Freeholders opposed to new Avenel facility

Board considers joining Woodbridge in suing state

By Mark Hrywna
Regional Editor

A proposed Special Treatment Unit bordering Rahway for violent sexual offenders has spurred the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to explore joining a lawsuit to force the state to reconsider the site.

The $22-million, 300-bed treatment unit on the grounds of East Jersey State Prison in the Avenel section of Woodbridge would house violent sexual offenders from all 21 counties in the state who have served their prison terms but are not ready to re-enter society.

Although the facility still requires approval by the Legislature, Woodbridge Mayor James McGrovey said, his township plans to file a lawsuit when and if that approval comes. Officials believe that with two correctional facilities already in Woodbridge, it is an unfair burden for the area. East Jersey State Prison and the Adult Diagnostic Treatment Center hold almost 3,000 individuals combined.

A third facility, freeholders said, would present "an inequitable, wrongful strain on existing impeded services, roads, water and sewer lines, while jeopardizing the safety and quality of life" for residents in the area.

McGrovey, who lost in a bid for governor in 1997, said it's a "matter of fairness and proportionality." Woodbridge is the only municipality in the state with two correctional facilities. The state Building Authority must hold a public hearing on the proposal which is scheduled for Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. in Woodbridge High School.

"We do not quarrel with the need for such a facility somewhere in New Jersey," Middlesex County Freeholder Director David Crabel said. "We strenuously quarrel, however, with the contention by the Whitman administration that it is somehow fair and prudent to locate such a facility in Woodbridge."

"We strongly urge that the new facility be located in a different county."

"The simple fact is Woodbridge Township and Middlesex County are already doing our share, and more," Crabel said.

"We have an obligation to our residents to determine whether or not a

Committee will study open space trust fund

By Mark Hrywna

A committee will study and evaluate the feasibility and financial impact of a Union County open space trust fund for the November 2000 general election. The ad-hoc committee will make a recommendation to the freeholder board by the end of the year.

"While the county has certainly made a commitment to open space," Freeholder Linda Stender said, "I think the next step is to at least study" an open space trust fund.

"In light of our track record and the public discussion on the parks master plan, which will begin next month," Stender said, "we felt it best to gather and share as much information as possible before deciding on the referendum issue."

Open space trust funds, established by nearly all New Jersey counties and nearly a hundred municipalities, are approved by voters via public referendum. Scotch Plains will have a township trust fund on November's ballot.

Paul Sanderson, president of the Lohanoka Group of the New Jersey Sierra Club, which represents Morris and Union counties, said "voters appreciate open spaces and tend to approve" trust funds when they're put on the ballot.

Stender said the committee will seek input from people throughout Union County and it will be bipartisan. Henry Ross, president of the Union County Alliance, will chair the ad hoc committee. Other members are Westfield Councilman Carl Salisbury, former Hillsdale mayor Ralph Millner, Summit Council president Henry Ogden and Elizabeth Brody of Roselle.

Retail Skills Center trains people for megamall employment

By Michelle Rungo
Staff Writer

Looking to explore what the world of retail can do to boost your income? Providing Union County residents with an opportunity to obtain employment at the Jersey Gardens Value Megamall opens in October is one ongoing objective of the Retail Skills Center currently located at the Elizabeth campus of Union County College.

The Retail Skills Center has been designed to serve some of the merchants that have signed on at Jersey Gardens. Merchants like The Gap, Oshman's, Bahana Republic, Kenneth Cole, Marshall's and over 180 retail stores ranging from Adidas, Menswear to Zales Outlets who will be looking for at least 5,000 employees to serve their customer's needs.

"The whole idea of a retail skills center is getting such a tremendous response that over 1,500 applicants took advantage of the job fair on Aug. 19 and 20," said Daniel Sullivan, executive director of the Elizabeth Developmental Company, the quasi-governmental agency responsible for creating new businesses and getting them off the ground in the city.

The Retail Skills Center, Sullivan said, is scheduled to open a site within the confines of the vast megamall next to the mall management office on Sept. 10 and will operate initially between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. with orientation for new trainees every Monday morning.

Currently, classes are staged at the Elizabeth campus of Union County College.

"We encourage everyone looking for a job to take advantage of this center which is operating in partnership with state and local governments, mall developers and managers, the local retail community and the National Retail Federation," Sullivan said.

Sarah Conrad, Retail Skills Center coordinator, said the center will match merchants with well-trained and qualified job applicants, a task the center excels at since they provide the "foundation and employability skills necessary to place residents in retail positions."

"As trainers we provide our participants with the knowledge and interviewing skills they need to obtain employment at the Jersey Gardens Value Megamall in Elizabeth," said Conrad.

"We've already offered a course called 'Step up Training' sort of a crash course for Elizabeth residents to gain the confidence they displayed at the job fair last week which was a huge success."

New trainees at the center can expect self-paced computer, text, and multi-media instruction; workshops on specific areas in retail and customer service; internships in a variety of companied and positions; mentored learning, counseling and support services; job bank and placement service; academic instruction and remedial support; language and diversity training; secondary school completion; college courses and credit for experiential learning; assessment of skills based on national criteria and customized training for retail companies and groups.

"As trainers we have an opportunity to give back to the community and to help people make the transition from home to work," said Betty Ruf, special projects coordinator.

As mayor, J. Christian Bollwage has been integral to ensuring that the development of the Retail Skills Center served Elizabeth residents best by giving them their first crack at all training workshops. Bollwage has been working on bringing the Retail Skills Center to fruition since last spring when he attended seminars to learn how best to implement the project.

A commercial was filmed Monday to inform Union County residents on how they can take advantage of what the skills center offers and interested residents can call Conrad at (908) 436-3005, ext. 214 to sign up for the next session.

"Several residents have already secured jobs from our attendees at last week's job fair at the Winfield Scott Hotel and The Gap is cutting back on their scheduled advertising since the response was so great," Sullivan said. "All the employers are impressed with the retail knowledge Retail Skills Center participants exhibit."

"The response has been tremendous, averaging 75 calls a day at our 1-877-JOB-LINE and more than 200 people have completed the full length skills training sessions," said William O'Dea, EDC organizer.

"This is the most aggressive governmental recruitment training effort I have witnessed in my 15 years of developmental experience."

Another case made for getting rid of county-level government

By Mark Hrywna
Regional Editor

The elimination of county government would help reduce spiraling property taxes. At least that's the opinion of one former Union County mayor. Edward Robinson, who served as mayor of Cranford in 1983 and 1992, came before the freeholders last week to ask that they consider dismantling county government.

"I know I won't live to see it happen in my lifetime," said Robinson, about the elimination of county government. "But I think county government should be dismantled."

Municipal budgets are loaded with fixed costs, Robinson said, while the public's emphasis on education coupled with teachers' tenure and a strong labor union, make school budgets difficult to contain.

He questioned the need for nine freeholders, a county police squad and a county shade tree commission. Only four of the state's 21 counties have a county police squad. And while two of the four are considering eliminating their police forces, Robinson questioned the need for a proposed $15-million renovation of the Union County Police Headquarters on North Avenue in Westfield.

Robinson, who served on the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority for seven years and its chairman in 1998, said every municipality has empty courtrooms where civil cases could be heard instead of at the crowded county courthouses.

"This is not about politics, that's why I came to you in August," Robinson told the freeholders at their meeting last week. He said he has proposed the same thing to Republican-controlled freeholder boards in the past.

"Take this seriously and don't just dismiss it. I know you're comfortable and I'm sure you do a good job," Robinson told the freeholder board, "but think about it. Don't just control costs-but-look-to-cut-costs."

In his state of the city speech in January, Republican Summit Mayor Walter Long advocated the elimination of county government.

Officials unhappy with state's selection

(Continued from Page B1) fair siting process was followed and whether or not the impact on Woodbridge and Rahway was adequately considered," Union County Freeholder Chairman Nicholas Scutari said.

"I can't be tolerated without some input from local officials and without details; we can't stand for that," Scutari said. He has asked the County Council to report back to the freeholder board at its first meeting next month, Sept. 9.

McGreewy said the township conducted a meeting with state Department of Corrections Commissioner Jack Torhune where the commissioner publicly committed to working with the township based on "an open and honest dialogue."

The mayor said his township was never formally notified. "This is a complete abrogation of integrity by the governor's office. At a minimum, the governor's office should have notified Woodbridge that the Avenel site was chosen.

Department of Corrections spokesman Christopher Carden said an administrative error can be blamed for the miscommunication. Information was released by a low-level state employee, he said, "before we intended to release it but we had every intention of notifying local officials." He declined to comment whether the employee was compensated.

Crabiel labeled the state's proposal "offensive."

"Equally offensive was the vote by the state Commission for Capital Budgeting and Planning when not a single member had the courage to vote no."

After a lengthy process which included looking at three other potential sites, Avenel was chosen as the best one based on several factors, Carden said.

The close proximity of the Adult Diagnostic Treatment Center would allow the treatment unit to share the expertise available at the center. The diagnostic treatment center also has a proven record of safety with no escapes in more than 20 years, he said.

The other three sites being considered were all in southern New Jersey: Chesilhurst, Maurice River and Bridgeton.

The Adult Diagnostic Treatment Center houses inmates convicted of sexual crimes who are still serving their terms. The proposed treatment unit would house "residents," not inmates, who have been civilly committed, according to Carden. They have completed their prison terms but are deemed by the court to have high recidivism and not ready to return to society.

Rahway Mayor James Kennedy said he supports the county's decision to explore a lawsuit against the state. Kennedy said the City Council has a preliminary resolution opposing the site which likely will be approved at the council's next meeting in September.

Donating funds

Anna Lustenberg, manager of external affairs at Bell Atlantic, left, presents a check for $21,192.33 to Dell Raudelunas, chief professional officer at United Way of Union County. Bell Atlantic's annual corporate gift to United Way of Union County will support the nonprofit's mission to increase the organized capacity of people to care for one another by supporting its network of human care services and programs throughout Union County.

Economic development the topic of TV show

The Board of Chosen Freeholders' continuing focus on quality of life and economic development programs is a focus of the latest "Freeholders Forum" television show presented by Union County.

Freeholder Chairman Nicholas Scutari and Freeholder Linda Stender discuss how the freeholder board recently $260,000 in federal grants to advance two major transportation projects, the Routes 1&9 Transportation Development District and the Route 28/South Avenue corridor study. Through these projects, the county will ease traffic congestion, promote mass transit, and encourage economic development and redevelopment.

"The county will combine local efforts into a coordinated growth and transportation management plan," said Stender, a Fanwood resident and chairwoman of the county's Economic Development Committee. "We must emphasize regional approaches and regional solutions."

Stender and Scutari discuss the freeholders' key initiatives in 1999, including: the Freeholder Scholars Program, which provides free tuition to Union County College for eligible students; Downtown-Union County, which offers grants for improvements to local shopping districts; and the Mobile Immunization Clinic, which will help to vaccinate school-age children against childhood diseases.

"The public has really responded to these initiatives. We're addressing issues of importance to the lives of every Union County resident," said Scutari, a Linden resident.

In each biweekly, 30-minute program, Scutari and guests discuss news events and issues affecting the lives of Union County residents. "Freeholders Forum" is made possible through the facilities and technical direction of Union County College.

