A purple drape has been hanging outside the Union County administration building for a week, marking the death of Union County Prosecutor Andrew Ruotolo Jr.

While the purple drape will remind us of his death, the second floor of the administration building will remind us of his life, and all the energy he had put into making Union County a safer place to live for its residents — adults and children alike.

When one thinks of law enforcement in Union County, one should think of Ruotolo. He has made that much of a difference as the county's top law enforcement officer in the four years he had been prosecutor. His tenure as prosecutor was without politics, and he commanded the respect of Democrats and Republicans throughout the county.

My interaction with Ruotolo was always on a business, or professional, level. In one of those instances, I learned the kind of man he truly was — and earned a deeper respect for him.

I had called his office two years ago to follow up on a story I had been writing about the death of Eileen Chrenko, a former councilwoman in Roselle Park who worked for the Prosecutor's Office. Chrenko died after being struck by a vehicle on Westfield Avenue in Roselle Park.

As her boss, Ruotolo was someone I wanted to talk to about Chrenko. His remarks, I felt, were important to my story. When I reached him on the telephone, I explained the purpose of the call, and only moments later, I realized I did not have the county's top law enforcement officer on the other end, but a man, someone who cared a great deal about an employee of his.

There was silence for a few moments before Ruotolo, his voice obviously cracking, asked if he could write his remarks and fax them to me. He could not get the words out and was not afraid to admit that. I understood.

It was so unlike the other times I had been in his company. He joined Worrall Newspapers one Sunday afternoon two years ago and participated in a Union County Roundtable, sponsored by this company and aired on Suburban Cablevision. The purpose of the Roundtable was to convene Union County's top government leaders and activists and have them explain to their constituents some of the problems facing the county, and some of the ways to overcome the obstacles to be one of the top counties in the state. Ruotolo had a commanding presence and captivated not only his audience, but the panel members as well.

In another instance, I saw him stand beside Gov. Jim Florio during a press conference on the assault weapons ban. In the Prosecutor's Office that day were various kinds of assault weapons — weapons he admitted he feared.

He also thought of the children of the county and had their best inter-

Ruotolo mourned by host of friends

It wasn't until Andrew K. Ruotolo Jr. was near death that he truly realized what is most important in life: It wasn't his job as Union County prosecutor, nor was it his tenure as an elected official. While those things meant a lot to him, it was his family which actually, in the end, was at the forefront in his life.

On Monday afternoon, the 42-year-old Ruotolo was laid to rest at Fairview Cemetery, not far from his Westfield home. While his family, among an assortment of dignitaries and friends, mourned Ruotolo's passing, his daughters, Lyndsay, 13, and Jayne, 8, and son, Andrew, 10, could at least take solace in the fact that it was they who were most important to their now departed father.

And, of course, there was Mary, his wife, who played a pivotal role in her husband's life, not only mothering his three children in happier times, but standing stern alongside him right up until death.

That message was sounded over and over again during Monday morning's ceremony at St. Helen's Roman Catholic Church in Westfield.

Hundreds of law enforcement officers, including police chiefs from each of the municipalities in Union County and members of the Essex-Union Auto Theft Task Force, waited outside the church for the arrival of the casket containing Ruotolo so they could greet the county's "top cop" with a salute and assortment of flags.

Among those who visited Ruotolo's closed coffin at Higgins and Bonner Echo Lake Funeral Home in Westfield during the weekend were former Gov. Jim Florio, state Attorney General Deborah Poritz and Rep. Bob Franks, R-7. The casket was transported to the church for Monday's service.

Ruotolo's family watched as pallbearers carried the coffin into the church, which, although large, still did not provide enough seats to accommodate the standing-room-only crowd on hand to say goodbye to Ruotolo. As they watched outside under cloudy, gray skies, his wife and children were met by the Rev. Charles Hudson, who offered words of encouragement, before following the casket into the church.

Among those attending the church service were Union County Freeholders Frank Lehr and Henry Kurz as well as former Essex County Executive Nicholas Amato and Essex County Sheriff Armando Fontoura.

The service opened with a prayer by Ruotolo's daughter, Lyndsay, who maintained her composure quite admirably, and that was followed by a reading from the Book of Revelations by Peter Webb. In accordance with the ceremony's theme, the church's chorus sang "All I Ask of You is to Remember Me of Loving You," something which, according to friends, Ruotolo wanted to be sure his family knew.

Hudson, who is affiliated with the Center for Hope Hospice in Linden, spoke of Jesus Christ and how he attempted to create an awareness in his followers. Hudson said that the one benchmark that stood out in Ruotolo was his "awareness of what was around him." Hudson said that awareness was evident when he fought to create the new Child Advocacy Center in Elizabeth to help abused children, when the Essex-Union Auto Theft Task Force was formed, and when he pushed for the implementation of strong laws to protect senior citizens.

Ruotolo, who had a strong desire to excel as both an attorney and a law enforcement professional, told Hudson that the importance of those things dwindled when the prosecutor was diagnosed with cancer in March. "He said, 'The only thing of importance to me now is to be with my wife, Mary, and my family,'" said Hudson. During his homily, Hudson noted that he was reminded of a child he saw during a trip to Point Pleasant. The face of the child, who was riding on a carousel, was "lit up" and the youth was in "a world of fantasy," said Hudson, who noted that he knew the ride would soon end and the child would have to get off, even though he would not want to.

Hudson said the same look was in the eyes of Ruotolo when he first met the ailing prosecutor, who had reacted

Prosecutor loses battle to cancer at the age of 42

Union County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo Jr. died Sept. 21 at home at the end of a brave six-month battle with cancer.

Ruotolo, 42, had been the chief law enforcement officer in Union County since 1991.

"He was a great person," said First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla. "He was a fine prosecutor. He was a wonderful friend."

Since his appointment by the governor to a five-year term, Ruotolo had in four short years implemented a number of initiatives such as an anti-bias unit, mandatory annual in-service training for every law enforcement officer in the county and the first-ever prosecutor-sponsored Youth Academy for first-time offenders.

"Drew," as he came to be known by those close to him, was responsible for setting up the first full-time Domestic Violence Unit in the county, directing a countywide protocol for rape victims and the establishment of a satellite office in the City of Plainfield.

He will perhaps best be known, though, for directing the creation of the Union County Child Advocacy Center, where child abuse victims come to a "safe haven" inside a refurbished home in Elizabeth to begin the healing process while providing evidence to prosecute physical or sexual abusers.

Ruotolo was able to make an impact in the administration of the office by a series of changes, with an eye toward upgrading and improving the prosecutorial emphasis while maintaining the investigative staff that always has been a hallmark of the office.

Ruotolo, father of three children, began his brave ordeal in mid-March when he was diagnosed with cancer of the esophagus. He began monthly chemotherapy treatments at the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Treatment Center in New York and kept working full time at the office.

His cancer came as a shock to friends, family and colleagues because he was a big believer in fitness, running in many events to raise money, wind surfing and participating in the triathlon, an endurance competition that combines swimming, biking and running.

He earned All-American honors as a swimmer while at Westfield High School. He then attended Amherst College, where he graduated with honors in 1974 before receiving his law degree from Fordham University Law School in 1978.

He joined the U.S. Attorney's Office in 1981, working in the criminal division and handling a number of high-profile cases including the February, 1984, high-tech smuggling

It will be family Ruotolo misses most

 in a way as if to say "You mean the merry-go-round is slowing down now."

Also, Hudson noted Ruotolo's struggle to come to grips with "his God" and it wasn't until his last day at the hospital that Ruotolo asked Hudson if he could go to church to receive communion with his family. "I said, 'Yes you can. God's been waiting for you for a long time,'" said Hudson.

The reverend noted that there are no guarantees in life there will even be a tomorrow. Ruotolo became aware of that, and, said Hudson, if he were "here, he would say, 'Take the ones you love and cling onto them.'" Hudson told attendees they should take something with them when they leave the church — an "awareness."

Three of Ruotolo's closest friends — Union County First Assistant Prosecutor Michael Lapolla, long-time friend and former law partner Joseph Mella and attorney Stephen Mortenson — eulogized the fallen prosecutor.

In an emotional speech, Mella noted that Ruotolo always kept a picture of the late John F. Kennedy on his desk. Mella noted that Ruotolo told him that when Kennedy died, one of Ruotolo's friends told him "we'd never laugh again," and another friend said they would laugh again, but they would "never be young again. That's the way I feel today."

Ruotolo, said Mella, struggled hard to achieve what he had in life, and he struggled equally with death. "He taught us how to live and he taught us how to die," said Mella. "He lost his struggle with death, but he won his struggle with life."

Mella said Ruotolo, rather than seeing his life as coming to a crashing halt, saw it for how "rich" it was. His only ambition became to be with his family.

Lapolla, who chose to direct his remarks to Ruotolo's children, had to wipe tears away from his eyes during his speech. After offering individual remarks to each of the children, Lapolla said he was trying to imagine what heaven would be like for their father. Lapolla said he thought it would be a cross between Cape Cod and Westfield and include activities such as golf and windsurfing of which Ruotolo was fond, and weekly press conferences with all major media.

 case involving Chinese nationals.

