 1050 AM WEVD. His cable show airs every Monday at 9 p.m. on Channel 3, Comcast Cable, formerly Suburban Cablevision.

Workshop leader Tim Wilson of the Market Street Sculpture Aerie in Kenilworth with student artists at the 1995 Union County Teen Arts Festival held in March at Union County College.

Teen exhibit stops in Kenilworth

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Division of Parks and Recreation, announced that Schering Plough of Kenilworth will host the Union County Teen Arts Touring Exhibit for the month of August.

The exhibit consists of 23 pieces of art selected from 500 visual art works shown at the 1995 Union County Teen Arts Festival held in March at Union County College. Linda Lee Kelly, member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Advisory Board, said, "We recognize the work of these talented students not only as visually appealing final product, but also as a process. Students use perceptual, intellectual and technical skills as well as self-discipline and critical thinking while creating their art. These are skills essential to success in the work place."

- The exhibiting students are:
- Elizabeth: Melinda Soto, Benedictine Academy; John Paul Gurgoroso, T.C. Reilly Middle School.
  - Hillside: Chung-Yu High School; Hillside High School.
  - Linden: Monica Smerdel, Linden High School.
  - Mountainside: Chrissy Souder, Deerfield Middle School.
  - Rahway: David Loza, Rahway High School.
  - Springfield: Michael Hendrichs, F.M. Gaudineer Middle School.
  - Summit: Siho Shon, Summit Middle School; Gladys Ting, Oak Knoll School.
  - Union: Laurie Wade, Burnet

Talented people needed for fest

Do you practice a traditional folk art or craft that is part of your cultural heritage? Do you sing Puerto Rican jibaro songs or African American a cappella gospel music? Embroider Hmong paj ntaub? Cut Polish wycinanki? Create Korean calligraphic gung che? Are the arts part of your cultural heritage?

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Division of Parks and Recreation, is looking for individuals and groups to participate in a Folk Arts Festival slated for October at Union County College in Cranford.

The Folk Arts Festival is supported in part by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Theater company has new home

Carnival Productions, the first Rahway-based theater company in a decade, is preparing for its premiere in its new home: El Bodegon Restaurant and Dinner Theater. Area theatergoers may remember Carnival Productions from its two previous presentations in Union County: "From Broadway... With Love!" in 1989, and last year's "Broadway and Beyond."

Founded in 1989 at the time of its first production, which was a benefit for the burned out Osceola Presbyterian Church in Clark, the group was offered a home by Linden's St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, where "From Broadway... With Love!" was performed. "It just wasn't the right time," said co-founder and Artistic Director Bill Van Sant. "Despite the success of that first show, we were unable to find adequate and affordable musical directors and we were forced to go into hibernation." That hibernation lasted five years.

The company was resurrected last year when "Broadway and Beyond" was mounted as a fund raiser for the First Presbyterian Church of Rahway, where Van Sant's family worships. His wife, actress Wendy Cinquanta, who is also co-founder and the group's general manager, said "Broadway and Beyond" was so well received that "we immediately recognized a need here in the Rahway area for quality entertainment at an affordable price. Theater lovers in this area are very lucky to have the Broadway stage so easily accessible but tickets prices have become somewhat prohibitive. As amazing as they are, you don't necessarily need 'Phantom's' chandelier or 'Miss Saigon's' helicopter to affect people. We wouldn't presume to think that we could replace the Broadway experience, but we aim to offer a no less exciting, and much more affordable, alternative."

Van Sant said, "In addition to some better known musicals and plays, our plans also include offering a venue for local artists and audiences whose tastes run in a slightly less traditional vein. We are currently beginning to develop projects for Shakespeare workshops, experimental theater pieces, children's theater, scene showcase nights and original plays." Pointing to the group's original premise, he said, "It's also important for us to still mount fund raisers for non-profit organizations. I guess you could say our goal is to be a community theater that is part of the life of the community."

Van Sant has a history with the theater at El Bodegon. "In the early '80s, I did Gemini and Chicago with the Rahway Revelers, which was in residence at the restaurant at that time." Not too long ago, the couple read an ad publicizing a one-weekend-only performance of the play "Vainities," to be presented at El Bodegon. Van Sant prepared a proposal package and presented it to restaurant owner Manuel Vasquez, who agreed to give the group a trial run. Said Van Sant, "It's taken quite a while to get to this point, and there were many times that we thought the success of our first show had been a fluke. I think this is going to be a happy marriage."

For its current offering, the company is rehearsing "Cafe d'Amour," an evening of vocal music covering the full range of the timeless experiences in contemporary relationships. "This particular project was actually inspired by the theater at El Bodegon," said Van Sant. "Knowing the intimacy of the space, we wanted to put together a piece equally as intimate." The show covers a wide scope of hope, disappointment, heartache, anxiety and joy as lovers meet, part, reunite or find new loves in a small romantic cafe.

The Van Sant's have worked with Musical Director Susan M. Loughlin, of Rahway, to compile a list of songs to touch audiences' hearts and underscore the fortitude and resilience of the capacity to love.

That's not to say that audiences won't recognize a great many of the songs. The program includes musical ranging from the Broadway theater, to jazz, to old standards, to film songs. Among the featured numbers are "Lover Man," "I'll Be Seeing You," "I Can Dream, Can't I?" and selections from the musicals and films "She Love Me," "Grand Hotel," "A Little Night Music," "Company," "Victor/Victoria," "Anything Goes," "Follies" and "Pippin," among others.

