County Seat

Carol Cohen, a soon-to-be freeholder, made it an important part of her campaign this year.

Governor Whitman on Monday said it is important for us as a state and as a people.

It is, of course, the county's effective utilization of the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools. Vo-tech is not being fully utilized to help retrain the people of this county, Cohen said last month prior to her election victory. Whitman talked of expanding facilities such as the one in Union County.

While the idea of retraining workers who have been forced to learn new skills to cope with today's ever-changing society is a good one, vo-tech can serve as a positive force in other ways as well.

During a ceremony Monday, a new program being tried at the vo-tech in Scotch Plains was announced. The program, which kicked off in Union County in September, provides youth with a second chance at life. High school dropouts who want to give education and life a second go-around can receive their high school diplomas at the vo-tech school and go on to receive the training necessary to make themselves a success in their chosen career.

While Whitman and a host of other county and state politicians were on hand for Monday morning's announcement of the program, it was someone who was not present for this day of recognition who played a pivotal role in its acceptance in Union County. That man is the late Union County Prosecutor Andrew Ruotolo Jr.

Whitman, who publicly recognized Ruotolo's efforts in this venture Monday, strangely enough is a Republican, and Ruotolo a long-time Democrat. Republicans are not supposed to speak well of Democrats, just as Democrats are not supposed to speak highly of Republicans. In some cases, the benefits of a program far outweigh a politician's obligatory need to make political points, and the "Youth PRIDE" program is an exception to that rule.

It was under the Whitman administration that the program was developed, but it was Ruotolo who learned of its existence and conceived a proposal — with the assistance of Maryann Johnston, who was employed by Ruotolo in the prosecutor's office — designed to reintroduce dropouts and offenders to society.

The program, which focuses its efforts on teen-agers between 15 and 18 years old, can prove to be positive in a dual capacity. First, it educates and shapes lives which otherwise may have been a loss. Also, the program can salvage the lives of youth who may have beforehand seen a life of crime as the only alternative. It may sound cliché, but if the program can succeed in turning around even one person's life, then it is worthwhile.

While boot camps may be the way to go to get the attention of some of the more violent teen offenders, unless opportunities

Governor pays tribute to county's youth

Gov. Christine Whitman this week joined an assortment of county, state and federal officials to trumpet a new program designed to assist youth in pursuit of a second chance at a normal life.

The governor toured the Union County Vocational-Technical School on Monday morning, giving her blessing to a program initiated under her administration but new to the Scotch Plains facility.

The program, "Youth PRIDE," officially began in September with little fanfare, but this week it was different. Along with Whitman, on hand for the hour-long ceremony were Rep. Bob Franks, R-7, state Senate President Donald DiFrancesco, Assemblyman Alan Augustine, both R-Union, and Freeholder Chairwoman Linda DiGiovanni.

Youth PRIDE, or Project for the Intensive Development of Education and Employment, is a two-year pilot program offering an alternative for "at risk" youth aged 16 to 21. Union County's Department of Human Services' program received a 1995 Award of Excellence on Nov. 20 in Orlando, Fla., from the National Association of Counties.

Of the 85 entries submitted, this was the only award received by a county in New Jersey. The Award of Excellence, of which just 10 were received nationwide, recognizes outstanding programs operated under the federal Job Training Partnership Act.

"At the heart of all of this is a very special program where we're trying to meet the needs of many of the young people in Union County, specifically those who have dropped out of high school and have found a way to return," said vo-tech Superintendent Thomas Bistocchi following a 10 a.m.

tour of the Youth PRIDE Center.

"We've been able to offer a very special program to a very special population. These 90 students who are in the Youth PRIDE Program are doing just that, finding pride in who they are, many of them are returning to high school in an attempt not only to achieve a high school diploma, but also in the very near future — as early as January — to begin their vocational-technical training. The idea here is to bring people the ability to enter the workforce and through the graciousness of all the parties involved as well as the funding mechanism that allows this to happen, these young people are getting a second chance," said Bistocchi.

This program is the culmination of a public-private endeavor involving dozens of entities which worked with the county's Human Services Department. It is designed to allow dropouts and offenders an opportunity to return to school, obtain a high school degree and develop skills necessary to compete in the workplace.

Included in that partnership are the Board of Chosen Freeholders, County Manager Ann Baran, Bistocchi, Division of the Private Industry Council/Employment and Training, Union County Prosecutor's Office, Union County's PIC, state Department of Labor, New Jersey Employment and Training Commission, state and county departments of Human Services, Union County College, Kean College, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, local churches, and law-enforcement and community-based agencies.

Different breed of officer is recognized by sheriff

Three officers and their canine partners recently completed a rigorous course of training conducted by the Union County Sheriff's Search & Rescue Unit.

New York City officers, Detective Faith Beiser and her 3-year-old yellow labrador retriever "Boomer" and Detective Kenneth Silva and his 2-year-old black labrador "Gus" successfully completed 10 weeks of training in bomb detection. Sgt. Robert Talalai of the Carteret Police Department and his canine partner "Shadow," a 2-year-old labrador, completed Drug Detection Training.

Also, Sheriff's Lieut. Mark Weber, who is the chief trainer at the Search & Rescue Unit supervised the training regimen.

Weber explained the methodology employed in training. "Contrary to popular belief, drug dogs are not addicted to narcotics. They are introduced to a towel scented with different types of narcotics. They are allowed to play Tug O' War with the towel and learn to think of the towel as a toy. As training progresses the dogs are taught to retrieve a thrown towel. Finally the dogs are trained to search for the hidden towel. The handler must learn to read his dog and redirect his attention when necessary.

"The training for bomb dogs is similar with the exception that the towel is scented with dynamite, C4 or gun powder. Drug dogs get excited when they sense the presence of drugs thinking they found their toy. Bomb dogs are trained to be passive indicators and sit down when they detect the presence of explosives.

Sheriff Ralph Froehlich, who officiated during the Nov. 22 graduation ceremony, long has been an advocate of using dogs in police work. "Dogs are intelligent animals with keen senses and tremendous loyalty. Proper training and handling leads to a special bond between the officer and canine that enables them to work as a sophisticated team able to accomplish task beyond the capacity of a man working alone," he said.