He left and worked in private practice for several years before deciding to establish his own law practice in Mountainside, specializing in criminal and civil litigation. He later helped form the firm of Mella and Ruotolo with attorney James Mella in 1987. He was 38 when he took the oath of office as prosecutor of Union County.

Juvenile law issues were a major concern of his, for Ruotolo served for nearly 10 years helping troubled youth on the Juvenile Conference Committee in his home town of Westfield. He was chairman for eight years.

While his list of awards and recognitions fills several pages, Ruotolo is widely credited for his efforts to help create the Essex-Union Auto Theft Task Force. After only two years, the task force of 23 police officers and detectives from both counties joined state troopers in making hundreds of arrests for stolen vehicles with a net reduction of 20 percent in motor vehicle thefts.

As prosecutor, he expanded the size of the Juvenile Unit, worked on initiatives to combat violence among youth and was committed to expanding training in all forms for law enforcement officers. Several roll call videos were developed for a variety of investigative and legal topics.

His predecessor, John H. Stamler, was 51 when he died of cancer while in office in March, 1990. He had survived a heart transplant operation performed in 1988.

Ruotolo was an active member of the Union County and New Jersey Bar Associations, and was admitted to practice in the Third Circuit of the United States Court of Appeals and the U.S. District Court for both the District of New Jersey and the Southern and Eastern districts of New York. He was also a certified criminal trial attorney and a master with the Richard J. Hughes American Inn of Court program.

He developed the first Human Relations Commission in Union County and personally handled the first jury trial of a bias crime indictment ever heard in New Jersey.

"Our hearts, thoughts and prayers are going out to Mary and their children — Jayne, Andrew and Lyndsay," Lapolla said.

Ruotolo said his dream of creating a child advocacy center for child abuse victims came true back in early July when a building that once housed a law practice was opened to provide a range of one-stop services for the scarred children and their families.

A large crowd of county dignitaries and law enforcement officers, many of them brought to tears by the prosecutor's stirring remarks, witnessed the official opening of the 3,300-square-foot building on Westfield Avenue in Elizabeth on July 11.

Workshop to assist business

A workshop to teach small business owners how to bid on government contracts will be sponsored by the Union County Economic Development Corporation and the Union County Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 5.

The workshop, "Selling to all Levels of Government," will provide small business owners with a practical understanding of how the government buys goods and services. Topics will include where to get information about contracts and subcontracts, how to submit a bid, and what to do if you have problems.

The workshop will be held at the Elizabethtown Gas headquarters in Liberty Hall Center, 1085 Morris Ave., Union. Registration is required. There is a fee of $25 per person. To register, call the Union County Chamber of Commerce, (908) 352-0900.

'Taste of Towns' feast to benefit local groups

Union County's finest chefs will offer samples of their specialties during the Third Annual "Taste of the Towns" benefit sponsored by the Rotary Club of Elizabeth and the Union County Chamber of Commerce.

"Taste of the Towns III" will be held on Oct. 16 from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Pantagis Renaissance Restaurant in Scotch Plains, and will benefit area charitable organizations including the rotary and chamber scholarship funds. More than 30 of the county's finest restaurants, bakeries and wine merchants will participate.

Among the restaurants and other vendors to be represented are the following: III Amici, Ahre's Coffee Roastery, B.G. Fields Restaurant, The Baxter Group, Bella Palermo Pastry Shop, Bindi Cakes & Desserts, Cafe Repetti/Hemingways, Cathay 22, Civile Ristorante Italiano, DiCosmo's Restaurants & Italian Deli, Fedway Associates, Garden Restaurant, Giovanna's, House of Seagrams, Hunt Club Grill, L'Affaire 22, Liantonio's, Madrid Restaurant, Manolo's Restaurant, Mario's Trattoria, Michelino's Ristorante Italiano, Pagliacci Restaurant, Pinho Bakery, Raagini, Restaurant Los Faroles, Shiki Japanese Steak House, Souffle's, Twining's Tea, Union County Vo-Tech School, Varda Chocolatier and Winbow, Inc.

"This is truly a community event which brings everyone together for great food and a great cause," said Kathleen Dunn, president of the Rotary Club of Elizabeth. "I believe 'Taste of the Towns III' will be long remembered for its fine sampling of gourmet delights and wines, and for the benefit it will bring to worthy causes within Union County. The previous two events completely sold out, and resulted in many satisfied customers as well as over $15,000 raised for key charitable organizations in our community."

Many participating restaurants also will offer free coupons for 10 percent off a future meal at their establishments.

Tickets for the event are priced at $30 each and are available by mailing a check payable to "Taste of the Towns" at P.O. Box 971, Elizabeth, NJ 07207. For ticket information call (908) 355-9622.

 rests at heart, whether it was through child advocacy programs, or the Elizabeth Agreement in school districts. He believed in the DARE program, and encouraged police departments throughout the county to get involved with grammar school children and show them that drugs do not have to be part of a fulfilling life.

Law enforcement in Union County took great strides under Ruotolo's leadership. His replacement, in addition to those who had worked for him during the last four years, would be right to continue his legacy and continue to try to make Union County a safer place to live — for everyone.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Three gain awards for festival entries

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Three Festival on the Green awards were presented by the Union Township Chamber of Commerce 1995 Artists' Reception on Sept. 20 at the Les Malamut Art Gallery in the Union Library building.

In the overcrowded gallery there were two Les Malamut Purchase awards given to Norma Post, artist, for her "A Stroll Through the Park" and Ralph Krubner, photographer, for "Firefighter." They were presented by Judith Welshons and sponsored by the Hollywood Memorial Park, Union; and the Barbara Gladysiewicz Award, presented to Phyllis Newman for her painting of "a lovely flower," by Jack Davis, president of the Union Center National Bank.

The Purchase Award winning art and photography will be placed in different municipal buildings around the township. And the Gladysiewicz award-winning painting will be displayed at the Union Center National Bank.

The judges' panel at the by-invitation-only reception for the Les Malamut awards included James T. Schaefer, executive director of the Union Township Chamber of Commerce; Sharon Patel, co-chairperson of the Festival on the Green; Frank Polednik, James Masterson, Arlene Schor and Viola Meskin. The judges' panel for the

Chairpeople of the Artists' Reception Committee were Laura Goetting and Janet Wheeler. The Festival on the Green Committee, with Patel and Polednik as co-chairpeople, included Joseph Cantalupo, Paula Cohen, Rita Dearness, Jason Eitner, Dick Fried, Anthony Giordano, Goetting, Barbara Griggs, Joe Hulsen, Fred Popecki, Colletta Liccardi, Phyllis Monguso, Irving Rosenberg, Schaefer, Schor, Torbick, Donna Visco, Chery Ann Wasserman, Jodi Weinberg Welshons and Wheeler, all of whom were presented with a certificate.

The artists, whose works were professionally displayed on the walls of the gallery, also were there. Among them was Joseph Schwarz of Union, a photographer, who, during the recent Festival of the Green, won first place for his "Gallop Hill Golf Course" silhouette, which he took on November 1992, and the Best in Show for "Star Trail Over Lebanon Pine Barrows" taken in Lebanon State Forest early in the spring. Showing four photo displays at the Artists' Reception, Schwartz said, "I'm glad to see that some people are inspired by my See FESTIVAL, Page B5

Young actor lives life of normalcy

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

One of the most unaffected young actors ever to perform on the stage at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, is Matthew Fasano of West Orange. Matthew, who is 12 years old and plays a 9-year-old child in the role of Young Guido in "Nine," is making his seventh appearance in a Paper Mill production.

He came by the other afternoon with his warm, friendly, and also unaffected mother, Gail Fasano, to talk about life on the stage, off the stage, in school and at home.

"I like being on the stage," Matthew said shyly. "And playing the inner child, I'm having fun. I like everybody in the show, mainly the little boys who are on stage with me."

"And the adults have been very kind to him, too," said his mother. "Robert Johanson, the director; Paul Schoeffler, who plays the adult Guido, and all the rest of the cast."

"We started with rehearsals of 'Nine' on Aug. 17," Matthew said, "and we rehearsed until opening night. I caught on pretty quick. Paul is really nice. It's easy to coordinate with him."

"The boy has natural talent," added his mother. "He has never taken an acting or singing lesson in his life."

Young Fasano, a very serious boy, performed in "Oliver!" as young Eric in "Phantom," in "The Wizard of Oz," "Jesus Christ, Superstar," and two New Year's Eve shows, one in 1992 and one in 1994. He explained that "I guess I became an actor because it's what I like to do. I like being on stage. In fact," he smiled charmingly, "I remember when I was 9 years old. I was just first getting into acting. I was in the third grade then."

"He rarely makes mistakes," mentioned his mother. "When Matthew was 3 years old, my eldest daughter, Karen, was about 7 and she danced in the New Jersey Ballet Co. in the 'Nuttercracker.' I used to take Matthew every time I brought her, and he would see the show over and over again. He loved it. And when he was 7 years old, he said, 'I don't want to watch this anymore. I want to be in it.' So, they gave him a role in the 'Nuttercracker.' When he was having the audition, he had memorized the dancing just by watching the scenes. He remembered it, and he did it, with no singing, no acting and no dancing lessons."

