WORRALL COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1999 - SECTION B

For more than 26 years a legacy of the Nixon presidency still benefits Union Country. Quietly and effectively, the Commanity Developmen Block Grant program has outlived radical philosophical shifts at the White House, the balanced budget and even Newt Gingrich. Nineteen menticipalities — Elizabeth and Union are direct entitlement communities — participate in the program which has spurred public, improvements and social service grants to the tune of an estimated, $170 million. to the country over the life of the program.

"It's really about assisting the most needy and providing money for major improvements that municipalities could otherwise not afford," said Winfield representative to the program David Wright. The objectives of this program are based on the elements of a federal program providing funding for the big-ticket items, but giving the management and presumably the agement and presumably the rol to the locals. Add stric control to the locals. Add strict auditing requirements and the ongevity of the program is understandable.

Some of the grants under the program have public awareness like the nutritional-programs, the creative playground project for handicapped youth in Mountainside and the Casano Center in Freeholder Chairman Nicholas Scutari said Assignment Judge Edward Beglin wanted "to exhaust all administration remedies" before coming to court. This way, there can be a merit decision without blanket firings, he said.

David Fox, a Livingston attorney representing corrections officers involved, said employees prepared blanket waivers prior to the court hearings but have since filed individual applications at the request of the country.

While he is still adamant about While he is still adamant about enforcing the residency ordinance, Scutari said he is "certainly willing to look on a case-by-case basis under the proper procedur."
"There are rules with every job," Scutari said, "and a tor of these people are those who have the responsibility for enforcing laws." Some employees, he said, knowingly disregarded the county's requirement which is clearly stated in a policy handbook distri-buted to all employees when they are initially hired.

The notice came after a county audit revealed higher numbers of employees than expected that lived outside of the county. A 1983 ordinance requires employees to be residents of Union County, but the consistency in its enforcement has been questioned. The exhibit marks of the month of artist Patricia Bretano's 50th birthday and introduces her breakhrough oil paintings and watercolors.

Bretano's "looser, more vibrans and more energetic" work resulted from an international oil painting marathon workshop two years ago with Graham Nickson at the New York Studio School of Drawing.
Painting and Sculpture in New York City. She described the all-day-into-late-night sessions as "so intensive. An artist was certain to release any block or ingrained ideas about his or her painting up to that point."

Bretano paints at home in Westfield and now that her children are grown and she is 50, she can return to the oils she once used before switching to watercolors that were more child-friendly. She noted, "When you reach this age, you look back to your reach still so the time to investigate seriously what you want to do with your skills to express yourself to the fullest."

Summit's Broadway Diner offers all-star, award-winning treats

Community Dining Guide"

No matter what time the curtain opens, welking into the restaurant is like taking a tour of Broadway's best. Postors from his musicals line the walls as differs feel they are enjoying verything from waffos to steaks with a star-studed cast. The men's variety is af first overwhelming, but appeals to the taste buds of a wide audience.

The paractes, served with whipped butter and syrup, come in 11 varieties from French Style — buttermilk pancakes topped with orange sauce and powdered sugar — to chocolate chip, raisin, strawberry, pineapple and harm. The French Apple pancakes are a group favorite for breakfast and dessert — they're sliced in a cinnamon raisin glaze and topped with whipped cream Hearry apposities are encouraged to try the "Famous Country Sampler," which includes two pancakes, a wedge of French toast, a wedge of a Belgian walfle, one sausage link and two strips of bacon. All omeletanges served in a sheart-say style imaginable, are made with three outstalargeges; all egg orders come with homemade potatoes and toast.

Light breakfast eaters can opt for individual cereals, bagels or a variety f breads, and muffins.

The number of items, and the taste, makes the wait during lunchlime worthwhile. Everything from triple decker sandwiches to salads to burgers to wraps are prepared fresh. The "Stars of Broadway" include the Happy Waitress, an open-faced grilled cheese sandwich with bacon, tonato, French fries, onion rings and colo staw. The Philadelphia cheese stack doluce, New York-style Stoppy Joo, and hot pastarmi and comed beef combo on rye are diners' selections for Tony Awards.

Parrons in the mood for full dinners also have a selection among sea-food, chops and sauteed specialties. Aside from the Italius specialties, all dinners come with soup or stake, rice pile of spaghets or protos and a vegetable. Kids are welcome to select any menu items, including those in the Disney-themed children's section. But both children and adults must remember to leave room for the homemade desserts.

For anything from mozzerella sticks to fried filet of sole to lemon meringue pic, this atypical Jersey diner offers a tasty trip along Broadway with prices that accommodate off-Broadway salaries.

The Broadway Diner is located at 55 River Road, Summit. In additional to walk-in meals, the owners offer professional on- and off-premise catering. For more information, call (908) 273-4353. Additional locations include 1075 Broadway, Bayonne, and 45 Monmouth St., Red Bank.