The Union County Sheriff's Search & Rescue Unit is designated as one of the East Coast Regional Training Centers. The sheriff states that this designation is in recognition of the professionalism and expertise demonstrated by all of our canine officers. "I am proud of this unit, it's officers and canines and these three officers graduating today who have made that extra effort to become specialist in a new and expanding field of law enforcement," he said.

Candidates vying for Ruotolo slot

By Tom Canavan
Editor in Chief

Several names have been presented to Union County senators of people interested in filling the Union County Prosecutor's position in the wake of the death of Andrew Ruotolo Jr.

While rumors are circulating that the appointment may be made by the end of the year, state Sen. C. Louis Bassano said this week that February 1996 is a more realistic projection for the appointment to be made.

Bassano is one of the senators who has received word from citizens expressing interest in the position. James Neafsey of the state Attorney General's Office has been acting prosecutor since Ruotolo died on Sept. 21.

Bassano declined to cite any names of people who have expressed interest in the position, but he did say that their applications have been submitted to the Governor's Office, and potential candidates are being called to Trenton to undergo the interview process.

State Sen. and Senate President Donald DiFrancesco also has received expressions of interest from citizens. DiFrancesco said Monday that Assistant Union County Counsel Al Stender, Summit Councilman Henry Ogden, both Republicans, and Plainfield Democrat Joan Van Pelt have submitted their names to him. DiFrancesco also said he knows Union County Counsel James Keefe has expressed interest in the position, "but

C. Louis Bassano

Donald DiFrancesco

I have not sat down and talked to him" about the post.

"I like them all," DiFrancesco said. "It's not a decision I want to make. It's a decision that must be based on experience and qualifications."

In the case of a county prosecutor, whose appointment is made by the governor, senators from the county can send recommendations to the Attorney General's Office, which would then conduct interviews and forward the results to the governor.

The governor would then send her appointment to the Senate Judiciary Committee for approval before the nomination reaches the full Senate for a vote. The senators then have the power to block the appointment.

The nominee undergoes a four-way background check before the application is sent to the county and state bar associations for review, Bassano said.

DiFrancesco said, "If it's somebody I thought would be incompetent, I would make my views known."

When asked if he was supporting Stender over any other candidate, DiFrancesco said, "I'm not supporting any one over another."

Sources have indicated that DiFrancesco could be supporting Stender for the position, while Bassano could be supporting Keefe.

Keefe withdrew his bid for reelection to the Board of Freeholders in 1994 when he accepted the appointment.

Spyro Gyra jazz

GRAM recording artists Spyro Gyra will perform at Club Bene in Sayerville tomorrow (Nov. 30). Spyro Gyra is touring in support of their latest album, titled "Love and Other Obsessions" — a collection of rhythm and blues and African-influenced jazz. Club Bene is located on Route 35. For more information, or to reserve seats, call 273-3200. Dinner and show tickets cost $35. Show tickets cost $25.

Troubador's tour includes Summit

Bob Norman's annual tour of the Northeast in early December will include seven appearances at clubs, coffeehouse and concert halls — including a show tomorrow at the Common Ground Cafe in Summit.

"The Northeast has been my base for some 16 years," said the veteran singer, songwriter, guitarist and harmonica player. "But it's only in the last couple that I've been organizing my gigs here into formal tours like I do in other parts of the country."

In the past year, Norman's rambles in support of his latest Night Owl disc, "To the Core," have included his eighth annual tour of California and his first concert in Louisiana and Mississippi.

"To the Core" is receiving airplay on alternative radio from New York City to Ketchikan, Alaska. Produced by recording veteran Bob Rose, it features songs written during the eight years Norman lived in Greenwich Village.

According to Ken Stroebel of the Norwich Bulletin, "the 11 tracks on 'To the Core' are rich with imagery and ideas. Although most of the tales are of city life, nature is a powerful presence in nearly all of them. The sky, the wind, the sea, and the snow seem always to be vying with buildings, sidewalks, cars and despair for influence over men and women. Norman's songs conjure images of men huddled in bars, lighthouses, shining through mist, snow covering a train yard, and wolves prowling a frozen forest."

Norman's earlier Night Owl recording, "Romantic Nights on the Upper West Side," also met with critical acclaim: Pete Seeger called it "a warm and wonderful bagful of very singable songs that capture the bittersweet lives of working people in a big city."

Norman's career in folk music has spanned 25 years. For 20, he was editor-in-chief and then chairman of the board of Sing Out!, the nation's leading folk music magazine. For 15, he has performed in major clubs, coffeehouses and festivals from Boston to San Diego, sharing stages with folk legends like Seeger, Tom Paxton, Richie Havens and Dave Van Ronk, as well as talented young songwriters like John Gorka, Suzanne Vega, Shawn Colvin and Patty Larkin. His songs have appeared in the Fast Folk CD-magazine and in Sing-Out! and have been performed by a dozen other artists, Seeger among them. In 1990, Norman was a finalist in the Keeverville New Folk Competition at the Columbia River Folk Festival. In 1993 he performed at the Napa Valley Folk Festival and helped judge it Emerging Songwriters' competition.

The Common Ground Cafe is located at 50 Maple St. in Summit. The show is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $2. For more information, call 273-2131.

Film series focuses on marriage

"Cinema By Invitation Only," a film series held at the Maurice Levin Theater in West Orange, will continue with Bud Yorkin's "Twice in a Lifetime" today at 7 p.m.

The theatre is located at the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan New Jersey, 760 Northfield Ave. The series theme is "Sacred Vows, Broken Promises," a cinematic review of love and marriage today, as reflected through yesterday's cinema.

"Twice in a Lifetime" stars Gene Hackman as a blue-collar steelworker who abandons his wife of 30 years (Ellen Burstyn) for a barmaid (Ann-Margaret), only to discover that a separation does not resolve his mid-life crisis. The sentimental story features strong supporting performances by Amy Madigan and Brian Dennehy. The film will be approached from its sociological impact, with a discussion led by Ralph Azriel Fellner, a cinema expert.

The Maurice Levin Theater is fully accessible and includes an infra-red hearing system. There is ample free parking and easy access from most major highways.