While Matthew was auditioning for the 'Nuttercracker,' he got three shows after that at the Paper Mill.

"The only school play that the boy appeared in was 'Pinochio.'" "I played Jiminy Cricket in St. Cloud School in West Orange when I was 11," Matthew recalled. "I tried out for the 'Wizard of Oz' at the Paper Mill. And after auditioning, they picked me to fill in someone's role in 'Jesus Christ, Superstar.'" Then I was called for 'Wizard of Oz.'"

Then came "Phantom," "Oliver!" and now — "Nine." In "Oliver!" I played the chimney sweeper, and other little roles. In 'Wizard of Oz' I played a soldier in Emerald City, a poppy and a monkey. I really had a great time.

"Robert, our director, he's really nice," declared Matthew. "He called me back for the shows. He's a very good actor. He can go from his starring role as Jesus to an old man in 'The Secret Garden.' That's really something."

Matthew, who attends Roosevelt Middle School in West Orange, according to his mother, has regular school days and hours with the exception of Thursdays, when the playhouse has a 2 p.m. matinee. "On those See YOUNG, Page B12

Horner show on exhibit at gallery

Switching Channels, an exhibition of landscapes and figurative paintings by Ray Horner, Jr. of Irvington, will be the next show at the Les Malamut Gallery in the Union Public Library in Friberger Park on Morris Avenue.

Horner has received several awards for his artwork in the Festival on the Green. In 1988, he received the Les Malamut Purchase award and in 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1994, first place. He has received many awards and citations and his works have been included in many group, one-person and juried exhibits. His painting, "The Family," was selected by American Vision Magazine for inclusion in an article called, "Building the Future for Black Families." His paintings are part of various permanent collections; including the Greater Hartford Civic and Arts Festival collection and Eastern Connecticut State College. Some of his other exhibits include: New York Theological Seminary, New York; New Jersey Watercolor Society, Montclair Museum, University of Massachusetts, Amherst; University of Connecticut, Storrs and the Urban League, Newark.

A native of Connecticut, he received his bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of Connecticut and his master of fine arts degree from the University of Massachusetts. As well as pursuing a career in the fine arts, Horner is both a graphic artist and technical illustrator. He also has taught art at the Montclair Museum and as an adjunct professor at the Essex County Community Colleges and initiated the first course in graphic design at Southern Connecticut State College.

The opening reception will be held Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. The public is invited.

The exhibit will continue through Nov. 10. It can be viewed during library hours Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Tuesday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Murder comedy pure mayhem

"The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940" by John Bishop is pure mayhem. Walls move, people disappear and the characters are seldom who we think they are. It's not a musical, but an outrageous comedy about a musical comedy backers audition replete with a Nazi spy, a stage door masher and a house with a life of its own.

With this premise in mind, Director John Correll and Assistant Director Linda Behrle Correll, both of Winfield, have assembled a talented and versatile cast for the Oct. 14 opening at Westfield Community Players, 1000 North Ave. West, in Westfield.

Producer Marjorie Braverstock, played by Dorcey Winant of Jersey City, and Director Ken DeLaMaize, played by Gordon Weiner of Edison, are trying to keep Nikki Crandall, played by Diane Matthews of Elizabeth, and Eddie McCuen, played by Jeff Meyer of Elizabeth, out of each others hair and in the show. Irish Tenor Patrick O'Reilly, played by Stuart Hershkowitz of Garwood, is trying to break into the big time, while New York policeman Michael Kelly, played by Tim McGovern of Roselle Park, is looking for Nazi spies.

Show dates are Oct. 14, 20, 21, 27, 28 and Nov. 3 and 4, all at 8 p.m., in the theater. Tickets for $12 are available at Rorden Realty and the Town Bookstore in Westfield.

Music of Marsalis is coming to Kean

Kicking off Kean College's Cultural Arts Series is Branford Marsalis who will bring his unique musical style to the college's Wilkins Theatre Sunday at 8 p.m.

The program, titled "Buckshot LeFonque Featuring Branford Marsalis," is a musical adventure that runs the gamut from dancehall reggae to Preservation Hall Band. This Marsalis project blends diverse elements and is yet another example of Marsalis' unique and visionary expression.

Whether as a solo artist, touring with Sting or leading the Tonight Show Band, Marsalis has excelled in every musical endeavor. In this performance, he leads his 10-piece band in an evening of saxophone playing and extraordinary sound that will keep the audience in motion.

Single ticket prices for the general public are $13, faculty/staff/alumni/senior citizens $9, and students $6. For more information, contact the box office at (908) 527-2337.

There's plenty of 'Nunsense' going on at arts center

What do wise-cracking nuns, a mysterious suitor and mirth-making pirates have in common?

They'll all grace the stage of the Union County Arts Center this season as the center launches its inaugural Musical Theatre Series.

The series opens in October with "Nunsense," the heavenly off-Broadway smash featuring the Little Sisters of Hoboken. It's no sin to laugh out loud as the sisters stage a riotous talent show to raise funds following a culinary disaster at the convent.

Performance dates for this award-winning musical are Oct. 27-28 and Nov. 3-4 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 29 at 3 p.m.

The series takes a more romantic turn in February with the presentation of Arthur Kopik and Maury Yeston's "Phantom." The Tony award-winning authors of "Nine" transform Gaston Leroux' classic "The Phantom of the Opera" into a lush musical love story that will entrance you with its beautiful music and colorful characters. The Arts Center stage will become the Paris Opera House as the mysterious Phantom pursues his obsession with the lovely Christine.

Performance dates for this theatrical adventure will be Feb. 2, 3, 9, 10, 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 4 and 11 at 3 p.m.

The series concludes in rollicking fashion in April as "The Pirates of Penzance" swashbuckle their way through melodious misadventures. This is an adaptation of the Gilbert and Sullivan favorite.

Performance dates for this tuneful turn on the high seas are April 12, 13, 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. and April 14 at 3 p.m.

Rounding out the season is a variety of dance and musical productions, including the annual Rahway High School Musical on March 15, 16, 22 and 23 at 8 p.m., a ballet of Romeo and Juliet by the American Repertory Ballet on March 30 at 8 p.m., a Union County Arts Center Dance presentation featuring students in the new dance program on May 4 at 8 p.m. and the Union County Talent Expo on May 18 at 8 p.m.

Individual tickets are available now for each of these shows at the Arts Center Box Office. Call the box office at (908) 499-8226 to reserve tickets.

Folk art show scheduled for Meadowlands center

The Nation's Leading Folk Art & Crafts Show continues its 1995 New Jersey shows schedule at the Meadowlands Exposition Center at Harmon Meadow in Secaucus, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Admission is $6 Friday from 5 to 9 p.m. and $5 Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Children under 10 will be admitted for $2. The public is welcome to attend Friday for early buying privileges.

Since Colonial times, Americans have valued quality and tradition. Country Folk Art Shows, Inc. carries on these values and traditions of quality, handcrafted folk art, indicative of the best craftsmanship, materials and techniques. From humble beginnings, Country Folk Art Shows, Inc. has developed a following of artisans from across the nation and Canada eager to participate in these prestigious shows. Every participant is juried and hand-selected for their workmanship and creative design.

Folk Art is forever gaining in popularity. To meet the demand for accessories and collectibles from Appalachian-style baskets to whimsical whirligigs, more than 150 of the best, top quality artisans exhibitors in the nation will offer folk art and craft items, all displayed and sold in beautiful 3-sided country room setting booths.

The phenomenal success of Country Folk Art Shows, Inc. generated the creation of Long Publications, publishers of the popular monthly Country Folk Art Magazine and bimonthly Yippy-Yi-Yea Magazine. For more information on either Country Folk Art Shows or Long Publications, write to 8393 East Holly Road, Holly, MI 48442; or call (810) 634-4151.

Festival winners gain awards

(Continued from Page B4) work. Too many people aren't nature-oriented. Hopefully, my work will make more people aware of the finer things in life, which incidentally, was the title of my display at the Festival on the Green, "Finer Things in Life."

Schwarz said that he was "in the process of starting a new business with my brother, John, called Northeast Marble and Granite in Union. I'm also doing my photography on the side. It's called Nature for Interiors in Union and it's all weather-nature photography."

Schaefer, in his welcome and introductions, announced that the offspring of the Festival on the Green is this gallery. We raised over $200,000 and this from school children and other contributors. We have a new show at the gallery every six weeks.

"A lot of people were responsible for the Festival on the Green," he added. "And that includes Les Malamut and Township Administrator Lou Giacoma, who was responsible for a lot of the history in this town, and with his wife, Gloria, helped to establish the Festival on the Green."

Patel, in her introduction of the festival committee, said that "everything you see here was generated by the members of this committee. The festival is a very special event. It's unique and it involves everyone in town — businesses, clubs, organizations and local talent, plus our live entertainment. We are grateful to the students from the middle schools who have come at 6 a.m. to help everyone in setting up and to the township officials and politicians who come out to greet the people — and the incredible efforts of the committee members. Everyone is so dedicated and creative which makes the festival so successful. And Frank Polonica's efforts are tireless."