Weinerville family comes to town

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Marc Weiner, Nickelodeon television's bulging-eyed comedian, will delight audiences of all ages on Aug. 25 at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. at Chuck E. Cheese's at 1660 Route 22, East, Union. He will bring his zany self, his puppets and the rest of his inhabitants from Weinerville in his own inimitable slapstick style of a show called "Weinerville Live."

"This is the first time I'll be in Union, New Jersey," Weiner admitted the other morning during a chat. "But I hear it's beautiful this time of the year," he chuckled. "We are bringing the Weinerville family to New Jersey — to the people of Union, including the Weinerville characters, Boner, the Dinosaur, Socko and Captain Bob. We will have the general store puppets. And we will also display our big machine, which is 20 feet tall and has flashing lights and smoke, which every kid who watches my show knows about. The machine takes people and shrinks them down to small sizes, and we make puppets out of them. Two lucky people will be Weinerized," he declared.

"It's just going to be a fun, messy show."

Weiner has been doing Nickelodeon Weinerville since 1993 with his half-man-half puppets, and he has been assuming the role of one of his unique characters from "Saturday Night Live." He started his career as a street performer in New York City in the late 1970s while earning his way through college. While performing his acts on the steps of the Metropolitan Museum of Art one day, Robin Williams, who was then starring in "Mork & Mindy," joined him and they both entertained crowds all afternoon.

He and his puppet characters were featured at an improvisational act in New York, then headlined comedy clubs across the United States. He also opened for popular concert acts. Weiner had been nominated two years in a row as the top college performer in the mid-1980s by the National Association of Campus Activities and was soon spotted by producers of "Saturday Night Live." He brought his hand puppet, "Rocko," and did a routine on the "Weekend Update" segment of that show, and before long, Weiner was seen regularly on that show. He also made appearances on "The Jim Henson Hour," "Random Acts of Variety," Comedy Central's "That's Not Fair," and regularly on Fox's "Comic Strip Live."

Some of Weiner's antics are reminiscent of Jerry Lewis, then and now. "Jerry Lewis," said Weiner, "was my hero, my idol. I never met him, and I never got to see him in 'Damn Yankees,' his Broadway musical, but he truly was one of my idols. You see," he said seriously, "I enjoy physical comedy. And that's what he likes to do, you know, silly, slapstick stuff is what I try. Live physical comedy."

And Weiner will continue to bring "live physical comedy" when he tours "all around the country. We're making the next Nickelodeon shows in New York on locations in different places."

Weiner, who resides with his wife, Sandy, and their three children, Rebecca, 7, Max, 4 and Sara, eight months old, said, "I think my kids like my television show. Actually," he mused, "they truly, really enjoy it. The only time they get embarrassed is when I do those antics when I'm not on TV. But I think they're proud when the other kids ask them about their father."

Weiner explained that Nickelodeon Weinerville came along "two years ago, when I talked to them about an idea for a show. We developed a show, and here we are. You know," he laughed, "my father, Mel, actually designed the show. He stands in the back with the sound man and gives everyone his cues. He's my stage manager. And my mother, Adele, is in charge of merchandizing. I'm like Elvis," he chuckled. "All in the family."

"My father, who used to be in the plumbing business with my brothers, Jonas and Jess, who still are, still looks in on them every day. Both my parents, actually, my whole family are really great!"

With Nickelodeon Weinerville, the versatile comedian serves as the show's host and appears as several puppet characters, including Dottie, the nightmare, and Socko, the tough guy. It airs on the cable station Monday through Friday from 8 to 8:30 a.m. and on Saturdays from 3 to 4 p.m.

"Kids of all ages will like the show in Union," Weiner said. "With the TV shows, it plays a little young, but with the live show it plays for kids in a number of ways."

Tickets are on sale at Chuck E. Cheese's at $12 in advance, and one can get more information by calling (908) 688-0210.

Weiner also mentioned that he has a production company called Weinerville Productions which has produced award-winning educational videos for St. Jude's Hospital and the American Dairy Council.

Twenty years from now, Weiner said, "When I'm 63, that's when I'll say I should have joined my father's plumbing business."

"But right now, I'm 43," he giggled happily. "A youngster. Right?"

On the set of the film, 'Celluloid,' made in Italy, are its stars, Stephen Nalewicki, formerly of Union, and actor Christopher Walken.

Actor stars in Italian movie

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Actor Stephen Nalewicki, formerly of Union and who has been making movies in Italy for a number of years, recently completed a featured role in "Celluloid."

The film, which will open the Venice Film Festival, is the project that will represent Italy this year for the 100th anniversary of cinema.

"Celluloid" is based on the making of the legendary Italian motion picture, "Rome, Open City," which was directed by the late Roberto Rossellini. Nalewicki will portray the character of Harry, a gay Austrian dancer chosen to play the German military officer in "Rome, Open City." Starring in the Italian film are Giancarlo Giannini as Amidei, the producer; Christopher Walken as Sgt. Geiger, who was responsible for making possible the classic Italian movie; and Lina Sastri as Anna Magnani.

It was directed by Carlo Lizzani, who has directed such actors as Henry Fonda, Rod Steiger and Julian Sands, an English performer. Nalewicki received his professional training in 1987 at New York University Tisch School of the Arts, Circle in the Square Theater Program, and performed with such teachers as Alan Langdon, Terry Hayden, Deborah Aquila and Uta Hagen.