Cinema by Invitation Only is partially underwritten by Boardroom, Inc. Individual tickets are $6 for JCC members and $8 for the general public. Group sales discounts are available.

'King of Comedy' to perform

The Israeli Festival of Union will present its 10th Anniversary Hanukkah Concert Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. featuring Jackie Jayson Exit and starring the young sensation Sandy Shmueli. The concert will be held at the B'nai B'rith Convention Center in Morris and Plainfield.

Jackie Jayson Exit, an accomplished and internationally known performer, has made numerous appearances on television and has performed for many major organizations and Jewish social clubs. Exit and Mason have been married for many years.

Sandy Shmueli, an Israeli singer

Jackie Jayson Exit

and composer, originally began his professional career as a member of the North Command Entertainment Group which was stationed in the Golan Heights. He made his American debut as a participant in the Israeli Chassidic Festival more than a decade ago. Since then, Shmueli has established himself as a talented composer and recording artist in the United States, Canada, Israel, Europe and South America. In 1994, Shmueli performed at the inauguration of Mayor Rudolph Giuliani in a televised concert, as well as before 30,000 people who attended the Yom Haatzmaut Concert in Central Park. In addition, Shmueli was a featured soloist at Radio City Music Hall for the HASC Concert and also appeared in the Chabad Telathon which was broadcast live from Los Angeles.

To date, Shmueli has recorded three albums, the most recent one is titled "Be'zrat Hashem," and was a number one best seller in the first month of its release. This album will be available for purchase on the evening of the concert.

Last year, on the evening of the 10th Anniversary Hanukkah Concert, the Israeli Festival of Union was recognized for its 10 years of community service. A proclamation from the Township of Union and a Declaration from State Sen. C. Louis Bassano on behalf of the New Jersey Legislature were presented to committee members of the Israeli Festival of Union. The Israeli Festival of Union, now in its 11th year, is an independent, non-profit organization, which unites the Jewish community a few times each year by providing cultural, entertaining and social programs. For further information about the organization, write to the Israeli Festival of Union, P.O. Box 274, Union, N.J., 07083-0274 or call 687-4124. Max Feldman of Union is the founder and chairman of the organization; Amy Schwartz is the concert producer and publicity chairperson, and Rabbi Meyer Korbman of Temple Israel of Union is religious advisor. Other members of the committee are Selma Feldman, Dora Feins, Ann Levine, Sandy Omansky, Elaine Schwartz, Gerald Schwartz and Adrienne Zeilberger.

Concert tickets are $8 each if purchased in advance and will be $10 each at the door on the evening of the performance. Special discounts for group sales are being offered. There are no reserved seats, only open seating. Doors open at 7:45 p.m. For information on ticket purchases call 687-4124.

Exhibited untitled

Courtesy of Union County Arts Center

This untitled mixed-media-on-paper work by Christine Dolinich-Matuska is among the pieces displayed at the Union County Arts Center as part of the opening of the new season. The exhibit is in the center's lobby, and will remain open until Dec. 18. The exhibition will include mixed media constructions on wood and plexiglass, and mixed media works on watercolor paper. The artist has used acrylic, collage, colored pencil and wood in many pieces, and some of the works also include found objects. Call 499-0441 for further information.

'Jazz Series' continues with trio's performance

December is a tough month in which to run a jazz concert, given the fierce competition from seasonal events. The Jazz Series has pulled out all the stops though, inviting celebrated reed player Ken Peplowski to bring a trio to Watchung.

Ken Peplowski's trio will play at the Watchung Arts Center tomorrow evening. The master of the clarinet and tenor saxophone will be joined by pianist Johnny Varro and vibraphonist Chuck Redd, with the music starting at 8 p.m. As with other Jazz Series concerts, admission is $10, including intermission refreshments.

Reservations are advised, given the size of the center's gallery. Seats may be reserved by calling 753-0190, leaving a message if necessary. Tickets are held for pick-up at the performance.

The Watchung Arts Center serves central New Jersey from its historic building on the Watchung Circle. It is a mile from Interstate 78 (exit 40) and Route 22 (Plainfield overpass). Parking is free adjacent to the center or at nearby municipal lots.

Ken Peplowski honed his talents with Benny Goodman's band, a tough assignment for a clarinet player doubling on tenor sax. As a freelancer now, he has become extremely busy, touring Europe or the domestic festival and club circuits.

Johnny Varro always fills the house as a piano soloist. He was a regular on the New York scene for years, although California and Florida are his more recent bases. When not performing before live audiences, he's in the studio recording. Many leaders want Varro supporting them at the keyboard.

The non-profit Watchung Arts Center hosts theatrical and musical performances in its acoustic gallery, surrounded by artwork. Many visitors become members, supporting the center with dues in return for a monthly newsletter and discounts on certain events and classes. Membership information is available by calling 753-0190.

Fellowship hosts annual crafts fair

Crafts '95, the Morristown Unitarian Fellowship's 30th annual juried exhibit and sale of fine crafts, opens today at 6 p.m. The show, which features more than 100 artists, will run through Sunday afternoon in the Thorne Mansion, at 21 Normandy Heights Rd.

While all exhibitors have been chosen for their art work, the variety of items accommodates all budgets. Whimsical ornaments may be found for less than $5, and, for less than $20, there are numerous items which will be appealing presents for the holidays. Works of beaded, gold and silver jewelry, stained and blown glass, pottery, inlaid and carved wood, ceramics, leather, handwoven fiber, toys, Christmas decorations, hand-painted silk scarves, candles, baskets and dried flowers wreaths will be offered.

The museum-style ambiance of the Thorne Mansion and the tradition of the fellowship has earned this annual craft show a superb reputation. Another feature of the show is the Crafts Cafe. Homemade soup, bread, quiche, chili and dessert are served in the dining room. Also, on Thursday evening, the wine and cheese reception is a warm and pleasant opening to a festive Crafts '95 weekend.

Show hours are Thursday, 6-10 p.m.; tomorrow, 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. The daily donation is $3; $2 for senior citizens; and $5 for the Opening Night wine and cheese reception. On-site parking is available. Call 201-540-1177 for directions.