Entitled "You," the show will air Sept. 5 according to the following schedule:

County should lead the way on regionalization

(Continued from Page B1) budget is as low as it was in 1994, Lapolla said, and challenged Robinson to find a municipality that can say the same.

"There is always room for improvement but we're spending wisely and prudently," the county manager said.

"I think it's foolish to think that if you eliminate county government you'll see a 20-percent decrease in your tax bill," Freeholder Vice Chairman Daniel Sullivan said. If services supported by the county will only go away when the county-level is eliminated, he said, it's "pie in the sky" to think there will be such a reduction.

With more than 600 school boards and 566 municipalities but only 21 counties in the state, Sullivan said, "where do you think the pressure to regionalize should be?" It makes sense to consolidate to the county level, he said.

In almost every state in the country, it is the county that runs the schools, said Sullivan, a former Elizabeth Board of Education member.

"I think Robinson is very sincere, but he is attacking it from the wrong end," Sullivan said.

"I don't see why we should have nine freeholders either, but that's another story."

UCEDC finances first project under bond program

The New Jersey Economic Development Authority and the Union County Economic Development Corporation announced the first financing arranged under a $50-million Bond Partnership Program. The NJEDA has issued $1.6 million of tax-exempt bond financing to benefit the Occupational Center of Union County, Inc. located in Roselle.

The Occupational Center of Union County was established in 1959 as a not-for-profit rehabilitation agency serving individuals with developmental disabilities. The center's primary mission is to provide vocational opportunities through work centering, job placement and supported training.

"The bond monies will be used to accomplish a business goal of stabilizing underlying costs such as the mortgage on two of the three center's buildings," said Mark Lasky, president and chief executive officer of the Occupational Center.

"More importantly, the outgrowth of a stable business translates into the continuation of a four-decade-long history of serving individuals with disabilities. In addition, the bond funds also are available for renovations which will ensure that some of our major improvement projects can become a reality, enhancing the environment for the over 350 employees."

"This innovative program combines the NJEDA's bond financing capacity with the ability of UCEDC to locate businesses and nonprofit organizations seeking low-cost capital for expansion, new investment, and other financial needs," said Anthony Cocca, a chairman of the NJEDA.

"Everyone wins in this combination. The NJEDA gains access to new clients, the UCEDC is able to encourage new investment, and business and nonprofit organizations like Occupational Center of Union County gain access to affordable capital," Cocca said.

A key component in the bond program is the involvement of five major financial institutions: Chase Manhattan Bank, First Union National Bank, Fleet Bank, PNC Bank and Summit Bank. The banks participate by backing the bond issue to make it saleable or by purchasing it and making it a funds available.

The Occupational Center of Union County is receiving $1,612,000 in financing at a fixed rate of 6.22 percent for the first 10 years of the financing, with the rate to reset in the second 10-year period based on a formula tied to the lending costs of PNC Bank, the purchaser of the bond.

According to UCEDC Executive Director Maureen Tihen, UCEDC's role is to coordinate and market the bond program. "This is a great financing option or Union County businesses and nonprofit organizations in that it can make financing available at much as 3.5 percent below traditional market costs for capital."

Approved uses of the capital loaned through the program include acquisition of land or facilities for expansion; construction or reconstruction of facilities; purchase of equipment and machinery; and for not-for-profit organizations, refinancing of existing debt.

The bond partnership program provides financing from a minimum of $1 million to a maximum of $10 million for tax-exempt financing. Depending on eligibility, tax-exempt bond financing may be available to applicants that include manufacturers, assisted-living facilities, and nonprofit organizations; while taxable bond financing is available to such borrowers as well as retail and commercial businesses, service businesses, and businesses engaged in warehouse and distribution operations.

The Occupational Center is among 11 projects approved to date under the partnership and the first to complete its financing.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Union County bond financing program can call (908) 527-1166.

Regional grant awarded to county

Union County commuters and businesses won a significant victory last week with a regional planning agency's approval of redevelopment projects for two of the county's major transportation corridors, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders announced.

The North Jersey Transportation Planning Authority approved $260,000 in federal funds toward creation of a Transportation Development District along the Routes 1&9 corridor of Elizabeth, Linden and Rahway and a redevelopment study for the nine municipality Route 28 corridor between Elizabeth and Plainfield.

"We cannot merely build our way out of traffic congestion. We are investing in redeveloping our existing infrastructure and implementing new, innovative methods of relieving traffic and promoting economic investment," Freeholder Chairman Nicholas Scutari said.

The Route 28 project will study improvements to bus and rail service and development opportunities in the corridor including Plainfield, Fanwood, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Garwood, Cranford, Roselle Park, Roselle and Elizabethtown. The study will be based, in part, on preliminary reviews done in the past two years and ongoing work for the cross county rail link, a Plainfield-Elizabeth-Newark rail project now in the planning stages.

"The county will combine local efforts into a coordinated growth and transportation management plan," said Freeholder Linda Stender, chairwoman of the county's Economic Development Committee.

Union County will form a Technical Advisory Committee with representatives of all nine towns involved, NJTPA, NJDOT and NJ Transit that will hold public hearings on its proposals.

"As a highly developed area, Union County simply has no more room in which to expand its highway system," said Stender, a Fanwood resident. "The reactivation of unused rail lines will ease traffic congestion and promote new economic development throughout the county."

Both the Route 28 and Routes 1&9 projects will identify transit-related development opportunities and target properties for potential development, particularly "brown-fields" or now-unused former industrial properties.

The Routes 1&9 TDD will examine ways to improve traffic flow and promote economic development in the Routes 1&9 corridor and around Port Elizabeth.

Districtwide and site-specific road and development recommendations were included in the Union County Port Master Plan announced in May to chart economic growth in the county's port region.

Healthy Living

Survey indicates most common health questions

The first population-based sex survey in 50 years reveals that sexual dysfunction is a widespread problem. According to an article in a recent issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association, 43 percent of women and 31 percent of men suffer from sexual problems.

The National Health and Social Life Survey was conducted in 1992; participants ranged in age from 18 to 59. Surveyors queried 1,749 women and 1,410 men. Complaints included lack of sexual desire, arousal difficulties, inability to climax, anxiety about sexual performance, climaxing too quickly, physical pain during intercourse and not finding sex pleasurable.

Researchers found three factors associated with sexual dysfunction: emotional or stress-related problems, including traumatic sexual experiences in the past; poor physical health, and poor quality of life. Marital status also played a role — unmarried men and women were more likely to have sexual difficulties. Similarly, low levels of education were associated with problems in the bedroom, particularly lack of pleasure and increased performance anxiety overall.

There are also some differences depending on race or ethnicity.

Black women reported low desire and pleasure, while white women were more likely to complain of pain during intercourse. But Latino women consistently reported lower rates of sexual problems.

In general, researchers found the prevalence of sexual dysfunction tends to decline with age among women. For men, advancing age is associated with increased impotence and declining desire.

The American Council on Exercise recently conducted its annual "Fitness On Call" phone-hotline. More than 1,000 people from 13 to 91 called for one-on-one advice with ACE-certified fitness professionals, doctors, dietitians and physical therapists. These were the five most common queries:

1. "What type of equipment do I need for a home gym?"
You get what you pay for, so invest in the best-quality equipment within your budget, advised personal trainer Dan Trone. Some basic, low-cost equipment includes dumbbells in a variety of weights, an exercise mat, resistance bands and an exercise bench.
On the high end, ACE recommends a treadmill, stationary bike, stair-stepper, rower and/or weight station. Be sure to test-drive any big-ticket exercise equipment before buying.

2. "What's the best way to get my stomach in shape?"
Exercises that target both the lower and side abdominals will make your stomach strong, said Bonnie Kaye, fitness expert for "CBS News Saturday Morning." But be sure to use proper form.

"Above all, understand that no amount of crunches will eliminate the fat most of us carry around our mid-sections," Kaye noted. If you covet washboard abs, you'll need a balanced fitness program of regular aerobic activity, strength training, stretching and a healthy diet.

3. "How can I get started on a strength-training program?"
Proper form and good technique are crucial, said exercise video star and author Karen Voight. If you're new to weight-training, join a gym or schedule a few sessions with a personal trainer to learn the basics.
"Studies have shown that strength training also helps with weight control — the more muscle you have, the more calories you burn even at rest," Voight noted.

4. "How can I get the most out of my walking program?"
Walking is one of the easiest and most popular forms of aerobic exercise.

"Once you have reached a point where you can walk a few miles with relative ease, you can start to vary the intensity," said fitness professional Suzanne Nottingham. Rev up your workouts by walking up hills or picking up the speed.

5. "What's the truth about dietary supplements?"
There's a lot of hype out there, warned clinical dietitian Linda Clark. In fact, "The average exerciser is unlikely to benefit from expensive performance-enhancing supplements," said Gardner. "As for dietary supplements, you should start by eating a healthy, well-balanced diet. Take time to honestly evaluate your diet." The most you're likely to need is an inexpensive multivitamin.

Recreational in-line skating is a dangerous sport — even if you strap on wrist guards, kneecaps and elbow pads. A new study in the Journal of Knee Surgery, Sports Traumatology, Arthroscopy, reveals that 60 percent of in-line skaters have had an injury. Most commonly are injuries to the upper extremities — fractured fingers, wrists, forearms or elbows.

Improper skating technique is to blame for most mishaps. A survey of 1,036 in-line skaters found that just one-fourth could stop immediately and 7 percent were unable to brake at all.

Parental advice now available via medical center hotline

Toll-free (888) 878-KIDS is now the most convenient way for parents, grandparents, teachers, and other caregivers to get instant advice on children's health 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

By calling Atlantic's Children's Medical Center's new Parent Advice Line, parents and other caregivers can access pre-recorded childhood health information on nearly 300 topics, ranging from asthma, bedwetting and burns, to recognizing attention deficit disorder, teenage discipline problems and diaper rash.

"Our Parent Advice Line is an innovative response to parents' need for more and immediate health information about their children," said Dr. Leonard Feld, chairman of pediatrics at The Children's Medical Center, a component of the Atlantic Health System. "It reflects Atlantic's strong commitment to educating, comforting and altering parents and other caregivers to essential childhood health issues and answers."

Atlantic's Children's Medical Center initiated the Parent Advice Line with an educational grant from Pfizer

Healthcare Solutions. Currently, the top three topics parents are seeking counsel on are discipline problems, teenage issues and digestive problems.

"Nearly 4000 calls were made to The Parents Advice Line in the last four months," explained Dr. Feld. "The Advice Line, which is not intended to substitute for medical advice from a family doctor or physician, serves as a quick and confidential resource on general health and behavior-related issues."

The Children's Medical Center

mailed a complete list of Parent Advice Line topics to the homes of thousands of local families. Those who have not yet received the Advice Line mailing can request one by calling (888) 878-KIDS.

The scripts for the Advice Line were written by Dr. Barton Schmidt, a pediatrician and author of a book on telephone medicine. Local pediatricians and parents reviewed the scripts, choosing the ones they felt were most appropriate.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. DONALD ANTONELLI CHIROPRACTOR

SIGNS OF TENSION

How can you tell if you are suffering from nervous tension? There are certain signals you should be aware of that tell you relief is needed from this condition. Talking in a loud voice, raising your voice to a higher pitch, and talking more rapidly than normal may be signs of nervous tension. Do you from more often than usual? Are you irritable and "out of sorts"? And when you lie down to rest, do you have difficulty in falling asleep because of an overall restlessness in your body? Untreated or unrelieved nervous tension may affect your whole body as well as your disposition. It may pull your spine out of alignment, or cause a tightening of the muscles in your neck, back, shoulder and pelvic muscles or your thighs. Nervous tension may cause "insults" to nerve tissue in these areas as well as other parts of your body. This results in aches and pains as well as mental irritation until you get the relief you need to feel well again.