He has utilized a variety of dialects of the American and English language. He had to achieve a perfect Appalachian southern accent for the role of Carl in "Ginny," and trained with Sam Chwat of the New York Speech Center. Chwat also prepared Robert De Niro for the same accent in "Cape Fear."

In Italy, Nalewicki assisted Giannini in the preparation of Laban's role in "Jacob," the Bible series, "regarding the pronunciation and intonation of the English language."

His work in theater began off-Broadway in which he appeared in such roles as Chaplain Grayson in "Dayporech at East Jesus," Carl in "Ginny," Starbuck in "The Rainmaker," Garcin in J.P. Sartre's "No Exit," Horatio in "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark" and Charles Stanton in "Dangerous Corners." He also was featured in "Ferago" and as an actor in New York's independent films. Nalewicki's diverse characterizations included "More Bad Times," "Columbus Park," "Opening Night" and "Two Bits," starring Al Pacino. He played the leading character, Captain John Pringle, in the film, "Unknown Soldier," with such actors as Martin Balsam, Angelo Orlando and Andrea Prodan.

Nalewicki has performed in promotional spots and voice overs for RAI Italian Television Corp., where he worked with Gene Luotto, a well-known translator, who himself had worked with such legends as the late Federico Fellini.

"Open City," which came to light 50 years ago in a country destroyed by war, was destined to change the language of cinematography, and, according to its filmmakers, "at the same time, move the world."

Zany comedian Marc Weiner, who loves to perform for youngsters of all ages, will bring his Nickelodeon's 'Weinerville Live' to Chuck E. Cheese's at 1660 Route 22, East, Union, Aug. 25 at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. Among the puppets who will accompany him will be Boner, the Dinosaur.

Show wraps up tapings

The Steve Ames cast recently concluded the taping of its August show at a poolside venue in Woodbridge. Homeowner Robert Prion arranged for the Ames' traveling troupe to "put the wraps on an outdoor show" starring local resident Tom Blasi, making his fourth appearance; pop-country music singer Tony Christian, making his second appearance, with his original songs which he co-wrote with his partner, Joe Durante; and co-host Walt Gollender of Irvington, who arranges to bring the guests.

Pianist Joy Kaye of Irvington replaced the late Marvin Lewis in playing the Ames' tunes of yesteryear. Ames has been making the rounds of nursing homes this season with his nostalgia-vaudeville review.

The Steve Ames Show airs each Tuesday in August at 9:05 p.m. on Suburban Comcast cable, TV-32.

SUMMER AND THE EATIN' IS EASY!

Festival closes with 'Artists and Admirers'

Following the success of last season's "Diary of a Scoundrel," the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival once again closes its season with a play by Russian dramatist Alexander Ostrovsky, "Artists and Admirers." Due to enthusiastic advance sales, "Artists and Admirers," which was scheduled to close Sept. 3, already has been extended one week to Sept. 10; the production opens Friday, with a low-priced preview today. For tickets and information, call (201) 408-5600.

"Artists and Admirers" tells the story of a young actress who is forced to choose between her life as an artist and the safer, more conventional vows of marriage. Considered to contain some of the most coveted roles for actors in Russian drama, the play is not only an examination of artists' lives, but mirrors the barbaric attitudes of contemporary life in regard to art and education. "Artists and Admirers" will be directed by NJSF Artistic Director Bonnie J. Monte, who directed "Diary of a Scoundrel" last season and the revival of "The Homecoming" earlier this season.

The role of Neginia, the young actress at play's center, is played by Amanda Ronconi, who makes her Equity debut in "Artists and Admirers." Ronconi spent two years in the festival's Non-Equity Company, appearing in last season's productions of "As You Like It," "Electra" and "Romeo and Juliet." In addition, she was seen as Katherine in this season's opening production of "Love's Labour's Lost." Ronconi is a graduate of New York University's Tisch School of Arts.

Judith Anna Roberts, who appeared in "Diary of a Scoundrel," returns this year to play Neginia's mother. Roberts' theater credits include "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolf?," "The Greeks Summerfolk" and "Steiglitz O'Keefe." Her film and television credits include "Mac," "Eraserhead," "As the World Turns" and, for PBS' American Playhouse, "Happy End."

Portraying the man who tries to woo Neginia away from the theatrical life is Edmond Genest. Genest's Broadway appearances include "A Few Good Men," "The Real Thing," "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" and "Dirty Linen and New Found Land." Off-Broadway he was seen in the "Real Inspector Hound," "The Browning Version" — both at the Roundabout — and "Later Life" at Playwrights Horizons. Genest has appeared in more than 100 productions at 27 regional theaters.

Roy Cockrum, portrays Bohemian Price who threatens to close the theater where Neginia is the star performer. Cockrum is familiar to festival audiences from his work in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and "The Taming of the Shrew." Off-Broadway, he was seen in "Red Care on Sunset," "God of Vengeance" and "The Broken Pitcher." His many regional credits include "Measure For Measure," opposite Kelly McGillis at the Shakespeare Theater in Washington.