Local artists include: Anne Van Blarcom of Edison; window pins with original oil painting or water colors; Elyse Boicchio of Rahway; glass kaleidoscopes; Bill Granda and William R. Granada of Scotch Plains; clocks, frames, boxes, turned bowls and vases; Marguerite Brennan of Summit; clay, cups, plates, planters; Barbara W. Stanger of Summit; objects in gold and silver; jewelry, ornaments and bookmarks.

Kaukonen to play Bene

The Jorma Kaukonen Band will perform in concert at the Club Bene Dinner Theatre, located on Route 35 in Sayreville Sunday at 9 p.m., with an optional dinner being served at 7 p.m.

Kaukonen has been appearing on a regular basis at Club Bene for several years; this will mark the first time that he will appear with a full band.

Kaukonen is touring in support of his new album, his first studio recording in 11 years titled "The Land of Heroes."

Kaukonen writes music to stories of his grandparents' generation, told to him by his parents. The title cut was inspired by the Kalevala, which is the Finnish epic of ancient life in the far north. These stories gave him the means to understand and appreciate the struggles of immigrants.

In the lexicon of American popular music with a body of work spanning more than 30 years, Kaukonen performed with and for Janis Joplin, Jerry Garcia and Jimi Hendrix. What began as a folk rock band in 1965 became the Jefferson Airplane. In 1970, while still with the Airplane, Kaukonen, with Jack Casady formed Hot Tuna, inspiring a whole generation of young acoustic fingerstyle guitarists.

For further information or to reserve seats with The Jorma Kaukonen Band, call Club Bene at 727-3000. Dinner and show tickets are $25. Show only tickets are $15.

Holiday concert planned

The Kean College Concert Band and the Kean College Jazz Band will present the annual Winter Concert at Kean College on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theatre on the main campus.

Admission is free and both bands will perform a variety of musical styles. The Concert Band will offer classic band music combined with holiday styles. Mainstream jazz featuring jazz soloists will be played by the Jazz Band.

Dining Review November 30, 1995

By Bea Smith

It really is nice to be able to know exactly where to go when you crave Italian food. I mean real, genuine Italian food, complete with mouth-watering garlic bread, authentic and superb tomato sauces in pasta, veal and chicken dishes that one only dreams about. And that can be often!

The place to be when these cravings are uncontrollable is Chestnut Tavern restaurant, conveniently located at 649 Chestnut St. in Union. And even if the cravings are not as strong, Chestnut Tavern is still the place to be — if only for tasty snacks, a marvelous chef's salad or great pizza.

At the Chestnut Tavern, I was greeted by a friendly and warm staff, which provided us with excellent service. And now, the restaurant features a new, larger menu with steaks and prime rib as well as famous dishes which have been served at the restaurant throughout the years. A special lunch menu also is available.

We started dinner with a cocktail and an appetizer of chicken fingers with a light spicy dipping sauce, brought by our gracious waitress.

Then came a sumptuous salad, and finally, my favorite, the most delicious lasagna with a side order of Italian sausage. My companions were delighted with broccoli and cavatelli served in a soft creamy garlic and butter sauce, and one of the restaurant's specialties, a marvelously prepared baked ziti a la Parmigiana with oozing mozzarella cheese and a tasty tomato sauce.

Others around us were vocally enjoying some of the other house specialties, such as tender veal a la parmigiana and an ample amount of spaghetti; shrimp a la parmigiana, also with spaghetti, and eggplant parmigiana.

A glass of rich, red wine accompanied many a dinner in the restaurant filled with happy couples and families. And to make a busy and really crowded restaurant even happier was music and song. Every Friday and Saturday evening, live entertainment is featured, with some of the best performers in the area coming to the restaurant.

While listening to the music, the folks at my table sat back to enjoy a slice of chocolate and vanilla ice cream cake roll covered with whipped cream, the restaurant's favorite cheese cake, and a great cup of coffee.

December 3-9

ARIES — March 21/April 20
Has work been stressing you out lately? Put some of your fire-sign energy into planning a vacation. A warm climate will help you recharge. Something to look forward to helps keep momentum high. Use extra spending money to treat a friend to a night out on the town.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21
Stop dwelling over recent setbacks. Taurus. It's time to look towards the future. A new love interest sparks an impulsive nature midweek. Don't be shy. Finances pose problems Thursday. Grab the reins on your tight-fisted ways before you find yourself in the poorhouse.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21
Thinking about rekindling an old flame? Think again if the object of your desire happens to be a Leo. You may not be the only one on his/her mind. A social gathering proves this on Tuesday. Play it safe. A little overtime this weekend goes a long, long way.

CANCER — June 22/July 22
Fight the urge to crawl back into your shell this week. It's easy to play it shy over the holidays, but it's really not wise. Replace your usual holiday gloom with some social graces Thursday. A Libra is sure to take note. Self-indulgence leads to a great weekend.

LEO — July 23/August 23
Budget, budget, budget. Leo. Re-linquinsh your credit cards to a trusted friend, preferably a Scorpio or Pisces. Instead, splurge on creativity at work — skills needed just happen to be your greatest gifts. Show them off as only a Leo can. A little kindness goes a long way at home.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22
It's time for change Virgo and you have to do what you hate most — make choices. Work situations depend on your logical thinking. But don't resolve matters of the heart using the same means. Follow your feelings to find truth in relationships. Get in touch with your feelings.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23
Have you lost touch with old friends? You have only yourself to blame. Instead of feeling sorry for yourself, use this week to get in touch. Write letters and plan social activities. Delegate responsibilities at work and treat yourself to a long weekend. A romantic encounter on Saturday kicks off next week right.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22
Take a break from pressing commitments in the romance department. You're going through the motions lately without knowing what you want. Find out. Use free time to exercise, it will help clear your mind. Money looks great midweek. Social gatherings suit your mood.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21
Money takes second priority to nothing this week. Quality time at home starting on Tuesday will help replenish your good attitude and keep your cashflow out of harm's way. Have you been putting off household chores? This week's a perfect time to get them done.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20
You may as well call your co-workers friends this week, because you'll be spending a lot of time with them in and out of the office. A company party means new introductions. Business lunches invite new opportunities on Thursday. Caution — don't bite off more than you can chew.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18
Confused about romance? Stop playing games. If you focus on specific goals, you can achieve them. Define new boundaries and don't let a self-involved Leo side-step you out of them. Months of financial planning pay off this week. Don't be afraid to treat yourself.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20
Hold tight to emotions this week. Your logical business side is in demand. At home, an over-indulgent Capricorn turns to you for some investment advice. Your word becomes law to this lost soul, so share your knowledge freely, but be sure you know all the facts.