Elizabeth resident recounts history of astronomers' society

"A Union Made in Heaven" — A History of Amateur Astronomers Inc. 1949-1999" will be published in September. This 224-page book written by Roy W.S. Smith of Elizabethtown, a retired executive of Union County College, can be purchased by contacting Anita Glick, Amateur Astronomers Inc., Sperry Observatory, Union County College, Cranford, NJ 07016.

Amateur Astronomers Inc., which was founded on Nov. 14, 1949 in Roselle Park, is one of the largest and most active amateur astronomy organizations in the United States. AAI and Union County College jointly operate the William Miller Sperry Observatory on the College's Cranford campus.

"While recounting the growth of AAI, 'A Union Made in Heaven' is primarily about the people who provided strong and stable leadership that moved the organization forward with the evolving society and with the dynamic advances in the science of astronomy," Smith said. "It is about the men and women who ventured far and near to view and explore solar eclipses and comets, who conducted public viewing of the heavens for school children, senior citizens and those from all segments of the population, and who taught the public about the majesty and mysteries of the universe."

The history of AAI, Smith said, "reveals the triumphs and tribulations of a diverse group of men and women dedicated to the science of astronomy by fostering astronomical education, by providing incentives for astronomical observation and research, and by assisting communication among amateur astronomical societies." He added that it also reveals "the enduring relationship of a society dedicated to the promotion of astronomy and an institution of higher education (Union County College) dedicated to serving the community in cooperation with other agencies." Smith said the Amateur Astronomers Inc., a Union County College partnership, is truly "A Union Made in Heaven."

Amateur Astronomers Inc. met in Roselle Park, Union, Elizabethtown, Cranford and Plainfield before making its home at Union County College in 1961. AAI worked with the college, then known as Union Junior College, to design the William Miller Sperry Observatory built in 1967 with gifts from the late Mrs. Frederick Beinecke and William S. Beinecke, daughter and grandson of William Miller Sperry, a Cranford civic and business leader.

One of AAI's greatest achievements was the design, construction and installation of a ten-inch refractor telescope for the Sperry Observatory dedicated to the memory of Sam Melior, a long-time active member. Whether to build or purchase a 24-inch reflector telescope for the Sperry Observatory led to the greatest AAI. The club decided to purchase the telescope, which was dedicated to Edward T. Pearson, a past president and trustee as well as a long-serving recording secretary.

AAI has gained an international reputation for its solar-observe-expeditions. It has sponsored such trips to Mauritania in 1973; Colombia in 1977; Canada in 1979; Kenya in 1980; Java in 1983; Petersburg, in 1988; Hawaii and Mexico in 1991; Bolivia in 1994, and Aruba in 1998. "A Union Made in Heaven" provides detailed accounts of the expeditions to Mauritania, Colombia, Java and Kenya.

Smith said AAI is also involved in such diverse activities as telescope making, mirror grinding, astrophotography, computing relevant to astronomical research, and extensive educational programs in astronomy, including many in conjunction with Union County College.

Smith, an honorary member of AAI, served on the Joint Observatories Committee comprised of AAI and Union County College representatives to operate the Sperry Observatory from 1967 to 1997. He retired in 1998 after a 41-year career with the college, including a 16-month stint as acting president. He is also the author of "The Remaking of a College: Union County College, 1982-1992," "Tomorrow's Community College" and "The Best of Both Worlds: A History of the Cooperative Nursing Program, 1971-1996."

America's favorite 'auntie' to grace the stage at Paper Mill

Paper Mill Playhouse is proud to open its 1999-2000 millennium season with "Mame," the musical comedy classic with music and lyrics by Jerry Herman, and book by Jerome Lawrence and Robert Jones and choreographed by Michael Luchinfield, begins performances Sept. 8 and runs through Oct. 24.

Based on the novel "Auntie Mame" by Patrick Dennis and the play by Lawrence and Lee, "Mame" follows the antics of a madcap flapper who unexpectedly inherits the guardianship of her ten-year-old nephew. Since the debut in 1955, Mame has become one of the most unforgettable and cherished fictional heroines of the most unforgettable and cherished fictional heroines of the 20th century, rarely has a weak gene without the play or musical being performed somewhere in the world.

"I honestly think that 'Mame' is a forgotten treasure — it's a star vehicle, so it requires a very special leading lady — and Christine's ready for it," says Artistic Director Robert Johnson, regarding actress Christine Ebersole.

The production will also feature Tony Award-winner Kelly Bishop as Vera Charles, Sandy Rosenberger as Agnes Gooch, Paul S. Jacano as Patrick Dennis, age 10, Dan Schiff as Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnside, Tony Romero as Igo, Danette Holden as Gloria Upson and Ken Barnett as Patrick Dennis, age 19-29.

Scenic design for "Mame" is by Michael Anania, costume design by Dagvid Murin and lighting design by F. Mitchell Dana.

"Mame" originally opened at Broadway's Winter Garden Theatre in 1956, starring Angela Lansbury, winning the first of four Tony Awards as Best Actress in a Musical; Beaulieu Arthur, Tony Award; Jane Cornell, Frankie Michaels, Jerry Lansing, Willard Waterman and Sab Shimono. Gene Saks directed, with Onna White choreographing. The production ran 1,508 performances.

Herman's score includes such gems as "We Need a Little Christmas," "Bosom Buddies," "If He Walked Into My Life," "My Best Girl" and of course, the rousing title tune.

The Paper Mill production will also feature Hayes Bergman, Stanley Bojarski, Susan Cella, Peter Cormican, Danette Holden, Jennifer Howard, Peter Hux, Eric H. Kaufman, Matt Lashey, Sara Lepore, Mark Mackay Lusk, Melissa Rae

Mahon, Marianne Marin, William McCauley, Regina O'Malley, Jody Reynolds, Marian Steiner, Laurie Sondheimer, Erin Swanson and David Titus. Herman is an American musical theater icon. He first burst onto the Broadway scene with "Milk and Honey" in 1961, followed by "Hello, Dolly!" in 1964, which won a record-breaking ten Tony Awards including Best Musical. "Mame" won three 1966 Tony Awards. In 1968 with "Dear World," he was one of the few composers/writers to have three musicals running on Broadway simultaneously. Herman continued his Broadway career with "Mack & Mabel" in 1974 and "The Grand Tour" in 1979. He also contributed songs to "A Day in Hollywood/A Night in the Ukraine," "La Cage Aux Folles" won the 1984 Tony for Best Musical. "Jerry's Girls," a revue of his life's work, has played to acclaim on Broadway and around the country. An award-winning revival of "Mack & Mabel" recently played in England. In the spring of 1999, Jerry received a Special Tony Award for Lifetime Achievement, in addition to making his Broadway debut in "An Evening with Jerry Herman." He is currently writing a new musical, "Miss Spectacular," that will have a 2001 premiere in Las Vegas.

For over 50 years, the works of Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee have included: "Look Ma, I'm Dancin'!" "Inherit the Wind," "Auntie Mame," "The Gang's All Here," "Only in America," "A Call on Kuprin," "Diamond Orchid," "Mame," "Dear World," "The Incomparable Max," "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" and "First Monday in October."

Ebersole has previously appeared at Paper Mill in "Paper Moon" and "Shenandoah." Her Broadway credits include "Getting Away With Murder," "The Ziegfeld Follies of 1936," "Lady in the Dark," and "Allegro" at City Center Enclosures; "Oklahoma!," "Camelot," "On the 20th Century," "Harrigan in Hart," "I Love My Wife" and "Anged Street." Television credits include "Ink," "One Life to Live," Emmy nomination; "Saturday Night Live," and "Gypsy."

Bishop makes her Paper Mill debut as Mame's "bosom buddy" Vera Charles. Bishop won a 1976 Best Featured Actress in a Musical Tony Award for her performance as Sheila in "A Chorus Line." Bishop recently appeared in the George Street Playhouse production of "Inspecting Carol." Paper Mill audiences might remember that before Kelly changed her name from "Carol" she appeared in the 1976 production of "The Merry Widow."

Alexis Steak House and Tavern is located on Route 22 in Mountainside.

By ToniAnn Antonelli Staff Writer

If you have an appetite and a craving for the biggest juiciest steaks around, Alexis Steak House and Tavern on Route 22 in Mountainside is just the place you're looking for.

Home of the 24-ounce Delmonico and New York sirloin steaks, Alexis offers high-quality meals at very reasonable prices. The friendly service and atmosphere are also very pleasing from the attentive servers to the bright, cheery dining rooms.

Upon entering the dining room, my dining companion and I felt instantly at ease. Several well-spaced tables adorned with red-checked tablecloths offer plenty of elbow room within the large dining room, which is located several feet away from the bustling bar area. A second dining room, generally reserved for smokers is slightly more intimate, yet offers the same bright, roomy atmosphere.

All diners at Alexis begin with a complimentary bowl of pickles, cherry peppers and fresh cut health salad, which is light and cool and resembles cole slaw.

Diners are then invited to try on of the restaurant's tasty appetizers such as gooey mozzarella sticks, golden chicken fingers and tangy buffalo wings. My companion and I sampled the onion flower, which consisted of a large onion, flamed out to resemble a flower, then battered and fried to sweet crisp perfection. It was served with a dipping sauce that was so tasty, I would have gladly poured it over everything I ate. I also focused on a bowl of hearty french onion soup. The crock of sweet french onions came covered in bubbling mozzarella and Swiss cheese.

For the main course, I selected Alexis' famous 24-ounce Delmonico steak, which was accompanied by a hot baked potato. The unbelievable large, juicy piece of meat was seasoned with a special blend of mild spices and then grilled to perfection. Too far into beef nirvana to think about my cholesterol level, I attempted to eat as much of the steak as possible — no easy task. But given the generous portions served at Alexis, I still had enough food to take home.

My dining companion decided to try Alexis' thick meaty ribs, smothered in a tasty barbecue sauce.

The tavern at Alexis steakhouse, which serves various appetizers, often at discounted prices, is also a wonderful place to kick back and relax after work and on weekends. Happy hour is from 4-7 p.m. on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Friday.

Arts center season to begin during arts, humanities month

Earlier this year, the Union County Arts Center, Rahway's beautifully restored 1928 theater, announced that ticket sales had jumped 248 percent since 1997. In response, the arts center has re-doubled its efforts to bring major stars to central New Jersey for the coming season.

The Union County Arts Center is housed in the former Rahway Theatre, a classic silent film palace that opened its doors on Oct. 16, 1928. Kicking off its eighth decade of programs, the Union County Arts Center welcomes legendary vocalist Al Martino on Oct. 2. Though he had major hits with "Spanish Eyes," "Volare" and others, it may be as Johnny Fontaine in the "Godfather" films that the public knows Martino best.