Also appearing in "Artists and Admirers" are James Michael Reilly, whose previous festival appearances include "Arms and the Man," "Taming of the Shrew" and "Macbeth;" Bruce Turk, who recently appeared as Malcolm in The Other Stage production of "Macbeth;" Herman Petras, who festival audiences will remember for his work in "Electra" and "As You Like It;" and Tom Brennan, who appeared last year in "Diary of a Scoundrel" and "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Completing the "Artists and Admirers" cast are Kate Hampton, David Mandel, Kathy Mattingly, Bill

Kristin Kwansieski.

"Artists and Admirers" runs through Sept. 10 at the Bowne Theater on the campus of Drew University; for tickets and information, call (201) 408-5600.

Dining Review August 17, 1995

By Pia Wilson

The mysteries of the Orient have unfolded before American eyes for hundreds of years. From the discovery of silk to exotic spices, Asian countries have provided a mother-lode of cultural phenomena. One of the first cultural exchanges between countries is often recipies.

Chinese food has become assimilated into the ethnic melting pot of this country, and the phrase "getting some Chinese" is almost as American as getting a piece of mom's apple pie. At the Double Dragon, located at 1230 Morris Ave. in Union, a person can satisfy a sweet tooth with an almond cookie or calm an empty stomach with any one of 181 dishes.

Appetizers range from four types of egg rolls to cold sesame noodles. Seafood lovers can take advantage of the fried seafood platter for two.

The wonton soup, which is very popular, is well-made. Served piping hot, the soup has a smooth consistency, is not too salty and has plenty of dumplings.

The hot and sour soup lives up to its name and is for the brave of heart or tongue. Thick with bean curd and other staples, this soup is an open invitation to an adventurous companion.

All of the capable chefs at the Double Dragon dine-in or take-out restaurant put their hearts into and their reputations behind any dish they serve.

One item listed on the seafood menu is of superior quality. The shrimp with cashew nuts is loaded with an abundance of nicely-sized shrimp, water chestnuts, cashew nuts, mushrooms and snow peas, all in a delightful sauce.

Mushroom egg foo young serves as a wonderful complement to the shrimp fried rice. The omelette packed with mushrooms comes with a gravy — which can be put to the side and added at the patron's discretion — that is delicious when mixed with the rice. Succulent shrimp litter the dish and can be a surprise to the mouth when found under the cover of the gravy.

The prices at the Double Dragon are more than reasonable and better than competitive. A special lunch menu is available Monday through Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

which is an even bigger bargain. If you're looking for some of the best chinese food in the area, Double Dragon fits the bill. A person can make his or her fortune there — or at least get a good fortune cookie.

'Miracle cures' can do more harm than good

Have you heard of the new "miracle cures" including enzyme boosters, super green algae, immune botanicals being promoted to cure every malady from fatigue to cancer?

Are families and consumers just being manipulated or are these products potentially dangerous? While some people believe these products work, consumers need to be aware of the possible risks these products pose and what they can do if they suspect a product or service is worthless or even harmful.

Is there harm in the hype?

Just because a product is "natural" or is a herb does not mean it is necessarily safe. For example, in February, the American Medical Association reported a case of a female who needed a liver transplant after the herbal preparation chaparral apparently caused severe hepatitis. Chaparral has active ingredients including a strong antioxidant called nordihydroguaiaretic acid or NDGA. Those who use chaparral claim it is made of ground evergreen leaves from a desert shrub known as greasewood. It supposedly acts to slow the aging process and to improve one's health. These claims are not supported by scientific studies. The AMA has urged physicians to question patients about their use of herbs such as chaparral and other nontraditional medications.

Miracle cures... where are you???

Despite the reported dangers, health and nutrition quackery exists with a large following of dedicated persons seeking quick cures to health problems and disease.

Quacks are defined in Webster's Dictionary as those "who with little or no foundation, pretend to have skill or knowledge in a particular field." They take advantage of consumer's interest in quick answers to complicated medical problems.

The U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs has recognized that public awareness of health and fitness has encouraged consumers to spend hard-earned dollars in "miracle cures" to improve their health. Quacks are very aware of this and use the "alternative" slogan to their advantage. Somewhere between $50 and $80 billion yearly is spent on fraudulent cures. In addition to products, consumers should be wary of "specialists" who use unproven methods to detect dietary deficiencies. For example, hair analysis, although useful to detect heavy metal poisoning, is not a reputable way to test for general dietary deficiencies. These deficiencies are usually diagnosed through blood, urine, tissue saturation or metabolic tests.

Other questionable practices include blaming food allergies as the cause of health problems from headaches to malaise to depression. A true food allergy involves the immune system and sometimes can be life threatening. Food reactions should be properly evaluated like other medical conditions. Consumers should first start with their family physician and then see if a referral to a specialist is necessary. Beware of practitioners who rule out entire food groups without going through normal medical diagnostic procedures.

Get rid of bad advice

What can consumers do to avoid being misled or influenced by the quack? The best advice is "let the buyer beware." The U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs urges consumers to be wary of products that:

- Claim to be quick, painless and effortless.
- Claim to have special, secret, foreign, ancient or natural ingredients.
- Claim to be effective for a wide variety of conditions.
- Rely on personal stories of success rather than on scientific data for documentation.

• Claim that the medical community or government agencies refuse to acknowledge the effectiveness of the cure, product or treatment.

What is the best advice? Be skeptical. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Verify the credentials of information sources. A survey by Ira Miller, R.D., coordinator for the Task Force for Nutrition Diploma Mills for the National Council Against Health Fraud, found more than half the "nutritionists" who advertised in the phone book only had a degree from a correspondence school. Check to see whether advanced degrees such as Ph.D.'s, are from accredited colleges and universities.