"The festival," Patel said, "is unique in many ways. It brings together businesses and people to support the arts and the sponsoring awards to high school students."

According to Muskin, "after a year's wait for a showing of the next artist," and, she said, "anyone wishing to join our gallery group can contact me."

The next show, "Switching Channels," drawings, watercolors and oils by Ray Homer Jr. was scheduled to open on Sept. 27 and will be on exhibition through Nov. 10 at the Les Malamut Gallery.

The Louisiana Bistro
Once you go in, you know you are in for a treat.

dy sauce, Louisiana Garlic Chicken served with tender black beans, Blackened Catfish, Crawfish Litou-fee (crawfish tails sauteed in a spicy brown sauce), Stuffed Pork Chops (pork chops stuffed with corn bread and served on a bed of red beans with a Creole mustard sauce).

If it seems like this is a hard choice to make, one can always choose the combination platter, which is more than enough for two people. The platter includes a choice of three entrees. It is surely a great way to sample some of the bistro's specialties.

All entrees are complimented with a fresh salad, collard greens and yellow rice. Most entrees can be served in three ways — mild, medium or spicy depending on your preference. The cost for an entree ranges from $12.95 for the Chicken Creole to $28.95 for the combination platter.

To compliment your meal, I suggest one of the Bistro's specialty drinks — frozen margarita, frozen daquiri or hurricane and gin fizz.

The bistro is owned by two high school friends, Gregory Manning and Frank Baldan. Gregory is the Bistro's chef. Does he have experience? Well, he studied in the New York French Institute as well as in France. You could say he knows food. And since the chef is also part owner, you know that everything that is brought to your table is only the best.

Louisiana Bistro is located at 250 Morris Ave., Springfield. It is open for lunch Monday to Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. For dinner, it is open Tuesday to Thursday from 5:30 to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 5:30 to 11 p.m., and 4:30 to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Fall Wedding Guide

West Orange's Manor is ideal for events

Classic elegance, imperial gardens, period antiques and elegant table settings all designed to create a royal wedding for every couple celebrating the most memorable day of their lives.

The Manor is a composite of 18th and 19th century French and English design, as found in the great manor houses of England and France. Each room, whether it has a strong English reGENCY or other primary style, is composed of antiques ranging from the 14th to the 19th century.

Whether it's a quiet, intimate affair or a lavish celebration, wedding guests receive The Manor's royal treatment of exacting service provided by expert staff whose aim is to pamper everyone and make them feel at home in an atmosphere of gracious charm.

The party can begin with cocktails outdoors in the patio gardens or in a friendly reception room, and then proceed to dinner in one of several private dining rooms. The Manor can assist with arrangements for cocktail music, dance band, floral arrangements and photography.

At the heart of The Manor's hospitality lies the elegant cuisine created by award-winning continental chefs and designed to fit every budget.

Beginning with a large selection of sumptuously coordinated menus, The Manor's culinary artists will create classic and unique food presentations, culminated with a showpiece wedding cake.

To recapture the romance, The Manor offers an exquisite petite anniversary cake — a smaller version of the wedding cake — for every couple whose royal day was celebrated at The Manor, one of the "greatest restaurants of the world," as selected by and included in the renowned Franklin Mint Collection.

TIMELESS STYLING — Since 1911, the name Austin Reed has stood for only the very best of traditional British clothing that combines impeccable fabrics with meticulous tailoring and classic, timeless styling. And now, this particular line of fine clothing can be found at Olympic for Women, 630 Valley Road, Upper Montclair, where the new fall collection may be seen at a trunk show Oct. 21.

Atrium is perfect for all parties

Over the years, The Atrium Country Club has enjoyed continued success and loud praise for the elegant and gracious weddings, Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, anniversary parties and business receptions it produces.

Conveniently located near major transportation in West Orange, The Atrium offers a contemporary setting. The building has a magnificent expanse of skylights, tropical trees and lush foliage interspersed between Italian marble to create a traditional and modern motif.

Weddings are The Atrium's specialty, and they have put together affairs for as few as 30 guests with rave reviews.

"Our clients become our friends," Albert Nazarian said. "That's because as a family business we treat everyone personally and with respect. From the time of the initial consultation, we carefully listen to what the client has to say. Personalized, custom presentation with attention to every detail is the only way we know how to prepare our affairs."

Their well-organized staff, including award-winning European chefs, have been trained to go beyond being courteous, efficient and accommodating. The Atrium Country Club offers each affair graceful, artistic French white-glove service, incomparable presentation and flawless service, all at reasonable prices. A Kosher/Glatt Kosher menu is available.

At The Atrium Country Club, banquet consultants can orchestrate your entire party. "We have a gift for keeping our fingers on the pulse of even the biggest wedding in order to produce an affair that is completely personalized down to the last detail," Nazarian said. "From color decor, flowers, music, photography and culinary delights to limousine service, The Atrium works closely with each individual party to assure complete satisfaction."

With accommodations for up to 1,000 guests, The Atrium Country Club will make your affair an unsurpassed celebration. For more information, contact the banquet manager at 609 Eagle Rock Ave., West Orange, or call (201) 731-7900.

Personal touch offered for weddings at Pantagis

Old world tradition abounds in an atmosphere of classic renaissance decor. Guests arrive and are escorted up winding staircases to rooms rich with wood inlays, silver candelabras, elegant marble floors, stained glass ceilings and wall to ceiling windows overlooking the Watchung mountains.

Pantagis Renaissance can accommodate intimate affairs of 35 to events of 350 guests. This is where wedding dreams come true. The staff from professional planner, maître D, captain and white glove service team are prepared to help plan and make the day perfect — always with a personal touch.

Food, which is prepared by master culinary experts using only the finest ingredients, has made Pantagis Renaissance a renowned catering establishment. A five-hour open bar is offered, a seven-course dinner, cocktail hour with hot chafing dishes, platters, an espresso cart, homemade wedding cake, and flaming jubilee.

All rooms are expertly decorated to accommodate any wish the host may have. Other amenities include beautifully decorated bridal suites for dressing and private cocktail hours, and there is ample parking for all guests.

Pantagis Renaissance is located to Route 22. Interested parties should call (908) 322-7726 for more information.

Registry offers home improvement gifts

Crystal stemware and toaster ovens move over, power tools and barbecue grills also make great wedding gifts. That's right. If your cabinets are already full of ceramic mugs and your linen closet can't hold one more embroidered towel, it may be time to rethink the traditional wedding present and opt for a practical home improvement gift instead.

The Home Depot has networked its stores to accommodate the ever-increasing interest in his bridal registry program. Couples can now register their selection of ceiling fans, mailboxes, answering machines and outdoor plants at one location while friends and family access those selections via computer at any of The Home Depot stores across the United States.

The bridal registry enables today's couples who are moving into their first home to select essential items they really need.

"The success of the bridal registry program has been phenomenal," said Skip Hicks, store manager of The Home Depot Expo in San Diego. "People who are moving into new homes or their first homes are looking for practical and useful gift ideas. The networking of our stores makes it convenient for wedding guests to go into any Home Depot and select the gifts registered by the couple."

The registry operates in a similar fashion to the traditional department store. The couple meets and registers with the bridal consultant at their local Home Depot, and together they walk through the store and make a list of items they want for their home. Guests can then purchase the desired items with the guidance of the in-store bridal consultant who will advise them on the diverse range of gifts and their price range, selected by the bride and groom.

Home Depot's bridal registry is also convenient for the wedding guests. The bridal consultant can arrange convenient delivery dates for the merchandise, and guests can also purchase the gifts over the phone using their credit card.

Another option is Home Depot gift certificates. The certificates provide newlyweds with the chance to purchase those essential items they did not receive as gifts.

So forget the basic wedding gifts of silver platters and toasters — brides and grooms will appreciate gifts they can put to use.

A few home improvement items for the newlywed couple include: gas grill, birdhouse, shower massager, toolbox and garage door opener.

The following is a representative list of the range of items engaged couples can register for at The Home Depot.

Interior Design Items: wall coverings, mini-blinds, area rugs, paint and closet organizers.

Garden/Outdoor: barbecue grill and accessories, patio furniture, outdoor plants, birdhouses and mailboxes.

Hardware: garage door openers, power tools, table saws, safes, security system, shower massager, door bell chime, answering machine, telephone, ceiling fans, fire place equipment and lighting fixtures.

Announcement policy

Couples are encouraged to send their engagement and wedding announcements to the lifestyle editor. Announcements should be typed, doubled spaced or legibly handwritten and no longer than one page. All announcements should have a daytime phone number for verification or if questions arise. For more information call 686-7700.

City's fury inspiration for painter

It is not New York's skyline but the "fury of movement" on the city's streets that attracts New Jersey artist Michael McGinley, whose "New Paintings" will be mounted in a solo exhibit, Oct. 7 to Nov. 3, at Swain Galleries in Plainfield.