On Oct. 23, the arts center brings back 50s and 60s supergroups, Billy Guy's Coasters, The Drifters and The Platters. This show, which sold out at the center in 1997, is sure to be a big favorite with audiences as well, as the groups sing hits from "Yakety Yak"

and "Poison Ivy" to "Under the Boardwalk" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

The Headliner series, sponsored in part by Comcast Digital Cable, continues Nov. 13 with R&B diva Roberta Flack, and Dec. 3 with Country superstar Kathy Mattea. With songs like "Killing Me Softly With His Song" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," Flack's reputation as a major force in R&B, pop and dance music was reignited with The Fugee's recent number-one remake of "Killing Me Softly."

Mattea's Grammy and Country Music Award-winning style has brought "Love at the Five and Dime" and "Eighteen Wheels and a Dozen Roses" to audiences worldwide.

Three Dog Night had more top 10 hits than any other artist between 1969 and 1974, and on April 15, they will be bringing "Joy To The World" and "Old Fashioned Love Song," among others, to the Rahway theater. Finally, the 1999-2000 Headliner Series comes to an end May 6 as Las Vegas superstar Wayne Newton performs at the Union County Arts Center. Star of stage, screen and the music world, Newton will be bringing his special brand of entertainment to the big season finale.

Theatergoers will be treated to a revival of the hit Broadway musical "Man of La Mancha." This imaginative and mesmerizing musical tells the tale of Don Quixote, his journey through the Spanish countryside, his battles with giants and other adventures. The score features the hit song "The Impossible Dream" as well as "To Each His Dulcinea" and "I, Don Quixote."

Family audiences will be entertained throughout the season with a variety of programs. Scholastic's "The Magic School Bus" makes a stop in Rahway on Oct. 30 for two performances of "A Bright Idea," their brand new story. Ms. Frizzle and all of her friends try to solve the mystery of a ghost in the theater.

Nov. 7 brings the return of childhood favorite "Winnie the Pooh" in a fun-filled musical celebration. "101 Dalmatians" invade the Union County Arts Center on Jan. 9 for two performances of fun-filled adventure.

On March 11, "Jack and the Fire Dragon," a celebration of folk stories from around the Americas takes over the arts center. As a special Family Week event, get one free child's tickets with every adult ticket purchased for "Jack and the Fire Dragon." Rounding out the Family Series for 1999-2000 is a new musical version of "Black Beauty." Anna Sewell's classic story of Black Beauty, Merrielys, Ginger and their friends.

Fans of classical music will be thrilled by the Rahway debut of the Vienna Choir Boys on Dec. 17. This year marks the second year of the Westfield Symphony Orchestra as the resident orchestra of the Union County Arts Center, and will celebrate with three separate performances on Oct. 9, Feb. 12 and April 1. Join the Plainfield Symphony for its first UCAC appearance on Nov. 21, and The Orchestra of St. Peter, and The Sea makes its annual pilgrimage to Rahway for its Rahway Hospital Foundation benefit on Dec. 8.

A new program this year is the Union County Arts Center's Daytime Diversion series, weekday matinees designed for mature audiences. They offer opportunities for senior groups to use as fund-raisers, outings or just pure entertainment. On Nov. 9 "The Last Swing of the Century" — a celebration of The Ink Spots, Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians and the music of Benny Goodman — makes an appearance at the Union County Arts Center. On Feb. 7, The Glenn Miller Orchestra pays a visit to the arts center. These performances have been priced reasonably, and are available as a package for bus trips.

In addition, the classic film series will return this season, in addition to a number of other special programs or events. Call for more information on any of the programs, or to receive a season brochure, at (732) 499-8226. The Union County Arts Center, a not-for-profit corporation dedicated to presenting the best in the performing arts, is located in the recently restored Rahway Theatre, a 1928 vaudeville and silent film house in downtown Rahway. The arts center is handicapped accessible, and listening devices are available to patrons upon request.

Major support for the arts center and its programs comes from the City of Rahway, Merck & Co., the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County, Comcast Digital Cable of Union and the Rahway Savings Institution.

In addition, tickets will be available online this season through the Web site at www.uccac.org, and through ETM Ticket Kiosks located in the Menlo Park Mall and Edwards Supermarkets.

Regional orchestra continues commitment to arts education

Maestro Masal and the NJ Symphony Orchestra will record their fifth CD on the Decca International label in October 1999. The recording will be a double CD that will include Dvorak's "Requiem" featuring the Westminster Symphony Choir, and Dvorak's Symphony No. 9, "From the New World." The recording sessions will take place at the New Jersey Performing Arts Center and the CD is slated for release in spring 2000.

The NISO continues its commitment to the next generation with a variety of programs. Each year, approximately 50,000 schoolchildren throughout the state experience the NISO's Young People's Concerts — programs that bring students to the NISO in many different performing venues. The program includes two sets of concerts: the fall's Young People's Concerts, which will feature NISO Associate Conductor David Comanday leading the orchestra in music of Dvorak with emphasis on the American influence on his music in a program titled "Dvorak in America," and the spring's Spotlight Concerts, which will feature the Magic Circle Mime Company who will help bring the music of Mozart to life in "The Mozart Experience."

The NISO will continue its highly successful Master Teacher Collaborative program. This program recognizes excellence in teaching by identifying teachers, enlisting them in an expanding network and asking them to share their skills by creating multi-disciplinary lessons for distribution to teachers who bring their students to NISO performances.

The NISO's Young Artist Auditions will be celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 1999-2000. The Young Artists Auditions identify the most gifted and accomplished young musicians in the state, and concludes with four finalists performing at a gala public performance with the full orchestra. The 2000 YAA finals will take place April 9, 2000 at 3 p.m. in Prudential Hall at NIPAC. The winner of the auditions will perform with the orchestra during the 2000-2001 season. The Greater Newark Youth Orchestra is an orchestra training program which provides musical performance opportunities for talented young people in and around Newark. The players are coached by members of the NISO and are led by NISO Associate Conductor David Comanday. The GNYO performs two concerts annually.

The NISO educational programs are supported by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation, the Turrell Fund and the Victoria Foundation. For more information on the NISO education programs, contact Judith Nachison at (973) 624-3713, ext. 216.

Less than one year old, the NISO Community Chorus, under the direction of J. Donald Dumpson, has proven itself to be a versatile ensemble. The Chorus Women will be featured in Holst's "The Planets" with conductor Sergiu Comissiona, and the full chorus will join the Pro Arte Chorus in Mahler's "Resurrection Symphony" and will perform with the NISO on the Orchestra's Pops Series, soon to be announced. "I'm very proud of the chorus," said conductor J. Donald Dumpson. "After the successful performance of Hamibal's 'African Portraits' in November, I believe the future of this chorus to be unlimited."

The NISO is proud to continue to execute its REACH program — Resources for Education and Community Harmony — during the 1999-2000 season. REACH allows NISO musicians, individually or in small groups, to broaden the impact and service of the symphony to New Jersey in a variety of educational, community service and outreach activities.

The NISO plans to offer bus service to performances at the NIPAC from the following locations: Maplewood, Millburn, West Orange, Westfield and Summit. The NISO will also provide bus service for large groups from additional locations. For more information on bus service, contact Carol Schaffer at (973) 624-3713, ext. 214. For group sales contact the NISO Group Sales Hotline at (973) 624-3713, ext. 247.

The NISO has updated its Web site once again to include the announcement of its 1999-2000 season. The site, noted by New Jersey Monthly magazine as "Web site of the month" — December 1998, has an all-new look with many exciting features such as: complete program and subscription information, monthly musical trivia, sound samples of NISO recordings, conductor and musician profiles, program notes, links to many other interesting classical music sites, detailed information on NISO education programs and much more. You can visit the NISO's Web site at www.njsymphony.org.

Concord Singers invites women to join the chorus

Rehearsals will be underway Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, 387 Springfield Ave., Summit, as the Concord Singers begins its fall season. Women of all ages and musical backgrounds are invited to join. On May 23, 1999, the Concord Singers presented its second annual Choral Arts Award to a qualifying student who achieved excellence in the musical and volunteer arena. They send out a special welcome to high school and college students to join this season. Concord Singers will focus primarily on the preparation of Vivaldi's "Gloria" in collaboration with The Newark Boys Chorus School Apprentice Chorus, and under the direction of Michael Sanfilippo, on this piece. As a non-auditioning chorus, they are committed to working together to develop and nurture the talents of individual and the group. The holiday concert will take place on Dec. 18. For more information on membership, contact Janet Murphy at (908) 276-1494.

Orchestra receives funding

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra has received a grant of $700,000 over three years from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to support institutional and artistic initiatives.

The NJSO is one of five U.S. orchestras to receive a multi-year grant from the Mellon Foundation, whose particular interest is in helping orchestras realize a vital and distinctive artistic identity. The Foundation's long-term grant program for symphony orchestras is aimed at helping them strengthen core values, reinforce core activities and improve leadership within the organization.

"The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is proud to have been selected for this prestigious grant," said NJSO Executive Director Lawrence J. Tamburri. "The grant demonstrates a vote of confidence on a national level for our organization. We look forward to working with our board, music director, staff and musicians in furthering the vision of our organization."

The NJSO will focus the use of the grant in five specific areas: artistic growth, board leadership and development, statewide volunteer initiatives, musician/staff development and concert enhancement.

The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation currently make grants on a selective basis to institutions in higher education; in cultural affairs and the performing arts; in population; in conservation and the environment, and in public affairs. Since 1989, the foundation has provided over $22 million in grants to orchestras, primarily for general operations and endowment. In recent years, the foundation has turned its attention to the internal organizational development of American orchestras, primarily as it relates to leadership, the role of the musicians, changing community expectations and programming.

HOROSCOPE

For Aug. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Communicate clearly with your co-workers and avoid a costly misunderstanding. An investment deal consumes you. Lighten up and have fun toward the end of the week.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Social activities are highlighted. Plan a special event with siblings or neighbors. There's some old family business that needs to be settled. Speak from the heart.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Get a sense of a job well-done if you apply yourself wholly. In a fierce competition of mental wis, go beyond your normal range of thought. Express your individuality.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): In a group setting, minor irritations and delays could render you crabby. Rise above. You have a last-chance opportunity to make adjustments in your goals. Keep an eager handy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be especially careful not to be taken for granted. Co-workers will play on your sympathy if you allow them to do so. Find strength in attaining financial freedom.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Small changes in your personal appearance will bring many compliments. Wear a smile and walk away from an argument. Tie up loose ends concerning a coming trip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Your health demands your undivided attention this week. Take care of your physical well-being by avoiding stressful situations and getting the proper amount of rest — and the proper amount of hugs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Take action to get a better position on your job. Sell your best qualities and achievements to someone in authority. Avoid subtle manipulation involving friends and money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Let go of a situation that is ending. You can now grow from it and depart with good feelings. Go back to an old hobby or activity you once enjoyed and find renewed interest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Self-deception is dangerous. Be realistic about your intentions and what you can do within your current limits and position. Delays while traveling are highly probable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You have the energy and endurance to climb mountains. Make the most of this high-powered cycle and sign up for an exercise class or marathon. Stick with a long-term investment.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your mind is strong and active. In a philosophical or political debate, you can't lose. Take advantage of opportunities to advance your career and social standing.

If your birthday is this week, a lot of focus is placed on home and family matters during the coming year. You can no longer hide from issues of your past; it's time for resolution. Rid yourself of any emotional debris that could in any way block your ability to communicate. Avoid compulsive behavior and find a healthy outlet or balance your feelings through relationships.