Seek qualified professionals. Don't act on health advice except from a qualified professional. In the 1990s, quacks are using computer technology including on-line services to deliver bad advice and sell worthless products.

Instead look for a registered dietitian who has a minimum of four years of college study in the field of human nutrition, health and food; has completed an internship; must maintain his/her practice credential through continuing education; and has an up-to-date state license — in states it requires one — New Jersey has no license law for nutritionists.

Stay calm and contact your physician. If you have a medical problem that is worse due to a product, contact your doctor first. You or your physician can then contact the Food and Drug Administration at (800) 332-1088 to file a complaint about the product and to start an investigation of the incident.

You need to call the N.J. Consumer Affairs Office in Newark for action against an unlicensed practitioner. If there has been false or misleading advertising, then contact the Federal Trade Commission and the Better Business Bureau. If a product has been ordered through the mail, call your local postal inspector. The above agencies are listed in the blue pages of your local phone book.

Good Luck. Believe the truth. "Miracle cures" are expensive alternatives that create bigger more expensive medical problems for consumers and families. Don't be duped!

SIGNS OF TENSION

How can you tell if you are suffering from nervous tension?

There are certain signals you should be aware of that tell you relief is needed from this condition. Talking in a loud voice, raising your voice to a higher pitch, and talking more rapidly than normal may be signs of nervous tension. Do you frown more often than usual? Are you irritable and "out of sorts" And when you lie down to rest, do you have difficulty in falling asleep because of an overall tenseness in your body?

Unrelieved or unrelieved nervous tension may affect your whole body as well as your disposition. It may pull your spine out of alignment, or cause a tightening of the muscles in your neck, back, shoulder and pelvic muscles or your thighs. Nervous tension may cause "insults" to nerve tissue in these areas as well as other parts of your body. This results in aches and pains as well as mental irritation until you get the relief you need to feel well again.

Consume calcium: It does your body good

Ninety-nine percent of your body's calcium is stored in bones and teeth, while the rest is found in and around your cells. Although it is a tiny amount, that "other" 1 percent is essential to many bodily processes, including proper contraction of muscles, heart beat, clotting of blood, nerve transmission and maintenance of blood pressure.

"Calcium used by your cells should come from dietary sources; however, if your intake is inadequate, your body will tap into your bones' calcium reserves to supply your cells," said Union Hospital Coordinator of Clinical Dietitians Leslie Killen.

"In addition, your body's ability to absorb calcium decreases with age, and you produce less vitamin D, which aids in calcium absorption," she said. "The combination of factors puts older Americans at increased risk for bone fractures and osteoporosis which is a thinning of the bones, especially the spine and hips. Postmenopausal women are especially vulnerable."

Recent reports from the National Dairy Board indicate that the level of calcium consumption is too low for many women and the elderly. Dairy products are naturally rich in calcium. However, they are rich in fat as well, so it is important to include some low-fat selections in your diet.

Killen said, "If you have trouble digesting dairy products, ask your physician or pharmacist to recommend a digestive aid. Other sources of calcium can be found in seafood such as salmon and sardines and in green leafy vegetables, such as broccoli. You may also want to consider a low-dose calcium supplement; however, you should avoid supplements made from bone meal or dolomite because they may contain lead or mercury."

Consuming calcium is not a cure-all. Regular weight-bearing exercise, such as running and walking, also helps strengthen bones. If you are a woman nearing menopause, speak to your physician about estrogen replacement because estrogen slows calcium loss.

For more information on the imporance of calcium in your diet, call Killeen at (908) 851-7277.

Guitar Bob sings about earth

Calling all friends of the planet, Guitar Bob presents a special event filled with "earth family music" and rockin' rollin' fun. Trailside Nature & Science Center in Mountainside will host a performance by Guitar Bob on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Bob Messano, better known as Guitar Bob, is a professional performer of original songs for children and families. He has performed at numerous preschools, elementary schools, libraries and family concerts.

From a dinosaur's dilemma to a caring clam's clean-up campaign, Guitar Bob's music creates a world of learning for level K through grade 3. In Blue Planet Revue he presents concepts such as endangered species, environmental awareness and enjoying the great outdoors. This program engages children's interest and response. Participation is invited throughout with catchy, singable songs and rockin' rhythms on guitar and harmonica. "Sam the Clam's Blues," for example, teaches an important ecological lesson from a sea creature's point of view. "We'd Better Take Care" urges respect for threatened animals. "I Don't Wanna Be Extinct" is a dinosaur's plea for a friendly world. "We've Gotta Recycle" ties in with contemporary issues.

Tickets for Guitar Bob's Blue Planet Revue are $3.50 per person and will be sold at the door. No children under 4 will be admitted. For information about discount rates for groups of 25 or more or about other Trailside programs, call (908) 789-3670.

Trailside is a facility of the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation.

Revue opens troupe's theatrical season

Rahway residents Wendy Cinquanta, Susan Marie Loughlin and Bill Van Sant are currently preparing for performances of "Cafe d'Amour," a musical revue being presented by Carnival Production of Rahway. The company, which was founded by Cinquanta and Van Sant in 1989, is taking up residence at Rahway's El Bodegon Restaurant — and, now, dinner theater. "Cafe d'Amour," which marks Carnival Productions' premier in its new home, takes the audience on a journey through the uncertain, heartbreaking and joyful terrain of contemporary relationships.