Performance of Vivaldi planned for Short Hills

The first American performance of Antonio Vivaldi's "Beatus Vir" will be given Dec. 10 by the Rutgers University Chorus and Chamber Orchestra, Newark campus, as part of Vivaldi Fest II.

The festival concert also will include "Magnificat in G Minor" and "Concerto in A Minor for Two Violins and Orchestra," as well as several seasonal selections. The Sunday performance will take place at 7:30 p.m. in St. Rose of Lima Church, 50 Short Hills Ave. in Short Hills.

The Vivaldi Festival will open Monday with a lecture titled "Vivaldi and Bach: Injustice, Rehabilitation and Plagiarism," by J. Kenneth Wilson, professor of musicology and music theory at Rutgers-Newark. The discussion, which is free and open to the public, will be at 4 p.m. in Rutgers' Dana Library at 185 University Ave. in Newark.

Vivaldi Fest II will conclude at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 13, when selections from Sunday's full concert will be repeated in an abbreviated performance on the Rutgers-Newark campus. Exhibit brings 'humor' to center

"Humor and Whimsy" is an art exhibit that takes aim at the funny-bone. The work of four artists aiming to amuse will hang at the Watchung Arts Center from Saturday through Dec. 30.

Jane Freman's miniatures at first appear to be accurate scale models, until you look closely and realize that odd bits of "junk" make up the work. Orthodontic molds become subway tunnels, parts of Bic lighters become turnstiles, screws become elegant candle holders. Some of her pieces capture the ambiance of her TriBeCa neighborhood, while others have a Rube Goldberg look to them. They force the viewer to study them, smiling as familiar objects are recognized among the details.

Bob Leibow also uses odd objects to fashion his art. But his canvas may be a computer circuit board or an old suitcase. These are turned into abstractions of life, expressing feelings and relationships, perhaps searching for meaning. The New Milford artist said he "feels like a demented doctor, constantly operating" in an attempt to bring meaning to the assortment of parts in his collection. Some of his recent work involves "dirt casting," a nature-based art he is pioneering.

Warren's Jace Turner has an impish approach to his work, drawing attention to everyday objects through an exaggerated 3-D perspective. Some give the image of a photographic reality, while others appear to be in motion. Viewers pause for a second look, trying to understand how their eyes were fooled. Turner can turn a pencil or a milkshake into an illusion that stops people in their tracks, with detail, texture and depth spanning the void between two and three dimensions.

When Marjorie Weinberg's "Fun Covers" were introduced, the Smithsonian commissioned exclusive custom designs for their museum shops. The unique three dimensional paper constructions became "one of the hottest items in the industry" according to UPI. The Teaneck artist now constructs non-rectangular forms, using odd materials for unusual surface tensions and accents.

This four-person show is part of a monthly exhibit series, encompassing both galleries, two crafts displays and the sculpture lobby at the Watchung Arts Center. The non-profit center also sponsors frequent concerts and theatrical presentations that bring in hundreds of visitors.

Many visitors elect to become members. For modest annual dues, members receive a monthly newsletter, discounts on certain event tickets and other benefits. Artist members have an additional incentive: a members-only show each year, plus opportunities to plan and manage the monthly shows and exhibit off site. Information may be requested by calling 753-0190, leaving a message outside of office hours.

The exhibit will be open during gallery hours, every day except Sundays from 1-4 p.m. There is no admission charge.

The artists — Jane Freeman, Bob Leibow, Jace Turner and Marjorie Weinberg — will be present at the public reception on Dec. 10, from 1-4 p.m. The gathering offers an opportunity to meet the artists and discuss their work. Each displayed piece is available for purchase too.

The Watchung Arts Center serves all of Central Jersey from its perch overlooking the Watchung Circle. It is just a mile from either Interstate 78 (exit 40) or Route 22 (Plainfield overpass), with free parking adjacent to the building or at nearby municipal lots.

HEALTH/FITNESS & MEDICINE

'Senior Day' to include discussion on arthritis

"Living with Arthritis," a presentation for area seniors, will be featured at "Senior Day" at the Blue Cross Blue Shield Health Center at 16 Commerce Dr. in Cranford today from 10 a.m. to noon.

Ruth Silvey, a senior and an arthritis victim, will be the guest speaker. She is trained as a "patient partner" to speak with other seniors about arthritis.

"Today arthritis in one of its many forms afflicts an estimated 40 million Americans," said Silvey, who suffers from osteoarthritis, a form of the disease common among seniors and marked by degenerative changes in the joints.

"To avert disability, avoid quackery and obtain the best available care for patients," she added. "It is crucial to understand the nature of arthritis and how it can be treated."

Among the subjects she will cover are the major forms of arthritis, including osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis; identifying arthritis symptoms; the importance of seeking medical help promptly; preventing arthritis with exercise and nutrition; and arthritis treatments — what works and what doesn't.

There will also be tours of the center and opportunities to meet physicians and medical staff. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey representatives will be on hand to answer questions on Medicare benefits and Medigap supplement policies. For reservations and more information, call (800) 784-6222.

"Senior Day" is part of a continuing series of events planned at the center by the Medigap Division of BCBSNJ to provide seniors with information on health care and health-related subjects, said Ron Tanasy of the BCBSNJ Medigap Division.

The Cranford health center is one of 12 BCBSNJ centers throughout the state. It offers consumers one-stop convenience in a range of primary care services provided by a team of personal care physicians and medical staff. Anyone can become a patient of the center, even if they have a health insurer other than BCBSNJ.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey, with headquarters in Newark, is the state's largest health insurer, providing coverage to more than 1.8 million New Jerseyans. In 1993, BCBSNJ began implementing a strategy to become a total managed care company and introduced HMO Blue as its premier managed care coverage.