Also born this week: Daryl F. Cates, Marcia Clark, Robert Shapiro, John Cage, Carol Lawrence, Lily Tomlin, Mark Harmon, Terry Bradshaw, Charlie Sheen, Sam Neill and Damon Wayans.

Exhibition celebrates silver anniversary

The Newark Museum will present the exhibition "Silver Anniversary Selections from the Printmaking Council of New Jersey" in celebration of the council's 25-year history. On view at the Newark Museum through Sept. 26, the juried exhibition represents 22 New Jersey artists with 31 prints, including figurative and mixed-media abstract works.

Visitors to the museum will see works created by a variety of techniques including woodcuts, etchings, photography, monoprints, lithography, drypoint and handmade paper. "I believe that this exhibition offers tremendous insight and perspective on just how sophisticated this art form has become in New Jersey," said Mary Sue Sweeney Price, director of The Newark Museum.

In choosing the work to be included in the show, exhibition juror Miriam Boerman explained, "I tried to select a large variety of printmaking work and looked for originality and uniqueness in the work itself. I chose work that spoke to me personally, with a humanistic, philosophic or strong design element."

Members whose works are featured in the exhibition represent communities throughout New Jersey: Paul Berman, Newark; Cathy Long, Pompton Lakes; Francesca DeMaio, Chatham; Stephen Fox, Ammanleed; Diana Gonzalez Gandolfi, Highland Park; Clarence Matier, Montclair; Janice Metzger, Westfield; Margaret Murphy, Jersey City; Nancy Egot Nickell, Tonaway; Takayo Noda, New York City; Florence Putterman, Selinsgrove, Pa.; Marie Sturken, Princeton; George Taylor, Somerset; Ann Williams, Madison, and Idaherna Williams, Princeton.

New Jersey community centers and landmarks such as the Pine Barrens, Jersey City, the Paterson Falls, Cape May, the Palisades and Newark are incorporated into an original 10-by-100 foot print titled "Journey Through New Jersey." Having carefully documented the making of the giant print, members of the Printmaking Council are in the process of seeking recognition of their accomplishment by the "Guinness Book of World Records."

Admission is free at The Newark Museum, the largest museum and one of the most prestigious cultural institutions in the state of New Jersey. The museum is located at 49 Washington St. in the Downtown/Arts District of Newark.

Newark Museum hours are Wednesdays through Sundays from noon-5 p.m. Thursdays offer evening hours until 8:30 p.m.

The Newark Museum is easy to reach by public transportation and from all area major highways. Adjacent parking is available in the Salsford lot, from which visitors may enter the museum. For general information or directions, call 596-5550, (800) MUSEUM or 596-6355.

A variety of musical styles taught at university

Children of all ages will find the most exciting and comprehensive music programs available at Montclair State University's Preparatory Center for the Arts.

Located in a fully modernized, state-of-the-art facility, the Preparatory Center's faculty is made up of well-trained, professional artists. Beginning with students as young as 2 1/2, children are offered a wide variety of class, lesson and ensemble opportunities from which to choose, including beginning/intermediate string and woodwind ensembles, jazz and rock improvisation, performance workshops and master classes, and group piano, harp, recorder and percussion classes.

Private lessons also are available for all instruments. Children who enjoy being part of a team can try out for the Youth Orchestra of Montclair and Montclair State University's Children's Choir. For those interested in summer studies, the prep offers the Stokes Forest Music Camp and the Summer Jazz and Music Technology workshop.

The Montclair State University's Preparatory Center for the Arts is open seven days a week, year-round.

County vocational school still has space in fall session

There is still room for more students in the myriad of full and part-time, day and evening courses being offered by the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools as they begin their operational year.

The fall semester will get underway with the opening of the day session on Sept. 8. The Division of Continuing Education's evening classes start Sept. 13. Patrick Mauro, director of curriculum and instruction, points out that the Day Session provides skill-training in a wide variety of occupations. The Auto Technology Program, with its ASE, Automotive Service Excellence, certification, has been highly receive as has the Building Trades Cluster. The Culinary Arts and Baking Programs have won numerous honors, and garnered praise from many quarters throughout the years.

Other popular programs are air-conditioning, heating and refrigeration technology, drafting and design, machine technology, electrical technology and electrical technology. Twilight Culinary Arts is for adults who seek professional training in the area of food service.

One of the new programs coming this fall is telecommunications technology. This offering will help prepare students for a high-tech career installing, trouble-shooting and diagnosing telecommunications equipment.

Most daytime classes are for adult tuition participants as well as high school students who wish to attend the vocational-technical schools on a shared-time basis.

According to John Crowley, director of Adult Education, a variety of new offerings has been added to the adult evening sessions. They are an adult cosmetology course meeting from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m., expanded auto technology classes that include state certificate programs in emissions technicians education program, New Jersey inspector training, and the New Jersey specific informational course.

Various New Jersey State licensing preparation courses are also available.

Among them are Barbering for the N.J. Cosmetology/Hairstyling License; Cosmetology; Manicuring; Nail Technology; Black Seal Boilers; Waste Water Technology plus others.

The Adult Evening School also offers introduction classes in Microsoft Word and Excel as well as Windows 95-98. A computer repair course is offered for those individuals who desire in-depth instruction on the how and why a computer does what it does and how to make simple repairs and upgrades.

Day session registration is daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Baxel Hall at the UCVTIS Scotch Plains Campus, 1776 Raritan Road. Mail registrations also will be accepted. For full details call the day session Office at (908) 889-2999.

Registration for adult evening school, also in Baxel Hall, will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and Aug. 30 and 31 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and again from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Sept. 7, 8 and 9.

Registration can also be done via fax or by mail. The UCVTIS Adult Education Bulletin contains full details. To be placed on the mailing list or to gain more information, call the Adult Education Office at (908) 889-2914 or 2922.

Benedictine Academy sends two to Notre Dame

Sister Germaine Fritz, development director of Benedictine Academy, Elizabeth, and Sister Ursula Butler, a member of the academy's board of trustees, participated in a Certificate Program sponsored by Catholic School Management Inc. at the University of Notre Dame, Indiana.

Approximately 134 professionals from around the country participated in the four-day workshop. Both sisters attended the Graduate Program in Development, conducted by Steven Vergadano of CSM. Other workshops offered in the Certificate Program were Administration, Finance, Recruitment and Guidance. Seminars gave opportunities for participants to work in teams, to develop useful documents and to learn from one another. The common thread for all in attendance was the development of excellent secondary and elementary Catholic schools.

Catholic School Management is an organization with whom Benedictine Academy has had a grant for consultative services for the past two years.

Dance, performing arts school will offer registration

La Danse School of Performing Arts, 10 N. Wood Ave., Linden, has been a name well known in the city for more than 20 years. La Danse has always been more than just a dance studio offering excellent instruction in all areas of dance and fitness.

A community involved studio, the students have performed in nursing homes, cultural festivals and recently at the Senior Quarters assisted-living residence in Cranford, bringing joy to all who see them perform.

Tina Soci, director, credits the success of her school to the excellent staff on board. "I feel each and every student deserves the best dance education possible, so I bring the finest fully-certified teachers to insure that all of our students learn the latest dance techniques as well as proper placement and body alignment."

"After 20 years, I have found what the students need and enjoy and try my hardest to accommodate them."

The LaDanse competition teams proved successful by winning gold and platinum awards and finishing in the top of their categories at the Star Power competition in McAfee in May. Felicia Rembert of Railway was chosen out of hundreds of students to travel with Power Pak tour in Brunson, Mo. and Las Vegas, Nev. Learning new techniques from all the dance masters on the tour and performing in the Battle of the Stars. Daniel Vaniska of Linden competed in the Star System and the top soloist award out of 250 competitors.

Curriculum at La Danse includes classes in ballet, pointe, tap, jazz, lyrical, acro-gymnastics, kindredance, combo classes, hip hop, creative movement for tots and competition teams. Class size is limited to all students are guaranteed personalized instruction. Dress codes are strictly enforced to ensure proper attention to technique as well as allowing teachers to properly assess body alignment.

Boys' classes have become very popular and are offered in tap, jazz, acro-gymnastics and hip hop.

Registration for all classes will be Aug. 26 and 27 from 4 to 8 p.m., Aug. 28 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Sept. 3 from 4 to 8 p.m. Classes begin Sept. 8.

Vo-tech schedules cosmetology course for fall semester

For the first time since they first opened, the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools will be offering a full-time Cosmetology course for adults wishing to enter or further themselves in that popular profession. It will be one of the wide variety of fall and part-time courses available in the fall semester which begins on Sept. 8.

Cosmetology is an art and a science involving studies of the skin, hair, scalp and nails. The curriculum is designed to meet the examination requirements of the New Jersey State Board of Cosmetology. The course includes special state-of-the-art classroom training provided by video of manikins, demonstrations and live models in related services.

Training consists of hair analysis, physical and chemical effects of shampoos, rinses, use of hair and scalp conditioning treatments, the art of finger-waving, setting and styling of hair with sculpture curls, rollers and use of thermal irons, selecting hairstyles to suit physical features of patron or current styling trends adapted for the individual, shaping hair with scissors, razor, plus quick-service styling using blow-dryer and curling iron. Application of temporary hair color plus lightening and toning of the hair, curling hair with chemicals, alkaline and acid waves plus heat-activated permanents are also covered. Other study areas are chemically relaxed hair treatments, application of makeup for facial types, manicuring, hand and arm massage, styling wigs and hairpieces along with business management. The ethics of cosmetology, related chemistry, anatomy and physiology, sanitation and sterilization are also in the curriculum.

Those wishing to obtain full details regarding the Cosmetology course, which will be conducted in the state-of-the-art facilities at the UCVTs Raritan Road campus in Scotch Plains, should call the Admissions Office at (908) 889-2999.

Adult school helps dropouts earn diplomas

When the Union County Vocational-Technical Adult High School first opened its doors in September 1995, it had been anticipated only about 30 persons who had not completed requirements for a secondary-school diploma would be enrolled.

Instead, when classes began, 87 Union County residents had been accepted into the unique program at the Raritan Road Campus of the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools. Since that time, more than 1,000 men and women, 16 years of age and older, have availed themselves of the opportunities at the Adult High School. Over 200 have completed the program and received their secondary-school diplomas.

More than 180 full-time and 30 part-time students will be enrolled when the fall semester begins Sept. 13. The school operates year-round with three regular semesters and a summer intersession. Classes are Mondays through Thursdays from 3 to 6:30 p.m.

According to John Crowley, director, the purpose of the Adult High School is to encourage dropouts to re-enroll and actively pursue a secondary-school diploma in a setting suited to adults with a curriculum geared to their specific needs. Past earned credit is awarded for both academic achievement and life experience.

Crowley said the vocational-technical schools are providing a vehicle for reducing the number of individuals without a high school diploma while furnishing training and job-readiness skills for those adults in need. Emphasis is placed on academics as well as technical training. The program is fully endorsed by the state.

Full details about registration and participation in the Adult High School as well as applications procedures can be obtained by calling Crowley at (908) 889-2904.

Speech center uses technology to help kids

Fast Forward, a computer program using state-of-the-art technology, was just featured in the edition of Time magazine and by CBS and NBC news.

Suburban Speech Center in Short Hills has had more than 300 children, from age 4-17, go through the program for one hour, 40 minutes a day for approximately six weeks. The children at the center showed improvements of one and a half to three years of speech processing and language ability in this short-time period.