Among the material included on the program are a combination of show tunes, film songs, jazz numbers and old standards. Featured are "I Can Dream, Can't I?," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Change Partner," and "Lover Man," as well as highlights from the Broadway shows and films "Company," "Follies," "A Little Night Music," "Mack & Mabel," "She Loves Me," "Grand Hotel," "Pippin" and "Victor/Victoria," among others.

Loughlin, who is serving as musical director of the production, received a bachelor of arts degree in music education from Trenton State College, majoring in French horn and organ. As a member of the N.J. Youth Symphony, she toured Europe in 1987, appearing in Hungary, Romania and Austria, and made her Carnegie Hall debut in 1989. As a musician, she has been affiliated with such productions as "Evita," "Bye, Bye Birdie," "West Side Story," "Kismet," "La Traviata," "Die Fledermaus" and "La Boheme" at Rahway High School, Linden Summer Playhouse and Trenton State. A lifelong Rahway resident, Loughlin is employed as associate choir director at the First Presbyterian Church of Rahway, and teaches piano and horn privately to students of all ages.

Like his associate, Van Sant, who is directing and co-producing "Cafe d'Amour," is also a lifelong city resident, where he made his stage debut at the age of 6 in the Rahway Recreation Department's 1968 production of "The Music Man." As an actor/singer/dancer, director or choreographer, he is a veteran of more than 60 productions in New Jersey and New York City. Among his performance credits are singing the role of Bernardo in "West Side Story in Concert" at Liberty State Park — commemorating the show's 30th anniversary, Pontius Pilate in "The Way," an original passion play televised on Staten Island Cable, and Peter in the New York City off-off-Broadway premier of "The Pretender," as well as having appeared with numerous New Jersey community theaters, such as Plays-in-the-Park and the Franklin Villagers. As a director/choreographer, Van Sant's work includes "Ten Little Indians," "The Yeoman of the Guard," "The Sound of Music," "Godspell" and "A Shayna Maidel," which was presented in New York at the Creative Voices Theater Company. The artistic director of Carnival Productions, he is an alumnus of New York City's American Musical and Dramatic Academy, where he met his wife, actress Wendy Cinquanta.

A native of Woodstock, Conn., Cinquanta who is performing in and co-producing "Cafe d'Amour," relocated to Rahway in 1988. Her credits include Rosa Bud in "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," Grace Farrell in "Annie," Wendy in two productions of "Peter Pan," Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," Laura in "The Glass Menagerie," Rose in the Creative Voices presentation of "A Shayna Maidel" and in the Staten Island Cable production of "The Way." The general manager of Carnival Productions, Cinquanta appeared in the company's first two presentations, "From Broadway . . . With Love!" in 1989, and last year's "Broadway and Beyond," both of which were directed by her husband. In addition to her performance credits, she has worked for several area theaters as a sound designer.

In addition to Loughlin, Cinquanta and Van Sant, "Cafe d'Amour" will showcase the talents of Nancy Berger of Hackensack; Rick Brown, of Jersey City; Bronwen Eastwood of Ridgewood; Paul Gidel of Yonkers, N.Y.; Ryk Ochampagh of New York City; and Clinton L. Scott of Hawthorne. "Cafe d'Amour" will be presented on Friday through Sunday and August 24-26, at the El Bodegon Restaurant, 169 W. Main St., Rahway. Curtain times are at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. For the show only, tickets are $10 for general admission and $8 for senior citizens and students. Dinner and show packages are $25, and the management advises arriving two hours prior to curtain for dinner. Information and reservations can be obtained by calling the Carnival Production Box Office at (908) 388-0647.

August 20-26

ARIES — March 21/April 20
 Making clear priorities is especially important this week. Friends demand your attention from every angle. Keep a balance. Don't spread yourself too thin. A romantic encounter leaves you confused on Monday. Trust your own instincts for answers. Don't repeat past mistakes.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21
 Show the people around you that you appreciate them. A surprise visit from a Gemini brings good news. Don't let yourself get overwhelmed with work. You've earned the right to delegate responsibility freely. Use it. Don't let jealousy keep you from growing. Be realistic in love.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21
 There's a lot of emotional baggage to carry this week. Think romantic matters through carefully. Make special efforts to see your mate's side. If you're thinking of walking away, try talking things out first. Avoid biting comments in doing so. Children are the focus this weekend.

CANCER — June 22/July 22
 It's a good time to get away. Take a vacation to an unusual place with a close friend. Down-time at work will drive you crazy. Look for creative ways to utilize your time. Keep busy in your personal life. Look for ways to turn a mundane evening into a memorable celebration.

LEO — July 23/August 23
 Feeling a bit of cabin fever? The Leo needs to be in the great outdoors this week. Thinking about taking time off to hike or go camping in the wilderness? Do it. Ask your mate to join you. Romance is sizzling in the August heat. Just be sure you don't get burned!