New to this latest series are oil paintings of the Bethlehem Steel works in Pennsylvania. In particular, McGinley's triptych, "Cathedral," illustrates how, in the way that New York's skyscrapers tower over the streets, the steel factory dominates the town, creating what the artist calls "an incredibly visual" experience of a town dependent on an over-powering influence — its row houses, hilltop cemetery, the cycle of birth to death.

McGinley prefers oils for their immediacy. Becoming part of the "chaos the streets" appeals to him and with oils he can keep pace with the changes of shadows, light, angles and people. McGinley manages to paint on location, enjoying the interchange with passers-by, but when the crush is too intense, he will find a parking space for his Ford Bronco, setting up under the opened rear hatch of the vehicle to obtain some creative space.

McGinley studied at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts where his father, artist James McGin-

'Running Meters,' a new painting by Michael McGinley, will be exhibited at the Swain Galleries, 703 Watchung Ave., Plainfield, Oct. 7 through Nov. 3. An opening reception is planned for Oct. 7 from 5 to 7 p.m.

ley, was head of the Fine Arts Department. He continued studies at the Art Students League, N.Y., under Daniel Dickerson.

A Bridgewater resident, McGinley has shown his paintings in numerous area-juried shows including a group exhibit at the Carrier Foundation.

In this exhibit at Swain's, his paintings of Manhattan will include Wall Street, where "bolts of light" strike its canyons; Times Square, with its oversized billboards; Trinity Church, a haven in the heights and a Fifth Avenue merge of taxi after taxi in a funnel of skyscrapers. Titled "Running Meters," the view shows that not one taxi is unoccupied, not one is lighted on top.

Also in the show are his images of the old ferry terminal and deserted docks in Hoboken and Somerset County snowscapes of River Road, which runs from Route 287 to New Brunswick.

The exhibit opens with a reception on Oct. 7, from 5 to 7 p.m. and continues weekdays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Saturdays to 4 p.m. at Swain Galleries, 703 Watchung Ave., Plainfield. For more information call (908) 756-1707.

Chorale picks Parrish to direct performance

Clifford Parrish has been named music director for The Essex Chorale, and will direct the chorale during its next public performance Dec. 2 at 7 p.m. at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Summit.

Parrish has been the organist-music director for Stanley Congregational Church U.C.C. in Chatham for the past 20 years. He is the founding music director of Pro Nobis Chamber Singers and is the current assistant-conductor and accompanist of the University Chorus at Rutgers-Newark. He previously has conducted for Raritan Valley Community College, Florida Community College at Jacksonville, Fla., and Bernards High School in Bernardsville. His direction in the theater includes such productions as "Sweeney Todd" for which he received a Bigbee Award for Musical Direction, "Steel Magnolias," "Working," and "The Fantasticks" for a number of New Jersey area groups, including the Chatham Community Players. Parrish holds a master's of music degree from Westminster Choir College and he received his undergraduate degree from Jacksonville University.

The Essex Chorale, formed in 1991, is a non-profit choral ensemble seeking to broaden the enjoyment of choral music among its members and the community. It performs a variety of classical and contemporary music, having sacred and secular themes that are suited to small vocal groups. The chorale is preparing for the Christmas season at which time, in addition to its Dec. 2 concert, it will perform a variety of charity concerts for area retirement and nursing homes, hospitals and rehabilitation centers. The chorale is actively seeking new members in all voice ranges and welcomes interested singers to its rehearsals held Wednesday evenings at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Summit.

For more information, call Susan Colby at (908) 464-0641.

'See My Bones' production contains joys and sorrows

The joys and sorrows that friends share is central to "I See My Bones," the new play premiering this month at Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey.

Set in a retirement community, the play focuses on four people who are starting over — building new relationships in their new surroundings — and still trying to figure out what's worthwhile in life.

The play concerns itself with issues of aging, but more directly with the characters' continuing search for meaning and how to get along with one another. "Aging is something we are all doing," says playwright Kitty Chen. "If we're lucky, we'll all face it."

"I See My Bones" by Kitty Chen, sponsored by AT&T, is the first production of Playwrights Theatre's 10th anniversary season. It runs through Oct. 8, with performances Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., and matinees on Saturdays at 2 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. Tickets are $17 for evening performances and $15 for matinees, and can be ordered by calling the theatre box office at (201) 514-1940. Playwrights Theatre is located at 33 Green Village Road in Madison.

Manhattan-based playwright Chen, born in Shanghai, China, and raised near Philadelphia, received a 1992 National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship in Playwriting and an Edward Albee Foundation Writing Fellowship. She also won a 1989 New York Foundation for the Arts Fellowship in Playwriting and a residency at the Blue Mountain Center, New York, in 1987.

"I See My Bones" is directed by Playwrights Theatre Producing Artistic Director John Pietrowski. Appearing in the professional cast are Peg Small, Les J.N. Mau, Georgia Southcote and Virginia Downing.

Kean College to host ballet program's 10th year

New Jersey Ballet gets its fall in-state season off to a flying start when it opens its 10th season as resident company at Kean College on Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

The program features rarely seen works including Vicente Nebrada's "A Dance for You," which the choreographer described as "a dance for dancers." The work fills the stage with five couples and gives each of New Jersey Ballet's stars a chance to shine.

This season, the company's stars include New Jersey Ballet principals

Jennifer Banks, Lori Christman, Andrei Jouravlev, Elie Lazar, Debra Sayles and Jacqueline Lorenzi, Mia Munroe, Rhonda Allen Murray, Rosemary Sabovick-Bleich, Melissa Shuttlesworth, James Washington and You Qing Guo. New this season is Gennadi Saveliev, a Bolshoi-trained young man who appeared several times with the company at the end of last year, and Chil Han, who trained at the Seoul Institute of the Arts. Han was a soloist with the Korean National Ballet and a principal dancer with St. Louis Ballet.

Also on the opening program, Norbert Vesak's "Threepenny Dances," is a sassy off-beat pas de deux inspired by and set to Kurt Weill's "Threepenny Opera," and George Balanchine's "Valse Fantasie," created for New York City Ballet in 1968, is the epitome of neo-classical elegance and romance.

The Oct. 14 program is part of New Jersey Ballet's Saturday Night Subscription Series at Kean College.

Saturday Night Subscriptions include five performances for $68 — which means subscribers get one concert free. Single tickets are $17, seniors and students, $15. Performance dates are Oct. 14, Feb. 10, March 2, March 23 and April 20. All performances are at 8 p.m. For single performance or series tickets, call the Kean College box office, (908) 527-2337.

Funding for New Jersey Ballet's performance schedule is made possible in part by support from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, and by generous corporate, foundation and individual contributions.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Cultivars can make garden choice easier

Choosing the right plants and trees for your lawn or garden is even easier than before, thanks to "cultivars" of native plants. Below, the American Association of Nurserymen answers your questions about cultivars, native plants and plant selection.

Question: What is a cultivar?
Answer: Cultivar, short for cultivated variety, refers to plants that have been selected for specific characteristics by nursery professionals. For example, a flowering plant might be cultivated to be more fragrant and less susceptible to cold, or a vegetable to withstand drought while not succumbing easily to pests.

Question: What are the benefits of selecting cultivars?

Answer: When you select a cultivar, you can be certain you're getting a plant that will do what you need it to do. Perhaps you need a hardy tree that will make it through the cold winters in your area. Or maybe you're looking for an especially fragrant flower in a particular shade of pink or blue.

Choosing cultivars bred for the traits you're seeking is the best way to get the results you want.

Knowing how to mow lawn can make a big difference

If you enjoy working on your lawn and take pride in its appearance, you aren't alone. More than 58 million households are involved in lawn care...making lawn care the number one outdoor leisure activity. Why do so many people spend time working in their yards? A beautiful lawn can enhance the beauty of your home's landscape, provide a soft play area for children, and allow you to enjoy a sense of accomplishment — the "Green Pride" that a beautiful lawn can inspire.

And believe it or not...it is easy being green. By following a few simple mowing techniques, you will encourage a beautiful, healthy lawn that you can enjoy year after year.

First, follow the one-third rule, by cutting only one third of the grass blade per mowing. Some people let their grass grow too high and then cut it too low — this is called "scalping." Scalping can actually kill part of the root system and make it more susceptible to thatch build-up and disease. By following the one-third rule or using a specially designed mulching mower, you encourage a healthy, deep root system.

Also, mow in a different direction each time you mow to prevent a "lean." And overlap your mowing paths two to four inches.

Engage your blade when the mower is on the lawn and, whenever possible, turn the mower on a hard surface such as your driveway or walkway. These techniques prevent scuffing.

Keep your mower's cutting blade sharp. A dull blade can shred your grass, turning it brown and providing entrance ways for disease organisms.

Mow on the high side of the recommended mowing height for your variety of grass. For cool season grasses, the ideal height is 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 inches. For most warm season grasses, mow at 1 to 2 inches, except for St. Augustine grass which should be 3 inches.

A beautiful lawn can make all the difference in how you feel about your home and your yard...and it's easy.

Nurserymen offer tips in gardening

Do you need to climb a ladder to prune the trees in your home landscape? Play it safe and call a professional instead, recommends the American Association of Nurserymen. This way, you'll not only benefit from healthy trees, you'll avoid the risk of injury.