Children who have benefited include those with language difficulties, reading problems and auditory processing disorders.

Suburban Speech Center was just awarded the 1999 President's Award for Excellence. This award is presented by the New Jersey Speech-Language Hearing Association to programs with a history of exemplary practice. The center also received the statewide award "Program of the Year" from the New Jersey Speech-Language Hearing Association for its outstanding speech-language therapy services.

Suburban Speech Center has been helping children with speech-language disorders for more than 25 years in South Orange. The center relocated to Short Hills one year ago and is now located on Morris Turnpike in Short Hills.

For more information regarding services provided at Suburban Speech Center, call Nancy Polow at 921-1400.

Priadka is right choice for dance school

When it comes time to teach your child the technique of dance, the Maria Priadka School of Dance in South Orange offers the perfect combination. The all important personal touch and the knowledge of the dance is what makes them the right choice in dance schools. Stop in and look around. The facility is in the heart of South Orange Village at 50 South Orange Ave. in South Orange. Staff members will be glad to explain the full range of dance programs for 3-year olds to adults.

The Maria Priadka School of Dance is starting in 27th year under the direction of Maria Priadka and a staff of experienced and dedicated teachers. Priadka and her staff have been teaching dance to students of all ages, featuring classes in early childhood, elementary, middle school and high school dance. Subjects taught are ballet, tap, jazz, gymnastics and African.

A special feature in childhood dance training includes ballet, tap and gymnastics. Stretching, turning, leaping and movement to music for children is considered a highly effective and fun learning experience. It is designed to strengthen muscles that will be required for good dance technique whether it is for formal ballet, tap, jazz or gymnastics or just for perfect coordination for daily living. The benefits of early dance training will stay with children always.

Grade school children and teens are introduced to some of the more formal aspects of dance through "basic barre work" in ballet, tap, jazz, gymnastics and African dance.

The school has classes geared to the convenience of parents and students, with classes weekdays, evenings and Saturdays.

The Maria Priadka School of Dance always has a year-end recital in which all the students perform. A year-end recital is important because it gives students something to strive for. It gives the child with low self-esteem the chance to feel beautiful and the shy student the chance to perform in front of an audience.

The Maria Priadka School of Dance offers competition classes which have won numerous gold and silver awards.

The school has an excellent and professional staff headed by Priadka. Priadka, director of the school, is a graduate of Dance Educators of America Teachers Training School and a member of DEA, an organization which ensures ethical practices and provides modern methods in the teaching of dance. She is certified to teach by the Dance Masters of America, of which she is also a member. She is a member of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance; International Dance and Exercise Association and the National Association for Human Development. A graduate of Montclair State University, she specialized in early childhood education. Priadka was on the adjunct faculty of Essex County College.

The entire staff is comprised of trained, conscientious and talented professionals whose goal is to present each student with the best in dance education and to share fun, joy and love of dance.

The immaculate facility, expert instruction and carefully designed graded program will help children develop right before their parents' eyes and the benefits of early dance training will stay with them always. Dance will help them develop self-confidence, grace, poise and special awareness of the body's importance. They're all part of the dance experience.

Early registration is encouraged to ensure best class time selections. The new season begins with special in-person registration today, Tuesday and Sept. 2 and 8 from 5-8 p.m. and continues through the month of September. Fall classes begin Sept. 8. For more information and a free brochure, call 762-7709.

Students Samantha Lakin, Maia Clinotta and Elizabeth Millhim attended the National Association of Dance workshop at the Westin Hotel in Morristown July 9 and 10. White is a vice president and she taught a master tap class to teachers.

New to the staff this year is Yolanda Romano, who has been a student of Bette White and Kathy Thomas for 12 years. She has performed in dance competitions and studied at Dance Master of America and National Association of Dance and Affiliated Artists workshops. Her gift for teaching has been evident as she has acted as a staff assistant and substitute teacher.

Also new to the staff is Julie Mullikin, who has a strong classical ballet-modern dance repertoire. Her most influential teachers were Oleg Sablin-Ballet and James Truitt — modern dance, Horton Technique. Mullikin has performed and danced professionally with several companies, such as the North Jersey Ballet Company, Dover, was a soloist with the Southern Tier Civic Ballet and The Tri-Cities Opera Ballet Company

All That Dance incorporates, relocates studio

Professionalism is the key at the "A.T.D. Dancers," now at its new location, 969 Stuyvesant Ave. in Union. Celebrating their 18th season, the studio, formerly All That Dance in Elizabeth, has incorporated their business for future projects and therefore has a new name and location.

"Our school makes the difference with certified and dedicated instructors. We are committed to offering our students the finest technique and quality instruction along with a devotion and love for dance," stated Michele Selvanto-Kowalski, director of the school. "Each student is given every opportunity available to excel. Great care and individual attention is focused during class nurturing the abilities of our students to their fullest potential. We open the door to your child's hidden talents. We do have annual performances, however training is our number-one priority. Therefore, all dance routines are not given until the student has mastered the technique on his or her grade level. On the whole, our school teaches the student to develop poise, grace, rhythm, self-confidence and respect for their art whether or not they pursue a professional career or do it just for fun," added the director.

Curriculum at the studio includes ballet, tap, jazz, pointe, lyrical, acro-gymnastics, movements for tops, hip-hop, boys tap, boys hip-hop, acro-gymnastics, aerobics and adult classes. Every student is offered the chance to further their education with workshops in New York, guest teachers, trips, parades, community events and statewide functions.

The studio is home base for the A.T.D. Dancers International Show Troupe, U.S. National Dance Championships since 1984, and have been showcasing their talents to thousands in Europe and the Caribbean. Invitations to perform have been earned by their outstanding routines and showmanship. Past performances in Russia, Italy, California, the Carnival Cruise Line through the eastern Caribbean, the Royal Caribbean Cruise Line throughout the western Caribbean, the Miami Orange Bowl Half Time show and the 1999 Women's World Cup Soccer Opening Ceremonies have enriched their lives in so many ways. The team is made up of 19 members, all of whom contribute equally to its success. Their recent

They received gold for all their routines and placed second in the tap category, third in the ballet category and third in the jazz category. They are continually recognized as talented performers wherever they travel. They have already received invitations to perform in Australia, Hawaii and on the Norwegian Cruise Line in the summer 2000. The team continues to compete throughout the U.S., but performing is their top priority.

They are always available to perform at local nursing homes, school events and charities. "As you can see, there is always excitement at the A.T.D. Dancer. Whether you are a beginner or advanced student, we will strive for excellence and our popular reputation speaks for itself," concluded the director.

Registration will be held Aug. 27 from 6 to 8 p.m., Aug. 28 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Sept. 2 and 3 from 6 to 8 p.m. and Sept. 7 from 6 to 8 p.m. Classes begin on Wednesday, Sept. 8. For a free brochure, call (908) 688-8822.

Master basic computer skills in one-day class

For the past nine years, PC Ed, Personal Computer Education, Inc. has mastered the art of teaching computer skills to thousands of people in just one day.

"Business people don't have the time to enroll in six-month, three-month or even one-week programs," said George McDonough, president and founder of PC Ed. "They need the specific computer skills that we can teach them in one day."

"From the office staff that needs to learn Windows and Word, to the accounting department that needs Lotus or Excel, we have a variety of classes to meet any individual's needs," he said.

PC Ed's current course schedule boasts more than 80 different one-day classes that are offered at their four locations in Clifton, Roseland, Princeton and their Cranford headquarters.

In addition, PC Ed is the exclusive computer trainer for the top professional associations of New Jersey. These associations include The New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, the New Jersey State Bar Association, the American Institute of Banking of New Jersey, the New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education and the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey in Newark.

For more information about course topics, schedules and the 50-percent off Corporate Plan, call PC Ed at (908) 276-8866 or visit the web site at www.pcened.com.

Workshop to feature resume writing

In the Community Education Workshop series offered by Women for Women of Union County, Carollee Marano, president of The Write Stuff resume and writing services, will speak on conventions and techniques for preparing a successful employment resume in the Community Room of the Westfield Municipal Building, 425 E. Broad St., Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

"An outstanding resume," said Marano, "will open the door to more interviews, create a favorable and competitive first impression, and help organize and prepare you for the interviewing process." Marano, previously an assistant vice president in International Banking, has been preparing resumes for seven years. She has produced resumes for positions in numerous fields, at all levels.

She has also lectured previously for Women for Women, and for the Westfield "W" on his topic. In this workshop, Marano will provide the basics for resume format and content, enhanced with helpful visual aids. Information packets, including a summary of the lecture, sample resume formats, power verb lists and interviewing tips, will be distributed to each attendee. Women and men are all welcome to attend.

Women for Women of Union County, headquartered at 511 North Ave., Garwood, is a non-profit agency offering short-term, low-cost individual counseling and self-help support groups for women undergoing transitional or developmental crises in their lives. If interested in joining or to obtain more information, call (908) 232-5787.

White prepares for new year of dance

Bette White, former Radio City Music Hall Rockette and Corps de Ballet, said "If you love, dance you'll pass it on."

A very nostalgic moment for White was when some of her former students, who are now dance teachers or directors of their own dance schools, did an overview of tap tunes with her in 1999.

The Bette White school teaches ballet, tap, jazz and special private ballroom with Ricky Fernandez, former director of the Ricky and Veda Dance Studio of East Orange and South Orange.

For boys starting at age 6, there are special boys' tap classes. Senior adult tap classes are Thursday mornings. There will be a beginning group. The advanced group has performed at senior centers and nursing homes.

Pre-school Creative dance starts for children ages 3 1/2 to 4 years of age on Tuesday nights, Tuesday and Sept. 2 and 8 from 5-8 p.m. and continues through the month of September. Fall classes begin Sept. 8. For more information and a free brochure, call 762-7709.

of Binghamton, N.Y.; Cincinnati Dance Ensemble, and was a principle dancer with Lincoln Midwest Ballet Company, Lincoln, Neb. She has a bachelor's degree in fine arts and a master's degree in dance from the University of Cincinnati. She is director of Timbral and Dance, a company dedicated to performing to Biblical Torah, or Old Testament Themes. They have performed in Moscow, Kuisin and Minsk, Belarus.

Registration will be Sept. 8 from 4-7 p.m. for returning students. Registration for new students is Sept. 9 from 4-7 p.m. and Sept. 11 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. If observing a religious holiday, call for another convenient time.

For brochure or other information, call 761-7236.

Children's book presents 'mooving' tales

June is National Dairy Month, when we all remember the importance of milk for its many attributes from nutrition to versatility. Some of us, bovinophiles especially, also celebrate this month by honoring the source of this delicious liquid, a creature revered for centuries as a tangible symbol of life and fertility, the cow.

One cow fan from The Garden State, Vincent Esoldi, celebrated the month with the realization of a dream finally come to fruition. Esoldi is the author of the book, "Ms. May Maisey Moo's Cowlection of Moo Tales," which is slated to be in bookstores this October. The first book — the first of a series of five — is titled "The Cowvention" whose main character is Ms. May Maisey Moo, a famous Broadway star heifer and cow-about-town.

"The idea of writing a book for children of all ages about my favorite animal has been on my mind since 1992," said the author. "The personalities and style of almost all the characters, all of which have been copyrighted and trademarked, bear a slight resemblance to a few celebrities who have crossed my path throughout life as well as family and friends. The plots include lessons from life I hold dear, including the politics of inclusion and tolerance especially espoused by a man I admire, Thomas H. Kean, president of Drew University, Madison, NJ and former-Governor of New Jersey."