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22

It's your week to give. Virgo. Use your creative forces to make a special night for a Scorpio friend even better. Help soothe a family member's nerves on Wednesday. A surprise guest throws you for a loop over the weekend. You'll be in for more than you bargained for.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23
 Be honest about your feelings in ways of romance. Showing too much will lead an Aquarius to sadness. Live it up at a work-related function on Wednesday. Show co-workers a side of you they have not yet seen. Your sense of humor paves the way to new friendships. Be careful not to give too much too soon.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22

Own up to past mistakes this week. An honest self-reflection will lead you to greater happiness. A family member needs your help around the house on Friday. A trip to the gym introduces a new love prospect as the week ends. A dream provides insight into a future investment.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21

Handle sticky situations with family members or roommates gently. Plan your points carefully, but still speak your mind. Don't count on an Aries for support. If you've been putting off extra-curricular activities, now's a good time to indulge. New interests are born in classes or clubs.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20

A family member's problems wear you down this week. Take pride in being a good listener. Offer extra support when you can. An invitation in the mail provides something to look forward to. Avoid losing sight of long-term goals. Be spontaneous in matters of love.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let your mind play tricks on you this week. You're not as down as you think you are. A trip to the gym on Wednesday helps you fuel up. Fight the urge to call in sick on Friday if you have important deadlines to meet. In romantic matters,

Seek the advice of a Libra.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

Your expertise in financial matters is needed as the week opens. Give advice freely to a Sagittarius, and (s)he will benefit. It's a good time to make smart investments. Enter contests and play lotteries. Luck is on your side this week. Don't let an introspective mood get you down.

WATER WHEEL

This old-fashioned water wheel is patented after an old dist mill built in Tennessee. The water wheel will fit into any size garden or patio. The wheel is turned by a small electric recirculating pump. As the water falls the wheel is kept in motion. The pump recirculates the water, making so there is no waste or drainage problem. The full-size pattern makes this an exceptionally easy project.

Grand Prix keeps on improving

Grand Prix for 1995 continues to strengthen its value position with a level of standard and optional equipment unmatched by its competitors.

After launching numerous improvements in 1994, Grand Prix follows up this year with a slate of customer-driven refinements including variable-effort steering, new floor console, standard armrest storage compartment with split bench seats, retuned suspensions, new uplevel RSA tires and the added safety of a standard brake/transmission shift interlock.

"High customer-pleasing content and dynamic styling make the Grand Prix fun to drive while giving the owner more car for the money," said Pontiac General Manager John G. Middlebrook. "Driving enthusiasts will also appreciate Grand Prix's safety features including dual airbags, available anti-lock brakes and brake/transmission shift interlock."

A 14-to-1 ratio Electronic Variable Orifice variable-effort power steering provides Grand Prix drivers with a choice: a firmer feel for highway driving or softer and more flexible handling for low-speed maneuvers. EVO controls power steering hydraulic line pressure by changing the size of an aperture, or orifice, in the line. Variable effort steering is standard with the GTP Performance Package on the SE Coupe and the GT Performance Package on the SE Sedan.

Ride and handling characteristics of the 1995 Grand Prix Special Edition Coupe, GT Sedan and GT Coupe are also improved with "H" rated Goodyear P225/60R16 RSA tires. These upgraded tires are mounted on Crossface cast aluminum wheels or five-spoke aluminum cast wheels with Special Edition Coupe and GTP Option packages.

Grand Prix SE coupe and sedan buyers also will have a hot new color to consider. A peppery red-orange metallic has replaced medium garnet metallic on Grand Prix's color chart.

A white appearance package is available on the 1995 SE Coupe. The package includes bright white exterior, decals and pin stripes color keyed to the interior, white 16-inch, five-spoke aluminum cast wheels and rear decklid spoiler.

Continuing Grand Prix's driver-oriented interior design themes, Pontiac has made important ergonomic improvements to enhance cockpit convenience. The cobra-head console shift lever was shortened to improve access to HVAC controls. Cupholders, located forward of the shift lever on last year's Grand Prix, are now located behind the shifter for better access and less chance of spilling that morning cup of coffee. Better driver access was also the design idea in moving the remote trunk release button from near the center of the glove box door opening to the upper left hand side.

The patented Grand Prix console cupholder can accommodate a variety of containers including a 12-ounce can, 16-ounce bottle, coffee cup, juice box, small milk carton and, if the rubber insert is removed, a super large soft-drink cup.

The storage armrest which includes a cupholder and coinholder is now standard on all Grand Prix sedan models with split bench seats.

Customer-focused refinements in seating include the availability of bucket seats on the Sedan SE without having to order a higher content package. Previously, Grand Prix sedan owners could get bucket seats only with a custom trim package.

Other interior refinements include glove box latch and right-hand HVAC vent now color-keyed to interior.

Grand Prix's 1995 instrumentation array has been upgraded to include a low oil sensor light. The low oil sensor — standard on Grand Prix's with 3.1 liter engines in 1994 — is now on Grand Prixes equipped with 3.4 liter DOHC V6 engines. The sensor, triggered when the engine is one quart low on oil, activates a "low oil level" light on the instrument panel cluster. This is in addition to the oil pressure symbol light on the left hand side of the IP cluster.

Pontiac continues to upgrade Grand Prix's safety features, which were already impressive. Additions for 1995 include the brake/transmission shift interlock feature. The brake/transmission shift interlock makes it impossible to shift out of park unless the brake pedal is depressed.

The centerpiece for two safety and security features is Grand Prix's distinctive steering wheel. The sport-design four-spoke steering wheel not only holds the driver side air bag on all Grand Prix models, but it also carries duplicate radio controls to help keep the driver's attention on the road while controlling audio functions. Standard on the SE Coupe and available on the SE Sedan, the steering wheel radio control feature is a driver-in-control Pontiac trademark.