• Mulch is good for your garden, right? Not if you buy poor quality, "bargain" mulches containing woodchips made of scrap lumber, unwanted wooden furniture or dead and dying trees. Good mulches consist of hardwood bark, pine bark, composted leaves, buckwheat, cocoa hulls, salt hay or pine needles, and they can be found at your local retail garden center.

• Most people aren't fond of insects, but there are several that are beneficial to your garden or landscape, says the AAN. These include fireflies, ground beetles, spiders, praying mantis, wasps and ladybird beetles. Put simply, these "good" bugs eat the "bad" bugs who chew up your plants.

• If you want to celebrate an old-fashioned Christmas and benefit the environment at the same time, purchase, and later plant, a live Christmas tree. After enjoying the tree indoors, extend your holiday fun by planting the tree in your lawn or garden, recommends the American Association of Nurserymen. If you don't have an appropriate place to plant the tree, call a local tree planting group or check with your retail garden center to find someone who does.

• Looking for a career change? Consider the opportunities in horticulture. There's a wealth of interesting and meaningful roles you can play, whether you're interested in working for a wholesale grower, landscape firm or for a retail garden center.

• Some flowers bloom only at night, releasing their rich scent and adding color to a moon-bathed garden. If you'd like to build a beautiful and mysterious night garden to enjoy after the sun goes down, ask the experts at your local garden center for advice on choosing the best plants.

• Build your backyard compost heap with leaves, grass clippings, plants, leftover vegetables and other organic material, advises the American Association of Nurserymen. Make sure you don't include diseased or infested plants, fats or meat scraps.

• When buying plants in containers, avoid those with roots that are circling out of the drain holes at the bottom of the pot. These plants are "root-bound" and need a bigger container, explains the American Association of Nurserymen. You're less likely to find root-bound plants, or those with other problems, when you purchase plants from the professionals at your local retail garden center.

• If you're tired of unattractive views from your kitchen window, or even your front door, use plants, flowers, shrubs and trees to create a more scenic landscape. Screen your patio from your neighbor's trash cans by installing an inexpensive lattice and training ivy to grow across the frame. Spruce up your bedroom vista by planting colorful flowers in a windowbox and mounting it outside your bedroom window.

• According to the American Association of Nurserymen, plants and trees improve water quality by reducing soil erosion. Each year, more than three billion tons of topsoil erodes from croplands across the country. The extensive root systems of trees and plants hold soil in place, creating healthier fish and wildlife, and ultimately, healthier people!

• Do good gardeners grow only perfect flowers, fruits and vegetables? Luckily, the answer's no! In fact, this myth of the perfect garden can be environmentally damaging, cautions the American Association of Nurserymen. When people seek blemish-free vegetables and perfectly formed flowers, they may use too many fertilizers and pesticides. Even worse, they may use too much water. Make gardening more fun — and go easy on our natural resources.

• When you mow this summer, leave your grass clippings on the lawn. According to the American Association of Nurserymen, this not only saves valuable space in local landfills, it provides your lawn with extra nutrients.

• Want to do something different with your home landscape this year? Start an "heirloom" garden, suggests the American Association of Nurserymen. Heirloom gardens consist of plants, flowers and vegetables that were popular many years ago. Ask the experts at your local garden center for heirloom plants that grow well in your area.

Unique device makes cleaning gutters a snap

A new and different device promises to make cleaning rain-gutters a chore of the past. The United States and Canada patent offices have granted patents on a unique gutter and add-on system — the Gutter Helmet.

Homeowners cannot simply ignore gutters, stuffed full of leaves, pine needles and twigs. In the spring, the gutters become full of seed pods that form a pasty mat to block the downspout strainer or seal off screens that may be installed over the top of gutters.

If the homeowner fails to clean out the gutter, water runs over both the front and back of the gutter, causing the fascia board to rot, damaging plants, and leaking into basements and crawl spaces.

Cleaning the gutter generally involves at least two trips up and down the ladder, often a dangerous and unpleasant experience.

Working from the roof, which can be awkward and risky, results in a substantially shorter shingle life. And the bad news is the overflowing and freezing continues, even when the gutters are only partially filled. The only effective solution lies in preventing debris from entering the gutter.

Homeowners report that Gutter Helmet covers keep the gutters clean season after season even in areas where pine needles, leaves and seed-pods are severe.

Unlike the various screen and louvered devices, Gutter Helmet is made of impervious aluminum that allows rain water into the gutter trough. Debris landing on it falls over the side or is blown away by the wind.

Tests simulating the heaviest rain-falls experienced in North America, those on the Gulf Coast, have demonstrated that the Gutter Helmet can accommodate flows of equal and greater magnitude.

To satisfy skeptics, the developers have devised a simple "sink demonstration" for use under the faucet in a kitchen sink. The ability of the device to convey large quantities of water around the nose is evident.

The installation is hardly seen on the house. According to homeowners, visitors fail to notice the Gutter Helmet installations.

In most installations, only the "nose" is visible and since covers come in a variety of colors, they blend in with the shingle color. Gutter Helms is compatible with existing installations and requires no moving or modification of existing gutters.

American Metal Products, a division of Masco Corporation which manufactures Gutter Helms, gives a written warranty. It states the system is guaranteed to keep your gutter free flowing or your money back.

New Jersey residents no longer have to worry about getting on the roof to clean gutters. For a free estimate and demonstration, call Precision Aluminum at (908) 499-0814.

Union woman exhibits at realty headquarters

Susan Puder, an award-winning photographer, will be exhibiting her work, in both color and monochrome, at the Burgdorff Realtors Corporate Headquarters in Murray Hill from Oct. 9 through Nov. 17.

Puder, who resides in Union, has titled her show 'Victorian Visions: Styles and Environs.' She has shown her work in solo exhibits throughout New Jersey and in New York City, and has won numerous awards in photography at art fairs around the area. Her works are among the permanent collections of The Union Center National Bank, the Township of Union Municipal Building, and in New York state.

Puder is employed as a systems consultant at The Equitable Life Assurance Society in New York City. She is a member of the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts, the Westfield Art Association, Watchung Arts Center, New Jersey Photography Forum and Milburn Camera Club. Puder has taken photography classes and seminars with some of the country's leading nature photographers.

Puder works primarily in color, producing Cibachromes, or as known today, lithochromes, which is a unique color print material for producing photographs directly from transparencies. This technology has become the world standard of excellence for outstanding stability and brilliance of color. She also has recently added black and white prints to her body of work.

An avid outdoors person and environmentalist, Puder stated "I love the outdoors; hiking mountain trails and walks along the shore renew my spirit. Landscapes, gardens and more recently, Victorian architecture are great sources of inspiration for my work. Nature and historical places play a major role in what I photograph. I attempt to capture the spirit of each place in my photographic images. I want to share what I am experiencing and hope that some of the spirit is conveyed to the viewer. Perhaps they will gain some new insight when viewing an ordinary room or a landscape. In that way, they will see the need to preserve and protect our remaining natural and historic treasures."

For this exhibit, Puder chose two places that she frequently visits — Cape May, and Mohonk Mountain House in New York. "Not only are they fabulous places to photograph, but their environs are so special and soul-renewing that I find myself drawn back over and over again."

Cape May is a National Historic Landmark town and is the nation's oldest seashore resort. The Victorian era has been beautifully preserved in the historic district with gingerbread-trimmed cottages and stately mansions. Additionally, Cape May is world renowned as a mecca for bird migration and wildlife preserves, complete with sand dunes and quiet beaches.

Mohonk Mountain House is also a National Historic Landmark and is one of the few remaining 19th Century mountain resorts in the Catskill area. The Mountain House is a turreted seven-story architectural delight situated on Lake Mohonk. It is surrounded by a 20,000-acre natural area in the Shawangunk Mountains. The Victorian character of the house has been preserved throughout, with beautifully carved woodwork, trademark gazebos, period furnishings, and rockers lining wide verandahs.

Puder says, "These two places exemplify both Victorian architecture and wonderful nature preserves. But there are also wonderful contrasts — mountains and seashore, past and present, each with unique designs, wildlife, flora and sense of being."

Arts and crafts featured at park during weekend

The 10th annual Spring Fine Arts and Crafts Show at Nomahegan Park show will take place on this weekend in Cranford, across from Union County College.

This show will feature more than 140 juried, professional artists, photographers and craftspeople displaying and selling their hand-crafted work. The show is co-sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation and Rose Squared Productions, Inc.

Local exhibitors who reside in Union County and their area of expertise are as follows: Kathy Scardino, food, Cranford; Kathleen Cruise, art/graphics, Elizabeth; Rocio Horzema, dolls/soft, Linden, and Arlene Luster, fiber-bears, Union.

All applicants are judged on originality, creativity, quality of work and general show appeal before being selected to participate. This year's exhibitors include textile worker Anu Pitkonen of Lebanon, and jewelers Ellen Rosenberg of Edison, and Virginia Sassaman of Washington, D.C.

Fashion-oriented exhibitor Anu Pitkonen first experienced her future trade at the age of 5, using her grandmother's 100-year-old loom.