Carrier meets independent's standards

As more American workers, employers and retirees choose managed health-care plans, employers and consumers are turning to the standards set by the National Committee for Quality Assurance as a guide. Leading managed care companies, such as U.S. Healthcare, see NCQA ratings and HEDIS "report cards" as an important tool for comparing plans, as well as a way to raise the standards by which all plans are evaluated.

"U.S. Healthcare has been at the forefront of setting and developing quality managed care standards for nearly 20 years," said Neil Schlackman of U.S. Healthcare. "Using the independent analysis of NCQA, employers and consumers can see that U.S. Healthcare is an industry leader simply by comparing our NCQA accreditation status and HEDIS data with other plans." In New York and New Jersey, U.S. Healthcare received full NCQA accreditation in 1991, the first managed care company to do so. U.S. Healthcare is the only health plan in both New York and New Jersey to earn full, three-year accreditation, the highest, rating the NCQA awards.

Based in Washington, NCQA is the country's leading independent review organization for managed care plans. The group promotes improvements in the quality of patient care through managed care health plans, while developing and applying oversight processes and measures of performances for the plans. NCQA is committed to providing information on quality to the public, consumers, purchasers, health plans and other relevant parties.

NCQA accreditation decisions are based on a lengthy, independent evaluation process with more than 50 standards in six major areas: quality improvement, provider credentialing, utilization management, members' rights and responsibilities, preventive health services and medical records. Of the country's more than 550 managed care companies, only 224 have undergone NCQA accreditation. Of those which have applied, only 33 percent have achieved full accreditation. As a result, only 11 percent of all HMOs in the country have achieved full NCQA accreditation.

"NCQA's accreditations standards and HEDIS report cards provide a concise set of benchmarks by which to evaluate a health plan," said Schlackman. "NCQA asks the questions an informed consumer would ask: How does the plan select doctors? Are they proactive and responsive to members? NCQA assesses the access to health care and the quality throughout the entire system."

Companies use NCQA data to choose the health care plans they offer to employees. Consumers can also use NCQA accreditation status to compare different plans or to help their employers decide which plans to offer.

A number of major companies, including Xerox and General Motors, require NCQA accreditation for their employees' managed care plans. These employers understand that quality is best measured by independent, objective standards based on real data. The number of plans applying for accreditation is expected to increase as more employers require the NCQA rating. In addition, some states require NCQA accreditation in order to certify managed care programs.

"Our high NCQA ratings and accreditation in New York and New Jersey demonstrate that U.S. Healthcare meets and exceeds the industry's highest standards and illustrate our commitment to delivering and improving quality care," said Sal J. Uglietta of U.S. Healthcare. "Employers and consumers can see that we have superior results for child immunization, cholesterol and mammography screenings and a host of other quality benchmarks. In fact, U.S. Healthcare is the only managed care plan to publish a quality report card for its Medicare plan."

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. DONALD ANTONELLI CHIROPRACTOR

THE HEALING ART

Have you ever stopped to think about the healing art and what it means? It's not magic, but it IS method. Doctors of chiropractic use the natural health method, based on many decades of scientific observation. Like other branches of the healing arts, chiropractic is both an art and a science.

A normally functioning nervous system is vital to good health. All of the structures and cells in your body depend on impulses carried by your nervous system. When these impulses travel uninterrupted, your organs and cells are able to function normally. But when there is interference, either too much or not enough nerve supply, your tissues and organs cannot function properly. This may make your body more prone to disease and other bodily ills.

The most delicate and important organs of the nervous system are located in your brain and spinal column. Although the spine supports and helps protect these vital nerves, any misalignment may cause interference with the flow of nerve impulses. That's why doctors of chiropractic concentrate in this area.

Nutrition hotline

Questions about nutrition and foods can be difficult to answer, so the American Institute for Cancer Research has established a toll-free hotline to provide answers to consumers' questions about nutrition.

"Researchers are finding that 40-60 percent of all cancers are linked to our diets," said Christine Murray, vice president for education at the American Institute for Cancer Research. "That's why the Nutrition Hotline is so important. This free service provides answers to vital nutrition and health questions."

Calls to the AICR Nutrition Hotline are returned within 48 hours by a registered dietician who can provide personalized answers to questions related to diet and health, but not medical advice.

The toll-free hotline numbers is (800) 843-8114. The hotline is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Guide to dental care

A new booklet on dental care expenses is available to help patients find affordable care.

The Cost Containment Research Institute in Washington has published the 32-page booklet, titled "Free & Low Cost Dental Care." The booklet gives information on how and where to get free and low-cost dental care.

"We've published a state-by-state listing of all the programs across the country that offer free and low-cost dental care. These programs are available to all kinds of people, often regardless of your income level," said Heather Kerrigan, director of the institute.

Consumers can receive a copy by sending $2 to cover postage and handling to: Shipping Center Dept. DB-926, Free & Low Cost Dental Care, P.O. Box 462, Elmira, NY 14902-0462.

Self-help group

Eating disorders are serious problems. Sufferers can become medically ill, require medical hospitalization and even die. A free self-help group for persons with anorexia nervosa, bulimia, and compulsive eating problems will meet weekly through the end of January at 514 South Livingston Ave. in Livingston.

To register or receive free information, counseling, and referrals, call the New Jersey Eating Disorders Helpline at (800) 624-2268.

New practice

Orchard Park Foot Health Centre of Union is opening a new treatment facility at 1705 West Brigantine Ave. in Brigantine.

The practice, started by Jerome J. Erman in 1948, has provided the highest standard of medical treatment for foot ailments in north New Jersey. The degree of patient satisfaction has encouraged Erman and David Erman to open an office in southern New Jersey.

The original treatment Center in Union will continue to serve area patients under the direction of two doctors, who will consult on a regular basis to ensure all patients receive the full benefit of their 50 plus years experience.

Reference book released

Coleman & Pellet will direct a public relations campaign for the 50th anniversary of "Physicians' Desk Reference," a best-selling prescription drug reference published by Medical Economics of Montvale.