Among the cowacters starring in the first book are the hostess Ms. May Maisey Moo, China's Madame Foo Moo, Mania Mooa from Italy, England's Queen Mother Moo and Made-moselle Moo Moo Moomel, the famous hat designer from Paris.

The original character designs were conceived by Esoldi and Robert Leighton, a New York writer and illustrator whose work has appeared on Nickelodeon, TV Land and The Disney Channel. The book contains colorful and intricate illustrations by Robert Bourdeaux of Gaithersburg, Md., whose art has appeared in many publications including National Geographic World and Science News as well as Equus and Polo. Finally, the producer and designer of the book is Trec Cattle Pomilo, a publishing art director from West Chester, Penn., with over 20 years experience focusing on magazine design.

Esoldi is a resident of Clinton, NJ, and has over 20 years experience in commercial theater, having worked in various capacities in more than 21 Broadway productions, the Radio City Music Hall Christmas Extravaganza and The Rugrats touring concert. In addition, over the past decade, his credits include creative producer and coordinator of many major events and concerts under the New Jersey Summer Festival banner. The events he has been associated with include Jersey Jazz, Centennial of the Status of Liberty, the 30th Anniversary Concert of West Side Story at Liberty State Park and the New Jersey Dance Festival at Waterloo Village.

Teen art on display at Plainfield bank

The 1999 Union County Teen Arts Touring Exhibit will be on display today through Sept. 16 at the United National Bank, 202 Park Ave. in Plainfield. Sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the exhibit consists of 31 pieces of art selected from the 513 visual art works shown at the 1999 Union County Teen Arts Festival held in March at Union County College. The annual festival is sponsored by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Economic Development.

"The enthusiasm of the public for the Teen Arts Exhibit grows each year," said Freeholder Mary P. Ruotolo, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "That sends a positive message to our young artists and encourages them to pursue their interest in the arts."

"I'm delighted that these talented students will have their creations on display in Plainfield," said Freeholder Lewis Mingo Jr. "It's refreshing to have this array of artwork available for downtown shoppers to appreciate."

The tour will travel to sites throughout Union County through March 2000.

The Teen Arts Program is coordinated by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Economic Development, hosted by Union County College, and sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders. Sponsors and supporting agencies of the 1999 Teen Arts Program are Union County Division of Parks and Recreation; Union County Prosecutor's Office; New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State; Elizabeth, Cranford and Roselle Boards of Education; Friends of Teen Arts through a grant from the New Jersey State Department of Education; Paper Mill Playhouse; Westfield Symphony Orchestra, and participating schools.

Among the community supporters are: Altenburg Piano House; Allstate Legal Supply; A & P Supermarkets; C.R. Bard Inc.; Bergen Camera Exchange & Studio Inc.; Breeze-Eastern; Classic Corners; Coin Depot Corp.; Guitar Center; Honeywell Inc.; Infineum USA, L.P.; Ironbound Bank; Leisure Arts Center; Lesner Electric Co.; New Jersey Theater Group; Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corp.; Panasonic Consumer Electronics Co.; Secaucus; Patmark Stores Inc.; Pearl Art & Craft; PSE&G; Red Devil Co.; Reel Strong Fuel; Sovereign Bank; Tosco Refining Co.; United National Bank, and other private sources.

The event is open to the public. For assistive services or more information, call the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, NJ 07202, (908) 558-2550; relay service users call (800) 852-7899.

Dancin' in the park

Children's hospital exhibits fine art photographic work

Children's Specialized Hospital is hosting the New Jersey Photography Forum's 5th Annual Juried Exhibit through Sept. 26. More than 300 fine art photographers were invited to submit their work, from which more than 75 entries have been selected for display throughout CSH's three exhibition hallways.

An Award of Excellence was given to Douglas Goodell, Ridgewood, Awards of Merit were received by Norm Adams, Bridgewater; Don Halpern, New Providence; Susan Puder, Union, and Gerry Wachtel, Glen Ridge. Six other photographers received honorable mention.

Nancy J. Ori and Michael Cream, co-founders of the New Jersey Photography Forum and curators of this exhibit, point out that the show is representative of many photographic approaches and styles.

"It is a nice mix of black-and-white and color images," said Ori, "as well as a variety of photographic techniques including digital."

This year's judges were Joan Good, executive director of the New Jersey Theater for Visual Arts in Summit; Larry Cappiello, director of the Gallery at the Arts Guild of Rahway, and Glenn Diehl, president of the Watching Arts Center.

The New Jersey Photography Forum, now in its fifth year, is dedicated to furthering the interests of professional and serious photographers. The group meets monthly at the Watching Arts Center. Meetings include presentations, display and critique of photographer's work and demonstrations by manufacturers. Exhibition possibilities are also discussed. Upcoming meetings will take place Sept. 22 and Oct. 18. All meetings begin at 7 p.m. Call Ori for more information at (973) 781-5385.

The New Jersey Photography Forum's Fifth Annual Juried Show is open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily, at Children's Specialized Hospital, 150 New Providence Road, Mountainside. Admission is free. Visitors are requested to enter the hospital through the Ambulance Entry.

The artists' works are offered for sale. A portion of the sale proceeds will benefit the hospital.

Children's Specialized Hospital, New Jersey's only comprehensive rehabilitation hospital dedicated exclusively to children, is an affiliate member of the Robert Wood Johnson Health System. CSH treats children and adolescents, from birth through 21 years, through a network of services for young people with and without disabilities including outpatient services, acute rehabilitation and long-term care through its sites in Mountainside, Fanwood, Toms River, Newark and Union, as well as outreach programs in many communities.

'Prospect Street,' an oil painting by Linda Kolar, is one of the scenes available on postcards.

Local landscapes depicted on postcards

Looking for a card to send a quick note to a child at camp? Or perhaps a friend who has moved out of town? If so, two new postcards from Town Brook Press might be just the right item.

The postcards are reproductions of original oil paintings by members of the Westfield Art Association. "Prospect Street" by Linda Kolar is a view of the fire station tower as seen from the entrance to the Municipal Parking Lot on Prospect Street. The painting by Anne Mann, titled "Arcadian Hall," is the view of the intersection of East Broad and Elm streets, as seen from the sidewalk in front of Theresa's Restaurant.

Both original paintings were created on the streets of Westfield during events by the Westfield Art Association. You may recall having seen the artists with their easels painting the scenes.

These two new cards join reproductions of two watercolors by Burton Longebach, "Memorial Plaza" and "Westfield Station, Eastbound"; a watercolor by Florence MacDowell, "The View Through Mindowaskin Park," and a photograph by Ron Getzner, "Westfield Station — Autumn."

Town Brook Press is the publishing arm of The Town Book Store of Westfield Inc., and is devoted to providing an outlet for local artists and authors. It currently has in print "How Fletcher Was Hatched" by Harry and Wende Devlin, and "Suburban Mothers: The Funny Life" by Tina Lether and Joan Mund. Two more titles, "A Kiss for a Warthog" by the Devlins, and "Harvesting Ice" by Lawrence Cirelli are scheduled for release in September.

The cards are priced at $.75 each and are available at The Town Book Store, Barron's Drug Store, Periwinkle's Fine Gifts, Galleria West, Drug Fair and several other downtown stores. If you would like more information regarding these postcards, contact The Town Book Store at (908) 233-3535.

Summit schoolteacher turns 'Nothing' into success

Jeff Fluharty, a fourth-grade teacher at Summit's Jefferson School, and co-author Kelly McAndrew are celebrating the publication of their first book, "I Can't Talk Now, I'm Busy Writing Nothing," which chronicles the story of Arvy Phillips' first week in fifth-grade. The tale, told in first person, present tense by Arvy himself, details his friendship with Chloe, his travels with class bully Raymond and his dread of writing assignments.

The book is published by Mayhaven Publishing of Illinois, and received that company's first place award this year for children's fiction.

"Our goal was to inspire kids to write and read," said Fluharty of the collaborative effort between him and his girlfriend, McAndrew, an aspiring actress. "Arvy is surrounded by many creative characters, and once he finds his own spark he overcomes his fear of writing and joins their world of creativity."

Fluharty said he wrote a bit of himself into the character of Arvy. "I didn't have much enthusiasm for writing in elementary school either. I was more interested in fishing and playing baseball." "But I wound up writing for my college newspaper and started the school's literary magazine."

Originally from La Honda, Calif., Fluharty attended the University of San Diego, where he met McAndrew at a poetry reading. He taught fourth-grade in Chula Vista, Calif., for three years, and both he and his co-author attended graduate school, in Kansas City. Fluharty is finishing his first year as a teacher in the Summit public schools.

Jeff Fluharty, a fourth-grade teacher at Summit's Jefferson School, has co-authored 'I Can't Talk Now, I'm Busy Writing Nothing,' which chronicles the story of Arvy Phillips' first week in fifth-grade.

"We wanted to write a children's book that has substance but is also entertaining," Fluharty said. "This is a fun, exciting story that speaks a kid's language. I listen to the kids in my classroom. I know their concerns, jokes and issues, and I've incorporated their voice into my writing." Fluharty said he and McAndrew had classroom use in mind when they wrote the book and hope to promote it for use in whole language teaching.

The pair are now at work on a sequel. The next installment in Arvy's adventures include a Halloween scam and Arvy's relationship with his dad.

"I Can't Talk Now" will be available in bookstores this summer and through amazon.com and barnesandnoble.com.

The Antique Center of Red Bank

For those people interested in antiques, it can be argued that there is no better place on earth to be than central New Jersey. We are conveniently located in such a way that many of the country's largest antique centers are all within an easy morning's drive. One such location is the beautiful town of Red Bank, New Jersey. In this idyllic water front community you will find countless shops, restaurants and cafe's to relax in and explore. The main draw, however, remains to be the abundance of truly special antique shops both large and small. This is a treasure hunter's paradise.

The centerpiece of the Red Bank antique market is aptly named "The Antique Center of Red Bank." Housed in what seems to be an enormous two story red barn, this continues to be the focal point of much attention for day-trippers visiting the area. In business now for over 35 years, this is the place to be if you want that certain something that's not to be found in any strip malls. In fact, you would have to go to garage sales, from sun up to sun down for the next twenty years before you could begin to have the same sort of selection that they have here.

Can't find what you're looking for? The long time owner, Guy Johnson, can usually be found behind the counter and he is happy to assist any and all people in need. His ability and knowledge of the current antique market is amazing and when the place isn't too busy, you will find him laughing and chatting away with his customers. It is obvious that he really enjoys his job. In fact, his success has also given him two more antique markets that are both just right across the street.

While I was exploring the second floor I came upon a beautiful old set of china from a yacht club in Connecticut. The plates were devoid of any chips or cracks and the bright blue and yellow nautical flag logo was in excellent condition. The set of eight was only $84 and I simply could not resist buying them on the spot. At only $8 apiece, they were less expensive than most quality china plates in the stores today. They will surely make a great conversation piece every time I use them for entertaining my guests.

While many people, myself included, have gone through a phase of antique hunting in online auction sites, nothing will ever replace the joy and satisfaction of holding a treasured antique or collectible in your hands. The thriving antique markets of Red Bank are proof of this. I highly recommend spending an afternoon here; but remember to bring some extra money because you will surely find something that you can't live without, even if you plan on "just looking".