"Textile as a profession has been a natural choice for me," said Pitkonen. She graduated with honors from the School of Industrial Arts and Handicrafts in Heinola, Finland, majoring in handweaving. "My designs are inspired by the colors and forms I see in nature," said Pitkonen in describing her work. She designs and hand sews hats and vests using her original patterns. She also weaves shawls and scarves to match these accessories. In addition, she weaves home textiles such as rugs, wallhangings, throws, table runners and placemats.

Going from dress designer to jewelry designer was not a huge leap, but more a change of scale for Ellen Rosenberg. She moved from clothing to jewelry sculpted of fabrics and trims by devoting the same attention to texture, line, color and composition in her artwear jewelry that she brought to her clothing designs. Rosenberg holds a degree from the Fashion Institute of Technology and is a member of the New Jersey Designer Craftsmen Guild.

"I find it exciting and challenging working with very fine fabrics and creating in miniature," said Rosenberg. "I have always enjoyed fabrics. The possibilities are unlimited; just changing the direction of a fabric creates a whole new design, like a kaleidoscope."

Designs are hand-crafted from luxurious, unique, and unusual fabrics, laces, gold/silver metallic trims and superb hand-embroidered ribbons. The fabrics are laminated, then bonded onto hand-cut shapes of 1/8 inch width fine cherrywood.

Nomahegan Park is located on Springfield Avenue, Cranford, and can be reached by taking the Garden State Parkway to Exit 138, Kenilworth, and following signs toward Kenilworth going about two miles to a left onto Springfield Avenue. Parking is free across the street at the college. The new hours of the free events are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. rain or shine. For more information, call (908) 874-5247.

Cornell Hall gains commission's blessing

Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center, a 170-bed, non-profit, long-term care facility and transitional care unit, has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. The Joint Commission is the nation's oldest and largest accrediting body.

Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center is an affiliate of the St. Barnabas Health Care System. Located within Cornell Hall is CareLine Transitional Health Care Services, a 25-bed subacute unit.

Formed in 1951, the Joint Commission is dedicated to improving the quality of the nation's health care through voluntary accreditation. The Joint Commission's on-site survey of Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center occurred in May.

"Receiving Accreditation is a significant achievement, one that recognizes exemplary performance by Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center," said Dr. Dennis S. O'Leary, president of the Joint Commission. "The organization should be commended for its commitment to providing quality care to the people in its community."

"We are extremely pleased to have achieved this designation," said Cornell

Hall Administrator Teresa Edelstein. "Everyone at this facility works hard every day to provide the best possible health care to our residents and patients."

Shirley Cabildo, vice president of nursing home and transitional care operations of the St. Barnabas Health Care System, said receiving accreditation "sends a reassuring message to caregivers of elderly loved ones that Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation is dedicated to providing top-quality care to its residents and that CareLine Transitional Health Care Services is prepared to serve subacute patients." CareLine is designed for patients who have completed the acute phase of hospitalization, but who still require medical and/or rehabilitative care before returning home.

"But we're not going to rest on our laurels," Cabildo said. "This is a wonderful incentive to continue to improve our services."

Cornell Hall/CareLine is staffed by a team of health care professionals who provide around-the-clock nursing and personalized care. A variety of social and recreational programs and activities are offered daily to residents and patients.

Cornell Hall Nursing and Rehabilitation Center is one of four nursing and rehabilitative facilities affiliated with the St. Barnabas Health Care System.

Bollwage honored by cancer society

The New Jersey Division, Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society, on Oct. 27 will celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the Crimson Ball at 7 p.m. at the Hilton at Short Hills.

This black-tie affair will be held in honor of Elizabeth Mayor J. Christian Bollwage and the Suburban News for their ongoing commitment and dedication to programs in cancer research, education and patient services. All proceeds will go toward the fight against cancer.

Anyone interested should call (908) 354-7373.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives from cancer, and diminishing suffering from cancer through research, education and patient service.

IS IT REALLY ARTHRITIS?

If you have an arthritic-like condition and it's not getting any better, maybe you should find out if it really is arthritis.

The word "arthritis" comes from the Greek "arthron" meaning joint, and "itis", which stands for inflammation. In other words, arthritis refers to inflammation of the joint. Maybe you've been taking medication for joint pains and wonder why you're not getting relief. Or maybe you're resigned to the fact that you'll be taking medication for the rest of your life. But if an examination shows that the affected joints are not inflamed, the problem may be that the joint is not functioning normally. When you receive the treatment you need, the joint may return to its normal function, and the pain may be relieved or eliminated.

No one wants to suffer from the pain of arthritis. On the other hand, if examination shows you don't have arthritis, treatment is available to correct the condition and hopefully end the pain and discomfort.

Allergy relief may be in sight

More than 25 million Americans will be sneezing and congested this fall. Their noses will be runny, their eyes watering and itchy. The reason? Tiny pollen particles from a variety of weeks which fill the air from August through October in much of the country. Weed pollen, invisible to the eye, is a punch in the nose to anyone susceptible to allergic rhinitis, better known as "hay fever."

"Pollen is really not an irritant," says Dr. Phil Lieberman in defense of the tiny organisms. Lieberman is an allergy specialist and former president of the American Academy of Allergy and Immunology. "Pollen has no effect on a normal person."

"Some people, however, are sensitive to certain allergens; things like pollen, mold spores, animal dander, house dust and a few others. Their bodies treat the allergens as invaders, triggering the immune system to produce IgE antibodies that attach themselves to cells within the lining of the nasal passages," he said. "The cells release a chemical called histamine which causes symptoms like runny noses, watery eyes, and so forth."

So, for allergy sufferers, the enemy is within. It's an inherited disorder caused by a highly sensitive immune system that works too well.

Doctors recommended hay fever sufferers stay indoors as much as possible in the fall, and keep windows and doors closed. But what if staying indoors is impossible because of your job? And even with doors and windows closed, pollen can still affect breathing and cause discomfort.

Anyone who believes a change of address will solve their seasonal allergy problems, don't bother. Virtually every city and town in America is home to an offending variety of weed. Ragweed, among the most noxious of all weed pollens, is particularly prolific, covering most of the United States. Moving to a different state or city may help a little, depending upon which pollens to which you are allergic, but you run the risk of exposing yourself to a pollen which is even more aggravating to your sinuses.

Although microscopic in size, pollen is a giant problem when viewed on a national level. Allergy experts estimate 20 percent of Americans have allergies. An estimated five million work days are lost because of allergies, and $500 million is spent in the treatment of allergy symptoms.

According to Lieberman, there are plenty of ways to reduce the sniffles and misery associated with fall allergy season. Perhaps the best thing you can do for hay fever is avoid being outdoors during periods of peak pollination. It's the "Just Say No" approach to seasonal allergies.

Staying indoors, however, may not solve all allergy problems. The hay fever season often makes the nose of an allergy sufferer hyper-responsive and more susceptible to indoor allergens such as dust mites and animal dander. They also may become more sensitive to irritants such as perfumes, aerosol sprays and cigarette smoke.

A good way to clear the air within your home is with an air purifier. Air purifiers remove many of the microscopic particles from the air that cause allergic reactions. Used correctly, they provide a world of relief for allergy sufferers.

David Underhill of Hunter Fan Company, a leading maker of room air purifiers, says to do some research before buying an air cleaner.

"There are many brands of air purifiers and a lot of confusing claims," said Underhill. "It's important to get a machine that will clean the air thoroughly. The only way to know the effectiveness of the various brands is to compare their Clean Air Delivery Rates."

The Federal Trade Commission and the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers both recognize the Clean Air Delivery Rate as the most accurate comparison of room air purifiers. CADR ratings are independently tested for verification of performance claims. The ratings are printed on the box of many of the leading brands of air purifiers. The higher the CADR rating, the better the performance.

According to Underhill, the CADR score indicates how much clean air an air purifier actually delivers in real world conditions.

Consumers also should be aware of new filter materials, such as 3M's Filtrete, which uses static electricity to capture more and smaller particles, while allowing more air to pass through thereby "scrubbing" the air more times. In fact, 3M's Filtrete filter material cleans the air 100 percent faster than older filter technologies such as HEPA — high efficiency particulate air — filters yet typically is much less expensive. "Filtrete filters can even capture extremely small particles like viruses and bacteria," according to Dr. John Zhang, technical specialist at 3M.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration lists certain air purifiers as class I medical devices. That means doctor-prescribed air cleaners may be reimbursable by insurance companies, depending on coverage.

For more information about Hunter room air purifiers, call (800) 971-3267. For a list of CADR ratings from the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: AHAM, 20 North Wacker, Chicago, Ill 60606.

Hair pieces, wigs build confidence

Hair growth takes place in the roots — follicles — where healthy cells divide and multiply, pushing the hair strands outward.

Unfortunately, some treatments for cancer inhibit the growth of healthy hair cells. Feelings — especially positive feelings — play a vital role in the restoration of health. The way you think and feel about yourself each day often begins with looking in the mirror. Hair accessories and wigs can become an important aspect of personal appearance.