"The half-century PDR story is a great one to have the opportunity to tell," said David Santoriello, group supervisor responsible for the assignment. "The growth of the book reflects the rise of the pharmaceutical industry, a key area of specialization for our firm."

Coleman & Pellet's venture into medical publishing began in 1992, when the firm was hired by pharmaceutical company Merck & Co. to promote the 16th edition of the "Merck Manual," a reference text of medical disorders. This year, the firm launched the "Merck Manual of Geriatrics," a reference text about care for the elderly.

Coleman & Pellet is a full-service public relations firm based in Union. Among its other health-care clients are Johnson & Johnson, Hoffman-La Roche Inc., Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, and the New Jersey Health Products Council, the trade association for the pharmaceutical industry in the state.

Speedy Car Wash outshines the rest

It's located in an industrial area on Lehigh Avenue — not exactly the kind of place you might expect to find a car wash; but somehow the Speedy Car Wash has managed to do quite nicely over the past 20 years.

"The thing that's been interesting is that there's no other commerce on the street," said owner Gene Rooney, "but there are people who go far out of their way to come to us."

According to Rooney, who has operated the business for the past 20 years, the customer receives the best possible service at a reasonable price.

At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $2 less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged $7 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

Rooney, though, at his totally "brushless" operation, provides more than just a lower price, while providing personalized service in what can be a very impersonal, high volume business.

In addition, the Speedy Car Wash offers free, self-service mat washing equipment, something many other car washes dispense only for an extra charge. Speedy also offers coin-operated, self-service vacuum cleaners.

Rooney always keeps his equipment up to date, replacing washing equipment as part of an ongoing commitment to giving the best wash for the money.

"There's no equipment in the world that will do an absolutely perfect wash," he explained, adding, however, that a little extra effort can produce a superior service.

At Speedy Car Wash, Rooney's employees take time to wash off excess dirt from every vehicle before it even enters the conveyor — and the workers must greet each customer courteously because it is their job to do so.

When the car wash is not operating, Rooney is still busy keeping all equipment in working order.

"We've really done a lot of maintenance on our equipment," he said. "I think that our assemblage of equipment is superior to most other car washes in the area."

Real estate board advances on the information highway

You can hardly pick up a newspaper, go to a bookstore or tune into a newscast without seeing or hearing about the Information Highway.

"We are moving from a decade of entertainment to the age of information," said Lawrence Greenman, former vice president of news at NBC. "Consumers are becoming more informed every day. Today's consumers want to be involved with the products and services they purchase," he said.

As technology advances, it becomes increasingly important for companies and organizations to maintain and build relationships with their customers. The interactive environments of the Information Highway is ideally suited for this purpose. It complements and satisfies the desire of today's consumers for information and to be interactive with companies, organizations, products and services, as well as each other.

Like many organizations, the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, now in its 85th year, has recognized its evolving role as an information resource for its members and their customers. "In the 1800s, all one needed to establish a homestead was an adventurous spirit and a fast horse to take them to the frontier," said Pearl Theise, board president and one of the originators of HomeSteadNet North Jersey. "Today, having information is the key to not only selecting the right home, but also maintaining it."

"Getting that information is often difficult and time consuming," added

Donald MacCoy, board executive vice president. "We recognized the need for important information to be easily accessed. That understanding led us to put local real estate ads and community information on the Information Highway."

HomeSteadNet is the nation's first comprehensive on-line bulletin board for real estate professionals and consumers. Developed by a subsidiary of the Greater Rochester Association of Realtors, HomeSteadNet, now a nationally recognized on-line service, offers thousands of real estate previews, plus mortgage information, real estate statistics, vacation rentals, e-mail, forums, home improvement articles and a shopping center, to name just a few.

Although a number of on-line computer networks, including America's On-Line, Prodigy and CompuServe, provide real estate news, HomeSteadNet is far more comprehensive in emphasizing important localized information and property reviews.

HomeSteadNet's Home and Property Preview section enables consumers to preview their home at the touch of a button. No more driving all over town to see numerous listings. At their Realtor's office, or in the comfort of their own home, buyers can search by town, price range or number of bedrooms. The Home and Property Preview provides valuable information and up to four photographs of the property. Open house schedules appear for each weekend starting on Friday, so visits to properties can be planned.

"HomeSteadNet makes it truly convenient for customers to locate the property they are looking for," said MacCoy. "They have an opportunity to survey the towns in detail through the Community Profile section. We spent months acquiring this information and data and we believe it is the only source to be found with such a complete form, and we are making it available as a public service without charge."

HomeSteadNet gives anyone with a computer and modem easy access to information about financial planning, home inspection and a number of other professional services that relate to the enjoyment of a home. Consumers have free access to legislative updates, public policy and environmental issues. Board members can also access their member newsletter and other communications from their local and statewide organization via the on-line service.

Maneuvering some new technologies can be complicated and frustrating. HomeSteadNet, on the other hand, was designed for the ordinary person, not the computer wizard. It is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week, without charge. Free floppy disks are available upon request and will be mailed to anyone. The software to access HomeSteadNet is also available through the Internet with an address: SS*http://bc.cybernet.net/~seehomes/hsn.html. Another method of acquiring the software is through a BBS communications program using (201) 763-0800 as the dial-in.

Associates awarded top office sales

Two sales associates in Union County were recently awarded top sales for their offices in September at The Prudential New Jersey Realty Degnan Boyle Division, according to an announcement made by William O. Keleher Jr., president of the East Brunswick-based real estate firm.

Winners included Linden resident Angie Pettinari and Scotch Plains resident Freya Davidson.

Pettinari, a sales associate from the Union office, has been associated with the real estate industry for more than two years and already has achieved million dollar status. She is a certified homemarketing and homefind specialist. Pettinari is a member of the Greater Eastern Union County Board of Realtors. She can be reached at The Prudential New Jersey Realty Degnan Boyle Division Union office at (908) 353-4200.

Davidson, a sales associate from the Westfield office, has been a real estate professional for more than 12 years. A consistent million dollar producer, Davidson had received membership into the Near Million Dollar Sales Club at the Bronze Level. She is

H&R Block granted lease in Linden

Jacobson, Goldfarb & Tanzman Associates, the full-service commercial real estate firm, recently arranged an industrial transaction in Linden, announced JGT Senior Vice President Dan Frankel.