Early detection crucial to prevent breast cancer

Currently breast cancer strikes more than 135,000 American women annually. One out of nine women will be diagnosed with breast cancer during her lifetime.

Every woman should take the time to examine her breast for signs of possible breast cancer. The consistency of breast tissue varies from woman to woman.

- What to look for:
• A lump or thickening of the breast;
• A discharge from the nipple;
• Dimpling or puckering of the skin;

- Retraction of the nipple;
• Scaly skin around the nipple;
• Other changes in skin color or texture, such as "orange peel" skin;
• Swelling, redness or heat in the breast;

A three-step approach to breast health:

- Monthly breast self-exam;
• A routine yearly exam by a doctor. One exception would be women with previous breast problems. They should be examined by their doctors more frequently.

Starting at age 40, a baseline mammogram should be performed, and thereafter it should be done annually unless otherwise indicated by your doctor.

Certain women are at a greater risk for developing breast cancer. These women need to be identified and followed more closely.

- Major risks:
• Women age 50 years or over;
• Women whose mother or sister has had breast cancer;
• Women who have already had breast cancer;

- Other risks:
• Women with pre-cancerous breast disease;
• Women with breast cysts proven by aspiration or surgery;

- Women who have never had children;
• Women who had first child after age 30;
• Women who started their first menstrual period younger than age 12;

- Women who have experienced menopause after age 50;
• Women who are obese;
• Women who consume large amounts of alcohol.

Remember the three "EMs":

- Mammogram;
• Doctor's exam;
• Breast self-exam.

All women should be aware of the symptoms of breast cancer and take the precautions necessary to protect themselves.

The Breast Center at Saint Barnabas Ambulatory Care Center is a comprehensive facility which addresses every aspect of breast health. The center performs over 22,000 mammograms each year, more than any other facility in the state.

The Breast Center is also unique because of the following staff members and services. A nurse facilitates patient with abnormal studies obtain prompt care.

Radiology office offers new cardiac calcium scoring

Monclair-Radiology, one of the area's leading medical diagnostic imaging centers, is the only imaging facility in Northern New Jersey to offer a revolutionary new cardiac screening procedure called Coronary Artery Calcium Scoring. CACS is a non-invasive, painless procedure that enables Monclair-Radiology's physicians to detect the signs of coronary disease at a very early stage, and helps referring physicians develop an effective course of treatment before any significant damage occurs.

"The calcium scoring procedure represents a formidable new weapon in the fight against coronary artery disease," said Dr. Kenneth L. Jewel. "The technology behind this procedure enables us to detect the signs of heart disease earlier than ever before, and monitor patients for any signs that their conditions in progressing or regressing. Armed with this information, patients and their physicians can often explore a wider range of treatment options."

Coronary artery disease is the number one killer in the United States, and is a condition that usually progresses over many years, many times without any warning signs until a heart attack occurs. As calcification of the arteries gradually reduces blood flow to the heart, the risk of heart attack substantially increases. Using an Ultra-Fast Spiral Computed Tomography scanner, radiologists can now take accurate, stop-action images of the heart and coronary vessels, and identify even mild cases of calcification in a patient's blood vessels.

When caught in time, a patient's condition may be treatable with simple lifestyle changes like diet and exercise adjustments. The CAS procedure normally lasts an average of ten minutes, and patients often receive the results on the same day the test is done.

Monclair-Radiology's Caldwell Office is the only facility in Northern New Jersey equipped with an Ultra-Fast Spiral CT Scanner, and the CACS procedure is the latest in a long line of "firsts" that the group has brought to New Jersey. Founded in 1942, Monclair Radiology established the first Magnetic Resonance Imaging and open-air MRI centers in New Jersey, and has consistently maintained a leadership role in the diagnostic imaging field. Monclair Radiology offers the very latest in Spiral CT Scanning, Ultrasound Imaging, Ultra Low-Dose Tomography and Diagnostic Radiology. The comprehensive range of imaging capabilities essential to diagnose medical disorders earlier and more accurately. In addition to offering a wide range of state-of-the-art technological procedures, Monclair-Radiology's staff of board-certified specialists in radiology offer patient care in a comfortable, home-like environment.

The group also maintains offices in Monclair and Nutley.

Planned Parenthood recommends testing for common STDs

If you think you may want children in the future, it's never too early to think about your health. Get tested for two of the most common sexually transmitted diseases - gonorrhea and chlamydia. They occur in both men and women and are passed from person to person through sex.

Unreated, both gonorrhea and chlamydia can cause serious health problems for a woman, including pelvic infection. A woman with severe infection may not be able to become pregnant or may have an ectopic pregnancy. She may have problems during pregnancy or after that pose risks to her and her baby.

Both these diseases increase the risks of pre-term birth and premature rupture of membranes during pregnancy. A newborn can also become seriously ill if he or she gets gonorrhea from the mother, which can be passed to the fetus before birth. Gonorrhea can also result in a miscarriage.

Chlamydia can also be passed to a fetus before birth and can cause eye infections in a newborn. Additionally, about 10-20 percent of babies of infected mothers develop pneumonia. To get tested for an STD or for information about how to protect yourself, call Planned Parenthood at 756-3736 for the Plainfield Center, 123 Park Ave., or 351-5384 for the Elizabeth Center, 208 Commerce Place.

Medical center's training facility offers courses

The full range of CPR and first aid instruction, from basic to the most advanced courses in adult and pediatric life support, is now provided by the Community Training Center at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, an affiliate of the Saint Barnabas Health Care System.

As New Jersey's largest provider of CPR instruction, the Community Training Center offers programs in basic life support, advanced cardiac life support, pediatric advanced cardiac life support and neonatal resuscitation, as well as first aid and Heart-saver courses. Courses are offered year-round at all 10 acute care facilities in the Saint Barnabas Health Care System. All programs are certified by the American Heart Association, except for the neonatal resuscitation course, which is certified by the American Academy of Pediatrics. Fees for the courses range from $35-$200.

Under the supervision of Director Linda Sylvester, an American Heart Association faculty member and past recipient of its Recognition of Excellence Award for Management, the Community Training Center at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center retains 276 trained instructors. Regional Coordinators Jerry Goebel, John Shea and Kathleen Campbell oversee and direct the provision of courses across the state. The Community Training Center is a result of the combination of CPR and first aid training programs at Newark Beth Israel and Saint Barnabas Medical Center.

"When we started our program at Newark Beth Israel in 1985, we trained 125 people in our first year," Sylvester said. "Our program has grown tremendously. In the last six months of 1988 we trained just under 7,000 people, and we are targeting 20,000 in 1989."

For information on course schedules, fees and registration, call the Community Training Center toll-free at (888) CPR-ACT-1.

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center is a 665-bed tertiary care teaching hospital that is an affiliate of the Saint Barnabas Health Care System. Newark Beth Israel is a major referral and treatment center for patients throughout northern New Jersey metropolitan area.

The Saint Barnabas Health Care System is New Jersey's largest integrated health care delivery system. Its acute care facilities include Community Medical Center in Tom's River, Monmouth Medical Center in Long Branch, Newark Beth Israel Medical Center and Children's Hospital of New Jersey at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, Clara Mass Medical Center in Belleville, Kimball Medical Center in Lakewood, Union Hospital, Irvington General Hospital, Wayne General Hospital and West Hudson Hospital in Kearny.

Medical center opens after-hours pediatric clinic

Virtually every parent has experienced situations in which his or her child has developed a high fever or earache after the doctor's office has closed for the day. The only options available were to spend a sleepless night at home, waiting for the doctor to arrive in the office the next morning or, worse yet, making a costly and often unnecessary visit to a local emergency room to obtain some sort of relief until the child could be seen by his or her pediatrician.

Clara Mass Medical Center in Belleville has responded to this problem and is reaching out to the community with PEDI-CARE, an after-hour pediatric clinic that provides access to exceptional care when a child's regular pediatrician or primary physician is unavailable.

"At PEDI-CARE, children under the age of 18 are treated for symptoms by pediatric nurses and board-certified pediatricians," said Shelly Schneider, vice manager of pediatric services at Clara Mass.

Located on the campus of Clara Mass Medical Center, PEDI-CARE is open Monday through Friday from 6-11 p.m., Saturday from 3-11 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. To reach PEDI-CARE, parents can call (800) 231-PEDI.

Medical center provides a safe haven

The Safe House, a domestic violence shelter located in Essex County and run by Clara Mass Medical Center, was recently the recipient of a $500 donation from the Chorus of Communities. Patsy Lou Buff, Safe House director, accepted a check from Chorus of Communities members Bill Moore and Dee Freedman.

The Chorus of Communities is an interfaith choir made up of voices from more than 18 different communities. It was organized in 1990 by members of the Belleville Ministers in the hopes that it would provide more community spirit, togetherness and culture by its presentation of uplifting sacred concerns to the Glory of God.

The Safe House provides relief for victims of domestic violence by providing temporary, safe housing for victims and their children, an emotionally supportive environment, emergency medical treatment, counseling and referral services, legal advocacy, comprehensive children's advocacy and housing advocacy. All services are free and confidential.

The Safe House operates a 24-hour hotline service - (973) 759-1154 - to provide timely and immediate assistance to victims of domestic violence.

Clara Mass Medical Center, an affiliate of Saint Barnabas Health Care System, provides an unparalleled continuum of care to residents of northern New Jersey. Located in Belleville, Clara Mass offers acute-care services through Clara Mass Medical Center; skilled, rehabilitative and long-term care through the Continuing Care Center at Belleville; assisted living and long-term care through the Continuing Care Center at Kearny; home care through JerseyCare Home Health; and diagnostic/treatment services through Progressive Imaging Center.

Other centers of medical excellence include the Women's Health Center, nuclear medicine, oncology services, diagnostic cardiac services including catheterization, same-day surgery, and maternal/child health programs. For more information on Clara Mass, call (800) CLARA-MASS.

Medical center offers seniors in-home care

For a senior citizen, going to the doctor can involve a great deal of effort. Often, coordinating transportation to and from the appointment can be the most difficult task Newark Beth Israel Medical Center's Senior Health Program is alleviating this problem in a senior housing center in Newark by offering in-home health care to seniors. The Senior Health Home Calls Program is now offered to residents at Seth Boyden Elderly, Kreschmer Elderly, and Stephen Crane located at 210 Dayton St. in Newark.

The Senior House Calls Program is a multidisciplinary team consisting of physicians, nurse practitioners, social workers and support staff who conduct assessments and develop individualized care plans for the elderly. The goal of the program is to provide and address health problems which afflict the elderly in the home setting. This program allows each senior to maintain independence and achieve his/her optimal level of functioning.

The collaborative program involves home health care facilities, the Division on Aging and the Newark Housing Authority. "We determined that there was a strong need for the delivery of on-site health care at those sites," said Geraldine Smith, operations manager of the Senior Health Network at Newark Beth Israel. "We could not have come as far as we are today without the support from the housing authority. Now we are working together to meet the health care needs of the residents."

For more information about the Senior House Calls Program, call 926-7966.

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center is a 596-bed regional care, teaching hospital established in 1901. The medical center provides comprehensive health care services to its local communities, and is a major referral and treatment center for patients throughout the northern New Jersey metropolitan area. The medical center is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations and the American Osteopathic Association.