Plainfield Symphony opens for 76th time

After celebrating its 75th anniversary season, the Plainfield Symphony is about to launch its 76th season. On Oct. 7 at 8 p.m., the symphony will present the first concert of this season. The concert will be performed in the Crescent Avenue Church, located at 716 Watchung Ave., Plainfield. The church is a beautiful, historic building with outstanding acoustics which add to the beauty of the music. Sabin Pautza, conductor, composer and musical director of the symphony, will lead this all-Beethoven concert, which will include the Egmont Overture, followed by Symphony 8 in F Major. The third selection will feature guest artist Sandra Tamman, as soloist, playing Beethoven's Piano Concerto 5 in Eb, "Emperor." Tamman is a graduate of the Manhattan School of Music, and holds a master's degree from Jilliard. Upon receiving the lot prize in the 1975 Paderewski Foundation competition, she has emerged as one of the outstanding pianists of her generation. Tamman made her solo debut in London, Amsterdam, Berlin and New York, under the auspices of the Paderewski Foundation. She has continued to reap plaudits throughout the musical world. Her musical reviews, from the United States to Europe have all used descriptions such as "brilliant performance," "exceptionally well-schooled pianist, ingratiating musical instincts." Presently, Tamman is a resident of Westfield and is a New Jersey native. On Sept. 17, the Plainfield Symphony Auxiliary will host a "Showcase" party to salute the orchestra from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. The party will be held at the home of David Mason. The donation will be $40. Reservations may be made through the symphony office (908) 561-5140. Tickets for the concert are available at the door or may be reserved through the symphony office. Cost for friends is $19, general admission is $15, and senior/student $10. For more information, call the symphony office at (908) 561-5140.

His education consists of graduation from Newark Arts High School and Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts. The artist has work in numerous corporate and private collections such as the Baseball Hall of Fame, Football Hall of Fame, AT&T, National Gallery of Art and New Jersey museums. For more information, call Kat Block, chairperson of this exhibit, at (908) 354-2479.

Young actor not letting success get to his head

days," said Gail Fasano, "he leaves school a little earlier."
Does his career interfere with his school work?
"Last year," beamed his mother, "he got great straight A's. He belongs to HAP, which means High Aptitude Program — its for the gifted and talented. He has one period a day. It's non-traditional learning."
"We do different projects," said Matthew. "Most of the time I get my school work done, but sometimes, it piles up."
"He's a good student," assured his mother. He knows school comes first.
Doesn't the youngster get tired after eight performances a week — Wednesday to Sunday nights and Thursday, Saturday and Sunday matinees?
"I don't get tired of the show," he exclaimed. "I like everything about the show," Matthew smiled. "When you get home, that's when it hits you."
"But he's usually in bed by 11 every night," said his mother. "We live minutes away from the theater." Matthew, son of Bob and Gail Fasano, has lived all of his life in West Orange. The family has lived there about 19 years. In addition to Karen, 17, he has a sister, Lynn. "They are both proud of him just as his parents are," said Gail Fasano.
And what about his friends and school chums?
"Not many know that I'm in a show at the Paper Mill," said Matthew. "Some kids pay more attention because I'm an actor. But my good friends don't really talk about it very much. They are very low key about it."
Matthew does study the piano with a private tutor in Livingston, according to his mother. "And in school," said Matthew, "I play the trombone in the band." The youngster also makes time at home to play with his beloved puppy, a Bichon Frise. "Her name is Hannah, and I got her at the end of April. I've always wanted a dog. And I love animals."
What will Matthew do when he grows up?
"I'll probably be an actor," he enthused with a twinkle in his eye. "Or maybe even a professional soccer player."

Presley to perform for elder teachers

Marcus Presley, a 13-year-old, composer and jazz pianist, will perform during the Union County Retired Education Association's meeting on Oct. 10 at 11 a.m. at L'Affaire, Route 22, Mountainside.

The business meeting will be held at 11 a.m., including talks by Michael Johnson, vice president of the New Jersey Education Association, and James Holcombe, president of the New Jersey Retired Education Association.

Following lunch, there will be a social hour and entertainment by Presley. He was a regular on "Sesame Street" from 1989-91, and has appeared on the hit comedy "Pete and Pete" and on television commercials. He last appeared on "Good Morning America" with Wynston Marsalis, and he was featured on Channel 7 news for his piano virtuosity. Among his accomplishments, he developed and performed a Jazz Appreciation Education program for middle school students.

The meeting is open to all retired NJEA members who reside or work in Union County.

Teen arts tour coming to Exxon

Exxon Corporation, located at Park and Brunswick avenues in Linden, will host the Union County Teen Arts Touring Exhibit for the month of October.

The exhibit consists of 23 pieces of art selected from the 500 visual art works shown during the 1995 Union County Teen Arts Festival held in March at Union County College.

"Students who participate in Teen Arts Programs learn much more than the technique of their art," Union County Freeholder Linda-Lee Kelly, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, stated. "The students works are visually appealing and represent the diversity of Union County."

ARIES — March 21/April 20

A new-found closeness with a family member will make you realize something new about yourself. Work may get busy and it may have to take priority over your social life. Do what you have to do and there will be plenty of time for fun later on. Avoid excesses this weekend.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21

Feeling sorry for yourself isn't going to get you anywhere. If something in your life is getting you down, make moves to change it. Choose action over reaction. News of upcoming change will give you something to look forward to at work. There could be a new opportunity waiting.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21

Your dual personality will be intriguing to some this week and maddening to others. But one thing's for sure, it will be boring to neither! Don't procrastinate when it comes to an important work project. Deadlines will not go away! A family member will have good news.

CANCER — June 22/July 22

Trying to squeeze too many things into an already-busy schedule will make the crab even crabbiest. Relax. You don't have to tackle a lifetime of tasks in just one week! Don't make assumptions when it comes to the actions of a loved one. There could be more involved than you realize.

LEO — July 23/August 23

Even if your intentions are good, your help may not be appreciated in a squabble between two friends. Only offer your opinion if it is requested. And even then, be as diplomatic as possible. Weekend plans may be cancelled at the last minute. Think of an alternate plan.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22

An unexpected financial setback could keep you from your scheduled social plans. You may have to find an inexpensive alternative. Don't let it get you down. You may just find that some of the best things in life are free, after all! A friend may need a shoulder to cry on.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23

Too much work and no play makes the Libra scales unbalanced. Take some time out for fun and your work time will be more productive. A friend going through a tough time will need your shoulder to cry on. Your friend's misfortune will make you realize just how good you have it.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22

A past love may try to contact you. You may get mixed messages from her/him, so be sure not to wear your heart on your sleeve. A situation at work will need your attention mid-week. Think long-term when solving work-related problems. Creative ideas will get you far.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21

Although you may be fond of luxury items, this is not the time to splurge. This is a time to be frugal. Someone you meet this week could help you in your career later on. Be sure to be up front when discussing your skills and talents. Don't sell yourself short or you could miss out.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20

An ongoing problem will finally come to a head this week. You'll be able to breathe a sigh of relief. Now you can make solid plans instead of stagnating. You'll finally meet a person you've been hearing about for some time. You may find (s)he is not at all what you expected.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18

A romantic relationship may go through some tense periods this week. Instead of pretending a problem is not there, you should bring things out in the open. An honest discussion could be a tremendous help. Plans for an upcoming trip need your attention.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

Patience will be needed in a romantic relationship. If your partner is going through a hard time, it's important to be understanding. If you put yourself in her/his place, you'll know just what to do. A surprising turn of events could happen in the work-place. You could benefit.

The Chrysler Corp. has a slew of great new automobiles

Chrysler's premium sedan, the LHS sedan, is aimed at buyers seeking innovative automotive design and practical luxury features blended with a high level of trend setting design, interior comfort, performance and fuel efficiency — and attractively priced in the luxury car segment.

Offered with all the amenities expected in a large sedan, the Chrysler Cirrus became the benchmark design and value leader in a class dominated by Japanese brands in terms of sales and image. The Cirrus has snagged many major automobile awards from national magazines. Its market appeal is expanded for 1996 with a 2.4 liter engine.

The recently introduced Chrysler Sebring creates a new class of coupe by seating four adults in comfort while retaining a sport demeanor desired by buyers in this segment of the market. The Chrysler Sebring returns practicality and style to the coupe market.

The Chrysler Sebring Convertible, the newest entry in Chrysler's car line and a replacement for the LaBaron convertible, the Sebring JX and JXi Convertible are expected to set the industry standard in style, interior room, safety and value.

Come See Why We're The Highway Dealer With The Difference!

“ It's like they turned everything up a notch. ”

As Ricky Robertson says of the brand new Saturns, “What's not to like?” They have more passenger room. The exterior is more aerodynamic. Even the seatbelts adjust more easily. Admittedly, there are a few things that we didn't change: They're still a pleasure to own and, from all reports, still real fun to drive. Oh, and our cupholders. They pretty much stayed the same, too. Hope to see you soon.

The dual airbags standard on this 1996 Saturn SL1 (and all Saturns) are one feature we hope you never have to use. Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price includes retailer preparation and transportation. Tax, license, options and state-required equipment additional. Each retail facility is responsible for setting its own selling price, which may differ from the price suggested above. ©1995 Saturn Corporation.