Negotiated by JGT brokers, the transaction is the lease to H&R Block for space at the Stiles Circle Associates Building, located at 1025 West Saint Georges Ave.

Associate Vice President Walter Daly arranged for H&R Block, an income tax center, to lease space at the 50,000 square foot Stiles Circle Associates Building. The facility is situated on Route 27 and Saint Georges Avenue, offering easy access to Route 1, the Garden State Parkway and New Jersey Turnpike. H&R Block chose this building because of its prime location and ample parking.

Both the lessee, H&R Block, and lessor, M. Gordon Construction-Stiles Circle Associates, were represented by JGT.

Escort's popular One Price plan continues for 1996. Any LX model — three-, four-, five-door or wagon — is available at the same Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price. Air-conditioning, AM/FM stereo radio with digital clock rear window defroster, power steering and remote-control side mirrors are included.

All 1996 Crown Victoria models offer four new exterior paint selections, and the interior trim is now available in Cordovan. A new four-spoke steering wheel has a convenient center-blow horn.

Ford meets many customer needs with their '96 lineup

The five-passenger Ford Contour enters its second year with a number of improvements aimed at enhancing its reputation for performance, handling, technology — and meeting customer wants.

One key change increases the knee room for rear-seat passengers. The backs of the two front seats in the new Contour have a scooped design, which adds one full inch of knee room for those sitting behind them.

And to improve the operation of the interlock that prevents the automatic transmission from being moved out of "park" unless the brake is applied, the system's electronics have been modified.

Support group for cancer patients formed

The Essex Unit of the American Cancer Society, in conjunction with the Essex Oncology Group, is sponsoring a free program called Make Today Count, a support group for cancer patients, their families and friends. Meetings will be on the third Tuesday of every month from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Essex Oncology Group, 36 Newark Ave., Suite 304, Belleville. To register, call Denise Johnstone at 751-5757.

Contour continues to be powered by a choice of technologically sophisticated, low-maintenance engines — the 170-horsepower, 2.5-liter, 24-valve DOHC Duratec V-6 or the 125-h.p., 2.0-liter, 16-valve DOHC four-cylinder Ztec engine. The V-6 has a 100,000-mile tune-up schedule under normal driving conditions with regular fluid and filter changes. For 1996, the electronic controls for the engines have been modified to meet the more stringent emission requirements for all 1996 cars.

The convenient fold-down rear seat, which has been standard on the sporty SE and top-of-the-line LX, now will be available on the GL model around the middle of the year. Tilt column steering also will be available later in the model year. There are five new colors for 1996 — Willow Frost Clearcoat Metallic, Toreador Red Clearcoat Metallic, Pacific Green Clearcoat Metallic, Black Clearcoat and Desert Violet Clearcoat Metallic.

Contour's long list of safety elements includes a standard dual air bag supplemental restraint system and optional All-Speed Traction Control.

Ford Motor Company adds a significant new environmental dimension to its automotive product lineup for 1996 with a Ford Crown Victoria model that runs on natural gas instead of gasoline. Natural gas is clean-burning and produces near-zero emissions.

Ford expects to sell about 4,000 of the limited-production natural gas vehicles, NGVs, in the United States and Canada to municipal, law enforcement and commercial fleet customers. The compressed natural gas is stored in a series of four cylindrical tanks on the Crown Victoria NGVs. Two of the cylinders, which resemble scuba divers' air tanks, are located under the body where the gasoline tank ordinarily is located; the other cylinders are tucked into a small area of the exceptionally large trunk.

The NGVs are powered by a variation of the 4.6-liter V-8 engine found in other Crown Victoria models. The NGV engine has been modified to be compatible with natural gas. Both the engine and the standard four-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission have been refined for 1996 for improved performance.

All 1996 Crown Victoria models offer four new exterior paint selections, and the interior trim is now available in Cordovan. A new four-spoke steering wheel has a convenient center-blow horn.

A more sophisticated electronic controller that refines engine operation is among the technological improvements on the Ford Escort for 1996. The new EEC-V module makes millions of calculations and adjustments every minute, ensuring more efficient and precise operation of the standard 1.9-liter engine. An optional 1.8-liter, 16-valve, four-cylinder engine also is available.

Thanks to new platinum-tipped spark plugs, the 1.9-liter engine can go 100,000 miles before its first scheduled tune-up, under normal driving conditions and with regular fluid and filter changes.

An integrated child safety seat, introduced during the 1995 model year, may be ordered on all 1996 Escort LX sedan and wagon models. It is the first of its kind built into a fold-down seat. An interlock prevents its use unless the fold-down rear seat is fully latched. The child seat also features retractable safety belts, eliminating the need for manual belt readjustments with different-sized children.

In addition, 1996 Escort safety belts have a new cinch mechanism for securing aftermarket child safety seats.

Other changes for 1996 include a free sports appearance package that will be available for four-door sedan and five-door hatchback models. This package features aluminum wheels and a liftgate spoiler.

Escort's popular One Price plan continues for 1996. Any LX model — three-, four-, five-door or wagon — is available at the same Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price. Air-conditioning, AM/FM stereo radio with digital clock rear window defroster, power steering and remote-control side mirrors are included.

Ford Aspire continues to demonstrate that there can be more to a subcompact car than great fuel economy. Both the three- and five-door versions of the 1996 Aspire hatchback provide a surprising amount of interior room and are fitted with some of the most-wanted safety features.

Safety elements include a standard dual air bag supplemental restraint system and on the five-door model, childproof rear-door locks. Anti-lock brakes also are available.

The source of Aspire's power and excellent fuel economy is a peppy 1.3-liter, four-cylinder engine with sequential fuel injection. The Aspire engine delivers an EPA-estimated mileage of 36/42 mpg metro/highway. A five-speed manual overdrive transmission is standard, and a three-speed automatic is available.

Aspire's interior is designed to carry four adults. The rear seat can be folded down when additional luggage or cargo space is needed. With the seat down, the three-door model has nearly 38 cubic feet of cargo space, and the five-door has 41 cubic feet.