Volvo survives merger with new large cars

As little as five years ago, industry pundits were prodicting the demise of Volvo Cars, calling it, in effect, a form of economic Darwinism. After all, hadn't all of the other car' companies, both larger and certainly smaller, been absorbed or were looking to be? And to top it all off, hadn't the abortive more with Ecoche size the Department of the product of the tive merger with French-giant Renault had set Volvo's product development back years in an era of an unprece-dented number of new product introductions?

The signs did not look bright, and that is a fact. Then came the response. First came the Volvo 850, a car of which it can justifiably be said, that as well the company. Then came the S40 and V40 that have proven to be smash hits in every market in which they are sold. Stunning C70 Coupe and Convertible, two cars that white clearly defining a new stylistic image for Volvo maintained and reinforced the core values of the Volvo brand, followed this up. The S70 and V70, extensive re-developments of the venerated 850 added additional fuel to the stylistic fire. That brings us to 1999 and one of the most crucial Volvos of the millennium, the S80.

As Volvo's new large car, the new S80 could be seen as the replacement for the venerable and long-serving S90/V90, which started life in 1982 as the 750. Available as a sedan only. S80 is a front wheel drive car which started the chassis and divertain more similar to the 750 series modes than the old, rear wheel drives posense. However, S80 is in no way a version of the 70 series. In fact, S80 represents the first member of a family of weltieles built on a totally-new platform which will carry Volvo well into the next century. As such, the dynamically styled S80 bristles with so many innovative engineering features that in represents a Volvo "Guur de force." In essence, the S80 is the culmination of everything Volvo has learned about the art of car-making over the last. 72 years. Among the features intended 10 enhance performance, safety and passenger comfort, are:

all loads.

• A transversely mounted 201-hp naturally aspirated 2.9 liter in-line six, cylinder engine and electronically controlled four-speed transmission.

• A T6 version with a transversely mounted 268-hp twin turbocharged 2.8-liter six, cylinder engine with Geartronic automatic transmission for clutchless, manual shifting.

• An electrical system based on multiplexing to reduce the amount of wire needed in the car and to speed response of all electronic controls. When Volvo introduced the $70 and V70 series in January 1997, the whiches where seen as major all-round, improvements over their predecessors, the award-winning $50 model line. The new cars were dramatically restyled both inside and out with all new sheet metal and an entire-lynew interior which features refined Seandinavian styling. The $70 and V70 store from 1800 changes were made to make these cars the most successful inex Molvos ever.

For 1999, Volvo has continued its philosophy of constant improvement strough-the evolution of design and to the change and the integration of new technologies to existing product lines. Major improvements have been made to the engine and its management system, the electrical spission and to the braking system. Perhaps most importantly, Volvo has once again the trackers amajor step forward in the area of occupant protection with a major volutionary upgrade to $185, Volvo's patented, award-winning side-impact protection system. The focal point of $195, the side-impact air bag, was pionecred by Volvo in 1994.

Volvo's current nomenclature system, which debuted with the 1998 model year's vehicles, is based on patent media.

This numbering system continues to expand for 1999 with the introduction of the new S80 series. The letter "S" signifies the model is a sedan, while "V" representing versatility, indicates the vehicle is a wagon; "C"-denotes both coupe and convertible. The number following the letter provides a sense of the platform size. For example, the S80 is larger than the S40, Volvo's small platform offering which is too t currently available in North America. The S90 and V90, after a run of nearly 16 years dating back it on run of nearly 16 years dating back to the 740 series, introduced in 1982, ceased production in the spring of

Nowhere is Volvo's philosophy of continual evolution more apparent than in the improvements made for 1999 in the areas of product diversity and both passive and dynamic safety. The addition of an All Wheel.

Volvo has always been strongly linked with three main core values: asfety, quality and care for the envi-ronment. As part of its Scandinavian heritage, Volvo takes an holistic view. of. humanity—and—environmental— responsibility. As a result, the entire manufacturing process is examined and has resulted in initiatives such as: • The Environmental Priorities System a system by which environ-mental impact of every material ele-ment in each vehicle is quantified in order to make the best possible pro-duction decisions.

 The MOTIV Chemical Database, which details the environmental and health impact of each and every chemical used in the manufacture of Volvo products, as well as more than 2000 others that have been deemed.

2000 others that have been deemed hazardous.

• The Environmental Car Recycling in Scandinavia program which focuses on the dismanding of vehicles in a manner which generates the least amount of environmental impact.

Volvos have long been considered among the most durable cars on the road. One only has to look to buy Godon and his 1.6 million mile P 1800.

uon and as 1.0 million mile P-1800 for proof! So it only stands to reason that well kept, low mileage "used" Volvos would make some of the most durable and desirable pre-owned cars as well.