For 1995, Grand Prix offers two highly contented models — the SE and GT — with special option packages to help Grand Prix buyers better express themselves through the ownership experience.

The B4U Special Edition Coupe Package includes new silver 16-inch, five-spoke aluminum wheels, P225/60R16 RSA tires, wide bodyside moldings, aero ground effects with wheel flares, front fascia with integral round fog lamps, specific rear fascia, monotone paint theme, split dual exhaust and rally sport suspension.

Grand Prix Coupe's GTP Performance Package for 1995 offers variable effort steering, the uplevel 3.4 liter DOHC 210 horsepower V6 engine with automatic transmission, sport suspension, anti-lock brakes, "24-Valve V6" badging on front fenders, functional hood louvers, "GTP" emblem on rear panel as well as all the features of the B4U package.

Grand Prix owners who want the comfort and convenience of a sedan, but the performance and handling of a sports coupe might select the GT Performance Package. For 1995, this sedan package includes variable-effort steering, anti-lock brakes, sport suspension, custom bucket seats, hood louvers and split dual exhaust. Power comes from the 3.4 liter 210 horsepower V6 with four-speed automatic transmission. A true performance sport sedan, the Grand Prix GT has 16-inch, five-blade aluminum wheels with P225/60R16 RSA tires. "24-Valve V6" name plates, on the front fenders distinguish the GT Sedan.

Until they start taxing common sense, it's the ideal car.

It's still pretty hard to believe. A car with over 50 standard safety features, excellent fuel economy (25 city MPG/35 highway MPG)* and a sterling reputation, for only $12,355.* Folks keep telling us to raise the price up through the rafters, but we think it makes perfect sense just the way it is.

Daurio named sales manager

Many New Jersey car shoppers will be interested to hear that Jim Daurio has been appointed sales manager at Multi Chevrolet, 2675 Route 22 West, Union.

It seems that Daurio has built himself a reputation in the area for straight-dealing — for which his loyal customers are more than willing to travel a little out of the way.

Daurio and his clientele should be right at home at Multi, which is billed as "The Highway Dealer With a Difference." That expressed "difference" is a home-grown, small-town, family-oriented and customer-oriented sales approach that stands in marked contrast to Multi's neighboring mass-market dealerships on busy Route 22.

Unlike the so-called "highway dealers," whose distinctive, highly-intrusive radio advertising routinely draws car shoppers from many miles away, the management at Multi prides themselves on still doing business the old-fashioned way — by building a local clientele through no-baloney sales talk, a commitment to satisfaction and top-flight service.

This home-grown strategy could be seen as a hold over from the good old days when Multi was located in the middle of suburban Union. Back then, neighborhood business was all there was to live on. Of course, Multi's principals see the change of address as a sign of progress, and they see no reason to change the practices which built the business in the first place.

Daurio attributes his loyal following to customer-friendly business practices, which could be seen as a dying art if you've been car shopping lately.

"There are many ways to create a perception of value; in fact, to create real value for the customer, besides sales floor double-talk and advertising hype," Daurio said. "Sophisticated buyers know there's more to buying a vehicle than no money down and a low monthly payment."

"Sure, the financing is important. You've got to be competitive these days. But still, integrity, no-surprises, service with a smile and a commitment to satisfaction are even more important," he said. "Although they take a little longer to establish, they're still the things that make the real difference in a positive shopping — and ownership — experience. And they create repeat customers."

"I'm a career car dealer. When you're in business for the long haul, repeat customers are your bread-and-butter. Otherwise, you get by for just so long until your reputation catches up with you. Besides, even if I could, I wouldn't do business that way. It's a matter of community and a matter of pride," Daurio said.

It's a community that Daurio knows very well. A life-long North Jersey resident, he was born in Jersey City and has been a member of St. Michael's Church since 1980.

Even knowledgeable customers need assistance when car-hunting

According to sales professionals at Fette Ford/Imports in Clifton, there's a new breed of customer, better informed and willing to do homework before a purchase. It's not unusual to see customers shopping with consumer magazines under their arms or clipboard in hand so they can chart comparative features of various cars. The more expensive the model level, the more research and preparation is likely before a customer hits the showroom.

While most auto sales professionals welcome the greater level of knowledge customers may have, they do see some pitfalls. Customers may think they have more understanding than they actually do.

"Sometimes their homework has actually confused them, partially because not all consumer publications are equally well researched and partly because they're on information overload," said Fette manager Tony Yosco. "It pays a good sales person to be as knowledgeable about the competition's products as his own. It still amazes me how often a well-read customer comes in prepared to bargain without ever taking the vehicle for a test drive."

Sometimes the confusion comes from shopping several dealerships. It may look like one dealer is giving a better price because of the first number mentioned as "the price," but when all the fees and charges are added up another dealer may be more competitive.

As it turns out, most of what the Discovery has to offer the competition doesn't. For around the same price. Of course, the Discovery's value goes well beyond features.

Its off-road prowess has been proven in places as distant and challenging as Tanzania, Burundi, and Siberia.

What's more, it was named Four Wheeler magazine's 1995 Four Wheeler of the Year. Why not come in for a test drive? On top of everything else, the Discovery is an authentic Land Rover.

And no matter how hard they try, that's something other 4x4's simply can't overcome.

Always use your seatbelts. SRS airbags alone do not provide sufficient protection.
